BUSINESS GROUP, OFFICIALS SHOWN RATE CUT ROUTE

Improvements Costing $1,000 To Reduce Insurance Rates Here, Said

WATER PLANT DEAL STUDIED BY GROUP

Repair of Fire Truck, Added Hydrants and Equipment Recommended

How Prestonsburg may advance its grading from a 10th to an eighth class town in fire insurance ratings and thus gain a reduction as a whole of not less than 30 per cent on cost of fire insurance premiums at an outlay of approximately $1,000 was explained to the Prestonsburg Co-Operative Business Association at its joint meeting with city officials Friday evening at the Auxier hotel.

Mr. Coburn, representative of the Kentucky Actuarial Bureau, was present at the invitation of the business group and explained the steps necessary to effecting the saving.

At the same time, Ben W. Cregor, Louisville, and W. M. Cochrane, Maysville, discussed the proposed purchase of the Prestonsburg Water Company by the city.

If improvements recommended by the Actuarial Bureau are made, Mr. Coburn said, the cost of fire insurance on frame dwellings will be reduced from 86c per $100 to 40 cents, and on brick mercantile houses reduction of from 15 to 20 per cent would result. Average reduction of insurance would be, he said, at least 30 per cent.

Recommendations made by the Actuarial Bureau follow:

Installation of hydrants at three points: on Riverside avenue, 300 feet east of Broadway; at Howard and Earl streets, and at the intersection of Dingus and Central avenue.

Hydrants should be of standard frost-proof type, with two 2 1/2-inch outlets and supplied by a six-inch main.

Replacement of the hydrant at Stanley and Main streets with a standard hydrant similar to the other three recommended and supplied by a four-inch main.

Organization and maintenance of a fire department consisting of a chief and at least 12 men who

This Town-- That World

RIHUANA

Watch for some daring robbery, the horrendous sex crime, hereabouts. This warning goes out after hearing, for the second time, that that happy reefer man is in town again.

JUST WORDS, EMPTY WORDS AND FIGURES

Monday afternoon, Deputy Sheriff Lackey Salisbury read from typewritten pages the list of consolidated school tax delinquents. The list was read from the "front door" of the courthouse for the purpose of selling the property of those delinquents who had not paid their school taxes and whose property had been "advertised" on the courthouse bulletin board.

Listening to Deputy Sheriff Salisbury were four men, one of whom was an employe of the county board of education.

Evidently, the advertising medium failed of "reader coverage." Or—these Floyd countians whose names appeared on the list knew that the whole thing mattered not a "Continental," as long as it was not published in a newspaper of the county

TWO UNDER BOND IN HAYS SLAYING

$5,000 Bond Asked of Jake Salisbury in Mud Creek Shooting

For the slaying of Orville Hays, 33 years old, Hueysville miner, on Toler Creek Sunday Jake Salisbury, brother of Sheriff Dial Salisbury, was placed under $5,000 bond Wednesday for his appearance before the September grand jury of the Floyd circuit court, and at the same time his execution of $1,000 peace bond was asked by County Judge E. P. Hill, who heard evidence produced in the examining trial.

At the same time County Patrolman Tuley Salisbury was placed under $1,000 peace bond after, Judge Hill said, testimony indicated that his conduct had been "unbecoming to an officer."

Hays fell, fatally wounded, around noon Sunday, in the yard of the home of Steve Howell, 69-year-old Toler Creek man, from a revolver bullet said to have been fired into his chest by Jake Salisbury. His body, witnesses said, lay unattended, except by Tuley Salisbury, for about five hours.

Evidence produced by Steve Howell, his daughter-in-law, Lurline Howell, wife of Sam Howell, and Deputy Constable Sam Roberts indicated that Jake Salisbury fired from a porch of the Howell home as Hays advanced upon him, armed with a sawed-off shotgun which he had brought to firing position, and only after Salisbury had asked him "three or four times" to stop.

Hays, the Salisburys and one or two others, some of the witnesses stated, were drinking. Steve Howell adjudged them "not out of the way." According to Steve Howell, Jake had taken a gun from Tuley and had returned to

CAMPAIGN MANAGERS FOR COUNTY CHOSEN

Floyd county's political battle lines were drawn this week, with the announcement of the gubernatorial candidates' campaign managers for the county.

B. L. Sturgill, former Floyd county Sheriff, has been chosen as manager for John Young Brown, and Tom Kane, chief electrician of the Elk Horn Coal Corporation, Wayland, will be in charge of the Keen Johnson forces in the county. Lon S. Hill, of Martin, has been named manager of the young people's division of Keen Johnson supporters; Mrs. J. J. Hatcher, leader of women workers for Johnson.

Johnson campaign committee headquarters are located in the Layne building here; headquarters of the Brown committee are in the Odd Fellows building.

TEACHERS TO MEET WEDNESDAY, JULY 5

County rural schools will begin Monday, July 10, and the annual meeting of rural school teachers will be held Wednesday, July 5, in the high school building here, with John W. Brooker, of the state department, as the principal speaker, it was announced this week.

The meeting will open at 10 o'clock, and all rural teachers are requested to be present, as schedules, record books, and other necessary equipment will be given out then.

The following schedule for the issuance of free text-books and other supplies was adopted by the superintendent's office: Districts 1-40, Monday July 3; districts 41-70, Thursday, July 6; districts 71-95, Friday, July 7; districts 96-118, Saturday, July 8.

ROBERT THACKER, 77, SUCCUMBS TO DROPSY

Robert Thacker, 77 years old, succumbed to dropsy at his home at Lackey, where he was born and reared, on Wednesday of last week.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Sabra Smith Thacker, of Lackey; two daughters, Mrs. Nancy Johnson and Mrs. Veda Johnson, Stillwell, Okla.; four brothers, Bill, J. C., Blaine, and Russell Thacker, all of Lackey; one sister, Mrs. Arizona McIntyre, Gauley Bridge, W. Va., and two half-brothers, Leonard Stewart and Kay Stewart, both of Stillwell, Okla.

Funeral services were conducted from the home last Thursday afternoon, with the Revs. Matthew Maggard and Earl Howard officiating. Burial was made in the cemetery at Lackey, under the direction of the Ryan Funeral Home.

IVAN "WHISKERS" RASPUTIN IS COLORFUL MAT FIGURE, IS THROWBACK TO PRIMEVAL MAN—PEEK AT HIM IS CAUSE FOR JITTERS

Kentucky wrestling fans will be given an opportunity to see a great novelty attraction in the history of the grappling game when hairy Ivan "Whiskers" Rasputin, the barrel-chested 215-pounder who looks and acts like a gorilla, invades Floyd county to make a special appearance in Prestonsburg on the afternoon of Tuesday, July 4.

A sensation at the current World's Fair in New York, Rasputin, an outstanding challenger for the heavyweight championship, will show his wrestling prowess in a finish battle with Gil Knutson of Sweden, a talented tugsmith of championship possibilities, in a specially-constructed ring in Prestonsburg, with Promoter

Heywood Allen, Sr., of Louisville, Ky., president of the Mid-West Wrestling Association, officiating.

En route to San Francisco for a two-month appearance in the Pacific Coast edition of the World's Fair, Rasputin, unbeaten in his last 25 matches in America, will stop off at Prestonsburg, at the request of Mr. Allen, who plans to co-operate with the merchants and business men of Floyd county in making the coming Independence Day celebration the biggest success ever in the state.

That Rasputin, a Russian by birth, but a soldier of fortune by avocation, and now a wrestler and oddity by choice, is quite an attraction here,

'Strange Doin's' Around Auxier Give Rise To Wild Conjectures

Auxier, Ky., June 27 (Spl.)—"Something is about to be discovered hereabouts," residents here are predicting. And they are not certain what it will be.

Maybe the "discovery" will be nothing more than a "moonshine" still. Then, again, it may be George Elwood Wells, the student from Auxier who shocked the staid Berea College campus on the characteristically quiet Berea College Sunday of August 14, 1937 by firing three bullets into the body of Opal Sturgill, 18, Lawrence county, with whom he was said to have been enamored.

Intensive search for young Wells, an honor graduate of Prestonsburg high school with the class of '32, has since proved fruitless.

But, only last Saturday, a strange man in plain clothes was seen atop a hill which overlooks the Goble Branch neighborhood, surveying all within range through a giant telescope.

Was this a federal agent, visually scouring the countryside for traces of a moonshine still? Was it an officer or detective looking for the slayer? Or was it Wells himself on the lookout for the approach of pursuers? The answer to these questions is being sought by many in this vicinity.

That the stranger may have been looking for a still is the theory held by many, since, not long ago, a veritable chain of letters went in to the United States Marshal, asking that a "still location" on Johns Creek, in the neighborhood of Dewey, be investigated.

Yet the moonshining theory goes awry as a prominent citizen, asked by an investigator if he knew of anybody making whisky near his farm or around Goble Branch, replied, "No. All the men I know here work in the mines or on the WPA, except two, 'Uncle' George Goble and Bill Music." And Mr. Music is a deeply religious man, while Mr. Goble, about 85 years old, has not been able to work for more than 10 years.

Anyway, almost every day, folks who have a mysterious air about them pass through the community, some being, or posing as, tramps, others as salesmen, agents and the like—and they, some believe, are on the trail of the elusive George E. Wells.

'In The Race Till The End', Says Cooley In Statement Made To Voters of Floyd

In stating my case to the voters of Floyd county, I want to say, first of all, that I am in the race for the Democratic nomination for Circuit Court Clerk till the end.

If nominated, and elected, I work and now—not in mere spoken words, but on paper—pledge myself to here for better government in the county. I know—and you all know as well as I do—the need for this type of service.

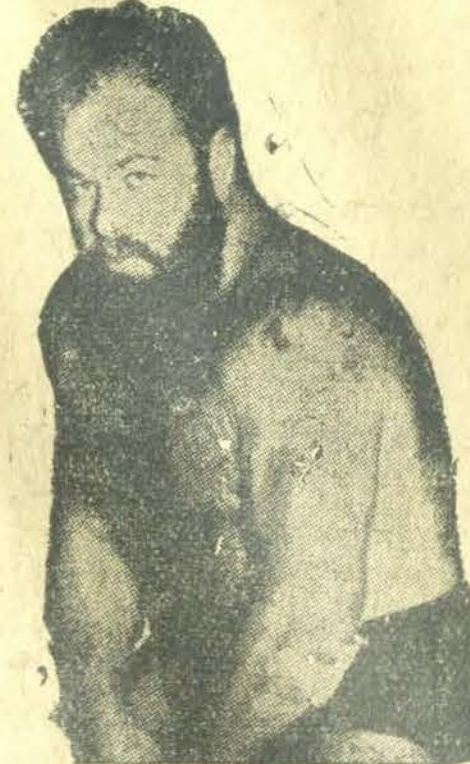

To labor everywhere in Floyd county, in its natural desire to elect men who understand labor's problems, I simply ask that you inquire of the working men in and around Wayland, where I have been in business for eight years, if I have ever failed them.

I am just a common, everyday type of man, asking for no more than I deserve.

Sincerely,

BILL COOLEY.

CLARKE REGAINS INSPECTOR POST

Succeeds Vincent, Who Succeeded Him Last Year; Others Re-Hired

Montaine V. Clarke, Prestonsburg, was employed Friday evening by the county board of health in session here to succeed Haskell H. Vincent, Martin, as sanitary inspector for the Floyd county health department.

All other members of the health department staff were re-employed for a term of four years ending July 1, 1943.

Minutes of the health board's meeting fail to disclose reasons for displacement of Vincent with Clarke, who was succeeded by Vincent last year in health work. The Martin man is a brother of Congressman Beverly M. Vincent.

Dr. Marvin Ransdell, director of the health department, said Clarke was named to succeed Vincent on recommendation of the state health department.

The meeting was the first to be held by the county board of health since the appointment of Dr. Frank A. Vernon, Martin, to succeed Dr. O. T. Stephens, of Prestonsburg. Other board members are Dr. M. V. Wicker, Wayland; Dr. G. D. Callihan, Prestonsburg; Mrs. G. R. Allen, Prestonsburg, and County Judge E. P. Hill. All health board members except Mrs. Allen, a lay member, and Judge Hill, member by virtue of his office, were named by the state board of health. Dr. Callihan, Dr. Vernon and Judge Hill were the only members attending Friday night's meeting, the third to be called and the only one held during the week.

He is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Laura Bell White, Garrett; Mrs. Walter Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Arthur Wiley, both of Lackey; and Mrs. Ham Spears, Ashland; eight sons, Everett Arnold Daniel, Bill Daniel, G. E. and Charles Daniel, all of Garrett; John H. Daniel, Jr., Patrick, Ky.; Harrison Daniel, Williamsport; James Daniel, Lackey, and Bee Daniel, Prestonsburg.

Briar Buck's Scratches

The views expressed in this column are those of the writer, and not necessarily those of The Times.

Here's one told about the World War days. Aunt Sarah Jane Lykins' youngest son had been drafted for overseas service and she was crying bitterly over his departure. A sympathetic neighbor, Liz Carpenter, was grieved to see her friend in distress. "Cheer up, Sarah Jane," she said, "it ain't half as bad as it will be when they bring him home dead."

Last Saturday the Buck's Branch local elected Wes Campbell for the fourth consecutive time as its president and checkweighman. That record speaks for itself.

Martin's noted sage and philosopher, S. D. Osborne, was asked why he didn't cut the weeds out of his garden. "Well, he replied, "I'm going to wait till they all come up, then get the whole crop at one killing."

Old "Sassafras Jesse," well-known around Prestonsburg, was cleaning off a new ground for an old farmer one day and got into a nest of angry hornets. A lively and lengthy battle followed in which Jesse was barely able to hold his own by slinging both arms around his head and stomping his feet.

The farmer was watching the scene from the bottom of the hill, but couldn't see what was causing Jesse to act so funny. After looking on the rumpus for several minutes the old man began to get curious, then frantic, at the carrying-on. He yelled several times, but to no avail. Mister Sassafras was busy going through his antics: handspring, somersault, backskid and skoot—no time to answer questions there.

Full of curiosity, mixed with anxious fear, the old man summoned all the strength within him and with one last effort, cried desperately: "Jesse! Are you snake bit, man, or are you a damn fool?"

Local No. 6787, of Hite, also held an election Saturday. Those elected were: Lee McCown, president; Estil B. Smith, vice-president; John M. Osborne, recording secretary; Miles Owens, financial secretary; Eugene Frazier, treasurer; Estil "Beanpole" Collins, checkweighman, and Will Sammons, Wilson Frazier and Roy Holiday, on the mine committee.

Pikeville's finest in uniforms came to town Sunday, played nine innings of their best baseball and left with a 5-7 defeat echoing in their ears. Who said Pike county was always ahead of Floyd? Gloat! Gloat!

Joe McGuire lost 12 pounds. And his "Buddy," Charlie Wright, lost nine pounds, during their first week of work at Hite. But Joe doesn't mind the loss of his surplus poundage, for it was "home-brewed" on him anyway.

Kentucky is noted for her thoroughbreds. That's why I believe she she will remain true to tradition and not elect a jackass for Governor! (Now, Mr. Editor, I didn't mention any names then!)

Squirrel Season Will Open in Kentucky, July 1

Frankfort, Ky., June 27—July 1 may be just another day to large numbers of people but to the squirrel hunter it has a definite meaning, that of being able to begin the hunting of squirrels on that date and the continuation of such sport until the first of October.

Major James Brown, director of the division of Game and Fish, calls attention to the bag limit of six squirrels daily which is now in effect and which will be strictly enforced by the conservation officers.

Reports that have come to the office here from both sportsmen and conservation officers from over the state indicate that all species of the squirrel have made up for losses in numbers suffered by them during the past hunting season and should be plentiful enough to furnish good hunting this season.

John Swift's Statements Tell Site Of Silver Mine

By SCOTT PARTIN

In the Middlesboro, Ky., Three States

From the descriptive map of Swift's lost silver mine, it seems an easy job to find the mine, and if, from information I've given, you should happen to find the rich silver mine, remember that I reserve the right to a half interest in same, provided you find it before I do.

Now the description of the country where the mine is, and Swift's travels to and from the mine: Swift states that he "started on the 25th of June, 1761, from Alexandria, Va., and came to Leesburg, thence to Winchester, thence to Pittsburg, thence to headwaters of Wheeling, thence to Little Kanawha, thence to Big Kanawha, thence to Guyandotte, thence to Sandy, thence to Long Ridge, thence to the river (name not known), thence to a large rocky creek, thence to the place where we stayed from the 18th day of July to 21st day of October, when we left the place and went the same road back, and on the 28th discovered savages, but concealed ourselves and got clear of them, and on the 30th were re-pursued by the savages, but altering our course got off safe. Nothing happened until the 9th of November when savages fired on us and shot a ball in our lading. We returned the fire. They retreated and traveled hard and camped on the Kanawha, after which nothing happened until we got to the settlements on the 15th of December. Started back 15th of April, 1762, and arrived at the place of May without difficulty except loss of a gallon of rum. We stayed the first of August. Came to a short on the 20th, were alarmed by savages but got off clear and camped on the creek and came through safe. Left a valuable prize marking the trees with a curious mark, from which place we went to Castles Woods from thence to Virginia where we stayed until 1764, then started on 1st of May and came by New River, thence to Cumberland Valley and passed the mountains and set our eyes and went to a place where we stayed on the 20th of June and stayed until 1st of September, when we started and went through Castles and found a man living there by the name of Castleman where we stayed several days. From thence we went to the settlements and got home on the 1st of October, 1767, and got to the place on the 4th of November where we stayed until first of April, 1768, when we started and went by Sandy, meeting with nothing material on our way home. We started on the 4th of June, got safe to the place 1st of July and stayed until 25th of October. Started and went by Sandy and forks lost two horses, stolen by Indians, and here we left two horses, and here we left two horses, and here we left two horses.

to us, but escaped with our lives. Got home on the 1st of December, 1769, and was at the place again and came by the place where we left the two horse loads of valuable prizes and found all things as we left them in '62 and '63. I made three other trips to the place of which I kept no account except some curious marks and particular marks. First of September we left between 22 and 30,000 crowns on a large creek running near a south course. Close by the spot we marked our names, Swift, Jefferson, Monday and other names on a beech tree, with compass and square and trowel about 20 or 30 paces from the creek stands a smart rock and between it and the creek you will find the prizes we left. No great distance from the place we left 15,000 of the same kind marking three or four trees with marks. Not far from these trees we left the prizes. The prize is about four feet under the ground. We left two long stones across it at the river. Between it and a small branch we hid a prize under the ground. It was worth $6,000. We likewise left 300 buried in rocks of rock house. You must go into latitude 38 deg. W. of N. when you will angle triangle find yourself to be in 80 deg. of west longitude when by geometry 2 degrees of divided as in problem 6th is explained by observation sun 38-2 minutes north 80 deg. 6 m., 19 seconds.

"Description of the country where the furnace is on—The creek heads southwest and runs northeast. The creek abounds with plenty of laurel and is so very clefty that it is almost impossible to get a horse near the place. So extremely rough is the way that we never took our horses nearer than six or seven miles of the place. There is a thicket of holly a quarter of a mile below the furnace and a small lick a mile above, and there is a large buffalo lick two miles from the small lick on another water that we called Lick Creek. The creek forks about three miles from the furnace and the left hand fork is the furnace creek. Below the forks of the creek there is a small stream running generally a northeast direction. Between the forks and holly thicket you will find my name on a birch tree in the year 1767, and about one mile below you will find Monday, Jefferson and Grist names in the year 1765-1767. Between the small lick and the furnace is a remarkable rock. It hangs quite over the creek and the creek runs under it. The mountains abound with laurel and water courses so much that a man cannot get along without difficulty. Most of the hills and mountains have but little timber, but are poor and barren. North of the furnace about three miles is a large ridge 7 or 8 miles in length which abound with good timber of different kinds, but south of it there is nothing worth notice. Furnace Creek forks about three miles from the lick, and in the forks upon the point of the hill you will find three whitecocks from.

each of these there is cut a small notch with a tomahawk. We sometimes went to a small spring up the right hand fork and came back this way, which was the cause we marked the trees. From the doors in the Cumberland, on the top you will run 40 deg. west, we suppose about 41 miles, and if on the right course you will find stones marked all the way. In the course we crossed one creek and the river. The first company in search of the object or mine was Staley-Ireland-McClintock, Blackburn and Swift. You set your compass on the South side of the furnace and steer and due south course 200 poles and you will find a tree that grows in a crooked form. Then set your compass at the second turn and go east 20 poles and you will find a large tree and a limb grown out straight to the south side of the tree. Under this we buried 4 10-gallon kegs of crowns. You can not miss finding the place if you find the furnace."

The above is what Swift has to say in regard to the lost silver mine, and if from the above description you have the good luck to find the mine and what he says he hid, please do not fail to notify me at once, for I am very much interested to know just what it all looks like. It all looks good on paper! But if you want a real job just start out to find the place.

If it has not disappeared I hope some good man will find the mine during my lifetime and let me see the place.

CONTRACT TO BE LET FOR PART OF TRAIL

Louisia—Five miles of the "missing link" sector of the Mayo Trail adjacent to Louisa will be included in the July letting by the state highway department, according to Robt. Humphreys, state highway commissioner.

Twenty-eight deeds covering all but three tracts of right-of-way needed for completion of the five-mile sector were mailed to the highway department last week by B. J. Calloway, county surveyor, and condemnation suits to acquire the other needed tracts were filed in quarterly court the same day by J. H. Ekers, county attorney.

Commissioner Humphreys in a conference with officials here seven weeks ago promised that as soon as deeds for right-of-way on five miles of the sector have been secured at reasonable prices, he would advertise for bids for surfacing of the distance. He promises further that if most of the deeds for as much as five miles were secured, he would advertise for bids as soon as condemnation suits for the other tracts had been filed.

MINES TO RE-OPEN

Paintsville—Mines of the Millers Creek Coal Company will begin operations on or about July 1. Since this mine ceased operations almost four months ago, its mechanical system has been completely revised by the installation of the most modern equipment. Room and face conveyors have been placed in service and equipment equally as efficient and modern has been installed at other spots in the mines. It is the opinion of the operators that this mine will have a steady production once operations are started.

FLOYD SCHOOLS AIDED BY NEW YORK GROUP; COUNTIES GET DESKS

New York, June 23 (Spl.)—The Save the Children Federation, as a part of its program to promote education in the Southern mountains, where it carries on extensive welfare help and school assistance, recently shipped nearly 3,000 desks to six Kentucky counties where they will be used in rural schools where such equipment is needed.

The desks were contributed to the Federation's work by boards of education in New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Connecticut and Illinois, and have been allocated as follows:

Clinton county, R. C. Renau, superintendent, about 12,000 desks from Bridgeport, Conn.; Knox county, G. Messer, superintendent, 555 desks from Oak Park, Ill.; and between 250 and 300 desks to Floyd county. Town Hall, superintendent, from Williams-town, Pa.; Clay Clay county, Ezra Webb, superintendent, from Babylon, N. Y.; Pike county, C. H. Farley, superintendent, from Norwalk, Conn., and Mt. Holly, N. J.; Breathitt county, Mrs. Marie Turner, superintendent, from Mt. Vernon and Peekskill, N. Y.

Illustrative of what these desks will mean to the pupils. Superintendent Renau of Clinton county wrote to the head of the Bridgeport, Conn., board of education: "No longer will our 1,200 small children have to sit on long plank benches with their little legs hanging down and their feet unable to reach the floor, but when school opens in July, these children will have nice desks." Mr. Renau expressed the thanks of himself and his school board, as well as speaking on behalf of the pupils.

The Save the Children Federation is conducting a welfare and educational aid service in more than 50 isolated counties of seven Appalachian states and helping substantially the rural schools, it was set forth in a statement issued at headquarters in the Metropolitan Tower, 1 Madison avenue. During the last year the agency has collected and shipped to small, needy schools more than 15,000 desks.

Dr. John W. Withers, dean emeritus of the School of Education, New York University, chairman of the Federation school relations committee and widely known in Kentucky, has recently appealed to superintendents of public schools over the country for contributions of desks and other equipment, which is urgently needed by the time the term opens late in July, as it does in some localities in the Southern mountains.

Superintendent Renau, quoted above, continued his letter to the Bridgeport school official: "These desks will be used and appreciated by fine mountain boys and girls of Kentucky. This is a great miracle you have performed for these excellent school children. God will doubly bless you and the Save the Children Federation for this fine Christian miracle for our worthy youth. I do not have words to express our thankfulness and our appreciation to you.

"We still need about 1,200 desks for children between the ages of 12 and 18. We just have to crowd the children up two to the single desks which are almost ready to fall down, while others will have to crowd up on desks made by the NYA. Through your help our small children will be amply taken care of for several years."

OFFICIAL ORGAN FOR FLOYD COUNTY, KY. $1.50 Per Year Payable In Advance

NORMAN ALLEN Editor Entered as second class matter June 18, 1927, at the postoffice at Prestonsburg, Ky., under the Act of March 3, 1879.

THE TIMES ENDORSES 1. Floyd county for Floyd counties. 2. Immediate completion of the Left Beaver and Johns Creek road. 3. Completion of all Farm-to-Market roads, by W. P. A. labor if possible, maintenance of these routes by the state rural road fund. 4. A trade-at-home policy followed by merchants and customers alike. 5. Full co-operation with all county and city officials, insisting that lawmakers and enforcement officers themselves obey the law to the letter. 6. Continuance of the Floyd county health department and county agricultural agent work.

THE BRIGHTER SIDE John L. Crawford, of the Harlan Daily Enterprise, has an idea that, since Harlan has furnished other newspapers throughout the state and nation with many the sensational news-story, so the extent that his county has become known as "Bloody Harlan," his plan of portraying the "other" and brighter side of Harlan by printed word and rotogravure picture should receive recognition from these same newspapers which have reveled in smearing Harlan's blood and name all over the front pages of the country.

And right Mr. Crawford is. Right to the extent that he inspires THE TIMES to set down here, in support of Floyd county's good name, some of this county's assets—forgetting, for the nonce, the liabilities which it shares with all hu-in which the property is located. Nobody was there to save the "old homestead," anyhow.

But don't blame the Sheriff's force. The futile bit of advertising was not the Sheriff's idea at all.

THE RASCAL!

Then there was the case of the man, a-fishin' goin', of a Sunday morning, who upon seeing a man plowing his corn began quoting the "Thou shalt's" and the "Thou shalt not's." A hundred yards or so farther down the highway, he chuckled upon discovering the note not only in his own eye but also in his brother fisherman's left "optic." ("Mote" in some sentence constructions means "might," which should apply to all fishermen.)

DIVORCED—"AT LONG LAST"

Speaking of sentences, there are the sentences, matrimonial and penal, but the longest we've read is the one which appears below from records filed in the office here of County Clerk B. Meade, where it seems that a matrimonial reprieve was finally granted, back in 1809, the year Abe Lincoln was born. If you want to scare the family by getting blue in the face, try reading this sentence without "getting" your breath:

ARTICLES OF AGREEMENT

entered into and made this 16th day of November, 1809, between Daniel Bene, Jr., of Floyd County and state of Kentucky of the one part, and Mary his wife Daniel Wolf her father Trustee for the said Mary of Surry county and State of North Carolina of the other part WITNESSETH that the said Daniel Bene, Jr., and Mary his wife by herself and her father Daniel Wolf aforesaid her trustee herein have mutually agreed and consented to make a final separation and disjoinder of their marriage contract for this that the said Daniel and Mary his wife are so unhappy in their disposition and conduct toward each other in abusive language, railery, ridicule & abuse, wherefore they conclude from these and other unhappy, disagreeable and refractory circumstances that they had better be entirely separate and apart from each other as it also evidently appears that a longer cohabitation will only increase and augment the foregoing unhappy circumstances instead of diminishing them, wherefore the parties hereunto in presence of each other & other subscribing witnesses herunto publicly and solemnly declare the conjugal obligations between the above Daniel & Mary his wife to be hence forth null and void, so far as the laws of the land admits relinquishments of this kind to be made by the parties, and further consent & agree that each party is hereafter to be in any way answerable for the contracts of the other & the said Daniel and Mary his wife together do hereby declare the intent and meaning hereto to be final separation & disposition of their marriage contract in future in manner aforesaid forever, & they agree never to cohabit again by any mankind and all the nooks and corners of the world.

Listing our assets, let us begin with human nature, which doesn't vary, deep down, a lot all over the world, but which has certain characteristics peculiar to various sections because of conditions and circumstances. Floyd county bows before none in the matter of old-fashioned Kentucky hospitality. Get off the beaten path, visit the hinterlands, if you want to call the outlying sections that, 'tend to your own business—and come back sweating that those are the finest people on God's footstool. (If you don't, somebody along the beaten path will fell you for the skunk that you are!)

If it were possible, Floyd county's folks would like for you to line them all up and pass down a reviewing line of almost 50,000 persons to count the purebred Anglo-Saxon descendants in the "passe." Those who are not of the old, pure "stock" are newcomers to these "parts" within the last twenty years—and they are in the minority.

Take Floyd county itself—the mother county of Eastern Kentucky. Prestonsburg, the county-seat, is the oldest town in what we call the "Mountains." These mountaineers differ from their Bluegrass cousins to this extent: some of the folks, coming over the hills from Virginia, went on down into the Bluegrass, while others settled in the rugged territory more fitted to their rugged natures and stalwart souls. All the same people. Peruse the records of Floyd county's courts, from 'way back in the 1700's, if you want to delve into the antiquity of this section.

Before you get through this study, you'll likely be in search of Swift's fabulous Silver Mine, or Boone's blazing of forest trails.

Then you might consider the Floyd county of the present—forgetting all past glories. You might recall that Floyd county's coal, oil and gas form a triumvirate supplying industrial activity unsurpassed in any county of the state of the same population. And these industries have been operated peacefully. Undeveloped remain other business opportunities to which capital will eventually turn here, what with an unlimited means & they further agree that the said Daniel Wolf Trustee as aforesaid is to take in his care the child named Lewis they the said Daniel & Mary now have and raise him at his own or discretion.

should hold regular monthly drills with the apparatus, the amount of their compensation to be left within the discretion of the city council.

Installation of a three-horse-power electric fire alarm siren with two control switches, one at the engine house (city hall) accessible to the public, the other in the telephone exchange office, if feasible, so that the operator may turn on the siren switch at any time a fire alarm is received. The fire alarm should be tested daily preferably at noon, since these mechanisms are subject to interference by high winds and other weather conditions.

A thorough overhauling of the present fire truck; equipping of the truck with a 12-foot roof ladder with folding hooks, an extension ladder long enough to reach at least three feet above the eaves of the highest building in town, also with pick-ax, ladders, two 2½-gallon portable extinguishers and the usual amount of minor equipment.

Equipment of the truck with at least 1200 feet of good 2½-inch fire hose, 1000 feet to be carried on the fire truck, the remainder held in reserve on the hose-rack; also at least 150 feet of 1½-inch with a cut-off nozzle for fighting inside fires.

Adoption and enforcement of state standards of safety and fire ordinances.

"We consider at this time that this town has no fire protection," Mr. Cochrane concluded.

Members of the city council and of the business association indicated that immediate steps will be taken to comply with the Actuarial Bureau's recommendations which entail an expense far below that anticipated. The committee originally appointed by J. J. Hatcher, president of the business association—J. D. Harkins, Sr., James Morell, Jr., and R. G. Francis—to contact the Actuarial Bureau and ascertain what steps are necessary to gain a reduction in fire insurance rates will continue active in co-operation with the city council.

After Mr. Gregor, of a Louisville bonding firm which has agreed to finance the purchase of the water company, had briefly discussed the water system here, its appraisal value and what Prestonsburg may expect of it as an investment, S. L. Isbell, W. A. Rose and J. T. Hughes were appointed as a committee to discuss the matter further with Mr. Gregor and Mr. Cochrane and also to ascertain from other sources the feasibility of the plant's purchase. It was indicated by the committee that it will make no report until the proposed transaction is investigated from all angles.

Association members were asked by Former Mayor A. C. Carter to assist financially in getting the fill made across Trimble Branch at the site of the old bridge connecting Second avenue with the Garfield Addition. He supply of water power, coal, gas, oil, good roads, rail facilities and all other necessities for manufacturing of raw materials into finished products. Some day, "home" business men as well as "outside" capital will recognize the need and the opportunity existing here for such development in addition to those enterprises which are almost self-suggestive and which already have been undertaken.

Floyd county has nine incorporated towns—Prestonsburg, Wayland, Martin, Garrett, Lackey, Allen, Wheelwright, Weeksbury and McDowell. It also has nine high schools—magnificently equipped high schools of brick structure which lay in the proverbial shade those out-moded pictures which sometimes appear in the big dailies and national magazines showing a log hut as a typical mountain home. In addition to these it also has five consolidated grade schools, three of which boast fine brick buildings.

Though not primarily an agricultural county, Floyd has probably Kentucky's most active farm agent. For years the county has been abreast of the times by providing a health department for the protection of its citizens. Who said, "Backward?"

And of natural talent—well, nobody has ever disputed our claim to that. Folks in other states know about the boys from Floyd who went to other counties and states and became prominent in the public affairs of their adopted states; know of the Leslies and Mayos and others who showed Texas and other states the road to education. Out of respect to our own feelings, let us not ponder too long upon the "Country Churchyards" up every little creek of the county in which sleep nameless Cromwells; that is our tragedy—will always be our tragedy—talent, natural resources, lost.

Folks? We have had them, may have them again. Killings?—yes. But none of them mass killings, no sadists operating in this rugged land of ours. Tempers flare, burn hot sometimes. Guns explode and the shame of murder rests on us. But fewer doors are locked, of nights, in this section than most parts of the whole wide world.

Not so bad, this county of ours. Thank you, Mr. Crawford, for reminding us to paint the brighter side of the picture.

This was Clear Creek's second loss of the current campaign, Wheelwright having beaten them previously, 15-4. Each team in the league has three scheduled games in the remainder of the first-half pennant chase, and Clear Creek needs one more win to clinch the honors. If either Wheelwright or Allen should win their three remaining games, while Clear Creek is dropping three, one of the two former teams will finish first.

MARTIN DOWNS PIKEVILLE Martin, Ky., June 27 (Spl.)—Martin's entry in the Beaver Valley Baseball League Sunday afternoon nosed out Pikeville, 7-5, in a free-hitting game.

Pikeville put two runs across the plate in the first inning, and Martin tied the count in their half of the first, when Griffith hit a homer with one man on. Pikeville scored another run in the second on Hatcher's two-bagger and singles by Stumbo and Johnson. Martin knotted the score in the third, when Griffith got a two-base hit and came home on Vincent's single.

Brown, Martin center fielder, put the game on ice in the fifth, hitting a four-bagger with the bases loaded. Pikeville scored two more in the sixth on two walks and two singles. Gardez Dingus, Martin's rotund catcher, who admits to being a candidate for all-American out-making honors, continued to be consistent, as he hit into two double plays and rolled meekly to first for another out. He reached first base in the third, by virtue of the pitcher's generosity.

ALLEN DEFEATS WAYLAND Allen defeated Wayland Sunday afternoon, 6-3, and the winners remain in a two-way tie with Wheelwright winners over Clear Creek over the week-end, for second place in the Big Sandy League.

L. Stumbo, former pitcher for Clear Creek, gave Wayland nine hits, of which E. Branham, Imes, and Martin each collected two. Allen made eight hits off the combined efforts of two Wayland pitchers, Patton and Marks. Hall, Allen first baseman, got three-for-three, and Prater, Allen catcher, made two-for-five.

Wayland committed five errors, while Allen finished the game without a misplay.

Though Allen's team is near the top in the league's standing, its finances hit a new low this week—$3.90 in the treasury, with $35 indebtedness.

FOREST CONSERVATION MEETING SPONSORED

The Floyd County Agricultural Conservation Committee, in conjunction with County Agent S. L. Isbell, the Floyd County Game and Fish Association, and the reforestation service, will sponsor a drive for the prevention of forest fires, in a series of county-wide meetings to begin July 10. District Fire Warden Ward will be present at each of the meetings, at which will be shown sound pictures depicting destructiveness of forest fires in timber, and wildlife losses.

There are about 65,000 acres of forest land in Floyd county, which is around 55 per cent of the county's total acreage. County Agent Isbell said. It is believed that these meetings will increase the interest in reforestation and conservation work, showing the value of the forests in the prevention of soil erosion, the retention of rainfall, and the protection of game.

Evening meetings at which the sound pictures will be shown were scheduled as follows: Endicott, mouth of Buffalo schoolhouse, July 10; Mo. of Cow, July 11; Banner school, July 12; Mouth of Toler Creek school, July 13; Blackburn school (Little Paint), July 14; Bonanza high school, July 16; Forks of Middle Creek, July 18; Mouth of Conley Fork (Spurlock), July 19; Forks of Bull Creek, schoolhouse, July 20; Maytown high school, July 21; McDowell high school, July 22.

4-H CLUBBERS PAY WITH STRAWBERRIES

Members of Kiwanis clubs at Middlesboro and Pineville this spring received payment for strawberry plants which they distributed among Bell county 4-H club members a year ago. Their reward came in the form of gallons of big, red berries. Through the aid of the Kiwanians, hundreds of farms in Bell county this year produced strawberries for home use and also to sell.

At Hazard, Perry county 4-H club members who received plants last year from the Hazard Plaindealer and business men, made a large strawberry exhibit and then distributed 50 gallons of berries among the sponsors of the strawberry project. More than 100 farm boys and girls in the county were helped to start strawberry growing.

The Voters of The 1st Judicial District

Certain rumors are going about that I do not intend to be a candidate for office.

There is such a widespread demand among the people for a clean-up in the courts and governmental affairs in Floyd and Knott counties that the people generally are demanding that I make the race. They feel that I can show how and will do it. I am in the race and will win. Your support will be appreciated.

Claude P. Stephens.

Although the tolls on state bridges have been greatly reduced, the revenue from them has not fallen in proportion because of increased traffic at the lower rates.

Ivan "Whiskers"

there and everywhere goes without saying. The hairy gladiator has been packing and jamming parks, stadia and gymnasiums to capacity in every appearance in the United States. He's been the center of attraction wherever he goes, he's in demand for the next six months, and the only reason he's making the Prestonsburg engagement is because he wants to co-operate with the Mid-West Wrestling Association in keeping the mat game alive in Kentucky and break the long trip from the Atlantic Coast to the Pacific Coast, Mr. Allen said.

Rasputin is a stocky, fellow, who looks anything but human. He sports a crop of heavy, black whiskers and beard, has hair all over his chest, back and legs, walks like a gorilla, uses animalistic tactics in the ring—several times his crushing holds have required hospitalization for victims—and, in general, acts like an oddity of the ring.

But, with all this, his wrestling ability overshadows his unique appearance, odd mannerisms. Only Knutsen, and he's from Swelen, would risk his life and limb in a bout with Rasputin. Several others, Everett Marshall, Jim Londos and Bronko Nagurski offered to take the match for one-fall decision for $1,000 and expenses, but only Knutsen, another promising foreigner like Rasputin, who likewise fears no one, would battle "Whiskers" to a finish.

Knutsen ranks ace-high in Sweden and every week finds him building up his prestige in the United States. He hopes to gain the world's title before returning to his native land in August.

SPEED TRAP REPORTED IN WAYNE COUNTY

Louis—The Huntington Automobile Club and the Eastern Kentucky Automobile Association have taken cognizance of complaints from members that "speed traps" are being operated in Wayne county W. Va., by constables, and the Wayne County News last week stated that "Wayne county is acquiring an undesirable reputation among motorists because of the complaints. One large trucking company complained that its drivers were arrested in the vicinity of Lavalette. Another motorist from Ohio complained to the Huntington club he was arrested in Wayne county and fined $15. Citizens have heard reports that motorists are taking longer routes, such as the Big Sandy road and the Logan road, in preference to the highway through Wayne county."

SLEEPING SICKNESS FOUND IN KENTUCKY

The first case this year of sleeping sickness of horses in Kentucky has been reported by the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington. The brain of a horse that died in the central part of the state was examined in the Station's department of animal pathology and the cause of death pronounced sleeping sickness. This diagnosis later was confirmed in the bureau of Animal Industry in the United States Department of Agriculture. Brains of several horses have been received at the Experiment Station but only in this one instance was evidence of the sleeping disease found. A large number of Kentucky horses have been vaccinated against sleeping sickness, the disease which killed large numbers of horses in other states last year.

U.K. SUMMER SCHOOL ROLLS BREAK RECORD

Surpassing all records for the first term enrollment in the history of the University of Kentucky summer session, a total of 1,921 students are registered for the current five-weeks' term at the state University. Included in the registrations are two students from Venezuela, one from Egypt, one from the Canal Zone and one from Canada.

A statistical analysis of registration at the University of Kentucky for the first five-week session shows that 116 of the 120 Kentucky counties are represented, 32 of the 48 states besides Kentucky, and that the total of 1,921 students in attendance surpasses by 65 the total number enrolled during the first summer term last year.

Among the students registered from Floyd county are: Ollie Mae Johnson, Garrett; Joe Wheeler Jarrell, Prestonsburg; Joe Taylor Hyden, West Prestonsburg; Delmon Howard, Betsy Layne; Bonnie Slade Hopkins, Martin; Moses Hall, McDowell; Boone Hall, McDowell; Mabel Mattha Wells, Auxier; Monroe Wicker, Lackey; Ishmael Triplett, Lackey; Dixie Tackett, Weeksbury; Wayne Ratliff, Langley; Mrs. Wayne Ratliff, Langley; Helen Moore Ransdell, Prestonsburg; Ethel Carter Powers, Prestonsburg; Curtis Owens, Garrett; Audrey Blair Sturgill, Garrett; Claybourne Stephens, Prestonsburg; Mrs. Victoria Spradlin, Prestonsburg; Myrtle Hughes Howard,

CAPITOL COMMENTS

John Y. Brown opened his campaign for Governor last week at Morganfield and the gathering of the political elite was an ominous one for one side, with indications that a bitterly-fought, close contest will be the result.

Senator Barkley, as Frederic Wallis so aptly said, stopped his work on national affairs of government to come down and endorse John for Governor. John made a strong speech before a large crowd and the battle is on.

Legal minds around Frankfort are (and this is inside information) forecasting that the Wage-Hour Law is unconstitutional, and that, if it is questioned in court, it will be ruled that way. If this happens, the job-holders of the Wage-Hour administration will be out of work, and right at election time, too.

Hetch Lackey, of Paducah, and Gilbert, of Shelbyville, announced for Lieutenant-Governor, making five now in the race for that place, with the possibility that two more may announce.

A Hillbilly Goes to Town

By HENRY ARROWOOD

York—It made me wonder how the "blind" man really was this morning when I saw him, who sells along Broadway, stoop over a muzzled dog which had turned loose the street, and set him back on his feet south along Broadway.

"A day in the milling, swirling maelstrom of New York's busy streets, a pine-studded peak on the Yost side of Greasy Creek in Johnson County, Kentucky, would be as refreshing as a Henry Watterson editorial in among the tripe being written by the big daily editors.

"A dreamer of dreams can flop beneath a shade tree along the Big River and picture the wonderful advantages of living in New York. This city's "greatest" things, its greatest educational advantages, "the world," "tallest building in the world," "most famous street in the world," "largest theater in the world," and so on and on I think the pages of the wide outdoors of Prestonsburg, Paintsville, East Boons Camp, and Mousie, Ky., the New York shade-in-the-laid, the reverse.

"I write this, in the office of a newspaper on Broadway, I can look out on Times Square, Greeley Square, Herald Square, Herald Square (I've heard for "Squire" Buckingham, but I don't understand he's a Judge now), and most of the seven million souls twice as many "heels" milling on the streets. I glance up from the eleventh floor office at the 102-story Empire State building near 34th and Fifth avenue. I figure with a strong tail wind I could fly in Al Smith, the boss of that city which I'm told is a "white elephant." More than half a hundred of the building remain vacant and are likely to be so for another year or two at least.

"I believe me, girls and fellers, I'd rather be on my mother's little rocky island on the head of Greasy Creek, than to sit here and gape at the frost-nipped delicacies with a privileged skin a 'possum loves to eat than to sit here and gape at the best building in the world.

"I'd rather see than New York's teeming streets is a fine fat fellow with her streaming teats.

"I nearly-six-year-old daughter and I went into a barber shop near the Penn Station the other day to have our hair cropped. The skunk who was cutting Ruth's hair came over to my chair with an ear-spoon filled with a brownish red substance, and "the little girl has a scalp condition. I pressed this down on her head and got this stuff. I can remove it if you wish." I told him no, I'd have her mother see about it. "She can't get it out," the dirty liar said. Then I told him I'd have a doctor see about it. I knew I was in a den of thieves instead of a barber shop. So the barber cutting my hair put some mud on a towel and rubbed it in my hair and showed me the results. "Scalp's awful dirty," he said, "better let me wash it out." I just said no to him and was glad to get out of the clip joint.

Let me add that my hair was NOT dirty and that the only thing Ernestine could find in Ruth's hair was one little greasy spot of brownish salve where the skunk in a barber's apron had put it. I've since learned that this shop has been in the public eye more than once for just such practice.

Yeah, it's a great little town, this!

My mother-in-law, Mrs. Verlie Pigg, of Davisport, has just returned home after a visit of two weeks with us. We showed her New York in a big way—the Bowery, Battery Park, Chinatown, Music Hall (biggest treat in the world, "Helzapoppin'" (New York's most famous stage show), took her on an all-day Hudson river steamer ride to Poughkeepsie, and into the Automat to eat where you drop a nickel in the Automat and set your mouth for what comes out.

What sobers a drunk, or makes his head clearer than a motorcycle cop in his rear-view mirror?

The word "cattle" used to apply to horses, hogs, sheep, and to some people. For instance, a commander of my company during the World War often classed us as a "bunch of dumb cattle."

Walter Winchell talks like a man who is running to catch a microphone.

A nation is not always as weak as its strongest crank.

the house. After Mrs. Lurline Howell had called for the group to "come to dinner," it was stated, Hays passed her as she returned up the lane from the car which they had driven to a point near the home, and continued on to the house. Mrs. Howell said she heard a shot fired and found Hays lying in the yard.

Three bullet holes were fired, in, or into, the Howell home, Sam Roberts testified. Other shots were fired at intervals down the lane where the car was parked, prior to the killing, it was stated. Witnesses claimed Jake Salisbury fired only the bullet which entered Hays' right breast.

A jury empaneled by Coroner Elliott Prater late Sunday afternoon, after hearing evidence at the inquest held some distance from where the body lay, rendered the following verdict:

"We the jury agree and find that Orville Hays came to his death at Steve Howell's residence by a gunshot wound, entered in his right breast, by the hands of Jake Salisbury. Our investigation further develops that this killing grew out of a 'feeling' existing between the deceased man and Jake Salisbury in connection with a feeling toward Hazel Hall, a girl who, we understand, was picked up in car of Tuley Salisbury, which was occupied by Jake Salisbury and Orville Hays and taken to the residence of Steve Howell."

Body of Hays was taken to Martin, where it was prepared for burial by the Ryan Funeral Home. Funeral rites were conducted Tuesday afternoon by the Revs. Green Allen, Garrett, and Lawrence Price, Hueysville. Burial was made in the Allen cemetery, near Hueysville.

The victim was a son of Bee Hays and of the late Mrs. Myrtle Dyer Allen. He is survived by his widow, his father, his step-father, Blucher Allen, Hueysville, three half-sisters, Mrs. Earl Hall, Banner; Bertha and Minnie Allen, Hueysville; and by four half-brothers, Gordon, Burton, Clarence and Blucher Allen, Jr.

FIELD HEALTH STUDY IN MINING SECTIONS OF COUNTY PLANNED

Dr. Marvin Ransdell, director of the Floyd county health department, announced plans last week of conducting in co-operation with Drs. J. W. Bailey and Dr. E. H. Carlton, Wheelwright, a field study over the next two months into the causes of the unusual prevalence of intestinal disorders among children in Wheelwright and vicinity.

The study will seek to ascertain causes of these illnesses in Floyd mining communities and may continue over the next two or three years in other thickly populated sections of the county. Wheelwright was chosen, Dr. Ransdell said, for the first field research because it affords a laboratory, with Beecher Scutchfield as bacteriologist.

Plans for this work were announced following a visit here last week by Dr.

FOR MAYOR

After the solicitation of a number of citizens of the town of Prestonsburg, I have decided to make the race for Mayor. Of course, I am asking the support of the citizens of the town. In the language of Edgar Guest.

"It matters not whether it be large or small, The home town is the best town, all." My platform—Justice to all, discrimination to none.

E. P. ARNO

HENRY STEPHENS, JR. FOR CIRCUIT JUDGE

It has been rumored within the past few days that I would not be a candidate for Circuit Judge, but since I have been in this race since last December and have worked on my campaign for six months, I would be ungrateful to let my friends and supporters down at this time, a thing I never did do in my life, and I have arrived at the age where I can't afford to do it now.

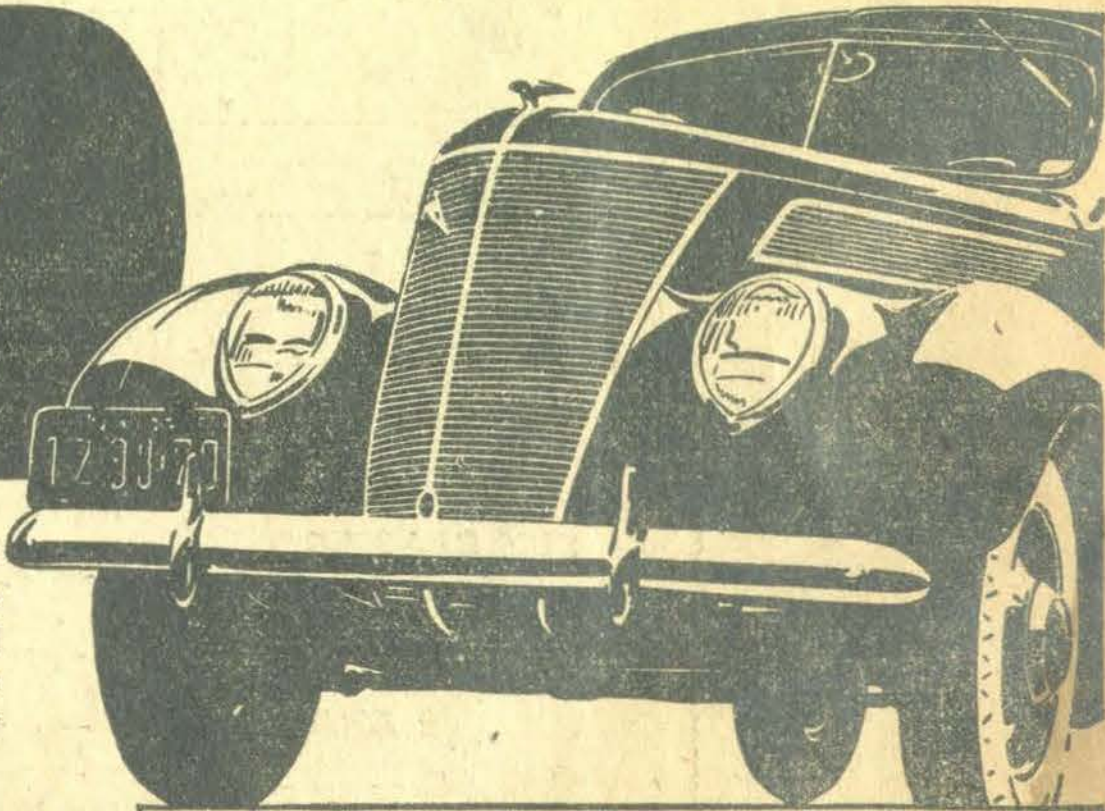

It also has been reported that I could not qualify for this office, WHICH IS NOT TRUE! The same thing was said about Ex-Judge A. T. Patrick in 1915, but you very well remember that he served this district six years. I AM IN THE FIGHT UNTIL THE VOTE IS COUNTED, AND IF DEFEATED I WILL NOT CONTEST, BUT WILL SUPPORT THE NOMINEE.

I will make my opening statement July 10, 1939, the first day of court at Hindman, Ky. If I am nominated and elected, I will give the district the service which has been demanded so long. I will serve you honestly, efficiently and well and with your help will do a good job. WHEN YOU HEAR I AM NOT MAKING THIS RACE IN GOOD FAITH, YOU MAY KNOW IT IS NOT SO! I am a hard worker and never have quit a race, and I will not quit now. BE CAREFUL AND DON'T LOSE YOUR VOTE ON AUGUST 5, 1939.

Yours truly, HENRY STEPHENS, JR.
