R. M. Gillespie, owner of the Gillespie Furniture Company here and the Allen Livestock Market, recently put on a "sacrifice sale" that deserves mention.

Dewey Osborne Denies Confession of Guilt In Lunch Room Case

A confession, later denied, resulted in the arrest here Friday of Dewey Osborne and his brother, Charlie, on breaking and entering charges in connection with the looting of the Prestonsburg grade school lunchroom on the night of Nov. 4.

Dewey Osborne told authorities he entered the building and took food-stuffs, but later changed his story, County Attorney W. W. Burchett said, claiming he found the stolen items outside the building.

NOT THIS TRAGEDIAN!
With a disarming air of innocence, Mrs. Moore, director of the coming Woman's Club stage production, "Cornzapoppin'", last week suggested for me a role in the play.

Now, I am here to state that this gentle lady is either the most innocent person to hit Prestonsburg in many moons or a superb actress. She seemed to be so in earnest, Me!—in a play! up there on the stage—and you can't front!

No, you don't imagine—and neither can I. But she assured me I had been suggested as a prospect. Wonder which villainous acquaintance of mine made that suggestion, then eased out for a good laugh?

Why, I couldn't carry a spear in a play without wounding myself. It's all I can bear to be in the audience at a local talent play after seeing a friend of mine in the role of ye village constable lose his goatie in spite of frantic snatches with his free hand while the billy-club in his other made feeble, graceful parabolas.

Me, I retired from the boards after that last-day-of-school appearance, long ago, when I sailed into a bit of poetry that only I in our community had seen—and, with none to prompt me, forgot my lines after the first wo, mumbled through one or two more and then staggered blindly to a seat.

Me in "Cornzapoppin'"? Hellzapoppin'—not!

Tuesday, Nov. 4, was Election Day. Appropriately enough, the following Tuesday was Armistice Day.

THE BRIGHTER SIDE

Life is real, life is earnest in elections and there isn't much of humor to be found except in scattered instances. One such was found when a candidate was asked to explain why he lost, and when he answered: "Well, sir, I was a victim of a fair edum."

Then, during a recent election in this county, a broadside was being prepared for voter-consumption when a fairly innocent bystander warned against overdoing the matter with this story:

A certain Floyd county man was engaged in a lawsuit and as a witness he had literally "gone to town." He had testified, with considerable eloquence, for two hours before stepping down from the witness' chair. As he was leaving, a friend hurried to whisper in his ear something more he should have told.

Replied the "star witness," in a hoarse stage whisper: "I Grannies, I'm afeard I've swore too d—much already!"

INJURED IN WRECK

Dr. Earl T. Arnett was slightly injured last Thursday night when his auto, forced from the Salyersville-Pointsville road by a truck, rolled over a high embankment as he was returning to Prestonsburg from a Magoffin county drilling operation in which he is interested. The car was badly smashed.

WINNER NEARS 100,000 MARK

Moore Who Barely Defeated Hopkins Wins Dist. Office

Governor-elect Earle C. Clements almost made the 100,000-majority mark, but not quite. Unofficial totals of the November 4 vote in Kentucky place his lead over Attorney General Eldon S. Dummit at 98,412 votes.

Altogether, 672,672 votes were polled for the two candidates, and Attorney General Dummit's total of 287,130 was greater than the number of votes Governor Simeon S. Willis polled in his victory four years ago.

T. Jeff Moore, Barbourville Democrat, won the Railroad Commissioner's race in this district, and is one of the few Democrats ever to hold the office from this district. He defeated Clay M. Bishop, of Manchester. Mr. Moore won the nomination in the primary by a scant 253-vote margin over Ernest Hopkins, of Prestonsburg.

Miss Hendricks was named at the delegates' assembly, meeting prior to the first general session, along with two vice-presidents and two directors. All nominations were unopposed.

Other officers chosen without opposition were William H. Powers, Salyersville classroom teacher, first vice-president; Mrs. Eunice Harper, principal of McKell high school, Greenup, second vice-president, and directors Palmer L. The assembly nominated three delegates to represent E.K.E.A. at the National Education Association convention in San Francisco, Calif., next spring.

Also unopposed, they were Claude Farley, superintendent of Pikeville schools; L. C. Caldwell, superintendent of Ashland schools, and Mrs. Harper.

The dates for next year's E.K.E.A. convention to be held in Ashland were set for November 4 and 5. Some 2,000 teachers from 17 Kentucky counties attended the meeting.

HUGE CROWD TO WITNESS GRID GAME

P'burg-Pointsville In 22nd Annual Tilt Friday Evening at 8

The Prestonsburg Black Cats, followed by several hundreds of rabid fans, will invade the lair of their traditional athletic rivals, the Pointsville Tigers, Friday night for the annual meeting of the two teams on the gridiron.

On the outcome of Friday night's game hinges the Big Sandy Conference championship and the right to represent the conference in the Flood Bowl game with the Cumberland Valley Conference titlists a Pineville.

Prestonsburg had no schedule engagement for the past week, but the Cats were not idle because of that. They were being worked hard in preparation for the Paintsville game, and the drilling on both offensive and defensive play carried on unabated throughout this week.

Coach John R. Eibner's squad whose record to date is marred only by a loss to Hazard, is in excellent physical condition for the big game and are ready to turn on with their best brand of football.

Pointsville, likewise, is at top form and Coach Oran Teater is hoping for his boys an upset over the more highly rated Black Cats.

Game time will be 8 o'clock.

PLAY TO AID LIBRARY FUND

Woman's Club Sponsors Home-Talent Production For Showing Next Week

To raise funds for a public library, the Prestonsburg Woman's Club will present at the grade school auditorium here, Monday and Tuesday nights, Nov. 17 and 18, the hillbilly comedy, "Cornzapoppin'", featuring the talents of a hometown cast.

Rehearsals have already been started, and tickets went on sale today (Thursday). "Cornzapoppin'" features the Judkins family, the joys and sorrows of its several members and particularly the series of hilarious situations in which they find themselves.

Prestonsburg business men this week join in a page advertisement to aid the club in its efforts to raise funds for a library and a number of prominent citizens are listed as sponsors of the play.

The Woman's Club, knowing of the interest here in a library, expect the largest house to see a local talent play here to turn out for the production.

James B. Fitzpatrick, 52-year-old Hunter mine employe, died at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, Sunday, a day after he had submitted to an operation for hernia.

Mr. Fitzpatrick was a son of the late Henderson and Elizabeth Fitzpatrick and was a native of Knott county. He was employed by the Kathryn Elkhorn Coal Company and was well-known in the county.

WETS, DRYS COMPROMISE

In Pike County; Set Date of Prohibition For June 1st, 1948

Pike county will go dry June 1, 1948 as the result of a compromise effected this week by wet and dry leaders.

The drys agreed to the June 1 effective date of the prohibition recently voted in Pike on the condition that the wets withdraw the contest action they filed last week. Results of the October 4 local option election were filed in county court, Nov. 3, and the sale of liquor was scheduled to become illegal Jan. 3. Wets, a matter of days later, filed a contest suit.

(When Floyd county drys were asked if an agreement on the effective date of prohibition could be reached as a move to avoid a long contest action after the wet-dry vote in this county they indicated it was not within their power or the power of the wets to supersede the will of the people and to modify the law through agreement.)

Dr. A. A. Page, chairman of the Pike County Local Option League, said, "We hated to compromise," but felt prohibition could be reached faster by entering into an agreement with wet forces.

The agreement was entered as an order in the court of Circuit Judge R. Monroe Fields.

"In Boyd county," Page said, "successive court contests delayed prohibition for 18 months after the local-option election."

The court contest would have deferred indefinitely the effective date of prohibition in the last remaining wet spot in Eastern Kentucky.

Floyd Resident's Kin Victim in Breathitt

Mrs. Nancy Lovely, 49 years old, wife of Logan Lovely, died last Thursday at her home at Decoy, Ky. She was related to a number of Floyd county residents. Funeral services were conducted Sunday at Decoy and burial was made in the family cemetery under direction of the C. Ryan Funeral Home.

Teacher in Knott School Year Ago, Is Now a Model

If you are an underpaid teacher, and feminine, and too pretty to blush unseen in the confines of a schoolroom—you might become a model.

That's what a Knott county girl has done, The Courier-Journal reports. Here's the story:

A year ago 17-year-old Jeanne Gibson was teaching in a rural school on Wolf Pen, Knott county. Now—as the result of a chance remark during a visit to New York—she's a Conover model. She's also a bride. With her husband, Justin Gilbert, a reporter for The New York Mirror, she's honeymooning in the South.

It has slipped Jeanne's mind who was the someone that made the chance remark: "You're pretty enough to be a model. Why don't you go to an agency?" Yet that unknown person certainly changed Jeanne's career from a schoolteacher to a highly paid model. She went to the Harry Conover agency and connected at once.

The chance remark was made to Jeanne while she was visiting in the New York home of Mrs. Frances Pratt. So it was only a bus ride to

Return of Marine's Body for Burial Emphasizes Solemnity of Armistice

SOBER CROWD HERE GATHERS FOR RITES AT SIZEMORE BIER

The day this week that commemorated the end, 29 years ago, of World War I marked the end of the long journey home of the first Floyd soldier of World War II to be returned from a foreign grave for burial in his native hills.

The body of Pfc. Curtis Lee Sizemore, of the Marine Corps, who died in battle in the Pacific war theatre, and who rested in an overseas military cemetery until disinterred and shipped to this country, lay in state at the courthouse here Tuesday morning through the 11 o'clock hour made memorable by the cessation of hostilities in 1918.

Around the flag-draped bronze coffin and out in the courtyard and street beyond was a crowd of upwards of 2,000 persons. The kin of other boys buried overseas were in that crowd, and there were fathers who wept as openly as did the mothers of war-dead.

There was no Armistice Day parade, nothing of gaiety.

R. L. Shepherd, commander of Floyd Post, American Legion, conducted the memorial service for Pfc. Sizemore. Followed tributes to the young Marine, to all others who had given their lives in the war, to the nation which begot them and for which they had died. Briefly spoke, with deep feeling, Mayor E. P. Arnold, of Prestonsburg, an emotion-choked woman relative of Pfc. Sizemore, J. B. Clarke, a veteran of World War I, Former Congressman A. J. May, who was chairman of the Military Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives through-out World War II, Palmer L. Hall, superintendent of Floyd county schools and himself a German prisoner during World War II, County Judge Alex L. Davidson and the Reverend Blevins, the Sizemore family's pastor.

"... this is the land of freedom, the birthplace of freedom—and we will preserve it... The body of this young man is a symbol of all those who paid the price... But for men like this, we would not be here today, free American citizens... The only peace is in the arms of our risen Lord and Savior... As the words were spoken, blasts from a hillside overlooking Prestonsburg faintly echoed that greater cacophony of war that ended 29 years ago, to rise again in even madder crescendo.

The Prestonsburg high school band played the National Anthem, then the stirring Marine Song. Then the benediction by the Rev. Isaac Stratton.

The body, with its honor guard of six Marines from here was taken to the forks of Bull Creek, boyhood home of young Sizemore, where funeral rites were conducted Tuesday afternoon. Burial there in the Reynolds cemetery was marked by the last tribute of military honor to the Marine at journey's end.

NOV. 24 BEGINS SALE OF SEALS

Mrs. Hill To Head Campaign for Funds To Fight Tuberculosis

The sale in Floyd county of Christmas Seals to raise funds for the fight on tuberculosis, starting Nov. 24 and continuing through Dec. 24, will be directed this year by Mrs. Edward P. Hill, wife of Circuit Judge Hill, of Prestonsburg.

She succeeds Mrs. A. C. Harlowe, of Prestonsburg, who resigned the chairmanship of the Christmas Seal drive after 20 consecutive years' work. Ill health forced Mrs. Harlowe's resignation.

Plans for the drive this year include, in addition to newspaper publicity, the mailing of 3,000 letters to citizens in all parts of the county. Aid of schools, churches, civic organizations, mine workers and operators and others will be sought.

It is hoped, Mrs. Hill said, that Seal sales will be heavy enough this year to enable the Floyd Tuberculosis Association to employ next year a nurse to devote her full time to the task of locating all tuberculosis sufferers and contacts, of procuring the best possible treatment for the sick, and of educating the public to its duty in the face of the tuberculosis menace.

Mrs. Sherd Robinson, Former Floyd Teacher, Succumbs at Hospital

Mrs. Ida Blackburn Robinson, 63 years old, wife of Sherd Robinson, of Whitaker, died Wednesday morning at the Paintsville hospital, victim of a stomach ailment from which she had suffered for the last year.

A native of this county, Mrs. Robinson was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Blackburn. She was a member of the Methodist Church and was widely related in Floyd and Johnson counties. For a number of years she was a teacher in the Floyd county schools.

Surviving, besides her husband, are one daughter, Mrs. Ruth Litteral, Paintsville hospital nurse, and three sons, Marvin, of Auxier, Claude, of East Point, and Frank Robinson, of the navy. Four brothers and one sister also survive: Fred and Earl Blackburn, of Wheelwright, Frank Blackburn, of Whitaker, John Blackburn, of California, and Mrs. Ethel Stephens, of Cliff.

Funeral rites will be conducted Friday afternoon from the residence at Whitaker, where burial will be made under direction of the Arnold Funeral Home.

Many Shoppers Here Thursday For First of Dollar Days

Reaction of Prestonsburg merchants and other business men to the number of visitors in their places of business last Thursday, first of the series of Dollar Days they are sponsoring, was "pleasant surprise." Trade was brisk during the day, despite the fact that most men were employed and unable to come here. Their women-folk did their shopping, taking advantage of special values offered.

GUNMAN WHO WOUNDED TWO NOT LOCATED

Sheriff Posts Reward Of $100 for Arrest Of Walter England

Reward of $100 was offered this week by Sheriff Troy B. Sturgill for the arrest, or for information leading to the arrest, of Walter England, 27 years old, who late last Thursday shot and wounded Deputy Sheriffs Ed Craft and Scott Compton on Buck's Branch, near Martin.

The reward was posted after more than a dozen officers, sheriff's deputies, state highway patrolmen and police of Floyd towns, had scoured a wide territory in vain, in quest of England.

Through Thursday night the search covered Buck's Branch and nearby Stephens Branch and the Spurlock fork of Middle Creek. Friday, acting on what appeared to be an authoritative tip, Sheriff Sturgill and deputies searched in the Quick-sand section of Knott county with equally discouraging results.

England, officers have been warned, is considered a desperate criminal. He has vowed he will not be taken alive, officers present at the time of last Thursday's shooting said.

Meanwhile, Deputies Craft and Compton are recovering from their wounds at the Beaver Valley hospital. Martin. Craft was hit by three bullets, one striking him in the back and ranging downward, but missing the spine and lungs. Compton's was a bad flesh wound in his thigh.

The shooting took place when the two deputies with Deputy Sheriff H. Harvey and Policeman Allen Stone, of Martin, went to the home of Arthur Crisp on Buck's Branch to serve child desertion and shooting and wounding warrants on England. The warrants had been sworn out, earlier in the day, by Mrs. England and one of the writs alleged that her husband had fired into the home of her father, Jim Manuel, of Stephens Branch, on the preceding night, a bullet grazing Manuel's foot.

When notified of the warrants, England suddenly began firing a 38-caliber revolver, officers said. He was untouched by a fusillade of shots in reply, and escaped while the wounded men were being taken to the Martin hospital.

England was convicted of automobile theft and given a sentence of one to 20 years in the penitentiary, five years ago in Ohio. He later was paroled and is now wanted by Ohio authorities for parole violation, it was said.

Before returning to this county recently, England, who is a son of Sam England, was employed in Virginia.

He is described as being 6 feet, 2 inches tall, weighing 183 pounds, of dark complexion, eyes brown and hair a dark chestnut.

ASKS $40,000 IN SUIT HERE

Champion Stores, Driver Named in Action Filed By Mother of Victim

Forty thousand dollars in damages are sought by Mrs. Sally Goble, of Lancer, as administratrix of the estate of her six-year-old daughter, Edna Jane, in a suit filed in circuit court last week against Champion Stores, Inc., and George Holbrook, Jr., driver of the company's truck.

The child was fatally injured Oct. 6 by a truck owned by Champion Stores and driven by Holbrook as she walked home from school, and died on the following day.

Mrs. Goble's suit alleges reckless and negligent driving, pointing out that the truck crossed from its right side of the highway to the left side, hitting the child as she walked alongside the road. Her petition was filed by Atty. Edw. L. Allen and W. W. Burchett.

OF INTEREST TO VETERANS

VET FARM TRAINING SHOWS STEADY RISE

A 22 per cent increase during the past six months in the number of World War II veterans taking on-farm training and related classroom instruction in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky was reported this week by the Veterans Administration Tri-state Branch Office in Columbus, O.

The number of trainees increased from 18,452 to 24,385, the totals including veterans training under both the G.I. Bill for the non-disabled and the Vocational Rehabilitation Act for the disabled.

In Ohio, the number in training increased from 5,743 to 9,134 in the past six months. The increase in Michigan was 3,378 to 4,226 and in Kentucky the number jumped from 9,331 to 11,025.

The on-farm training program for both disabled and non-disabled veterans is divided into two phases—self-proprietorship and employer-trainer. Self-proprietorship training is for those veterans who own, rent or lease the farms on which they reside, this group comprising 89 per cent of the total in training. The employer-trainer program enables veterans to receive training on the farms of experienced and successful farm operators.

VA has enlisted the support of state and local committees in affording veteran trainees the best possible guidance and technical service. In many cases prominent farmers and representatives of other agricultural agencies and institutions serve without remuneration on the committees in their respective areas.

The veteran's farm is considered his laboratory where he puts into practice the knowledge he learns at a nearby agricultural or vocational school. All of the veteran's farm operations are supervised. His classroom instructor visits him regularly to check on his practical farm work.

VA GETS ARMY X-RAY FILMS FOR TB STUDY

Veterans Administration now is the custodian of more than 53,000,000 army chest x-ray films of World War II veterans which it will use in its long-range anti-tuberculosis program.

The films, which include those made of each army veteran at the time of induction and separation, comprise the largest single group of x-ray films in the world.

The films will assist VA in its study of tuberculosis among veterans and also will be available for determining eligibility of veterans for compensation.

Chest x-ray films of navy and marine corps personnel will be retained by the navy. Those of coast guard personnel are in possession of the Public Health Service.

In addition to the army chest x-ray films, VA also has on file the x-rays of all its patients and many of its employees.

VETS MAY FINISH HIGH SCHOOL UNDER GI BILL

Veterans whose high school education was interrupted by war service may complete their schooling under the benefits of the G.I. Bill and later attend college or take up job-training, officials at the Veterans Administration Branch Office in Columbus, O., explained recently. Provided he has sufficient period of eligibility for education or training, a veteran may elect to complete his high school education under benefits of the G.I. Bill and use the remainder of his eligibility to attend college or take job-training. However, he must obtain a new certificate of eligibility for presentation to the college or institution where he desires additional education or training.

VA SELECTS SITE FOR HEART DISABILITY STUDY

Intensive research into heart disease—which claims the lives of more veterans than any other disease—will be centered at the Veterans Administration Mt. Alto hospital in Washington, D.C., VA said this week. The new research center, a part of which already is in operation, was developed under supervision of Dr. George P. Robb, widely-known cardiologist and assistant medical director of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

All the newer, modern, safe methods of studying the behavior of the human heart will be employed in the center—cardiac catheterization, special x-rays of heart and blood vessels, and thorough electrocardiography.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. My son, who was blinded while in service during World War II, would like to get a guide dog. Is he entitled to one at government expense?

A. Yes. A service-connected blind veteran is entitled to receive, at government expense, a guide dog and various devices necessary to assist him to overcome his handicap.

Q. Does a veteran have to have a 10 per cent or more service-connected disability to be eligible for outpatient treatment?

TO THE VOTERS OF PRESTONSBURG:

We expect to repay the people of Prestonsburg for their splendid support in the recent election by giving them the best possible service; but, at this time, we want to express, in some measure, at least, our deep appreciation of your help. To find such good friends is worth all the trouble the campaign was to us.

At the same time, we should like to assure our opponents that we bear them no ill-will, nor do we have any prejudice against those who supported them. That was their privilege.

When we begin our term as Councilmen, we hope that citizens who have the improvement of the town at heart, and who do not have some personal axe to grind, will meet with us. We especially invite the advice and cooperation of the various civic clubs of the town who are interested, above all, in a better Prestonsburg.

Working to that end, there can be no reason why we should not all get along and do something worthwhile.

AFTER 45 YEARS FLOYD NATIVE MEETS HIS DAUGHTER FOR THE FIRST TIME

The story of how a native of this county and his 45-year-old daughter whom he had never seen first met reached THE TIMES last week.

A few weeks ago, M. K. Hall, native of the Prater Creek section, heard a knock at the door of his home at Plummer's Landing, Fleming county. The stranger he admitted to his home was his daughter, Mrs. Tom Payne, of Paynesville, W. Va., and the mother of five sons.

This is the story, as pieced together by father and daughter:

Before the birth of Mrs. Payne, her parents separated. Mr. Hall remarried and moved, 35 years ago, to Plummer's Landing where he owns a large farm. During her last illness, the first Mrs. Hall gave her baby to a childless Paynesville, W. Va., couple.

The child was reared by the couple as their own and not till the foster-mother lay dying was the silence of 42 years as to Mrs. Payne's real identity broken.

There followed letters between Mrs. Payne and her father; questions asked and answered until there was positive proof.

Then the happy homecoming.

MAN RAISES HIS ARMS ABOVE HIS HEAD FOR FIRST TIME IN YEARS

A few days ago a man said the rheumatic pains in his arms and shoulders disappeared and now he can raise his arms above his head for the first time in years. He said the pains he used to have from this rheumatism were simply awful. Sometimes his knees and hips were stiff and sore but the pains were mostly in the back of his neck and across his shoulders. Now, however, his suffering is entirely gone and he says the change is due to taking TRU-AID. "Oh! What relief!" states this man. "Why don't other rheumatic sufferers get TRU-AID?"

TRU-AID is a new formula. It contains Three Great Ingredients, so it is almost like taking three medicines in one. It goes right to the source of rheumatic aches and pains. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get TRU-AID.—Hughes Drug Company.

Inspectors Recommend Dust Control Program For Clear Branch Mine

A more comprehensive coal-dust control program, additional ventilating improvements, and certain other operating safeguards are proposed for the Clear Branch Mining Company's 1,350-ton-a-day mine at Ligon, in a federal coal mine re-inspection report released by the Bureau of Mines. When re-visited in August by Inspectors Leslie E. Allen and Alex McNab, the development employed 413 men.

Noting that the back entries in one working section had not been rock dusted and that insufficient quantities of rock dust had been applied in several other active places, the inspectors recommended immediate action to conform with recognized dust-control standards. Other major safety suggestions were for coursing of more air to several active entries, driving of crosscuts at regular 60-foot intervals, installation of well-constructed air locks, a split system of ventilation for the No. 1 section and weekly tests for explosive gas and other hazards, safer underground storage of blasting materials, use of incombustible stemming exclusively and shunting of the battery ends of blasting cables.

Allen and McNab credited the mine with a number of recent safety advances. They embraced recording of the daily fan inspections, improved ventilation at several working faces, preshift examinations for explosive gas and other dangerous conditions, re-railing devices for the locomotives, underground man-trip waiting stations, adequate fire-fighting facilities underground, a positive check-in-and-out system, wearing of goggles by employees exposed to flying particles, and maintenance of ample first-aid equipment near the working sections.

Sixty bushels of Tennessee No. 1 barley seed were distributed to Bourbon county farmers so they can compare this barley with Kentucky No. 1 barley.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE WORD OF A TB PATIENT

Editor, The Times:

I have just read your views on the dreadful disease called T.B. Think your ideas are swell. Except you didn't mention all the money sources that you should. Stamps and seals help, but how about trying the business men, the U.M.W.A., railroaders and the other unions. Then let's try the ladies' clubs—there's a pretty sure shot. Then when you get some money coming in, I see you still have candidates left. When I was there they were having a platform of about every description. Why not make them take back water on this one? The Blue Grass should be pretty well fixed up by now. I say, use Floyd county money for Floyd county people. Left Beaver Creek's coal sales should be at least 1/2 million dollars a day. I wonder where the state's "divvy" is on that. Why not let the state put up a nice part of the capital? One nurse can't do very much. Why not ask the state to purchase a prison camp, or even a C.C. camp, and all the hospital equipment. That's just what the state of Idaho has done. Of course, they have a T.B. fund. There's so much set aside for T.B. each year.

For Floyd county, I would suggest a portable x-ray to move from one community to another and force the people to meet it there, like the sheriff does in collecting taxes. Just tell the people for me that there is none immune to T.B. How do I know? Just this—I am now right in the middle of a T.B. hospital, where they have about 45 patients of different races, creeds, colors and ages, from 4 1/2 years old to 67 years, of both sexes, some with no wealth, others with plenty. Some have T.B. of the lungs, others have it in the throat, others in kidneys, blood, flesh, muscles, bowels, skin, bones. So you see even the x-ray can't always tell. Blood and sputum tests fail often.

Tell the people that it all can be cured, if they are not already dead, by chest surgery. We have them here in all stages, one who weighs 204 pounds, about 40 years old, the picture of health, but who can never get well entirely, because he waited too long. Folks, this one is a fact, too. You won't believe that large, wild game has T.B. No? Well, I can prove this one. A friend of mine, a Mr. Tuck, road foreman of engineers for U.P. R.R., went hunting this season. He and his partner got their deer, big and nice. They hauled him in to Pocatello, Idaho, then they undressed Mr. Buck, and found him a bit skinny, like myself. So they called an official of the wildlife department and had the buck's lungs tested. What do you think? You are right—about 90 billion T.B. bugs to the square inch. Mind you, that fellow could jump over a 12-foot barrier or 30 feet in dead level, and was raised in high altitude.

About myself, you guessed it—right spang dab from Beaver Creek, Gearheart, Ky., and I know them all. I worked on trains on Left Beaver around 20 years ago and I learned how to approach a candidate—never let them approach you. Since we are back to that, why not ask the man you want for Governor to do his stuff in getting a T.B. state hospital in Floyd county, instead of promising to change the moon or lowering food prices?

I hope the people join you in your fight on TB, also polio, cancer and so on. I will be glad to give any personal information of TB surgery. Keep the thing going. I will help all I can.

G. B. McCURRY,
T.B. State Hospital

Editor, The Times:

We, the citizens of Tram, have been trying for many years to get a bridge at Tram and have been up to this point unsuccessful in even getting a survey of the possibilities of getting a bridge. We think as tax-paying citizens we have the right to ask for this and that it is the duty of the county to do this for us. So we think it is time they got their heads together and did something about it, due to having so many children who have to cross the river in order to get to school, and that we cannot survive in a normal way as people should without getting a way out of this place. We don't want any more promises that are in vain. Action is what we want.

TO THE VOTERS OF FLOYD COUNTY:

I wish to thank you all, both Democrats and Republicans, for the splendid majority Floyd county gave me in my race for re-election for State Senator.

In the primary I had for my "campaign managers" these good Democrats—Reuben Taylor, Tom Ellis, Squire Vaughan, Malcolm Harris, J. P. May and Lee P. May—and I had no reason to change that set-up for the November election. They did a good job.

You all have been good to me, and I want you to know of my deep appreciation.

Elementary School Study Is Planned At U-K. Meeting

Outstanding schools in selected "pilot counties" of Kentucky will be surveyed as a means of developing a program of positive action to improve conditions faced by elementary education, a conference of the State Committee on Elementary Education at the University of Kentucky has decided.

Among the approximately 35 leading educators from throughout the state attending the meeting on Oct. 31-Nov. 1 were C. H. Farley, Superintendent of Pike county schools, Pikeville; Dr. Hugh Shafer, head of the Department of Education, Morehead State Teachers College, Morehead; and Palmer L. Hall, Superintendent of Floyd county schools, representing the Eastern Kentucky district, which included this county.

A sub-committee of the state committee will attempt to locate schools in the state doing outstanding work and conduct an on-the-scene study of the school's program in regard to elementary education and the status of the elementary grades teacher, Dr. Charles R. Spain, U-K, Bureau of School Service head and chairman of the state committee, said.

It is planned to gather all the information possible in regard to the practices of the school, to take pictures and to give the program all possible publicity through the medium of press and radio as an example of the work of a model elementary school.

Objectives of the state-wide study of elementary education, one of the first ever attempted in the nation, are to find ways and means of improving elementary schools; to inform the public concerning the crisis which is being faced in the elementary schools of Kentucky; and to gain the support of the entire state in improving the status of the elementary teacher and the elementary schools.

Meade Plans To Revive Canalization Project In Big Sandy Valley

Revival of the Big Sandy canalization project is planned for the next session of Congress, it was announced a few days ago by Congressman W. Howes Meade, of Paintsville.

Congressman Meade said he would push the issue at the coming session. The project was killed in Senate committee last year, but since that time has received full approval of inland waterway backers.
If Congressional authorization for the undertaking is received, Meade said he would ask for an immediate appropriation sufficient to start work next year.

Floyd Arnold Mann, student at the Hill School for Boys, Pottstown, Pa., will visit his cousin, Mary Catherine Hutsiniller, at Stuart Hall, Staunton, Va., this week.

Century Ago, The Big Sandy Was Bear Hunter's Paradise

Eastern Kentucky has its Bear Creek, Bear Hollow, Bear Fork, etc.—and little wonder. This section, back in the days when streams were getting their names, was a bear hunter's paradise, no less.

As witness the following excerpt from Howe's History of Virginia which was contributed by Dr. S. P. Hildreth after a trip in 1804:

"It was a paradise of bears. On the ridges were whole forests of chestnuts and the hillsides were covered with oaks on whose fruit they fattened until their glossy hides afforded the finest peltry imaginable."

"At the mouth of the Big Sandy, the dividing line between Virginia and Kentucky, the Ohio river makes an extreme southern bend and approaches nearer to the climate of the cane than at any other point between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati. At this period the cane grew in quantities near the falls 30 miles from the mouth and had been visited in 1804 by Thomas Alcock of Marietta for the purpose of collecting its stems to make weaver's reeds. It was the nearest point to the Ohio where this valuable plant was known to grow. In Tennessee and Kentucky it furnished the winter food for cattle and horses many years after the settlement."

"The headwaters of the Sandy and Guyandotte interlock with those of the Clinch and Holston amid the Cumberland mountains. In their passage to the Ohio, they traverse the most wild and picturesque region to be found in Western Virginia."

"At this period it was the most famous hunting ground for bears in all parts of the country. The bear is not strictly a carnivorous animal, but, like the hog, feeds chiefly on vegetable food. It was the paradise of bears."

"In the years 1805 and 1806 an approximately 8,000 skins were collected by the hunters in the district traversed by these rivers. The war in Europe created a great demand for their skins to decorate the soldiers of the hostile armies; good ones brought the hunters four or five dollars cash."

"Since that day the attention of the sojourners of the wild region has been turned to the collection of the roots of ginseng. This beautiful plant grows with great luxuriance and in most wonderful abundance in the rich virgin soil of the hill and mountainsides. For many years the forests have afforded a constant supply of many thousand pounds annually to the traders."

"No part of America furnishes a more stately growth of forest trees embracing all the species of the climate. The lofty white poplars attain the height of 80 to 100 feet without a limb, having a shaft of four to six feet in diameter. The white and yellow oak are its rivals in size. The cucumber towers aloft to an altitude uncommon to any other region, while its more humble relative, the umbrella tree, flourishes in great beauty by its side. It may contain the stone necessary for building future cities. In addition to all these vegetable riches, the hills are full of fine beds of bituminous coal and iron ore."

INSPECTORS' REPORTS NOTE IMPROVEMENTS AT 5 MINES

Federal mine inspectors' re-inspection reports on five Floyd county mines were released by the U.S. Bureau of Mines this week, and all five mines were credited with numerous improvements.

The reports follow, in part: Improved timbering and more effective rock-dusting are recommended for the Liberty Elkhorn Mining Company's 550-ton-a-day Liberty Elkhorn mine in a report issued which also credits the operation with numerous recent safety gains. Near Maytown, the development employed 74 men when it was revisited in August by Leslie Johnson.

Recommending full compliance with the adopted timbering standards requiring the setting of safety posts in all face areas and erection of permanent timbers close to the working faces, Inspector Johnson also proposed instruction of workers in approved roof-testing methods and removal or effective support of loose roof at specified locations. The inspector also suggested an intensified rock-dusting program and the removal of coal-dust accumulations from several haulageways.

More than a score of recent safety advances were reported by Johnson. Among these were the rock-dusting of areas around the underground explosives-storage boxes, use of permissible shot-firing units only, firing of shots immediately after charging, a water gauge and an automatic stop-signal for each main fan, sufficient air in the working places, weekly air measurements, replacement of the wooden stoppings in the No. 1 mine with tile or concrete block stoppings, and preshift examinations for explosive gas and other dangerous conditions. Others included application of additional rock dust in the back entries and face regions, adequate clearance at the main haulageway switch throws, re-railing devices for the locomotives, a sidetrack in the No. 2 mine, discontinuance of jumping on and off moving trips, effective guarding of trolley wires and other electrical safeguards, surface-underground telephone service in the No. 1 mine, and 100 per cent wearing of safety-toe shoes.

Although more than two score safety improvements had been effected recently at the Beaver Coal & Mining Company's 400-ton-a-day Beaver No. 1 mine at Drift an inspector recommends increased coal-dust control and other corrective measures. The development employed 112 men when re-examined in August by Inspector Leslie Johnson. Recent safety gains cited by Inspector Johnson encompassed removal of some loose haulageway roof, frequent roof testing, special containers for carrying blasting materials, safer location of the underground section boxes, use of permissible shot-firing units, a water gauge and an automatic signalling device for the No. 2 fan, recording of the daily fan inspections, generally adequate ventilation, installation of air-lock doors, preshift examinations for explosive gas and other hazards, gongs for the locomotives, discontinuance of coupling moving cars, detailed precautions against electrical and mechanical hazards, universal wearing of "hard" hats, and the use of goggles by workers exposed to flying particles.

The inspector noted that "considerable" rock dust had been applied in the mine but suggested broadening of the rock-dusting program to include one air-course as well as increased rock dusting of several other areas. Control of coal dust during cutting operations and cleaning of coal-dust accumulations from the mine also was suggested.

Many recent safety improvements in the Clear Creek mine at Hi Hat are commended and further precautions for the ventilating system, more effective rock-dusting, and added timbering safeguards are proposed. Operated by the Hi Hat Elkhorn Mining Company, the mine employed 119 persons in the daily production of 650 tons of coal when re-inspected in September.

Although commending the adequate ventilation in working places and the pre-shift examinations for hazards, Inspector Johnson also recommended substantial incombustible stoppings, air-lock doors or attendants at single doors, weekly examination of the mine for hazards, offset installations for the Hayes mine fan, and safety devices for each fan. Between inspections, considerable rock dust had been applied in the mine and a dust-tight housing had been provided for an open-type electric motor in the tippie. To minimize further any dust-explosion dangers, the inspector advocated additional rock-dusting where needed and removal of all coal-dust accumulations from the tippie.

Adherence to the timbering standards, enough safety posts close to each working face and sufficient permanent timbers for protection against roof falls, frequent roof-testing by workers, and the removal or support of all loose roof were suggestions offered to increase timbering safety.

Noteworthy recent safety gains also embraced rock dust for stemming shot holes, re-railing devices and a gong for each locomotive, discontinuance of jumping on and off moving cars and coupling them by hand, guards for the trolley wires at underground man-trip stations, frame-grounds for mining machines and hand-held electric drills, and suitable underground fire protection. Other recommendations called for further precautions in storing explosives and detonators, unobstructed clearance along haulage roads, several electrical safeguards, and a ban on smoking in the mine.

In crediting the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company's 1,250-ton-a-day Princess No. 2 mine, at Permele, near David, with extensive recent safety gains, a federal inspector also suggests more effective coal-dust control, safer timbering practices and several other precautionary measures. The development employed 170 men when re-examined in August by Inspector Russell Shaw.

Recommending increased rock-dusting in a number of specified areas, Inspector Shaw also suggested cleaning of coal-dust accumulations from one roadway and use of water to allay coal dust during cutting and loading operations. The inspector also advised several timbering precautions, including setting of permanent timbers closer to working faces and wider use of safety posts in face regions, prompt replacement of dislodged timbers, and removal or effective support of loose roof at a number of active areas.

Safety improvements carried out before and during the current inspection, Shaw revealed, embraced preshift examinations for methane (an explosive gas), and other hazards, recording of weekly air measurements and gas examinations in the returns and abandoned workings, rock dusting of two dry areas, re-railing tools for the locomotives, provision of permissible trip lights, elimination of a number of electrical hazards, and maintenance of adequate fire-fighting facilities at strategic points underground.

To help reinforce the many safety advances made recently at the Kathryn Elkhorn Coal Company's 650-ton-a-day Turner A mine, a federal inspector recommends more effective coal-dust control and improved timbering practices. The development is near Drift, and it employed 97 men when re-visited in August by Inspector Leslie Johnson.

Suggesting that all working places in the 1 and 2 west sections be rock-dusted to within 80 feet of the faces, Inspector Johnson also advised use of water to allay coal dust formed during cutting operations. The inspector proposed strict compliance with the adopted timbering standards requiring the setting of permanent posts close to the working faces. Removal or effective support of loose roof along two haulageways and instruction of employees in approved roof-testing methods also was suggested.

More than 30 recent safety gains were cited in the report. They encompassed generally adequate ventilation, prompt closing of crosscuts, installation of additional air-locks, pre-shift examinations for explosive gas and other hazards, setting of safety posts close to all working faces, use of permissible shot-firing units only, ordering of employees to give ample warning before firing shots, correction of several electrical hazards, discontinuance of jumping on and off moving trips, posting of escapeway-direction signs, universal wearing of protective headgear, and a ban on using open-flame lights underground.

It's a fact: Cancer is uncontrolled growth. Its danger is that it lives and grows more rapidly and successfully than the rest of the body of which it is a part.

Marshall county farmers have ordered 30,000 pine and locust seedlings.

Stewart and 18 for Taylor.

Joe Hobson, Prestonsburg attorney, representing the plaintiffs, pointed out a 1942 Act of the General Assembly requiring a judge of the election to sign the ballot.

The vote in Garrett precinct was not questioned, although a Garrett ballot was found in the Wayland precinct box and was voided. The court ordered six ballots questioned in Wayland precinct to be counted. Four of these were for the Broom candidates, two for the Pick and Shovel.

The recount gave the following totals:

Jay Snyder, 142; Hager Taylor, 154; Joe Gibson, 144; Garvis Turner, 140; Leck Stewart, 139; Willard Castle, 145; Hassel Craft, 140; Hershel Warrens, 140; Wm. Hopper, 141.

Turner and Stewart, who lost through the recount, have asked an appeal and have given until the last day of the next regular term of the Floyd circuit court to file their bill of exceptions.

Lee county farmers are said to have yielded the largest acreage of wheat, rye and oats in the history of the county.

The Freedom Pledge And Other Matters

Now on a year's tour of the United States is the Freedom Train bearing the original Declaration of Independence, the Constitution and other historic documentary evidence of America's plans and battle for liberty.

In every city the Freedom Train has visited hundreds, young and old, have proudly signed the Freedom Pledge. Thousands more will sign the Freedom Pledge before the train and its precious cargo end their trip to every state of the Union.

The fact that these thousands of the young, the old, black and white, those of all religious faiths and in every walk of life, proudly sign the Freedom Pledge as the voluntary act of good Americans makes it particularly difficult for us to understand the refusal of certain labor leaders to affirm that they are Americans and not Communists.

John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, and Phillip Murray, CIO leader, are notable instances of what appears to be plain stubbornness in the face of the Taft-Hartley Act which they abhor. It would appear that, for the simple reason that they hate this particular law, they are unwilling to make a clear-cut statement of their Americanism.

The United Auto Workers, headed by Walter P. Reuther, only this week voted compliance with the anti-Communist requirement of the law. Those workers are affected by the Taft-Hartley Act even as the UMWA or the CIO.

But the fact is, it is not a question of who is affected or not affected by the Taft-Hartley Act, or who likes it or who doesn't like it. Personal grudges become insignificant beside the future of America. Joseph Stalin, Molotov, et al, viciously assert their un-Americanism—why not counter with pledges of loyalty from American leaders?

John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers, as individuals, would violently resent impugning of their Americanism. So would the rank and file of other labor organizations. There is no reason for their Americanism to be impugned, and their leaders should with typical boldness assert theirs in these days when Communism is the enemy of everything and all that is American.

It strikes us that the idea back of this anti-Communist provision is this:

Some labor unions have become infested with Communists. This country, in time of peril, is dependent as much upon the forces of production as upon its armed forces; therefore, it is important, at any rate, that those at the top be avowed enemies of the forces that would destroy America.

In short, now is the proper time for good Americans to stand up and be counted.

About 80 per cent of Anderson county tobacco land was seeded with small-grain, vetch or other cover and feed crops.

Roy Eldridge, of Rowan county, has culled and housed 250 pullets from which he is getting 70 per cent production.
