Family fitness event set for Sunday

Ralph B. Davis
Managing Editor

MINNIE — Elkhorn Recreation and Education Park will be the site of fun, sweat and cheers, Sunday, as hundreds of people gather to celebrate physical fitness. Sponsored by the Floyd County Cooperative Extension Service, Second Sunday is an event geared toward promoting exercise in local residents by showing them fun ways to do it. The event will begin at 2:30 p.m., at the park, which is located near the intersection of Route 680 and Route 777, near Minnie. Activities are expected to wrap up around 5 p.m. Theresa Scott, Floyd County extension agent, for family and consumer sciences, says this year's event was developed with the intent of providing "family-friendly fun for all ages."

Events this year will include hiking, walking, a pink-glove walk, Zumba, a rope climb, hopscotch and more. Two new events this year are a nature walk and a dress-up relay race. During the nature walk, participants will collect leaves and other natural objects, then use them to create a collage on their return. The dress-up relay will see teams don provided costumes before competing in a relay race.

There will also be a drawing for prizes, including a grand prize of a new bicycle. Scott reminded those wanting to attend this year's event to listen for announcements on local radio stations if it looks like rain. But she said the forecast is looking good, so far. "It looks like it's going to a good weather," Scott said. "I'm keeping my fingers crossed."

Sen. Mitch McConnell shook hands of those who attended his speech Wednesday to four chambers of commerce at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park. At the speech, McConnell said voters should end President Barack Obama's "experiment" with the economy by electing Mitt Romney. An hour later, he held a group at Highlands Regional Medical Center that an Obama victory would ensure health care reform is here to stay.

McConnell: Obama victory will mean Obamacare here to stay

PRESTONSBURG — Senate Minority Leader Mitch McConnell said Monday during a town hall meeting at Highlands

Regional Medical Center that he didn't see much opportunity to repeal the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, also known as "Obamacare," if President Obama wins reelection in November. McConnell, who was touring the area, and stopped briefly to speak to a largely medical professional audience, said Obamacare would likely continue under a second term of the president. "You learn pretty early in school that elections have conse-

McConnell lays out case for Romney

PRESTONSBURG — U.S. Sen. Mitch McConnell addressed an assembly of four area chambers of commerce Wednesday, using the time to lay out his reasons for why he believes voters should opt for a change in the presidential election this year.

McConnell, who serves as minority leader of the Senate, addressed a luncheon gathering of the Floyd County, Southeast Kentucky, Letcher County and Johnson County chambers at the Wilkinson Stumbo Convention Center. During his speech, he laid out his reasons for believing the country would be better off if former Massachusetts Gov. Mitt Romney defeated President Barack Obama on Nov. 6.

"It's time for the American people to make a judgment, about whether they want the next four years to be just like the last four years," McConnell said. "McConnell said the president has experimented with a 'European' style of government during his first term, and said that experiment has failed."

"We've had an experiment here in very, very big government," McConnell said. "Four years in a row of trillion-dollar deficits, each year, trillion-dollar deficits. We now have a debt the size of our economy. When you have a debt the size of your economy, you look a lot like Greece."

He also said Obama has reneged on 2008 pledges of working with Republicans to reach bipartisan compromise. He said the promise shown when the two parties agreed to extend former President George W. Bush's tax cuts proved to be temporary.

"Well, my friends, that proved to be an aberration, and not the beginning of a trend," McConnell said. "It was a moment in which you could see how bipartisan things could be accomplished. The president, however, pivoted back to the left and stayed there for the balance of the current Congress."

Southeast Chamber Chairman Danny Vanhoose introduced McConnell, who he said "epitomizes leadership."

Vanhoose also said the collaboration of the four chambers was a heartening sign.

"I'm delighted to be here with a group of business leaders from throughout this community and throughout this region, who see the benefit of coming together and working as one," Vanhoose said.

Southeast Chamber Director Jared Allen agreed, saying there are plans for similar events in the future. He said cooperation between communities will foster growth for all.

"Our individual communities are not losing to each other, but we are losing as a region," Allen said.

Whistleblower alleges firing was retaliatory

Ralph B. Davis

PIKEVILLE — A Letcher County coal miner is suing his former employer, alleging he was fired for reporting and documenting safety violations and cooperating with state and federal regulators on safety issues.

Charles Scott Howard, of Roxana, filed a wrongful discharge suit in Letcher Circuit Court against Cumberland River Coal Company and two of its officers, human resources manager Valerie A. Lee and president and general manager G. G. Frazier. On Thursday, the case was transferred to U.S. District Court, in Pikeville.

In his complaint, Howard's attorneys, Tony Oppenard and Wes Adington, list Howard's activities as a "well-known safety activist" for more than six pages. Those activities included complaining about conditions to management, reporting violations to the federal Mine Safety and Health Administration and the state Office of Mine Safety and Licensing, cooperating with regulators to correct violations, testifying before Congress about the need for stronger safety laws, filing discrimination complaints against the company, and making a videotape of leaking mine seals in CRCC's Band Mill No. 2 mine, which he later showed to regulators.

Howard was seriously injured July 26, 2010, while working underground; the complaint says, and could not work while he recovered from his injuries. He was later cleared to return to work by several doctors, with the only restriction being he could not work "at height."

When Howard received his final clearance from a neurosurgeon on May 11, 2011, the complaint says, his attorney informed the company that he was ready to return to work as soon as he completed his annual safety training. The company scheduled him to take the training May 16 and

Coal supporters to rally along highways

Jack Latta
Staff Writer

Pro-coal forces will line up across coal country Saturday afternoon, beginning near Big Stone Gap, Va., and stretching through large states in an effort to rally support for the battered mining industry of central Appalachia.

According to organizers, the lineup will begin alongside U.S. 23 into and through Eastern Kentucky, all the way into Ohio, near Chillicothe. Organizers say the lineup will also follow U.S. 119 to Charleston, W.Va.

Jesse Salyer Jr., one of the organizers with United for Coal, says the event is trying to put a face on coal mining.

"People in Washington D.C. don't care about miners," Salyer said. "We want to put a face on this to let America know that there are people affected by this from Ohio to Big Stone Gap, Va., and all places in the coalfields in between."

Salyer says that they expect Sen. Brandon Smith and Pike County Judge-Executive Wayne Rutherford to be in attendance in Pikeville. Additionally there are expected to be 20,000 people in Pike County, and over 200,000 from the beginning to the end of the lineup.

Salyer says the rally is in response to the crippling nature of an administration out of touch with a region, and draconian EPA policies aimed at stamping out the coal industry. "We just need a change. We're trying to inform people about what's going on," Salyer said. "This thing affects our whole region. They're trying to do away with our way of life, with nothing to replace it."

The lineup will begin at 1:30 p.m. and organizers are hoping to have an excellent turnout. A lot of pictures and signs showing support for coal mining. The event is expected to be captured by aerial photography.

Obituaries

Sherry Halbert Hall
Sherry Halbert Hall, 59, died Monday, Oct. 8, 2012, at her home in Trent Woods, after a valiant effort to survive pancreatic cancer. She was successful in her battle with breast cancer in the 1990s, after surviving a recurrence and subsequent bone marrow transplant. She was a brave and uncompaining soldier.

Sherry was born March 18, 1953, in Martin, and considered Kentucky home. She was the third of four children born to Mary Jo Halbert and the late Herman Halbert.

She was a 1971 graduate of Prestonsburg High School, a 1975 graduate of the University of Louisville in Medical Technology, and earned a Masters Degree in Secondary Science Education in 2003 from East Carolina University.

Sherry was a scientist at heart and used her bountiful knowledge in cooking, gardening, teaching, and living a healthy life. First and foremost, however, was her devotion to her sons, William James Hall III and John Martin Hall, whom she adored. Their personal and professional accomplishments were a source of great pride. Sherry loved her family, her friends, her church and living life fully. She will be missed by all.

She is survived by her sons; her mother, a brother, Dr. Dennis Halbert and wife Shirley, of Pikeville; two sisters, Lynn Leslie and husband Dr. Larry Leslie, of Prestonsburg, and Connie Halbert, of Louisville. She is also survived by four nieces and nephews.

Memorial services will be held at 1 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 13, at Garber United Methodist Church, in Trent Woods, N.C., with Rev. David A. Banks officiating. The family will receive friends following the services. Those wishing to offer words of hope and condolences may visit www.lockbest.com.

Memorials in lieu of flowers may be made to Susan G. Komen for the Cure, or Donor Services, PO Box 650309, Dallas, TX, 75265. Alternatively, Sherry would appreciate your gift to the Kingswood After-School Ministry c/o Garber United Methodist Church, 4201 Country Club Rd., New Bern, NC; 28562. Please note Memorial for Sherry in the memo line of your gift.

Whistle

17, 2011, in Cumberland, and told him he could return to work May 18.

While Howard was in class receiving his training, however, he received a call from a claims adjuster handling his workers' compensation claim. The adjuster told him she had received a report from Dr. Robert Granacher, permanently barring him from working as a coal miner. Granacher had previously cleared Howard for work, with only the height restriction.

According to the complaint, Howard then called Lee, who told him he was out of a job and "advised him to seek training for some other type of work."

Howard says his dismissal is a ruse. "Although CRCC claimed that it could not allow Howard to work underground because of Granacher's restriction, the reason given by the company was pretextual," the complaint says. "In fact, the defendants discharged Howard on May 16, 2011, because Howard had engaged in numerous safety activities during his employment with the company."

In the complaint, Howard alleges Frazier agreed to put Howard back to work, but Lee instead prepared a generic description of Howard's job duties and asked him for a second opinion.

"The job analysis" that Lee completed for Granacher was inaccurate in many respects," the complaint says.

Howard filed a discrimination complaint against CRCC with MSHA following his discharge, and an administrative law judge ruled June 15 that he had been fired "in violation of the anti-discrimination provision of the Mine Act."

"It is obvious that CRCC worked diligently to end Howard's employment," the judge is quoted in the complaint as saying. "The mine waited until every doctor, including two neurosurgeons, two eye doctors, a psychiatrist and others found no impairment and agreed Howard could return to work. Then it asked Granacher to further review his first finding of a 7 percent impairment and a restriction against working at height. It is interesting to note that Granacher did not see Howard prior to making his second determination, did not change his impairment rating the second time, and did little more than answer a paragraph submitted to his office ...

"[T]here is ample evidence of blatant discrimination against Howard ... The discrimination against Howard ran through CRCC and its parent, Arch, at the highest management levels. The evidence supports a finding that [CRCC] acted willfully and used any means available to terminate Howard."

Howard is seeking unspecified compensatory damages against CRCC, Lee and Frazier.

BSACAP offering LIHEAP pre-registration through November 2

Big Sandy Area Community Action Program (BSACAP) is offering pre-registration for the Subsidy portion of the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) until Friday, Nov. 2.

Pre-registration is available to applicants who are on a fixed income and who have at least one member of the household who is either age 60 or older or is disabled.

To be eligible to pre-register, applicants must bring proof they are receiving disability benefits and/or are at least 60 years of age and on a fixed income.

In addition, to qualify for the Subsidy component of LIHEAP, applicants must present the following:

- Most recent heating bill or proof that heating expenses are included in rent (for example: lease agreement or rent contract);
- Proof of physical address - bring metered utility bill;
- Proof of household income for prior month;
- Birthdays for all household members;
- Social security card or official documentation with social security numbers for each member of household.

Applicants must apply in their county of residence. Applications will be taken at the following BSACAP service offices from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.:

Floyd County 60 Court Street Allen, Ky. 606-874-3595	Johnson County 230 Court Street Paintsville, Ky. 606-789-6515	Magoffin County 131 S. Church Street Sylversville, Ky. 606-349-2217
Martin County 387 E. Main Street Inez, Ky. 606-298-3217	Pike County 478 Town Mountain Road Pikeville, Ky. 606-432-2775

All other applicants may begin applying for Subsidy on Monday, Nov. 5, through Friday, Dec. 14. As in past years, applications will be taken alphabetically, according to the applicant's last name.

LIHEAP, a national energy assistance initiative funded by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, is funded in Kentucky by the state Cabinet for Health and Family Services and Community Action Kentucky.

Card of Thanks
The family of Charles Stanton "Dommer" Bailey would like to extend a heartfelt thank you to all those who called, sent flowers and food, and prayed for our family during this very difficult time. We appreciate each and every one of you for your love and support. We know that we are truly blessed for friends and family like you. Special thanks to Nathan and Jennifer for their love and support, to Michael Collins for his music and singing. We would also like to say a special thank you to the staff at St. Joseph's Hospital in Martin, KY for their care and compassion during our father's last days. Thank you to Hall Funeral Home, Jennifer and Mike Fitzpatrick for their kindness. Thank you to the Disabled American Veterans Garrett, KY chapter for their participation in the funeral. Also, thank you to the Floyd County Sheriff's Department for their assistance and to Jason Ward of the Sheriff's Office for the beautiful flowers. Thank you to the pallbearers: David Bailey, Stewart Bailey, Doug Bailey, Rick McDaniels, John McDaniel, Mark Bentley, Calan Hagan, and Ted McDowell. Thank you to the staff at Riverview Healthcare Center and staff. Your kindness and support during this very difficult time will never be forgotten. May God bless each and every one of you.

Worth Repeating...

A liberal is a man who is right most of the time, but he's right too soon.

— Gregory Nunn

Amendment I

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people to peaceably assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

Our View Treat yourself to fun, fitness

So, on Sunday afternoon, maybe you're returning home from church and finding your Sunday best a little too snug after a few too many funnel cakes and blooming onions at the Jenny Wiley Pioneer Festival.

What's a person to do? Fortunately, there is a chance for you to join other Floyd Countians for a chance to have a little fun with your family, take a chance to win some prizes and burn away a few of those fall festival calories in one fell swoop.

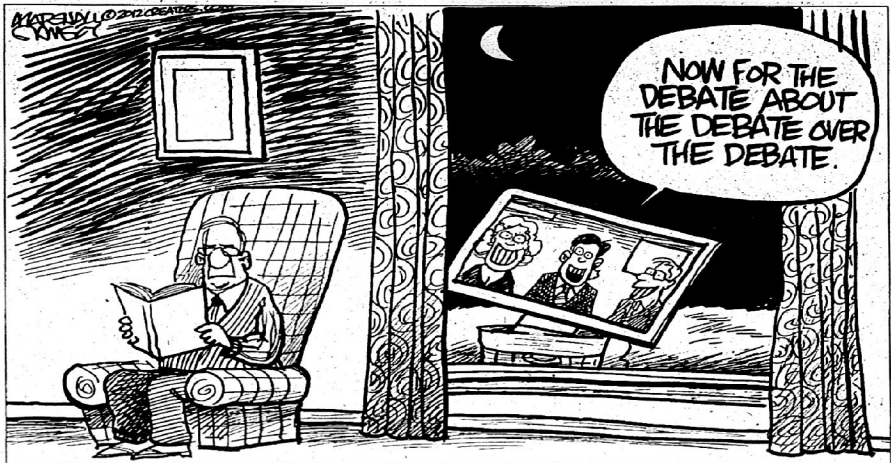

The fifth annual Second Sunday event will take place from 2:30 to 5 p.m., Sunday afternoon, at the Elkhorn Recreation and Education Park, located near the intersection of Route 680 and Route 777. And having seen previous years' events, we can promise that you will be missing out on a lot of fun if you don't attend this year.

Now, some of you might be thinking that spending an afternoon exercising doesn't sound like a lot of fun. Second Sunday will change your mind. Organizers have lined up a lot of fun activities, including corn hole, hiking, Zumba, walking, a relay race and more. In fact, you might have so much fun that you forget that you're also getting a workout.

Who knows? You might even find an activity you enjoy so much that you'll be inspired to drop a few pounds in the months to come.

So if you're looking for something fun to do that has the added benefit of making you healthier, head on over to Elkhorn Park on Sunday. Your heart, lungs and waistline will thank you for it.

Consumer choice: As American as apple pie

Wenonah Hauter
OtherWords

Meet the Arctic apple. In the field-trial stage since 2003, this fruit has had bacterial and viral DNA inserted into it — a genetic modification that prevents browning when bruised or sliced. One company, Okanagan Specialty Foods, has been testing these genetically engineered apples in New York and Washington — the country's biggest apple-producing states. Now, they're up for regulatory review by the Department of Agriculture (USDA).

If approved, most Arctic apples will be used in fresh-cut apple slice processing and by food service businesses, with some going into juice. But traditional apple growers, including trade organizations such as the U.S. Apple Association and the Northwest Horticulture Council, aren't exactly thrilled. Not only could it hurt traditional growers' market share, but nearby organic and traditional orchards may be contaminated with pollen from these newfangled apples and there could be cross-contamination at the processing level as well.

Even the top sliced-apple company is concerned about the food safety and consumer confidence ramifications of these apples because they could mislead consumers into thinking they're about to bite into a fresh, juicy apple rather than one on the verge of rotting.

Are all of the risks really worth it for an apple that resists a minor aesthetic flaw? Millions of research dollars have sunk into this product so that fast food and processing companies can let sliced apples sit around in plastic bags longer.

And, worst of all — as with all genetically modified foods — these apples won't be labeled. Consumers will have no way to tell that they're eating them. Okanagan claims they'll use an Arctic apple sticker and an indication of its "non-browning trait benefit," but there's no law requiring any kind of labeling. While the European Union has required the labeling of most genetically engineered foods for years, there's no such requirement in the United States.

Right now, the vast majority of processed foods contain modified ingredients, particularly corn, soy, and their derivatives. But in recent years, these crops have steadily crept into the produce aisle. Washington has approved a total of 87 since the 1990s, seven of which the Food and Drug Administration approved in 2011 alone.

With little regulatory oversight and even less independent, long-term scientific study on their impact on human health and the environment, it's no wonder that a majority of consumers would not eat this newfangled food and nearly all — 90 to 95 percent — want genetically modified food to be labeled so they can make informed choices.

In California, more than a million voters have signed to have an initiative on the state's November ballot to mandate labeling. So far, Proposition 37 has 61 percent support from voters despite large food and pesticide companies spending at least $35 million to confuse the public with misinformation.

Proposition 37 and several other statewide mandatory labeling initiatives in the works are about giving the power of information back to consumers and ending the tyranny that large corporations have maintained over our food supply. And, if there's one thing more American than the apple, it's our right to make informed choices — in this case, to decide for ourselves whether or not to serve genetically engineered apples in our pie.

At the risk of sounding like a boob, National Breast Cancer Awareness Month really gets under my skin. I hope they find a cure for cancer soon because it's not even Columbus Day yet and I am already sick of seeing grown football players parading up and down the field in pink. A whole month of this, and it's an absolute travesty. Allow me to explain why.

Why does breast cancer get its own month? Would somebody in the audience mind telling me when Liver Cancer Awareness Month is? Say, what are your plans for Lower Intestine Cancer Awareness Day this year? I was thinking about having a round of burgers down at the bar.

Who isn't aware of breast cancer? Do we really need the "awareness" part in there? The pink is just predictably annoying, but the awareness part is just plain redundant. Do you honestly expect me to believe there is a guy out there who isn't aware of cancer's existence?

Of course not, that's absurd. Do not misconstrue my opinion or consider me a chauvinistic pig. I hate everything about breast cancer. I hate the cancer part, I hate the breast part. Well, on second thought, the breast part isn't so bad, but I definitely hate the cancer part. I hate cancer more than Hitler.

And yet, the notion of Hitler being diagnosed with cancer oddly amuses me.

Somewhere along the line, breast cancer became the metaphorical polar bear of the cancer community. Zealot animal activists want to save polar bears and other like-minded cute and cuddly endangered species, but nobody cares about the near-extinct blobfish. Nobody gives a rip about the blobfish because they are ugly, unsightly and resemble an actual bear — with a face.

No, my real problem with this whole pink predicament is why it's apparently so selective. As if society has ruled to pay attention to this one type of specific cancer above all others. It sends a sour message to other types of cancer survivors and victims. Who deemed breast cancer as the King of the Cancers?

How do you think that makes other people feel who have another type of cancer — or don't even have breast cancer at all? "Take my brand-new and now cancer-free wife, Christine. She had ovarian cancer when we first met each other. We would be sitting on the couch watching football in October and I would get mad at her."

"You have the wrong kind of cancer, kiddo!" would nag insistently. "You should have been diagnosed with breast cancer, you know? That way it would appear that society cares about you."

"I know, I know," Christine would pout. "I feel totally fleeced."

Yep, I have personally been affected by cancer so I can afford to treat this subject matter in a humorous light. Plus, now you probably feel obligated to sympathize with me.

Ovarian cancer doesn't have its own month or day, at least in an officially recognized or celebrated capacity, unless November is an actual month. Nor does ovarian cancer have its own obnoxious color. (For the record I would suggest brilliant lavender.)

From what I pretend to know about the female anatomy the ovaries are more important in the overall scheme of things than breasts. Breasts are nice, provide much-needed nutrition to newborn babies and can sometimes earn a gal a set of plastic beads, but ovaries? Forget about it. Ovaries have been creating civilization since the dawn of, well, civilization.

But there shouldn't be a National Ovarian Cancer Awareness Month any more than there should be a National Breast Cancer Awareness Month. What it should be called, however, is something much simpler.

I would start with Cancer Awareness Month and leave it at that.

Nothing about cancer should feel like a high school popularity contest.

LOUISA — Prestonsburg prevailed in the opening round of the 57th District Girls' Soccer Tournament Tuesday night at Lawrence County. The Lady Blackcats doubled up Paintsville 4-2 in an opening round contest. With the win, Prestonsburg advanced to the district title match.

The victory allowed Prestonsburg to improve to 12-9-0. After absorbing the loss, Paintsville ended the season 9-7-0. Sophomore forward Katie Porter paced Prestonsburg with two goals. Freshman forward Jackie Kidd and senior forward Ally Branham added one goal apiece for the Lady Blackcats. Porter, Jackie Kidd and senior midfielder Caitlin Kidd each had an assist for the Lady Blackcats.

Defensively, Prestonsburg goalkeeper Autumn Hall held Lawrence County to two goals.

Prestonsburg, under the direction of head coach Scott Porter, posted its third straight win.

The Lady Blackcats were playing host Lawrence County in the district championship match on Thursday evening.

Results from the title match were unavailable at press time.

Lawrence County 10, Johnson Central 0: After shutting out Sheldon Clark 9-0 in the play-in game, Johnson Central was held scoreless Tuesday evening. Host Lawrence County leveled Johnson Central, defeating the Lady Eagles 10-0.

Shelby Hay led Lawrence County with four goals. Ashleigh Adkins, Addison Frazier and Mollie Workman netted two goals apiece for the Lady Bulldogs.

Workman registered a team-high three assists for the Lawrence County girls' soccer team. Hay had two assists as the Lady Bulldogs won convincingly.

Defensively, Lawrence County goalkeeper Catherine Clay held Johnson Central scoreless.

Allen Central set to visit South Floyd

Steve LeMaster
SPORTS EDITOR

HI HAT — Rejuvenated Allen Central will look to notch its second straight win on the road tonight against a familiar foe. Class A, District 8 rival South Floyd awaits the Rebels. South Floyd has dropped four straight games after opening the season 2-1.

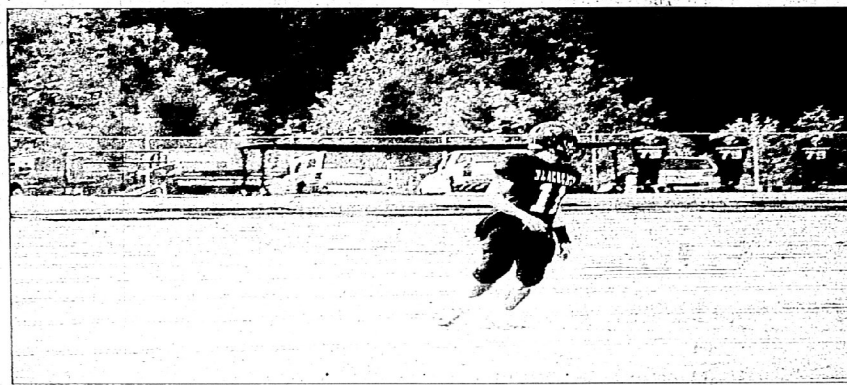

Last week, Allen Central, under the direction of head coach Jeremy Hall, worked its way into the win column with a hard-fought 22-20 victory over Class A, District 8 opponent Phelps. With the win, Allen Central improved to 1-6.

Allen Central's six-game losing streak at the start of the season consisted of losses to non-district foes Jenkins, Leslie County, Betsy Layne, Paintsville, Williamsburg and Pineville.

Opponents have outscored the young Rebels 277-66.

Following a season-opening loss to former district foe Betsy Layne, South Floyd defeated Jenkins and Knott County Central.

Through eight games, junior Grant Anderson has over 1,000 yards receiving for the Prestonsburg Blackcats.

Anderson goes over 1,000 yards receiving

Steve LeMaster
SPORTS EDITOR

PRESTONSBURG — Prestonsburg junior receiver Grant Anderson achieved a milestone last week during Prestonsburg's convincing 56-7 win over Shelby Valley. Anderson, who also excels in baseball and basketball, went over 1,000 yards receiving. Through eight games, Anderson has reeled in a team-high 49 catches for 1,023 yards and 10 touchdowns.

Anderson hauled in eight receptions for 180 yards and three touchdowns in Prestonsburg's win over Shelby Valley.

Over the summer, Anderson thrived on the baseball diamond.

The versatile Anderson is also headed into his junior campaign with the Prestonsburg boys' basketball team.

Senior Bryson Williams isn't too far behind Anderson in the receiving column. Williams has hauled in 31 receptions for 805 yards and a team-high 11 touchdowns. Earlier in the season, Williams set a new state record for receiving yardage in a game.

And how about the quarterback throwing passes to Anderson, Williams and several other Blackcats? Prestonsburg sophomore quarterback Jarredd Jarrell is on pace to pass for over 3,000 yards in the regular-season. Jarrell has completed 121-of-197 passes for 2,501 yards and 25 touchdowns with only six interceptions. The Prestonsburg quarterback has also rushed for a team-high 470 yards and 12 touchdowns via 103 carries.

Freshman Dalton Frasure ranks as Prestonsburg's second-leading rusher. Frasure has rushed for 341 yards and five touchdowns through 49 attempts.

Prestonsburg offensive players will have to wait another week to add to their totals. The Blackcats are off this week. Prestonsburg will visit Leslie County next week before hosting Pike County Central for a regular-season finale.

Pikeville drops match to Virginia-Wise

Times Staff Report

WISE, Va. — The University of Pikeville lost a tight battle with U.Va.-Wise on Tuesday night, falling 3-1.

After Pikeville won the opening set 25-23, host Virginia-Wise battled back to win 25-15, 25-17, 25-11.

Senior Brittany Hodge (Allen Central High School) led the Bears with nine kills in the match, followed by sophomore Taylor Watkins (Betsy Layne High School) with seven. Junior Stephanie Dounseroux, who had four kills, led the team with 12 assists in the contest. She also had three of UPIK's six service aces, while sophomore Samantha Ayres added two.

Ayres and Dounseroux were solid on defense as well with each having eight digs for the Bears. Sophomore Taylor Bragg (Prestonsburg High School) followed with six digs. Bragg had a solo block.

For Wise, Veronica Sanchez collected 43 assists, while Allison King finished with 14 kills on 24 attempts. Defensively, three players finished with double-digit kill totals as India Dillard (14), Brittni Altman (13) and Lindsey Burke (12) thwarted UPIK scoring opportunities.

Pikeville faces a busy weekend on the court. It hosts Ashby at 7 p.m. on Friday. On Saturday, the Bears host a tri-match, playing WVU Tech at 11 a.m. and Johnson University at 3 p.m. The guests will play each other at 1 p.m.

Johnson Central blanks Blackcats in opener

Steve LeMaster
SPORTS EDITOR

PAINTSVILLE — The Prestonsburg Blackcats suffered a season-ending loss to Johnson Central in the opening round of the 57th District Boys' Soccer Tournament at Paintsville. Johnson Central blanked Prestonsburg 4-0 in the postseason meeting.

Prestonsburg exited the season 2-11-3. Johnson Central claimed a shutout win over Prestonsburg in the play-in game of the three-team district tournament.

The Eagles advanced to face Paintsville in the district title match Wednesday evening.

Prestonsburg defeated Johnson Central and Wolfe County early in the regular-season. The Blackcats, under the guidance of head coach Emily Rizzo, defeated Johnson Central 3-1 and blanked Wolfe County 4-0. Prestonsburg was 2-1 through its first three games then fell short in five straight contests. The Blackcats battled to a tie with Hazard twice and Shelby Valley once during the regular-season.

Edmiston wins Tug Valley Bass Anglers' tourney

Times Staff Report

LOUISA — The Tug Valley Bass Anglers fishing club held its eighth tournament of the 2012 season on Yatesville Lake on Saturday. Twenty-four anglers competed in the event. Angler Lacy Edmiston won the Big Fish Award and claimed the top spot in the tournament.

Yatesville Lake was at normal summer pool with a water temperature in the low 60s. The lake was turning over on the lower end with stained water conditions on the upper end.

Weather for the tournament was good with mostly cloudy skies and an air temperature in the low 60s.

Yatesville Lake has been challenging for anglers over the last several weeks and the day of the tournament was no better. Fish were fairly active in the morning but after the cold front moved in the fish would not chase anything. Most fish were caught in the creeks in one to eight feet of water.

The main pattern for this tournament was to fish spinnerbaits and top water first thing in the morning and slow down and fish tight to cover with soft plastics after the fishing slowed.

The top finishers are as follows: 1. Lacy Edmiston (3 fish), 7.80 lbs.; Big Fish — 3.25 lbs.; 2. Gary Varney (3 fish), 6.99 lbs.; 3. Gerry Adkins (2 fish), 5.34 lbs.; 4. Keith Pacific (1 fish), 1.98 lbs.; 5. Lynn Fields (1 fish), 1.89 lbs.; 6. MO (1 fish), 1.87 lbs.; 7. Kevin Runyon (1 fish), 1.84 lbs.; 7. Trent Ramey (1 fish), 1.84 lbs.; 9. Chuck Newman (1 fish), 1.79 lbs.; 10. Mitch Salmon (1 fish), 1.68 lbs.

Sponsors for the Tug Valley Bass Anglers fishing club are Elliot Supply & Glass, Borders Sporting Goods, TMK Security and Personnel, Young Brother's Electric, Perry Distributors, Fat Boy's ATV Lodging, Muncie's Auto Recycling, Robinson Repairs, City Insurance, Nanack Mini Warehouse & Storage, Omega Insurance Agency, Little B's Reel Service and Custom Painting, Atlas Copco, Smith Ad-

Since defeating Knott County Central 54-20, South Floyd has fell to Morgan County, Shelby Valley, Bracken County and Class A, District 8 frontrunner Pikeville.

Allen Central edged South Floyd when the two teams met last season, slipping past the Raiders 36-34.

In other area games tonight it will be Hagan, W.Va. at Betsy Layne; East Ridge at Grundy, Va.; Belfry at Lawrence County; Shelby Valley at Leslie County; Boyd County at Mingo County; Brent County at Morgan County; Nicholas County at Paintsville; Letcher County Central at Perry County Central; Phelps at Pikeville and Johnson Central at Rowan County.

Kickoff for the Allen Central-South Floyd game is set for 7:30 p.m.

MSU to host Morehead Hysteria on Oct. 25

Times Staff Report

MOREHEAD — Morehead State University will host Morehead Hysteria at Johnson Arena on Thursday, Oct. 25 at 7 p.m. The annual event is free of charge and will feature both 2012-13 Eagle basketball teams, along with the MSU cheerleaders.

Head women's coach Tom Hodges will introduce his team at the beginning of the event and 30 minutes of on-court activity will follow. A three-point contest, which is slated for 7:35 p.m., will wrap up the women's portion of the evening.

"This was a great event last year, and we are looking forward to seeing lots of Eagle fans on Oct. 25," Hodges said.

"There's quite a bit of excitement for both basketball programs heading into 2012-13, and this will be a special preview for all who attend."

The 32-minute national champion cheerleading program, led by Head Coach Bill Mayo, will go through a series of routines beginning at approximately 7:45 p.m.

Head Men's Coach Sean Woods will introduce his team at approximately 7:55 p.m. A dunk contest and 30 minutes of on-court activity with the men will take up most of the 8 o'clock hour. Woods will also lead the fans through "Basketball 101."

"This will be my first Morehead Hysteria, and I'm looking forward to it," Woods said. "We have several new faces in the men's program, but fans will see that we've also brought in a lot of talent. This should be a terrific night for both basketball programs."

Both basketball teams will open exhibition play on Saturday, Nov. 3. The women host Kentucky State at 5:15 p.m., while the men entertain St. Catharine at 7:30 p.m.

The hoops doubleheader at Johnson Arena will follow an MSU football game at Jayne Stadium as the Eagles host Pioneer League opponent Davidson at 1 p.m.

Bears fall to Bluefield

Times Staff Report

PIKEVILLE — The University of Pikeville men's soccer team was denied its first win of the season Wednesday night at home against Bluefield College by three late goals and a hat trick for Erik Albarran in a wild romp that finished 6-4.

The game was the best offensive performance so far this season for the Bears, who have looked more and more confident in recent matches.

Freshman midfielder Austin Mustain had the opener in the 16th minute, when he stole away an errant pass and shot into the back corner of the net to put the Bears out front. In what would become a recurring theme, UPIKE's goal was quickly answered by a close-range goal for the Rams as James Gunn's foot found the end of Michael Callaghan's cross near the goal.

Freshman Garrett Kee came on as a forward and got the lead back for the Bears by collecting Djemston Lormisto's shot, which had gone low to the right, then finishing it from a very awkward angle to send the Bears to halftime with a 2-1 advantage.

The second half provided some of the most intense action Bears faithful have been treated to this season with seven goals. Erik Albarran equalized for the visitors in the 57th minute, but UPIKE was confident after seeing Shawn Stanley sent off with a straight red card for his challenge on Erno Telusma, forcing the Rams to play the final third of the game a man down.

Their confidence was rewarded when Nkengafac Lekealem won a loose ball on the edge of the box and shot just past Jefferson Watson to put Pikeville back on top in the 70th minute, but Albarran struck again just two minutes later after a big assist from James Gunn.

Lormisto then produced a highlight-worthy goal in the 75th. After intercepting a pass, Lormisto shot from where he stood 35 yards out, going off the hands of Watson and into the goal.

The Bears looked set to pull off the upset until the 82nd minute, when a handball in the box led to a penalty kick which Callaghan converted. Defender Jacob Mader got Bluefield its first lead five minutes from the final horn, and Albarran struck again in the 89th to complete his hat trick.

The Bears (0-3, 0-6 in MSC) now must look to their Saturday trip to the University of Rio Grande, the nation's top-ranked team. The Rams (6-7, 2-3 in MSC) will also have a conference game Saturday when they host St. Catharine.

Women's Soccer: Bluefield 3, Pikeville 1

Times Staff Report

PIKEVILLE — The University of Pikeville women's soccer team took a loss at home Wednesday afternoon after a scrappy outing against Bluefield College ended 3-1 in the visitors' favor.

The loss came despite goalkeeper Chelsea Schulte's 17 saves and was enough to bring the Bluefield Rams back to an even record at 6-6, and one win shy of doing the same in the Mid-South Conference at 2-3. Having lost, the Bears now find themselves 3-6 on the season but 0-5 in the MSC.

Jessica Newman got things kicked off in the fifth minute when Courtney Pattison worked her way all the way to the goal line before passing back to Newman, who was able to beat UPIKE's Chelsea Schulte from just two yards outside the net. The Rams got eight more shots on goal in the half, but Schulte was able to fend them off.

The second half was a much different story. Although Schulte added nine more saves, Pattison was able to collect a loose ball and score into an empty net just after the second half kickoff.

This led to the Bears (outshot by the Rams 26-12) rediscovering their attacking mojo, and Olivia Gipson was the one to capitalize when she beat most of the Bluefield defense herself to score from inside of the box 58 minutes in.

With the Bears now in striking distance, Bluefield turned to Braley Freire, who buried an unassisted goal 17 minutes from full time to secure a win for her team.

Pikeville will return to the pitch on Saturday afternoon when it visits the University of Rio Grande. The MSC matchup begins at 5 p.m.

Movies from the Black Lagoon 'Phantom of the Paradise'

Tom Doty
Times Columnist

A man sells his soul to rock and roll — literally in this fresh spin on the old story about a composer who kills anyone that threatens the ingénue he adores.

This version of the story is the first to add rock music (eat your heart out, Andrew Lloyd Webber) and it turns out to be a good fit for melodrama. The film opens with young musicians auditioning for famed music producer, Swan. He is not a nice guy. Let's be clear here — this film posits that record producers are one step up from Satan. Swan actually knows the Devil, since he already has him under contract. Turns out, Swan stays young thanks to a deal with the horned one, though he must keep an oil painting of himself from the farm, and Swan actually hires a David Bowie-styled performer named Beef. Winslow, now sporting a birdlike helmet and leather get-up to hide his scars, takes this deception personally and kills Beef on opening night with a neon lightning bolt stage prop. Swan eventually makes a deal with Winslow to write a rock opera for the theater. Winslow thinks he is writing for a young lady named Phoenix, but Swan has actually hired a David Bowie-styled performer named Beef. They turn out to be a 1950s nostalgia style trio. Their greased up hair and doo-wop sound isn't the best fit for the tunes, so they must go.

Meanwhile, Winslow gets wind of Swan's theft and tries to get in to see him. Swan's goons beat the spot out of him, but Winslow retaliates by breaking into Swan's record company, where he promptly inserts his head into a record press and is rewarded with a horribly scarred countenance that also bears Swan's record label logo.

Swan eventually makes a deal with Winslow to write a rock opera for the theater. Winslow thinks he is writing for a young lady named Phoenix, but Swan has actually hired a David Bowie-styled performer named Beef. Winslow, now sporting a birdlike helmet and leather get-up to hide his scars, takes this deception personally and kills Beef on opening night with a neon lightning bolt stage prop. birds, so it isn't exactly well disguised symbolism.

The cast is also on board and offer up full-blown performances. Paul Williams plays the evil Swan and also wrote all of the film's music. Jessica Harper ("Suspisia") is also on hand as Phoenix, and she does a good job of showing how fast innocence can be corrupted by greed. William Finley is fine as Gertie Graham, and Beecher is the real star here. Though his character only appears in one-third of the film, he manages to take over the film whenever he is on screen. He also manages to craft two characters by making Beef's on-stage persona grand and commanding, while the off stage version is a mousey, yellow-bellied whiner.

Though this is rated PG, the tone is more "R" and will go over the heads of most kids anyway. Definitely an adult treat that somehow got in the younger viewer's section.

This also works as a serious swipe at the business of music. The prodigious is the bad guy and his methods include using drugs to keep the talent happy, if not sedated, and a private security team that deals with groups and unwelcomed fans with brutal efficiency. De Palma seems to be pretty sharp here, as some of these practices have come to the light in the film industry.

A rare week saw four very different films hit the shelves, with the quartet being united in quality and worth a look.

"Prometheus" — Anytime Ridley Scott turns his attention towards science fiction, you are in for a treat. Fans of his earlier works will enjoy this effort, which is set in the "Alien" universe but wrestles with the kind of ideas he explored in "Blade Runner." The story finds a space exploration team dispatched to search for life in the universe. They find it on a planet that will eventually spawn the first "Alien" flick. There they encounter the occupants of a ship who might hold the answers to who we are and where we come from. Lots of heavy themes here, but there is also a lot of action and great eye candy. The sets are amazing and the cast is seasoned enough not to drown amidst all of the scenery. Naomi Rapa stars alongside Idris Elba, Guy Pearce, Charlize Theron and Michael Fassbender as the resident android.

"The Raven" — Audiences failed to find this thriller in theaters so here is a second chance. The story enters on Edgar Allan Poe (arguably the first writer to pen a detective story) and follows his participation in the investigation of a series of murders based on his stories. Good period stuff from James McTeigue ("V for Vendetta"). John Cusack makes for a believable Poe and the period atmosphere is genuine and a little spooky.

"The Courier" — When nobody was looking, Jeffrey Dean Morgan ("The Watchmen") became a movie star. Here he is well used in the type of role that normally goes to Jason Statham. He is cast as a guy who delivers any package for no questions asked and rocks a better service record than Federal Express. He gets a million dollars for his latest mysterious package, but there are strings attached. If he fails, his family will be murdered. Turns out the guy getting the package is a very bad dude who nobody has survived meeting — a professional killer with a reputation for never missing a beat.

"Rock of Ages" — A young couple heads to L.A. in the late-1980s to pursue their dreams in this musical that was a hit on Broadway. This musical has a lot going for it. It is set in the age of big hair bands and boasts Tom Cruise as a fading star dealing with a young talent that is about to eclipse him. Fun nonsense that benefits from an authentic score and a great turn by Cruise, alongside Paul Giamatti as a promoter with an attitude.

Next week brings something for the kids with "Madagascar 3."

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY RELATING TO A TAX LEVY ON REAL AND TANGIBLE PERSONAL PROPERTY AND FRANCHISES, ALL FOR THE GENERAL OPERATING PURPOSES OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY.

WHEAREAS, The City Council of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, in order to maintain a progressive and stable tax base for the city, it is hereby adopted the following Ordinance in order to provide funds for the general purposes of the city:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT HEREBY ORDAINED BY THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY, AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. The County assessed the property situated in the City of Prestonsburg, both real and personal, as follows:

Section 2. For the purposes of providing funds for the general operating expenses of the City of Prestonsburg for the fiscal year from July 1st to June 30th, 2013, and for each year thereafter, until this Ordinance is amended or repealed, the following taxes are levied:

(A) Upon all real estate within the City of Prestonsburg, not specifically exempted from taxation, situated within the City of Prestonsburg of .233 per One Hundred Dollars ($100) of assessed value.

(B) A tax upon all tangible personal property and franchises not specifically exempted from taxation, a tax of .4133 per One Hundred Dollars ($100) of assessed value.

Section 3. A discount of two percent (2%) of the total amount of the tax bill is hereby allowed upon all tax bills paid by November 30th of each year.

Section 4. A penalty of six percent (6%) of the total amount of the tax bills that are not paid on or prior to December 31st of each year.

Section 5. The City Clerk is hereby designated and authorized to collect the tax imposed herein.

Section 6. This Ordinance is passed pursuant to, in compliance with, and by virtue of the authority of the following constitution and statutory provisions: Kentucky Constitution Sections 157, 170 and 181; Kentucky Revised Statutes 92.160, 92.170, 92.300, 136.280 and 142.020.

Section 7. Any word, phrase, section or subsection of this ordinance declared by a Court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid or unconstitutional, shall not affect the remainder of this Ordinance, which shall remain in full force and effect.

Section 8. All ordinances, or any part thereof in conflict with the provisions of this ordinance are hereby expressly repealed to the extent of such conflict.

Section 9. This Ordinance shall become effective upon adoption and publication as required by law.

Adopted this 8th day of October, 2012.

Parkway widening subject of meeting

JACKSON — Residents of Magoffin County and other interested parties are invited to attend a public informational meeting to discuss a project to improve the Bert T. Combs Mountain Parkway near Salyersville.

The meeting will be held Tuesday, Oct. 16 from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Magoffin County Courthouse. It will be an "open house" format meeting, with no formal presentation.

Representatives from the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet and project consultants will be available to answer questions and provide information about the project. Handouts will be available describing the project's purpose and need, the right-of-way acquisition process and potential utility relocation concerns.

A project is under consideration to reconstruct the Mountain Parkway between mileposts 73.5 and 75.3, or from west of the Route 7 interchange extending to the bridge crossing Burning Fork near the route's eastern terminus at U.S. 460.

This is a separate project than the one proposed for widening U.S. 460 through the "Restaurant Row" section of Salyersville, for which a public meeting was held in May.

Persons with disabilities who wish to attend the meeting but have special accessibility needs that require assistance should contact the project manager, Jason Blackburn, at (306) 666-8841 to request special assistance.

ALC Appalachia Day festivities set for Saturday

PIPPA PASSES — Autumn has settled down again in Appalachia, coloring the leaves and bringing a nip to the air. People celebrate with warm cider and carnival food; music fills the streets of town and vendors show off their talents with handmade crafts.

Administrators at Alice Lloyd College are preparing for yet another Appalachia Day Homecoming, their own day of festivities in which they welcome alumni back to campus, as well as a whole host of visitors.

Everything kicks off at 9 a.m., Saturday, Oct. 13. The event lasts all day on the College's campus. This year's Appalachia Day Homecoming will honor the school's 95th anniversary and pay tribute to Appalachian culture and heritage with traditional music, mountain crafts, a book signing by writers from the region, and delicious food. Most of the activities will take place between the hours of 10 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Alice Lloyd alumni are invited to the annual Alumni Association Meeting, which will be held in the Ralph Edwards Auditorium at 1 p.m. A reception will follow in Cushing Hall. In addition, alumni athletic activities are scheduled throughout the day.

Music will be a big part of Alice Lloyd College's Appalachia Day Homecoming, set for Saturday.

This year, ALC will feature a special program for the event's younger guests. ALC's Caudill Players, a student-led theatre troupe, will perform Anne Shelby's much-beloved "The Adventures of Molly Whuppie." In addition, they will have fun and games for children of all ages.

The Penny Loafers, an a cappella quartet from Berea, give a free concert — open to the public — at 7 p.m. in the Campbell Arts Center.

To find out more about Alice Lloyd College, please visit their website: www.alc.edu. And, if you'd like more information about ALC's guests, The Penny Loafers, check them out at www.theloafers.com.

quences. If you win you get to make policy, if you lose you go home.

According to the senator, PPACA was the first serious piece of social change legislation that was passed on a strictly partisan level. He described those benefited by the legislation, the more than 30 million people without insurance, as being the young who choose not to have insurance and the poor who can not afford it. McConnell said the federal mandate makes the issue very complex, and called PPACA a "huge mistake," and something he hopes can be corrected.

During the informal speech, Sen. McConnell said that if the Republican nominee, Mitt Romney, is elected then it will be far more likely a repeal attempt would be successful. As a replacement for PPACA, McConnell said that he would likely push to create national insurance competition which would help drive down costs, while at the same time maintaining a level of quality.

McConnell also said that the issue of tort reform in medical malpractice suits is also worth looking at as a way to lower the costs associated with medical treatment.

Though there wasn't a great deal about the current plan that McConnell said he liked, he did identify the rule of a 26-year-old being allowed to remain on their parents insurance, and not allowing insurers to deny coverage for pre-existing conditions, as aspects of the current law that would likely be carried over to any replacement at the federal level. "The balance of it I believe ought to be handled at the state level," said McConnell.

Also briefly touched upon was the national debt, saying that any serious discussion of reducing the national debt was going to have to delve into the current level of entitlements. He stated that 60 percent of the current federal budget is spent on making payments against the country's debt, and funding entitlement programs.
