Continuance of Health Department Provided for Year by Action

ANNEX FIRST FLOOR FOR SCHOOL BOARD

Beer, Whisky License Fees, Tax Levies Set For County

At a meeting of the fiscal court last week, $2,250 was appropriated for the continuance of the Floyd county health department for the fiscal year beginning July 1. Dr. John G. Archer was employed for the fiscal year to treat inmates of the Floyd county jail, indigents in and around Prestonsburg, and all insane persons who may come before the court.

At the same meeting, the license fee for the retail sale of beer was placed at $20; for the retail sale of liquor, $100.

The court voted to set aside the entire first floor of the right-hand annex of the courthouse as permanent quarters for the county board of education.

Retention of the Prestonsburg housekeeping aid project and the Martin training work center, both of which were recently discontinued by the WPA, was voted by the fiscal court at a previous meeting.

The Prestonsburg project employs 13 persons, and at Martin, 23 are employed. If suitable rooms are unavailable at present, the court voted to provide quarters for the purpose of the projects.

Also voted were levies of $150 on each $100 worth of real estate and tangible property for the Prestonsburg school tax; 10 cents on each $100 worth of real and personal property for sinking fund purposes, and 10 cents on each $100 worth of bank shares.

The court will sponsor a project for the construction of a farm-to-market road from Hippo, up the left fork of Brush Creek, to the Magoffin county line, and will lend any reasonable assistance toward the immediate construction of the road. WPA aid is expected for this project.

200 UNEMPLOYED AT GARRETT MINE

Resumption of Work at Mine Near Here Indefinitely Postponed

Although the union shop contract between the operators of this district and the U.M.W.A. has been signed for more than a week, several hundred Floyd county miners are temporarily unemployed.

More than two hundred miners were laid off last week by the Elk Horn Coal Corporation, at Garrett.

Sandy Valley Coal Company, Watergap, Prestonsburg's nearest operation, will be idle indefinitely, according to J. R. Hurt, superintendent. About 150 men are affected. Work at this mine was halted before the expiration of the old contract, and workers who were employed there at the time of the shut-down are receiving unemployment compensation. This group is one of the few in the county who are receiving the jobless benefits.

Tension continues to abate in Harlan county, and now 6,650 of the county's miners—almost half of the working population—are in the union fold. Troops were removed from mine properties where work was scheduled to begin again, and many of them have already gone home.

W. C. Burrow, Commissioner of Industrial Relations, resigned Monday in protest against the use of troops in Harlan. J. C. Kane, member of the State Apprentice Council, also sent his resignation to Governor Chandler, because he could not "condone the use of troops in Harlan county."

ONE DEAD, 1 HURT IN GLO SLATEFALL

Burkett Dies of Injuries Sustained on Mine Labor Trip

A slatefall in the mine of the Glo-gora Coal Company at Glo early Monday morning resulted in the death of one miner and the serious injury of another.

Everett Burkett, 41, former resident of Cow Creek, near here, died at the Stumbo Memorial hospital, Lackey, at 9:15 o'clock Monday morning, two hours after being injured. Billy Hall, also 41, was said Tuesday to have an excellent chance of recovery. He was taken to the Paintsville hospital.

Five other men on a "labor trip" into the mine with Burkett and Hall miraculously escaped injury as a slab of slate 14 feet long, eight feet wide and several inches thick dropped onto the car which they were riding. Both Burkett and Hall were crushed internally, it was said.

Burkett's body was returned to Glo, and funeral rites were conducted Wednesday morning from the Baptist Church at Martin Branch. Burial was made on Cow Creek.

PNEUMONIA IS FATAL TO SECOND RESIDENT OF EMMA IN TWO DAYS

Mrs. Rebecca J. Harris, wife of Ed Harris, died at her home at Emma Saturday of pneumonia, within 48 hours of the death of her neighbor, Marion Sherman, from the same disease.

Born in 1876, the daughter of Wesley Martin and Mary Clarke Martin, she was 62 years old and a member of a well-known Floyd county family. She is survived by her husband and several children.

Funeral rites were conducted from the home Sunday, the Rev. Isaac Stratton officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery under the direction of the Arnold Funeral home.

WATER COMPANY DEAL INCOMPLETE

Definite Arrangements Expected To Be Reached This Week

The city of Prestonsburg's essay at purchase of the Prestonsburg Water Company continued this week in the "dickering" stage, with the money available but the amount to be asked by E. S. Mayes, head of the water company, and the sum to be offered by the city matters, remaining to be stated.

Ex-Mayor Arthur C. Carter said Wednesday morning that Mr. Mayes was expected to be present at a city council meeting that night when a more definite understanding is expected to be reached.

From within the council itself opposition developed last week to purchase of the company at the hinted price.

Mr. Carter said a contract had been entered into, with a bonding company for the financing of the company's purchase over a period of 25 years, leaving to be reached only an agreement as to the price of the water system.

COURT POSTPONES COAL SUIT RULING

$374,800 Damages Sought In Federal Court From Floyd Company

A case in which the Beaver Coal & Mining Company, Toledo, O., is seeking $374,800 damages from the Turner-Elkhorn Mining Company, J. D. Turner and others was continued, without a date being set, under an agreed order in federal district court, Lexington, Monday.

The petition, filed July 16, set out that the Ohio firm owned coal on two tracts of land on Left Beaver Creek and charged that the Turner-Elkhorn Company mined and removed 85,000 tons of coal from the land without having the right to do so.

It was further charged that the company, by its "irregularities and negligent manner" destroyed at least

FLOYD FISCAL COURT OKEHS DISTRIBUTION OF WPA COMMODITIES

Lending its full endorsement to the distribution of surplus commodities, under WPA direction, the Floyd fiscal court recently wrote A. H. Bornwasser, state commodity distribution, that this service has been of real benefit to the county. The court's letter follows:

"We, the members of the Floyd county fiscal court, want to go on record as favoring the continued distribution of Federal Surplus Commodities to the needy families of our county. Your department is doing a fine job as is evidenced by the favorable attitude of recipients, their anxiety to receive any and all types of commodities and to actually use them to advantage.

"Recently we have observed the distribution of grapefruit in our county and, remembering the first time it was received a year or so ago, there is a difference now, they go for it in a big way. Actually some of our families would walk 10 or more miles for this

NEW RULE MADE ON WPA PAVING

Property-Owners To Be Asked To Pay for Half of Materials

According to a new WPA ruling, one-half the cost of materials for street and sidewalk paving is to be met by persons whose property will be involved, A. C. Carter said this week.

The Prestonsburg projects which have already been completed with WPA aid cost the residents less than 10 per cent of the cost of materials, Mr. Carter added. He urges those who might desire work to be done while one-half the costs will be borne by WPA to co-operate, as another change might require them to pay all expense outside of labor.

Another recent ruling cited by Mr. Carter provides for the assessment of costs from any person whose unwillingness to share his portion of the expenses might hold up work on any paving project.

PEN MAN, WOMAN IN DEATH OF GIRL

Two Convicted in Pike for Slaying of Former P'Burg Resident

Convicted by a Pike circuit court jury last week in connection with the death last September of Kathleen Francis, 18-year-old former resident of Prestonsburg, Mrs. Emma England Williamson and Joe Coleman were each sentenced to three years in the state reformatory. Alex Adkins, on trial in the same case, was freed on a directed verdict. R. W. Rowe and Ann Taylor are yet to be tried.

When the body of the slain girl was discovered on the highway about four miles south of Pikeville, shortly after 3 o'clock Sunday morning, September 11, a hit-run autoist was suspected. An investigation, however, revealed she had received injuries in a brawl at a roadhouse, of which Mrs. Williamson was manager.

The commonwealth contended that the girl, after she was injured in the fight, went outside the building, where she was beaten by Coleman, who was urged on by Mrs. Williamson. Miss Francis then, it was stated, started walking down the road toward Pikeville and Rowe started after her in his car. Later she was found dying on the highway.

NEST CONFESSION

Wrong again! Or yet? Well, anyway, our coal contract settlement headline last week said the miners signed the "open shop" contract; the newspaper story following it was the "union shop" provision. Some of the boys might have thought—in an unguarded moment they might have thought—THE TIMES was intentionally in error. But every miner—and every operator, too—"in the know" knew better. Or did they know the thing so well they couldn't imagine anybody else getting mixed up about it?

IDLE MINER PAY YET UNSETTLED

Long Legal Battle Seen Following Ruling Against Workers

Frankfort, Ky., May 15—Any immediate settlement in the controversy between Kentucky coal miners and the mine operators will leave unsettled the issue of whether the miners are entitled to draw unemployment compensation benefits during the period of their idleness while negotiations for a contract were being carried on, until a ruling is made on the question by the Kentucky Unemployment Compensation Commission and that decision perhaps tested through the courts of the state.

A ruling of this question by Special Agent Paul Buckholz held that the miners were not entitled to receive such unemployment insurance benefits on the ground that, the controversy between the miners and the operators was a "labor dispute" and because of this payment of benefits, were barred by the Kentucky Unemployment Insurance Law.

Rulings on the question must be forthcoming from A. M. Hall, Lexington attorney, who has been designated as a special referee to rule on an appeal taken from Agent Buckholz' decision by attorneys representing the United Mine Workers of America, which sought to obtain benefit payments for the idle miners. Referee Hall's decision must be reviewed and a formal ruling made by the Commission itself before the issue can be taken into the courts.

Contrary to a widely circulated news dispatch the announcement of Agent Buckholz' ruling was not made public until official notification of the decision had been forwarded to counsel for both the operators and the miners and a circular letter had been prepared and forwarded to district offices of the commission for distribution among the miners themselves in the coal areas of the state.

In a publication of the Social Security Board, the Daily Press Digest under date of April 25, summarized the situation as it then existed:

"Officials of eight soft coal producing states have ruled tentatively against payment of unemployment benefits to miners who are or may become idle as a result of the deadlock in negotiations for a new labor contract. Only one state—Pennsylvania—has definitely allowed benefits. Decisions against payment of benefits to miners were reported from Illinois, West Virginia, Utah, New Mexico, Colorado, Iowa, Arkansas and Indiana. In Virginia, Governor Price said relief applications from 18,000 idle miners would be considered individually and New Jersey (which has a large number of coal handlers) and Ohio indicated they would follow the same course. Arkansas officials said insurance payments would depend upon the cause of work-stoppage, but no miner would receive relief grants. A ruling on unemployment benefits for the idle miners was expected in Alabama during the coming week and Kentucky has appointed a special agent to determine whether idle miners are entitled to benefits."

Since publication of this article Kentucky temporarily joined those states refusing to pay unemployment insurance benefits to miners because of the decision of the special agent of the commission. This decision will continue in effect until it has either been affirmed or reversed by the referee, the commission and the courts.

THE GARDEN

By JOHN S. GARDNER
Kentucky College of Agriculture

THE VINE CROPS

The vine crops comprise cucumbers, squashes, cantaloupes, and watermelons. Because they resemble each other throughout, they can well be discussed together.

In their fertility requirements, all are just medium, about that needed for 30-bushel corn. Gardens that have been given 10 tons of manure and 300 pounds of superphosphate, acre-rates, should grow these crops well. If commercial fertilizer is to be depended upon, it should be 4-12-4, 500 pounds to the acre.

Watermelons, cushaws and other running squashes as well as the larger cantaloupes should be put in "hills," spaced in squares, two plants each, of from 10 feet to 6 feet, but the others are best raised in continuous rows, 3 feet apart for bush squash and cucumbers and from 4 to 5 feet for cantaloupes, with a final stand of 18 inches. Manure may be put under the seed or not, but the roots soon reach the soil beyond.

The average time for starting all vine crops is May 1 to May 20.

As for varieties to use, the choice is legion, but these are generally accepted in Kentucky as suitable:

Cucumbers for slicing, any white-spine; for pickling, any black-spine; or for both, the dual purpose Long Green.

SQUASHES—As "cymbblings," White Bush (patty-pan) or Garden Summer Straightneck. An excellent cymbling is Acorn, which when mature, makes a superior squash for winter storing. For baking, Green Cushaw is most popular, in late summer and for winter, but Kitchenette, or any of the "Marrow" types, or Essex Hybrid, excel, too. For winter storing, under conditions cushaw might fail to keep, any of the Hubbard types are suggested as having "character" and flavor no other squashes have. Of cantaloupes, the netted gem sorts still continue the most popular, but Honey Ball, containing Casaba "blood" is coming to the fore. For later cantaloupes, Tip Top cannot be beat except possibly by Bender's Surprise, somewhat more uniform than its Tip Top parent.

Of watermelons, Stone Mountain is best, in this writer's opinion, though Kleckley and Dixie Queen and Thurmond's Grey have their protagonists. Growers whose watermelons succumb to the wilt disease, carried in the soil, will be glad to learn that wilt-resistant strains of both Stone Mountain and Kleckley may be found at the larger seed-houses.

The two main insects are plant lice and the cucumber beetle, with sometimes the spotted cucumber beetle doing a slight damage. The control of these insects is detailed in Kentucky Extension Circular No. 309.

A disease common to all vine crops is blight, which causes the leaves to blacken and drop off. Its control is effected by spraying with Bordeaux mixture, described earlier in this column, and in Circular 309.

A serious disease of watermelons, but attacking none of the other vine crops is wilt, described above where watermelon varieties were named.

More living on porches is advocated by Miss Ida Hagman, home economist at the Kentucky College of Agriculture. Ninety per cent of Kentucky homes have porches that can be used comfortably for six months in the year, she declares.

Fabrics that have been specially treated to develop crease resistance should be carefully washed. Like silk or wool, they should be laundered in lukewarm water with neutral soap. Hot water and strong soap destroy their resistance to wrinkle resistance.

To mention a few, Bee Mayo, former Floyd countian, founded East Texas Normal College, at Commerce, Texas; Judge W. P. Leslie is a member of the Texas Court of Appeals; Josiah Combs, a native Knott countian, is a professor at University of Texas; J. H. Hicks was formerly a prominent teacher at Orange, Texas; Prof. Marion J. Mayo, formerly of Prestonsburg, is now at St. Louis; Joe Bates, of Knott county, is the present U. S. Congressman from the Ninth Kentucky district; Green Howard, Floyd native, is a former judge of Elliott county and a representative from that district; Woods Allen was formerly jailer of Greenup county.

In Denver, Colorado, the paths of two Eastern Kentuckians have crossed. One now occupies the mayor's seat of Denver, and desires to keep it another term. The other is determined to unseat him and occupy the chair himself. The former is a native of Paintsville; the latter was born at Hindman, county seat of Knott county.

Denver is the scene of a Kentucky feud, but this time it will be settled with ballots instead of bullets; the air is filled, not with hot lead, but with hot words.

Present mayor and candidate for reelection is Benjamin F. Stapleton who was born in Paintsville, November 12, 1873. He went to public school there and later to National Normal University, Lebanon, O.

Instead of following his first choice and becoming a teacher, he studied law, and later went to Denver, where he was admitted to the bar. He enlisted in the Spanish-American War and was sent to the Philippines. After an enviable record with his comrades in the Colorado volunteers he returned to Denver and began his political career. He was first elected Police Magistrate, stepping-stone for many a prominent public official, and was later appointed postmaster. He served in this position from 1915 to 1921 when he resigned to go into the oil business where fortune smiled on him and enabled him to accumulate holdings which today bring him a large annual income.

In 1923 he returned to politics and was elected mayor of Denver, serving until 1931, when he ran for and was elected State Auditor. He again ran for mayor in 1935 and was again successful. He has built a strong personal political machine that some say rules not only the city but also the state.

He has made no formal statement in his present campaign regarding a platform but has established a four-point program on which to base his appeal to the people:

To encourage business in an effort to reduce unemployment; to keep taxes low; to keep gambling out of Denver, and to enforce the laws without favor.

Only opponent who is conceded to have a chance against this master politician is Guy Martin, prominent South Denver business man. Martin was born at Hindman, in Knott county, in 1895. At the age of 21 he left the state and went to Colorado with his wife and two children, where he homesteaded on the plains. For a year he lived in a dugout against the side of a hill before he accumulated enough money to build himself a cabin.

Close To Heaven.

"When I reached Colorado, I thought these barren plains were close to heaven," he has said. "It was peaceful and quiet and all my neighbors were my friends."

He started his business career as a clerk in a general store at Akron, a small town about 30 miles from his homestead. Later he went to Denver, leaving his family in Akron until he was able to provide a home for them. Broke, a park bench in downtown Denver was his "hotel" for several days until he was able to find employment stacking lumber at a local lumberyard.

Martin was successful in his new job and eventually was able to start a small concern of his own. Failing to get the co-operation of his stockholders, he sold out and started the Guy Martin Lumber Company, a flourishing business which he owns exclusively.

Deals Also in Real Estate.

In addition to his lumber business, he has been quite

For a number of years Martin has taken an increasingly active interest in municipal government affairs. He has been especially successful in campaigns for economy in city government and has been a vigorous advocate of tax reduction. He is vice-president of the South Denver Civic Association, an organization of business men of city-wide influence.

He admits that he is no politician and argues that it is time politics was taken out of city government. In contrast to his opponent, Martin claims that Stapleton has almost doubled the cost of city government since 1935.

Birthplace Vs. Success.

Will their birthplaces decide the success of the present mayoralty campaign and perhaps their future success? It is interesting to note that the little town of Denver, Ky., is only eight miles from Stapleton's birthplace. White House is also in "running" distance—only 10 miles away.

Martin can make no such claim to prominence for his home town and would probably dislike to have the matter brought up. But a survey of the vicinity of Hindman shows villages of Lost Creek, Quicksand and Dwarf. If in his campaign he makes use of a "Dirk," which is also near Hindman, Stapleton will probably respond with "Tomahawk," and as a clincher add "Prosperity," both of which are within a few miles of his birthplace.

Clear Creek Rockets Zoom On In Big Sandy Loop Van

The Clear Creek "Rockets" are still riding high on top of the Big Sandy league by winning a 11-7 slug-fest over Wayland, Sunday afternoon.

Ray Patton, the sensational Wayland rookie, who had allowed only two hits in his two previous games, was blasted out of the box in 1-1-3 innings. Lloyd Stumbo, Clear Creek's ace twirler, was also retired from the mound, Wayland getting to him for four runs in the fourth stanza. Ballard Moore, who relieved Stumbo, held Wayland to three runs and seven scattered hits for the remainder of the game, and received credit for the win.

The "Rockets" scored twice in each of the first two innings. Wayland tied the count with four in the fourth, but Clear Creek came back with three runs in their half of the same inning, three in the sixth and one more score in the eighth. Wayland scored one in the seventh and two in the eighth to wind up four runs behind.

Johnson, with a single, a double and a triple out of five times up led the Clear Creek attack. Kit and George Stumbo got three hits each, while Jess Ratliff and Jack Branham hit the apple the same number of times for Wayland.

In running their string of four straight victories, the Clear Creek boys have racked up a total of 41 runs and 50 hits, compiling a team batting average of .335. The second-place Wheelwright club plays at Clear Creek next Sunday. A win for Wheelwright would place the two teams in a tie for the league leadership.

Mining on the property will be carried on until the case is heard, it was stated.

Monday's order said engineers appointed for the purpose will report prior to July 1 how much coal has already been removed from the land, the Turner-Elkhorn Company to pay 10 cents a ton royalty. This money will be impounded by the court pending outcome of the case.

Icy Coma New Disease Weapon

89-Degree, 5-Day Sleep Effect Eyed

St. Louis, May 18—Like wildfire a new medical idea, human hibernation, is spreading among the thousands of doctors here for the annual meeting of the American Medical Association. They want to try it on heart disease, insanity, tuberculosis and ills representing the whole gamut from degenerative to infectious diseases.

All week they have been standing three deep, on tiptoe, in little rings around a motion picture in a small scientific booth seeing something that never before was done to human beings.

Temperature Drops to 90. The picture shows women, naked except for a loin cloth, being put to "sleep" like hibernating bears, by refrigeration. The hibernation exhibit is by Doctors Temple S. Fay and Lawrence W. Smith, of Philadelphia.

The women are stripped and covered with cracked ice like frozen fish. An electric fan is turned on. In three hours their internal temperatures are forced down below 90, usually to a rectal temperature of 89.

They literally go to sleep. The sleep is like the drowsiness that overcomes a freezing person, except these patients report none of the agonizing pains preceding freezing. Usually a pleasant drowsiness steals over them.

Awakened After Five Days. The room is kept cold so that when the ice is removed they stay cool like a bear in his winter cave. They are kept thus for five days. At the end they are awakened by hot coffee or warm applications. They arouse smiling, as if from sleep, and with no memory of what has happened different from completely dreamless sleep.

How much longer they could hibernate has not been tried. As many of 40 days of this sleep have been given in intermittent stretches covering several months, all with no bad effects but with good effects on hopeless cancer from which they all suffered.

However, it is not the cancer that amazes the doctors. Something else is evident which looks possibly like a great discovery.

Pulse Beat Disappears. The pulse beat disappears. Only the electrocardiograph shows the heart is still beating and that, amazingly, shows it is doing a perfect, even though a very easy, rhythm.

Their kidneys stop. Bowels and apparently all digestive works stop. But this, ordinarily a signal of approaching death, seems of no danger, because at the same time analysis of the blood shows it has ceased to fill up with waste products. There is nothing to eliminate.

Metabolism itself slows down 10 to 20 per cent. They should die of pneumonia but not one has ever shown a sign of pneumonia. They haven't caught cold or anything else whatever as yet. The germs in their body apparently slow down along with the entire organism.

Heart Given Rest. Heretofore when a patient's temperature dropped even close to 90 the physician has prepared to write a death certificate. The books taught that below 90 was impossible for life. The Philadelphians have carried one woman down to about 82, but did not leave her there long.

Speculating medical watchers say this is a new tool in the history of science. They say it ought to give the heart a complete rest, like nothing else can, and so, perhaps, prolong life in that way.

They point to the recent sensational treatments for insanity through insulin and camphor shock. There the patient sinks into a deep coma close to death and coma seems to be the cause of improvement.

Say Cold Coma Safer. Here, the speculating doctors say, is a coma safer, longer and apparently more restful, for insanity.

Tuberculosis is a germ disease. If, again, say the visiting physicians who watched this exhibit, the bacteria will slow down while tissues heal in hibernation, perhaps the body's defenses will be able to throw off tuberculosis when the sleeper awakens.

There is evidence in the experiments that the appearance of "repair tissue," which is normal healing, is not slowed down so fast as at least some disease processes.

If this is true, then hibernation might be tried on any kind of germ infection. Whether there will be a miraculous "differential" in any disease has yet to be learned.

Stops Cancer Growth. The Philadelphians tried this on hopeless cancer because experiments showed that cancer cells, cooled to 90 or a little under, do not afterward grow. This is a strange fact, because cancer cells frozen down even to 100 degrees below zero, are not killed, and grow again when warmed up.

The Philadelphia experiments indicate that young cells, which form 10 to 90 per cent of wildly growing cancer, are killed by 89 degrees. This result in the patients is decrease in size of cancer and in pain. The same relief can be had from X-rays. But death is only delayed. A few of the hopeless Philadelphia hibernation patients, however, are still living and comfortable.

Tried On Seven Patients.

Hibernation has been given to seven persons—five women and two men. All of these persons asked for the treatment for relief of pain; they were not experimental human guinea pigs. The hibernation has been given only since last October but was preceded by three years of local application of cold on 38 persons which proved that cold relieves pain and reduces cancer growth.

CAPITOL COMMENTS

The Derby is over and the Governor's race is hitting its stride.

In the coming primary, every candidate for Representative and Senator should be questioned on his stand on a pari-mutuel law. Every dollar that is bet on races should be taxed as they do in other states. It would bring a tremendous revenue to the state.

In an interview Frank Rogers, of the Florida Racing Commission, said, "The state of Florida receives over $2,000,000 a year from a three per cent tax on bets that is used for school purposes. And the public is assured the operators will only take out 10 per cent of the money and 1 per cent of that goes to the state. Kentucky needs this supervision and the proceeds of such a tax would lessen the tax burden on business and agriculture."

The two factions of the Democratic party are assiduously courting two key men for their support and influence in the coming campaign—Mayor Scholtz and his Louisville organization, and Senator Alben W. Barkley with the federal machine. Their support may mean the Democratic nomination.

Governor Chandler took Mayor Scholtz in his party to Hollywood to attend the opening of the picture, "Kentucky," and entertained Postmaster General Farley on Friday before the Derby.

A Republican candidate got the jump on all his opponents, Derby Day, when he had a big sign opposite the Brown hotel in the heart of downtown Louisville. It had three pawn-broker balls at the top and said in big letters: "Take Kentucky out of hook—vote for Fighting Bill Porter and his Kentucky Derby Sweepstakes in the Republican primary."

Under an azure sky, before a multitude of 80,000 people, Johnstown won the Kentucky Derby by eight open lengths. We saw the race and some of his work-outs last week and believe he is one of the great horses of all time. His races this year will prove it and bring more fame to Kentucky.

The League of Kentucky Sportsmen will hold its annual meeting at Dawson Springs, May 15 and 16. It has 85 clubs and more than 12,000 members and is doing great work in educating the public on the value and conservation of wildlife.

Dr. William J. Hutchins, for 19 years president of Berea College, has resigned and his son, Dr. Francis Hutchins, will succeed him.

Dr. Hutchins has performed a great service to Berea College and the people of this state and is outstanding in his field. His loss is a loss to the young people who might have felt his influence and to the state whose citizens he trained.

The campaign is on and the politicians are playing their tunes, for it is late May and the finish is a short 10 weeks off. The candidates were busy last week and the happenings portend much.

W. E. Porter, "sweepstakes instead of taxes" candidate, traveled to New York in an effort to help the labor mediators find a solution to the mining strike that was crippling Kentucky.

Governor A. B. Chandler took action in ordering troops to Harlan to give protection to those who wanted to return to work but were prevented by labor agitators. John Young Brown and Judge Cooper spoke to the League of Voters and candidates for various offices were barraging the State's office with filing

WOULD PRESERVE CHEAP EGGS FOR NEXT WINTER'S USE. Eggs are so cheap on farms in Kentucky this spring that J. E. Humphrey, of the State College of Agriculture at Lexington, is urging housewives to preserve them for use next fall and winter when they are worth twice as much or even more.

Waterglass solution is the common method of preserving eggs for home use. One quart of waterglass is sufficient for 15 to 18 dozen eggs. To make the solution, boil and cool nine quarts of water. Then mix the quart of waterglass solution, boil and cool nine quarts in stone jars, crocks or galvanized vessels that have been sterilized with boiling water.

Pour the containers half-full and add more liquid, if necessary, when the eggs are in solution. The solution should cover the top layer of eggs to a depth of at least two inches.

Use only fresh eggs with sound shells, says Mr. Humphrey. The eggs may be placed in the solution as they are gathered, with the little end down. A plate or cover may be placed over the eggs to prevent their coming to the surface. Cover the vessel to prevent undue evaporation and store in a cool place. Examine the vessels occasionally and add more water if necessary. In the event that eggs preserved by this method are used for boiling, a pin hole should be made in the large end.

It is better not to turn pigs on pasture until they are at least three weeks old. Younger pigs may become chilled by wet pasture, which lowers their resistance and makes them liable to scours. Keep troughs clean and bed dry.

COPS WAR ON ILLEGAL PARKING, NET SNARES THREE POLICE CARS

New York, May 14—A policeman's lot is a screwy one, if last week's cock-eyed occurrences are any indication—A West Virginia policeman on pick-pocket duty had his pocket picked... Some Massachusetts policemen had to stop their singing practice because prisoners in the jail complained... An Oklahoma man called police to help him tie a bow tie... Two Pennsylvania officers were ordered by radio to proceed to a fire in the car which they were driving... In the first two days of Rockford, Ill.'s crime prevention week, 12 cars were stolen... A parking violation drive in New York netted three police cars, and the officer checking over a summons list found his own name on it and haled himself into court... But the cops had no monopoly on the nutty news—Rain incapacitated two Florida fire engines, but also put out the fire they were rushing to... A new York politician took a $10,000-a-year job in preference to a $12,000-a-year job... A Canadian bicycled from Ontario to the New York world's fair and then started back without looking at the fair... A Cleveland jail instituted a cigarette girl... A Pennsylvania man returned from an errand after 31 years... When an Oklahoma Indian sang a rain song at a concert, it rained for the first time in a month... After hearing a mysterious horn for six blocks, a New Orleans motorist discovered his bumper had hooked a midget automobile... As the selectmen of Winstead, Conn., were signing an ordinance against firecrackers, one of them set off a firecracker... The 14-month-old winner of the Rhode Island perfect-baby contest was found to have a diet consisting mainly of pork chops and spaghetti... An election in Turkey, N. C., was delayed because there were no registered voters... On the New Jersey quadruplets' birthday, some Tennessee triplets existed in the navy... A Chicago job-hunter set a price of $10 for interviews... After winning an injury suit, a New York man tossed his crutches into the air and walked out of the courtroom... And a Washington man tried to swallow a hornet—tried.

Briar Buck's Scratches

(Views expressed in this column are those of the writer and not necessarily those of The Times.)

CRAWFISHING My item about Congressman A. J. May's "line of reasoning" turned out to be a boomerang. Since the House appropriated $300,000 for the Johns Creek dam, I've been informed that there's a difference between a TVA dam and a Flood Control dam. Therefore, I hereby admit I was a little hasty in waiting, and burpingly swallow (ugh!) that unfortunate remark.

Marrs' reputation as a fisherman has been grossly overestimated. Val says Dave has been going up Left Beaver and knocking the fish out of shallow water with a paddle, then strutting into town, amid cries of admiration, with the "catch" in one hand and rod and reel in the other. However, Mr. Hatton continues, in deep water it's a different story. Fishing below the locks, at Chapman, recently, Brother David cast all day without getting so much as a strike.

Those "Men Working" signs, no doubt, save the state a lot of time. Without them, many a curious motorist would stop and inquire what the crowd was for.

A lot of miners will be against Keen Johnson because of Chandler's action in Harlan county. That's like getting mad at your neighbor because his little boy wouldn't let Junior play in his backyard.

Local baseballers claim that Jack Norris, batting average is 1,000. They accuse him of missing that many balls.

After six weeks of good farming weather the contract is signed and the miners are back at work. And weeds will take more gardens this year than ever before.

With work resumed, Beaver Creek at 6:45 a. m. is as crowded as Prestonsburg on court day!

Rudy Ratliff, electrician, showed yours truly through the Goose Creek Mining Company's "mechanical mine" the other day. And after watching about 60 men produce more coal than an ordinary mine employing 300 or more workers—without the use of picks, shovels, blasting powder, ignition fuses, or mine cars—I've quit wondering why the relief creasing, despite the business upswing. Who said The Floyd County Times was a WEAKLY paper?

If you wonder why Tavis has been "making the rounds" so slowly the past few days, it's because he still hasn't got over that spring plowing.

Miss Cathryn Wilson started to work at 7 o'clock Friday morning, met some out-of-town relatives and didn't show up till 24 hours later. "Words! Words! Words!"—Shakespeare.

And who would have thought Lucy Halbert would ride a bus from upper Martin down to the business section just to mail a letter!??

After getting a kind letter from Jimmie Goble, a Times graduate, congratulating me on getting an item reprinted in the "Mills Point to Big Sandy" section of the Louisville Times I was feeling pretty high. But then another fellow deflated me by throwing that "line of reasoning" thing back into my teeth! Great life, eh, Editor?

I don't care if Henry Salisbury does have tomato plants blossoming already—I didn't keep fires built around mine all winter!

If there aren't sixteen items in this column this week, you'll know I've been censored! (Editor's note: Briar-buck miscounted 'em—there were only 15).

GROW FLOWERS IN VEGETABLE GARDEN

To save time and care in growing flowers around the farm home, many families find it practical to grow at least a part of their annual flowering plants in rows in the vegetable garden, where cultivation by hoe or horse cultivator will be easier than in flower beds.

In suggesting this method, N. R. Elliott, of the College of Agriculture, points out that it is often a work saver to fill most of the space reserved for flowers with plantings of small shrubs, transplanted wild flowers, and long-lived plants such as irises, peonies, daffodils, daylilies, columbine, coreopsis and gaillardia.

Other plants that go well in permanent flower beds are those that usually reseed from year to year—hollyhocks, shasta daisies, larkspurs, and cosmos. With these it is only necessary to hoe out surplus plants after cultivation has been delayed long enough to give the scattered seeds a chance to sprout.

Many of the favorite annual flowers, such as zinnias, marigolds, calliopsis, verbenas, sweet peas and scabiosa, can be planted in rows like vegetables, convenient for cultivation, easy to gather for cut flowers, and pleasant to the eye when working in the garden. Many of the annuals bloom most freely and for the longest period if kept closely picked and not allowed to ripen seed. If these are planted in the vegetable garden, it is easy to gather a wealth of fine flowers without injuring the display in the flower beds and border plantings around the house.

CLUB MOVES INTO BEAUTIFUL NEW QUARTERS

The Auto Club moved into its new spacious home on 17th street, opposite the Ashland Daily Independent, Saturday. The entire club personnel worked late Saturday night to place everything in order—so its members and the traveling public might not be inconvenienced by any interruption in club service.

Larger quarters will facilitate club work and will provide conveniences for members and visitors to Ashland who are always welcomed and extended every courtesy that they may think of Ashland as it really is: "The Friendly City," and wish to return again and again.

The spacious lobby will be furnished in beautiful chromium furniture where the visitor may decide upon the vacation that he might select. Other office equipment is standard with ample working space.

Travel publications featured are the finest to be found anywhere, and the club now provides all the services and benefits to be found in the largest clubs in the country.

Considering the many branches of club activity, it would be difficult to say which is the most outstanding. However, we find one of the most important from the standpoint of convenience to the member is Emergency Travel News. Any condition which suddenly arises upon the highways of the nation which renders a road impassable, or which makes the road dangerous for motor travel is immediately reported by wire and special bulletins. This service is not one that occurs daily, but is most important when it does happen.

And, over the succeeding years, we have continued to make laws ostensibly for the protection of game... laws designed to protect the pitiful remnants of what was left of an earthly Happy Hunting Ground. Still, the sportsmen have been too scarce, and unthinking man has continued to have his way, in spite of thinking man.

TOWNSEND OR GOD-SEND?

To hand is a letter from Townsend state headquarters asking us to announce that a meeting of Townsendsites will be held here next week "or soon thereafter." Also asked of us is a statement of the plans and purposes of the Townsend movement.

Well, now, to talk about the purposes—that's easy. THE TIMES likes old folks, thinks all America loses in their passing more than youngsters are likely to replace. Most of them have worked hard for the little they have, and so deserve anything we can possibly give them in their last days. That is said in all seriousness. So the purpose, insofar as we are concerned, is O.K.

But about the plan—we have our doubts, serious doubts. The inflation bugaboo hangs around it like a shroud, despite all fine theories. Then there's that new tax. Then there's the possibility that the old folks couldn't spend their $200 a month in 30 days without going on prolonged "sprees" like a few of those on the old-age pension rolls are already doing on a mere pittance, or without calling in their "no-account" sons and daughters to help 'em out in the questionable matter. Anyway, THE TIMES has published the notice.

TO SAVE OTHERWISE

And speaking of plans, there was one youth at a recent Union meeting who had an idea of his own.

After listening attentively to plans for buying from the common treasury salt, sugar, coffee, meal, flour and on down—or up—the line, for those in need, one youth, when the meeting had adjourned, had an after-thought. "Wisht," he wished, "I'd thought of it. I know somethin' that would have saved money and food both. They should have appropriated every man enough whisky, so that he'd be so sick the next two or three days he'd be doin' anything at all."

item, if necessary. The educational value of this program, the way we see it, to say nothing of the enormous relief the growers have undoubtedly received. Out of season, we have noticed rural families including grapefruit in their list of groceries when they come to town to trade.

"We have felt our responsibility in these distributions, but we are glad to cooperate, as we realize we are afforded a certain amount of relief from caring for the pauper class and other needy families of the county. It is our purpose to arrange our budget for the coming year to include items of expense for the operation of your department, such as warehousing, office space and supplies, lights, heat, paper bags, twine and tape, and drayage to distribution points, dunnage and spraying materials. Also, in our county, an unique arrangement has been agreed upon, that of each magistrate appointing himself a committee of one to see to it that safe transportation is provided to points in his district and that he will be of whatever assistance he can to your department.

"It is realized, too that the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation, the functioning agency of the Department of Agriculture, has its burdens when it is considered that there are more than three thousand other counties in these United States and its possessions where there is always need for its help one way or the other, to say nothing of the enormous nancial operations.

We hereby resolve to have read into the minutes of our court record this letter and to cause same to be printed in local county papers, with the expression of our desire for the continued operation of this most valuable project.
