Avenger Kills Slayer Of Brother On City Streets Here Friday

HOWARD RIDDLED WITH SIX BULLETS AT CLOSE RANGE

Shooting Scene On Court Street, Front of Clark's Drug Store

GIVEN PRISON SENTENCE, HOWARD OUT ON BAIL

Herbert Spradlin, 23, Brother Of Man Howard Had Slain, Surrenders

A puddle of blood on Prestonsburg streets Friday morning marked the spot where Green Howard, 50, convicted of the slaying of Earl Spradlin, fell beneath a hail of bullets allegedly fired by Herbert Spradlin, 23, brother of Earl.

Shot six times in the chest and right arm Howard died within a minute after he fell to the pavement without speaking, witnesses reported.

It was said that Howard and the youthful Spradlin met in front of Clark's Rexall Store and that they had not spoken more than a word or two before Spradlin drew a .38-calibre revolver from beneath his overalls, stepped from Howard about five feet and began firing.

S. C. Ferguson, eyewitness, said that Howard screamed twice as bullets whizzed about him.

This Town-- That World

PUL-LEASE
Will somebody please tell us if Fighting Fox and Bull Lea have yet completed the Kentucky Derby "route"?

A SAILOR WITHOUT A SHIP

Some time ago the W. P. A. recreation department hired a tennis instructor for Prestonsburg, whose duties also included other sports. It seems the height of something or other that the city has no public tennis court on which a person might play, or on which the tennis instructor might strut his stuff. With so many men desiring W. P. A. employment, why can't the relief office set up a two or three-day project for the construction of four or five courts. It has been reported that land has already been promised for such use near Frank Layne's Club Rustique. If such an idea is carried out, drop around at THE TIMES office and we will gladly part with our donation for equipment.

AND EVERYTHING BUT "EEK!"

When a large and ferocious bull broke loose from his keeper, Friday night, and attacked Sam Isbell while the latter was occupying the rear seat of an automobile with the frog and other varmints, the county agent, who has no qualms when it comes to dogging a powerful bull, let out a peep that made the others think a mouse and a woman had boarded the car.

HOW!

State newspapers last week announced that the University of Kentucky athletic representatives touring the state to organize U. of K. Boosters will stop in Paintsville and Wayland, Will somebody please do us a red lantern? This town would at least be a flag station, or the University yet learned of the equally immense number of Floyd County people attending that institution?

"Breaks,' Economic Hope Of Future"---Dr. Thompson

Sketching the depletion of natural resources in Eastern Kentucky from its first settlement until the present, Dr. O. W. Thompson, Pikeville, member of the State Game and Fish Commission, told a group of citizens at the courthouse here Monday night, that this depletion would be corrected, bringing economic security, once the Jefferson National Forest area in the Breaks had been completely taken over by the national government.

He stressed the importance to neighboring counties after the Jefferson National Forest in Pike county was stocked with game and had become a mecca for tourists and sportsmen, saying that Floyd and surrounding counties would reap a golden harvest as tourists passed through, and that game would be loosed in the neighboring counties wherever protection would be promised for it.

Dr. Thompson said that Eastern Kentucky was now near the low average annual income of families living in the Tennessee valley where the T. V. A. is now located, and that if deforestation, soil erosion and floods were allowed to continue, a bare existence could be all the farmer of this section might expect in the future.

In his sketch of depletion of

TRUCE EFFECTED IN SCHOOL STRIKE

Auxier Students Walk Out When Board Fails to Re- hire Stewart

Temporary settlement of Auxier's school strike was effected by Attendance Officer Leonard Martin Wednesday morning when approximately 100 Auxier junior and senior high school pupils, many of them wearing placards, "We Want Stewart," called at his office, saying that they would not return to school unless the County Board of Education rehired John Stewart as teacher.

Leffie Harmon, senior, speaker for the students, said that the settlement was only an "armistice," but that the students would return to school and a committee of students and Auxier citizens would be named to attempt to smooth out the difficulty with school officials here. Harmon and other students said that Stewart played no part in causing the strike, but had asked them to return to school.

Brown, Robert Burns, Brigham Young, Patrick Henry, Daniel Boone—all living Oklahomans seeking other state offices.

"I note that according to your news story in this week's issue of THE TIMES, Mrs. A. L. Hill has had accepted for publication a poem in two of the ANTHOLOGICAL publications of the nation. LEXINGTON TOUR INCLUDES P'BURG

Good Will Tour Expected To Feature Parade By Visitors

One hundred business men of Lexington, accompanied by 30 men of the Man O' War Post, American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, will visit Prestonsburg about May 26, it has been learned here.

The special train carrying the Lexingtonians on their good will tour, sponsored by the Lexington Board of Commerce, will come here from Ashland, Catlettsburg and Louisa. Winston L. Clark, of Lexington's radio station, WLAP, is chairman of the visiting delegation.

The visitors will stage a parade here and a few brief speeches at its conclusion. It is expected that they will be welcomed by local representatives.

After leaving here the good will tourists will proceed to Pikeville, Middlesboro and Pineville, concluding the tour there at the Mountain Laurel festival.

RESOLUTIONS

Hall of Adah Chapter Prestonsburg, Ky., May 9, 1938

Whereas: Our Heavenly Father, in His infinite wisdom saw fit on March 30, 1938, to call from our chapter here on earth to that chapter beyond the skies, our dearly beloved sister and past matron, Anna Jones Stumbo;

Be it resolved: That in her departure to that "mysterious realm," Adah Chapter has lost, not only a beloved sister, but a bright link from that golden chain of fraternal love which binds us so closely together.

For some time before her death, Sister Stumbo was not physically able to be present to gather with us around the altar which she loved, yet many pages of our chapter's records bear eloquent testimony of her love of and loyalty to our order.

"They never leave us, these friends who have passed Through the shadow of death to the sunlight above. A thousand memories holding them fast

To the place they blessed with their presence and love."

Resolved: That we extend to her family and loved ones, our sympathy and commend them in their sorrow to Him who doeth all things well.

Be it further resolved: That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this chapter, a copy sent to the bereaved family, and a copy be sent to The Floyd County Times for publication.

Mother Finds Lost Tot

Bill Miller, member of the Ashland police force, was standing on the corner of Sixteenth street and Winter avenue when he felt a tug at his trouser leg. Looking down, he was confronted by a small lad who said, "I want my muvver."

After questioning the tot, Miller learned that he was lost. The officer searched around for about an hour but the mother was to be found. The mother said his name was Albert but she was unable to understand the name. She carried the tot to local police headquarters and his description was broadcast over police station W. G. Soon the frantic mother arrived and stated that she took the boy to the theater and while she was seated in the picture, he wandered off. Both mother and son who, police learned was Albert Kirk, went off fully on their way. Ashland from the Greek, "collection of flowers") and that mythology is writings of which the source is forgotten or cannot be proven.

"A FRIEND."

And boy, is our face red? We not only got told, but we certainly deserved it! There "jist ain't" no excuse for a bonehead error like that and Mrs. Hill gets our fullest apologies. And as for the dear friend, who is only one of those who have corrected us, will you "kindly remember" that ANTHOLOGICAL is spelled ANTHOLOGICAL in the best of families?

HOW DO WE KNOW?

The letter mentioned in the previous item now is pasted to the wall in our backside alongside of other such items, including rejection slips from magazines, feature services and letters from city slicker newspaper editors telling us that our application for a job "has been filed." . . . We're real proud of the rejection slip from the S. E. P. It's printed in red and black ink with a miniature embossment of Benjamin Franklin . . . The whole point of our wall-side collection lies in the caption we've clipped from a magazine ad and pasted at the top, "HOW DO YOU KNOW YOU CAN'T WRITE?"

NOMINATION

Personal nomination for the cleverest newspaper name in America: TIME AND TIED, Virginia prison publication.

KIBITZER

Our favorite kibitzer dropped in last week to ask us, "What is a metaphor?" While I was still scratching my head, Norman spoke up to tell him that anybody ought to know what a meadow was for.

PAGING WINCHELL

If Winchell hasn't already used it, we're thinking about sending him the following typographical error our linotyper made last week while setting a personal: "Mrs. . . . is a convalescent at the . . . hospital."

NEVER BEFORE

Never before, we believe, has there been such widespread public opinion throughout the county that Floyd juries, where the evidence so justifies, should mete the death penalty to wanton murderers. Floyd countians for years have seen the result of light penalties meted by timid juries in more and more murders.

REVERSE 'EM

Wouldn't it be fine if all printers would agree to give public utilities a dose of their own medicine by putting on their bills for printing: "This bill must be paid within the next 10 days or a penalty will be assessed?"

OFFICIAL ORGAN FOR FLOYD COUNTY, KY.
$1.50 Per Year Payable In Advance

NORMAN ALLEN Editor
JAMES B. GOBLE Associate Editor

Entered as second class matter June 18, 1937, at the postoffice at Prestonsburg, Ky., under the Act of March 3, 1879.

THE TIMES ENDORSES

1. Floyd county for Floyd counties.
2. Immediate completion of the Left Beaver and Johns Creek road.
3. Completion of all Farm-to-Market roads, by W. P. A. labor if possible, maintenance of these routes by the state rural road fund.
4. A trade-at-home policy followed by merchants and customers alike.
5. Full co-operation with all county and city officials, insisting that lawmakers and enforcement officers themselves obey the law to the letter.
6. Continuance of the Floyd county health department and county agricultural agent work.

MOTHER'S DAY—POSTPONED

Sunday was Mother's Day.

But, a few hours before the hallowed day began, a Floyd county mother,—she who with all other mothers should have been paid a tribute of love by her children—was robbed of a young daughter.

The girl was killed while she, her parents, kinsfolk and friends were returning from church. Death was far from her thoughts as they walked along a highway. Tomorrow she would wear a red rose for the mother who lived and who had devoted almost a quarter of a century of life to her.

But out of the night a man-made monster, man-driven, bore down upon her. She who would have paid dutiful homage on the morrow to her mother—she innocently died. Three others were injured, alive today only by the grace of God.

The auto roared on—and so a cowardly assassin walks among decent folks today, unknown, unbranded.

Will he be captured?

And, if he be apprehended, will he receive the full punishment that is his due?

His like have not suffered commensurately with their crimes in the past.

His kind should suffer as murderers, full-blown. If a fiend were to sweep down upon a peaceful group, shove a shotgun toward them, murderously blast away the life of a girl and seriously wound three others, then slink away into the darkness—if this were the case, all of us would be up in arms, and this is as it should be, as long as we are to preserve the sometimes doubtful status of being human and humane, protecting the helpless and hating those who viciously violate them.

We should all likewise be up in arms because of this latest outrage. An engine of death is no less lethal when mounted on wheels and engine-driven, its operator no less murderous because he spins a wheel instead of the cylinder of a revolver. Murder is a crime and it cannot be excused.

Cowardly murder such as that committed by the autoist who recklessly hits and deliberately runs is wanton, heartless, wholesale. It kills the innocent, picks out for its victims, the defenseless, those who walk humbly, unarmed.

Sunday—Mother's Day—was a beautiful, a happy day for many mothers. But not to this Floyd county mother. For her Mother's Day will be observed, and we shall join her in its sacred observance, only when we bring to justice the slayer of her daughter.

WHY BOTHER

The TIMES sees little further need to publicize the move to establish a state game farm in the "Breaks" area, despite the fact that the program embraces soil conservation, re-stocking of this entire section to fish and game and a new economic future for Eastern Kentucky.

This newspaper holds that publicity will do the move no good in this county, simply because any county that can afford no more than thirty persons for a mass meeting discussion of the program is not interested enough to read about it.

Dr. O. W. Thompson outlined the program here Monday night for the second time, before a group of 30 persons, many of them children. At his previous appearance here, the same number was present.

Only 30 persons present each time to hear of the most important program ever outlined for the benefit of Pike and Floyd counties. Economic security, for the farmer, business man, gasoline operator, everybody—yet only 30 persons were present. Shame!

ANYONE BELIEVE MINTON?

Senator Minton of Indiana believed, apparently, that he would be applauded for introducing a bill in Congress making it a felony for a newspaper publisher to print anything untrue.

He now says his object in introducing the bill has been accomplished.

The Times does not believe the Senator is telling the truth in that statement.

It is the honest, earnest, opinion of this newspaper that Mr. Minton has done exactly what he proposed in his foolish bill should be made a felony if a newspaper should do it; that his sin is that which he proposed should send a newspaper publisher to the penitentiary.

Of course The Times does not think Mr. Minton should be sent to the penitentiary.

It is rather unfortunate, of course, if a man's lack of gumption got him into such a hole that he considered it wise to tell a falsehood in the hope that the public wouldn't continue to think he hadn't enough gumption to know better than to believe his bill would be taken seriously.

That would be something for him to worry about, but it wouldn't serve any good purpose to put him in the penitentiary.—Louisville Times.

the white folks or of her own race who were not so highly favored by being trusted with the white folks' children. She gave the appearance of knowing a great deal more than she would like to tell, a characteristic that was sure to impress her own race. Mammy was a great moralist, in spite of her own shortcomings. She upheld the rigid standards of her church and was fairly bristling with platitudes on all occasions. Not being very scientific-minded, she did not check over her previous pronouncements to see whether she was consistent. Mammy could sing, and did sing, the old melodious songs that she and her ancestors had learned from generations of masters, with added touches of African melody. If she did not know enough words for her song, she could improvise as well as a poet and make her words fit the tune she was singing. More than the other Negroes she represented the ancient traditions. She knew all sorts of stories, she never lacked for picturesque figures of speech, she always had a grace of language. Biblical words flowed from her mouth, often pretty badly scrambled, but genuine in their sound. Anw Mammy has found a place in song and story, a place she deserves. She varied greatly in different parts of the South, but there were many similarities in the Mammies of all the states and areas. Whatever her own ideas were, she hid them completely in the tradition that made her a trusted servant, a member of the inner circle, worthy of genuine respect.

FORTUNATE

Again the season is here for the better appreciation of trees. Thick, leafy boughs now canopy Princeton's streets in all directions. We counted more than 50 trees within a distance of two blocks on one thoroughfare.

It has been with foresight in planning—and not by mere accident—that the city is so abundantly blessed. Those who laid out the streets, in years gone by, must have known by contrast what a void there is in the beautification of urban areas without trees.

Many American cities and towns, now harsh with architectural bluntness and summer heat, wish that their original plans had included plenty of shade and the beauty of tree foliage, diffusing the song of bird. Without this touch of nature, they lack a splendid future.

Even as these words are written, we give our ear to a scattered chorus of chanting and melody, from the leafy recesses of a dozen treetops—trees of Princeton.

Maybe there is something of health also, in our wealth of skyline verdure. The visual effect of green in summer is said to be soothing to the nerves, and thereby to lessen in some degree the rigors of hot weather.

Fortunate is the city that nestles in a forest, combining wholesome nature with the practical business of modern life. Fortunate is Princeton.—Caldwell County Times.

LOOKING ON THE BRIGHT SIDE

There is a dark cloud hanging over us which may wind up with another World War. Even some of the married men here are talking of joining the army and training so they will be ready should there come another war and the women are uneasy and getting restless and claim the married men could do more training and get better practice for a pitched battle around home any morning before breakfast. But it is always a mystery to us why women make such a fuss about their husbands going to war. At home most of them are like a bump on a log, neither useful nor ornamental (we are judging them by ourselves), and if they go to war and are pushed up to the front and get perforated with a steel or copper bullet, the widow is sure of a pension. Why can't people look on the bright side of things?—(North End Correspondent, Mt. Sterling Sentinel-Democrat.

SOUVENIR OF CONFLICT

J. S. Campbell, prominent farmer of Route 1, Calvert City, brought to the Courier office Wednesday what is thought to be the only grape shot in Marshall county and presented it to the Courier office.

The grape shot was used during the War Between the States, and is thought that perhaps this one was fired from some gunboat on the Tennessee river. It was found about 20 years ago by Mr. Campbell, and he has kept it all these years as a souvenir.

Mr. Campbell lives about one and one-half miles from the river—and as there is no record of any skirmish or battle near this place—this fact adds to the probability that it was fired from a boat.

The large ball is made of iron, in an almost round ball, and is about three inches in diameter. Mr. Campbell said he had lived on the farm for about 30 years, but had not found any similar objects on or near his farm.

The grape shot is now on display in the windows of the Courier office.—Marshall Courier.

MARRIED SIXTY-FOUR YEARS

In commenting on the 61st wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Harvey recently, we said that we doubted if there was a couple in this section who had been married longer, but it seems that we made a bad guess. Our attention has been called to Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Glass, who were married March 4, 1874, which makes them married 64 years. Mr. Glass was 87 years old on March 9, and Mrs. Glass will be 84 on April 6.—Glasgow Republican.

THE HEIGHT OF SOMETHING

A culprit escaping the law is enough to irk any officer but when the offender uses the officer's home as a hideout for his illegal tools—that is too much. And you can quote Thomas Coleman, deputy game warden, of Nigh, on that.

Coleman is in possession of a trammel net which he "captured" under his own home Saturday morning. It had been hidden there shortly after it had been used and was still wet when found.

Going into his yard Saturday morning, Coleman noticed water trickling from under the house. On investigation he discovered the net which he confiscated and cut up. He believes he knows who placed it there, information from Nigh says.—Pike County News.

Breaks, Economic Hope Of Future

Dr. Thompson told Joe Ward, president of the Floyd County Fish and Game club, that the name of his club should be changed to embrace the word, "Conservation," so that citizens uninterested in hunting or fishing would be included in the organization striving for benefits to be derived from the National Forest in the Breaks. He said that as long as meetings such as he was conducting, was advertised as a sportsmen's gathering, many prominent citizens would stay away, not knowing of its importance.

For the program will effect every one, every citizen in eastern Kentucky, he repeated, once the Breaks region is taken over and is reforested, restocked with game, forest fires are halted and sportsmen throughout the eastern United States make of it a mecca.

It is eastern Kentucky's economic hope of the future, he said, bringing dollars to the lawyer, farmer, gas line station attendant, to all who would benefit by the stream of wealth that would be forthcoming as tourists buy gas, oil, necessities; as hunters buy ammunition, licenses, guns as they rent cabins and hire guides as sawmills are again established; as soil erosion is halted, making more profitable farming.

And, he said, it's up to everyone public officials and all, to help launch such a program by doing their bit toward securing government control.

...ing and Fishing

By J. C. (Of Nimrod) WARD

It is amazing how we poor unfortunates with soft hearts and even softer brains, if any, can acquire livestock of either furred or feathered variety. My own destiny seems to be wrapped up in feathers. A red-bird has a nest in a honeysuckle bush under our living room window, a jenny wren is homesteading among some empty jars on the back porch. Some variety is afforded by the presence of a badly-spotted Boston bull who has been boarding with us for a matter of 12 years, but I reared up in defense of my constitutional rights last week when my "image" came in lugging two very young, very immature ducklings.

I told her in no uncertain terms that those ducks could not stay in my house, that every time I took a step it was in expectation of hearing a squawk, cackle or snarl; or of stepping on—or in—something.

Her "yes, Daddy," was the essence of meek obedience, and although I expected the presence of a nigger in the woodpile, I didn't see the ducks two or three days. However, the ducks are still here. An alliance between an image and her mother is too much of a hurdle for an ordinary man. I write, the mother wren is busily engaged bringing worms to an already over-crowded nest of rapidly growing young wrens. When one steps on the back porch for a home-shoe shine, the nest is suddenly cut out by a bowing array of beak-mouths. This is the second generation of wrens to emanate from the back-porch shelf. The ducks, in a paper box, are busy puddling in a piepan full of water and sand, and the dog is standing guard over them.

LOB CASTS

John Stephens, of Martin, has a Walker bitch who out-Dionned the Dionnes. She even doubled the bid and emerged triumphantly with 10 perfectly marked Walker pups, which are the pride and joy of little Johnny B. John Will Coleman, of Nigh, removed a 16-pound catfish from his trotline last week, which proves the old adage that "you have to live right." It's goin to be a great thing when we can go over on Johns Creek, up Middle Creek, or Abbott, or up in Pike county and kill ourselves a legal buck-deer, a turkey, or have a real coon-chase. It will be a grand feeling to go out and in half a day take your limit of bass, crappie, blue-gill or pike—if they are hitting. Now is a good time to try the old 22 on a crow or hawk. Remember the new hi-speed ammunition steps the muzzle velocity up to around 1340 feet per second, and that is not a speed to be careless with; you may puncture a pal half a mile away. Police Judge Kane, of Wayland, and Police Chief Rich Hall have plenty of time for tall hunting and fishing stories, all served in the hoosegow. If it's too good, you're sentenced to 30 seconds, and there is no appeal. I'll never be caught in Wayland. I don't like to smell petunias.—ADIOS.

APPEAL IS FILED BY INLAND STEEL

Chicago, May 5.—The Inland Steel Company today appealed to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals from the National Labor Relations Board's decision ordering a written contract with the C. I. O., asserting that the hearing last year was "manifestly unfair" and the trial examiner "arrogant, hostile and abusive."

Counsel for the company charged that the board's decision exceeded the Wagner Act and deprived Inland of its "freedom of contract and of liberty and property without due process of law" in violation of the Constitution.

The petition bitterly attacked conduct of hearings by Trial Examiner Charles Wood, asserting he refused to rule upon the petitioner's motions, exposed company witnesses to "hostile" influences, displayed "animosity and hostility" toward the company and was "arrogant, hostile, abusive and contemptuous" to company witnesses.

Large numbers of C. I. O. steel workers wearing their buttons signifying membership in the Amalgamated Iron Steel and Tin Workers of North America were allowed to congregate in the hearing-room in large numbers, "intimidating" company witnesses, the petition asserted.

Reasons cited in the appeal included:

The board erred in finding no prejudicial errors were committed by the trial examiner.

The board ordered Inland to bargain collectively with a purported representative of its employes which is not a labor organization within the meaning of the Wagner Act (the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee).

The trial examiner constituted himself "an additional attorney for the board."

"The order of the board was prepared by subordinates of the board and not by the board or any member thereof."

Sheriff Relates Story Of Three Thousand Mile Trip For Colley

Greenup: Apprehension of Raymond Colley of Ashland, in Glendale, Calif., who was wanted in this city on a charge of armed robbery, climaxed a three-thousand mile chase, it was revealed by Sheriff G. W. Burchett in an interview Tuesday.

Details of Colley's arrest in California and his return here by Deputy Sheriff Hays Stallard, of Russell, were given Tuesday.

The chase across the continent for Colley provided Sheriff Burchett with many thrills and disappointing moments. It's really a story of bulldogish perseverance, in which a group of officers refused to quit in the pursuit of a wanted man.

Here's the yarn as related by Sheriff Burchett and his deputies:

The day after Christmas, last year, which fell on a Sunday, three armed men entered the Darnell restaurant on Ferry street and ordered all to "reach for the ceiling."

In the restaurant at the time were Mr. and Mrs. Darnell, the proprietors, W. H. Burgess, a member of the city council at Russell and well-known dairy owner, and a C. & O. detective.

All obeyed the commands of the armed trio, and they were relieved of cash, checks and whatnot. The alarm of the robbery was sounded and splendid work by the Ashland police department resulted in the capture of two men, who not only confessed but allegedly implicated Colley. The two men were subsequently convicted here and given life sentences in the state penitentiary.

Colley, named as the third man in the robbery, according to Sheriff Burchett, escaped and the hunt was on.

Receiving a tip that the third man wanted was in hiding in a certain Greenup county home, Burchett and his deputies made a raid, but found nothing. Believing that Colley was still in the neighborhood, Sheriff Burchett placed the raided home under the watchful eyes of trusted officers. Despite the vigil, each minute out of every twenty-four hours, there was no apparent signs nor appearances of the fugitive. After days and nights of weary and monotonous watching, Burchett recalled his deputies. Disappointed and disgruntled by his failure to catch up with the wanted man, the next day after the recall of his deputies, he received a second tip.

The man most wanted by Burchett since he had assumed the duties of Sheriff—was in Albuquerque, N. M. The Sheriff's informant assured him that this information was one hundred per cent correct. With the belief that Colley was heading toward the West coast, the Sheriff secured finger prints and all other Bertillon measurements and hurriedly sent them throughout the Southwest and all cities in California.

Deputy Sheriff Stallard, who returned Colley here, picked up the story at this point.

Quoting Police Captain Frank Hague, Stallard stated that the prisoner now held in the Greenup county jail, was living the life of a "Riley" in the town of Glendale. In the California town (still quoting the officer) Colley had met an attractive girl and this meeting, which had developed into a romance, finally led to his arrest.

Stallard quoted Capt. Hague as saying that one night Colley, who was going under the name of "Pat Corbett," went to a night club in Glendale with his girl friend. There was the usual drinks and food, but during the evening he became enamored of a pretty Mexican girl and the fireworks started. His pretty girl friend objected to his attentions to the Spanish beauty. This, the officer of Glendale said, resulted in a row, with Colley, alias Corbett, telling his original girl that he was "tough and not to be fooled with."

An informant, Capt. Hague told Stallard, was at an adjoining table and overheard remarks made by Colley. Glendale police were called and raided the night club.

Colley, Stallard said, was rushed to police headquarters. He was put through the blinding "line-up" but was not identified as being known to anyone. Later he was questioned at length, the deputy said, but denied any crime or anything, except that he was "Pat Corbett."

Later, the deputy sheriff said, fingerprint experts were summoned by Chief of Police D. V. Brown and Capt. Hague from Los Angeles. Prints, he said, were matched with those of the Federal Bureau of Identification, which Sheriff Burchett had submitted to Washington and Colley finally admitted his identity.

The remainder of the story is worth telling. Stallard had purchased tickets for two on the transcontinental air lines. Arriving with his prisoner at the airport, Colley in shackles, officials turned thumbs down on the idea. The deputy sheriff stated that he was told, that if he wished to transport a prisoner by the airlines, it had to be done in a private chartered plane. The airline officials refused to allow either Stallard or his prisoner to board one of their ships.

Here's another line worth mentioning. Stallard objected, as he wished to reach Greenup county before the opening of the circuit court. He mentioned that federal prisoners were rushed by air, but he was informed that these fugitives were on private chartered planes and not on any commercial line.

Colley must face a charge of armed robbery in this county. Sheriff Burchett made a terse statement. It was something like this:

"Boy, we're after them and we're going to get them."

Maybe those were not the exact words, but there could be no question as to the meaning.—Ashland Daily Independent.

CHANDLER CALLS SPECIAL SESSION

Governor A. B. Chandler announced Friday he would call the General Assembly into its second special session of the year on May 16 to consider a single bill embodying the administration's welfare program.

He predicted the assembly would enact the bill and adjourn, the third of 1938, in six days.

The text of the bill, he said, will be made public sometime this week along with the report of a commission engaged by the state to survey the conditions and needs of Kentucky's hospitals and penal institutions.

Welfare Commissioner Frederick A. Wallis, expressing full approval of the bill, said it would provide for a "scientific staff of administrators, physicians, psychiatrists, registered nurses" and other employes in all the institutions.

The tenure of office of these employes, he said, will be filed in the measure so as to leave them "free from future political interference."

"This bill transcends in importance any material issue of legislation affecting the people of Kentucky today, and by its very nature must take precedence over all other matters," Wallis said.

"With the passage of this bill, conditions that have amounted to criminal neglect will be corrected and the development of the penal and eleemosynary institutions will be brought to a plane not surpassed by any state in the Union."

The Governor discussed the committee report and the bill with Wallis and other members of his cabinet. Chandler said the bill had been approved by Dr. Irvin Abel, president of the American Medical Association, and other Kentucky medical leaders.

WHAT THAT GOVERNOR SAID IS NEARLY 100 YEARS OLD

Raleigh, N. C.—The 100th anniversary of what the Governor of North Carolina said to the Governor of South Carolina will fall on June 19.

What he said was: "It's a long time between drinks."

Local chroniclers say the oft-repeated quotation originated at the home of a widow, Mrs. Nancy Jones, on the road between Raleigh and Durham. There was a great flurry in the household on that June day in 1838, for not one but two governors were approaching.

Mrs. Jones supervised dinner preparations and Laney, dean of the household servants, hurried to the mint bed at the back door. Another slave drew cool water to mix the drinks.

While Governor Edward B. Dudley of North Carolina and Governor Mason Pierce Butler of South Carolina chatted, Laney hovered nearby. She heard something that startled her—a terrible indictment of the home's hospitality. She flew to the kitchen.

"Miss Nancy, did you heah 'em?" Laney whispered. "Did you heah what dey say? Mistah Governor Dudley done said, 'Hit's a long time between drinks.'"

Legend says there was such a grubbing in the mint bed, such a drawing of water and such a scolding of the butler that thereafter there was no occasion for another such remark.

Avenger Kills Slayer Of Brother Here

lets spun him around, not falling to the pavement until Spradlin had emptied his gun.

Witnesses also reported that Howard had both arms thrust upward attempting to knock down the gun while it was firing.

One bullet penetrated his heart, two entered his right chest, the other three entering his right arm, as it was flung upward.

Following the shooting, it was described, Spradlin left the scene, looking back at the fallen man as he crossed the street, then calmly walked down Court street to meet Police Lieut., Bill Spradlin, to whom he gave his gun and surrendered.

Howard had been released on bond pending a hearing on his motion for a new trial following his sentence of five years last week for the slaying of Earl Spradlin here March 22.

At his trial here the jury which convicted him freed his two daughters and son-in-law, Jonah Hall, who was with Howard a few minutes before the shooting, leaving him to go to his work. Hall said that he saw the youthful Spradlin, gun in hand, as he came down the street before surrendering to the police lieutenant.

The officer said that he did not know whether Spradlin had reloaded the gun before he surrendered.

A search of Howard's clothing at the Arnold Funeral Home, whither he was taken, revealed that he carried no weapon, other than an unopened pocket knife.

The only cause for the slaying given was that of revenge sought by Herbert Spradlin following the slaying of his brother for which Howard had been convicted, then released on bond.

Funeral rites for the slain man were held near here Sunday with the Reverend Vanhose and Judge Conley, of Paintsville, officiating. Burial was made in the Adams graveyard under the direction of the Arnold Funeral home.

In addition to his wife, Mrs. Green Howard, he is survived by one son and two daughters, Mrs. Letha Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Jonah Hall, and Alex Howard, all of Prestonsburg.

REWARDED

Seven of ten rural teachers, named Floyd's best last year, were rewarded with positions in larger schools for the coming terms as Superintendent Town Hall announced last school year when the contest began. Three of the teachers were rewarded — not with positions which they were offered in larger schools, but by granting their requests that they retain the rural schools they had previously taught.

The rewarded teachers: Willie L. Howard, Prestonsburg high school; Alma Reffett Lowe, Estill consolidated school; Paris Conley, retained in district 4a; Josephine Spradlin, retained in district 20; Hargis Hicks, principal of Glo consolidated school; Arthur Jones and Henry Moore, Betsy Layne consolidated school; Darcie Saunders, Maytown consolidated school; Otis Spurlock, Martin grades; Prova Bailey, retained in district 106.

Superintendent Hall said that it is expected a similar arrangement would be made for rural teachers next year.

In addition to the rural teachers appointed last week, the Board appointed additional ones in its meeting Saturday. The teachers and their districts:

- 4. Dixie A. Neeley.
- 18. Thomas Miller.
- 43. Dorothy Osborne.
- 46. Joe W. Jarrell.
- 106. Prova Bailey.
- 111. Ollie Derosssett.
- 85. Estill Hall.
- 79. Herbert Prater.
- 96. Lucretia Osborne.
- 95. Fred Martin, Rebecca Burchett, Ruby Napier, Frank Hammonds.

Special instructors and supervisors appointed by the Board are:

Jesse Elliott, music instructor for nine months, who will visit each high school, with the exception of Wayland, twice each week.

Aster Akers, teacher of vocational agriculture at Martin and Maytown, and W. P. Caskey, who will teach vocatinal agriculture at Betsy Layne.

The superintendent said that the hiring of these instructors marked the beginning of the board's promise last year of broader curriculums.

Palmer Hall was rehired as rural supervisor and Goldia Porter was named helping teacher.

injuries shortly after she was taken to the Beaver Valley hospital at Martin. It is expected the others will recover.

Reports state that approximately 20 persons were strung out along the highway, returning to their homes from the meeting held at Tram, when the auto appeared at a speed of approximately 50 miles an hour.

It smashed into the group of four young persons as others on the highway leaped to the ditch to avoid being hit. A puddle of blood in the ditch marked the spot where the victims were hurled.

Without slackening speed, it was claimed, the driver continued south toward Pikeville. Although approximately 20 persons were at the scene of the tragedy, an accurate description of the car has not been obtained.

One witness said that darkness and the quickness of the tragedy as many leaped to safety, caused the failure to identify the driver or describe the automobile he was driving.

Funeral rites for the slain girl were held Tuesday from the home with the Reverend Isaac Stratton, of Banner, in charge. Burial was made in the home graveyard nearby under the direction of the Arnold Funeral Home.

The girl, a devoted Christian and member of the Baptist Church, is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Layne; seven brothers and sisters: Wilbur, Tina, Virginia, Geraldine, Ellis, Edward and Dollie Mae.

PLENTY OF POWER is necessary in a REFRIGERATOR as in a car

Make yours ELECTRIC!

RESERVE power is the thing today whether it be in an automobile, a plane, or any other important mechanism. An Electric Refrigerator has that vitally important reserve power. Because of it, the motor is more than equal to the demands of the most trying temperature changes. When the weather gets warmer, the electric motor automatically maintains constant cold, protecting your food from dangerous bacteria.

Electric Refrigerators freeze more than twice as fast as other mechanical refrigerators. This assures frozen desserts and plenty of ice cubes in the hottest weather.
