NIGHT POLICEMAN HERE STRUCK BY CAR, DIES MONDAY

B. C. Hollifield Fatally Injured Sunday Morning When Struck by Hill's Auto

BURIAL HERE

Struck by an automobile at 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning near Neeley's garage in the Porter Addition to Prestonsburg, Night Policeman B. C. Hollifield, 49 years old, of this place, died at his home here about noon Monday.

The tragedy took place a short distance below Neeley's garage as an auto, driven by Jack Hill, of this place, was passing two cars parked on the Mayo Trail. Mr. Hollifield, unaware, it is believed, of the approach of young Hill's auto, stepped in front of one of the cars and onto the highway and was struck. Hill and his two companions, Billy Goble and Cottrell Burchett, said the tragedy was unavoidable.

Impact of the auto hurled Mr. Hollifield approximately 20 feet. The officer's right leg, which was broken when his hip was crushed and his back broken in 1926 in a mine accident at Auxier, was twice broken, and his head was injured. Since his injury in 1926 Mr. Hollifield had been in a weakened condition and this is believed to have contributed to his death.

The injured man was rushed to the Paintsville hospital in the auto of Dr. H. E. Hughes by Dr. Hughes and the three young men who occupied the car which struck Mr. Hollifield. He was later that night returned to his home here.

Death of Mr. Hollifield came as a distinct shock to his hundreds of friends and relatives in this and neighboring counties where he was well and favorably known.

Beverly Clark Hollifield was born in Prestonsburg December 12, 1885, the son of the late Jacob and Martha Hollifield. He was first married to Miss Virgie Crider and to this union one son, Samuel Jacob, was born. Following the death of his first wife, Mr. Hollifield was married to Miss Johnnie Blackburn, of Little Paint, and to them was born one daughter, Mattie Burnett.

Besides his widow and daughter here and his son who resides at Auxier, he is survived by three sisters: Mrs. Kate Snyder, of Torchlight, Ky.; Mrs. Lou Burchett, of Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Georgia Hall, of McDowell. Funeral rites were conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the M. E. Church, South, here, the Rev. Arnold T. Malmberg, of the Presbyterian Church, officiating, assisted by Rev. J. H. Howard, of the Presbyterian Church, and Rev. H. F. King, pastor of the M. E. Church, South. Burial followed in the Weddington cemetery here. Funeral and burial were under the direction of E. P. Arnold, of this place.

FUNERAL OF MRS. HAYS HELD AT LACKEY FRIDAY

With a large concourse of sorrowing friends and relatives in attendance, the funeral of Mrs. Oscar C. Hays, who died at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, last week, was conducted Friday afternoon from the Lackey high school building, the Revs. Isaac Stratton, of Banner, and O. P. Smith, of Ashland, officiating. Burial was made at Lackey under the direction of E. P. Arnold.

PRESTONSBURG HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETE IS WOUNDED RECENTLY

John Allen Reatherford was indicted this week by the grand jury when Cline Burchett testified that Reatherford shot him.

Football is not as dangerous as riding on running boards of autos, en route to practise the gridiron sport, the shooting recently near Gasco Park of Cline Burchett, Prestonsburg high school boy, indicates.

Young Burchett, a recruit to the Blackcat football squad, had practised for several days and had found the game to his liking and not as hazardous as many believe it to be. He had suffered no injuries. Then, while riding the running board of the Ideals Cleaners' truck to the football field recently a bullet said to have been fired from within the truck from a .22 calibre revolver, struck him in the ankle, causing a flesh wound.

The shooting believed to have been accidental, has some element of mystery about it, since a third occupant of the truck whose name was not given, is said to have fired the shot which caused only a flesh wound. Curtis Laferty and Johnny Reatherford were the other occupants of the truck.

RELIEF CLERICAL CORPS INCREASED

$28,210 To Be Spent in Floyd This Month, Mostly for Work

Increased relief work in the Pike-Floyd area has rendered the employment of six new clerks in the area office, one in the county relief office here and one in the Pike county relief office, it was said last week.

Miss Ruby Blackburn, of Wayland, is one of the six added to the area office clerical force, and Miss Alta Fraley is the new clerk in the local relief office.

In Floyd county $28,210 will be spent for relief during April. Of this amount $22,000 has been appropriated for work relief; $88 for child feeding and $5,847 will go for the aid of those unable to work on any of the projects. At this time, 1,835 men and 56 women are employed on projects in Floyd county, where 2,781 families are represented on the relief rolls.

In announcing the amount of funds allotted to Pike and Floyd counties for relief work during the month of April, Mr. Murphey stated that he has orders from the state officials not to spend more than one-fourth of the allowance unless further orders are given. With the passage of the $4,800,000,000 work bill in Congress late last week, it is expected that more funds will be available for relief purposes.

BULLET IN APPENDIX

Paintsville, Ky., April 13—Rev. S. O. Quarrels, today became a medical curiosity because of a routine operation.

Physicians reported they found a bullet in his appendix.

Rev. Mr. Quarrels reported that no doubt it was a bullet which became imbedded in his body years ago when he was shot in the nose in Oklahoma. He was shot twice in the chest, he said, but the bullets were recovered.

FATHER NABBED AS SON PENNED

Howard Captured in Kenton, O., on Day Son Starts Serving Murder Sentence

Three days after his son, Witt, was taken to the penitentiary at Frankfort to begin serving a 21-year sentence, Wiley Howard was returned here Saturday by Sheriff M. T. Stumbo and Deputy Sheriff R. R. Allen from Kenton, O., to face trial for the murder of Dalton Wireman on Salt Lick Creek, this county, the same crime for which his son was convicted.

Since the slaying of young Wireman on January 21, the elder Howard had been a fugitive from justice. He was arrested last Thursday at Kenton and held there for Floyd authorities.

The younger Howard killed Wireman, it is claimed, but the father is accused of firing at the wounded youth as he ran from the scene of the shooting to a nearby home where he hid within a few minutes.

Howard was indicted in February at the same time the grand jury returned a murder charge against his son, and may be given trial during the present court session.

S. P. Hager, of Paintsville, this week assumed the management of the Midland Store here, succeeding J. H. Patton, who resigned recently. Mr. Hager has been connected in Paintsville for several years, with the Cox department store and is an experienced store manager.

Dr. C. R. Slone, of Anawalt, W. Va., was in Prestonsburg Thursday.

Crime Wave Ebb Is Seen By Grand Jury

Report of Jurors Points to Marked Decrease Indictments ---121 True Bills Returned After 179 Witnesses Quizzed During-Nine Day Session

Upon completing a nine-day session Wednesday afternoon during which 179 witnesses have been examined and 121 indictments returned, many of which are felonies, the grand jury of the Floyd circuit court in its final report to Circuit Judge John W. Caudill expressed past several years. This is evidence of a crime wave in this county is receding.

"We have devoted our full time," the report, signed by Allen Triplett, foreman, says, "to the investigation of crimes and violations generally, and it is our observation that the crime condition in Floyd county is possibly better at this time than at any time for the past several years. This evidence is based on the fact that a few more than half the number of indictments were returned by this grand jury during the period of nine days than by grand jurors at previous terms."

In the murder indictments returned against the seven persons from Knott county in the slaying of Deputy Sheriff Hicks, Alex Wicker and Ivan Collins are named as the slayers, while the others are charged as accomplices. Frank Tanner was named in a murder indictment this week, being charged with fatally stabbing McKinley Williams on Left Beaver.

PROMINENT BETSY LAYNE MAN TAKEN

Heart Attack Following Op- eration Fatal Sunday to Richard P. Stratton

Richard P. Stratton, 65 years old, one of Floyd county's best citizens, died at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, Sunday as the result of a heart attack.

Mr. Stratton had undergone an operation at the hospital two weeks earlier and was, apparently, convalescing when the fatal seizure came.

The youngest son of Andrew Jackson Stratton and Mrs. Catherine Gearheart Stratton, the deceased was born near Betsy Layne June 19, 1869. He was married May 25, 1892 to Miss Helen Williamson, who preceded him in death. To this union three sons and a daughter were born. He was later married to Miss Louise Roberts, and of this marriage was born one daughter.

Mr. Stratton was a prosperous farmer and had been a church member for 20 years. He also was a member of Pikeville lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows and also of the Order of Maccabees. He had hundreds of friends and relatives in Floyd and Pike counties who deeply regret his passing.

Surviving him are his widow, three sons and two daughters: Mrs. Octavia Lewis, Sparrell, Darrell and Emma Caudill, and Miss Ruby Alice Stratton, all of Betsy Layne. Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the home, the Rev. Isaac Stratton officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery under the direction of G. D. Ryan.

IVEL MAN SUCCUMBS AFTER LONG ILLNESS WITH TUBERCULOSIS

Hibbard Mullins, 53 years old, well known Ivel man, died at his home Wednesday, April 10, a victim of tuberculosis from which he had suffered for several months.

A native of Dickenson county, Va., Mr. Mullins had resided in this county for several years and was known as one of this section's best citizens. He was a devout member of the Freewill Baptist Church.

Surviving Mr. Mullins are his widow, Mrs. Martha Mullins; his mother, Mrs. Dicie Mullins, and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Mrs. Roxie Mullins, Canada, Ky.; Mrs. Josie Mullins, Omaha, Va.; Corbett Mullins, Stewart, Ky.; Samuel and Jesse Mullins, Mayking, Ky.

Funeral services were conducted from the home of Mrs. Bonnie Trimble, of Ivel, the Rev. Isaac Stratton officiating, assisted by Rev. Joe Smith and the Reverend Rickman. Burial was made in the Davidson cemetery.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. ESTEP AT GARRETT

Beloved Floyd Woman Succumbs Wednesday Afternoon in 92nd Year

An illness having its inception early last fall brought Mrs. Mary Carter Estep, one of Eastern Kentucky's oldest and best women. She was in her 92nd year.

News of the death of "Aunt" Mary, as she was familiarly and affectionately known, will be received with deep regret by the hundreds of persons who knew her and her late husband, "Uncle" Can Estep, over the years they lived in this county.

A member of the M. E. Church, South, for many years, Mrs. Estep's life was a high example of the finest in womanhood. She was a native of Scott county, Virginia, and came to this county from Rye Cove, Va., about 48 years ago. She had resided at Garrett throughout her residence in Floyd county. Her illness dated from the shock incurred last fall, with the destruction by fire of the church at Garrett for which she had donated the site and in which she had been a zealous worker.

Surviving her are three daughters and one son: Mrs. Esther Horton, of Rock Fork; Mrs. Kate Martin, Mrs. Robert Risnor and Willie Estep, all of Garrett. Two brothers and one sister, Ballard P. Carter, of Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Laura Edwards and J. N. Carter, of Clinchport, Va., also survive. Funeral and burial will be held at Garrett Friday afternoon, it was said Thursday morning.

FLOYD MUSICIANS IN BROADCAST SATURDAY

Mrs. Edith Fitzpatrick James, of Prestonsburg, and Harrison Elliott, of Wheelwright, will appear in a program of favorite songs in a radio broadcast over WSAZ, Huntington, W. Va., Saturday afternoon. The program is being sponsored by the Sandy Valley Grocery Company, Paintsville. During his latest composition, "In the broadcast Mr. Elliott will a Dream World All Our Own." Thursday night, this week, Mrs. James sang at the commencement exercises of Maytown high school.

WEEK IS FULL OF WORK FOR COURT IN MURDER CASES

Martin Draws Four Years Tavis Flanery And Potter Are Acquitted

JOHNSON TRIAL BEGUN

Tavis Flanery was acquitted of the murder of Walter Kiser.

A packed murder docket has claimed the attention of the Floyd circuit court during the past week, in which time one man was given a four-year pen term, another was acquitted, with a third on trial as this was written Wednesday, yet another slated for hearing by the end of the week and the trial of seven charged with the murder of Adam Hicks, Knott county deputy sheriff, docketed for Monday, April 22.

With his alleged partner in crime, Hays Vance, now a convict doing time on a life term in the penitentiary, being brought here from Frankfort to appear as a Commonwealth witness against him, Creed Martin was given a four-year pen term Friday for the slaying of John Slone at Ligon in September, 1933. Vance testified that Vance gave him the revolver with which he slew Slone and ing.

Toy Potter was acquitted. Tavis Flanery was acquitted. Tuesday of the murder charge filed against him for the killing of Jodie Adams on Left Beaver Creek recently. The burden of testimony was to the effect that Adams, armed and threatening the life of Potter, entered the Potter home when he was shot.

Trial of Tavis Flanery, policeman at Martin, charged with murder in the killing of Walter Kiser at Martin, was under way Wednesday and will probably be completed by Thursday morning, after which the second trial of Hays Johnson, charged with the murder of Walter Johnson at Melvin, will begin. Johnson was convicted at his first trial here but was granted a new trial by Circuit Judge Caudill.

Claude McCown, of McDowell, was given a sentence of one year in the penitentiary upon his conviction this week of perjury. The charge arose from his alleged sworn statement to the effect that he was worth $1,000 above all debts when he signed the bond of Jack Adams, who had been arrested for cutting and wounding Lee Frazier.

Though separate trials probably will be held in the case, the seven persons indicted for the fatal shooting of Adam Hicks on Jones' Fork last week are slated for trial here Monday. The Floyd circuit court has jurisdiction in the case, since Hicks died at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin.

Those indicted for the killing are Dave Wicker, Dave Triplett, Alex Wicker, Burchell Martin, Ivan Collins, Menda Patton and Elliott Wicker. Dave Triplett and Elliott Wicker have not been arrested. The others are in jail here, with $10,000 bond each being demanded for their release.

C. P. Smith, of this county, has completed a course in Radio, Television, Sound and Refrigeration at the Coyne Electrical and Radio School, Chicago. A letter from the school highly commends Mr. Smith for the excellence of his work while in school.

Floyd Speller Awarded $5 Prize in State Bee; Scott Girl Wins Title

AUDREY ROBEY

Though she failed to win the championship in the state spelling bee held in Louisville last Thursday, Lora Allen, Maytown schoolgirl and Floyd's champion speller, carried this county's hopes farther in the state competition than has any other Floyd champion. She won a $5 cash prize, and not until she stumbled on the word, "polyp," was she eliminated.

Lora and 98 other spellers yielded the state title to Audrey Robey of the Long Lick school, Scott county, whose successful negotiation of "ter magant," the word upon which the runner up, Wilda Smith, of Campbell county, tripped, earned for her the right to represent Kentucky in the national spelling bee in Washington, D. C., May 28.

The Floyd spelling champion was accompanied to Louisville by her teacher, Mrs. Jane Combs, and was heard by a number of teachers from this county who were in Louisville attending the K. E. A.

What Do You Do With Your Discarded Clothing?

Floyd County chapter, American Red Cross, is swamped daily with calls from men, women and children seeking clothing.

Spring is just around the corner, most every housewife is anxiously waiting to start housecleaning. Our committee is appealing to each housekeeper to start a Red Cross package. When you find a garment your child, your husband or yourself has discarded put it aside. After you have finished cleaning your closets, drawers and boxes we are sure there will be many articles some unfortunates can use and you will be glad to pass them on. Even though they look as if they are not wearable, they can be repaired and aid some one. When your packages are ready, call Phone 2, Prestonsburg, and the committee will call for them.

THE 1935 STATE FAIR PLEDGED AID OF LEADERS ALL OVER STATE

Several New Features To Be Added

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 12.—Spurred by the very great success, financially and otherwise, of the Kentucky State Fair within the last three years, some twenty-five leading representatives of the press, industrial, agricultural and other interests in the State, met here today for the purpose of proffering their support and cooperation to the Fair officials in their plans for making the 1935 Fair, September 9th to 14th, the greatest in the institution's history. Not only the greatest, they declared in point of attendance, but in every other way of the highest value to the State as a whole.

The keynote of the meeting was that the State Fair's great benefit to the agricultural interests of the State should be stressed more forcibly than ever upon the people of the rural sections, and that every farmer, stock raiser, poultry raiser, orchardist, gardener and school should, in some way have a part in the exhibits or in some other department.

The Fair officials were highly commended for the success of the Fair in every way for the last three years. They were strongly urged to continue such very popular and successful features as the State-wide beauty contest, and every effort put forth this year for a contestant from every county in the State. Likewise, the massed band and music festival feature in which some thirty bands participated last year with about 500 pieces. With the State's seventy-five or more bands, drum and trumpet corps from the various counties marching the streets and playing on the grounds and massed into one mammoth band of 1500 to 2000 pieces, and several thousand voices from the schools of the State in folk and community songs, to the Band's accompaniment, would make one of the largest musical aggregations ever gotten together on the American continent, and by far the most spectacular and entertaining attraction the Kentucky State Fair, or any other state fair ever staged.

Support was also pledged to the Fair's suggested plans for arranging in the huge Merchant's and Manufacturer's Building, a separate booth for every county in the State desiring to participate to present its resources and other advantages along with a large, separate display of the State Agricultural College.

"The State Fair," declared Judge Ben. F. Ewing, himself a farmer by birth and rearing, "is primarily for the benefit of the farmers of the State, and I heartily agree with both Agricultural Commissioner Eugene Flowers and Secretary Garth K. Ferguson who have accomplished so much with, and for, the State Fair in the last three years, that the Fair belongs to the people of the State and should be conducted for the benefit of all the people. But of all who should get behind it and get the most out of it, is the man who makes his living in the rural sections, and I trust that every county in the State may have a booth at the State Fair this year for the display of its particular resources and products."

Secretary Garth K. Ferguson who had been invited to the meeting for a resume of the results of the Fair's activities for the last three years, and a line on the plans for this fall, said that with all it had now under way, and the wonderfully fine support that the State Board of Agriculture was getting on every hand from the people of the State. More especially from the type of men in that meeting, the people in the agricultural sections would find the State Fair of great educational value and well worth their coming to see. Mr. Ferguson recounted the difficulties that the present Board had to face when it came into existence three years ago facing the worst depression in history. But the people of the State were with us, and by their help, we staged fairs that have brought the people from all over the State, in greatly increased numbers each year. The State press, and the cooperation of civic, business and agricultural leaders and economical management, resulted in three financially successful fairs in succession.

Secretary Ferguson not only pledged the Board's heartiest cooperation in every move the citizens of the State might take for the Fair's advancement, but, said the State Board of Agriculture, would welcome any constructive criticism or suggestion from anyone interested in the Fair's management or its efforts for the furtherance of the agricultural, educational and industrial interests of the State for which the Fair was instituted and is solely conducted.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS

The Woman's Club met with Mrs. Frank May Saturday, Mrs. Stuart, vice-president, presiding. Crippled children's seals were distributed for sale here. Brief resume of the year's work was given, plans for new seals avidly discussed. April 22 was set as a date for a call meeting in the home of Mrs. Wm. Stewart, new officers to be elected at that time. On May 18 the club meets with Mrs. E. R. May and will entertain a delegation from the Lacney club which is to be joint hostess with the Maytown club next fall when the district meeting is held here. Gams and contests were enjoyed, Mesdames Arb Hayes, Dean Amburgey and Will Stewart being awarded attractive prizes. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. John May in serving delicious refreshments.

RESOLUTIONS

Fully realizing that all seasons should be devoted to prayer and meditation, and waiting in the sanctuary, we, the members of the Prestonsburg Ministers' Association, believe that Holy Week—that period in the life of our Lord Jesus Christ, which culminated in His atoning death and resurrection for us—should be specially marked by contemplation upon the central facts of our redemption and communion with the Author of that redemption.

We, therefore, earnestly summon all the Christians of the community to devote themselves with holy zeal, during the period beginning with Palm Sunday, April 14, thru

Easter Sunday, April 21, to spiritual pursuits, abstaining from ordinary social activities, and engaging upon the things of God.

We urge attendance at the regular and special Holy Week services that are being conducted during the week; and a rallying to the various assemblies in which the Risen Christ is worshipped upon Resurrection morning.

THE NARRATIVE

CHAPTER I.—David Ransdell, approaching New York on the liner Europa, receives a succession of radiograms offering him $1,000, finally $20,000, for an exclusive newspaper interview divulging the mission that brings him from South Africa. Ransdell, noted aviator, has been secretly commissioned at Capetown by Lord Rhondin and Professor Bronson, the astronomer, to fly across the Mediterranean to the fast liner, with a large traveling case containing photographic plates. His instructions are to deliver them to Dr. Cole Hendron, in New York. Tony Drake calls at the Hendrons' apartment. Ransdell arrives and Eve Hendron, with whom Tony is deeply in love, introduces Tony to Ransdell.

CHAPTER II.—New York newspapers publish a statement made by Hendron and Bronson in which they claim to have discovered two planets, which must have broken away from another star or sun and traveled through interstellar space for an incalculable time, until they came to a region of the heavens which brought them at last under the attraction of the earth. The statement ends: "Their previous course, consequently, has been modified by the sun, and as a result, they are now approaching us." The result of the inevitable collision will be the end of the earth. The approaching bodies are referred to as Bronson Alpha and Bronson Beta, the latter being the smaller—about the size of the earth.

CHAPTER III.—"It's going to be doomsday, isn't it?" Tony Drake asks Eve. "No, Tony—more than doomsday. Dawn after doomsday," she tells him. She explains that the first time the Bronson Bodies approach the earth they will not hit it, but the second time, one, Bronson Beta, will pass, and the other will hit the earth and demolish it. To devise means of transferring to Bronson Beta, so much like the earth, is what is occupying the minds of the members of the League of the Last Days.

CHAPTER IV.—Hendron tells Tony he is to be a member of the selected crew of the projected Space Ship which Hendron plans to build, with the idea of landing on Bronson Beta, and the scientist advises him to gain a knowledge of agriculture and the sciences of manual arts and elementary mechanics. Tony rounds up suitable men and women to build the ship at a cantonment Hendron established in northern Michigan.

CHAPTER V.—Hendron has not been able to find a metal or an alloy which will withstand the heat and pressure of atomic energy to be used in propelling the Space Ship. The night before Hendron and his immediate party are to fly to Michigan the tides rush through the streets of New York.

CHAPTER VI.—The tides sweep back to the Appalachians on the east and to the mountains on the Pacific side, and quakes change the entire surface of the earth. The Washington government evacuates as many millions as possible to the great Mississippi valley. The Hendron settlement survives unprecedented earthquakes.

CHAPTER VII.—Bronson Alpha collides with the moon and wipes it out. Ransdell and Eliot James, an English scientist whom Hendron has invited to join the colony, leave on an aerial reconnaissance, as the Hendron colony is in the presence of conditions elsewhere. They return safely, reporting almost universal destruction throughout the country.

CHAPTER VIII.—Three weeks later, Tony Drake, with Peter Vanderbilt, prominent New Yorker, selected by Hendron as a member of the party on the Space Ship, and James, fly over a large section of the devastated country. They are attacked by a crazed mob and each member of the party wounded, but they return alive, and Ransdell has found the metal Hendron needs for the Space Ship.

A few obeyed him. The rest could not, he suddenly realized; and he had to leave them, dying. Jack Taylor was beside him, firing a rifle. They were five altogether who were falling back, firing.

Figures from the black leaped at them, and it was hand to hand. Tony fought with a bayonet, then with a stubbed rifle, madly and wildly swinging. He was struck, and reeled.

"Come on!" cried Jack Taylor's voice; and with Taylor he ran in the dark. They reached the buildings. Gunfire was flashing from the laboratories which otherwise were black. The dormitories sprang into light; windows shone, and spread illumination which showed that they were deserted and were being used now by the deserters of the camp to light the streets already abandoned.

The attackers could not shoot out hundreds of globes so simply as they had stretched the searchlights. And they could not advance into that illuminated area, under the machine guns and rifles of the laboratories. They had to take the deserted dormitories and darkened them.

They were doing this; but it delayed them. It held them up a few minutes. From the room, dormitory windows light blazed. The lights were not being turned out; they were being snuffed and the window-panes were crashing. Yells celebrated the smashing and shots.

The yells ceased; some sort of assault was being reorganized. Tony fell in the dark. "Keep down—down—down—down," he was crying. "Follow the window-line. Down!" The bullets from machine guns, evidently aimed from the dormitory windows, were striking in.

Many did not obey him; he did not expect them to. Yells at the farther end of the main laboratory told that it was hand-to-hand there, in the dark. A charge—a rush had been pushed home.

Tony found Taylor beside him; they had stuck together in the dark; and a dozen others rose and ran with them into the melee. The best brains of the modern world, fighting hand to hand with savages! Shoot and stab and club wildly, desperately, in the dark!

More and more lay where they fell. Tony, stumbling and slipping on the sticky wet floor, realized that this rush was stopped. There was nobody left in the room for fight—nobody but two or three distinguished as friends by the spots of the arm bands.

"Jack?" gasped Tony; and Taylor's voice answered him. They were staggering and bleeding, both of them; but they had survived the fight together. Tony found the flashlight which, all through the fight, he had had in his pocket, and he bent to the floor and held it close to the faces.

He caught breath, bitterly. Bronson was there. Bronson, the discoverer of the two stranger planets whose passing had loosed this savagery; Dr. Sven Bronson, the first scientist of the southern hemisphere, lay there in his blood, a bayonet through his throat! Beside him Dodson was dying, his right arm backed almost off. A few of those less hurt were rising.

"To the ship! Into the ship!" Tony cried to them. "Everybody into the ship!" There was no alternative.

Creeping on hands and knees, from wounds or from caution, and dragging the wounded with them, the men started the retreat to the Space Ship. Women were helping them. Yells and whistles warned that another rush was gathering, and that this would be from all sides.

Tony caught up in his arms a young man who was barely breathing. He had a bullet through him; but he lived. Tony staggered with him into the great metal rocket.

When he laid his burden down, Ransdell confronted him. From head to foot, the South African was dabbled and clotted with blood. He was three-quarters naked; a bullet had creased his forehead; a bayonet had slashed his shoulder.

The second rush was coming. No doubt of it and it would be utterly overwhelming. There would be no survivors—but the women. None. For the horde would take no prisoners. They were killing the wounded already—their own badly wounded and the camp's wounded that they had captured. Eliot James, a bullet through his thigh, but saved by the dark, crawled in with this information. Tony carried him into the ship.

They were all in the ship—all the survivors. The horde did not suspect it. Then they suddenly seemed to realize that the ship was the last refuge. They surrounded it, firing at it. Their bullets glanced from its metal. Somebody who had grenades bombed it.

A frightful flame shattered them. Probably they imagined, at first, that the grenade had exploded some sort of powder magazine within the huge metal tube. Few of those near to the ship, and outside it, lived to see what was happening.

The great metal rocket rose from the earth, the awful blast from its power tubes lifting it. The frightful heat seared and incinerated, killing at its touch. A hundred of the horde were dead before the ship was above the buildings.

Hendron lifted it five hundred feet farther, and the blast spread in a funnel below it. A thousand died in that instant. Hendron ceased to elevate the ship. Indeed, he lowered it a little, and the power of the atomic blast which was keeping two thousand tons of metal and of human flesh suspended over the earth, played upon the ground—and upon the flesh on the ground—as no force ever released by man before.

Half an hour later, Hendron brought the ship down.

A pale delicate light carried away the depths of night. From the numbness and exhaustion which had seized it the colony roused itself. It gazed with empty eyes upon that which surrounded it. The last battle of brains against brutality had been fought on the bosom of the earth. And the intelligence of man had conquered his primeval ruthlessness. But at what cost. Around a table in the office of the laboratories a few men and women stared at each other; Hendron pale and shaken, Tony in shoes and trousers, white bandages over his wounds; Eve staring from him to the short, broad-shouldered, silent form of Ransdell, whose hands, blackened, ugly, hung limply at his sides, whose gorilla-like strength seemed to have deserted him; the German actress, her dress disheveled, her hands covering her eyes; Smith, the surgeon, stupefied in the face of this hopeless summons to his calling.

At last Hendron sucked a breath into his lungs. "My friends, what must be done is obvious. We must first bury the dead. There are no survivors of the enemy. If others are gathering I believe we need fear no further attack. Doctor Smith, you will kindly take charge of all hospital and medical arrangements for our people. I will request that those who are able to do so appear immediately on the airplane field. I shall dispatch the majority of them to your assistance, and with those who remain I shall take such steps as are necessary. Let's go."

Only three hundred and eighty persons were counted by Tony as they struggled shuddering to the landing field. Almost half of them were women, for the women, except in the case of individuals who joined the fighting voluntarily, had been secluded.

As in the other emergency, Taylor was assigned to the kitchen. He walked to the kitchen with his men. Tony, with ten other men, a pitiful number for the appalling task that confronted them, went down to the field and began to gather up in trucks the bodies there. Not far from the cantonment, on what had been a lumber road, an enormous fissure yawned in the earth.

All that day they tended their own wounded. Many of them perished.

In those nightmare days no one spoke unless it was necessary. Life-long friendships and strong new friendships had been obliterated. Loves that in two months had flowered into vehement reality were ended. For two weeks abysmal sadness and funereal silence held them. Only the necessary ardors of their toil prevented many of them from going mad. But at the end of two weeks Tony, returning from an errand to the fissure where the last bodies had been entombed by a blast of dynamite, stood on the hill above the encampment and saw that once again the grass grew green, once again the buildings were clean and trim.

While he stood there his attention was attracted by a strange sound—the sound of an airplane motor, and the plane itself became visible. It landed presently on their field, and Tony was one of several men who approached it. The cabin door opened and out stepped a man. There was something familiar about him to Tony, but he could not decide what it was. The man had a high, crackling voice. His hair was snow-white. His features were drawn, and his skin was yellow. His pilot remained at the controls of the plane, and the old man hobbled toward Tony, saying as he approached, "Please take me to Mr. Hendron."

Tony stepped forward. "I'm Mr. Hendron's assistant. We don't allow visitors here. Perhaps you will tell me your errand."

"I'll see Hendron," snapped the other.

Tony realized that the man constituted no menace. "Perhaps," he said coldly, "if you will tell me your reason for wanting to see Hendron, I can arrange for the interview."

The old man almost shrieked. "You can arrange an interview! I tell you, young fellow, I said I would see Hendron, and that's all there is to it." He came abruptly closer, snatched Tony's lapel, cocked his head, and peered into his face. "You're Drake, aren't you, young Tony Drake?"

Suddenly Tony recognized the man. He was staggered. Before him stood Nathaniel Borgan, fourth richest man in America, friend of all tycoons of the land, friend indeed of Hendron himself. Tony had last seen Borgan in Hendron's house in New York, when Borgan had been immaculate, powerful, self-assured, and barely approaching middle age. He now looked senile, degenerate and slovenly.

"Aren't you Drake?" the crackling voice repeated. Tony nodded mechanically. "Yes," he said; "come with me."

Hendron did not recognize Borgan until Tony had pronounced his name. Then upon his face there appeared briefly a look of consternation, and Borgan in his shrill, grating voice began to talk excitedly. "Of course I knew what you were doing, Hendron. I knew all about it. Meant to offer you financial assistance, but got tangled up taking care of my affairs in the last few weeks. I haven't been able to come here before, for a variety of reasons. But now I'm here. You'll take me with you when you go, of course."

He banged his fist on the table in a bizarre burlesque of his former gestures. "You'll take me all right, all right, and I'll tell you why you'll take me—for my money. When all else fails, I'll have my money. I ask only that you spare my life, that you'll take me from this awful place, and in turn go out to my plane, go out to the plane that is waiting there for you. Look inside." Suddenly his voice sank to a whisper, and his head was shot forward. "It's full of bills, full of bills, Hendron: hundred-dollar bills, thousand-dollar bills, ten-thousand-dollar bills—stacked with them, bales of them, bundles of them—millions, Hendron, millions! That's the price I'm offering you for my life."

Hendron and Tony looked at this man in whose hands the destiny of colossal American industries had once been so firmly held; and they knew that he was mad.

They sent Borgan away with his pilot and his plane full of money; and the last words of the financier were pronounced in a voice intended to be threatening as he leaned out of the cabin door: "I'll get an injunction against you from the President himself. I'll have the Supreme court behind me within twenty-four hours."

Nearly three weeks after the attack a census was retaken. There were two hundred and nine uninjured women, one hundred and eighty-two injured men. There were about eighty men and women who were expected wholly to recover. There were more than a hundred who would suffer some disability. Four hundred and ninety-three people had been killed or had died after the conflict.

Work of course was redistributed. More than five months lay ahead of them. The Space Ship could be completed, even with this reduced group, in three weeks.

On one of the unseasonably warm afternoons in December Tony received what he considered afterward the greatest compliment ever paid to him in his life. He was making one of his regular tours of the stockyards when Ransdell overtook him. In all their recent encounters Ransdell had not spoken a hundred words to Tony; but now said almost gruffly, "I'd like to speak to you."

Tony turned and smiled. The South African hesitated, and almost blushed. "I'm not talkative," he said bluntly, "but I've been trying to find you alone for weeks." Again he hesitated.

"Yes?"

"That fight you put up—" Ransdell took a huge pocket knife from his flannel shirt and commenced to open and shut its blade nervously. "That was a d—n' fine piece of work, fellow."

"What was yours?" Tony replied, heartily. Ransdell held out his hand. They gripped, and in that grip the hands of lesser men would have been broken. From that time on those rivals in love were as blood brothers.

Another general meeting was held in the dining hall. Hendron again took charge.

"The matter which I have to discuss with you," he began, "is one which will come, I am sure, as a distinct surprise. It is the result of my earnest thought and of careful calculations. From the standpoint of realism—and I have learned that all of you are courageous enough to face truths—I am forced to add that my decision has been made possible by the diminution of our numbers.

"All of you know that I founded this village of ours for the purpose of transferring to the planet that will take the place of the earth a company of about one hundred people, with the hope that they might perpetuate our doomed race. It seemed to me that a ship large enough to accommodate such a number might be fabricated and launched by the one thousand persons who were originally assembled here. It is obvious, of course, that the more intelligent and healthy the units of humanity we are able to transfer to the planet, the better the chances for founding a new race will be."

He paused and his eyes roved over the throng. Not a breath was drawn, and not a word was spoken.

"My friends, we are five hundred in number. There is not one man or woman left among us who bears such disability as will prevent him from surviving, if any one may, the trip through space; there is not one but who, if we effect our landing upon Bronson Beta and find it habitable, will be fit to propagate there the human race.

"On the night of the attack, we all of us—and some who since have died—cramped into the Space Ship. We all realize that no such crowding will be possible on the voyage through space; we all realize that much cargo, other than humanity, must be stowed on the ship if there is to be any point and purpose in our safe landing upon another planet. One hundred persons remains my estimate of the probable crew and passenger list of the ship which saved us all on that night.

"But I have come to the conclusion that, by dint of tremendous effort and co-operation, and largely because of the success of the experiments which we have made with Ransdell's metal, it will be possible within the remaining months of time to construct a second and larger vessel which will be capable of removing the entire residual personnel of this camp."

Hendron sat down. No cheer was lifted. As if they had seen the Gorgon's Head, the audience was turned to stone. The sentence imposed by the death lottery had been lifted. Every man and woman who sat there was free. Every one of them had a chance to live, to fight and to make a new career elsewhere in the starlit firmament.

They sat silently, many with bowed heads, as if they were engaged in prayer. Then sound came: A man's racking sob, the low hysterical laughter of a woman; after that, like the rising of a great wind, the cheers.

Although in Eliot James' diaries the days appeared to be crammed with events, to the dwellers in Hendron's colony the weeks passed in what seemed like a steady routine, and James had been so busy that he was unable to write voluminously:

"Dec. 4: Today what we call the keel of the second Space Ship was laid. The first has been popularly named 'Noah's Ark,' and we have offered a prize of five thousand dollars in absolutely worthless bank notes for anybody who will contrive a name for the second.

"Dec. 7: Kyoto, the Japanese servant whom Tony Drake had had for some years in New York, and of whom he was inordinately fond, walked peacefully into camp. The inscrutable little Jap walked up to Tony, whose back was turned. Kyoto's face was like a smiling Buddha's; and fully appreciating the drama of the situation, he said in his odd voice: 'With exceeding humbleness request possibilities of return to former employment.' When Tony spun around I thought he was going to faint. Immediately afterward he began thumping Kyoto's back so hard that I personally feared for the Jap's life. But he seems to be wiry; in fact, he must have the constitution of a steel spring, for he has traveled overland more than eight hundred miles in the past two months, and his story, which I am getting out of him piecemeal, is one of fabulous adventure.

"Dec. 19: I discovered only today that Hendron has used for insulation, between the double walls of the now completed Ark, two thick layers of asbestos, and between them, books. The books make reasonably good insulating material, and when we arrive at our future home, if we do not arrive with too hard a blow, we will be provided with an enormous and complete library. Amazing fellow, Hendron.

HOW WOMEN CAN WIN MEN AND MEN WIN

The Favor of Other Men

Unless two pints of bile juice flow daily from your liver into your bowels, your food decays in your bowels. This poisons your whole body. Movements get hard and constipated. You get yellow tongue, yellow skin, pimples, dull eyes, bad breath, bad taste, gas, dizziness, headache. You have become an ugly-looking, foul-smelling, sour-thinking person. You have lost your personal charm. Everybody wants to run from you.

But don't take salts, mineral waters, oils, laxative pills, laxative candies or chewing gums and expect them to get rid of this poison that deprives your personal charm. They can't do it, for they only move out the tail end of your bowels and that doesn't take away enough of the decayed poison. Cosmetics won't help at all.

Only a free flow of your bile juice will stop this decay poison in your bowels. The one mild vegetable medicine which starts a free flow of your bile juice is Carter's Little Liver Pills. No calomel (mercury) in Carter's. Only fine, mild vegetable extracts. If you would bring back your personal charm to win men, start taking Carter's Little Liver Pills according to directions today. 25¢ at drug stores.

Be sure "something just as good" for it may grip, loosen, teeth or send rectum. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you ask for. ©1935, C.M. Co.

The grand jury's report in full follows:

We, the grand jurors for the April term, 1935, of the Floyd circuit court, would respectfully report as follows: That we have been in session for a period of nine days, during which time we have examined 179 witnesses and have returned 121 indictments, a large number of which are felonies.

We would further report that we find the crime wave in Floyd county on the decline. We have devoted our full time to the investigation of crimes and violations generally, and it is our observation that the crime condition in Floyd county is possibly better at this time than at any time for the past several years. This is evidenced by the fact that a few more than half the number of indictments were returned by this grand jury during the period of nine days than by grand jurors at previous terms.

In our investigations of crime we have had the splendid cooperation and assistance from the various officials of Floyd county. We would especially commend our Circuit Judge, Commonwealth's Attorney, County Attorney and Sheriff, and other officials for their cooperation in the matter of combating crime, and we believe that it is this splendid spirit of cooperation and the expedient manner of handling cases that are material factors in the improvement of the crime condition in our county that we as citizens observe. We would especially commend our reporter, Miss Goldie Elkins, for her work and cooperation before the grand jury, which aids us materially in expediting the matters that come before us. We would further report that we have examined the public offices, jail and other public buildings of Floyd county and find them in a reasonably good state of repair, and we would commend the fiscal court of Floyd county for the improvements in and about the court house, and would recommend that such improvements be continued until our courthouse and jail are made more presentable and practical and a more sanitary place in which to transact the business of the county. We find the jail to be in a sanitary, well kept condition. We would recommend that the fiscal court of Floyd county purchase for the jailer such supplies in and about the dining room and cook room of the jail, including a rug, which is so badly needed.

Respectfully submitted,
ALLEN TRIPLETT, Foreman,
Grand Jury, Floyd Circuit Court.

Giuseppe Bentonelli (Joe Benton) of Sayre, Oklahoma

from FARM TO FAME

Son of a pioneer family of Western Oklahoma, on land which the government opened to white settlers, he was wild country in 1910. Joe Benton helped till the unbroken soil and did chores around the farm. Joe showed signs of musical talent when very young. At sixteen, he won a teachers college scholarship. After a severe illness Benton's voice changed. From part-time to tenor, graduating from the University of Oklahoma, Benton went abroad to study with the great masters. When pronounced ready he was advised to change his name. His European career in the forty-four different operas won for him the praise and applause of the critics and fame.

RELIEF NEWS

By WILMA G. MAY Relief Worker

More Projects and Plans

Plans are being submitted for a project which calls for beautification of school grounds in several of the larger schools. Local organizations will assist in the supervision of this work and persons from the relief office will also be present to assist. Utilization of native shrubbery, vines and trees will dispense with practically all cost. What place has a greater abundance of native plants to offer than Eastern Kentucky? Several of the wideawake schools are availing themselves of this opportunity in the spring and fall.

A second feature scheduled for summer work is the construction of good playground equipment on various school grounds where materials can be furnished, the relief office furnishing the labor. Permanent equipment of good design will enhance the school yards and simplify outdoor discipline, also promote the physical welfare of Floyd's youngsters. Any school which can provide material for this should contact the relief office soon. Old pipe, chains, lumber, cement, etc., may be donated, or money for same raised by various means, and a good start made.

The office has under consideration a day nursery and a nursery school. Children would be cared for and given free lunches while their mothers were employed on relief projects during the day. Supervised recreation will also be a project.

County Superintendent Ballard Hunter is giving his cooperation in each of the above.

The Red Cross first aid training class began in the relief office Thursday, April 11, at 7 p. m., Dr. Marvin Ransdell, of the health department, instructor. Miss Ella Noel White, Red Cross secretary, assisting in this. Employees and foremen are availing themselves of the opportunity.

1,536 bottles of cod liver oil were recently distributed to children who need it; 143 pounds of yeast to cases of pellagra; senility, tuberculosis, etc.

Seed potatoes have been sent to all concentration points. Garden seed which came in bulk were sacked by relief women, under the capable direction of Harmon Hubbard, garden supervisor, and were distributed on Tuesday of this week.

The county has three sewing units operating, under the Prestonsburg Center. Each one turns out garments which are later given relief clients. The comfort project at Betsy Layhe began recently. An exhibit of articles made will be on display at a later date. All garments and items are returned through the work division to the commodity department and thence to the relief clients themselves.

Two hundred and sixty-six families have been recommended to the farm rural rehabilitation program for this county. These represent the most select of the caseload from several standpoints. There are various tests to which families are put, including education, health, industriousness.

The relief office personnel bought some crippled children's seals this week to assist in raising the county's quota. Our own list of crippled children was compiled some time ago.

A survey of preschool children has been presented to Dr. Ransdell for use in diphtheria clinic work. Relief clients must have their children immunized against the dread disease and help protect the health of the entire family.

On Monday of last week the county officers attended the Area staff conference in Pikeville.

The county staff meeting was held in the relief office Wednesday. Mrs. Hite Martin spoke on Unemployment Insurance, Jesse Laferty on Old Age Pensions, Guy Roe on Insurance Legislation.

The Floyd Pike banquet will be at Maytown in the school lunch room Wednesday, May 8. Ernest Thomas will be toastmaster. Impromptu speeches during dinner will be followed by a program of fun in the auditorium after the meal. The Floyd county office will burlesque the area officials. All plates 50c each, proceeds to Maytown school.

A class of 30 persons began in First Aid at the office last Thursday night. Every road foreman within eight miles availed himself of the opportunity.

Garden conference will be held in Pikeville the 23rd. County officials will attend.

Sympathy of the relief office is extended to Mrs. J. L. Pigman, of Wayland, due to the death of her father, and to Miss Edna Prater, whose aunt Mrs. Oscar Hays, was called by death this week.

SNOW AND FROST HIT FRUIT CROP

A light snowfall and freezing weather Monday night, followed by heavy frost Tuesday night, both falling on trees and flowers in bloom, caused thousands of dollars' damage to the fruit crop of Floyd and other counties throughout this section.

Not only all fruit but also the few garden crops growing were damaged. The fruit crop is expected to be a total loss. A week ago it was believed the yield in fruit in this section would be the heaviest in years.

With this blight to the fruit crop and with almost continual rains delaying farmers in plowing for spring planting, farming prospects in this section to date are discouraging.

PRESTONSBURG LODGE TO BE HOST AT JOINT MEETING THIS WEEK

Prestonsburg Lodge No. 293, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, will be host of Pikeville, Paintsville, Martin, Wayland, Garrett and Hiram man lodges Saturday evening April 20, at a special program to be held in Odd Fellows' hall in observance of the 116th anniversary of the order. The meeting will serve a two-fold purpose, since it is planned to reorganize during the evening the district association of Odd Fellows.

On April 27, Grand Master Flem D. Sampson is holding an anniversary program at the Orphas' Home in Lexington maintained by the order. The program will be presented mainly by the children, inmates of the Home. All Kentucky lodges are invited to send delegates. Those planning to attend are requested to notify W. M. Davies, grand secretary, Lexington, at once, stating the number to be present.

BOARD OF FIVE IS NAMED AS DEACONS

Five members of the Presbyterian Church were named as deacons at a meeting of the congregation after the morning service Sunday. Those selected were: N. Y. Beavers, T. W. Smith, J. A. Hager, Joe P. Hobson and Mrs. C. W. Rimmer.

The deacons are to select a chairman and a secretary and treasurer from their number; and, under authorization of the congregation are to nominate, also from their number, three members to serve as a board of trustees, the selections to be reported to the congregation.

The Prestonsburg dissonate will have charge of the temporal affairs of the church.

The Power of Jesus
Therefore doth my Father love me, because I lay down my life, that I might take it again. No man taketh it from me, but I lay it down of myself. I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again. This commandment have I received of my Father.—John 10:17-18.

Must Be Tested
In most men there must be a tragedy of the soul, and the "majesty of righteousness" must be burned into us.

Peace of God
We need the peace of God in our heart just as really for the doing well of the little things in our secular life as for the doing of the greatest duties of Christ's kingdom.

ITCHING BURNING FEET?

If so, you're probably just another of over 10 million adults suffering with Athlete's Foot which unchecked quickly spreads to sides and bottom of feet—itching becomes intense, blisters break and there's a wet oozing surface which usually forms scales.

You can check the contagious and unbearable misery today with Moore's Emerald Oil, a powerfully penetrating and healing antiseptic which H. E. HUGHES and CO. and all leading druggists dispense. Itching instantly stops. After 2 weeks feet in healthy condition again—or money back.

Touring Sedan Newest in Ford Line

NEWEST and most luxurious of the Ford V-8 cars for 1935 is the Ford touring sedan shown above. A commodious built-in trunk which is an inherent part of the car adds to its graceful proportions, and leaves the interior free for passengers when traveling. The Ford touring sedan is richly upholstered and fitted with de luxe appointments. The car is roomier than any previous Ford sedan, seating six persons comfortably. The new touring sedans are available in both Fordor and Tudor models.

THE RISEN CHRIST

By Rev. Josef Nordenhaug

Easter brings us a message of the Christ who rose victoriously from the grave. Thereby He conquered both sin and death. His resurrection is a conclusive proof of a complete salvation offered to man in Christ. If there is anything man needs now as never before it is the hope that springs from that resurrection morning.

Any true message that proposes to be based on the Gospel must have the risen Christ as its center. The Christ who lives today and who is able to come to the rescue of men and women caught in the despair of sin is the real panacea for the ills of mankind.

The tragedy of it is that most people utterly disregard Him and refuse to let Him into their lives. I plead with you at this season to take Him seriously. Give Him a chance to let you be a partaker with Him in His resurrection power. That means a commitment to Him on your part. His will must be your supreme law before you will experience that Christ is indeed risen from the dead and living in you.

Finally, the risen Christ is one guaranty that we too one day shall triumph over death. As the great apostle Paul expresses it, "If Christ has not been raised . . . we are of all men most pitiable" — "But," he continues, "now has Christ been raised from the dead . . . and in Christ shall all be made alive."

Let the living, risen Christ into your heart, and the resurrection shall no longer be an empty phrase to you.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends for the floral contributions and expressions of sympathy in the darkest hour of our distress. We are very grateful to the hospital staff, especially Dr. Gronnerud, Dr. Stumbo and Dr. Townsend, who seemed to take a personal interest in the case, and did all that was possible.

We owe our neighbors and friends of Lackey a debt of gratitude we never can pay for opening their homes and feeding and caring for the relatives and friends who attended the funeral.

We will always have a great love and respect for each member of the Woman's Club who knew the sterling qualities of Mrs. Hays better than any outside of her family, and who so graciously gave their assistance during her illness and her sympathy since.

OSCAR C. HAYS AND FAMILY.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Maggard and two daughters, of Frankfort, were guests here Thursday of Circuit Clerk and Mrs. Troy B. Sturgill, later going to Allen for a visit with Mrs. Maggard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Stephens.

MISS TAYLOR AND MR. PATTON WED APRIL 5TH

Marriage of Miss Esther Taylor and Mr. Maurice Patton was solemnized on Friday evening, April 5, at May Skeans' restaurant, Police Judge Alex H. Spradlin officiating.

Mrs. Patton is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Taylor, of Martin, and is a former student in the Martin high school, where she was quite popular. The groom is the son of Mrs. Martha Patton Rowan, of this place, and until a short time ago was in the U. S. Navy.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Patton have a host of friends in this county who extend to them best wishes.

FANNY'S REWARD

I went up and stood at the pearly gate, My face was worn and old, I asked the man at the gate For admission to the fold.

"What did you do down there," St. Peter asked, "To gain admittance here?" "I was a teacher down there for many, many a year."

The pearly gate swung open open sharp, St. Peter tapped the bell; "Come in, Old Faithful, and get your harp. For you've had enough of hell."

SKEPTICAL?

Then ask us WHY . . .

ELECTROLUX

Is Refrigeration's Aristocrat

"INCREDIBLE" . . . YES! THE MAGICIAN THAT TURNS HEAT TO COLD

Yes . . . it's incredible, almost unbelievable that a TINY GAS FLAME takes the place of all troublesome MOVING PARTS, such as, Motors, Compressors, Fans, Belts and many other parts too numerous to mention, yet actually freezes faster and maintains a more constant temperature. Because a tiny gas flame takes the place of all complicated machinery Electrolux will operate through the years SILENTLY without wear or tear . . . without even a valve to stick.

The new Electrolux Safety Burner is the world's most effective burner, approved by Good Housekeeping, the American Gas Association and The National Board of Underwriters.

Women the world over say Electrolux is not only the most modern and beautiful refrigerator, but is the safest, most dependable, and in addition offers every worthwhile convenience. ASK THE ELECTROLUX SALESMAN, YOUR GAS COMPANY, or better still, ASK THE ELECTROLUX USER.

OPERATES FOR 1c PER DAY NO MOVING PARTS AND SILENT AND WE CAN PROVE IT

SKEPTICAL . . .

Then ask the Electrolux Salesman, the USER or the Morell Supply Co., 30 years of reliable business service in Prestonsburg. Frankly, you wouldn't ask your BUTCHER about the BREAD your BAKER baked . . . now would you? Neither could you ask an electrical dealer about Electrolux and expect a sensible answer.
