HIGH SCHOOLS RETAIN RATING

Seven of 9 in County In "A" Group, Hall, Wicker Announce

Accredited status of Floyd county's nine high schools remains unchanged from last year—all approved for "A" rating with the exception of Auxier high school and Wheelwright colored high school.

With eight trains serving the people of this county scheduled for suspension of their runs beginning Friday of this week, and with all bus lines in the county still strike-bound, public transportation nears the vanishing point.

Suspension of 40 passenger train schedules by the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company, including those serving this county, is forced by government order, it was said, to cut passenger mileage to conserve coal made scarce by the mine strike.

Train No. 37 to Ashland, mornings, and Train No. 38, making the up-river run of evenings, and all passenger trains on the Elkhorn-Beaver subdivision between Allen and Wayland and on the Long Fork subdivision between Martin and Weebury will be discontinued Friday, it was announced Monday night.

DRIFT MEN BUY MORELL'S Business, for 45 Years Owned by Family Here, Under New Ownership

The Morell Supply Company passed to new hands last Thursday night after 45 years' ownership by the J. M. Morell, Sr., family.

The purchase was made by W. J. Turner, Drift merchant, for an amount admitted to be "over $100,000."

Figuring in the transaction with Mr. Turner is his son-in-law, Wm. Arrowood, also of Drift, who will manage the hardware business which will be known as the Wm. Arrowood Hardware Company.

Ownership of the Morell building housing the store is solely Mr. Turner's, it was said.

The business and the building thus acquired were owned by James Morell, Jr., and W. F. Morell, sons of J. M. Morell, Sr., who retired from the business a few years ago because of ill health.

The elder Morell came here in 1900 when the hardware on the site of the present business was owned by the late Frank A. Hopkins. In the following year, Mr. Morell acquired an interest in the store and the business had remained in the Morell family since that time.

Mr. Arrowood said this week the store will retain all the varied lines handled in the past by the Morells.

The Prestonsburg Electric Company on Third avenue was not included in the transaction. James Morell, Jr., said this week that his interest in Prestonsburg Electric will be transferred to his brother. The firm will continue to operate, he said, under the management of J. R. Worland.

PRATER HANGS SELF, VIEW Well-Known Farmer Found Dying Near Huesville Home

Seymour M. Prater, prominent Huesville farmer, was found early Saturday morning in a dying condition, suspended from a tree on the mountainside near his home by a noose said to have been fashioned by his own hands.

Mr. Prater, a former minister of the Regular Baptist Church, had been in ill health for the last few years. He was 60 years old.

When found by a son after his absence from home had been discovered by members of the family, he was still breathing, it was said. He had tied his legs together with a belt and had secured his arms with leather thongs, using a twisted part of a window curtain for a rope, it was reported here.

A son of the late Newman Prater and Emily Prater Moore, Mr. Prater was a native of this county where he had many relatives and friends.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Eliza Handshoe Prater and the following children: Corbett, Harve, James and Earl Prater, all of Huesville; Andy Prater, Sage Prater, Mrs. Denny House and Mrs. Creed Reed, all of Ohio. He also leaves one half-brother, the Rev. A. J. Moore, of Hippo.

Funeral rites were conducted Monday afternoon from the residence on Salt Lick Creek, the victim's half-brother officiating. Burial in the family cemetery was directed by the Ryan Funeral Home.

Branham, Hyden Hurl Black Cats to Wins, Keeping Slate Clean

Prestonsburg high school, behind stout pitching by Branham and Hyden, added two more victories to its unblemished baseball record for the year, defeating Paintsville here Friday, 7 to 0, and swamping Jenkins here on the following day, 14 to 3.

Although not duplicating his no-hit performance of the preceding week against Russell, Ballard Branham, Prestonsburg mound star, easily shut out Paintsville, allowing two harmless singles and striking out 14 while walking only one batter during the regulation seven innings.

Had Minix and Kirk, Paintsville moundsmen, received perfect support, however, the winners would have needed such pitching, since Prestonsburg earned only one run.

Friday's game brought Branham's record to 44 strikeouts in 21 innings. Hyden hurled shutout ball against Jenkins Saturday but Prestonsburg's only two errors cost three runs. Visiting twirlers were plagued by their mates' performance afield, a charitable scorer marking up nine miscues against them.

Today (Thursday) Prestonsburg plays Williamson here. The West Virginians are said to have a strong team.

HOME FROM VIRGINIA Mrs. Fanny Runnels has returned from Clifton Forge, Va., where she visited her brother, Jim Harris, an operative patient at the C. & O. hospital. Mr. Harris' condition is very serious.

War II Veteran, 38, Found Dead Thursday, Believed Heart Victim

Funeral rites for Henry S. Allen, 38 years old, World War II veteran, who was found dead at his home in West Prestonsburg last Thursday afternoon, were conducted Tuesday afternoon from the Assembly of God Church, West Prestonsburg, the pastor, the Rev. G. R. Fannin, and Mrs. Cora Fannin officiating.

An inquest conducted by County Judge Alex L. Davidson resulted in a verdict declaring Mr. Allen had died of natural causes. It is believed he was a victim of a heart attack. He had been visited, a few hours earlier, by friends who said that he at that time was not ill.

A son of the late Elliott and Willie Salyers Allen, he was born and reared in West Prestonsburg. He entered the army in September, 1942 and was discharged September 22, last year after serving in the Rome-Arno, Rhineland and Central European theatres of war. Mr. Allen had many relatives and friends in this section.

Surviving are three brothers and two sisters: R. T. Allen, Cincinnati; M. S. and Byrd Allen, both of West Prestonsburg; Mrs. Doll Bowling, Vancouver, Wash., and Mrs. Ballard Hall, Williamson, West Virginia.

Burial was made in West Prestonsburg cemetery under direction of the Arnold Funeral Home.

P'BURG NINE HEADS LOOP Wins Mound Duel As Pikeville Idle; David Wins, 7-4

Prestonsburg rested alone at the top in the Big Sandy Baseball League standings this week by virtue of its 3 to 1 win here Sunday afternoon over Wayland while Pikeville's game with Harold was not played.

Meanwhile, David was trouncing Auxier, 7 to 4, and Paintsville was nipping Drift, 5 to 4.

The game here was a mound duel all the way between Charlie Patton for the winners and Potter, sturdy Wayland right-hander. Patton opened shakily but with two on, none out in the first, pitched himself out of a hole and over the entire distance allowed the visitors only three hits.

Potter suffered from jittery fielding in the fourth and fifth when all the Prestonsburg runs were scored. Each pitcher allowed only one earned run. Wayland's run came in the eighth when Patton grooved a pitch to E. Branham, Wayland firstbaseman, who drove the ball over the left field fence.

At Auxier, David was outthit, nine hits to seven, but Bickford, the former Auxier right-hander who twirled for David, kept the losers' blows scattered and allowed no earned runs. He struck out 12. Hopsom twirled creditably for the losers and only three runs were earned off his delivery. Harman for David and Music for Auxier were the big noises at bat.

At Paintsville, Lockwood, who was wilder than a hawk in his appearance here in a relief role recently, hurled the full game. Buck Stumbo was the losing pitcher.

Next Sunday's games: Prestonsburg at Drift, Auxier at Pikeville, Paintsville at David, Wayland at Harold.

Prestonsburg will play the Tram colored team here Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

COMMITTEE HEARS RIVER WORK ARGUED

May Expects Approval By House Committee Of Locks and Dams

The House Rivers and Harbors Committee, Monday and Tuesday, heard both sides of the Big Sandy canalization project—heard it debated by its proponents as a move to "give relief to a land-locked empire" rich in high-quality coal, and by the opposition termed a "fantastic and vainly conceived project."

After the pros and cons had been voiced, Congressman A. J. May in Washington expressed confidence that the committee will give a favorable report on the project and that it will go to the floor of Congress. The committee is expected to report within a week, it was said here.

Among the more than 60 river improvement backers going by special train to Washington for the hearings, only two—N. M. White, Jr., and Marvin Music—made the trip from Prestonsburg. Both Pikeville and Paintsville sent large delegations. Dr. O. W. Thompson, Pikeville, was prevented by illness from leading the party as on previous occasions.

Witnesses told the committee the tri-state project in Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia would enable a "major coal district" to compete with other districts by giving cheap water transportation.

Representative Short (R., Mo.) testified the project would "give relief to a land-locked empire" and would open a region of high-quality coal. He said his state and others in the Mississippi valley would be benefited.

Mayor J. B. Wells, Jr., of Paintsville, told the committee that barge transportation of coal from the Big Sandy basin into the Ohio and up the Mississippi river would aid greatly in the industrial development of the midwest.

He said the Big Sandy basin coal is an excellent metallurgical coal and much in demand by certain industries. He expressed the opinion the waterway would not injure the railroads, since "there is enough coal in the vast fields there for the railroads to have all they can carry."

Lawrence E. Tierney, Bluefield, W. Va., president of Eastern Coal Corporation, said much of the coal furnished by his concern to Ford Motor Company Rouge plant will be substituted by use of gas.

HEALTH TESTS FOR TEACHERS

To Be Enforced, Says Ransdell; X-Ray Unit Here Offers Service

The physical examinations required of all Floyd county teachers before the war and not strictly enforced during the wartime teacher-scarcity will again be an absolute requisite for every teacher this year, Dr. Marvin Ransdell, Floyd county health department director, said this week, advising teachers not previously examined to take advantage of the free chest examinations offered during the stay here this week and next of the State Board of Health mobile x-ray unit.

"There are," Dr. Ransdell said, "a number of teachers who are teaching their first school now, and there will probably be a number who will teach during the coming school year who will need x-ray pictures. The x-ray trailer at the courthouse will remain here through next week and I advise all teachers who have not had this service and who plan to teach in Floyd county, to take advantage of this free chest examination. The requirement for such examinations will be rigidly enforced this year."

This week, most chest examinations made are for students and these are, in the main, 15 years of age or older. Pupils from Maytown, Betsy Layne, Harold, Martin, McDowell and Wayland had been examined during the first three days of the week. Grade school pupils of Maytown who were taught, a few years ago, by a teacher who died of tuberculosis were here Wednesday for re-examination. Prestonsburg and Auxier students are being examined today (Thursday).

HOPE THE OLD OLDS DOESN'T STRIKE OR DISCONTINUE SERVICE

Even if in this "modern, highly civilized" age, the United States mail is not a "must" in the matter of going through, the management of THE TIMES will make every effort during this and all other weeks to see that subscribers get their papers. This week, THE TIMES will be delivered by auto to postoffices along the highways in the Right and Left Beaver Creek sections where train service is being suspended as of midnight Thursday. Next week, if the other two passenger trains serving the county on the Big Sandy Elkhorn division are discontinued, as scheduled, the papers will be delivered to postoffices along the river. Suspension of all train service from Prestonsburg will, of course, make it impossible for subscribers in other counties or states to receive the paper.

WE ALL WERE 'TAKEN'

It is no easy task that of publicly admitting that one has been "taken." But it's our job this week; so... After readers of this column had been told that 10,000 red pull tabs from Lucky Strike cigarette packs would gain for Frank Stamper, elderly Prestonsburg blind man, a Seeing-Eye dog, and after kind-hearted readers from a dozen or more states had sent to this office thousands of the tabs—after all this, we were notified last week that we, Mr. Stamper and these readers had been victimized by rumor.

In short, the American Tobacco Company writes that there is no truth whatsoever to the statement that a Seeing-Eye dog may thus be procured. This is a rumor, the company writes, that has sprung up from time to time in various localities of the country—why or how, it knows not. Certainly, the tobacco company is not to be censured.

So there we are. We have caused you folks some trouble. We have wasted some rather precious newspaper space. A blind man is sorely disappointed.

To this extent we accept the blame; we should have investigated the proposition thoroughly before asking your help. But we accepted the matter as Mr. Stamper told it to us; he accepted it from somebody else who was told it by somebody else, etcetera, ad infinitum. We cannot believe anybody in particular maliciously spread the rumor.

It is a heart that has sprung up from time to time in various localities of the country—why or how, it knows not. Certainly, the tobacco company is not to be censured.

So there we are. We have caused you folks some trouble. We have wasted some rather precious newspaper space. A blind man is sorely disappointed.

OR VICE VERSA

And now we settle that egg problem, since we have heard again from our Williamson, W. Va., correspondent, who writes:

"Re egg problem: mathematically correct, theoretically wrong. Thanks."

"As of this date," he continued, "10,266 employees have been cut off. "We must find other means to dispose of our coal and it can go only into an expanding middle west," Tierney said.

M. L. Garvey, representing the Pocahontas Operators Association, also expressed the opinion the project would not affect the railroads adversely. He said the railroads' claim that their service is adequate and abundant is contradicted "by the fact that the district have been compelled to invest large sums of money to provide ocean carriage to New England and lake carriage into the Northwest."

John Kerper, secretary of the Dubuque (Iowa) Chamber of Commerce, said if the upper Mississippi section is to attract many new industries which require high volatile by-product coal they must obtain such coal at a lower price through lower transportation costs.

Other proponents included the Rev. Garfield Stump, president of the Stone, Ky. local of the United Mine Workers, who said the federal government has spent enough for relief in the area hard-hit by unemployment to have built the proposed locks; E. L. Mullins, president of Henry Clay U.M.W. union, Hellet, Ky.; William Allen, of the Mississippi Valley Association; Ernest M. Merrill, vice-president of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association; Weston B. Grimes, of Cargill Grain Company, of Minnesota.

Representative A. J. May, Prestonsburg, sponsor of the project, attended the hearing and appeared in rebuttal upon completion of opposition testimony.

Col. Peter Faringa, army engineer, told the committee that much of the coal lying between the Tug and Levisa forks is not mined because railroads are located on the far side of the streams and the expense would be great to convey the coal across.

Brooks Lawson, Williamson, W. Va., said that the proposed $82,000,000 Big Sandy waterway project is a luxury the nation does not need and can not afford.

"It is an utterly fantastic and a vainly conceived project," Lawson said. "We owe it to our children, ourselves and the nation as a whole to set an example of economy and prudence."

Representative Daughton (D. Va.) told the committee the project should be built not by the federal government but by a private company.

"The Norfolk & Western Railroad pioneered that area," Daughton said. "There wouldn't have been any coal fields ever developed there had it not been for the N. & W."

Representative Bailey (D. W. Va.) said he was "thoroughly convinced that the project is insolvent, unjust and not economically justified."

Representative Vorys (R., Ohio) said he was opposed to the project because it would not be generally economically justified and would cause direct injury to his district. In addition to the share his constituents would have to expend in taxes to pay for construction.
