

This Town-- That World

I was wondering, toher day, about one Wise Crum and was informed on no-good authority that he is in training as a jet pilot.

SHUCKS! Clyde Burchett sends me--me, of all people!--a clipping wherein some scallawag delivered himself of this: We have been thinking about mankind, and we have decided that man is an imitator, not a creator. Almost everything man has accomplished has been suggested by nature.

He saw fish, so he learned to swim. He saw birds, so he learned to fly. He saw wood floating on water, so he built boats. He saw stones rolling down hill, so he made wheels.

He saw lightning, so he made dynamo, electric lights and machines with which to shave or beat the eggs. He heard sound traveling through air, so he made radios.

He saw shadows, so he made movies. And, last but not least, he saw corn, and he wrote columns.

NOTHING TO CROW ABOUT

Prisoners in the city jail here didn't have to feel 'way out yonder for their heads to know, Sunday, it was the morning after the night before. From the rafters of the hoosegow Chanticleer himself heralded the new day.

This added service resulted when Police Chief Bill Blackburn and other members of the force raided a West Prestonsburg restaurant Saturday night. One of the men said to have been under the influence had with him a "banty" rooster. Both took the ride to the coop.

Came the dawn, as they used to say in the movies. And our feathered friend crowing like the Pathe news-reel rooster. During all this flapping of wings and heralding of the new day, his fellow-prisoners were not at all appreciative of having thus being given the bird.

HANG THE EXPENSE!

I bought a new car, the other day. Paid too much for a "two-by-four" to pay, as an acquaintance put it.

But, right or wrong, I thought a new car was in order. Sure, I could have done without; I could have waited a few years and bought a better car for half the price. But...

You paid too much for that house and your new refrigerator, your new kitchen range, and a lot of other things you could have denied yourself and your family. Come to think of it, there are few things we buy that are absolutely essential. Time was, you know, when the skin of a wild animal, a cave and a club met man's physical requirements.

But when you bought or built that home, or some of the nice things that are in your home, you were thinking of your family. Nothing too good for the wife and children. They could wait a few years, but the children would no longer be children; they would be adults with some none-too-pleasant memories of childhood.

So hang the expense! And amen, brother.

Now-- We folks here have been offered a site for a playground for our children and for the children of others. The price is too high. But are we going to deny our children their right to play in safety, in pleasant surroundings, under careful and helpful supervision, simply because of expense?

HEAVY RAINS WORK DAMAGE

Low-Lying Sections Of River Towns May Suffer from Flood

Low-lying sections of Prestonsburg and other Big Sandy towns were threatened today (Thursday) by rising waters resulting from downpours which, Tuesday and Wednesday, caused heavy damage along smaller streams of the section.

At Elkhorn City, after 9 o'clock this morning, the river was still rising, with headwaters from a downpour which fell in the Pound, Va., section around midnight yet to reach there. At Shelby at 8 a.m., the water was rising 10 inches an hour.

The river is not expected to reach a standstill here before 8 a.m., Friday morning.

Tuesday afternoon, the Middle Creek, Little Paint and Abbott Creek sections were hardest hit, with Prestonsburg streets flooded as storm sewers clogged. The bridge to the Left Fork of Abbott road washed away, headwaters along the Abbott WPA-built road washed out, and on Little Paint John Melvin Hall saw three stacks of lumber float away. Road damage over the lower sections of the county was heavy.

The upriver sections were hardest hit by Wednesday afternoon's rain. Magistrate Dewey Roberts said road approaches to a bridge in Pike-Floyd Hollow at Betsy Layne were washed out and that Mud Creek was hard hit. He said he did not attempt to drive over the Mud Creek road to review the damage.

One woman saw her family wash with the clothes line disappear in the Pike-Floyd washout, and some there expressed gratitude they were not drowned.

Water was around the McDowell consolidated school Wednesday, but reports from both Left and Right Beavers indicate the damage there may not be so heavy. Both streams were at flood but the stage was several feet below that of several weeks ago when Prestonsburg, Pikeville, Paintsville and other river towns suffered.

Johns Creek at the Dewey dam operations was 20 feet above its normal stage, with the crest reached at 4 a.m. today. All work there was suspended and machinery of the Ryan Construction Company was moved to high ground. The bridge across Johns Creek, above the dam site, was washed away.

Cloudy skies this morning portended further rainfall.

GRAND JURY INDICTS 26

Two Draw Pen Terms For Child Desertion; Slaying Case Scheduled

As the Floyd circuit court was getting under way in the trial of cases already docketed for hearing during the term, the grand jury was adding through indictments 26 new cases during the first two days of its session.

Fred Dickerson, Prestonsburg, was named in the murder indictment, and also was indicted for carrying a concealed deadly weapon.

Green Hall, of the Mud Creek, section, was named in an indictment charging him with shooting and wounding Andy Hall, and $5,000 was asked for his bond. The same bond was asked for the liberty of Hager Conley, of Martin, who was charged with attempted rape.

Two men were indicted, first day of the grand jury's work, charged with intentionally setting woods afire. They are Bruce Branham and Malcolm Scarbury. Six men were indicted for child desertion. They are Ironton Vance, Ansil Gillam, Raymond Ward, Lewis Wright, Oscar Patton and Andy Goodman. Other major indictments returned as of Wednesday.

Lee Frasure, keeping disorderly house; Boyd Barnett, knowingly receiving stolen property and house-breaking; Billy Joe Hall and Verlin Sparks, illegal transportation of whiskey in local option territory, $2,000 bond asked for each; Curtis Stone, assault and battery with an automobile, $3,000 bond asked in each of two cases; Lee Hamilton, malicious cutting and wounding; Harold Jones, deserting a pregnant wife; Bill Johnson, reckless use of a deadly weapon; Roy Arnett, obtaining money under false pretenses; Matt Johnson, malicious striking and wounding.

Two men drew pen terms, early in the session, for child desertion. James Dove, who for several years has been in and out of court on desertion charges, was given two three-year terms Monday on his plea of guilty. The sentences will not run concurrently. The other case of the sort was that of Virgil Pratt, who was given a two-year sentence.

Thirty-one cases had been dismissed from the docket for various reasons in the first two days of

ROARK DIES, DICKERSON'S BOND $20,000

Drug Store Owner Fires Five Bullets Into Victim's Body

James J. Roark, Jr., 28-year-old war veteran, was shot five times and fatally wounded here, early Sunday evening, and Fred L. Dickerson, drugstore owner, is under $20,000 bond, charged by the Floyd circuit court grand jury with his murder.

The shooting took place, shortly before 7 p.m., as Roark sat in a booth in the Dickerson Drug Store. Bullets of a .38-calibre revolver penetrated Roark's chest three times, his shoulder and arm. He died at the Prestonsburg General Hospital, shortly after 7 o'clock Monday evening.

The fusillade of shots came without warning as several teen-agers were in the drugstore. One bullet passed through the dress and grazed the body of Miss Ruth Hall, who stood near Roark.

Miss Hall and Miss Lorraine Fitzpatrick, who had been sitting in the booth with the victim, shortly before the shooting, told the grand jury Tuesday that they did not hear a word spoken before the shooting began. Mrs. Beatrice Rogers, of West Prestonsburg, who stood toward the front portion of the building, told the jury she heard Dickerson say, "I told you to stay out of here."

MINE OPENING NOT IN SIGHT

Judge Issues Order To Restrain Lewis, Miners, Operators

The nation's soft coal strike today was a week nearer its end--but when that end would come none would venture a guess.

Saturday night, after President Truman had directed Attorney General Clark to seek court action, Federal Judge Matthew P. McGuire issued a temporary restraining order directed at John L. Lewis, his United Mine Workers of America and the operators.

Preceding that, Lewis had issued a statement disclaiming responsibility for the shutdown and informed the miners their return to work was a matter for themselves to decide.

Tuesday of this week, after coal operators had proposed negotiations, Lewis proposed to meet with Benjamin F. Fairless, president of U.S. Steel, and George M. Humphrey, chairman of Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company, with whom he negotiated the contract last year.

Later Tuesday, it was reported that Lewis would seek dismissal of the court order for a temporary restraining order.

While the legal aspects of the matter awaited a decision, all was quiet in this county. There was no indication the miners would return to work before a decision was reached.

"Not in good faith," the United Mine Workers chief snorted Tuesday in response to an operator proposal to negotiate with spokesmen other than Fairless, of United States Steel, and Humphrey, of Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company.

"Plainly evasive of your duty," the operators replied.

The exchange of proposals and re-eminations left uncertain the plans for a meeting tentatively arranged for Wednesday at 2:30 p.m., to seek

BURKE WINS G.O.P. POST

Race for Chairmanship Fails To Materialize At Caucus Saturday

What promised to be a hot fight for the Republican county chairmanship between Harry R. Burke, of Bonanza, and D. P. (Perk) Dingus, of Martin, suddenly cooled at the county caucus here Saturday, with Mr. Burke winning the post by acclamation after one of his main supporters, S. C. Ferguson, Prestonsburg, had won the seat of temporary chairman.

Work of the committee on credentials which might have ruled on challenges to proxies was waived.

Mrs. Viola Stewart, of Langley, was named county chairwoman, W. D. Steele, of Harold, secretary, and J. O. Webb, Prestonsburg, treasurer.

FUND DRIVE NETS $5,000

For Playground Center; Local Groups Endorse Move Launched Here

First few days of the drive for funds for the Floyd County Playground Center here resulted, it was learned at Tuesday evening's meeting of workers, in a total of $5,000 being contributed.

Leaders and workers in the drive expressed their gratification at the early response made to their canvass for funds with which to establish here a permanent playground for children in connection with an athletic field for the schools and for such other groups over the county as may need such a spot for holding various public events.

At the same time, they continued to seek a site for the playground. An option now is being sought on the Webb and Hopkins property, below town, in addition to those already under consideration.

Since last week resolutions endorsing the playground project have been adopted by the Kiwanis Club, the Woman's Club, the Methodist Men's Bible Class, the Junior Woman's Club, Local Union 547, United Construction Workers, the Woman's Society of Christian Service, and the Woman's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church, all of Prestonsburg.

SCHOOL BOARD AIDS LIBRARY

New Help Brings Total Available Each Month For Library to $150

The Floyd County Board of Education voted an appropriation Tuesday of $25 a month to the Floyd county public library fund, bringing the total pledged per month by branches of government to $150.

Miss Alice Harris, leader in the library movement, told the board this amount per month will enable the work to get under way. The Floyd fiscal court has pledged, it was said, $100 a month and the Prestonsburg city council is contributing $25 monthly to the library fund.

Following the Board meeting, County Superintendent Palmer L. Hall said new regulations governing emergency teacher certificates have been issued by the State Board of Education. The new regulations differ on two important points with those of last year. They are:

1. This year, any person who has never before taught must, in order to acquire an emergency permit to teach, have a minimum of 32 semester hours of college work.

2. Or, if the applicant has previously taught under an emergency permit, eight semester hours' work must be completed before the beginning of the school term in order to have the permit renewed.

No teacher failing to attain these qualifications can be employed before the opening of the school term. If, however, it is found, with the schools opened, that a sufficient number of teachers qualifying under these provisions is not available, the County Board of Education may ask the State Board of Education for permits, such applications will be considered on their merits.

Jaycees, Peace Officers Ass'n To Head Traffic Safety Week

A safer Floyd county, the year around.

That is the goal of the traffic safety program to be launched Monday, April 26, and continuing through the week, under auspices of the Kentucky Peace Officers' Association and the Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The program is part of a traffic safety educational program originated by Irvin E. Hibbs, safety engineer, Louisville division of police, and being locally coordinated by the Jaycees.

"It can happen to you," is the theme of the drive, which is intended to impress on everyone the thought that accidents don't always happen to the other fellow.

4 Taken without Licenses Convicted, Draw Fines

Four recent convictions of Floyd men charged with hunting and fishing without license were reported this week by Conservation Officer Bernard Baldrige.

The defendants, Jay Castle and James Fitzpatrick, of Garrett, and Woodrow Pack and Donald Ward, both of Drift, were fined $27, including costs, each.

Baldrige said both Left and Right Beaver Creeks are more heavily stocked with fish now than at any time since industrial development of the section, and that every effort will be made to protect these streams as well as woodland game.

FISCAL COURT VOTES FUNDS

Continuing 3 Services, Amends Road Program; Boosts Pay of Five Men

Annual appropriations for the re-continuation of the services of the Floyd County Health Department, the County Agent and the Home Demonstration Agent were voted Tuesday by the fiscal court.

Appropriations for the three public services were: County Agent, $1,050, plus $1,100 for clerk hire and office expenses; health department, $3,000; home demonstration agent, $600.

At the same time the court fixed the county and school tax levies: 50c per $100 valuation for the county general fund, 20c per $100 for the bond fund, $1.50 poll, 1 pct. on crude oil and 20c per $100 value of bank shares; and for the schools, $1.50 per $100 valuation, for general purposes, with a poll tax of $1.

The court directed that bids be asked on construction of a swinging bridge at Cracker and for repair of the bridge at Martin. It also requested that the Department of Highways aid the county in the sum of $46,842.21, plus an unexpended balance from last year's rural road allotment, in the maintenance of projects recently listed in the rural road program for 1948, with these exceptions:

Eliminate the Steele's Creek road construction, since it is in the corporate limits of Wayland, and spend approximately $18,000 in the construction of the Big Mud and Clear Creek roads. The program, as originally outlined and including the Steele's Creek work, asked the expenditure of $26,000.

Salaries of Shelley Woods, Rudolph Lewis, James Trimble, Kenneth Caldwell and Pat Bentley, county road machinery operators, were raised, effective July 1, to $200 a month.

In anticipation of increased funds as a result of the new gasoline tax, the court set up a program of road-building for each of the four magisterial districts in the county, with 3 1/2 miles allotted each district. Roads suggested by the court for construction under the program are these:

Districts 1 and 2--the Stephens Branch-Caney Fork road; District 3--Frasure's Creek; District 4--connection of the Big Mud and Clear Creek routes and two miles of Toler's Creek road.

Authorities admittedly were baffled this week after several days' investigation of the dynamiting, early last Friday morning, of an automobile and a truck owned by ministers at McDowell.

Questioning of Avery Eugene Floyd, McDowell miner, who is in jail here for investigation, and Burr and George Anderson, James and Earl Howell and Millard Sizemore failed to uncover clues of value. The men were first questioned Friday by County Judge Alex L. Davidson, and Tuesday they were questioned by County Attorney W. W. Burchett and members of the grand jury.

Motor vehicles blasted were owned by the Rev. W. H. White, McDowell mission worker, and a visiting minister from New York. Parts of the two machines were hurled over rooftops in the Bristle Buck section of McDowell and a part of the front portion of the home occupied by the Reverend White, his family and guests was blown away.

The story, as pieced together by County Judge Davidson, starts with the imprisonment for a five-year term in New York state of Floyd for auto theft. Floyd later professed religion and the two ministers became

JUDGE CITES 4 VIOLATIONS BEFORE JURY

Bootlegging in Clubs 'By Subterfuge' Hit In Jury Instructions

Over Judge Hill's instructions

Tuesday morning, Judge Hill supplemented his grand jury instructions, calling for an investigation of alleged changes made on the Floyd county tax assessment records. He asked that every official who handled the books be questioned.

Impartial enforcement of the law, regardless of the position in life of the offender against the law, was the theme of Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill's instructions to the grand jury Monday morning upon the convening of the April circuit court session.

Forest fires, drunk driving, carrying concealed deadly weapons and bootlegging, in that order, were stressed in the instructions, and to bootlegging Judge Hill devoted full comment.

"Whether you are wet or dry, this is dry territory and it is your duty and mine to abide by the law," he declared.

He pointed out that at the last court term approximately 90 persons were questioned by the grand jury, but that only one or two indictments were made for bootlegging. "Nothing can be done without the support of the people," he added. "As long as they sell liquor to a man who will swear falsely to protect them, they are safe."

Explaining the Kentucky law on search and seizure which requires that a search warrant be sworn to specifically naming the property where liquor or other illegal property is held, Judge Hill then commented at length on the Garrett case in which the operator of a club was fined and jailed when a raid netted a large quantity of beer, some liquor and two slot machines. He pointed out that the operator of the Garrett club had previously been convicted of one or more liquor law violations.

"There is no substantial difference in that sort of club and the roadhouse of six or seven years ago," the judge said. "Those so operating by subterfuge ought to be fined. As grand jurors, you should investigate this club business."

During his discussion of private clubs and the liquor question, Judge Hill pointed out that Kentucky law provides that such clubs can be formed with its privileges restricted to members only. "Most of these legislators who made these laws are as wet as rats, and you can tell that by the bills introduced in the past. The fact that we join together as a club should give us no special privileges. Those places are breeding places for crime. It's the wrong kind of recreation. I'm opposed to that sort of thing, regardless of who engages in it or who they are."

Citing the natural heritage which is this section's in timber, Judge Hill enjoined the grand jury: "I want you to make indictments when you have any information whatever of willful or careless setting of forest fires." He added that, a few days ago from the upper limits of Prestonsburg, he counted three forest fires in their early stages.

Of drunk drivers he said to the jury, "I want you to ask the arresting officers about these. Sometimes, an influential man may be caught, but he does not deserve any more consideration than the one-gallus fellow."

ENGINEERS SEEK BIDS

On Dewey Dam Area Clearance; Operations Now 45 Pct. Complete

Bids looking to the clearing of buildings from the area in the vicinity of the Dewey dam were asked this week by the Huntington (W. Va.) district office, Corps of Engineers.

The bids, which are to be opened at 10 a.m., April 15, are for the sale and removal of 39 buildings such as residences, barns, sheds, etc., which are on a number of tracts of land located in the construction area of the dam. Information as to the exact location of tracts on which the buildings are located will be furnished upon request to the office of the resident engineer, H. W. Witte, at the dam site.

The structures, all within a radius of approximately one mile from the dam site, are on land previously procured by the government and their removal is sought because they are in the way of construction work.

Work on the dam this week stood at 45 per cent of completion, and current operations are working toward diversion, late this spring, of Johns Creek from its original bed so that work on the earthen dam itself may be begun. An effort will be made to complete the dam across the stream during the current construction season.

Exclusive of pressure grouting, the tunnel at the west end of the dam site is complete. The stilling basin is being concreted and concrete work on the control weir, training walls and tunnel transitions have been completed. Fine grading of the spillway, preparatory to concreting, is under way.

Sizemore-Casebolt Vows Exchanged

The wedding of Miss Katherine Frances Sizemore, daughter of Mrs. Lou O. Sizemore, of Hazard, and Edward C. Casebolt, Jr., son of Mrs. E. C. Casebolt, of Newport, was solemnized Friday, March 19, at the Baptist Church in Richmond. The Rev. Ernest N. Perry, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony in the presence of the immediate families and close friends.

The vows were exchanged before an altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli and huckleberry foliage interspersed with floor candelabrae holding white wedding candles.

Miss Lenora Douglas, of Hazard, organist, presented a program of nuptial selections including "I Love You Truly," "At Dawning," "Because," "Romance" and "Evening Star." "The Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin was played for the entrance of the wedding party and Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" was the recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by a cousin, Douglas Jones, of Pompton Lake, N. J., wore a navy blue suit with matching accessories. Her shoulder bouquet was a white orchid.

Miss Shirley Johnson, of Hazard, maid of honor, wore a gray suit. Miss Nancy Henderson, of Manchester, O., bridesmaid, wore a pearl gray suit. Their flowers were gardenias.

Jack Casebolt, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were John Deering, of Covington, Norman McGuffey, of Stanford, and Bob Sandman, of Newport.

The bride is a graduate of Clay county high school, Manchester. She is a junior at Eastern Kentucky State College and is a staff member of The Eastern Progress and The Milestone, and a member of Kyma Club, Perry County Club and the Young Women's Christian Association. The bride is a former student at Caney Creek where her mother was nurse.

Mr. Casebolt is a graduate of Newport high school and served 18 months in the armed forces. He also is a student at Eastern, where he is affiliated with The Eastern Progress, The Milestone, Northern Kentucky Club, Young Men's Christian Association and Canterbury Club.

It is expected that alfalfa in Powell county will be doubled over the 1947 acreage.

Are we going to let them shift for themselves, from street to street, dodge passing automobiles in their play, and try to enjoy themselves in an environment where it's "every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost," where the law of "survival of the fittest" prevails? All because a strip of land cannot be bought at the figure all of us can agree is reasonable?

And when the expense is not being borne by one man or one woman, but by us all, with none financially hurt, regardless of the sum total of expense?

Look into your own hearts, probe your consciences. Be honest with yourselves and the children.

Then you will decide the children's need is as great as that of an individual family for a better home.

You'll surely say—"What are we waiting for?"

GOOD, OLE ARKANSAS

And now comes this panegyric to the grand state of Arkansas by a Congressman named Hays, as it appeared in the Congressional Record, thus proving the Record is a work of literary merit for which the taxpayers should never remonstrate against keeping in circulation:

"Mr. Speaker, if my colleague from Pennsylvania thinks that the members would be interested in my tribute to the dog, which I delivered at Solgohachia on the Fourth of July, I shall be glad to give it again. My defense of the Arkansas dog is offered in the same spirit of goodwill which inspired the question of the gentleman from Pennsylvania; but, Mr. Speaker, when he maligns our dogs he started something.

"It is true that we import a lot of dogs from Pennsylvania. The people of Pennsylvania ought to love us, for we are among their best customers. While we are not yet able to match Pennsylvania in the field of industry, we do have our home products—the cows, hogs and dogs—that the Keystone state can never equal.

"If all the cows in Arkansas were one cow, she could stand with her front feet on the Great Plains of the West, and her hind feet in the Dominion of Canada, and with her tremendous tail could wipe icicles off the North Pole.

"If all the hogs in Arkansas were one hog, he could stand with his front feet in the Gulf of Mexico, his hind feet in the Atlantic Ocean, and with his mighty snout could dig another Panama Canal.

"Mr. Speaker, if all the dogs in Arkansas were one dog, he could stand on the loftiest peak of the Ozark Mountains and raise a howl that would blow the rings off the planet Saturn, and all the possums in Pennsylvania would not grease his upper lip."

HOW TOWNS ARE MADE

Town Hall was editor of the Kiwanis Bulletin this week, and he mentioned the need of a playground in Prestonsburg, also the need for a site at less cost.

Then he mentioned the county library project. Wrote Mr. Hall:

"Speaking of another fine project—the county public library—if you will build it at Allen, near the center of the county, my wife told me to tell you that we would donate a fine lot for the building site."

Now that spirit, my brethren, is what makes a town!

FISHING REPORT

Never believe a fisherman. And don't bet on what anybody else tells you about fishing.

The Associated Press last week reported, with straight face, that fishing was poor throughout Kentucky, except in one spot. That "paradise," AP reported, was "in the vicinity of Prestonsburg, Ky."

One guy who had spent long hours here trying to tempt a fish to nibble a worm Sunday, despite a muddy river, finally rose creakingly, straightened cramped legs and said: "One thing I'd like to know before rigor mortis sets in—and that's who in the h— is reportin' for the durned papers from this place?"

Inspector Commends
Safety Improvements
At Evans Elkhorn Mine

Approximately 30 recent safety advances in the Evans Elkhorn Coal Company's Jones Fork mine near Lackey are commended and further rock-dusting and other precautionary measures are proposed in the report released by the Bureau of Mines. When reinspected in January by Russell Shaw, this mine employed 40 men and averaged 400 tons of coal per day.

Rock dust was applied throughout all open places in the mine, according to the report, and recently to within 80 feet of the faces of the Nos. 1 and 2 back entries. In addition, more than 1,000 tons of coal dust and machine cuttings were removed from haulage roads. Inspector Shaw recommended additional rock-dusting where needed to minimize any dust-explosion dangers, and the use of water or a wetting agent to allay coal dust during mining operations.

Ventilation in the mine was good, the fan was recently equipped with a pressure-recording gauge, and work was started to replace wooden stoppings with concrete-block ones. To prevent short-circuiting of the air from working places, Inspector Shaw suggested air-lock doors on main haulageways or attendants at single doors.

Recent beneficial changes also included safety posts at all working faces, better clearance along haulageways, rerailing devices for locomotives, effective blocking of standing cars, guards for the trolley wires at man-trip stations, underground telephone service, and orders for enclosed trip lights and proper-type switches.

Addition of a coal-dust-control program and further timbering, haulage and electrical safeguards are recommended for the Farwest Coal Company's 350-ton-a-day Merritt No. 1 mine in a federal reinspection report issued by the Bureau of Mines, which also lists a number of recently-instituted safety measures. The mine is at Wayland, and it employed 47 men when re-examined in January by Inspector Russell Shaw.

Pointing out that the mine had not been rock-dusted, Inspector Shaw said that it should be to within 80 feet of the faces. He also proposed using water or a wetting solution to allay dust formed during the cutting.

To help reduce roof-fall and haulage hazards, the inspector advised erecting safety posts promptly in face areas, setting permanent timbers closer to working faces, and prying down or effectively timbering loose haulageway roof, cleaning up the haulageway clearance space and crosscut shelter areas, using enclosed trip lights and securely blocking standing cars.

Shaw also directed attention to numerous electrical shock and ignition hazards, and he suggested insulator support for some of the power wires, safer installation and more effective guarding of the trolley wires, frame grounds and overload protection for certain electrical equipment, and provision of insulating platforms at the pump starting switches.

The inspector cited more than a dozen recent beneficial changes. They embraced prying down loose roof at one intersection, discontinuance of working under loose roof, weekly air measurements, provision of adequate clearance at main haulageway switch throws, cleaning coal-dust accumulations from the mine, elimination of several electrical hazards, shielding the fan and pump belts, and posting escapeway-direction signs.

Continued enforcement of the pistol law was asked. Judge Hill pointed out that crime is less prevalent now than a few years ago, attributing this improvement to the fact that "everybody now doesn't carry a pistol."

Jack Sellards was named foreman of the grand jury.

a settlement in the spreading strike over pensions for miners.

The operators said they would be there—with the men they chose in the first place.

Lewis himself set the hour, but in the same communication to the operators he said the presence of Fairless and Humphrey would be "essential to constitute good faith."

He refused an operator bid to a 4 p.m. meeting Tuesday without the two men.

The operators in their letter told Lewis:

"It is not within your province or authority to choose the persons who represent the coal operators in collective bargaining. It is the operators' responsibility to select their bargaining representatives."

Lewis said Fairless and Humphrey "more than anyone else are qualified to interpret" the contract for their part in its negotiation. Their presence is "essential to constitute good faith," he asserted.

Judge McGuire's order expires April 13. On April 12 he will hold a hearing on the Justice Department's request for a preliminary injunction.

The judge directed his order at both the United Mine Workers which Lewis heads and the soft coal operators whose mines have been shut down for three weeks in a pension fund dispute.

The judge ordered:

1. The union not to continue the strike, or even to permit or encourage the strike. (The judge used the word "strike" even though Lewis had told his members that the walkout is not a strike and he did not cause it.)

2. The union to "forthwith instruct" all members "immediately to return to their employment."

3. The union and the operators not to interfere with or affect the orderly continuance of work in the mines.

4. The union and the operators to "engage in free collective bargaining" and to "act in good faith" with the view of ending the present dispute over the miners' pensions "at the earliest possible time."

5. The union and the operators to carry out a provision in their contract which says both sides shall fully cooperate with each other to develop policies for the effective operation of the welfare and retirement fund.

The order says the strike, if permitted to continue, will imperil the national health and safety.

Forewarned—Not Forearmed

THE monotonous regularity of these coal mine shutdowns should, some day, wear away, as the water does the stone, the apparent apathy of Floyd county to its industrial and economic future.

These seasonal business doldrums, all directly traceable to the idleness of a large percentage of the county's population, should point to the undeniable fact that, if this county is to have a lasting prosperity, it must look to other industries.

The mining business is a boon to Floyd county. That cannot be denied. But the county leans too heavily on this one support. A few days' shutdown, and business is seriously affected. Some day, only a few mines will be operating. Eventually, Floyd county's coal deposits will be exhausted.

Then, unless we have forearmed ourselves, we shall be without a sizeable industry.

All of which is to say: Diversified industry is needed — manufacturing plants, small or large, here and there, something of the business breath of life in addition to that which emanates from the drift-mouth.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

IN APPRECIATION OF HELP

Editor, The Times:
The teachers, pupils and patrons of the Drift school are asking your help in making known their gratitude to two friends who have never failed them.

The school wanted to buy a movie projector, but funds were lacking and the only means they had of getting the money was to ask for contributions.

The folks did some talking about the matter and asked some for donations. Then they asked C. D. and B. F. Reed for help. These two men talked it over with Lloyd Stumbo, principal of the school. And then they gave a check for the full cost of the projector—more than $600.

If we only had more men in Floyd county as liberal as they, we would have better equipped schools and churches. There are plenty others who can afford to help as they have, too. The Reeds never turn down any worthy cause.

Now, if the County Board of Education would come across with some improvements for our school which were promised long ago, we would have a very nice school, with the playground equipment, window shades, books, etc., that have been bought with money raised by the school.

VETERAN HOUSING COSTS MUST BE REDUCED

Housing costs must be reduced if builders hope to continue serving the veterans' market, Thomas B. King, director of Veterans Administration Loan Guarantee Service, told the annual convention of the National Association of Home Builders in Chicago, recently.

"The variance between the prices currently being paid by veterans' families and the prices which can be afforded on the average indicate that the bottom of the barrel is being approached," he warned.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Riley Shepherd, who passed away two years ago:

We think of you in silence,
No eye may see us weep,
But many silent tears are shed
While others are asleep.

We are sad within our memory,
Lonely are our hearts today,
For the one we loved so dearly
Has been forever called away.

Death came swiftly like an arrow
Just two years ago today,
When God called you, dear husband,
To his heavenly home to stay.

Days of sadness still come over me,
Tears of silence often flow,
Memory keeps you ever near me,
Though you left two years ago.

Sadly missed by wife and children.

Jaycees Endorse Plan For Big Sandy River Lock and Dam Work

The Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce in its annual dinner meeting at the Brown hotel, March 23, discussed the future commercial development of the Big Sandy valley and adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas, this region possesses great undeveloped coal and mineral reserves and many advantageous locations for factories, but is hampered by limited transportation facilities, which may be increased by canalization of the Big Sandy river by a system of locks and dams, therefore,

"Be It Resolved, that the Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce endorses and approves the canalization of the Big Sandy river as is now being advocated by the Big Sandy Valley Association, Inc."

It was resolved that the Jaycees send copies of this resolution to all members of the Kentucky delegation in Congress.

Magoffin Children Walk Across Hills To Enjoy Egg Hunt

The David Community Church sponsored an Easter egg hunt following the Sunday School program on Easter morning. Two hundred thirty-five children, including 10 who walked more than three miles from Magoffin county for the event, marched from the church to the hunting ground, near the home of Alka Davis, behind 28 fully uniformed members of the David Boy Scout troop.

Hansford Honeycutt was chairman of the egg hunt and directed Grover Johnson, Orville Dotson and J. E. Durham, Jr., in the hiding of 800 colored Easter eggs. Mrs. Virgil Warrick and her Sunday School class, assisted by Mrs. Otis Bussey, Mrs. M. E. Thompson and Mrs. J. E. Durham, prepared and colored the eggs.

Ten dollars in cash prizes were made by marking eight eggs with a 25, four eggs with a 50, four eggs with a 100 and one egg with a 200. The finders turned in the treasure eggs and exchanged them for cash.

After all of the eggs had been collected they were redistributed equally among the children to take home. Colored moving pictures were made of the affair and will be shown at a later date.

court. Dow Mitchell, accused of reckless use of a deadly weapon, was convicted of a misdemeanor Wednesday and fined $10. The jury was unable to agree in the trial of Junior Radliff who was accused of grand larceny in the theft of an automobile.

As the cases were called, some were continued. Among these are those of:

Wayne Craft, indicted for grand larceny, continued till April 29; Woodrow Craft, carnally knowing a female under 16, April 29;

Milford G. Anderson, who had been indicted on a child desertion charge, escaped the possibility of a pen sentence by a compromise with his wife to whom he is to pay $40 a month alimony.

Circuit Judge Hill disqualified for the trial of Fred Dickerson, April 28, on the grounds that he is related to the defendant. For the same reason he disqualified for the hearing of the case of Dorcas Wall Radliff vs. Charles Radliff.

Charles Bates, now serving a 21-year murder term, will be returned here as a material witness for the trial, April 17, of Edd Johnson, who is charged with carrying a concealed deadly weapon.

The two men, both of whom had been prominent in baseball activities here, had had an altercation, a few days earlier, over a long distance telephone call, and a witness to the trouble said Roark struck at Dickerson several times, threatened and berated him. At that time, it was said, Dickerson told Roark to stay away from his place of business.

Later, Dickerson was said to have asked Policeman Ray Collins to ask Roark to stay out of the drugstore. This request, Policeman Collins said, was cancelled, however, Dickerson explaining that he did not want to incur any ill feeling.

Dickerson surrendered at the door of the building to Prestonsburg police, saying, “I had to do it,” later adding, “I would give everything I ever saw if it hadn't happened.”

“He must have been crazy,” Elmo Hubbard, one of those who went to Roark's aid as he fell in the floor, quoted the wounded man as saying.

The tragedy quickly attracted a big crowd of shocked friends of both men, who were widely known throughout this section.

Dickerson was freed Sunday night under $5,000 bond to answer to a shooting and wounding charge, with the grand jury returning the murder indictment on the morning following Roark's death.

Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill set the trial for April 28 and disqualified as trial judge because of relationship to the defendant.

The victim, a son of the Rev. James Roark, a Methodist minister, and Mrs. Roark, of Prestonsburg, was born at Hitchens, Ky., May 18, 1919. Since boyhood he had resided with his parents here. He was a staff sergeant, stationed during World War II in the India-China-Burma theatre with the 556th AAF base unit. A wide acquaintanceship throughout Eastern Kentucky resulted from his activities as playing manager of the Prestonsburg baseball team and the VFW basketball team here.

Surviving Mr. Roark are his parents and one sister, Mrs. Eugene P. Harris, Columbus, Ohio. The body was taken to the home of the parents and funeral rites were conducted this afternoon (Thursday) from the Methodist Church, the Revs. W. B. Garriott and G. D. Prentiss officiating. At the burial in the Mayo cemetery, which was directed by the cemetery which was directed by the veterans accorded military honors to the deceased.

Business houses here closed for the funeral, and the last rites were attended by a crowd which overflowed the church.

ROAD MISHAPS TOTAL 4,913

In State Last Year With 561 Fatalities; Accident Causes Cited

Frankfort, Ky., April 5 (Sp.)—At least three-fourths of all Kentucky traffic accidents last year involved some sort of traffic violation and the greatest cause of accidents was excessive speed, T. B. Smith, safety director, Kentucky Department of Highways, said today.

In a prepared report on 1947 traffic accidents Smith said his office had received accounts of 4,913 traffic accidents occurring during the year on Kentucky highways, 483 of them fatal.

This toll of traffic accidents resulted in 561 deaths and 3,059 injuries.

Of the total, 3,922 accidents, 298 of them fatal, involved traffic violations and 672 accidents, including 116 fatal, did not include violations, as shown by the report. In the case of 318 accidents, 69 of them fatal, it was not learned whether violations were involved.

The report showed 1,036 accidents, causing 165 deaths, resulted from drivers exceeding the speed limits. Other violations causing the most accidents were: cutting in, 419 accidents, 10 fatal; following too closely, 359, 10 fatal; driver did not have right of way, 359, 10 fatal; passing on hill, 15, one fatal; passing on curve, 32, two fatal; failure to signal or improper signal, 130, no deaths; and disregard of stop sign or signal, 37, three fatal.

A total of 8,338 drivers were involved in accidents last year, the report stated. Of these, 7,960 were male drivers, 592 of whom were involved in fatal accidents, and 378 were female, 22 of whom were involved in fatal smash-ups.

A check of the condition of cars involved in highway mishaps showed that 256 accidents which took 20 lives were caused by cars with defective brakes. Defective steering mechanisms were responsible for 53 accidents taking seven lives and 28 accidents, two of them fatal, resulted from punctures or blowouts.

Smith said this year's checkup showed also that in 58 cases of fatal accidents the drivers had been drinking and were obviously drunk and that 13 fatal accidents occurred when drivers fell asleep at the wheel. Out-of-state drivers were involved in 87 fatal accidents and drivers in 33 fatal accidents were found to be operating their cars without drivers' licenses.

The report also listed the following statistics concerning fatal and non-fatal highway accidents:

Age group of drivers: 16 years, 70 accidents, five fatal; 21 to 24 years, 1,538 accidents, 115 fatal; 25 to 44 years, 3,511 accidents, 270 fatal; 45 to 64 years, 1,457 accidents, 78 fatal. Road defects: loose surface material, travel, etc., 113 accidents, 15 fatal; defective shoulders, 49 accidents, 11 fatal.

Location: street intersection, urban, 300 accidents, 24 fatal; highway intersection, rural, 588 accidents, 28 fatal; bridges or overpass, 78 accidents, seven fatal. Time (peak hours): 3 p.m. to 4 p.m., 352 accidents, 44 fatal; 5 p.m. to 6 p.m., 351 accidents, 27 fatal; 6 p.m. to 7 p.m., 304 accidents, 42 fatal.

interested in him. The prisoner was paroled to the Reverend White, who procured for him in a McDowell mine, Floyd residing at the White home.

Later, a young woman, a sister-in-law of the minister-friend of the Reverend White, joined the Whites at McDowell. And recently she signed an affidavit stating that Floyd is the father of her unborn child. Told of this turn of affairs, the New York minister came to this county to ask Floyd to marry the girl, the story goes, with the result that Floyd left the White home and took up residence at the home of Mrs. Melvin Anderson, mother of Burr and George Anderson, two of the men questioned.

All those quizzed deny complicity in the dynamiting. Floyd was arrested early Friday morning at the Anderson home, and when Deputy Sheriffs J. B. Hall, Levy Rice, Johnny Caudill and Chas. McCown arrived at the home he was sleeping, fully-clad, on a downstairs davenport, although his room is in the upstairs part of the building. He told the officers he frequently fell asleep downstairs and spent the night there. Other members of the family substantiated his claim he had not been away from the house during the night.

An unnamed witness told of seeing two men in the darkness light a fuse near the two cars and of hearing two others talking nearby. The Andersons, Howells and Sizemore claimed, however, they had left the roadside place of business the Andersons operate at Orkney, to go into Pike county at the head of Abner Fork for whiskey and had not been in the vicinity of the dynamiting during the night.

Floyd remained in jail here Wednesday morning.

'International Relations,'
Woman's Club Theme

Betsy Layne, Ky., April 5 (Spl)—"International Relations" was the theme for the program of the Betsy Layne Woman's Club at its April meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. Keen Robinette, of Harold. Mrs. Alex Davis led the program with various members contributing the following articles: "Understanding Grows Through Knowledge," Mrs. W. P. Howell; "Ambassadors of Goodwill," a Pan-American article, Mrs. Beecher Hardwick; "Russian Relations," Mrs. Earl Hays; "Put Humanity First," Mrs. Clyde Blackburn; "Sure Way to Peace," Mrs. Clyde Layne. Following these articles, there was a round-table discussion of various international problems, including the war crimes trials, the atom bomb, and the part woman's clubs play in world affairs.

Mrs. Jack Williams, the president, presided at the business session at which the club voted to send $10 to the American Bible Society for the distribution of Bibles in foreign countries. The club also will sponsor a movie, with the cooperation of the Betsy Layne theater and school, for the benefit of the cancer drive. Plans were also discussed for aiding needy children in school. During the social period refreshments were served to the following members: Mesdames T. J. Chandler, Clyde Blackburn, W. P. Howell, Alex Davis, Clyde Layne, Beecher Hardwick, Edward Lykens, Jack Williams, Eliza Blackburn, Earl Hays, Lon Roberts, Glenn Blackburn, Elizabeth Pritchard, the hostess, Mrs. Robinette, and one guest, Mrs. Will Cecil.

The next meeting will be May 6, at the home of Mrs. Lon Roberts, with Mrs. T. J. Chandler in charge of the program.

Inland Steel Report
Project Completion

With the demand for cold rolled steel sheets still acute, Inland Steel Company is pushing its program to modernize and increase the capacity of its sheet and strip mills at Indian Harbor. The program, which has been subject to repeated setbacks in the delivery of necessary equipment, is expected to be completed during the latter part of 1949, giving the company an increase of approximately 300,000 tons a year in its output of cold rolled products. It was reported that during the year Inland continued its efforts to strengthen its raw materials position to support expanded operations at Indian Harbor. In its coal operations, the company began the development of the large acreage acquired in 1946, and is undertaking construction of a large washing and screening plant on this property located in what is to be known as Price, on Left Beaver Creek. When completed, this plant will handle the entire output of the present Wheelwright mine, as well as that of the recently acquired acreage. The entire project is expected to be completed late in 1949.

In their annual report to Inland's stockholders, April 1, Edward L. Ryerson, chairman, and Wilfred Sykes, president, explained that a major part of the company's $16,108,713 expenditure in 1947 for new plants and equipment was in connection with its modernization planning for sheet and strip mills. The program includes the installation of additional finishing equipment, the speeding up of existing equipment, and the regrouping of processing facilities.

Reopening of the Bristol mine, a reserve iron ore property on the Menominee Range at Crystal Falls, Mich., was started late in 1947. It is expected to resume shipments early in 1949.

Negotiations toward the leasing of a large acreage in the fluor spar district in Kentucky were concluded during 1947, and exploration of these lands is currently under way.

The report pointed out that steel operations are continuing at high level and demand is still in excess of the industry's ability to produce.

During 1947 Inland operated at an average rate of 97 per cent of rated ingot capacity, as compared with 82.7 per cent rated capacity in 1946. The steel industry as a whole operated at a rate of 92.9 per cent and 72.5 per cent in 1947 and 1946, respectively.

ROAD REPAIR PLANS ISSUED

Floyd Roads Damaged; Four Routes Selected For Initial Attention

Extensive plans for repairing winter highway damage were issued last week to district engineers and maintenance supervisors by the Department of Highways. A grouping of damaged highways to prepare them for complete resurfacing by contract in order to facilitate early completion was requested.

U.S. 23 at the upper limits of Prestonsburg, a large section of the Left Beaver highway, and the road from Lackey to Wayland are in miserable condition.

"First consideration must be given the heavily traveled roads with emergency repairs until such time as the weather will permit permanent patching," Commissioner Garrett L. Withers said. "Designs are now being prepared and major work will be let to contract just as soon as the roads are dry enough to warrant. We will use our own facilities as far as is practicable, but the damage is so wide-spread and extensive that the contract method is being employed."

A report from the Division of Maintenance indicated that sections of U.S. 25, U.S. 60, U.S. 41 and KY. 80 were subjected to the greatest damage and will be included in the first group to be repaired by contract. "Field checks on several other heavily traveled routes are being made now," M. F. Johnson, director of the Maintenance Division, said. "Every effort will be made to proceed as rapidly as possible to get resurfacing under contract. In the meantime, temporary repairs will be made to make travel just as safe as possible."

Farmers in Allen county are unusually interested in pastures, having seen fields of fescue and ladino remain green, despite a severe winter.

Beaver, Ky.—Poster Mitchell, of Grand Canyon, Arizona, has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Mitchell, and other relatives here.

WHY
must there be 2 kinds of Telephone Dollars?

One kind to keep your service GOING

These are the dollars that are used to run the business — to meet the day-to-day expenses of supplying telephone service. You pay them with your telephone bill and the nickels you deposit in pay telephones. These dollars pay wages to telephone workers and all other expenses of furnishing you service. In addition, these dollars you pay for service must also provide a reasonable return to the people who have invested their money in the telephone business.

One kind to keep your service GROWING

These are the dollars that are used to build the business. They pay for new buildings, switchboards, wires, cables, poles, and other equipment. These dollars do not come from the bills you pay for telephone service because a regulated utility such as the Telephone Company is not permitted to earn enough money to put earnings back into the business. Facilities for improvement and expansion must be financed with dollars from investors, attracted by a reasonable expectation of safety and a fair return on their investment.

In order to keep your telephone service GOING and GROWING, there must be enough of both kinds of dollars. This requires adequate telephone rates—rates sufficient to pay the cost of furnishing you telephone service with enough left over to yield a reasonable return to investors who supply the dollars that make the service possible.

KENTUCKY ON THE MARCH

By EWING GALLOWAY

Every time current symptoms of decay in our American civilization, labor strife, pressure group government, super-fabulous spending, wide-spread pernicious inertia, begin to get me down, my thoughts turn to the people of Eastern Kentucky.

I was discussing that region the other day with a well-informed neighbor.

"It is a sort of nesting place," I said, "for the kind of Americanism we had two generations ago. Go to Berea College and you will find 99 per cent of the students are ambitious. Nearly all of them are working to pay their way. I don't believe there is a college like it in the world. Move on to Pine Mountain School and you will see a student body just about 100 per cent ambitious. There may be similar schools in the Appalachian mountains, but nowhere else in rural America."

"The people of that region haven't gone soft yet," my neighbor broke in. "Mountaineers probably are no better than other people, but they have handicaps. Education is not easy to get. From the time a mountain child enters the first grade until he grows up and wins an A.B. degree he knows no featherbedding."

But I'd better get back to Bell county before all my space is used up. It is a story of improvement programs accomplished by pupils, teachers, parents, under over-all direction of County Superintendent W. M. Slusher and Supervisor Warren Robbins. And I hope all elementary teachers in Kentucky will read it.

Quoting the Middlesboro News: "All the goals in the program were decided upon by the pupils themselves, and completed, for the most part, with little outside aid. Money needed to buy paint, wax and varnish, lumber for playground equipment, were raised by box suppers or white elephant sales managed by the students."

"Health has been emphasized as a goal in almost all schools, not as a classroom subject, but as a constant need, by providing wash basins, pure drinking water and sanitary places to keep drinking glasses and lunch boxes."

"All schools also paid particular attention to the physical feature of the schoolrooms themselves, including washing windows, oiling floors, cleaning toilets, building and painting shelves, tables and bookcases from orange crates and scrap lumber."

"Walls were painted, coat racks, sortage cabinets for books, drinking glasses and lunches were built, water coolers, story books purchased, dressing tables with mirrors set up."

"Pupils varnished school seats, made bulletin boards, wastepaper baskets, made science corners, play corners, first aid cabinets, brought growing plants and flowers, painted-blackboards, polished stoves, erected flag poles. Electricity was installed in a few schools."
