2 ARE SOUGHT IN SHOOTING, ROBBERY

MT. STERLING MAN SHOT; SALISBURY, ALLEN NAMED

County and state authorities engaged in a fruitless manhunt Monday after one man had been wounded and a companion had been robbed at the point of a revolver on Floyd county highways.

James Belcher, 25, Mt. Sterling, Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company extra force employe, was seriously probably fatally, wounded at Craft's Place, one mile north of Emma. His brother, Harold Belcher, and their coworkers. Carl Copher and Murphy Simms, later were pursued to a point near Allen where Simms was robbed of $25 in cash and a $65 watch, officers were told.

Sought in connection with the shooting and robbery are Tuley Salisbury and Oliver Allen, both of Garrett, and an unnamed third man.

Officers said they were told that James Belcher was shot by Salisbury, at the roadside outside Craft's Place. The bullet entered his body near the clavicle, passed through his lung and emerged from his back.

Ray Craft, manager of the roadhouse, said there was no apparent discord between the two parties while they were inside the building. Salisbury, Allen and two others arrived there shortly after the Mt. Sterling party entered, he said. They laughed and talked while there. Highway patrolmen said they were told that a member of Belcher's party paid for some purchases with a sizeable roll of bills and that Salisbury and his companions followed them outside as they were entering their car to drive on to Drift where they had been employed in the construction of a spur railway

The Sheriff's office here said its investigations disclosed that Tuley Salisbury had jerked his revolver and ordered James Belcher to throw up his hands. Belcher told officers that he thought Salisbury intended to shoot him and that he attempted to snatch the weapon from the other. He said Salisbury's first shot missed.

As the shooting began, Copher and Simms, already in their auto, started off in hurried departure, Harold Bel-cher swinging onto the running-board. JOHNS BRANCH en pursued to a point on the Allenhighway, opposite the Beaver Mey Golf Club near Allen, where ir auto was wrecked in the ditch at roadside after having been fired pon several times. Its occupants fled o the hillside, but Simms returned to what he thought was a friendly car, and was robbed at revolver point.

Copher Wednesday night told County Attorney Forrest D. Short, prior to

FLOYD DISTRICTS

Out of Proportion, Federal Census Indicates

Speaking of the Legislative apportionment over Kentucky (See editorial in THE TIMES, Jan. 30) Floyd county is slightly off in its Magisterial district apportionment, census department records reveal.

District No 4 (Mud Creek and along the Big Sandy river section of the county above Allen) has a population of only 7,196, while District 2 (Right Beaver Creek) has a population of 16,977.

District 3 (Left Beavre Creek) has a population of 15,998, and District 1 (Prestonsburg, Middle Creek and the lower section of the county), REMEMBRANCE EXPRESSED!

The memories we treasure today will fade, even during our own lives, as we grow old, and after we are gone may be lost entirely. To preserve memories-to record them as they deserve—they must be entrusted to a reminder that will last through the years to come. A beautiful monument will be that reminder. Even the smallest and most modest memorial will be something permanent to perpetuate the name and the memory of the person or family to whom it is dedicated. This young lady remembered her father-she bought this beautiful memorial and had his picture placed in it-and she saw that it was properly erected at his grave in Mountain City, Tennessee.

If you are interested-call and see us; it will in no way obligate you. Mr. Hickey, shop manager, will be glad to show you how monuments are built.

More Barley, Less Corn in Kentucky

The Kentucky College of Agriculture reports a tendency in many counties of the state to grow less corn and more barley. For the state as a whole the barley acreage nearly doubled in three years. The change from corn to barley has been especially rapid since the introduction of cold-resistant varieties of barley

In Boyle county, the corn area dropped from about 22,000 acres in 1919 to around 9,000 acres in 1940. Bourbon county farmers began to grow barley in 1938, but in 1940 they sowed 8,000 acres. Other counties reporting big increases in barley are Daviess, Clark and Logan.

CHORUS OF HATE

ND THIS, the burthen of their song-"He wants A to be a dictator."

For eight years now, every opponent of Franklin D. Roosevelt, his aims and policies, has sung this hymn of hate in lieu of sound logic.

All professing to hate those Old World dictators, they at this very hour are basing their opposition to the "Aid-for-Britain" bill upon the bogey-man cry, "Roosevelt wants to be a dictator"

Logic, they scorn; the propaganda of "dictatorship," they nurture and cherish.

If they are justified in this, these who oppose help for America's partner in the defense of a scheme of things that is at least quasi-sane, Franklin D. Roosevelt is of all men the strangest. Every other dictator is friendly to Hitler, the arch-dictator. Mussolini, Stalin, Hitler-they are three of a kind. Then why does Roosevelt express for the distatorships such hatred? Or do these opponents of his think he is merely "kidding"—that he wants the lease-lend bill enacted; so that he can join up with the Unholy Three?

The song is old, the record made by FDR makes reproduction of the hymn a scratchy, futile thing. Eight years of playing the tune while every Presidential act has drowned out the cachophyny, has sated, it has nauseated, the American public.

EQUAL REPRESENTATION IN KENTUCKY

SEVERAL DAYS AGO, we discussed in this column the great inequalities in representation given various counties in Kentucky's House of Representatives. Today, we want to show that similar inequalities exist in the state Senate. First, we wan to review the general situation briefly.

Our theory of government in the United States is based on at least approximate and practical equality of representation for each citizen in all of our legislative bodies. We do not have that in practice in Ken-

In our former editorial, we showed that residents in some counties have about six times the proportionate representation those in other counties have. Other commentators have taken up this discussion, declaring that this condition is maintained deliberately by the majority party, the Democrats. We can hardly believe that this is the only reason, although it is probably the principal one. The counties which have large representation in proportion to their population try to maintain it. There are numerous cases to illustrate the fact that this works against some populous counties with large Democratic majorities, as well as against the populous counties in Eastern Kentucky with Republican majorities. Speaking more plainty, it is the country against the town, rural minorities urban majorities.

Further to bear out with facts and figures the existence of this condition, consider, if you please, some of the Senatrial districts of the state and their comparative 1930 populations:

The Second Senatorial district consists of Ballard and Carlisle counties. The combined population is

The Sixth District is Christian and Hopkins counties, total population 71,732. Each citizen here has less than oue-fourth of the voice in the state Senate than a citizen of the first possesses.

When we come to the Thirteenth Senatorial district, composed of Floyd, Knott and Pike counties, the district's population is 120,439. Each citizen here has one-seventh as much representation as the citizen of the second.

The Thirty-third district, Clay, Harlan, Letcher and Perry, has a population of 160,971 and each voter has one-ninth as much representation as a citizen of Ballard and Carlisle.

Then there is our own district of Boyd, Johnson Lawrence and Martin with 92,114 people.

There are various grades of inequality in between. This is probably even greater if the 1940 census figures are used, alhough there have been few considerable changes.

We insist that the way to get this viciously unfair situation remedied is for every county which is heavily on the short end in representation to pledge every candidate who offers himself for the Genral Assembly that he will fight against it. And then to vote only for men whom they feel sure will keep their promises.—Ashland Daily Independent.

WHAT'S THE REMEDY?

WITH apparent assurance, the director of the British aviation industry declares that England has devised a remedy for night bombing which will make night raiding as hazardous as daytime operations. It will, he says, be in use before long.

The nature of the remedy, of course, can only be guessed at. But it seems reasonable to suppose that the British aviation expert is speaking of some means to enable fighter planes to operate efficiently at night. If such a means is found, it would indeed make night bombing raids almost as hazardous as those undertaken by day. The difference in operation of fighter planes is now largely the only difference in the effectiveness of air defenses by day and night.

The problem of incressing the effectiveness of fighter planes in night operation largely revolves around the difficulty of locating enemy bombers aloft. Except for the aid which listening posts on the ground may render by radio, the fighter pilot is in the position of looking for needles in a haystack when he must take off in pursuit of enemy bombers somewhere 30,000 feet above in the night air. Except for chance reflections or glints caused by searchlights, his eyes may be as useless as his ears in locating the enemy.

But equipping the night pilot with substitute mechanical "eyes" which will pierce the darkness is not to be regarded as a scientific impossibility. Perhaps the most promising approach to the problemand the one which the British may have followed successfully-lies in the field of the infrared ray. Infrared photography, which relies upon the heat rays below the spectrum of light rays, has been of tremendous value in piercing fog and darkness. And while bombers may fly without light, their exhaust heat would betray them to any apparatus capable of viewing by means of infrared rays. Ordinary infrared photography, of course, is so slow as to be useless in this field.

In a night fighter plane operating some five miles above the earth's surface, an ultrasensitive metal detector might be a practical means of dvising the pilot of the wherebouts of enemy craft in the darkness, although the delicacy of such an instrument might be too much for rough-and-tumble combat at 400 miles an hour.

Perhaps inaudible sound waves, which would be reflected back by any other craft in the sky, might be the secret. Bats are believed to guide their flight in the dark by emitting supersonic sound-sound higher than the register of the human ear-and being warned by its reflections from solid objects. In any event, it will require something rather fancy to check-mate the night bomber.-Cincinnati Enquirer.

Four New Additions to the Buick SPECIAL Line now give you Big-Car Pleasure in More Compact Size! Buick SPECIAL

IN search for impressive size, cars I have been getting longer every Bumper has retreated from bumper until there's hardly room left in the family garage for the lawn mower and the good wife's gardening basket.

Does that mean you'll have to build a new garage to enjoy a big car's glories? Not now!

For there are four new Buicks on the market-additions to our 1941 Special series—that let you indulge your big-car tastes in spite of 1929-carsize garages.

*Optional on the Buick Special; standard on all other series.

They are big cars in ability-with a 115-horsepower Buick FIREBALL engine that can be stepped up to 125 "horse" by the addition of Compound Carburetion.*

They are big cars in their room—with plenty of leg-, elbow- and head-room in their spacious interiors.

But-they fit your garage, handle like baby carriages, park on small change -all because we have trimmed down their bumper-to-bumper length!

THREE SLAIN IN ELLIOTT

A family quarrel and a country store argument brought death to three Elliott countians last week. Mrs. Emil Fowler, 19 of Ault, was fatally wounded with a shotgun by her husband, Barkley Fowler, who later slit his own throat and then fired a shotgun charge into his head. The tragedy took place at the home of John Stigall, father of Mrs. Fowler, where the couple made their home. A hired girl said the couple commenced arguing after going to bed and that the shooting took place about 10:30. The hired girl ran to a neighbor's house but the occupants, fearful that Fowler might harm them, would not venture into the Stigall home. The couple was found next morning, Fowler dead and his wife badly wounded. She was taken to a Lexington hospital but died Friday.

Henry Carter, 50, of Dewdrop, was killed by a .38 bullet said to have been fired by a neighbor, John Conn, during an argument in the store of Carter's brother, Harlan Carter, at Dewdrop. Conn fled into the hills and it is not known here whether or not he has been captured.

BENTLEY. AUTO VICTIM Rufus (Tom) Bentley, 66, of Webb-ville, R. 1, died Tuesday in a local hospital of injuries sustained Tuesday of last week when he was hit by a truck on the Catt-Webbville highway near Curt Ramey's at Cadmus.
