Plea deal hinged on little evidence

PRESTONSBURG — Tracy Elizabeth Click, the 39-year-old woman who pleaded guilty to sexual misconduct with a 13-year-old boy just under a month ago, has now been checked into a long-term treatment facility Texas.

Click will be required to stay in this facility, hand-picked by the county attorney's office, a minimum of 120 days, perhaps longer.

County Attorney Keith Bartley said reports from the facility indicate that Click is undergoing between seven to nine hours of treatment a day. The amount of time Click will be at the facility will ultimately be determined by mental health professionals, but the average stay, according to Bartley, is about six months.

Click entered a guilty plea April 19, admitting that she performed oral sex on the 13-year-old boy in a bathroom at Adams Middle School on April 1, as was the boy's original claim, in addition to having exchanged several text messages with him in the time leading up to the encounter.

The case first came to the attention of Bartley's office when the victim's mother brought her son to his office. There, the boy told Assistant County Attorney Susie Shearer what had happened.

Shearer then contacted the Prestonsburg Police Department to Black bear emerged from their dens in southeastern Kentucky and are now on the prowl for food. Landowners in bear country can take some simple precautions to prevent problems with these animals.

"Male bears are beginning to roam extensively, looking for females as breeding season is about to begin," said Steven Dobby, bear biologist for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "When they do that, they come in contact with people. With all of these bears out roaming, people should be mindful of food attractants around their home."

Garbage, food scraps, pet food and even bird feeders attract hungry bears looking for an easy meal. "People can prevent 99 percent of all human-bear conflicts by removing access to these attractants," Dobby said.

Dobby recommends some simple preventive methods to keep bears from coming near your home or property. Don't leave garbage outside overnight. Instead, wait until the morning of pick-up to put it out. Avoid throwing food scraps outside to feed wildlife or pets.

You should always store pet food inside. If you have an outside pet, put only enough food for one meal at a time. If you see bears in your area, take down any bird feeders for one week.

Marie Miller takes some time during the official dedication of the Minnie Public Library Wednesday to catch up on some reading. Miller has been a regular patron of the library since it opened its doors nearly a year ago.

Dedication held for Minnie library

MINNIE — This July will mark a full year that Floyd Countians have had the benefit of a library at Minnie, a branch of the Floyd County Public Library in Prestonsburg.

And the Minnie Public Library has been busy in that year.

"We have a lot of people coming in," said Director Susie Gayheart. "It's pretty steady, and we're just so happy and pleased to be a part of this community."

Dozens of residents, library workers and local officials gathered at the location Wednesday for a formal dedication. One of those, frequent patron Marie Miller, said she has found the library to be more than helpful.

"I come here sometimes three or four times a week," said Miller. "I don't have to drive all the way to Prestonsburg for services and they're always developing fantastic programs for kids."

Floyd County Judge-Executive R.D. "Doc" Marshall attended the dedication Wednesday, remembering when the idea was first brought to his attention of seeing a library at Minnie.

"Five years ago I was approached by many people about this," Marshall said. "The kids, the families across the county can utilize this. They can take trips around

She was born April 2, 1932, the daughter of the late Bill and Louessie Howell Halbert at Dony, now McDowell. Bill Halbert was killed in the coal mines when Rosie was 8 years old. Louessie later married Emmanuel Barley. Rosie graduated in 1950, from McDowell High School.

She married Banner Lewis, Jr. (Junior to his family and friends), in 1952. She graduated from Pikeville College with a Bachelor of Science degree in 1968. She continued her education until she retired from teaching in 1981, only a few credits short of a Master's degree. She retired from the Floyd County school system where she taught elementary school for more than 30 years. Many of those years were spent teaching in one and two room schools. After retirement she busied herself working in the church. She is survived by her daughter, Clarissa (Redgy) Hall of Okeechobee; two granddaughters: Shanna (Kelly) Davis of Cary, North Carolina and Christina Hall, of Okeechobee; three great-grandchildren: Jonah Banner Davis and Elisabeth Rose Davis, both of North Carolina, and Rocco B Hall of Okeechobee; a sister: Glessie (Johnny) Stumbo of Louisville; two brothers: Dennis Bartley of Dwayne, Hillard (Mudge) Halbert of McDowell, her best friend, Elizabeth Davis and a host of other close friends. She was preceded in death in 1983 by her beloved husband of

She was baptized later in life and went on to become an ordained minister. She moved to Okeechobee in 1988 where she busied herself with volunteering and activities at the Okeechobee Library, the Okeechobee Senior Citizens Center, Abundant Blessings church, and Seminole Cove. She taught English as a second language and played an active role in the lives of her daughter and granddaughters. In the last two years, her failing health led her to spend much of her time at Raulerson Hospital and Okeechobee Healthcare Facility where she served as president of the resident council. She was an avid reader throughout her life, reading as many as 10 books per week. Through it all, in spite of her failing health, she continued to be a positive inspiration and Christian witness to everyone she met. Services were held for family and friends in Okeechobee on February 19, at Bass

Billy E. (Elmer) Frasure
Magistrate - #1 on the Ballot
MAGISTRATE, DISTRICT #1

TO THE VOTERS OF DISTRICT #1:

I am Billy E. Frasure, son of Scott and Ruth Nealey Frasure, from Left Fork Abbott Creek. I have trucked and ran equipment for forty years. I am a strong supporter of coal. I know the problems in our district—ditching, not being cleaned out, drains stopped up, roads breaking off, roads need patching, bridges need repaired and some need replaced, creeks running over our roads and need to be dipped out to carry the water, paddles need cleaned up, trees need removed along road sides. We need to get all the county roads in better shape to help keep our children safe on the school buses. In the winter all back roads need to be scraped and salted from the beginning of the road to the end. I have lived on Abbott all of my life and I know the problems we face. If elected, I will be a magistrate for all the people. I will make no difference in anyone. I will treat everyone equal. I will be a magistrate all four years, not just the last three months before election. With your vote and support, we can make a difference!

Thank you,
BILLY E. FRASURE

VOTE FOR AND ELECT DEAN M. (DEANO) HALL MAGISTRATE, DIST. 4

TO ALL THE VOTERS IN DIST. 4: If you elect me as your magistrate, I will work hard for all the people. Here are some of my plans I would like to see accomplished. Our roads, ditches, and creeks are a main priority. They have received very little maintenance in the last four years. I hope to change that. I would like to see community parks built in our district similar to the one on Little Mud Creek. It has a walking track, basketball goals, swing sets, and picnic shelters for families. Dist. 4 is the only one in our county that doesn't have a community center. I would like to see all the communities in Dist. 4 have a community center. I also support all local fire departments and firemen. I appreciate the great job they've done. I will work with them on improving our fire districts by installing new hydrants where needed and repairing old ones that need it. If you would like to see a change in our district and county, vote for someone who has a plan. I'm obligated to no one but you, the voter. Your vote and support will be greatly appreciated.

request that an investigation be performed. The case was assigned to Det. Steve Little, who was not available as of press time to offer comments.

"Det. Little was advised by the victim's mother that she did not want to pursue this matter through court," Bartley said, "which would require her son to testify, and would have certainly drawn substantial attention from the local media. She also told Detective Little that she had serious concerns about protecting her child and for that matter, the children of the defendant, from public ridicule or emotional trauma because of the nature of the case."

Bartley would later meet with the victim's mother after the investigation turned up very little evidence, and attempt to figure out how to move forward.

"As a prosecutor, I am required to evaluate cases to determine the likelihood of success, and to make decisions if and on how to go forward," Bartley said. "Sometimes those decisions are extremely difficult."

The investigation had resulted in obtaining a security video from the school, which gave no help, and text messages that were limited to dates and times only and did not show the contents of actual messages sent.

"At the conclusion of a thorough investigation, the result was no eyewitnesses, no physical evidence, no scientific evidence or DNA, no video or audio evidence and no documentary evidence," Bartley said. "And the minor victim's mother did not want to pursue the matter to its fullest extent."

Bartley said he then met with Little to further discuss the case.

"Both he and I recognized that this was not a case that would likely result in a conviction based upon the fact that the only evidence was the allegation of the 13-year-old boy," he said. "However, both Det. Little and I were convinced that in fact this criminal act had occurred and we both agreed that getting a conviction in this case was important, even if ultimately it was a misdemeanor conviction."

During the meeting with the boy's mother, Bartley said she told both himself and Little that she didn't want to see her son go through court hearings and proceedings.

"As in all cases, the victim has a right to refuse to testify," said Bartley. "In this particular case, the mother had the right to refuse to allow her son to testify... As a prosecutor, I was not satisfied with the entire circumstance. However, I recognized that it was likely that we were never going to be able to convict the defendant of a felony sodomy charge. Therefore, I discussed this matter with Det. Little and the two of us reluctantly agreed with the defendant and the victim's mother to allow the defendant to plead guilty to the misdemeanor offense of sexual misconduct."

The conditions of the plea, however, would be numerous, including the full process of arrest and booking, having the plea offered in open court, the long-term treatment and several other restrictions during Click's three-year probationary period.

Since news of Click's plea agreement became known, Bartley said there has been a great deal of "misinformation" circulating about the case among the public. But Bartley said there is another side of the coin that has been overlooked by the public in the past several weeks.

"As always after situations such as this, much misinformation is spread throughout the community. Many statements are made which simply are not true or inaccurate. Little thought is given to the emotional trauma being put upon the innocent people involved," Bartley said. "There is no justifying, no defending and no understanding the actions of the defendant, Tracy Click. She is a criminal, deserving of whatever comes her way. However, the victim and his family, as well as the defendant's chil-den and other family members are innocent people caused to suffer as a direct result of the criminal acts of Tracy Click. They are human beings who deserve to be treated with respect. At the same time, it was important that some measure of justice be meted out in fairness to the victim."

the world through books they can access in this building."

Though many worked to see the library's reality, including state leaders such as House Speaker Greg Stumbo and state Sen. Johnny Ray. Turner, Floyd County Attorney Keith Bartley, who opened the ceremony Wednesday, said Homer Hall was the true catalyst for the library.

"The fact that we have this library is the culmination of a lot of work by a lot of people," Bartley said. "But it also become a reality because of the dreams of a couple people like Homer Hall, who we just can't say enough about."

The library was close to becoming a reality some time ago, during former Gov. Ernie Fletcher's term in office, but Turner said the funding was struck down by Fletcher at that time.

"I've got a lot of friends who come up to me and tell me what a great asset this is," Turner said Wednesday. "Without a lot of people working together, it just couldn't have been done."

Stumbo referred to his and Turner's efforts in Frankfort to get funding for the project as just the end result in numerous people involved in the idea in the first place.

"They fortify those ideas and then we go to Frankfort and try to make it happen," said Stumbo. "This library is one of the best things I've seen happen in this county."

democratic opponent in the upcoming election to fill U.S. Senator Jim Bunning's seat in Washington, was also in Prestonsburg Wednesday.

A poll recently released by Louisville media has the two Senate hopefuls neck-and-neck, with Mongiardo polling at 38 percent and Conway at 37 percent.

Mongiardo took jobs at Conway Wednesday.

"He has spent a tremendous amount of money. He's gone and chased that money. He's put in his own money and we've made it about people," Mongiardo said.

"And in the end, our organization will get out our vote and I'm confident that if it's going to be close, that organization is going to put us over victory."

This is Mongiardo's second bid for the U.S. Senate. A practicing physician, he won the 2004 primary with 64.9 percent of the vote on a health care platform, but lost by a slim margin to Bunning with 49.3 percent of the vote in the general election.

In light of recent changes to state law, Mongiardo would have been able to seek reelection as lieutenant governor if this second Senate bid fails, but Gov. Steve Beshear has already named Louisville Mayor Jerry Abramson to the ticket.

Conway

ly held by Jim Bunning.

"It's all about results," Conway said. "When you look at who has taken a public office and treated it as a public trust, that's what sets me apart."

During his final week of travel, Conway spoke often about his platform and what he hopes to accomplish should he be victorious in the election.

"For me, the opportunity to travel across my native state, meet my fellow Kentuckians and talk with them about my ideas for job creation, cutting the deficit and restoring accountability to Wall Street and Washington is truly an honor," Conway said.

While the U.S. Senate campaign is the main reason for Conway's current tour of the state, the attorney general also spoke about some of the issues he is involved with, including the website known as Topix.

"I have been communicating with Topix in an attempt to get them to change some things," Conway said. "You have 14-year-old girls and elected officials getting shammed on that site with no factual basis and nobody saying that it is wrong. Along with 23 other attorney generals, I am going to sue them. I am not going to rest until I get some satisfaction."

According to Conway, he is currently in the lead over challenger Dr. Daniel Mongiardo in the polls. Mongiardo was also in Prestonsburg on Wednesday.

My name is Keith Stapleton and I am a Democratic candidate for Magistrate, District #1 I am very aware of the needs of the people of this district. I have operated and repaired all types of equipment used in road work and coal mining. I want to use local contractors on emergencies. I know the importance of coal mining to our county, and the money it brings in for the expenses that it takes to keep safe roads for school buses and the general public. I want to work with county employees to help get things done. I have been very supportive of tourism for our county, promoting horse and ATV riding trails, yet always being mindful not to disturb our fish and wildlife. I will work with whoever is elected for the other offices and look at things in a conservative way. That is why I think I am qualified to be your next Magistrate for District 1. I REFUSE TO REMAIN A VICTIM OF CHUCK MEADE

- I am a Cancer Survivor! Praise God and His wonderful healings!
- And I will remain strong in my fight to keep my property and for Meade to repair the damages to my property.
- Also, Meade's family members on Shop Branch still continue THEIR STANCE with THEIR property issues concerning Chuck Meade.

Voting records shows little progress to move Floyd County forward during his three-year-term in Frankfort as State Representative.

Research from <http://www.kentuckyvotes.org> and www.lrc.ky.gov tells it all.

- 3 of those bills were to rename bridges (one-third)
- HB 30 was for in-service training for peace officers to OPT for annual service without pay! Although, Meade voted to increase FAYETTE COUNTY police officers compensation.
- Also, one bill for veteran's personal loan, however you still pay the loan.
- HB 143 provide utilization review of disability plans.
- 2 bills to regulate traffic control using monitoring devices, but Meade could not remember the name of the school to put one. Duff Elementary was called—Dove Elementary (e-mail sent to all teachers.) Supervision is still necessary to help with school traffic.
- Joint resolution for Coal Miners Recognition Day; however, he also voted for bicycle safety day as well.

Meade had the opportunity to help Floyd County while in Frankfort. But did he? The voters spoke loudly and refused to let Meade be re-elected as their representative. (2004)

Meade could not win his home precincts of McDowell, Drift, and Halbert (2004)

Voters, this same candidate wants to spend your tax dollars and be responsible for making a budget.

Are you ready?

WILLIAM "TWINKIE" SALISBURY

A MAN of his word.
A Veteran CDL Class A Truck Driver. An equipment operator.

I am not afraid of hard work and I also plan on working this job full-time. After all, if you call your magistrate, the person you voted for and elected, you should be able to talk to him and also see him out on-site, right where the problem is going on. I plan to take care of our part of Floyd County. I will stand up and fight for what I believe in, and I believe that we deserve better for District #2—better roads, better parks, better, safer plans for winter time care of our roads. After all, when a snow or ice storm hits, you still have to go to work. I will be out there. Not just in a truck, but with a chainsaw, axe, shovel or whatever it takes. When it comes to driving trucks—from hauling fuel, to blacktop, dirt, and even gravel—I know what I am doing when it comes to taking care of this job.

The number one complaint I hear from people as I travel and talk to them is, they hate being lied to. They also regret the fact that they never get to see the one elected to the position. Well, when you Vote on May 18th, 2010, this is your opportunity. Stand up and unite District #2. Vote for a MAN who will always put his people first. I plan to pull the fiscal court together and work as a team to get what we need, and in a timely manner. My college is in Public Communications and Early Childhood Education.

I have full attention on preserving our jobs in coal, because I have been there. Laid off, due to lack of permits being out there. Many of my friends have had to go through some rough times with this, also. I plan to help fight for Coal in Floyd County, Kentucky. Without coal, we do not have much of anything else.

With all this said it is time for us to make a decision. I want to remind everyone that it is not time to play around with your vote. Everyone needs to go out and vote. We have had many men die for our right to live free and be able to vote. I also want to thank everyone who has supported me and helped me with my campaign.

So, let's Unite District #2, and Vote and Elect
William "TWINKIE" Salisbury

President Paul Patton congratulates class salutatorian Casey Keathley of Van Lear during Pikeville College's Commencement ceremony on May 8.

Pikeville College honors class of 2010

PIKEVILLE — Pikeville College honored the academic achievements of 120 undergraduate degree candidates during its commencement ceremony May 8.

The valedictorian for the Class of 2010 was Kimberly Williams of Prestonsburg. Casey Keathley of Van Lear was class salutatorian. The college presented keynote speaker Chris Sullivan, founder of the Outback Steakhouse Restaurant Company, with an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree for his contributions in business, education and philanthropy. His father, William A. "Bill" Sullivan, a Pikeville College alumnus who dedicated much of his life to public service, also received an honorary degree.

Also honored during the commencement ceremony were Claire Whittaker, assistant professor of biology, and James Browning, associate professor of religion, who were first- and second-place recipients respectively of the college's William Wade and Helen Record Walker Teaching Excellence Awards.

In his first commencement ceremony as the institution's leader, Pikeville College President Paul Patton encouraged graduates to begin the next phase of their journey with the "confidence, courage, compassion and passion" to make a difference.

73 new physicians graduate PCSOM

PIKEVILLE — On May 8 the newest osteopathic physicians at the Pikeville College School of Osteopathic Medicine (PCSOM) celebrated a milestone — the honor of being the school's 10th graduating class. Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine (D.O.) degrees were conferred upon 73 graduates who will now begin their residencies and internships, primarily serving in rural health care facilities in East Kentucky and other regions of Appalachia.

The commencement address was delivered by Sen. Mitch McConnell, the longest-serving senator in Kentucky's history and the Senate Republican Leader in the 111th Congress. McConnell was presented with an honorary Doctor of Public Service degree for his dedication to the Commonwealth and the nation.

In his message to graduates, McConnell commended PCSOM for becoming one of the nation's top medical schools in the country in rural medicine. He also challenged graduates to remember the school's mission and the hard work of many, particularly founding dean, the late John Strosnider, D.O.

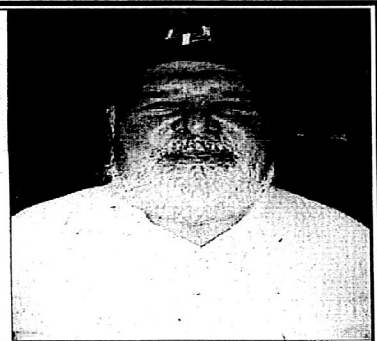

Recalling Strosnider's words McConnell said, "If you want physicians who do primary care, you have to mentor them. And if you want people to go to a rural area, you have to pick them from that area. How appropriate, then, is Pikeville College's motto: 'Look to the mountains,'" McConnell said.

Your Vote and Support will be Greatly Appreciated!

Paid for by the candidate

Re-Elect R.D. Doc Marshall Floyd County Judge/Executive

My opponent has waged a very negative campaign which is very hurtful—not for me—because I know the truth has been distorted, but for you—my neighbors and my friends:

• Bridge to No Where—Since not any of your tax money was spent, to me, it is just someone's bridge.

• Parks—I do agree with my opponent that all Floyd County people deserve a place in their neighborhoods to enjoy. This is why I have made numerous improvements to our parks throughout the county, and have prioritized the maintenance of the grounds so families can enjoy them.

• Jobs—Think about it—who would not want jobs for their community? We all know that times have been rough and we will continue to work tirelessly to create new jobs and bring industry to our county.

• Coal—I was born and raised in Floyd County and I know how important coal is to this county. I will always support coal.

• Veterans—It is our armed services that provide us the freedom of speech to have campaigns—negative or positive. I have worked hard to support the veterans, and am very pleased that we will have a Veterans' cemetery located across from the Middlecreek Battlefield, here in Floyd County.

• My focus was not to run a NEGATIVE campaign because you deserve better. I just want to share the TRUTH.

Four years ago I asked for your vote and you gave me the privilege of serving you. I have kept my promise because I am a man of my word. Now, I am asking you once gain to elect me as your Judge/Executive.

VOTE STAN LEE FOR JAILER

Floyd County

15 YEARS STATE AND FEDERAL CORRECTIONAL EXPERIENCE

It is not a jailers duty to judge a person for being in jail. That responsibility falls squarely on law enforcement and the judicial system. Allegations of brutality, over priced canteen items, drugs, corrupt staff, inadequate medical treatment and poor living conditions will be greatly reduced under my administration. I know how to manage over crowding and will bring positive proactive reform to our detention center.

MOVIES FROM THE BLACK LAGOON

'House of the Devil'

by TOM DOTY
TIMES COLUMNIST

It seems that every studio is remaking a 1970s or 1980s horror film, and that's okay, but those of you who just want that 1970s vibe will be more than happy with this flick from W e s t ("Cabin Fever 2").

Tom Doty
Times Columnist

It starts off with a wholesome college coed, Samantha, looking at off-campus housing. Her realtor is so smitten with her charms that she lets her off the hook for a security deposit. Now Sam just needs to come up with a month's rent by the end of the week.

Her situation is not exactly desperate (she only needs a place because her dorm-mate has a boyfriend who practically lives with them), which is a refreshing change from the melodrama that's usually substituted for character development in horror cinema.

Sam gets a shot at the big bucks when she answers an ad for a babysitting gig. The couple is willing to pay a lot for a sitter (as a parent, I get that, but waving a hundred bucks at her should have been a red flag) so Sam takes the gig.

The warning signs are all in

This Town, That World

Editor's Note: For years, Floyd County Times founder and former publisher Norman Allen wrote a weekly column that looked at Floyd County through his eyes. His columns are being reprinted due to request.

Somewhere on this desk lies something which I must recover for my own benefit. It's Earl Castle's "checklist," prepared for the fishing trip which he and others began last Sunday when they left for Kerr Reservoir. The list included exactly 50 items and ranged from spare ties to aspirin. Come to think of it, his list might not be so important to me, after all. He didn't mention either a motor ignition key or a gas tank.

IT ALL DEPENDS

Joe Creason in a recent Courier-Journal column retold the story first recounted by J. Earle Bell, Morganfield editor, which had to do with the "Happy Pappy" class which a few years ago was studying basic history.

"Who wrote 'The Star Spangled Banner'?" the teacher asked.

"I think it was Roy Acuff," one "student" volunteered.

"Now you know he didn't write it," the teacher chided.

"Maybe not," the man countered, "but ol' Roy shore writ some good 'uns!"

Manning studies learning tech overseas

by SANDRA SAAD
BSCTC FACULTY

Cindy Manning, an associate professor of Information Technology, has always been interested in technology. Hence her career, and her career has led to an interest in the use of technology for learning.

In July 2009, she got to explore that interest on an international level by traveling to Oxford, England for two weeks and living in a flat on the campus of Regent's Park College, which is a part of Oxford University.

During her stay, Manning toured the campus and met with faculty and students alike, exploring the English university experience. She also researched two new technologies: TALL (Technology-Assisted Lifelong Learning) and Phoebe, a piece of software currently under production which is designed to assist faculty in creating, researching, and planning new college courses.

Manning's trip was facilitated by a partnership between the Kentucky Community and Technical College System (KCTCS) with Georgetown University and Georgetown University's partnership with Regent's Park College of Oxford University. These partnerships provide an opportunity for faculty to have a British Experience in Learning and Living (BELL).

Manning applied to the program and won a scholarship of $3,000 to cover travel and living expenses. The award also provided free lodging at a university flat (small apartment).

Manning enjoyed her visit to the campus in Oxford, which is about one hour from London. She found the people to be very receptive and friendly. During her stay, she also toured London and utilized "the tube" or British public transport to get around the city.

"The opportunity to spend two weeks at Oxford University, meet the faculty and students, and tour the English countryside and the city of London was such a wonderful experience for me on both a professional and personal level," Manning said. "I gained insight into another college's teaching and learning styles and, in such a short amount of time, made friends that I still communicate with today. I cannot say how appreciative I am of the Bell Scholarship Program and the opportunity it provided to me."

Another BSCTC faculty member, Matthew Smith, an instructor of Sociology, applied to the program this year and will be traveling to England in late July. He plans to conduct research on establishing a multi-cultural student organization, with the goal of starting such an organization on the campus of Big Sandy CTC.

A head of the pack

The antioxidant protection of cruciferous vegetables is powerful. You know from previous articles here in Healthy-Foods and elsewhere that vitamins C and E and beta carotene help ward off disease and illness by helping combat harmful free radicals that naturally accumulate in the body. Free radicals damage your body, causing changes that can lead to all kinds of problems like cancer and heart disease.

One of the most delicious cabbages, Savoy cabbage is an amazing source of beta carotene and folate unlike other types of cabbage. Bok Choy, too, enjoys the same reputation. Who knew that choosing a simple cabbage could make such a different nutrient-wise? Folate is an important nutrient for preventing birth defects, as well as possibly protecting the body from cancer and heart disease, too.

I've just started getting into eating more cabbage and in my opinion, Savoy is heads above the rest (get it?). Look for it in your produce section next time-it's the pretty looking cabbage with crinkly, curly leaves and a pale green color. Bok Choy looks more like celery than cabbage, with its thick white stalks and dark green leaves.

Here is a recipe to help you get more cabbage in your life and more antioxidant protection. Works great as a side dish for nearly anything!

Hives not likely the result of work stress

Q I have gotten hives all of my adult life. They seem to come and go for no apparent reason. I think it might be from stress from my job. None of my siblings get hives, but a couple of them have asthma and allergies. Could I have allergies? My doctor says my hives are from my nerves.

A Although I addressed hives, or urticaria as we physicians call the condition, in a recent column, your question focuses on the problem of recurring hives.

Hives are officially caused by an allergic reaction in your body, but a lot of things can set them off. Just because you have had them for a long time doesn't mean that you shouldn't take the time now to investigate potential causes. Understanding the cause can help you manage and avoid recurrences.

A hive is a red, usually raised and very itchy lump that may come alone or in groups. Sometimes they spread out and cover most of your body. Other times they are isolated to only a few areas. Hives are the most common dermatological condition seen in emergency departments of hospitals in the United States.

About 20 percent of individuals will have an episode of hives at least once during their lifetime. Some people just get one outbreak; others, like you, will have a lifetime of recurring hives.

The cause of hives can be difficult to find as they may be caused by foods, food additives or chemicals. People who have only one episode of hives or very infrequent episodes may never find out the cause. But if you have hives all the time, it is well worth your time to get an allergy test.

Allergies do run in families, and since you have siblings with allergy-based conditions, you may share some of their allergies. Often there can be a bit of a delay between exposure to an allergen and the outbreak of hives, which makes the triggers for hives especially elusive.

The most common allergy test is the skin test. With the skin test, trace amounts of common environmental allergens, such as dust and pollen, and common food allergens are injected into the outer layer of the skin. The affected skin is then observed to see if it reveals any reactions and, if so, how severe they are.

The skin test is a generally painless procedure that can likely be done in a physician's office. Sometimes blood tests for allergies are sent out. These are somewhat useful, but they are not as sensitive as the skin tests.

Although stress can aggravate hives, allergens are typically involved with this condition. With recurring hives, the most important approach is effective prevention. If allergens are behind your hives, this test can help you avoid those triggers. Prevention is the best treatment for urticaria or any allergy-based problem. It is never too late to have this testing done, even if you have had hives all of your adult life.

VOTER WOULD BE A CITIZEN

Next Tuesday is primary election day, which reminds me that there are those who would tell you certain law fellows in these parts have been known to vote without any voting credentials—such as being alive, for example. It doesn't make our guilt any less, but we have always found some comfort in the fact that we don't own the copyright on such shenanigans. In support of the contention that we are not alone under such indictment, we quote the following from a letter written by a South Texan to that state's Gov. Dolph Briscoe: "I voted for you when you ran for state representative (1948-54). I voted for you every time you ran for governor. Now I want you to help me. I want to become a naturalized citizen."

WOOL-GATHERER FROM KENTUCKY

Many of us are aware that the hard-bitten old, pioneer Judge Roy Bean, the famed "Law West of the Pecos," down Texas way, had a schoolboy crush on the lovely Jersey Lily, Mrs. Langtry, that her picture occupied a place of honor above the bar in his saloon and that the old boy died hoping that, some day, she would grace with her presence the saloon which he called "the Jersey Lily" as the name was misspelled on the sign that hung outside. But, I one, did not until recently know that he went to Texas from Kentucky.

This newspaper clipping which I have says Bean was "wool shipper out of Kentucky." I still am not convinced that they didn't mean,—a wool gatherer.

IN THE MAIL

Peg Lattery writes from Minneapolis in friendliest fashion. She sends me some clippings which are entertaining and a picture of a tackle box which, she says, I might frame to remind myself that that's an important part of the "checklist," too. Then Peg hauls off and lays me low with this suggestion.

"You should try smelt fishing. All you need for that is a bucket!"

Why "I" Cannot Trust Chuck Meade!

As many of you know, my problems with Charles "Chuck" Meade began when he damaged property belonging to Frank Martin, Chattie Dingus and Merlene Dingus (2000). Mom and my uncle were in their 80's.

- Not only did our property become his personal landfill, (2) but he built fences and planted trees through the middle of the landfill that left no access to the property. (3) My surveyors were threatened with "Calling the police" on two occasions. This uncalled for behaviour he left the situation unresolved for six years. (4) Meade was not satisfied with his original survey team and changed to another.

This land issue has been witnessed by residents on Shop Branch.

- Ask MEADE'S FAMILY MEMBERS and neighbors who live on Shop Branch ABOUT THE TURMOIL THAT MEADE HAS CAUSED THEM CONCERNING THEIR PROPERTY.

He knows how to work the legal system for himself by having gun charges, bench warrant, 9 traffic violations (covering three counties) dismissed and expunged from records.

- I wonder what happened to the complaint by the Attorney General's office for his family-owned business (CLM Tobacco Discount Store) selling illegal cigarettes (as reported by local newspapers).

- Meade's low performance as a representative made believers out of Floyd County voters during his three-year-term in Frankfort. He was not re-elected as State Representative.

- According to Frank Simon, M.D., (Director of American Family Association, P.O. Box 8089, Louisville, KY 40257) Meade's voting for the same sex marriage more than once may have something to do with that decision. Meade did change his decision after pressure from family-believing voters of Floyd County. This, along with approximately 8 introduced bills that had little effect for Floyd County (<http://www.kentuckyvotes.org>) helped voters to see clearly.

Are you ready for Meade to be your County Judge/Executive?

Reader asks Tom and Ray's advice on used car

6by TOM and RAY
MAGLIOZZI

Dear Tom and Ray:
I'm 17 years old and trying to buy my first car, without fiscal help from my parents. I have about $4,500 to spend, but I'm trying to keep it under that. A neighbor is selling a 1993 convertible Olds Cutlass Supreme. It's in fantastic cosmetic shape, there's not a dent in it, it has a brand-new top and it looks fantastic. The problem is that it doesn't run. It needs a new timing belt, which I know can lead to other problems. However, the owners have all of the records from when it was bought new in '93, including every oil change. It was garaged for 11 of those years. They're asking about $2,000, but will take anything above $1,500. Should I buy it, knowing that nothing else is currently wrong besides the timing belt, and that I have the money to fix things that go wrong? — Laura few things going for it. Buying a car from a relative or family friend can be a great way for a young person to buy a first car, because you know the car's history, and presumably, a friend or relative won't withhold crucial information from you.

RAY: It's also a great way to start a family or neighborhood feud that can go on for generations!
TOM: But let's assume the neighbors are honest, and are telling you what they know about the car.
RAY: That still leaves one major downside to this deal: The car doesn't run.
TOM: Right. And since it doesn't run, it's really impossible to evaluate it. Even if your neighbors are honest, there may be things wrong that they don't know about. So you're buying a "pig in a poke," as they used to say.
RAY: Or an "Olds on a lawn," as we say nowadays.
TOM: Here's what I'd do. Since these folks presumably haven't had a lot of offers for this beauty, offer them this deal: Tell them you'll pay them $2,000 minus the cost of the repairs it needs.

RAY: And get them to agree to let you take it one step at a time.
TOM: As a first step, you pay to have it towed to a mechanic. If it passes a visual inspection (the mechanic doesn't see a crack in the transmission housing or a rusted-out undercarriage) and he thinks it has a chance to be a decent car, then you take the next step.
RAY: The next step is that you pay to replace the timing chain and get it running. By the way, I think both available engines on this car had timing chains rather than timing belts.
TOM: Once it's running, then your mechanic can do a real "blue plate special" on it. He can drive it. He can do a compression test. He can pressurize the cooling system and check for leaks. He can really evaluate the car and try to identify everything that's obviously wrong with it.
RAY: The best-case scenario, then, is that all it needs is a timing chain. Say that costs you $800. You give the neighbors $1,200, and the car is yours. And that's a good deal.

TOM: But if it turns out that the radiator won't hold water, the cylinder head is cracked, the transmission doesn't shift and the steering rack is leaking like Old Faithful, then you give them the car back and walk away.
RAY: But you'll be out the money you spent on the towing, the mechanic's evaluation and the timing chain. Which means you'll have only $3,500 to spend on your next nutty idea, Laura!
TOM: So it's a calculated risk. But if the sellers are willing to share the risk with you — and I'm guessing they're dying to get this thing off their front lawn — it could be a risk worth taking. But take it a step at a time. And let us know what happens.

single byproduct.
TOM: During combustion, a bunch of the carbon molecules (C) in the gasoline attach to two oxygen molecules (O) from the air, and come out the tailpipe as CO₂. And CO₂ — one carbon and two oxygen molecules — weighs about three times as much as the carbon molecule you started with.

RAY: Burning gasoline is a complex equation. You end up with all kinds of byproducts, including CO, H₂O, HBO, Cinemax, Flomax, etc. But the way you get 20 pounds of CO₂ from six and a half pounds of gas is by combining the gas with a heap of oxygen during the combustion process.

TIMES COLUMNIST

This week a quartet of new releases are studios throwing huge budgets at genre films to good effect.
■ "Daybreakers" — Hollywood's obsession with vampires has led to more misfires than hits, but this action-fueled effort successfully merges gothic horror with science fiction. The film posits a bleak future wherein a plague has turned most people into vampires who have to live off a steadily diminishing number of healthy (actually a little anemic) humans. Ethan Hawke, Willem Defoe and Sam Neill star.

■ "Edge of Darkness" — Conspiracy thrillers also got a boost this week with this big budget remake of a British mini-series. Mel Gibson stars as a passionate father who uncovers a ton of deep, dark secrets while investigating his daughter's death. This is Gibson's first film in a while and he shows that he can still carry a movie.
■ "Legion" — Angels go to war over the future of mankind in this desert-set thriller that mixes big action sequences with apocalyptic drama. The film suffers from over-hype, but if you are up for a down and dirty action-fest, then this fills the bill. Dennis Quaid and

Paul Bettany star.
■ "Playing the Game" — Even comedies scored this week with this playful item that is anchored by a strong turn by Andy Griffith. It's great to see the former Andy Taylor back on the screen and he's rarely been better. He plays a grandfather who makes the best of his rest home lifestyle by turning to the dating scene with the help of his playboy grandson. He is very touching here and gets good support from Doris Roberts ("Everyone Loves Raymond").
Next week look for Jackie Chan as "The Spy Next Door" and the all-star comedy "Valentine's Day."

place with a lunar eclipse approaching, the couple lying about the baby's identity (it's actually an elderly woman) and the mere fact that the house is located way out of town. Sam thinks she has won when she quadruples her asking price (due to the deception) but we all know that she won't be spending a dime of her salary.
If you haven't figured out that things will be getting very bad soon, just reread the title of this sucker. Pretty soon Sam is choking on a poisoned pepperoni pizza, but she should have questioned the fact that anyone would deliver food so far out of town. Her best friend is the only one who can save her, but the audience knows that she never made it off the property, after learning too late that cigarettes are even worse for your health when you share one with a gun-carrying Satanist.

It all leads to a satanic plot and a nuclear family that would give the "Chainsaw Massacre" clan a run for their money. Samantha gives as good as she gets, but this movie's ending is never in doubt. Buckle up and just enjoy the ride.
This one gets points for keeping it simple and delivering enough jolts to keep you on the edge of your seat. We have all seen the elements of this story in several films, but West manages to give it all new life through measured direction and excellent music cues.
He also gives a nod to the era he's saluting by casting actors like Tom Noonan (so memorable as the Tooth Fairy in 1986's "Manhunter") and Mary Woronov ("Eating Raoul") as the chief villains. Jocelin Donahue makes for a wholesome heroine who's worth rooting for, for all the good that will do.

Keep an eye out for West's work and be sure to check out his earlier films. "The Roost" is my favorite and it features a nice turn by Noonan again. Here he's a "Crypt Keeper" type of host that introduces the film but does not appear in the actual story.
Best line: "It's not like the moon's going to explode, though that would be cool."

PIPPA PASSES — Alice Lloyd College men's basketball head coach JR Hammond has announced the signing of June Buchanan School (JBS) shooting guard Clint Stepp. The high-scoring Stepp signed in a ceremony held at the school on Thursday, May 6 with his family, teammates, classmates and coaches present.

The Alice Lloyd College men's basketball program was hoping to land a scorer for the 2011 season and was thrilled to learn that Stepp elected to stay home to wear the royal blue and white.

"I am so excited to be able to add a player of Clint's caliber to our roster," said an ecstatic Hammond. "There were several times over the past year that I wondered if we would be able to keep him home or watch him leave for another university. Any time a coach has a chance to sign one of the top three-point shooters in state history, he is unquestionably thrilled."

Alice Lloyd College signed Clint Stepp (12) on the 2010-11 season. Under Derrick Smith, All-Stars along with Louisville signed Elisha Justice (3) and some of the state's other top high school boys' basketball players. Stepp ranks third all-time statewide in three-point shooting. He led the 14th Region in scoring during his senior season.

Talking hoops, baseball and family

Bullet points all around as we approach the home stretch of the school year...

Last week was an odd one for me. While in many times I have to give some thought as to what to write, I had three completely separate full-length columns I could have penned.

To make up for one of them, let me start this week with last week's news that Elisha Justice has received a scholarship from the University of Louisville.

I somewhat famously took Rick Pitino to task last December, saying he should give our local star a scholarship and not continue his sad streak of asking talented Kentuckians to pay their way to play for him. I say "somewhat" famously because over the course of the winter, that column was

Pikeville College lands two transfers from NCAA

TIMES STAFF REPORT

PIKEVILLE — A pair of transfers are the latest signees of the Pikeville College men's basketball staff. Quincy Hankins-Cole and Yan Moukoury have signed scholarship agreements with the Bears and head coach Kelly Wells.

"These two young men will be outstanding additions not only to our program but also to our school," said Wells. "We like what we've seen out of them both on the court and off and think they will help us reach our goal of the national tournament."

Hankins-Cole is a 6-8, 240-pound forward who played last season at the University of Nebraska. He averaged just under 10 minutes a game for the Huskers, scoring 4.0 points and pulling down 2.4 rebounds per game. He had a season high 15 points against Jackson State and again against Southern Utah.

Prior to that, Hankins-Cole was an All-FCCAA selection at Polk Community College in Lakeland, Fla. As a sophomore he averaged 15.8 points and 12.3 rebounds to be named both all-conference and to the statewide FCCAA team, covering four community college leagues in Florida.

When he left Polk, he was listed as the 42nd best young college player in the country by the Web site www.JucoJunction.com.

Moukoury, a 6-7 forward from Baton Rouge, La., spent two seasons at Houston in Conference-USA before playing last year at Northern Kentucky. At Northern, he averaged 33.3 points and 1.8 rebounds for the Norse, starting four games and averaging 13.7 minutes per contest.

At Christian Life Academy, he led his team to back-to-back Class A state titles, averaging 17 points, seven rebounds and seven assists as a senior to earn All-State, All-Metro and All-District honors as his team posted a 33-7 record.

Pikeville College has signed former Nebraska player Quincy Hankins-Cole (23).

Rebels edge Sheldon Clark

Nelson pitches seven innings, notches win

by STEVE LeMASTER
SPORTS EDITOR

ALLEN — Host Allen Central nipped Sheldon Clark 10-9 on Tuesday for its third straight win. The two familiar 15th Region baseball foes met in the late regular-season game with each boasting an even or near even record. Allen Central improved to 12-11, moving one game back above the 500 mark thanks to the win. Sheldon Clark dropped to 13-15 following the setback.

Veteran Allen Central pitcher Chad Nelson earned the win as part of a complete game effort. Nelson gave up nine runs in seven innings.

Allen Central prevailed in dramatic fashion. Visiting Sheldon Clark owned a 9-3 lead in the bottom half of the seventh inning when Allen Central came to the plate and eventually manufactured seven runs.

Chase Hansford delivered an RBI in the seventh inning for the Rebels, knotting the game 9-9. Justin Jackson came up with a two-out double to drive in the game-winning run for the Rebels.

Allen Central is scheduled to visit South Floyd today for a 58th District/Floyd County Conference matchup.

Blackcats blank South Floyd

Corey Carter tosses two-hitter for Prestonsburg

by STEVE LeMASTER
SPORTS EDITOR

DRIFT — Junior pitcher Corey Carter recorded nine strikeouts on Tuesday as visiting Prestonsburg blanked South Floyd 14-0 in a key 58th District/Floyd County Conference game. Carter, helping his cause at the plate, connected for two singles.

Prestonsburg moved to 11-16 after winning its second game in three outings. South Floyd stumbled to 3-14 after suffering its eighth straight loss.

Prestonsburg plated three runs in the top half of the first inning and never faltered. The Blackcats used a six-run fourth inning to put the game out of South Floyd's reach. Prestonsburg carried a commanding 10-0 lead into the fifth inning. The Blackcats added four runs during their final at-bat.

Carter had a no-hitter intact with two outs in the fourth inning. Freshmen Jacob Crager and Dylan Hall — hitters number three and four in the South Floyd batting order — delivered back-to-back singles for the Raiders in the fourth frame.

Offensively, batters up and down the Prestonsburg order thrived. Josh Blackburn had two doubles for the Blackcats. Seth Carter, aiding cousin Corey's cause, tagged a double and a single for the Prestonsburg team.

Crager suffered the loss for the Raiders. He pitched out of a starting role for the South Floyd baseball team.

Energy to hold open tryouts May 22

TIMES STAFF REPORT

PIKEVILLE - The East Kentucky Energy is looking for the best basketball players the region has to offer.

The American Basketball Association (ABA) expansion franchise in Pikeville will be holding its first open tryout on Saturday, May 22 at the Pikeville High School gym.

"We know how much talent there is in Eastern Kentucky and we're excited about getting a chance to see some of the great players this region has produced in action," said team co-founder Tom Hamilton.

The Energy will begin its inaugural season in the quickly-growing ABA in December and will play a 30-game regular-season schedule against other regional ABA teams.

"We're looking forward to being part of that tradition and we are confident that the players from Eastern Kentucky can not only compete at that level, but flourish," said Energy co-founder Jerry Boggs.

The tryout will be open to all interested players. Those trying out must sign a waiver and pay a $100 registration fee. Boggs and Hamilton say they are optimistic about finding talented players during the tryout.

"We are rooting this team in the community and part of that is combing the area for local players who can compete at the ABA level," said Hamilton. "We already have Paintsville alum and a Pike County teacher on the roster in J.R. VanHoose. We're going to be announcing more players with local ties in coming weeks."

probably mentioned to me more than any other I wrote. I don't pretend to have played a role in this, but I'm completely thrilled for Elisha and his family that all of this got worked out. He's a great player and he deserves it. Besides, it'll cost them enough to send him to Louisville for four years without having to pay for the right on top of it.

I've mentioned this before but will do it again here. If you think he's a great basketball player, you should get to know him personally. What a great young man he is. He deserves all the praise, all the honors and now, all that a scholarship will do for him.

Congratulations, Mr. Justice.

And well done, Coach.

The Reds are sizzling hot and it couldn't come at a better time. They have won five straight and 12 of their last 16 and are within striking distance of the Cardinals as they roll in for the second time this season. The bats are surprisingly alive and the pitching is even better than most believed, for the most part.

I still think the weak link is Aaron Harang, but the youngest member has more than made up for his misgivings. Mike Leake is 3-0 and has an ERA of 3.10, which isn't too shabby.

Against the woeful Pittsburgh this week, Johnny Cueto and Homer Bailey found their stuff, throwing 18 scoreless innings at the Bucs and giving the bullpen three days of rest heading into tonight.

Of course a sweep would be nice, but if the Reds can take two of three this weekend, they could let the rest of the division know they're in this for the long haul.

Seriously, how bad is Pittsburgh? Think about this - they scored one - 1 - in three games against the Reds this week. And what's worse, this isn't even the first time this has happened to them this season. Milwaukee did it to them earlier this season, also at home.

Was Junior Griffey asleep in the clubhouse last week? We'll probably never know. But one thing I do know is this - his defense of "there were things in that story that weren't true" isn't the most powerful defense I've ever heard.

I mean, for real, Pittsburgh's total payroll for this season is only $2 million more than A-Rod's salary. No kidding. And the poofs with Major League Baseball say it's ok by them.

Go figure. If I were a member of the media covering the Seattle Mariners right now, I'd call a press box meeting and take about a week off from entering the clubhouse. If they won't talk to the guy who wrote the Junior story, I wouldn't talk to them. Cover the team, talk with the skipper whoever he is - and leave the rest of them alone for a while.

Do this en masse, you could get their attention. Especially if one of them throws a shutout or hits a couple of homers in a game and has nobody to tell his story to.

- And how about this: In their first season in the Mid-South Conference, the Rio Grande baseball team won the conference title when Tyler Schunk hit a game-winning grand slam in the bottom of the ninth to give the Red Storm an 8-5 win over Campbellsville last weekend.

Interesting Point No. 1: Campbellsville, playing at home, was the five-time defending conference champion, and had forced the final game with a game-winning dinger of its own the game before.

Interesting Point No. 2: Schunk? The senior from Cincinnati was simply living up to his billing. He was also named MSC Player of the Year.

And finally... We call this Birthday Week around the house. On Sunday, my mother celebrates hers. Monday belongs to someone else and then on Friday, it's Dad's turn.

It's a special week and I feel pretty special to still have them around in pretty decent health to celebrate again this year. It's been a rough year for the Bentleys since we last got older as one, so it's a little more meaningful for us this time around.

So to them, two of the most important people on the planet to me, I say a hearty Happy Birthday.

Also, to Cousin Derek and Sweetsy, who will be married tomorrow, best of luck to two very special kids. I hope you bring each other, and our family, all the happiness you deserve.

career at the June Buchanan School. This season, Stepp was nominated for the prestigious McDonald's All-American Team and was named to the Courier-Journal's All-State team as an Honorable Mention selection. He averaged a 14th Region-high 20 points per game during his senior season. His team also finished as district runner-up and advanced to the 14th Regional Tournament. Stepp closed out his prep career with 1,652 points, which is third all-time in school history. On the statewide level, Stepp was considered, for years, one of the state's premier shooting guards. He proved that by connecting on 372 three-point field goals during his career. According to the Kentucky High School Athletic Association (KHSAA), Stepp ranks third all-time on the state's career three-point shooting leaders list. Stepp helped lead IBS to the Sweet Sixteen during his freshman season. In addition to his high school career, Stepp was also a three-year member of the prestigious Derrick Smith All-Star squad where he demonstrated his shooting prowess on the national level on a consistent basis, connecting on as 11 three-pointers in a single game.

STAFFORDSVILLE - The Tug Valley Bass Anglers held their third tournament of the 2010 season on Paintsville Lake over the weekend. Twenty-five (25) anglers competed in the event. Longtime TVBA angler Kevin Runyon won the tournament, reeling in five fish for a tournament-best 8.74 pounds. Runyon finished in front of Webb County native Johnny Webb (five fish - 8.54 pounds).

Paintsville Lake was around 1 1/2 feet above normal pool and the water was dropping. Heavy rain during the week before had raised the lake about six feet above normal. Four days before the tournament, the Corps of Engineers started pulling the water down around a foot per day. The water was still in good shape with a temperature of 60-68 degrees. However, the water was stained to muddy on the whole lake.

Weather for the tournament was good with mostly sunny skies and light winds. A cold front came in Saturday, dropping the air temperatures from a high in the 90s on Friday to a high of 60 degrees on Sunday. The fish were in spawn and post-spawn patterns. Most of the fish were near shallow spawning areas in the creeks and on the main lake. As usual, fishing on a cold front in the spring is always tuff and this tournament was no exception. The cold front really put the fish in a non active mood. They wouldn't move at all to chase a bait.

The main pattern for the tournament was to flip or pitch soft plastics to shallow cover near spawning areas. The catchable fish were fairly shallow, five feet or less. A few post spawn fish were caught on steeper banks with crankbaits.

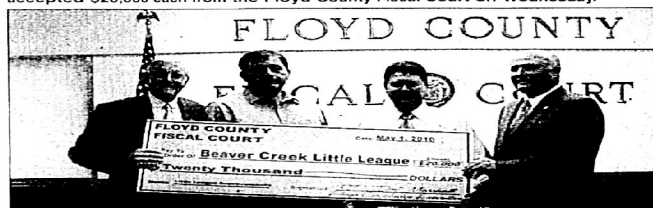

The top finishers are as follows: 1st - Kevin Runyon (5 fish), 8.74 lbs. Big Bass

- 6.88 lbs.; 2nd - Johnny Webb (5 fish) 8.54 lbs.; 3rd - Tim Robinson (5 fish) 7.84 lbs.; 4th - Lynn Fields (5 fish) 7.33 lbs.; 5th - Cory Hamilton (4 fish) 4.76 lbs.; 6th - Lacy Edmiston (5 fish), 4.54 lbs.; 7th - Brandon Staten (5 fish), 4.24 lbs.; 8th - Don Taylor (4 fish), 4.01 lbs.; 9th - Chris Young (4 fish), 3.77 lbs.; 10th - Michael Salyer (5 fish), 3.03 lbs.

Newsome takes next step, chooses Centre

by STEVE LAMASTER SPORTS EDITOR

ROBINSON CREEK - Shelby Valley senior forward Taylor Newsome has signed to play basketball at Centre College in Danville. One of the state's top academic institutions, Centre boasts an excellent basketball resume that includes Final Four appearances in 1979 and 1989. Centre has captured four consecutive SCAC regular-season championships and three out of the last four SCAC Tournament titles, which led to four straight NCAA bids. In 2008, Centre owned an NCAA Division III-best 25-game winning streak.

Newsome helped lead Shelby Valley to a state title during his senior season, averaging 12.1 points and 7.1 rebounds per game. The sharp-shooting Newsome was a four-year starter. He ranks as Shelby Valley's all-time leading rebounder and is a member of the program's 1,000 point club. During the 2010 season, Newsome was selected to the all-tournament teams in the WYMT Classic, All-A* Classic, 59th District, 15th Region and Soviet 16 tournaments. The Associated Press tabbed Newsome as an Honorable Mention All-State selection at the conclusion of his senior campaign.

Excelling in the classroom, Newsome boasts a 4.0 GPA and a score of 27 on the ACT. "We are very excited that Taylor has decided to join us at Centre," Centre College Coach Greg Mason said. "What he and his teammates have accomplished at Shelby Valley is beyond amazing. Taylor is a winner, as seen by his big game in the State Championship against Ballard. And for anyone who has ever met Taylor, everyone understands the type of young man that Centre College is getting. Taylor just has a knack for the game, a very high basketball IQ, and the more I watch him, the more I like him."
