GROUP VIEWS RECREATIONAL POSSIBILITIES

In Area of Dewey Dam; Survey Evokes Praise Of Natural Aspects

A 10-man party composed of members of the U.S. corps of engineers, the Kentucky Division of Game and Fish, and the state and national park services toured the Johns Creek reservoir area Tuesday in a preliminary study of recreational possibilities along the shores of the lake to be created by the Dewey dam.

Although individual reactions to natural beauty of the area and its possibilities as a mecca for sportsmen were regarded as highly encouraging, no member of the official group committed himself to the view that cost of converting the area into a state or national park would justify the expense.

After findings made on this initial reconnaissance are studied by the corps of engineers, subsequent surveys in greater detail may win approval or result in rejection of recreation plans as a state or federal project.

Fund Shortage, Threat To Completion of Dam

Unless an appropriation is voted by Congress, prior to July 1, work on the Dewey dam will be suspended, at least temporarily.

This results from the fact that appropriations for work on the barrier are made from year to year. To date, the Congress has taken no action and its actions on flood control work have been described as "highly secretive," with little known as to its intentions.

THE TIMES was unable this week to procure a statement from Congressman W. Howes Meade, who was quoted, several weeks ago, as saying the dam has a "fifty-fifty chance of being completed."

For the work at Dewey more than a million dollars already have been appropriated and, presumably, spent.

One member of the party declared he had never seen natural beauty in a dam area surpassing that in the Johns Creek section.

JAIL GIBSON AS SLAYER

Witnesses Say Quarrel Followed by Shooting Near Melvin of Vet

Taylor Blackburn, 31-year-old World War veteran, was shot and instantly killed last Thursday afternoon on Abner Fork, near Melvin, and Dewey Gibson, 30, mining machine operator, of the same vicinity, was jailed here as the slayer.

A revolver bullet struck Blackburn near the heart as he and Gibson approached each other following what was described as an argument over Gibson's efficiency as a coal cutter.

Gibson was jailed here by Ex-Coroner Allen Triplett, of Bevinville. He executed $10,000 bond to answer to grand jury action at the September court term.

County Attorney W. W. Burchett questioned six witnesses listed by the victim's relatives and these concurred, he said, in this version of the case.

Former Attorney Here With Hearing Division Created Last Month

The Federal Communications Commission announces the appointment of a 10-man board of hearing examiners, one of whom is Jay D. Bond, former Prestonsburg attorney.

The Hearing Division was created last month and is directly responsible to the Commission in carrying out provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act.

Mr. Bond and the other nine appointees have been members of the Commission's legal staff and are especially qualified by their specialized experience in the broadcast and common carrier fields to preside at hearings, prepare and recommend decisions to the Commission, and otherwise effectuate the new hearing procedure which became operative on June 11. They will operate under Civil Service rules.

A graduate of the University of Kentucky (A.B.), the Harvard School of Business Administration, and the University of Kentucky (LL.B.), Mr. Bond engaged in private law practice. After commissioned service in the navy during the war, he became assistant counsel in the office of the general counsel of the Navy Department and later, enforcement attorney in the Office of Price Administration at Dallas. Transferring to the Commission in 1946, he has been an attorney in the new and changed AM Facilities Section, processing broadcast applications and acting as commissioner counsel at AM hearings.

MAY DEFENSE TO REST CASE

Mead of No Help In Locating Records Vital to Defense

The defense in the May-Garrison trial in Washington may close its case today (Thursday) if the testimony of Joseph Freeman, who is ill.

The trial this week was highlighted by Freeman's collapse from a heart attack during his turn as a witness and Ex-Senator James M. Mead's failure to produce documents filed with the investigating committee, and which are important to the defense.

The trial, as reported during the week:

MAY 17--Called by the defense, former Senator Mead turned a score of questions from attorney Charles J. Margiotti with the phrase, "I want to be helpful, but..." Margiotti wanted to know what became of a check for $2,606 which May says he paid to discharge a Garrison debt. This is a vital matter for the defense in its attempt to prove that all the money May received from the Garssons was spent in their interest. May said he turned the canceled check over to the committee investigators, but never got it back.

"I want to be helpful, but I saw so many checks and other documents that I couldn't say what became of any one of them," Mead said. "The committee counsel of the present chairman (Senator Owen Brewster, R. Me.) might know about that."

Mead did recall that he first heard of the case in September, 1945, when May took Henry Garrison to see him. He explained, however, that investigators had been working on it as a routine matter since April, 1945, after receiving a complaint.

He said May, "with whom I have been friends for years," asked him several times both in personal interviews and telephone calls to help get the War Department to "unfreeze" about $1,000,000 of funds due the Garssons on war contracts.

May, who has been in the background since he completed his part of the defense May 27, resumed the stand briefly today to identify a letter Brig. Gen. Paul English wrote to Henry Garrison. The letter complimented Garrison on his war-production.

Electrician at Drift Invents Electro-Magnetic 'Body Man'

Ivan E. Reed, Drift electrician, and a son of C. D. Reed, veteran Floyd county coal operator, has evolved from his hobby of experimenting in electrical devices, two inventions which have been hailed by engineers as of real worth in widely separated fields.

His latest invention, now being patented, is the "Pul-a-Dent," an electro-magnetic device for straightening automobile bodies, fenders and the like. Details of the device were not made available to the Times, but it was pointed out that it includes steadying or supporting rods for the magnet and the matrix used in filling whatever is to be corrected in an automobile body or fender. The mechanical "body man" is heralded as revolutionary

Believed to be Kentucky's oldest woman, Mrs. Caroline Gearheart, 104 years old, died at Hindman Sunday afternoon. Her sister, "Aunt" Jane Gearheart, died in 1945 at McDowell at the age of 100.

Born April 17, 1843, she was married in 1864 to William Gearheart, who died in 1940. Of her 14 children, six survive: Alex. Green, Brown and John Gearheart, all of Hindman, Mrs. Cora Gearheart, Hanover, O., and Laura Gearheart, of Hindman. Mrs. Gearheart had been in ill health and had suffered a paralytic stroke three weeks ago. At the time of her death she was residing with her son, Alex. She was for years a member of the Regular Baptist Church. A native of Knott county, Mrs. Gearheart was the grandmother of 57, great-grandmother of 153, and great-great-grandmother of eight.

Burial was made Monday afternoon at Hindman. Officiating at the funeral were the Revs. Tom Sutton and Ernest Moore.

SEVEN SEEK BUS ROUTE

The bus route from Lackey to Neon in Letcher county, along the path of industrial development now under way through construction of railway lines, is considered a holding so valuable that no less than seven firms or individuals are angling for the franchise.

The Wayland City Bus Company last week procured a temporary restraining order prohibiting Ben J. Brumleve, director of the State Motor Transportation Division, from holding a hearing in Frankfort next Friday on the several applications for the bus route franchise.

Meanwhile, the route is being given bus service, it was reported here this week.

The petition for the restraining order said Brumleve declined the Wayland firm's application on the ground that it was filed too late.

It quoted Brumleve as saying, however, that the concern could appeal whatever decision he made on other applications for the route.

Other applicants for the franchise include Bob Hicks, Sparks Brothers Bus Company, H. & M. Bus Company, Sam Collins, Jesse Wright and Reggie Watkins.

WAR VETERAN AUTO VICTIM

Failure of the headlights of his automobile cost the life Monday night of Bert Calhoun, 24-year-old World War II veteran, of Cliff, as his automobile wrecked on a curve near Tomahawk, Martin county.

Witnesses were quoted as saying Calhoun's lights suddenly blinked out as he was rounding a curve, driving toward Paintsville, and that his coupe plunged over a bank into a stream.

Calhoun died as he was being taken in a truck to a Paintsville hospital. Head injuries resulted in death, it was said.

The victim was a son of Tom and Margaret Calhoun, of Cliff, and had many friends and relatives in the county. He is survived by his parents, his widow, Mrs. Hester Calhoun, and several brothers and sisters.

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, the Revs B. W. Craft and W. H. Horn officiating. Burial in the family cemetery was directed by the Arnold Funeral Home.

40 Junior Sportsmen From Floyd-co. Clubs To Go to Dale Hollow

Forty of the 75 junior sportsmen who leave Sunday for a week's camp at Dale Hollow lake, guests of the Kentucky Division of Fish and Game, will be from Floyd county. Winston Burke, Prestonsburg, district junior conservation supervisor, who will be in charge of the camp, said Wednesday.

The Floyd group will be transported to the lake, near Albany, Ky., in buses supplied by the Floyd County Board of Education. Other transportation expenses will be paid by the Floyd County Fish and Game Club.

At Dale Hollow boats and motors will be available for boating and fishing, with 15 councillors assisting Mr. Burke in supervising the recreation of the youngsters. The recreation program for the week will also include bait-casting, horseshoe-pitching, badminton, archery, swimming, rifle practice and mo-skeet.

All will not be play, however. The boys will attend classes in nature study, first aid and the state's fish and game laws. Approximately 1,200 Kentucky boys this month are attending camps at Dale Hollow, Kentucky and Harrington lakes.

FLOYD NATIVE TRAIN VICTIM

Body of Ike Crum, 51, Found Last Saturday At Omar, W. Va.

Miners returning from work early Saturday at Omar, W. Va., found the mutilated body of Isaac Crum, 51-year-old miner, and a native of this county, on the railroad tracks at the upper end of the town. He had apparently been struck by a train and the body dragged about 100 yards, state police said.

How the accident occurred has not yet been established but state police were continuing their investigation.

Trooper L. E. Hampton stated that he and Trooper Bill Williams, who investigated at about 2:30 a.m., along with Chesapeake & Ohio Detective Dillard, found Crum's cap about 100 yards from where his body was discovered and the engine had evidently dragged Crum down the tracks after hitting him.

"His head was cut down to the shoulders," Hampton said, "and all his clothes were torn off." The clothing showed that he apparently was not returning from work since he was wearing dress clothes and shoes. "Even his shoes were torn off," Hampton said.

According to reports from miners, the train came down the tracks at about 1 a.m., and consisted only of an engine and a caboose. However, Crum's body was not found until 1:55 a.m., according to Hampton.

Crum was employed at one of the Omar mines and worked as a machinist.

Funeral services were held at 1 p.m., Monday at the residence with the Rev. Joe Browning officiating. Interment was made in Barnabus cemetery.

Survivors include his widow, Anna Crum, four daughters, Mrs. Mae McDonald, of Omar, and Lois, Patty and Ruby, at home; and two sons, Hollis, of the navy, and Bob, at home. He is also survived by three brothers, Abe, of Ashland, Bert, Wayne, Mich., Charlie, of Banner, and four sisters, Mrs. Francis Harvey, Wayne, Mich., Mrs. Georgia Dameron and Mrs. Kathryn Smith, both of Ivel, Mrs. Laura Humble, of Dwsale.

P'BURG EDGES ELKHORN CITY

Losers Stage Rally In Ninth But Fail; Allais on Schedule

Prestonsburg ran into unexpected pitching and batting strength at Elkhorn City Sunday and barely held on to outlast the Pike countians, 7 to 6.

Trailing, 7 to 2, the losers staged a four-run uprising in the ninth against Childers, Prestonsburg twirler, as Seters, Kimsey, Thornsburg and Burman hit him for consecutive singles.

Prestonsburg got rid of Poole, Elkhorn City starting moundsman, in a hurry, but Thornsburg was a tough proposition. He fanned 12 Prestonsburg batters in a relief role. Prestonsburg started off with two runs in the first on a walk to Blackburn, Meade's single, a double by Butcher

Mrs. Frank Spradlin Is Paralysis Victim After Long Illness

Mrs. Laura E. Spradlin, 61 years old, wife of Frank Spradlin, succumbed Wednesday night at her home at Bonanza to paralysis following a long illness.

A daughter of the late David M. and Alice Pelphrey Fairchild, Mrs. Spradlin was a native of Johnson county. She was one of her community's best women and had many relatives and friends in this section.

Surviving, besides her husband, are one son, Huey E. Spradlin, and a daughter, Mrs. Julia Lee Hackworth, both of Bonanza; four brothers, Eli Fairchild, of Bonanza, Johnny Fairchild, Colliata, Ky., Newt and Paris Fairchild, both of Asa, Ky.; and one sister, Mrs. Lillie Picklesimer, Ashland.

Funeral rites will be conducted from the residence Friday morning at 10, the Revs. Hargis Conley and Millard O'Brien officiating. Burial will be made in the family cemetery under direction of the Arnold Funeral Home.

HALF OF ONE, HALF ANOTHER

In Pike After Court Ruling Voids Vote In Four Districts

Last week, as the Court of Appeals upheld the election which eventually will make Floyd county dry territory, it handed down a subsequent opinion that makes neighboring Pike half wet, half dry.

The Appellate Court opinion upheld that of Special Judge Edward L. Allen, of Prestonsburg, who ruled that dry victories in Magisterial districts 1, 2, 4 and 8 of Pike county were void because of failure of officials to post legal notices at all precincts in advance of the election. The county voted in each of its eight Magisterial districts separately at the local option election. The dry victory in Districts 3, 6 and 7 were not contested. The contest suit in District 5 was killed by the death of the contestee.

Last week's opinion in the Pike case was written by Commissioner Osso W. Stanley and was approved by the court, without dissent. Commissioner Stanley's opinion said, in part:

"Responsibility for the annulment of the elections, with the resulting defeat of the apparent will of a majority of the people, and the cost of the county incurred in holding the election, must be laid upon the sheriff, D. C. Moore, and his deputy, Bristol Hale.

"To state it mildly, Hale was not much concerned whether he performed his duty or not. There are statutory remedies for this dereliction of duty."

The opinion cited Kentucky statutes 14-1-1 and 14-1-2.

DRY ORDER MAY ISSUE

JULY 10TH

Counsel for Wets Ask For Delay of Mandate Till Rule on Petition

There is a strong possibility that legal sale of intoxicants will end in Floyd county on Thursday, July 10. This climax to the wet-dry fight, which began with the local option campaign last fall, was seen with the official announcement that the Court of Appeals mandate following its decision last week of the election contest holding that the Floyd dry victory was legal, will issue on that date.

Counsel for wet forces, however, have been granted permission to file a petition for rehearing of the contest case and are filing a motion for modification of the Court of Appeals order setting July 10 as date of issuance of the mandate prohibiting liquor sales. This motion will ask that the court withhold its mandate until action is taken on the petition for rehearing.

In any case, outcome of the whole matter will be known Friday since the Court of Appeals at that time will rule upon the order modification motion. If the order is modified, prohibition may be delayed until the petition for rehearing is ruled upon, which might be as late as September. If the motion for modification is denied, the mandate will be issued, as planned, on July 10 and legal liquor sales will end as of that date.

MANUAL WINS STATE TITLE

After Defeating Cats In Baseball Tourney Semis at Louisville

Prestonsburg high school's Black Cats last week advanced in the state baseball tournament at Parkway Field, Louisville, a notch further than ever before, but in the semi-finals Friday afternoon lost to Manual of Louisville, the team which finally wound up state champions.

To reach the semi-final round the Cats, as in 1946, had to go 44 innings. That was Thursday afternoon and early evening when they defeated Lafayette high of Lexington, 7 to 6. Manual trounced them, 15 to 4.

That win over Lafayette was a stunner, even as was Prestonsburg's 14-inning 1 to 0 loss last year to Fort Knox. After Burchett, regarded as the Black Cat mound mainstay, had been belted for six runs in the first three innings, young Paul Harmon went in and held Lafayette score-

CONSERVATIVE BUSINESS MAN

Bob Hughes is having "labor" trouble at his poolroom-restaurant business, it is reported. It seems that he failed to stock one of the Big Four in cigarettes and that Bill Jones, who works there, has filed a mere or less formal protest. "They don't sell," the employer was quoted as patiently explaining. "Don't sell, heck!" shot back the son of toil. "You won't stock 'em because you know that's my brand."

WINDOWOPER

County Clerk and Mrs. Jarvis Allen had no such shock when they entered their home in West Prestonsburg last week as the fellow who saw a hippopotamus step from the shower bath, but the spectacle of a passenger pigeon raptly viewing itself in a mirror was slightly surprising. The bird had flown through an open window and was so engaged either in admiring itself or trying to strike up an acquaintance with the pigeon in the mirror that it did not indicate it had heard his best enter. Mr. Allen liberated the pigeon.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen left the house, returned late that night. And there was the pigeon again—in front of the mirror. This time, however, the winged messenger had tired of peering into the glass and had, head under wing, had gone to sleep. The pigeon this week still was "grounded" at West Prestonsburg and apparently in no rush to resume the perils of air travel.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO US!

Every year for the last 20, lacking one week, "Printer" Goble has duly notified me of an approaching birthday of The Floyd County Times. And every year, lacking one, I have forgotten to mention the Big Event in this or any other column of the aforesaid newspaper.

This week, I am dropping my time-dishonored motto, "Never do today what can be put off till next Tuesday," and am making a note right now, seven days ahead of time.

We haven't figured out just the day the 20th anniversary of The Floyd County Times falls on, but when Volume XIX, No. 52 leaves the press next Thursday (we hope), that's when we plan to do some celebrating. We shall celebrate by going home and so to bed. Aren't we swashbuckling newspaper men very devil, and isn't this newspaper work so interesting? Somebody has been reading too much fiction.

Maybe, after all these years, we should seize, or make, the opportunity to point with pride to the many, many good things we have done. But we have never been able to get serious about ourselves and do any gallus-busting. This may be our armor against our failures, to take ourselves lightly, so that when we stumble we don't fall so hard—anyway, that's us.

Yes, a lot of water has passed under bridges since The Floyd County Times, Vol. 1, No. 1, "struggled forth," as "Bud" White invariably terms it, back in 1927. For that matter, at least two bridges in this county have passed under the water since that good day. The Times has, on occasion, struggled forth under conditions that would turn most men's hair gray. I contrived to shed these troubles and my hair, too, so I'm not very gray. Time is long, but the years run swiftly. The Times, a-vegin' on 20, is, we hope, now reaching a lusty adulthood. The staff ages, but we hope the paper will "hold its own," telling the Floyd County Story as John Currie, superintendent of game management, Division of Game and Fish expressed the view that the area is ideal for small game and Virginia white-tail deer.

"Potentially the best fishing spot in the country," was the appraisal of Minor Clarke, superintendent of fisheries, Division of Game & Fish. He pointed to the fact that the lake will not be too deep, that the water is wholly free of pollution and that an abundance of vegetation is present. He predicted that the lake will attract sportsmen from neighboring states as well as from all sections of Kentucky.

Members of the party:
H. W. Witte, resident engineer, James N. Barnes, engineer, H. H. Bunce, recreational planner, J. L. Myers, recreational planner, Ohio river division, all of the U.S. corps of engineers; A. T. Edmonds, of the national park service; M. E. Clarke, superintendent of fisheries, J. W. Currie, superintendent of game management, and E. R. Burke, Seventh district supervisor, all of the Division of Game and Fish; A. C. Thomas, landscape architect, Kentucky division of parks, and Wm. G. Haag, archeologist, University of Kentucky, Lexington.

The reconnaissance started from the site of the Dewey dam, from there to the Johns Creek bridge at the Brandy Keg gap, then up Cow Creek and upstream to German.

Tomato Blight Recurrence In County Is Expected

The blight which attacked and ruined the Floyd county tomato crop last year has already deepened further south and cool wet weather prevalent here will favor the growth of fungi which destroys the leaves, stalks, and young tomatoes, County Agent S. L. Isbell said Wednesday.

Bordo or any commercial copper dust, applied as a liquid spray or dust, will protect the plants from this blight, Mr. Isbell said.

The assault on garden crops by bugs is already heavy this year. To combat the potato beetle Mr. Isbell advised arsenite of lead, and for the bean beetle, Rotenone.

"Sound, Needful . . . and Should Be Constructed . . ."

EVERY group that has made a detailed study of the Big Sandy canalization program has given the proposed river improvement its unqualified approval.

The Congress of the United States would be the exception, but it has made no detailed study of the projected improvements. Sectional rivalries, championship by legislators of economic causes and a dismal ignorance of the importance of the waterway contributed to last year's failure of the Congress to join those who had made a careful study of the program.

The Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company quite naturally opposes the program. Although its officials conceivably could feel, as many others do, that the waterway would not be injurious to the railroad in this section, they naturally do not welcome competition.

This newspaper has never been unfriendly to the railroad company. This attitude rises from two considerations: the railroad's pioneering in industrial development of this section and its contribution in taxes to local and state governmental divisions.

But now, with the railroad having richly profited on its investments in the Big Sandy, and with it threatened no more by waterway development than the Norfolk & Western was imperiled by canalization of the Kanawha, THE TIMES cannot condone its fight against a move that may mean the future industrial life of the section.

The U.S. corps of engineers, the U.S. board of engineers, the Rivers and Harbors committee of Congress and the National Rivers and Harbors Congress—all have given the Big Sandy project their unqualified approval.

The project is sound, needful, sufficiently advanced in status, and should be promptly constructed in the public interest." So reads the stamp of approval placed on the Big Sandy waterway program as one of twelve over the nation placed in "Class One" by the National Rivers and Harbors Congress.

The only by-product coal available to mid-continent America lies in the Big Sandy and Kanawha districts. The Kanawha has water transportation, Big Sandy has not. They are competitors for this great inland market. Railroad freight rates have been increased; they may be raised repeatedly. And Big Sandy coal will have to pay the tariff while Kanawha coal benefits from lower water transportation.

Indeed, the time may come when, boom days gone, the king that is coal in the Big Sandy may be dead because of inability to live in competition with coal that can be marketed via water at much less cost.

The Big Sandy waterway program is not dead, however. It suffered a setback in Congress, but it is now rising to fight again another day.

The productiveness and economic life of the section depends upon this next fight in Congress. It is important that those who believe this cause to be just do a bit of battle on the "home front."

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ribble and children, Mary Davidson and John, arrived Sunday from their home in Washington for a two-week visit with her mother, Mrs. Mary D. Allen.

Mrs. Max Burns went to Huntington Sunday to visit friends at her former home.

Miss Ella Noel C. White was guest of Mrs. Jo M. Davidson Monday evening.

utes providing fines up to $1,000 for neglect of duty and others which permit suit to recover costs of such voided elections. It explained that Moore, a former state motor-transportation director, was liable because he is responsible for acts of his subordinates, and that Hale was one of the deputies assigned to post election notices.

The opinion also criticized Mrs. Bessie R. Arnold, County Court clerk, saying she had failed to enter in her records the sheriff's reports on posting of the notices.

and Roark's single. Poole left the field of action when, in the very next inning, Bartley bashed him for a homer after Evans and May had singled.

Childers, Prestonsburg twirler, figured in the other runs scored by the winners. In the fourth he walked and stole second, coming home on Heinze's single, and in the sixth he singled, again stole second and again scored on a single by Heinze. Both runs were scored after two men had been retired.

Before the big ninth, Elkhorn City had scored single runs in the fourth and sixth, also. Musselman broke the ice for the losers in the fourth by hitting a one-baser, swiping second and scoring on Powell's single. In the sixth Musselman again singled and scored as Powell and Deskins followed with similar blows.

Pikeville held on to the league lead, defeating Allais, 9 to 0, with Buck Stumbo again starring on the mound for Pikeville. Prestonsburg plays Allais in a doubleheader at Hazard Sunday. Prestonsburg also will play Williamson there Friday night and engage Harold here Saturday afternoon.

section. "I am not here to sell Louisville to you; I bring greetings and am glad to be here," he said in a brief talk.

W. F. Miller, Louisville banker, missed the presence of his oldtime friend, the late "Uncle Jo" Davidson. He described Mr. and Mrs. Davidson as "two lovable characters who lived in your midst and who were loved by bankers all over the nation."

Bruce Hoblitzell, president of the Louisville Board of Trade, walked from the railway station at West Prestonsburg into "town." "I looked so much like a native son that nobody picked me up," he explained. This, despite the fact that the Junior Chamber of Commerce had enlisted the services of 40 or more automobile owners to transport the visitors after they left their special train at the station.

Eddie Martin led in the singing of the - always - appropriate - when-Kentuckians-meet "My Old Kentucky Home," and the Rev. Everett Branham, pastor of the Prestonsburg Baptist Church, closed the meeting with prayer.

From here the tour continued to Pikeville, and from there moved to Irvine, Beattyville, Jackson, Whitesburg and Hazard.

Why I Am for Earle C. Clements For Governor of Kentucky

A number of people have said to me, "If I were you I would not be for Earle C. Clements because certain other people are for him."

I am not for Clements because others are for him or because certain people may be against him. I am for Earle C. Clements because I am convinced that he is the best man for Governor. I believe that he will work for the best interests of all the people. He has stated his platform which is very good, and in my estimation, the most logical of that offered by any candidate.

Clements will strive, I am convinced, to carry out that platform because of his past record as County Judge, State Senator and Congressman. While serving in these different positions he has left a record above reproach. He has continued to fight for the farmer, the miner and the REA. I am sure his opponent will not deny these facts. He does, however, accuse Mr. Clements of being against the REA but the record shows that he voted and debated in favor of REA legislation in 1945, 1946 and 1947. Mr. Clements is the only member of Congress on the ticket and since the REA is a project of the federal government he is the only person running for Governor who has ever had a chance to vote for REA appropriations. His voting record is enough to prove to me how he stands. He pledges his support to expansion of REA until all farm homes have electric power.

Mr. Clements says that unless the present Governor calls a special session of the legislature to increase teachers' pay his first request, as Governor, to the General Assembly will be for an appropriation that will raise the teachers' pay to a figure of which they will not be ashamed.

He is for bettering the farm program and has fought for it as Congressman and since he is a farmer he understands the problems a farmer may encounter.

He is for establishing housing facilities at our state parks in order to attract tourists to our state to view our historical sites and to create additional sources of revenue. Mr. Clements made this suggestion in a radio address last Thursday night, saying that he would advocate a bond issue or direct appropriation to provide the necessary funds. The very next day our present Governor called his cabinet into session for the first time in three years to act on this proposal.

He is for industrialization of Kentucky and promises to offer inducements to factories to locate within our state so that our citizens will not have to leave home to seek employment.

Mr. Clements is for increased aid to the Welfare Department, which has been struggling along with practically nothing to operate on.

He is for improving the road system by changing the present set-up and letting the local government handle the rural road program. His experience as County Judge for two terms in his home county proves that he understands the rural problems and how to formulate a constructive road program.

Last, but by no means least, Mr. Clements served in the United States army for 28 months during World War I. Most of his service was with the 48th Division in Europe.

In a speech last week, he expressed his feeling toward the thousands of ex-service men in Kentucky. He said that they have not been recognized by Kentucky and that they are not demanding much but do not deserve to be penalized because of having served their country. He further stated that thousands of them are qualified and have special training which would enable them to help carry on the state government. He says that there is room for many in the different departments of state.

Harry Lee Waterfield, who was a young man when World War II started, did not go into service and I hold no grudge against him because of his not having served but I am sure that he is less qualified to understand the problems of the veterans than is Earle C. Clements, who shared the hardships on the battlefields. The thousands of Kentucky veterans who have rallied to Clements' support have signified that they, too, share this belief.

Harry Lee Waterfield presents a fair platform but he states that he will appropriate tens of millions of dollars for various improvements but he has failed to tell where he will obtain the money for these huge expenditures. Yes, he says that he will increase the appropriations for various departments while at the same time he proposes to reduce the intangible tax rate and to give greater exemptions in the inheritance tax. You will hear a great deal about his proposal to levy a tax on pari-mutuel racing tickets. Do you believe that a greatly increased budget can operate on the taxes from winning race track tickets?

I would like for Mr. Waterfield to show how he will get all that money. All of us can spend money, which is an easy task, but it is hard to operate on a budget and keep the state out of debt without placing a greater tax burden on the people. Increased appropriations such as Mr. Waterfield proposes, mean increased taxation. I am afraid that he cannot fulfill his promises unless we, the people, pay dearly for them.

The above reasons are why I am for Earle C. Clements for Governor. I am convinced that it is my duty to do all in my power to help him become Governor of Kentucky. I am convinced that it is best for the welfare of the state, the farmers, the miners, the teachers and my fellow veterans, that I support and ask my friends to support Earle C. Clements.

less till the seventh. Burchett, meanwhile, had been at third base, and he again went to the hill. From there on through the 14th he was invincible, holding Lafayette to one hit.

Prestonsburg trailed right into the last inning of the regulation distance, but Garber started the round off with a single, stole second and reached third on the Lafayette second baseman's error. Childers' hit scored him. From there on till the 14th it was a mound duel between Burchett and Carr. In the 14th Branham singled, stole second and raced home as the Lafayette catcher threw the ball into centerfield.

Against Manual, Prestonsburg was clearly outclassed, although the tiring marathon of the day before could be offered as an alibi. Burchett was hit hard to start the game off. He was followed by Harmon, with L. (Blue) Childers, diminutive southpaw, twirling the last two frames and doing the best mound job of the day for the Cats. Blackburn and Burchett made the only Prestonsburg hits.

TO THE VOTERS OF KENTUCKY:

As a candidate for the Democratic nomination for State Treasurer, I cannot personally see and talk with more than a fraction of all the voters. Through this card I hope to gain your acquaintance, or at least afford you with the facts concerning me and my qualifications.

I am 36 years old, was born and reared on a rough hillside farm in Floyd county, Ky., where I, as well as others, have worked as long as 14 hours a day for 25 cents a day. I have taught school in a one-room log school, with as many as 94 pupils of all grades—this for around $30 a month.

Later, I was elected Circuit Court Clerk of Floyd county and I served in this capacity and as deputy Circuit Court Clerk for 20 years. For 23 years I was a director, cashier and president of The First National Bank, Prestonsburg, Ky. I have been a practicing lawyer since 1917 and was Circuit Judge of the 31st Judicial District for six years.

I have been a member of the L.O.O.F. for 35 years, am a life-membership Mason, also a Knights Templar, Shriner, Elk, and member of other groups.

I recount my banking and official experience to show you that I am qualified for the office I seek and that the folks who know me have complete confidence not only in my ability but also in my character as a citizen.

I am an avowed Democrat but claim to be a "conservative" Democrat, mixing "horse-sense" with my politics and putting service above personal ambition.

Your support in my behalf will be appreciated, and you may be assured I will know how to handle the job if nominated and elected.

Last of all, permit me to express the wish that, whether I win or not, the Democratic party wins the victory in November.

Sincerely yours,

Assistant Prosecutor John T. M. Redden pointed out that May had interceded with the War Department for the Garssons before he saw the letter. Redden asked May if he would have taken the actions he did had he not seen the letter.

"I took action (after seeing the letter) I would not have taken otherwise," May replied.

JUNE 18—Conflicting testimony about the ownership of a Kentucky lumber company financed by munitions makers featured the May-Garsson trial today.

A. J. (Little Jack) May told the federal court jury his uncle, A. J. May, wartime chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee, never claimed part ownership of the concern.

The nephew said, "I don't remember" giving contrary testimony last fall to the grand jury. He made this reply when confronted with grand jury proceedings quoting him as saying May had claimed to be a Cumberland stockholder.

Justice Henry A. Schweinhaut told the jury today it may be necessary to move court principals to Freeman's bedside to complete his examination. Freeman, a Washington agent for the Garssons, was an original defedant in the trial but was acquitted.

Rural Power Co-Op
State Meet To Hear
Views of Candidates

When will Kentucky's 150,000 farm families who still live by kerosene lamplight get electric lights and power?

That's a question that members of the Kentucky Rural Electric Co-operative Corporation wish they could answer, and one which will be foremost in their minds at state meetings to be held in Louisville, June 22-23.

The Big Sandy Rural Electric Co-op will be represented at the meeting by D. J. Gambill, president, Glenn C. Burchett, secretary, treasurer, Clabe Bingham, vice-president, Luther J. Conley, Cort Daniels and William Hicks, board members. "Our Cooperative already has 262 miles of line in service," Mr. Gambill said, "and we are serving 1,585 members. We have 600 applicants for service from lines for which loans have already been approved and 431 applicants for whom we have not yet received REA approval but for which information has been sent to REA and we hope to receive this approval at a very early date. In addition, about 500 farms in our territory in sections we have not been able to serve, must look to us for service. We want to finish the job we have started. We who have electricity now want our neighbors to get it at the earliest possible date. We are disturbed over the recent development in Congress when the House of Representatives cut the REA appropriation fund $25,000,000 and the administrative fund $1,600,000 and we are going to try to do something about this at our Louisville meeting."

The KRECC is a statewide organization of Kentucky's REA-financed electric cooperatives. A majority of the 25 Rural Electric co-ops are members. The organization is inviting the state's senators and representatives, as well as the candidates for Governor and other state officers, to attend the meeting and express their views on rural electrification.

ACT I:
We met... we danced... we romanced. We both knew this was it... that our love was out of this world.

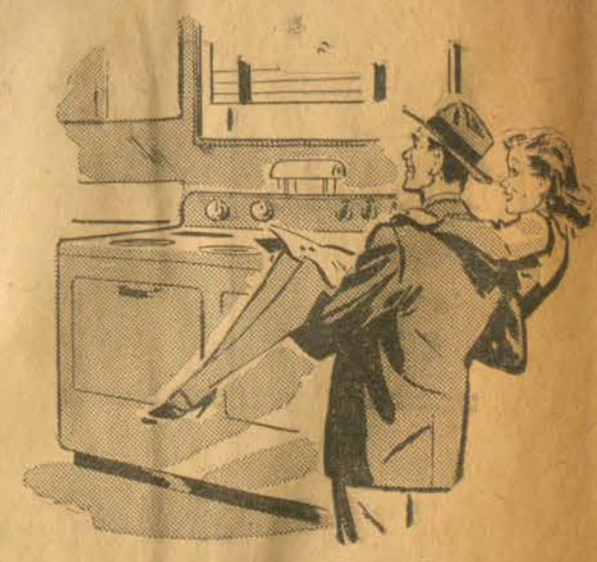

ACT II
Scene I:
Our loving friends predicted a homeless marriage, but our luck held... we found a little house... not the home of our dreams but we were determined, and so,

Scene II:
Yes, you guessed it! WE remodeled it into an ALL-Electric Home. Were my erstwhile girl friends green! So foolish, too. Electric service for everything is easy, cheap—perfection.

ACT III:

TO THE PUBLIC:
 I have lost a job as a tooldresser because an oldtime drifter, Leon Taylor objected to me. Not my work, understand—just to me, claiming I got on his nerves.
 The man who caused me to lose my job drew good wages while I was drawing a soldier's pay overseas. His nerves should be better than mine, especially since I spent three years in France and Germany in the artillery, which is an outfit that doesn't quiet the nerves.
 Now that he has put me out of a job, the oldtimer of the jumpy nerves may be wanting to drill me a water well, since he is planning to quit and start drilling water wells. I doubt if my nerves could stand it.
 I needed the work, but some folks must have their way, and I suppose it is as well he is having his.
