TWO WPA PROJECTS TO START IN FLOYD THIS WEEK, REPORT

Assignments Made for Abbott And Salt Lick Road Work; Funds Released

FURTHER WORK SEEN

Works Progress Administration activities on a wide front in Floyd county are in prospect by November 15, and two road projects were to be started this week in the county, it was said Tuesday.

Names of more than 300 workmen were listed for employment on the Salt Lick and Abbott Creek farm-to-market roads scheduled to be begun this week, it was announced by an employe of the Pikeville WPA office.

In this district, The Times learned from an unofficial source Tuesday, it is expected that 15,000 men will be at work by November 15 on WPA projects.

The Mud Creek road construction was started several weeks ago as a WPA project. Street paving in Prestonsburg is not expected to be started until after the election.

Mrs. Lily Parker and Mrs. Susan Parsley Rose were transferred this week from the local KERA office to the Paintsville Works Progress Administration headquarters. The KERA office here is concerned solely with the handling of direct relief for which an end is planned within the next few weeks.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 28—Added impetus was given the Works Progress Administration's program in Kentucky when the Comptroller General at Washington approved funds for projects that brings the total to date to $9,884,974. The approval of George H. Goodman, state administrator, said will enable the Administration to place 40,000 men at work on worth-while projects by the end of November. The Works Progress Administration's quota of workable men in Kentucky is 67,000.

TRAFFIC NOTE—CARS PASS AT RATE OF 7 A MINUTE FROM RALLY

J. R. Hurt, superintendent of the Sandy Valley Coal Company, had an experience Monday evening which paralleled that of the man from St Ives.

Returning to Prestonsburg from Virginia, between Jenkins and the bridge at Pikeville, a distance of 40 miles, Mr. Hurt met 584 automobiles and trucks. Mr. Hurt had anticipated heavy traffic over the route from Pikeville, where a huge crowd had gathered for a Democratic rally addressed by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, Lieutenant-Governor A. B. "Happy" Chandler, Congressman A. J. May and others. So he decided to drive slowly and count the passing cars.

SERIES OF SERVICES AT LOCAL CHURCH PLANNED

Plans for the holding of a series of evangelistic services during November at the Prestonsburg Presbyterian Church are to be discussed at a meeting of the congregation Sunday night, according to announcement of Robert A. Potter, minister. The meeting will be held at 8:20 o'clock immediately after the regular evening worship.

The congregation is to take up at the same time the church program for the year as a home mission church.

At the morning service last Sunday Mrs. Charity Beavers was ordained as deacon, succeeding her husband, the late N. Y. Beavers. Mrs. George Belcher was recognized as a member of the board of trustees. Both of the new officers were elected the preceding Sunday. Holy Communion was celebrated at the service.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS RE-ORGANIZE HERE

Burchett Named Head of Party Organization; Arnett Addresses Club

The Floyd County Young Men's Democratic Club was re-organized Thursday when Louis W. Arnett, state organizer, met with the Floyd county club at the courthouse.

Woodrow Burchett was elected president; John Allen, secretary, and County Attorney Forrest D. Short, treasurer. Continued on page two

IN BEHALF OF A YOUNG MAN

Bernard Branham, the young man in whose behalf the Floyd County Health Department and The Times have for the past few weeks sought aid so that he may be saved from tuberculosis, was sent to Hazelwood Sanitarium, Louisville, Monday for treatment.

At that time only $90 had been made available to pay cost of his treatment. This is not enough—not enough by far. If his recovery is to be effected he will be required to spend several months, perhaps a year, there. But if contributions to this worthy cause come in as they should, he will be returned to his mother and friends as sound as he was only a short time ago when he was a promising athlete in the local schools.

Only one contribution is to be added to the list as this is written Wednesday morning, but a few who live out in the county and who never knew the boy or his parents have indicated that they will help. WILL YOU?

PASTORS TO AID ROLL CALL DRIVE

1,200 Members Is Quota Set For This County; Workers Organized

Pastors of various county churches have been asked to take the lead in the forthcoming Red Cross Roll Call drive by directing the attention of their respective congregations to the importance of supporting this worthy cause.

With a quota of 1,200 members, the drive begins Sunday, November 10, and will continue until Thanksgiving. Mrs. F. L. Heinze is general chairman for the Roll Call in this county and workers are being appointed throughout the county to solicit memberships.

The American Red Cross, it is pointed out by Miss Ella Noel White, executive secretary of Floyd Chapter, exists solely upon individual memberships. Without these individual contributions it would be impossible for the organization to continue its great humanitarian work wherever need arises. A membership means the contribution of only $1.

This winter, with the end of direct relief officially predicted, demands upon the Red Cross are expected to be heavier than ever before. This is only one of the reasons, it is pointed out, that the service afforded by the Red Cross must not be impaired by the failure of the people to respond quickly and generously to the forthcoming Roll Call.

Leaves for Speaking Tour

Congressman A. J. May left Thursday on a speaking tour in behalf of the state Democratic ticket. His itinerary will include Blue Diamond, Hardburly, Napfor, Vicco, Pineville, Winchester, Booneville and Mt. Sterling.

'Shepherd of Hills' 55 Years Passes to 'The Green Pastures'

After 55 years of work as a minister among the people of the tri-state area Rev. M. C. (C.) Reynolds died at his home at Coal Run, Pike county, Friday morning, last week.

Uncle C. had been in poor health since last January when he was confined to bed with kidney trouble. He was known throughout this section where he had ministered to the spiritual needs of thousands of persons.

Born at Coal Run, Ky., on April 22, 1850, he was the son of John H. and Cynthia Reynolds. He spent his entire life in that community. In addition to his work in the ministry, Rev. Reynolds engaged in farming and for 28 years was postmaster at Coal Run.

'CATS FACE TOUGH FOE IN PANTHERS

Local Eleven Surmounts Saturday's Hurdle, Conference Title Seen

Idle last week-end, the undefeated Prestonsburg Blackcats will be very, very busy indeed Saturday afternoon when they return to the football wars and, meeting the Pikeville Panthers at Pikeville, attempt to remain undefeated.

Pikeville is undefeated in the conference, and again this year has Ishmael, a bone-crushing fullback, operating behind a big, fast line. Belfry, Paintsville and Van Lear all have lost to the Panthers. The Blackcats have played only Belfry of this trio, and won this game decisively.

If the 'Cats get by Saturday's game, they will in all probability again be champions of the Big Sandy conference. The team has profited physically from the week of rest, but what effect the lay-off has on its spirit and teamwork remains to be seen.

MINER INSTANTLY KILLED BY MOTOR

Sam Conn, 25-year-old Betsy Layne miner, was instantly killed Saturday morning in the mines of the Pike-Floyd Coal Company at Betsy Layne when struck by a mine motor. He was crushed internally, his right leg almost severed and both arms were broken.

The victim was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Conn, of this county, and he had resided at Betsy Layne for about 15 years, for 10 years been employed by the coal company there. Besides his parents, he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Rachel Johnson Conn; two daughters, Gladys and Okie; four sisters, Mrs. Zora Scalf, Miss Mary Conn, Mrs. Gold Lewis, all of Betsy Layne, and Mrs. Venie Hunt, of Tram.

STONE COAL CREEK MAN TAKEN BY DEATH

Green Hicks died at his home on Stone Coal Creek, near Garrett, Sunday, a victim of high blood pressure from which he had suffered for some time. He was about 70 years old.

Mr. Hicks had for years been a member of the Regular Baptist Church, and was one of his community's best citizens. He was a brother of the late Hence Hicks, whose assassination in Knott county last year resulted in a sensational murder trial. His wife preceded him in death, and he leaves four children. Alex Hicks, of Garrett, is a brother of the deceased, and one sister, Mrs. John Click, of Alpharetta, survives.

Burial was made Tuesday at Garrett, ministers of the Baptist Church officiating at the funeral. E. P. Arnold directed the funeral and burial.

GEORGE E. HART DIES AT WAYLAND

Former Wayland Police Judge Succumbs Tuesday After Long Illness

George E. Hart, coal inspector for the Elk Horn Coal Corporation and former police judge of Wayland, died at his home in Wayland Tuesday morning at 9:20 o'clock following an illness which had its inception last December. He was 57 years old.

Mr. Hart came to this county in 1914 from West Virginia and had resided at Wayland since that time. A member of the Methodist Church, a Mason and one of the upper Beaver section's most progressive citizens, he had a host of friends in this county. Mrs. Hart died last December, shortly after Mr. Hart became ill.

Surviving him are four daughters and one son: Mrs. Woods Meade and Mrs. John Fields, of Wayland; Mrs. Conley Adams, Enterprise, W. Va.; Mrs. Luther Allen, of Garrett, and George E. Hart, Jr., of Wayland. Funeral rites were conducted Thursday afternoon from the Wayland Methodist Church, the pastor, the Rev. J. N. Loper, officiating. Burial was made at Wayland under the direction of E. P. Arnold and under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity.

COLLEGE STUDENTS TO APPEAR HERE FOR "DRY" CAUSE, PASTOR STATES

In the interest of the "dry" cause in the forthcoming election, at which voters of the state will decide if intoxicating liquors are to be sold legally in Kentucky, a group of Georgetown College students will present a program at Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church Monday evening, Nov. 4, at 7:30 o'clock, it was announced this week by the Rev. Josef Nordenhaug, pastor of the church.

The public is cordially invited to attend this program.

THROUGH HERE TO GREET CHANDLER; BARBECUE SERVED

3,000 Attend Rally Here Saturday; Chandler Pledges Support to Roosevelt Program

MAY, STURGILL SPEAK

Lieutenant-Governor A. B. "Happy" Chandler found nothing in Prestonsburg Saturday to make him unhappy.

His visit here for the first time during the election campaign for Governor was the occasion for such a welcome that he and his supporters readily envision a record majority from Floyd county for the state Democratic ticket.

There was a crowd variously estimated from 3,000 to 5,000 persons here to accord him a welcome such as no candidate has received from Floyd county. Immediacy of the gathering was all the more surprising, since the appearance of Mr. Chandler here and the attendant barbecue had been little advertised.

Congressman A. J. May was the first speaker on the speaking program, and he paid eloquent tribute to Mr. Chandler and the cause for which he is fighting. Jailer B. L. Sturgill, campaign manager during the two primary fights for Thomas S. Rhea, in introducing Mr. Chandler pledged his loyalty to the Democratic ticket, giving sure indication that there is no defection in the party ranks in this county.

The assemblage which filled the south side of the high school grounds heard Mr. Chandler in his happiest vein. He presented his cause very convincingly. "My opponent," he said, "has never been in sympathy with President Roosevelt's program. On the other hand, I am in hearty accord with the President's policies, especially with his social security and old age pension plan and will give it my full support."

SERIOUSLY ILL

Hiram Harris continues to be seriously ill at his home here. "Uncle Hi" only a few days ago passed his 89th milestone, and is known throughout Eastern Kentucky by hundreds of persons, who hope for his recovery.

Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. A. B. Chandler, John E. Buckingham and Jack Justice were luncheon guests of Congressman and Mrs. A. J. May Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond O'Connell, of Paris, Ky., were visitors in Prestonsburg Tuesday.

County attorney Forrest D. Short was taken to the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, Tuesday, and is threatened with appendicitis. It is hoped by his many friends that he will soon recover and that an operation will not be necessary.

minister in the Methodist Church in Pikeville and remained as the pastor for five years, until 1890. Later, when the church was losing members and he need of a new edifice was imminent he stepped into the breach left by the former pastor and assisted in raising funds for, and aided in the building of the church.

He had been a member of the Pikeville Chapter No. 133, Royal Arch Masons, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Eastern Stars and Rebekahs.

Besides his widow, Eliza Reynolds, he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Fannie Scott; three grandchildren, Henry, Frank and Annette Scott, and one great-grandchild, James Bruce Fortune, all of whom live at the old homestead at Coal Run.

Funeral services were conducted at the home at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon with Masons and Odd Fellows taking part. Burial was made in the family cemetery near the home.

TACKETT MAKES FINAL APPEAL TO VOTERS

DEAR VOTERS:

I come to you with this my first, only and final appeal for your support in my race for Senator, apologizing to you for my inactivity in this matter thus far. It has not been my practice in the past when a candidate to fail to make a vigorous campaign, but in the present campaign, a matter over which I had no control, has prevented me from so doing. I was told by my doctors back in the days of 1918, after I had been under ether for three different operations within a period of six months on account of a wound received in the Argonne Forest, that in later life I might expect trouble from the after-effects of this ether, and since September 17 I have been confined in the hospital and in my sick room at home, practically all the time. While I have been suffering from the results of my service for my country, I sincerely hope, trust and believe that my friends have been carrying on in my behalf in this campaign. There comes a time in a man's life when he becomes hopelessly helpless and must depend upon the activity of his friends. This has been the case with me since September 17. However, I am well on the road to recovery and my doctors feel like I will be sufficiently strong to receive the glad tidings of a wonderful victory on November 5.

In my campaign for this nomination, I was very active in the three counties and outlined my platform as best I could, which included my endorsement of the National Administration and its policies, amendments to the Workmen's Compensation Law which were sufficiently explained, my pledge to support legislation for Old Age Pensions and a few others. I desire to sincerely, honestly and conscientiously reaffirm my pledges in that primary and, in addition thereto, endorse wholeheartedly the doctrine that has been preached among my people by "Happy Chandler in his recent campaign speeches. In conclusion, my friends, permit me to pledge to you that when I get to Frankfort and take my seat in the Senate, I shall exercise every ounce of energy and power of persuasion at my command, to help enact legislation that will better the conditions of our beloved Kentucky and with this sacred pledge I place my fate on November 5 in your hands.

Very sincerely yours,

JOE P. TACKETT,

THIS IS A RELIEF

From Mrs. Morris Browning, a former Prestonsburg girl, and now a resident of Amarillo, Texas, comes the following which is something of a relief to a jaed country editor who is often "fed up" on a ration of "raspberries." We bruise easy, but heal quickly, however, like Mamma De-Stross, and Mrs. Browning helps us thusly:

"Inclosed is a poem that I clipped from the Amarillo paper last week. It so happened that it was published in our afternoon paper on the same day that I received the paper from Prestonsburg. It expresses the way I feel toward the paper better than I could tell you myself. As the poem says, I always "read it over twice." It gives the news that I would never get otherwise."

There's a little country weekly Which I always like to git, There's a lot of information To be found in readin' it; An' a lot o' wit an' wisdom An' a lot of good advice, So, I never put it by me Till I've read it over twice.

There's a bunch o' advertisement Of the things I'm apt to need, They're th' kind of advertisement That a feller likes to read. Fer they've got th' goods behind 'em, Of a certainty I feel, Through instructive comprehension That th' merchandise is real.

Oh, it tells about th' weather, An' it ells about th' crops, How th' people git together Fer their festivals an' hops, Of th' doin's o' the churches, And th' work th' preachers do, An' the kindly deeds o' mercy Of th' hull religious crew.

An' it tells about the neighbors That I knew so long ago, Of the babies born to bless 'em

Of th' ones that have to go, Through th' shadows of th' valley, An' be lain beneath th' sod, Where forget-me-nots air bloomin' An' th' pink and golden-rod.

It's a paper of a nature That's refreshin' to my soul, An' I wouldn't be without it If I had to miss th' whole Bunch o' magazines an' dailies, I'm a-gittin every day, Fer they fail to interest me Such a satisfyin' way.

So it's for this very reason It's with ecstasy I hail Te' little Country Weekly When I find it in my mail. An' I treasure every copy Fer it's like a friend to me, Bringing cheerful information, From the place I used to be.

In conclusion I'm a-wishin' An' I fain would have it so— When my earthly work is ended If I'm privileged to go To a mansion grand an' lovely I'm a hopin' there will be A Country Weekly lying On the door-step there fer me.

WPA PROJECTS

Mr. Goodman expressed his opinion that approval from the Comptroller General's office now would come through with dispatch and that Kentucky organization would be able to handle the total 60,000 in short order. He pointed out that President Roosevelt had approved $64,034,514 worth of projects for Kentucky which are now up to the Comptroller General.

The Louisville office is forwarding to local district offices approved projects at the rate of $250,000 a day. With the forwarding of each approval goes the order to begin work.

By the end of November it is expected that 4,000 women will be at work on projects. All women's projects are set up for the educational advantages they embody with the productivity of the projects a secondary issue. Women from relief rolls are employed on these projects and are expected to utilize the educational advantages within their own homes as a means of raising the standard of living. Garments and other products produced on such projects go to the most needy families.

If You Are Against Liquor VOTE "NO!"

Permit us as ministers of the Gospel in Prestonsburg to appeal to you for your support in our fight against liquor. We are not financially able to print expensive posters, pay for big ads or equip cars with signs and loudspeakers as the liquor people are doing. We ask you not to be deceived by their propaganda.

The most important question to be voted on Nov. 5 is the liquor question. Be sure to vote "NO!"

Is it a POLITICAL question? On your ballot at the top of the right hand column the liquor question is being voted on apart from any party ticket or candidate for office. No matter whom you may vote for for Governor or any other office, do not forget to cast your vote against whiskey by voting "NO."

Is it an ECONOMIC question? The love of liquor by those who drink it is always forced by the love of money in those who sell it. The liquor people cry about the revenue we will lose, and that the people who work in the distilleries will lose their jobs. Remember that the liquor people never paid a cent for labor, or taxes which they did not first take out of the pockets of the people who drink their stuff. For every man that earns his living in the whiskey business there are at least a dozen who throw away their wages by buying their products. The money spent for liquor cannot be used in buying food, clothing, furniture or giving the young people an education. It hurts the farmer because of the decreased consumption of milk; it hurts the soft drink business which employs tens of thousands; it hurts every legitimate business in the state. For every dollar paid in revenue by the liquor people they take in 28 dollars. And who can estimate the cost of court proceedings to prosecute crimes directly caused by whiskey? What decent citizen would want his children sent to school by profit from that hellish stuff, anyway? What is morally wrong is never economically right. Vote "NO."

This is a MORAL question. We firmly believe that it is our Christian duty to fight liquor because it is a poison that kills the noblest in men and women, because it is a stumbling block to our young people and because it is wrecking more homes than any other single factor. Make and keep Kentucky Dry for Kentucky Youth. Vote "NO."

NEW CHEVROLET TO BE ON DISPLAY HERE SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 2

Residents of Prestonsburg and vicinity will have their first opportunity, Saturday, November 2, to inspect and ride in the new 1936 Chevrolet cars, it is announced by A. C. Carter, of the Carter Motor Sales, whose showroom was being prepared this week for the large number of visitors which the event always attracts

"There will be both Master DeLuxe and new Standard Chevrolets, not only for display purposes, but for everyone interested in testing the performance and riding qualities of these new lines of cars," said Mr. Carter. "Due to the early start on Chevrolet production, we have cars on hand for immediate delivery, and the assurance of prompt service on orders. However, the earlier the orders are on hand, the sooner buyers will get delivery."

"Orders received prior to tomorrow's announcement will be put on a preferred list for delivery in the next few days. We know it will be greatly to the advantage of every prospective car buyer to see these two new Chevrolet lines before buying any car."

BRIDGE PARTY

Miss Zena Dare Daniel was a charming hostess on Friday evening to six tables of bridge given at the attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. May.

The home was artistically decorated with fall flowers consisting of cosmos, dahlias and chrysanthemums in many beautiful colors.

After five games had been played the hostess, assisted by Mrs. May, adorned the tables with Hallowe'en lunch cloths and served a lovely dessert course. The scores were then taken and pretty prizes awarded to Mrs. Jack Spurling, high score, Miss Maureen Mayo, second high, and Mrs. Curtis Clarke, traveler's prize.

Those invited were:

NOTICE IN BANKRUPTCY In the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Kentucky. In the matter of THOMAS MAY HEREFORD,

Bankrupt — In Bankruptcy

To the creditors of Thomas May Hereford, of West Prestonsburg, Kentucky, County of Floyd and district aforesaid, a bankrupt.

Notice is hereby given that on the 8th day of October, 1935, the said Thomas May

Hereford was duly adjudicated bankrupt; and that the first meeting of his creditors will be held at the office of the undersigned Referee in Bankruptcy, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, on October 30, 1935, at the hour of 1 o'clock in the afternoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a trustee, examine the bankrupt and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

Given under my hand at Prestonsburg, Kentucky, this 16 day of October, 1935.

JOE HOBSON, Referee in Bankruptcy.

Outstanding

— for Mildness — for Better Taste

TO THE VOTERS OF FLOYD COUNTY:

I am an Independent candidate for election to the Floyd County Board of Education, to be voted for on November 5, 1935.

Numerous friends and those interested in school welfare have asked me to make statements in regard to whom or what man I am for for the Superintendency.

Concerning these statements, I am here giving some of the questions asked me, together with my answers—

1. What man are you for for Superintendent of Schools?

I am interested, first, in the children of Floyd county and not in the money some man may get for acting as Superintendent.

2. Are you against "Hunterism"?

That is a new term, to me, but if it applies to the present school administration I am absolutely against certain tactics that have been employed by the Superintendent. But some things have been accomplished in an admirable style. The term "Hunterism," is plainly a political colloquialism and shows that political jealousy is the main reason for making a fight. I am for elevating our school system from politics instead of raising a crop of politics from the very grounds on which our children play.

3. Are you for ousting Hunter before his term is out?

I am not in favor of throwing any one out of office for political reasons. The only reason for such action on my part would be in the event that the official in question had broken the laws of Kentucky.

4. When Hunter's term expires, are you in favor of Hall or Hunter?

This idea that one must run for some certain man is another thing born of politics and is entirely erroneous. In fact, it is strictly against the law to do so. (See Section 1565B-3 Ky. Statutes.) Some political factions are taking advantage of the fact that some of our people do not know about this law.

I am in favor of following public sentiment and giving the people of Floyd county an absolutely square deal for once. I am going half way and leaving the rest to the voters and parents to decide if they want our children given first choice and first thought in our schools and not some individual for Superintendent.

I believe school government, as well as all other government, should remain as close as possible to the people; and for that reason I would, as a member of the Board of Education, be in favor of respecting the selections and nominations of the sub-district trustees.

You have two votes to cast for Board Members. If you have a friend you feel obligated to and wish to vote for, do so. Cast the other ballot for ROMEYN C. DYER---and feel that you have given a vote to a man who will stand for the best interests of Floyd county and its children.

The Independent can---and should---win! I am in the race to the finish and will appreciate your loyal support.

Sincerely yours,

"X" THE YES
AMENDMENT No. 1

VOTE "YES" FOR REPEAL!

HERE at last is a question on which both "wets" and "drys" can all vote "Yes". • If you are a "wet" you will want to vote "Yes" for Repeal because otherwise the State will lose its only opportunity for intelligent control of the liquor question . . . will lose the prosperity which has arisen from several of its largest industries . . . will lose employment for more than 30,000 people. • If you are a "dry", you will want to vote "Yes" for Repeal because Repeal will automatically restore to each county and community the right to prohibit or regulate the sale of liquor within its own boundaries.

Why a Vote for Repeal is Also a Vote for Intelligent Regulation

The present Seventh Amendment to the State Constitution prohibits the manufacture and sale of liquor in Kentucky.

In a decision handed down on October 8, the Court of Appeals ruled that this same Seventh Amendment also prevents any county, city or town from holding Local Option elections.

The proposed Repeal Amendment, on which you are asked to vote "Yes" on November 5, provides that each precinct, district, city, town or county in Kentucky may be empowered to make and enforce such laws of prohibition, regulation or control as it sees fit. When you vote "Yes" on November 5, you will therefore be voting for Repeal, for Regulation and for Local Option.

Therefore . . . if you conscientiously believe in local home rule and if you believe in Repeal and Regulation—

QUAIL WHISTLE IS MATING CALL

The hunting season opens soon, and the following should be of interest to those interested in quail, said to be the finest known upland game bird:

Quail are strictly monogamous and remain mated more than a single year occasionally.

The cock birds have a courting or nuptial display quite similar to that of the woodland grouse, and they fight fiercely among themselves during the mating season.

There is usually an excess of cock birds, 110 or 115 to 100 hens. It is these unmated and lonesome cocks that whistle the "Bob White" call all through the summer in the hope of attracting mates. Mated birds rarely give their call.

The cock generally constructs the nest while the female stays by and watches the progress of the work. The cock and hen rarely join in the incubation of the eggs, either the hen cares for them alone or the cock alone. The average is estimated at approximately 35 per cent taken care of by the cocks and 65 per cent by the hen.

One egg is laid daily until set is complete, or occasionally a day may be skipped. The average set is 14 but may be as many as 28 or as few as 7. Several pairs may use the same nest, accounting for the largest set of eggs, but such nests are usually deserted. After a clutch of eggs is completed, the nest is not deserted easily, but continued or heavy rains soaking the nest before the set is completed may cause it to be abandoned.

Only one brood is raised each year. Late broods are due to destruction of earlier ones. The destruction of nests from all causes is very great, reaching as high as 60 to 80 per cent. In successful nestings, the average hatch is 80 per cent.

If unmolested the young remain with the parents until the following spring. Two or more coveys may unite, especially toward spring, the resulting covey thus being a mixture of several broods with the parents of each. Banding has shown that the members of various coveys may visit back and forth. Mating takes place at about the time of the breaking up of the covey in the spring. The danger (if it be danger) of interbreeding is greatly lessened by the above covey conditions.

The loud whirring of the wings when flushed suddenly is under the control of the bird, as it can fly silently when it wishes to do so. No bird is better at "freezing" in the face of danger than the quail.

In Kentucky, the chief breeding season is in May and June, but it is well to keep bird dogs out of the fields during April, May, June, July, August and September. Late broods may be destroyed if this is not done.

In commenting on the enemies of the Bob-White, Herbert L. Stoddard lists the skunk as the worst, but adds that it is valuable as a destroyer of rats, mice and insects which are also enemies of the bird. The skunk bites off the top of the eggs, licks out the contents and leaves the shells near the nest.

Dogs and cats are serious enemies and the domestic turkey swallows the eggs entire.

CARD OF THANKS

We extend our heartfelt thanks to our many friends for the kindness shown us through our bereavement upon the death of our son, Kenton Vaughan, who was killed in the Auxier mines October 4, 1935. We thank Brother Wells and Brother Horn for their kind words, and the U. M. W. for the floral tribute.

Health News

Work in the rural schools of the county has almost been completed. A few scattered schools in isolated sections have not been visited, but we hope to complete the work within the next two weeks. Every child who has not already been immunized recently for typhoid fever has been immunized. Those who had never been immunized against diphtheria and vaccinated against smallpox have been immunized and vaccinated. In every community large numbers of the parents have come in for the typhoid immunizations and have brought the pre-school children in for the diphtheria immunizations.

The following new clinics have been organized in the county: child health conferences at Weeksbury and Betsy Layne, and a pre-natal clinic at Weeksbury. With the organization of these clinics we are now holding maternal and child health conferences in each magisterial district in the county monthly. M. V. Clark, sanitary inspector, is constructing sanitary toilets at the new Wayland school this week. When completed, these will be the two best sanitary toilets in the county.

Florence Baldrige, daughter of Tom Baldrige, Blue River, and Nero Ousley, of Risner, have returned from the trachoma hospital at Richmond. Both are very much improved in health and promise a speedy recovery.

The following indigents of Floyd county have been hospitalized during the past week: Edgar Carlton, Weeksbury, going to Children's Free Hospital, Louisville, for operation; Bernard Branham, Prestonsburg, going to Hazelwood Sanitarium, Louisville, for treatment for tuberculosis; Woodrow Calhoun, Prestonsburg, to St. Joseph's hospital, Louisville, for operation for cataract; Mrs. Lessie Owens, Brainard, to Trachoma Hospital, Richmond, for operation on her eyes.

ELECT OFFICERS

The Young People's Society of Martin met recently and elected officers for the year. Officers are: Miss Ethel Frazier, president; Willard Ratliff, vice-president; Miss Dixie Pack, secretary. Mr. Ratliff gave several timely suggestions for improving the society. Most important of these suggestions was to have a program committee of at least three members. This committee is to outline the programs at least one week in advance.

FLOYD NAMED SALES MANAGER BY HOWARDS HERE AND PAINTSVILLE

Howard Motor Company here and Howard Brothers, Paintsville, Ford dealers, announce the appointment of Fred E. Floyd, Huntington, W. Va., as sales manager for both agencies.

Mr. Floyd for the past 15 years has been connected with Galigher Motor Sales, Ford dealers, in Huntington, and has an enviable reputation as a salesman and sales manager. He has been known by the Howard brothers for the past 10 years and they have been equally impressed by his business ability and his standing as a citizen.

FLOYD ELECTION IS MAD TANGLE

Minor Racts Complicate Matters; Amendments Up for Vote Tuesday

As November 5 approaches, the election becomes more and more a thing to muddle the minds of the voters, what with six parties offering candidates for Governor, the Democratic and Republican parties, of course, offering an entire state ticket for election, two amendments to the state constitution to be voted upon, in this county a mad scramble under way for two places on the county board of education, two tickets and some independent candidates running in Prestonsburg for City Council, races in several other Floyd county towns and, in the fourth magisterial district, a race for Magistrate.

The issues are well defined in all these matters for the voters to decide except on the question of Repeal which is embodied in the questions shown on the ballot for vote on Constitutional Amendment No. 1. A "No" vote is for Prohibition; voting "Yes," you vote against Prohibition.

PLAY-PARTY GAMES

Along with numerous other things once well-known everywhere, such as log-rollings, houst-raising, husking-bees, and quilting parties, have passed the singing-games, or, as they were often called, "play-party games." Only rarely now, in some secluded section of the hillst or mountains, or some other place still unaffected by sophistication, can one find remnants of this type of folk-lore. And even more rarely still, can a stranger, especially if he is from the city, get a glimpse of these plays as they were actually given by young and old.

Believing that young people would appreciate the old singing-games given under proper direction and beyond the range of their previous bad name, some years ago I revived many of these traditional games and directed them on our college campus during the summer terms. The response from the young people was in every way fine; many have helped reintroduce games from their own neighborhoods, with all the local touches that make anything of the folk pleasing. I began with about a dozen couples, to whom I taught the stops; they in turn became assistant directors of the game, in which dozens and even hundreds often participated in a single late afternoon. Those who took part in these time-honored games went into their own neighborhoods and introduced them. One of my students conducted a play-and-game period in his home town for five years as a result of his interest in those forms of entertainment. I have been delighted within the last few years to find that several of the mountain schools with a desire to keep good things in our state, have revived these games and have made them a part, along with ballad-singing, of their regular school activities.

Unlike ballads, singing-games are not interested in telling a story. Not infrequently, the words are mere directions, versified. Many of the singing games imply a singing group and a dancing group. However, some of the most effective ones have the singing and dancing done by the same people, who, of course, must have plenty of breath. The words have a marked rhythm, which is usually based on four or eight counts. Usually a series of evolutions is given three three times, after which another is introduced, and so on. The steps are very simple, usually a walk or a skip, with very marked rhythm. The rhythm is further intensified by hand-clapping by players or those standing in a ring awaiting their turn to dance. Sometimes there are two or more types of rhythm in a single game: one when the partner is being chosen or the whole group are marching or skipping, the other when the individual couples are performing their steps.

Though the "Virginia Reel" is a singing-game in parts of the state, in most places it is a sort of cross between the square dance and the singing-game, with a prompter to call the "figgers." Typical singing-games, known by different names in other parts of the state, are "Style of Army," "Lowly," "Skip to My Lou," "Chase (or shoot) the Buffalo" and "Susie in the Ring." A collection of the singing games found in Kentucky, together with full directions and the endless local improvisations.

Organs in Churches Were Banned by the Puritans

The Puritans of the Sixteenth and Seventeenth centuries were very much opposed to the use of church organs. Alice M. Earle in her "The Sabbath in Puritan New England" mentions that in 1604 the Roundheads had gone through England destroying the noble organs in the churches and cathedrals, only four or five being left uninjured. This prejudice was transferred to New England. Cotton Mather and other preachers attacked the use of musical instruments in churches. In 1713 an English organ came to this country and was given to the Brattle Street church in Boston, but the congregation voted to refuse the gift. In 1794 the church at Newbury obtained an organ and many unpleasant and disparaging references were made by clergymen of other parishes to "our neighbor's box of whistles" or "the tooting tub." Bassoons were almost the first musical instrument allowed in the New England churches. Such prejudices were largely abandoned during the last century, though, of course, there may still be individual churches or sects that refuse the use of organs on other than financial grounds.

Stone, Bronze, Iron Used by Japanese for Lanterns

The lantern still is used lavishly for decorative purposes on gala occasions and in religious rites and ceremonies. In Japan, writes Mason Warner in the Chicago Tribune. Lantern making is an art in Japan, and the huge standing lanterns of stone, bronze, and iron are utilized for the adornment of private gardens and temple grounds in the same manner that the Greeks of old used marble statues. Lanterns are built and cherished as memorials to the dead as well as to light the way of the spirit of the departed.

There are 2,000 stone and 1,000 bronze and iron lanterns in the compound of Kasuga shrine at Nara. There are innumerable ones in Nikko, Tokio, Osaka, Nagara, Kyoto—at almost every shrine and temple in Japan. One is confounded and confused in any endeavor to estimate the days, weeks, and years of toil that went into the making of so many massive light holders.

The First Glass Factory

The first glass factory in America was built in the woods about a mile out of the first Jamestown (Va.) settlement. Its purpose, history says, was to make window glass and bottles for domestic use in the colony, and even, some suggest, for the export trade. The glass blowers, eight in number, were Poles and Germans, experienced workers from lands which for centuries had given to this craft a place in the industrial arts. The venture at Jamestown was short-lived, but the needs of the colony were no less than before. The idea of a glass factory had taken root, and in 1621 another attempt in glass-making was made. This time Italian workmen were employed to make beads to be used in trading with the Indians.

Women as Stencil Cutters

One of the first jobs for women outside the home in this country was the cutting of stencils for chairs made by Lambert Hitchcock near Hartford, Conn. Stencils for Hitchcock chairs were made exclusively by women. The decorations were applied with the fingers which were dipped first in oil then in dry bronze or gold powder before the part to be decorated was entirely dry. Fingers of the women which rubbed over the stencils became as hard as the tips of boards. Hitchcock was the first person to make genuine rocking chairs according to a tradition in the family. Previously, rocking chairs had consisted of straight chairs with rockers added as a separate item.

Aliens in England

Poland led in the overseas population of England and Wales in the 1931 census, with 43,912, and the United States was second, with 37,420. Russia was a close third, with 36,133. Other figures, as contained in the census volume, just issued, are: Born in Scotland, 366,486; Irish Free State, 308,676; Dominions and colonies, 225,684. Greater London yielded the following figures: Welsh, 115,122; Scots, 101,872; Irish, 86,741; Poles, 34,145; Russians, 24,565. Greater London had 169,719 inhabitants who were born in foreign countries.

Favored Perfume Scents

Perfumes or scents preferred by English, French and Spanish people are: English, clean flower scents like lavender, heliotrope, violet; French, mixed perfumes of small flower odors, with no one predominating, but given a trade name, also lavender and thyme for household linens and lingerie, eau de cologne extensively for toilet; Spanish, heavy flower scents, as attar of roses, oil of jasmine, mimosa, mixed perfumes with basis of patchouli, amber, musk, myrrh.

Elephant Tusks Are Teeth

The projections on an elephant known as tusks are merely elongated incisor teeth in the upper jaw. If these teeth are broken off or extracted they are never replaced. They are preceded by milk teeth, which come out at an early age. Good-sized tusks are produced on both sexes of the African elephant, but they seldom occur on the females of the Asiatic or Indian species. In Ceylon only about 1 per cent of either sex have tusks.

DISSENTERS SCARCE IN CORN-HOG VOTE

Floyd Poll Shows 180 for Program, Only 14 Against Federal Plan

In Floyd county, as elsewhere throughout the nation, with Republican farmers as well as Democratic farmers joining in the balloting, the corn-hog program referendum resulted in an overwhelming vote in favor of a continuance of this phase of agricultural aid from the federal government.

Voting in the office of County Agent S. L. Isbell here, farmers who had signed corn-hog contracts voted 95 for and 1 against continuance of the program. Non-contract signers cast 85 for and 13 against.

The tally is not close in any of the 31 states in which the referendum was conducted, it was indicated by partial returns late Sunday night. Early returns indicated that the vote total may exceed the 579,716 ballots cast last year.

"Though the 194 farmers voting in the county poll this year does not include all who were entitled to vote, it is a representative vote and fairly expresses the sentiment of Floyd county farmers," County Agent Isbell said this week.

It's more sensible to keep well than to wait until you are ill and then try to get well.

Saturn One of the Most Interesting of Planets

For a real astronomical thrill one need only look through a telescope at our heavenly relative, Saturn, observes a writer in the Washington Star.

The other members of the sun's family are interesting when viewed through a telescope, and the earth's moon can be seen plainly enough to be very satisfactory. But Saturn—Saturn is something at once weird and magnificent. A golden ball girdled at its equator by a fiery ring, there is something strange and yet real about this one of our universal neighbors.

The radiant girdle Saturn wears is made of tiny moons, very near to the planet, and too much attracted to it to come together into a single respectable satellite, some scientists believe. Each of these little particles of moon-stuff is probably not much more than three miles through, and astronomers believe that there are millions of stars in the milky way.

There are nights when Saturn's ring of moon-stuff cannot be seen at all from the earth, because its narrower edge is turned toward us.

Besides its wreath of small moons, Saturn has other moons more distant from it than those in the ring, but compared to our own moon they are small and insignificant.

Saturn itself is nothing but a great swirl of spinning gas. Its days are short and pale, for the sunlight that reaches Saturn is only one-eightieth as strong as the sunshine on earth.

Because it is quite far off, it must travel a long path around the sun, and Saturn's year is 30 times as long as that on the earth.

Plant Propagators Find Apple Is Most Contrary

Cornell university scientific plant propagators in pursuit of the mystery of life have taken a step that involves even greater mystery. They have discovered that the apple tree seems to be an exception to one of the most generally recognized principles in the production of its fruit.

Everyone knows that parents share their characteristics in their children, and that in animal husbandry and plant propagation great care is taken to retain desirable characteristics by careful selection of parent stocks. But the apple tree appears to be independent of this law.

For the New York experimenters have found that pollen from the blossom of a red apple tree does not make the blossoms of a yellow apple tree produce red fruit or even fruit streaked with red and yellow. Nor will pollen from the blossom of a crabapple tree introduced into the blossom of a tree that produces big pippins or red astrachans produce smaller fruit.—Detroit News.

Belief in Witches

Belief in witchcraft persists even in London. A sect in the East end regularly brews "dragon's blood" to keep on good terms with witches. Others seek to propitiate the "wise women" by hanging a string of rabbit's teeth above their doorways. One little known London treasure house, the Cumming museum in the Walworth road, contains a display of witches' remedies, all collected from Londoners in the last few years. A spiral shell, one learns, because of its apparently unending nature, guarantees a long life if carried in the pocket; a donkey's shoe covered with cloth and hitched to the bedpost drives away nightmares, while a pig's tooth hanging in a little bag around your neck is a sure guardian against fits.

Makes House Paint Peel

The national bureau of standards says that, in general, peeling of paint is due to moisture and absence of sunlight; such things as leaky gutters, nearby shade trees, damp foundations, etc., cause continuous moisture, and this gets in under the paint film and lifts it off. Another common cause of paint peeling is faulty priming. It is of great importance to have the oil in the priming coat sink deeply into the wood to get a strong foundation for succeeding coats. Two other common causes are applying the paint too thickly, and not using pure materials (especially the raw linseed oil). All paint that is peeling must be removed before attempting to repaint.

Model Village, 200 Years Old

In these days of model towns, entirely planned by one architect and not left to grow haphazard over the years, it is a surprise in Dorset in England to come upon Milton Abbas, which before 1752 was a small market town built about an ancient Benedictine abbey. When it came into the possession of Baron Milton, earl of Dorchester in the middle of the Eighteenth century, he demolished the entire village and rebuilt it on a new site with each cottage like its fellow, so that his own lordly mansion might be more secluded. It is one of the most curious villages of England.

Statue in Heart of Forest

In one of Michigan's many acres of almost untouched woodland the traveler happens in some surprise upon a monument erected by man in the heart of apparent wilderness. The $50,000 bronze monument was erected a few years ago in the Huron national forest to commemorate the days of the Michigan lumbermen. Three figures, a cruiser, a logger and sawyer were erected here as a tribute to Michigan's first industry. Huron national forest is otherwise a secluded wilderness of 600,000 acres.

TWO FLOYD COUNTY HOMES ARE BURNED

Burchett Residence at Banner Burns Thursday; Bentley Barely Escapes Flames

Two Floyd county homes have been destroyed by fire within the last few days, and in each instance the contents of both residences were total losses.

Thursday morning, last week, the home of Homer Burchett at Banner was burned, together with all its contents when fire spread from the second story of the building as a result, it is believed, of a defective flue. The family was left with only the clothing worn at the time of the fire, and Mr. Burchett's potato crop, which he had stored in the building, also was destroyed.

On Stone Coal Creek early Sunday morning the home of Rich Bentley was burned. Mr. Bentley himself was asleep when the blaze started and barely escaped the flames. Mrs. Bentley had lighted the fire in the kitchen stove, preparatory to cooking breakfast, and had gone to a nearby store for groceries. When she returned the fire had gained considerable headway, and she aroused Mr. Bentley from sleep barely in time for him to escape unharmed. It was necessary to break down the door to the bedroom before he could be warned of his danger. Savings from years of work in the mines had been spent in construction of the residence, it was said.

There was no insurance on either residence, it was said here this week.
