

This Town... That World

Dr. DOCTOR! The good Dr. Litkenhous should around his system of rating football teams to an anxious world.

If you will consider this anomaly, you, too, will be clamoring for his formula for mumbo-jumbo with the figures.

WHICH REMINDS ME... Billy Rose told in classic style in his column recently the story of the Swede who hitched himself to a milk wagon and so successfully entered the role of a horse that, after a time, flecks of foam began spraying his coat and finally he turned up at the dairy, one afternoon, a sorry sight, his face scratched, his clothing torn and his cart something of a mess.

Don't know why this should remind me of another story of a man taking the place of a draft animal, but maybe it's because I need to fill this darned white space.

So our hero solves the problem by having his ever-loving wife yoke him up with the bull, hitch them to the plow and let her play p-w-girl.

All things, good and bad, come to an end in this life, and so it was that a neighbor finally headed off the strange couple.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Layne, of Ashland, spent the week-end with Mrs. Jo M. Davidson.

START DOLLAR DAY SERIES

Next Thursday, First Of Bargain Occasions Sponsored by Firms

An idea born with a recent meeting here of the Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce resulted this week in approximately 60 Prestonsburg business firms joining in a series of Dollar Day attractions to their customers.

In a two-page advertisement this week the business firms announce next Thursday, Nov. 6, as the first of the Dollar Day series, with each succeeding Thursday over an indefinite period to present to the public special values. A variety of items at special $1 prices is enumerated in the advertisement.

46 TEACHERS ASK CHARTER

Teacher Federation Formed at Meeting Held October 23

The Floyd County Federation of Teachers, affiliated with the Kentucky Federation of Teachers, was organized Thursday night, last week, at Martin with the names of 46 teachers on the application for charter being the largest group ever to apply for a charter from any Kentucky county.

This announcement was made here by Claude Frady, Garrett high school teacher and coach, and a leader in the movement to organize teachers of the county to carry on their common fight for increased salaries.

BATES SHOOTS MAN BATHING

Hall's Wounds Believed Critical after Shooting in W'Wright Bathhouse

Nick Hall, 40-year-old Wheelwright miner, was struck and critically wounded by two of four revolver bullets said to have been fired at him early this morning (Thursday) by Ireland Bates, 30, miner, also of Wheelwright, while Hall was bathing after completing a shift of work.

The sudden burst of revolver fire came, it was said, while Hall was in the Inland Steel Company bathhouse, bathing nude.

One bullet struck him in his forehead, near the hairline, ranging downward and lodging near the base of the jaw. Another struck him in the body. He was given only a slim chance of recovery, according to reports received here.

County Attorney W. W. Burchett, who, with Deputy Sheriffs Harold Conn and J. B. Hall, investigated the shooting this afternoon, said he was told the two men had engaged in a fist fight, in the vicinity of the coal tippie at Wheelwright before going to work last night. Bates worked approximately two hours, then reported sick to his foreman and asked for a relief worker, the investigation disclosed. After that, it was said, he went home, then drove with his wife to the bathhouse, around 1.15 this morning.

BOARD LETS FIRST MAJOR BUILDING JOB

Since Start of War II In Awarding Contract On Weeksbury School

The first major school building contract to be awarded by the Floyd County Board of Education since the outbreak of World War II was let Saturday for the construction of an eight-classroom school at Weeksbury.

The contract was awarded to Hale & Hunter (Charles Hale and Geard Hunter), Betsy Layne contractors, on their bid of $107,343.30. Theirs was the only bid submitted.

Work on the construction is to be started not later than Nov. 10 and is to be completed within 200 days, County Superintendent Palmer L. Hall said.

SCOUT COUNCIL VOTES HIRING

Of Fulltime Scout Executive To Work Only in This County

Employment of a fulltime Scout executive for Floyd county Boy Scout Council was decided upon at a meeting of the Council at Martin Tuesday night.

The Council will continue to operate as a division of Lonesome Pine Council, but its members expressed the opinion that the present executive assigned to four counties—Floyd, Martin, Johnson and Magoffin—cannot devote the full attention Scouting in this county needs.

Press Fails To Give Cats Credit For Superiority Over Louisa Team

Although Coach John R. Eibner's Prestonsburg Black Cats achieved, last Friday afternoon, what no other team had succeeded in doing this year in their 7 to 6 victory over the Louisa Bulldogs, and although team, coach and fans were jubilant over the well-earned win on the opponents' field, the same Black Cats and their coach were apparently taking a licking from the press this week.

The Bulldogs, on the other hand, were inside the Prestonsburg 10-yard line on exactly one occasion, and that in the fourth quarter when they scored.

Friday afternoon, the Cats go to Raceland for a non-conference tilt. Next week, they prep for the Big Game—the annual get-together with the Paintsville Tigers.

HE IS A MODERN ABRAHAM LINCOLN

1. General Dummit stands for raising all teachers' salaries $46.00 per month immediately, such increase to be retroactive to the beginning of the present school term.
2. He stands for enacting into law the K.E.A. program of 30 million dollars per capita per year for teachers' salaries. This will insure decent salaries for our teachers. Good salaries will hold good teachers in our schools.
3. He stands for increasing old age benefits for our old citizens who need care.
4. He is a friend to all laboring men and farmers.
5. He will build us roads in the rural sections and up the creeks where they are so badly needed.

Nov. 4 Vote May Decide Congressman's Fate

Washington, Oct. 4—The fate of one of Kentucky's Congressional districts may hang on the political complexion of the State Administration which is elected Nov. 4.

The new Governor will be in office in 1951 when the Census Bureau reports the population figures gathered in the 1950 census—the first nationwide census to follow the widespread shifts and migrations of World War II. And the party in power can control any re-districting that may be necessary.

If the census were taken today, one of the nine Congressmen would see his district divided between two of his colleagues and his job abolished.

A House committee has found the Bluegrass state one of 10 which no longer have enough citizens to justify the number of members they send to the House.

Killer Who Was Taken in Pike Smilingly Re-Enacts His Crime

Watched by school children, Paul J. Schneider laughed and smiled occasionally Wednesday as he re-enacted at Denver Colo., the slaying of Frank Ford, Denver filling station operator.

The 24-year-old former San Francisco sailor was taken to the field near the Colorado town where Ford's body was found. Arrested in Pikeville, Schneider admitted slaying

Whether a Republican or Democratic administration performs this delicate operation, however, it most likely would take place in and around Eastern Kentucky, heavily wooded with Republican voters.

Democrats might attempt the job of squeezing Republican voters of the Seventh and Ninth districts—now represented by Republicans W. Howes Meade and John Robison, respectively—into one district without endangering Democratic candidates in the Sixth or Eighth.

If Republicans are in power, they might try to throw the balance of power so that their two representatives would be retained and a Democrat dropped.

In view of the close votes of 1946 in the Eighth (Democratic by 3,000), Sixth (Democratic by 8,000), and Fourth (Democratic by 4,000), mathematicians of both parties soon may be plotting their possible moves on the checker-board of Kentucky's counties.

From the turn of the 20th century until 1930, the state sent 11 members to the lower House, but the number dropped to nine after the re-apportionment of 1930.

Barring a sharp rise in birth rate of many new settlers, the question of reducing Kentucky's membership will be brought to the attention of Congress by the man who is President of the United States in 1951.

Congress may accept the President's re-apportionment or do some re-organizing of its own.

For instance, there is some talk that the House, rather than force some states to drop Congressmen, might raise its membership from 435 (since 1910) to 450 and keep everybody happy.

The party which rules a state government when a re-apportionment is ordered can control the job of gerrymandering the districts.

Ford, Denver Detective Capt. James J. Pitt said. He also confessed two other robbery murders in Michigan. Manacled, Schneider was taken from the Denver jail to Ford's filling station. Sheriff Ernie M. Brown, of Sterling, Colo., produced the two iron bars with which he said he believes Schneider hit Ford.

Children from a nearby school were in the crowd which watched the re-enactment.

Floyd Residents Receive $1,020 Old Age Benefits

"Monthly benefits totaling $1,020 were paid to 799 residents of Floyd county in federal Old Age and Survivors' Insurance payments in the month of June," H. J. Godbey, manager of the Ashland Social Security Administration field office, announced last week.

Although 3,861 residents of the 13 counties served by Mr. Godbey's office are drawing $57,585 monthly, he is concerned over the fact that many others are losing benefits because they failed to file a claim for them. He emphasized the fact that payments under federal old age and survivors' insurance are not automatic. A claim must be filed with the Social Security Administration before payment can be made.

Mrs. Arnold Herald and Mrs. Hargus Wallen have returned home after spending two weeks at the bedside of their sister, Rhoda Alice Hyden, who has been seriously ill at the Kentucky Baptist hospital in Louisville.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D.

"DIDN'T IT RAIN?"

NO negro spiritual has appealed to me more than "Didn't It Rain?" which is the negro version of Noah's flood. When a good chorus of colored people sing that spiritual, you hear the rain and know that there was really a flood. The idea of the flood has taken a great hold on many minds, probably because in our American life we have so often been subjected to dangers of high water. In the 40 years that I have lived in the cavernous limestone area I have somewhat forgotten how serious heavy rains used to be at Fidelity and elsewhere in the regions of surface streams. But the great flood of 1937 gave even us a feeling of helplessness when our few streams and our numerous sink-holes so stopped traffic that there was only one road open into our town for a few days. And that flood has probably left a deeper stamp on our whole state than any other weather that has come within my lifetime.

When I lived on a small hill overlooking a creek bottom, a mile east of Fidelity, every rise in Beechy Fork was an event. Those Jackson Purchase streams are small, but they are in shallow banks, with very wide floodplains stretching out on either side. A rain that the cave area would hardly notice would cause great damage to our fences and crops and might sweep away the results of a whole year's hard work. Cattle or other stock caught in the bottoms after a freak flood might be washed away. Because of our immediate connection with this danger, every hard rain became an event that we dated time by. A hard summer rain, particularly on the Fourth of July, was sure to cause much damage to our creek-bottom crops. We also thought that lightning struck oftener down in that section than elsewhere. And after a summer shower we found a tree that had been hit; very rarely some building was struck, but we feared that each storm would bring disaster to us. And all of us were frightened nearly to death when a storm came up. We had heard of all the accidents that had ever befallen our whole section and naturally thought of these when the lightning flashed. If we were at home, we got on a feather bed for protection and worried about the men and boys who would have to take the rain in the fields or else get under a tree and thus invite lightning. When you are trying to endure a heavy summer shower right out in the woods or fields, an inch of rain can seem like a big portion of what floated Noah's Ark.

It pleases me and also amuses me to see how weather is still a great bit of news. Flash floods, late frosts, very hot weather—anything slightly off the beaten path gives the cub reporter something to write about. This July, 1947, has been a freakish month, one that has often furnished even a good-sized article on the weather. The temperature went down to 46 one night and rose to 95 one day, with the coolest July weather the month has ever brought to my town and its adjacent area. The news photographers all over America have made good money with their pictures of snow in July; at Cleveland, Ohio, for instance. The month ended with a flash flood and electric storm that damaged many farmhouses and barns and injured hundreds of shade trees. Even we in the cave region suddenly felt ourselves akin to the youngsters we used to be, when a dark cloud in the west made us run for the house and the featherbeds. With all our advantages over our former selves, in paved roads, grounding of tall buildings and telephone poles, and bridges across streams, we can be made to feel in such nights as July 31, 1947, that we are not too far away from primitive man in the deep, dark woods, with dangers from floods and storms. Our civilization is, after all, only a pleasant kind of veneer.

Entered as second class matter June 8, 1927, at the postoffice at Prestonsburg, Ky., under the act of March 3, 1879.

VOTE "YES"

NEXT Tuesday, the voters of Floyd county will help decide if a convention shall be called to revise the fifty-six-year-old Constitution of Kentucky.

Both the Democratic and Republican candidates for Governor are for such a convention. It is not a partisan issue. These two leaders of the state's major political parties are agreed that the present Constitution should be modernized.

These men have good reason for making an open avowal of the Constitutional convention cause. If there were any danger of such a convention, or if there were any striking reason for the people to reject the plan, one or the other of these two gentlemen in all probability would have made an issue of the matter.

But they know the Constitution should be revised. They know there is no danger to the people of Kentucky, for the Court of Appeals has already held that only by vote of the people can the work of a convention to revise the Constitution be made valid.

Consider some of the reasons the present Constitution should be revised.

The present Constitution encourages the iniquitous fee system, which fosters much official graft and which has given birth to the opprobrious phrase, "coffee money."

It restricts state salaries to $5,000. This ceiling was sufficient to the needs of 1891. But this is not 1891, and the demand for good and qualified men in other states, at higher salaries, is great. The sky must not be the limit, but salaries must not be pegged at 1891 levels.

The present Constitution prohibits effective compulsory Workmen's Compensation and automobile insurance laws.

It prevents the allocation of school funds to counties where most needed. State Superintendent John Fred Williams, a Republican, only last week pointed out that, with a new and modern Constitution, Floyd county, for one of the 120 in the state, would receive this year approximately $72,000 more in state school funds than it is getting under the present Constitution.

It makes mandatory the useless and ridiculous office of Constable.

These are but a few of the reasons for revising the Constitution.

Then why not change by amendment rather than by convention? Consider:

The Constitution of the state of Kentucky already is three times longer than that of the United States and further lengthening would approach absurdity.

The amendments necessary, interpolated among sections already existing, would render the Constitution almost unintelligible to the average citizen.

The amendment method already has been given trial and found wanting. If it had worked, the Constitution would not now be in its archaic condition and there would be no need for revision.

And there is the case, in brief, for a new or revised Constitution. We of 1947 and 1948 are as capable of naming good and qualified men for the work of fashioning a Constitution as were those of 1891, and we are perfectly capable later of deciding if their work is good or bad.

Then let us delay the matter no further. Vote "Yes" next Tuesday.

KENTUCKY ON THE MARCH

By EWING GALLOWAY

The 1948 General Assembly gave representatives of the Committee for Kentucky a welcome unprecedented in that legislative body's history.

This said senators and representatives, is something different. No special favors asked for. No meat cleavers or axes to grind. Not even a penknife to whet. Just a group of men seeking legislative aid in making Kentucky a better state.

You bet it was unusual, and I'm sure the 1948 Assembly will give the Committee for Kentucky an equally sincere and hearty welcome in January.

The Committee for Kentucky will present what is called "A People's Legislative Program," a list of suggestions drafted by representatives of organizations from nearly all walks of life. The program is an over-all picture of the state's needs, based upon information collected by the Committee in the last three years and upon the wisdom, born of experience, of scores of able men and women.

The program is too long to be reviewed in this column. You will get its contents from time to time in your daily and weekly newspapers.

When anything important is done for the improvement of Kentucky I like to shout about it. And number one on my hooray list is road work. So it is a joy to readers who don't know it already to learn that for the last fiscal year Kentucky was second among the 48 states in highway work.

Being a farmer myself, with a narrow gravel lane most of the way to Henderson, I am especially interested in state work on rural highways.

The 1946 Legislature upped the Rural Highway fund from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000, and the 120 counties, co-operating with the State Highway Department, got a total of 680 miles of country roads surfaced with gravel or stone, 3,925 miles resurfaced with gravel or stone, and 332 miles blacktopped. And the present fiscal year, ending next April, should make a better record than last year. Yes, the state and our county authorities are making it easier for farmers to get to town.

In Madisonville recently I was warned against lively driving. "Cops are picking up a lot of people for exceeding the speed limit," I was told. I hope friends in Madisonville will pardon me for offering a suggestion to the police. Use the money collected in fines to pay for 20-mile-limit signs to be placed two or three blocks on every well-traveled street in the city. Traps for fast drivers serve their purpose for a few weeks, maybe, but the scare subsides. Numerous signs to warn drivers repeatedly will do more than anything in cities and towns to make drivers cautious than any other measure I can think of.

Seeing the 20-mile sign every 10 or 15 seconds will stamp it on the minds of people better than looking at one electric sign 20 feet long, five feet deep. Repetition is sure-fire psychology.

This suggestion might be followed by all other cities and towns in the state that haven't plastered their streets with warning signs.

TROUBLES OVER!

TO THE TEACHERS:

A Floyd County Federation of Teachers is now in existence.

On the night of October 23, Mr. Patrick Kirwin, president of the Kentucky Federation of Teachers, met with a group of teachers at Martin. At this meeting application was made for a charter. This application contained the names of 46 teachers, the largest number ever to apply in the state of Kentucky.

Another meeting will be held at the Martin high school at 7:30 Monday evening, Nov. 3.

All teachers are urged to attend this important meeting.

A little less than a year ago, through a letter to The Times, I maintained that before any appreciable gains could be made in education it would be necessary for teachers to join together and work together toward common aims. I am more convinced than ever.

Governor Willis did not call a special session because teachers were not well organized. Our legislators let us down when we had a chance to get "half the pie"—$5,000,000 more for the teachers of the state—because we were not organized well enough to be considered.

Our legislators have never adequately provided for education. They will not until we demand that they do. When the General Assembly meets, let us make ourselves heard.

Our most important institution, the public school, is in a weakened condition. By joining together we can help to strengthen and perpetuate it. If we continue in our complacent way, we will be helping to crucify it.

Everything else has been tried. LET US TRUST OURSELVES FOR A WHILE.

OF INTEREST TO VETERANS

VA EXPLAINS INSURANCE PROVISION OF GI LOANS

World War II veterans may negotiate home, farm and business loans under the G.I. Bill on an insured basis instead of a guaranteed basis, Veterans Administration Branch Office officials in Columbus, O., pointed out this week.

Loans may be guaranteed up to 50 per cent of the principal of the loan, but not to exceed $4,000 on a real estate loan, or $2,000 on a non-real estate loan. Loans may be insured for a maximum of 15 per cent of the principal of the loan, but not to exceed the $4,000 and $2,000 limits.

VA officials said that if a lending institution agrees with a veteran to use the loan insurance instead of the government's 50 per cent guarantee, it notifies VA, which sets up an insurance account with the lender and enters to the lender's credit an amount equal to 15 per cent of the loan.

Insurance on loans is available only through supervised lenders, which include those subject to examination and supervision by state and federal authorities. VA will reimburse the lender for any loss on any one loan up to the aggregate amount of insurance credited to the account of that lender.

Loans may be either guaranteed or insured at the option of the borrower and the lender. Under an insured loan, the veteran gains an advantage as a smaller amount of his guaranty entitlement is used (15 per cent instead of 50 per cent). However, it is likely the lender will require a sizeable cash down payment on this type of loan because the security afforded by the 15 per cent insurance is comparatively small.

Application for any loan to be guaranteed or insured must be made within 10 years of discharge or July 25, 1957, whichever occurs later. Farm loans must be repaid within 40 years, other real estate loans within 25 years and non-real estate (business) loans within 10 years.

AMPUTEE VETS ELIGIBLE FOR SPARE APPLIANCES

Veterans Administration recently reminded amputee veterans who are eligible for artificial limbs at government expense that they are entitled to a spare limb for each amputation.

VA Branch Office officials in Columbus, O., said veterans entitled

LEXINGTON WOMEN HEAR CANDIDATES FOR GOVERNOR

By Allan M. TROUT in The Courier-Journal

Democratic and Republican conceptions of state government clashed here today as the two rival candidates for Governor expounded their views before the Lexington League of Women Voters.

Earle C. Clements, Morganfield, Democrat, and Eldon S. Dummit, Lexington, Republican, reached unqualified agreement on only two points. Each favored a convention to revise the state Constitution. And each said the 1934 ouster act ought to be repealed. This is the act that gives the Governor power to oust his appointees without cause or hearing.

Clements said he intends to vote "Yes" November 4 on the question to call a constitutional convention. Dummit said he has been speaking and working for a convention for two years.

Each candidate spoke for 10 minutes at the luncheon-meeting at the Lafayette hotel, then answered questions from the audience for 20 minutes. The question period clarified several issues that have been in doubt.

In response to questions, Clements said:

1. He is not in favor of abolishing the present one-man Highway Commission for a return to the old system of a nine-man commission. Nor does he intend, if elected, to convert the State Highway Department into a political machine.

2. He is in favor of federal aid for education, and does not object to some federal supervision if that is what it takes to secure the aid.

3. If elected, he will oppose with all his influence any bill that would make it more difficult for any R.E.A.

to artificial limbs may obtain appliances of their choice from any approved manufacturer under contract with VA in one of three cities nearest their residence. If the veteran lives in a city or town having an approved limb manufacturer, that city or town is included among the three from which he must choose.

After delivery of the limb, a veteran has a two-week trial period in which to determine whether it fits or functions properly. If the limb is unsatisfactory, the veteran notifies the VA office through which he obtained it. In applying for spare limbs, veterans should wait six to 12 months to allow for the inevitable physical changes in amputations.

VA recently announced the development of three new artificial arms, known as the Northrop, Fitch and Hosmer arms, as result of the government's prosthetic research program. Veterans who have been issued both a permanent and spare artificial arm may obtain one of the new-type arms provided the appliance can be satisfactorily fitted.

Veterans desiring additional information concerning VA's prosthetic appliance program should contact the nearest VA office.

VA estimates there are 3,100 leg and arm amputees in the tri-state Columbus Branch Office area, including 1,000 in Ohio, 1,200 in Michigan and 800 in Kentucky.

Artificial limbs may be replaced by VA if the need arises through "fair wear and tear." VA officials said.

VA REHAB PROGRAM AIDS HARD-OF-HEARING VETS

World War II veterans who suffered hearing impairments in service are eligible for a special program of medical rehabilitation which Veterans Administration has established to help them overcome their handicap.

VA Branch Officials in Columbus, O., said eligible veterans may take advantage of this program whether they require medical attention to improve their hearing or whether they need rehabilitation to overcome the handicap of a permanent hearing impairment.

The complete rehabilitation course includes a series of hearing and speech tests, the selection and fitting of a hearing aid if indicated, auditory training, lip reading instruction and speech correction if necessary.

VA has contracts with several institutions to give all or part of the complete rehabilitation course. These include the Cleveland Speech schools, subsistence allowance or reserve University, Cleveland, and Ohio State University, Columbus.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. I am going to be trained under Public Law 16 and would like to know if I can borrow money from VA in case of need when I enter training?

A. Yes. Loans from a revolving fund, provided by Congress, not exceeding $100 in any case, may be made to trainees commencing or undertaking vocational rehabilitation.

Q. Will payments be made to schools, subsistence allowance or re-adjustment allowance paid to me be deducted later from any future bonus that may be authorized by Congress?

A. No.

Q. May a veteran, receiving disability compensation, receive at the same time subsistence allowance under the G.I. Bill?

A. Yes.

Q. Can a veteran get a guaranteed loan for any type of business?

A. Yes, the veteran can get a guaranteed loan on any type of legitimate business on which the lender is willing to lend.

Wayland Looks Good In Defeat at Hazard

Although beaten by Hazard last Friday night, 60 to 7, and yet to win a game in this first year of football, the Wayland high school eleven at Hazard showed definite improvement, it was said. The score was no indication of the improved quality of Wayland's play.

The losers scored in the third quarter and threatened the powerful Perry county aggregation at other stages of the game.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SAYS THERE'S GAMBLING IN THE SCHOOLS
 Editor, The Times:

Some time ago, you ran an article against gambling in circuses, carnivals, etc. That was fine. Someone needs to fight sin and evil. Where would a better place be but the power of the press? But what about our schools and churches and homes? Destroy our homes, our churches and our schools and we will destroy our nation. We get our children in our community about 45 minutes on Sunday morning to teach them the clean way to live, that we ought to live for Jesus.

The law makes it compulsory for us to send our children to school where they are upholding gambling as a means to raise funds for the school. Some of our teachers only teach as a sideline, running pool-halls and gambling on the side, selling chances on radios . . .

Now, I think we have all kinds of investigating committees. It is time these things are investigated and brought before the attention of the Board of Education, that they hire a few teachers with at least a Christian background. The ax is laid at the root of the tree and is uncompromising.

RAY DEMPSEY

TEACHERS, PARENTS AND TRAGEDIES

A Worried Parent champions the cause of good teachers in a very understanding way in the following clipping which appeared in the Huntington Herald-Advertiser on Oct. 19. It is worth reading and pondering. It has already evoked an expansion of the idea by an old-timer under the caption, "Are Teachers Good or Bad"? It herewith follows the clipping. It contains some food for thought in some very striking statements. Read them and see what you think about the suggested approach to a better understanding between teachers and parents. The Worried Parent in the clipping is concerned about teachers not getting credit for the fine job they do. But teachers realize Christ was crucified and all of Noah's fine carpenters had to drown. They did a fine piece of work. Nobody questioned their achievement, but remember the monkeys, chinchies, snakes, skunks and jackasses all got to ride. The carpenters drowned, and Christ died with thieves for companions.

The clipping:

I don't care what you say, school teachers never get due respect or credit for the fine job they do with and for children. I know a number of teachers from several schools of our city. They are fine and wonderful people.

They are ready and willing to do everything in their power to help each child, all alike, no matter who he is, rich or poor, good or bad.

If the parents could only take the teacher's place some time or realize the kind of material (meaning the children) they sometimes have to work with, they would be more considerate of the teacher.

Oh! Yes, the teacher is supposed to make a fine citizen from these boys and girls. Do you know many children have had scarcely any home training? From the time some children can walk, they are turned loose on the streets as well as on their neighbors who may be trying their best to teach their children right from wrong, good manners, respect for other people and to be good citizens.

Some parents never know where, how, or with whom their children spend their time. They have destructive minds and twisted ideas, instead of constructive, clean minds.

It is absolutely shocking how impudent and disrespectful some children are.

A teacher must take her valuable time from the lessons to teach these children the things they should have been taught at home, by their parents. No matter how hard we may try to give our children the right upbringing or how high a standard of decency we set and live before them, with so many bad influences to come in contact with as they grow older, we never know just what sort of citizens they may turn out to be.

WORRIED PARENT

I am a teacher and have been ever since 1898. Have taught the one-room school with split-log seats. Have been principal and superintendent of various types of schools. Set-ups where a whole plant was air-conditioned and a two-way radio connected each teacher's desk with the central office. Have had dozens and scores of splendid teachers under my supervision. Not in all that vast experience, from 1898 to 1947, have I found a teacher who did not love children and was not willing to go far out of the way to serve and help any child become better and happier. Some children can and will profit by this service and help. Others will not. They do not seem to have any place to put it. They seem to have been short-changed on the way from the create to the created. These short-changing factors may have been good liquor, tobacco, dope, abuse or under-nourishment. I have had occasion to come in contact with many of these congenital tragedies. Here are some striking observations good for anybody to make: Do you ever see any person soaking his cane in alcohol before planting them? Will he soak his bunch beans in tobacco juice before planting them? He is careful with his cane and bean seed. What about his baby seed? No use to labor the matter further, but another stinger or two won't do any harm.

Where is there a good, sensible farmer who would even try to improve his herd with a drunken bull, whatever breed he might represent? Yes, and where is there a good poultryman who would be so silly as to turn a drunken rooster in to run with his hens? This sounds perfectly ridiculous till we look around and check up on sons-in-law and even daughters-in-law by the dozens now-a-days. Many, many times I have had mothers to come to my office, crying and wringing their hands, and asking if there was not some way by which her demented child could be helped.

To have to tell her that her child was defeated and wrecked before it had a soul was heart-breaking. The germs from which the child evolved were spoiled in one or both the parents' bodies long before the conception that turned a moron or an idiot loose in somebody's school district.

School teachers are a pretty interesting group in society. They represent much education, culture, refinement, and intellectual ability. They would never be able to qualify as teachers were that not true. They are social architects and engineers. Give us good material and we'll build you a splendid tomorrow. You might do like Sam Jones told a fellow who wanted to throw-off on his preaching by asking a mean question: "Mr. Jones, do you believe in praying for bread?"

"Yes, sir," replied Rev. Jones, "but I would advise you to get at the end of a hoe handle and help answer that prayer."

So, as teachers, our best suggestion to parents would be to get down and study By-onomics, Bi-ology, Sex-ology, Psychology, Physiology, Eugenics, Ethics, Embriology and Endocrinology so they will know better how to make a child that won't need so much re-making and un-making.

TO THE TEACHERS OF FLOYD COUNTY

We as members of Labor's Educational Committee of Floyd county, take this method of commending the Floyd county school teachers for their step in organizing a teachers' union in Floyd county. A meeting was held in Martin on Thursday, Oct. 23, 1947, at which time the largest charter list ever sent in from any county in Kentucky was submitted to the organizers of the American Federation of Teachers, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor. This move has the full support of the U.M.W. of A. We urge all teachers of Floyd county to attend the next meeting to be held in the

KNOTT TO UP COAL TONNAGE

Irishman Creek Field To Produce 5,000 Tons Daily from New Openings

Neighboring Knott county, its coal resources heretofore almost untapped, will shortly add heavy tonnage daily to the coal production of this section, with the development of a new truck mine field on Irishman Creek, a branch of Carr's Fork, it was said this week.

With the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company driving a railroad from Wayland through Knott into Letcher county, even heavier coal development in that county is expected later. Before the present boom, the only Knott county coal shipped to market was loaded over Floyd tipples or was from mines opened in parts of the county joining Floyd and Perry.

Coal men estimate that two loading ramps now under construction at Sassafras will have a capacity of 100 railroad cars a day—roughly 5,000 tons. Sassafras, on the Perry-Knott county border, is the terminus of the Carr's Fork branch of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad. The spur track was laid about 38 years ago.

One of the ramps at Sassafras is nearing completion and others, in addition to the two now being built, are planned to handle coal from operations on the eight-mile-long creek.

About 25 mining firms are opening pits along the creek and others have leased large coal holdings in the area. Coal men say hundreds of thousands of dollars already have been invested.

Among the firms opening mines there are Cody Brothers Coal Company, Irishman Coal Company, Banks-Breeding Coal Co., Harry Wheeler Mines, Collins Brothers Coal Co., Polly Coal Co., Breeding-Smith Coal Co., Madden Brothers Coals, C. H. Honeycutt Mines, W. J. Amburgey Coal Co., W. J. Breeding Coal Co., and the Creed Amburgey Coal Co.

Several hundred men already have been employed and others are to be added as production gets under way, spokesmen for the firms have announced.

Among the seams of coal to be worked is one about seven and one-half feet high, described as being entirely free of slate and of excellent quality.

Carr's Fork lies parallel with Rockhouse Creek, the Letcher county stream into which the L & N, currently is pushing a branch line to tap another rich undeveloped coal reserve.

When the line is completed, some observers predict, much of the Irishman Creek coal probably will be loaded at ramps along Rockhouse. In some instances, they would be closer to the source than loading points at Sassafras.

Mine Improvements At Weeksbury More Than Score, Report

A federal coal mine inspector has credited more than a score of recent improvements and at the same time has suggested a few supplementary measures for the 1,200-ton-day Weeksbury mine operated by the Eastern Gas and Fuel Associates, Coal Division. The Floyd mine had 356 employees when it was re-examined in August by Inspector J. Willard Wood.

Inspector Wood said that the haulageways, face regions, and some of the back entries had been rock-dusted between inspections, but he pointed out that the rock-dusting program should be made more effective in certain areas.

Sufficient air was circulated thru last-year crosscuts, air connections were driven properly, and they were closed when necessary to facilitate ventilation, the inspector reported. Other betterments included reasonably good dust-free conditions in the mine, frame grounds for pumps, trolley wire guards at man-trip stations, display of signs at escapeways, enclosing of two open-type motors in the tippie and removal of coal-dust accumulations, separation of explosives and detonators in the surface magazine, clean areas surrounding the explosives magazine, removal of an underground booster fan, installation of an automatic signal on the Marshall Branch fan, and adoption of a positive identification plan.

For further conformance with the federal mine safety code, the inspector recommended prompt setting of safety posts where required and attention to unsafe roof, safe underground location of individual explosives containers, firing of blasts with permissible blasting units, making of preshift mine examinations, cleaner roadbeds with unobstructed clearance and shelter holes, rerailing equipment for locomotives with overload protection for cables, isolation of trolley wire guards at additional places.

Train Injuries Result In Death at Hospital Of Left Beaver Miner

Both his legs severed by the wheels of a coal train at Drift early Friday night, Eli Prater, 39-year-old Drift miner, died at 6 o'clock Sunday morning at the Beaver Valley hospital of shock and loss of blood.

Prater was struck while the train was backing and while he was on the tracks near the Simpson Martin Branch crossing, Drift.

The victim was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Prater and was a native of the Frozen Creek section of Breathitt county. He had resided at Drift for several years and had many friends there. Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Grace Prater, seven children, James, Asa, Cara, Eli, Jr., Alvie, Mary and William, all of Drift, four sisters and one brother, all of Breathitt county.

The body was taken by the Ryan Funeral Home to Vancelev, Breathitt county, for burial Monday in the family cemetery.

Blind Man Wins Court Fight For Right To Erect Building

Louis, Ky., Oct. 6.—A blind concession operator won a court battle today and was a step nearer rebuilding his news, tobacco and candy stand on the Lawrence county courthouse grounds.

Circuit Judge Watt M. Prichard ruled in favor of Haskell J. Moore, now 41 and blind since birth, in an injunction proceeding filed by former Kentucky State Treasurer E. E. Shannon, who owns a building across from the courthouse, and John G. Burns, Louisville lawyer.

In his opinion, Judge Prichard said: "Of course I do not believe that the court has the right or authority to deprive the county of its public square. However, the square at Louisville is large and when the fiscal court authorized execution of the lease to the blind man they evidently determined that the 20x12-foot strip would in no way interfere with the county's business."

The case has been pending since last April, when Shannon and Burns sought to prevent Moore from putting up a new establishment.

A brick-and-concrete base already had been laid on the courthouse property, but no work has been done on the project since the suit was filed. Moore now is free to go ahead with his plans unless there is an appeal.

The vendor's counsel, Col. E. E. Adams, said he had been informed Shannon and Burns would appeal their case.

Moore originally had been granted permission to operate on the property in 1936 through intervention of the Kentucky School of the Blind.

When the right of the county to lease the property to the man was challenged, a number of organizations began to worry.

The American Legion and the Louisa Women's Club have quarters in what was once the county jail, and the Louisa Methodist Church has its building on the courthouse grounds, all under 99-year leases.

This suit came as a blow to Moore, who was said to have made frequent donations to churches and the city when business at his stand was good. The building, re-modeled at his own expense, would be county property.

At the time action against him was filed, Moore said about one of his opponents, whom he didn't name, "I tried to save cigars during the war when they were hard to get for one of these fellows. I thought he was my friend."

In defense of his big-money program, Dummit said: "We can do it if Kentuckians adopt a progressive attitude. This state has had a pauper complex too long."

In defense of his unwillingness to make promises that he feels cannot be met in full, Clements said: "Kentucky is not a wealthy state. The ability to progress along these worthy lines is limited to our resources."

"My way is the slower way, but it is the sturrier way," Clements added. And then he outlined his plan to create more taxable wealth by developing the tourist trade and attracting enough new industries to Kentucky to strike a careful balance between agriculture and manufacturing. That program, Clements said, ought to bring enough new wealth within existing tax laws to meet the K.E.A. goal of a $34,500,000 common school fund in four years.

Dummit, on the other hand, proposed to finance his program by combining estimated revenue collections of $50,000,000 a year with the net surplus of $21,000,000 now on hand.

To this theme, Clements retorted that a Democratic Governor, working with a Democratic Legislature, can enact a more liberal budget in all fields of public service than a Republican Governor at loggerheads with a Democratic Legislature. And the Republicans, he said, will not deny that the 1948 Legislature will be Democratic in about the ratio of 7 to 3.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hamilton, of Wenatchee, Wash., and Mrs. Dudley Howard were guests of their sister, Mrs. H. F. Patton, over the week-end.

Mrs. Dudley Howard, of Salyersville, visited her sister, Mrs. H. F. Patton, Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claybourne Stephens.

Miss Elizabeth Branham and C. V. Branham, of Eagle River, Wis., visited Mrs. Kate Harmon and family last week.

Tony Boyd, of Whitley county, made an electric fence with a model T Ford coil, a battery and a watch spring.

Vote "YES" on the Constitutional amendment.

The Beehive Ticket

... has requested Sheriff Troy B. Sturgill to provide voting booths for the voters of Wards No. 1 and 2 in Prestonsburg at next Tuesday's election, in compliance with Section 118.060, Revised Kentucky Statutes.

Sheriff Sturgill has promised that this will be done.

To this no person who believes in honest elections and obedience to the law can object. Our only purpose is to see that the voters have a free expression of their will, without fear or interference.

'Consol' Mine Employees Dedicate New Portal

Jenk's, Ky., Oct. 25 (Spl.)—Mine employees, their families, and staff officers of the Consolidation Coal Company (Ky.), numbering about 1,800, gathered today to dedicate the company's new portal for its Mine No. 204 at the head of Marshall's Branch, about six miles from Jenk's.

At this new portal, which is considered one of the most modern in the coal fields, are complete facilities for more than 500 men, including showers, toilet facilities, ice water drinking fountains, and clothes hangers. The bath house floors are non-skid concrete, and the walls are of sparkling buff glazed tile. The building is insulated against summer heat and winter cold.

In addition to the facilities for the convenience and comfort of the employees, the buildings also house a supply house, repair shops, lamp house, first aid room, and administration and engineering offices. Total cost of the project is estimated to be $150,000.

Parking space for 100 automobiles has been provided, and nearby Champion Stores, Inc., have erected a building housing a modern grocery store, lunch counter, and soda fountain, with filling station facilities provided in addition.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our sincere gratitude to all our good friends and neighbors who were so kind and thoughtful upon the death and funeral of our loved one, Mrs. Polly Johnson; to the kind ministers and to the Baker & Preston Funeral Home; and for the beautiful floral offerings. Every kind word and act was deeply appreciated by her husband, Luther Johnson, Family, Mother, Brothers and Sisters.

To the Voters of the Town of Martin:

We are a five-man board representing both Republicans and Democrats and not trying to conduct a political campaign.

If we are elected as Councilmen in the town of Martin we intend to serve out our terms and do our best to serve the will of the majority of the people.

We will employ a policeman who will uphold the law in every respect and a man of sober and good moral habits. We are not obligated to employ a policeman, the present one or any other, but will only take this matter up if we are elected, and not before.

We will endeavor to have the paving along the highway extended to the corporate limits and any other improvements made that the citizens may request, in accordance with law governing such improvements.

We will handle all town business in an open meeting at the designated meeting place and at the appointed time and urge all citizens to attend such meetings and take part in them.

We will keep in effect a water rate that will maintain the water works system in a sound financial condition and satisfy the Federal Agency holding the bonds. We will not under any conditions consent to sell the water works bonds and let the system fall into the hands of someone who will try to operate it for an enormous profit and raise the rates to a high level and give you the choice of paying such rates or doing without water. We will meet the payments on the bonds and keep them as town property so when they pay out our town will practically be tax free.

We will see that tax rates and property assessments are set as fair to the small property owner as the large and that all taxes are collected and that when public improvements are made by the town, state or federal government that one property owner will have his property improved as much as any other under existing conditions.

We will uphold ALL our churches, schools and other institutions that go to make Martin a better town and invite the gatherings of labor unions, lodges or other organizations in which our citizens are interested.

We are not inviting a lot of persons, who have personal grievances, to wage a whispering campaign against our opponents. There is a lot of propaganda being spread by a dissatisfied minority, and you know that a dissatisfied minority can make a lot of noise but if you hear any of these tales that sound fantastic just extend us the courtesy to find out for yourself and then make up your mind for whom you will vote.

There is more at stake in this election than just who will be policeman. Study it over before you vote.

Thank you.

100 Big Local Awards
It's Easy! Don't miss out!

There's plenty of time to win a prize in the SPUR jingle contest. But the deadline is midnight, December 8... and all prizes will be awarded in time to say "Merry Christmas!" to a hundred local residents. So—better get busy, right now! Just write a last line for the jingle that appears on the entry blank below or get an entry blank from your retailer. If you have already entered... write another!

Remember—these big prizes are for this area alone. You are competing only against your friends... your neighbors... local residents like yourself.

Next 72 PRIZES
Full Cases of Spur, the finer cola

Make sure you have at least one entry in this exciting local jingle contest. Read the complete rules now. Then send in as many entries as you wish. Do it today!

IT'S A FINER COLA!

Your last line of the jingle is even easier to write... when you are sipping SPUR. It's the cola with the flavor that tastes like more. World-famous Canada Dry quality makes it doubly good. Drink SPUR—whenever you're thirsty for something better.

FOLLOW THESE EASY RULES

- Write your last line to the jingle in the space provided in the entry blank, or on a sheet of plain paper. Also PRINT your name and address plainly.
- Submit as many entries as you wish, but accompany each entry with four SPUR bottle caps. Be sure to use sufficient postage! Entries with inadequate postage cannot be accepted.
- This contest is open to all residents in the area served by the sponsoring bottler whose name appears in the entry blank, except employees of the bottler, Canada Dry Ginger Ale, Inc. and its advertising agencies, and members of their immediate families. All entries must be the original work of the contestants submitted in their own names. All members of the family may compete, but no more than one prize will be awarded to a single family.
- Prizes listed above will be awarded, in order, to the writers of the most apt, original and interesting last lines. Decision of the independent judges, The Reuben H. Donnelly Corporation, is final. Duplicate prizes will be awarded in case of ties. No entries will be returned and all entries become the property of the sponsors to be used as they see fit. Contest is subject to all federal and state regulations.
- All entries must be turned in to the sponsoring SPUR bottler by, or post-marked no later than midnight December 8, 1947. Complete list of winners will be sent to all entrants as soon as possible after the close of the contest.

Take or mail your entries in a sealed envelope to the sponsoring SPUR bottler listed.

BE A WINNER

'Twas the jingle! Spur's the cola they all favor 'Cause it has that fuller flavor, Thirsts that want an extra treat

Woman's Club Speaker Asks for 'Yes' Vote

Wayland, Ky., Oct. 27 (Spl.)—The Lackey-Garrett Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. F. H. Cooley, of Estill Heights, Saturday afternoon. The meeting was called to order by the club president, Mrs. Fred A. Martin, who introduced Mrs. Chas. Sturgill, chairman of the Study Club. Mrs. Sturgill conducted a brief study of the defects of the present Kentucky Constitution and the steps necessary to revise. All club members were urged to vote "Yes" on November 4 on the question of revising the Constitution. At the conclusion of the discussion a buffet luncheon was served to the following members: Mesdames Elbert Collins and John Allen, of Prestonsburg, Mrs. H. H. Hornsby, a former club member, of Hemphill, Mrs. H. O. Joslin, of Conway, S.C., Miss Lima Aker, of Lackey, guests; Mesdames Frank Rasnick, R. D. Spencer, Chas. Sturgill, Fred A. MAYTOWN

The importance of including the basic seven foods in everyday meals was stressed by Miss Requa Kincer, home demonstration agent, at the Maytown Homemakers Club meeting last week. After giving important points on planning meals, Miss Kincer and the other members of the club went to the Home Ec department and cooked one of these dinners. Highlight of the meal was the delicious apple cobbler baked by Mrs. Rebecca Hayes.

Mrs. Georgia Harrison will be hostess of the next meeting, which will be held Nov. 20 in the Home Ec room. Mrs. Harrison attended the training school at Prestonsburg and was directed in this lesson by Mrs. Haak, food specialist from the University of Kentucky.

IN THE MATTER OF PETITION FOR ELECTION IN ROUGH AND TOUGH PRECINCT No. 28:

It appearing to the court that a petition consisting of more than twenty-five voters in Rough and Tough voting precinct No. 28, was filed in the office of the County Court Clerk of Floyd county, asking a submission of the question of whether cattle shall be permitted to run at large in the precinct.

It is ordered by the Court that the Sheriff of Floyd county and the officers of the election at said precinct open a poll at the next regular election to be held on November 4th, 1947, for the purpose of ascertaining the will of the voters upon the following question:

"Are you in favor of making it unlawful for cattle to run at large on the public highway and unenclosed land of Rough and Tough precinct No. 28 in Floyd county?"

The County Clerk is hereby ordered and directed to have the above-named question printed upon the official ballot for said precinct at said election, and is further directed to publish this order four issues in The Floyd County Times.

INFRA-RED LAMPS

... the magic aid to health and household convenience

INFRA-RED lamps widely used in industry are now available at your electrical dealer or drug store. They may be used for dozens of household purposes, wherever heat or quick drying is desirable. An infra-red lamp will relieve sore and strained muscles, deflea your dog, defrost your refrigerator, dry fingernail polish, or hair or paint or glue—to name a few uses.

This lamp has a built-in reflector and will screw into any light bulb socket. It is low in cost and easy to use. While the bulb doesn't produce much light (not a sun lamp—it won't give you a tan), it throws off plenty of "radiant heat"—heat that penetrates right through a solidly frozen pipe or into the metal of a motor or down into the muscles of an aching back.

Start Cold Motors in very cold weather by directing rays on oil pan.

Defrosts Refrigerators—Hold close to the freezing unit the lamp will speedily melt the frost.

DON'T WRECK OUR CONSTITUTION!

Kentuckians, will you sit by while outside pressure groups take over your finances and your future?

Wrecking the Constitution will put you, at the mercy of foreign theories and un-American ideas which could shatter the foundations upon which this great State was built.

They would distribute school funds on the basis of attendance. Thus, farm children would be handicapped—while big-city students would get a larger and unfair part of school taxes.

True Kentuckians! Only by your votes can we defend our schools, our homes and our State. On November 4th be sure to vote "NO" and vote AGAINST the dangerous CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION!

THE COMMITTEE OF 1000 KENTUCKIANS ASKS YOU TO

VOTE NO!

(Please cut out and post this message at your voting place on election day!)

WARNING!

VOTE "NO"

BECAUSE REVISION COULD

- 1 Raise your taxes and increase state, county and city debts without limit and without your consent.
- 2 Provide unlimited salaries for tax-paid officials.
- 3 Tax farm and home property to pay city debts.
- 4 Merge counties and consolidate city and county governments.
- 5 Permit a governor to appoint city, county and state officials without your consent.
- 6 Give unlimited power to politicians, lobbyists and pressure groups.
- 7 Permit mixed schools and destroy our present, traditional school system.

Our Present Constitution Prevents All These!

Simpson Martin Branch School

The Simpson Martin Branch school held a box social Oct. 18, and net proceeds were $195. Anna Rae Lawson, daughter of Dewey Lawson, of McDowell, won the cake for being the prettiest girl. Her opponent was Louise Moore, daughter of Curt Moore. This school building is a new, one-room building erected for the younger children of the community who have such a difficult time getting to drift school during winter. Attending this school are the first four grades, which make an enrollment of 49. The people of Simpson Martin Branch showed their appreciation of the new building by taking such an interest in the box social. Proceeds will be used to have electricity installed, a small library, window shades, table and chairs, and various items of equipment.

ALLEN

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Patton and children, of Buchanan, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Malkemus and W. L. Rice. Mrs. G. L. Vote for Clements for Governor November 4th and You Vote for Better Government

And this is only food!

Can you afford to vote for Dummit for Governor whose party . . .

Weakened rent controls and made it easy for landlords to get increases.

Destroyed Price Controls and promised you in July, 1946, that prices would come down "in a few months."

Said that the way to decrease prices was to "eat less" (Taft).

Failed to do anything about the housing shortage.

This is the program endorsed by Eldon Dummit, the Republican candidate for Governor

HERE'S WHY IT PAYS

To Buy Insurance From

LAYNE & LAYNE

You get more than a fire or casualty insurance policy when you buy from this agency. In addition, you obtain the lifetime services of a trained professional man—skilled in protecting business and the individual. You make a friend who will represent your interests in the settling of a claim. You meet a neighbor, familiar with the problems of your community, who gives guidance to your personal and business acquaintances. And you obtain the peace of mind that comes with a well-planned insurance program. That's why it pays to buy insurance through . . .
