NEWS OF THE BIG SANDY SECTION

AUTOS TAKE TOLL

Pikeville—A series of automobile accidents over the week-end resulted in the death of one Pike countian and the injury of three others.

Lena Lee Runyon, 29, of Belfry, member of one of the county's largest families, died of injuries sustained in a collision near Winchester, Ky., Saturday night.

Three persons were hurt, none of them seriously, in accidents in this vicinity Sunday. They were: F. M. Burke, William Stratton and Dr. J. K. Johnson, all of this city.—Pike County News.

CREDIT GROUP TO MEET

Paintsville — Members of the Big Sandy Production Credit Association will hold their annual meeting on Saturday, Feb. 22, at the Paintsville public school in Paintsville, it is announced by Dean Cornette, secretary and treasurer. Selection of the date and meeting place was made by the board of directors of the organization, which has a membership of 758 farmers in Boyd, Floyd, Elliott, Johnson, Lawrence, Letcher, Knott, Pike, Martin, Magoffin, Menifee and Morgan counties.

REV. H. B. CONLEY DIES

Rev. Harvey Burns Conley, one of Johnson county's best known and most prominent citizens, died during the early morning hours of February 1, at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Grover Order, in Stafford Addition.

Rev. Conley was 79 years of age. He had been ill for more than a year. Cause of death was due to an attack of pneumonia. His death brings to a close a long and useful life spent in the service of mankind.

He had been a member of the Freewill Baptist Church for 59 years, and as a minister of the gospel had preached in every section of Johnson county and many other points throughout Eastern Kentucky.—Paintsville Herald.

ASK $72,500 DAMAGES

Louisa—Two personal injury suits seeking a total of $72,500 in damages have been filed in the office of Circuit Clerk Claude C. Fyffe here for trial during the March term of Lawrence circuit court.

Mrs. Lelar Baldwin, 45, of the Lick Creek section, asks damages of $70,000 from the Ralph E. Mills Co., which is building the Mayo Trail south of Louisa, alleging she sustained permanent injuries when a rock sent flying from a blast made by the defendant company crashed through the window of her home and struck her in the face. She states in her petition that the rock maimed her face, injured her vision and sense of smell and tore away a part of her jaw making it impossible for her to use false teeth.

Gallie Isaac, of Louisa Route 3, asks damages of $2,500 from the Browning Motor Freight, of Huntington, and O. J. Spurlock, alleging that a truck of the defendant company and driven by Spurlock knocked him from a horse while he was riding on the Mayo Trail near Louisa, and injured.

LOCKWOOD SUCCESSOR NAMED

The Louisa City Council at its meeting Tuesday night elected M. S. Rice and Homer Wright to membership on the council succeeding W. S. Justice, deceased, and Ike Lockwood, who moved to Prestonsburg.

Mr. Rice and Mr. Wright took the oath of office at the meeting and immediately entered upon their duties. They will serve until January 1, 1942. A new council is to be elected this year to take office the first of next year.

INVESTIGATES FIND

Sheriff Proctor Fyffe and Deputy

Troy Segraves Sunday investigated the finding of a man's coat beside two dead squirrels on the Northrup land on Three-Mile. The coat, a comparatively new one with two large holes in the back, was found in the woods near the WPA road job there last Saturday by workmen. Some believed the two holes in the coat may have been caused by gunshots, but the investigating officers said there was no blood on the coat and reported that no one had been reported missing.—Big Sandy news.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

THE EGG GOURD

LONG AGO in this column I discussed the many uses of gourds in earlier times; the thing that made me start thinking about gourds was seeing one at a wayside spring when I was on a camping trip. Since then I have had another experience with gourds that renews many a memory. While visiting my old home in 1939, I found and brought back with me a gourd that has been in the family since some years before the Civil War. This large old gourd now occupies a prominent place in my office, gazed at rather furtively by people whose memories do not run so far back as 1900 and is often the source of questions.

This particular gourd holds well over two gallons and was used for more than 50 years as the container of eggs. I cannot remember just how many dozen it would hold, but you can imagine that there would be several. A big square hole had been cut in the side, big enough for anybody to get his hand in or out with three or four eggs in it. This hole also furnishes a natural handle, and by it the gourd has been taken dozens of times to the country store at Fidelity and its contents traded for calico, coffee, sugar, and other things needed in the farm home.

Its first romantic journey took place in 1854, when it came all the way from Rockingham county, North Carolina, in a covered wagon, as its owners made their way into the Jackson Purchase to start a new life and a new home in the wilderness. It belonged to the very old lady whom I mentioned some months back in the article on "A Lover of Flowers." In fact, it was filled with flower and garden seeds by this very woman, young then and facing the wilderness unafraid. As I said previously, the flower bulbs and seeds that she brought became for a whole neighborhood a source of joy and aesthetic life. The philosophy of most of the people of Fidelity was dead-set against beauty, but a few of us persisted in our love for flowers until some of the stand-patters were converted to our point of view. And this old gourd, not so pretty to look at, had its homely share in bringing to the "Last West" of Kentucky some of the aesthetic pleasures of an older civilization east of the mountains.

The longer I contemplate folkways, the more important seem the means by which culture is transmitted. We are so beset with gadgets today that we hardly see how things can mean much to people. Junk accumulates faster than the rats can chew it up or we can lug it to the basement or the attic or sell it to the second-hand man. Every day when I burn newspapers and pasteboard cartons, I think how useful some of them would have been in our earlier days, when we treasured such things and rarely destroyed so much as a scrap of anything. Earlier still, containers were scarce, and the homely gourd, easily grown along the garden fence, became a source of help to most farm houses. From a few gourds to hold salt and soda and such things to a modern kitchen cabinet with places for more than most of us can afford is a long way, a way that many of us have spanned in our lives, even without being now feeble or forgetful of what is or has been.

Extensive Tests For Hybrid Corn

Farmers in 105 counties in Kentucky co-operated with county agents and the state College of Agriculture in 798 demonstrations in growing hybrid corn last year. Yields averaged 9.3 over common kinds. The top yield was 64.7 bushels, made by a yellow hybrid called Ky. Y102.

Demonstrations also were begun last year in co-operation with commercial hybrid corn seed producers in 33 counties. "The dry season was more unfavorable for large, later white hybrids than for small, earlier yellow hybrids," comments W. C. Johnstone, of the College of Agriculture. "The yellow hybrids were particularly high in tests where the drouth was severe, but in the high yielding plots, particularly those little affected by drouth, the better white hybrids consistently outyielded the yellows, with the possible exception of Ky. Y102."

We've put one over on the yardsticks

Here are FOUR NEW ADDITIONS to the BUICK SPECIAL Line that Compact Motorcar Bigness into Handy Size

*Buick SPECIAL 4-door Sedan, model 47, $1021.

TIME was when you measured a car's ability and standing by the yardstick distance from bumper to bumper.

But not any more — not since Buick made ready the four new additions to its 1941 SPECIAL series that are built for big-car travel tastes — and small-car garages!

They are cars to take the measure of almost anything on the road in the lift and life of their 115-hp. Buick FIREBALL engines.*

*Add Compound Carburetion at slight extra cost and horsepower steps up to 125 while gasoline mileage goes even higher.

They are cars with room for all the family, with all the little Buick luxury touches, with the unrivaled comfort of Buick's all-coil springing and steady-going roadability.

But bumper to bumper they are shorter — so they fit your garage.

Their wheelbase is 118 inches, so they park like a bicycle and flit through traffic with ridiculous ease.

They go farther on every gallon — farther, even, than other Buicks.

So you can't take their measure with a yardstick.

You've got to measure them by what they do for you — in the easier handling, the bigger thrill, the extra convenience they add — and by prices made lower by their new compactness.

How about seeing them — now?

WE DRIVERS

Nobody knows so well as we drivers how dependent a machine can be upon the man who runs it. Certainly everything has been done that could be done to make motor cars operate as they should regardless of the driver's skill. And still cars can't do a thing except under human direction.

Even the self-starter, for example, deserves its name only in part. There must still be a foot to press the pedal or a finger to touch the button or turn a key. Power and speed in abundance are waiting in modern engines, but they wait the command of a driver. Steering is a direct and simple thing, but it still depends on a pair of hands on the wheel.

And so, in a very true sense, the automobile that comes to us from the factory is an unfinished mechanism. It still lacks the most important part — the driver.

Manufacturers may build into their cars any number of provisions for economical operation, comfort, ease of control, fine performance, safety, dependability and long life; yet all are subject in the long run to the intelligent use and maintenance of drivers and owners.

The satisfaction and service that the owner gets out of his car depend in a great measure on his ability as a driver and even more important, the safety of our streets and highways is also dependent on the skill and expertness of the person behind the wheel.

Valentine From Common Folk—

No power I have, prestige or political "pull," No "swell jobs," "fine cars," "big bank rolls;"

Not a "pillar" of the church, I am slighted socially.

Ignored publicly. No "swank." No degree.

Nothing much to offer friends— That is, in the way of worldly goods.

"Common folks" don't have much "worldly goods."

But to you, my friends, In sickness I minister unto you, In sorrow I grieve at your side, In health I rejoice with you.

I smile with you, laugh with you, Dry your tears—and mine.

Have long talks about this and that, The goodness of God and the glory of His handiwork.

Take long walks, find the first flower And the last withered bloom,

Share our "Sunday best" or bowl of soup;

See life through eyes of understanding, and love and trust and friendship, undimmed by selfishness and hate.

I'm glad I'm just "Common Folk" and have a heart to give to you.

Garrett Netters, Easy Winners Over P'burg

Garrett's Black Devils had easy sledding in its games of last week, defeating Prestonsburg here Friday night, 37-22, and following this up with a 52 to 22 victory Saturday night at home over Wheelwright.

Victors over Prestonsburg's Black-cats by only two points in the last two preceding encounters between the teams, the Black Devils took an early lead Friday night and were never threatened. One Garrett regular was out of the game. Prestonsburg was weakened by the loss of Heinze and Salisbury.

During the last quarter against Wheelwright Coach Mayo, of Garrett, substituted his second team. Martin, high-scoring Wheelwright forward was held to five points.

The line-ups for the two games: Garrett (37) Pos. P'burg (22) E. Coburn (1) .. F..... May (4) Hughes (12) .. F..... Clark (11) Music (8) .. C..... Oppenheimer Meade (5) .. G..... Sloan (5) Francis (9) .. G..... Hunter Substitutions: Garrett—Webb (2); Prestonsburg—Butler (2).

GESNER-GOBLE VOWS

Columbia University, New York, in 1938.

The groom, the son of Mrs. Cecil Kendrick, Prestonsburg, is a member of the staff of The Courier-Journal, Louisville. He attended Prestonsburg schools, Pikeville College, Candy College and the University of Kentucky.

Miss Gesner wore a wedding costume of periwinkle blue with maroon accessories. Her corsage was of gardenias.

After the ceremony a reception was given by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goad and Miss Marie Hansen, rotogravure editor of The Courier-Journal, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Goad.

Mr. and Mrs. Goble returned to Louisville and their home at 4215 W. Broadway after a short wedding trip to Western Kentucky.

Among those attending the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Kendrick, Miss Ethel Powers, and Mr. and Mrs. William Goble, all of Prestonsburg; Mrs. Gesner, Miss Marjorie Gesner and Miss Harriet Simons, all of Marshall, and a few Louisville friends of the bride and groom.

PASS MERIT EXAM

After having passed the written merit examination given by the state Welfare Department, Mrs. Ruth S. Roberts, Mrs. Elizabeth Goble and Miss Ollie Jarvis, of the Floyd county referral agency, Monday and Tuesday had oral interviews at Pikeville as a part of the tests now required by the state.

REMEMBRANCE EXPRESSED! The memories we treasure today will fade, even during our own lives, as we grow old, and after we are gone may be lost entirely. To preserve memories—to record them as they deserve—they must be entrusted to a reminder that will last through the years to come. A beautiful monument will be that reminder. Even the smallest and most modest memorial will be something permanent to perpetuate the name and the memory of the person or family to whom it is dedicated. This young lady remembered her father—she bought this beautiful memorial and had his picture placed in it—and she saw that it was properly erected at his grave in Mountain City, Tennessee. If you are interested—call and see us; it will in no way obligate you. Mr. Hickey, shop manager, will be glad to show you how monuments are built.
