

This Town— That World

Meanless Tuesdays, neither the chicken nor the egg on Thursdays. I want some seafood, Mama!

Printer Goble rises to ask a question:

If a Yankee ballplayer were to stray over into Brooklyn this week, would he get Flatbushwhacked?

WE SEE BY THE PAPERS

Maybe we shouldn't mention such a thing, but it was in the papers. The Courier-Journal's Point of View column this week published a letter from a reader, some distance removed from these parts, suggesting that, inasmuch as Kentucky already has a Washington and a Lincoln county, there should be a Roosevelt county.

That was all right; nobody was injured by that part of the suggestion except a few Roosevelt-haters. But here is the part of the letter that might have set in chain reaction:

The writer suggested that all of Johnson—yes, Johnson!—county, except the town of Paintsville, should be named Roosevelt county!

We have a supply of cotton at hand and are ready for Hatler Johnson's anguished blast.

COLLISION CORNER

The Third street and Mayo Trail intersection here is rapidly gaining the name of "Collision Corner"—all because of improper marking. Within the last two weeks, at least three crashes have occurred at this point.

The stranger following Third street, en route upriver, faces a highway marker which would indicate the route is straight ahead. There is no "Curve" or "Turn" sign. As a result, the stranger drives straight ahead instead of turning to the left, and the downriver traffic following the trail barges on through at right angles. Contact!

In the interest of public safety, the State Highway Department or the City of Prestonsburg should unmix the signals.

Heart Ailment Fatal To Mrs. Amanda Akers

A heart ailment of two years' duration resulted Saturday noon in the death at the home of Ernest Elliott, Betsy Layne, of Mrs. Amanda Short Akers. She was 71 years old.

Mrs. Akers was a native of Buffalo, Johnson county, and was a daughter of the late Silas and Elizabeth Powers Short. She had resided at Betsy Layne for the last 15 years. Mrs. Akers was a devout member of the Christian Church.

Surviving, besides her husband, are one son, William M. Akers, railway engineer, of Anchorage, Alaska, three daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Elliott, Pikeville, Mrs. Nancy Farmer, Grundy, Va., Mrs. Mae Brown, Betsy Layne, two brothers, Grant Short, Meta, Ky., Jim Short, Louisa, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Jane Hall, of Meta.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday from the home at Betsy Layne, the Revs. O. B. Johnson and Alvin Cooper officiating. Burial in the Ferguson cemetery at Laynesville was directed by the Baker & Preston Funeral Home.

HEALTH LAW IS INVOKED

As Warrant Charges Risner Man Refused Vaccination of Son

Enforcement of the Kentucky law which requires all pupils and teachers of any private, public or parochial school to be vaccinated against smallpox was begun in this county Tuesday morning as health and school authorities procured a warrant for the arrest of a Risner man upon his refusal to permit the vaccination of his nine-year-old son.

The warrant was issued for the arrest of Fred Ousley. It was said that his young son had been ejected from school by health authorities when it was learned that he had not been immunized and then chased back to school by truant officers when they found him absent. The boy is a pupil in the Alum Lick school on the Caney fork of Middle Creek.

Penalty for failure to comply with the law is a fine ranging from $5 to $20 for each refusal to have vaccination completed. County Attorney W. W. Burchett said.

"In fact," he said, "the law provides that every child shall be vaccinated against smallpox by the end of the first year after birth."

Dr. Marvin Ransdell, director of the county health department, said there doubtless are other violators of the law. Action will be taken against each of these unless they comply immediately, he added.

The writ against Ousley was the first court action taken in the county under this law, it was said.

ADDED HELP GIVEN FFA

Banks of County Join In Purchasing Gilts For Second Chapter

Assistance to Future Farmers of America, begun last year here, toward the raising of purebred hogs was increased recently with the purchase by the three banks of the county of three purebred O.I.C. gilts for McDowell Future Farmers, Roy Denny, Agriculture instructor there, announced this week.

Last year, the same plan went into effect here, with Prestonsburg FFA boys receiving gilts through the First National Bank and the Bank Josephine. This year, these two banks and the new First Guaranty Bank at Martin joined in purchasing pigs for the McDowell boys.

The gilts received by three members of the McDowell FFA chapters are from the best blood lines in the state and their parents have won top prizes in Kentucky, Missouri, Indiana and Illinois fairs, Mr. Denny said.

Each of the three boys receiving one of the pigs is to return to the club two choice gilts at weaning age and these will be drawn for by other FFA members.

The "piggy bank" of the Prestonsburg FFA chapter has already produced and other boys of the chapter now have pigs as a result of the plan. R. L. Shepherd, Agriculture teacher here, said.

BOARD SEEKS SCHOOL BIDS

Two Plans for Building At Weeksbury Offered; New Teachers Hired

Bids on the job of constructing an eight-room school building at Weeksbury will be received until 1 p. m., Oct. 25, with the hope that prices asked will permit the letting of a contract, the Floyd County Board of Education announced after its Wednesday afternoon meeting here.

The Board is asking contractors to bid on both the old and new sets of plans and specifications. After bids on the original plans were held exorbitant, a few months ago, the Board directed architects to devise another set of plans envisioning lower construction costs.

Employment of 14 new teachers was approved by the Board. These teachers and schools to which assigned are:

Ruth P. Greer, Nesba Cann and Ada Maggard, Wheelwright grades; Sallie Conley, Garrett high school; Mildred Osborne, Maytown grades; Margaret Compton, Betsy Layne grades; Ruth Allen Roberts, Wayland; Jessie D. Yelder, Tram; Thelma Montgomery, District 7; Eric Frasure, Jr., No. 52A; Gilya M. Reynolds, No. 64; Cynthia Martin, No. 61A; Theima R. Patton, No. 89, and Esther H. Sammons, Simpson Martin Branch.

Resignations of five teachers were received by the Board. They are: Gladys Leshore, District 1A; Verdie Frasure, No. 61; Elizabeth Mae Laven, 52A; Jo Allyn Howell, Betsy Layne, and Irene B. Burke, No. 92.

DRY FORCES IN PIKE-CO. WIN BY 910

Last Liquor 'Oasis' In Eastern Kentucky Is 93rd To Ban Booze

Eastern Kentucky's last alcoholic oasis may be a thing of the past unless wet forces contest last Saturday's Pike county local-option election won by the prohibitionists by a 910-vote margin.

The complete but unofficial count gave the dries 7,990 against 7,080 for the wets.

In the absence of a contest by wet forces, results of the Saturday election would mean the end of whiskey sales in Pike county in about 60 days.

Anti-prohibitionists have a month after certification of the election in which to file a contest. Actual prohibition would go into effect within 60 days after certification, providing there were no contest.

Immediate comment on the dry victory was lacking from wet spokesmen, but Dr. A. A. Page, president of Pikeville College and leader of the dries, gave credit for the victory to organized efforts of every church in the county, leading businessmen, and educators.

"We did this in spite of organized work of whiskey interests, both local and state, with apparently unlimited financial backing," Page said.

Pike county would become the 93rd county in Kentucky legally banning sale of intoxicating liquor on a county-wide basis. Legal liquor sales now are permitted in some districts of the county. Three other counties—Bell, McCracken and Union—have the same situation now, some districts wet, some dry. Twenty-four counties allow sale of liquor now on a county-wide basis.

SUTTON RITES HELD TUESDAY

Airman's Body Returned From California to Home Of Parents at Maytown

In the Methodist Church at Maytown, church of his boyhood, last rites for Major W. E. Sutton, Jr., who was killed in Los Angeles, Calif., Sept. 28, in an automobile wreck, were conducted Tuesday afternoon.

Body of the 28-year-old airman arrived at the home in Maytown of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sutton, Sr., on the preceding day.

A large gathering of relatives, friends and former schoolmates filled the church. At the grave in the family cemetery at Maytown full military honors were paid Major Sutton by Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion. A profusion of flowers attested to the deep esteem in which he was held.

Officiating at the funeral was the Rev. S. B. Rucker, pastor of the church. Burial was made under direction of the Ryan Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Roger Stewart, George E. Allen, Jarvis Allen, Joe Taylor Begley, James Allen and Clinton Craft.

WOMAN VICTIM OF MENINGITIS

Four Others in County Suffering Contagious Ailments, Is Report

Of the five persons suffering from contagious diseases and visited within the week by Dr. Marvin Ransdell, director of the Floyd County Health Department, one died Wednesday afternoon.

The victim was Miss Braska Hayes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kendall Hayes, of Turkey Creek. She died of cerebro-spinal meningitis.

The other sufferers are: Kermit Hamilton, 12, of Lambert, and Judith Ann Howard, 6, Prestonsburg, suffering from scarlet fever; Kermit Sizemore, 14, of Town Branch, near here, infantile paralysis; Gusta Combs, 24, Dana, typhoid.

Homes of all five have been quarantined. Dr. Ransdell said. The polio case on Town Branch appears not to be severe, it was said, and the quarantine of the Sizemore family may be lifted Monday.

Miss Cassie Martin, of Washington, D.C., who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Noah Martin, at Minnie, was in Prestonsburg Tuesday.

Gillespie Rebuilding Stockyard at Allen On Original Site

R. M. Gillespie, of Prestonsburg, owner of the Allen stockyards which were leveled recently by fire, has pens under construction and announced this week that he will be ready to re-open in the old location Friday, October 17.

Plans for the new building venture provide for space sufficient to accommodate more livestock and larger crowds of dealers than heretofore.

SMOKE FATAL TO DUD HICKS

Two Others Affected In Middle Creek Mine Early Monday Evening

One man suffocated early Monday evening in a smoke-filled mine of the Sampson Elkhorn Coal Company on Caney Fork of Middle Creek, and two others escaped from the workings with difficulty.

Dead is Dud Hicks, 62, of Risner. A companion, Elmer Prater, was hospitalized but is recovering. A third man, Oliver Ousley, was less seriously affected.

The three re-entered the mine after supper to view the success of their shots. They failed to turn on the fan to clear the mine of smoke and bad air. A rescue party from a nearby mine of the Reed interests was hurriedly summoned to the scene, but Hicks was dead when reached.

The victim was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Emery Hicks and was a native of the Risner section. His wife died a month ago and they left no children. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Henry Ousley, of Risner.

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday afternoon and burial was made in the family cemetery under direction of the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

Mrs. Clarke Succumbs Tuesday at Residence Here to Heart Attack

Mrs. Hetty Jones Clarke, 65 years old, widow of Cal Clarke, well-known Prestonsburg man, died suddenly at her home on Third avenue Wednesday morning at 5:30 o'clock, victim of a heart attack.

Mrs. Clarke had been in ill health for some time and for the last several days her condition had been serious. News of her passing was received with deep regret by relatives and friends throughout this section.

She was a daughter of the late Robert and Rebecca Hall Jones and was a native of Banner. A member of the Baptist Church for many years, she was one of Prestonsburg's most revered women.

Surviving are her son, Curtis Clarke, Prestonsburg, one sister, Mrs. Steve Osborne, Catlettsburg, and two brothers, M. L. Jones, Huntington, W. Va., and B. L. Jones, of Banner.

Funeral rites will be conducted from the residence Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Revs. M. Robert Regan and Isaac Stratton officiating. Burial in the Richmond cemetery will be directed by the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

Johns Creek Farmer, Merchant Is Victim At Age of 89 Years

Daniel Webster James, early resident of the Johns Creek section and a member of one of its leading families, died Friday at his home at McCombs, Pike county, a victim at the age of 89 of dropsy.

Born Nov. 25, 1857 in this county, he was a son of William James, Civil War veteran, and Dicey Fraley James. His father died of a Civil War battle wound. Mr. James, who was known to hundreds of friends and relatives as "Uncle Babe," was a well-known farmer and merchant and was a devout member of the Methodist Church.

His wife, Mrs. Sarah Maynard James, preceded him in death 19 years ago. He is survived by three sons and four daughters: John W. James, of German, Clarence and Carl James, of McCombs, Mrs. Vina Leslie, of Mare Creek, Mrs. Norma Kennedy, Pikeville, Mrs. Edna Spears and Mrs. Hazel Burchett, both of McCombs. One brother, A. L. James, Catlettsburg, 17 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren also survive.

Funeral rites were conducted Sunday from the residence at McCombs, the Revs. James Roark and Isaac Stratton officiating. Burial in the family cemetery was under direction of the Baker & Preston Funeral Home.

Coal-Testing Laboratory Is in Operation at David

The Princess Elkhorn Coal Company recently completed the construction and outfitting of a new and modern chemical and preparation laboratory which is located just below the No. 1 preparation plant at David, it was announced last week.

The laboratory, the result of careful planning as to the needs of the company, is equipped to run proximate analyses of all sizes of coal produced from the mines. The proximate analyses include ash, sulphur, volatile content, carbon content, moisture content, and fusion or ash softening temperature. Arrangements are also being made for determining B.T.U. consist. In order to prepare samples properly for these analyses, the laboratory is equipped with a crushing machine and quaterning machine, both of which are specifically designed for these purposes. The laboratory also has a fusion furnace and volatile furnace and ovens for burning ash and sulphur tests.

The company will run tests on practically every car of industrial coal which it produces and will make regular spot checks on domestic sizes, officials said. By this procedure the company feels that it can be assured of the product which it is selling and can better control the quality of the coal mined, and at the same time keep the sales department informed of the product it is selling.

The Princess Elkhorn management has agreed to a policy of making its laboratory services available to neighboring operators or local truck miners who need analyses of their coal. Normally, analyses can be run and the results reported within two or three days, and earlier if it is an emergency.

Cats Drop First Game of Year To Hazard; Jenkins Tilt Next

Last Saturday, by proclamation of Mayor E. P. Arnold, of Prestonsburg, was Elbner Day here and, honoring Prestonsburg's popular athletic coach, most business houses closed for the Hazard-Prestonsburg football game.

Appreciative as he was for himself and his team, Coach Elbner would have exchanged all this and given some boot, shortly after 3 that afternoon, for a good defense man against passes.

For the visiting Hazard team was passing the Cats dizzy. And that was how the Perry couplings put together a 33-13 victory that left fans here gasping.

Despite the fact that they had been coached intensively throughout the preceding week on pass defense, the Prestonsburg ends and backs could neither bat down nor intercept the heaves of Ross, Hazard pigskin twirler.

On the ground, the Blackcats were the equals, if not the superiors, of their conquerors. Hazard scored only one touchdown on straight running, and that was on the kickoff to start the second half, with Rose grabbing the kick and weaving his way for a marker that thrilled Hazard fans and chilled ours.

The half ended with the two teams at 13-all. Goble had scored both Prestonsburg touchdowns, one on a sensational run, and there was no indication of the dire things ahead in the last two quarters.

Goble in the backfield and Mike Horn in the line were the Prestonsburg standouts.

Despite the score, Hazard's coach and team were liberal with their praise of the Blackcats and the deceptiveness of their attack from the T.

It was not only the Cats' first loss in four games but was also the first time their goal had been crossed this season.

For Friday night's game at Jenkins Prestonsburg is ill-prepared, with seven regulars on the bench with injuries. "This is not just a coach's talk," Mr. Elbner said Wednesday. "We will be the luckiest team in the country if we beat Jenkins."

Sideline by hurts are Mayo and Bradley on the backfield, Burchett, Vaughan, Woods, Spradlin and Garber from the line.

Lawsy!—the Stock Law Is New Election Issue

In at least one Floyd county precinct, come November 4, the burning issue of the day will be not a new state Constitution, but the legal right of cattle to enjoy life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness over the countryside.

The voters of Rough and Tough precinct will ballot on the ancient question of a stock law. As of this date, no such law exists there and livestock range wherever a fence does not bar them.

Several other precincts of the county have no such law, but this is the first occasion in years for the matter to be brought to a vote in the county.

TRACE SLAYER TO HINDMAN

But Man Who Killed Perry-Co. Storekeeper Remains Uncaptured

Perry county Sheriff Green Holliday said Wednesday that Robert Gambill, 22, accused of firing 18 bullets into a storekeeper at Grapevine, Perry county, had been traced to Hindman in Knott county, but that he continued at large.

Meanwhile murder charges against Gambill's father, Ira Gambill, and his uncle, Walter Gambill, were dismissed in a hearing before Council Judge Taylor Witt.

The judge explained that he issued murder warrants against the two men after they were found at the scene of the slaying, carrying arms, but that the charges were brought mainly as a means of holding them as witnesses. He said no evidence could be introduced to justify holding them longer.

Sheriff Holliday said evidence he had uncovered indicated that Robert Gambill awoke the storekeeper, Jesse Napier, 50, about midnight Saturday and had him open the store to permit him to make a purchase.

The Sheriff said his evidence indicated the young man made his purchase and returned to an automobile, got his carbine, and fired it through the window at Napier. Neighbors were quoted as saying a grudge existed between young Gambill and Napier.

Holliday said he was told by Ralph LeMance, a coal miner, that young Gambill fired the shots, then took LeMance's automobile and wrecked it several miles away. He hired a taxi to take him to Knott county, where he has an uncle, the Sheriff said.

Judge Witt said Ira and Walter Gambill were reported by deputies to have arrived at the scene "some time" after Napier was slain.

McDowell Merchant Succumbs Suddenly, Heart Attack Victim

Azzie B. Hall, 52 years old, well-known McDowell farmer and merchant, died suddenly Saturday morning at his home of a heart attack shortly after arising for his usual day's activities.

Mr. Hall was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hall and was a native of Blue Moon; on Mud Creek. He had many relatives and friends throughout this section.

Surviving are his widow, a daughter of Dick Stumbo, seven daughters and two sons: Mrs. Ivela Risner, New London, O., Mrs. Inez Case, Albion, Mich., Mrs. Irene Brown, Ashland, O., Clyde Hall, McDowell, Mrs. Magdalene Kidd, New London, O., Betty Jo, R. J., Melva and Loreta Hall, all of McDowell. He is also survived by three brothers, Walter Hall, of Blue Moon, James Monroe and Jack Donald Hall, both of Craynor.

Funeral rites were conducted Monday at Blue Moon, the Revs. Johnny Hall and Tack Hall officiating. Burial in the family cemetery at Blue Moon was under direction of the Arnold Funeral Home.

Owner of Moonshine Draws Fine of $109

A raid Monday night by Deputy Sheriffs Harold Conn, Ed Craft and J. B. Hall into Salt Lick Creek resulted in the arrest at his home of Ellis Shepherd and the confiscation of eight half-gallons of moonshine whiskey.

Shepherd was brought to jail and was fined a total of $109.

His arrest followed a visit to Prestonsburg of a woman from the Salt Lick section who said Shepherd had sold whiskey to her 13-year-old son.

VETS' TRUCK KILLS CHILD NEAR HERE

Holbrook Faces Charge Of Manslaughter; Says Sun Glare Blinded Him

Junior Holbrook, 21-year-old Payne Gap war veteran and truck driver for Champion Stores, was placed under $5,000 bond here Tuesday shortly before nine-year-old Edna Jane Goble died of injuries sustained Monday afternoon when hit by Holbrook's truck near the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Goble, at Lanzer.

The child, a pupil in the third grade at the Lanzer school, died at the Prestonsburg General hospital at 12:55 Tuesday afternoon of a skull fracture and other injuries, including a broken leg.

Arrested by Deputy Sheriff Ed Craft, Holbrook claimed he was blinded by glare of the sun on an aluminum-coated trailer he was passing on the fill, near the Goble home, and that he did not see the child. The little girl was en route home from school at the time she was hit, and was almost five feet off the pavement, her father said, when struck.

Terrific impact of the truck knocked the child from her shoes and stockings and hurled her approximately 30 feet over the bank at the left side of the highway. After striking her, the truck cut back onto the highway, striking the trailer, which was drawn by a dump truck, knocking it over the fill. The vehicles were traveling upriver in the same direction as that followed by the victim.

Holbrook was not drinking, and was disconsolate over the tragedy, officers said. Robert Carr, Jr., Flatwoods, Ky., driver of the other truck, was uninjured.

Surviving the little victim are her parents, former restaurant and store owners here, and four brothers and sisters: Mrs. Ollie Edw. Wells, Herbert, Wanda L., and Edna Goble, all of Lanzer.

Funeral rites were conducted today (Thursday) from the Goble residence, the Revs. C. F. Conn and Isaac Stratton officiating. Burial in the Akers cemetery on Brandy Keg was under direction of the Arnold Funeral Home.

MOORE VICTIM OF OWN SHOT

Wayland Man Succumbs Five Days After Shot Fired Into His Chest

A shotgun wound in his left breast, said to have been self-inflicted at his Wayland home Sept. 23, resulted last Thursday in the death at the Stumbo Memorial hospital, Lackey, of Fieldery Moore, 41-year-old tippie employe of the Elk Horn Coal Corporation at Wayland.

No motive was given for the act.

The victim was a son of the late Harrison and Amanda Moore and was a native of this county. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Berly Moore, and seven sons and daughters: Annalee, Magdalene, Richard, Billy, Anna Sue and Marvin Moore, all of Wayland. He also leaves two brothers and four sisters: Rev. Hawk Moore and Troy Moore, both of Wayland, Mrs. Homer Moore and Mrs. Ben Stewart, both of Drift, Mrs. Millard Beverly, of Allen, and Mrs. H. L. Moore, of Garrett.

Rites for Mr. Moore, member of a well-known Floyd county family, were attended by upwards of 600 sorrowing friends and relatives at the Steele's Creek Baptist Church Sunday. Officiating ministers were the Revs. Bennett Adams, Willie Collins, M. C. Wright, A. J. Moore and E. H. Howard. Burial in the family cemetery was directed by the Ryan Funeral Home.

Four Jailed Here As Drunken Drivers

Among those jailed here since Sunday were four charged with drunk driving.

In the county jail were Charlie Jarrell, arrested by Patrolman Adams after he allegedly had hit Rodolph Lewis' auto; Leonard Conn, arrested by Deputy Sheriff Ed Craft, and Otis Hayes, of Clear Creek, who was jailed by highway patrolmen.

Lucien Taylor was arrested by Prestonsburg police late Monday. He was driving a truck loaded with logs from the Johns Creek section when captured.

Miss Ora Howard, of David, was here Saturday, shopping.

FRANK'S IN PIKEVILLE

EXTENDS THANKS

To Prestonsburg And All of Floyd County

We have reached and passed the half-way mark of our first year in Pikeville. It was a pleasure indeed to receive the genuine welcome accorded us upon our arrival in Pikeville and the opening of our third shoe store last February 11. For the many, many courtesies and compliments paid to us during the past eight months, even though words cannot express our true appreciation, we offer our most sincere thanks. We shall continue to endeavor to return those courtesies whenever the occasion arises and to render the very best service and consideration possible.

FRANKS also operate shoe stores in Ashland, Ky., and Huntington, W. Va. Our buyer has the sole responsibility of selecting and buying Men's, Women's and Children's Shoes for the three stores. He attends all shoe shows in New York, Chicago and St. Louis and is assisted by fashion and factory representatives in making the best selections of styles for the season's demand. Many of these styles are shown in Vogue and other leading magazines. To back up this national advertising we must stand back of the quality in every pair of shoes we sell.

You are cordially invited to visit our store any time you are in Pikeville. We assure you the utmost in courtesy and fairness. When in Ashland visit our store on the corner of 14th street and Winchester avenue—and in Huntington our new store at 319 9th street—in the heart of downtown Huntington.

FACTS if you need workers

- ◆ Practically any job can be filled by some physically handicapped worker.
- ◆ Ability of the individual impaired job applicant—his skills, experience, and physical capacity must be weighed against the requirements of the specific job. BUT THIS IS TRUE IN THE PLACEMENT OF ANY INDIVIDUAL, not just an impaired person. THE ONE ESSENTIAL CONSIDERATION IS THAT THE NATURE OF THE IMPAIRMENT BE CLEARLY UNDERSTOOD.
- ◆ GET IN TOUCH WITH YOUR NEAREST STATE EMPLOYMENT SERVICE WHEN YOU HAVE JOBS TO FILL.

YOU bet he'll make good—thousands of physically handicapped persons are making good every day in all kinds of highly skilled and unskilled jobs in light and heavy industry. In fact, according to a new Department of Labor survey, conducted in cooperation with the Veterans Administration, physically handicapped persons when prepared for and properly placed in jobs, are as good or better workers than unimpaired persons. This survey shows physically impaired workers as a group (1) had fewer work injuries (2) no greater absenteeism (3) production was as good in most cases and better in many.

During NATIONAL EMPLOY THE PHYSICALLY HANDICAPPED WEEK, we are calling these facts to the attention of the manufacturer, the retailer, wholesaler, service manager—all employers and the general public so that all will remember when it comes to jobs—ABILITY not disability COUNTS.

The Brave Deserve Your Help

REGISTERED with the Kentucky Employment Service here and listed as active cases, hopeful of finding a gainful occupation and a chance of assuming the ordinary citizen's place in life, are 119 handicapped persons. Eighty-one are veterans.

These folks are of the gallant breed who want to earn a living, despite physical handicaps which have been known to daunt less hardy souls. Their thinking has not been twisted by the maiming blow of fate; they retain their pride and the spark of ambition that lifts humans above the soulless brute.

But they find jobs few, particularly in this section. Coal mine operators cannot employ a man who has lost an arm or a leg. There are other tasks that require agility of foot and the use of two hands as well as the guidance of an alert mind.

Then it is up to those other employers who have sedentary work for the crippled—work they can do as well as an athlete; or those who can put to work at a profit both to themselves and their employes those who are otherwise handicapped. There are, fortunately, such employers left.

It may be that this National Employ - the - Physically - Handicapped Week, October 5-11, will cause employers to stop, consider their less fortunate fellow, take inventory of their needs and find a place for such as these.

How much more of inspiration there is in a man with empty sleeve bravely carrying on, working his way, than in the sorry spectacle of an able-bodied man loafing on a street-corner!

Whose the Blame?

CIRCUIT Judge R. Monroe Fields, of the Pike-Letcher district, recently drew the ire of an unknown number of persons scattered over the United States by sentencing thirteen-year-old Crawford Casebolt, of Pike county, to a life sentence at the Greendale reform school and the state reformatory at LaGrange.

Fortunately, John Young Brown, Lexington attorney, took an active interest in the boy's case, and so young Casebolt is now in the friendly environs of Father Flanagan's Boys Town instead of on the "LaGrange second team" at Greendale, as Mr. Brown aptly describes this reform school that does not reform.

Full credit belongs to Mr. Brown and Father Flanagan. But all censure does not belong to Judge Fields.

The circuit judge in the case was simply following the law. The boy had been given a juvenile hearing and, whatever the faults of that hearing, nobody had discovered them until Mr. Brown entered the case at the eleventh hour. The boy then was given trial by a jury. He was convicted and the jury, according to Kentucky law, fixed the sentence.

Judge Fields was powerless to grant probation, inasmuch as the severity of the penalty removed the case outside the jurisdiction of the probation law.

Kentucky law and the state's correctional system were almost wholly at fault. The jury, acting under the law, prescribed the penalty. The state has nothing better for a young law-breaker than Greendale. Kentucky has no real school for the errant young who need guidance rather than punishment, who need training for life rather than coaching at the hands of older criminals for a career in crime.

Whatever measure of blame the state escapes belongs to the elders of the boy and all other wayward boys and girls. Wherever a crime is committed by one so young, there is an older criminal in the background.

And tragically often that criminal is in the youngster's own home. Perhaps an unwitting criminal but guilty, nevertheless, of the awesome crime of permitting the ruin of a young life.

The laws of this state provide that a parent must have his or her child immunized against smallpox by the end of the first year of its life. This week, in this county, that law was being enforced.

But of the laws that might penalize a parent for criminal neglect of the life of his child other than from the physical angle little is said.

Aladdin never had a lamp like this . . .

INFRA-RED LAMPS . . . for a hundred farm purposes

THE wonder of an Infra-Red heat lamp is that the moment its infra-red energy strikes a surface, it is transformed into penetrating heat. Among the countless uses of infra-red heat on a farm are: supplemental heat in poultry and livestock buildings; as a source of heat in brooders; as an aid to drying freshly painted or glued articles; for therapeutic heat application to farm animals. USES FOR POULTRY—A Heat Lamp is excellent for both heat and light in poultry houses—furnishes adequate heat in coldest weather for hover-type chick brooders—as supplemental heat in laying houses—use it above feed troughs to keep wet mash from cooling—to help keep litter dry. . . FOR LIVESTOCK—A Heat Lamp hung above a sow discourages building of a nest and is ideal in maternity pens for quickly drying winterborn pigs, lambs and calves, as it provides warmth away from the weight of the mother's body—it provides dry heat for therapeutic treatment of caked udders, animal wounds and muscle strain. . . IN THE TOOL SHED—In the farm shop it can be used to heat cold machinery or parts—to thin cold, hardened oil or grease. It thaws frozen pipes and radiators, makes cold car and tractor motors start easier—protects water pumps from freezing—hastens drying of freshly painted or glued surfaces. . . FOR PLANTS AND FLOWERS—For warming hotbeds—for ripening fruit which requires concentrated heat—to germinate seeds—for drying seeds and grain to protect plants from untimely frost.

CAUTION: If the heat lamps are close enough to wood, straw, or other material to char, they may cause fire. Care should be exercised in this connection.

Section's Lumbering Problems Cited in Recent Report

Principal items of lumber production in Eastern Kentucky are cross-ties, specialty logs, staves, and mine props, said the annual report of the University of Kentucky's Agricultural Experiment Station, released in Lexington Monday.

The report also stated that forests occupy approximately 70 per cent of the land in Breathitt county and adjacent areas.

There are many problems to the production of lumber in the Eastern section of Kentucky and "returns to the owners of timber are limited," the report added.

Returns are meager, the station's specialists stated, because of the following reasons:

1. Small mills operating on sparse timber and on limited capital do not produce enough to encourage continuous or systematic marketing.

2. Many operators of processing equipment do not have the ability and machinery necessary to produce well-manufactured products.

3. The products offered, especially the lumber, do not sell well in competition with products from the large mills which still are cutting virgin timber in parts of Eastern Kentucky and competing regions.

"The position can be improved by better processing," the report said, "so as to increase the value of timber locally, by a less costly system of handling and marketing, and by educational work and continuous guidance which will co-ordinate logging and marketing with sound forestry practices and management."

Over 30 Improvements
Made at Ky. Elkhorn

In crediting the Kentucky Elkhorn Mining Company's 500-ton-a-day Columbia No. 2 mine with numerous recent safety advances, a federal coal mine inspector also proposes an expanded coal-dust control program and several other precautionary measures in an official re-inspection report released by the Bureau of Mines. Fifty-six men were employed at the McDowell development when it was re-examined in August by Inspector Harold Wiley.

More than 30 between-inspection improvements were listed by Inspector Wiley. They embraced generally adequate roof control, provision of suitable containers for carrying blasting materials, use of permissible explosives in an approved manner, face and roof tests before and after blasting, recording of daily fan inspections, erection of concrete-block stoppings between main intake and return airways, prompt closing of ventilating doors, purchase of two permissible flame-safety lamps, and pre-shift examinations for explosive gas and other hazards. Also listed were audible warning devices for the locomotives, further precautions against electrical and mechanical hazards, placing of rock-dust at strategic points underground for fire-fighting purposes, 100 per cent wearing of "hard" hats, maintenance of complete accident records, and a ban on using open-flame lights in the mine.

Although noting that some rock-dust had been distributed in the mine, Wiley recommended rock-dusting of several working entries to within 80 feet of the face as well as application of additional rock-dust in a number of other active areas. Use of water to allay coal dust during cutting operations also was suggested.

As further aids in promoting safety, the inspector proposed maintenance of unobstructed clearance along the main haulage way, use of permissible trip lights and prohibition of certain risky haulage practices, correction of remaining electrical hazards, increased use of safety posts in face regions, direction of more air to several working places, pressure-recording gauges and automatic stop-signals for the fans, universal wearing of safety-toe shoes, eye protection for workers exposed to flying particles, and prohibition of smoking underground.

"Beacon," New Name Of Koppers Coal

"KENTUCKY IS MY HOME"

By THOMAS GRAHAM

(An address delivered before the Bar Association Meeting, Third District, Louisville, October 1.)

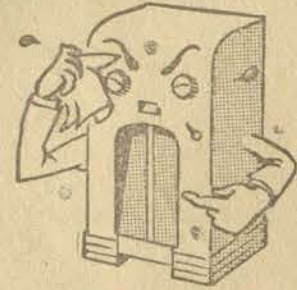

Kentuckians in every war have had as fine a record as any state in the Union. The faith of the people in their state and in America has been their greatest asset.

During 1946, the state stood 11th on a per capita basis in the total purchases of U.S. Savings Bonds and more bonds were sold than in any other southeastern state except Virginia. Less bonds were redeemed by Kentuckians in 1946 than in any other southern state. That peace-time record in finance speaks for itself as to the conservative character of our people who have always believed in the real values of life and live in respect for our constitutional form of government, both federal and state.

A true Kentuckian descends from individualists who believed in private risk-taking and initiative, who held that opportunity was more important than "security." We have often seen in recent years outsiders "low rate" our state in various books and publications and figure us, percentage-wise, last in everything. The character and integrity of our people is the real asset, and when the balance sheet is struck off, for our weights our admittedly financial deficiencies.

Two weeks ago, I had the pleasure of hearing Charles Kettering speak. He is one of our real Americans. His belief in the greatness and future of these United States is thrilling and inspiring in days of so many "little men." This same faith should be shown by all of our citizens aspiring for the leadership of this Commonwealth.

We need local ownership and interest in our industries and assets. Absentee ownership and monopolies of various kinds have been just as much a deterrent to our development.

ment industrially as has the un- friendly basic political philosophy against business in general in- dicated in our 1892 Constitution by men who were afraid of the future, were ideologically unfriendly to business and progress and could not visualize the "Bright New Industrial Horizons in the South. It has always been my belief that our present Constitution has greatly retarded the economic development of Ken- tucky, especially of the mountain and rural areas.

Honorable Edward Seller, a mem- ber of the bar from this district, wrote in 1929 an outstanding book entitled "Kentucky Resources and Industries." Appropriations were dropped and interest lagged regard- ing this subject in our state, but Alabama, North Carolina, Virginia and many other states took this book as their textbook and guide in developing their various state plan- ning and economic commissions. We all know the results of those other states from an industrial stand- point. The next Governor should begin at this same point and have this original book on Kentucky Re- sources in Industries brought up-to- date and then take the necessary steps to put this state back into competition for industry.

I quote from an address by Hon- orable John Whitaker:

"The program of two thousand factories for Kentucky in the next 10 years should be an attainable goal. My thought is that these fac- tories should be small plants located in agricultural centers where the employes of these factories could live at home, have their agricultural products to rely upon as well as their wages from the factory. They raise their own foodstuff, milk, butter, eggs, vegetables and meat. In other words, there will be no additional housing problems nor feeding prob- lems. I know a small town, 1,200 population, in an agricultural coun- ty of 25,000 population in which they have a small hosiery mill and also a small leather factory and tannery. The people who work in these two plants are people who were born and reared in the community, of old Anglo-Saxon stock who live on small farms and not only make money off of their agricultural products, but supplement their incomes by work- ing in these factories. These people distinctly understand that wages paid have to be lower than wages in large factories in large industrial centers. They understand that the products of these factories have to sell at a lower price in order to compete with the large factories who have mass production and in quite a number of instances these employes own small amounts of stock in the company. Therefore, it can be readily understood that very few labor disputes arise and that this is a well-balanced plan, benefi- cial not only to the employes, to the management of small factories, but to the community in which the plant is located. I know of one agri- cultural county that has three small towns outside the county seat. There is a garment factory in the county seat, two small factories in one of the towns and a small factory in each of the others. To me this would be an ideal economic situation for every city and county within the great Commonwealth of Kentucky."

The cities of Kentucky have been making every effort to build up their industrial position so as to supple- ment their too largely agrarian sup- ported economies. One of the prob- lems has been—how to finance fac- tory building for new industries. A good many industries have been successfully financed privately by investment bankers and by local bankers, but these represent a very small proportion of the possible number.

In the last session of the Ken- tucky Legislature Chapter 58 was passed, which Act has to do with the acquisition and development of public projects by governmental agencies, state, city and county, thru the issuance of revenue bonds.

Various eminent Kentucky bond counsel have rendered considered opinions that Chapter 58 is legal for the purpose of issuing factory build- ing revenue bonds and that the supplying of employment is a neces- sary governmental function. The investment banking firms of Ken- tucky are able and willing to make industrial building loans on a revenue bond basis where the setup is sound and where the principal and interest on the loan can be paid off within a period of 25 years.

To complement the working of Chapter 58, the 1948 Legislature should revive and revise the Ken- tucky State Planning Board and pass enabling legislation to make our Kentucky industrialization work and attain our goal of 2,000 factories in 10 years. Kentucky is one of the four states in the Union which does not have such a state board or com- mission.

Twenty years ago every automo- bile license stated "Kentucky for Progress." This slogan now should be implemented and Kentucky money and resources must be in- vested in our state, just as the founders of the state invested their ser- vices and very lives to build up this great Commonwealth. The future possibilities for development are golden and unlimited. Every Ken- tucky citizen should say with Jesse Stuart, "Kentucky is MY Land!"

SHEDS DIRT...STAYS WHITE...

DU PONT HOUSE PAINT
CLEANS ITSELF!
Outside surfaces stay fresh and clean-looking when finished with Du Pont House Paint. Dirt and grime can't get a grip—rains just wash them away!
SELF-CLEANING Du Pont House Paint is so formulated that, as time goes by, a microscopically fine white powder forms on the surface. Heavy rains wash the powder away, taking dust and dirt with it, and leaving the surface clean and white again. Excessive accumulations of dirt (particularly in sooty industrial communities or in heavily shaded locations) may delay or interfere with this process. Because this "self-cleaning" is gradual, the wearing qualities of the paint film are not abnormally affected.
SELF-CLEANING Du Pont House Paint is as durable as it is beautiful . . . protects against rust, rot, and decay . . . gives lasting beauty and protection. Costs no more than ordinary paints—saves re-painting bills! Call on a reliable painter for your painting jobs, and ask him to use Du Pont House Paint!
