COUNCIL ACTS TO EXPEDITE RAIL WORK

1940 SUPERVISORS LAW CRITICISM MEETING

... Avenue, West Prestonsburg, a ... that has existed in name only, ... day night was eliminated by order of the City Council, so that the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company can construct sidetracks and crossings in connection with the railway extending up Middle Creek without infringing upon a city thoroughfare.

At the same time, a traffic light was ordered for the junction of the Mayo trail and Dingus street and rock surfacing for Short street.

No action was taken toward sewer construction to solve the sanitation problem along the ravine between friend and Dingus streets. The small stream, virtually an open sewer, was recently condemned by the Floyd County Health Department.

Six fireplugs have been ordered, it was announced, in continuance of plans for reduction of fire insurance rates here.

It was unofficially stated at Monday night's meeting of the council that Prestonsburg's total indebtedness is around $108,000—$80,000 in judgments, $28,000 in outstanding warrants.

During the meeting certain councilmen criticized last year's board of supervisors, claiming that the board had increased evaluations of property but had in many instances failed to notify the property-owners of such increases. As a result, the Council has no alternative when complaint is filed by these property-owners than to restore the evaluation to the figure existing before the "raise" was made. One Councilman said Tuesday that the town may lose $1,000 in taxes as a result of this failure to notify owners of property whose assessments had been increased.

To make matters worse, it was pointed out, the 1941 budget was made on the basis of anticipated revenues—and no reductions in taxes from the figures as they stood on the books were anticipated.

Presbyterian C. E. Meeting Held

The Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian Church was organized Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock. The organization, planned for young boys and girls, is to be a regular part of the church activities.

The following officers were elected: Mrs. J. D. Thomas, sponsor; Mary Elizabeth Davis, president; Sylvia Helen Davis, vice-president; Bernice Boyd, secretary; Mary Martha Williams, treasurer; Ethel Clark, pianist; Theda Bibb Thomas, assistant pianist.

The newly-elected president appointed a program committee for the next meeting. This committee, consisting of Theda Bibb Thomas, Bernice Boyd, Ethel Clark and Rose Ellen Hager, will meet with the president to plan a program.

This Town-- That World

ARB WINS FIRST TREE

When a man trees a coon, that isn't news but when a coon trees a man—well, thereby hangs a tale. A ringed "tail" too.

The Floyd County Fish and Game Club recently purchased 25 coons to be released in the county. V. A. Hayes, Langley sportsman, was engaged in "poking" them out of the shipping crate into temporary quarters. Coon number ten resented the "poking" and instead of going he came. "Arb" spent too many anxious minutes on top of the crate fighting the coon with a broomstick and pleading for help. When he called to Ed Burke to open the door he was reminded that "them" coons cost $5 each and would get away if the door was opened. Whereupon came Arb's quite natural yet strained inquiry, "Well, what about me?"

Mrs. W. B. Jarrell Called Suddenly At Warco Home

Mrs. Hamie Jarrell, 68 years old, wife of W. B. Jarrell, superintendent of the Warco plant of the Warfield Natural Gas Company, died at her home at Warco Thursday morning, last week, shortly after suffering a heart attack.

Although she had been in failing health for the last three years, Mrs. Jarrell had been able to walk about her home, earlier in the morning. Stricken suddenly, she died at 7:50 a. m.

A daughter of Edmond and Sally Hampton Napier, she was born at Wayne, W. Va., Jan. 4, 1873. She had resided at Warco since her husband became head of the gas compressor station there, years ago, and was held in high esteem by all who knew her. Mrs. Jarrell had been a member of the Kenova Baptist Church for half a century.

Surviving her are her husband, six sons and daughters: Boyd Jarrell, Mrs. Adabelle Akers, Mrs. Lucille Lyons, all of Kenova, W. Va.; Mrs. Edith Webb, of Langley, Paul and Russell Jarrell, of Warco. She also leaves four sisters, two half-brothers and 13 grandchildren.

The body was taken to Kenova for burial in the family cemetery Saturday under the direction of the Ryan Funeral Home. Following the funeral, rites at the graveside were conducted by Order of Eastern Star and the White Shrine, both of Huntington, W. Va., of which she was a member.

BOARD RETIRES OLD BONDS

SELLS PROGRESS SCHOOL SITE FOR $50

First three of nine $1,000 6 percent bonds issued by the Auxier consolidated school district in 1926 were retired Tuesday by the Floyd County Board of Education, though the bonds do not mature until 1956.

The three bonds cost $1,080 each. Had they not been retired until maturity, the three would have cost $2,080 each, it was said.

At Tuesday's Board meeting the Progress school site was sold to Jake Crisp on his bid of $50, and he will acquire possession of the land when the school is abandoned, probably this year.

Sixth month salaries of consolidated and high school teachers, aggregating approximately $20,000, were paid.

County Superintendent Hall was authorized to have plans and specifications for the proposed two-room brick school at Dwale prepared. Miss Grace Francis was employed by the Board, in conjunction with the Prestonsburg Board of Education, to fill the vacancy created in the Commerce department of Prestonsburg high school by the resignation of Mrs. Verner Wallen Tackett.

DIAL SYSTEM RUMORED NEAR WORK STARTED ON TELEPHONE HEADQUARTERS

Though unconfirmed by company officials, the report persists here that when the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company's new building is completed here its occupancy will mark the change to the dial system in this vicinity.

Workmen employed by Mrs. Josie D. Harkins are erecting a 28 by 32-foot brick building on the Mayo Trail, near the bus station, and the telephone company has leased the structure for an exchange.

The proposed change to the dial system is expected by mid-summer. This change made, employees of the local exchange may be transferred to nearby towns where the dial system has not been installed.

It also is rumored that the local telephone service will be extended to include Lancer and that section along the Mayo Trail between Prestonsburg and the mouth of Brandy Keg.

Knott Court Term Convenes Monday; Slayings Probed

With three murder cases already docketed for trial and two others subject to action of the grand jury, the Knott circuit court convened Monday morning.

The grand jury will conclude its work for the term, next week. Circuit Judge Stephens dismissed the regular jury for this week while disposal of the civil and equity docket was being made.

The two murder cases to be investigated by the grand jury, Commonwealth's Attorney John Allen said, is the slaying of Jake Nester of which Melvin Bolen is accused and that of a Gibson youth, allegedly at the hands of Wallace Burchett, a juvenile.

Pearl Combs was named foreman of the grand jury.

Adjournment of the February term of court here was made Friday by Judge Stephens, one of the last acts of the term being his overruling of Cecil Newsome's motion and grounds for a new trial. Newsome was recently given a 21-year pen term for the knife-slaying of Lawrence Collins at Drift.

NYA ERECTING FARM SHOP

Rural youth in Floyd county will have new opportunities to receive vocational training in the farm shop building now being constructed by the National Youth Administration at Betsy Layne.

When completed, the building will be equipped under the direction of the Floyd County Board of Education with funds made available through an arrangement with the State Department of Vocational Education. Training activities will be under the supervision of the County Board of Education in co-operation with the Vocational Education Department.

To help meet the needs of the national defense program, young men employed by the National Youth Administration in Kentucky have completed 19 of these farm shop buildings.

Caudill Estate Suit Settled Last Week

Suit of W. Claude Caudill, son of the late John W. Caudill, former Circuit Judge of this district, and administrator of his father's estate, against Commonwealth's Attorney John Allen for $35,000 in the death of Judge Caudill was settled last week for $5,750.

Judge Caudill died suddenly in a Paintsville hospital where he was believed recovering from injuries sustained when the automobile driven by Mr. Allen wrecked near Ezel, Ky. At the same time, O. H. Stumbo, former Circuit Clerk of this county, was seriously injured.

Dr. M. V. Wicker, Wayland, was a business visitor here Wednesday.

WIDOW SEEKS $20,000 DAMAGE

FILES ACTION HERE IN HALE DEATH LAST YEAR

Suit seeking the recovery of $20,000 in the death of Bob Hale Nov. 9, last, was filed this week by his widow, Mrs. Ada Hale, administratrix of the estate, against Gene Harris, O. J. Spurlock and Spurlock's Food Service, all of Prestonsburg.

Harris is alleged to have been the driver of Spurlock's truck which was said to have struck and killed Hale on the Mayo Trail near the old Winchester Coal Company camp, eight miles south of here. The petition accuses Harris of driving the truck carelessly and claims Spurlock sent him in the truck to do business for Spurlock's Food Service while brakes and headlights of the truck were defective.

The truck-driver was indicted by a recent grand jury on charges of voluntary manslaughter and failure to stop and render aid to Hale.

Film Showing Here Being Sponsored By Power Firm

A selected group of homemakers in Prestonsburg will have an opportunity to see the full-length motion picture, "Blame It On Love," starring lovely Joan Marsh, when it is shown at the Abigail Theater on March 11. Tickets are being distributed at the Kentucky and West Virginia Power Company's collection office.

"Blame It On Love" was produced for the Hotpoint Company at the Hal Roach Studios in Hollywood, with a full cast of well-known Hollywood players. It is a powerful love story, with laughter and tears alternating, right up to the emotional ending.

Joan Marsh, who stars as Terry Arden, the heroine, will be remembered for her excellent work with Clark Gable and Norma Shearer in "Idiot's Delight" (MGM) as well as "Charlie Chan on Broadway" and "Life Begins in College" with the Ritz Brothers. John King plays Jeff Wadsworth. He

The special elections were held at the Martin and Wayland school buildings. For each election, 1,500 ballots had been prepared, but the vote was comparatively light.

Martin's school district will include all that section served by the Progress, Buck's Branch, Dinwood and Salsburg schools. The Glo and Estill school districts will be annexed to Wayland's.

A tax of 75¢ per $100 of taxable property was voted at the two elections for the purpose of extending school terms, maintaining the schools and providing transportation for pupils.

Mrs. Harry Privett, 79 years old, of Brandy Keg, died Thursday, last week, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Verlie Banks, of Lancer, a victim of pneumonia. Mrs. Privett became ill on Tuesday, two days before her death.

She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Spradlin, and was a member of one of Floyd county's oldest families. Surviving her are her husband, Harry Privett, and one daughter, Mrs. Banks.

Funeral rites were conducted Friday from the Banks home. Burial was made on Spradlin Branch under the direction of the Arnold Funeral Home.

TWO CHANGES ARE MADE

IN RE-DISTRICTING OF MAGISTERIAL DIVISIONS

Re-districting of Floyd county's Magisterial divisions was made last week, the number of districts remaining at four and the only changes made being the transfer of Johns Creek to District No. 1 and Prater Creek to District 4.

Commissioners named by County Judge Hill for the re-districting were Clifford Reynolds, of Mud Creek; W. N. Martin, of Allen, and Norman Allen, Prestonsburg.

FARMERS' PLAN DEADLINE SET

APRIL 15 IS FIXED AS FINAL DATE IN COUNTY

Final date for filing 1941 farm plans, indicating that the farm operator will participate in the Agricultural Conservation Program this year, will be April 15, James Stephens, chairman of the Floyd County Agricultural Conservation Association announced this week.

Approximately 1,400 plans giving general information on the farmers' cropping practices this year have already been completed for farmers receiving materials, such as lime, phosphate and seeds, for use in the 1941 program.

While these farmers have indicated their intention to participate in the program, Mr. Stephens pointed out that many other farmers carrying out practices for credit in the program have not completed farm plans for the year. Any farmer who is in doubt about whether his 1941 plan is on file,

APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED FOR WORK

JOHNS CREEK DAM, BELIEVED NEARER ACTUALITY

Construction of the Johns Creek flood control dam at Dewey, this county, this week drew a step nearer actuality as Maj. Gen. Julian Schley, chief of U.S. army engineers, recommended to Congress that profitable expenditure of $2,000,000 could be made in beginning construction of the dam, spillway and appurtenances.

The recommendation for work on the dam project in this county was included in Major-General Schley's report to Congress in which he advised a total expenditure of $33,000,000 on Kentucky and Indiana river and flood control projects.

The Fishtrap dam project was not mentioned in Washington dispatches.

Engineers to Report On Big Sandy Work

Major F. H. Falkner, of the U.S. Engineers, said in Huntington Monday that September 1 had been set as the date for completion of the engineers' report on proposed construction of a new series of locks and dams on the Big Sandy river. The dams would make the Tug and Levisa forks of the river navigable. The engineers are making a study of potential tonnage movements.

Survey work on the Johns Creek work has been practically completed. In 1938 Congress authorized the expenditure of $3,940,000 on the project—$1,555,000 for construction, $1,450,000 for lands and buildings and $940,000 for highways—but funds actually appropriated were only sufficient to defray expenses of the survey.

Now, however, it is expected that the recommendation from the chief of army engineers, together with the support of Congressman A. J. May, will give the dam "priority rights" in the flood control program in this part of Kentucky.

The dam, to be located 5.4 miles from the mouth of Johns Creek, would have a drainage area of 207 square miles.

PAINTSVILLE, KY., MAN INVENTS DEVICE FOR OIL WELLS

(Paintsville Herald)
Harvey T. Dorton, of Martha, Ky., has recently been granted United States patents Nos. 2,227,538 and 2,227,539 covering new and improved methods and apparatus for controlling the flow of fluids to and from gas or oil wells.

One feature of the apparatus is used in controlling the flow of fluids into a well for artificially restoring pressures in oil recovery operations. The apparatus is installed in the bottom of the well and is removable to the surface by manipulation of a set of valves installed at the well head, so that size of the control can easily be changed as conditions require. Most of the Eastern Kentucky properties are producing oil from two or more formations. These formations greatly vary as to the quantities of gas they will take, and must be separated in repressuring operations. Heretofore it has been necessary in making these separations to use a string of pipe set on a packer for each formation. With this apparatus only one string of pipe is required for injecting gas into two or more formations requiring varying pressures. This is accomplished regardless of which sand requires the higher pressure, and any one of the formations can be closed in without interrupting the flow of gas to the others.

Another feature of the apparatus is for controlling the flow of gas or oil from a producing well. The construction of this apparatus is materially the same as that used in repressuring and operates at the bottom of the well. This apparatus is also removable to the surface by manipulation of a set of valves installed at the well head. It is so constructed and installed as to first cause a downward flow of the fluid before it starts to the surface.

This apparatus being installed in the bottom of the well where the temperature is well above freezing, eliminates the problem of freezing, which has given considerable trouble when surface controls are used in restricting the flow of gas.

The Chartered Institute of American Inventors has placed a minimum value of $25,000 to $40,000 cash for outright sale or from $60,000 to $90,000 if sold on a royalty basis for these patents.

This apparatus was developed in solving some of the problems of operation in the repressuring operations of the Ashland Oil & Refining Company, where Mr. Dorton is employed as assistant petroleum engineer. It has been operating very efficiently for the past two years and is now installed in all of their pressure wells in Lawrence, Johnson and Magoffin counties.

Mr. Dorton is a brother of D. H. Dorton, of Paintsville.

IS YOUR CHILD A TEASER?

By Mrs. Mary M. Van Cleve, Department of Home Economics, University of Kentucky.

If the teasing only takes the form of good natured banter the results are no doubt good. There should be a balanced give and take in a teasing situation. It may help to develop a good sense of humor and perhaps successful repartee in adult life. Also the disappointed behavior which brings forth teasing often disappears as a result of a good natured banter. It often occurs between good pals and can be enjoyed by both individuals.

But teasing often is a serious problem. Good natured banter gives away to tantalizing, jeering and real bullying, and the poor victim suffers both physically and mentally. If the age, physical size, ability and temperament of the aggressor and victim are very different, then the teasing is more apt to take an extreme form. As a result the victim may come to have an irritable disposition, perhaps a feeling of real inferiority, or even worse he may try to retreat from reality and shun social contacts of all kinds. The teaser of course meanwhile is not developing a brotherly and kindly spirit, which is a necessary part of ideal social relationships.

Sometimes parents use teasing to try to overcome the undesirable behavior in their children and much to their surprise and chagrin find later that they have brought on a negativistic attitude and have developed an additional bad trait instead of successfully discouraging the original behavior.

Teasing is rather natural to most of us and often gives the aggressor a real sense of power, so satisfying to his ego. Often his teasing is a definite indication that there is something wrong with his personality. Perhaps he has an inferiority complex and if he does, teasing would naturally give him a sense of achievement as he watches for the reaction of his victim. We have all heard the familiar nicknames such as "skinny," "pig-eyed," "big lummo." When several children pick on one particular child, it is more tragic still. The victim at first tries to retaliate and give the teaser a dose of the same medicine, probably weakens, perhaps throws a temper tantrum or cries for help and protection. Then these reactions stimulate the aggressor to further teasing, resulting in still more distress for the weaker individual.

Sometimes parents unwittingly put their children in situations which make them appear different, such as keeping boys in curls or knickers after all their pals have reached the following stage of development. A child would rather take physical punishment than be socially ostracized by his peers. We cannot always control his overweight; we cannot change the color of his hair or straighten crooked legs or back. We can, however, help the child to learn to meet his difficulty squarely and adjust to it as happily as possible. We can make him self-reliant and develop particular characteristics or qualities which are promising, so that he can excel or feel superior in some way. His playmates will not ridicule him if he does any one thing well, which is socially acceptable to them.

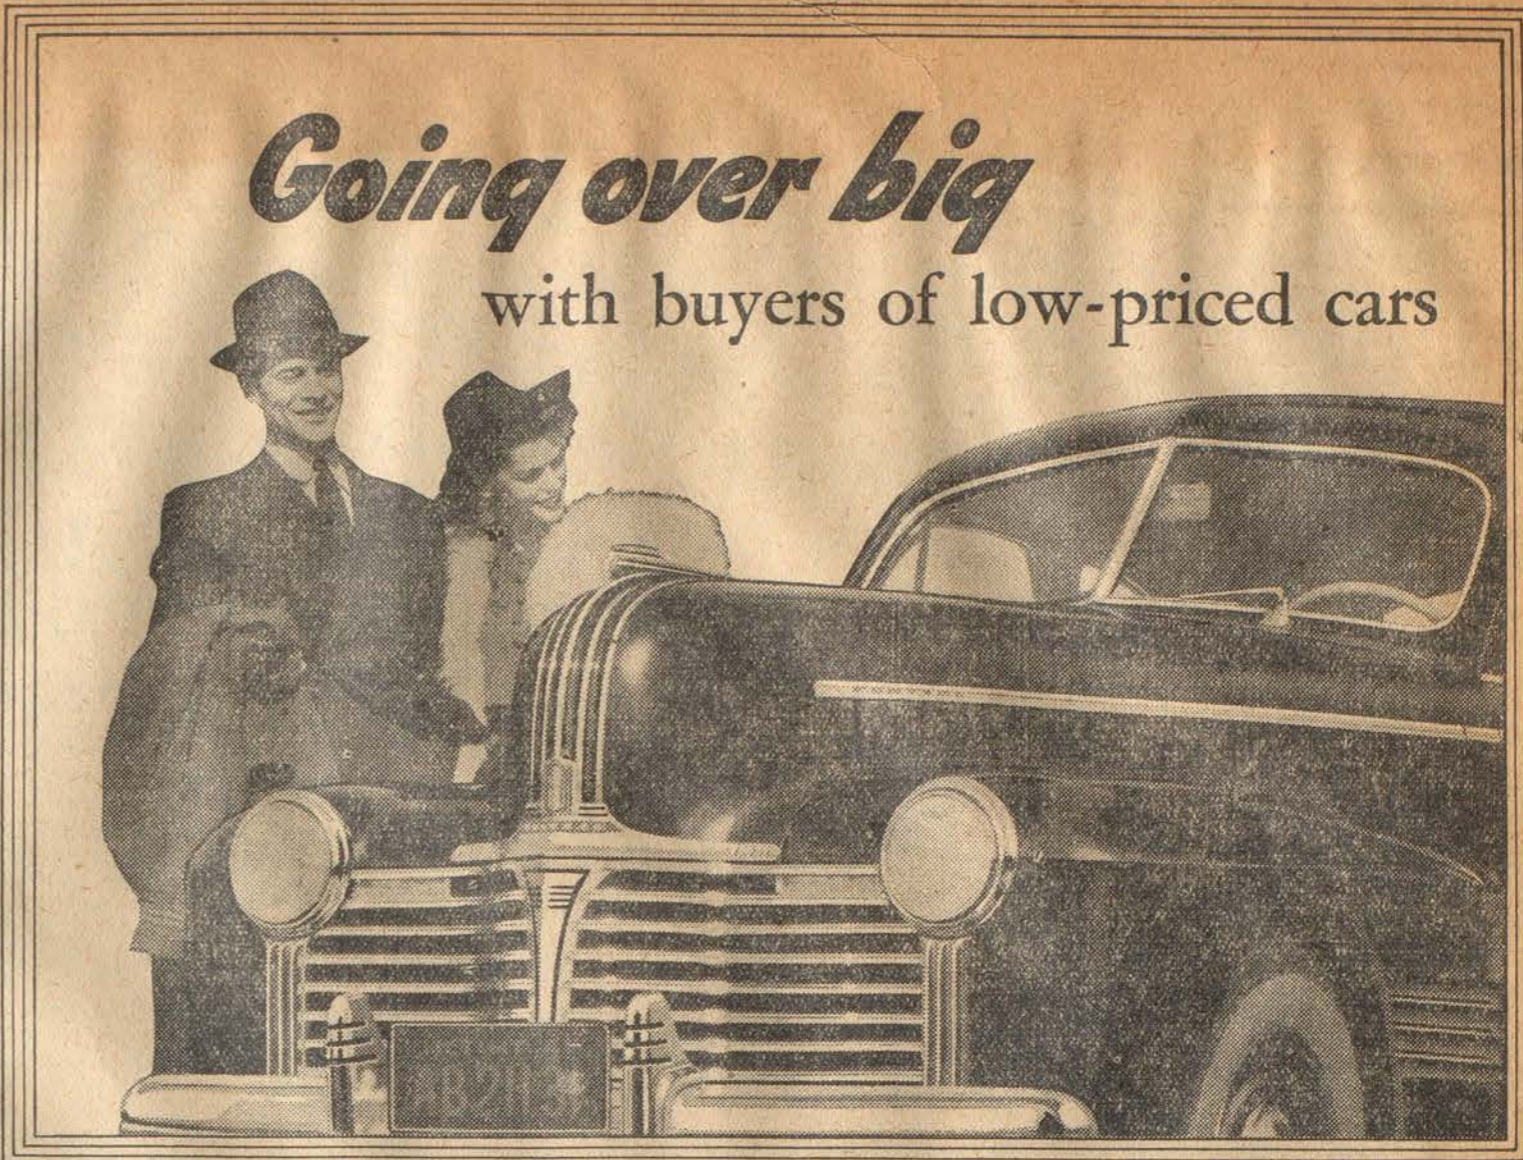

To over-protect the child does not help him to learn to defend himself, simply makes him a "sissy" and his friends will soon be saying he is tied to his mother's apron strings. We should encourage him to take his own part and meet the group single-handed if he is ever to make a happy adjustment to the group in which he so much wants to be included.

Sometimes the one who is doing the teasing has no idea how his victim feels and in this case, he really needs to have someone land on him with some stiff teasing in order for him to fully appreciate what such discomfort can be. A parent will help in this matter with proper explanation of his reasons for indulging in this behavior toward the child, teasing him just enough to let him see what a bitter dose it can be. Jealousy of another child, often younger, will promote teasing and the jealousy must first of all be overcome in that case. Children who are unduly teased at home often practice the same type of behavior on their playmates at school.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

THE COMING OF THE ORGAN

EVER since the church had been built in the creek bottom near Fidelity, long before I could remember, the music had been purely vocal. There were few hymnbooks, but they were scarcely missed, for the preacher had one and always lined the hymn anyway. That is, he would read the whole hymn and then begin over by reading two lines; we would sing these, he would line two more, and thus we achieved our hymn. There was no choir or anything so exclusive. It had apparently been so in the beginning, it was now, and everybody in Fidelity apparently supposed it would be so, world without end. But modernness came to us, even us in the far-away little neighborhood. Some of the neighbors had organs, and it was rumored that some of the churches nearer the county seat had actually installed them in church. Fidelity was never known to be afraid of any part of the world, but it feared public opinion, even as you and I. And by degrees there grew up a desire on the part of some of our good members of the church for an organ. Desire was one thing; money to gratify it, another. But persistent souls took up the fight, and soon the new organ was on hand, right in our conservative little church. That called for an addition to the preacher's little stage, one big enough for the organ and its player and the choir. Pretty soon after the organ was installed, we had a big program at the church, in which I, as a boy singer, took part. The neighborhood came and wondered, at the organ and probably at my high notes, such notes as are not found except in the Chinese musical scale.

From that day forth the music in our church changed. We had to have books, lining the hymn practically ceased, the congregation had little part in the singing. We sang snappy songs from newer books and increased the tempo of our religion a bit. The old-timers, who sat down in the audience, had difficulty in keeping up with our songs, since they had been accustomed to drawing out the end notes until breath failed. The organist pepped up things somewhat, so that there was at least a semblance of tempo. The singers followed the organ and drowned out the stragglers in the church proper.

The organ loft soon acquired another function. There the young swains took their girls to help in the choir. Not to have done this would have marked one as an outsider, a visitor. We fanned the girl with one hand, held the song book with the other, and sang with fervor if not with tunefulness.

The organ loft looked mighty bare; hence some good woman suggested that it be carpeted. That in turn called for a carpet down the aisles and in the Amen-corner. When all of this was done, our bleak little church looked dressed up and must have tempted the preacher mightily to bewail the worldliness of his congregation, but, so far as I can now remember, he didn't. And so the organ, with its new brightness, brought a whole reform into our little old church near Fidelity, and music added some charm and melody to our lives, so barren in aesthetic things.

Sixth of Program Series Conducted

Garrett, Ky., March 4 (Spl.)—As the sixth of its monthly programs dealing with subjects connected with Americanism, the Lackey-Garrett Woman's Club met Friday at the home of Mrs. R. H. Messer for a study of "American Leaders in Times of Crisis."

In an attempt to promote a better understanding of the present crisis threatening America, club members discussed other crises confronting this country in the past and national leaders during those critical times.

Tax Commissioner Candidates Must Take Exams

One group of Floyd county candidates will face the first test Monday.

That's when aspirants for the office of Tax Commissioner will take the examination prescribed by law.

The County Attorney, by virtue of his office, will act as special examiner and hold the examination. Any qualified elector is eligible to take the examination in the county in which his residence is established.

Candidates will be examined on the following subjects:

- 1. The applicant's experience as an assessor.
2. His knowledge of the revenue laws.
3. His knowledge of the geography of the county in which he expects to become a candidate.

A copy of the schedule furnished by the tax commissioner for listing property for assessment may be viewed at the office of the county court clerk.

The assessment of property requires more than the use of ordinary rules. It is a technical job. In a large number of counties, a good assessment job will provide the difference between a county which cannot render even essential services and one that is sound financially.

The Department of Revenue will grade all papers, and applicants who have attained the grade of seventy-five per cent will be issued a certificate on or before the first day of May.

Gas Tax Anniversary Observed in Floyd

February 25 was circled on the calendars of many gasoline filling stations in Floyd county, according to C. H. Smith, chairman of the Floyd county Petroleum Industries Committee.

"Motorists of Floyd county have contributed their full share of the $167,908,000 in gasoline taxes which have been collected in Kentucky to date by the state and federal governments," Mr. Smith said.

"A total of more than $10,000,000,000 in gasoline taxes have been collected in the United States in the past 22 years. In 1941 these taxes, because of the present high rates, will aggregate $1,250,000,000."

"That," said Mr. Smith, "is more than what everybody in the entire country paid in all kinds of taxes in the horse and buggy days."

"Because approximately half of the car owners have incomes of less than $30 a week, according to studies of the federal government, it is important that the burden of federal and state taxation on gasoline should be kept at as reasonable levels as possible.

Two good mixers are better than one

There you sit, watching the long road ahead as it dips and rises.

Under your feet there's a quiet whispering, to let you know that all eight able Buick cylinders are happily on the job.

You're giving not a single thought to what's happening under that long bonnet nosing out in front, but here's what's going on:

Instead of the single, compromise-size carburetor you find on most cars, this Buick FIREBALL eight with Compound Carburetion* has two good mixers on the job.

A single one of them—the front one—keeps you rolling smoothly, easily, quietly, on the very minimum rationing of gasoline.

But the other carburetor is alert and ready for any sudden need. Just tramp down on that accelerator pedal—it goes into instant action, giving you more fuel and more power for any emergency purpose!

It's almost like having two engines—one to handle normal requirements thriftily, another to team up with the first for extra oomph and wallop when you want it.

That kind of teamwork pays.

And owners by the thousand will tell you it's more economical too—as much as 10% to 15% more economical.

If you haven't experienced what it feels like to have that under the bonnet of your automobile, better go have that Buick demonstration now.

Added Federal Aid For Ky. Wildlife Is Planned

Frankfort, Ky., March 5—S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Kentucky Division of Game and Fish, returning to Frankfort from Memphis, Tenn., where he attended the Sixth North American Wildlife Conference, stated that he had completed the framework for another federal aid to wildlife program for the Commonwealth.

After conferring for several hours with Walter Gresh, regional inspector of projects contracted under the provisions of the Pittman-Robertson Act, by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Wakefield announced a wildlife food and habitat improvement and emergency winter feeding program was put in working order.

After a few final touches are added the plan will be submitted to Washington for approval and Wakefield stated that he is hopeful it will be approved by the federal government.

The project was the second worked out by Wakefield and Mr. Gresh while attending the convention at Memphis.

The other project is a proposed state-wide quail restoration research program which would involve the planting of quail in open hunting territory each year for five years and observation of them under all conditions.

If these two projects should be approved by the federal agencies it will be a means of making a great step forward for wildlife conservation in Kentucky by the Division of Game and Fish.

Two projects already approved and being made ready for operation in the Commonwealth are wildlife restoration units in Harlan and Pike counties. A 2,000-acre tract of land in Pike county has been set aside for the purpose of rearing wild turkeys and deer for re-stocking the mountains and a 1,000-acre tract in Harlan county will be used for similar purposes.

The groom is a graduate of Martin high school. Later, he attended Morehead State Teachers' College. The bride is a graduate of Dudley high school, and she also attended Morehead College.

SHIKE'S POKES

(Views expressed in this column are those of the writer and not necessarily those of The Times.)

Well, the Chunk's Pontiac didn't do any better than his Chevy—I saw it being hauled in by the wrecker Sunday morning.

Boy, we've really got some swappin' fellows up here on Beaver Creek. Jake B. swapped cats with Joby S. and received a gallon of gas to boot.

John M. must be gardening early—he is already buying bug exterminator. Wetta man!

According to history, Nero fiddled while Rome burned. And Senator Wheeler and his bunch talks—while our country totters. Of course, every man has a right to his own opinion—but I just don't see why such short-sighted fellows as Wheeler, Taft, Vandenberg, etc., are elected to the Senate.

So the city of Louisville wants to raise h— about our Eastern Kentucky coal being so "smoky." Some of the City Council down there must have an interest in a smokeless coal mine—and, after all, if the smoke was all that was the matter with Louisville, it would be a great town. I thought that the fair city of Louisville got enough "smoke abatement" during the Hoover administration. All their smoke-stacks rusted from inactivity. Eastern Kentucky coal lies in the prosperity of Louisville and if the City Fathers have leisure time on their hands, why don't they tackle the "English Sparrow" or the "Red Light district" problem? After all, they are an older unsolved problem in Louisville than the "smog." Just a word to the Louisville City Fathers—when you get rid of smoke, you will get rid of your industries.

And another thing. The way some newspapers picture the people of Eastern Kentucky is a disgrace. I notice that the people of the Beaver Creek section are as well or a little better dressed than the Louisville people. There are just as many or more new model automobiles up Big Sandy. I saw more old-model jalopies in Louisville than there is in all Eastern Kentucky. We have our ups and downs, arguments, shootin's, accidents, etc., but so does your fair city of Louisville.

Now that the Nazis have invaded Bulgaria and already held Roumania just why doesn't Great Britain bomb their oil fields? Both countries are under the Dictators—and therefore enemies of Great Britain and the United States.

Jitter-bug, the spike-drivin' man.

At a certain party in Drift Saturday night, one candidate for Jailor was asked to tell his platform—and he advocated building a road to the Floyd county poor-house and lock-and-damming the Big Sandy river. What—a black-top for the Left Beaver road?

Someone reported that Vance and Guy Taylor had gone into partnership in the dairy and poultry business.

Mitch Keens was in another car wreck Saturday night. We saw him Sunday and his head looked like a Christmas stocking full of oranges.

We are all wondering what Uncle Lewis S. wanted with a churn-dasher and lid—he hasn't got a cow.

Clyde Lester seems to have a "saw-mill" ford—that is where he usually runs out of gas.

Hedge had better watch out or the NRA will get him. He is holding two jobs—checkweighman and selling "Bubble Gum Insurance."

Hoover blowing his head off about feeding the people of Eurpe. I think charity starts at home. Wonder why he never says anything about feeding our undernourished? We all know how he fed us while he was President and we also know what happened to the "hunger marchers."

Two Charges Made

Place of Buckhorn. Napier said Perry county had eight districts—maximum under the law—and was considering a reduction.

Herdman explained the court should appoint commissioners to reapportion the districts.

A county has to pay for upkeep of a person convicted of a misdemeanor the time he is serving his jail sentence, even if he happens to be under a felony indictment at the same time, Herdman said in another opinion.

Costs of keeping those charged with felonies are against the state and would be so charged after the misdemeanor term has ended, Herdman explained in a letter to County Attorney Carroll Meadows, Madisonville.

You can't give the police judge a mortgage on your farm to pay a fine, Herdman said in response to a query from Judge D. B. Robinson, Junction City. The judge advised that a man fined $100 on a drunken driving charge wanted to give the city court a mortgage on his farm to cover it.

Herdman said, however, there was some relief for those lacking cash and not desiring to serve out the fine in jail. They can give a "replevin bond" payable in three months with interest, provided someone satisfactory to the court as security will endorse it.

TOWN-WORLD

oops!—got out of harm's way. Except his thumb—which, to this day, is a sore spot with this would-be tamer of the wild.

The only kind of strike this country needs is the kind made while the iron is hot.

WE DO BETTER IN SOME RESPECTS

When it was called to our attention this week that Wayland's contribution of $24.95 to the Infantile Paralysis fund was not listed in THE TIMES' recent report, we had an idea of pointing out to the public that Floyd county as a whole contributed a total of $660.34 to this worthy cause while Boyd county and the city of Ashland contributed only $383. Then came the reminder that Boyd county has an iron lung, while we have none. So the less said, the better, maybe.

MODERN AESOP'S FABULOUS FABLE OF WOE

Once upon a time there arose a great storm over the earth. The lightning struck one land after another. The Rats threatened the world. The Jackals joined them in preying upon the world. The smaller, more timid animals bowed before them. Even the Frogs dared not utter a bellow. Only the Lion stood undismayed, fighting back, though encompassed about by the enemy.

And though the Rats and the Jackals threatened all the animal kingdom—from great city to tropical jungle to desert waste—lo, across the Pond were two animals who could have saved the valiant Lion and themselves and all the others.

But these two—the Elephant and the Donkey—did nothing but argue among themselves, squeal in terror and bray to the echo, while the Lion slowly perished.

MORAL: Some elephants need longer trunks for hiding purposes, and not all jackasses are in stables.

ADD THINGS I DIDN'T KNOW:

That the government ran out of alphabetical appellations and had to double up on the third letter. C.C.C. stands for both the Citizens' Conservation Corps and the Commodity Credit Corporation. Instead of watching your P's and Q's, keep an eye on your C's.
