clerk's office showed no problems with compliance. However, there were issues with the fiscal court and overall courty functions. State addits for the fiscal court revealed a lack of "adequate segre-gation of duties over the payroll function." In particular, it was found that payroll oversight was not provided and, as a result, both

Jailer Roger Webb and Floyd County Judge-Executive R.D. "Doe" Marshall were overpaid $7,608 in the last fiscal year. "The salary amount for both the judge and the jailer was changed as a result of the comment from the fiscal year audit for 2007-2008." Marshall said in response to the audit. "However, the county will make the necessary efforts to assure that the proper effective date is used to calibrate the salaries." Marshall also told auditors that both he and Webb had agreed to "make restitution by reducing the amount of their salary until such

PRESTOSNBURG – A lawsuit that bas already named more than 100 plain-tiffs who will see settlements will now find 34 more names added to that list. Prestonsburg attorney Ned Pillersdorf filed another complaint against Grizzly processing and Frasure Creek Mining that names 34 more near-by residents who say the coal mining, work in the area near their homes at Allen and Banner has adversely affected their quality of life. Specifically, the 34 residents say that the coal mining that has been taking place for the past five years bas contam-inated their homes with coal dust and

We created public school systems to provide opportunity, public health systems to protect our air, water, and people. For these to function — and to sup-pute us table investments of our public dollars. The Kentucky Forward Coalition — a coalition of education and health advocates and faith, labor, and community groups — is working for tax reforms that would generate the money for investments that reflect Kentucky's values, improving our quality of life. Right now, well over half of Kentuckians - 60 percent - earn up to $47,000. Those of us in this pool pay on average about 11 percent of our income to state and local taxes. Meanwhile, the wealthest 1 percent contributes only about 6 percent. We need revenue solutions that bring balance, as well as needed funds.
Kentuckians should also beware of so-called solutions that, if adopted, could worsen the inequity in our current tax structure. Some in Kentucky have proposed raising Kentucky's sales tax as a way to cam revenue. Our coalition believes that a sales tax fate increase isn't a good option because it takes a much bigger bite out of the incomes of lower and middle income families. Dara by the Institute of Taxation and Economic Policy shows the percentage of our incomes that sole, twice and middle income families. Dara by the Institute of Taxation and Economic Policy shows the percentage of our incomes that sole, the wealthest 1 percent pay less than 1 percent. It's not a solution that is fair or sustainable.
Instead, we can pass fair revenue reforms that we can depend on year after year. One proposal that meets these criteria calls for comprehensive tax ferom that would tax luxury services, income above $75,000, and non-farm estates. This proposal would also direct $100 million in tax reductions to more than 300,000 Kentucky families with incomes less than $42,000. All together, this plan would generate about $300 million in tax ideated reforms, and we'd glady support other good ideas, as well.

ideas, as well. Kentuckians have long understood that united, we stand. Now is the time to put aside ideologies that only tear down, and stand together for solutions that help us work together to make sure that Kentucky is a place where our kids can drink clean water and work in good jobs. It's time to come together to move Kentucky forward.

KSP wins gold in National Honor Guard Competition

FRANKFORT — The Kentucky State Police Honor Guard earned a gold medal for a first place finish in the Fraternal Order of Police National Honor Guard Competition held in Washington, DC on May 14: The event is held each year during National Police Week to test the skills of law enforcement honor guard units that perform ceremo-nial and patriotic tributes for the public.

Facing units from eight agen-cies throughout the U.S. and one from Canada, the KSP team placed first in each of the compe-tition's three phases: uniform inspection, posting of colors (flags) and specialized demonstra-tion

(Hags) and specialized demonstra-tion. For the demonstration phase, the KSP Honor Guard folded a Commonwealth of Kentucky flag over a specially detailed coffin honoring the fallen troopers of the Kentucky State Police. EVERYBODY'S SCIENCE Nutritional jewels in a tiny package

by SANDY MILLER HAYS

I admit it: I came late to my love affair with rice. In my defense, I didn't get off to a great start with rice. When I was a kid, our standard weekend morning fare was cold-white rice with milk and a little bit of sugar. To this day, I can enjoy rice prepared in a multitude of ways, but never with milk and sugar, thank you very much. What changed my mind about rice was writing about agriculture. In my ag reporting days for the Arkanasa Democrat, I visited dozens of farm families, and if my visit fell around lunchtime, I was invariably invited to share in the noon meal. And in Arkanasa, one of the nation's leading rice-producing states, that was going to include some son of rice dish, always delicous. Those kindly farm wives completely changed my mind about rice.

always delicious. Those kindly farm wives completely changed my mind about rice. • But there still was a problem—the cooking time. Plus I just didn't seem to have the knack to make the rice come out like I wanted, with every kernel separate and a bit firm, instead of a solid lump of mush. On a whim, I bought a rice cooker, and was promply intimidated beyond belief. The cooker came from Japan, complete with instructions that made cooking a simple bowl of rice sound like an all-day undertaking. The rice cooker gathered dust until I came across a marvelous cookbook that demystified its use, and now I can whip out a perfect batch of rice in less time than it takes to stir up a tasty sauce (still no sugar, please). I typically go for brown rice, because I love that slightly muty fla-vor. But if you shy away from brown rice because of its longer cooking time—as much as 50 minutes—the scientists of the Agricultural Research Service (ARS) have some very good news for you. They've come up with a patented brown rice treatment that can trim brown rice treatment that can trim brown rice treatment that can trim brown rice to our grocery stores shelves very quickly. Whother with rice at all? According to the 2005 Dictary Guidelines for Americans, if you're aged 9 to 50 or older, you should try to consume three 'founce equivalents' of whole-grain foods daily. You can usu-ally get about 2/3 of that recommend-ed daily amount in one cup of brown rice.

If you've ever wondered about the difference between brown rice and white rice—for example, are they dif-ferent types of plants?(here's where actually starts life as brown rice; it's just that the rice kernel has been com-pletely milled and polished to remove the outer brown brain layer. And inci-dentally, almost all U.S. white rice is subsequently enriched with powdered nutrients, so it ends up with nearly the same nutrient content as brown rice. Both enriched white rice and whole-grain brown rice contain 15 vitamins and minerals, including. Silver and Gold Coin Prices Up During Poor Economy.

Collectors and Enthusiasts in Prestonsburg with $200,000 to Purchase Yours! By CHRISTINA BUTLER STAFF WRITER

Got Coin? It might be just the time to cash in. This week, starting Tuesday and continuing through Thursday, the International Collectors Association in conjunction with the Ohio Valley Gold & Silver Refinery will be purchasing all types of silver and gold coins direct from the public. All types are welcome and the event is free.

is free. Collectors will be on hand to identify and sort your coins. Then the quality or grade will be determined. The better the grade the more they are worth according to collectors I talked to. With the silver and gold markets high prices of older coins are too. Any coins minted before 1964 in the U.S. are 30% silver except nickels and pennics.

The coins worth is determined by the rarity and the grade. Old silver dollars size worth a great premium right now even well worn heavy circulated ones are bringing good premiums. Franklin and Kennedy halves, Washing ton quarters, Mercury and Roosevelt dimes are all worth many times the face value. While older types like Seated Liberty, Standing Liberties, and Barber coins are worth even more. Gold coins are really worth a Gold coins are really worth a lot right now according to Brian Eades of the International Collectors Association. This country didn't start imitting coins until 1792 says Eades. Before that people would trade goods using gold dust and nuggets. Some shop keepers would take more gold than needed to pay for items purchased. There was no uniform system of making change.

The government opened the first mints and began distributing the coins in 1792. By the beginning of the 19th century coins and paper currency were wide spread and our monetary system was here to stay. In 1933 Roosevelt required all banking institutions to turn in all gold coins. Once all banks turned in this gold the president banks tained in this gold the president raised the gold standard from $20.00 per ounce to $33.00 stimulating the economy during the great depression. However gold coins were never redistributed after the recall. Not all gold coins were turned in. Many folks during that time didn't completely trust the government and choose to keen their cold.

completely trust the government and choose to keep their gold. These gold coins are sought after collectors today and bring many times the face value Any gold coins with the mint marks of CC, D or O will bring nice premiums. Collectors at the event will be glad to show you where to look. Other types of coins will also be purchase including foreign coins, Indian head cents, two cent pieces, half dimes, three cent pieces and buffalo nickels to name a few.

Collectors wam people against trying to clean their coins as significant damage can be done and the coins value lessened.

Dozens cash in yesterday with jewelry, railroad watches and guitars. An estimated $200,000 in Prestonsburg!

By CHRISTINA BUTLER

The first day of the reclamation drive in Prestonsburg was a bit with those looking to sell their gold and silver Representatives were on hand Tuesday purchasing all types of unwanted and broken jewelry. An estimated 55 people left the event with over 5200 dollars from old class rings, wedding bands, herringbones, and gold teeth. Coins dated before 1964 were bringing big premiums as well. Silver dollars, halves and quarters arrived in large quantities. Lots of gold coins were also brought in Rebecca Hughes walked away with over $1200.00 after selling an original $20 gold piece from 1888.

On the other side of the room were representatives from the Antique Association. They were purchasing all types of guitars, large currency bills dated before 1923, military items and pocket watches. One watch was purchased by a collector in Montana for $835 dollars. There were piles of sterling silver items like old silverware sets and tea pots. One gentleman rolled a cart in with 3 boxes full of silver coins. Company officials reported spending over $80,000 the first day of the event, alone Brian Eades with Ohio Valley said "we have had an overwhelming turnout this first day and twe expect to get busier each day". The event continues today and runs through Thursday. The event is free and the public is welcome.
