INVESTIGATION OF RECENT ELECTION ASKED BY CAUDILL

In Instructions to Grand Jury, Convened for September Term

CHAIN BALLOT SYSTEM USED OPENLY, CHARGE

Thorough Check Into Illegal Operation of County Roadhouses Is Also Urged

"I want you to make a special effort to investigate all violations of the election laws and, if possible, convince the people of Floyd county that there are some people who believe in honest elections." Circuit Judge John W. Caudill told the grand jury in his instructions Monday morning upon the opening of the September term of the Floyd circuit court.

He added that evidence in the ballot boxes used in the August primary indicated that the chain ballot system was used in at least 12 or 14 precincts of the county's 52. Official ballots, he charged, were seen in the possession of persons at several voting places. That votes were publicly bought and that election officers in certain precincts signaled to persons outside were other charges made by Judge Caudill.

All these offenses constitute violations of the election laws, and the offenders should be prosecuted, he pointed out.

The grand jurors were told to contact County Judge E. P. Hill, ascertain what roadhouses are operating without licenses and what places are selling beer of whisky without license, then indict the operators.

Indictments should be returned against those guilty of carrying concealed deadly weapons, Judge Caudill instructed. "It's got so that they try to get the pockets of new suits larger so that they can carry a gun," he declared.

Recounting complaints made to him of drunkenness on the part of certain officers, he asked that these violations be probed. At the same time he cited the need for prosecution of those guilty of starting forest fires and of violating the fish and game laws.

W. B. Woods, Emma, is foreman of the grand jury. Other members are Alka Holbrook, Beulah Horn, Cretie

This Town-- That World

IT HAPPENED AGAIN

We didn't tell you so—but we knew it would happen, just the same. How many times in recent years can you recall when somebody didn't get shot in this county, just before the convening of the grand jury here?

A SOUND APPRAISER

Sam Isbell attempted Monday to perpetrate a re-hash of that last state joke of his, told in these same sacred precincts not 48 hours earlier. For a nickel "Stinky" heckled him out of his unworthy undertaking, the said "Stinky" being aided by other noise-making devices in the office. When asked if it was worth a dime for his heckler to desist his tactics, the would-be narrator broke down and confessed, thusly: "I never told a joke in my life that was worth a dime!"

SOMEBODY'S A LIAR— GUESS WHO!

—Says Harlan Miller, Washington newspaper correspondent:

"One day Hitler announced that he was forced to mobilize on the Polish border to restore order in Poland.

"The next day he was mobilizing to save 2,000,000 of the 700,000 Germans in Poland.

"A day later he was mobilizing in Slovakia to prevent the ruthless Poles from marching against the pushover Slovaks.

"And on the fourth day he said that rumors that he was mobilizing on the

CORN GROWS TALL; TALES, SOME TALLER, CHECK-UP DISCLOSES

The Middle Creek stalk, County Agent Isbell said, measured little more than 15 feet. The Northern report was near-accurate.

Where the tall corn grows is not in Iowa, as we have heretofore been told, but on Middle Creek, here in Floyd county, if a report received by WLW, Cincinnati radio station, is authentic.

After WLW had made announcement of the Kentucky State Fair's "Tall Corn Contest," Dave Shepherd, Goodloe, wrote that he has a stalk of corn which is 23 feet tall.

"That," WLW officials wrote County Agent S. L. Isbell, "might be a national record." The Ohio state fair winner was only 18 feet, 6 1/2 inches high, according to WLW records, and the station's "Contest" department wrote Mr. Isbell that, if the stalk of corn grown by Mr. Shepherd is more than 20 feet in height it should be a certain winner.

To the same station was reported by S. D. Martin, Northern, a stalk 17 1/2 feet high.

State Fair officials have specified that stalks of corn entered in this contest are to be measured from the ground level to the tip of the tassel.

MRS. J. A. HAGER, TYPHOID VICTIM

Well-Known Prestonsburg Woman Succumbs at Pikeville Hospital

Mrs. Josephine Ellis Hager, 37 years old, died Sunday morning at the Pikeville hospital where she had been ill for the past six weeks with typhoid.

Mrs. Hager was one of Prestonsburg's most prominent women, having a large circle of business and professional acquaintances as well as a host of personal friends and relatives. Mrs. Hager was one of the elders of the Presbyterian Church of which she was a member; also treasurer of the Women's Auxiliary of that church and secretary of the Prestonsburg Woman's Club.

Mrs. Hager was the wife of J. Arthur Hager, who at the time of her passing was in the same hospital suffering from the same malady that caused her death. In addition to her husband, she is survived by three children, Jane Carol, Rose Ellen and Jerry Arthur; her mother, Mrs. Virgie Chewning, her father, Frank Ellis, and two half-sisters, Mrs. Colonel May and Miss Jacqueline Ellis, all of Prestonsburg.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the Presbyterian Church. Services at the home were conducted by the Rev. Robert A. Potter, former pastor of the Presbyterian Church here, but now of

STEPHENSON WINS IN VOTE RE-COUNT

Second Tab in Senatorial Race Gives Pike Man Lead of 53

Judge Moore told THE TIMES Monday that his cross-petition following Senator Stephenson's petition for a re-count included a contest action which was not answered by Stephenson and that his legal counsel had assured him that he would gain the nomination. He said that more than 100 ballots not actually cast by the voters were counted for Stephenson in one Pike county precinct.

Victorious in re-count proceedings that gave him the Democratic Senatorial nomination in the Thirteenth district, Former State Senator E. D. Stephenson, Pikeville, author of Kentucky's first budget act and first county budget act, now faces one more barrier before he can return to the Senate—the November election.

His opponent in the November election will be S. C. Ferguson, Prestons-

Caddy Of Beaver Valley Club Is Big Sandy Amateur Champ

Allen Youth Defeats Earl Walker, of the Paintsville Club, In 39-Hole Final Match, Labor Day, to Capture Golf Championship

Willard Adkins, the Allen youth who as a caddy lugs the clubs of members of the Beaver Valley Golf Club around for pay, then goes out and gives the boys golf lessons for the pure fun of licking 'em, Monday won the Big Sandy amateur golf championship.

In a tense 39-hole final match with Earl Walker, defending champion, Adkins won by virtue of a magic putting touch. To reach the finals, he had disposed of Duff Perry, of the Beaver Valley club, and Lon Hall and Arthur Meeks, two of Paintsville's best golfers.

Here Friday; John W. Brooker, of State Dep't, Principal Speaker

Approximately 200 teachers in Floyd county consolidated high schools and graded schools attended the all-day teachers' conference held in the Prestonsburg high school auditorium Friday which was featured by an address from the Hon. John W. Brooker of the state department of education.

FLOYD COUNTIAN IS PROMOTED TO RADIO OPERATOR IN HAWAII

Nineteen-year-old Archie Akers, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Akers, of Dwale, was recently promoted to the post of radio operator, third class, in the U. S. Navy after 16 months' training at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii submarine base.

Ranking second in the Honolulu submarine division, young Akers, a graduate of Wayland high school, passed all tests requisite to his promotion before he had served the 16 months necessary for him to gain the new post. Before entering the Navy, he had never had a lesson in any phase of radio operation or work.

Born on Right Beaver Creek, and attached to the submarine Beaver, young Akers writes that that name has, to date, brought him nothing but good luck. Of his $24-a-month pay check he has been sending his mother $12 until he has an account of $180 in a local bank. With his increased salary, he expects to send her $20 a month.

YOUTH SUCCUMBS TO BULLET WOUND

Crum Held After Bentley Fatally Shot Saturday Night Near Allen

George B. Bentley, 21 years old, died Sunday morning at 10:10 o'clock in the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, of a revolver bullet wound said to have been fired 12 hours earlier at "Smallwood," between Allen and Banner, by Alex Crum, 22, of Daniels Creek.

Arrested and jailed here by Deputy Sheriff Epp Laferty and Coroner Elliott Prater, Crum faced a murder indictment by the grand jury this week.

One revolver bullet allegedly fired by Crum passed through Bentley's left wrist and entered his body. Crum denied that he fired the shot but three others, Floyd Laferty, Herman Robinson and Willard Hall, who claimed they witnessed the tragedy, averred that they saw him fire. Crum also was quoted by Deputy Sheriff Laferty as saying that he and others had been going to bean-stringings in the community where the shooting took place and that Bentley had attempted to run them away. He exhibited a cut lip which he claimed was inflicted by Bentley as he was knocked into a ditch.

The shooting took place near the home of Marion Laferty as the group of young men walked down a path-

Six-Hit Pitching of Hill Stumbling Block for Left Beaver Lads

Behind the six-hit pitching of Lon Hill, the Martin baseball team nosed out Wheelwright, 6-5, Sunday afternoon at Wheelwright. Both teams are members of the Beaver Valley Baseball league.

This was the first game the Martin aggregation has played since they were defeated at Pikeville July 20, by Kenmont in the first game of the play-offs between the Beaver Valley and the Kentucky River leagues.

Hill allowed the Wheelwright hitters six safeties, while Martin was getting to Ferguson, on the mound for the losers, for 13 hits.

Halbert, Martin shortstop, led his mates in the hitting, making three hits. Brown, Griffith and Hill each made two. Smith, Wheelwright third baseman, was the only batter able to solve the slants of Hill for more than one hit. He collected three-for-five.

MAN SENTENCED FOR ATTACK ON GIRL

Louisa—Delbert Lambert, 23, of Grayhill, near Catlettsburg, charged with the attempted rape of his sister-in-law on the river bank near Hubbardtown, W. Va., a few months ago, pleaded guilty in circuit court at Wayne recently and was sentenced to serve from one to five years in the penitentiary. Lambert was arrested in April on complaint of his wife's 14-year-old sister, who stated he attacked her near the mouth of Little Hurricane on the shores of Big Sandy river while the family was on a fishing party at the mouth of Blaine in this county. Lambert, she said, asked her to go with him in a boat to raise a trot line, and then took her to the scene of the attack.

LAWRENCE ROAD WORK PLANNED

Louisa—County Judge S. B. Ball this week announced he had called a special session of the Lawrence fiscal court for Saturday to consider plans for the Louisa-Webbville highway. Work on this highway was halted last April when the fiscal court approved a plan to coordinate the rural highway division and WPA road programs in Lawrence county.

It is necessary now for the court to approve the Louisa-Webbville sector as a rural highway division project. The WPA and rural highway forces may commence work on the road, it was explained. The highway is complete from the Mayo Trail to Webbville with the exception of three short stretches and two bridges.

PIKE CERTIFYING OFFICE CLOSED

Pikeville—By a vote of five to three the Pike county fiscal court last week voted to close the Pike county certifying office and made the order effective August 31.

Following the action, H. R. Longabaugh, head of the relief works in Pike county, stated that this will have no effect on the projects now underway in the county at this time, but states that unless the office is re-opened no more workers can be certified and at the end of 18 months all projects will probably be automatically stopped.

At the same time Mr. Longabaugh stated that the recent wage revision for WPA workers will mean an increase for many of the Pike county workers. Mr. Longabaugh pointed out that Grade "A" workers will now be permitted to earn $35.10 where the former top was $32.10. Grade "D" workers, however, will lose 90 cents per week, now allowed $31.20, where their former top was $32.10. Intermediate workers have been raised from $39 per month to $42.90 while skilled workers who formerly were allowed to make $44.20 are now permitted to make $55.90.

drive carefully through school areas. Statistics show that in one year, some 2,400 children between the ages of 8 to 14 were killed by automobiles, and some 86,000 were injured. Many of those injured were crippled for life.

After school hours, where proper playgrounds have not been provided, children are very likely to be found playing on the streets or on the highways. This, also, is true in some localities where children walk to school. They often "hitch on" to trucks or try to beat the car across the street. In the excitement of play they fail to see cars, or, in trying to get out of the way, stumble and fall. Children are naturally impulsive. A normal child gets an idea and acts upon it immediately. It is perfectly natural for playing children to act suddenly and without caution. Since this is the nature of children, the sportsmanlike driver assumes responsibility for their safety. He drives as though assuming that every child playing on or near the street is about to dart in front of the car. He never depends on the child to be cautious.

Children can be trained to be good pedestrians. Even with the traffic hazards of young children as great as they are, the average level of skill and caution of grade school children has been greatly raised in recent years by a well-planned public school program of safety education. By means of stories, plays, posters, and safety programs children are being successfully taught what to do in traffic. As a result, their accident rate has been greatly reduced.

Let's make the rate lower this year than ever before.

EASTERN

It is indeed a pleasure to recognize the eminent news reporters of this metropolis. They have endeavored to promulgate the news of Eastern to the good citizens of Floyd county. At this time I would like to add another paragraph or so to inform the people of some of the news that the nationally recognized reporters have omitted or overlooked.

Joe "Ferret" Dyer and Rhomer "Pickle" Osborne are prominent members of the Rook Club of Eastern. They have no regular employment. An unemployed person is one who desires to look for employment, according to the economists. Under the above qualifications Eastern has very few unemployed; in fact, I can't count one at present.

Joe Dyer, Rhomer, Edgar, Ezra and Raymond Osborne have discovered a new way to save time when working in the hay. They leave their loaded wagon in the barn and, save the time it would take to unload the hay. Furthermore, the hay does not have to be handled because the cows and mules are already in contact with the feed. A neighbor always has another wagon if they have more than one load of hay.

SHIKE'S POKES

(Views expressed in this column are those of the writer and not necessarily those of The Times.)

Well, the slaughter has started in Europe. Will we get in it? Yes—if it lasts a year.

After listening to German reports of the war and to American correspondents who were present, I believe that Hitler's greatest weapon is the typewriter—the kind that has keys.

He's doing things with his typewriter that his army would be afraid to attempt.

I am of the firm belief that those few sorehead Senators who refused to bring up the neutrality bill at the last session are responsible for Hitler striking so soon.

I say, sell anybody anything they want—just so they come after it and pay for it.

Our heavyweight championship fight ended in a draw.

If a war should ever come to the U. S., we're safe from a ground attack up here on Left Beaver. It takes roads to move a mechanized army and roads are something we haven't got.

Germany's gas isn't much worse than our Left Beaver dust.

When a fellow "takes off" in his car, he lays down an effective dust screen that lasts for at least 10 minutes.

We're all wondering about that bridge we were supposed to get this spring.

Everyone hated to see the second World War start, but we all know that Hitlerism must be destroyed.

CAN ANOTHER CITY COUNCIL FILE NOW

Attorney General Says He Doesn't Know; Advises Test Case

(Big Sandy News)

Guy H. Herdman, assistant attorney general of Kentucky, in a letter to Wm. W. Moore, county clerk here, this week stated the attorney general's office is not certain that another ticket for city council in Louisa can file for the November election and, suggests that a test case be instituted to decide the question.

Only one ticket, composed mostly of members of the present woman council, filed before the deadline on July 6 as provided in an amendment to section 1456 of the Kentucky statutes which stipulates that candidates filing by petition must file such petition with the county clerk 30 days prior to the first Saturday in August, which is primary election day, instead of 15 days before the November election as has been observed heretofore.

County Clerk Moore asked the Attorney general for an opinion after persons interested in filing a councilmanic ticket had inquired for information.

In his reply, Hardman said: "We have had numerous inquiries about this question and admit that this is a perplexing question. We are enclosing a copy of a similar opinion given this day to the county clerk at Irvin. In view of this uncertainty, the best way to do, as I suggested in this letter to Irvin, is to get a judicial determination. This could be done under the Declaratory Judgment Act, or this independent ticket for council could file with you and let the other ticket enjoin you from putting them on the ballot and bring up the question. Certainly it ought to be decided."

It is not known who are being considered to compose a second ticket for council here, but an effort is being made, it is understood, to put a ticket in the field to oppose the present predominantly feminine council.

The single ticket filed before the deadline July 6 listed as candidates Mrs. Ernest F. Wellman, Mrs. Robert W. Vinson, Mrs. John Moore, Mrs. John Hays, present members of the council, and B. J. Chaffin. Mrs. Wellman later told The News she had decided not to make the race.

Mr. Herdman in an opinion on the question made to Irvin, stated that section 1456 as originally enacted in 1918 specifically exempted application to municipal elections, but as re-enacted in 1938 it apparently meant to cover municipal elections.

"We have heretofore given an opinion," Mr. Herdman said, "that section 1456 governs and that it is too late now to file an independent petition but in view of a court of appeals ruling in the Woods-Detheridge case it would seem there is some doubt about it and until the court of appeals clarifies this, there is nothing definite in the matter. I have advised in previous opinions that this matter be clarified by a court decision in time to allow municipal candidates to file, if it is permissible."

BUGS TAKE OVER HOUSE, FURNISHINGS, TOO

A family residing in Hickman county, decided last week to improve their household, which they did to their sorrow because they received an unwanted addition along with their furniture—bugs!

The family, first of all, bought a mattress which they thought very nice until they settled down for an evening's repose, they thought, but to their horror and disgust they were besieged by bugs all night.

Then came the furniture. It, too, contained and was besieged by the unheralded menace.

Thus the bugs began to bite and chew on everything in the house whether it was flesh or wood. This continued until the family called together a council of war and put into use every bug extinguisher that could be thought of, but to no avail. Then the family, at long last, decided to evacuate, which they did, boarding up the house behind them.

They did manage to capture a few of the vultures, which Dr. L. S. Swann, county health doctor, sent to Louisville to be analyzed and named if possible.

The Louisville authorities, however, didn't find it possible and, according to Dr. Swann, relayed them to Washington for a closer scrutiny. Then "comes the revelation," we hope—Hickman County Gazette.

"BUMBLE BEE" BLAZE

Attacked by a horde of bumble bees as he was working on the home of W. H. Branaman near the postoffice, the Rev. Sam Carroll fashioned a torch with newspapers, ignited it and attempted to burn the insects out.

He did, but the consequences were not entirely satisfactory.

Carroll had placed the torch at the end of an open eave of the porch and the rafters formed a natural chimney with plenty of draft, to the attic of the home.

Also to aid the blaze were several birds' nests that had been built in the enclosure.

The flames, touching the straw, were carried rapidly along and Carroll said it went "Whooz!"

Yes, the fire department was called. But Carroll and Gordon Porter had extinguished the blaze.—London (Ky.) Sentinel-Echo.

Vincent Lopez To Appear At The Kentucky State Fair

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 1—Vincent Lopez, whose nimble fingers nightly have brought the hitting tune of "Noia" through your radio loudspeakers, will be in person at the Kentucky State Fair each night from September 11 through the 16. Managing Director Herbert S. Cleveland today announced Lopez first will play for the horse show, starting at 7:15 o'clock and at 10:15 retire to a specially constructed outdoor dance floor on the Midway to play for public dancing at ten cents a dance.

This same Lopez, who you will see leading his men through everything from popular music and light opera to the hop-and-skip jitterbug arrangements, is what many musicians call a "natural."

After several years in a boys' school Vincent next went to business college, and as might be expected he soon became a speed demon on the typewriter. The nimble fingers that could play the scales with such facility found no difficulty in chasing up and down the lettered keys. When the course was finished he got a job with a dairy and began saying it with milk instead of music. But the milk job curdled and music won a decisive victory.

Recognition as a pianist started when he landed a job at old McLoughlin's Restaurant, on Sheepshead's Bay, at $25 a week with hours from 1 p. m. to 1 a. m. He had 35 singing writers under his command who would sing or try to, whenever he struck the right notes. His first job on Broadway was with the Five Kings of Harmony, at the Pekin Restaurant. Three months after he joined the band he became its director.

Later he organized his own six-piece orchestra and bounced into the limelight when Pat Rooney and Marian Bent, names to conjure with in those days, made his unit a part of the act. Incidentally, this marked the first time a band was used as entertainment on the stage.

Lopez has scored many remarkable firsts in the musical world since then and was the first orchestra leader to put jazz on the air. This most remarkable part of Lopez' career, however, is that he has required only five engagements to span fourteen and a half years of stellar band activity in New York. This is divided as follows: Pennsylvania Hotel, seven years; St. Regis, five years; Ambassador, one year; Hotel Astor, one year and a recent six-months' engagement at Billy Rose's Casa Menana.

THE TWO WPA'S

The WPA... Thousands, even millions, have cursed it. As many have blessed it. To some it stood for "We plunder along."

We of the human race plunder along in Europe and will continue to do so for years, perhaps.

Sooner or later, we of America will be drawn into the maelstrom and we, too, shall plunder along.

We shall plunder along to the end. To the end of the war? To the end of the lives of millions? Or to the end of civilization?

Within the last few years most of us have found fault with minor details of the WPA—the WPA as we knew it before Black Sunday last; many of us found fault with its basic ideals and principles, but not all of us.

But now, the little light afforded by the WPA as we have known it, fast recedes before the shadow of the blood-red moon that is Mars. The poor who have found civil work in a civilized land at government expense will find it in another field.

And the new debt will not be incurred to keep men and women and their children and other loved ones in peace and at home in security. It will be incurred to send our men to war, away from their women and children and loved ones.

It is that coming WPA which cannot grace the name of the old, that WPA which will plunder and spoil.

But it may be necessary. And, if it becomes so, THE TIMES will be glad to abide by its basic principles—that the commonest of us must live even as the highest; and that death there sometimes must be, that others may live.

A MAINTENANCE PROBLEM

If war does come to these shores, all public improvement programs will almost automatically cease. In that event, our entire resources will be devoted to the task of improving our chances of destroying the other fellow.

That happening, it will be the job of local governmental groups to maintain the peacetime improvements we have made.

Roads in particular require attention; more particularly, gravel-surfaced routes.

For this reason, Floyd county should now begin to plan for the upkeep of WPA-constructed highways which, unless maintained, will soon revert to the old "wagon road" type.

Floyd county's annual share of the rural road fund of the state, augmented by a county fund, which would not necessarily have to be a large one, would make such maintenance possible and the improvements enduring.

Points By Other Editors

THE DECLINE OF BEAUTY AND CHARM

There has been much criticism of the ugliness of the architecture of a university building just completed, according to one of the daily newspapers.

I don't know who the architect is, but if the edifice is ugly, he is strictly up-to-date. The twentieth century has become pre-eminently a period of ugliness and crudeness. This spreads over American life and architecture cannot escape.

There is little beauty in our art. Much of the painting and sculpture is horrible. There is little beauty (and much dirt) in our literature.

nasty words under his tongue. The lurid illustrations in some of our best-selling magazines are enough to give a sober man delirium tremens.

Many of our amusements are ugly, crude, coarse and silly. In the place of the beautiful dances of our fathers we have ridiculous cavortings. The once beautiful dance music is replaced by jazz. The night club is the cruelest of all our crudities.

Dignity has gone. Our public men frequently try to "act dignified," but the spirit of the age gets them. They relapse into unmannerly crudities, which mortify us when we are supporting them.

I doubt if any age of the past saw a civilization slip faster than ours has slipped in the twentieth century. But we talk of this "wonderful age" and say brightly: "This is such an interesting time in which to live."

I am not a pessimist. I could not be one, because I believe absolutely in the sovereignty of God. But we cannot reclaim the beauty and charm which means so much to the human spirit unless we first recognize how ugly we are!

Of course, there are many, many people who have clung to old ideals and old manners and all the loveliness which we have so crudely cast aside. We are much better off than Israel was when Elijah, having fled for his life, said that he was the only servant of God left in the nation.

The poet Heine and a friend were gazing at the cathedral at Amiens. The friend said, "Why don't we build such structures now?" Heine answered: "Because the men of that day had convictions, while we have only opinions and more than opinions are required to build cathedrals."

More than opinions are required to maintain a civilization, and that is one reason why ours is slipping.

We are becoming alarmed over the failure of American universities to do for young people what we expected. We don't seem to understand that professors who only have opinions cannot implant convictions in the minds of their students.

The English have a definite educational pattern and the educated Englishman confirms to that pattern. Whether it is wise or otherwise, it is at least very definite. In many of our universities, the professors inculcate students with whatever theories happen to catch their fancy.

VICTORY FOR INSANITY

The last fitful flame of hope for peace in Europe was fed by indications that Adolf Hitler might be concerned with history's verdict of guilt in the launching of a general European war.

Hitler apparently is content to face history with dirty hands, having convinced himself that they are clean. Thus, it now appears, the exchange of notes between Berlin and London was not an avenue of effort on Germany's part to make out a cause for war satisfactory to history.

By far the most, if not the only, sensible-appearing statement or offer by Germany was the sixteen-point program made public Thursday from Berlin, but the circumstances under which it was offered belie its claim as a justification of the use of force by Germany.

Hitler apparently is content to face history with dirty hands, having convinced himself that they are clean. Thus, it now appears, the exchange of notes between Berlin and London was not an avenue of effort on Germany's part to make out a cause for war satisfactory to history.

It has long since been apparent, however, that the continent was dealing with a man not amenable to reason. He has a madman's faculty for convincing himself that whatever he chooses to believe is so.

THE WAR AND OURSELVES

Twenty-two years ago we made the mistake of entering a European war in the foolish belief that it was a war to end war. Now we are shocked by another European war which is the direct result of that "war to end war"—a war which would never have brought Germany, France and Britain to grips except for the peace terms of that war to end war.

It is a conflagration on whose extent and ravages it would be profitless to speculate. The possibilities of the ruin with which it may blight mankind are limitless. We Americans, of course, are most concerned about the effects it may have upon us.

That is why it will be difficult for us to maintain the aloofness from the European tragedy which we profess and which we desire to maintain. Almost unanimously we insist that we must not be drawn into it; we are sincere in our determination to keep out of it.

Numerous county clerks had asked questions as to exactly what date was fixed under the law. Assistant Attorney General Guy H. Hardman who wrote the opinion also pointed out the law provides the registration books shall be closed September 9 to ten days after the election, inclusive.

Services at the church were conducted by the Reverend Potter, assisted by the Reverend Gettys and the Rev. Campbell Jeffries, of the Baptist Church, Prestonsburg. A mixed choir from the churches of the town, under the direction of Mrs. Chalmer Frazier, rendered "Abide With Me" and "Good Night and Good Morning." "Beyond the Sunset" was sung by Mr. Franklin Moore. Mrs. Frazier played the "Rosary" as a prelude to the "Funeral March" as a prelude to the "Rosary" as a postlude. Each pastor paid well-deserved and fitting tributes to Mrs. Hager. The sermon was delivered by the Reverend Potter.

Burial services took place at the Hager family lot in the Paintsville cemetery. The tributes, floral offerings, cars and large attendance at her last rites are only a small share of the esteem in which Mrs. Hager was held by her many friends and relatives in this section.

POLITICAL FIGURE ASKED TO TESTIFY

Ben Johnson Summoned Before Grand Jury to Explain Charges

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 5—Ben Johnson, 81-year-old political figure of Bardstown, was summoned late today by the Franklin county grand jury to testify concerning "million-dollar graft" charges against the state administration.

Clyde E. Reed, Commonwealth's Attorney, said a subpoena commanding Johnson's appearance before the jury Friday morning was issued after the jurors were directed by Circuit Judge W. B. Ardery to take such action.

The charges are so serious, so far-reaching and so important to the taxpayers of the commonwealth," Judge Ardery charged the jurors as the fall term opened, "that if they are true, it certainly is time for you to act."

In a letter to the Louisville Courier-Journal, Ardery said, Johnson had charged that "certain high officials have stolen or grafted $1,000,000 in this state administration." He instructed the jurors to set a date for Johnson's appearance and admonished: "You're not interested in anybody's politics — you're investigating crime."

On the day Johnson's charges were printed in the Courier-Journal's "Point of View" column, last June 15, Governor Chandler and Finance Commissioner J. Dan Talbott, Johnson's son-in-law, asked Ardery to call a special grand jury to question the veteran politician. Ardery declined, however, saying the cost would be too great, and said the matter would be referred to the regular grand jury.

Johnson, former Highway Commissioner, was reported ill at his home last week.

HERE FRIDAY

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Martin, of Wayland, were business visitors in Prestonsburg Friday. They recently returned from Letcher county where Mr. Martin visited his brother whom he had not seen in seven years.

When your son or daughter is away at school, does your guiding influence remain at home?

AS boys and girls leave for schools and colleges, homes are made lonely and the young people face homesickness and separation from the guiding influence of home. The affectionate, sympathetic understanding present in homelife is difficult to maintain by letters, but by telephone, home ties can be kept alive and warm. Telephone visits at regular intervals with children away at school are as intimate as though the children were at home with you. They'll be happier, and do better work. And what a joy these inexpensive voice-visits will be to you.

The best plan is to arrange for your boy or girl to call home "collect" at regular intervals at a particular time. Then by using Station-to-Station service after 7 P. M. or at any time on Sundays, you can talk 100 miles for 35c, 200 miles — 65c, and greater distances at correspondingly low cost.

burg, Republican nominee.

Completion of a re-count of Pike county's vote in the August primary Friday afternoon left Mr. Stephenson with a majority of 53 votes over former Knott County Judge E. M. Moore for the Democratic nomination.

Mr. Moore, on the basis of official returns, won by 22 votes, Mr. Stephenson asked a re-count. On the re-count, the former Senator picked up 76 votes, in Floyd county, lost 10 in Knott and gained 9 in Pike, making a net gain of 75.

Circuit Judge John W. Caudill Friday afternoon entered judgment in Pike circuit court declaring Stephenson the winner of the Democratic nomination. The judgment showed he had received 5,590 votes to 5,537 for Moore in the three-county district. The judgment also directed the state election commission to issue to Mr. Stephenson a certificate of nomination.

GRID PRACTICE STARTS AT MOREHEAD COLLEGE

Morehead, Ky., Sept. 5—Twenty-four huskies reported for fall practice yesterday as Head Coach Ellis Johnson issued the call for varsity material at Morehead State Teachers' College.

Johnson says that he anticipates having no "star" performers this season, but expects to have a well-oiled machine.

The heretofore high flying Eagles will begin the season under a handicap. Five seasoned veterans of last year's aggregation suffered injuries during the summer months, thereof which may prevent the Morehead mentors from building a strong backfield.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

GETTING YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

Though I know that circuses are still in existence, I realize that they are rapidly passing away. Probably in a few more seasons they will be as unusual as side saddles or riding skirts. The general plan of a circus has changed little within the memory of man; that is one reason why we always know what to expect. May I take you to the county seat a third of a century ago and let you look in on MY circus, the only full-sized one I ever attended?

For weeks the barns and some of the stores had been plastered with lurid show bills, representing animals that Noah probably left out of his collection; certainly they were not to be found in Barnum's. We children who planned to attend the circus bragged without shame of our being able to go; the other boys and girls changed the subject. Securely hidden in our pocketbooks were the necessary half-dollars for the circus, the side shows, and the pink lemonade and souvenirs. Some of the older people had seen the great Barnum. This show still bore his name, in part, at least, a good drawing card for the younger generation.

Long before the sun was up, almost as if it were to be a hog-killing, we were up, almost afraid the events would be over before we got there. We bolted our breakfasts, hitched Old Mag to the family buggy, and were off on our adventure. The 11 miles seemed to be stretched out, longer than usual. The old nag could not go much faster than a walk, because the road was rough and the hills were steep. Impatiently we spent nearly three hours on the way, arriving at 9 o'clock, according to the entry in my diary that night. The circus was unloading then, with the usual fringe of small boys in the way. We stood around and watched the miracle performed, the erecting of the large tent. The only disillusionment resulted from the language the bosses used in directing the work. Naturally we supposed that the whole group were in the show business for the fun of it and could hardly understand why any one should use harsh, offensive words to such happy white and colored men. A few of the larger animals, five camels, one zebra, and four elephants, were started out on the old field where the tent was to be put up, just beyond the hurry and bustle of the work. These queer animals were eating hay philosophically and probably wondering sleepily what the excitement was about.

But let my old boyish diary tell some things: "At about 11 a. m., came the street parade, which was long and spectacular." (You see, I had profited by reading the garish advertisements in the county paper and also on the barns). "Shortly after noon I went into the animal tent and into a side show . . . Among the things I saw in this side show I believe the negro minstrels were the best. There was a sword-swallowing that was excellent. Among other things were, a tattooed man, a Gypsy fortune teller, snake charmer, Turkish dancing girls, and several more." (The plain truth is that I got ashamed at this juncture in recording the day and did not tell how risque some of the jokes were and even more so the dancing; to have confessed, even to the diary, that there was a serpent in this paradise would have been to doubt whether it was quite the proper thing for a youngster to enter).

After the solicitation of a number of citizens of the town of Prestonsburg, I have decided to make the race for Mayor. NEW BAND DIRECTOR NAMED AT U. OF K.

Charles V. Magurean, a native of Gary, Ind., and a graduate of Western Kentucky State Teachers' College, Bowling Green, Ky., with an A. B. degree in music, has been chosen as director of the University of Kentucky band for the coming school year and instructor in brasses and woodwinds at the University School, according to an announcement made Tuesday by University officials.

Mr. Magurean holds the Master of Music degree from Vander Cook Music School in Chicago, and before coming to the University held positions as assistant band director at Western as well as instrumental instructor there; was band director of Western's R.O.T.C. band in 1935-36, band director of the Johnson City, Tenn., public school, and has also privately taught brass instruments. He is a cornet soloist.

The University's new band director visited on the campus recently and expressed himself at that time as hopeful of having 100 pieces or more in the University band this year. He indicated that he is strongly in favor of a full-size parade band for football games and important parades, and said that he hoped the band, under his direction, would do everything it has in the past, and more, in service to the University and to the state.

Mr. Magurean also expressed himself as being heartily in accord with the various functions of the band, such as parading at football games, participating in all University pageants and functions requiring music; assisting in military events, presenting concerts for the musical education of the citizens of the state and participating in large state programs, "so that the University band would not only function for the school, but also function from the University, for the state."

The U.K. band is an important unit of the music department and is under the administration of that department, in the Arts and Science College.

AMERICAN BOY MAGAZINE COMPANION TO THOUSANDS Hundreds of thousands of boys and young men read THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine. "It's as much a buddy to me as my neighborhood chum," writes one high school senior. "THE AMERICAN BOY seems to understand a boy's problems and considers them in such a sympathetic and helpful way. It gives advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It is particularly helpful in sports. I made our school basketball team because of playing tips I read in THE AMERICAN BOY." Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their success to helpful suggestions received from sports articles carried in THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine. Virtually every issue offers advice from a famous coach or player. Football, basketball, track, tennis, in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and fact articles. Teachers, librarians, parents and leaders of boys' clubs also recommend THE AMERICAN BOY enthusiastically. They have found that as a general rule regular readers of THE AMERICAN BOY advance more rapidly and develop more worthwhile characteristics than do boys who do not read it. Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, scientists and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce in THE AMERICAN BOY, the sort of reading matter boys like best. THE AMERICAN BOY sells on most newsstands at 15c a copy. Subscription prices are $1.50 for one year or $3.00 for three years. Foreign rates 50c a year extra. QUEEN OF THE DOUGHBOYS
The munitions makers, alias, war in-bators, should pay humble homage to Martin's Forrest Halbert. Forrest has discovered a way whereby all wars can be made popular with the soldiers. That is by having Mrs. Perry Osborne fry hamburgers on the front lines.

It seems to me the Floyd fiscal court should be more "co-operative" and recommend a Johnson countian as Assistant Certifying Agent. Never let it be said that Floyd county stood in the way as long as there was an unemployed Republican in Johnson.

Last year those Maytown business men laughed last. This year their laugh will last, and so will the black-top thoroughfare in front of their doors!

UNIQUE RECORD
The other night Lawrence Keathley drove up to S. H. Vincent's garage, looked at his speedometer which registered well over 3,000 miles, and had his gas tank filled. Next day, when he came around again, the speedometer registered a few miles over 14,000—and the gas cap had never been removed! Haskell tells this true story with relish, and emphasizes the fact that no other gasoline in the world can compete with this record. (Note: The speedometer, in changing from 3 to 4 thousand, got jammed and rolled up a 14 instead for the 4).

Tavis on the alert, as usual, for drunks and disturbers . . . Jim Francis with a feather in his hat, and little devils in his eyes, trying to sell a half-dozen 22 cartridges for two bits . . . Rudolph taking tickets at the most popular (for men) tent . . . Wild-eyed, but happy kids riding those little autos . . . and Peggy Jo among them, with TEN tickets (Rumor has it that—bought her that many so he'd have more time to watch the wiggles of those wily women) . . . Skirt-bound BB going home early.

Scientists say: "One out of every 16 students now in high school will spend some part of their life in an institution for the insane." I'm certainly proud that I got out (of high school, you dope!) when I did!

By Christmas time, at the present rate of change, the commodity-recipients will have to have a college education before they'll be eligible for that WPAAwful grapefruit.

GETS $200,000 INHERITANCE

Frank Duncan, 24-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Duncan, has received notice from the Government Inheritance tax department that his grandfather, J. R. Patterson, of Windrock Tenn., who died, had left a will giving all his property estimated at around $200,000 to him.

Frank Duncan had lived with his grandfather for a number of years up until his death about seven years ago. It appears from the will that Mr. Patterson, according to the lawyers and administrators of the estate, were not to notify or tell young Duncan of this will until he was 21. Then there is some confusion as to the age of Mr. Duncan. He states he is now 24 years old and the will provides that the property and money is not to be turned over to him until January 2, 1940, when he is supposed to have reached the age of 21 years.

Mr. Duncan will leave Middlesboro in the next few days for Windrock, where he will remain until the time when he will take possession of this property.

He stated he had not definitely decided just what he would do. He is a graduate of 1935 Middlesboro high school class and says that he has a desire and ambition to go on to college and complete his education.

The property involved consists of a large coal operation leased by the Detroit-Edison Company paying about $1,400 per month to the estate and aside from this the estate has about $80,000 in money and other cashable assets.—Middlesboro Three States.

HIGHWAY PATROL'S EFFICIENCY LAUDED BY KEEN JOHNSON

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 30—Acting Governor Keen Johnson lauded the Kentucky Highway Patrol's "steadily increasing efficiency" in a speech before some 60 patrolmen in the state capitol today.

Johnson, speaking before a meeting presided over by Major W. H. Hansen, executive director, spoke also of the Patrol's increased attitude of devotion to public duty.

A report read to the meeting said that to date the number of traffic fatalities this month totaled 22, compared to 54 in the same month last year. It also was reported that of 6,072 new applicants who had been examined for driver licenses by July 1, one-third of them had failed their first examination.

A TRUE SPORTSMAN

"The true sportsman will not enter a farmer's property without permission. He observes the law; he is not bloodthirsty, but takes only enough game and fish to supply his needs; he recognizes that wanton slaughter is robbery of others and reckless waste of a valuable resource. He seeks to protect the birds, game and fish by taking a bold stand for law enforcement. He scorns the game hog, and the violator of game and fish laws as being unworthy of fellowship in the noble ranks of real sportsmen." Major James Brown, director of the Kentucky Division of Game and Fish, stated recently in urging better relation between the sportsmen and the landowners.

"Sportsmen, remember you are guests of the landowner while hunting and fishing on his premises." Brown pointed out. "Don't neglect or even forget to respect his property rights. Be sure to observe the following rules: 'Put up his bars and close his gates. 'Crawl through, over or under his fences without breaking them down. 'Go around his newly-planted fields. 'Ask permission to hunt on his land—he will usually meet you half way. 'Don't injure or destroy his chickens or cattle or let your dog worry them. 'Put out your camp or lunch fire before leaving and protect his property and your hunting ground. 'Remember that without his goodwill there can be no sport afield. 'Be a gentleman. 'Cooperate with the landowners and help spread this message to everyone.'"

NEW STUDENTS TO HONOR DR. RECORD

Pikeville—Graduates and other former students of Pikeville College will not only celebrate the Golden Anniversary of the institution at the annual founders' celebration on October 11 and 12 but will also at this time honor the late Dr. James F. Record, who served 29 years as president of the school.

Members of the alumni association are now soliciting funds for this organization and other former students for the purchase of a set of chimes identical to those used in the Will Rogers Memorial to be installed at the college building in memory of Dr. Record. Frank Scott, president of Pikeville College Alumni Association, states these chimes is only a part of the memorial that the former students plan in memory of Dr. Record. In the future, he states, a building or tower in which these chimes will be placed, is also planned in the late president's memory. During his lifetime, Dr. Record often expressed a desire to have the chimes play at the college when hymns were rendered.

PLANS DRAWN FOR FEDERAL BUILDING

Pikeville—The proposed new federal building for Pikeville, appropriated by Congress about two years ago and, of late, apparently forgotten, is taking some shape as plans for the edifice are now being drawn, according to a dispatch received from Washington this week.

It was pointed out that each step in the planning and erection of a government building must be followed carefully and no architect drawing is

INCREASE REPORTED IN TRAFFIC DEATHS

Fatalities in Rural Areas Increase for Fourth Month, Survey Shows

Chicago, Aug. 31—A new increase in traffic deaths after a nineteen-month slump flashed the red light of warning to American motorists today. The National Safety Council reported fatalities rose 1 per cent in July in the wake of a 2 per cent upturn in June.

It stated the upward trend in those two months broke a record of sustained improvement which began in November, 1937, and confirmed the "fear that America's most successful traffic safety drive has stalled."

During July, the council counted 2,750 deaths on the streets and highways compared with 2,720 in July, 1938. During the first seven months of 1939 it recorded 16,250 fatalities—4 per cent fewer than the 16,880 who died during a similar period last year.

Deaths in rural areas increased for the fourth successive month offsetting gains that had been made in cities.

The safety leaders in Louisville's population group, with death rates for the first seven months, were Providence, R. I., 4.7; Kansas City, 7.9, and Rochester, N. Y., 9.3.

made until after the ground on which the building is to be placed is acquired and carefully surveyed.

With the drawing of plans for the building completed the next step will be to advertise for bids of contractors on the construction. Although no definite date has been set, this will be done as soon as the deed has been turned over to the government and the drawings completed. Mr. Pinson states that he has been informed that a technicality is holding up the deed phase. For the new building $135,000 have been appropriated.

LODGING FOR A NIGHT

Our courthouse operative, "Black" Bill Marshall, deputy sheriff and raconteur of long yarns and tall, vows that this is a true story.

Sez Bill:

"Years ago, I went over into West Virginia, a job-huntin'. And the first day I ran into a funny experience. Toward night, I started looking for a place to stay till mornin' and finally wound up at a house where they took me in, gave me supper, and after a while, told me that I could sleep in the back room.

"We were eatin' in the kitchen, and I figured the back room was the next one back of that; so I went in and piled into bed. About that time I noticed that somebody else already had gone to bed.

"He was layin' quiet-like with the sheet pulled up over him, but I figured I had made so much noise gittin' in that I had disturbed him, so I began gittin' friendly. 'A feller gits tired and sleepy after a hard day's work, don't he?' I says. 'What kind of work are you doin'? But he didn't say anything and I figure he's too wore out to talk. So I settle down to go to sleep.

"But in, pretty soon, comes a boy and a girl, who sit down in front of the fire and start love-makin', talkin' quiet-like. Both of us fellers in the bed lay quiet, of course.

"Finally, when it's gittin' pretty late, the young man leans over toward the gal and says, 'Honey, ain't you gonna kiss me before I go?'"

"And she says, 'Ain't you ashamed of yourself now, and that poor man back there in the bed—dead?'"

"It's a shame those folks didn't tell me, right at the start, that my bed-fellow had been killed that day at a loggin' job and a tree had mashed him up. They could have saved that window I went out of, all wrapped up in the sheet, and could have kept that young couple from bein' scared to death when they thought I was the corpse flyin' out the window."

GRIDDERS ANSWER CALL TO PRACTISE

Twenty-eight P'burg Players Report to Coach Harlowe Tuesday

Of the more than 200 boys in Prestonsburg high school, only 23 answered the first call of Coach Bob Harlowe for football players Tuesday. Weak response to gridiron "duty" on the part of the school was attributed by the coach to the fact that almost half of the male part of the student body resides outside of Prestonsburg on various creeks, and have no means of reaching home after football practice.

To enable these youths to go home after the daily practise sessions are over, Coach Harlowe this week was seeking the assistance of interested fans in providing them transportation. Grid practise began Wednesday. If transportation facilities can be provided for the promising material now prevented from joining the squad because of their residence in the country, Coach Harlowe indicated that the outlook may brighten appreciably.

KENTUCKY ON DISPLAY

Dreamy, hazy days of sunshine—golden moonlit nights of happiness.

That is Kentucky in the fall, the season of fairs and of the Kentucky State Fair at Louisville, where the products of Kentucky proudly compete for honor and awards.

There is gaiety in Kentucky and you'll find it at the Fair where Vincent Lopez swings his music and Betty Hutton sways her songs.

There is earnestness in Kentucky and you'll see it in the faces of the Judges and the eyes of the owners, at the cattle and live stock rings, as competition waxes hot and the champions are being chosen.

There is pomp and ceremony in Kentucky. You will see it when the band plays at the Horse Show and the horses parade in the show ring, and the soft lights reflecting on white shoulders and white shirt fronts in the boxes, make you reflect on the decades of tradition and charm of Kentucky.

There is happiness in Kentucky. You will see it on the faces of the people and hear gay laughter on the midway, for a bountiful season of productiveness is over and life is good to live in Kentucky.

Betty Hutton and Vincent Lopez.

Save Money With Pee Gee Paints

For Yourself—2 Coats Of Pee Gee Equal Three Coats Of Average Paint.

The Pee Gee Two-Coat System consists of two entirely different paints. The first, an undercoat, is specially formulated to seal the wood or old paint surface. The second, a topcoat, is designed to give brilliant finishes and resist the sun. And, believe it or not, it costs no more per gallon than other good paints. Cheap paint blisters and cracks. You have to paint twice as often. Pee Gee wears evenly and smoothly. You save money on its long life.

RESULTS: A shabby looking dwelling quickly transformed into a beautiful home!... with just two coats of Pee Gee Paint. That's what the Pee Gee Mastic Two-Coat System does—and saves money, too!

MR. J. B. DANT
America's Oldest Living
Master Distiller

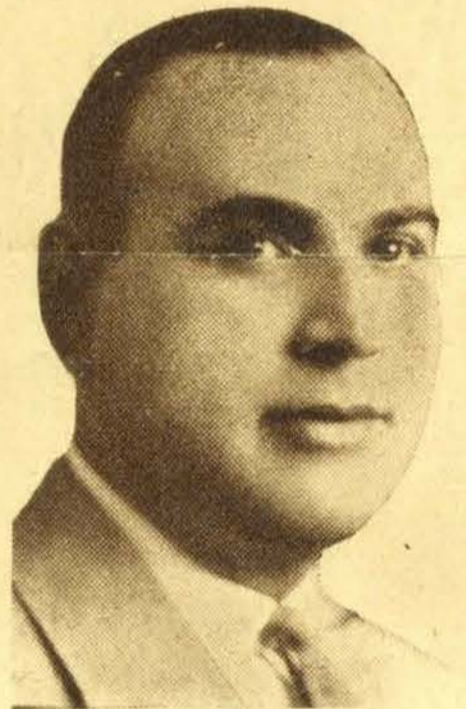

Old-Timers in Kentucky, who remember "way back when," tell of the giants who ruled the making of Kentucky's famous beverage in the purity era long before the interlude of prohibition. Prominent among the names most frequently mentioned is Joseph Bernard Dant, for many years the active head of the famous Taylor and Williams Distilleries, located in Yellowstone Gardens, Louisville Kentucky.

Mr. Dant bears the proud distinction of being the oldest living Master Distiller in the United States. His earliest experiences extend back to the original Dant Distillery founded in 1836 by his pioneer father. Here young Joseph mastered the meticulous ritual of the ancient Dant family formula, from the frost-cold spring water as it gushed from the limestone ledge until it sparkled into amber-colored bubbles as fragrant bourbon whiskey.

PHOTOGRAPHY ON THE FARM

The modern camera is much more than a toy with which the children can have fun on picnics and at parties.

Photography is the most powerful advertising and selling agency used in modern practice, and if you are raising any product, animal or vegetable, that you wish to sell to advantage, learn how to make a picture of it that will convince your buyer that he is getting what he wants.

One stock raiser here in Kentucky, paid for a high priced camera by sending pictures of two bulls to a prospect in Nebraska. The pictures made the sale at higher prices than he could get locally.

It takes a bit of study and experience, but in Louisville is a firm that makes a specialty of coaching and instructing camera users. The firm of W. D. Gatchel & Sons has a long record of efficient service (Founded in 1862) and any customer can have this service free. They will make your camera purchase a profitable one.
