HOWARD IS GIVEN FIVE YEARS AS 3 OTHERS ACQUITTED

Packed Courtroom Is Scene of Each Session of Four Day Trial

SPECIAL JUDGE HANNAH FILLS CAUDILL VACANCY

New Trial Asked After Jurors Shown Rope That Hanged Gus Finley

A Floyd circuit court jury convicted Green Howard, 50, and fixed his penalty at five years imprisonment Monday evening for the slaying of Earl Spradlin, 32, near the city limits here March 22, then acquitted Howard's daughters and son-in-law, on trial with him for the slaying. The courtroom was packed for each session of the trial.

The jury deliberated less than two hours to free his daughters, Mrs. Letha Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Jonah Hall, and his son-in-law, Jonah, while convicting Howard.

Beginning last Thursday with Circuit Judge J. W. Caudill presiding, the trial ended Monday with Special Judge J. B. Hannah on the bench after Judge Caudill had left town and opposing counsel had obtained the approval of the Attorney General for the new judge to preside.

Judge Hannah's first act was to overrule a motion for a new trial filed by Defense Attorney J. D. Bond after the bailiff had exhibited to eight male jurors he was guarding, the rope which was used to hang Gus Finley here in 1885. The jurors were taken to the circuit clerk's office to view the rope during a recess in the trial.

REMEDY

The best remedy we know for insomnia is the Harvard Classics. Since buying the books last week, we've gone to sleep every night within five minutes after opening one.

PRIVATE

On the courthouse entrance to the Floyd county jail this week there was a sign, "PRIVATE." We've heard of crazy drunks requesting a private cell from a jailer, but never before have we seen evidence that anybody desired a whole jail as "private."

MON, GIVE!

Dr. J. E. Triplett says that he will donate $10 to a fund for the purchase of additional fire hose for the Prestonsburg Fire Department, which is needed very badly. Fire Chief John Wiley says that an additional 100 feet of hose could be bought for approximately $100, and that the hose is the greatest hindrance to fire-fighters.

Dr. Triplett's example, it is felt that citizens should contribute and started by him to assure additional fire protection. A citizen in town has seen the local firemen who are contributing from one side of a building to another. With additional effort would be with double protection guard the same time. This is an opportunity to advance the fire department instead of the city council to do impossible at present. No owner should fail to augment started by Dr. Triplett.

Beaver Road Contracts Are Awarded Thursday

Bids for the improvement of the Left Beaver highway and the Right Beaver road from Wayland to Dema at the Knott county line, were let Thursday morning, the TIMES was notified as it went to press by County Judge Edward P. Hill, who was present at the opening of bids in Frankfort.

The bid of J. M. Cain and Co., of $118,229.30 was accepted for the grading, draining and surfacing of the Left Beaver road from 1.3 miles south of Gearheart to one mile south of Clear Creek, and the surfacing with slag of the road from Clear Creek to Wheelwright Junction. The bid includes a bridge and approaches near Gearheart.

With a bid of $91,600.97, the Perry McGlone Construction Co. was awarded the bid for the Wayland-Beaver Gap road to be graded, drained and surfaced.

Judge Hill said that he was told construction would begin upon each job as soon as possible.

LIFE TERM GIVEN IN AXE SLAYING

Jury Deliberates Twenty Minutes To Convict Keiffer of Murder

With Commonwealth Attorney O. C. Hall's brilliant speech ringing in their ears, a Floyd jury Thursday night deliberated only 20 minutes to convict Bob Keiffer, 46, of the slaying of 64-year-old Robert Callihan at Garrett last August and fixed his penalty at life in the state prison. Defense attorney B. M. James announced that an appeal would be sought.

Commonwealth's testimony charged that Keiffer slew Callihan as he lay on a bunk in a miner's shanty near Garrett, beating him on the head with an axe and fracturing his skull in seven places.

Keiffer testified that prior to the slaying he had left the shanty because of a heated argument with Callihan over the Bible. He claimed that he went to his home on Quicksand Creek in Knott county to "pull fodder" and that he did not know he was accused in the slaying until 30 days later.

At that time, he testified, he came here and surrendered.

County Attorney Forrest D. Short and former County Judge pro-tem John Allen testified that when Keiffer surrendered he admitted the slaying. On the stand Keiffer denied this statement.

The body of Callihan was not found on its blood-spattered bed until 30 hours after the slaying. A coroner's jury rendered a verdict of death by a blunt instrument wielded by party or parties unknown. Commonwealth's Attorney O. C. Hall introduced an axe as the death weapon.

It was claimed that Callihan had left his home in Boyd county and had come to Garrett seeking work in the mines there. He lived there for three days before the slaying with Keiffer, whom he had known in Carter county. Keiffer, whose home is Knott county, had been living in the shanty near Garrett while he worked in the mines.

EMBLEM OF GOOD WORK IS RETURNED TO WIDOW

A 28-year-old medal, lost nine years ago by the late Dr. A. L. Hill, was found this week by Mrs. Earl Moore where he had dropped it while working in his garden on Riverside avenue. The medal was returned to his widow.

It represents an award made Dr. Hill for establishing a scholastic record in the College of Dentistry, Louisville, which, it is said, has never been equaled at that institution. Dr. Hill graduated in dentistry and assumed the duties of an instructor there, all within two years.

"Oil City" Picture Reveals Floyd County's Oil Boom Near Ivel

This, to those who read the sign, painted by the "municipal" sign-painter, is Oil City, Inc. Not in Pennsylvania but in Floyd county. Near Ivel, to be exact.

In the foreground, the Inland Gas Company drilling on the Layne heirs lease; left, background (indicated by arrow), B. L. Sturgill and others drilling on the Morgan Layne lease; arrow No. 2 indicates mast of rig owned by C. H. Fraim and others, of Paintsville, drilling on Cecil lease; arrow No. 3, Sturgill and associates, drilling on the Jim Damron and Morgan Layne lease; last arrow to right, rig of G. C. Spradlin and associates at work on the Jim Damron lease popularly known as "The Hog Lot."

The first well in "Oil City," drilled by D. C. and C. P. Stephens, of Prestonsburg, is at the left of the picture and is not shown. It was drilled about six months ago and is producing approximately seven barrels daily. Well No. 2 (also not shown) is reported as a 25-barrel producer and was drilled by Ex-Jailer Sturgill and associates on the Morgan Layne lease.

At the extreme right of the picture, D. C. and C. P. Stephens began drilling operations but were obliged to move their rig when the Inland Gas Corporation notified them it had first lease on the tract. Their rig has been moved to the Arwilda Darby tract, at the extreme left, which is not included in the photo.

GIBSON MAN GETS NOTE OF WARNING

Finds Stick of Dynamite and Threatening Note On Porch

Brought to Commonwealth's Attorney O. C. Hall here Wednesday was a note of warning and a stick of dynamite by Eugene Hughes, 56, who said he found them on the porch of his home at Gibson.

The note: "One man is on his way to la Grange and it is high time you air getting your lying pack off Beaver Creek. Take warning in a few I will see you a hell visiting. You better not tell anyone this. Your Enemy watching close."

Hughes is the father of Mrs. Mabel Boggs who was shot to death at Gibson railway station in 1935. Hughes aided the prosecution in obtaining a life sentence for her slayer, Silas Hicks, who escaped jail here before he was taken to the penitentiary. Young Hicks' father, Edward, was taken to LaGrange last week to serve a two-year sentence for his part in the slaying.

School Site Pros And Cons Heard At Martin Meeting

Pros and cons of the Martin school location argument were heard by approximately 300 persons Tuesday night at a mass meeting held in the gymnasium of Martin high school.

Superintendent Town Hall and the entire board of education, with the exception of Harold Bailey, of Garrett, took a part in the discussion. B. M. James, Prestonsburg attorney, presented the case of Martin citizens opposed to location of the proposed 15-room building at the Forks of Beaver, almost a mile from the present school site.

Monroe Wicker, principal of the Martin school, presided.

In presenting his views, Superintendent Hall reiterated his claim that the opposition to the new site is motivated by selfish forces, contending that the school grounds in Martin are low and poorly drained and of such a nature that the new building, if erected there, might sag. He painted a picture of the future when the Maytown and McDowell high schools will be eliminated and consolidated with Martin, and held that the recently-selected site would be ideal for students of all the schools.

"If the new site won't work," he summed up, "I'm in favor of building (Continued on page ten)

WORKMEN FLEE BULLET FUSILADE

Bullets Drive Ky., & West Workers From Site of Clearing

After between 15 and 20 shotgun and revolver shots had been fired Tuesday morning from a Little Mud Creek mountainside at 15 Kentucky & West Virginia Power Company workmen, Sheriff Dial Salisbury, Deputy Sheriffs D. P. Dingus and Millard Salisbury with Pike county deputies later in the day followed bloodhounds which trailed two men from Big Branch, the scene of the shooting, to a point near the home of James Clark, approximately three miles away.

Several of the workmen, members of a crew clearing right-of-way, were sprinkled with shotgun pellets, and as they fled revolver bullets singing about their heads hastened their departure. They resumed work Tuesday afternoon, under the protective guard of Deputy Sheriff Salisbury.

Sheriff Salisbury said Tuesday that he already had information sufficient to justify arrests. Eight or 10 shot. (Continued on page ten)

Hurley Sizemore, who "took French leave" Monday while enjoying the privileges of a trusty at the Floyd county jail, was captured Monday night by Sheriff Dial Salisbury and Policeman Rich Hall at his home in Wayland where he was found under the bed. He was serving a term for drunkenness.

COUNTY RECOVERS HIGHWAY FUNDS

$39,586.14 Returned By Kentucky's Highway Commission

Floyd county's action against the state highway commission to recover road funds appropriated to the use of the commission for construction of county roads was settled last week when the highway commission returned to the county $39,586.14 of the Johns Creek road fund.

Suit was filed late in 1936 by Allen and Tackett, Prestonsburg attorneys representing the fiscal court, to recover road funds contributed by the county over a period of 15 years and totaling $462,000. An audit showed, however, it was said this week, that the highway commission had properly expended all amounts contributed by the county for construction work on the Mayo Trail and the Right and Left Beaver roads to the amount of $412,000.

Only the Johns Creek fund was recovered, and of the $50,000 originally sent the highway commission it was shown that $10,413.86 had been expended by the highway commission on that route.

Of the several counties seeking to recover funds appropriated for the use of the commission in building local highways, only Floyd county to date has recovered any portion of its money.

Starting in October, 1922, the Floyd fiscal court from time to time placed in the hands of the highway commission money derived from the sale of road bonds, at first on the old "three-for-one" basis agreed to by the commission. The first three contributions totaling $187,000 were for the Mayo Trail construction. In 1927, $175,000 were placed with the commission for the Right Beaver road construction. In 1931 $50,000 went for the Left Beaver Creek road, with the understanding that the state would complete the route without further cost to the county. The Johns Creek appropriation was made in 1933 without definite stipulation as to its handling. Attorneys said that, had the amount been placed in the Johns Creek road fund instead of the general fund, the county would not have recovered any part of it.

113,000 POUNDS TVA PHOSPHATE ORDERED

A shipment of 113,000 pounds of TVA phosphate was ordered Tuesday for 80 Floyd county farmers co-operating in the 1938 Agricultural Conservation program, County Agent S. L. Isbell said. In all, three carloads with a minimum capacity each of 40,000 pounds are expected to be ordered for this county. Phosphate already contracted will cover 573 acres of land.

Vocation Courses To Become Part Of Schools' Curriculum

Vocational agriculture and training in trades and industries are seen as a part of the regular curriculum of five Floyd county high schools during the next school year.

Superintendent Town Hall said this week that he was promised, while attending the Kentucky Education Association in Louisville recently, that vocational agriculture will be taught, full-time, at Betsy Layne, with a teacher alternating between Martin and Maytown high schools. Half of the salary of the teachers will be paid by Smith-Hughes funds, the remainder and equipment to be financed by the county board of education.

Trades and industries will be taught, full-time, at Wheelwright, and a teacher will divide time between Garrett and Wayland in this department. The state will pay half of teachers' salaries in this work, with the county board paying the remainder.

Betsy Layne's high school's home economics department, operated last year with the state paying half of the teacher salary, will be continued.

Superintendent Hall said that he will recommend to the board, next year, employment of a band director for all the high schools of the county, also the hiring of three itinerant teachers to give high school students instruction in shorthand and typewriting.

Prestonsburg

The delegate assembly voted to test through the court of appeals, if necessary a ruling that boards of education must pay the five-cent gasoline tax levy on petrol used for school purposes.

Among those from here who attended were City Superintendent and Mrs. I. H. Triplett and daughter, Mary; David May; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Combs, and Mr. and Mrs. Chalmer Frazier.

The assembly commended the KEA planning board's preparation of a legislative program for submission to the state legislature in 1940. The board will report at the directors' meeting.

Speakers on the closing night program were Secretary King and Thomas V. Smith of the University of Chicago. The all-state orchestra played a 30-minute concert.

The planning board's report will recommend that the association's directors authorize a housing and sanitary survey of rural schools.

It also recommended a local school tax levy of $1.50 for each $100 of assessable property in 1940 and a state per capita allotment sufficient to guarantee an eight-month school term for every child at a minimum salary of $600 per year for every teacher.

Another recommendation will be an amendment to the new state teachers' retirement act to provide for the distribution of part of the state school fund "on a basis of need."

The teachers heard Miss Willie A. Lawson of the Arkansas Education Association speak on the economic problems of youth. She said millions of youths in the nation have found no stations in the economic structure and advised further geographic pioneering.

Dr. No-Yonk Park of Chicago told the convention Japan does not have "a Chinaman's chance" to win the Sino-Japanese conflict.

6 FLOYD STUDENTS TO GET U. K. DEGREES

Each Candidate Is Majoring In Different Subjects To Graduate

The six Floyd county students at the University of Kentucky who are candidates for degrees this June are each majoring in a different subject. Two of the students are in the College of Arts and Sciences, the others representing the Colleges of Commerce, Law, Agriculture, and Education.

Beecher Layne Scutchfield, Prestonsburg, a graduate student in the College of Arts and Sciences, is a candidate for a degree of master of science in bacteriology. Scutchfield received his bachelor of science degree in 1934 from Berea college.

Majoring in anatomy and physiology, James Carroll Nash, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Nash, Weeksbury, is a candidate for a degree of Bachelor of Arts from the College of Arts and Sciences. Edgar Preston Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Stephens, Jr., Prestonsburg, is a candidate for a Degree of Bachelor of Science from the College of Commerce.

Representing the College of Agriculture, Inez Baisden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Baisden, of Betsy Layne, is a candidate for a degree of Bachelor of Science in home economics. Dorothy Donoho, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. L. A. Donoho, Wayland, will receive a degree of Bachelor of Arts from the College of Education where she is majoring in English.

William Claude Caudill, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Caudill, Prestonsburg, is a candidate for a degree of Bachelor of Law from the College of Law.

Word Pronunciation Varies In Kentucky, Says U. K. Professor

Lexington, Ky., April 23—If you are a native of Kentucky, pronounce these words: "chair," "down" and "mule," and Dr. L. L. Dantzler, head of the University of Kentucky department of English, will tell you in what section of the state you live. By making a study of the pronunciation of the English language in Kentucky, Dr. Dantzler hopes to find indications as to the trends of settlement in the state.

There are three pronunciations of the vowel in the word "chair." 1. Chur; 2. Chair, as in hair; and 3. Char, as in hat. The last one is the oldest pronunciation and the second next to the oldest pronunciation of the word.

The two ways in which the preposition "down" is pronounced are: 1. Down, and 2. Daeun. "Daeun" is the pronunciation along the Ohio river, the Bluegrass section, and in Madison and Estill counties, but doesn't occur in the southern part of the state. Dr. Dantzler's theory is that "daeun" came into Kentucky from New England through Pennsylvania and the Ohio valley instead of coming from Virginia, where it is common.

"Mule" has two pronunciations. 1. Miul and 2. Myul. "Miul" was common in early New England but education has made it a rare thing. It is still used along the Ohio valley and in the Bluegrass section of Kentucky.

Doctor Dantzler finds that the person who says "chur" also says "daeun," indicating that "daeun" came from New England too. Therefore, his conclusion is that the river bottoms of Kentucky were settled by New Englanders.

Dictionaries record many pronunciations of words but numerous ones are left out; no one knows or ever will know the exact pronunciation of the English language," says Doctor Dantzler.

NORMAN ALLEN Editor JAMES B. GOBLE Associate Editor

Entered as second class matter June 18, 1927, at the postoffice at Prestonsburg, Ky., under the Act of March 3, 1879.

THE TIMES ENDORSES:

- 1. Floyd county for Floyd countians. 2. Immediate completion of the Left Beaver and Johns Creek road. 3. Completion of all Farm-to-Market roads, by W. P. A. labor if possible, maintenance of these routes by the state rural road fund. 4. A trade-at-home policy followed by merchants and customers alike. 5. Full co-operation with all county and city officials insisting that lawmakers and enforcement officers themselves obey the law to the letter. 6. Continuance of the Floyd county health department and county agricultural agent work.

HIS WORK UNSUNG, HIS WORK UNRECORDED

He was past eighty, he had been a minister for half a century. Yet his recent death was unrecorded.

Not because this or any neighboring newspaper has a policy which holds that the reverence of advanced age and good works precludes one from a place of importance—but simply because his death was not reported. There in correspondents to newspapers most miserably fail—in the relating of news of real interest while busily engaged in setting down trivial items that mean little, only a very little to the person involved and nothing what-ever to others.

The patriarch to whom reference is made was the Rev. John H. Marshall, of Alphoretta, this county. When he died the callouses from hard work remained on his hands, though he had been in ill health for some time. He ministered to the spiritual needs of hundreds throughout this section, yet, unsalaried and unsung, he was obliged to earn through manual labor the livelihood which his services as a "labor of love" never earned for him.

The country preacher and the country doctor, these two should occupy a special spot in the Valhalla to which every good warrior goes. Those who truly belong to these two classifications indeed are followers of the Great Physician. Whether their ministrations are to the physical or the spiritual, the spirit behind all their works mark them as martyrs to the cause of humanity.

WHY NOT?

The President recommends to Congress legislation which will make subject to income taxation salaries of federal and state officeholders.

And why not? Their salaries are paid by taxes contributed by you and me, and we, if our incomes are large enough, are subject to income tax. They should not be a patrician few while we are the plebeian army. They, but for the grace of God and our own largess, would be even as you and I—dependent for salaries upon what we may earn.

This proposed legislation will restore us all to the same class. By some hocus-pocus of reasoning, the impeccable Supreme Court, infallible to some minds, has held that the Sixteenth Amendment to the Constitution does not include in its purview the salaries of these officeholders, among which are the members of the august Court, though the text of that amendment is plain enough to the layman when it says the Congress "shall lay and collect taxes on income from whatever source derived."

Figure that one out, if you can—if you are a mere taxpayer. If you possess the legal mind, you might have all the answers. At any rate, the question has been legally answered, all these years, to work an injustice between that class which is in office and that which is not.

Comments From The Capitol

As we predicted some weeks ago in this column, there will be another special session of the legislature the middle of next month. Kentucky is making an active and sincere effort, under the direction of Commissioner of Welfare, Frederick A. Wallis, to give scientific treatment to mentally ill patients in state institutions.

The legislative action of the special session will be on proposals for the assignment of a number of specialists on brain disorders and psychiatry, to those asylums, the colonization of epileptics now in hospitals and specialized treatment for various types of insanity.

The Registration and Purgation Act was declared unconstitutional last week by Judge Churchill Humphrey, as it relates to the city of Louisville. He said that: 1. The bill repealed part of the old Model Registration law, and that this was not included in the title as required by law; 2. That it created a city office because it supervised city registration and the appointments to the board should, therefore, be made by the city; 3. That it fixed the pay of the three members and not for the others over the state.

Senator Gilbert, Senate floor leader, said that the legislature did not see the new registration land and purgation bill until two days before passage. He stated the bill makes brutal provision to disfranchise voters, and that the bill is so confusing that even attorneys cannot agree on it.

The income tax for this fiscal year, individual $1,767,952.71 and corporation $1,408,749.43 is short of last year's, and final figures will be around $200,000 less than last year's.

The department of revenue believes that the loss wasn't altogether because of depleted incomes, but that much was caused by flood losses which were deducted from this year's returns.

RANDOM SHOTS — Write down another probable entry in the next Governor's race. J. E. Buckingham, State Treasurer, leans that way. The two Senatorial candidates met and shook hands last week. The occasion was the state convention of the Democratic Women's Clubs of Kentucky. Governor Chandler made a number of cracks at the Senator, who confined his talk to praise of the National Administration and its program. At a business session before the speaking, the convention elected officers. Mrs. Eleanor Hume Offutt holds her office as president until next year, Mrs. Curtis McGee, Burkesville, vice-president; Mrs. Albert Kaltenbrun, Frankfort recording secretary, and Mrs. J. L. Woodbury, Louisville, member from the state at large, were new officers elected at the convention. Mrs. Kaltenbrun was re-elected for a two-year term. The state executive committee of the Young Democratic Clubs of Kentucky adopted a resolution prohibiting their county and state officers from taking part in primary elections, this being done to prevent clubs from endorsing either of the Senatorial opponents in the first primary. The club announced state headquarters will be opened at Frankfort.

In Hospital After an illness of several weeks, Mrs. Colonel May was taken to a Paintsville hospital Saturday for treatment.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

FIRE! FIRE! FIRE!

The next thing you want to know is, WHERE? Well, just look out at any of our beautiful hills, of which we are so proud, and you will see smoke coming up. This is so common on Beaver Creek that we don't ask any more who set it on fire. I am sure that you old-timers remember that it was a crime to set the woods on fire.

We have had lots of coon chases and other kinds of meetings to stimulate interest in game in Floyd county. All of these are useless unless we stop this terrible destroyer of not only our beautiful forests, but which kills all game as it goes over our hills and valleys.

Some one will say, "Doesn't any one try to put out the fires?" My answer is, "NO, not up here on Beaver Creek."

Sometimes on my way home between Prestonsburg and Wayland I will see as many as 10 or 12 forest fires. Some of the hills have burned over at least once each year for the last 10 years. Right now I don't know of any around here that has not burned over within the past year.

What to do about this is the problem of the Game and Fish Association to work out, and there is not any use trying to stock game in the woods that are always on fire, and all of the meetings are of no use unless this is stopped. The first thing for the Fish and Game Association to do is get the proper fire protection—and then let's stock up with game.

I know it is a law violation to set the woods on fire, but you see the hills on fire—and now you name some fellows that were prosecuted in this end of the county.

Let's post a reward for any one that is guilty of setting the forests on fire, say where one is found guilty, the Game Association will pay $10 reward. I will start the fund off with $1 and I feel sure that there are at least 100 more men who will give the same amount.

If the president of the Game Association takes me up on this just call or write me and I will mail him a check to start this out.

Yours for more game in Floyd county,

J. S. HAMPTON, Glo, Ky.

This Town-That World

"backend," and his companion a ride to Prestonsburg from Middle Creek.

Sammy had just told his companion that a warrant had been issued against them for setting fire to the hills following their sojourn in the "Middle Creek Mountains" the previous day. No sooner had he told his companion that they were being sought than Judge Hill saw Sammy and told the boys to "hop in."

Sammy says that his companion was trembling with fear all the way to town and that he still thinks it a miracle that the Judge let them out of the car before he reached the jail.

'TIS ALSO SO

Then there's the tale unfolded in a circuit court murder trial this week to the effect that a bailiff permitted eight male jurors he was guarding to view the rope in Circuit Court Clerk Troy B. Sturgill's office that was used to hang Gus Finley here in 1885.

After the bailiff's unthoughtful action had disrupted the trial and the judge had overruled the defense attorney's motion for a new one, the bailiff was called to the stand and testified that during a recess a discussion had arisen among the jurors as to how a hangman's knot should be tied, so he took them to see a real one, but that the noose or death penalty had not been openly discussed in relation to the trial which they were hearing.

OLD COIN FOUND

Jack Poe brought to The TIMES office Tuesday an half-dollar coin dated 1810, which he said, was found beneath six feet of dirt near the site of the city hall. The coin, now polished and cleaned, has the words "half dollar" and "fifty cents" cut in the rim. Exactly 128 years old, the age of the coin makes one wonder whose grand-pa lost it; what he was doing there at the time; just how big the town was . . . and what-all it would then buy.

500 MINERS GET WPA EMPLOYMENT

Work Will Be Given Every Miner Now Unemployed, Says Ballinger

With approximately 500 unemployed miners given W. P. A. employment in the county within the past month, S. A. Ballinger, district area engineer, said Wednesday that every additional miner out of work would be put on relief rolls as soon as possible.

He said that reports last week showed that 100 unemployed miners had been given work at Fed on the Fed-Ligon road. At Wayland approximately 58 are employed on the Steele's Creek road; at Garrett 135 are working on the Rock Fork road; at Huesville 38 are working on the Salt Lick road. From Emma, he said, approximately 20 are working on the Cow Creek road. At Bull Creek 75 are working.

He added that an additional 25 or 30 unemployed miners whose homes are scattered in various parts of the county were working on different projects.

Mr. Ballinger said that he had heard unofficially that miners at Jack's Creek had been certified for W. P. A. employment and that if the report was true the Jack's Creek road project would be started.

He explained that figures given were based on reports made last Wednesday and that reports made this week would probably show increases in most of the projects.

Additional projects will be added, he stated, if the miners' homes are too far away from projects already undertaken.

He said that the new project for the lower Bull Creek road would be started as soon as rights-of-way are obtained.

The sudden need of miners throughout the county for W. P. A. employment has been caused by the curtailment of mine operations, with miners on Right Beaver Creek being in the greatest need, it has been reported.

IMPROVEMENT OFFER MADE BY OHIO FIRM

An offer to finance improvement of Prestonsburg's water system, if it is desired, was made by a Cincinnati firm in a letter received this week by City Attorney Woodrow Burchett.

The letter: City Attorney, Prestonsburg, Kentucky Dear Sir:

We are interested in financing Kentucky municipalities for either purchase, acquisition, improvement or extension to water or sewer systems. If your city contemplates the purchase of any such properties or the improvement or extension of existing properties, will you please so advise us stating when your City Council could meet to see our representative so that we may have him come to your city on that day and discuss the matter and submit a proposition to handle the financing.

We can make an offer effective only if, as and when your city decides to proceed with such project. By so doing, your city is assured of the necessary financing whenever they decide to proceed, and if they should drop the venture then the contract would be of no force or effect.

In addition to handling this financing on attractive terms, we can assist you in the perfection of the various intricate legal and other details incident to revenue financing, through our various departments and bond attorneys as we have specialized in revenue financing for many years.

These revenue bonds when issued are payable only from the earnings of the particular utility against which they are issued, and are not payable from any ad valorem taxes.

Hoping we may hear from you in the enclosed envelope as to the possibility of your city being interested in matters of this kind now or in the near future, with best respects, we are,

Baseball On the Moon

New York—The Hayden Planetarium of the American Museum of Natural History today "beat the gun on opening the 1938 baseball season by broadcasting an imaginary ball game on the moon.

The setting was realistic, 2,000 feet of painted close-ups of the moon's surface which the planetarium is showing. The announcer was President William H. Barton, Jr., who is a baseball fan as well as astronomer. "That's the field," he said, pointing to a shadowy area behind a moon crater. "It is a mile long and half a mile wide.

"It is in the shade because in the sun the temperature is the boiling point of water.

"The first batter hits a long fly. Up and up goes the ball, 500—1,000—1,500 feet. A fielder catches it a quarter of a mile away.

"The next batter smacks a homer. He makes first base in three strides. He goes 30 feet with each step—12 steps to circle the bases.

"But he goes around again. On the moon the rule is six times around the bases for a home run—just 72 strides.

"The next batter lines one over short. The shortstop jumps 30 feet straight up and spears the ball in his glove—socko!

"No, not socko, for there is no air on the moon to carry sound.

"Notice how the pitcher doesn't seem to have 'anything.' Don't blame him. It's against the law of nature to throw curves on the moon. No air—no curves. It's air resistance greater on one side of the ball than on the other that makes a curve.

"The moon is so small its gravity is one sixth that of earth. A 150-pound man there weighs 25. But with a ball player's muscles he can run in 30-foot leaps. A player like Ty Cobb would be expected to steal second in two jumps—45 feet each.

Players would need oxygen respirators. But there is speculation whether creatures living on the moon for a million years might condition themselves to do without respirators. Recently astronomers have suggested that some color changes seen on the sides of the moon craters may be vegetation and that maybe there is just a rarefied atmosphere.

BEARER OF LETTER TO GARCIA INJURED

Logan, W. Va., April 15—Relatives have received word that Col. Rowan, famed as the carrier of the "message to Garcia," suffered a broken rib and is confined to a San Francisco, Calif., hospital.

Dr. W. S. Rowan, a cousin, said the former West Virginian "has been in poor health for some time."

Colonel Rowan, a native of Monroe county, graduated in 1881 from West Point and at the start of the Spanish-American War carried President McKinley's message to the rebel general in the interior of Cuba, a feat later immortalized by Elbert Hubbard.

NEWS OF THE BIG SANDY

MASTER PASSES

Louisa—Rev. J. W. Hall, 74, minister of the United Baptist Church and a retired lumber dealer, died Thursday afternoon of last week at 2:30 o'clock at his home on The Point, south of Louisa. He had been in failing health for a year and seriously ill for the past two weeks.

ALL-COUNTY SING

Louisa—One hundred and fifty-eight music students in the four Lawrence county high schools will participate in the second annual concert and all-county chorus which will be presented by Mr. Paul A. Bryan, county music instructor, in the Louisa high school auditorium on Wednesday evening of next week at 8 o'clock.

YOUTH HELD

Louisa—Charles New, 19-year-old Port Gay youth, is being held in jail without bond at Wayne following his arraignment before Justice of the Peace Henry H. Wellman Tuesday for the armed robbery of the T. W. Ball store in Fort Gay late last Saturday evening.

ACTION SOUGHT

Pikeville—Immediate action in the movement for the purchase of the Breaks of the Big Sandy area for the Jefferson National Forest was called for at a well-attended meeting at the courthouse here Tuesday night.

CAMP SLATED

Pikeville—The first event of the summer season at Camp Arrowhead, Boy Scouts of America, on the Levisa Fork of Big Sandy, will be a Handicraft Camp on April 22 and 23, it has been announced by Scout Executive Horace S. Williamson. The camp is for all patrol leaders and scouters who are interested in this subject, Mr. Williamson says.

NEW BUILDING

Paintsville—Bob May and H.

B. Patrick, of Prestonsburg, have given a contract for the erection of a new, up-to-date service station on their lot on Main street. This is the lot formerly owned by F. Daniel and sold to H. LaViers, Laviers transferring his interest in the property to Mr. May. This is one of the most valuable lots in Paintsville and is located on the corner of Main and College streets and faces about equal distance on both streets. Engineers are staking off the property this week preparatory to starting the building, which will be of brick.

IN WRECK

Paintsville—Mrs. Glada Music Price, of Auxier, Ky., was probably fatally injured in a car wreck on the Mayo Trail just above Prestonsburg late Saturday night. Mrs. Price was returning to her home at Auxier with a relative when the driver lost control and the car plunged over an embankment, turning over several times. In the crash Mrs. Price sustained an injury to the spinal column which has left her body paralyzed. One vertebrae was fractured and two other dislocated. She was brought to the Paintsville hospital where it is said that little hope is entertained for her recovery.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

A VILLAGE WAG

Every village has its humorist, and Fidelity was no exception to this rule. Our wag was a tenant on one of the larger farms in the bottom, but he lived in a small new house, about the only new thing in Fidelity, down by the graveyard. He was not a native, that is, he was not born in the community but had come from six or seven miles away and thus had the aloofness that every great critic of society is supposed to have. He also had the advantage of being fully grown and married before he moved into Fidelity; thus he did not grow up with reverence for any of our local idols. Every community needs at least one person who neither knows nor cares for the amenities, so far as the rigid rules of society are concerned.

Things that struck us as a matter of course rarely so impressed our village wag. Even a funeral had its comic side to him. He was a born mimic and could set us all laughing by his antics, though he seldom so much as smiled. He had no vested interests to protect and could have his way about everything. When he made his remarks, often a whole situation was clarified for us all. None of the wiser ones could possibly put as right in some of the predicaments that he would settle with a single incisive, though not quotable, comment. He looked upon the world from his tenant's house and found it interesting but funny. There was no malice in what he had to say, even though there was little reverence; he just saw without prejudice.

Sham and pretense fell before him, not because he was a moralist; he would not have known the word if he had heard it; his education was exceedingly limited, though he could spell out the items in the county paper. When others felt that the world was in a bad way, just after election or during a drouth, he would take a fresh chew of tobacco and fling out some childish but profound comment that would make us wonder why somebody with more sense and more prominence had not said it. He was one of nature's naturals, to misinterpret Shakespeare rather slightly. What did violence to his native fitness of things deserved a comic remark. The neighbors knew that he was just a tenant, just a country ignoramus; but they quoted with glee his pat remarks and passed them on to relatives and friends in other neighborhoods. If he said that Fidelity kept sun time rather than railroad time because it was nearer the sun, everybody thought that just pictured he little God-forsaken village away out in the hills. And here am I, a generation away from Fidelity, laughing at his artless wisdom, when I have forgotten some of the wiser thing uttered by people of more importance.

COURT OF APPEALS RULES AGAINST CITY

The Court of Appeals Saturday overruled the motion of the City of Prestonsburg for a temporary injunction to give Police Judge Alex H. Spradlin exclusive jurisdiction in the trial of persons arrested for drunkenness, disorderly conduct, or on lunacy warrants. The motion was prepared by City Attorney Woodrow Burchett and had previously been overruled by Circuit Judge John W. Caudill.

The city contended in the motion that the county judge and a magistrate were illegally taking jurisdiction of misdemeanor cases when arrests occurred within the city limits.

E. W. FISHBURN, Manager

In 1840, travel on the Louisa Railroad—which later became the Chesapeake and Ohio—demanded a high degree of courage. The reward, however, was great, for the train would whirl you along the metal-stripped wooden rails at fifteen miles an hour—a speed described by a journalist of the day as "swimming in space." But at what a contrast to today's railroad comfort!

THERE was no water in the cars. Two candle-lanterns per coach provided "light," but no heat of any sort was furnished. [Passengers could, however, purchase hot bricks from enterprising children along the road.] Sparks from the wood-burning engine often set fire to the coach awnings. But travelers were inspired by the example of a commanding personage—the Captain of the Crew, great-gran-daddy of today's conductor. In long frock coat and high plug hat, bravely he stood at the front of the first car!

Q Today that seems a feeble railroad, but it had the ambition of the giant it became. With track completed from Doswell to Gordonsville, Virginia, stockholders of the Louisa Railroad chose the Ohio River as their western terminus.

Q The railroad was a major factor in developing the territory it entered, helping settlements to become villages, towns and cities. Today the Chesapeake and Ohio dedicates its modern transportation facilities to the communities it serves, in reverent appreciation of the pioneers of railroading and civic progress.

Workmen Flee Bullet Fusillade

gun shells were found at the scene of the shooting, and these were preserved for fingerprint tests.

The shooting, it is believed, was an outgrowth of resentment of residents of the Little Mud section because outside labor was being employed. The power company maintains a regular trained crew for right-of-way clearing, and for this reason, it was stated, local labor could not be used. Shortly before firing of the fusillade, two men approached the workmen and asked for jobs, but it was not indicated that these men were responsible for the attack.

School Site Pros and Cons Heard

would be to resign," he said in describing his dilemma, "but I'm not going to do it. I'm going to make up my mind about the best thing to do—and I'm d— sure going to do it!"

Bill Allen, of Allen, board member, was outspoken in his stand with Superintendent Hall, saying flatly that the people of Martin can choose between a new building at the Forks or a four-room addition to the present building.

The Rev. Alex Stephens, of Dock, who was elected to the board last year, pleaded for harmony. "If we had more of the old-time religion," he said, "we could settle these questions better," he chided. "If the ground out there (the present school property) isn't fit for a school, why haven't you picked out a location? If four more rooms here are not enough, what about building none?"

Charles (Red) Burnett, Wayland, last of the board to speak, made a plea for unity, at the same time lauding the new site. "If you are not going to listen to the board of education, why have one?" he inquired.

Answering the claim that the school grounds in Martin may not support a building, Dr. Orris Gearheart said that he had built a new hospital in Martin on the same kind of ground as that of the present school site and that it is still aboveground.

Too Close Already!

One citizen attending the meeting was also opposed to another proposed location change. When a speaker jokingly went on record as in favor of moving the county seat from Prestonsburg to Martin, this individual groaned, "Gosh, no—not that. That courthouse is already as close to Martin as I want it."

G. D. Ryan stated that he was for a school in Martin, but added that, if the old site is unsuitable, the county board should be permitted to select a site.

W. J. Reynolds and S. D. Osborn, both for the old site, told of citizens of Martin donating the site on which the present school is located, of contributing liberally toward construction of the building, and of paying taxes all these years while children from outside the district were permitted to attend even the grade school while their parents paid no taxes to the district. "I was here before Martin and I'm still for Martin," the Reverend Osborne said. "If you take the school away, leave us the name, anyhow," he chided.

Dick Evans and J. W. Hall, railroad employes, pointed out the need for harmony. Mr. Hall said he would like to see the school in Martin but that he believed in the board of education selecting the site.

Comments of J. W. Elliott, Mrs. T. J. Allen and others followed, but were not available for publication this week.

She attended Pikeville College, the Eastern State Teachers' College, Richmond, majoring in Commerce, and later completed a business course in a Lexington school. GRUNDY VICTIM IS INTERRED IN FLOYD

Garrett, Scene of Rites For Miner, Sizemore, Killed In Explosion

Last of the 45 victims to be recovered following Friday afternoon's disaster in the Red Jacket mine at Grundy, Va., was Luther Sizemore, 29 years old, whose body was returned to Garrett, this county, his residence until a few weeks ago, for burial beside his wife's first husband, who was killed several years ago in another Grundy mine.

Mr. Sizemore had worked at the mine only three days when a portion of his head was blown away, almost every bone in his body broken by the terrific blast which catapulted men and machines as if shot from a cannon. The body was also badly burned.

The victim was a native of this county, and, until the recent "lay-off," was employed by the Elk Horn Coal Corporation at Garrett. He was well-known in that vicinity and had many friends.

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Pansy Sizemore, a step-son, Eugene Blankenship, his mother, Mrs. Mary Ritz, Fork Ridge, Tenn., two sisters, Mrs. Charles Robinson, Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. Bertha Howard, Hoskins, Ky., and a brother now in the Chinese army.

Funeral rites were conducted by the Revs. Green Allen, E. H. Howard and Meade. Burial was made in the Tom Martin cemetery, near Garrett.

under the direction of the Ryan general home.

The Floyd county Housekeeping Aide project will have open house at Lackey Center, Lackey, from 1 to 4 p. m., Friday. At the Prestonsburg Center in the Lucille Blackburn property, Friend street, open house will be held Saturday, April 30, from 1 to 4. The public is cordially invited.

FUNNY EXPERIENCES

Have you ever had a lady's dress caught in your pants? If you haven't, perhaps you'll be interested in reading about the experience which Mr. Brown had recently while in a Raleigh, N. C., theater. (Reprinted by permission of the author, Carl Goerch, publisher of the State Magazine.)

There's a certain gentleman in Raleigh (we'll call him Mr. Brown for the sake of convenience) who weighs well over 200 pounds. He suggested that they go to the State Theater and see a picture. Mrs. Brown was agreeable, so down they went.

They found seats at about the center of the theater and after they had settled themselves comfortably to enjoy the picture, Mr. Brown began to feel that his belt was too tight. Inasmuch as the theater was dark, he didn't hesitate to unloosen it.

He had on a pair of trousers with zippers down the front, so he reached down and ran the zipper-jigger down a few inches.

Everything went along fine for 10 or 15 minutes and then a lady sitting on the same aisle about three or four seats away, decided that she had seen all she wanted of the show and prepared to leave. The people sitting next to her obligingly rose in order to make way for her. When she approached Mr. Brown, he too rose to his feet. And then he suddenly remembered that his zipper was unfastened, so he reached down hurriedly to pull the jigger up.

When he did, he caught the lady's dress in the zipper and couldn't work the thing up or down to save his life.

She felt a tug at her dress and turned around to give him a hard look. She felt another tug, whereupon she leaned forward and hissed: "What are you trying to do?"

That attracted Mrs. Brown's attention. She turned to her husband and whispered hoarsely: "John, what are you doing to the lady?"

"Not a thing," whispered back John.

"He is, too," said the lady. "He's tugging at my dress."

Mrs. Brown half-way rose from her seat. "Turn her loose this instant!" she commanded. "Whatever in the world has come over you?"

"I can't turn her loose!" Mr. Brown protested.

"Why not?"

"Her dress is caught in my pants."

Mrs. Brown gasped, and so did the other lady. People sitting behind them were beginning to get impatient and there were cries of "Sit down" and "Down in front!"

Mr. Brown began to perspire freely. He tugged at the zipper for all he was worth, but the more he tugged, the more firmly the lady's dress became entangled in its meshes.

"What are you-all trying to do?" asked a gentleman sitting directly behind Mr. Brown.

"Her dress is caught in my pants!" hissed Brown.

"Good Lord!" said the man behind, and after that he didn't say another word.

"Do something," insisted the lady. "I'm doing all I can!" gasped Mr. Brown, "but it's getting worse and worse all the time."

By that time everybody in the neighborhood was taking a keen and unholly interest in the proceedings.

"We'll have to go out in the lobby," finally said Mr. Brown.

"Together?" she asked.

"You're darned right—together," he told her. "Think I'm going to take off my pants and let you walk off with them?"

She agreed that there was nothing else to do but act upon his suggestion. Moving slowly toward the end of the aisle, she led Mr. Brown along with her.

Then they started toward the lobby. It was the side of her dress that had been caught in the zipper and so, while she was able to walk along all right, taking rather short steps, Mr. Brown had to go sideways, something like a crab on the beach.

Folks sitting on the aisle almost fell out of their seats as they saw what was taking place. Their eyes followed Mr. Brown and their lady as they waltzed in the direction of the lobby.

By the time they got there, both of them were so mad that they couldn't see straight. One of the ushers—after the situation had been explained to him—took them into a little side room, where Mr. Brown took out his knife and proceeded to do some effective work with it.

At last the lady was free. She shook down her dress, shook herself all over, gave Mr. Brown a final dirty look and sailed majestically out of the theater.

Mr. Brown returned to his seat, where he had to listen to Mrs. Brown's whisperings and also to the chuckles which emanated from all the seats surrounding him.

He sat through the rest of the show with his belt tightly fastened and with his zipper pulled all the way up, but the damage had already been done and he really didn't get much pleasure or enjoyment out of the picture.

If anybody wants a pair of pants with zipper attachments, I can tell him where he can get them at a very reasonable price.

He'll have to be a rather fat man, though.

RITEs ARE HELd FOR AUTO VICTIM

Mrs. Glada Price, Auxier, Succumbs of Auto Wreck Near Here

Funeral rites were held Tuesday for Mrs. Glada Music Price, of Auxier, who was fatally injured near Prestonsburg last week when the auto in which she was returning to Auxier plunged over an embankment. She is Floyd's fourth traffic victim of 1938.

1938 Traffic Fatality No. 4

She died in a Paintsville hospital Sunday of an injury to her spinal cord which paralyzed her body. One vertebrae was fractured, two others being dislocated.

The funeral held in the Methodist Church at Auxier was attended by a host of her friends and relatives whose names are unavailable.

LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL RETAINS MEMBERSHIP IN SOUTHERN GROUP

Principal Clayborne Stephens was notified this week that Prestonsburg high school had passed all requirements necessary for membership in the Southern Association of Accredited High Schools and was among the 151 schools retained in the Association in Kentucky for the coming year. Representatives of the Association met this year in Dallas, Texas.

A detailed report of library standards of Kentucky schools made by the Association shows that Prestonsburg high school with an enrollment of 322, has a library containing 1,624 books, 2 daily newspapers, 30 periodicals, a full-time librarian with 30 college hours of training, an annual appropriation of $320 for library upkeep, a training course for future librarians and has met all requirements in the past three years.

The local high school is well above the minimum requirement on its number of books, periodicals, and librarian's training.

Mr. Stephens said that in addition to Prestonsburg's membership in the Southern Association, the school would automatically be reinstated in the Kentucky Athletic Association June 1, from which the school was suspended late last year.

PUBLICATION REQUIRED

The new state liquor law requires persons planning to apply for liquor license to publish notice of their intention at least two weeks prior to the filing of application.
