Sheriff's office nets four in roundup

by SHELDON COMPTON STAFF WRITER

EASTERN – Just before noon yesterday a half-dozen or more sheriff's cruisers pulled onto Route 80 following Floyd County Sheriff John K Blackburn's unmarked vehicle toward Eastern. -The long line of cruiseft's led' by Blackburn might have Sig?-naled to some travelers and onlookers that another drug roundup was underway some-where in the county.

where in the county. They would have been right.

Blackburn led his officers to Gold Howard Loop Road, a small road of about half a dozen homes adjacent to Allen Central High School, and to the front door of Dwayne Pack. Pack, 51, would be the first of four Floyd County residents to be arrested yesterday by the sheriff's department during a sweep of suspects. He was "charged with third-degree traf-ficking in a controlled substance as of midday, with possible other charges pending following. "We've arrested Pack or charges of doctor shopping and trafficking before," Blackburn said outside Pack's home yester-day, "He told us while we were bringing him out that he had just did 27 months in jail." Blackburn's officers had made several undercover buys from Pack, be said. Three others were arrested yesterday in a roundup that Blackburn said would be continu-uing today. Christopher Hopkins, 25, was taken into custody at his home in Tram during the roundup.

PRESTONSBURG -- Some 100 people will now be-secing a settlement in a lawsii through against Grizzly Processing and Frasure Creek Mining following; fol-lowing a recent court decision in their favor. The lawsuit was filed against the two operations by Prestonsburg attorney Ned Pillersdorf on behalf of Honnie and Richard Crisp, along with more than 100 others. The defendants were each awarded a settlement based on claims that their homes were damaged due to a nearby coal washing facility operated at various points by the two companies and damages occurred to nearby roads used in hauling coal to and from the facil-ty.

However, Pillersdorf says he has needed to file a motion to push Grizzly Processing Mining to make

By JAHHID DEATON FEATURES WHITEH MARTIN – A new pump sta-tion will be the difference between people in the Left Beaver area being with or with-out water, according to Judge-Executive R.D. 'Doc' Marshall. "It will mean volumes to the people that live in this area," Marshall said. "I'm excited because I know it's an improve-ment in our county." The pump station is part of a $755,000 project that includes a new tank that holds over 300,000 gallons of water in the Price area. The project, funded by a grant from the Center for Rural Development and a loan, is expected to be completed within the next two weeks. "This will supply water to the people of Left Beaver," said Hubert Halbert, chairman of the Southern Water and Sewer District. "This is a large'r pump that will be able to move more water. We had a problem during the winter where we couldn't provide water to some people in this area for over a week. Hello, my name is Hattie Owens. Following the recent death of my husband, JACKIE EDFORD OWENS, Magistrate of District 2, our entire family wants to thank everyone for the overwhelming support and comfort provided to us during our tragic loss. Your words of comfort, stories, tears and hugs will always be cherished. The people of Floyd County and District 2 held a special place in Jackie's heart, which is why he worked tirelessly to provide the services they rightfully deserved. Jackie Owens would want the people of District 2 to have a QUALIFIED person to stand up for and serve the people of District 2.

This is why I am seeking the appointment from the Governor for the remainder of Jackie's term, and I WILL BE A WRITE-IN CANDIDATE FOR MAGISTRATE OF DISTRICT 2 IN THE NOVEMBER ELECTION. Jackie's name will still be on the ballot in the May Primary. In Memory of Jackie Owens, on MAY 18th, we would like to ask our family, friends, neighbors, and voters of District 2 to pull the lever one last time and VOTE JACKIE EDFORD OWENS.

P.S. We have not, nor will we, endorse any other candidate in the Magistrate's Race for the May Primary. District 2 deserves a QUALIFIED Magistrate who will continue the work and the legacy established during Jackie's 20 years of service. We look forward to serving you and visiting with you in the future.

As West Virginia begins to move on in the wake of the April 5 Upper Big Branch mine explosion, there will come a time when the tough questions must be confronted. One of the toughest — who to blame — may also turn out to be one of the most complicated, as it certainly appears there is plenty of blame to be passed around. Massey Energy certainly bears the brunt of the responsi-bility, as we learn more details of the Upper Big Branch mine's legacy of unsafe working conditions and record of putting profits ahead of its workers by tying up citations with endless appeals, rather than fixing the problems. But Massey cannot be held solely responsible. Questions must also be asked of the federal government and its army of regulators; who somehow allowed the mine to continue operation despite documented concerns. And the industry in general must also accept some operation despite documented concerns. And the industry in general must also accept some responsibility, for continuing to promote a culture seeming-ly holds value only for the bottom line. Just two weeks after the blast killed 29 people, Arch Coal CEO Steven Leer is complaining that cracking down on mine safety might cost the industry in terms of productivity, potentially up to 5 percent. We think the families of those lost in the mine explosion would see that as a fair trade, if they could have their loved ones back. have their loved ones back.

And moving forward, we can find fault in the knee-jerk calls for tougher rules and more regulation. The problem with mine safety does not lie in a lack of rules, but rather in an inability to enforce those already on the books.

If Massey was able to continue operating the Upper Big Branch mine under deadly conditions, despite proof through numerous citations that the federal and West Virginia governments were aware of the unsafe working environment, why should we think that even more rules would help? The path to preventing future disasters should be clear. Mine companies need to take seriously the lives and safety of their employees by focusing more meeting safety guide-lines instead finding a way around them. And regulators need to take the issue of safety seriously, rather than turnwould help?

need to take the issue of safety schoosly, ratic than unity, ing a blind eye to violations and allowing repeat offenders to continue with business as usual. Calling for more stringent regulations only complicates the government's ability to enforce the rules it already has, and distracts the rest of us from holding Massey and regu-lators accountable for their failures.

During the 2010 Legislative Session, we took steps to make our schools more environmentally friend-ty by passing legislation to support and encourage the construction and renovation of school buildings using efficient design concepts. The legisla-tion also establishes a Kentucky effi-cient school design trust fund and requires the Department of Education to develop and publish guidelines for efficient school design. Along with looking at more ener-gy-efficient measures for our schools and our homes as we observe the 40th International Earth Day, we can also become more environmentally aware and make a more conscientious effort to incorporate some "green" into our lifestyles. Letters

Don't blame the victim

I feel a gut-wrenching need to respond to a letter in The Floyd County Times dated Wednesday, April 4, on page A6 for anyone interested in reading it for facts. Atthough the letter starts out about the tragedy of Amanda Ross' death, after one reads on down the page, one gets the real point of the letter. I was stunned and appalled at the fing to even discuss that if Amanda Ross had not sought a protective order, if Steve Nunn had not been thrown into turmoil, causing him to lose his job and be pushed over the edge, there is a distinct possibility Amanda Ross would be alive today. At first, I was stanned that anyone would have the herve to think this way, much less have the nerve to write it for everyone to read. Did anyone else notice that this places the blame on the victim, instead of the penjerra or?

This attorney, Earl-McGuire, must not have a mother, sister, daughter, cousin or friend that has been threat-ened by a domestic terrorist, I mean threatened to the point one fears for their life. Anyone that has been through this knows that a policeman asking an abused to "just calm down" or "just stay away from her" really doesn't work. This attorney, Earl McGuire, m succeed in most eases. A very wise judge once told a close i family member's perpettator to "leave her alone, all she wants is peace, we all strive for peace," which is a very true statement. With everything that is going on in the world now, we should all worry about the important things; and should be able to find peace in our lives and homes.

Blue Water Trails: Elkhorn Creek

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES

FRANKFORT – The two forks of central Kentucky's Elkhorn Creek join just east of Frankfort to form one of the state's best-known streams for floating and fishing for smallmouth bass. Visitors love the Elkhorn for its beauty and its fishing. Paddlers find it perfect for canceing and kayaking. From the Forks of Elkhorn to its end at the Kenucky River, the Elkhorn Creek provides 17 miles of adventure. Two businesses located on the creek offer cance and kayak rentals for visitors. The main stem of the creek is not suitable for johnboats. The creek is ideal for one-person, pontoon-style float houts.

of the creek is not suitable for johnboats. The creek is including one-person, pointoin-spin can boats. Crayfish are king in the creek. Anglers should try small, crayfish initiating crankbaits east to rocky areas in slower water. Small, 3-inch plastic grubs in crayfish colors are good below riffles and jigged around pinners, such as Rooster Tails, while spinnerbaits or silver-and-black floating units instead along shady banks and current breaks also work well. Even a piece of worm on a hook is a deadly bait in the creek. The first seven miles of the Elkhorn Creek's main stem contains the best whitewater. For safe-ty, floating anglers should always wear a life vest while padding, especially in the whitewater sec-tions.

Little pitchers' big ears

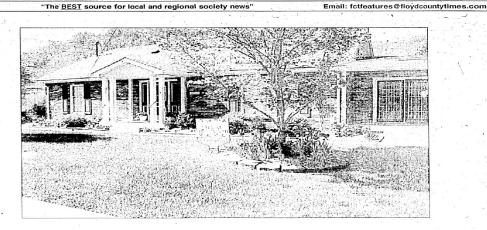

by SANDY MILLER HAYS BRIGULTURAL RESEARCH SERVICE

AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH SERVICE TII bet you think your parents — or, at the very least, your grandparents — came up with this one: "Little pitchers have big ears." Incredible as it may seem, this say-ing has been around since before your parents' parents' parents' parents' pare-ents' time. According to numerous sources, it was first recorded in print in 1546 by one John Heywood as "Auoyd your children, smal pitchers haue wide eares." It amazes me how old some of these sayings are; I was quite aston-ished to learn that "I didn't sleep a wink last night" dates to the Middle Ages! (And in case you're wondering, no, I don't have a clue what "auoyd" While, competers always essent to wink last night," dates to the Middle Ages! (And in case you're wondering, no, I don't have a clue what "auoyd" means.) While youngsters always seem to have radar-sharp hearing to pick up things you don't want heard, at other times they might seem as unrespon-sive as the proverbial feneepost when it comes to truly important messages. But according to studies funded by the Agricultural Research Service (ARS), there is one area of interest where your youngsters will respond — and that's physical fitness and a healthier lifestyle. In one study, ARS-funded freearchers created weight loss and physical fitness regimens for sixth-and seventh-graders enrolled in a Houston charter school mainly attend-led by Hispanic youngsters. The researchers' specifically _ targeted Hispanics 10 to 14 years old because of the high rate of overweight among kids in that minority group. The 57 overweight youngsters were divided into two groups for the six-month- study. One group- was assigned to a self- and parent-taught plan, while the other group participat-ed in an intensive, instructor-led pro-gram.

YARD OF THE MONTH

Owner says repeat winner a work in progress

by JARRID DEATON

PRESTONSBURG – It was eight years ago when the yard of Ted and Sue Nairn first got the attention of the Prestonsburg Woman's Club, and now the Yard of the Month sign is once again grac-ing their front yard. However, according to Sue Nairn, the best part of the landscape is still in the works.

according to Sue Naim, the best part of the landscape is still in the "The back yard is the one I real-ly work on," Nairn said. "I usually plant the Howers around Mother's Day to avoid the frost. We put out a lountain during the summer, and I planted some roses out back. We are also going to re-seed the yard." When her yard won the Yard of the Month eight years ago, Sue. Naim thought it was a joke that her son was playing. "I thought my son took the sign from Gorman Collins' yard and put it in mine, so I took it back." Naim said. "Somebody told the Woman's Club that I thought it was my son playing a joke, so they went and got the sign and put it back in my yard. We had a lot of fun with that."

again, and this time she knows it wasn't a joke. Now, eight years later, Nairn is happy to see the sign in her yard "I am really appreciative of the recognition," Nairn said.

Dessert and a show at Alice Lloyd College

Alice Lloyd College will host Fish-Cake Productions and "Near by the Tale." Tish-Cake Productions is a traveling theatre troupe sup-porting ALC's Adminisions Department. Fish-Cake productions is directed by Megan Burnett, the Speech and Theatre professor at Alice Lloyd College. The Alice Lloyd College Eagle Theatre Department and Fish-Cake Productions are offering a fundraising event on My 5. They will present two plays, with a special Kentucky Derby dessent for the intermission fare including hock-min juleps and ALC's version of Dérby pie. Each 510 ticket will support future productions and events. "Shakespeare on the Move" is a 25-minute play made up of monologues and scenes from some of William Shakespeare's most famous plays. There are love scenes, fight scenes, and of course, the witches from Macbeth. "Twain by the Tale," adapted by Dennis Snee, is a 40-minute play consisting of scenes and monologues from Mark Twain's writings. Included are scenes from "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" and "Hucklebery Fim." The perening will also serve as a farewell to Brandon Zeller, who is transferring to another school in August, and Chris Cornets a veteran of Fish-Cake Production, who will thras for to UK this fall to pursue an Engineering degree. Cornet is also working to become a stand-up comedian. The shows will take place in Cushing Hall on the ALC campus. Seating is limited, so reservations are recommend-ed.

Choose your cardiologist before it's an emergency.

You could have a heart problem now and not even know it. So talk now to your family doctor about your heart.

The best time to choose a cardiologist is before you really need one. Not only will you feel more secure knowing you've got a great doctor on your team, you might just head off a trip to the ER. And that's good for your body and soul.

King's Daughters cardiologists can be found throughout southeast Kentucky in Inez, Louisa, Paintsville, Pikeville, Prestonsburg, Salyersville and West Liberty.

And of course, if you ever need advanced services, KDMC has consistently earned five-star ratings from HealthGrades for cardiac surgery and has been in the top 5 percent of hospitals nationwide for cardiac surgery every year since 2007.
