OTHER PROJECTS FOR THIS COUNTY APPROVED BY WPA

Officials Urged To Submit Projects; Held Promised Pauper Communities

DOLE TO STOP

In addition to construction and rock surfacing of farm-to-market roads on Mud Creek Salt Lick Creek and Abbott Creek, new Works Progress Administration projects approved within the last few days include street paving here and beautification of the Wayland school grounds.

Other projects have been submitted for approval, and action on these is expected within the next few days. It is not known if all or only one of the street paving projects here has been approved.

R. E. Thomas has been appointed assistant project officer with the Pikeville branch of the Paintsville district WPA office, it is announced.

Works Progress Administration projects in both the Danville and Madisonville districts got under way this week; George Goodman, administrator, announced. Mr. Goodman expressed hope that projects would be started in every county in the state at a very early date and with a minimum of time.

The change from Kentucky Emergency Relief Administration to Works Progress Administration, Mr. Goodman pointed out, has involved considerable unavoidable delay, but the various "kinks" attendant to the change have about been ironed out. Future delay, if any, Mr. Goodman felt would come by failure of various governmental units to file their projects with dispatch.

"We are going to attempt by November 1," Mr. Goodman said, "to have every workable man in Kentucky on a constructive job at a fair rate of pay. Whether we do this or not depends, in a measure, on the various county and city officials throughout the state whose business it is to submit to us projects acceptable to Washington. If they are lax and fail to submit projects and to meet the necessary requirements it will be no fault of the Works Progress Administration.

"Pauper counties and communities should go ahead and submit projects. No such locality will be penalized because of failure to do so."

AUTO WRECKS AT SUGAR LOAF CAUSES DEATHS OF TWO MEN

The curve at Sugar Loaf; on the Mayo Trail, a few miles above here early Wednesday evening claimed its second life in automobile wrecks within the last four days.

Joe Osborne, of West Prestonsburg, 39-year-old World War veteran, was fatally injured between 6 and 7 o'clock Wednesday evening when a car he was driving, from up-river, returning here from up-river, plunged over the fill at the curve.

The auto driven by Osborne left the highway, it is said, within a few yards of where last Saturday's car wreck took place, with Ballard Leslie, of Emma, sustaining fatal injuries. Osborne died at the Beaver Valley hospital with-

SMALLEST MURDER DOCKET IN YEARS

In Prospect for Floyd Circuit Court During September Term

The smallest murder docket in years is in prospect for the September term of the Floyd circuit court, with only four such cases booked for hearing.

Curtis Bradley, who was recently returned to this county from Michigan after he had forfeited his bond, is slated for trial on the first day of court, September 2. He is accused in the slaying of Clyde Conley at Maytown several months ago. Thomas Pennington received a life penitentiary term last December for Conley's slaying.

Trial of Coet Conley; booked for manslaughter in the killing of Isaac Derossett in an auto wreck at Brandy Keg; near here, is set for Sept 21. Frank Tanner, accused of fatally stabbing McKenley Williams, is another whose murder case is slated for trial.

During the September term "Pistol" Joe Hall will be given trial for the slaying at Wheelwright of Estill Little. Hall was convicted, a few months following the Wheelwright slaying affairs, of the murder of Willard Little, Estill's father, but later was freed. The elder Little was shot at the same time his son was fatally wounded.

A few slayers yet remain to be brought before the court. One is Bob Stephens, who has been sought for several months for the slaying of Lace Hunt, aged Sugar Loaf farmer. Wesley Pennington, 65-year-old Lackey miner, is expected to be indicted by the grand jury for the slaying of Crayton Slone at Lackey August 3.

ONE OF STOLEN CARS RECOVERED

One of the two Plymouth automobiles stolen within the last week from Prestonsburg men has been recovered. The coupe owned by J. D. Mayo; which was stolen Saturday morning while parked in front of the Mayo Cash Grocery here, was located at Salyersville.

The other car, a sedan owned by Dr. K. J. Whaley, was stolen at Pikeville a few days ago while Dr. Whaley was in a restaurant there. Keys had been left in both cars, and the thieves made easy getaways. Dr. Whaley Wednesday had learned nothing of the whereabouts of his auto. Both cars were 1934 model and in excellent condition. Mr. Mayo's was damaged considerably by the thieves, it was said.

A man and a woman are implicated in the theft of the Mayo car; and arrests may be made within the next few hours, it was said Wednesday.

KERA MAN FIRED FOR WORK AT POLLS

Dismissal of one employe of the Kentucky Emergency Relief Administration because of political activity in the primary election of August 3, and orders to dismiss another if similar charges against him are substantiated, were announced recently by George Goodman, Kentucky Relief administrator.

Declining to name the employe dismissed; Mr. Goodman said the two cases were in Breathitt and Union counties. In the case of the employe dismissed, Mr. Goodman said the employe spent the day hauling voters to and from the polls.

Mr. Goodman reiterated that no political activity of any kind by employes will be tolerated.

In the case of the Works Progress Administration, legislation specifies prosecution for employes engaging in political activity. The Kentucky Emergency Relief Administration does not have this power.

BLOODHOUNDS FIND MAN BUT NO MEAT

Milliken's bloodhounds from Lexington were summoned to Myrtle, this county, Monday at a reported cost of $75 to trail down the person or persons who Sunday night stole from the "smokehouse" of Amos "Sonny" Napier approximately 100 pounds of meat.

Though the dogs trailed a man from the scene of the theft to his home, no meat was found and the officers made no arrests. Deputy Sheriff J. D. Fitzpatrick and Otto C. Fannin accompanied the man in charge of the bloodhounds.

RECOUNT OF VOTE IN REPRESENTATIVE RACE BEGUN HERE

Recount of the vote in the Representative's race in this county, a result of the suit in which Mel Petry is contesting the nomination of J. J. Hatcher, was under way as this was written Wednesday afternoon. The count was not expected to be completed before late Wednesday night or some time during Thursday morning.

Circuit Judge John W. Caudill supervised the recount, continuing his work in the general count of the primary vote here.

Mr. Petry's contest suit, filed Thursday, last week, contends that if the alleged illegal vote in three precincts were deducted from the vote count, Petry would have a majority of 597. He is being represented by Hill and Hobson. Mr. Hatcher's counsel is the local law firm of Bond and Bond.

"John Dog" and "Mrs. John Doe" are listed in the contest suit as voters at the contested precinct of Jack's Creek. A pool of $8,000 was contributed or spent by Mr. Hatcher and his supporters, the suit alleges.

Burton, Melvin, Jack's Creek, Mouth Beaver, John Possum, Prestonsburg No. 2 and Arkansas precincts are specifically mentioned in the

SEEK HICKS AFTER TWENTY-YEAR-OLD MOTHER IS KILLED

Revolver Bullet Believed Intended For Brother, Kills Mrs. Boggs Tuesday

SLAYER ESCAPES

Sheriff M. T. Stumbo and deputies this week were searching for Silas Hicks, 18 years old, alleged slayer of a 20-year-old mother of two children.

Hicks is accused of firing a bullet from a .45-calibre revolver late Tuesday afternoon from a moving freight train at Gibson railway station, Left Beaver Creek, through the left arm and into the heart of Mrs. Joe Boggs, of that place.

The alleged slayer is said to have leaped from the train and to have fled into the neighboring hills, after firing the shot. Last trace of Hicks found by officers as they continued their search through Wednesday was at the gap of the mountain between Sizemore branch of Left Beaver and the Stone Coal fork of Right Beaver.

Hicks is believed to have fled at Kelly Hughes, a brother of Mrs. Boggs; with whom he is reported to have had a dispute because of a mine union election. Hughes was standing, it is said; on the porch of Roe Turner's store; near the railway station; and Mrs. Boggs was in her brother's yard, nearby, when the shot was fired. Hicks is said to have sought election as president of the union local at the Edgemont Coal Company and these efforts being unsuccessful, is reported to have engaged in an argument with Kelly Hughes.

The victim of Hicks' bullet was a daughter of Eugene Hughes, of Eureka, near here. She is survived by her husband, a son, James Arthur, 8, and a 16-months old daughter, Lily Mae. Four brothers and two sisters survive. Kelly, of Gibson, Estill, Arnold, Earl, Eunice Mae and Gertrude, all of Eureka.

The body was taken to Barney's Creek, Johnson county, for burial.

Ex-Senator George B. Martin of Catlettsburg, Ky., was a business visitor here this week.

C. S. and C. E. Allen were visitors here this week from Northern.

Boon Hatcher, of Ashland, is visiting relatives here.

TRAGEDY STALKS RE-UNION OF FAMILY; ONE DEAD, COUSIN SHOT

A family reunion, its second since years ago when two of the family moved to Idaho, resulted Tuesday in tragedy when an eight-year-old boy was fatally wounded and his cousin, a few years older, was seriously wounded from the accidental discharge of a shotgun.

Shot in his side at a distance of only a few paces; Donald Howell, eight-year-old son of John D. and Rosie Howell, Pocatello, Idaho, died within a few minutes. The same shot tore away a portion of the arm and pierced the back of his cousin, Bill Hall, Jr., of Toler's Creek, a few years older, who was believed Wednesday at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville, to have a chance of recovery.

The victim and Young Hall were accompanied by William Akers, Jr., 11, of Pocatello; Idaho, their cousin, on a hunting trip near the home of Bill Hall, host of the visitors to this county. Young Howell and Hall were walking ahead of the Akers boy who carried a 16-gauge shotgun. In some manner the gun was accidentally discharged.

Young Akers was accompanied by Toler's Creek by his mother, Mrs. William Akers. Sr. The Howell child is survived by his parents and eight brothers and sisters. The body will be returned to Pocatello for burial, it was said Wednesday at the Methodist hos-

State Eligible For $3,651,200 U. S. Funds Under Social Securities Bill

Under the Social Security Bill signed by President Roosevelt, Kentucky is eligible for $3,651,200 in various types of Federal funds during the first year of the act's operation, Dr. A. T. McCormack, chairman of the the Kentucky Social Security Commission, revealed Thursday. Some of the grants are made conditional; subject to the state matching them with equal appropriations, but others are subject only to the state's maintenance of efficient administrative agencies.

The amounts possible for expenditure in Kentucky are for child welfare, $10,000, with $43,500 additional available if the state sets up an adequate organization; for dependent children, $2,098,000 provided the state appropriates $1,049,000, for old-age pensions, $1,055,000 if the state contributes an equal sum; for blind pensions; $68,600, the state being required to provide a similar amount in order to maintain an effective organization; for unemployment compensation, $84,000; for crippled children, $58,000; for maternal and child health, $67,000; matched by present appropriation, and for state and county health departments, $17,000.

The act, Dr. McCormack pointed out, does not require Kentucky to raise any minimum amount, but all grants are made conditional on what the state does. For example, no old-age pension funds will be available until the Legislature has made an appropriation and set up a state-wide agency for administration with authority over local bodies. It was pointed out that this could not be done unless the constitutional amendment to be voted on this November is adopted.

The fact that no changes are needed in public health, and child health and crippled children programs, with the exception of slight assistance from counties and cities of the first and second classes, should be a source of pride to all Kentuckians, Dr. McCormack said, adding that Kentucky is already in the vanguard of others in this type of legislation. Seventy-four of the state's 120 counties have effective full-time organizations and the others may develop them if they so desire. Child welfare money is to be spent in rural sections and areas of special need.

The state is not required to appropriate the entire $1,049,000 for old-age pensions, Dr. McCormack emphasized; but the federal government will match this sum or any lesser amount which the state decides to set aside for this purpose. It will be necessary for the state to levy a 1 per cent payroll tax in order for employees to obtain a credit against the Federal government for unemployment compensation, he said.

Dr. McCormack stated it was not true that this vast social program was under control of a federal bureaucracy. The initiation of all plans is left up to the state which is required to submit audits to show that the funds are spent for the purposes designated.

Dr. McCormack said the commission is studying the act and plans from time to time to advise the public on social changes to be developed.

RHEA INDORSED BY HUDDLESTON

After having studied the platforms of both candidates; I have decided that I will support the Honorable Thos. S. Rhea in the run-off for the gubernatorial nomination.

In making this decision I am convinced that his platform will serve the people of Kentucky to a greater advantage than that of his opponent. In fact; with a few exceptions; Mr. Rhea's platform agrees with the one on which I recently made the race. I am convinced that Mr. Rhea's election will not only maintain but strengthen the credit of the Commonwealth of Kentucky and in that way will save the state more than $1,500,000 a year on its purchases alone. His program will continue to uphold the credit of the various counties in Kentucky and keep them in such position that they will be able to meet their obligations. I particularly agree with Mr. Rhea in his program in exempting homes and farms from taxation. I also indorse to the fullest extent his platform as regards the exemption of the necessities of life from taxation and placing the burden upon the people who have money to spend for things they do not need. If Mr. Rhea's program is carried to a successful conclusion; the public schools of Kentucky will be permitted to continue uninterrupted; the expense of which should be and will be upon the people who are able to pay.

The program as outlined by Mr. Rhea also will provide for the relief situation as it exists in Kentucky. It will enable the state of Kentucky to meet the requirements of the federal government with reference to Old Age Pensions form provides for a well-defined program for the raising of revenue which is mandatory under the Federal Government's Old Age Pension act in that the respective states must match the federal funds.

To my mind, the question of for the law to be operative.

To my mind; the question of the Sales Tax is not an issue at this time because the law automatically expires on June 30 of next year.

It is my belief Kentucky will be served more advantageously through Mr. Rhea; due to his age, experience and knowledge of government affairs than by his opponent. I am convinced also that I will be successful in November after being nominated in September.

I have no desire to dictate to the people who support me in my fight; but I request of them that they stand with me and let us bring a condition whereby we elect a Democratic ticket in November; insuring success for our party in 1936. This can and will be brought about through the nomination and election of Thomas S. Rhea.

I think the greatest misfortune that could overtake Kentucky would be to put Ben Johnson and his son-in-law; Dan Talbott; back in charge of the governmental machinery. The election of Happy Chandler as Governor of Kentucky could not be construed other than placing these two gentlemen in complete control.

My only interest and my reason for indorsing the candidacy of Mr. Rhea is because I believe that in so doing I am serving the best interests of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

I want to take this occasion to sincerely thank every citizen of Kentucky from the most prominent to the humblest for every effort put forth in my behalf in my recent race for Governor and to assure them that my interest now is the same as when I was a candidate; and that is to serve Kentucky and its people. 8-23-35

KASH SUPPORT GOES TO BURKE

AUTO WRECK

sat the driver. Mr. Conley and child and a man named Stapleton. Mr. Leslie sat on the rear of the car. As the coupe, coming toward Prestonsburg, rounded the curve above the fill at Sugar Loaf its wheels left the pavement, hugging the hillside and skinned along the fill. Somebody yelled to Leslie to jump. When he leaped; it is believed, his body either struck a stone or the headwall of the culvert. The auto finally dropped over the fill but did not overturn and did not injure any of its other occupants.

A son of Lee and Mrs. Ann Leslie, the victim was born at Emma, where he spent his entire life. He was a farmer and blacksmith, and had many friends and relatives in this county. Mr. Leslie is survived by his widow, seven children and his parents.
Funeral rites were conducted Monday morning at Emma, the Revs. G. W. Roark, John Laferty, Isaac Stratton and Joe Laferty officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery under the direction of E. P. Arnold.

Loafing in a Printing Office

The picture shown at the Royal Theater this week, in which Will Rogers starred in "Life Begins at Forty," illustrates the ups and downs of a country editor.

The picture, of course is in a way a burlesque; but it is true that it brings out a good many points of truth. For example banks or financial leaders in a community often loan publishers money for the purpose of keeping the paper under control.

Then there is that question of loafing in the printing office or newspaper office. Every office in a small town—or city—in which we have worked has been the rendezvous for all kinds of loafing.

Quite often the key men in the community would loaf in the office to find out what is going on—and again numbers of eccentrics came there for the purposes of publicity. Every "nut" visits the newspaper office when he first comes to town for the newspaper finds him good copy.

On a small daily, after the night's work is done, the floor is littered with newspapers and copy paper from one end to the other and it would seem that everybody and his brother has been in the office at some time that previous evening.

In the weekly office there is usually a confab of lawyers, politicians, merchants and just plain ordinary loafers,

; discussing the political and philosophical problems of the day. They work in both ways for they often bring important news items and business and on the other hand they give the editors and others an excuse they want to keep from working.

Then visiting the washroom of the printing office is often a good opportunity for taking a drink—and we remember once of telling one of the wetter brothers to leave his bottle on the outside — whereupon the whole drinking fraternity righ-hatted us for a year or more.

Then; too; the kids of the community think that the printing office belongs personally to them—particularly the newsboys; and one is kept busy shoeing them out. We have parted with enough scissors and yardsticks in the last few years that the youngsters take home—to stock every house in Princeton or thereabouts.

Quite often a merchant comes for a friendly chat; but his friendship is often to see if his competitor is putting out any advertising — and the printers ire on to the purpose and rush around to place

We find that chairs wear out more quickly in a newspa-the last several years has been several dozen.

We looked over the town to get the sturdiest and strongest chairs to stand the pressure—but have found that while they stand up—the wood is worn nails sometimes stick up and snag the seat of the editor's trousers.

the reason that the public does not take to it.

PUBLIC CONFIDENCE RESTORED BY BANKS

American Bankers Association Describes Its Activities to Create Better Understanding Regarding Banks

NEW YORK.—Eight different lines of activity through which the American Bankers Association is constantly aiming to promote better public understanding and opinion in regard to banking and the attitude of bankers toward legislation are described in detail in a statement made public here by R. S. Hecht, president of the association.

The aim, he says, is "to strengthen the real basis for good opinion in regard to the banks," through fostering informative bank advertising in the newspapers and in other ways. The statement was issued in reply to suggestions received urging a nationwide public educational program in regard to "the business of banking and its place in the life of our country."

Mr. Hecht declares that "we have tried very hard to convince the public that the banking fraternity has truly profited by the lessons of the past, is determined to approach all questions of banking policy from the broad viewpoint of public welfare and is prepared to carry its full share of the burden in connection with all efforts to restore sound prosperity in this country."

The Means Employed

In describing the various measures of the association "to exert a beneficial influence on public opinion regarding the functions, methods and operations of banks," Mr. Hecht enumerated the following activities:

1. The Public Education Commission, which prepares plain language talks about banking for use of bankers and others before schools, civic clubs and over the radio.
2. The Constructive Customer Relations program, installed in many banks to help qualify bank employees to promote a better informed and more sympathetic attitude among their customers regarding banking.
3. The Publicity Department, supplying city and country daily and weekly newspapers with articles regarding banking and allied subjects and furnishing the general press with news and information regarding the activities of the association.
4. The Advertising Department, supplying members of the association with a series of informative newspaper advertisements setting forth in brief, popular language the methods and policies under which banks operate, their objective practices for protecting depositors' funds, the services they render and the various ways in which they cooperate with business in fostering sound recovery and progress.
5. The Executive Officers and the Committee on Banking Studies, who are active, particularly at Washington, in consulting with Administration and Congressional leaders in formulating proposals for banking reform based on broad lines of public welfare.
6. The Agricultural Commission, promoting among bankers in the farm districts the practice of aiding their farm customers in installing on their farms better financial and operating methods.
7. The American Institute of Banking, having primarily to do with the technical education of the younger banker, but now directing these efforts toward also playing a part in improving public relations for banking as a whole, particularly through stressing the public responsibilities and the ethical aspects of practical banking.
8. The publication of "Banking," the official organ of the association, circulating among bankers, bank directors, business executives, economists, law firms, government departments, libraries, colleges, public schools and other publications, presenting articles regarding banking and banking viewpoints.

The Objective Sought

In commenting on the foregoing program, Mr. Hecht says that it is not "the primary objective to attract attention particularly to the American Bankers Association as such, but rather to focus attention on and give impetus to those ideas which it believes are beneficial in promoting understanding and solidarity among banking, business and the public." He adds:

"Our program for the development of satisfactory public relations for banking does not consist merely of newspaper publicity. It is calculated to produce a continuous and cumulative effect by varied efforts which are aimed to work day in and day out to strengthen the real basis for good opinion in regard to the banks."

"To have favorable things said about the banking business in the newspapers and over the radio is, the association recognizes, very helpful toward creating a sound public opinion regarding banking. But the association believes that the most important thing ultimately is to foster throughout the banking profession the doing sincerely of those things that reflect favorably the sound, helpful practices of the business of banking, and that then the true news of its constructive activities will constitute the best answers to misrepresentations aimed at banks and bankers."

Predicts Farm Loan Expansion

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. — With marked improvement in agriculture already apparent, and further improvement confidently expected, a greatly expanded volume of farm credit will be required, especially short-term credit, according to a statement here recently by W. I. Myers, Governor of the Farm Credit Administration, Washington, D. C. He was speaking before the Graduate School of Banking, conducted jointly by the American Institute of Banking Section of the American Bankers Association and Rutgers University.

"Some people have expressed a fear that the Cooperative Production Credit Associations are threatening the business of country banks, but these institutions have neither the desire nor the resources to monopolize a field which is still in the infancy of development," Governor Myers said. "Farmers who get their credit on time or by charge accounts have a basis for cash loans and should be buying their credit from a bank, production credit association or other institutions that sell credit on a business basis."

HOW WOMEN CAN WIN MEN AND MEN WIN

The Favor of Other Men Unless two pints of bile juice flow daily from your liver into your bowels, your food decays in your bowels. This poisons your whole body. Movements get hard and constipated. You get yellow tongue, red low skin, pimples, dull eyes, bad breath, bad taste, gas, dizziness, headache. You have become an ugly-looking, foul-smelling, sour-thinking person. You have lost your personal charm. Everybody wants to run from you. But don't take salts, mineral waters, oil, laxative pills, laxative candies or chewing gums and expect them to get rid of this poison that destroys your personal charm. They don't do it, for they only move out the tail end of your bowels and that doesn't take away enough of the decayed poison. Cosmetics won't help at all. Only a free flow of your bile juice will stop this decay poison in your bowels. The only mild vegetable medicine which starts a free flow of your bile juice is Carter's Little Liver Pills. 2nd MAGOFFIN SCHOOL BUILDING IS BURNED

The second schoolhouse in the county to be burned within the past few weeks was destroyed by fire of incendiary origin Sunday night when the building near the Mouth of Buck, on Licking river at the Irvine Carpenter farm, burned to the ground. The school, which was one of the old buildings of the county system, was being taught by Mrs. Abe Wireman, a daughter of Bruce Stephens.

The bloodhounds owned by Mrs. Milliken, of Lexington, and directed by a man named McKenzie, were on the scene early Monday afternoon, and as a result of evidence secured by them, two men were arrested and charged with the crime. The men arrested were Trabue Wireman, a brother of Abe Wireman and a brother-in-law of the teacher of the school, and Paul Cross, formerly of Morgan county, and a brother-in-law of Trabue. According to county authorities, Cross, who was first arrested, confessed to having been implicated in the crime, stating that he stood by while Wireman did the actual burning. Wireman is out on bond. While Cross is being held in the county jail in default of bond. — Salyersville Independent.

LET'S ALL GO TO KENTUCKY'S GREATEST SHOW

Unquestionably the Kentucky State Fair is Kentucky's greatest show of interest to all Kentuckians. More particularly is it for the farmer, the stockman, the horse fanciers and the women of the state. The Horse Show is the acknowledged world's greatest array of blooded horse flesh ever gotten together. Same may be said of the show of colts known as the American Saddle Horse and Breeders Futurity Event.

In every way the State Fair this year will be so fine a show for everyone that all who can possibly do so should attend. There is no place in all the world where so many Kentuckians can get together for annually meeting and greeting their old friends and making new ones.

Come, and let's all have a good, big time together. It's your Fair—Be There! Garth K. Ferguson, Secretary, KENTUCKY STATE FAIR in Louisville, September 9-14.

ause we propose to pay the entire cost in such instances. But counties and municipalities able to assume a part of the project costs will be expected to do so. The ability of any community to pay is decided by sworn financial statements. There is no guesswork about it.

"It is my belief," Mr. Goodnan continued, "that there will be no more refer in Kentucky after November 1. After November 1. After that time, those communities that have failed to provide sufficient projects to care for their workables may be in an embarrassing position. There will be nothing we can do about it because Washington will have topped the 'dole' we now have.

"Now is the time for officials of the various communities to take stock of the situation and act accordingly. I would suggest, if asked, that they ascertain the number of relief workables in their localities and set about to furnish projects on that basis. By so doing, they certainly will supply a backlog for the future in more than one way that is obvious.

The Wilken Family, Three Generations of Distillers

Harry E. Wilken, Sr., proudly showing his sons, Harry, Jr., and William, the picture of his father, a famous distiller in whose footsteps all have followed.

TO the list of many business careers handed down from father to son for generations, we can now add the one of whiskey making.

Way back in 1885 when he was only fourteen years old, Harry E. Wilken started making whiskey in the famous whiskey state of old "Kentucky." Mr. Wilken is now the head of one of the most unique families in the world. He, his two sons, two daughters and a son-in-law are all employed by distillers and all, according to authorities, past masters in their work.

Making whiskey has been Mr. Wilken's enjoyable task for the past two score and ten years. Recently a survey disclosed that he had distilled more than 280,000,000 gallons of spirits during his five decades as a distiller.

Harry, Jr., is probably the youngest distiller in the United States. William, another son, is an expert blender and T. J. McConville, son-in-law, is a mechanical man who takes care of the engines and all electrical equipment.

Mr. Wilken, Sr., is one of the few veterans of the old school who knows every step in the production of fine whiskey. Smooth bourbons, ryes, blends, straight whiskey—practically every type known to those who drink has been distilled, aged and bottled by him.

With his wife, two sons and two daughters he now lives in Pennsylvania and operates one of the largest distilleries in the state.

From A Coal Mine To The Attorney General's Office

A few years ago on Shelby Creek there lived a humble preacher, who was poor but honest. In his family was a boy who; with his overalls rolled above his knees, played in his bare feet up and down Shelby Creek. This youngster grew into manhood and then he had a vision that he wanted to go to school, but the question of finances seemed to be a fatal handicap. However, with his ambition, typical of a mountaineer, he determined to overcome that obstacle. He secured employment in a coal mine and loaded coal at Elwood on Shelby Creek for some time, saving his money for the purpose of going away to school. Finally, a buddy of his met an untimely death under tons of slate and scare of this drove the young man from the mines, and he then engaged in a saw-logging job. With the combined proceeds of his mining experience and his saw-logging job, he went away to school. He graduated from the high school at Pikeville; and then entered a law school and successfully completed that course. He then opened a law office in Pikeville, Kentucky, and followed the practice of law until about three and one-half years ago, at which time, he was appointed assistant Attorney General of Kentucky. During the last three and one-half years; he has represented the Commonwealth of Kentucky in some of its most important litigation, appearing in person before the Court of Appeals of Kentucky in those cases and on a few occasions, before the Supreme Court of the United States in Washington, D. C. This same young man, who was once a coal loader on Shelby Creek, was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General of Kentucky at the August primary, and received a majority over his nearest opponent of approximately 16,000 votes. He is now a candidate for the run-off primary to be held September 7, and this sketch of the rough and rugged road he has traveled, from that of a coal loader on Shelby Creek to the office of Attorney General of Kentucky is given in order that the voters might know of his sterling worth. He has proven himself thoroughly honest, honorable and competent, and his election to the office of Attorney General is nothing more nor less than a reward to him, who has fought persistently and climbed the ladder of success, step by step, overcoming seemingly insurmountable obstacles.

His campaign committee for the Seventh Congressional District, therefore, submits his cause to the voters, with confidence of his success at the hands of the people of Kentucky.

His name is FRANCIS M. BURKE, and the United Mine Workers of America are fortunate to have a man from their ranks headed for the Attorney Generalship of our great Commonwealth. Mr. Burke is the only chance the Seventh Congressional District has for representation on the ticket in November.

of America, of Glo, a few miles from here; were out on a strike of indefinite length when this was written because of the alleged refusal of J. S. Hompton; manager of the Glogora Coal Company's store at Glo, to abide by the decision of an operator-miner board sitting at Pikeville, Ky., some months ago, before the death of NRA.

The board held that a work-er might work one day and draw scrip against his time next day. Hampton refused to honor this part of the decision, the workers say. Leaders of the Glogora Coal Company's No. 5869 said today they would not return to work until the manager has been removed and the board's decision is complied with. Local company officials have done nothing toward their correction.
