MARTIN MAN, 65, WALKING ON ROAD, IS SHOT IN CHEST

Floyd Countians Shoot "Just For Fun" From Speeding Auto

MAYNARD, WOUNDED MAN, IN HOSPITAL

Castle and Booth, Estill, Are Jailed At Inez Early Sunday Morning

Two Floyd county men were jailed at Inez Saturday and a 65-year-old Martin county man was near death as a result of one of the two accused men firing his pistol from a speeding automobile "just for fun."

Mitchell Castle, store clerk for the Central Elkhorn Coal Company at Estill, and Ivory Booth, filling station operator for the same firm, were arrested at Estill before daybreak Saturday morning a few hours after Castle's .32-calibre bullet struck Mark Maynard, Martin-co. farmer, as he walked along the highway at Beauty, Ky. The bullet passed thru his chest and he was unconscious as he was taken to a Paintsville hospital.

Castle admitted to Sheriff Dial Salisbury and Deputy Sheriff Tom James, who routed him and Booth from bed at Estill, that he fired the shots but that he had no intention of hitting anybody and did not know until the officers arrived, that Maynard had been shot. A son of the wounded man told the officers that a shot was fired from the car when it was some distance from his father. Then, as it passed, four more shots rang out and Maynard fell. The shooting took place at 10:30 o'clock Friday night.

The Floyd county men had been visiting Booth's parents at Beauty and were en route to Estill when the shots were fired, it was said.

BETTER LATE THAN NEVER

Here's a tale we forgot to tell just after it happened, but we suppose it's just as good now. It concerns one of the Floyd Plainsong Chanters who, after a brief tour, returned here to tell a friend about the things he had seen at Frankfort, especially the gum pieces at the old state capitol. "But the strangest thing I saw," he said, "was Daniel Boone standin' there in front of that museum. A-standin' there still and like 'thout twitchin' a-tall. Petrifried, petrified."

"Send me the paper with this picture in it, son," said Bob Keiffer, 45, clad in overalls as he paused on the jail steps here last week en route to the State prison farm to begin serving a life sentence meted by an April Floyd circuit court jury which deliberated only 20 minutes, for the axe slaying of Robert Callihan at Garrett. Standing at Keiffer's side is Floyd County Sheriff Dial Salisbury. In the rear are Deputy Sheriffs Lackey and Trudy Salisbury.

TEACHERS' SUITS SET FOR HEARING

Superintendent, Board Face Five Suits Filed By Unhired Teachers

Scheduled to be heard Friday by Circuit Judge John W. Caudill are five suits against Superintendent Town Hall and the Floyd County Board of Education filed by teachers unhired, they claim, in schools for which they were recommended by sub-district trustees.

Two of the suits filed this week, those of Andrew Wright and Mrs. Lucy Burchett, are in addition to those already filed by Walter Price, Mrs. Susan Crum Weems and George W. Spradlin. Woodrow Burchett, attorney for the plaintiffs, said the suits would be consolidated for trial.

It is expected that the Court of Appeals will soon render a decision in a sixth suit against the Superintendent and the Board of Education, filed by a group of Martin citizens to prevent the removal of the Martin high school outside the corporate limits.

In Town Saturday

Mrs. W. H. Mathis, Grafton, W. Va., W. I. Myers of Drift, and Earl Dinsmore Martin, of Washington, D. C., visited E. A. and O. H. Stumbo in Prestonsburg Saturday.

WANTED IN MICHIGAN, MELLON JAILED HERE, IS EXTRADITED FRIDAY

Armed with extradition papers granted by Governor A. B. Chandler, authorities of St. Joseph county, Michigan, Friday morning claimed John Mellon who had been held here during the week on a Michigan warrant charging him with selling mortgaged property.

The warrant alleged that the former Floyd countian had mortgaged his farm machinery and livestock to the government for a loan and had later sold the property.

Mellon was arrested here Saturday by Deputy Sheriffs Tom James and Epp Laferty, but executed bond. When the Michigan officers arrived here, Monday of last week, he at first waived extradition, later changing his mind and delaying his removal.

"Sonny" Blevins, 50, Shoots Wife at Cow Creek After Following Her From Hager Hill, Commits Suicide; Marital Difficulties Blamed By Magistrate Wills

A verdict of murder and suicide was written by a coroner's jury in a Cow Creek home at midnight Monday where Mrs. Stella Blevins, 47, was shot to death by her husband, "Sonny" Blevins, 50, who then fired a bullet into his own brain. Both died immediately.

Magistrate Bill Wills, who led the investigation, said that the couple, victims of several marital difficulties, had separated Monday evening. Mrs. Blevins left her seven children and home at Hager Hill, Johnson county, to come to the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Carl Brown at Cow Creek. The shooting occurred when she refused to return home with her husband who followed her about 10:15 Monday night.

Wills said that Mrs. Blevins was sitting in the front room of the house when her husband entered and asked her which she preferred, "to go home with me or have me kill you." He said that she replied she would rather die.

Blevins fired three shots at her with his .38-caliber revolver, one bullet striking her in the left side of the head, killing her instantly while she still sat in the chair. Two bullets lodged in the wall in front of which she was sitting.

Wills said that Blevins then left the room and walked to the edge of the porch where he fired one bullet into his forehead, falling on his back.

The Magistrate said that he had recovered the bullet which entered Mrs. Blevins' brain and the gun, found beside her husband's body.

Mrs. Brown said that when her brother first threatened Mrs. Blevins she begged him not to kill her. She added that when the shooting began she fled to another room.

The bodies were taken back to their home at Hager Hill on Burnt Cabin creek. Funeral arrangements are not yet complete.

ROAD MACHINERY SOUGHT BY COURT

To Be Used on Johns Creek Road, Certifying Agent Replaced

Meeting here last Thursday, the Floyd fiscal court ordered the rental of road construction machinery, with options to buy, for use on the proposed Johns Creek road.

Machinery ordered, a 3-4 cu. yd. speeder shovel, tractor, grader, and jack-hammer, will either be rented monthly, or purchased outright, with the Johns Creek road funds.

Other business conducted by the court included a new appointment for the W. P. A. certifying agent's office here and the approval of two farm-to-market roads for W. P. A. construction.

By a unanimous vote the court ordered the dismissal of Ruth Burchett, effective June 10, as certifying agent, replacing her in office with I. A. Smiley at a monthly salary of $110. County Court Clerk A. B. Meade was ordered to notify W. P. A. officials of the change.

Routes of the farm-to-market roads the court requested W. P. A. officials to build are:

HUNTER: Beginning at bridge, following present county road up left side of Beaver Creek to McDowell.

ROUGH AND TOUGH: Beginning at creek's mouth following present county road to head, intersecting with Puncheon Creek road near the Magoffin-Floyd boundary.

Although officers for the forthcoming year were elected by Floyd Post 129 of the American Legion at the courthouse here last Saturday they will not be installed in office until June 25, permitting the old officers under Commander Ed Sutton to complete the plans for the 10th district convention this week-end which they first formulated.

With approximately 25 Legionnaires present, the following new officers were elected, all of them unanimously:

- Jim Bob Hurt, commander.
- Lackey Salisbury, first vice-commander.
- Charlie Wright, second vice-commander.
- W. G. Africa, adjutant.
- W. C. Rimmer, finance officer.
- J. B. Clarke, chaplain.
- L. S. Moles, historian.
- Marvin Marshall, sergeant-at-arms.
- Joe P. Tackett, service commander.

BRIDGE COMPLETED

Two bridges are now completed at Bonanza. A wall 156 feet long connected to one has also been completed by W. P. A. laborers, with the Rev. Bill Hall, of Galveston, as supervisor.

Agricultural Beliefs In Floyd County Are Related By Farm Agent Isbell Here This Week

Superstitions, firmly believed by many Floyd county farmers, are among the greatest hindrances to progressive agriculture found in seven years of work in this section, County Agent S. L. Isbell said this week.

SAM'S GUILTY TOO

Agent Isbell said that in fields, other than agriculture, he too probably had many superstitious beliefs, making him as guilty in this respect as were many of the farmers who retained their age-old beliefs. But, in agricultural work, for which he had been trained, he added, knowledge and scientific work had superseded superstition.

The superstition of greatest detriment to progressive agriculture, he said, was the belief of farmers that many crops, the chief of which is corn, should be planted during a particular phase of the moon.

Other superstitions, which affect live stock, ranked second insofar as they damaged health of farm animals, he added.

To the superstition that corn must be planted in the "light of the moon," or the plants would be all stalk and no ear, the County Agent answered that, great damage is wrought by this superstition, many farmers believing in it so firmly that they would plow their soil while it is wet merely because there is a full moon.

He added, "A week's difference in the date of planting necessarily affects the date of maturity; also a rain at a certain time in the plant's growth is more beneficial than at any other time, but the moon in no way should be used to determine the planting date of crops."

Meade, of Printer, and John Harris, Brandy Keg, will attend the Gettysburg Blue and Gray reunion of Civil War veterans, July 1 to 6. Uncle Jeff is expected to take an active part in the American Legion's 10th district convention here this week-end.

FOURTH IN FAMILY DIES IN 4 WEEKS

Mrs. Anna Hatfield, 29, Estill, Follows Three Children In Death

Death within two months struck the fourth member of an Estill family Saturday, when Mrs. Anna Hatfield, 29, succumbed at the Stumbo Memorial hospital, Lackey, after a two-weeks illness of typhoid fever, it was said at the Stumbo hospital. Three of her children, among them six-weeks-old twins, died in April and May.

Another of her children, an eight-year-old boy, is now confined to the hospital, reported to be suffering from typhoid. His brother died of pneumonia recently, a report from the hospital stated. The malady of the twins has not been reported, but an attaché of the Stumbo hospital said that one died only a few minutes after it was admitted to the hospital, the other succumbing after it was taken home.

Another child of Mrs. Hatfield's, living at home, is not suffering from any disease, it was reported by the Ryan Funeral Home, which took charge of Mrs. Hatfield's burial rites in Huntington, W. Va., where the Rev. Skaggs, Huntington; and the Rev. Bill Sparks, Wayland, officiated at the funeral in a Free Will Baptist Church.

In addition to her husband, Davis Hatfield, of Estill, Mrs. Hatfield is survived by her father, Walter Creman, of Huntington. Names of other relatives are unavailable.

13-YEAR-OLD GIRL SUCCUMBS SUNDAY, RITES AT WAYLAND

Death claimed Minnie Terry, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Terry, Wayland, Sunday in the Stumbo Memorial hospital, Lackey, after an operation for appendicitis.

Funeral rites were held from the Martin branch church at Wayland with the Revs. Kelly Patton and Frank Griffith officiating. Burial, under the direction of the Ryan Funeral Home, was made in the Martin cemetery at West Garrett.

In addition to her parents, the young girl is survived by two brothers and one sister, Warren, Bennie and Wanda Lee.

Parades of Drum, Bugle Corps and Legion Dance Among Highlights

More than a month's preparation for the program for the American Legion's 10th district convention here Saturday and Sunday was completed late this week, when it became definitely known that Governor A. B. Chandler would appear here. The Governor is scheduled for a speech, probably at the courthouse, June 18, before an expected 5,000 persons.

Other speakers will be Congressman A. J. May, James W. Hammond, warden of the State penitentiary; County Judge Edward P. Hill, Police Judge Alex H. Spradlin and the 10th district Legion commander, Paul Calvert, Salyersville.

Decoration of the town by a Huntington decorating firm was completed this week as WPA workmen were busily engaged applying coats of whitewash to poles bedecked with bunting lining the city streets along the many parade routes of the convention days.

One of the conclave's highlights will be the Legionnaires' dance at the Club Rustique, which has been leased for the occasion, the night of June 18, with music by the Black and White orchestra.

With "Judge" E. P. Arnold as marshal, many parades will be made as drum and bugle corps from Jenkins, Paintsville, Pikeville, and Hazard swing into action. A chicken dinner is assured the buglers and drummers by local business men who have donated $130.

It is expected that groups and individuals will enter floats, appropriately decorated, in the parades scheduled. It has also been announced that Floyd's Civil War vets, Jeff Sizemore, Prestonsburg; John P. Meade, Printer; and John Harris, Brandy Keg, would be present during the two gala days.

Expecting approximately 5,000 persons here, local business men have contributed liberally to necessary expenses for their entertainment, and have promised fullest cooperation to Legionnaires responsible for the program.

SEEKING RELIGION, MAN FINDS 'STILL WORM,' LOSES WIFE, DAUGHTER AND AUTOMOBILE

Roy Sluss, a resident of the Skeet-rock, Va., section came to Pike county Saturday to get some more religion but found a huge moonshine still "worm" and a blacksnake and departed from Pike county minus his wife, his infant daughter and his automobile when officers discovered the still-worm at Hylton Sunday.

According to information given here Sluss, his wife and baby daughter arrived at Hylton Saturday with the intention of attending a church meeting there Sunday. They spent Saturday night with Mrs. Sluss' mother, Mrs. Roxie Sanders and during his visit about the neighborhood Sluss found a copper still-worm, weighing approximately 20 pounds. He decided to take the worm home and sell it for junk.

Placing the worm in the rear of his coupe, he took his family to the church services Sunday morning. During the services the baby fell asleep and Mrs. Sluss took the child to the car to rest.

Here's where the blacksnake comes in.

Mrs. Sluss discovered the serpent coiled comfortably on the front seat. Her screams attracted Bob Fleming, who was standing nearby. In his efforts to dispatch the snake Fleming drove it under the seat and into the rumble seat section of the machine.

Deputy Constable D. H. Hall was a spectator and when the snake disappeared he opened the rumble seat and discovered the still-worm while the snake made new "tracks" to the front of the machine. Constable Hall confiscated the "worm" and pursued the snake until it was captured in the seat cushion and dispatched.

While this confusion was going on Mr. Sluss is reported to have extricated himself from Kentucky back to Virginia, leaving his wife, his daughter, his car, the "worm" and the snake.

A warrant was sworn out by Constable Hall for Sluss for "possessing material for the manufacture of moonshine liquor," before Magistrate G. Q. Potter, another witness to the episode.

Sluss' car was confiscated by Hall and Potter. Officers, however, are convinced that Sluss has not engaged in the manufacture of liquor in this section of the state. His car will be returned when he surrenders to authorities and posts bond of $200 on the charge which has been filed against him.

Constable Hall state she believes the snake had taken refuge in the still-worm before it was picked up and placed in the car.—Pike County News.

DR. G. C. COLLINS For CONGRESS

DEAR FRIENDS AND VOTERS:

I have spent my entire life in Eastern Kentucky, working with and for the people of the 7th Congressional District. I believe that I understand the needs and interest of our people as well as anyone in this district, and your interest is mine. And to that end I pledge my support.

I pledge my support to the President and the New Deal and any legislation that will help Organized Labor or the Working Man. I oppose special privileges and monopoly. I am for the things which will enable the toilers of the nation to a greater share of the products of their toil.

I recognize the natural resources of this District and the resourcefulness of its people; but certain ills exist and we must look to the National Government for the solution.

One of these ills is the mechanical strip mines. The mineral yearbook for 1937 shows that 1,879,000 tons of coal were produced by 60 strip pits in 1921. By 1935 317 strip mines produced 27,177,000 tons. It was estimated that 60,000,000 tons of coal were produced by strip mines in 1937.

The average daily production for the underground miner in Illinois for the year 1935 was 4 1/2 tons. The average daily production for the mechanical strip miner was 14.27 tons. Two thousand, six hundred and fifty-five mechanical strip miners in 1935 produced 7,410,079 tons of coal. It would have taken 9,000 underground miners to produce this amount of coal. The strip miners have completely blotted out between 6,500 and 7,500 jobs for the miners in Illinois, besides the damage they have done to the coal fields in our District, as they can produce coal cheaper than we can. The strip operations can produce coal for $1.44 a ton and make good money and we cannot. This problem becomes a problem of our national legislators, since the strip operations are essentially interstate operations. It should be met by means of a differential tax and not by reducing the wages of the underground miners. This problem must be met.

I would like to know the reason why our present Congressman, Andrew J. May, who has been our Congressman for the past eight years from this District, has neither done anything nor offered a solution to this problem which is so vital to the interest of our people in this District. But in searching the Congressional Record from Washington I find the answer. I cannot find in the Congressional Record where Mr. May has been for anything or has tried to get any legislation through to help Organized Labor or the working man.

I have checked the Congressional Record and I find that Andrew J. May, our present Congressman from this District, has been against our President and his Administration. It is plain to be seen from the report of the Congressional Record that you can place him on the side of large Corporations, where, in my judgment, his heart has always been. I think that he has done more damage to this Administration than any man we could have sent to Washington. In my judgment he has done more damage to the Democratic Party than any other man could have done.

The Congressional Record discloses the fact that Mr. May was against the Court Bill, the Wage and Hour Bill, the T. V. A., or the Tennessee Valley Authority legislation and the Reorganization Bill which were sponsored by the President and backed by Organized Labor. Mr. May was the only Democratic Congressman from the State of Kentucky that voted against the Tennessee Valley Authority legislation which saved the people of Kentucky last year over $3,400,000 in power and light bills according to the Congressional Record of May 28, 1934, page 10158. This Congressional Record stated that the American people used 91,000,000,000 kilowatt hours for the year ending February 28, 1937 for which they paid $2,089,080,300. If we had paid the same rate that was charged per kilowatt hour for the year of 1932, one year before the T. V. A. was created, it would have cost us $2,642,000,000 or $556,000,000 more than we paid. We saved more in one year than the entire T. V. A. development will cost.

Mr. May was also against the adoption of an amendment for funds to begin the construction of the Gilbertsville Dam on the Tennessee River which assured the completion of the entire T. V. A. program on that great stream, which will stand out as one of the greatest developments of modern times. The only reason I can see why Mr. May voted against the amendment was that he took sides with one of the strongest corporations in America against the laboring man's pocketbook.

When the Wage and Hour Bill was first brought out Mr. May was against it, but after seeing the mistake he had made politically he was for the bill the last time it was brought out. I will promise you that you will not have to put any pressure on me to get me to be for a wage and hour bill with maximum hours and minimum wages. I pledge my support to any legislation that will put a dollar in a working man's pocket, but to none that will take it out.

I believe in protection for the corporations as far as they need protection but I do not believe in taking money out of the poor man's pocket and giving it to the rich.

The Old Age Pension should be enough to afford them a decent living and age should be liberalized.

I think there should be a law enacted to protect the farmers as well as our industries. For the farmers are the backbone of our Nation. Who is it that has made this Nation today worth $250,000,000,000? It was not capital, for we did not have it when we started out. It was the farmers and the laboring men. Capital cannot produce wealth without labor. Then why not give labor what it earns?

Labor is the first to feel the decline in business. I believe that Federal legislation should be enacted to license enterprises engaged in interstate commerce. Each business so engaged to retain its license would have to comply with a Federal Code protecting labor.

To the soldier who left his home, his job, his fortune to bring democracy to a war-wrecked world, I pledge a renewed living, in benefits becoming his station in life.

I have worked for the Great Common Public for 28 years. My record is an open book for inspection. I have never turned anyone down who came to my office to have work done, be he rich or poor.

At the Democratic primary in August—
Vote for me, a Friend of Labor, for your Congressman.

6. Continuance of the Floyd county health department and county agricultural agent work.

PRESTONSBURG IS HONORED

If any Prestonsburg citizen doubts the propriety of the American Legion continuing its district convention here from Saturday, June 18, on into Sunday, please let him, her or IT remember that, in 1917-18, they--ALL OF THEM--were mighty proud of having the "boys" with us--ON OUR SIDE.

These boys--and they were mere boys back when the war's terrors pervaded our dreams, day and night--get together but once each year. In between-times, they live and work and hope, just like the rest of us. And they grow older with the years, just like those revered veterans of the '60's.

There has never been a war but that the combatants were pretty thoroughly convinced that they represented the Right. In the '60's, the "boys" were divided in opinion--bless every one of them! But in that last war of '17--our doughboys all knew they were RIGHT and ALL WERE TOGETHER.

So why shouldn't they be permitted, one time a year, at least, to get together er again? Only those who have had their baptism of fire, physically or spiritually, can have a great reunion, since they all, whether battle-scarred or no, share a common knowledge of the keenest physical pain or the bitterest mental anguish.

You folks, get yourselves "in the other fellow's shoes." Join in wholeheartedly with these "boys." Out of uniform, or in, they are ours. Lest we forget, be reminded that "Der Tag" is the watchword in certain nations today as in those other days when these veterans took the field as an appointment--and not tardy in filing that "date"--with the foes of Democracy. Such as these will be needed again.

As for THE TIMES, we can only invite the boys to visit us, to accept our welcome--halting, ill-expressed if we try to talk with them--in the spirit in which it is offered.

We all were too young or too old to join in that other conflict, but none of us is so bereft of appreciation or imagination that we cannot welcome those who did fight or offer themselves to battle. Nor is a soul of us so dead that we cannot foresee what the spirit of '17 will mean to us in the future.

Prestonsburg and its citizens are honored in having these "boys" here. We are dishonored if we do not recognize that fact.

"... FELL TO EARTH I KNOW NOT WHERE..."

Most every Prestonsburg citizen has heard the angry buzz of a bullet followed by the crack of a small caliber rifle as some youth, within the city limits, amuses himself by shooting at a target.

Frequently these targets are flying birds, objects with no solid background to stop the leaden missiles.

Such was the case last week, when a bullet whizzed through the window of a Prestonsburg resident's home.

Luckily no one was in the path of the bullet--but next time there might.

Then stark tragedy will have confronted the youth who for mere fun fired a rifle bullet unthinkingly, without malice, but, in consequence, just as deadly as if premeditated murder was his action.

No doubt city records will reveal ordinances prohibiting such firing of firearms within the corporation limits. They should be strictly enforced.

TAKE IT OR LEAVE IT

A Philadelphia judge this week threw out of court the Government's $25,000,000 "extortionate war profits" suit against Bethlehem Steel.

At a time when ships were badly needed, the Government wanted 66 vessels built in Bethlehem's shipyards. Bethlehem refused to build them except under a contract providing what the Philadelphia judge described as "inflated" bonus profits. The Government protested. But the managers for Bethlehem replied: "Take it or leave it."

Said the judge: "As wartime is to other citizens a time of sacrifice it seems unholy and sinful to make the calamity of the people a source of inordinate gain. However, we are dealing with a matter of contract and not sentiment, patriotic or otherwise...."

"Whatever wrong there was in this may have been wrong in a daylight robbery, but there was no element of deception in it."

So, on the theory that the Government knew it was being robbed, and submitted to the robbery because it had to have the ships, the suit was dismissed.

Bethlehem did its bit--at its own price.

Veterans--remember that dawn when the lieutenant said at zero hour, "All right, boys, let's go!" And how you said, "For so much I will. Take it or leave it."

War mothers--Remember the day when President Wilson said, "America needs your sons." And how you said, "We'll not let them go unless you promise to return them unharmed. Take it or leave it."

Citizens--Remember when Uncle Sam asked you to buy Liberty Bonds. And you said, "We'll buy them at 50 cents on the dollar. Take it or leave it." Like hell.

CAPITOL COMMENTS

(By PORTER)

The political pot boiled furiously the past week, with charges and counter charges of political activities of the workers in federal relief agencies. The ultimate outcome of these charges made by Kentucky, Iowa, and other states, is the investigation by a Senate committee that will probably take place after the primaries.

Barkley and Chandler campaign headquarters have announced the formal opening of the campaign of their candidates.

Senator Barkley will open his campaign for the Democratic nomination for re-election at a rally in Lexington at 2 p. m., Saturday, June 18. The rally will be on the grounds of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association. The location was well picked because this is a race of two thoroughbred politicians and the prize to the winner may be the Presidential cup.

Governor Chandler will formally open his campaign at Hopkinsville, Ky., on June 25. The location is the old home town of Commissioner Frederick A. Wallis, who is planning the festivities which call for an all-day get-together, with free lunches for all.

The state of Kentucky is threatened with the loss of one-third of its federal aid money which in 1938 amounts to $2,819,179.00. The Federal Aid law provides that the Secretary of Agriculture shall penalize states that divert revenues from special taxes against highway users to other than highway purposes, and that a state may be deprived of one-third of the amount to which it is entitled under the Federal Aid Appropriation Act. The Bureau of Public Roads, under the Department of Agriculture, considers Kentucky's present 3 percent motor usage tax and $1 annual drivers' license tax as special highway users' funds and classifies these amounts that go into the Kentucky General Fund as diversion of highway taxes. Kentucky's revenue department in its report for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1937, shows that the usage tax which went into the general fund amounted to $1,273,000. and the motor vehicle operator license tax amounted to $381,000.

According to the policies laid down in the Hayden-Cartright Federal Aid Act, the use of these funds for general purposes constitutes a diversion and unless Kentucky takes immediate steps to correct this situation, either by repeal of these taxes or the earmarking of the funds they produce for road purposes, Kentucky may suffer a penalty of having nearly one million dollars of federal aid money withheld from this state each year.

Clay advocated the adoption of an amendment to the state constitution to prohibit diversion of special highway taxes for other than road purposes as a definite safeguard to the future development and maintenance of Kentucky's highway system.

RANDOM SHOTS: The Kentucky Press Association held its summer meeting at Mammoth Cave, Kentucky's greatest scenic wonder and tourist attraction. It is better publicized outside the state than it is in Kentucky. W. W. Thompson, managing director of Mammoth Cave National Park, is doing much to improve this situation.

Dr. James Taylor, clinical director of the Eastern State Hospital, resigned last week, saying: "Medicine and politics don't mix any better than oil and water."

Here is the inside information on the "Welfare Bill" that was to be known as the Chandler-Wallis Bill, passed by the House and Senate last month. Commissioner of Welfare Frederick A. Wallis, with the help of Barry Bingham and others, had planned this bill for a number of months. Commissioner Wallis made every effort to get the bill enacted and enforce its provisions.

The bill probably would never have become a law, if it had not been for the Senatorial race.

Each candidate wanted the support of Wallis who is the best fund-raiser for campaigns the state has seen in a long time. Wallis, who had been endeavoring to get some action on welfare legislation for months, seized this opportunity to get results. The law, which was not liked by politicians because it required politics to be taken out, and merit and experience be the qualifications of employees of state welfare institutions, was passed at the special session.

The special session to enact the legislation was called by Governor Chandler because Wallis demanded it and told him that, if this was not done immediately, he would accept the finance chairmanship for Barkley's senatorial campaign.

Wallis cited a case to the editor of this column, where a superintendent of one of the welfare hospitals had been caught asleep three times on the job and was guilty of rank insubordination. The superintendent told the man he was discharged one afternoon. The employe told him he couldn't fire him, and the next morning reported for work, saying he had been to Frankfort and seen "Dan" and was to still have his job. The provisions of the new Welfare Bill will eliminate this practice.

Through the carelessness of an enrolling clerk, Bill BI, which was intended to be known as the Chandler-Wallis Bill, has no name. The paragraph: "This act shall be known and cited as the Chandler-Wallis Act," was left out of the bill signed by the Governor.

There is much talk, here in Frankfort, of the Highway department's plan to buy two bridges across the Ohio river at Covington for $7,500,000. It is claimed that there is no need for haste in buying the bridges, that each year that passes will enable them to buy the bridges for less, as the time draws closer for the two state-owned bridges on each side to become free of tolls; that the state paid only $1,800,000 for the C. & O. bridge which is a better bridge than the 90-year-old suspension bridge the Highway Department plans to purchase for $5,000,000.

A new angle was given to this column on the Labor Board trial at London. It is rumored that the federal prosecution is too tough, the coal operators, swinging a lot of votes, will back Chandler--if not, they will back Barkley.

FLASH: The Model Registration Law, which was aimed primarily at the machine controlled vote in Louisville and Jefferson county, will not be enforced in the August primary. This is an unfortunate blow to Governor Chandler's chances, and was caused by a legal twist which will cost him some votes. The reason it will not be enforced is, the Jefferson circuit court declared it invalid and when the Court of Appeals rules on it, 30 days is permitted to file a petition for rehearing. The Appellate Court adjourns June 24, until September. The 30-day period will be up some time after June 24, and unless the court files a mandate decision, the law will not be effective for the September primary.

A lot of people's feet will be sore but their thumbs will be sore for a reason--the new motor law passed by the General Assembly is effective the first of this month. It bids pedestrians to solicit the highways. The hitch-hikers no more roam the highways of Kentucky.

WILL BOXES LEAK OR STRETCH?

In black and crimson letters Commissioner Frederick A. Wallis proclaims a Democratic meeting in honor of Governor Chandler, to be held at Hopkinsville, Saturday, June 25. The unique feature of the placard is contained in a box which states, "Every individual sealed box will contain--sandwich, cheese sandwich, doughnuts (all wrapped in cellophane), potato chips, oranges, apples, bananas, ice cream, individual cartons, soft drinks, 100 barrels of ice water, scattered throughout grounds."

The Commissioner, who does things in a big way, invites you to red letters to bring your family shake hands with your Governor and expects 20,000 people there from the first and second districts.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

HORSE, BRIDLE AND SADDLE

We have so changed our standard of values that only the middle-aged will know what today's essay is about before reading it. There was a time, a rather long one, when every boy of respectable parents was given a horse, bridle, and a saddle on his twenty-first birthday. This was his start in the world; he could saddle his nag and ride forth to conquer the world, like a knight of old. Society regarded this as a handsome start for a young man, and it was. With his strong arm and his horse he could make his way in the world. Land was abundant and practically free. The frontier was calling to all the restless younger generation. Given this start, almost any boy might soon be the owner of a quarter-section of land, which he might hope to add to as his own family grew up about him. And to each successive boy who became a man there would be given a horse, a bride, and a saddle. Each boy expected it; few families of the middle class could not afford it.

How delightful the old custom of setting up the newly-married couple in their first housekeeping! Her parents usually gave a cow and some chickens; both families gave feather-beds and pillows and quilts and sometimes furniture. The dowry as such has long ago vanished, but a family pride saw to it that each new couple had an even break with the world.

Some of us lived just when this ancient custom was passing. Since I was the youngest boy, I barely got in on this tradition. But my step was a little red mule named Jenny, and I bought the saddle myself with the money I made raising onions. Anyway, I was able to cash in on the custom a bit early, for I sold Jenny when I was 18, and went to school on the money. Thus Jenny was the steed that I rode away to distant lands beyond the horizon, not a very beautiful or valuable one but connected with a fine old tradition.

Many fathers that I knew as a boy would talk with pride in their declining years in some such fashion: "Me and Mary was purty pure when we got married, but I had my horse, and she had her cow and some chickens. We started keeping house in a log cabin, with just a jacob for a bed. But we worked hard, and, I gum, I give ever' one of my boys a horse, bridle, and a saddle when he was twenty-one year old." A familiar formula to the old-timers, a strange rigmarole to youngsters; but only another illustration of how impossible it often becomes for one generation to talk understandingly to another. How can you and I make our children understand the value of a buggy, when they are used to the family car? What would they think to hear Grandpa brag about buying a new surrey?

Human affection for children has in no way changed; we have merely changed the ways of showing it. Your boys and girls go forth to conquer the world today, not on a horse properly bridled and saddled, but equipped, well or poorly, with an education that must be their means of finding their way in an age when free land no longer exists. And, let us hope, they too will provide whatever has again taken the place of horse, bride, and caddle for those who come after them.

Ruby Prater, of Salyersville, a young man and married, this week, because of the shutting down of a W. P. Only the fact that Ruby had left last week to accept work at Winchester prevented him from becoming a seamstress.

JUST A REMINDER

We know there was a lot of objections and they was in right, when the one red light was used in the city because it did not serve its purpose. A child was struck Memorial Day accidentally not killed. We believe a light at Mill street in the east end of the city and the Scott and Taber corner to be one of the best and safest ways of preventing fast driving in our city.

All you have to do is ask the pedestrians and they will tell you the lights are the things they look for and failing to see them they think the city is open for fast driving. Morehead with less than 1-3 of the people we have and they have their lights and it has worked wonders and there must be something to do here, and we just mention this as a reminder and for you to study over and talk about. --Carter County News.

NO DEPRESSION IN MAGOFFIN

There is evidently plenty of work for all the graduates of our county high schools for 1938. Either that or those graduates do not want work. Also, the teachers of the county school system are well-satisfied with their income. We base these conclusions on the lack of response to a full-page ad which we had in last week's issue. In order to see if anyone in the class mentioned in that ad needs work, wants work and will work, we are again running that ad.--Salyersville Independent.

GOOD ONE TOLD

Another good one told on another prominent Glasgow man involves a fortune-teller who guaranteed a mind-reading or no money. She was cute and pleasing to look upon. And the particular failing of the gentleman in question was just this type of beauty.

Taking his hand, she proceeded to read the lines. Quickly dropping his hand she planted a resounding slap upon his jaw. "I read your mind, you awful thing," she exclaimed, "and I will not have another thing to do with you; get out," she added with considerable emphasis.

Mr. X vows to this day his mind was a blank, and that he had no idea why he was slapped; in fact, he doesn't even remember the slap. --Glasgow Times.

Potatoes recently uncovered on the Lank Moore farm, two miles south of Pikeville, would hardly quality for the open market. They were petrified--turned into stone.

Agricultural Beliefs In Floyd

One of the strangest superstitions in the county, he claimed, was that of farmers who diagnosed such cattle ailments as indigestion, infected udder, or hydrophobia, as "holler tail," or "holler horn." Many farmers, he said, claimed their cattle sick because in their tails would be a natural soft spot which was present during the entire life of the cow.

Remedies used by many farmers after this diagnosis, he said, were the splitting of the cow's tail; the boring of a hole in her horn and filling it with turpentine and salt; the splitting of a cow's brisket with a pine splint.

Many cases so diagnosed and treated resulted in the greatest possible damage to the cow's health, County Agent said. He added that on many field trips he had seen cattle were discovered treated with grease-rag, which merely added to their suffering from serious diseases. In so affecting cattle, he said, were superstitions that, if a cow did chew her cud, a dirty grease-rag should be placed in her mouth, and it was necessary a cow should be placed in a placental covering of the calf after its birth.

The grease-rag and the placental covering are indigestible, the agent said, and harmful to the cow. He explained that the cow's refusal to chew her cud, however, usually denoted a serious ailment such as indigestion, constipation, or a harmful change of food.

It is instinctive for a cow to eat the placental covering, he explained, and her method of life before doing so when it was eaten to the predatory animals discovered the traces of birth, thereby prolonging the life of her calf.

Other superstitions concerning stock, he said, were, the "sign" to be below the knee before a cow can be safely castrated; that a grass-lined knife is fatal; and that if the hog has been recently mated, castration will surely prove fatal.

To the belief of many Floyd county farmers that fertilizer "kills" the soil, he answered, "The year fertilizer is first used, crops make extra good growth. The next year, without fertilizer, crop production drops back to normal, causing many farmers to think their soil fertility has been lessened."

He answered the belief that fertilizer hurts crops during a dry season with the statement, "careful tests have proven fertilized plants have withstood drought, giving a larger yield than unfertilized ones. Lack of rainfall, not fertilizer, was the cause of poor growth. Actually, fertilizer gives a greater percentage increase in production in a dry season than a wet season."

The County Agent said that, although all superstitions mentioned were prevalent in Floyd county, they were also widely known in other sections of the state, many communities having different planting dates, based on the moon, by which they planted their crops.

Even many farmers believe crops should be planted in the dark of the moon as well as in the light of the moon, as if the moon did not shine the same throughout the state.

The Agent stated that the Rothenscheid experiment station in England, founded by the Church for agricultural purposes, had kept accurate records for 200 years and had not yet found a change of crop growth due to planting in different phases of the moon.

In Floyd, he added, many farmers believe that if a hog is killed at the wrong time, the fat when rendered will produce no grease. The time of the hog's death, the Agent said, did not affect the production of lard, which was merely a result of the hog's feeding and the water it had drunk shortly before death.

In connection with this belief, he said, a few farmers believed that sausage from a hog killed at the wrong time would produce no grease when cooked. He said that the sharpness of the mill with which the sausage was ground affected the amount of grease. He added that a dull mill could only seal fat in the meat by mangling the cells instead of opening them cleanly as a sharp-bladed mill would do.

Also prevalent in the county, he claimed, was the superstition that driving a nail in a hog-trough prevented infection of the hog by kidney worms.

He said that many of the superstitions, especially those by which farmers dated their actions by phases of the moon, originated in the Middle Ages when the clergy, whom he termed to be the only "County Agents" of that period, were the sole possessors of calendars, and the keepers of data.

It was then the custom, he explained, for farmers to ask a clergyman a suitable time for the planting of his crops, and as the laymen reckoned time by feast days, such as Christmas, Easter, or Good Friday, the clergyman would give him a planting date with reference to the feast day.

Other farmers, who shunned the advice of clergymen, the County Agent said, based the time for the planting of their crops on the moon itself, knowing that regular cycles from full moon to new moon, regularly occurred although they had no calendars at that time. These farmers, he said used the "signs" of their own bodies for a calendar, which now, as signs of the zodiac, are found in almanacs.

SHELBY WINS IN FIFTEEN FRAMES

Turns Back Wayland By Seven to Six Score In Thriller

Shelby's undefeated baseball team turned back Wayland Sunday, but it took the railroaders fifteen innings to turn the trick, 7 to 6.

Wayland got the first earned run of the current season off of Shelby's star hurler, England. England struck out 10 of Wayland's batters in eight innings, when he gave up the pitching duties to young Sullivan, who pitched very effective ball the remaining seven innings. Wallace went the full 15 innings for Wayland and 13 of the Shelby batters went out by the strike-out route. Johnson and Jones furnished the batting power for Shelby with three hits each and in the 15th inning Johnson led off with a single and Venters sacrificed him to second and Jones came thru with a hit to left.

Ratliff and Jones were the chief stick men for Wayland, Jones collecting two singles and a double while Ratliff had two triples. The hustling young Shelby team refused to give up to defeat. Going into the ninth Shelby was trailing, 4 to 2. Johnson hit, and so did Venters. They were sacrificed along to third and second by R. Conley and both scored on Jones drive to left, tying the score.

In the first of the tenth Wayland got a run and Shelby came in on their half and tied it up again, and he same thing happened in the 12th and also in the 14th. Sullivan tied the hands of Wayland in the first half of the 15th frame and Shelby won the game in their half.

It was the fourth extra inning game Shelby has won this year.

REDLEGS BEATEN BY WHEELWRIGHT

Three Runs In Twelfth Gives Beaver Boys A Win

Pikeville's Redlegs were given a beating by Wheelwright Sunday in a 12-inning ball game that packed plenty of thrills. The Beaver Creek boys scored three runs in the twelfth to win, 9 to 6.

Wheelwright rallied in the eighth to tie the count and it was 6 to 6 at the end of the regulation period.

One of the highlights of the game was a home plate steal by Paul Caudill, Pike center fielder. His theft gave the Redlegs their initial counter.

Completion of the first quarter of play in the Big Sandy baseball league finds the youthful Shelby team at the top of the standings with six victories and no defeats: Pikeville second and Paintsville, Wheelwright and Wayland tied for third place.

Four of Shelby's six wins were achieved in extra-inning games, giving the other clubs in the league confidence they can crack the leaders' winning streak.

Some of the clubs down in the standing have added new blood and may prove troublesome between now and July 10, when the first half ends.

Wayland, Paintsville and Pikeville all promise to have much stronger teams than their present standings indicate.

BEER DEALERS TO BE "OUT OF LUCK"

Frankfort, Ky., June 7—C. M. C. Porter, Malt Beverage Administrator of the Department of Revenue, reported today that only a few hundred applications for beer licenses have been received.

Porter said there were nearly 7,000 beer retailers in the State. Each of these is required to secure a new license from the Department of Revenue to do business July 1. No applicant for beer license is entitled to credit for any fee which he may have paid to the county or city to sell beer at retail. Applications for license must be received by June 15. Porter said, if licenses are to be issued by the date required, county court clerks cannot issue beer licenses as heretofore.

Porter said that it would be illegal for any retailer to buy, sell or possess beer without a license after July 1, and that the license of any distributor might be revoked for selling to a retailer who is not properly licensed.

DAY AND NIGHT AMBULANCE SERVICE

"RICHMOND TO THE OHIO!"

IN ITS first ten years, from 1837 to 1847, the Louisa Railroad's track was laid only from Doswell to Gordonsville in Virginia. However, far-seeing people realized the value of this line—though none could imagine that it was to become the great trunk line you know as the Chesapeake and Ohio.

Q. As early as 1839, Claudius Crozet, then Principal Engineer of the State of Virginia, pointed to the Louisa as "a railroad of great importance" and declared a crossing of the Blue Ridge mountains possible. By 1847 the valiant little road poorly financed and impeded by unfriendly interests, none the less made bold plans for its future. It would cross the mountain barrier, with the Ohio River as its goal... would extend the line westward via Charlottesville... and, since an important east-west trunk line must have a tide water connection, would extend eastward to an independent terminus at Richmond.

Q. "Richmond to the Ohio!" Brave words for the directors of such an infant line. But they were not to be stopped by public indifference, troublesome injunctions, or lack of funds. Granted a charter, they undertook to extend the Richmond—27 miles—by no other means than a subscription of $38,000 by individuals.

Q. A vision of service... zeal... unity of purpose... qualities in those railroad pioneers made a branch into a great railroad. And such qualities form which today guides the Chesapeake and Ohio in relations with the public in the extensive territory.

Give Program At District Odd Fellows Conclave At Martin

Proving that native ballads and chants typical of this section are appreciated at home as well as "abroad," a group of the Floyd County Plainsong Chanters, accompanied by Mrs. Edith Fitzpatrick James, their organizer, attended the district meeting of Odd Fellows at Martin last week.

Their program featured the rendition of "Hark From the Tombs" by Former Senator William Dingus. Others in the group were Albert Hall, Sam Laferty, John Hyden, Theodore Holbrook, Jay Salyers and Tom James.

The Chanters, unsponsored by any organization, have had their trips made possible by donations from the following groups and individuals:

Kentucky Society in Washington; Senator Alben W. Barkley; Congressman A. J. May; John Yost, Pikeville; Paintsville Bank; Dr. M. J. Leete; K. W. Fife, and Paintsville garages which furnished the gas and oil for the cars used by the Chanters on their recent trip to Washington where they appeared in the National Folk Festival.

these proceedings and will be prepared then and there to present their claims and make settlements of their accounts.

SHIKE'S POKES

"OH, THEY'LL TAKE ME OUT TO THE BALL GAME"

Aside to Jimmy Goble, we expect you out to the ball game at Prestonsburg Saturday afternoon.

NO TAKERS

I must have been off Sunday. I tried every way to start an argument on the Senator's race, but couldn't.

SHIKE WONDERS

I see where the Republicans have endorsed Mr. Turner from Paintsville for Senator—Wonder if that will get the Happy badges off any of them.

F. D. R.'s COMING

Now we've got something—Franklin D. Roosevelt is coming to Kentucky July 8 for a speech at Covington, Ky., and he'll be in "Our Domain" for four days, speaking at Paducah, Lexington and Louisville.

TURN ABOUT

Every W. P. A. worker in this section has received a letter from Mr. Hopkins, advising that he can vote for whom he pleases in this or any other election, and that if anyone coerces him, to report it to Washington. Now let's see the highway department put out a letter like that.

BUY A MULE

If you drive a new automobile over this Left Beaver road steady for a month, "It looks like an accident going somewhere to happen."

HOW ABOUT WATCHMEN?

I don't guess we should kick on our road after hearing from Rowan county, I have an uncle that lives in Morehead and he advises that roads

WARNING

Don't say I didn't warn you, but "Pike County" is a doubtful one in are in a H— of a fix. The state is remedying that though, for they hired one maintenance foreman last week—and 17 assistant foremen.

AND AS USELESS

If this goes on "Assistant Foremen" will be as numerous as "Kentucky Colonels."

YOU'LL GET STUNG

I see wher; Harlan county, under the Middleton Regime had a "Bee Inspector." Wonder if I couldn't get that job in Floyd county?

SEZ SHIKE

Norman Allen must have "some pull." They're black-topping a road up by Hueysville.

SEZ SHIKE AGAIN

I'll have a "black-top road" up by my "log cabin" when John Young Brown takes over the reins as Kentucky's Governor.

WHAT POT?

I am advised that Herbert Hoover is out for President again in 1940. Maybe we can get our "Pot" back that we lost with them two chickens.

SO'S HOOVER

If Hoover runs we predict that Maine and Vermont, also "that man's" domain will be doubtful.

HOW MUCH?

I'll bet "Ole Jo Buck's Jam" is proud of that "Round-up Stretch."

'TTON'T WILT

That Republican committee that picked a man from Johnson county to run for Senator was smart—they wanted to make sure he'd carry his home county. They'll never forget what happened to the Kansas Sunflower in Kansas. The Senator's race.

SO'D P'BURG

If the "C" Reds should win the National league pennant, Drift would be there in a body for the series.

DO TELL

Jimmy Goble talking about it being so long since he rode the rails, reminded me of an old woman from Leslie county that the officers had brought out as a witness in a trial at Jackson, Ky. She offered the conductor a dollar more to "make it lope like a horse."

Aged Magoffin Minister, Friend of Wilson, Dies Among 'Adopted' People

Personal friend and classmate of ex-President Woodrow Wilson, the Rev. G. E. Moore, 73, Magoffin county man, succumbed at his home on Brushy Creek last week, after living half a lifetime as he wished—with his "adopted people" in Eastern Kentucky.

Offered a powerful appointment by President Wilson when he was first elected to office, the Reverend Moore, holder of a doctor of philosophy degree from Princeton University, rejected the offer to eke out a meagre existence in the Magoffin hills.

It was his boast that he had eaten most every kind of flesh. During the past few months, however, he was reduced to practical starvation, giving many of the donations made him by friends to others whom he considered less fortunate, seldom saving enough for his own needs.

here this week-end is the following letter, often reprinted, written during the World War by the wife of a soldier:

Mr. Army Headquarters, U. S. Army.

Dear Mr. Headquarters: My husband was induced into the surfaces long months ago and ain't received no pay from him sence he was gone. Please send me my elopement as I have a four months old baby and he is my only support and I kneed it every day to by food and keep us enclosed. I am a poor woman and all I have is at the front. Both sides of my parents are very old and I can expect anything from them as my mother has been in bed for 13 years with one doctor and she wont take another. My husband is in charge of a spit-toon. Do I get any more than I am going to get? Please send me a letter and tell me if my husband made a application for a wife and child and please send me a wife's form to fill out. I have already written to Mr. Wilson and got no answer and, if I don't here from you I will write Uncle Sam about you to him.

Very truly, Mrs.—P. Q.

P. S. My husband says he sits in the Y. M. C. A. every nite with the piano playing with his uniform. I think you can find him there.

FLEWED, LOST AND LANDED

Brought to E. S. Dotson here this week was an exhausted carrier pigeon, found by boys, with the following inscribed on a metal tag around its leg: "AU36EPC211." A rubber band on the other leg bore the inscription: "912-494N." We'd notify the organization, by which it was evidently released, that the bird could be found here if we were smart enough to unravel all those hieroglyphics.
