Coins dig out of one hole to find another waiting

Jack Latta Staff Writer

PRESTONSBURG — Court officials' jubilation at paying off several contractors' bills was short-lived Friday when the county was notified it also owed over a quarter of a million dollars to Highlands Regional Medical Center for previously unpaid medical expenses incurred by the jail.

During Friday's special called meeting of the Floyd County Fiscal Court, the magistrates voted unanimously to pay a supplemental claims list that included most of the county's unpaid contractors fees.

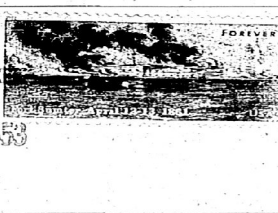

Treasurer David Layne told the court that he had transferred over enough money to cover the full amount owed Drains Unlimited, so after some more discussion, the court then amended its motion to include a payment of $90,000, bringing the total to $333,787 in payments to contractors.

"If we know that we have these people out there, we can spend some money," said Owens. "But we can't spend while we think we owe people still."

Questions were raised by Warren Jarrell about the timeliness with which the court receives invoices from contractors. "According to the law, (invoices) are supposed to be turned in within 30 days," Owens said she was going to see COURT | A5

I'm There Inside Your Heart

Right now I'm in a different place and though we seem apart, I'm closer than I ever was. I'm there inside your heart. I'm with you when you greet each day and while the sun shines bright, I'm there to share the sunsets too, I'm with you every night. I'm with you when the times are good to share or laugh or cry, and if a tear should start to fall, I'll still be there for you. And when that day arrives that we no longer are apart, I'll smile and hold you close to me, forever in my heart.

We don't know why you were taken so soon. You will never be forgotten because our love for you is eternal.

Love and miss you everyday,

Amendment

Amendment I

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people to peaceably assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

Our View This opportunity should not pass

Having reported extensively over the past decade on a number of health issues facing Eastern Kentucky, the news can be quite discouraging at times.

- One recent story seemed to be the final nail in the coffin, so to speak. While people in the rest of the country are living longer lives, Floyd County had the 10th-steepest drop in life expectancy from 1999 to 2009. Of the nine counties with worse drops, four were in Eastern Kentucky.
- This week, however, we are happy to report on new way to work on possibly reversing that trend. Foundation for a Healthy Kentucky announced Monday its "Investing in Kentucky's Future" grant program, which offers local communities the opportunity to apply for grants ranging from $20,000 to $40,000 to pay for health initiatives for school-age children.
- "Our goal is to help communities make positive changes that will help children start and sustain healthy habits to last a lifetime," said Susan Zepeda, CEO of the Foundation for a Healthy Kentucky. "Whether the challenge is access to needed routine medical check-ups, safe places to play or nutritious foods, or caring adults to show ways to communicate and avoid risky behaviors, we want to help communities find new pathways to positive solutions."
- This is exactly the sort of program local leaders need to explore. Eastern Kentucky, as we have pointed out over and over, has some of the worst health statistics of any region in the country. Local residents have some of the highest rates of obesity, smoking, heart disease, diabetes, cancer and depression, and the number of people who get regular exercise trails the rest of the country.
- A large part of the problem can be attributed to lifestyle, and programs like investing in Kentucky's Future can help change that by encouraging our children to develop and sustain healthy habits.
- Every city, county, school system and board of health in Eastern Kentucky needs to develop proposals to compete for this program. If they don't, taxpayers should ask them why they are content to let our children live shorter lives.

Worth Repeating...

A liberal is a man who is right most of the time, but he's right too soon.

— Gregory Nunn

A legislative perspective

Rep. Greg Stumbo
Speaker of the House

When Kentucky's voters head to the polls on November 6, most will have a wide array of local, state and federal races to consider, which is to be expected in a presidential election year. There will be something else for them to decide as well, however: a constitutional amendment to further strengthen hunting and fishing rights.

Many may have forgotten that this was to be on the ballot, which is understandable since a year and a half have passed since I sponsored this legislation and the House and Senate agreed to put this proposal before the voters. In Kentucky, amendments can only be voted on in even-numbered years.

Another reason there has been relatively little public debate is because, if other states are a guide, this amendment should pass with overwhelming support. In Tennessee, for example, 90 percent of voters gave their approval in 2010 while in South Carolina and Arkansas, similar votes topped 80 percent that year.

Overall, there are now 13 states with this type of amendment in their constitutions. Vermont's was included back in 1777, but most of the rest have been added since 1996. This year, voters in Idaho, Nebraska and Wyoming will also have a chance to add their states to this list.

It is important to note that this amendment will have no effect on normal hunting laws, such as length of seasons and licensing requirements. Rather, it will add another layer of legal protection so that these rights are applied uniformly across the state. Not surprisingly, hunting and fishing organizations are strong supporters, as is the National Rifle Association. In Kentucky, these outdoor sports and other wildlife-related activities play a major role in our economy. The total impact is estimated at $3 billion a year, according to the state's Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, and they support 34,000 jobs. They also provide more than $200 million in revenue for state and local governments.

The numbers behind these numbers are also significant. The Department sells about one million hunting and fishing licenses each year, while its information center fields about 100,000 calls annually; it also certifies 10,000 people each year in hunter education programs.

Out in the field, meanwhile, the number of deer harvested has exceeded 100,000 every year since 2006, and there are tens of thousands of wild turkeys taken as well during their seasons.

Archery programs in schools are helping to foster interest among adolescents. There are now 2,900 students across the state taking part, and in May, Louisville hosted the National Archery in the Schools competition.

In addition to their financial contributions, those who hunt and fish play a crucial role in preserving hundreds of thousands of irreplaceable acres that our wildlife depend on. This year, in fact, marks the 75th anniversary of the federal legislation that has helped these conservation efforts thrive. Here in Kentucky, money from the Pittman-Robertson Act has gone to such things as re-stocking an elk population that had dwindled away. Now, 15 years after this began, we have the largest herd in the eastern United States.

With less than five weeks until the election, time is drawing short to get what we need as voters to make informed choices. That is especially true for constitutional amendments that are much more uncommon and not always guaranteed to pass. Since 1891, when our current constitution was adopted, only 40 of the 78 amendments put before voters have been accepted.

So that you have enough time to consider this newest proposed addition, here is the text of the amendment you will see — and hopefully vote for — on Nov. 6th:

"The citizens of Kentucky have the personal right to hunt, fish, and harvest wildlife using traditional methods, subject only to statutes enacted by the Legislature, and to administrative regulations adopted by the designated state agency to promote wildlife conservation and management and to preserve the future of hunting and fishing. Public hunting and fishing shall be a preferred means of managing and controlling wildlife. This section shall not be construed to modify any provision of law relating to trespass, property rights, or the regulation of commercial activities."

House week in review

Rep. Hubert Collins

As it stands now, the Kentucky General Assembly has four plan options to consider as it looks at restructuring public employee pensions in the Commonwealth during the upcoming 2013 Regular Session.

Experts from the Pew Center on the States and the John and Laura Arnold Foundation laid out each of the four options—a defined benefit plan (the current plan used by Kentucky Retirement Systems), a defined contribution plan, a cash balance plan, and a hybrid plan—for the Kentucky Public Pensions Task Force in mid-Sept. and told task force members the pros and cons of each. I want to share with you what the task force learned from the experts.

(The following information is for nonhazardous workers only, although information is available for employees in state and county hazardous plans. Each plan would cost the same as the current state plan and keep employee contributions the same.)

Defined Benefit Plan: In the defined benefit plan, both employee and employer (in this case, the state or local government) pay into the employee's retirement. Workers contribute five percent, while the employer pays around four percent. That money is then invested and benefits are paid out at retirement.

The experts from the Pew Center and Arnold Foundation said that while there is little risk shared by workers in a defined benefit plan, there is no sharing in increased investment returns like there would be in a defined contribution plan. Also, defined benefit plans outpace other plans the longer an employee works, but offer little benefit compared to a defined contribution plan at the end of the worker's career, say the experts.

System: costs vary substantially with this kind of plan.

Defined Contribution Plan: A defined contribution plan is a retirement plan in which individual accounts are set up for employees and retiree benefits are based on amounts credited to those accounts (through employer contributions and, if applicable, employee contributions), plus any investment earnings. Only employer contributions are guaranteed, not benefits. Benefits can fluctuate on the basis of investment earnings. The most common type of defined contribution plan is a savings and thrift plan in which the worker commits to an individual account a predetermined portion of his or her earnings (usually pretax), all or part of which is matched by the employer. In a defined contribution plan, say the experts, the employee bears any extra cost although "assets increase dramatically while those in the other two plans get a lesser gain."

Cash Balance Plan: A cash balance plan offers an individual retirement account for each worker. For nonhazardous employees, nine percent of employee pay would be deposited into an account annually (five percent from the worker, four percent from the employer) just like under the current defined benefit plan in place for Kentucky public employees). Money in the cash balance plan accrues as interest with the employer providing a minimum return guarantee. Workers can use the money in their account to purchase an annuity, which secures a stream of payments to be made to an individual during his or her retirement years. The experts said a cash balance plan offers employees "two of the key protections commonly associated with a defined benefit plan: A guarantee against investment risk, and protection against outliving one's retirement assets."

Hybrid Plan: The hybrid plan includes a small traditional pension plan and individual retirement account for employees. The retirement benefit multiplier on such plans is one percent, meaning that for 20 years of work, an employee is guaranteed 20 percent of final average pay. Under a hybrid plan, the experts say retirement wealth grows slowly, at first, then accelerates like it does under a defined benefit plan. A worker's pension loss is more even than under a traditional pension, however, due to the individual retirement account.

Which plan makes the most sense for Kentucky? That depends on how lawmakers answer three specific questions, according to the experts from Pew Center and the Arnold Foundation. And those questions are: 1. How would workers earn benefits over time; should those benefits spike late-career or be earned more smoothly throughout their career? 2. How should risk be allocated? (Should taxpayers assume it all, should it all go to the worker, or should it be shared?) 3. What will best recruit workers (considering that retirement is part of compensation)?

The Public Pensions Task Force is taking this and all testimony brought before the task force into consideration as it prepares to issue final findings and recommendations regarding the public pension systems to the Legislative Research Commission by Dec. 7. Proposed legislative changes might also be presented by the task force by that date, in order to give lawmakers a chance to consider the proposals early in the 2013 Regular Session. I will keep you posted on any developments.

Don't forget that open enrollment in the Kentucky Employees' Health Plan (KEHP) for 2013 will be held Oct. 8-Oct. 26. It will be a "passive open enrollment," meaning your insurance elections made for 2012 will automatically renew in January if you don't take any action. The new plan instances in which you must take action, and we will go over those next week.

Talk to you then.

Kentucky Power employees to assist tornado victims

FRANKFORT — Although the tornado winds that rocked Eastern Kentucky last March have long subsided, the damage they wrought remains quite evident in the communities they impacted. Beyond the catastrophic physical damage remains the emotional scars and great personal assistance needs that typically follow natural disasters.

Recognizing that recovery in the area is far from over, Kentucky Power employees, employees from other American Electric Power companies, and the American Electric Power Foundation have combined efforts to raise and donate more than $19,000 to assist four, non-profit, charitable groups aiding in tornado zone recovery efforts.

"Following the storms many of our employees wanted to make a financial contribution to aid their Eastern Kentucky neighbors," said Greg Pauley, president and chief operating officer of Kentucky Power. "Many of our employees saw firsthand the tornadoes' devastation as they worked to restore power to the more than 14,000 customers who lost power during the storms. They wanted to give beyond their physical contributions and assist their neighbors financially and perhaps, boost the spirits of those affected. So, many employees voluntarily donated money to a fund the company established to aid disaster victims."

The company identified four charitable groups that have been established to aid recovery efforts — the Bluegrass Community Foundation, the Johnson County Tornado Relief Fund, the Gateway Area Development District, and the American Red Cross and split the money among the organizations.

This month, Kentucky Power's Bob Shurtleff, customer and distribution services manager in Pikeville, presented a check to Johnson County Judge Executive R. T. Daniel as a contribution to the Johnson County Tornado Relief Fund, to assist area residents in the natural disaster recovery. In total, $3,827.60 was donated to the Fund.

"Our employees are pleased to make a contribution to the relief fund to assist the victims of last March's tornados," Shurtleff said. "Their hearts go out to all of those still struggling to recover after the loss of their homes, vehicles, personal property, and in some cases, their dear loved ones. They know money can never truly replace many of the things lost to the tornados, but they felt the funds might lessen the burdens in some respects."

In addition to the money donated by AEP employees ($2,413.80), the American Electric Power Foundation also donated $1,413.80 to the Fund.

The funds will be used and administered by the receiving organizations to directly benefit tornado victims. The funds come with no particular designation for their use other than for the best possible benefit to those impacted by the storms.

"There is still a long way to go to fully recover from these storms," said Shurtleff. "We know the Fund's administrators will use the dollars responsibly to assist those still in need. We don't want victims to lose faith; they have not been forgotten."

Kentucky Power is an operating unit of American Electric Power and provides electricity to approximately 173,000 customers in all or parts of 20 eastern Kentucky counties. American Electric Power is one of the largest electric utilities in the United States, delivering electricity to more than 5 million customers in 11 states.

Kentucky Power's Bob Shurtleff, customer and distribution services manager in Pikeville, presents a tornado relief check to Johnson County Judge Executive R. T. Daniel who received the donation on behalf of the Johnson County Tornado Relief Fund. Kentucky Power employees and the AEP Foundation donated more than $3,800 to the Fund and more than $15,300 to three other Eastern Kentucky organizations assisting in tornado recovery efforts.

stop worrying about the bills. "I'll send them a thank you note for their donation."

Mike Jarrell cautioned the court that there is at least one other bill that has not been submitted to the court. "I don't want you leaving thinking that's the only bill, because it's not," said Jarrell. "C&C is the last I think."

Any joy shared by the magistrates at the promise of moving to a more debt-free budget was short-lived, though, as a report was presented by County Attorney Keith Bartley, revealing that the court owes Highlands Regional Medical Center $288,000 in past-due medical expenses for the treatment of prisoners dating back as far as 2007.

Bartley said there is some debate as to which bills the county actually owes, but added that "The HRMC representatives think we owe that money."

The county is responsible for all medical treatment given to prisoners while they are in the custody of the Floyd County Detention Center. Bartley says that there is some debate as to when exactly the county takes possession of a prisoner.

During Friday's meeting, the county also authorized payments for work done on the Harold Sewer Project, and three coal severance-funded disbursement requests for a walking trail in district 4, a Disabled American Veterans project, and senior citizens center project.

Deskins to chair state board

Highlands Center for Autism Program Director, Shell Deskins, Ph.D., BCBA, has been named chair of the Kentucky Applied Behavior Analysts' Licensing Board. Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA) is a philosophy that involves and systematic application of methods based upon behavioral principles. Importantly, it has been effective when applied by working with individuals with Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD). The intervention process is focused on setting up the environment, reducing behavioral symptoms, and increasing functional replacement skills. The board consists of seven members chosen by Gov. Steve Beshear. Chair is the highest appointed honor. The purpose of the board is to administer and enforce the statutory authority and to monitor the needs of the public. The board examines and licenses all eligible candidates for entry into the profession as a behavior analyst. It recommends appropriate changes in the law to assure fairness and equity. Highlands Health System began consulting with the Cleveland Clinic Center for Autism (CCCA) to open a year round day treatment center for children with ASD in September of 2008. Dr. Deskins joined Highlands in January of 2009. This endeavor resulted in the creation of the Highlands Center for Autism, which opened in August of 2009. The Highlands Center for Autism believes all children deserve the opportunity to laugh and play and become healthy, happy and productive adults. In order for children with ASD to reach these goals, it is important that children and their families have access to specially designed intervention and support, using ABA. The Center treats all children as individuals; hence, programming is tailored to meet each child's specific needs. Data is taken on every skill taught and analyzed on a daily basis so that programming modifications can be made when indicated. Furthermore, the Center is committed to working closely with other professionals, such as speech language pathologists, educators, and pediatricians in order to provide an optimal level of care. ## Foundation for a Healthy Kentucky announces 'Investing in Kentucky's Future' initiative

LOUISVILLE — The Foundation for a Healthy Kentucky invites applications under its new Investing in Kentucky's Future initiative, from communities working to improve children's health. The Foundation anticipates making grants to five to ten communities throughout the Commonwealth. This new five-year, $3 million program seeks to test innovative ways to reduce chronic disease risks for school-aged children.

Chronic diseases are diseases that last over time, decrease quality of life and increase the risk of early death. They include conditions like cancer, diabetes and heart disease. Substance abuse and some mental illnesses are also chronic. Troublingly, chronic diseases occur at higher rates in Kentucky than in surrounding states.

"Our goal is to help communities make positive changes that will help children start and sustain healthy habits to last a lifetime," stated Susan Zepeda, CEO of the Foundation for a Healthy Kentucky. "Whether the challenge is access to needed routine medical check-ups, safe places to play or nutritious foods, or caring adults to show ways to communicate and avoid risky behaviors, we want to help communities find new pathways to positive solutions."

Interested communities are encouraged to apply. The deadline to submit a letter of intent to apply for grant funding is Nov. 16. Following a letter of intent, the Foundation will invite applicants to submit a full proposal. The deadline for the receipt of the full proposal is Feb. 28. For a complete copy of the RFP, and additional information regarding grant opportunities through the Foundation for a Healthy Kentucky, please visit healthy-ky.org or call our office toll-free at 877-326-2583. Research shows that safe and effective health care, supportive education, and adults who protect and nurture children are factors that promote health.

"The health of our next generation is at stake. That's why we are investing in Kentucky's future," concluded Zepeda. "We believe that by working together on the local level, civic leaders with vision can develop innovative strategies to improve the health of our children."

Investing in Kentucky's Future includes funding and providing training and technical assistance to community groups to launch effective, sustainable models for better children's health. The Foundation relies on local leaders to identify critical health needs and helps focus investments on how best to engage the community in order to have the biggest impact.

The Foundation for a Healthy Kentucky is a non-profit, philanthropic organization working to address the unmet health care needs of Kentuckians. Our approach centers on developing and influencing health policy, to promote lasting change in the systems by which health care is provided and good health sustained, to:

- improve access to care,
- reduce health risks and disparities, and
- promote health equity.

The Foundation makes grants, supports research, holds educational forums and convenes communities to engage and develop the capacity of the Commonwealth to improve the health and quality of life of all Kentuckians.

KSP's newest crime-fighting tool: Text messages

FRANKFORT — The Kentucky State Police is initiating a new proactive program where citizens are now able to text confidential tips from their cell phone. The program, "Text a Tip," is designed to report criminal activity, assist with neighborhood watch, and serve as an additional resource for schools and college campuses. "Text a Tip" is completely confidential and easy to use. Anyone with texting capabilities from personal electronic devices can simply text 67283 in the address field, then type KSP/TIP in the message field, leave a space and then enter information about a crime. If your tip went through successfully, you will receive an instant confirmation text on your phone.

"Web-based" and phone tip lines have been around a while, but have the disadvantage of a perpetrator overhearing the person on the phone or they required Internet access. KSP Spokesperson, Sgt. Rick Saint-Blancard says "Text a Tip" is gaining ground because text messaging does not require verbal communication or Internet access. "Everywhere you go, someone has a cell phone with them," says Saint-Blancard. "Whether a person is at home or a large venue, like a sporting event or concert, they can text a tip to us without bringing attention to themselves." Saint-Blancard says people who live in high-crime neighborhoods are often afraid that if they are seen talking to police, they could be subject to retaliation from drug dealers or other criminals. "So when they have this option of texting us — knowing no one will know who they are — they are more willing to provide specific details and names about the activity," he adds. "Text a Tip" messages are sent to a separate, third-party server, where identifying information is stripped out and they are assigned an encrypted alias before being sent to police.

Text-a-tip programs are being promoted in schools across the country to report weapon threats and reduce bullying. "No technology is more powerful than the eyes and ears of the public," adds Saint-Blancard. "The key is enlisting people on their own terms by providing a discrete, immediate and confidential reporting source." KSP reminds citizens to keep safety in mind when texting tips. "If a tipster is driving when they witness suspicious activity, we ask them to safely pull to the side of the road and place their vehicle in park before attempting to text in a tip," says Saint-Blancard. The "Text a Tip" program is operational 24 Hours a Day / 7 Days a Week and is received and monitored by the KSP Communications Center. KSP openly solicits information from citizens on any type of crime occurring but encourages citizens to call "911" if the crime is in-progress or there is an emergency. Detailed instructions of the program can be found on the KSP website at http://www.kentuckystatepolice.org/pdf/text\_a\_tip\_sheet.pdf.

For more information about the "Text a Tip" program, please contact the KSP Public Affairs Branch at (502) 782-1780.

NOW OFFERING DIGITAL MAMMOGRAPHY

Martin, KY

SaintJosephMartin.org

Saint Joseph Martin is pleased to announce that digital mammography is the latest addition to the hospital's list of services we offer our community.

A digital mammogram is similar to traditional mammograms, however, digital mammography takes an electronic image and stores the data directly on to a computer, eliminating the need for film.

Studies have shown that digital mammography is more accurate for women under the age of 50 (pre-menopausal) and those with dense breast tissue which makes it harder to detect cancerous lesions.

So take a moment to take care of yourself and schedule your annual screening mammogram. An annual mammogram is an opportunity to find breast cancer at the earliest possible stage.

Yes, Mamm!

Special thanks to those who continually support breast cancer education and fundraising efforts on the "Yes, Mamm!" campaign.

Elderly, disabled can preregister for LIHEAP Oct. 15

Big Sandy Area Community Action Program will offer elderly and disabled applicants an opportunity to preregister for the Subsidy portion of the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program. The pre-registration will begin on Monday, Oct. 15, and last until Friday, Nov. 2.

BSACAP Executive Director James Michael Howell said "pre-registration should prove beneficial to customers."

"The elderly and the disabled have less mobility and it's harder for them to stand in long lines," Howell explained. "Pre-registration should cut down on those long lines and help more people access the services."

Howell added, "We want to stress that, although we're offering the pre-registration, no applications will be approved until Monday, Nov. 5, the first day of the Subsidy component. No vouchers will be sent to vendors until after Nov. 5."

To be eligible to preregister, applicants must bring proof they are receiving disability benefits and/or are at least 60 years of age.

In addition, to qualify for the Subsidy component of LIHEAP, applicants must present the following:

- Birthdates for all household members

Native American Artist performs Oct. 25 Governor starts clock on tax amnesty

HAZARD — Native American Artist Robert Mirabal will perform on Thursday, Oct. 25, at 7 p.m. at HCTC First Federal Center as part of HCTC's Greater Hazard Area Performing Arts Series.

Two-time GRAMMY Award winner Robert Mirabal lives with his family at the foot of the sacred Taos Mountain in northern New Mexico. Maintaining a traditional life and keeping the centuries-old customs of the Taos Pueblo people, Robert has been described as a Native American "Renaissance Man" - musician, composer, painter, master craftsman, poet, actor, screenwriter, horseman and farmer - and he travels extensively playing his music all over the world. His dozen albums of traditional music, rock and roll, and spoken word present a contemporary view of American Indian life that is unequalled.

"My music is informed by the ceremonial music that I've heard all my life. What I create comes out of my body and soul in a desire, to take care of the spirits of the earth." A leading proponent of world music, Robert has merged his indigenous American sound with those of Africa, Asia, and the Caribbean, tapping into a planetary pulse with a style that defies categorization. "My travels have provided me with experiences that I could have never imagined, and exposed me to a global sound and a global voice."

Whether as a composer, songwriter, or musician, Robert has won many honors including two-time Native American Artist of the Year, three-time Songwriter of the Year, a 2005 GRAMMY Award for "Sacred Ground" and his 2008 GRAMMY Award for "Johnny Whitehorse Totemic Flute Chants," blending all of Robert's influences into a musical landscape that conjures up both the historic and contemporary West. This will be evident in this unique performance that includes a full band and dancers that will transport audience members with a multi-sensory concert experience unlike any other. Robert Mirabal will also be available to conduct workshops in area schools for any grade level and a matinee performance for area schools to attend will also be sched-

Robert Mirabal out on the Taos Pueblo.

Governor starts clock on tax amnesty

FRANKFORT — In an effort to collect tens of millions of dollars owed to the Commonwealth in back taxes, Gov. Steve Beshear announced Monday the kick-off of Kentucky's Tax Amnesty program.

"This is a great way to add significant revenue to the state budget in a short amount of time," said Gov. Beshear. "Offering amnesty also helps responsible taxpayers who've faced tough times and want to get out of trouble a way to meet their obligations and save them significant money. They can pay now or pay more later."

While the current database shows nearly 170,000 individuals and businesses qualifying for tax amnesty, others may also owe back taxes. The list of delinquent debtors includes those businesses and individuals who have a tax lien on file, but does not include those who may owe taxes and have not filed. The state is continuously gathering taxpayer information to discover non-filers and under-reporters.

Each individual and business taking advantage of Tax Amnesty will save an average of 50 percent of what they would otherwise be charged. The average delinquent taxpayer owes about $5,000, while the average tax debt for a delinquent business is $25,000.

Those who don't apply for amnesty will face higher penalties plus owe an additional 2 percent in interest. Amnesty participants must remain current on their taxes over the next three years or face reinstated penalties, fees and interest.

Ten years ago, the Commonwealth conducted a similar amnesty program. That program included 140,000 delinquent taxpayers and netted the state some $41 million.

Bears fall to Cumberland on Homecoming

Times Staff Report

PIKEVILLE — Leading by eight when the final period began, No. 21 Cumberland University outscored the University of Pikeville 17-7 in the fourth to cruise to a 41-23 win on Saturday afternoon. The loss squared Pikeville at 3-3 on the and gave the Bears consecutive losses for the first time this season, spoiling the school's annual Homecoming celebration. The Bears are now 1-2 on the season against teams ranked in the NAIA Top 25. Cumberland improved to 4-1.

Cumberland got on the scoreboard first and looked as if it would control the contest. Sophomore Blake DeBoard ended a seven-play, 58-yard drive with a 10-yard carry with 4:57 to play in the opening quarter. Junior Jared White's extra-point made it 7-0.

Pikeville tied the game with a 13-play, 96-yard drive that wrapped up with a 31-yard touchdown run by junior Hunter Adams. Sophomore Grayson Quick's PAT tied it at 7-7 with 12:07 left in the half.

From there the kickers took over the game. Quick nailed field goals from 41 and 34 yards while White's was good from 36 yards. Quick's second kick came with 1:17 to play and had Pikeville on top 13-10.

But Cumberland got the ball at its own 35 and went 6 yards in less than a minute, getting a 47-yard pass from sophomore Reed Gurchick to senior B.J. Stewart, sending the Bulldogs to the break on top 17-13.

Cumberland opened scoring in the second half when Gurchick found senior Lemeco Miller for an 82-yard score to make it 24-13. Before the period ended, Quick hit his third field goal of the contest, this time from 34 yards out, with 36 seconds left to make it 24-16.

HAZARD — Prestonsburg rode a two-game winning streak into Hazard Friday night but couldn't claim its third straight win. Host Hazard was able to build an early lead and pull away from Prestonsburg, defeating the Blackcats 38-20.

Hazard made the most of its offensive opportunities, scoring first and never trailing. The Bulldogs scored the game's initial touchdown in the opening quarter and added three more scores en route to a 24-0 lead at halftime.

Hazard led 36-6 at the conclusion of the third quarter. Experienced senior quarterback

Evan Whitaker led defending Class A state champion Hazard. Whitaker completed 18-of-24 passes for 244 yards.

Hazard, however, scored all of its touchdowns on the ground.

Whitaker paced the Hazard rushing attack, taking 10 rush attempts for 56 yards and three touchdowns.

Austin Johnson added two rushing touchdowns for the Bulldogs.

Johnson was Whitaker's top target, hauling in five receptions for 70 yards.

Jordan Olinger and Nathan Higgins each had four receptions for over 60 yards apiece.

Jalen Olinger led the Hazard defensive effort with 40 tackles.

Nathan Stupart contributed nine stops for the Bulldogs.

Sophomore quarterback Jarred Jarrell paced the Prestonsburg offense. Jarrell completed 20-of-29 passes for 289 yards and three touchdowns.

With the win, Betsy Layne improved to 4-2 overall.

Paintsville, a team that has now dropped three games by eight points or less, fell to 1-5.

Senior running back Josh Salisbury and junior quarterback Dylan Hamilton combined to lead the Bobcats.

Betsy Layne rushed for 270 yards en route to the non-district win. The Bobcats picked up another 150 yards through the air.

Salisbury presented problems for the Paintsville defense as he rushed 17 times for 120 yards and one touchdown.

Hamilton was very effective through the air, completing seven of 15 passes for 150 yards and two touchdowns. The second-year starting quarterback went interception-free in the road game.

Houston Hall turned in another solid effort on the offensive side for the Bobcats. Hall rushed 14 times for 89 yards.

Hamilton proved to be a dual-threat for Betsy Layne as he rushed a dozen times for 60 yards.

Blake Spencer led Betsy Layne in receiving, grabbing four receptions for 111 yards and two touchdowns.

Hall, Peyton Case and Dustin Rogers hauled in one catch apiece for the Bobcats.

With two minutes remaining, Prestonsburg appeared ready to score when the Betsy Layne defense forced a fumble on the three-yard line.

Men's soccer; Pikeville drops the contest to St. Catharine

Times Staff Report

PIKEVILLE — A 13th minute goal by sophomore forward Chase Johnson and an 80 percent save percentage from senior goalkeeper Sheldon Thomas were enough to get the University of Pikeville men's soccer team its longest lead of the season but not quite its first win as the Bears fell 2-1 to visiting St. Catharine College.

The Bears played some of their most creative soccer of the season in the first half, and were rewarded when Johnson latched onto Garrett Kee's pass just outside the box and blasted home the opening goal. Although the game was still young, the Bears had done a good job controlling the ball and limiting the Patriots to just two shots on goal in the first half.

What looked to be an equalizer for St. Catharine was ruled out by the dreaded off-sides flag in the 20th minute. It was not until the 37th minute that Ashley Woods was able to score from a free kick by shooting into the upper-left corner beyond Thomas' reach.

Woods struck again from the spot in the 47th minute, this time choosing power over placement. Woods' low, driven effort managed to curve around the wall and into the inside netting.

The Bears' search for their first win under Coach Shane Pulliam will continue on October 6 at home against Campbellsville University. Kickoff is set for 5 p.m.

Women's soccer: St. Catharine limits Bears in conference meeting

Times Staff Report

PIKEVILLE — Chances were at a premium on Sunday at Bob Anos Park for the University of Pikeville women's soccer team, who lost 3-1 to conference foe St. Catharine.

The Bears, who were out-shot by the visiting Patriots 26-6 including a 12-1 disadvantage in the second half, saw little of the ball for most of the evening.

Senior forward Krista Russell opened St. Catharine's account in the 33rd minute, when her head met freshman Macy Higdon's corner kick in a superb aerial display.

Six minutes later UPIKE freshman Carmen Koster brought the teams back to level ground via an excellent controlled half-volley from classmate Katelyn Abdon's lofted through ball.

For a time the game appeared destined to end in a draw as the Bears repelled attack after attack throughout the second half. It was Sarah Herbert though who was able to break the tie by keeping her shot from close range low and just inside the far post after being sent through by her fellow freshman Kelsey Pendleton. Herbert would turn provider in the 90th minute as she rolled the ball simply to Russell, who shot home to earn a brace.

St. Catharine's sophomore keeper Lindsey Vinson was called into action five times, saving four.

The Bears' own sophomore keeper, Chelsea Schulte, had another strong but demanding outing as she produced 11 saves against three goals allowed. Schulte turned in a highlight-worthy save in the 25th minute, as she denied a screamer from three yards out following a well-worked free kick routine by the Patriots.

win by scores of 25-13, 25-13, 25-16.

October starts off with plenty of adventure events

FRANKFORT — October may be the best month for outdoor adventure in Kentucky.

There are plenty of opportunities for great outdoor adventure during October. Things kick off with a bang the first weekend, Oct. 6-7. Here is a sample of what adventure seekers can experience, from the Kentucky Office of Adventure Tourism. The only bad thing — you can't be in more than one place at once!

The fall paddling season begins on the Russell Fork River in eastern Kentucky. Elkhorn City in Pike County is home to some of the best paddling opportunities in the Southeast. Each October, the Flannagan Reservoir is lowered to winter pool levels, and folks downstream reap the benefits. Sheltoe Trace Outfitters, the popular guides normally found on the Cumberland River, offer guided rafting trips each weekend. Last October, the Russell Fork River hosted the best kayakers in the world at the 2011 USA Canoe and Kayak National Team Trials. Paddlers of all skill levels descend on the scenic Breaks gorge, aptly nicknamed the Grand Canyon of the South, this time of year for journeys they won't soon forget. To learn more about the river itself, check out www.russellfork.info, and to schedule a rafting trip check out www.ky-rafting.com.

The largest trail riding event of the year is set for the first weekend in October. The popular Knott County Trail Ride promises to be bigger and better than ever. The Knott County Mine Made Adventure Park is the home for this event and offers hundreds of miles of trails for riders to explore. Thousands of riders and their horses will journey to eastern Kentucky for fellowship, entertainment, good food and great trail riding. Put it on your calendar for Oct. 4-7. The campground opens Sunday, Sept. 30. Learn more about the Mine Made Adventure Park and the Trail Ride at www.knottcountyadventure.com.

Cyclists also have a big event to look forward to this first weekend in October. The 2012 Governor's Autumn Bike Ride Across Kentucky (GABRAKY) will begin on Friday, Oct. 4, through Sunday, Oct. 7. This popular cycling event is a fund raiser for the Grand Theatre, a 428-seat community arts theater in downtown Frankfort. Rides will be offered all four days, and all rides will feature some of the best on-road cycling available anywhere. Time is running out, so be sure to visit www.gabrakv.com for registration and specific route info.

Last, but certainly not least, is Rocktoberfest 2012 at the Red River Gorge, Oct. 5-7. This annual event put on by the Red River Gorge Climbers Coalition is a must-attend for climbing enthusiasts. This year's event is particularly special as the coalition will celebrate making the final payment on the Pendergrass-Murray Recreational Preserve (PMRP). Natural Bridge Campground will be the host venue for the 2012 event. There are plenty of exciting events and great entertainment. If you are a climber, you need to attend Rocktoberfest! Visit the Red River Gorge Climbers Coalition website to learn more at www.rrgcc.org.

To find information about all of the outdoor opportunities and locations, as well as a calendar of events happening all across Kentucky, visit the Office of Adventure Tourism's website at www.getoutky.com.

Kentuckians get chance at polls to ensure right to hunt and fish

Times Staff Report

FRANKFORT — Kentuckians get the opportunity during next month's elections to constitutionally solidify their hunting and fishing heritage by voting for a constitutional amendment that guarantees their personal right to hunt, fish and harvest wildlife through traditional methods.

The 2011 Kentucky General Assembly overwhelmingly passed House Bill 1, also known as "The Right to Hunt and Fish," which established a ballot initiative during the November 2012 general election.

The Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources worked closely with the bill's sponsors, as did the League of Kentucky Sportsmen and the National Rifle Association. The Commonwealth is seeking to join more than a dozen other states that already have passed constitutional hunting or fishing guarantees, including Arkansas, Alabama, California, South Carolina, Georgia, Louisiana, Minnesota, Montana, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, Vermont, Virginia, Wisconsin and Alaska.

Idaho and Nebraska voters also get the chance to amend their constitutions with similar amendments next month.

The full text of the HB1/ Constitutional Amendment reads:

"The citizens of Kentucky have the personal right to hunt, fish, and harvest wildlife, using traditional methods, subject only to statutes enacted by the Legislature, and to administrative regulations adopted by the designated state agency to promote wildlife conservation and management and to preserve the future of hunting and fishing. Public hunting and fishing shall be a preferred means of managing and controlling wildlife. This section shall not be construed to modify any provision of law relating to trespass, property rights, or the regulation of commercial activities."

Preserving Kentucky's rich hunting and fishing heritage remains central, but hunting, fishing and wildlife-related recreation also are tremendous economic engines in today's Commonwealth. They generate more than $3 billion in economic impact and 34,000 jobs annually. They produce nearly $209 million in state and local tax revenues.

"Kentucky was known as the Happy Hunting Ground long before it became a state, and Kentuckians today still enjoy hunting and fishing at higher rates than the national average," said Dr. Jon Gassett, commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "We are fortunate to have the chance next month at the polls to join many other states that have already taken steps to ensure that heritage continues for our grandchildren and theirs."

20 years ago (Sept. 30-Oct. 2, 1992)

Plans for Eastern Kentucky Racing Incorporated's proposed Kentucky Downs Harness track trotted back to the drawing table Tuesday, when the Kentucky Racing Commission tabled until late Oct. discussion on whether or not the track would be allowed five racing dates. The racing commission received an avalanche of criticism when, at its Sept. 1 meeting, it approved live racing dates for every thoroughbred track in the state, but denied dates to Riverside Downs in Henderson and Kentucky Downs in Prestonsburg, two of only three harness racing tracks seeking approval.

The Ivel and Big Sandy Citizens Against Pollution received powerful support from a number of sources in their opposition to Costain Coal Incorporated's proposed residual landfill, Thursday evening, including Fifth District Democratic candidate for the office of U.S. Representative John Doug Hays. Hays was on hand, Thursday evening, for the second Kentucky Cabinet for Natural Resources Division of Waste Management public hearing to determine whether or not to approve Costain's permit application to construct a residual landfill.

Despite the Floyd County Fiscal Court's continued public opposition to a residual landfill proposed by Costain Incorporated, it is continuing negotiations with Costain to secure property to be used as an industrial site. Floyd County Attorney Jim Hammond announced those intentions, Thursday, at a public Division of Waste Management hearing to determine whether or not Costain would be allowed to construct a residual landfill that will contain fly and bottom ash produced by the burning of Costain-mined coal.

A Prestonsburg lawyer, on Tuesday, filed a second lawsuit in Floyd County Circuit Court against the Kalamazoo, Michigan-based Upjohn Company, the maker of the "nerve pill" Halcion, claiming the drug had driven a Garret man to take his own life. Ned Pillersdorf, a Prestonsburg attorney, said Tuesday, that Halcion had caused Luther Messer, 68, to become increasingly confused, depressed and paranoid, and ultimately drove Messer to put a shotgun in his mouth and pull the trigger.

An 18-year-old Floyd County woman was killed in a two-car accident, Wednesday, at the intersection of State Route 21 and at the mouth of Stephens Branch, near Martin. Jennifer L. Ousley apparently pulled into the path of a pickup truck driven by Ella C.

Hamilton, 51, of Viper, in Perry County, while trying to make a left turn off KY 1210 at Martin, police said. Ousley was taken to Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin and was transferred to the University of Kentucky Medical Center in Lexington where she died 12:30 a.m. Thursday.

There died: Edith Isaacs, 72, of Teabery, Thursday, at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital; William K. Steele, 85, of Allen, Thursday, at the Riverview Manor Nursing Home; Satherin Akers, 55, of Prestonsburg, Friday, at Pikeville Methodist Hospital; Pearl Childers Williams, 74, of Thelma, Thursday, at Highlands Regional Medical Center; Stanville, Monday, at Highlands Regional Medical Center; Wilma "Ray" Hall, 61, of Pikeville, Monday, at the Pikeville Methodist Hospital; Edgar Bowling, 75, of Hager Hill, Sunday, at Highland Regional Medical Center; Jackie Lynn Newsome, 40, of Belleville, Michigan, formerly of Hi Hat, Saturday, at Annapolis Hospital, Wayne, Michigan; Edna Mae Samons, 75, of Allen, Thursday, at Our Lady of the Way Hospital; James Benjamin "Putch" Wells, 58, of Prestonsburg, Thursday, at Highlands Regional Medical Center, in Hartford, South; 69, of Prestonsburg, Wednesday, in the Riverview Manor Nursing Home; Shelby Jean Hall, 51, of Galveston, Tuesday, at the Pikeville Methodist Hospital.

30 years ago (Oct. 6, 1982)

The task facing officers attempting to identify the slayer of 17-year-old David Allen Whitten, Friday, was not an easy one. In a deserted fishing cabin in the headwaters area of Dewey Lake, was compounded, early Wednesday night, when the cabin burned to the ground.

Early last month, with the opening of legalized beer outlets, County Attorney Arnold Turner Jr. announced a "get tough" policy against alcohol-related offenses—public intoxication and drunk driving—"repeat" violators.

A West Prestonsburg man, Hershel Owens, entered a guilty plea in district court, Monday, to become a minor league driver license and was fined $300, and equipment seized, by mining officials, was ordered forfeited.

The cabinet of the State Cabinet has awarded a contract to resurface five miles of KY 414, the David-Prestonsburg road.

There died: Leon Blackburn, 63, of Prestonsburg, West Friday, at the VA Hospital in Lexington; Leonard Ousley, 58, of Risner, Monday, of an apparent heart attack; Tom Baldrige, 99, of East Point, last Wednesday, at Highlands Regional Medical Center; Felix Collins, 84, of Wheelwright, Tuesday, at Pikeville Methodist Hospital; Nancy C. Carpenter, 92, of Wayland, last Wednesday, at Riverview Manor Nursing Home.
