WORKMEN MOBILIZED FOR REPAIR OF BLAST DAMAGE

More Than 200 Men Work, Night and Day, Re-Laying Trunk Gas Line Torn out by Explosion; Food Sent by Trucks to Scene of Operation.

More than 200 workmen from Eastern Kentucky and southern West Virginia were hastily mobilized Sunday night when 23 joints of the Warfield Natural Gas Company's 20-inch trunk gas line from this section to the seaboard were torn out by a blast on Daniel's Creek, Johnson county, and they did not stop work until the big break was mended late Tuesday.

Horse and mule teams were rushed to the scene of the blast from Harold, this county, and Inez, Martin county. Though busy directing the work of re-laying approximately 500 feet of pipe, R. C. Leard, field superintendent for the Warfield Natural Gas Company in this section, turned his attention here also to that of furnishing provisions for the workers. During the two days and nights of work he sent from here five truck loads of sandwiches and coffee to men employed on the work. Sunday night's blast, which is of undetermined origin, caused all Warfield wells and those of other companies from which Warfield is buying gas to be closed down in this county until the line repairs were made. Loss in gas sales, property damage and expense of repair work will run into thousands of dollars.

Three joints of this line were blasted out by an explosion two months ago on Greasy Creek, seven miles from the scene of Sunday night's explosion. Employees found 18 feet of fuse, indicating that the line had been dynamited. There was no clue as to the cause of the latest blast, however.

THREE HELD IN MAIL ROBBERY

Postoffice Robbers in Jail in Default of Bond; Warrants Issued for Others

Amos Taylor, Casey Hackworth and Raymond Hackworth, who were arrested a few weeks ago by Floyd county officers for the robbery of the Wheelersburg, Magoffin county, postoffice on the night of December 25, were held to answer trial in Federal court at Catlettsburg after a hearing held here Tuesday by U. S. Commissioner Fred Atkinson, of Paintsville. They were remanded to jail here upon their failure to execute $2,500 bond each.

The trio was arrested on Middle Creek by Deputy Sheriff Elson Kendrick, R. R. Allen and J. D. Fitzpatrick. Warrants were issued here Tuesday by Judge Atkinson for Granville Potter, Harold Pierce and Don Coleman, charging them with possessing merchandise stolen from an interstate shipment at Elkhorn City. The Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company reports, Judge Atkinson said, that 24 box cars have been broken into at Elkhorn City within the past few weeks.

A warrant was also issued for the arrest of Daisy Keens on a charge of second offense for possession. County officials Monday raided her home West Prestonsburg and found a small quantity of whisky. Her hearing has been set for January 25.

LAFERTY IS GIVEN 21-YEAR TERM IN PEN FOR SLAYING

Garrett Officer Convicted Monday in Sexton Slaying; Thomas Gets 8 Years

NEFF ACQUITTED

Hiram Laferty, former Garrett officer, was convicted by a jury of the Floyd circuit court Tuesday of the killing of Kermit Sexton, Garrett youth, and was given a 21-year penitentiary sentence.

Evidence produced by the Commonwealth from several witnesses showed that young Sexton was unarmed when shot by the officer and also established foundation for contention that a plot had been formed preparatory to the shooting. The defense sought to show that the officer was in danger when Sexton advanced upon him with a knife, but the weapon could not be produced. Dr. W. L. Stumbo, at whose hospital Sexton died, gave damaging testimony to the case of the defense when he testified that the shot caused Sexton's death, after the defense had expected to prove that infection caused by improper bandaging of the young man's wounded arm resulted in death.

Ed Thomas was given an eight-year term last week for the slaying at Garrett of his brother-in-law, James Wolverton. Thomas was returned to this county from Alabama a few weeks ago after having been a fugitive since the day of the killing. Thomas sought

TRAFFIC HAZARD IS MITIGATED BY LIGHT AT STREET CROSSING

One of Prestonsburg's most immediate needs was filled last week with the installation at the intersection of Court street and the Mayo Trail at the Baptist Church of a traffic light.

The light, purchased and installed by Mayor A. C. Carter, provides a safeguard which, if respected and observed, will prevent serious injury or death to both motorists and pedestrians at this dangerous intersection. Mr. Carter said Wednesday that signs forbidding left turns against a red light will be installed within a few days. Officers have been instructed to enforce strict traffic regulations in connection with the light and to oblige pedestrians as well as motorists to travel as directed by the light. Prior to installation of the light there had been several accidents at this corner and through sheer luck death has been avoided in one or two instances.

Mrs. H. F. Patton submitted to a major operation on Wednesday of last week at the Paintsville hospital. Her condition early this week was reported as showing slight improvement, and her many friends throughout this section are hopeful of her early recovery. Her daughter, Mrs. Clayborne Stephens, has been a patient in the same hospital, but has recovered.

ANNUAL LADIES NIGHT IS HELD

Dr. Riggleman, Morris-Harvey College President, Delivers Inspiring Address

With C. D. Milby, president, acting as toastmaster, the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club held its annual Ladies' Night banquet Friday, Jan. 18, at the Valley Inn.

The motif of green and white was carried out in the decorations and favors.

The meeting opened with the club singing "America," invocation by Rev. Robert A. Potter, and the flag salute and pledge. Each Kiwanian then introduced his guests. Mrs. E. P. Arnold responded to the address of welcome given by Rev. Harry F. King.

Opening the program, Mrs. Edith Fitzpatrick James gave a solo. Miss Lucy Howard gave a tap dance, and Mrs. K. J. Whaley sang two selections. Dr. Leonard Riggleman, president of the Huntington Kiwanis Club, and president of Morris-Harvey College, gave an address which provided everyone present with food for thought.

Miss Devota Tustin, of the Byron King School of Oratory, Pittsburgh, Pa., gave two humorous readings. Mrs. James and Mrs. Whaley then appeared in a vocal duet. R. C. Leard entertained with his muscular and gymnastic feats.

Amid showers of confetti and the singing of "Good Night Ladies," the eleventh Kiwanis Ladies' Night came to an end.

CAUSE OF PORTER DEATH IN DOUBT

Dwale Man Found Injured Sunday; Dies Without Making Statement

Death of George Ike Porter, 23 years old, of Dwale, who was found on the railroad tracks near Allen, fatally injured Sunday morning at 1:30 o'clock may have resulted from any of three causes, it is held following an investigation into the fatality.

He may have been injured through foul play, as a result of a fall or by being struck by a train, it is held. A deep gash at the base of his skull was his principal injury. Young Porter died at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, at 5 o'clock Sunday morning.

Porter was found unconscious and, but for brief lapses, remained in a coma, never giving any explanation of his injury.

The victim was a son of the late Lum Porter, who died a few months ago. He is survived by his mother and the following brothers and sisters:

Mrs. Anna Hinton, of Betsy Layne, Misses Lady Mae and Delphia Porter, of Dwale; Vance Porter, Emma; Oliver Porter, McDowell, and Gora Porter, of Dwale. Funeral rites were conducted Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock at Dwale under the direction of E. P. Arnold, with Rev. Isaac Stratton, of Banner, officiating. Burial was made in the Dwale cemetery.

Mrs. Sally D. Fitzpatrick, who has been ill for several days at her home here, was taken Friday to the Paintsville hospital for treatment. She has been seriously ill, but slight improvement in her condition lends hope to her many friends of her recovery.

CHARLESTON GROUP WORKERS' BANQUET

Varied Program Offered at Function Given Here Jan. 17 for Warfield Employees

Eighty-six members and guests of the Charleston Group Employees' Association of the Warfield Natural Gas Company were feted at a banquet held at the Auxier hotel here Thursday evening, Jan. 17. In keeping with the spirit of this company when entertainment is the fare for its employees, the occasion was one filled with festivity.

Edward B. Sandrus, Charleston, W. Va., presided as toastmaster. Speakers were Judge E. John W. Caudill, Dr. K. J. Whaley, Atty. J. B. Clarke and Dr. Josef Nordenhaug.

Ell Brown's orchestra furnished music for the occasion. Other features of the entertainment program were a song and dance by little Miss Thelma Jean Isaacs; tap dance by Miss Lucille Leard, Huntington, W. Va.; song by five-year-old Clara Morris, Huntington, W. Va., and athletic stunts by R. C. Leard, field superintendent of the Warfield Natural Gas Company. As a pleasing finale to the program was a gypsy act in costume featuring Mrs. Edith Fitzpatrick James, Miss Dorothy Davis, Mr. Franklin Moore and Miss Devota Tustin, Pittsburgh, Pa., guest of Mrs. James.

Banquet arrangements were made by W. G. Stiles, Edward B. Sandrus and R. C. Leard. Out-of-town guests were: R. C. Rowan, J. W. McEldowney and Mr. Milan, of Charleston, W. Va.; Mrs. R. C. Leard and T. J. Jamison, Huntington, W. Va.

JAMES FINED $750 IN DEATH OF THOS. WYLIE

Pleading guilty to an involuntary manslaughter charge in the death of Thomas Wylie at Raceland, C. E. "Brownie" James was fined $750 in the Greenup circuit court Monday. Death of Mr. Wylie resulted from a slap dealt him, it was claimed, by Mr. James, a former Martin railroad man, after Wylie had kicked James' dog.

ENDICOTT FARMER VICTIM OF DROPSY

An illness of several months from dropsy Thursday of last week resulted in the death at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Joe Goble, of Martin Endicott, 66 years old, well-known Endicott farmer.

The son of William and Mrs. Mintie Whitt Endicott, who moved to this county from Wayne county, W. Va., Mr. Endicott was born Feb. 6, 1867, and spent a long and useful life in the vicinity of the home in which he died. He was one of Floyd county's best citizens.

Surviving him are one son and a daughter, Leonard Endicott and Mrs. Joe Goble; one brother, Melvin Endicott, six grandchildren and a host of friends and relatives. Funeral rites were conducted by Rev. Isaac Stratton Friday from the home of Joe Goble, and burial was made in the family cemetery.

Mrs. Mollie Auxier is very ill at the Auxier hotel here. Mrs. Auxier has been in ill health for some time, and last week her condition became worse. Her complete recovery is earnestly hoped for by a host of friends.

DAYTON WIREMAN IS SHOT TO DEATH BY WHITT HOWARD

'Don't Tell Mother,' Dying Youth's Last Words; Shotgun, Lethal Weapon

SLAYER CAPTURED

Dayton Wireman, 18 years old, of Salt Lick Creek, near Hueysville, was shot and killed late Monday afternoon by Whitt Howard, Breathitt county youth, who is in jail here facing a murder indictment from the grand jury when it convenes Monday. The shooting took place near the home of Willie Shepherd, a short distance from the Floyd-Knott line on Salt Lick.

According to information reaching here, young Wireman, Howard and Howard's father, Wiley Howard, had been firing revolvers and a shotgun in the vicinity of the slaying and young Wireman had slipped and fallen. While he was washing from the creek, this report continues, Howard approached him, leveled a shotgun and from a distance of only a few feet fired the charge of the weapon into Wireman's left side.

The two had had no previous trouble, this report continues. No reason for the slaying has been established other than the claim that Howard thought Wireman had been shooting at his father.

After being shot, the youth turned and walked to the home nearby of Willie Shepherd, entered and fell onto a bed. When asked if he wanted

BLACKCATS STRONG IN HAZARD GAME BUT ARE WEAK AGAINST AUXIER

After holding a far more highly rated Hazard five to a scant 21-18 victory here Friday night, the Prestonsburg Blackcats returned to the hardwood Monday evening to lose by almost as many points to Auxier, a team that has had an indifferent season in competition with Floyd county teams. Auxier won, 24 to 22.

In the contest with Pat Payne's boys the Blackcats led 5-4 at the end of the first period and 11 to 8 at the half. The Hazard five came back strong in the third quarter to take a 19-13 lead, which was badly needed in that last quarter when the 'Cats made a furious bid for victory. Combs was the evening's leading scorer with 14 points. For Prestonsburg the scoring was evenly divided among the five boys starting the game, and teamwork rather than individual brilliance featured the 'Cats' play.

In Monday night's encounter, Auxier grabbed the lead from the start and held it until after the half, when Prestonsburg forged in front and remained so until within a few minutes of the end of the game. The Blackcats have throughout the season had tough luck in the closing minutes of ball games, seeing no less than 10 turn into defeat when victory seemed imminent.

Floyd county is voting 10 to 1 for a primary for the selection of candidates for state office in the straw vote being taken by The Courier-Journal, figures released Wednesday morning show.

At the same time, voters of both parties from all parts of the state are demanding a primary by an unexpected margin of votes.

The Courier-Journal recently sent out 250,000 ballots to members of both parties throughout the state. Wednesday, 31,711 had voted for a primary, while only 1,203 had expressed their preference for a convention. The Democratic vote in the state stands thus: 23,729 for a primary; 2,143 for a convention. The Republican vote: 7,982 for a primary; 1,203 for a convention.

In Floyd county 195 Democrats Wednesday morning had voted for a primary and 12 had called for a convention. At the same time, 101 Republicans had marked their ballots for a primary, with 18 asking for a convention.

In only five other counties of the state does the vote favor the convention method, and in these the lead is early and shaky. These are: Breathitt, 35 to 14; Clinton, 28 to 10; Knott, 2 to 1; Monroe, 30 to 25, and Owsley, 4 to 3.

AGED MINISTER IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Elder Henry Hall Dies at Age of 80 at Melvin Jan. 17

Elder Henry Hall died Thursday night, last week, at 11:30 o'clock, at the home of his son, T. N. Hall, of Melvin, a victim in his 81st year to a long illness.

A native of Pike county, Elder Hall was born April 23, 1854, and was a member of a pioneer Eastern Kentucky family. He had been a member of the Regular Baptist Church 46 years. He was married in July, 1876 to Mary Jane Hall, who survives.

Besides his widow, Elder Hall is survived by five sons and four daughters: T. H., Jerry, J. C., Joe and M. C. Hall, Mrs. Sylvania Hatfield, Mrs. Nancy Mullins, Mrs. Belle Newman and Mrs. Dinah Mullins. Funeral rites were conducted by Elders F. A. and E. V. Hopkins Friday morning at the graveside in the Bevinsville cemetery.

ISRAEL T. CRAFT TAKEN BY DEATH

Retired Coal Operator Is Pneumonia Victim; Body Returned Here for Burial

An illness of five days from pneumonia resulted Saturday morning, January 19, at 10 o'clock, in the death at Chat-taroy, W. Va., of I. T. Craft, 52 years old, retired Prestonsburg coal operator.

Mr. Craft died at the home of his brother, James Craft. He had been visiting his brother and adopted daughter at Chat-taroy since Dec. 26. Though

WHEN WORLDS COLLIDE

By Edwin Balmer and Philip Wylie

Copyright by Edwin Balmer & Philip Wylie WNU Service.

THE NARRATIVE

CHAPTER I.—David Ransdell, approaching New York on the liner Europa, receives a succession of radiograms offering him $1,000, finally $20,000, for an exclusive newspaper interview divulging the mission that brings him from South Africa. Ransdell, noted aviator, has been secretly commissioned at Capetown by Lord Riondin and Professor Bronson, the astronomer, to fly across the Mediterranean to the fast liner, with a large traveling case containing photographic plates. His instructions are to deliver them to Dr. Cole Hendron, in New York. Tony Drake calls at the Hendrons' apartment. Ransdell arrives and Eve Hendron, with whom Tony is deeply in love, introduces Tony to Ransdell.

CHAPTER II.—New York newspapers publish a statement made by Hendron and concurred in by sixty of the world's greatest scientists. The prepared statement says that Professor Bronson has discovered two planets, which must have broken away from another star or sun and traveled through interstellar space for an incalculable time, until they came to a region of the heavens which brought them at last under the attraction of the sun. The statement ends: "Their previous course, consequently, has been modified by the sun, and as a result, they are now approaching us." The result of the inevitable collision must be the end of the earth. The approaching bodies are referred to as Bronson Alpha and Bronson Beta, the latter being the smaller—about the size of the earth.

CHAPTER III

At ten o'clock the gong rang and the stock market opened. There had been no addition to public knowledge in the newspapers. The news-ticker carried, as additional information, only the effect of the announcement on the markets in Europe, which already had been open for hours.

It was plain that the wild eyes of terror looked across the oceans and the land—across rice fields and prairies, out of the smoke of cities everywhere.

The stock market opened promptly at ten. One man dropped dead at his first glance upon the racing ticker.

On the floor of the Exchange itself, there was relative quiet. When the market is most busy, it is most silent. Phones were choked with regular, crowded speech. Boys ran. The men stood and spoke in careful tones at the posts. Millions of shares began to change hands at prices—down. The ticker lagged as never in the wildest days of the boom. And at noon, in patent admission of the obvious necessity, New York followed the example already set by London, Paris and Berlin. The great metal doors boomed shut. There would be no more trading for an indeterminate time. Until "the scientific situation became cleared up."

When Tony hung up the telephone, he thought vaguely that only foresight during the depression had placed his and his mother's funds where they were still comparatively safe in spite of the threat of world cataclysm.

Comparatively safe—what did that mean? What did anything mean, today?

Balcom came into his office; he put his head on Tony's desk and sobbed. Tony opened a drawer, took out a whisky bottle which had reposed in it unopened for a year, and poured a stiff dose into a drinking cup. Balcom swallowed it as if it were milk, took another, and walked out dazedly.

Tony procured his hat and walked out. Every one else was on the street—people in herds and throngs never seen on Wall or Broad street or on this stretch of Broadway, but who now were sucked in by this unparalleled excitement from the East side, the river front, the Bowery and likewise down from upper Fifth and from Park avenues. Women with babies, peddlers, elderly gentlemen, dowagers, proud mistresses, wives, school children and working people, clerks, stenographers—everywhere.

All trapped—thought, Tony—all trapped together on the rim of the world. Did they know it? Did they feel it?

The deluge of humanity was possessed of a single insatiable passion for papers. But the newspapers told nothing more. Their contents, following the repetition of the announcement of the morning, were of a wholly secondary nature, reflecting only the effect of the statement itself.

Tony dropped into a restaurant, where, though it was only afternoon, an evening hilarity already had arrived. The Exchange was closed! No one knew exactly why or what was to happen. Why care? That was the air here.

Two men of Tony's age, acquaintances in school and friends in Wall Street, stopped at his table. "We're going the rounds. Come along."

Their taxi squeezed through Broadway in which frantic policemen wrestled vainly with overwhelming crowds. It stopped at a brownstone house in the West Forties.

A night club, and it was crowded, though the sun was still shining. The three floors of the house were filled with people in business clothes drinking and dancing. On the top floor two roulette wheels were surrounded by players. Tony saw heaps of chips, the plies of bills. He looked at the faces of the players, and recognized two or three of them. They were hectic faces. The market had closed. This was a real smash—not merely a money smash—a smash of the whole world ahead. Naturally money was losing its value, but men played for it—cheered when they won, groaned when they lost, and staked again. The limit had been taken off the game.

Downstairs at the bar, were three girls to whom Tony's two friends immediately attached themselves. They were pretty girls of the kind that Broadway produces by an overnight incubation; girls who had been born far from the Great White Way. Girls whose country and small-town attitudes had vanished. All of them had hair transformed from its original shade to ashen blonde. Around their eyes were beaded lashes; their voices were high; their silk clothes adhered to their bodies. They drank and laughed.

"Here's to old Bronson!" they toasted. "Here's to the ol' world coming to an end!"

Tony sat with them: Clarissa, Jacqueline, Bettina. He gazed at them, laughed with them, drank with them; but he thought of Eve, asleep at last, he hoped. Eve, slender as they, young as they, far, far lovelier than they; and bearing within her mind and soul the frightful burden of the full knowledge of this day.

After a while Tony looked again at the motley crowd; and across the room he saw a friend sitting alone in a booth. Tony rose and went toward the man. He was a person—a personage—worthy of notice. He was lean, gray haired, immaculate, smooth. His dark eyes were remote and unseeing. First nights knew him. Mothers of very rich daughters, mothers of daughters of impeccable lineage, sought him. Wherever the gayest of the gay world went, he could be found. Southampton, Newport, Biarritz, Cannes, Nice, Deauville, Palm Beach. He was like old silver—yet he was not old. Forty, perhaps. A bachelor. He would have liked it if some one of authority had called him a connoisseur of life and living—he would have been pleased, but he would not have revealed his pleasure. His name was Peter Vanderbilt. And he was trapped, too—trapped with him and Eve and Kyo and the panhandler and Bettina and Jacqueline and all the rest on the rim of the world.

Tony cleared his brain. "Hello," he said.

Peter Vanderbilt looked up and his face showed welcome. "Tony! Jove! Of all people. Glad to see you. Sit. Sit and contemplate." He beckoned a waiter and ordered. "You're a bit on the inside, I take it—friend of the Hendrons. You know a bit more of what's going on."

"Yes," admitted Tony; it was senseless to deny it to this man.

"Don't tell me. Don't break confidences for my sake. I'm not one that has to have details ahead of others. Funny, isn't it, to think of the end of all this? I feel stimulated, don't you? All of it—going to pieces! I feel like saying, 'Thank God!' I was sick of it. Every one was. Civilization's a wretched parody. Evidently there was a just and judging God, after all, and He's taking us in hand again—the way He did in Noah's time. . . . Good thing, I say."

"But Hendron and his scientists aren't doing so well. They're making a big mistake. They've done splendidly—hardly could have done better up to today. But they're not well advised if they held anything back much longer; they'd better tell anything—no matter how bad it is. They'll have to, as they'll soon see. Nothing can be as bad as uncertainty. They're top-notch scientists, but the human element is the one thing they can't analyze and reduce to figures. What they need is a counsel in public relations. Tell Cole Hendron I recommend Ivy Lee."

Rising, he left Tony and vanished in the throng. Tony rose, secured his hat and went out.

The latest newspaper contained a statement from the White House. The President requested that on the morrow every one return to work. It promised that the government would maintain stability in the country and inveighed violently against the exaggerated reaction of the American people to the scientists' statement.

Tony smiled. "Business as usual! Business going on, as usual, during alterations," he thought.

He took a taxi to the Hendrons' apartment. More than a block away from the building, he had to abandon the cab. The crowd and the police cordon about the apartment both had increased; but certain persons could pass.

Several men, whose voices he could overhear in loud argument, were with Cole Hendron behind the closed doors of the big study on the roof. No one was with Eve. She awaited him, alone.

She was dressed carefully charmingly, as she always was. He pressed her to him for a moment; and for that instant when he kissed her and held her close, all wonder and terror was sent away. What matter the end of everything, if first he had her! He had never dreamed of such delight in possession as he felt, holding her; he had never dared dream of such response from her—or from any one. He had won her, and she him, utterly. As he thought of the cat's paw destroying them, he thought of coming to them together, in each other's arms; and he could not cry.

She felt it, fully as he. Her fingers touched his face with a passionate tenderness which tore him.

"What's done it for us so suddenly and so completely, Tony?"

"The shadow of the sword, I suppose, my dear—oh, my dear! I remember reading it in Kipling when I was a boy, but never understanding it. Remember the two in love when they knew that one would surely die? There is no happiness like that snatched under the shadow of the sword."

"But we both shall die, if either does, Tony. That's so much better."

The voices beyond the closed door shouted louder, and Tony released her.

"Who's here?"

Eve said in reply to Tony's question, "Six men, the secretary of state, the governor, Mr. Borgan, the chief of a newspaper chain, two more."

"Sit down, but don't sit near me, Tony; we've got to think things out."

"Your father's told them?"

"He's told them what will happen first. I mean, when the Bronson bodies—both of them—just pass close to the world and go on around the sun. That's more than enough for them now. It's not time yet to tell them of the encounter. You see, the mere passing close will be terrible enough."

"Why?"

"Because of the tides, for one thing. The moon, which is hardly an eighth of the world in mass, raises tides that run forty to sixty feet, in places like the Bay of Fundy."

"Of course—the tides," Tony realized aloud.

"Bronson Beta is the size of the earth, Tony; Bronson Alpha is estimated to have eleven to twelve times that mass. That sphere will pass, the first time, within the orbit of the moon. Bronson Beta will raise tides many times as high; and Bronson Alpha—you can't express it by mere multiplication, Tony. New York will be under water to the tops of its towers—a tidal wave beyond all imagination! The seacoasts of all the world will be swept by the seas, sucked up toward the sky and washed back and forth. The waves will wash back to the Appalachians; and it will be the same in Europe and Asia. Holland, Belgium, half of France and Germany, half of India and China, will be under the wave of water. There'll be an earth tide, too."

"Earth tide?"

"Earthquakes from the pull on the crust of the earth. Some of the men writing to Father think that the earth will be torn to pieces just by the first passing of Bronson Alpha; but some of them think it will survive the strain."

"What does your father think?"

"He thinks the earth will survive the first stress—and that it is possible that a fifth of the population may live through it, too. Of course that's only a guess."

"A fifth," repeated Tony. "A fifth of all on the earth."

Eve was watching him. Through the years of their friendship, and fondness, she had seen Tony as a normal man, to whom everything that happened was happy, felicitous and un-bizarre. The only crises in which she observed him were emergencies on the football field, and alarms in the stock market, which in the first case represented mere sport, and in the second, money which he did not properly understand, because all his life he had possessed money enough, and more.

Now, as she watched him, she thought that she would meet with him—and she exulted therein—the most terrific reality that man had ever faced. So far as he had yet been called upon, he had met it without attempting to evade it; his effort had been solely for more complete understanding.

A contrast to some of those men—among them men who were called the greatest in the nation—whose voices rose loud again behind the closed doors.

Some one—she could not identify him from his voice, which ranted in a strange, shrill rage—evidently was battling her father, shouting him down, denying what had been laid before them all.

The ranting and shouting offended her; she wanted to go to her father's aid; not being able to, she went to Tony.

"Somebody," said Tony, "seems not to like what he has to hear."

"Who is he, Tony?"

"Somebody who isn't very used to hearing what he doesn't like. . . . Oh Eve! Eve! My dear, my dear! For the first time in my life, I'd like to be a pet; I wish for words to say what I feel. . . ." The sudden unsmiling of his voice warned them that a door from the study had opened; some one had come out. It was her father. For a few moments he stood regarding them, debating what he should say.

"Father," Eve said, "Tony and I—Tony and I—"

Her father nodded. "I saw you for a few seconds before you realized I was here, Eve—and Tony."

Tony flushed. "We mean what you saw, sir," he said. "We more than we are. We're going to be married as soon as we can—aren't we, Eve?"

"Can we, Father?"

Cole Hendron shook his head. "There can't be marrying or love for either of you. No time to tell you why not; only—there can't."

"Why can't there be, sir?"

"There's going to be altogether too much else. In a few months, you'll know. Meanwhile, don't spoil my plans by eloping. And don't go on doing—what I just saw. It'll only make it harder for both of you—as you'll see when you figure out what's before you. Tony, there's nothing personal in that. I like you, and you know it. If the world were going to remain, I'd not say a word; but the world cannot possibly remain. We can talk of this later."

The study door again opened; some one called him, and he returned to the argument in the next room.

"Now," demanded Tony of Eve, "what in the world, which cannot possibly remain, does he mean by that? That we shouldn't love and marry because we're going to die? All the more reason for it—and quicker, too."

"Neither of us can possibly guess what he means, Tony; we'd be months behind him in thinking; for he's done nothing else, really, for half a year, but plan what we—what all the human race—will have to do. He means, I think, that he's put us in some scheme of things that won't let us marry."

The argument in the room broke up and the arguers emerged. In a few minutes they all were gone; and Tony sought Cole Hendron in his big study, where the plates which had come from South Africa were spread upon the table.

There were squares of stars, usually the same square of stars repeated over and over again. There seemed to be a score of exposures of the identical plate of close-clustered stars.

"You were downtown today, Tony?"

"Yes."

"Today they took it, didn't they? They took it and closed the Exchange. I hear; and half the businesses in town had a holiday. For they've known for quite some time that something has been hanging over them, hanging over the market. This morning we half told them what it is; and they thought they believed it. Just now I told six men the other half—or most of it—and you heard them, Tony; they won't have it. The world won't come to an end; it can't possibly collide with another world, because—well, for one thing, it never has done such a thing before, and for another, they won't have it. Not when you dwell upon the details. They won't have it. Tomorrow there'll be a great swing back in feeling, Tony. The Exchange will open again; business is going on. That's a good thing; I'm glad of it."

"The trouble is, men aren't really educated up to the telescope yet, as they are to the microscope. If a doctor took a bit of cell-tissue from any one of those men who were just here, and put it under the microscope, and said, 'Sorry, but that means you will die,' there isn't a man of them who wouldn't promptly put his affairs in shape.

"None of them would ask to look through the microscope himself; he'd know it would mean nothing to him."

"But they asked for Bronson's plates. I showed them; here they are, Tony. Look here. See this field of stars. All those fixed points, those round specks, every single one of them is a star. But see here; there is a slight—a very slight—streak, but still a streak. There, right beside it, is another one. Something has moved, Tony! Two points of light have moved in a star-field where nothing ought to move! A mistake, perhaps? A flaw in the coating of the plate? Bronson considered this, and other possibilities. He photographed the star-field again and again, night after night; and each time, you see, Tony, the same two points of light make a bit of streak. No chance of mistake; down there, where nothing ought to be moving, two objects have moved. But all we have to show for it are two tiny streaks on a photographic plate."

"What do they mean? 'Gentlemen, the time has come to put your house in order!' The affairs of all the world, the affairs of every one living in the world—! Naturally, they can't really believe it."

"Bronson himself, though he watched those planets himself night after night for months, couldn't really believe it; nor could the other men who watched, in other observatories south of the equator."

"But they searched back over old plates of the same patch of the sky; and they found, in that same star-field, what they had missed before—those same two specks always making tiny streaks. Two objects that weren't stars where only stars ought to be; two strange objects that always were moving, where nothing ought to move."

"We need only three good observations of an object to plot the course of a moving body; and already Bronson succeeded in obtaining a score of observations of these. He worked out the result, and it was so sensational, that from the very first, he swore to secrecy every one who worked with him and with whom he corresponded. They obtained, altogether, hundreds of observations; and the result always worked out the same. They all checked—"

"Eve says she has told you what that result is to be," Cole Hendron said.

"Yes," said Tony, "she told me."

"And I told these men who demanded—ordered me—to explain to them everything we had. I told them that those specks showing on the Bronson plates were moving so that they would enter our solar system, and one of them would then come into collision with our world. They said, all right. You see, it really meant nothing to them originally."

"Then I told them that, before the encounter, both of these moving bodies—Bronson Alpha and Bronson Beta—would first pass us close by and cause tides that would rise six hundred feet over us, from New York to San Francisco—and, of course, London and Paris and all seacoasts everywhere."

"They began to oppose that, because they could understand it. I told them that the passing of the Bronson bodies would cause earthquakes on a scale unimaginable; half the inland cities would be shaken down, and the effect below the crust would set volcanoes into activity everywhere, and as never since the world began. I said, perhaps, a fifth of the people would survive the first passing of the Bronson bodies. I tried to point out some of the areas on the surface of the earth which would be comparatively safe."

"I could not designate New York or Philadelphia or Boston. . . . They told me that tomorrow I must make a more reassuring statement."

Cole Hendron gazed down again at Bronson's plates.

"I suppose, after all, it doesn't make much difference whether or not we succeeded in moving a few million more people into the safer areas. They will be safe for only eight months more, in any case. For eight months later, we meet Bronson Alpha on the other side of the sun. And no one on earth will escape."

"But there is a chance that a few individuals may leave the earth and live. I am not a religious man, as you know, Tony; but as Eve said to you, it seems that it cannot be mere chance that there comes to us, out of space, not merely the sphere that will destroy us, but that ahead of it there spins a world like our own which some of us—some of us—may reach and be safe."

O. bears N 30 45 W 20 feet; thence up the Big Branch and with the meanders of same, S 50 30 W 145 feet to a stake; S 34 30 W 190 feet to a stake in falls of branch; S 45 30 W 142 feet to a stake; N 63 00 W 53 feet to a stake; N 48 30, 547 feet to a stake; N 71 00 W 114 feet to a stake; S 48 15 W 350 feet to a stake; S 19 00 E 126 feet to a stake; S 51 00 W 115 feet to a stake; S 79 00 W 247.88 feet to a stake; S 80 35 W 121 feet to a stake; N 45 00 W 111.5 feet to a stake; S 87 00 W 234 feet to a stake; S 84 30 W 147 feet to a stake; N 73 00 W 94 feet to a stake; S 39 30 W 69 feet to a stake; S 78 00 W 48.5 feet to a stake; S 57 00 W 225 feet to a stake; N 85 W 132 feet to a stake; S 7 W 75 feet to the beginning, containing 113.7 acres more or less.

All exclusions mentioned in said Commissioner's deed to the said Fannie Roberts Beverly, is also excluded from this conveyance.

Also all properties and rights reserved in mineral deed from Henderson Roberts to the Northern Coal & Coke Company and described and conveyed by said Commissioner in said deed to Fannie (Roberts) Beverly is hereby conveyed to the party of the second part, his heirs and assigns.

The coal, oil and gas and rights of the above described lot of land is excluded from this conveyance (except however as hereinafter described) the same having been previously conveyed by the said Henderson Roberts to the Northern Coal & Coke Company of date Sept. 7, 1903, and which mineral deed is recorded in deed book No 11 at page 104, etc., Floyd county court records, and which mineral deed is referred to for a more definite description of said mineral and rights and is made a part hereof. However, there is excluded from said mineral deed, and was reserved by the said Henderson Roberts, the following described boundary or tract of land, to-wit: Beginning at a cross on a rock, witnessed by two small poplars on a forked point, just above the Henderson Roberts house; thence S 52 30 E 164 feet (crossing a small branch at 50 feet) and (crossing another small branch at 150 feet) to a stake by a chestnut and dogwood on south side of branch, (from which Henderson Roberts' house bears north 180 feet); N 54 15 E 247 feet to a stake on the south side of the branch; N 12 30 E 500 feet (crossing Big Branch at 250 feet) and up a drain to a black gum, N 1 W 82 feet to a stake near an apple tree at upper end of orchard; thence up the hill N 32 35 W 304 feet to a stake by a peach tree; S 87 15 W 208 feet to a stake near top of a point; S 26 25 W 79 feet to a stake by a beech at top of point; S 20 W 472 feet (crossing a small branch at 375 feet) to a stake near a barn on a flat; S 25 W 5 E 292 feet (crossing a small branch at 170 feet) to a stake; S 2 50 W 83 feet to the beginning, containing 8.60 acres more or less.

One-half undivided interest of all coal oil and gas, and other minerals and rights of said reservation is hereby conveyed to party of the second part, his heirs and assigns. There is reserved for the use of all the lots in the division and allotment of the Henderson Roberts farm, a strip of land (12) twelve feet wide for a road which is described as follows, to-wit: Beginning at a stake at the lower end of the farm, from which a black oak, "the beginning corner of Lot No. 4 bears N 30 45 W 8 feet; S 5230 W 265 feet to a stake; S 3115 W 97.8 feet to a stake; S 5 W 217 feet to a stake; S 51 10 W 277 feet to a stake; S 3730 W 299 feet to a stake; S 61 30 W 183.5 feet to a stake; S 52 30 W 272 feet to a stake; S 79 30 W 383 feet to a stake; S 84 15 W 415 feet to a stake; S 89 35 W 116 feet to a stake; S 81 45 W 182.5 feet to a stake; S 67 30 W 157.8 feet to a stake; N 85 W 132 feet to a stake; S 7 W 43 feet to a stake; S 86 W 101.5 feet to a stake; N 75 30 W 94 feet to a stake; S 87 30 W 203 feet to a stake.

The above description being the center line of a strip of land 12 feet wide, and extending from the lower end of the farm to the lower end of the upper part or lot No. 2, intended for an outlet for all lots of said division.

Tract VII

The following described tract or parcel of land situated in Floyd county on the waters or Samson fork of Prater Creek and bounded, to-wit: Beginning on a buckeye stump about thirty (30) yards from the house of James Howell on the bank of the branch; thence up the branch about thirty (30) yards to a small sycamore bush; thence straight up the hill to the top of the point, passing a black gum marked; thence with the top of the point to the top of the main ridge; thence along the top of the hill with the line of Henderson Roberts to a pine knob on top of the hill; thence down the point between the Spurlock and Samson forks of Prater Creek to a chestnut oak on the point; thence down the point to the branch at the beginning, the buckeye stump.

There is excepted from and out of said and not herein conveyed, the coal, stone, iron, fire clay, pottery clay, water, slate, metal ores and all mineral and mineral substances, and the oil, gas, salt and salt and mineral waters, and all subterranean products in, upon and under the tract of land hereinbefore described, together with full right to enter upon said lands by the parties of the first part, agents, servants and employees, and their heirs, vendees and assigns, and their agents, servants and employees to make exploration for and to mine, dig, drill for, pump, store, remove and manufacture therefrom the coal, stone, iron, fire clay, pottery clay, water, mineral metals, ores and all mineral and mineral substances, and the oil, gas, salts and salt and mineral waters and all subterranean products therein, thereon and thereunder.

There is also excepted and reserved from and out of said land, and not herein conveyed, the exclusive right of way over said land and every part thereof, to construct, maintain and keep in repair and operate any and all railroads, tramroads, haulroads, mines, canals, waterways, coke ovens, dams and pipe lines deemed necessary or convenient by the parties of the first part, heirs, vendees and assigns, to mine, manufacture, drill for, pump, store or remove said products from or out of said land or take from or out of any other land owned, or in which the aforementioned substances and products are owned, leased or otherwise held by parties of the first part, heirs, vendees and assigns.

There is also excepted to the parties of the first part, heirs, vendees and assigns the right to enter and maintain upon said land hereinbefore described and to alter, repair and remove all houses, shops, buildings, tanks, derricks, stables, dams, coke ovens, stores and warehouses, telephone, telegraph and electrical lines necessary or convenient for the cheap and successful operation, removal, reduction, conversion, refining or manufacturing of said products, in, upon or under said land, owned or hereafter acquired by the parties of the first part, heirs, vendees and assigns and the right to dump and store and leave upon said land any muck, bone, shale or any other refuse from said mines, wells or ovens or houses; also the right to remove any and all pillars or any other lateral and adjacent support without leaving pillars or other thing to support the roof of mines of surface. There is also reserved and excepted by the parties of the first part, heirs, vendees and assigns the right to take from such land, such of the standing timber thereon, not exceeding 14 inches in diameter as may be necessary for mining purposes, if on the land at the time of the use thereof.

There is granted and conveyed to the parties of the second part the right to take coal from said land for their personal household use, said use not to interfere with other mining operations.

Tract VIII

A tract or parcel of land, lying in Floyd county, Ky., and described as follows: Our two-thirds undivided interest in and to the following described tract or parcel of land, situated and being in the county of Floyd on the Samson fork of Prater Creek, bounded as follows:

to prove the killing accidental as the result of a tussle over possession of a pistol. The Commonwealth offered the evidence of witnesses to the effect that Thomas was seeking to shoot Wolverton's son when Wolverton and his daughter grappled with Thomas in an attempt to wrest from him his pistol.

Charley Haywood was sentenced by a Floyd county jury in circuit court Thursday, last week, to five years in the penitentiary for the slaying of John K. Pitts. Pitts was the victim of a gunshot wound inflicted by Haywood in November 1932 and died ten months later.

The shooting was the result of a drunken brawl in which the defendant claimed to have been assaulted, and shot in self-defense.

In the case of the Commonwealth vs. Neff, in which the Commonwealth contended assault and battery, the defendant Tuesday was declared not guilty by a jury in circuit court here.

The trial arose as the result of an automobile collision between the car driven by John L. Neff, salesman for the H. C. Goodman Shoe Co. of Columbus, O., and the ambulance of G. D. Ryan, of Martin, at the mouth of Calf Creek, on the night of May 15, 1934.

The Commonwealth alleged that Neff was driving his car up the wrong side of the road at an excessive rate of speed. Several witnesses testified that in order to avoid a collision the ambulance was driven off the highway on its right side of the road.

The defense contended that Neff was driving on his right side of the road and the ambulance was being driven in the center of the highway, and in attempting to cut back to its right side collided with Neff's car, the force of the impact knocking the car fifteen or twenty feet to the center of the roadway and forcing the ambulance across the highway and over the bank.

A hung jury resulted in the trial of Milton Tackett on a charge of voluntary manslaughter arising from the death of Reed Gunnell, 74 years old, who was struck by an automobile driven by the defendant, one mile below Emma, May 15, 1934. Tackett's defense was that the accident was unavoidable as he was driving at a reasonable rate of speed when the aged Gunnell suddenly walked out on the highway directly in the path of his automobile.

Begin Blue Ribbon Survey

The health officer and nurses visited the schools at Glo, Estill and Lackey last week, weighed, measured and examined the children. This is the preliminary examination for the Blue Ribbon campaign. This is the first year the Blue Ribbon campaign has been run in Glo, and the community is very enthusiastic over the prospects, and we are expecting great things at their school this year.

Address P-T. A's in Three Schools

Dr. Marvin Ransdell and Dr. Josef Nordenhaug and Miss Florence Stein, field nurse for the United States Public Health Service, addressed the Parent-Teacher Association at Wayland last Friday night, and on Tuesday night Dr. Ransdell and Nordenhaug addressed the same organizations at Glo and Garrett schools.

These schools have very active P-T. A. organizations and are getting solidly behind the Blue Ribbon work in each school. Wayland has the distinction of having the largest P-T. A. organization in this county, if not in the Big Sandy valley, having a paid up membership of 260. The Glo organization is young, holding its third meeting last Tuesday night. Considering the size place, Glo P-T. A. with a membership of nearly 100, deserves special commendation. What they lack in number they make up in enthusiasm. We are expecting great things from them.

Garrett P-T. A. has a paid-up membership of near 210 and they are doing a great work and are sponsoring the Blue Ribbon work; the pupils get a great more benefit than these left entirely with the teachers. The teachers may be intensely interested, but with their regular work they don't have time to devote to the Blue Ribbon program that it should have. P-T. A. organizations are the logical ones to sponsor this important phase of school work. If you do not have a P-T. A. in your community, let's get busy and organize one.

Adis Roop, Lancer, Greeley Laferty, Thomas and Mort Shepherd, Colie, were sent to hospitals this week. Adis Roop and Greeley Laferty going to the Children's Free Hospital, Louisville, Adis going for a hernia operation and Greeley for treatment for leukemia, a rare blood disease. Mort Shepherd entered the trachoma hospital, Richmond, Ky., for treatment for trachoma.

The weighing, measuring and physical inspections of the pupils of Garrett school was started Tuesday, and will take two or three days, as this is the largest school in the county, having 870 enrolled. This examination is preliminary examination for the Blue Ribbon program.

Twenty-five West Prestonsburg women were given physical examinations in this office Wednesday. These examinations were made in cooperation with the relief officials, who are planning on starting a sewing class there next Monday. Another group will be examined at Maytown for the same purpose. These federal projects make it mandatory that everyone employed must pass physical examination in order that no one will be employed who is suffering from any disease that might be transmitted to their fellow-workers.

TO OUR CUSTOMERS:

During the inflation period, when the prices of other items in the family budget were soaring, the cost of Electricity was steadily declining. Since 1927, the cost of electricity in the homes on our lines has declined 18 percent.

No longer is an electric service bill just a lighting bill. In most homes today it includes, in addition to lighting and small appliances, such conveniences as an electric iron, a vacuum cleaner, a washing machine and radio entertainment.

Every year, new or improved electrical appliances for the home are developed which bring to it more and more convenience and pleasure. Since 1927, we have reduced our rates and the lowered rates combined with the increased use of electricity have resulted in reduced cost to you . . . in 1934 you paid 5.9 cents a kilowatt-hour as compared with 7.2 cents in 1927.

STERLING BREWED COSTLY TRUE-BARLEY WAY TO EQUAL WORLD'S FINEST BEERS!

MR. WEIZMANN says he really got a thrill when he tasted true-barley Sterling. It was the best beer he'd had since he'd been abroad where fine beers are always made the true-barley way. You see, in America true-barley beers are rare. It's the costly way to brew. It means no cheap ingredients, no substitutes. With No. 1 barley, Sterling also uses prize-winning hops blended with selected imported hops. These costly steps do make a difference in flavor. Yes, Sir! That true-barley taste fairly yells "come back for more." And they do come back, you can tell the world — by the thousands. That's why Sterling is leading in city after city — gaining by leaps and bounds in state after state. Prove it yourself! Try a few glasses of Sterling on draught. Order a case of Sterling. After the first sip you'll be glad you didn't delay.

MARTIN VICTORS IN NINTH WIN

Martin, Ky., Jan. 21 (Spl) — The Martin Purple Flash overwhelmed the Wheelwright quintet on the local floor Friday night by the largest score ever thought to be administered to any Floyd county team, 67-19.

The Martin boys were not long in getting started and the game was never close. It was just a case when all the boys were hitting at the same time. Frazier, who has made a vast improvement in the last few games, was high scorer of the contest with 21 markers, followed by the Purple Flash's center, Martin with 19.

The Wheelwright team has been right at the top, fighting for the leadership in the Floyd county conference race. This victory placed the Martin team quite a way in front, as they have last only one conference game, and thao to Lackey, who has suffered several reverses, which did not count so many points.

Next week the Purple Flash will step outside the conference for two games with strong teams of this section. The Pikeville Academy, who recently won over the strong Elkhorn City team, will come to Martin to battle the Purple Flash. This should be a hard-fought game as the visitors will try to get revenge for the two defeats handed them last year by the Beaver boys. Saturday night the Purple Flash will go to Betsy Layne to meet a copy be spread upon the minutes as a memorial to our sister.

IN MEMORIAM

Whereas, God in His infinite wisdom has been pleased to remove from our midst our beloved sister, Margaret Auxier May, who departed this life January 6, 1935. She has been a member of Adah chapter, O. E. S. many years. She was a loyal and consistent member of the Baptist Church for more than 50 years, having joined when she was quite young.

Therefore, be it resolved, that we have lost a true and worthy sister, the church a faithful member. Let us resolve to take the deeds of her good life for our examples, that we, like our good Sister May, may some day join the redeemed in that city above.

Resolved, that Adah Chapter No. 24, Order of the Eastern Star, of Prestonsburg, Ky., in testimony of its loss, be draped in mourning for thirty days; and that we tender the family our sincere condolence in their deep affliction and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, to the Floyd County Times, and

HUSKY THROATS

Overtaxed by speaking, singing, smoking

Doctors Know!

... and they use liquid laxatives

You'd use a liquid, too, if you knew how much better it makes you feel. A liquid laxative can always be taken in the right amount. You can gradually reduce the dose. Reduced dosage is the secret of real and safe relief from constipation.

Just ask your own doctor about this. Ask your druggist how popular liquid laxatives have become. The right liquid laxative gives the right kind of help—and the right amount of help. When the dose is repeated, instead of more each time, you take less. Until the bowels are moving regularly and thoroughly without aid.

People who have experienced this comfort, never return to any form of help that can't be regulated! The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara, and these are natural laxatives that form no habit. It relieves a condition of biliousness or sluggishness without upset.

To relieve your occasional upsets safely and comfortably, try Syrup Pepsin. The druggist has it.

TO THE GOOD CITIZENS AND PEOPLE OF PRESTONSBURG:

It comes almost continuously to my ears that divers persons are going about the streets criticizing me to the good citizens—by good citizens I mean the ones who pay their taxes and support the upbuilding of our town—because my small advertisement is on the bottom of the new traffic signal at the corner of Court street and Carter Boulevard. Well, I'll admit that had I have used the power of my office as Mayor to advertise myself at the city's expense, the critics might have had cause to complain. However, I wish the city, I wish to say that at I paid most dearly for the small space I got on the traffic signal. Furthermore, I shall be very glad and willing to sell the space to anyone at the price I paid.

The various civic clubs, and other groups of citizens talked much about the need of a signal at this particular corner because of the fact that it was a "blind corner," and the lives of our school children and other citizens were greatly endangered. And our city council talked a lot about it. But no one brought the money, and the city didn't have it. And the company wouldn't sell the signal for promises. So, finally, I dug down in my own pocket, and bought and installed the traffic signal. I have the cancelled check at my office to show anyone who wishes to see it. This check was paid through the First National Bank of our city, and I am confident that the bank officials will be glad to affirm this statement.

As I said, I shall be glad to sell my small advertising space. Anyone who wishes may reimburse me for the price of the signal, its shipping and installation charges, and replace my advertisement with their own, please call upon me at once. I can take the money and advertise on a much larger scale.

Furthermore, on behalf of the city, I wish to say that anyone who wishes to purchase and install a traffic signal for the benefit of the city at any other busy corner, may have the advertising space on the bottom of it. So, "PUT UP," or "SHUT UP."

While discussing the critics, I wish to say a word to our good citizens about the town's finances. The critics sneeringly ask why the city hasn't any money. "All grafted up," they say. Well, the truth of the matter—and I can prove it—is that we haven't collected, and haven't been for many years collecting, all the taxes.

PURELY PERSONAL

Mrs. Robert Simpson, of Louisville, spent several days here last week, having been called here by the illness of her grandmother, Mrs. Mollie Auxier. She returned to Louisville Saturday.

Mrs. J. M. Theobald, of Grayson, was called here last week by the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. Mollie Auxier.

Mrs. A. J. May, Jr., Miss Emma Jean Endicott and Jack Salisbury spent the week-end in Lexington.

E. E. Crossland, of Columbus, Ohio, was the guest last week of his sister, Mrs. N. M. White, Sr.

Attorney nad Mrs. B. F. Combs have as their house-guests Miss Ruth Draughn and Miss Virginia Napier, of Hazard.

Only the willing, progressive, and patriotic people have paid their taxes to the city in the past. Yes, we have collected from the good citizens—in most instances—the "poor devil," or owner of a small amount of property—while large property owners have gotten off. I will venture to say that there is enough back taxes on the tax books to put the city in good shape. And by "back taxes" I do not mean "delinquent" or "uncollectable" taxes, but mean unpaid taxes by persons owning real estate. People wonder why it hasn't been collected.

Well, don't blame the Mayor, council, or tax collector, but blame our defective tax laws. The tax collector sells the property for taxes at the courthouse door, and no person bids on it because everyone is afraid of a tax title. Consequently, the tax collector is obliged to bid it in for the city, and that's the last of it. I expect that legally the city owns a large amount of real estate that I expect legally the city owns a large amount of real estate that we don't even know about.

For the informaion of all good citizens, I wish to say that the city has just employed that the city has just employed Attorney B. F. Combs to institute suit both to make good the city's title to property that has been bid in for it, and to enforce the city's lien for all back and unpaid taxes.

Now, I am appealing to all of our good citizens to get behind the city and Attorney Combs in this proceeding. Don't run around and whisper, "better hold up awhile." I wish further to say that the services of Attorney Combs in this matter will cost the city nothing, unless he is successful. He is so confident that he can collect at least a great portion of this back tax that he has taken the suits on a percentage basis. If this movement is successful, the city will gain thousands of dollars.

Another thing I wish to mention, is the fact that the greater number of city licenses have expired, and are due to be renewed for the year 1935. City licenses are required to operate restaurants, pool room rooms, soda fountains, sell beer, sell whisky, sell cigarettes, sell soft drinks and operate various trucks. In order to save our citizens and business people trouble, the city council has sent the city clerk to personally call upon all persons required to have licenses. It is the same old story. The greater number have paid, but a few haven't. Since it is a heavy fine to operate without a license, I wish to say for the benefit of those who have already purchased their licenses, or those who will do so before the expiration of the present month, that the city will ask for warrants of arrest for those operating without proper license, and will take legal steps toward prohibiting them carrying on any unlicensed business.

Urging the co-operation of all good citizens, and "with malice toward none, but with charity for all," I beg to re-mem-in.

Your friend,
A. C. CARTER, Mayor

Tract XV

A certain tract or parcel of land, lying in Floyd county, Ky., and described as follows: Situated and being on the head of the Sam Clark branch of Little Mud Creek, and being the same land described in a deed from Green Conn and wife to Worley Boyd, the grantor herein, of date March 26, 1924, and being the same land conveyed by Melisa Spears and Floyd Spears, her husband, to Green Conn, of date March 26, 1924, and recorded in Deed Book No. 69, page 486, Floyd county court clerk's office, and which deed is referred to for a better description of said land and is made a part hereof.

Tract XVI

Said land is situated in the county of Floyd and state of Kentucky, and on the waters of the Watson (or Wm. Akers) branch of Prater Creek, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point in said Watson branch about 90 feet above the mouth of a small drain on the east side of said drain and on an old line between Hiram Conn and F. M. Rice lands; thence westwardly course with said line to the old corner on top of the hill and to the line of the land conveyed by Rural Jarrell (to Green Conn (mineral conveyed to Walter S. Harkins); thence along the ridge with said line a southwardly course to a marked black oak, cornered on the lands of Hiram Conn; thence leaving the ridge and down the hill with said Conn's marked line to a bunch of small ash at the head of a drain in the field; thence with the several meanderings of said drain to the branch; thence down the center of the branch to the place of beginning, containing seven acres more or less.

The said Green Conn, decedent, does not own the surface of the above tract, but only the mineral rights therein.

Tract XVII

Situated in Floyd county, Ky., at the mouth of Kelse Gearheart Branch and on Little Mud Creek and bounded as follows, to-wit:

Beginning at the mouth of the Kelse Gearheart fork of said creek; thence running up the center of the point to the top; thence up the ridge to Libburn Williams' line; thence down with said Williams' line to the branch; thence with McCown's line to the Elk Horn Coal Corporation's line; thence with said company's line to the top of the hill; thence down the ridge to a knob at a cross-fence; thence down the hill with said fence to the creek near a large elm; thence down the creek to the beginning, containing 200 acres more or less.

This deed is made by order of the court and the interest conveyed as agreed upon by Green Conn and Minta B. Conn is as follows:

Green Conn is to have and own 62 per cent of this property and Minta B. Conn is to have 38 per cent of this property and to own it jointly in the proportion set out.

Tract XVIII

This tract or parcel of mineral is located in Floyd county, Ky., and on the waters of Big Branch of Little Mud Creek and bounded as follows: Beginning at a chestnut oak on the top of the ridge corner of Lot No. 9; thence along the ridge N 8 15 W 10 poles to a black walnut; N 14 W 131.2 poles near three lynns and locust; N 2 45 E 81.2 poles to a small hickory; thence leaving the ridge N 78 E 10 poles, N 83 E 29 poles to a chestnut oak and dogwood; N 54 E 35 poles and 12 links to an apple tree; N 89 E 11 poles to a stake in the branch near a poplar; thence down the branch south 11 30 E 12 poles; S 42 E 14 poles and 12 links to a stake near Geo. Kidd spring; thence up the point N 13 W 8 poles to a stake on a flat witnessed by chestnut, bearing north 46 W 7 feet; N 46 50 E 18 poles to a stake near two maples and a basket oak and a rock on the ridge of a point; N 22 E 10 poles to a gum and beech on the center of said point; thence along the same, N 39 30 E 33 poles to a hickory and maple; N 62 30 E 23 poles and 20 links to a hickory and black walnut and ash on the top of the ridge; thence along the same S 40 45 E 8 poles and 10 links to a chestnut oak and hickory; S 36 35 E 7 poles to a bunch of linn's corner of Lot No. 9 and with lines of same reversed South 6 45 W 4 poles to a stake below a large rock; S 41 15 W 38 poles to a stake in a haul road, near a sassafras and two maples; S 42 35 W 12.5 poles to a stake near a hickory on a point; S 14 W 16 poles near two black oaks; S 21 15 W 7 poles to two black oaks and maple; S 2 10 E 23 poles to a hickory in a field; S 10 50 W 7 poles near a chestnut on a yellow point, same course 4 poles and 3 links to a stake in the branch opposite L. M. Kidd, deceased, and being the same tract of mineral that was willed to John Hamilton by John Hamilton, which will is recorded in Will Book A, page 212.

Tract XIX

The said tract of land in, on and under which the above privileges and rights are conveyed, is situated, lying and being in the county of Floyd, and state of Kentucky and on the Big Branch of Little Mud Creek, and is described as follows:

Beginning at a white oak on top of graveyard point; thence up the point with Basil Kidd's line to a beech; thence west down the hill with Mack Kidd's line No. 9 to an apple tree standing in the bottom near a well; thence up the hill south-west with said line to the top of the ridge; thence south-east down the point with line of Lot No. 2 to a beech and black oak, corner of Lot No. 3, with line of same to a small hickory, corner of Lot No. 4; thence with line of same to the beginning, containing 75 acres more or less.

It is understood by all parties to this conveyance that the parties of the (first part excludes, excepts and retains all coal, iron, mineral and mineral products as described above on 10 acres beginning on Mack Kidd's line 20 feet north of the branch and a strip one acre wide extending south from this line down the branch to Basil Kidd's line. The remainder of the 10 acres on the south side of this strip next to Basil Kidd's line. The party of the first part also retains coal for domestic purposes on whole tract.

The said Green Conn, deceased, at the time of his death was the owner of and had legal title to as shown by said foregoing deed to all the mineral rights in said 75 acre tract of land except the 10 acres reserved, and did not own any of the surface.

Tract XX

Said land is situated in the county of Floyd and state of Kentucky, more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at a small hickory on the back line, corner of Lot No. 10; thence along the ridge to a hickory and dogwood and to T. J. Boyd's heirs' land; and with line of same to a stake near three maples; thence to a stake in the road gap; thence with the ridge to an ash, corner of Lot No. 10; thence reverse line to a stake above George Kidd's spring; thence up the branch to a poplar; thence with line of Lot No. 10 to the beginning, containing 30 acres more or less. This land lying in Floyd county and on the Big Branch of Little Mud Creek, and being the same land conveyed from W. M. Akers, Special Commissioner, to the Kidd Heirs.

The said Green Conn, deceased, is and was at the time of his death the owner and holder of the title to the mineral rights under the above-described boundary and did not own the surface.

Or a sufficiency thereof to produce the amount ordered to be made, amounting to $7,000.00 and the further sum of $750.00 probable costs to date of sale.

Year after year finds his muscles growing more flabby thru lack of exercise. He does not spare himself. He works until he is over-fatigued, both mentally and physically. Some nights he gets six hours' sleep—on others not quite so many. He eats irregularly, his capricious appetite rejecting everything but the kinds of foods which are usually the least digestible. He resorts frequently to stimulants to spur him up, and to sedatives to quiet him down. He neglects to attend to his physical duties regularly. He is worried, annoyed and harassed much of the time. He forgets how to play. Perhaps he gets in some golf once a week, and then overdoes that so it does him more harm than good.

HOW TO LIVE ONE HUNDRED YEARS

By Dr. William J. Schjoles
When a man reaches the century mark he is interviewed by the Press and asked for a statement telling how, in his opinion, one should live to reach the ripe old age of 100 years.

Rules of Others Do Not Mean Much
I have yet to see two sets of rules on how to live to be a hundred, given by such old-timers, that are essentially alike. Many are even contradictory.

Old Uncle Abner will tell you how he started smoking when he was "eight year old and ain't never missed a day since." Grandpa Jones will, on the contrary, insist that the reason he suck around so long was because he "never tetchted the filthy weed."

What Makes Centenarians?
These centenarians are largely the product of the laws of chance. They never got in the way of a bullet, automobile or other deadly weapon. They never had the misfortune to contract a serious disease. Troubles slid off their backs easily. They never worried much about the morrow. Although they worked, their labor was of a kind that didn't sap their vital resources.

They retired from active life at about 45. They always got plenty of sleep, were the kind that could doze off anywhere, any time. Their fare was always plain as they never exerted themselves sufficiently to accumulate the price of fancy viands. For the most part they were outdoor workers, the result being that they got plenty of fresh air and sunshine.

In short, the average century plant is that literally as well as figuratively. He just vegetates—living simply and moderately and indefinitely.

What Causes Premature Senility?

Contract with the centenarian the man who is lucky if he reaches 60. This type will generally be found bent over a desk hour after hour in a room in which the air is stuffy and the sunlight seldom enters.

SAYS INDO-VIN IS WONDERFUL

"Just What I Always Needed," States Mrs. Thornhill; Bowel and Stomach Troubles Go

Mrs. Sallie Thornhill, 1804 W. 2nd St., Owensboro, Ky., has now come forward with her truthful statement praising the new, scientific mixture of Extracts from Medicinal Plants, known as Indo-Vin, which is now being introduced to crowds daily here in the city of Prestonsburg at Hughes Drug Store.

This remarkable statement of Mrs. Thornhill is another one of the many UNSOLICITED testimonials being received from throughout this section, endorsing Indo-Vin to all suffering people. It reads as follows:

"Kept getting worse with my stomach all the time and finally got to where I was in CONSTANT pain and misery," said Mrs. Thornhill. "My meals would sour in my stomach and bloat me up with so much gas that I thought my insides were going to burst. This gas would press on my heart and cause terrific pains in my chest. I would get dizzy all over and I kept having terrible sick headaches from this awful condition of my stomach. I had to take laxatives CONTINUALLY for constipation."

"I tried everything under the sun but nothing helped me until I got Indo Vin and it has done me more good than everything else put together. My meals are digesting perfectly now and my food agrees with me. All of that awful gas misery is now gone and I never have the pains around my heart and in my chest. The dizzy spells and sick headaches have disappeared and my bowels are regulated perfectly. This medicine is the most wonderful thing of its kind that I EVER HEARD OF and I am glad to publicly endorse it to all who suffer."

Indo-Vin is now being introduced to the public daily here in Prestonsburg at
HUGHES' DRUG STORE

FOR REPRESENTATIVE

We are authorized to announce
JOHN W. HAYES of Hueysville, Ky., as a candidate for Representative, subject to the action of the Democratic party at the August primary, 1935. Your support will be deeply appreciated.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, which often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned. It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25-cent drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

ISRAEL CRAFT DIES

since December 26. Though Mr. Craft had been in failing health for some time, his death came as a great shock to his friends here and elsewhere throughout this section.

A son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lemar Craft, Mr. Craft was born in Letcher county April 16, 1882, and with his parents moved to Paintsville in his boyhood. From there he came to Prestonsburg, where he resided 22 years, during which time he took a prominent part in the business life of the community, having been prominently associated with the organization and operation of the Middle Creek Coal Company here.

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Susan Harris Craft, one adopted daughter, Mrs. Gracie Craft, Chattaroy, W. Va., three brothers, James, of Chattaroy, W. Va., Rev. B. W. Craft, Water Gap, and Ellis Craft, Akron, O., and one sister, Mrs. Henry Castle, Auer, Ky.

Funeral rites were conducted Monday afternoon from the residence here under the auspices of Prestonsburg lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, of which Mr. Craft had been a member for years. Ministers were Revs. H. H. Bolender and G. W. Rose. Burial was made in the Harris cemetery at West Prestonsburg under the direction of E. P. Arnold.

DAYTON WIREMAN SHOT

a doctor, he is said to have answered: "I don't need a doctor—I'm killed. But don't tell my mother."

He died within five minutes. Howard, who was recently released from the state reformatory, where he is said to have been doing time for storehousebreaking, his father and his brother bought a supply of ammunition and left the scene of the shooting, going in the direction of their home on Spring fork of Quicksand Creek, Breathitt county. The next day, however, he was arrested on a drunkenness charge on Roen Fork by Deputy Sheriff Nick Brewer and taken to Hindman. There it was learned that he was wanted in this county for murder. The Sheriff's office here was notified of his arrest, and he was returned here Wednesday by Deputy Sheriff R. R. Allen, who had made an unsuccessful search in the vicinity of the shooting on the night of the slaying for Howard.

Body of the victim was taken Monday night to the home of his mother, Mrs. Alvin Patrick, on Salt Lick Creek. Funeral arrangements were made by G. D. Ryan, and burial was made Tuesday. Young Wireman had resided on Salt Lick Creek for several years, and had many friends in that section. He is survived by his mother, his step-father and many other relatives.
