Pike school spending comes under fire

Times Staff Report

PHELPS — Official at one Pike County high school are spending time this week defending purchases with coal severance money afforded them by the state.

One state representative has come under fire recently for money earmarked for one thing but used for another at a Phelps High School.

The Lexington Herald-Leader reported earlier this week that coal severance money secured by Rep. Harold Keith Hall for the school was used to buy sports equipment and art supplies when it was originally intended for the construction of a history center in the town.

Some $100,000 has been sent to Phelps to date, according to records. But school officials have responded by saying the money was used properly, adding that there was constant oversight with all purchases, which included sports equipment and upgrades to sound systems, and lighting for the school's gym. The gym is shared by both the drama students and student athletes.

"Everything that has been purchased is a direct benefit to our students," Phelps Principal Mike Hamilton told the media Monday. "Not only do our students benefit, but our community benefits from the facilities that we have."

Hunt death penalty upheld

PRESTONSBURG — The conviction against James Hunt, the Floyd County man found guilty in 2006 of fatally shooting his estranged wife, Bettina Hunt, was upheld in an opinion returned by the state Supreme Court last week.

Hunt was sentenced to death in the case, having been found guilty not only of first-degree murder but also first-degree burglary and first-degree wanton endangerment.

Floyd County Commonwealth's Attorney Brent Turner said that the death penalty was returned by a jury was a first in several decades in the county and says now that the appeal has been denied that this is even more rare.

"In cases where you seek death as a sentence, it's something like less than 5 percent of the time that a jury returns that verdict," Turner said. "We had made it past the first part and had been waiting on this appeal. We're very happy and we're sure the family of the victim will be very happy as well."

Hunt was found guilty of visiting the home of his estranged wife on Nov. 30, 2004, following several arguments by phone throughout the day and breaking into the home and shooting her several times.

The two had been married since 1991 and had had several problems, throughout the marriage, family members said.

Part of the evidence linking Hunt to the murder of his wife were portions of

MASSIVE SPILL

The driver of an 18-wheeler loaded with coal apparently lost control on a curve at Blue River on Tuesday and took out electrical lines before crashing into a tree and flipping. According to rescue officials on scene, the driver, who was walking around after the accident, was transported to the hospital to be checked for injuries.

PRESTONSBURG — A special event to honor the memory of those killed in the attack on Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941, and to thank veterans of military service, will be held at the National Guard Armory in Prestonsburg on Monday.

A pre-event meeting with the veterans will start at 4:30 p.m., followed by welcome remarks by Floyd County Judge-Executive R.D. "Doc" Marshall and Prestonsburg Mayor Jerry Fannin. Khrys Varney, with the Mountain Arts Center, will recognize the establishment of each branch of military service.

The event will also feature the "Address to the Nation" speech from President Franklin D. Roosevelt that was originally broadcast after the attack on Pearl Harbor, and entertainment from Susan Scott of the Judge files for another term

Magistrate gains challenger

PRESTONSBURG — Two more Floyd Countians have now officially thrown their hats into the ring in the upcoming May primary, and it's another pairing of longtime public servant and hopeful challenger.

Floyd County District Judge James R. Allen made the trip to Frankfort Tuesday morning to file paperwork for another run at the office he has held for nearly two decades.

"I just decided I wanted to run and I enjoy being district judge," Allen said. "I've enjoyed all my years as a public official."

Allen says he feels there is no one more qualified than him for the position, and he has the years of public service to point to when making that claim.

Allen has served four years as county attorney, 12 years as commonwealth's attorney, and has just now completed 15 years as district judge.

County, cities eligible for ARC mini-grants

by JARRID DEATON
FEATURES WRITER

SOMERSET — Officials with the Center For Rural Development in Somerset recently announced $145,000 in mini-grant funds from the Appalachian Regional Commission, and Floyd County is eligible to apply for the funding.

According to information provided by the Center For Rural Development, two cycles of mini-grants will be awarded in 2010 for either the successful creation of a strategic plan or the implementation of priority community development projects identified in existing strategic plans. The application period for the first cycle of funding will be open through Jan. 4, and grants are expected to be awarded in February.

The individual project awards will range from $5,000 up to a maximum of $10,000 and all projects must be completed within a six-month period.

In 2008, $170,000 in federally funded Appalachian Regional Commission mini-grants were awarded to 13 counties and cities in southern and eastern Kentucky to help advance local economic and community development plans.

"Stimulating innovative and sustainable economic development solutions in the region we serve is at the core of The Center's mission, and these grants target communities that have the ideas, but lack the resources, to move them forward," Lonnie Lawson, president and CEO of the Center For Rural Development. "The grants awarded during the last funding cycle in 2008 made a significant impact on each of the counties and cities that received them, and served to underscore the critical importance of strategic thinking and planning regardless of the size of the community. We fully expect this new funding will build on that beginning and impact our region to a much greater extent."

Recipients in 2008 included the cities of Inez, Corbin, Beattyville, Liberty, Mt. Vernon and Paintsville; and McCreary, Bell, Morgan, Lee and Letcher counties. Bell County and the city of Corbin received funding support in both funding cycles.

Brothers of the Wheel motorcycle club member "Lickety-Split" joined his fellow enthusiasts in accepting donations for the club's annual Christmas program from Black Friday shoppers. For the past several years, the club has raised money to buy Christmas presents for children.

To Thank You

The family of John R. Pelphrey would like to express our heartfelt appreciation to all those who ministered to us during our recent loss. We were truly overwhelmed by the show of support and love from all our friends, our wonderful neighbors in Allen, and even strangers during this sad time. Thank you to all those who brought food, sent flowers and cards, made memorial contributions to the Paintsville United Baptist Church and offered countless other gestures of support. We especially want to thank those members of the Paintsville United Baptist Church and the Buffalo United Baptist Church for their kindness and help during the visitation, funeral, and for the wonderful meal. Thank you to Mike Preston and Preston Funeral Home for their compassion and excellent service. Also, we would like to thank the members of the Kentucky State Police, Floyd County Sheriff's Department, Prestonsburg Police Department and the Allen Volunteer Fire Department for their professionalism and kindness at the scene. We ask that you continue to remember our family in prayer as we attempt to move forward in our grief.

Truly, our loss is definitely Heaven's gain.

The Family of John R. Pelphrey

Letter of Appreciation

During the days after the passing of Brother Dave M. Flanery, we appreciated the floral tributes, the words of encouragement and prayers, and those who sent contributions to the East Point Church of Christ in his memory. Also, we can't forget those who sent Dave and Evelyn cards, called them, or came by to visit during the time of his illness. We especially want to thank Josh Akers and Aaron Judd for officiating at the funeral and graveside service. The memories you shared and your comforting words touched our hearts, and we will never forget the two young ministers who Brother Dave was so happy and proud to have assisting him. We also want to express our appreciation to Stephanie Davis for her beautiful songs that added so much to the service, and to the members of the East Point Church of Christ for their faithfulness to the family, and for the wonderful church dinner. To the Auxier Chapter 18 D.A.V., and to your chaplain, we appreciated the dignity that you brought to the service as a reminder of what each one of us owe those who served and those who gave their lives for our country. Finally, we want to thank James A. Preston and Jeremy Hyden, and the staff of Jones Preston Funeral Home for the kind and efficient service to our family, which will not be forgotten.

Working your way into shape is a great holiday gift for your health PRESTONSBURG — Americans love the holiday season. However, between home-baked goods, seasonal candy, office parties and family gatherings, our waists tend to expand just as our spirits do during this special time of year. At Highlands Regional Medical Center's Wellness Center, it's always time to work your way into shape.

Ernest Brewer, Director of the Wellness Center at Highlands Regional Medical Center, said that physical activity during the season and throughout the cold winter months pays dividends in a number of ways. "Establishing a workout routine that you can commit to throughout the holidays helps you to minimize the negative effect of all the feasting, and your physical efforts can positively affect your willpower when making holiday choices," he said. "It's also a great way to deal with seasonal stress as you commit a certain amount of time to your personal well-being." Brewer noted that the Wellness Center has been named "one of the best fitness centers in eastern Kentucky" and is proud to be a part of Highlands Regional Medical Center's efforts to improve the health and wellness of each of its employees and community members. The Wellness Center offers its patrons cardio, flex circuit training and free weights. It is open from 6 a.m. until 9 p.m., Monday through Thursday; until 8:30 p.m. on Fridays; on Saturday from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. and on Sundays from 12 noon until 4 p.m. Both individual and family membership rates are available, along with discounts for students, seniors, law enforcement and military personnel. Information regarding the Wellness Center, Highlands Regional Medical Center and its comprehensive services are available online at www.hrmc.org.

PC offers guaranteed med school admission

PIKEVILLE — Pikeville College, in conjunction with the Pikeville College School of Osteopathic Medicine (PCSOM), is offering students a cooperative eight-year program (4+4) leading to a bachelor's degree and a Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine (D.O.) degree.

Applications to the College's Osteopathic Medical Scholars Program (OMSP) are open to qualified high school seniors. Selected students who participate in the program, maintain a required undergraduate GPA and achieve a required score on the MCAT are guaranteed admission to the medical school upon completion of their bachelor's degree and pre-med requirements.

"The Osteopathic Medical Scholars Program is one more example of the way Pikeville College is striving to serve the people of Eastern Kentucky," said President Paul Patton. "Our commitment to academic excellence and the career focus in our programs of study is an important part of our mission. We are pleased to offer this opportunity to prospective students."

OMSP applicants must apply as an incoming freshman, have a minimum 1200 SAT or 26 ACT, be in the top 10 percent of their graduating class or have earned a 3.75 GPA on a 4.0 scale and be a resident of Kentucky. Applications must be received by March 1.

Interviews will be conducted by PCSOM's Admissions Committee in March and April. Up to 10 scholars will be selected each year. After completion of the bachelor's degree program at the undergraduate college, scholars will be automatically admitted to the medical school if they have maintained a required cumulative and science GPA in undergraduate work, meet a required score on the MCAT and participate in program activities. Scholars will also participate in extracurricular health-related community service activities, community physician "shadowing," and pre-med club and PCSOM student activities. The OMSP does not carry a monetary award; however, applicants will be eligible to pursue other scholarship opportunities.

"We are excited to implement this new program for outstanding high school seniors who want to pursue a career in medicine and desire the opportunity to serve their communities in a significant way," said Boyd R. Buser, D.O., vice president and dean of the medical school. "The Osteopathic Medical Scholars Program will be an important step in helping us to continue to fulfill our mission of easing the physician shortage in rural and underserved areas of Kentucky and Appalachia." For more information on the Osteopathic Medical Scholars Program at Pikeville College call the admissions office at (606) 218-5251.

Pikeville College is an independent, four-year liberal arts and sciences college in the heart of central Appalachia. Founded in 1889 by Presbyterian ministers seeking to provide educational opportunities for mountain youth, the college has played an integral role in the educational, economic and cultural development of its service area for more than a century. Recently ranked as one of the top 20 medical schools in the nation in rural medicine by U.S. News & World Report, the Pikeville College School of Osteopathic Medicine was established in 1997 to provide men and women with an osteopathic medical education that emphasizes primary care, encourages research, promotes lifelong scholarly activity and produces graduates who are committed to serving the health care needs of communities in Eastern Kentucky and other Appalachian regions.

As part of a school-wide initiative, students at BLES have declared war on germs to combat the flu bug. Students are reminded each day during morning announcements of practical ways to fight germs, and the school's janitorial staff have doubled their efforts to disinfect high-traffic areas throughout the day. Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people to peaceably assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

Our View

Stay home for the holidays

With Christmas just around the corner, it is certain that most of us are caught up in the hustle and bustle of gift-shopping for our friends and family. But while you are busy buying presents for those you love, you might also consider giving a gift to the place you love.

We know what you're thinking. You're already too busy, with all of the shopping, the parties, the decorating, the visits, the charities and everything else going on. How you could you possibly add one more thing to your already overloaded schedule?

But this one is easy. You can help take care of your community while you do your regular Christmas shopping, as long as you do some of your shopping with our local merchants.

Certainly, with all of the must-have gadgets on the market today, most of us will travel to the big-city malls or head online to do a portion of our shopping. But if each of us makes a commitment to obtain at least a few of our holiday items with local merchants, we can make a significant impact on the health of our local economy.

Economic statistics show just how much of an impact we have in the shopping decisions we make. When you buy an item from a chain store, only 20 cents of your shopping dollar stays in the community. If you buy that same item from a "big box" retailer, the type that anchors shopping centers, that number drops to 6 cents.

However, when you buy from a locally-owned merchant, room-and-bop shops, ~~travay will~~ 60 cents of every dollar you spend stays in the community.

And while there is no statistic for this, we can just about guarantee that for every dollar you spend with an online merchant or at the malls in Lexington or Huntington, nary a penny of it makes its way back to Prestonsburg or Martin or Wheelwright.

So this holiday season, make a decision to do at least some of your Christmas shopping with our local merchants. You'll not only be able to cross a few items off your list close to home, but you'll be doing a favor for your community, and ultimately yourself.

Guest Column

House week in review

by REP. HUBERT COLLINS

Why is coal under attack? Coal is cheap. If it weren't, it wouldn't be used to produce more than half of the nation's electricity.

Coal is plentiful, ensuring that we Americans will have enough coal for the next 300 years at the current consumption rate. Contrast that with oil, which is considered to be in its twilight years with a global decline in production expected to begin within the next 20 years and coal looks pretty good.

Coal is definitely good for business. It keeps production costs low for manufacturers that use the fuel to make paper, chemicals, steel and even products like medicine and plastic that can be made from coal gas. Cheaper production in turn keeps consumer costs down, driving increased production and bigger profits.

If you live in Kentucky, coal is part of your history, your present and your future.

In the Commonwealth alone, coal employs more than 17,000 miners, produces about 97 percent of the state's electricity and makes a combined direct and indirect contribution of more than $12 billion to the state economy.

So why is this historic, abundant, productive and affordable fuel source under attack?

Because the federal government has allowed it to be under attack. And the attacks are getting worse under such destructive federal proposals as "Cap and Trade" — those three little words that convinced Ford Motor Co. to build its newest "World Car" assembly plant in Mexico where government officials assured Ford it would not have to conform to any carbon regulations.

Just recently, a Cap and Trade proposal was approved by the U.S. House of Representatives that would cripple coal by "limiting or capping" the amount of pollutants an industry can emit. Companies would be issued emission permits and be allowed to emit a specific amount of the pollutant, like carbon dioxide which is emitted by burning coal. The feds wasted no time labeling this common gas a pollutant when the new administration took over in January.

Once Cap and Trade takes effect, companies that want to exceed their cap must buy credits from companies that pollute less, increasing the cost of electricity for practically every Kentuckian and millions of other Americans.

But there is a problem with the Cap and Trade proposal. First of all, it would cripple the coal industry. Second, it would extend the recession. And last but not least, scientists themselves say there is no energy source in Kentucky or nationally that can replace fossil fuel, especially coal, as the nation's leading source of electricity production anytime in the near future.

Director Rodney Andrews of the University of Kentucky's Center for Applied Energy Research told state lawmakers as recently as last month that he expects coal and other fossil fuels to produce at least 40 to 50 percent of the nation's electricity for the foreseeable future. Renewable energy sources, like wind and solar, he explained, are not expected to be able to be produced at utility scale for quite some time.

Until scientists find out the best way to use renewable at utility scale, Andrews made it clear that regulations should not be passed declaring that "we know how to do that." He was speaking specifically about a rule proposed by the EPA last summer that would allow the agency to regulate carbon dioxide and other greenhouse gas emissions from thousands of coal-fired power plants and industrial plants nationwide.

Most of us know this rule as the first step toward the passage of Cap and Trade and related climate legislation in Congress.

If some folks favor popular scientific thought about climate change, perhaps they will also consider rational scientific thought by brilliant scientists like Andrews who are telling us in no uncertain terms that only coal and fossil fuels are capable of providing our state and our nation with the power we need to survive on a mass scale.

Next week, I will discuss what could happen under the Cap and Trade policies being proposed in Washington. Until then, have a good week.

"This may be the shortest drive of Tiger Woods' whole career."

Governor proclaims 'Give a Gift Made in Kentucky Month'

BEREA—As retailers hold their breath hoping to exceed last year's sales, First Lady Jane Beshear, along with regional artisans and dignitaries announced Gov. Steve Beshear's proclamation of December 2009 as "Give a Gift Made in Kentucky Month" in a ceremony held Monday at the Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea.

Local gallery owners, craftspeople, tourism staff, and business owners joined Tourism Arts and Heritage Cabinet Secretary Marcheta Sparrow, Deputy Secretary of the Tourism, Arts and Heritage Cabinet, Victoria Faoro, executive director of the Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea, Lori Meadows, executive director of the Kentucky Arts Council, Todd Lowe, chairman of the Kentucky Arts Council, and Ken Gastineau, Chairman of the Berea Tourism Commission to celebrate the Governor's proclamation making December 2009 the month to purchase and Give a Gift Made in Kentucky - an investment in Kentucky and its talented and creative people.

The proclamation read today by the First Lady states in part, "Kentucky craftsmanship produces the highest quality products, ranging from homemade blackberry jam to beautiful works of art; Kentucky is known around the world for its artisans and the quality crafts and arts they create - and buying Kentucky made products contributes significantly to quality of life in Kentucky."

It was appropriate that this ceremony was held in Berea, the Folk Arts & Crafts Capitol of Kentucky, where you can find a wide variety of craftsmen studios, galleries, shops and the Kentucky Artisan Center, all offering wonderful Kentucky made choices for holiday shopping. In Berea visitors can find Kentucky-made gifts at a wide array of shops including Appalachian Fireside Gallery, Fireside Gallery, Top Drawer Gallery, Log House Gallery, Honeysuckle Vine Gallery, 03, I Love My Stuff, Appalachian Arts & Craft Quilt Shop, Fish Wisdom Beads, The Kentucky Artisan Center, Family Tree, Pibbead, The Chocolate Factory, Estelle Jewelry, Home & Hearth Gallery, and the Old Town Candy Kitchen, or visit working artist studios such as Hosfeld Jewelry, Weavers Bottom, Pottery Pottery, Images of Santa, The Glass Studio, Gastineau Jewelry, Haley Daniels Woodworking, Mitchell Toile Studio and Gallery, Warren A. May Woodworker, Jimmy Lou Jackson's Hot Flash Beads, Berea College Student Craft, Tours and Jeannette's Jewelry, to name a few.

Statewide there are many other locations where Kentucky-made artisan works can be purchased. Some shops and galleries carry exclusively Kentucky-made works such as Completely Kentucky in Frankfort; True Kentucky in Glendale; Kentucky Haus in Newport; Taste of Kentucky in Louisville; DamselFly Gallery in Midway; Kentucky's Best in Owensboro; Kentucky Appalachian Artisan Center in Hindman, and the Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea.

Other places to find Kentucky made items are; among others, Artique, Lexington; Capital Gallery in Frankfort; Ann Tower Gallery, Lexington; and Cross Gate Gallery in Lexington, Cerlan Gallery and Studio and Savane Silver in Lexington; Be Be's Artisan Market in Paducah; The Cozy Corner in Whitesburg. In Louisville visit the Kentucky Museum of Art & Craft, B Deemer Gallery, Zephyr Gallery, Gallery Janjobe, Lionheart Gallery, Edenside Gallery, Gallery Hertz, and others. Or find unique items at the National Quilt Museum in Paducah; Rivers Edge Gallery in Erlanger, Shaker Village at Pleasant Hill, the Kentucky History Center Museum Store, as well as at many of the gift shops at Kentucky's State Parks.

The Kentucky Unbridled Spirit Gift Card is another way to purchase Kentucky-made gifts for that hard-to-buy person. Gift cards purchased at the Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea, can be used at other Tourism, Arts & Heritage Cabinet agencies such as the Kentucky Horse Park, the Kentucky Historical Society, and at all Kentucky State Parks. The card can be used for golf, dining or an overnight stay at a state park, admission to the Center for Kentucky History, a visit to the Horse Park, or to purchase works by the over 650 artisans who serve

Unbridled Spirit Gift Cards can be purchased at the Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea, the Kentucky Horse Park, the Kentucky Historical Society and its museum store, at all Kentucky State Parks, or by calling 1-800-255-PARK or by going online at www.unbridledspirit.com

The Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea is located at 975 Walnut Meadow Road, just off Interstate 75 at exit 77 (Berea). The Center's exhibits, shopping, and travel information areas are all open daily from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. and the café from 11 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Admission is free. The Center currently features works by more than 650 artisans from 100 counties across the Commonwealth. For more information call 859-985-5448 or visit the Center's web site: www.kentuckyartisancenter.gov

The Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea is an agency in the Kentucky Tourism, Arts & Heritage Cabinet.

Lindy Casebier, Deputy Secretary of the Tourism Arts & Heritage Cabinet, Victoria Faoro, Executive Director, Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea; Marcheta Sparrow, Secretary of the Tourism, Arts & Heritage Cabinet, First Lady Jane Beshear; Lori Meadows, Executive Director of the Kentucky Arts Council; and Todd Lowe, Chairman of the Kentucky Arts Council with Governor Steven L. Beshear's proclamation declaring December 2009 as Give a Gift Made in Kentucky month.

Social Security News: Help for the homeless

by JENNIFER HOPKINS
SERVICE REPRESENTATIVE
SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

Did you know that Social Security administers several programs that pay benefits to qualified individuals, including those who are homeless? These programs include retirement, disability and survivors insurance, as well as Supplemental Security Income (SSI), which is a needs-based program for people who are blind, disabled or age 65 or older. If you know someone who is homeless, and you want to learn more about how Social Security might help, a place to get information is at www.socialsecurity.gov/homelessness.

For example, there is a link to our Benefit Eligibility Screening Tool, or BEST. Based on answers to various questions, this tool helps determine the benefits someone might be eligible for and gives information about how to qualify and apply. Go directly to BEST at www.socialsecurity.gov/best.

The Spotlight on

Homelessness is a page designed to help the homeless apply for SSI. It's available at www.socialsecurity.gov/ssi/spodlights/spot-homeless.htm.

There are links to information on health care for the homeless, institutionalization, advocacy groups, reports on homeless outreach, and even links to other websites like the U.S. Interagency Council on Homelessness, disability-info.gov, govbenefits.gov, and HUD.

You can help us help the homeless. If you know someone who is homeless, take a look at our Service to the Homeless website and look through the information. Tell anyone you know who is homeless or threatened with homelessness to use the Benefit Eligibility Screening Tool, to visit our Service to the Homeless page, and to check out the different types of benefits and assistance they may be eligible to receive. Spread the word about the help available to the homeless.

Every American should have a place to call home. Visit www.socialsecurity.gov/homelessness to learn more.

For more information about online services just call your local Social Security Office in Prestonsburg at (606) 886-8525. The office is located at 1897 Kentucky Route 321 in Prestonsburg. Representatives are available to answer questions.

And remember, we have representatives available to give presentations and speeches about Social Security Programs. Contact the office for more information.

Four deaths on Ky. roads over holiday

FRANKFORT — Preliminary statistics indicate that four people died in four separate crashes on Kentucky roadways during the Thanksgiving holiday enforcement period, Wednesday, Nov. 25, through Sunday, Nov. 29. Last year there were 14 highway fatalities during the same time period.

All of the crashes involved motor vehicles and two victims were not wearing seat belts. Single-fatality crashes occurred in Carter, Perry, Warren and Webster counties. The crash in Webster County involved the suspected use of alcohol.

Through Nov. 29, preliminary statistics indicate that 702 people have lost their lives on Kentucky roadways during 2009. This is 40 fewer fatalities than reported for the same time period in 2008.

There were 568 motor vehicle fatalities and 314 of those victims were not wearing seat belts. Thirty-five pedestrians and five bicyclists have been killed. Seventy-eight fatalities involved a motorcycle and 15 fatalities involved an ATV. Seventy-one crashes involved a commercial motor vehicle. A total of 149 fatalities have resulted from crashes involving the suspected use of alcohol.

Citizens can contribute to highway safety by reporting erratic drivers to the Kentucky State Police toll-free at 1-800-222-5555. Callers will remain anonymous and should give a description of the vehicle, location, direction of travel and license number if possible.

These statistics are still preliminary as KSP waits for all local law enforcement agencies throughout the state to report any crashes and fatalities that may have occurred in their areas. Crash data for this report is generated from the Kentucky Fatality Analysis Reporting System (FARS).

Wood may rarely be used as a primary heat source today, but many homeowners continue to use fireplaces and wood-burning stoves to help reduce their use of other energy sources.

Wood can provide an economical and enjoyable way to heat your home, and it pays to know a thing or two about purchasing and using this natural resource.

The first question often asked is what kind of wood to buy. Knowing if a species is a high or low density wood can have a big impact on the amount needed. Low density woods such as yellow poplar, silver and red maples, and buckeye, contain a greater amount of air between the cell walls. High density species such as oak, black locust, hickory, ash and beech produce more heat per unit volume because they contain more wood and less air in their cellular structures. Moisture contents being equal, the more economical purchase will be high-density woods that generate more heat.

Another important factor to evaluate is how well the wood was seasoned. Wood comes from living plants which means they contain water. The moisture in unseasoned wood can account for up to 50 percent of its weight. Energy generated from burning wet wood goes toward evaporating the moisture within the wood itself and can greatly diminish its heat producing capacity. Seasoned wood has been allowed to air dry for six to 12 months which removes the largest percentage of water. Well-seasoned firewood is gray in color. It has splits in the ends of the logs and looks weathered. Round logs split into smaller sections yield more surface area and speed the drying process.

Knowledge of how firewood is measured is a third important piece of information to learn in order to get the most from your wood-burning dollars. Terms used for describing a volume of wood include cord, face cord, fireplace cord and rick. The size and shape of individual logs and how carefully they are stacked influences the actual volume regardless of the weight purchased. These terms are open for interpretation, and the best buy is a mutual agreement between the consumer and the seller. The purchase price also may include splitting, delivery and stacking.

Finally, if you plan to transport your purchased firewood, you need to estimate the weight of the load. Common high density species used for fuel wood, such as oak and hickory are extremely heavy per unit volume. Weights equaling 4,500 pounds can be quickly reached without using the full capacity of the truck or trailer used to transport the load.

The best firewood produces the greatest heat value at the lowest cost. For more information about firewood and fireplace and heating stove safety, contact Ray Tackett at the Floyd County Cooperative Extension Service at 886-2668.

Appeal

A 1911 call placed by Bettina Hunt that picked up a voice found to be Hunt's, saying, "Maybe if I shoot you..." and then a female voice found to be his wife's saying, "No, I promise" and "Stop - please stop!" During the same call there is another threat toward her and then portions where Bettina Hunt can be heard begging for her life, according to case history.

Other aspects of the case that were under appeal dealt with evidence that came out in trial. For instance, blood on Hunt's clothing that matched Bettina Hunt's, a shell casing found resting on a rubber window seal in the vehicle Hunt used to flee the scene, a juice bottle found on the kitchen counter of Bettina Hunt's home that was linked to Hunt and, most significantly perhaps, the murder weapon itself.

Hunt wrecked his vehicle shortly after leaving the scene, dropping it off a bridge, and was later helped by locals from the creek below. At that time, one witness said she saw Hunt drop something behind a tree. The gun used to kill Bettina Hunt was later located in the spot and casings found at the murder scene were later connected to the weapon.

Turner said he felt the case against Hunt was a tight one throughout the trial and so was not entirely surprised to have the conviction upheld. Still, considering it was a death sentence, Turner says it must have been near seamless.

"The history with these types of cases are that many times the appeals court will just look for technicalities to overturn," he said. "In this case, it was upheld. He (Hunt) was offered life without parole numerous times, in fact once during the trial. From that standpoint, he sentenced himself as far as I'm concerned. He had an opportunity and wouldn't do it."

Turner said he is sure there will be several more times when Hunt's conviction will be again examined, but for now he's just pleased to have seen this first appeal upheld.

Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Yates of Prestonsburg, are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ashley Nicole Akers, to Mr. Zethaniel Shepherd, son of Mrs. Karen Shepherd and the late Mr. Russell Shepherd of David, KY.

Ashley is a 2008 graduate from the University of Kentucky and is employed by Operation UNITE; she is currently pursuing graduate school through the University of Kentucky.

Zethaniel is a graduate from Sullivan University and is employed by Big Sandy Area Community Action Program.

The couple is planning a May 15th wedding at the Stumbo-Wilkinson Convention Center, located at Jenny Wiley State Park...and request that you save the date.

Filings

"I've served in an official position in Floyd County for most of my life and I love the people of this county and I'm hopeful they will reflect me."

Allen says he has not heard of any possible challengers who plan to file for his seat, but is ready for any possibilities.

"You never about that until the filing deadline," he said, laughing. "I've been here long enough to have run across some strange things. There was a man once who had said he was going to run all the way up until deadline. Then, on the night before deadline, he called me out of nowhere and told me he wasn't going to run. You just have to be prepared for whatever might happen."

In District 3, Magistrate Dwayne Daniels, who has just finished his first term on the fiscal court, picked up a challenger in longtime district resident, German Stumbo.

To date, candidate filings include:

State Representative, 97th District
Bill Mike Runyon.

Veterans

Kentucky Opry, along with education, professional and employment assistance.

Free hot dogs and snacks will be provided at the event, which is being sponsored by the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce, Prestonsburg Tourism Commission and the Mountain Arts Center.

Eagles defeat UVA-Wise

Combs pours in game-high 28 points for Alice Lloyd

TIMES STAFF REPORT

PIPPA PASSES - The Alice Lloyd Eagles came out of the gates strong and knocked off Appalachian Athletic Conference (AAC) foe University of Virginia-Wise 85-77 Tuesday, Nov. 24. The entertaining matchup took place before a large crowd at the Grady Nutt Athletic Center.

After losing to Wise by 29 points last month, ALC was determined not to have a repeat performance. Both clubs played hard in the first 20 minutes, but Alice Lloyd was able to quickly vault to a double-digit lead before settling for a 45-30 cushion at the intermission.

The Eagles maintained their inspired play into the second half and increased their lead to as much as 21 points.

With its back against the wall, UVA-Wise showed some determination, refusing to go away quietly. Sparked by a 15-4 run, UVA-Wise managed to cut the deficit to only nine points with 7:00 remaining.

Alice Lloyd needed a big play to reverse the momentum, and that was just what it got in the form of a clutch three-point field goal from junior guard Daniel Combs. His bucket ignited a 7-2 Eagle run which effectively ended the the Virginia team's last serious threat.

For ALC (2-4), three players reached double figures scoring. Combs shot extremely well and finished with a career-high 28 points. Junior forward Will Jones scored 12 points and sophomore guard Van Ferguson added 10 for the Eagles.

Four different players reached double figures scoring for the University of Virginia-Wise. Josh Jordan led the Cavaliers (3-4) with 15 points. Pance Kecev scored 14 points while Travis Berry and Norris Gaskins added 12 apiece for UVA-Wise.

Alice Lloyd will visit Pikeville on Saturday, Dec. 5. Tip-off for the Alice Lloyd-Pikeville game is slated for 8 p.m.

Blackcats fall to DeSales in Class 2A State Semifinals

by STEVE LEMASTER
SPORTS EDITOR

LOUISVILLE - Prestonsburg had its stellar season end one game shy of reaching the Class 2A state title game in Bowling Green Friday night. After carrying a 14-13 lead into halftime, Prestonsburg fell short in its bid to upend DeSales in the Class 2A State Semifinals. Playing inspired football in the second half, host DeSales moved out in front of Prestonsburg in the third quarter and never trailed again, defeating the Blackcats 33-28.

DeSales led 13-0 in the second quarter following a pair of scoring runs from Andrew Beeler, who ultimately rushed 23 times for 181 yards and two touchdowns in the state semifinal.

Prestonsburg, however, battled back.

After trailing 7-0 at the conclusion of the first quarter and 13-0 in the second period, Prestonsburg answered with some much-needed offense.

Burchett, who ended his football career at Prestonsburg with 3,133 yards and 39 touchdowns during his senior season, completed 25-of-38 passes for a school record 370 yards and four touchdowns. The Prestonsburg signalcaller, showing plenty of poise, shook off a pair of interceptions to lead Prestonsburg to a 14-13 halftime lead. Burchett connected with Josh Craynon on a 5-yard scoring pass in the second quarter. After Joseph Jamerson connected on an extra-point kick, DeSales clung to a 13-7 in the second period. The Prestonsburg offense returned to the endzone when Burchett connected with Tyler Hall on a 7-yard scoring pass. Prestonsburg forged out in front 14-14 before the intermission after Jamerson connected on his second straight extra-point kick.

DeSales with much more determination in the second half. The Colts secured a 26-22 lead in the third quarter at the 5:23 mark and never trailed again.

Burchett found fellow senior Josh Blackburn on a pair of touchdown tosses in the second half.

Prestonsburg drew within five points (33-28) of DeSales with 1:34 remaining but Beeler managed to recover an outside kick from the Blackcats.

Prestonsburg concluded one of its most successful seasons in school history 13-1.

Big start pushes Bears to 7-0

TIMES STAFF REPORT

PIKEVILLE - Pikeville College ran out to a 19-0 start and rolled past OSU-Marion 108-62 Saturday afternoon in the Mid-South Conference Challenge.

The Bears improved to 7-0, remaining the only unbeaten team in the MSC.

Pikeville got points and rebounds from 12 of the 13 players in uniform in the easy win, getting double doubles from two post players.

Junior Andre Thornton tossed in 21 points and pulled down 10 rebounds, seven of which were off of the offensive glass. Senior Maurice Thomas finished with 14 points and 10 rebounds, missing only one of seven field goal tries for the Bears.

Senior guard Jonathan Clark tossed in 21 points while pulling down five rebounds, handing out four assists and picking up three steals. Junior guard Justin Hicks (Hazard HS) tossed in 12 points while handing out four assists and recording four steals. OSU-Marion (1-6) also placed four players in double figures, led by sophomore Marcel Jackson, who had all but two of his 20 points in the first half. Rob Reese and Raymond McDuffie finished with 12 each. Luthario Jones netted 11 points.

Jackson had eight rebounds for the Scarlett Wave, who was out-rebounded 67-43.

Pikeville will return to the East Kentucky Expo Center on Wednesday night when NCAA Div. II member King College comes to town. Tip time is slated for 7 p.m.

Bellarmine ranked 19th in nation

TIMES STAFF REPORT

LOUISVILLE - The Bellarmine University men's golf team ended the fall season with a No. 19 ranking (Golfstat) in the nation and No. 4 in the Midwest region. The ranking is the highest ranking the Knights have had in 10 years.

The Bellarmine golf team competed in six tournaments and one match during the fall season. Bellarmine placed in the top 10 in four of the tournaments and defeated Northern Kentucky 570-578 in its lone match.

Prestonsburg High School graduate Brooks Herrick is a senior for the Bellarmine men's golf program.

The Knights will tee it up in March during the Northern Kentucky University Invitational at Pendleton Country Club in Butler.

Lady Blackcats sweep Williamson in Belfry panorama

P'burg girls to host Christmas tourney

TIMES STAFF REPORT

BELFRY - The Prestonsburg Lady Blackcats looked sharp on all levels over the weekend during a panorama game at Belfry against Williamson (W.Va.). The Prestonsburg junior varsity enjoyed a solid start and never looked back while playing pesky defense and hustling throughout the matchup. Prestonsburg won the junior varsity game in convincing fashion, defeating Williamson 38-18.

The Prestonsburg varsity unit was equally as impressive in its preseason outing. Prestonsburg defeated Williamson 42-28 in a varsity game.

The Lady Blackcats will open the season Friday, back on the road at Belfry. Prestonsburg will compete in a tournament at Bourbon County Dec. 11. The Lady Blackcats will host a Christmas Tournament Dec. 18-20 at the Fieldhouse. Head coach Jackie Day-Crisp guides the Prestonsburg girls' basketball program. Bobby Hackworth and Dan Compton are assistant coaches on the Prestonsburg girls' basketball staff.

Lady Eagles outlast visiting Virginia-Wise

TIMES STAFF REPORT

PIPPA PASSES — Trailing 17 points with 15:00 remaining in the Appalachian Athletic Conference (AAC) contest, Alice Lloyd College mounted a furious comeback and knocked off the University of Virginia-Wise 107-104 Tuesday, Nov. 24.

The Lady Cavaliers rode a flurry of successful long-range shots to build a 59-45 lead by intermission. Wise opened the second half on fire, and five minutes into the second stanza, ALC maintained a 17-point lead.

At this point, Alice Lloyd began to slowly eat into the deficit as Wise's hot shooting finally cooled off. Sparked by guard play of Gemma Gray and Brece Frazier, combined with inside work from Nicole Bates and Alison Feltner, Alice Lloyd connected on several high shots to gain some much-needed momentum.

As the game entered crunch time, Alice Lloyd had trimmed the deficit to only five (95-90). The Lady Eagles took their first lead (102-101) when Feltner connected from inside the paint with 1:15 remaining. On the ensuing possession, Wise connected on a three-pointer to gain a 104-102 lead. Bates then tied the contest for the Lady Eagles with 32 seconds remaining. Wise had the ball with the opportunity to hold for one shot.

Rather than run the clock down, however, Wise went for a quick hitter that missed the mark. Feltner corralled the rebound for ALC and was fouled. The sophomore calmly sank two free throws to give her club a 106-104 advantage. On its next possession, Wise lost the ball and the Lady Eagles received possession. Gray was then fouled at the 3.5 mark for the Lady Eagles. The sophomore drained 1-of-2 free throw attempts. Wise's Amber Carter furiously rushed down the court looking to get off a shot but her 35-footer was off at the buzzer.

Gray led Alice Lloyd (3-6) with a game-high 26 points. Lutes followed with 20 points for the Lady Eagles. Feltner flipped in 19 points and Frazier added 12 for the Alice Lloyd women's basketball team.

Carter paced Wise offensively, scoring 17 points. Ayla Young added 14 points for the Lady Cavaliers (3-4). Jaydee Brewer and Charlotte Reasor pushed in 11 points apiece while and Chelsea Cluesman added 11 for the Wise women's basketball team.

Another test from an area team looms for the Lady Eagles.

Alice Lloyd will host Pikeville on Thursday (Dec. 3) at the Grady Nutt Athletic Center.

ALLEN CENTRAL was hosting former head coach Johnny Martin and Pike County Central Tuesday night in a season-opener. A recap of the game will appear in Friday's edition.

Late layup gives Union win over Lady Bears

TIMES STAFF REPORT

PIKEVILLE — A three-point shot to win at the buzzer rattled out and Union College escaped with a 78-76 win over the Pikeville College Lady Bears Saturday afternoon.

Union (6-2) had taken a lead on a layup from All-American Brooke Smith with nine seconds to go, setting up Pikeville's last chance. A three-point shot by sophomore Megan Mosley (Knott County Central HS) fell off as the horn sounded, giving the visiting Bulldogs the win.

Pikeville (6-3) got 29 points and eight rebounds from junior Natiera Hinton before she fouled out with four minutes remaining. Hinton joined junior Whitney Compton who had fouled out with nine points and eight rebounds — on the Pikeville bench.

Smith paced Union with 32 points on seven rebounds. Senior Carley Blankenship followed with 10 points and six rebounds to go along with a team-high six assists.

Mosley finished with 13 points and eight assists. Playing out of a reserve role, junior Lauren Potts added 10 points and six rebounds for the Lady Bears, which edged Union on the glass 38-35.

Pikeville shot 47.4 percent from the field and hit 46.2 percent (6-of-13) from the arc. The Lady Bears finished 69.6 percent from the free throw line, but in the second half, hit only 9-of-15. Meanwhile, Union was 11-of-13 from the stripe in the second half to help secure the win.

The Lady Bears will return to action on Thursday night when they visit Alice Lloyd. Pikeville will be looking for a sweep of the three-game season series over its regional rival. The Lady Bears will then return home on Friday night to play Morris College. Tip-off for the Pikeville-Morris game is set for 7 p.m. at the Pikeville College Gym.

PRESTONSBURG finished the 2009 season 13-1 following the loss to DeSales in the Class 2A State Semifinals Friday night. Senior quarterback Michael Burchett passed for over 3,100 yards and 39 touchdowns during his senior season.

Pikeville pounces Ohio State-Mansfield

TIMES STAFF REPORT

FRANKFORT — Seven players reached double figures in the scoring column as Pikeville College blistered the Bears for 67 percent shooting in a 28-9 win over outmatched Ohio State-Mansfield. The game was the second of eight contests played Friday in the Mid-South Conference Challenge at the Frankfort Convention Center. MSC teams played on back-to-back days in the debut event.

Pikeville improved to 6-0 at the first time since the 2004-05 season. That particular Pikeville team lost its seventh game to Brevard College. This edition of Bears will try for their seventh win to start the season against OSU-

Marion at 12:30 on Saturday. The Scarlet Wave lost the day's opener to St. Catharine 96-51.

Not only did the Bears shoot 66.7 percent for the game, but also they were over 80 percent until midway through the first half, exploding out to a lead that would be 67-30 by recess. Pikeville then scored 25 of the first 26 second-half points as Kelly Wells substituted liberally in the game. Every player in uniform logged at least 12 minutes, and all three playing that amount are in the regular rotation for the Bears.

Senior Josh Samarco paced Pikeville with 18 points. Seniors Anthony Smith and Jonathan Clark netted 16 points apiece. Senior Adam Simmons tossed in 15 points and pulled down seven rebounds for the balanced Bears. Junior Ryan Whitaker and sophomore Kane Belcher chipped in 11 points while senior Maurice Thomas added 10 as part of the convincing Pikeville win.

Pikeville won the rebounding battle 48-23. The Bears recorded 25 assists to only nine turnovers.

Pikeville forced its Ohio opponent into making numerous miscues. Mansfield committed 25 turnovers in the setback.

Freshman Tim Stokolich led the Mavericks (1-6) with 24 points. Shannon Catron came in off of the bench and added eight points.

Austin Martin, an 11-year-old from Teaberry, claimed his first deer, a 10-point buck, Nov. 22 on his uncle's farm in Floyd County.

Snyder resigns from position as Marshall football coach

TIMES STAFF REPORT

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. — Marshall University Head Football Coach Mark Snyder announced his intention to resign Sunday.

"I met with Mike Hamrick (Director of Athletics) extensively today and we discussed our football program. I feel that it was in the best interest of our program for me to announce my intent to resign my position," Snyder said. "It has been an honor to be the coach here and I will always be appreciative of the opportunity my university gave me.

"I want to thank all of the fans for their support and all of my players and assistant coaches for their hard work and dedication. I wish the program nothing but the best."

Snyder, a 1988 Marshall graduate, has served as head coach for the past five seasons at his alma-mater and has a career record of 2-37.

"I want to thank Mark for his five years of service to Marshall University," Hamrick said. "He is a Marshall guy and we wish him the best in his future endeavors."

Hamrick confirmed that a search for a new head coach will begin immediately and to protect the integrity of the search he will not comment on any aspect of it during the process.

Fulmer among candidates for Louisville job: Former University of Tennessee head coach Phil Fulmer is among the coaches on a long list for the Louisville head coach position. Louisville let Steve Kragthorpe go following a 15-21 showing. The Cardinals ended the 2009 season 4-8.

BOWLING AMBASSADOR

Brandon Christopher Taylor was chosen to compete in a sports competition in Vienna, Austria with the People to People program over the summer. Taylor and other students from around the United States were chosen to represent the nation in the People to People Friendship Games in July. He completed in bowling, earning the name "Kentucky" since he was the only participant from the state to compete in the sport. He received a perfect performance athletic evaluation and college credit. Gearheart Communications and the Upper Toler Church of Christ helped to make the trip possible for the Floyd County student. Taylor is the son of Chandrea Lea Taylor and the late Daniel R. Taylor of Harrod. He is the grandson of Charles and Towana Frause of Harrod and Dennis R. Taylor of Pikeville.

Wall earns more league, national accolades

TIMES STAFF REPORT

LOUISVILLE — University of Kentucky men's basketball player John Wall was named the SEC Freshman of the Week as announced by the league office on Monday.

Wall, a 6-4 guard from Raleigh, N.C., averaged 19.0 points, 5.5 assists and 4.0 rebounds in leading the Wildcats to the Cancun Challenge championship. He was named the tournament MVP after he scored a career-high 23 points in leading Kentucky to a 73-65 overtime victory against Stanford in the finals of the Cancun Challenge. He hit a jumper with 30 seconds left in regulation to tie the score and then knocked down two free throws with 2.4 seconds left to send the game into overtime.

The honor was the second straight SEC Freshman of the Week honor for Wall. The Wildcats have won all three weekly freshman honors from the conference office this season, beginning with Eric Bledsoe in the first week and Wall the last two weeks. Junior Patrick Patterson was also named the league's Player of the Week last week giving the Wildcats four SEC Player/Freshman of the week awards this season.

Wall was also named the ESPN.com National Player of the Week last week.

Blackcats

The John DeRossett-coached Blackcats compiled a perfect 10-0 regular-season record.

Blackburn led Prestonsburg in receiving, catching three passes for 120 yards and two touchdowns. Blackburn was one of two Prestonsburg players to score in a pair of games. Receivers Josh Craynon netted 86 yards and scored a pair of touchdowns on six catches for the Blackcats. Austin McKinney was the second-leading receiver yards-wise for the Blackcats, making a game-high nine catches for 111 yards.

DeSales held Prestonsburg to minus-four yards rushing.

On the defensive side, Alex Griffith and Trevor Stovall recorded a team-high 12 tackles apiece for the Blackcats. Numerous Prestonsburg defenders stepped up and played well against a fast, strong and very athletic DeSales offense. McKinney, a leader for the Prestonsburg defensive unit, exited the field with 11 tackles. Zack Key and Alex Garner collected 10 tackles apiece for the Blackcats.

DeSales (11-3) will play Fort Campbell (11-3) in the Class 2A state championship game.

EASY ELEGANT Holiday Entertaining WITH AMERICAN LAMB

Pecan Crusted Rack of Lamb

Roasted Leg of American Lamb With Feta Vinaigrette

Serves 8 to 10

- 1 6 to 7-pound boneless leg of lamb
- 1 pint plain Greek yogurt
- 1 tablespoon curry powder
- 4 cloves minced garlic
- 1 teaspoon kosher salt

Mix all marinade ingredients together and rub over lamb. Marinate overnight in fridge.
Preheat oven to 375°F.
Place lamb on roasting rack in a roasting pan. Roast lamb for approximately 2 hours and 20 minutes or until the internal temperature reaches desired doneness. Once lamb is removed from oven, let it rest for 15 minutes. Slice to desired thickness and top with feta vinaigrette. Serve with roasted fingerling potatoes and green beans.

Feta Vinaigrette

- 1/2 cup juice from 2 lemons
- 2 ounces red wine vinegar
- 1/2 bunch parsley, chopped
- 4 ounces extra virgin olive oil
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 1/2 pound feta cheese (coarsely crumbled)

In a bowl mix together all ingredients except cheese. Add cheese at the end.

American Lamb Lollipops With Minted Tomato Sauce

Serves 8

- 1/2 cup Dijon mustard
- 1 tablespoon balsamic vinegar
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 2 tablespoons minced fresh rosemary
- 3 garlic cloves, minced
- 1/2 teaspoon kosher salt
- 2 frenched racks of lamb

Combine mustard, balsamic vinegar, oil, rosemary, garlic and salt. Place lamb in a roasting or sheet pan with the ribs curving down, and coat the tops with mustard mixture. Allow to stand for 1 hour at room temperature.

Preheat oven to 450°F.

Roast lamb for 20 minutes. Remove from oven and cover with aluminum foil. Allow to sit for 15 minutes, then cut into individual ribs and serve with sauce.

Minted Tomato Sauce

- 1 clove garlic, crushed with a little salt
- 1/4 cup water
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 1/2 teaspoon dried oregano
- 1 to 2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
- 2 to 3 tomatoes, crushed
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon chopped mint

Combine all ingredients in food processor and blend for 1 minute.

American Lamb Roasts for Holiday Entertaining

Perfect for relaxed entertaining, American Lamb roasts make a great holiday meal for sharing with family and friends. Nothing could be easier than roasting lamb. While lamb roasts need to cook slow and low, they take very little preparation time, allowing you to spend time with your guests while the lamb cooks to perfection!

Leg of lamb is a popular and traditional roast and is readily available at most grocery stores during the holidays. Shoulder roast and boneless loin roasts are also great options but may need to be special ordered by your grocery store or butcher.

Tips

Let the lamb roast rest for 10 to 15 minutes until the internal temperature reaches the ideal temperature. A cooling period will allow the meat's juices to settle and make carving easier.

Serve lamb's roasts family style with carved, sliced meat arranged on a large platter with fresh herbs and roasted vegetables.

For more recipes and cooking information visit americanlamb.com.

FAMILY FEATURES

Nothing says special celebration like elegant, delicious American Lamb. Whether it's a holiday feast or an intimate family dinner, American Lamb is elegant yet easy to prepare. From the traditional leg roast to the quintessential rack, there's a lamb dish for every holiday occasion. American Lamb's unique, rich flavor can make any meal seem special and will make your family and friends feel especially appreciated.

Rack of Lamb — a Show-Stopping Favorite

An impressive presentation that is surprisingly easy to prepare at home, the rack offers versatility for holiday entertaining. The rack of lamb is an icon of fine dining menus across the country. Serving a rack of lamb during the holidays makes it easy to have an effortless, restaurant quality meal at home.

Rack Lingo

Lollipops — the rack is cut into individual chops and trimmed of all fat for an appetizer that is simple to make, impressive to present, and easy to eat right off the bones.
Frenched — A few inches of meat removed from the end of the bones, creating an attractive presentation.

Tips

For a holiday party, cook two rack roasts at a time; they will fit side by side in most roasting pans and two rack roasts will feed 8 people. Serve the two racks interlaced with fresh herbs twisted around the bones for a show stopping presentation.

Pecan Crusted Rack of Lamb With Rosemary Balsamic Sauce

Serves 8

- 2 frenched racks of lamb
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons coarse grain mustard
- 2 cloves minced garlic
- 3/4 cup fresh bread crumbs
- 3/4 cup toasted and chopped pecans
- 4 tablespoons chopped fresh rosemary, divided
- 4 ounces semi-soft goat cheese, crumbled
- 1 cup balsamic vinegar

Preheat oven to 325°F. Rub lamb with oil and salt. Place in roasting pan, fat side down. Roast 8 minutes. Turn and continue roasting 8 minutes. Remove from oven, let cool 5 minutes.
Combine mustard, bread crumbs, garlic, pecans, 2 tablespoons rosemary, and goat cheese. Spread over lamb. Return to oven and cook 15 minutes until crust is golden. Add balsamic sauce and cover with foil to keep warm.
In saucepan, combine balsamic vinegar and remaining 2 tablespoons rosemary and let simmer for 6 to 8 minutes or until reduced to half.
Slice lamb into individual chops and drizzle sauce over chops. Serve with roasted butternut squash.

EVERYBODY'S SCIENCE

Bring on the grapefruit!

by SANDY MILLER HAYS
AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH SERVICE

I'm already making out my Christmas wish-list and checking it twice -- for Christmas 2010.

No, I didn't lose my calendar and I haven't broken my reading glasses. However, I just read about some research that may take a little while to pay off, but I am patient, oh-so-patient, because I've already waited many long years for this particular piece of good news.

You see, I love grapefruit and grapefruit juice. I don't mean I'm just mildly fond of those items; I love them. My mouth waters when I get those mail-order offers for glorious red grapefruits the size of bowling balls, and I have to avert my eyes in the juice aisle at the grocery store as I walk past those gorgeous shiny jugs of delicately pink grapefruit juice.

Why do I deny myself such a wonderful, healthful treat? Here's the problem: I take cholesterol medicine.

In case you don't get the connection, here's the whole sad tale in a nutshell: Grapefruit contains natural compounds called furanocoumarins (thankfully known as "FCs" for short). Those FCs can inhibit the enzymatic activity responsible for the body's ability to metabolize certain prescribed medication -- in other words, the body's ability to take up more of the medication in the bloodstream and get the most good out of it.

"Aha!" I hear you saying. "But I don't take cholesterol medication." But you still may not be off the hook, because there's a wide range of medications that FCs can affect: medicines for allergies, abnormal heart rhythm, depression, hypertension, infections and heart disease. I'm not saying grapefruit juice wreaks havoc on every medication used to treat every one of these problems -- but if you're not sure about your medication, it might be worth checking with your doctor.

I didn't find out about this little twist on the grapefruit tale until a friend of mine underwent a heart transplant. He mentioned in passing that he'd had to give up grapefruit juice because of its possible interference with some of the double-handful of drugs that he now has to take every day, for the rest of his life, to ensure that his body's own immune system doesn't reject his new heart as an "invader."

Not all FCs are bad news. In fact, FCs are really just phytochemicals commonly found in plants, and two of the best known are vitamins C and E (both of which I pop every day, as a matter of routine).

So where's the good news in this story? Here it is: Two Agricultural Research Service (ARS) scientists in Florida have found that fungi could help solve this problem: grapefruit compound complications. The scientists began their study using a fungus called Aspergillus niger to bind and break down the FCs in grapefruit juice.

It seems that grapefruit juice contains three main FCs. The ARS scientists found that A. niger either binds up these FCs or uses enzymes to break them down into other products. The enzymatic inactivation of these compounds could be a means of eliminating them from commercial grapefruit juice, so work is under way to identify these specific enzymes in A. niger.

In case you're wondering about whether we're trading the devil we know for the devil we don't know, A. niger is one of the most common species of the fungal genus Aspergillus, and yes, it can cause black mold on certain fruits and vegetables, but it's not a known culprit in human disease.

The scientists went a bit further afield and tried putting edible fungi (that's mushrooms to us) in the grapefruit juice. They found that when they dried and pulverized morel, oyster and even everyday button mushrooms and added the mushrooms to grapefruit

KDMC offering free vascular screening at Pikeville

PIKEVILLE — A free vascular screening for those 50 and older will be offered at the King's Daughters Medical Specialties — Pikeville, beginning at 8:30 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 3, at 5425 North Mayo Trail, Suite 202, in Pikeville. KDMC physician assistant James Dalton will review patient results. The screening includes lipid profile (fasting required), ankle brachial index (ABI), blood glucose and an electrocardiogram (EKG).

A lipid profile (blood test) gives a breakdown of good and bad cholesterol levels. Ankle brachial index (ABI) is a measurement of blood pressure at the ankle to check for signs of peripheral artery disease (PAD). Blood glucose screening checks the level of sugar in the blood. An electrocardiogram (EKG) is a non-invasive test to measure electrical activity in the heart by attaching electrodes to the skin. Additional screening guidelines may apply, which help us see those most at risk for vascular disease. Space is limited and appointments are required by calling 1.888.377.KDMC (5362). Recent studies show that more than 80 million people in the United States have one or more forms of cardiovascular disease. Better lifestyle habits combined with early medical intervention may help reduce your risk for heart attack and stroke. This vascular screening is provided free by KDMC, in cooperation with the Kentucky Heart Foundation (KHF). KHF is a nonprofit organization working to improve the life expectancy of people affected by cardiovascular disease. The foundation oversees cardiac research, education and prevention programs and is closely linked with the heart and vascular specialists at KDMC.

Dr. Thomas Matijasic, professor of history at Big Sandy Community and Technical College, was recently appointed to the Perryville Battlefield Commission.

APPOINTMENT WITH HISTORY

Local professor named to Perryville Battlefield Commission

by JARRID DEATON
FEATURES WRITER

PRESTONSBURG — Dr. Thomas D. Matijasic, professor of history at Big Sandy Community and Technical College, was recently appointed by Gov. Steve Beshear to the Perryville Battlefield Commission, a group dedicated to preserving the history of the Civil War conflict that took place in Perryville, Kentucky.

Matijasic, of Hager Hill, replaces Robert E. Martin, of Danville, as a member representing academic scholars and the public.

According to historical information, the battle that took place in Perryville on Oct. 8, 1862, was the largest and most significant battle fought in Kentucky during the Civil War. More than 849 Union soldiers were killed and 2,800 were wounded. Confederate forces lost 510 men along with more than 2,600 wounded. The battle ended in a stalemate with Confederate General Braxton Bragg's troops forced to end the campaign in Kentucky after the battle and retreat back to Tennessee.

A portion of the battlefield is owned by the state, and a museum is maintained in the park. A reenactment of the battle takes place every October. The park itself covers 600 acres of land in Boyle County. The site became part of the park system in 1936. More than 7,000 acres of land at Perryville have been recognized as a National Historic Landmark. The area reportedly receives 100,000 visitors per year.

Matijasic's term on the Perryville Battlefield is scheduled to last until May of 2013.

For more information on the Battle of Perryville, including the dates for the reenactment, visit <http://www.perryvillebattlefield.org>.

Record number of Americans go hungry

WASHINGTON, D.C. — More than one in seven, or 14.6 percent of American households, suffered from food insecurity in 2008, according to the most recent data on hunger released Nov. 16 by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The 3.5 percentage point increase from 2007 is the largest one-year increase since the USDA first began publishing data in 1998.

"The data released today is not surprising," said Bread for the World president David Beckmann. "What should really shock us is that almost one in four children in our country lives on the brink of hunger." According to the report, in 2008, 16.7 million children, or 22.5 percent, were food insecure — 4.3 million more than the year before. "We must make serious progress against child hunger when Congress

The most recent data was released just as Agriculture Secretary Vilsack testifies before the Senate about the administration's priorities for reauthorization of child nutrition programs. President Barack Obama set the ambitious but achievable goal of ending child hunger by 2015, and Vilsack is charged with making it a reality.

Beckmann pointed to skyrocketing unemployment and SNAP participation as a barometer of food security. "With millions of Americans losing their jobs, participation in SNAP has reached record levels as more families are in need of food assistance," he said. More than 36 million people, half of them children, received SNAP benefits in August 2009 — a 24 percent increase since the same time last year.

"Child hunger is not just a casualty of the recession. It was a problem before the recession, and unless we take the necessary steps, kids will continue to suffer after the economy recovers," Beckmann said. Even before the recession, researchers estimated that nearly half of all children, and 90 percent of African American children, will receive SNAP benefits by the age of 20, according to a study recently published in an American Medical Association journal.

"The recession has made the problem of hunger worse, and it has also made it more visible," Beckmann said. "Increased public awareness and the administration's commitment gives me hope. To end hunger, our leaders need to strengthen nutrition programs and provide steady jobs that allow parents to escape the cycle of poverty and feed their families for years to come."

The job-creating potential of "greening" the U.S. economy is the subject of Bread for the World Institute's 2010 Hunger Report: A Just and Sustainable Recovery, which will be released on November 23. The report explores how the worst recession in 75 years can be the catalyst for a historic shift in the economy that creates sustainable opportunities for low-income Americans to work their way out of poverty and provide for their families.

For state facts on child nutrition programs and a state-by-state data on food security, unemployment, and SNAP participation, visit www.bread.org/foodsecurity.

Thirty Years Ago (December 12, 1979)

The Paintsville Hospital is taking Highlands Regional Medical Center and the licensing board to court over the granting of a certificate of need to HRMC to expand its facility by 47 beds, thereby blocking Paintsville Hospital's application for a new building, before even hearing Paintsville's request.

According to CPA Bill Bottoms, the school district has a "reasonable" chance of ending the current fiscal year in the black. A $640,000 deficit was reduced to $199,000 last year and is being further reduced at a rate "well in advance of the schedule." Following a September review of Floyd County's compliance with the federal Education for Handicapped Children Act, the state began for the Education of Exceptional Children, cut the school district for numerous deficiencies.

Joe McCauley, executive-director of the Big Sandy ADD, and Edward Collins, administrator of the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital, both expressed their concern over the Floyd Fiscal Court hiring an Atlanta-based grants writing firm which recently secured an HEW grant for $41,000 for McDowell ARH for a fee of $19,000.

Fifty Years Ago (December 10, 1959)

Floyd County's Bert T. Combs, became Governor of Kentucky, Tuesday, with his formal inauguration marked by all the color and pageantry traditional to the occasion. A yellow flag at the northern end of the Second Avenue fill marks the point at which a road linking the Mountains with the Blue Grass will enter Prestonsburg, the eastern terminus of a gigantic new highway building project. The road, the Mountain Parkway, is the product of work and planning by the state's new governor, Bert Combs.

Dedication of the Community Methodist Church in the Porter Addition here will be held Sunday, Dec. 13.

Spokesperson for the event said he expects to spend in excess of $200,000.00 this week for vintage items and precious metals from local residents. Here are some examples of what is going on in the event that started yesterday in the Hampton Inn.

One person sold an old Gibson guitar that was purchased in the 1960's for less than $250.00 to a collector at the event for $2175.00

Another person had a pocket watch collection that sold for $4600.00., with one of the watches in this collection bringing $375.00 of the $4600.00 talley.

A husband and wife brought in a box of old Jewelry, wristwatches, coins, and two German daggers from WW2 and left $785.00 richer.

This is cool that something like this would come here to our town. Where else would this stuff ever be sold? The refinery has teamed up with the collectors for a 24 month tour of the United States, both big and small towns to dig up hidden gems.

Silver and Gold Coin Prices Up During Poor Economy.

Collectors and Enthusiasts in Pikeville with $200,000 to Purchase Yours!

By CHRISTINA BUTLER
STAFF WRITER

Got Coin? It might be just the time to cash in. This week starting Tuesday and continuing through Saturday the International Collectors Association in conjunction with the Ohio Valley Gold & Silver Refinery will be purchasing all types of silver and gold coins direct from the public. All types are welcome and the event is free.

Collectors will be on hand to identify and sort your coins. Then the quality or grade will be determined. The better the grade the more they are worth according to collectors I talked to. With the silver and gold markets high prices of older coins are too. Any coins minted before 1965 in the U.S. are 90% silver except nickels and pennies.

The coins worth is determined by the rarity and the grade. Old silver dollars are worth a great premium right now even well worn heavy circulated ones are bringing good premiums. Franklin and Kennedy halves, Washington quarters, Mercury and Roosevelt dimes are all worth many times the face value. While older types like Seated Liberty, Standing Liberties, and Barber coins are worth even more.

Gold coins are really worth a lot right now according to Brian Eades of the International Collectors Association. This country didn't start minting coins until 1792 says Eades. Before that people would trade goods using gold dust and nuggets. Some shop keepers would take more gold than needed to pay for items purchased. There was no uniform system of making change. The government opened the first mints and began distributing the coins in 1792. By the beginning of the 19th century coins and paper currency were wide spread and our monetary system was here to stay. In 1933 Roosevelt required all banking institutions to turn in all gold coins. Once all banks turned in this gold the president raised the gold standard from $20.00 per ounce to $33.00 per ounce. This was his way of stimulating the economy during the great depression. However gold coins were never redistributed after the recall. Not all gold coins were turned in. Many folks during that time didn't completely trust the government and choose to keep their gold.

These gold coins are sought after by collectors today and bring many times the face value. Any gold coins with the mint marks of CC, D or O will bring nice premiums. Collectors at the event will be glad to show you where to look. Other types of coins will also be purchased including foreign coins, Indian head cents, two cent pieces, half dimes, three cent pieces and buffalo nickels to name a few.

Collectors warn people against trying to clean their coins as significant damage can be done and the coins value lessened.

Items we will accept include:
Scrap Jewelry
Dental Gold
Sterling Silverware
Sterling Silver Tea Sets
Silver Dollars
All Coins Dated before 1965
Industrial Scrap
All forms of Platinum

Dozens cash in yesterday with jewelry, railroad watches and guitars. An estimated $200,000 in Pikeville!

By CHRISTINA BUTLER
STAFF WRITER

The first day of the 5 day reclamation drive in Pikeville was a hit with those looking to sell their gold and silver. Representatives were on hand Tuesday purchasing all types of unwanted and broken jewelry. An estimated 55 people left the event with over $200 dollars from old class rings, wedding bands, herringbones, and gold teeth. Coins dated before 1965 were bringing big premiums as well. Silver dollars, halves and quarters arrived in large quantities. Lots of gold coins were also brought in. Rebecca Hughes walked away with over $1200.00 after selling an original $20 gold piece from 1888.

On the other side of the room were representatives from the Antique Association. They were purchasing all types of guitars, large currency bills dated before 1923, military items and pocket watches. One watch was purchased by a collector in Montana for $835 dollars. There were piles of sterling silver items like old silverware sets and tea pots. One gentleman rolled a cart in with 3 boxes full of silver coins. Company officials reported spending over $80,000 the first day of the event, alone. Brian Eades with Ohio Valley said "we have had an overwhelming turnout this first day and we expect to get busier every day this week". The event continues today and runs through Saturday. The event is free and the public is welcome.

Items of Interest:

Vintage Guitars:
Martin, Gibson, Fender, National, Rickenbacker, Gretsch, Mandolins, Banjos and others

Pocket Watches:
Hamilton, Illinois, Waltham, Patek Phillippe, Ball, Howard, South Bend, Elgin and others

Hundreds of phone calls from local residents this week to the corporate office of the Ohio Valley Gold and Silver Refinery pour in inquiring about items to be purchased all this week by the team of antique buyers that is on site with OVGSR.

The team of buyers this week are purchasing a vast array of vintage items (see below) along with the coins, gold jewelry, and sterling silver items the refinery deals in. It is a Local shot in the arm for our economy. The spokesperson for the event expects to spend in excess of $200,000.00 this week at the Hampton Inn paying local residents on the spot. The spokesperson for the company has explained that these collectors are paying collector price for the vintage items and it's great way for people to get a great value for their items.
