YOUNG AVIATOR FALLS TO DEATH IN 'CHUTE LEAP

Price Killed Near Wayland Sunday In Jump From Plane

WAS AIR ENTHUSIAST

John R. (Jack) Price, 18 years old, of Huntington, W. Va., fell to his death near Wayland, this county, Sunday afternoon at 4:20 o'clock when a parachute he was using in a jump from a plane failed to open.

Price was the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Price, of Huntington, W. Va. His father is manager of the Famous Markets, Inc., meat wholesaler of that city. Young Price was an enthusiast and had taken a few jumps at the airport near Chesapeake.

The plane from which he fell to his death was a Wheeler biplane and was said to have been piloted by Duke Mobley, transport pilot of Stone, Ky. The plane was reported to be owned by Thos. Taylor of Stone.

The youth fell from a height of 700 feet before 700 horrified spectators his body hurtling through the air to be half buried in the ground below. The remains were recovered after an hour's hunt over the mountainside. It was reported that most of the bones in his body were broken and that it was badly mangled, his hips being jammed up to his shoulders by the force of the fall. The body was taken to the hospital of the Elk Horn Coal Corporation, and examined by Dr. M. V. Wacker, of Wayland, who said that there was no doubt the youth died instantly. Young Price came to Wayland accompanied by Lawrence Gussert, an employee of the Famous Markets, Inc. It is reported that the parents of young Price did not know of his intention to make the parachute jump.

The body was brought to the Arnold Funeral Home at Prestonsburg, where it remained until removed to Huntington by an ambulance from the Klinger Funeral Home.

STUMBO KILLED BY SLATEFALL OCT. 7

W. M. Stumbo, 40 years old, of Betsy Layne, was killed by a slatefall Wednesday, October 7, while working in the Elk Horn Coal Corporation mine at Garrett, Ky.

Mr. Stumbo was one of Floyd county's best citizens, and had many friends and relatives throughout the county. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Laura Keathley Stumbo, five children: Ina, aged 20 years, 18, Ruth, 15, Betty Lee, 13, Elythe, 9, all at home. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Stumbo, one sister, Mrs. Annie Moore, of Elgon, and one other, Irwin Stumbo, of Haoid. Funeral rites were conducted Sunday, October 11, with Rev. Isaac Patton in charge. Burial was made in the Davidson cemetery, near Irel, under the direction of E. P. Arnold.

CATS MEET BELFRY FRIDAY

The Blackcats, Prestonsburg high school football team, entertains the Belfry high school Pirates here next Friday afternoon and, Belfry also, entertains the hope that they might hand the 'Cats their first setback of the year. These Pirates may wish revenge for last year's licking by the 'Cats, but they come as underdogs. And, don't forget, "underdog" usually furnish the upsets. Here's to the 'Cats' nine lives' next Friday at 2 p. m.

TELEPHONE COMPANY RATES IN PRESTONSBURG REDUCED

Prestonsburg will share in a rate cut which was made several days ago by the Southern Bell Telephone Company in Kentucky to become effective on November 1.

Under the new rate one-party business line will be $2.75 instead of $3.00, and two-party business line will be $2.25 instead of $2.50. One-party residence line will be $1.75 instead of $2.00, while two-party residence line will be $1.25. Extension line on business phones will be $1.00 instead of $1.25. Service connection charge for business will be $2.50 instead of $3.50, and for residence $2.00 instead of $3.50. Rural lines within three miles will have a rate of $1.25 instead of $2.10. A charge of 25c for each additional mile over three miles will be made each month.

REGIONAL MEETINGS ARE WELL ATTENDED

Red Cross Holds Meetings Preliminary to Membership Drive in Kentucky

A tentative goal of 104,000 members in Kentucky has been set for the 1936 roll call of the American Red Cross, it was learned this week, following the holding of six regional conferences in the state, in preparation for the annual roll call. J. A. L. Safer, national representative of the American Red Cross in Kentucky, with other representatives from the national headquarters at Washington, attended the regional conferences, which were held at Mayfield, Hopkinsville, Owensboro, Frankfort, Corbin and Prestonsburg. All were well attended, keen interest was manifested by representatives of all chapters and it was felt that a successful start of the preliminary for the 1936 roll call had been achieved.

Work of the Red Cross in Kentucky in relieving the distress caused by floods, tornadoes and like disasters in the past was reviewed. It was brought out that in the past five years the American Red Cross has expended, for every dollar subscribed to its work in the annual roll call, approximately $4.

Besides Mr. Safer those who came from national headquarters to assist in the Kentucky preliminaries were Miss Ruby Riley, field representative; Charles Carr, of the national disaster staff; Miss Zella Bryant, nursing field representative, and Ev (Continued on page four)

MRS. ARNOLD ENTERTAINS D. A. R.'S

Mrs. E. P. Arnold was hostess Tuesday evening, October 13, at her home on Second avenue, to the members of John Graham chapter, D. A. R. Mrs. Osa Ligon, regent, presided over the meeting. A paper on "Between Victory and Peace" was read by Mrs. C. W. May, leader for the evening. Several selections on the piano were rendered by Miss Mary Grace Rice, of Paintsville, a most accomplished musician, and vocal numbers were sung by Mr. Franklin Moore. The music program was arranged by Mrs. C. P. Stephens, music chairman of the chapter. At the conclusion of the program a delicious collation was served to the following member and guests:

Mrs. C. W. May, Claude P. Stephens, Osa Ligon, Elizabeth Wells, Gwyn Ford, A. C. Harlowe, S. L. Spradlin, W. H. Crow, O. T. Stephens, Everett Soward, Jo M. Davidson, Joe Holt, Mrs. R. G. Francis, Miss Mary Grace Rice, of Paintsville, Mrs. C. L. Mutsiniller, of Ashland, Mrs. Tot Allen Mann, Mrs. Edith Fitzpatrick, James and Franklin Moore.

HERE AS SPECIAL JUDGE

Judge Charles D. Grubbs, of Mt. Sterling, is presiding as special judge of the Floyd circuit court this week.

HURT IN MISHAP ON TRAIL HERE STANLEY INJURED IN MINE ACCIDENT

Telephone Truck and Passenger Car Collide at 8:30 Wednesday Morning

Wednesday morning, as a result of a collision at 8:30 o'clock, between the telephone repair truck from Paintsville going south along the Mayo Trail towards Allen, and the car in which they were riding, Mr. William LaGrave, aged 68, of Chicago, Ill., and Mrs. N. B. Dennison, aged 54, of Batavia, O., were badly injured and were immediately rushed to the Paintsville hospital by E. P. Arnold's ambulance. A report from the hospital stated that Mr. LaGrave was suffering from a broken collar bone, a fractured pelvis and superficial cuts about the face, and Mrs. Dennison had a broken leg. The other occupants of the car, Mrs. William LaGrave and Mr. N. B. Dennison, were said to be only slightly bruised and shaken up. Mrs. Dennison is the niece of Mrs. William LaGrave. The men in the heavy truck were not injured.

An eyewitness, who said he was Willie Howard, of Emma, and who saw the accident, stated, "I was standing near the corner when I saw the ton and half telephone truck coming up the trail traveling at about 20 miles per hour, and at the same time a car with Ohio license came out of this street (Graham street) into the path of the truck. They struck and the car over turned against the curb on the right side of the trail. The truck bumpers contacted the Dennison car between the front and rear fenders. Driver of the truck, an occupant stated, thought that the car would stop, and he didn't have a chance to avoid collision.

It is reported that the driver of the Dennison car said that they, being strangers and there being no stop sign at the corner, did not know they were crossing back onto the highway. The passenger car had been coming down the Trail, failed to turn left at Third, near the filling station, and made the turn at the next corner at Nunery's store. The men in the truck were going to work at Allen. Impact of the collision was such that neither the car nor truck could proceed under its own power.

RETURNS HOME

Mr. and Mrs. N. M. White, Jr., and Miss Ella Noel White returned the latter part of the week from Jackson, O., where they were called by the death of Mr. E. E. Crossland. Mrs. N. M. White, Sr., remained in Jackson for a week's visit with relatives.

Federal District Court Opens First Session In Pikeville

Federal Judge H. Church Ford Presides at Opening Session Monday Morning

LARGE ATTENDANCE REPORTED

The people of Pike and adjoining Eastern Kentucky counties, in large number, saw Monday morning, October 12, the opening of the first session of Federal District Court ever held in the Sandy valley. Promptly at 9 o'clock a. m. District Judge H. Church Ford, of the Eastern Kentucky district, came from his chambers to the bench in the black judicial robe; a rap of the gavel by United States Marshal John M. Moore and the customary "Hear ye! hear ye!" etc., and the first session of the first United States District Court to be held in the Pike county courthouse was in session.

A large audience was present and many attorneys from numerous eastern Kentucky counties, and federal

STEP-SON OF PRESTONSBURG POLICEMAN; BOTH LEGS BROKEN

A second mine accident within a week to happen in Floyd county caused serious injuries to Bruce Stanley, 40 years old, and the father of eight children, at the mine of the Block Coal Company, just below Ligon. It happened Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock as Mr. Stanley was working pulling pillars in the mine. It is believed that a few of the remaining posts, supporting the slate buckled, letting the slate, as it fell, strike Stanley's back above the hips, phing his legs as he fell to the ground. One leg is broken above the ankle and the bones of the other ankle are crushed. He was removed to the Beaver Valley hospital by an ambulance from Martin, and from thence transferred to the Stumbo Memorial hospital at Lackey, upon the arrival of relatives.

Mr. Stanley has been employed by the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company here, but recently went back to work in the mines where he had recently been working.

Mr. Stanley is a stepson of W. E. Spradlin, Prestonsburg policeman, and a brother of Jim Stanley, former policeman here.

SHOWER FOR RECENT BRIDE

A shower of unusual interest was given Friday evening, October 9, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. May, Jr., on Second avenue, honoring Mrs. Artrur Johns Archer, nee Miss Marguerite May, a bride of recent date. Mr. May and Mrs. Waid Cross acted as joint hostesses for the occasion. Flowers of the season decorated the home and at an early hour the bride, attired in a becoming dress of black velvet with white trimming, was seated at a table covered with a beautiful Madera cloth in the center of which was a centerpiece of summer blues in a crystal bowl.

Mrs. Archer is one of Prestonsburg's most popular young ladies and was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts. At the close of the evening a most delicious salad course was served to about 75 guests.

INFANT PASSES FRIDAY

The 12 month old baby of Bill and Sammy Garrett Goble, formerly of Cow Creek, near here, died at the Beaver Valley hospital Tuesday night. Death was due to chronic dysentery, according to a report from the hospital. The parents live at Wheelwright, Ky., where the father is employed in the mine. Burial will take place on Cow Creek, near the home of Anse Goble, grandfather of the child.

JAILBREAKERS CAPTURED; ESCAPED SATURDAY MORNING

Last of the jailbreakers, who "flew the coop" by breaking a lock on their cell and getting out by way of the front window last Saturday morning at 1 o'clock a. m., as it was reported, has been lodged in the county basile. Pearl Tussey, who was lodged in jail with Homer Bentley and Ern Robinson, all charged with robbery last week was taken into custody by Officers John B. Laferty and Galloway Gray, the latter a C. and O. special officer, at 11 a. m. Wednesday, at the home of Tommy Stephens on Middle Creek after trailing him over territory comprising a third of the county.

Last Saturday morning at 7:30 o'clock, Tussey's companion, Robinson and Bentley were captured by the railroad junction below Allen, by the same officers.

DR. W. D. HOWELL SPEAKS AT CHURCH

Noted Religious Educator Appears Before Presbyterian Gathering Here Thursday

Dr. Walter D. Howell, of the board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church, with headquarters in Philadelphia, will speak at the Prestonsburg Presbyterian Church at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night, October 15. After this meeting there will be a forum for Sunday School teachers and other interested in religious education work. Dr. Howell and Miss Miriam A. Peterson, also of the Philadelphia office of the church, will conduct the discussion.

The two church workers are visiting in Prestonsburg among other points in Eastern Kentucky. Wednesday evening Dr. Howell speaks in Ashland, and Friday morning at Pikeville College. "It is not often," writes the Rev. George S. Watson, field representative of the church in Kentucky, "that Kentucky churches have the opportunity to have a specialist in the field of Christian education, like Dr. Howell. When we do have him we want to make the most of him."

The general public is invited to the popular meeting; and all Christian workers, regardless of denomination, are asked to attend the forum. Questions in regard to Christian education work may be laid before the leaders at that time.

ATTEND OPENING OF FEDERAL COURT

Among those who attended the opening of federal court at Pikeville Monday were Attorneys W. P. Mayo, C. P. Stephens, J. Woodford Howard, Judge C. B. Wheeler, Commonwealth's Attorney O. C. Hall, A. J. May and B. F. Combs, and Judge Charles D. Grubbs, of Mt. Sterling.

VISITS IN ASHLAND AND MOREHEAD

Mr. R. V. May accompanied her husband to Morehead and Ashland upon his return there Monday, for a few days' visit.

MORELLS ADD NEW DEPT.

In continuing to render service and satisfaction to their customers, the Morell Supply Company, hardware dealers here, have added a complete radio department for sales and service. The service department is in charge of Rudolph Koch, who is well known in this section as a radio repair man. Morell's are now equipped to handle repair on all makes of radios, and their service department will call for and deliver them.

This hardware store has just taken over the Philco radio sales for this vicinity. Philco needs no introduction as to durability, performance and beauty.

MRS. ALFRED HICKS CLAIMED BY DEATH

Mrs. Alfred Hicks, 50, died at the Beaver Valley hospital at Martin Wednesday, October 7, a victim of blood poisoning. Mrs. Hicks is survived by her husband and six children. Three other children preceded her in death. Funeral services were conducted Saturday, October 10, at the Baptist Church near Garrett, with the Rev. Malcolm Wright, Andy Moore and Marrio Chaffins in charge. Burial was made in the church cemetery under the direction of E. P. Arnold.

LEAVE FOR TEXAS

Mrs. Wm. Dingus and T. E. Dingus left Wednesday morning for Hendersonville, Tex., to spend the next three weeks with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Flowers. On their return home they will be accompanied by Mrs. Grace Ford and Mrs. Chas. Humphreys, who have been there for the past month.

TUBERCULOSIS X-RAY CLINIC IS HELD

The tuberculosis X-ray clinic held in the offices of the Floyd county health department Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, was reported to be most successful. Dr. J. B. Floyd, of Louisville, in charge, was assisted by Miss Eugenia Griffin, technician, Miss Gladys Saberson, field worker, Misses Lola Hanson and Helen Royen, of Louisville, and the staff of the Floyd county health department. Approximately 120 X-rays were made during the two days of the clinic. Dr. Floyd and staff will go from here to Magoffin county.

Bitsy Grant Alone Supplies Thrills to Modern Tennis

PERHAPS it is because little guys must stick together or get stuck by an unappreciative world. Anyhow the word picture that was to be painted here is all jumbled up. Every time I try to daub the paper with some pretty phrase concerning the flame-tipped racquets of such tennis geni as Helen Jacobs and Fred Perry the result somehow comes out differently. Somehow I always come up with the sharp outlines of a fighting gentleman from Georgia—Bitsy Grant.

It is a most distressing situation. After witnessing the national championship at Forest Hills, a white back, I got loaded with all sorts of other information. I know that the tall, blonde Alice Marble has enough strokes to win a title, but that she has not yet achieved the proper match temperament. I can gab with the best of the experts about Donald Budge's equipment.

I can tip off one of those anti-perspiration companies that they have a good prospect in Perry. I can argue why the worst tournament in years brought out the best crowds. I can suggest that was because the celebrated gentleman conducting the affair introduced some new performers for a change. I know that Mrs. Molla Mallory is almost as active as a spectator as she was as a player and that she tried sitting on nine different chairs in the course of 75 minutes during one afternoon. But still there's the gent from Georgia. I can wise up the gents who don't go to tennis matches, too, that they are missing something. That—although tennis no longer seems to turn out such excitable sisters as Mlle. Lenglen—the girls are far prettier than they were a few seasons ago.

It's Polite to Applaud Other Fellow's Error

I know that tennis still is the only sport where the polite thing to do is to applaud some unfortunate fellow's error. I suspect that if I were a linesman and one of the boys or girls tossed a point just to show what he or she thought of my bad judgment, I'd hand him or her a couple of the best where it would do the most good.

I know that Helen Jacobs wears a gold chain on her left wrist while playing and that Miss Marble is adorned with a wrist watch. If I were Miss Pedersen I would wear shorts that did not bag around my knees. If I were one of those khaki-clad stalwarts who seem to do nothing all day long save take down nets, and then put them up again, I'd come out swinging a racquet some day just to see what would happen to the frozen faces of the elect.

I know that Frankie Parker needs a long rest so that he can get in such physical shape that he no longer needs to wait over those soft serves. I know that the ball boys get paid 75 cents a match and that some of them make as high as $25 during the tournament. I suspect that nose specialists, who see the way Perry keeps his mouth open while playing, immediately begin squirming because they want to operate on that long beak for adenoids.

I—but, as has been mentioned before, such items leave me cold. Until waning strength and Big Bill Tilden finally took the play away from him, and he retired, I used to go to tennis affairs to watch a frail little guy named Bill Johnston. Tennis did not seem then—as too often since—a dead-panned comedy of manners. Instead pulses ever strummed faster while that blazing inner urge with which few humans are blessed made Little Bill's scrawny muscles perform the impossible.

Now—for all that I would not give one Dodge double-header for all the tennis of the season—I again am willing to pay to get into the park. Tennis is a game where tall, strong and rangy men ever will meet with most success and Bitsy Grant probably would have to stand on tiptoes to look Rabbit Maraville in the eyes.

Yet—but come to think of it, maybe that really is why I like to watch this tiny gee.

NOT IN THE BOX SCORE: NOT a soul seems to have noted that Princeton Football Professor Fritz Crisler is wearing specs for the first time this autumn. Could there be any McCoy to the gossip that Pie Traynor will be elevated to an office berth and Rogers Hornsby will become manager of the Pirates?

That World Series gold will be appreciated by Joe Glenn of the Yankee catching department. A little Joe is due almost any day now. Jack Ogden, the former Swarthmore collegian who has business-managed the Orioles so capably that Baltimore again is a good baseball town, would bear watching by big time basketball promoters. The University of Baltimore five, which he coaches during the winter, is composed mainly of New York boys and might make a very good Garden or Hippodrome attraction. Yale undergraduates, who were very vexed a few springs ago because Johnny Broaca (now of the Yankees) would not wear out his arm for the Alma Mommie, now have a similar peeve. His coach at Andover said that Prec Little was the best schoolboy end he had ever seen. But Prec just can't be bothered with coming out for the Eli squad.

Ball players say the real reason why that "young" Cincinnati team did so well this year is that most of the hitting, fielding and pitching was supplied by Kiki Cuyler, Ernie Lombardi, Tommy Thevenou, Babe Herman, Paul Derringer and one or two others who just missed voting for Lincoln. One of Giant Secretary Eddie Brannick's proudest memories is that in 1918 he won $27 from various Giants by betting he could stand on the left field foul line at Baker Bowl and throw a ball over the center field fence. The heave traveled more than 300 feet and cleared the high wall of the Philly park with plenty to spare.

Why Shakespeare Isn't Heaving Pro Passes

Bill Shakespeare is not heaving pro passes this year because he has too swell a job as assistant to the secretary of a railroad.

That celebrated weekly magazine which last year fell for the bookie blarney that the pari-mutuels are unbeatable should look up a citizen named Horace Paul. Whispermers have it that he would run a mile before investing a nickel in a track book. But that he reaps a fortune each season playing against the machines. Although his football teams do not always elate Syracuse old grads, Coach Vic Hanson is tops with the town kids. That is because he operates a children's summer camp on the lake outside the city. Lou Ambers believes that one reason why he performed so capably while winning the lightweight title recently is that he finally learned to relax before a bout. He used to be so restless that he would wander about town or go from movie to movie on the afternoon when he had an important bout coming up. This time he went to bed and really slept.

Luck has played a miserable trick on a Fordham youngster. The boy is the best passer on the Ram football squad but his eyes have failed so badly that he cannot pick out his targets and has even worse luck on pass defense. Frank Crosetti and Arndt Jorgens of the Yankees do their best to see that Mr. Rockefeller gets along all right. Each fair evening they can be found eating in style, and out of doors, in his Radio City sunken gardens. Cardinal First Baseman Rip Collins is one of the most diligent of autograph signers. He never refuses. Although he has been one of the most successful photographers of race horses for 35 years, C. C. Cook seldom bets on the ponies.

A thought that should be preserved was uttered long ago by Rudolph Spreckels, the multi-millionaire turfman and sugar king. Talking to a young bettor who had more hopes than money, he inquired "How can you expect to bring up a family on horses' noses?" It is somewhat out of line with the quoted statement of Mr. Herbert Bayard Swope in a town where 2 to 5 favorites so often meet with misfortune. The racing commission chairman is quoted as saying that the races never ruined anybody.

Players say the real trouble with Babe Dahlgren, the nifty fielder who will get another chance at the Red Sox first sack next season, is not weak hitting. He thinks wrong and not often enough, they testify. A very pretty feud will have some more innings if Joeko Conlon is added to the American league umpiring staff next year. He and Lou Gehrig never could get along.

If Jack Dobson, son of the Maryland coach, did not have a knee injury which probably will prevent him from playing again, Army might be displaying another All-America back. Pampero seems to be a lucky name for Argentine ponies. Jack Nelson, who sold a big brown with that name to Winston Guest in 1931, now has a similarly tagged chestnut he expects to peddle for plenty.

what Irwin S. Cobb thinks about:

Lloyd George Vs. Pershing. VERNALIS, CALIF. — That shell of a once great mentality which is David Lloyd George may be right when he says in his latest book that Gen. John Pershing "was quivering with suspicion that the British and French meant to rob him of his army."

A correspondent in France in 1918, I happen to know that that was exactly what the British and French did try to do — to break up the A. E. F.'s divisions for absorption into their own commands and thereby destroy its integrity as a consolidated fighting force, and if Pershing "quivered with suspicion" he had ample grounds for his suspicion. But he didn't quiver from any other emotions—not so as you'd notice it.

After all our bragging about efficiency, we did slip in the matters of ordnance, airplanes, tanks, and, during the first few months, in transport service at the front. But there were certain elements in which we never failed — in man power and manhood and manly courage.

Uncle Sam in the Lion's Den. EXCLUDING Britons and Scandinavians, ours remains almost the only important white race that hasn't a dictatorship or worse. And the high tide of communism laps these shores, which once we thought were insulated by time and distance against evil alien contacts.

We still stand aloof from entangling foreign alliances despite pressure from within and without, but no longer may we bar reasonable foreign propaganda — not with science making duck-ponds out of oceans. Moreover, sundry great powers work to turn out warplanes capable of spanning a sea or a continent on a single hostile dash.

Isn't it about time we realized—we, the foolish virgin amongst the nations, we who once fondly fancied this land was protected by its hemispheric isolation — that we're just about as isolated as Daniel was in the lion's den?

And Daniel had a miracle to fall back on!

Benevolence in Reverse.

BY EDICT Japan has deleted from her dictionary all mention of the "war." To the Koreans and the Chinese and the Manchurians these should indeed be tidings of great joy—to find out what's been violently happening to them was merely a benevolent brand of peace. Even so, it's barely possible that some of the survivors of this neighborly friendship may still be like the distinguished American actor—I think it was Jack Barrymore—who went to a luncheon where the guest of honor, a notable from foreign parts, was, as the saying goes, rather chucking his weight about. So Barrymore leaned over to a tablemate and whispered: "The gentleman seems to be something of a formidable ass, doesn't he?" "Oh, oh, I wouldn't go so far as to say that," said the other. "Well, at least," murmured Barrymore, "he'll do till one comes."

Great American Pests.

WHEN he's not working at his regular trade, I know now what becomes of the gentleman with the brainpan development of a Potomac shad who makes a business of sitting at the ringside and yelling to some poor dub of a pugilist, while the latter is being whipped into a custard, "Go on, kid—he can't hurt you."

To show the other side of his nature, this party attends picture theaters and hisses madly as the likeness of the opposition presidential candidate is flashed on the screen.

Statistics show that his breed already numbers nearly two millions and is constantly increasing because, owing to a regrettable oversight of nature, this species spawns close to shore and the hatch all live.

Bodily Requirements

Our bodily requirements call for very much larger quantities of air than of food or water. The average food consumption is three pounds of food per person and water consumption four pounds, while the air we breathe in the course of a day weighs thirty-four pounds. This vast amount of air we breathe contains much more than the principal constituent gases, oxygen and nitrogen. It carries germs, mineral dust, smoke, pollen, organic particles.

Fort Knox, Maine

Fort Knox is in the town of Prospect, Me., across the river from Bucksport. It was started in 1846 but was not completed until 1886. Its purpose was to protect the headwaters of the Penobscot river. During the Spanish-American war the fort was used as a training camp for soldiers. It is the property of the state of Maine, by a gift deed from the government.

Flattering Matron Frock

1841-B

This frock is the eighth wonder of the world. Just imagine only four major pieces to cut and sew and you've completed a frock that renders a becoming, chic, and flattering appearance to a size 34 or 46.

It has clever short sleeves, that can be supplanted by long ones, scalloped blouse opening and the kind of collar that echoes the admiring "ahs" of your neighbors. The dress is dart fitted at the waist and shoulders for ease and a slimming effect, while a self-fabric belt adds its contribution too. You want to own this thoroughly young style and attractive model that's as easy to make as to look at, don't you? Here's your opportunity, order this debonair model today. It's irresistible indeed.

Barbara Bell Pattern No 1841-B is available for sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires four and one-eighth yards with long sleeves; and three and three-fourths yards of 39 inch material with short sleeves. Price of pattern, 15 cents.

Send for the Barbara Bell Fall Pattern Book containing 100 well-planned, easy-to-make patterns. Exclusive fashions for children, young women, and matrons. Send fifteen cents for your copy.

Into the Stratosphere

Captain Stevens, who made the record flight of 72,395 feet into the stratosphere in the balloon Explorer II last year, believes with slight changes in apparatus carried and using hydrogen as a lifting gas the same balloon and gondola could ascend to 78,000 feet. He also believes that 95,000 feet could be reached with a larger balloon with the envelope made of rubberized silk.

Household Questions

Use two spoons for turning a roast. A fork pierces the surface and allows the juice to escape.

Sandpapering baby's shoes before they are worn prevents slipping and saves many a fall.

To remove lime which accumulates on the inside of a tea kettle boil a strong solution of vinegar inside of the kettle, then rinse thoroughly before putting in water.

One-fourth cup of bread crumbs and two tablespoons of water added to each pound of meat when preparing hamburger steak makes a much lighter mixture. For seasoning use 1 teaspoon of salt, one-fourth teaspoon of pepper and one-half teaspoon of onion juice to each pound of meat.

Flaked salmon and chopped cucumber pickles moistened with mayonnaise makes a tasty sandwich filling.

Always store baking powder in a tightly covered container. If it is exposed to the air some of the strength will be lost. © Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

OF COURSE, children should never drink coffee. And many grown-ups, too, find that the caffeine in coffee disagrees with them. If you have headaches or indigestion or can't sleep soundly... try Postum. It contains no caffeine. It is simply whole wheat and bran, roasted and slightly sweetened. You may miss coffee at first, but after 30 days you'll love Postum for its own rich, satisfying flavor. Postum comes in two forms—Postum Cereal, the kind you boil, and Instant Postum, made instantly in the cup. Either way it is easy to make, delicious, economical, and may prove a real help. A product of General Foods.

Bitter Orange Marmalade
1 grapefruit.
2 oranges.
1 lemon.
1-2 cup lemon juice.
Slice unpeeled fruit very thin. Add three times as much water as fruit. Boil 20 minutes. Add 3-4 cup of sugar for each cup of fruit. Boil 30 minutes or until it gives the jelly test. Just before removing from heat add 1-2 cup lemon juice. Pour into sterilized glasses; cover with paraffin when cool.

Baked Whole Oranges
Slightly grate skin of whole oranges. Boil them 30 minutes. Cook. Cut slices off blossom end of each orange and remove core. Into each orange put 1 teaspoon butter and 1 teaspoon sugar. Bake in a closely covered baking dish, filled 2-3 full of water, about 1-2 hours in moderate oven. To make sauce add 1 teaspoon of cornstarch and 1-4 cup of remaining liquid. Heat and stir until thickened. Serve hot or cold with baked ham, lamb, pork or roast hen.

Harlequin Dessert Salad
Halve large seedless oranges crosswise. Remove pulp and dice. Mix with equal quantity of diced pineapple, quartered marshallows, shredded almonds and bananas. Mix with salad dressing, to which you have added 1-4 cup of maraschino cherries, cut in quarters, and 1 cup of whipped cream. Fill the orange skins and garnish with whole raisins. Serve on lettuce.

Orange Salad
Allow one orange for each serving. Peel and segment fruit. Arrange segments on lettuce. Garnish with sliced stoned olives, or pimento strip. Serve with French dressing to which a dash of catsup has been added.

Orange Layer Cake
4 tablespoons shortening.
1 cup sugar.
2 eggs.
2 teaspoons baking powder.
1-8 teaspoon salt.
1-2 cup orange juice.
Cream fat and sugar. Add beaten egg yolks. Mix well. Sift dry ingredients together. Add alternately with orange juice. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in two layers in an over 375 degree, for 15 to 20 minutes. Put together with orange filling and frost with orange frosting. Decorate with segments of orange.

1 egg beaten.
6 tablespoons cornstarch.
1-2 cup water.
1-2 cup orange juice.
1-2 teaspoon grated orange rind.
Mix well. Cook in double boiler 15 minutes, stirring frequently. Add one tablespoon butter. Cool before spreading on cake.

1 teaspoon white corn syrup.
7-8 cup sugar.
1 egg white.
3 tablespoons orange juice.
Put in double boiler, beat constantly with rotary beater while cooking over boiling water 6 to 7 minutes. Remove from heat, add 1-2 teaspoon of lemon juice and a sprinkling of salt. Beat thoroughly and spread on cake.

Lemon Hard Sauce
1-4 cup butter.
1-2 cups powdered sugar.
Grater rind of 1-2 lemon.
2 tablespoons lemon juice.
Cream butter. Add sugar while beating constantly. Add grated rind of lemon juice gradually.

Mr. and Mrs. Montaine Clark spent the week end in Ashland and Huntington.

THE NEW PICTURES

(Opinions are based upon the reports of P. S. Harrison, noted New York, whose reviews serve as confidential guides to theatre men all over the United States.)

"RAMONA" (20th Century Fox with Loretta Young and Don Ameche.

An excellent picture in natural color. Miss Young has the role of a young girl who has been brought up in an aristocratic family, her adopted mother being Pauline Frederic. She falls in love with an Indian, Dan Ameche. Robert Kent, Miss Frederic's son, is also in love with the heroine. The persecution of the Indians is brought into the story. Jane Darwell, Katherine De Mile, J. P. Harradine, Victor Kellan and others are included in the cast. Suitable for all.

"DEVIL IS A Sissy" (MGMA) with Freddie Bartholomew, Jackie Cooper and Mickey Rooney.

Freddie has the part of a child of divorced parents who spent six months with his father and six with his mother. During the part of the year he is with his father he is sent to public school and has a time trying to get into the good graces of Jackie and Mickey, who are leaders of the gang. Mickey's father is electrocuted and a good part of the story revolves around Mickey's desire to buy an eight dollar tombstone for his father's grave. Ian Hunter has the part of Freddie's father and Pezzy Woods plays the part of Mickey's aunt. Good for everybody.

"FAST MEETS WEST" (GB) with George Arliss.

The story revolves around the diplomatic keenness of George Arliss, an Oriental potentate, to keep his country out of war. It has been lavishly produced and Mr. Arliss gives an excellent performance. Lucie Mannheim, Geoffrey Talle, Romney Brent and many others are in the cast. Suitable for the family.

"WIVES NEVER KNOW" (Paramount) with Charles Ruggles, Mary Boland, Ralph Menjun.

Charles Ruggles is persuaded by Menjun that he cannot be happy because he has never made his wife jealous. Mary Boland is also persuaded that she cannot be very happy until she has the opportunity to forgive some indiscretion of her husband. Thereupon Charles dates up Vivienne Osborne who turns out to be an old flame of Menjun's. Everything comes out all right in the end, however.

"TWO IN A CROWD" (Universal) with Joel McCrea and Joan Bennett.

Miss Bennett and McCrea each pick up half of a thousand dollar bill which has been flung out of the window by an irate sweetheart of a gangster. They win a horse race and become involved in a bank robbery because of their luck. The closing scene is fairly exciting. Alison Skipworth, Reginald Denny, Elisha Cook and others are in the cast. Suitable for all.

"SWORN ENEMY" (MGMA) with Robert Young and Florence Rice.

An exciting gangster melodrama with plenty of comedy. Robert Young's brother, Leslie Fenton, and Samuel Hints, fighter of racketeers, are killed by gangsters and Young determines to avenge their deaths. Joseph Calleia is the gangster leader. Miss Rice is Young's sweetheart. Lewis Stone, Nat Pendleton, Harvey Stephens and others are in the cast.

ELECTRIC Rate Reduction

- NEW
- ELECTRIC
- RATES
- FOR THE
- HOME
- ARE HERE!

The key that will release you from drudgery.

Use current freely for cooking, lighting, refrigeration, water heating—after 70 kilowatt-hours the next block costs only 2 1/2 cents per kilowatt-hour and beyond 300 kilowatt-hours drops to 1 1/2 cents.

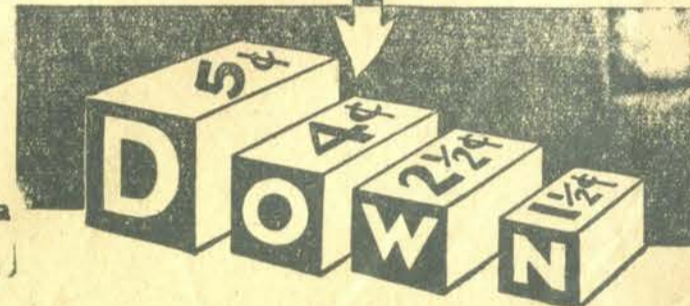

THE new residential rates which will be charged from now on bring substantial savings to all of our customers. The first small block of 30 kilowatt-hours a month costs only 5 cents a kilowatt-hour. The next 40 kilowatt-hours cost 4 cents a kilowatt-hour. Best of all as soon as your consumption exceeds 70 kilowatt-hours a month the rate drops to 2 1/2 cents a kilowatt-hour for the next 230 kilowatt-hours. A customer who uses only 10 cents worth of electricity a day is eligible to purchase additional current at this exceptional low 2 1/2 cent rate. For consumptions above 300 kilowatt-hours the rate takes another big drop to 1 1/2 cents a kilowatt-hour.

With this "fast breaking" type of rate you make your own price, for the more you use electricity the less it costs per unit. Eager electric servants await your call to help you in cooking, in refrigeration, in laundering, in lighting and countless other ways. Make every home service electric and use it wholesale when you can secure such satisfactory reductions in unit cost by means of quantity purchases.

Fighting Crime in the Home

Crime costs the American people 15 billion dollars a year, says J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He points out that 3,500,000 persons annually roll up a total of 1,500,000 major crimes, and says that an army of 200,000 persons now roam the country and will, before they die or are electrocuted, send 300,000 other persons to death by slaying. Every 45 minutes that pass, marks the death of some person in the United States from violence.

Mr. Hoover says that this crime army includes "more than 700,000 boys and girls of less than voting age."

These youngsters are recruited, and if a criminal army is lessened the place to stop the recruiting is in the home of the United States. "Laxity of administration in the duties of parenthood," says the crime expert "threatens the foundations upon which the family was founded." Along the same line, William J. Quinn, chief of police, San Francisco, declares "if they get proper home training, that 'knocks the criminal tendency out' and 98 per cent of his troubles comes from broken homes.

These words ought to mean something to the parent of this community and should impress upon every one of them the importance of their job in the raising of boys and girls into good men and women. They should likewise mean much to those citizens in every section whose interest in welfare work for young people has sometimes been dulled by the unappreciative attitude of the people generally.

Something About Firearms

Two boys were playing cowboy and Indian the other day. One had a small calibre rifle, pointed at the other when the father stepped between them. He was fatally wounded when the shot was fired accidentally by the younger of his sons.

A few minutes before the man had been target shooting with his boys in the yard of their home. He probably gave them the gun as a present, with the idea that a boy should "know something" about firearms. He probably did not stop to think that a firearm in the hands of a youngster is potentially a death-dealing weapon.

'Who Pays the Taxes?'

Magner White, writing in the San Diego Sun, opines that the persons and firms usually described as "big taxpayers" aren't really taxpayers at all.

"They are tax collectors," he says. They collect tax money from you and me—in our rents, on our groceries, on gasoline and oil for our cars. It isn't their money they're using to pay taxes; it's yours and mine. Where did they get it anyway? From you and me.

"We are the taxpayers. They are merely the collectors who pass on to the public coffers the money they get out of us. And that's why we little guys are entitled to yell about government expenses.

How right Magner White is! Let's try putting his idea in a little different words.

"We little guys" get a salary or wages income. The landlord or grocer gets money from rent or the sale of his wares again income. If the landlord doesn't get more than enough money to pay his taxes, he has no income; he works for nothing. Therefore, he has no alternative but to take in enough to pay his taxes and leave something over. If he doesn't, he goes out of business, just like "we little guys" would go on relief if we had no income.

Consequently, it can make no difference whether the tax is levied on a business surplus or corporation income or whatnot—the money eventually has got to come out of the purse of "we little guys."

The secret is this: A number of years back somebody decided that "we little guys" would yelp if we knew how much tax we were paying. So they decided to fool us. They levied taxes that are passed on to us in the price we pay for a loaf of bread, or in the rent of our apartment or house.

Smart! But then "we little guys" are getting smart too!

OIL MEN ORGANIZE

1. To give aid to the strengthening of all tax laws, so that evasion of taxes and substitutions may be prevented.

2. To oppose further increase in gasoline taxes.

3. To adhere to the principle that funds derived from gasoline taxes should only be spent for highway construction and maintenance.

4. To advocate reduction of gasoline taxes that are disproportionately too high.

5. To oppose unreasonable restrictions upon the operation of motor vehicles.

6. To urge that taxation of petroleum products be left solely to the states.

7. To oppose all taxation and legislation inimical to the best advancement of the oil business in Kentucky, and to oppose the petroleum industry and its two people dependent the highway users of each state.

8. To combat gasoline tax evasion by co-ordinating the committee's efforts with those of state and county tax collection officials and, or with whatever other agencies are concerned with this problem.

9. To adopt a program of public relations which will assist in enforcing and securing the legislative objectives outlined.

It was pointed out by Mr. Clay that the oil industry now pays 201 different taxes, that last year 11 per cent of all taxes in this country were paid on its products and that in 1935, over 565 million dollars were paid in gasoline taxes alone in the United States, of which the Kentucky contributed over $12,000,000.

"It is estimated that there are 18,000 people earning a living in the oil business in Kentucky," Clay said, "and only two people dependent on each wage earner, there are 54,000 Kentuckians directly dependent on the oil business. With the establishment of a committee in each of Kentucky's 120 counties before 1937, this group will wield a great influence for fair treatment of the consumer of gasoline and oil," he continued.

The speaker assured the group that all activities would be non-partisan and non-political, but that it would be the duty of committee officers to keep all members and candidates for public office and voters advised as to the attitude of all candidates for public office and the voting record of legislators on bills affecting the committee's program.

A resolution was unanimously adopted by the meeting asking Kentucky's senators and congressmen to work and vote for the elimination of the federal taxes on gasoline and lubricating oil.

RED CROSS MEETINGS

At each of the meetings the moving picture, "The Red Cross to the Rescue," actual motion pictures of the Red Cross in action during the flood of 1930, was presented. In the conference at Frankfort, the first-aid squad of the Lexington fire department put on a first-aid demonstration and the Franklin County Community Players presented a pantomime illustrating work in home hygiene, accident prevention and first aid.

At the Hopkinsville conference, Mrs. Ethel Matson, assistant to the national director of the Junior Red Cross, spoke on the work of the junior membership. In all the meetings home hygiene was emphasized, and it was revealed that WPA women workers have been added to those who have been receiving instruction in this branch of the work.

Some idea was given of the variation in membership in Kentucky since the beginning of the World War. In 1917 the American Red Cross roll call in Kentucky resulted in 271,878 persons joining the Red Cross. In 1918 the number was 281,520, the peak membership for the state. From that year on there was a large slump in the membership in Kentucky, the figures showing the following results:

1919—74,188; 1920—55,190; 1921, 25,425; 1922—28,245; 1923—30,448; 1924—34,272; 1925—33,437; 1926—35,846; 1927—45,410; 1928—50,259; 1929—48,178; 1930—54,882; 1931—58,192; 1932—53,300; 1933—60,527; 1934—54,808; 1935—58,549.

Kentucky is 41st in rank in the United States in point of membership, or about 2.14 per cent of the population of the state, which, according to the 1930 census, is 2,614,589.

SCUTCHFIELD "MAKES GOOD" AT KENTUCKY UNIVERSITY

By James Goble

From the village of Water Gap, through the graduation portals of the Prestonsburg system of schools, to the position of graduate assistant instructor at the University of Kentucky, there is a "head of learning," but it has been achieved by 25-year-old Beecher Scutchfield, son of Frank Scutchfield, Water Gap, veterinarian. Mr. Scutchfield is one of Floyd county's foremost young educators, having already served as social science instructor at the Prestonsburg High school the past two years.

His scientific knowledge and ability as instructor of bacteriology are attested to the fact Dr. Morris Scheraga, head of the University's Department of Bacteriology, has recommended him for membership to the Society of American Bacteriologists, a national pre-eminent organization of scientific men.

At the University Mr. Scutchfield teaches General Bacteriology to classes composed of home economics and agricultural students. But he not only teaches classes. His position enables him to attend them as a student himself.

"I want to complete the necessary work for my master's degree," he explained. When asked if he would strive for a doctor's degree, he replied: "Maybe, wait and see."

Mr. Scutchfield gained honors and recognition through excellent work completed while attending the University's graduate school in 1935, 101.4 per cent above the September going there from his teaching position at Prestonsburg High school he soon achieved the position of general instructor.

Mr. Scutchfield is the first teacher in many years to leave the local high school for a teaching position of any kind at Kentucky's highest institution of learning. Many teachers have come to Prestonsburg from the University of Kentucky, but he takes the "Mountains to Mahomet."

Graduated with high honors from Prestonsburg high school in 1930, he enrolled at Berea College. "Scutch," as he was then nicknamed, was noted for his many activities. He was president of the Educational Club, member of the Kentucky Academy of Sciences, a member of the German Society, Delta Phi Alpha, and member of the social science organization, Pi Gamma Mu. He was also treasurer of Alpha Zeta, a member of the Philosophy Club, and of the varsity band.

Of the total placements made, 4,571 were men and 743 were women. Veteran placements numbered 440. Included in the total placements were 891 placements of persons on relief; 285 of this number were placed in private jobs, 484 on public works and 102 on WPA jobs. Total placements of all types made this year number 40,038, as against 28,441 for the whole of last year.

REEMPLOYMENT SERVICE PLACES MANY PERSONS

More persons were placed in private employment during September by the National Reemployment Service than in any other month since June, 1934, according to Myer Freyman, state reemployment director. The total of 1,977 private job placements exceeded the previous best month of the year which was April, by 526 or 36.2 per cent increase over that month. September private placements showed an increase of 45.9 per cent over August when 1,355 were placed on private jobs; 388 per cent above the September 1935 figure of 405; and 111.3 per cent above the corresponding month of 1934 when 927 were placed.

Private placements for September brought the total for the third quarter to 4,203 as against 3,063 for the same period of 1934 and 1,242 during the corresponding period of last year. The September figure brought compared to 5,643 private placements during the first nine months of last year and 6,802 for the year 1935.

In addition to those placed in private employment in September, 3,208 were placed on public works and 129 on WPA jobs, bringing the grand total job placements to 5,314, 11 per cent above the August total and 101.4 per cent above the September 1935 total.

Besides Bureau of Public Road projects, and other governmental projects serviced by the National Reemployment Service, 64 WPA projects underway during the month and three were completed.

Applications in the active file, as of September 30, numbered 149,146 as compared to 201,093 at the corresponding time of last year. In the active file are included 7,712 veterans against 12,726 September 1935. During September, 4,447 applications were taken; 6,336 newals recorded, and 15,519 interviews given; 8,075 referrals to jobs were made. Field visits numbered 1,025 of which 827 were to private employer, and 198 to public works jobs.

Placement activities for district 11 show: Public—169; private—272; other—432, of which 25 were veterans.

H. S. Stephens, and or for the Columbian Fuel Corp., who resides in Monroe, La., is spending several days in the office of the Prestonsburg branch of this company.

Out of Step Again.

Answering a question as to complaints that private industry is unable to induce many relief workers to quit WPA jobs for private jobs President Roosevelt said there was a reason. He told his press conference that when such complaints were run down it was found that private contractors were offering less than fair subsistence wages. Meanwhile Postmaster General Farley was making a speech in which he said, "the farmers are getting better prices and the workmen more pay."

Never Before Could You Telephone "Long Distance" So Cheaply as Now

The latest long distance rate reduction, effective September 1, was the seventh reduction voluntarily made by the Company in the past ten years, and will save telephone users many millions of dollars.

You can now talk on station-to-station service a distance of 50 miles for as little as 35c or 1000 miles for $1.85 and greater or less distances at a correspondingly low cost.

Telephoning is the quick, easy, economical and personal way to keep in close touch with out-of-town relatives and friends. There is no more satisfactory and pleasing way to extend sympathy or congratulations, greetings or invitations to out-of-town friends and acquaintances, than by long distance telephone.

Isn't there someone, somewhere, father, mother, brother, sister or friend who would be made happier by hearing your voice and talking to you tonight? Ask "Long Distance" for rates.

NOTICE

To My Friends And Customers:

I have become a member of the Morell Supply Co. organization, of Prestonsburg, and have moved my radio repair shop from my home to the Morell Supply Company Store on Court Street. I shall now be able to render you more prompt radio service, due to the complete cooperation of the Morell organization.

Their trucks will call for and deliver radio work in and around Prestonsburg and on both forks of Beaver Creek. There will be no extra charge for this service, as their trucks already travel this territory regularly. Just phone or write and a truck will pick up your radio and bring it back after it has been repaired and thoroughly tested.

Upon my advice the Morell Supply Company is obtaining the sales franchise for a nationally known radio, that will, in my opinion, prove highly popular with their customers.

I appreciate the patronage and loyalty you have shown me during my 8 years of radio service work in Prestonsburg and hope to merit a continuance of your business in my new position.

LIVING COSTS ARE SOARING

THE PRICE OF EGGS IS SO HIGH THAT HENS MUST NEST IN THE TREE TOPS but—don't blame the farmer

BETWEEN the Spring of 1933 and May, 1936, the retail price of eggs advanced 46%. Pity the man who eats them, for it is the consumer who pays and pays. Don't blame the grocer or the farmer or the hens because eggs, like everything else we eat, are carrying their share of taxes imposed by government. Besides, every time the farmer buys, including his own feed, has advanced in price.

At the same time, electricity has steadily come down. Only 2 per cent of the average workman's income is spent for electricity and the percentage grows less every day.

EGGS ARE UP
In May, 1936, the price of eggs was 46% higher than in 1933.

FLOYD COUNTY TIMES
 PRESTONSBURG, KY.

The beginning of the second of school finds us well on our way toward the most successful year we have ever had. The following class officers have been elected:
 Senior Class
 R. C. Layne, president; Hazel Blackburn, vice-president; Gail Slater, secy.-treas.
 Junior Class
 Oscar Stanley, president; Henry Zemo, vice-president; Roy Lewis, secy.-treas.
 Sophomore Class
 Joe Archer Clark, president; Levi Keathley, vice-president; Elsworth Stumbo, secy.-treas.
 Freshman Class
 Hans Kasmussen, president; Ghent Combs, vice-president; Louise Webb, secy.-treas.; Jennings Baisden, cheer leader.

Eleven new members have been added to the boys' glee club, while nine girls have been selected to fill the vacancies in the girls' glee club. Membership in these two clubs is purely selective and the boy or girl who wishes to become a member must first have an audition with Mrs. Hatcher. The glee clubs have already been asked to appear at various high schools. These requests will be met soon.

A chapel program for the first semester had been made. Each teacher will be responsible for one program. Friday, Oct. 9, the first of the series will begin by the senior class, sponsored by Mrs. Hatcher. The class will have charge of the program and the president will preside, Rev. L. S. Hugenboom, of the First Presbyterian Church, Pikeville, will deliver a 20-minute address to the student body. The public is cordially invited to attend all of these exercises. The time until further notice will be Friday morning at 9:50 a. m., Friday, Oct. 16. The program will be in charge of the junior class under the sponsorship of Miss Zula Ruby.

We are fortunate in having Coach Hallard Wheeler with us again this year. He has been busy scheduling games for the Bobcats and we can hardly wait to see them in action. We have lost only one of our team, Harry Layne, who deserted us for the Marines. Most of the boys have spent a profitable summer, and have grown in height as well as weight. If we could only grow as tall as the Inez boys!

Several of our faculty members attended a meeting of the Virginia and Kentucky teachers in the Breaks Saturday. Those registering were: Miss Emma Lou Gillespie, Miss Zula Ruby, Mr. Hallard Wheeler and Mrs. Carl P. Hatcher.

Mr. Combs and Mr. Martin, attendance officers, spoke to the students of the school last Wednesday on the value of regular and continued school attendance.

"Will he see again?"
"Jane, my girl, give me another two weeks. If I thought anybody, anywhere, would do anything more than I'm doing, I'd put him on the cars tonight. It's time, Jane, time."

If Jane expected to get much information about the Denison fire at home, she was disappointed. When she reported it to her father, he was silent—professing still to feel outraged at her insubordination. McCrossen was more communicative, even sympathetic; but he knew little about the fire.

After a painful night, Jane rose early to go again into town. In the yard she encountered McCrossen.

"Ridin' out?" he asked.
"I am."

"I'll saddle up for you."
"Have the horses been fed?"
"Yep."

"I'll saddle up myself."
"Your father rode over to the pastures with Page this mornin'," volunteered McCrossen, walking alongside Jane. She made no answer; indeed, she rather quickened her pace; her companion stepping up his own.

"Your father left word I was to ride out with you, if you went off the ranch."

"I don't need anybody to ride out with me."

"I don't care a rap what the old man says. I'll ride out with you if you want me. If you don't, say so."

"I don't."
"O. K."

Jane undertook to mount.
"Look here, girlie!" said McCrossen suddenly. "Why don't you like me?" Without further preface than a laugh he caught her in his arms. "I'll do anything to please you."

Jane, struggling angrily, stood pinned. He laughed immoderately at her efforts to tear herself away. She rained blows on him with her fists. "Let me go!" she panted. "I hate you."

Still laughing, he tried to talk down her anger. She got away from him. "Hate me as much as you like, Janie, but I'm goin' to have you. I'll kill any man that tries to take you away from me," he continued coolly. "I don't care a damn who he is—just remember that, girlie. And I'd kill you, too, if you married another man."

Panting, and furious with anger and fear, she got into her hand the riding whip dangling from her wrist and lashed him across the face and head.

As she dashed away, McCrossen drew paper and tobacco from his pocket, rolled a cigarette, and licking the paper's edge as he looked after Jane riding toward Denison's ranch, struck a match, lighted up, and started for the bunkhouse.

Jane, her heart beating tumultuously, galloped swiftly along the trail, completely upset by McCrossen's bullying and the worry in her breast.

Instead of heading first for town, she rode over to Denison's ranch.

The sight of the ranch-house ruins was a shock, even though she tried to steel herself against it. A man down near the corral was leading one of Denison's horses to the barn.

"Are you Ben Page?" asked Jane abruptly.

"Yes'm."

"How did this happen, Ben?" she asked sympathetically.

"You tell," he returned sullenly.

"Tell me all about it, Ben. I'm from Gunlock and a friend of Bill Denison's."

He regarded her with suspicion. "Must be the only one he's got over there," he growled.

Jane swallowed. "I hope it isn't as bad as that," she exclaimed. "What caused this dreadful fire, Ben?"

"How the hell should I know?"

"Don't know what caused the fire, eh? Well, you ought to at least know how to be civil to a lady. Since you don't, I advise you to come over and take a lesson from your brother Bull."

Jane galloped swiftly away, more than ever upset mentally. Once in town, she sought Dr. Carpy.

She encountered him in the street. They walked together back to his office.

"How are you, Jane?" asked the doctor.

"I just rode in from Bill's. He has Ben Page there looking after things, and the insolent blockhead wouldn't even answer me civilly when I tried to find out how it happened—so I rode away into town."

"That fire has stirred Bill up terribly—out of all proportion to its importance. It maybe was done to annoy him."

Jane looked frightened. "Why, doctor! What do you mean? Do you believe the ranch house was set on fire?"

Carpy was taken aback. He had said more than he meant to. "Why, no one can tell for sure about that, of course."

Some drunken Indian might have set it afire."

"To annoy Bill?" asked Jane incredulously.

"You can't tell," persisted the doctor, gathering courage as he proceeded. "Bill may have made one of 'em mad sometime—ordered him off the place or something."

"How is he coming on, doctor?"

"All right, so far. It'll take time to tell the story, Jane, just's I said."

"Could I see him this morning, do you think?"

"If it was anybody else on earth, the answer would be no. If you go over, don't stay long, and tell Sister Virginia it's O. K. with me." "Be back here at twelve to take lunch with me—promise?"

"I promise."

"And remember"—Carpy raised the forefinger of his right hand—"mum's the word."

The utter absence of authentic details concerning the cause of the fire called for a more active effort on the part of the imagination; and this in turn indicated its stimulation at Jake Spott's bar. So the old guard were gathered on this morning still discussing the "outrage."

Among those grouped at the inner end of Spott's long bar were three veterans of the frontier. Henry Sawdy, calm, portly, pulled reflectively at his long-horned mustachios and fingered his well-filled glass without raising it to his lips. John Lefever, likewise full-bodied as old port, whistling "sotto vokey," as Sawdy described it, twirled his glass and listened for the next fire theory offered by Jim McAlpin, the thin, nervous, weather-beaten-faced liveryman.

Toward this trio there now sauntered, coming in the front door, the raw-boned, lantern-jawed, unshaven Bill Pardaloe.

"What's the last news, boys?" he asked in a general appeal.

"Just like the first and that's nothin' at all," said McAlpin. "Give me the same, Oscar, with more bitters. Hold on, boys! By the Lord, if I'm alive, there comes Ben Page now."

Three Veterans of the Frontier.

"Hey! Ben! This way," cried Sawdy as the stumpy bowlegged cowman walked down the barroom towards them. "Come along and wet up."

"Well, Ben," demanded Sawdy, when the glasses were set down, "what about the fire?"

"I jumped through the window."

Neither questions nor alcoholic stimulation could draw out more definite information than this. As to the origin of the blaze, Page had no theory or knowledge.

The longer the group tarried, the more resentful they grew at the thought of Bill Denison's being burned out. It was at last decided to let Sawdy and Pardaloe ride to Denison's together to make an "official investigation." They took the Reservation trail and halfway out met Bob Scott riding into town.

The two adventurers halted Bob, explained their errand, and asked him to join them.

Scott wheeled his horse around, and the three galloped for Denison's ranch.

That night, late, Sawdy, Lefever, McAlpin, Pardaloe, and Ben Page met by the dim light of a lantern in the stuffy-smelling harness room of McAlpin's barn.

"Boys," began Sawdy, gravely, when the doors were carefully shut and outer approaches examined, "it's just's we figured—dirty work out at Bill's ranch. It was lucky Pardaloe and I picked up Bob Scott. He's magic on trailin'. If it hadn't been for Bob, Pardaloe and me'd been scratchin' around Bill's place yet. There wasn't a thing to show where or how the fire started—the job was too well done. But what couldn't be covered up was the ground sign in the yard. Who'd been there last? Lucky for us, there wa'n't many horses'd been runnin' around the yard. Bob spotted three; one was a usic, Bill's horse—Ben's been ridin' her. The other two were Gunlock hors-s, boys. One that Jane rides—that was fresh track. But there was older track—of a Gunlock horse."

"Gunlock horse?" echoed Lefever.

In the murky light of the lantern Sawdy pulled his mustachio deliberately. "A Gunlock horse," he repeated. "And it was the sorrel gelding that most of you've seen. Bob knows every horse in the hills by his hoofs, and as luck would have it, he himself traded the sorrel to McCrossen about a year ago.

"That horse was over to Bill's place maybe thirty-six to forty-eight hours before Scott read the sign. The man that rode that horse over to Denison's night before last knows a lot about who started that fire. Who rode it?"

"That horse, boys, has been rode by Barney Rebstock since he's roosted over at Gunlock with his old pal and boss, Gus Van Tammel. After Bob fixed on the sorrel, Pardaloe sends him up around by Gunlock to scout the question, who rides the sorrel. Then Pardaloe and I rode straight back to town to send out Carpy. You see, Bob could appear up at Gunlock casual-like and ask questions and nobody would think anythin' about it. Bob rides in and out there often."

"Of course, he had to be careful. But there's two honest men over there, Bull Page and the Chink. Bob set down in the kitchen for a cup of coffee—hadn't had no breakfast—and buzzes the Chink. Finally he comes around to the sorrel he'd traded in to the ranch, and asks who rides it now. 'Rebstock,' says the Chink.

"Then Bob waits for Bull Page. He asks Bull whether he thinks there's any chance to get McCrossen to trade the sorrel back to him. Finally he asks Bull who's ridin' the sorrel. Bull says since Barney Rebstock come back, he asked McCrossen if he could fasten onto the sorrel and McCrossen said yes."

Sawdy paused again. There was a general silence.

"That's the story, boys. No, hold on! Barney and Van Tammel left the ranch at daylight this mornin' for the pastures, with Barney on the sorrel!"

"Story enough," grunted McAlpin. "But," he continued, "Barney's pretty cute. If he was goin' to start a fire, wouldn't he take somebody else's horse?"

"I thought that way for a while," intervened Pardaloe. "But Barney can be careless, too—you know that, boys. So I asked Bob to find out, was Barney out that night of the fire; was the sorrel out. Old Bull is a nighthawk around Gunlock—you know that. He may have suspected what was in Bob's mind, but he wouldn't give a whoop anyway. He hates Barney like poison. He told Bob that Barney was the only man outside the bunkhouse that night. And he heard him ridin' away."

Sawdy stopped the general discussion. "Boys, what you goin' to do?"

Pardaloe rose. Some experience in frontier courts of this kind had convinced him that it was time for a sheriff or an ex-sheriff to be moving on. As a one-time representative of the law laid down in statute books, he felt it incumbent on himself to take no further part in the deliberations. "Run along, Bill," nodded Sawdy. "We'll see you later—maybe."

With the ex-sheriff gone, Sawdy called for opinion as to what, if any, action should be taken.

"If any!" exclaimed McAlpin, echoing the words scornfully. "Man alive, you know it ain't a question of 'if any' action. It's a question of what kind of action."

"Got a rope here, McAlpin?"

"Got 'em big and little, old and new."

"Don't be too hard on Barney," interposed Lefever. "The least you can do is to soap the rope for him."

"Don't misunderstand me, boys," interposed Sawdy. "I want to string him up and down a few times to get the story out of him. A little argument like that'll bring it."

"Boys," said McAlpin, "I've an idea you can catch Rebstock right here in town. If he set the fire, he's got money aplenty. It's burnin' holes in his pockets. Catch your cat in the Red Front saloon; call him out the back door; set him on a horse and ride him down to the bridge—that's gentlemanly and private."

"It's the first time in your life, but I guess you are right, McAlpin," said Sawdy. "We've just got to set the rope watch on Barney."

Ten minutes later found the worthies concealed—except McAlpin, detained at the barn—lined up at Jake Spott's bar.

Jake, still on crutches, was hobbling around.

"How's the leg, Jake?" asked Sawdy, to be polite.

"By rights I ought to be in bed, but I can't afford it."

"Have you sen Barney Rebstock this evenin'?" asked Lefever, casually.

Spott's face darkened—he, too, hated Barney. "I ain't seen him, and don't ask nothin' like that to make me swear. Boys," he added, addressing the group, "you know Panama spent a whole year tryin' to break me of my bad habit of swearin'. Now, when it's too late for him to know, I'm goin' to quit swearin'. I give public notice, here and now, if any d—d man gets me so angry I've got to swear, I'm not goin' to cuss him out, like I used to. No! I'm just goin' to llick h— out of him then and there, so you fellows can tell the boys what to expect."

At that moment the back screen door banged on its hinges and McAlpin, sharp-faced, keen-eyed, and out of breath, rushed into the room. With much celerity and many patomimic gestures, the Scotsman drew Sawdy far into an empty corner of the saloon.

"What's up, Scotty?"

"He's in there," whispered McAlpin. "He's in there right now!"

"Who?"

"Barney!"

"Where?"

"In Boland's saloon! I sen the sorrel standin' at the hitch rack in front when I come along up street to join you here, so I went in. Hurry, he's there!"

'Old Oaken Bucket' Panel

Pattern 1067

So dear to our hearts—the tune, "Old Oaken Bucket," and now, a wall panel in its memory, which every one of us will want to embroider at once. Such a home-like scene, this, which is planned for quick embroidery, with single and running stitch used mainly, and only a smattering of French knots. No frame is needed—just a lining.

Pattern 1067 comes to you with 15 by 20 inches; a color chart and a transfer pattern of a picture

NEWS OF THE COUNTY

MYRTLE

School has been closed this week, due to the illness of our teacher, Josephine Stanley.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hornsby and family, of Garrett, were dinner guests Sunday of G. W. Adams.

Josephine Stanley has been quite ill for a few days. She was a patient at Golden Rule hospital, Paintsville, over the week end, but is much improved now, and able to resume her duties at school.

Clarence O'Boone, Jr., of Ashland, is visiting friends here this week.

Mrs. Tressie Shepherd, of Midway, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Elmer Frasure, has returned to her work at Lackey.

Misses Mae and Golda Holbrook, of Lackey, were week end guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Holbrook.

Mrs. D. E. Prater and children, of Ashland, were visiting her parents, Thursday of last week, returning home Sunday.

Steve Holbrook and Turner Holbrook, of the CCC camp at Paintsville, were calling on homefolks Saturday and Sunday.

Robert, son of R. D. and Rebecca Puckett, has been very ill of flu, but is much improved now.

Misses Virgie McCombs and Anna Martin and Robert Day Francis went Sunday in Huntington, W. Va., to attend our chapel exercises. They returned on Friday, October 9, and delivered

BETSY LAYNE SCHOOL NEWS

The Betsy Layne 4H Club met Wednesday, Oct. 7, and reorganized. The enrollment is much greater at present than it was last year. The following officers were elected: Pres-Kym, Carmel Clark; vice president, Carvy Kidd; secretary, Hazel Black; treasurer, Helen Steele.

The 4H Club girls are very sorry to lose Miss Ruby this year, but are fortunate to have Miss Gillespie and Miss Burke as sponsors.

The Girls' Reserve is under the direction of Miss Gearheart again this year. The following officers have been elected:

Joan Bowling, president and chairman of the program committee; Hattie Adkins, vice-president and chairman of membership committee; Beatrice Meade, secretary and chairman of social committee.

The first cabinet meeting was held Thursday. Most of the members this year are old members. Last year each of the 26 girls who entered the Bible Study Project received a certificate.

Mrs. Hubson is sponsoring a new club in school this year, the Nature Study Club. The first meeting was held last week and the following officers were elected:

Russell Stratton, president; Friel Robinson, vice president; Julianne Stegall, secretary and treasurer.

Rev. L. S. Hegenbach, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Pikeville, attended our chapel exercises on Friday, October 9, and delivered a splendid address. The topic chosen for his address was: 'Open for Business.'

BONANZA

(Last week's correspondence) Mr. Leslie, assistant high school teacher here, met with the high school students Thursday evening of last week for the purpose of organizing a Citizenship Club. Fourteen students joined the club and elected the following officers:

Bill Montgomery, president; Luther Prater, vice president; Anna Lee Stanley, secretary; Dorcus Montgomery, treasurer.

The purpose of the organization is to create, maintain and extend high standards of citizenship throughout the school and the community. Mr. Leslie and members of the club will meet each Thursday.

A new basketball, tennis equipment, and book supplies are being purchased for the school.

Students of the advanced grades are making books containing the poems they appreciate most. A decided interest has been taken in the poems of Dr. J. T. O. (Cotton) Noe, Kentucky's poet laureate.

Students receiving the highest grades in the primary room will be allowed to serve refreshments at its tea party.

An extra student enrolled in each of the grade rooms within the last few weeks.

Church was conducted here Sunday by the Holiness denomination. Sermons were delivered by Frank May, John Marshall and Warren Ratliff. A large crowd attended these services and much interest was

IRVIN S. COBB TO HEAD OLDSMOBILE RADIO SERIES

Oldsmobile, beginning Oct. 17, will go on the air with a radio program headed by Irvin S. Cobb, famous American author, commentator, radio star and movie actor. The program is carried by N. B. C. red network coast to coast. The program will be called "Irvin S. Cobb's Paducah Planations" and the setting will be Whitehall, Mr. Cobb's home near Paducah, Ky. One of the best known and best loved of American writers, Mr. Cobb brings to the Oldsmobile program his great knowledge of American and American life.

Musical background in the program will be the famed Hall Johnson choir, admittedly the best negro choir in the country. Acting the master of ceremonies will be Dorothy Page, one of the younger radio and movie stars, and Clarence Muse, rising negro actor and singer.

A continuity of the story from week to week will add to the interest of the program.

A guest star of national reputation will appear with Mr. Cobb each week. First of these guests, opening the series of Saturday night at 10:30 Eastern Standard time, will be Miss Marion Talley, Metropolitan opera star.

"We are extremely pleased to present Mr. Cobb in this entirely new type of program," said Dr. Ralphton, Oldsmobile vice president and general sales manager, in announcing the new radio program.
