

GODMAN, SPEAKER AS 252 GRADUATE FROM HI SCHOOL

Color, Sentiment Pervade Gym Here, Scene of Exercises

COUNTYWIDE EVENT DRAWS HUGE CROWD

"Education Is a Grindstone," Theme of Commencement Speaker

"Commencement" on a county-wide scale was conducted for the third time here Tuesday evening to end 12 years of study for 252 Floyd students in grades one to twelve and to commence their work in higher educational fields.

And, with the close of "happy school days," the last four years of which were spent in nine Floyd high schools, there was a deep note of sadness and a high note of happiness, both happily chording, for all the 252 grads, their parents, relatives and friends who taxed beyond capacity the Prestonsburg school gymnasium.

Color there was, too. Patriotic red, white, blue, bordering the balcony; on the seat backs occupied by graduates, red and black for Auxier, blue and white for Betsy Layne, orange and black for Garrett, purple and gold for Martin, black and gold for Maytown, blue and gold for McDowell, scarlet and gray for Prestonsburg, blue and gold for Wayland, Maroon and white for Wheelwright.

And sound effects — harmonious sound, the most enthralling music ever heard at a Floyd county commencement, it was said. There were 100 Floyd county high school bands, composed of musicians from various schools, led by Jesse Elliott, county band director; the Floyd county glee club, directed by Mrs. Kathryn S. Carter, Prestonsburg; the Wayland, Ky. and Betsy Layne high school bands. Godman, high school superintendent, state department of education, Frankfort, delivered the Commencement address, choosing the theme, "Education Is a Grindstone." The subject, as developed by Mr. Godman, did not picture education as a grindstone to which the student's nose is painfully applied, but as a whetstone of the students' wits. "The Creator," he pointed out, "gave even the suckling child the tools; it remained for education and training to sharpen them and make them effective."

The invocation was delivered by the Rev. A. C. Harlowe, Prestonsburg. Followed the welcome to graduates and visitors by Henry Porter, Allen, chairman of the Floyd county board of education.

This Town-- That World

A DOG-GONE MULE

You can't depend on a mule . . . you cannot.

Neither can you depend on us for names. But Evan Isaacs, McDowell, says it was told to him on good authority.

It seems that the boys were digging a well on Mud Creek. Dirt thus excavated was being hauled up in a bucket in the time-honored fashion, with a mule at the business end. And the mule was doing yeoman work.

Then they hit bed-rock. A dynamite blast was necessary if further progress was to be made. The "man in the well" set the charge, cut the fuse long enough to warrant safe arrival above-ground before it exploded, set match to it, yelled "giddap," or words to that effect to the muleteer "upstairs."

And just then, of all times, the brute kicked it into his head to remain where he was—in other words, he took the known "studs." Time passed, the crew grew shorter, the man in the well grew frantic. Gosh, even a human fly can't climb those perpendicular

SERVICE COMMISSION REFUSES TO INCREASE GAS RATE OF P'BURG

Proposed increase of Prestonsburg's gas rates was refused Thursday by the Public Service Commission after Prestonsburg officials and members of the Prestonsburg Business Co-Operative Association appeared at Frankfort in protest against the Federal Public Service Corporation's petition for the raise.

Seeking what it termed "only a fair rate on interest on the investment," the gas company showed it had realized only 1 per cent. Prestonsburg representatives, however, argued that, if leaks in the company's lines here were repaired, a fair profit return would result.

Prestonsburg citizens present at the hearing were prompt in their defense of the gas company's employees when it was hinted that they are responsible for loss of gas by line leakage between source-of-supply wells and consumers' homes. They lauded the work of Joe Hill, Prestonsburg employe of the company, and C. Y. Cooper, Paintsville, manager of the firm for this area.

Company officials were told that leakage of gas in company lines was, for the most part, not discernible to local employes.

Appearing in behalf of Prestonsburg gas consumers were Ex-Mayor Arthur C. Carter, City Attorney W. W. Burchett, R. G. Francis, J. B. Clarke, Bert Combs, Circuit Judge John W. Caudill, John Warrick.

TAX COLLECTIONS TOTAL $385,026

C. & O. and Gas Companies Pay County $288,000 For 1938 Taxes

Settlement of Sheriff Dlai Salisbury with the Floyd fiscal court on collections of 1938 taxes revealed that $385,026.81 had been collected in actual cash for the county treasury alone and that funds thus derived exceeded expectations. This amount does not include consolidated school taxes.

Largest of Floyd county taxpayers, as usual, was the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company which paid $119,000, including the company's consolidated school tax bill. Next heaviest tax contributor was the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company with $101,000. The Warfield Natural Gas Company paid $68,000.

TWO TEAMS TIED FOR LEAGUE LEAD

Wheelwright Defeats Clear Creek Sunday; Both Tied for First

Suffering an off day before an overflow crowd, the Clear Creek Rockets lost their first game in five starts to Wheelwright Sunday, 15 to 4, and displayed the most erratic fielding ever performed by the home team. By virtue of this victory, Wheelwright went into a tie with Clear Creek for first place.

The losers committed eight errors and used three pitchers who issued a total of nine walks and 12 hits. The usually effective Lloyd Stumbo was taken out of the game after a display of wildness that led to three runs with only one man out in the first inning. Buck and Kit Stumbo, who followed Lloyd on the mound for Clear Creek, were unable to baffle the Wheelwright swatters, Buck being charged with the loss.

Lee Peterson, Wheelwright's brilliant young southpaw, held the Rockets to 10 scattered hits and issued no passes. He practically won his own game by driving across five runs with a home run and a single.

Both teams scored three runs each in the first inning; but Clear Creek failed to tally again until they pushed over their last run in the ninth. Wheelwright really iced the game in their half of the sixth inning, pushing over six runs, after also scoring once

Woman Files $25,000 Suit For Half A Day Of Labor As Payment On Her Fine

For being "forced" to work out a $10 misdemeanor fine on the streets of McDowell with mattock, shovel and hoe, and thus being subjected to "public ridicule and embarrassment" as probably the first Kentucky woman ever to "work out" a court fine, Mrs. Belle Tackett, 51-year-old mother of 10 children ranging in age from nine to 31 years, Friday filed suit in the Floyd circuit court a $25,000 damage suit against the town of McDowell.

The suit resulted from the half-day of work Mrs. Tackett did along with her husband, Day Tackett, and her 17-year-old son, Joe, on McDowell's streets. She claims she was required to "work out" the fine when she was unable either to pay or replevin amount of the fine assessed by Police Judge Fred Adams upon conclusion of the Tacketts' trial for the part they played in an altercation between Joe, the son, and Edward Patton, step-son of James Potter, acting town marshal of McDowell.

Further adding to her "mental anguish" and public humiliation, because of which she has since refrained, she claims, from all social functions and neighborhood activities, according to the petition filed by her attorneys, Allen and Tackett, Prestonsburg, was publication of a "detailed account" of her case in various newspapers of the country.

Mrs. Tackett's petition states that, never before, had she been charged with any crime or misdemeanor in the community of McDowell, in and around which she says she has spent her entire life. She further claims that her physical condition was not good enough to justify manual labor, and that, since her work under guard on streets of the town, she has suffered "great physical pain."

CROWD OF 2,500 ATTENDS DRAWING

$50 Won By John Goodman, East Point; $20 Yet Unclaimed

A crowd estimated at 2,500 persons gathered here Saturday afternoon for the drawing of $200 in cash prizes offered by the Prestonsburg Co-Operative Business Association.

John Goodman, East Point, received the $50 cash award. Other prize-winners, each of whom received $20 in cash, were: Lee Layne, Tram; Anna Garrett, Water Gap; Fred Keller, Louisville; Sam George, Little Paint.

$20 GOES A-BEGGIN'

The Business Association wants to give $20 to the holder of Ticket No. 010929, but the prize has not yet been claimed. If the lucky person will present his or her ticket before Saturday, June 10, date of the next drawing, the prize will be awarded.

At a special meeting of the board of directors of the Business Association, called by J. J. Hatcher, president, Tuesday night, A. B. Combs, E. E. Clarke and R. V. May were named to a committee to appear before the U. S. district engineer, Huntington, W. Va., in behalf of the Johns Creek dam project.

Veteran Of "Blue" Leads Memorial Day Pilgrimage To Grave Of "Lone Rebel"

"Uncle" Jeff was weak and tottery, but he got there just the same.

He got back to the height where his regiment of "Yankee" soldiers 76 years ago engaged "Rebel" forces in a brief skirmish which ended in the death of one man who, all these years, has occupied a grave near the top of Bull Mountain, his only epitaph being that which has been handed down from father to son as "The Lone Soldier."

Uncle Jeff Sizemore, 96-year-old veteran of the Civil War, got back to the top of Bull Mountain, to the "Lone Soldier's Grave," Tuesday afternoon to lead veterans of three wars in a memorial service honoring the Rebel, whose corpse enriches the spot. No, he didn't walk as he did, back in the '60's. He rode—up Town Branch from his home, only a matter of a few miles from where boys under two flags kept rendezvous with death long ago—rode in an automobile.

During the service Uncle Jeff told World War and Spanish-American War veterans of the night when Sam Byrd, the "Lone Soldier,"—a Byrd of Virginia—was killed. Back three-quarters of a century he took his listeners. Back to the afternoon Sam Byrd—a

At the time of the accident, the children were playing, and neither knew that the gun was loaded.

In addition to his mother and father, the child is survived by five brothers and one sister.

WPA CRITICISMS ARE CONSIDERED

As District Work Conference Is Held Here Last Week

One by one, criticisms of the WPA were called to the attention of the WPA work conference in session at the Auxier hotel here Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, last week, then discussed by Miss Ethel Perryman, district supervisor, Professional and Service division.

Administrative costs too high, political influence demanding too much attention, hiring of persons not needing work while those in need remain idle, the bosses have pets, foremen drunk on the job—these were salient features of an extensive list of criticisms discussed and answered by Miss Perryman in a group discussion Thursday morning with project workers.

Miss Josephine Gardner, area supervisor, presided as chairman during the three-day program, items of which follow:

Briar Buck's Scratches

(Views expressed in this column are those of the writer and not necessarily those of The Times.)

I have no desire to retract last week's item in which I took "backwater" about Congressman A. J. May's line of reasoning. In fact, I would like to emphasize the statement, for his reasoning certainly does get good results. However, I want it understood that I am wholeheartedly in favor of the T.V.A., which he so vigorously opposes.

I am told that his attitude toward those hydro-electric dams is based upon the fact that he represents a coal-producing district, and that he believes that electricity should be made the use of coal, thus affording more employment to miners and more profits for the operators.

That in itself is a worthy reason, and far be it—yes, poor little me!—from trying to take him to task for it. Nevertheless, researches by both government and private economists have found that the percentage of coal used in making electricity, as compared with the total national output, is so small as to be almost negligible. And the unemployment caused by generating current with the use of water instead of coal has been more than counteracted by the increase of workers in electrical appliances and supply factories, salesmen, linemen stringing wire into virgin markets, maintenance men, et cetera. Also, since the beginning of T.V.A.'s entrance into the power business, friend and foe alike admit that there has been a steady decrease in electric rates throughout the whole country.

I've waited a long time to write this one, so the editor of "This Town-That World" can't claim I snatched his story. Several weeks ago a fellow from Prestonsburg had an affidavit published in that column stating that he would hereafter abstain from the use of alcoholic beverages—and that he "wanted the whole world to know." About two weeks later, I was in "town" and saw the same fellow sweeping the streets to pay off a fine for drunkenness.

Judging from the number of candidates this year a good many of them believe it's better to have run and lost than never to have run at all!

Won't some kind soul come to Eddie Greer's rescue with a nice, clean, crisp handkerchief? Playing tennis on a hot day recently, he had to tear the end off his shirt-tail to keep the salt water out of his eyes.

I've been called buzzardgut, lizard-liver, slumgullion, and a little of everything else. And been accused of even riding a ring-tailed heifer thru a corn field bareback. But never, till last week, was I branded as one who couldn't count to sixteen.

Someone has been accusing us of playing ball Sunday. But nothing could be farther from the truth—Coal Run is the team that played! We were only watching the game!

HIPPO

Ellis C. Bailey has been for the past week a business visitor in Cincinnati, Ashland and Louisville.

Mr. and Mrs. Alka Hicks and family, Mrs. Aaron Shepherd, Reuben Hicks, Claude Ousley, Rev. A. J. Moore, Walter Sawyers, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Moore and family, Mrs. Julia Hicks, James and Leonard Hicks, Job Hughes, Oscar and Gardner Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Alka Davis, Brownie Hicks, Misses Melba and Rega Hicks, Floyd and Joe Davis and others of Hippo, attended the funeral meeting at Northern Sunday.

Gardner and Oscar Hicks killed a copperhead snake 44 inches long while working in their cornfield last week.

The Brush Creek Sunday School has bought an organ.

Mrs. Luther Shivel, Mrs. Eddie Worling, Mrs. Martin Lee May and son, Frederick Theodore, were visiting friends and relatives in Salyersville recently.

We are authorized to announce LEVI TAYLOR of Drift, Ky., as a candidate for Magistrate in Magisterial District No. 3, subject to the action of the Democratic party at the August primary. Your support and influence will be appreciated.

SHIKE'S POKES

(Views expressed in this column are those of the writer and not necessarily those of The Times.)

We're sorry Mr. Burrows didn't get to "tell all" in that radio address that was cancelled, but, anyway, we know where he stands.

The Herald-Dispatch says the difference between a poor man and a millionaire is that the former worries over his next meal and the latter worries over his last.

Jake Cooley, of Drift, had a novel way of beating the shutdown. He had all of his teeth pulled so he could eat only soup and gravy. He advised me this week that the gums had got tough enough to "cut" meat.

Steve Clark, of Wheelwright, is now a member of the "midnight bottle-warmers."

I'm putting my campaign on a 24-hour basis—Henry Howard is working the night shift.

And them dern bean beetles are working on my beans on a 24-hour basis. They've teamed up with the lightning bugs and they "held a light" so the beetles can eat at night. I'm poisoning the B. Bugs but haven't figured out a way to dim the L. Bugs' lights.

FACTS FAVOR FORD

- 1 The 1939 Ford V-8 is a beautiful, modern motor car. Its 85-horsepower engine gives you economical, well-balanced performance over the entire speed range—and the 60-horsepower engine is even more economical.
- 2 The structural strength of the Ford car—frame, bracing, axles, body—makes not only for safety, but durability and long life.
- 3 Ford hydraulic brakes are exceptionally large and strong in proportion to car weight.
- 4 The Ford car is stabilized for comfortable riding. Its springbase, the distance between front and rear suspension, is 123 inches. Seats are toward the center, perfectly balanced. The car does not bob or dip and can have very little sway.

These four points—power, strength, safety, comfort—are by far the most important essentials in any motor car. They form the basic value of your investment.

With this solid foundation to build on, the Ford V-8 has been made beautiful, spacious, easy to drive. It is richly upholstered and has all the modern features which add to the luxury and pleasure of motoring.

You can see these things when you take a trial drive, but do not forget that the main value is in the things you do not readily see—quality of materials, precision of manufacture, fundamental engineering.

Workers Should Retain Social Security Cards

Workers who apply for jobs should show their social security cards to their employers, but should retain the cards. These are the individual property of workers, according to J. A. Chaney, manager of the social security board field office in Ashland.

"Often mistakes are made when a worker copies the number from his social security card. If a wrong number, even one digit being omitted or misplaced, is given to the employer, there is a delay in crediting the worker's account showing his total of wages earned while in employment covered by the Social Security Act.

"Workers should, therefore, show their social security cards to their employers, but the card should be retained. If it becomes soiled or damaged so that it is illegible a duplicate may be obtained without cost at our field office in the Second National National Bank building in Ashland, Ky."

The field office serves the counties of Floyd, Boyd, Breathitt, Lott, Greenup, Johnson, Knott, Letcher, Lewis, Magoffin, Morgan, Perry, Pike, Rowan, Wolfe.

DEMOCRACY LIVES!

The King and Queen of England on their visit to America are on a triumphal tour, with folks of the New World showing quite as much adulation for royalty as do those born to monarchical forms of government. To many they are the most interesting curios ever brought to this land; to others, who inordinately prize high position and royal raiment, they are to be regarded with deep reverence, not to speak of awe.

But out of all our show of deference to royalty come two truly democratic and American gestures. One: Marian Anderson, great negro singer, has been invited by Mrs. Roosevelt to sing before the visiting royal couple at the White House after the Daughters of the American Revolution, for some abstruse reason, had refused the singer permission to sing in Continental Hall; Two: The President and Mrs. Roosevelt will introduce the Yankee hot-dog to the royal menu.

These two actions are par on anybody's course in the playing of democratic host to crowned heads.

through the process of photography. I can still remember how black we looked, especially my own picture, for I was very fair of face and cotton top. We talked in subdued whispers about the miracle going on before us, probably afraid that the photographer was a kind of wizard or something.

At other seasons of the year the picture man had his studio in the county seat, where he finally stayed all the time and built up a large business. When I was all of 14, I went into his shop alone and sat for my picture. I can see on that same picture today a small portion of the tripod with which he held my head still for the time exposure, a thing for which I am properly thankful, as it helps to establish my reputation for truthfulness. Many people have questioned my saying that our heads were supported by a contraption somewhat like the head rest in a dentist's chair.

Whenever you get your next picture taken in a modern studio, don't forget that others of us have had greater thrills than you can ever feel again—thrills made possible by the photographer's tent in a broom sedge field near old Fidelity.

TRAVEL BULLETIN TODAY'S ROADS

Prepared By
Eastern Kentucky Automobile Club

WHAT ARE THEY WORTH TO YOU?

The modern motor car has brought us many benefits, improved our mode of living, and contributed to our general welfare. But the advancement and development of the automobile, like any other new development, brought with it many complex problems that were closely linked with the happiness and pleasure to be obtained from motoring. For motoring brought with it the tragic results of accidents; the need for authentic road information; the need for reliable emergency road service; the need for competent unbiased advice regarding the individual's rights in connection with accidents and scores of personal problems arising out of automobiles and their operation.

To the solution of these problems the American Automobile Association was dedicated in 1902, as a cooperative means to keep pace with the evolution of the automobile and the needs of the motorist. Today there are more than a thousand clubs and branches throughout the United States and Canada whose friendly hands reach out to guide you in safety, security, comfort and pleasure wherever you may be.

You owe it to your family to protect yourself with the AAA way and invite your friends to become members.

NEWS OF BIG SANDY

HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER PROMISES ACTION

Paintsville—State Highway Commissioner Robert H. Humphreys was in Paintsville Friday, May 19, to discuss with county officials and local business men the important question of completing the unfinished portion of the Mayo Trail, consisting of 21 miles between Paintsville and Louisa.

Mr. Humphreys and a number of local business men went over the "missing link" Friday afternoon and the condition of the road over this section was apparently a revelation to Mr. Humphreys, as he freely admitted to members of the party that the road was in worse condition than he believed possible.

Mr. Humphreys made definite promises that the state highway commission would take immediate action. He left two alternatives to be accepted or rejected. One was that the highway department complete the 21 miles between the two towns with a high-class job of "blacktopping." Another plan suggested by Mr. Humphreys was to go ahead and advertise for bids for a high-class type of concrete paving following the federal aid plan which calls for re-routing the highway thus making many changes which would require at least two years. He left the two plans for the people of Paintsville to decide which plan they would accept.

PIKEVILLE BAKERY DESTROYED BY FIRE

Pikeville—Fire, believed to have been started by electric wiring early Friday morning, May 19, partially gutted the Pikeville Bakery on Caroline avenue here with a loss estimated at between $20,000 and $25,000. The loss may be even greater when a complete check-up on the damage is made, E. M. Tyson, manager of the bakery, states.

Most of the damage was done to equipment of the bakery where Mr. Tyson states the loss will be from $18,000 to $21,000. Damage to the building, a one-story brick structure, has not been definitely set, but has been estimated into the thousands of dollars.

The flames broke out in the basement, spread to the front of the building and to the rear, where almost half of the roof caved in. The flames also caught in several other sections of the building, Mr. Tyson reported.

PAINTSVILLE MAYOR BUYS LOUISA FIRM

Louisa—F. S. Vanhoose, mayor of Paintsville and owner of the F. S. Vanhoose Lumber Company in Paintsville and another in Prestonsburg, purchased the business and merchandise of the J. T. Justice Lumber Company in Louisa and assumed possession last week. Mr. Vanhoose will operate the lumber yard here under the firm name of F. S. Vanhoose Lumber Company and proposes to spend his time between the lumber yard here and the ones he owns in Paintsville and Prestonsburg.

YOUTH LOSES ARM IN ACCIDENT

Young Hanshaw was setting blocks on the carriage of the Lemaster mill and in some way stumbled and fell into the circle saw, narrowly escaping being cut to pieces. The saw cut his right arm, badly mangling it just

MILK

Milk is not a mere beverage but is a balanced food which supplies protein, fats, carbohydrates, mineral matter and vitamins in proper proportions to meet the needs of the human body. The chief advantages of its use are that it is a well-balanced ration; is easily digested; contains no waste materials such as bone, peeling, skin or shell; that it requires no cooking and is cheaper than other products having the same food value. A quart of 4 per cent milk will furnish about 610 calories of energy.

The protein in milk is the flesh, muscle, tissue and bone-building element, while the fat supplies energy and provides a fatty tissue. Carbohydrates, mainly as milk, sugar, furnish energy or are converted into fats. The mineral matters are necessary for the formation of bone and teeth. The vitamins A B and C occur in milk, promote growth in the young and aid in the prevention of rickets, beri-beri and scurvy. The amount of C vitamin found in milk may vary greatly from or something of the kind, and then you have no comeback, they have your money and you have a small bunch of paper not worth a penny to you.

We do not know how the other printing offices in the county stand, but we think when a candidate goes other places to get his printing, that is the place for him to go and get his votes, and these fellows are going to be watched and a careful check made of them. Business men who go away to have their printing done for no cause whatsoever, are going to lose more than the cost of the printing because of this attitude.

If you want a boost, a write-up, or something said about you, you come to the local paper to get it, and then to send your printing away is throwing right into our faces ingratitude for free service. There is absolutely no excuse for it because you can get just as good printing here as in Chicago and in most cases cheaper, and this does away with any excuse. They pay no taxes, they never help your family if they are sick and in distress; in fact, they do is take your money a moderate amount to practically none. Boiling of milk for infant feeding may destroy the vitamin C present, but, as there is so little present, physicians prescribe the addition of orange or tomato juice to the diet of infants even if they are on a raw milk diet.

With the coming of summer and hot weather the feeding of infants and small children becomes a more serious undertaking. The feeding of raw milk formulae to infants and small children is exceedingly dangerous during the hot months. The feeding of boiled or evaporated milk formulae is recommended. Nothing but high-grade raw milk should be used for feeding infants and small children, even though it is boiled before using. Be sure your children have the best in milk. Nothing but grade "A" raw, and boil it three minutes by the clock, before feeding to small children. Boil all water used in making dilutions and for drinking, keep flies away from your babies and you will never have a child sick from diarrhea.

and then laugh about it. What a fool you are for doing it!

We trust there is none of this happening in Carter county, so we will not have to mention names, and if you have done this, study this statement over and see how far we are from right.—Carter County Herald.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

PARTIES AND SOCIABLES

Dancing has again become so common that it is nearly the most recognized form of social amusement. But a generation ago dancing, harmless old square dancing at that, was very naughty. A few representatives of the fresh and the devil still trip the light fantastic, in defiance of church authority. Those of us of our parents and some still had our so-called as viewed by our we had youth, and that we courted and got thus it goes always, re-form of social amusefashioned parties, after the went out and before the dance came in, had certain features that must have been common everywhere. Some parties, though outlawing square allowed play-party games: in the Ring," "Roxie Ann," "Betsy Lina," "Old Dan Tuck Chase the Buffalo," and so on. have already spoken of these games, it would be unnecessary repetition to write something more. But the rigid people of some parts of the state looked upon these games as wicked and equal to the square dance.

When we went to parties, then, we had to device other means of entertainment. Our liveliest game was "snap," a game that used to seem very exciting but now somewhat resembles "drop-the-handkerchief." A couple stood up on the floor holding hands (that was a good part of the game). A boy would then snap his finger in front of a girl, who forthwith had to chase him around the couple until she caught him. Then he took the place of the boy holding hands, and the girl snapped another boy. This continued indefinitely, often rather with disastrous results to the garments of the two holding hands, as the players would swing around roughly and take all sorts of chances to keep from being caught.

Then there were kissing games galore. Just why dancing was so wrong and kissing so right it might take a philosopher to discover. I suppose that "office" was the best-known kissing game; since I have not played it many years, please do not expect to remember the rules of the game. They have been no rules; they were not kissed and ap-were seated at intervals all around the room on chairs or on seats made by laying planks from chair to chair and spreading a folded quilt over them to make the sitting more comfortable. Some boy acted as introducer or passer-on or whatever you could call it. He took a boy around and introduced him to a girl, leaving him to talk to her until someone else was brought around. That was lots of fun until a fellow got stuck with some dull girl whom nobody wanted to talk to. Sometimes the boys agreed in advance to talk to such for a certain length of time, provided they would be relieved by other fellows who would make martyrs of themselves in the interest of causing every one to have a good time. I could add, parenthetically, that there were dull boys, too, but they had the advantage of being able to get away better.

Refreshments at any kind of a party were likely to be pickles and cake, especially if the party were during Christmas week. Indigestible, yes, but always suggestive of sociables and parties.

A TENT PHOTOGRAPHER

Even Fidelity had some connections with the world in general. The pack peddlers and clock tinkers and circuit riders found us out and brought us news of what was going on; the weekly newspapers did their share to keep us citizens of the world. Three times a week the mail carrier brought his small pack of papers and letters and took away a few letters to people who had relatives or friends in Fidelity. The candidates also came, telling us how fine we were and how our little neighborhood contained a large part of the salt of the earth. But few of these emissaries from the Outside World equaled in importance the traveling photographer who brought his tent and set it up in a broom sedge field near the little village.

Fidelity was not rich and probably never will be. We had no ancestral portraits, however great our forebears may have been. Few homes had many photographs. When the photographer came, nearly all of the people believed that they needed pictures of themselves and their loved ones. To the tent in the field flocked people of all sorts and kinds. Father gathered up his flock and had a family group made and then some individual tinctypes of each of the children. Other fathers did the same, until the family albums fairly bulged with new pictures. Some of the pictures were full length, some were ordinary busts, but all were of the painful kind that only a time exposure could make.

The photographer was a good advertiser for his time. Satisfied customers were his best form of keeping the public coming in troops to his tent. We children were allowed and even taken to the developing room, and pictures going

KENTUCKY WRITER TO BE INTERVIEWED OVER WHAS, JUNE 13

Jesse Stuart, Kentucky's plowboy poet, will be the first famous Kentucky writer to be featured in a series of 30-minute interviews which will be conducted this summer, beginning Tuesday, June 13, at 1:30 p. m., from the University of Kentucky radio studios of WHAS, Louisville.

Virgil L. Sturgill, Ashland, educator and alumnus of the University of Kentucky will conduct the series and interview the various poets and prose writers who have been invited to participate.

Of special interest to University, college and high school graduates, making plans for a career, is the radio series currently being presented from the University of Kentucky studios each Thursday at 1:45 p. m. It consists of a series of dramatizations of a vocational guidance nature, indicating present trends in occupations, and dealing with many phases of job-getting.

After a firing squad of World War veterans had fired a salute and the bugler had sounded "Taps," the honor guest—"Uncle" Jeff—was introduced. Judge E. P. Arnold, Spanish-American War veteran, was a speaker on the same program, and the dedication ceremony was closed with prayer by "Uncle" Joe Lafferty.

Two Teams Tied

In the second and three in the fifth. They scored again in the ninth with two runs.

By virtue of defeating Elkhorn City, 10-3, Tuesday Clear Creek regained the top rung on the Big Sandy Baseball League ladder by a margin of half a game as Wheelwright, which was tied with Clear Creek prior to this game, was idle on Decoration Day.

Each team used three pitchers, Moore receiving credit for the victory for the Rockets, while Mullins was charged with Elkhorn's loss. Mullins, after twirling nine innings for Elkhorn City Sunday, lasted seven and one-third innings, pitching superb ball until Clear Creek finally blasted him for seven runs in the first of the eighth. This broke up a 3-3 deadlock.

George and Isom Stumbo led the visitors' attack, each getting four hits out of five times at bat, while "Buck" Stumbo cleaned the sacks with a timely triple in the big eighth, coming on in home himself when his liner was fumbled.

YOUTH'S GUARDIAN SUES FOR $30,000

Seeks To Recover From Power Company for Letcher Boy's Injuries

Catlettsburg—Jury trial of the $30,000 personal injury damage action filed against the Kentucky West Virginia Power Company and the Consolidation Coal Company by Marion Hall, guardian of Curt Hall, Jr., seven-year-old Letcher county youth, was started this week as Judge Watt M. Prichard convened the May civil term of circuit court.

According to the plaintiff's petition, Curt Hall, Jr. was totally and permanently disabled on October 10, 1938, when 40,000 volts of electricity passed through his body when he touched electrical equipment after crawling under a wire fence around a power sub-station located near McRoberts, in Letcher county. The plaintiff charges negligence in that the highest degree of precaution was not exercised by the defendants in securing the power station from possible entrance by children. In a preliminary statement to the jury, Attorney Arthur Bryson, representing the power company, indicated he would request peremptory instructions dismissing the petition as to the power company. He based his statement on the assertion that the sub-station was under the direct management of the coal company and that the power company merely supplied the power for its operation at a point 12 miles distant from the scene of the accident.

walls. Visions of a sudden blast to eternity... flowers... Then the descendant of a long line of jackasses decided to move. Up went bucket, up gladly with it went the fugitive from a hole in the ground. And just as he cleared that last barrier between life and death, up came the charge of dynamite, rock and mud. THE SPENCERIAN HAND WINS

You know, once in a great while, THE TIMES hears about this business of a "man in the ranks" rising from the ranks. Wel, Glover Spencer, Martin, now head of the Warfield Gas Company's office here, is one who rose from the ranks—from the business end of a shovel—or was it a pick? Anyway, he now is not only out of the ditch but also occupying the post of his former boss, R. C. Leard. Floyd countians take pleasure in seeing any man or woman go "up" and they take a special sort of pleasure in seeing a Floyd countian achieve this singular sort of success.

PAGING MR. BARKER

Got a Barker's Almanac? We had a candidate in our office the other morning, who was looking for one. Wanted to know, he did, if "it would rain" Saturday, August 5.

HE HAS OUR WORD FOR IT

And, speaking of candidates, there was the political announcement in THE TIMES not long ago, below which appeared, by chance, one of our "office fillers" which read, "You get results from the TIMES ADS." The candidate solemnly assures us he hopes our word is good.

TO BE OR NOT TO BE MUDDY?

Who told you we didn't tell you so? You Isaac Walton disciples who frequently frequent this office will recall this colyum's prediction that all that "sky-blue" water on Big Sandy hereabouts during the merry month of May would turn to a muddy saffron before the fishing season returned for the enjoyment of patient anglers?

Minister Jailed

"I am innocent," the Reverend Gillespie told THE TIMES. He added that he and the girl went together as far as Pikeville, where he tried to dissuade her from going farther. He claims that he then went to Williamson and that he there later met Miss Robinson, who was en route to the home of a sister in Charleston. "She was broke, and I acted only as a friend. I asked her if her sister was expecting her, and if she had ever made the trip to Charleston, and she answered in the negative to both questions. I then went with her to the Western Union office and sent her sister a wire. When her sister arrived, I willingly came back to this state instead of going on into West Virginia in search of work as I had planned.

Tax Collections

After auditing the tax returns as prepared by W. M. Hagans, office deputy for the sheriff, W. J. May and F. C. Hall declared Mr. Hagans' settlement the "best" they had seen prepared. Of the total taxes collected, outside of consolidated school taxes, the general fund received $133,997.89; the common school fund, $181,556.98; the road fund, $52,417.23. The special levy realized $17,054.71.

Sale of property to satisfy delinquent consolidated school taxes will be made June 26, it was said. Before that date, Sheriff Salisbury will, however, send a representative to each school district in an effort to make collections.

Peruvian Child-Mother, 5 1-2, Called 'Woman In Miniature'

Lima, Peru, May 15—A bewildered Indian girl 5½ years old, Lina Medina, her braided chestnut hair accentuating her paleness and with a Holy picture pinned to her pillow, today snuggled a small doll at Maternity Hospital here while her six-pound son bawled lustily in a crib nearby.

The doll, a gift of hospital attendants, seemed more attractive to the girl than the infant, delivered yesterday by Dr. Geraldo Lozada, director of the Pisco Hospital, who performed a Caesarian operation. Both the boy and his mother are reported to be doing well.

Wants U. S. Investigator.

Dr. Hipolito Larrabure, head of the maternity hospital, who aided Dr. Lozada during the operation, said Lina withstood the operation in excellent manner. Medical circles here were astonished at the birth, which they believed without precedent. Dr. Larrabure said the case was "truly astounding" and added that he hoped "some United States scientific foundation will send an investigator to Lima to observe the case and indicate the best manner of caring for the mother and her child."

"The mother, who became pregnant when she was four years and 11 months old, menstruated ever since she was eight months old," Dr. Larrabure said. "According to her baptismal certificate she was born September 23, 1933, and despite conflicting data regarding her age we are assured by the girl's conformation she is not more than six."

One of Nine Children.

Lina, who displayed extreme shyness when approached by doctors and nurses and barely whispered replies to questions asked her, is the daughter of a half-caste father and an Indian mother who have eight other children. The family lives in a small hut among the almost inaccessible foothills in Castro Virreyna province, in the department of Huancavelica, 200 miles south of Lima.

One day, her parents noticed the child's bulging stomach. Thinking it was a tumor caused by some "evil spirit," they took her to a quack doctor who said he was unable to handle the case because the swelling "was the result of a spell." Later, when the girl was found to be pregnant, she was taken to Pisco where Dr. Lozada was consulted.

Dr. Larrabure displayed X-rays of Lina's pelvic structure as compared with that of girls of her own age. The pictures revealed that she possessed almost adult bones. She is full-breasted and seems to be a "woman in miniature," hospital attendants said.
