MEET YOUR FRIENDS AT THE FAIR, OCT. 16-18

Paintsville has a recreation center operated mostly at WPA expense that's the envy of this section. In Johnson county, at East Point, is another such center and it is doing splendid work, we are told. Both offer social recreation, work in the Arts and Crafts and in Nature study. Prestonsburg could have the same. If some of our citizens interested in schoolchildren, especially those of 'teen age who are restless, seemingly with nothing to do except go to the show, would investigate the work being done at these centers, Floyd county would have one or two such combination work-play projects. Don't sound the cat-calls, you of the "whispering" gallery, till you visit the Paintsville center during its exhibition hours, 3 p.m. till 9 p.m., Oct. 12 to 18, and the East Point center from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

THE TIMES OFFERS REWARD

The story is told that John Graham, back in the early 1890's conveyed a farm on Johns Creek, the consideration being the grantee's performance with a fiddle during a party at the Graham "mansion" at Emma, near here. Several persons of undoubted veracity have told of seeing the deed in the County Clerk's records here. But, look high and low as we have, it's still undiscovered by us. In fact, we've looked so long that we've decided to offer a reward for that deed.

TO THE PERSON FINDING THAT DOCUMENT ON THESE RECORDS OR IN ANY OTHER RECORDS IN THE COURTHOUSE HERE, THE TIMES WILL GIVE A FIVE-YEAR SUBSCRIPTION. WE MEAN TO HAVE THE "LOW-DOWN" ON THAT TRANSACTION, IF IT CAN BE HAD.

TO HELP THE SUFFERING

An orchidaceous offering to Local Union No. 7283, of Fed, for its contribution of $110.50 to the Infantile Paralysis Committee headed by J. J. Kavanaugh. John Stegall, president of the local, himself the father of two tots crippled by polio, made the trip here Saturday to get a certified check at a local bank and send the contribution on to the place where he hoped it would do the most good.

THESE BOYS WHO WORK AT THE MOST DANGEROUS OCCUPATION IN FLOYD COUNTY ARE ALWAYS READY CONTRIBUTORS TO SUCH CAUSES. MAYBE, IF WE COULD DRAFT SOME OF OUR TIGHT-FISTED CITIZENS, AND SEND THEM TO THE MINES TO WORK FOR A SEASON, THEY'D LOOSEN UP THE PURSESTRINGS.

WIDOW POSTS $100 REWARD

AS FLOYD KILLER OF NOAH JOHNSON YET UNCAPTURED

For information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons guilty of the fatal shooting of her husband, Noah Johnson, wealthy Halo merchant, Mrs. Myra Johnson this week offered a reward of $100.

Meanwhile Commonwealth's Attorney John Allen was asking the Commonwealth of Kentucky to match the reward offered by the widow.

Mrs. Johnson stipulated that no relative of the person arrested or convicted be paid the reward, and it was stated that the amount will be paid only on approval of Commonwealth's Attorney John Allen.

The reward was offered after Floyd county authorities, as well as those of neighboring states, had failed to apprehend Estill Harris, named by Mrs. Johnson as a suspect in the slaying.

7,000 GIVE 'NEW-FANGLED' CONTRAPTION A TRIAL

Prestonsburg and Allen citizens became "dial conscious" last Thursday night when the local telephone exchanges were converted to the dial system. During the first 24 hours the automatic numbering device showed approximately 7,000 calls were made.

The new system was officially cut-over at 10:30 p.m. Thursday, with officials of the company and interested citizens present. O. R. Weber, district manager, H. L. McCrary, local manager, Joe S. Stone, district plant manager, and A. H. Huggins, district traffic manager, represented the Southern Bell, while Mayor E. P. Arnold of Prestonsburg represented the town of Prestonsburg.

The first long distance call was made over the new system by Mayor Arnold calling his nephew, J. F. Ribble, at Rutherford, N. J.

The new central office equipment and associated outside plant facilities, trunk and toll lines, was installed at an approximate cost of $50,000 and is the most modern equipment available. So highly prized is the mechanism, which is electrically operated and entirely automatic, that it is housed in a

Wealthy Landowner, Father of Attorney Here, Is Called

Harris Howard, one of Eastern Kentucky's wealthiest landowners, and father of Atty. J. W. Howard, Prestonsburg, died at his White Oak, Morgan county, home Wednesday, last week, exactly a month after the death of his wife, Mrs. Celia Lacy Howard. He was about 80 years old.

Owner of several thousands of acres of land in Morgan, Magoffin and Bath counties, Mr. Howard spent his entire life at White Oak. He was well-known throughout Eastern Kentucky and had hundreds of friends in the section's business and civic life.

Surviving him are two sons, J. W. Howard, Prestonsburg, and Bernard Howard, White Oak. Funeral rites were conducted from the home and burial was made in the family cemetery.

Floyd County Needs Harry R. Burke For County Attorney

HARRY R. BURKE

Floyd county citizens need Harry R. Burke as their County Attorney for the next four years to complete an administration of the fiscal affairs in the interest of the people. Let's elect a man who is not controlled by those who lust for power. He is honest and upright and will not take instructions from any man, but always look to the interest of the people.

He is not bossed or dominated by any lawyer or set of lawyers; he is not controlled by any company or set of companies. He is interested in the PEOPLE'S RIGHTS and will preserve them. The one-gallop man from the hollows, the miner, the farmer, doctor, lawyer, and every other citizen should be for this fine, young man. He is in sympathy with the people and is not afraid to meet them and is always willing to serve. He is the same man every day you meet him. He never changes and never will. He grew from boyhood to manhood as just a plain, common boy and in the common way.

Let him carry out the policies of the one he can so well succeed. He has acted as County Attorney on many occasions and has done so admirably. He was always the choice of Forrest D. Short when Forrest was ill. When he died Harry R. Burke was appointed, with the unanimous approval of the relatives, friends and citizens of this county. Let's give him four years in the office and then Floyd county will be on a much safer road. The way to elect Harry R. Burke is to talk and fight for him. The Democrats of this county want him and the Republicans should, so let's all fight for OUR COMMON GOOD. (Pol. adv.)

specially constructed building with only one opening so as to prevent the entrance of dust and other particles that might interfere with the operation of the system.

No operators are required. When local users wish to place a long distance call or seek information, they merely dial "operator" and an operator in the Paintsville exchange answers the call.

Mr. McCrary stated that a crew of workmen would be here for several days removing the old telephones and making necessary adjustments that naturally follow the change. Mr. McCrary also said that the telephone company plans to hold a public reception at its new building in Prestonsburg and Allen, sometime in November, to allow the general public to visit the buildings and inspect the new dial system equipment.

Mrs. Minnie Hale, in charge here for many years, will continue her connection with the telephone company in the capacity of commercial agent, and Mrs. Mary Austin, in charge at Allen, will continue her connection with the company in the capacity of contract collecting agent.

TO THE CITIZENS OF FLOYD COUNTY

THE FLOYD COUNTY FAIR belongs to all Floyd countians, and you need no invitation to attend. But, inasmuch as it is being held here in Prestonsburg, we are extending to you all a cordial invitation to join with us here in viewing the "cream of the crop" in agricultural and industrial products of our home county.

None of us will profit financially in making this fair possible, but we fully expect that all of us will benefit from the friendly associations had at the Fair and that we all will leave it with a profound respect for the farmers, business men and workers of the county.

This Fair time is a good time for us all to join in three days of full co-operation and goodwill. And in that spirit we ask you to join us and all those who made the Fair possible.

MINE TRAGEDY CLAIMS ONE

FIVE ARE INJURED IN LIGON MINE TRAGEDY

One man was killed and five others were injured Monday afternoon in the mine of the Payne-Baber Coal Company, Clear Creek, when a trip of loaded cars plunged into a labor trip assisting another loaded string of cars stalled because of motor trouble.

Melvin Osborne, 41, died instantly; his head being crushed when he was pinned against the roof by a car coupling.

Injured were Duran Hall, broken ankle, Anderson Moore, broken ribs, Wes Bryant, his son, Zolie Bryant, and Rich Ferguson. The injured men were taken to the Martin General hospital, but only Hall remained Wednesday. The Bryants and Ferguson suffered only bruises and minor cuts.

It was reported here that the labor trip, following the first string of loaded cars, stopped to help when the preceding motor failed on an incline. The following trip of loaded cars was sent out on the premise that the other trips had already reached the outside, it was said.

Surviving Osborne are his widow, Mrs. Ety Osborne, and 10 children. The body was taken to Robinson Creek, Pike county, where burial was made Wednesday under the direction of the Malone Funeral Home.

ESCAPE MADE BY SALISBURY

WOUNDED MAN FLEES HOSPITAL GUARD AT MARTIN

Wounded in a pistol duel with James L. Honaker, Jr., and under guard at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, on a shooting and wounding charge as his adversary lay, seriously wounded, in a Charleston, W. Va., hospital, Jake Salisbury, of McDowell, Monday night eluded both his guard and hospital attendants and made a successful break for liberty.

Deputy Sheriff Tommy Salisbury, who had been on guard most of the time the fugitive had been in the hospital, told THE TIMES that the escape was discovered "about" 10:30 p.m. He indicated that the getaway must have been effected during a Democratic rally held at the hospital.

"While I have been guarding Jake," Deputy Sheriff Salisbury said, "I have usually stayed out in front of the hospital till about 11 o'clock. After that hour, I have been spending the remainder of the night in the hall, outside the door of his room." Movements of the wounded man's wife and a man caused him to make the inspection trip to Salisbury's room, earlier than usual, he added.

It was reported here this week that Honaker, Salisbury's brother-

FLOYD MOTHER VAINLY SEEKS RESCUE OF TWO CHILDREN FROM FLAMING BARN

Six-year-old Cecil Akers and his baby sister, Elizabeth, 3, were burned to death Tuesday afternoon when the barn of their father, Andy Akers, was destroyed by fire at Grethel, this county.

When the blaze was discovered, around 3 o'clock, roof of the structure was collapsing and efforts of the mother, Mrs. Judy Akers, to save the children were in vain. Bodies of the tots were found, after the flames had subsided, closely huddled, and burned to a crisp.

The older child was said to have had matches in his pockets when

FBI May Investigate WPA Lunchroom Break Here

A Federal Bureau of Investigation probe into the looting of the WPA lunchroom of the graded school here Tuesday night was expected by Prestonsburg police after three Prestonsburg youths, arrested at Paintsville, were said to have had in their possession dishes and other materials taken from the lunchroom.

Heid in the Paintsville jail in connection with the burglary are "Hoot" Smith, Tom Taylor and Melvin Osborne, all of whom were indicted in the Floyd circuit court recently for the theft of an automobile owned by J. A. Spradlin, Prestonsburg.

A key to the lunchroom door was lost, a few weeks ago, Policeman Arthur Blackburn said, and it is believed that entrance was effected through this door. When arrested the youths had a part of the dishes taken from the lunchroom and also were in possession of moonshine whiskey for which they are said to have traded some of the loot.

The trio, Policeman Blackburn said, are suspected of breaking into the East Kentucky Gasoline Company plant at West Prestonsburg, night before the school burglary.

GREAT FAIR PREDICTED NEXT WEEK

TIMES SUPPLEMENT LISTS PREMIUMS TO BE OFFERED

With a special section of THE FLOYD COUNTY TIMES devoted to the listing of prize awards to be given at the Floyd County Fair here Oct. 16, 17 and 18, and with business and professional men here joined by civic clubs in sponsoring the three-day event dedicated to all Floyd county, it was predicted here this week that the 1941 Fair will be the finest in the history of the county.

Besides all the premiums listed for agricultural and industrial exhibits, County Agent S. L. Isbell announced that selection of a King and Queen of the Harvest Festival will be undertaken as a special tribute to Floyd county youth.

Each high school of the county is selecting its individual King and Queen and from these the Harvest Festival royalty will be coronated.

A feature of the Fair week-end will be the Farmer-Business Men's Banquet at the Valley Inn Friday evening.

It was said by those interested in making the Fair possible that prospects for entries of exhibits are unusually good.

First entry listed for Fair competition was the peanut exhibit left this week at the office of County Agent S. L. Isbell by a Cow Creek farm boy. The County Agent is receiving entries filed prior to the date stipulated in the Fair program.

Things I Just Found Out
About Newspaper Features
The California legislature in 1899 passed a law prohibiting publication of cartoons in newspapers. . . Only one important daily newspaper doesn't run comic strips—the New York Times. . . The most universally popular story, "Robinson Crusoe," and the most influential American novel, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," (it is credited with fomenting the Civil War) appeared first as newspaper serials.

The first serial in an American newspaper was Defoe's "A Religious Courtship," in a Pennsylvania gazette. It wasn't completed because the agonistic Ben Franklin took over the paper and threw it out. . . Franklin published the first newspaper cartoon in this country. . . Paul Revere was a newspaper cartoonist. So were John Barrymore and Gary Cooper.

Early U. S. newspapers took care of "syndication" themselves. They clipped freely from each other, and anything good that appeared, for example, in Thomas Fleet's excellent Boston Post was sure to be republished throughout the Colonies. Fleet, by the way, put stories told to his son by his mother-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Goose, into a book and made her the immortal Mother Goose. But Fleet's paper printed no story of the Battles of Lexington and Concord in its next issue, because, "The unhappy transactions of last week are so variously related that we shall not at present undertake to give any particular account thereof!"

The first popular serial writers were Horatio Alger Jr. and Mary Jane Holmes, developed by the N. Y. Sun. And, believe it or not, the 60-year-old "Lena Rivers," by Miss Holmes, last year topped sales of Hemingway's "For Whom the Bell Tolls" and Roberts' "Oliver Twist". . . The longest novel in history is Adele Garrison's (real name, Mrs. Martin White) story of one couple's married life, called "Pitfalls of Love." It has appeared in newspapers every week-day since 1915—more than 5,750,000 words.

Wheelwright Youth Killed in Pike-co. Auto Wreck

One person was killed and at least 11 others were hurt in a series of automobile accidents on Pike county highways over the holiday weekend.

Jack Ward, 15-year-old adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. George Adams, of Wheelwright, died several minutes after a car in which he was riding plunged off the highway at Robinson Creek early Sunday morning. Eight people crowded the car, and six of them, in addition to young Ward, were injured.

Injuries were reported in three automobile accidents over the weekend. Highway patrolmen reported that two men had been arrested and fined on charges of drunken driving.

Those hurt in the Robinson Creek accident were: Gomer Bates, 26, of Myra, owner of the car, lacerations and bruises; his wife, Dixie Bates, a fractured leg; Garrett Bates, 22, nephew and driver of the car, head and chest cuts and bruises; Elmer Vanover, 25, of Dorton, injured back; Leonard Cordell, 38, Dorton, cuts and bruises, and Ed Hall, 24, of Dorton, head lacerations.

Arthur Tackett, 21, of Ligon, was fined $100 and costs by Magistrate U. G. Haynes Monday and suffered his driver's license to be revoked on a charge of drunken driving. A car he was driving collided with one driven by Carl Etter, of Williamson, Saturday on Shelby Creek.

Tackett and a passenger, Oscar Carter, also of Ligon, were slightly injured, while Etter and his wife sustained cuts and bruises. Both cars were badly damaged.—Pike County News.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

TELLING TALES

CHEAP literature, radio, and moving pictures have about destroyed a means of entertainment that was almost as ancient as the hills, the telling of tales. In the earlier days of the race this was one great means of passing on all that had happened to the tribe or the family. People prided themselves on being able to repeat the sacred legends and stories of their clan or family. Much of this same feeling was still left a generation ago. Tales were told not alone for the information they conveyed but to keep alive the feeling of other times and places. The ancient Hebrews were exhorted to talk of their great events while sitting in the house or walking by the way. "When thou liest down, and when thou risest up." Long before writing as such was invented, this method of passing on traditions was in use; books have only given a little more objective form to it.

Tales were of many kinds. First of all, we children had to be told for the nth time about the pioneers. Some of the tales were actual, individual ones, but many of them had become pure folklore, told again and again and half believed by their tellers. Indians, bears, panthers, buffaloes, pigeons—these figured in many of the tales. All of our ancestors had come from Virginia or North Carolina in covered wagons, a generation or two before our time. Some of them had lived for a time in sections of Kentucky or Tennessee on the way over, before the Purchase had been opened for settlement. I knew a few people who had hunted in the Purchase while it was still the property of the Indians. These tales lost nothing in the telling, for children in those days idealized the good old days of the pioneer; I am afraid that we pictured the whole westward movement as a prolonged picnic.

Pioneer stories had close rivals in the endless yarns we heard about the Civil War. Many of these yarns grew under the telling, apparently because the teller did not remember all the details until he got warmed up, much as Rip Van Winkle could not recall all of his strange experiences at first because some of his 20 years' sleep was still in his eyes and mind. Our stories about the Civil War had the Southern slant, so that we heard only of the valor of our ancestors and how they always fought against fearful odds.

But even more distinctive were the legends and genuine folk tales. We knew many of the fairy tales contained in some form in many of the scholarly collection but ours were purely traditional and not borrowed from some published version. Some of our fairy tales did not have the names you know: Little Red Riding-Hood never appeared by name; we knew her only as the little girl that the wolf ate. There were various arts practiced by the yarn-spinner, such as acting out the eating of the little girl. All of us sat spellbound while the familiar words were uttered, only to jump and scream when the narrator grabbed us or made a pass with his hands, meanwhile imitating in some fashion the bad old wolf in a great display of teeth.

Another folk type that we loved had to do with ghosts and other supernatural things. When we got around to this type, in front of the fire at night, we drew up our feet to protect them from the invisible monsters. Every community had a haunted house or a story of the dead waking or talking. It took a great deal of bravery after such an orgy of nerves for the teller of tales to continue his way homeward from sitting till bedtime. Pranks were played on many people wrought up by the several hours of wild tales. We were of the folk without knowing it and were getting a great thrill out of our harrowing experiences.

Statue of Henry Clay in Caracas, Venezuela.

By EDWARD C. JOHNSTON

A few years ago there was unveiled in Caracas, the capital of the South American republic of Venezuela, a statue of a great Pan-American. The inscription on it, written in Spanish, reads: "Henry Clay, 1777-1852, Apostle of fraternity between the countries of America and valiant defender of their independence. The United States of America presents to the United States of Venezuela this statue of its illustrious statesman, speaker of the House of Representatives, Senator and Secretary of State."

The statue, given in return for one of General Simon Bolivar, the South American champion of independence and Pan-Americanism which was unveiled in Central Park in New York City in 1921, was formally dedicated by a distinguished delegation from the United States and the statue was received by the President of the Republic of Venezuela.

This ceremony, which honored the man who, in the United States, has been called "the First Pan-American" and "the Father of Pan-Americanism," was a significant one in the history of the nations of the New World. It was a gesture of friendship on the part of the most powerful of those nations to a smaller nation which has reason to feel grateful to an older sister in the Pan-American family. For to the Venezuelans the statue, erected in the square in their capital to which they have given the name of Plaza Henry Clay, means more than a mere memento of a great man. To them Henry Clay was a friend, not only a friend in words, but a friend in deeds as well and the monument will be a constant reminder of that fact and of the international goodwill which prompted the presentation of it to their country.

As early as 1816 Henry Clay began his campaign in the Congress in support of the colonies of Spain, then in revolt. Clay in his capacity as Speaker of the House of Representatives, reasoning that the United States might have openly "to take part with the patriots of South America," opposed the reduction of taxes incident to the War of 1812, and a year later likewise opposed a bill intended to stop the fitting out of war vessels in United States ports, maintaining that such a bill might be detrimental to the interests of South Americans who were still struggling for their freedom.

In 1817 he offered a proposal to authorize a salary for a minister to the provinces of the Rio de la Plata. In March, 1818, Clay made the speech which is still gratefully remembered by South Americans. Like all of Clay's orations, it was stirring; it was the first plea voiced for recognition of the countries then shaking off the domination of Spain. Alone in Congress, he thundered and pleaded sympathy for "the 18 millions of people struggling to be free."

This speech gained for the United States generally and Henry Clay in particular many friends among the South American countries, who were destined to increase when, in 1820, Clay introduced a motion into the Congress to inaugurate diplomatic intercourse with "any of the governments of South America which have established and are maintaining their independence of Spain." The next year, as the result of a resolution he supported, President Monroe sent a special message to Congress and a resolution to establish intercourse with the South American nations.

When Clay became Secretary of State in 1825, his zeal in promoting friendship between the republics of North and South America became apparent almost immediately. He has been hailed as "The Father of Pan-Americanism" in the United States because of the steps which he took to encourage the success of the congress at Panama in 1826, which convened at the call of Simon Bolivar. The United States was not in the first list of countries, but at Clay's suggestion this country later was included. The invitation gave Clay an opportunity to prepare instructions to the United States delegation, which in every feature seems to accord with the principles which have governed the Pan-American movement and the Good Neighbor policy of recent years.

One of the facts about Clay's influence upon the international policy of the United States which is not commonly known to most North Americans is in regard to the so-called "Monroe Doctrine." The principles enunciated in that famous document Clay forecast in July, 1821. He had been pleading the cause of the South American patriots with brilliance and fervor in Congress, which was more or less indifferent to it. Slowly, however, public opinion was won over and when finally in 1822 the purchase of Florida was ratified, President Monroe began to recognize the new republics. The next year the President uttered the words which have been famous as the "Monroe Doctrine," although they might more justly be called the "Clay Doctrine," for had not Henry Clay prepared the way for them and contributed ideas to the formulation of the doctrine, they might never have been uttered. Clay's last great Pan-American work, as Secretary of State in 1825, was to organize European influence, particularly that of Russia, to prevail upon Spain to discontinue the war against her former colonies.

The story of this man who was so signally honored in the Venezuelan capital as a figure of international importance is one of the most romantic in American history. Closely associated with the names of General Smon Bolivar and General Jose de San Martin in the story of Pan-Americanism one finds the name of Henry Clay.

HOW TO SAVE MONEY ON YOUR CAR

No matter how expert we may be as drivers, the best of us fall into the careless habits of not measuring up to know what we know is right.

How easy it is to forget that an idling motor is a useless expense. It is not much of a job to turn it off while we are waiting for a friend.

The hot sun evaporates gas from your tank. Park in the shade when possible.

It's a bad and expensive habit to keep your foot on the clutch pedal while driving.

Speeding is not only dangerous but it is also expensive. Your motor consumes twice as much gas at 70 miles per hour as it does when traveling at 20 miles per hour. The motor becomes overheated and the consumption of oil is also considerably increased. The most economical speed to travel is about 35 miles per hour.

DRIVING IS A RESPONSIBILITY—TREAT IT AS SUCH.

CAPITOL COMMENTS
By David M. Porter

(The views expressed herein are those of the writer and necessarily those of this newspaper.—Editor.)

The investigation of the purchasing department now going on is of vital importance to all the people of Kentucky, and may lead to the abolishing of a procedure that has cost the taxpayers millions of dollars.

Don't believe that this is a battle of spite between two political factions and, above all, don't take the attitude that such things are necessary evils that go with our Democratic form of government. Such an attitude leads to more graft, and more corruption, and would eventually lead to the downfall of our democracy.

The favoritism that has led to costly buying in the purchasing department has, some authorities claim, cost taxpayers of Kentucky more than a dollar apiece. Let us break it down. It has cost every taxpayer of Kentucky, according to those figures, at least two meals a year, or enough to feed all the unfortunate of the state for at least four months.

This is the reason it is so important to you, and to all the people of Kentucky, and for this reason public opinion must be aroused, and positive action taken to remedy the situation.

General Meredith deserves much credit and complete cooperation of the people, to carry on a successful investigation, and if he is successful the taxpayers will save tremendous sums in the years to come.

It is not in the nature of politics for little people, men of no great political importance, to be allowed to skim the best of the cream. The unfolding story will not satisfy intelligent observers. It will be incomplete, until it is brought out whether those favorites are only "fronts"

In this connection the real beneficiaries were the "big shots" when V. L. Spaulding, "pay roll sleeper," paid off more than three thousand dollars, the other day, in full settlement of Meredith's recovery suit. By paying off, Spaulding escaped being called to the witness stand to tell under oath why he was on the payroll in the first place.

Spaulding, a Uniontown editor, seems much more fortunate than most of the rest of us newspaper editors. Very few of us could go to the bank and get a certified check for this amount, as Spaulding did.

RANDOM SHOTS
One of the things under investigation by General Meredith is the large number of direct purchases made by Robert Jewell, state fair manager. These did not go through the purchasing department.

Since the state has been paying 50c a pound for soap, we suggest that the theme song of the administration candidate for Governor in 1943 be, "I'M FOREVER BLOWING BUBBLES."

A MALEVOLENT ARCHAISM

AN archaism may clutter up the premises a bit and yet do no harm. Again, it may take malevolent form and be an old sore, a canker, in the body politic.

In the malevolent archaistic class belongs the franking privilege which dates back to the Continental Congress in 1775. This is the privilege enjoyed by Congressmen and Senators, by which they mail postage-matter free.

This Act of the Continental Congress, new then as the burning Republic, and later approved by the national Congress itself, was probably beneficial to the public in the days when farmers depended upon their Representatives and Senators in Washington for information, when other sources of news and information were almost non-existent. The whole thing was probably introduced with the best of intentions and it may have served a good purpose for a time.

But, like many the other "good thing," it fell upon evil ways and to a low degree. Soon politicians seized upon this franking privilege as a means of sending letters and other material back home for no reason other than to mend or maintain their own political fences. Down the years, this franking privilege has been definitely as great a bane to the postoffice department in its always vain efforts to make ends meet as the free seeds distributed by Congressmen and Senators, years ago, were to your local seed-dealer.

The privilege has been abused in a thousand-and-one ways, all these years. But the good year 1941 has seen it forced to a new low.

This year, the franking privilege, in the hands of such alleged statesmen as Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Representative Hamilton Fish, Senators George Nye and Worth Clark and others, has served Adolph Hitler at the expense of you and me and every other taxpayer in the country.

These "franked" envelopes issued to the gentlemen named—on which the postage was paid by us all—have, somehow, found their way into the hands of Nazi-supported organizations. The F.B.I. has followed their devious trails till that has been established as a fact that may be used as evidence in the courts. Thus have franked envelopes been used by un-American interests to disseminate anti-Jewish literature, Steuben Society speeches and other pro-Nazi propaganda. Disseminated, mind you, at no expense to the senders—but at your expense and mine!

Senator Wheeler's now-famous postal card campaign with the soldiers and citizens throughout the country cost the taxpayers a cool $10,000. His franked envelopes have been postmarked from various obscure postoffices throughout the country—mailed by God knows who.

A few weeks ago a truck, say Pearson and Allen in their syndicated newspaper feature, "The Washington Merry-Go-Round," a truck manned by F.B.I. agents backed up to an office maintained by persons having Nazi connections. When it left, it was loaded with envelopes bearing the frank of various Senators and Congressmen prominent in the isolationist movement.

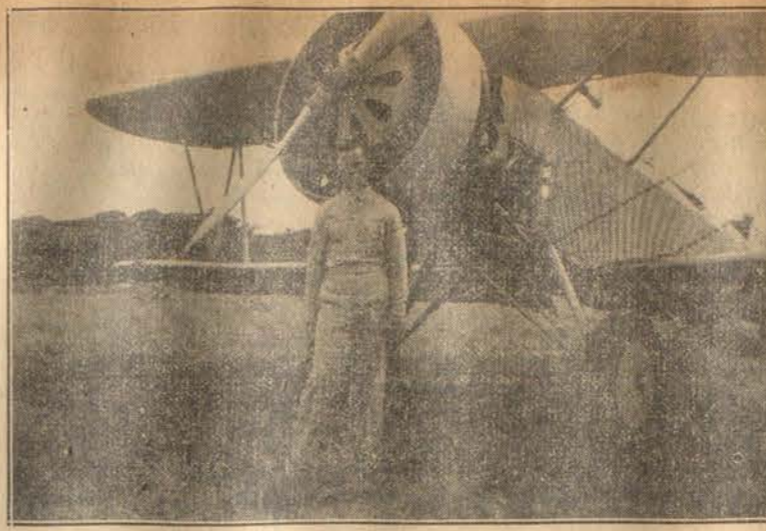

Senator Wheeler, that professed paragon of the lovers of liberty and the law and order without which no true liberty exists, has loaned his privilege of the frank to the America First Committee which has had more time than he in which to send out material damning President Roosevelt, the leader of his nation. He made the loan in the face of the law which specifically states that the frank shall not be loaned.

That is the service this archaic law permitting the franking privilege to Senators and Congressmen is giving us today—at our expense, and at a time when we all are burdened by a heavy tax load.

Don't you think it's time to repeal this law?

Don't you think it is enough for us to pay the salaries of Congressmen and Senators without carrying the mail for them from no matter what source, for no matter what purpose?

PLAY-OFF TIE IS BROKEN

AS B-CHAMPIONS IN SCORING FEST VS. P'BURG

Batting around in the fourth inning, Auxier's B-class champions scored six runs Sunday against Prestonsburg, A-class titlists of the Big Sandy Baseball League, and thus broke the spell that held the two teams in the thrall of tie games over the preceding two Sundays.

Those six runs were enough, for Prestonsburg was able to score only five times, all game. These five were scored in the fifth and sixth innings off Lambert, Van Lear hurler enlisted by Auxier for the championship series.

Prestonsburg blew a big scoring chance in the first inning when three hits and an Auxier error still produced not a score. Roark, first up, singled to left, but was out stealing. Crum followed with a double to right, Prater singled to right and Crum was out at the plate on Music's fine throw. B. Butcher's grounder went through Clifton at second and Prater was out trying to score, Music to Curmutte.

Auxier's big plateward putsch started with one away, Clifton was safe on Butcher's error at second, Music walked and Hubbard singled to center, scoring Clifton. Caudill sacrificed and then, with two out, bam, bam!—Wells walked, Evans tripled, Wells, Music and Hubbard scoring; Montgomery doubled, Evans scoring; Curmutte singled, scoring Montgomery. Patton up for the second time in the inning, was out for the second time and the side was retired.

Auxier scored twice again in the next inning on two hits and two errors.

Leslie, who hurled brilliantly against Auxier, on the preceding Sunday when the two teams battled 13 innings to a 2-all tie, was the losing pitcher. Hamilton succeeded him and did not succeed in retiring a batter. Patton came on for the last four innings, during which Auxier scored three runs.

Wells was hit often enough by Prestonsburg during his opening three-inning mound tenure but was not scored upon. Lambert, "up" from Van Lear, was ineffective, and Bickford came on in the sixth to hurl scoreless ball.

The same two teams are at it again next Sunday, same place.

WHEELWRIGHT IN 20-0 WIN

DEFEATS VAN LEAR ELEVEN FOR FIRST CONFERENCE WIN

By OWEN RICKARD

A small but enthusiastic crowd of Wheelwright supporters dropped in on the Maroons' second home game of the current season at the Wheelwright ball yard Saturday afternoon and Coach Walter Price's maroon-and-white charges, pepped by a Wheelwright pep rally and bonfire the preceding evening, and with hopes for a victory ball game still "in the wind," showed much improvement in turning back a fighting Bank Mule eleven from Van Lear, 20-0.

The Maroon gridders tallied on two line plunges and a pass in the second, third and fourth periods of play with Elkins, Maroon end, and backs, King and Ratliff, doing the registering.

Captain Billy Skiles took the opening kick-off and drove the ball to his own 25-yard stripe before a Van Lear man tagged him. Bowe, Skiles and Ratliff carried the ball to the Van Lear 15-yard line and penalties of various and sundry sorts stopped the Maroon machine. The Bank Mules took over and on their third play of the afternoon Big Jess Ratliff snared a Van Lear pass deep in the visitors' territory as the quarter came to an end. Two plays later, Ratliff carried the ball over from the three for the first tally of the ball game. Bowe converted for the Pricemen and the Maroons went into the lead, 7-0.

Coach Honeycutt's eleven, paced by Captain Grove, Clifton and Sparks, lashed back at the host team with a running and passing offensive and Wheelwright led at the half mark, 7-0.

The Maroon eleven registered their second touchdown of the afternoon late in the third period on a 25-yard pass from Skiles to Elkins.

A blocked Bank Mule kick deep in their own territory late in the fourth period was set-up for the Maroon and White third and last touchdown of the day. Skiles shot another pass labeled touchdown to George Hughes; and Hughes lugged the cowhide to the Van Lear six-yard line and Ormand King hit the left side of his own line for the score. Jess Ratliff converted and the Maroons went ahead, 20-0.

A special page in The Madisonville Daily Messenger, pointing out the food value of peaches and ways of canning or otherwise preserving them, helped Hopkins county growers to dispose of a big crop. All sold locally at prices averaging about $1 a bushel.

'CATS, VICTORS OVER BELFRY

THIRD WIN ESSAY FOR P'BURG 11, SUCCESSFUL

Prestonsburg's Blackcats started rolling Saturday afternoon here against Belfry high and when they stopped they had their first victory of the current football semester by a 28-0 score.

Belfry was a hapless eleven Saturday afternoon, never advancing the ball inside the 'Cat 20-yard line and powerless to stop either the aerial thrusts or the ground attacks of Prestonsburg. Every man on the Prestonsburg squad was used during the game.

The scoring started in the first quarter, with Butler passing to Combs on the Belfry 25, Combs scoring from that point, standing up. In the same period Butler dashed 15 yards for the second Prestonsburg marker.

In the second quarter Heinze took Butler's pass and ran 10 yards for the third touchdown. The third period was scoreless, but in the fourth Merritt intercepted a Belfry pass on the visitors' 17. From that point the ball was advanced on running plays, with Butler scoring the marker.

Butler also kicked all four extra points after touchdown.

In the Prestonsburg line Heinze, Seters and Burke were outstanding. Return of Combs to the 'Cat backfield added to the general strength of the team.

Commodore Goble, regular center, sustained a fractured collar bone in practise Tuesday and will not be available for the game here Saturday afternoon with the Louisa Bulldogs.

EN 17 TO 50 ARE WANTED FOR U. S. NAVAL RESERVE

According to an announcement made in Washington by order of the secretary of the Navy Knox, "All men now enlisting in the Naval Reserve will be retained on active duty throughout the period of the national emergency, but they will be placed on inactive duty as soon as the emergency as their services can be spared, regardless of the length of time remaining in their enlistment."

Lists today and the emergency ends within a period of several months, he will be returned to his civilian job as soon as possible after the emergency is over, and will not be required to complete his four year term in active service.

Four classes of service in the United States Naval Reserve need men urgently today. They are Class V-3, which includes radio and communications; V-5, aviation; V-6, for trade specialists or men desiring trade or vocational training; V-7, fleet officers. A more detailed outline of each class follows below.

Men with specialized training in radio, searchlight and semaphore signaling or Morse telegraphy may be enrolled in Class V-3, the communications class of the Naval Reserve. These men will be enlisted as petty officers with ratings according to their degree of proficiency. Pay for men enrolling in this group ranges from $60 a month for a petty officer third class to $99 a month for a chief petty officer. An additional allowance of $1.15 per day is made for men with dependents who have the rating of petty officer second class or higher.

A man with at least two years of college education who desires to enter naval aviation will be enlisted as seaman second class in Class V-5 of the Naval Reserve. After a month's preliminary training the V-5 recruit will become a naval aviation cadet and will be sent for advanced training to one of the three principal naval flight training centers: Pensacola, Fla.; Jacksonville, Fla.; or Corpus Christi, Texas. On completion of this advanced course which requires approximately seven months, the V-5 cadet will be designated as a naval aviator and will be commissioned as an ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve.

During the first month of training, the V-5 recruits are paid $36. On completion of the first month's training the V-5 recruit is designated as a naval aviation cadet and will be paid $75 a month, plus $1 per day living expense. Upon commission as an ensign his pay will be increased to approximately $245 a month and in addition he will receive regular pay bonuses of $500 for each year he serves in active duty after the training period.

Class V-6 in the U. S. Naval Reserve offers opportunities for men with specialized training to continue their trades and at the same time serve their country. This group includes specialists of any kind such as electricians, carpenters, machinists, stenographers, accountants, plumbers, cooks, bakers, and many other trades and vocations. These men will upon enlistment be given ratings in accordance with the amount of previous specialized training they have had.

Men with no previous specialized training in Class V-6 as apprentice seamen with pay of $21 a month. Directly following enlistment the new recruit will be sent to one of the four Naval Training Stations for a short period. At the training station the apprentice seaman will be given an aptitude test and if he passes this test successfully he will be sent to a Navy Trade School. Approximately 5,500 men are admitted to navy trade schools each month. This schooling, valued at hundreds of dollars, is free and the seamen receive their regular Navy pay while receiving instructions.

Those applicants who do not pass their tests for admission to a navy trade school will be sent to duty aboard ship where an opportunity will be given them to train in a trade. Four months after enlistment all non-specialized applicants in Class V-6 will be advanced automatically to seaman second class with a pay increase to $36 a month.

Men with previous specialized training of any kind will be enlisted in the Naval Reserve Class V-6 with petty officer ratings and will be sent immediately to the ship or shore station where they are needed.

College graduates who desire engineering or deck duty as officers in the U. S. Naval Reserve will be enlisted as Midshipmen, Class V-7. Upon completion of a four-months' training course these men will be commissioned ensigns in the Naval Reserve. During the training period Midshipmen are paid $65 a month. As ensigns with commissions the pay will be approximately $143 a month with an additional allowance of $50 a month if they are married.

All applicants for the U. S. Naval Reserve must be native-born citizens of the United States with the exception of candidates for Class V-5 who must have been United States citizens for a period of at least 10 years.

Detailed information with regard to enlistment in any class of the U. S. Naval Reserve may be secured by writing to or calling at your nearest regional Navy Recruiting Station.

1941's 'GREATEST TRAGEDY'

You don't have to wait for historians to record the fact that the greatest tragedy of the year 1941 as far as this war is concerned is the way the British have twiddled their thumbs, watched the Russians, and done almost nothing except cheer.

Over three months have passed since Hitler sent his mechanized masses hurtling across the Russian border, and in that time the British sent only a trickle of help.

Yet the British knew that prolonged Russian resistance was the biggest chance they had of defeating Hitler. They also knew that Hitler's tactic always has been to pick his victims one by one.

Yet realizing this, the British have done virtually the same thing Poland did when Czechoslovakia was invaded, what Yugoslavia did when Bulgaria was invaded, and what Turkey did when Yugoslavia was invaded. They have merely sat on the sidelines, sent 200 airplanes, plus a mission to Moscow, taken a good long rest—and cheered.

Second Front?

Meanwhile, the general staff advisers of both the British and American armies have bluntly warned that the Russians were sure to be defeated unless a second front was created against Hitler. This second front against Hitler meant, of course, a British expeditionary force landing in France, Holland or Spain. This question has been discussed carefully behind the scenes, but the British have wanted two things: one was tanks, most of theirs having been demolished at Dunkirk; the second has been an American Expeditionary force to help them.

The British did not really push this idea of an A.E.F., for they knew politically it was impossible for Roosevelt. But nevertheless they did want company in attempting to land troops on the Continent. They had plenty of troops in England—in fact so many that there has been restlessness and bad morale because of inactivity.

It is true that these troops are not completely equipped and are sadly lacking in tanks. But there is considerable belief that they were equipped sufficiently to make a landing in Spain from Gibraltar; and that in France the local people would have risen up to welcome them.

However, all summer long the British have maintained an "after you, Alphonse" attitude. Meanwhile the situation in Russia has become darker and darker—as every military expert knew was inevitable.

All of which brings up the vital question of exactly who is the dominating factor in the new virtual Anglo-American alliance. We have thrown a very large pile of chips into the gamble on a British victory; yet no one seems to know whether the British are taking advice from us or whether we are taking orders from the British. President Roosevelt and Harry Hopkins may know, but if so they have not informed those closest to them.

HITLER'S OIL PROBLEM

Most of the reports from Russia look black; and to U. S. army observers they have been that way for some time. However, one encouraging factor stands out. This is the question of oil.

Without oil no army or navy can move. And despite the tremendous areas taken by Hitler in all Europe, he still faces, two years after starting the war, almost the same oil shortage as before.

Rumania, seized chiefly for her oil fields, has a capacity of 8,000,000 tons annually. However, the Russians bombed the Rumanian oil fields so badly that production is now down to about 4,000,000 tons or less.

Germany itself has a synthetic gasoline production of about 3,900,000 tons, making a total annual production today of about 7,000,000 tons. On the other hand, Germany is using oil and gas to operate its army at the rate of about 25,000,000 tons a year, most of which has come from reserves. It is estimated that Germany still has reserves on hand of 10 or perhaps 15 million tons.

All of which means that the real pinch will come next spring. In other words, Hitler has enough oil and gas to last through the winter, but by the end of the winter he absolutely must take the Russian oil fields of the Caucasus. In fact, he is sure to stage a terrific drive to take them even earlier. The tremendous Nazi sacrifices to take Kiev and Odessa all were because those two cities are the path of the Nazi march to the Caucasus.

Russian Chances.

During the coming winter, however, the Russians should be able to hold out. The Caucasian mountains are high and rugged. The Russians have a huge force in this area. The British also have rushed troops through Iran to the border of the Caucasus.

However, if Hitler's gasoline situation is even more desperate than indicated above—which may be quite possible—then he is almost sure to put the pinners on Turkey harder than ever before in order to drive on the Caucasus.

Wondering about the 1942 cars?

Here is Buick's superb solution to the problems posed by making our national defense, as it should be, industrial America's No. 1 job

BUICK BUILDS FOR DEFENSE

Our assignment: Building Pratt & Whitney valve-in-head aircraft engines for defense use.

IT WAS no time to duck or dodge the facts. So we didn't try.

Instead we said — these being the materials critical in the defense program, we'll do our planning for 1942 with that foremost in mind.

Not merely for an "acceptable" car — certainly not for any "ersatz" number.

We had to have a real and representative Buick. One able enough, active enough, durable enough to serve till annual new models are the rule again.

We resolved on a 1942 automobile of such merit as could carry and cherish the Buick reputation without fault until other new Buicks, however far off, could come along to refresh it.

Now we're announcing those 1942 cars.

Why waste words telling you how good they are! You can't put language in the gas tank and learn either how many or how enjoyable are the miles you'll get per gallon.

There's a better answer—you drive these cars themselves. Come on, do that! Put your own yardstick on their quality.

It would be a shame, for you and for us, to have you miss the dreadnaught Buick we've built to stand up successfully to the toughest job in years.

No other car has ALL THIS FOR YOU IN 'FORTY-TWO well because there, everything is planned for this purpose. The sanatorium has a two-fold objective: to cure the patient within its gates and to protect the well people outside from contact with the disease. In the sanatorium the patient learns how to live the kind of life necessary to cure tuberculosis. He is protected from worries. He knows he is not exposing any of his family to danger. He is surrounded with new friends, all fighting the same battle.

Surgery has come to take a place in the cure of tuberculosis. Many surgical methods are now employed. Among the most frequently used surgical procedures are pneumothorax—the creation of an artificial air cushion inside the chest cavity; phrenic operations — paralyzing nerves that move the diaphragm; and thoracoplasty — an operation that reduces the size of the chest. They all have one purpose in common: they aim to stop the sick lung from moving, as experience has has shown that a sick organ at rest will have a better chance to heal.

Another modern development of interest to educators is that sanatoria are becoming training schools for new occupations in addition to their routine job of healing sick lungs. Patients are pursuing studies in a variety of lines under expert guidance so that when they leave the sanatorium they may be ready for lucrative work in the field for which they are best fitted.

ONE LINE OF DEFENSE THAT Must REMAIN IMPREGNABLE

Of vital importance to the South's security is the dependability of its far-reaching telephone lines.

On their constantly maintained efficiency depends continuity and flexibility of communication between military, industrial, and civilian forces necessary to the nation's defense.

In this crisis, Southern Bell is faced with the three-fold task of giving "all-out" service to defense, industry, and the public—a task requiring every ounce of its resources.

In most cities and towns in the nine southern states we serve, the demand upon our services is without precedent. In many of these places, mass troop and civilian concentrations, in addition to increased industrial demands, have made the continuation of normal telephone service difficult.

In these critical times, telephone workers ask your cooperation and appreciative understanding of the problems which confront them, knowing that you, too, are "all-out" for defense—hat it is our common problem to keep telephone lines of defense impregnable.
