ELK HORN FATE IN RECEIVERS' HANDS

GARRETT, WAYLAND WORKERS AWAIT DECISION

Upon the decision of receivers named Aug. 22 for the Elk Horn Coal Corporation rests this week further operation of the coal mines at Garrett and Wayland, this county, with their more than 1,200 employes and the two towns which depend upon the coal industry for their subsistence.

The coal company was said last week to have consented to the selection of Howard N. Evanson, Pittsburgh, consulting mining engineer, and W. W. Goldsmith, Charleston, W. Va., attorney, as receivers after the Bank of Mill Creek, W. Va., had filed a complaint before Special Judge Beverly Broun. This petition alleged that the company was unable to meet its obligations, despite large assets and a solvent position.

Later, Circuit Judge R. Monroe Fields, Whitesburg, named J. J. Moore, Pikeville attorney, as ancillary receiver in Kentucky where, in addition to Elk Horn's two mines in Floyd, the company operates two in Letcher county.

The law firm of Howard and Mayo, Elk Horn Coal Corporation local counsel here, said Saturday nothing of a definite nature could be stated until this week after the receivers had made their decision.

Altogether, according to one official source, 15,000 persons are idle in and around the Kentucky and West Virginia properties of the company while receivers inspect the mines and determine their future usefulness.

Garrett and Wayland miners, for months past, have been uncertain when their next pay-day would arrive, and, as a result, at least two temporary shut-downs have taken place, pending pay settlements.

The Elk Horn Coal Corporation, though reportedly short on cash, is rich in lands and coal deposits, it is said.

This Town-- That World

THE QUICK AND THE DEAD

Polls of legislative bodies of 11 states of the country are taken in 10 seconds on any question by use of electrically-operated "flash-voting" machines, says a recent news story from Chicago. All the legislator has to do is push a button on his desk—one for "aye" and one for "nay," or another for "present but not voting." As the buttons are pushed lights flash indicating how So-and-so voted, a device adds up the votes and yet another permanently records the vote.

Let's say the "flash-voting" machine is being introduced to Congress:

SENATOR BLURP: I rise to a point of order. This is not the American way!

SENATOR BURP: Gentlemen, this hideous device is but a machination of vested interests. I implore you—think before you betray your country.

SENATOR SLURP: Shall this, the greatest legislative body on earth, be gagged? This matter should be debated.

SENATOR BLANK (what difference, his name?): Our forefathers fought, bled and died for the right of free speech. Shall we surrender our votes up to votes?

SENATOR JACKASS: And there's the cost. Gentlemen, this way lies bankruptcy.

SECOND DITTO: Let us not stop until this momentous matter is disposed of and our nation is saved. Then we shall quickly dispose of that other bill before us—I refer, gentlemen, to the Electrification of this august body—my fellow countrymen, I am unalterably opposed to it. I shall now read, with your kind indulgence, from the World Almanac . . .

Washington, D. C.—While the filibuster against the "flash-voting" machine goes on into its fourth week, the

MILLER HELPS CHIEF COP SECOND $50

If Adam Miller, former West Prestonsburg resident, takes off from the Magoffin county jail at Salyersville oftener in the future than he has in the past, Chief of Police Epp Laferty, of Prestonsburg, is going to show a nice profit on his year's business.

About a month ago Miller was arrested and jailed at Salyersville on a charge of robbery. He escaped, a few days later. A reward of $50 was offered for his arrest.

Policeman Laferty soon located and arrested him here, returning the prisoner to Salyersville and collecting the reward.

Sunday night, Miller made his second break. Another $50 reward was offered for his arrest.

And Tuesday morning Policeman Laferty was again on his way to Salyersville with the said Miller, again to collect a reward.

After his first escape Miller was quoted as saying that "the Lord delivered him." He was not reached for a statement before his return to durance vile following his second break.

FOLK FESTIVAL HISTORY TOLD

MISS KNOTT LAUDS FLOYD COUNTY SINGERS

Floyd county played host this week to a nationally famous personage when Miss Sarah Gertrude Knott, a director and the originator of the National Folk Festival which has been held annually in Washington, D. C., the last three years, stopped off here while on a tour of the country in search of talent for the coming festival to be held in Washington, at Constitution Hall, April 25, 26 and 27.

Miss Knott said the National Folk Festival officials were very much interested in Floyd county. At the last festival, Kentucky was represented by a quartet of men from Floyd county, and there was more favorable comment, according to Miss Knott, on the Floyd group than any other feature of the program.

The National Folk Festival has as its object the bringing together of groups from various sections of the United States, with the characteristic folk expression of each, in the faith that national incentive gives encouragement to regional festivals, and that continued participation in such festivals keeps alive the fine traditional customs associated with the founding of the Nation. In addition to serving as a record of the social life of early

CIRCUIT COURT OPENS MONDAY

'PISTOL-TOTIN' CASES OUTNUMBER THOSE OF MURDER

The number of persons slated for trial at the September term of the Floyd circuit court on charges of carrying concealed deadly weapons exceeds, for the first time in years, the number booked for trial for murder, the court docket shows.

Eight persons are scheduled to face trial for murder; 13 are docketed on "pistol-totin'" charges.

Of the eight listed for murder hearings, not more than half a dozen are before the court. But the grand jury's investigation of a number of slayings which have taken place since the last court term here is expected to round out a full murder docket.

Also on the docket are the names of 16 men charged with child desertion. Other offenses on which hearings are scheduled include voluntary manslaughter, breaking and entering, robbery, dynamiting fish, reckless use of a deadly weapon, grand larceny, arrest without authority of law, setting out forest fire, confederating and banding—and, of course, drunkenness. The court term begins Monday.

A work order for the surfacing of 6.2 miles of the Left Beaver road was issued by the State Highway Commission last week, and work is expected to start by the latter part of next week.

Gay-Coleman Construction Company, Lexington, was awarded contract for the slag aggregate surfacing on a bid of $61,768.56.

Prestonsburg Hospital Opens

Federal Official Sues For $5,000

Alleging that D. C. Stephens, his erstwhile partner in gas drilling operations, uttered against him "libelous and slanderous words," Assistant U. S. District Attorney Claude P. Stephens last week filed in the Floyd circuit court a suit seeking to recover from his former associate the sum of $5,000.

The federal official's petition alleged that D. C. Stephens, at a hearing before Acting Master Commissioner W. Claude Caudill on Saturday, Aug. 10, in the office of Atty. J. W. Howard, "for the wilful, corrupt and criminal purpose of injuring the plaintiff in his standing and reputation in the community where he lives," said, "Boys, he is a good lie swearer, ain't he?"

The occasion on which the alleged statement was made was when the acting Master Commissioner heard testimony in D. C. Stephens' civil action against the assistant District Attorney. The statement, according to the government official's petition, was "taken down by the stenographer and included in the transcript and as a part of the record" in the hearing.

J. M. DAVIDSON DIES AUG. 22

WORLD WAR VETERAN, EX-CITY CLERK, IS VICTIM

James Morgan Davidson, prominent Prestonsburg citizen, passed away at the Veterans' hospital, Huntington, W. Va., at 12 o'clock Thursday, August 22.

Mr. Davidson's death came as a distinct shock to his many friends and relatives throughout this section. He had been in failing health for the past few months but his condition did not prove serious until a week before his passing.

Mr. Davidson was the son of the late Samuel P. Davidson and Mrs. Laura May Davidson. He was born January 18, 1895; was married on September 3, 1920 to Miss Gertrude Weddington. To this union was born one daughter, Judith Morgan.

He was a devout member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Always generous and courteous, he was held in the highest esteem by all who knew him. For a number of years he served as City Clerk of Prestonsburg. He was a 32nd degree Mason and a member of Zebulon Lodge F. & A. M., Prestonsburg, and of Floyd Post, American Legion. In 1916 he volunteered in the U. S. Navy and served until 1918, making three trips meanwhile to Scotland.

For the past seven years Mr. Davidson has been connected with Perry's Grocery Company where he worked until six weeks before his death.

Mr. Davidson is survived by his widow, his daughter, his mother, Mrs. Laura M. Davidson, and the following brothers and sisters: A. L. Davidson, Prestonsburg; W. B. Davidson, Lex-

Wears Mother's Dress, Paris Product Of 1918

—Courtesy, Payne's Studio

Who's Hitler to say that the shops of Gay Paree shall no longer supply America with fashion-setting gowns?

Two-year-old Barbara Sue Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hall, Wheelwright, on occasions these days wears a Paris creation, by way of putting the Nazi dictator in his place.

But it must be admitted—the dress is not a new importation. It was sent to Mrs. Hall by her brother when he was with the American Expeditionary Force, in 1918.

And Mrs. Hall, in 1918 a two-year-old herself, wore it, back then, but not a bit more daintily or fashionably than does Barbara Sue in the good year 1940.

Winner of Free Trip To N. Y. World Fair Leaves Sunday

By BILL HENRY

Is there man or woman in Floyd county who has not made plans and dreamed of visiting the New York World Fair? Mrs. Penn Fitzpatrick, of Middle Creek, the mother of eight children, realized her dream this week; she is in New York now. As the guest of the Prestonsburg Co-operative Business Association she is being escorted through a world of the past, the present and the future.

I saw Mrs. Fitzpatrick just before she left on her tour; she was as excited as a little girl getting ready for her first trip away from home. She said she had visited Cincinnati but this would be her first real vacation. At first she insisted on giving her ticket to one of her children, but when her daughters assured her they would see that Mr. Fitzpatrick was well-fed she consented to go.

When asked whether she was excited when her number was called at the last co-operative drawing, Mrs. Fitz-

WKCY to Salute P'burg Friday Night

Mayor E. P. Arnold will relate historical facts of Prestonsburg and data as to its industrial and residential advantages over radio station WKCY, Cincinnati, Friday evening, August 30, at 10:30 eastern standard time, when the station will salute Prestonsburg with a program sponsored by THE FLOYD COUNTY TIMES.

Prestonsburg will be given nationwide recognition as a "freewill offering" of the 50,000-watt WKCY (149 on your dial) by the station's owner, L. B. Wilson, who early in May volunteered facilities of the station for the Salute, one of a series in which various communities of Kentucky and other states are honored.

A potential audience of 71,000,000 persons will hear the broadcast.

NEWSOM DIES IN PLUNGE

TRUCK WRECKAGE STREWN DOWN MOUNTAIN

The truck which he drove to his death strewn in bits down the side of Abner mountain, after a drop of 100 feet or more toward the next "flat" Herbert Newsom, 26 years old, was instantly killed at 2:30 o'clock Saturday morning, near Melvin.

It was reported here that Mr. Newsom, approaching Wheelwright Junction from the top of the mountain, lost control of the truck which then went into the ditch at the upper side of the road, struck the cliff and bounded across the highway and over the edge of the roadside to the declivity below.

Body of the victim was not found until around daybreak, more than three hours later, it was said here.

A report reaching Coroner Elliott Prater to the effect that foul play was involved resulted in an investigation, at the conclusion of which Dr. W. D. Osborne, Bypro, held that Newsom died of a fractured skull. It was said that he also suffered numerous bruises and a broken neck, but that there were no evidences of knife or gunshot wounds.

IT'S A BOY!

Announcement is made of the birth, Monday, August 6, at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville, to County Attorney and Mrs. Forrest D. Short of a fine 8½-pound son. Mrs. Short is the former Miss Goldia Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Porter, of Allen. The babe has been named Larry Douglas, and his mother are doing fine—and the County Attorney's office Tuesday was headquarters for cigars.

ROADS ASS'N ADOPTS SLOGAN

ARNOLD, SHORT, POW SPEAK AT MEET

"Good Roads—A Better Floyd County," was adopted as the slogan of the Floyd County Good Roads Association at the second meeting of the organization, held at the Martin high school last Friday evening. The colors, red, white and blue, will be used in the make-up of all advertising; letterheads and membership cards will be white with blue lettering predominating. The words FLOYD COUNTY will be emblazoned in bold type; centered across these words will be "Good Roads Association" in red.

There were three speakers on the program Friday evening: Mayor E. P. Arnold, Prestonsburg; George Pow, Wayland, and County Attorney Forrest D. Short, Prestonsburg.

Highlights of Mr. Arnold's address were:

"Floyd county should have all-year-round roads before so many four-lane highways are built in other parts of the state . . . The only exit this section has, via Louisa, is a disgrace . . . The Left Beaver road is in such condition Weeksbury, Wheelwright and surrounding communities are shut off from the rest of the county . . . Co-operation is the only way our county will ever get anything. Our county officials are ready to do all that is possible, but they cannot accomplish what should be done

$25,000 SPENT BY DANIEL ON INSTITUTION

NURSERY INCLUDED IN FACILITIES OF HOSPITAL

Dr. D. H. Daniel Wednesday opened the Prestonsburg General hospital at West Prestonsburg at a total cost of $25,000, but the opening was quiet, without fanfare.

"We are merely beginning work," said Dr. Daniel. "I have brought two patients here from Paintsville, the others have been discharged and I am now ready to serve Floyd and surrounding counties with a modern hospital."

As quietly as that Prestonsburg's first hospital had its opening.

The formal opening will come later.

The hospital, which includes an addition to the old Hereford home at West Prestonsburg and rising two stories, will accommodate 50 patients in addition to a nursery of 10-bassinette capacity, Dr. Daniel said.

With the opening of the institution, Dr. Daniel invited the medical profession to feel free to bring their own patients to the hospital and treat them as their own.

"In other words," said Dr. Daniel, "our hospital is to be operated on the 'open staff' plan, with any qualified physician being given access to our facilities, his patients to remain his own."

Offices, storage rooms and similar adjuncts to the modern hospital are located in the basement of the structure. The operating room is on the second floor. Insulation in the construction of the building has rendered its interior sound-proof, and all openings have been made practically noiseless.

Dr. Daniel will devote most of his time to hospital work and surgery, it is announced. He began the practice of his profession in 1908 and took post-graduate work in gynecology and sur-

(Views expressed in this column are those of the writer and not necessarily those of The Times.)

I've always been taught that seeing is believing and after playing against and seeing the play-off between the Big Sandy and the Beaver Valley Leagues, here's my opinion—the Auxier team is the greatest when "the chips are down." Didn't they beat us when we went into the ninth with a three-run lead? Wheelwright has a fine team but if they had been in the Beaver Valley League they would have been lucky to have been among the first three. According to the "experts" in the Big Sandy, why, every pitch that a B.-V. pitcher tossed would have been rattled off the boards—yet a 16-year-old kid, Burgess, from Coal Run, held the highly touted sluggers to three hits (two of them scratches) in six innings. I think the Big Sandy League teams did like the American League did during the past three years when playing the Yankees—they just gave up before the game was played. In the B.-V. League they had to play them out and no ball game is won until three are out in the ninth.

Wheelwright won a hard-earned victory from Auxier in the finals at Allen, but I yet think (with no disparagement toward Auxier's pitchers) that, with Drift's pitching staff, Auxier could win five out of seven from Wheelwright. Just comparing the teams, man to man, Curnutte could catch for my money any day over Mann; Evans on third, while not near the slugger that Hensley is, can get balls easily that "Powerhouse" couldn't get to; Ty Cobb Montgomery is as far ahead of Logan on short as FDR is WW; while Bickford on first has forgotten more baseball than Wheelwright's first baseman will ever know "Red" Bickford has no peer in the outfield in the Big Sandy League. Here's a warning—I don't want any of you fellows in the Big Sandy to yell about the "Little League" any more—just remember you were lucky to eke out a one-run victory over an average team of the Beaver Valley League. Remember, too, that Wheelwright's star pitcher was sent to the showers long before the game was over.

Hey, here! What's happened to our "Star" Beaver Creek Hunters—that City Slicker from Knoxville, Tenn., seems to be showing 'em up.

The biggest piece of political bug-a-boo was pulled by the Pike County News when they were against Johnson for Governor and then came out with an editorial supporting Zach. (This is going to the Pike County News—wonder if they will print it?)

Hey, Doug Hays! I still think you owe me a buck over the FDR endorsement?

Subscriptions are coming in kinda slow for Fortune Magazine. The Liberty Digest debacle sure hurt business.

TO ANDY COX (AND THE ARGUMENT CONTINUES)

So you know all the answers—I batted five times, did I? I feel sure that anyone knows that when a team only getting five hits and two bases on balls, even the top of the batting order was only four times up. But I was batting in sixth position and batted five times??? If I did bat five times, you let me get by with batting twice out of turn.

My opinion of your umpiring is common knowledge and we could argue all summer and not get anywhere; and besides, if I were the only player kicking, well, everyone would think I was just umpire baiting. So I have interviewed the players on both teams personally, and with witnesses present, and I have their comments. One thing, Andy, you learned that the batter's box was six feet long and doesn't end at the foul line like you argued and our manager produced the rule book before we could convince you. You also called a strike when the batter wasn't in the box.

I think you heard what the fans had to say, didn't you, Andy? They booed you plenty and it wasn't Drift fans, either—the Thealka and the Coal Run fans were the maddest. The Thealka boys came to us and apologized, saying they couldn't help it and that they got some bad calls, too.

You see, Andy, I could have been wrong and just wanted to argue but the fellows whose statements show couldn't all be wrong and, as for our ball club, I'll just refer you to the other teams in the League: Coal Run, Melvin, Harold, Wheelwright, and Boldman.

And just to prove my point in a game with Wheelwright, McSurley slid into second and was called safe but McSurley got up and walked out, saying the second baseman did tab him. The same play happened in a game with Coal Run. We all play to win and we all like to play baseball and you won't ever have an argument if the calls are even close.

And as for three-year-old Junior—he will not attempt to umpire until he knows the length of the batter's box.

My hitting didn't have anything to do with the umpiring—the pitcher was seeing to that—but, Andy, I drove in Drift's only run in the ninth, and we had seven men on bases—one scored, six left—and I was sixth in the batting order, yet you say I batted five times.

CARD OF THANKS

We thank all who aided us in our bereavement upon the death of our dear wife, mother, daughter and sister, Mrs. Fanny Ratliff. To the Ryan Funeral Home for its efficient services, the doctors and nurses of the Beaver Valley hospital for kind and attentive care, the Revs. M. C. The next meeting will be with Mrs. John May on Saturday, September 14, at 2:30 o'clock, with the department of American Homes in charge of the program, Mrs. W. A. Stewart, chairman. The hostess served a delicious dessert course, assisted by her daughter, Miss Betty Newsome. (The talk scheduled to be made by Rev. Martin-Allen Split Doubleheader

Martin, late-comers in the Big Sandy League, split a doubleheader with Allen Sunday, 7-6 and 1-5, on the Allen diamond.

Carl Osborne, ace southpaw, went the full nine innings for Martin, with Gardez Dingus behind the plate, for their first win in the Big Sandy division. Bill Buck Sherman and John Rice hurled for Allen, with Branham catching.

In the second game, the Beaver lads were unable to conquer Chester Patton's side-arm delivery, and consequently went down to a 5-1 defeat. Elmo Prater caught the second game for Allen. Martin battery: Conley and Turner on the mound, Dingus catching.

Briar Buck's Scratches

NATIONAL CRISIS

It's a sad, sad life—that of the Army Generals. Not only have they had to contend with a bunch of bickering Congressmen, a sometimes hostile Public Opinion, and the non-cooperation of war industries, but now they've lost the services of one of the fightingest men within the entire ranks of the nation's armed forces. Yep, he came home last week—it's "Beanpole"!!

ADAM LAZONGA!

Talk about a courtin' man, there's a fellow around these parts who, alone, can keep Dan Cupid working three shifts and then be behind with his work. Though this is his second hitch at the great game, he loses no chances and misses no cues.

He receives mushy-love missives from one lassie in Wayland, another from Hueysville, three from Pikeville, and another victim from Elkhorn City. More power to you, brother. Your formula is worth a fortune!!

REFUGEE PROBLEM—MANY HOMELESS

Judging from reports, there's going to be a serious refugee problem right here at the Forks of Beaver. With the WPA-sters destroying their homes, playgrounds, and feeding places, it looks like the mosquitoes and flies will have to get out and scratch for a living next season.

Jonathan Fitzpatrick's "Happyway" boys have been spending some time and doing a lot of good here in Martin, building shoulders to the road and smoothing down the bumps. But as for the Left Beaver road—well, you tell 'em Shike!!!

POP & STUFF

G. W. (Red George) Allen, the new Old Age Pension man, pluto-ed (passed through) the village last week, busy with his new duties... Prestonsburg's Charlie Crum is running the Pure Oil station... "Ducky" Vincent is buying right-of-way for the new pipe-line... Roy Denny and boss were down last week... I think he "minds" pretty well... Sissy is home now, and "Fat-Bill" is getting up earlier... Lawrence Keathley's rat-tail show was a squeaking success, but only at the expense of many rodent lives!

O, CAPTAIN, MY CAPTAIN!

They carried him in home, speechless and nearly unconscious, Saturday. The family fearfully gathered around and either sent for or notified the remaining members to come at once. One doctor, after a thorough examination, couldn't decide what was wrong. Another medico was called, and immediately arrived at the conclusion that the sick one had been stricken with the dread scarlet fever.

The children were quieted and ordered to stay away from the patient, while the doctors arranged to get him to the hospital. Meanwhile the family doctor, the third to be called in on the case, had arrived and begun his diagnosis. The true symptoms were quickly recognized, and as the good doctor straightened up from his examination, he said: "Well, Cap, it looks like you got hold of the wrong bootlegger!"

TRANSPORTATION PROBLEM

Ott, Romeo, Red Bill and Jobie had a very strenuous trip to the Queen City over the week-end, but there seems to have been some slight misunderstanding about the transportation. Anyway, Jobie returned alone while the other three arrived early Monday morning, slightly tired and very much peeved!

"DARK AND BLOODY" FOR HITLER

THE FLOYD COUNTY TIMES has never denied that its people are a hot-headed breed, quick on the draw, cursed with an inordinate love for deadly weapons.

It has never denied that we have some log-cabins in these hills, and it has never heaped contumely on those who reside in those cabins.

It has never "chewed the rag" between "isn't" and "ain't."

It has never foresworn our feudist tradition.

This newspaper, with an eye to publicity, yet agreeing with most of the world that ours are the purest-bred, the kindest and most generous people on earth, has never denied anything that we have considered attractive to those "furriners" who like to come into the hills, looking for "color," for the picturesque, for something they cannot find elsewhere in the forty-eight states of this nation.

BUT IT HERE AND NOW "POINTS WITH PRIDE" TO THE RECORD OF KENTUCKY—A RECORD FOR OTHER STATES TO TRY TO EQUAL.

That is the record of "The Dark and Bloody Ground" in supplying the United States Army with volunteers for service in the defense of our country, including this state and others, as foreign dictators wax more powerful and daily offer a greater threat to our national security.

AND FLOYD AND THOSE OTHER MUCH-MALIGNED MOUNTAIN COUNTIES ARE SUPPLYING THE MEN WHO ELEVATE KENTUCKY, IN THE EYES OF THE NATION, TO THE EXALTED POSITION OF A HOT-BED OF PATRIOTISM.

Can you newspapermen of the cities say as much for your communities? Are you city-bred men answering the call of the Colors as are our men of the Mountains?

Only Texas ranks alongside Kentucky in this respect.

Following Kentucky is the entire Southland—far ahead of the North in the response of young men volunteering for service wherever their country's flag may take them.

Thickly-populated sections, meanwhile, lag far behind in supplying volunteers for our military forces.

There are certain capitalists, also, who are said to be approaching the status of "sit-down" strikers in the matter of supplying war materials which the country so badly needs. It is said that they want to know what their tax bills will be before "going the limit" in the National Defense Program. (What would happen to me, a country newspaper editor, or you, owner of a filling station, were we to demand of the government a guarantee that our businesses would flourish during our absence before answering our country's call to arms?)

No, you who look on Kentuckians as humans a-hungerin' and a-thirstin' for a fight, we have not answered the country's need in this emergency because we are blood-thirsty. We have no desire to fire a gun which may hurl a shell twenty or forty or sixty miles and kill somebody we never have seen, mayhap some woman or child. Our grudges are more personal and more righteous, at least in our own eyes, than that.

The fact is we of the "old-time stock," "independent as a hog on ice," hating dictators and all those who would under any other guise try to tell us where we get on and get off, are true lovers of liberty.

And we are civilized in that higher, finer type of civilization—imbued with the belief that we should give and give and give for the kind of government under which our forefathers have lived and died and under which we now are given the high privilege of carrying on.

BILL HENRY SAYS:

GOODBYE, OLD PAL

That trusty, old lantern hanging from a nail in the wall on the back porch, for rural Floyd county will soon join the "Old Oaken Bucket" and the "Old Gray Mare!" Soon, with the flip of a switch the farmhouse will be just as bright with light as its "city cousins;" the barnyard will be lit up like the village corner drugstore . . . no more side-stepping and "gosh, I hit that one." Kilowatt-hour is pioneering its way into the sparsely settled sections via a farmers' co-operative. Back in the hills just as far as you would like to go; up branch roads that only a sure-footed animal can travel—all will be reached by miles upon miles of slender, light-lightning wires. Those who have waited years for the job to be done by some one else have found a way through co-operation with their neighbors. The government is going into partnership with this co-operative, just long enough for it to get established on a sound footing and then the "child" will be on its own.

The co-operative movement is not something new; there is no guesswork about it. In the Old World it has been going on for five centuries. In the United States there are many thousands of separate units doing an annual business of millions of dollars. In addition to serving their members with electricity a large number have branched into marketing, buying of feed supplies, fertilizer, tractors, etc.

In Floyd county the Farmers' Co-operative will reach the sections where it has been impossible for the Kentucky West Virginia Power Company to install lines, and where, according to officials of the power company, it would be many years before they could profitably go into the field. The extent of the future success of both the co-operative and the Kentucky West Virginia will depend on how well these two organizations get along. The power company has held for many years certificates of convenience for certain proposed installations. Some of these, the Co-operative believes, are necessary in their program in order to reach some of the more sparsely settled sections. To clear away this one obstacle it will only be necessary for a little co-operation on both sides, with a friendly, sympathetic understanding of each other's problems. Floyd county is decidedly on its way toward better things and nothing must be allowed to stop its progress. The people must realize that long years of service and heavy investments by the power company cannot be disregarded . . . On the other hand, the power company must not forget that it is operating at the will of the people; where it is absolutely necessary to the successful installation and operation of the co-operative line, they should be willing to step aside in territory where they have done nothing more than apply for a certificate of convenience.

Admitting all the modern improvements electricity will bring to the farmers of Floyd county, the bright lights will take away some of the finest traditions of the rural folk. The farmhouse will no longer seem like something different and apart from the town and suburban communities . . . The old-timers will miss the fantasy of the soft, flickering light of the lantern jumping back and forth from the barn to the woodshed to the house. It is pleasant to think of the progress of man . . . new ideas to lighten our burdens . . . but there is something lacking. Push buttons, milking machines, tractors just don't seem to belong.

"Boom-Town," 4-Star Feature at Liberty

When a motion picture company takes a great human-interest story, more thrills than the screen has seen in years, and a group of stars comprising Clark Gable, Spencer Tracy, Claudette Colbert and Hedy Lamarr, and put all that into one picture, it can't go wrong. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer did that and more with "Boom-Town," which opens Sunday at the Liberty Theater, Pikeville. The recipe cooked up can truthfully be termed the greatest screen entertainment of the year.

Roads Association Adopts Slogan

without the co-operation of the people. . . . An organization such as the FLOYD COUNTY GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION is the only way to assure this county the good roads it should have had many years ago."

Mr. Pow said: "The time has come for action, all of us should get together; forget politics and work for what is good for Floyd county."

"The county officials," County Attorney Forrest D. Short said, "will co-operate in every way. . . . I have been assured by officials of the State Highway Commission that work on the first six miles of the Left Beaver road will start within 10 days. . . . I believe that in this organization we have laid the groundwork for not only assuring a county-wide network of good roads, but other things which will make Floyd county bigger and better."

Folk Festival History Told

America, and a later America as well, the festival furnishes a basic, cultural leisure-time activity program, and presents material which may insure future artistic creations. The program includes those Old World ways which were transplanted in the western world, particularly the British, Spanish-American and French. Newer songs which have sprung up from the American soil are a permanent feature of the festival. Cowboy ballads from the Southwestern plains, miners' songs, the tall tales of lumberjacks from the great north woods, sea chanteys made and used in the old clipper days by the "before the mast" sailors, negroes' work songs, spiritual and limeric songs from the South, and now Kentucky has come to the front, represented by none other than our very own Floyd county, with "Mountain Chanting."

On Wednesday evening Miss Knott spoke to a group at the Auxier hotel, telling them of the history and the background of the festival. According to Miss Knott, the idea came to her while she was directing a theater group in St. Louis, Mo. Many groups of the Old Country came to hear and asked permission to appear on the programs with their folk songs and dances. She thought, "Why not have a national festival, annually, to preserve the traditions of early American life." The first festival was held at St. Louis in 1934; the second at Chattanooga, Tenn.; the third at Dallas, Texas; and the fourth in Chicago. The fifth annual festival took place in Washington in 1938 and has been held in that city each year since.

Miss Knott was very enthusiastic when she spoke of the part Floyd county could and should play in the future. "Why not let Floyd county represent the state of Kentucky each year?" she asked. "Why not let the rest of the nation know of the beauty of Kentucky?" She spoke about the state and county festivals that were being held in many of the states. From these the best are selected to go to Washington. From the hundreds of state and county festivals which have sprung up throughout the nation, Miss Knott said, "many folkways long forgotten have been revived."

Miss Knott is a Kentucky girl, having been born at Cavill, Ky. One of the members of the National Committee is Dr. Josiah Combs, of the faculty of Texas Christian University, Ft. Worth, Texas. Mr. Combs is a brother of B. F. and A. B. Combs, Prestonsburg attorneys.

gery at the Polyclinic, New York City, and in Chicago. His experience in the field of medicine, aside from his practice in Paintsville and the conduct of a hospital there, has included superintendency of Emergency Industrial Hospital, Wolpitt, Ky.

"I plan to add any service necessary as we go along," Dr. Daniel said.

WPA Factory Hopes For Floyd Dim, Group Told

Lack of steam-heated quarters and of funds with which to sponsor such a project render founding of a WPA mattress factory in Floyd county very doubtful, it was said at Thursday evening's meeting of the local organization recently formed for the purpose of assisting in the sponsorship of WPA projects.

A building satisfactory as a location for such an enterprise must be steam-heated. County Judge E. P. Hill, Jr., County Attorney Forrest D. Short, Magistrates Daniel Akers and Joe Prater attended the meeting and expressed their willingness to give all possible co-operation but pointed out that they were not certain funds will be available with which to sponsor the project.

J. J. Hatcher told the meeting that the Pike county WPA factory had offered to sell Floyd county 200 mattresses for only 40c a mattress.

Discussing the lunch program in schools, Miss Mary Belle McCormick, district supervisor of WPA school lunchrooms projects, told how it will be possible for all the schools of the county to have cafeterias and lunch counters where pupils may be fed warm, nutritious foods at lunchtime. After each school gets the program under way, they should be on a self-supporting basis, she predicted. "Children who cannot pay for their lunches may bring garden stuffs and other items of food from home in lieu of money," Miss McCormick said. "Then, if two-thirds of the children pay for their meals, with the other one-third bringing vegetables and other supplies, the work should carry itself."

Aim of the lunchroom projects is to serve meals at a cost of from eight to 10 cents per child, Miss McCormick said.

Next meeting of the organization will be held at the courthouse September 5, at 7:30 p. m.

Rough Roads Is No Picnic, Huntington Team Discovers

By SHIKEPOKE

Drift — Bad roads prevented the Huntington City League team from reaching Drift for its scheduled game Sunday. The team got in contact with the Drift management about 3 o'clock and advised that they were broke down on the detour at Louisa and would be unable to reach Drift, so the local club played a team of All-Stars picked from Thealka, Allais and Drift, with the regulars winning, 9-6.

Feature of the afternoon, however, was the picnic lunch served to the players on the grounds of the C. D. Reed home—and did the players do it justice! That Huntington bunch doesn't know what they missed. Smith and Reed carried off honors, as they were the first ones there and the last ones away. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Cooley, Team Manager and Mrs. W. L. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Curt Jones, Mrs. Robert Shay, Buck Ward, Smith, Preston, J. D. Daniels, Fred McSurley, Woodrow Castle, Ken Myers, Jim McDowell, Russell Price and, of course, Shikepoke. Henry the Insurance Man was present—trying to prevent accidents, I guess. Just a few minor accidents marred the "stuffing"—Ken Myers had a hard time getting his feet under and then getting them out from under the table. We got a picture of his spikes for Ripley-or-not. Smithy tried to take pictures with a candid camera with the lens toward him. Preston got watermelon seed in his ears. Jake says that if this doesn't hurt him he's going to eat all he wants next time. I was about to forget J. E. Fraley, he was present in capital letters and he really had a boarding-house reach. While we were having our pictures made a piece of chicken dropped out of J. D. Daniels' pocket. I had to try all the pie before before I could find the kind I wanted—and, yeah, the Jitterbug was present also as the official photographer.

Mayo School Increases Money Circulation

A distinct increase of money in circulation in the Big Sandy valley has resulted from the operation of the Mayo State Vocational School at Paintsville, according to A. L. Pigman, director. Combined salaries of the institution, cost of supplies purchased in Eastern Kentucky, and money spent by students, exceeded $35,000 during the past year.

"The institution is only in its infancy, however," says Director Pigman, "and, with the institutional development now under way, our institution within a few years should bring into the Big Sandy $100,000 of new money annually."

High and Grade Schools Will Open Tuesday

 opens. Several changes also have been made in textbooks for the grades.
 The new Allen graded school building will be ready for occupancy in from two to four weeks, and the opening there will be delayed until the building is completed. Work on the roof will be started this week. Construction on the new arts and science building at Wheelwright also is progressing.

The board is calling for bids on coal for the various rural school districts. Seventy-five bushels for each one-room school and a like amount per stove for the others will be bought.

TOWN-WORLD

 Conscription Bill languishes and the country becomes more impatient.
 Washington, D. C., Nov. 2—The "flash-voting" machine bill was passed yesterday on the eve of the adjournment of Congress for next Tuesday's election. Now, the vote on the Conscription Bill can be taken in 10 seconds—if Congress ever gets to it.

WE VIEW WITH ALARM

Last week, it was, "Give me a piece of paper to wrap my cheese up in." This week, it's "How 'bout wrappin' up this blanket for me?"
 Lord help the FLOYD COUNTY TIMES if the WPA commodity office, next door, ever delivers any mattresses!

OUR GUESS

J. J. (Jimmy) Hatcher this week received a wire from his boss in the insurance business, congratulating him on his sales leadership. "Which shall it be?—the visible sales kit or $10 in cash?" inquired the boss.
 To which Jimmy replied (we bet), "The $10 in cash."

MUSCLES, THEY CALL ME

If you want to know just how many muscles you have, try learning to ride a bicycle at the advanced age of 37. I learned a lot, even if the 'cycle still remains something of a minor mystery to me.

UNCONFIRMED REPORT

You know, being a Democrat, I hear so many jokes told by Republicans on Roosevelt, the New Deal, etcetera, that I've got so I can get a laugh out of some of them. Carl Corbin commits treason to the party of Jefferson, thusly:

On a certain Sunday morning two men far down the shady side of the slope sat in church, and both were on the deaf side. Their conversation was so loud that even Carl heard about it.
 Said Gramp No. 1 as he saw a strange back receding past, down the aisle: "Who's that, Henry?"
 "That? Why that's our new deacon."
 "Sure, sure, a New Dealer, eh?"
 "Why, you oughta know him. He's a son of the Bishop."
 "Yeah, I know," replied Gramp One. "They all are."

Winner of Trip To Leave Sunday

 patrick smilingly replied, "I was sitting in the car and managed somehow to get my feet on the ground, and then I didn't know whether they were going to hold me up or not—I never felt so shaky in my life." It was the first time she had ever held a winning ticket, though she had never missed more than one or two of the drawings; one time, Mrs. Fitzpatrick said, she held 600 tickets and not one penny did she get. When she went home she definitely made up her mind "never again"—but she did, and the result

... New York and a wonderful time. One thing I particularly wanted to find out from Mrs. Fitzpatrick was whether she intended to visit the New York shops. She said she hoped she could, but just to look. "I find everything right here in the stores of Prestonsburg," she said, "if there is any difference in what one can get here and elsewhere it is in favor of our stores. I find that it is easy to picture things in catalogues to make you think you are getting a lot for your money. I prefer to trade with the local merchants where I can see what I am getting!"
 Next week The Floyd County Times will publish Mrs. Fitzpatrick's own story of her trip, in her own words.
