FATE OF SLAYER STUDIED BY JURY OF KNOTT COUNTY

Life Term Held Probable for Cook in Killing of Kinsman

EXHIBITS FIGURE

A jury of the Knott circuit court Monday morning still deliberated the fate of Clyde Cook, who was given trial last week on a charge of murdering Bill Cook, Floyd county merchant, in Knott county about two months ago. The case went to the jury Friday.

Three eyewitnesses, Circuit Judge John W. Caudill told The Times Monday morning before his departure for Hindman where he was to reconvene court, testified that they saw the killing. One woman, whose testimony defense counsel in vain tried to shake, told of seeing a man rise from behind a rock and fire a shot into the merchant's body as he was driving his team with one hand and braking his wagon with the other down a steep mountainside. Two more shots were fired into Cook's body after he had toppled from his wagon, the witness said.

Seeking to establish identity of the gun from which the lethal shots were fired, Commonwealth's Attorney O. C. Hall telephoned Deputy Sheriff Willie Johnson, of this county, to bring to Hindman a pump gun owned by the alleged slayer by his father, Seland Cook, veteran Floyd county teacher who also was indicted at this term of the Knott circuit court for the slaying. When the gun was snapped on an unloaded shell in the courtroom, Judge Caudill said, the jury examined the indentation in the primer, compared this with that made in one of the cartridges found at the scene of the assassination of the merchant, and found no difference in markings. Shot taken from the body of the slain man was compared with that in cartridges taken from the Cook home, and these coincided, it was said. The cartridge shells found at the place of ambush also were the same as those found at Cook's, trial exhibit showed.

The defendant produced alibi witnesses who testified that he was not in the vicinity of the shooting scene.

It was held probable that the jury would agree on a life sentence for Cook, a court attaché said Monday.

Trial of Seland Cook will be held at a later court term.

Trouble between Seland Cook's family and that of Bill Cook arose when Barksdale Cook and his brother, sons of Bill Cook, slew Ralph Cook, son of Seland Cook following an altercation at a Left Beaver Creek school which Seland and Ralph Cook were teaching and in which Barksdale and his brother were students.

Paintsville, Ky., July 29—J. H. Daniels, state mine inspector, was arrested at Van Lear, near here, today and lodged in the county jail on charges of murder and failure to do his duty as mine inspector.

Daniels was arrested by Constable Farris Arrowood and Town Marshals Frank Davis and Ed Castle, of Van Lear.

The warrant for Daniels' arrest was obtained by John D. Mollett. He is to be given an examining trial here before County Judge H. B. Conley Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. Continued on page six

FLOYD COUNTY HIT BY SEVERE STORMS

Corn Crop Yield Expected To Show Big Drop in Lowlands

Various parts of Floyd county within the last week have suffered severely in crop losses from storms, some of which assumed the aspects of a cloudbursts. Mud Creek, parts of the two Beavers' and Prater Creek suffered heaviest damage.

On Frazier's Creek, Left Beaver, a shophouse owned by Dial Salisbury was washed from its foundations. Inundation of the bottom land along these streams will decrease the corn yield in the county thousands of bushels, it is predicted.

Floyd Countian's Opera To Be Presented Over Network

Kentucky's first opera, the story-song of the Mountains, written by Harrison Elliott, 23-year-old Beaver Creek boy, will be presented as a feature of the National Broadcasting System over radiophone WLW Saturday, August 24, from 4 till 5 o'clock EST, it was announced this week.

The opera, "Call of the Cumberlands," was first presented at the American Folk Song Festival June 9 at Jean Thomas' cabin near Ashland.

Mr. Elliott, who for the past few months has been singing his own compositions over WCMJ, Ashland, radio station, a few days ago returned from

New York City, where he was given an audition at Rockefeller Center by the National Broadcasting Company. Both literary and music critics, Miss Thomas reports, pronounced his work "highly meritorious. His musical composition in 'The Call of the Cumberlands' genuinely American, and his drama moving and powerful."

The cast rendering the opera in its radio presentation is expected to include Mr. Elliott, Mrs. Iley B. Browning, native Prestonsburg woman, Mrs. Edith Fitzpatrick James, of Prestonsburg, and Miss Thomas as narrator.

RULING COSTS TWO TEACHERS SCHOOLS

Three Other Injunction Actions To Be Ruled on Thursday

Temporary injunctions were granted Saturday by Circuit Judge John W. Caudill to two teacher-applicants contesting under the recent ruling of the court of appeals the right of two others hired to teach in the Hunter and Big Branch districts.

W. A. Salisbury was the plaintiff in the Hunter school case, and Par's Conley was plaintiff in the action arising from the hiring of Ralph Spradlin at R'g Branch.

Both Spradlin and Pet Salisbury, the teacher at Hunter, were hired on the recommendation of the two "old" trustees. W. A. Salisbury and Conley were recommended by the trustees elected in 1934.

Judge Caudill Thursday will hear the remaining three injunction suits filed by applicants for teacher-positions.

A downpour here Sunday night again wrought considerable damage to property-owners along and below Highland avenue.

CURIOUS FLOCK TO SEE RECORD BABY

Crowds of the curious flocked last Thursday to the undertaking establishment of G. D. Ryan at Martin to view the body of a 25-pound baby, body of a 25-pound boy baby, born Thursday night at the Beaver Valley hospital, to Mr. and Mrs. Willie Reed, of Betsy Layne.

The babe, said by Miss Edith Collins, who attended Mrs. Reed, to have been the largest normal baby at birth in medical history, died a few minutes after birth. The child was perfectly formed and two feet, six inches in length.

The Reeds have a living son who weighed 16 pounds at birth, it was said. Mrs. Reed is 31 years old. She is doing nicely.

SUPERVISORS MEET

The board of supervisors of the town of Prestonsburg convened last week. The board is composed of B. M. Spurlock, A. C. Harlowe and Malcolm Harris. S. W. Allen is city tax assessor and his duties include attending supervisors' meeting.

MRS. MAY RESIGNS AS RELIEF OFFICE CHIEF HERE ANNOUNCED

Mrs. Wilma Gunn May, of Langley, this week announced her resignation as relief worker in heading the Floyd county relief office. Mrs. May recently returned from the University of Kentucky, where she took a six-week course, and may teach this year.

She may be succeeded by Miss Edna Prater.

"I am appreciative to all who assisted me and my co-workers," Mrs. May said in discussing her week here during the past few months. "We feel that, despite many handicaps, we did accomplish some worthwhile things. Yet we employees were at times disappointed because plans fell through, through the fault of no one."

Dr. Cottrell First Native of Floyd Licensed Pilot

To Dr. J. T. Cottrell, of Catlettsburg, goes the honor of becoming Floyd county's first native to become a full fledged aviator.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Cottrell, of this place, Dr. Cottrell moved a few years ago after practicing his profession.

Dr. Cottrell has had almost 100 hours of solo flying to his credit, twice as much as is necessary to receiving his private pilot's license. He passed all tests with a splendid rating, and by virtue of his license, recently granted, is authorized to takeup passengers in any type plane in any part of the United States.

Though a physician with several years' practice, Dr. Cottrell is a young man and has all the mental and physical qualifications necessary to successful flying under the most trying conditions.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar P. Bond have moved into their new home on the Mayo Trail here. Mr. Bond's sister, J. D. Bond and Miss Dixie Bond, are residing at the residence he vacated on Second avenue.

The Rev. B. R. Lakin, a former pastor of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church, now a resident of West Virginia, was a visitor here a few days ago.

GRAND JURY PROBE OF PRIMARY TO BE MADE, JUDGE SAYS

Follow Straight and Narrow, Is Caudill's Advice to Politicians

CAMPAIGN HOT

Whatever plans politicians have in mind for the conduct of Saturday's primary in this county, they will fare better if they follow the straight and narrow path, it was indicated by Circuit Judge John W. Caudill here Monday morning.

"There will be a grand jury investigation of this primary, and I am giving everybody fair warning of what is certain to happen if there is any evidence of fraud," Judge Caudill said. "The election officers who have been chosen to serve will be expected at the polls without substitutions being made, and they will be expected to conduct the election as elections should be conducted—on the square."

As this was written this week the campaign, one of the hottest gubernatorial fights in the history of the Commonwealth, took on feverish activity, especially in Democratic circles. All five gubernatorial candidates were daily beholding while their supporters were bending every effort to swing the tide of votes in their favor.

In this county the Senatorial and Representative races saw considerable action, though not on so elaborate a scale.

HAYES WITHDRAWS

To the Voters of Floyd County: In the interest of party harmony I have decided to withdraw from the race for Representative.

I have no interest except for a clean election, and I will be 100 per cent for the winner. I wish to thank all who have supported me and given me encouragement in this race.

Yours for a square deal,
JOHN W. HAYES.

Mrs. Sarah Little, sixty six year old Wheelwright woman, was released from the county jail Wednesday morning after she had told County Judge pro tem John Allen and County Attorney Forrest D. Mrs. Little said that Jones and a son of Lee Hall came to her home and called her son, Marion Hall, from the house, then attacked him. When she ran outside to help her son, she told officials. Jones released Marion and knocked her down three or four times. While she was down she heard shots fired, she said, then saw Jones lying wounded.

Jones was shot through his abdomen, but will recover, it was said at the Beaver Valley hospital Wednesday. Both factions have agreed to await outcome of his wound before an examining trial is held.

Dewey Hall, of Mud Creek, is in jail here, charged with cutting and wounding Ellis Tackett Sunday. Tackett is in the Beaver Valley hospital, also, but his condition is not held serious. During the fight Tackett is said to have fired a pistol shot which passed across Hall's forehead, inflicting only a flesh wound.

WORK UNDER NEW PROGRAM BY AUG. 1

But Bulk of Relief Projects Yet Remain To Be Approved; Plans Outlined

Works Progress Administration projects having a value approaching $10,000,000 will have been approved or will be in the hands of Washington authorities for approval by August 1, George H. Goodman, administrator for Kentucky, said this week. Of this amount, local governmental units will receive approximately $3,000,000 while the federal government will supply the remainder. With the approval of these projects it is estimated that work will be provided for approximately 25,000 men.

In some sections of the state Mr. Goodman hopes to have projects in actual operation by August 1, while a greatly increased number will be added by September 1, and regularly thereafter as approval is given by Washington.

To date, none of the projects announced by Washington have been returned to Kentucky. Many of these projects represent the better projects transferred from the Kentucky Emergency Relief Administration work program that can be re-opened in short order.

During the lapse of time between the closing of all projects in the state, pending transfer, and the re opening of suitable projects under the new program, Mr. Goodman said, no relief client will be allowed to suffer. Direct relief now is being given, he said, but this relief will be tapered off as Work Progress projects are placed in operation.

When the slack is finally taken up, Mr. Goodman said, there will be no more direct relief. The government then, he said, will assume the role of employer only, while the state and local governmental units will be expected to care for indigent and non-workables.

Some local governmental units, Mr. Goodman said, still are slow in making application for projects. He again pointed out that the final result in permanent improvements in any given locality would be exactly in proportion to the energy of officials in submitting suitable requests.

Projects originate with the local governmental unit, Mr. Goodman said. They are then submitted to the district office, thence forwarded to the Louisville office for approval, thence to Washington for final approval. In many instances Mr. Goodman has been besieged for information as to whether or not certain a project has been approved. This information, he pointed out, is available only from Washington until such time as the approval is returned to Louisville by mail, some days later. Local offices cannot be expected to furnish such information until such time as it becomes available to them, Mr. Goodman said.

"The entire program," Mr. Goodman said, "has assumed the aspect of speed to put every workable man in Kentucky on a job. This does not mean, however, that we approve any and all projects. Projects must meet all of the requirements setup by Washington. They must be of a highly constructive and permanent nature to carry out the ideas of President Roosevelt so that when this job is done have been materially increased the wealth of the state will be."

PRESTONSBURG BOY IS ELIGIBLE TO R. O. T. C. SECOND LIEUTENANCY

When he attains the age of 21 years, which will be two years yet, James Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stephens, Jr., will receive his commission as a second Lieutenant in the reserve corps of the U. S. Army.

By virtue of his work during two years at the Kentucky Military Institute at Lyndon, Ky., and two years at the University of Kentucky, in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps young Stephens this year needed only a few weeks' course at Camp Knox to attain the status of a Second Lieutenant.

Besides acquiring the necessary additional training at Camp Knox during the past few weeks, Mr. Stephens received a medal as a member of the automatic pistol marksmanship team. He was joined at Camp Knox Saturday by his mother and brother, Edgar, who at present is visiting in Louisville, and from there goes to Cleveland, O., for a visit with friends.

TELLS HOW BANKS AIDED PROGRESS

Economist Describes the Ways Banking Institutions Have Contributed to Development of United States

OMAHA, Nebr.—Privately owned banking, despite its faults, has served America well, William A. Irwin, Professor of Economics, Washburn College, Topeka, Kansas, declared in a recent address here on "Banking in a Changing World."

"Under the leadership of individuals banking has helped to bring this country to a foremost place in economic development among the nations of the world," he said. "The small community has been developed by the individual bank. The frontiers of America have been pushed forward by the help and counsel of the individual banker. The shocks of wars and depressions in a century and a half have been withstood with the assistance of the individual banker."

Change May Be Necessary "It may be that we have reached a lull in the affairs of America when new methods are needed. It may be that we have come to a point where the individual should be submerged for the greatest good of the greatest number."

The American Pattern Professor Irwin said that the proposal which has been advanced for coordinating banking operations in the national interest under a "Supreme Court" for banking is typically American and ought to have the most serious consideration of those elements which are clamoring for political control, which is typically un-American. It is not wise, he said, to oppose changes as such, but that bankers should "see to it that change, if and when it does come, shall preserve all that is good in the past and stick as closely as possible to the American pattern of things."

BANKS AND COLLEGE LAUNCH NEW SCHOOL

Aims to Offer Studies in Advanced Banking Subjects to Bank Executives—Public Duties of Banks Stressed

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.—The Graduate School of Banking, an unprecedented educational project, operated under the joint auspices of the American Institute of Banking Section of the American Bankers Association and Rutgers University, with 220 enrolled students from 35 states and the District of Columbia, inaugurated here in June its first resident session.

The annual resident sessions of the graduate school will be supplemented between periods by continued extension work for the students at their homes. The purpose of the school is described as being to offer in a three-year course a comprehensive approach to an advanced study of the various administrative problems in banking and trust institutions. The teaching procedure is a combination of the case system and the lecture discussion method.

The Curriculum The curriculum embraces banking administrative problems and policies, bank investment problems, legal and managerial aspects of trust, business legal phases of bank administration and economic problems in the field of money and credit. The public relation and duties of banks and methods for meeting these obligations are emphasized in the courses. It is planned to set up similar schools in cooperation with other universities in various parts of the country. The school will add 200 registrants each year for two years until 600 are enrolled. The trustees of the Educational Foundation of the American Bankers Association have set aside funds from the foundation to grant 100 loan scholarships of $150 each to qualified applicants for attendance at the school.

Formation In Gothic Avenue In Mammoth Cave

When staff technicians announcers and electricians of WASH, radiophone of The Courier-Journal and Louisville Times, conducted the world's first subterranean broadcast from the beautiful Snowball Dining Room of Mammoth Cave on July 8 they attracted world-wide attention. It was the first time in history that the reverberations and echoes from the underground interior of the largest cave in either hemisphere has been sent out over the ether waves to a waiting world.

ries of broadcasts from WELAS every Sunday evening, from 5:45 to 6 o'clock, Central Standard time, beginning Sunday, July 28. The series of programs will dramatize some of the most spectacular and thrilling events in the history of the great cave—its discovery by Houchins the hunter, as he pursued a wounded bear into the underground recesses; the time when the beautiful soprano of the world-famous "Swedish Nightingale," the one and only Jenny Lind, was heard; the playing of a violin by the stygian darkness by the famous Norwegian violinist, Ole Bull; the recitation of Hamlet's Soliloquy by the hold-up of the Mammoth Cave stage by Jesse James and his band. All these and others probably will be heard in what promises to be one of the most fascinating series of broadcasts ever sent out by this station. The first subterranean radio-cast on July 8 was notable because of the miles of wire which had to be laid to accommodate the microphones under the surface. The occasion was the opening of the Luxe Route, an eight-mile, eight hour walk connecting the Frozen Niagara section with the older part of the cave, made possible by the work of a CCC camp which has worked underground the better part of two years.

CONVICTED IN FEDERAL CASE

Johnson Held Guilty on Fraud Indictment in Connection With Postoffice Contract

Lexington, Ky., July 26—Deliberating 15 minutes, a jury in United States District Court here late Thursday afternoon returned a verdict of guilty against three defendants in connection with the Portsmouth, O., postoffice fraud case. Federal Judge H. Church Ford fixed the penalty of each defendant at two years in federal prison and fined each $1,000 on each of the two indictments. The prison sentences are to run concurrently.

The defendants were Pharaoh W. Johnson, president of the W. P. Johnson Construction Company of Ashland, his cousin, William Dow Johnson, of Garrison, Ky., and Orville E. Setters, of Vanceburg.

The three were indicted on two charges, using the United States mail to defraud and conspiring to defraud the government. They were found guilty on both charges.

Motion and grounds for a new trial, filed by Wallace Muir, Lexington attorney, was overruled by Judge Ford. Muir then took an appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals which sits at Cincinnati. Pending the appeal, the three defendants were released under bonds of $5,000 each.

Mac Swinford, United States district attorney, who prosecuted the case, declared the effect of the verdict would have a great deal to do with stopping fraudulence in obtaining government contracts.

The government had contended that the three defendants had used fraudulent methods in obtaining the contract to erect a new postoffice at Portsmouth, O., in underbidding the Roche, Connel and Lamb Construction Company, by $2,840.00.

The Johnson bid was received in Washington later than the day set for the opening of the bids, but the company was awarded the contract on the contention that the bid had been delayed in the mails. The government charged that the bid had been predated in the postoffice at Garrison and purposely delayed in order that Pharaoh W. Johnson could communicate with William Dow Johnson from Washington, a figure lower than the stimate of the Cincinnati firm. Throughout the trial, all three defendants denied knowledge of the pre-dating of the letter and denied and fraud was practiced in obtaining the contract.

WILL FILED FOR PROBATE IN BOYD DRAWS SUSPICION

Catlettsburg, Ky., July 27—A writing purported to be the last will and testament of the late Hattie Milton Jones, of Catlettsburg, received some time ago by County Judge Pat H. Vincent under mysterious circumstances, was filed for probate in Boyd county court recently upon motion for counsel for Gene Skeens, Catlettsburg youth, and Mrs. Malcolm Taylor, a neighbor of Mrs. Jones. The will was not admitted to probate, the court ordering it passed until the next regular term of the court, at which time proof is to be submitted.

Under the terms of the will, Gene Skeens would receive the entire estate with the exception of a cash bequest of $1,000 to Mrs. Taylor. The estate has been appraised at approximately $6,000.

Miss Jones, a highly educated woman and descendant of one of the pioneer families of Eastern Kentucky, died on May 21, this year. A woman eccentric habits, she lived in practical seclusion at her home on Walnut street, Catlettsburg.

After her death a search of the home, made in an effort to find a will, proved fruitless. A month after her death, Judge Vincent received a note bearing the Catlettsburg, Ky., R. P. O.—railroad postoffice—and dated on June 20. The envelope, addressed to the Judge of Boyd county, contained a penciled note and a blank envelope. The penciled note, printed in an evident effort to conceal handwriting, was unsigned and merely stated:

"I promised Miss Hattie Milton Jones to turn this over to the court 30 days after her death. I have kept my promise with the dead and have proof that it was turned over to you."

Opening the blank envelope, Judge Vincent found the writing which is purported to be the will of Miss Jones. It was written on a piece of ruled tablet paper, dated April 21, 1935, and read as follows:

"I have been feeling awful bad for some time and fear the end is near. I want Mrs. Malcolm Taylor to have $1,000 and Gene Skeens to have everything else, both real and personal. No administrator required. They are the best friends I ever had. Hattie Milton Jones."

Compared with other writings made by Miss Jones shortly before her death, the will appears to be in her handwriting, although there are several letters in the signature that do not correspond to former signatures. As no one appears to request probate of the will, Judge Vincent did not take any action on it at the June session of county court. Edgar H. Phillips was later named administrator of the estate.

At the July session of court the will was filed for probate by Attorney W. D. O'Neal of Catlettsburg, counsel for Mrs. Taylor and Mr. Skeens.

Mrs. Taylor, a neighbor of Miss Jones, had cared for her on numerous occasions during the past few years. Skeens, a graduate of Catlettsburg high school in the class of 1934, became acquainted with Miss Jones through his activities in high school plays. Miss Jones was especially interested in amateur dramatics, having presented several of her own short plays. A close friendship developed between the two and Skeens spent much of his time caring for Miss Jones during the few years preceding her death. Skeens lives with his mother at the Harding Hotel in Catlettsburg. He was considered an outstanding student at the local high school.

In event the will in which Skeens and Mrs. Taylor are named beneficiaries is not accepted for probate, the estate will be divided according to Kentucky law between the legal heirs. Heirs include two sisters, two half sisters and two half brothers.

KENTUCKY FARM NEWS

A pen of lambs sold at the Washington county stockyards last month for $8.50, one of the highest prices paid on the Kentucky market. Of the 2,200 lambs sold, 70 per cent were ewes and wethers. Pure-bred rams, parasite control and sanitation brought the high prices, says the county agent.

County Agent John C. Brown of Boyle county headed a committee to establish better playground facilities for Danville and Junction City. Local people furnished $550 for supplies and equipment, and the FERA the labor for construction. The grounds were opened July 15.

It pays to fertilize, Powell county farmers say, after observing a recent demonstration. A farmer used 1,000 lbs. on an acre of potatoes, leaving fertilizer off one row. That row made only one-fourth the growth of the rest of the crop.

Breckinridge county farmers are experimenting with an early maturing variety of corn recommended by the Indiana Corn Growers' Association, and developed by the Michigan Agricultural College. It was planted on 500 acres left free because of heavy rains.

Terraces constructed on two Henderson county farms were inspected by members of the soil improvement committee and made the basis for terracing 2,000 acres of land during the next 12 months. One hundred carloads of limestone is being contracted for by farmers interested in improving their land.

Miss Chloe Saunders spent the week-end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Saunders. She is attending the summer session of Caney Creek Junior College at Pippapas.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative pills or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel drowsy and lousy. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. Ask your druggist for live pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

the Republican voters of this county to vote for him, a native of the mountains.

Judge Bingham alleged that Swope had expressed the wish that people from the Mountains be excluded from the Bluegrass. He ended his address with a flourish, breaking into the old-fashioned "hoe down," and drew hearty applause from the crowd.

THE SCHOOL CENSUS

By JOHN WARIX Attendance Officer

We have been working for the past 12 months to complete a census set up and shape it into a smooth running system. One of our problems in Floyd county is largely due to the transient population which is typical of the coal and gas fields.

I am sure that we all realize that an attendance officer in a county the size of Floyd with shifting population has a real man's size task; and that it is only through the absolute cooperation of all school officials it is possible to put over a satisfactory piece of work in the attendance and census fields.

If the continuing census is to function as it should, we must have not only adequate must have not only adequate check on all children transferring from one school to another or from one school district to another, and this can be had only by a careful tracing of all transfers sent out or received. It has been my observation that quite a few teachers were rather negligent if not careless about attending to this work last year.

The school census of Floyd county for the year of 1934-35 was 13,464 children, and we enrolled last year in the schools of the county 13,385. The present census shows that there are 12,085 children in the county, and this does not include some that have finished high school and are attending college. We have kept comparative charts on enrollment and attendance this year and last. Our study so far showed an increase in both enrollment and attendance varying anywhere from 10 to 24 per cent.

The results of the first year of this pioneering in a new educational field has been, to my mind, highly satisfactory. While none of us have accomplished all that we would like to have accomplished, I feel that with the work that has been done this year, and by your co-operation, the prospects look good for the next school year.

We have set up four different sets of files which I shall try to explain.

First, the enrollment file for the county. Each sub-district school in the county is set up separately arranged alphabetically with the sub-district members on the file case card. Then the enrollment of each school is filed alphabetically within itself. Individual enrollment cards are filed according to the student's family name. We have our enrollment of our consolidated schools in a separate case but filed in the same manner as our sub-district schools.

Our permanent census covers are filed in a different system. In this filing cabinet we have each school set up separately, and arranged by sub-district numbers. In each sub-district the boys and girls are arranged in two divisions separately, and according to age. A card for each year of from 1927 to 1929 inclusive, according to the birth date of the child, is filed.

In our consolidated schools where we have both whites and negroes, the negroes are filed just back of the white files and in the same consolidated district.

Our inactive files are divided into sub-districts, school divisions and also in alphabetical order. Each sub-district school is indexed alphabetically according to family name of the child. When the student leaves one district, both his enrollment card and permanent census card are clipped together with the withdrawal notice or duplicate of transfer notice and filed together to remain in the dead or inactive file indefinitely or until a return of the same child is made.

We have also begun an un-negerage file for each sub-district between the ages of three and six. These also are set up separately and according to the age of the child. This file aids greatly in determining the approximate number of beginners we will have the following year.

May I again emphasize the fact that each child left off the census last year was a total loss of $ 1.60. You as teachers must see that these are kept up to date.

SEES INFLATION A SLOW PROCESS

A Real Danger for the Future, Col. Ayres Tells Banking Groups.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.—Present prospects do not indicate that inflation severe enough to cause further dollar devaluation will come soon in this country, but as an ultimate development it seems to be a very real danger, Leonard P. Ayres, Vice President Cleveland Trust Company, said here tonight in an address before the Graduate School of Banking. He believed this statement to be true "unless the government enters frankly upon a policy of issuing fiat money with which to meet its expenses." At present that does not seem to be in sight, he said.
The Graduate School is operated jointly by the American Institute of Banking Section of the American Bankers Association and Rutgers University to offer advanced studies for bank officers.
"We have so enormously increased the capacity of our banking system for credit expansion that it is difficult to see how we could have a vigorous business revival without having it develop into a credit inflation," Colonel Ayres declared.

Inflation a Slow Process
If inflation does come it will be a slow process, he said, pointing out that in Germany, France, Belgium and Italy it took about five years to develop from the time when the governments entered upon policies of financing large peace-time deficits by bank credit up to the time when the public generally began to spend money rapidly because of fear that it would still further depreciate in purchasing power.
"If we are to go through such a period here it would seem likely that it might last rather longer than the corresponding periods did abroad," he said. "Its beginning would date from the spring of 1933 when we left the old gold basis for our money and entered upon the policy of financing large governmental deficits by the sale of Federal securities mainly to banks rather than to private investors."

"The method that we are following is the one that proved disastrous in Europe for in all those countries including Germany, the increasing issues of money that caused the inflations were not mere printing press issues of fiat currency, but were secured by government bonds and notes discounted at the banks. Nevertheless, the process is inherently a slow one."
Among the clearest lessons taught by the European experience, Colonel Ayres asserted, is that there are "no good hedges against inflation." He added:

Did Not Lighten Debt Burdens
"One of the strange facts about these inflations is that while they destroyed the values of most existing debts, they did not succeed in lightening the debt burdens of either the people as a whole, or of the corporations.
"Inflation destroys the value of bonds and mortgages and so confiscates the property of these holders of obligations and hands it over to the shareholders and the equity owners. However, it introduces so many new economic difficulties that these share and equity holders are at once forced to incur new indebtedness so that when stabilization comes the problems of debt are about as troublesome as they were before, or even more so."
The five requisites of inflation were listed by Colonel Ayres as first, a period of sustained active business; second, a rising stock market; third, real credit expansion; fourth, greater outflow of gold "than we can tolerate which would force us to cut our currency entirely free from gold"; and fifth, continued large budget deficits in government operation.

A PROPHECY
Significant economic developments to be expected in the next decade are listed by a prominent business writer as follows: (1) Higher standard of living; (2) Continued advances in technical processes of production; (3) Factory built houses, better and cheaper than hand made houses; (4) Somewhat cheaper money; (5) Faster travel; (6) News printed by radio; (7) Mechanical cotton picker, revolutionizing the South; (8) Cheaper electric power; (9) Better distribution of goods; more chain stores; (10) Another depression five or six years hence, preceded by an inflationary boom.

TWO QUESTIONS ANSWERED
Why is it that one farmer raises 100 bushels of corn to the acre, and the other one, on the other side of the fence, raises 25 bushels to the acre? Why is it that one farmer produces 100 pounds of pork on five bushels of corn, and another uses 25 bushels? Not until power machinery, scientific principles of soil fertilization and restoration rotation of crops, diversification of crops and economical feeding are applied to the farm, will the farmers' problem be solved, says a farm authority.

BANKING READY
NEW YORK.—There is abundant evidence that banks are in an unusual favorable position to finance a period of industrial growth, says the June issue of "Banking" published by the American Bankers Association.
An official survey on June 10 indicated that the Government of the United States, through its loans, was the potential owner of more than half of the existing world stocks of American cotton.

"HERE COMES HUDDLESTON"

In 1931 Mr. Huddleston was elected Treasurer of the State of Kentucky. His knowledge in the handling of financial matters is reflected in the comparison of conditions existing in the State of Kentucky. Not one penny of the deposits of the state has ever been tied up in closed financial institutions, while in neighboring states large sums are involved. In Missouri, state funds amounting to $407,285.22 were tied up by the closing of eight banks; in Ohio, $583,166.64 in 50 banks; in West Virginia, $862,246.57 in 30 banks; in Tennessee $730,046.37 in 44 banks, while in Indiana nearly one million dollars, $927,174.98 to be exact, is the result of the closing of 51 banks.

Observance of the usual safety practices and procedure has been in effect at the mine.
Tonight at Hazard, Mr. Daniel said the advance entries, the only parts of the mine ever known to have been gaseous, have "been adequately fire-bossed."

He said the company had informed him the Coroner of Johnson county had said no inquest would be necessary. Mr. Daniel will go to Van Lear tomorrow.

Mollette said Mr. Daniel sent an assistant to Van Lear "several months ago," who informed the miners the mine was gaseous and that they would be required to wear safety lamps. At that time, Mollette said, the workers asked that more precautions be taken against gas explosions by appointing extra fire bosses, whose duty would be to inspect the mine daily for gas and proceed into the workings ahead of each shift of workers. The fire bosses were not added, Mollette said.

Relief Clients In March Demanding Immediate Aid

A crowd numbering, it is estimated, more than 400 persons moved en masse on the Floyd county relief office Friday afternoon and demanded of relief officials immediate issuance of direct relief orders.
A large portion of the crowd consisted of members of the local group of the recently organized Kentucky Unemployed League. Though met with information that funds could not be disbursed until Thursday of this week, the crowd made no violent demonstration.

For several minutes the clerical force of the relief office here, working in the second story of the city hall building, was unable to gain egress from the building. They were escorted outside by Policemen

James Meade. Miss Edna Prater was head of the office at the time.
After leaving the city hall building the crowd was addressed by Munnell Wilson, the House of David's contribution to the Democratic field for Lieutenant-Governor, who discussed the needs of those on relief and the alleged abuses of the relief administration.
Leaders of the march announced Friday afternoon that they would prevent opening of the office Saturday morning, but only a scattered few were at the city hall when office-workers arrived.
Members of the crowd seeking help said all they were asking was something to eat
