

This Town-- That World

WE PRESCRIBE... Suffering from low blood pressure? Is your metabolic rate off and you are afflicted with the chronic droops? Feel so dispirited you wouldn't remonstrate if somebody questioned your paternity?

Don't rush off to a doctor. Read The Floyd County Times—more particularly, the rest of this item which is to inform you that the Soviet magazine Slavvane has come out with a masterpiece claiming that the average American mining family hardly has a toothbrush to its name.

There are only four beds for 10 members of the family. There is no proper water supply, and they all wash in a little basin in the street and wipe themselves with one towel. There is only one toothbrush, which Bill brought from the army, for the entire family.

If you still feel droopy after reading that from a Red paper, try some red pepper.

DOUBLE POOEY!

Friends of "Toodles" Wells thought it very, ver-y funny, that the aforesaid Toodles recently got himself lost on a squirrel-hunting trip in Nicholas county. And they have impudently used this column to describe the whole thing—the long wait for his return, the hearing of a shot which told the others as he failed to appear that he had accidentally shot himself, the alarm spread 150 miles away in Prestonsburg, and the gathering in the woodlands of relatives, the Nicholas Sheriff, men on horseback searching for the missing man, Herschell Graham and Mack Harmon would have us tell that "Toodles" used up his ammunition trying to quiet the whipporwills which were a bit too eerie for him in the darkness of the woods.

Some of my alleged friends would like the story printed, too, telling how I got lost, once upon a time, on Norris Lake, within 300 yards of Cedar Grove dock and how long it took Crusoe to determine he was on an island, etcetera.

But I join Toodles in saying "pooey" to 'em all.

Then there is that little matter of Otis Cooley, Tony Ranier and a pair of pants. This story is short. Otis paid Tony a dollar and Tony went home in his shorts.

Mr. Bob Schultz, of New York City, should know but I doubt it. He has been best man at more than 100 weddings, has stood adjacent to many the allegedly blushing bride and studied the matter at the range of a few paces; so he should be an authority.

But when he says the traditionally sweet and demure bride is nothing of the sort and instead is a simpering conqueror, who stands at the altar smirking like the cat who swallowed the canary, it just doesn't add up for me. Said Schultz, a bachelor who has seen enough, he claims, to make him remain so: "The helpless female sex, my eye. They just hunt and hound those poor guys right down to the altar."

Mebbe so. But if so, brother, the men, these days, are Adonises with

MEET SLATED HERE SEPT. 25

Valley Association Directors To Plan Program for Year

The 50 or more directors of the Big Sandy Valley Association named at the annual Association meeting at Paintsville two weeks ago, will meet here Sept. 25, it was announced last week by Dr. O. T. Thompson, Pikeville, president of the organization.

At the meeting here the Association's full program for the year will be outlined, Dr. Thompson said. Big item of this program, members of the group said, will be an all-out drive for Congressional approval this year of the canalization of the Big Sandy.

Rated second in importance in the nation in its ratio of cost to serviceability, the Big Sandy canalization has already gained approval of the Rivers and Harbors committee of Congress, Dr. W. C. Schroeder, chief of the department of synthetic liquid fuels, U.S. Bureau of Mines, pointed out at the Paintsville meeting the "great and immediate need" for development of synthetic liquid fuels industry based on the coals and oil shales of Kentucky and West Virginia. Adequate transportation, it has been pointed out, is a prime requirement for any section seeking this industry.

ROW DISTURBS COUNCIL MEET

Three Arrested Here After Gun Is Drawn In Cabmen's Fight... A fist fight and near-shooting scattered the gathering for the City Council meeting Monday night and sent Councilmen scurrying for cover along with their constituents.

As a result of the altercation, Jerry Laferty, his son, Adrian Laferty, and Estill Joseph, all local cab drivers, were arrested Wednesday by Prestonsburg police on charges of reckless use of a deadly weapon as to Jerry Laferty and breach of the peace as to the others.

The trouble started with a dispute between Joseph and the younger Laferty. Fists flew and Policeman Bill Kazee stepped in to interfere. Jerry Laferty snatched the officer's gun from his holster and leveled it at Joseph.

Before that, the Council had voted an ordinance designed to curb whatever activities taxicabs have engaged in locally in violation of the dry law. The ordinance provides for cancellation of taxi licenses upon arrest and conviction of any driver or owner of a cab for any local option conviction.

SECOND KNOTT MAN ARRESTED

In Gayheart Slaying From Ambush; Bailey Faces Investigators... A second arrest was made Friday in the ambush-slaying near Hindman, a few weeks ago, of Brown Gayheart, who was shot and fatally wounded by a gunman hidden on a mountainside, a few hundred yards from Gayheart's store.

Taken by Knott county officers for questioning was Hillard Bailey, Clyde Smith, first to be suspected in the assassination of Gayheart, is at liberty under $5,000 bond. An army rifle at first believed to have been the death gun had not been fired recently, investigators held after seizing the rifle, shortly after the shooting of Gayheart.

Bailey, with whose family Gayheart is said to have had trouble, was quoted as saying Smith had borrowed a 30-30 rifle from the family of Max Cody and had given him the weapon, day before the shooting, to be returned to the Codys. Bailey said he took the gun to Cody's store which he found closed. He left it behind the store, was gone about 20 minutes and returned to find the gun missing, he claimed. This gun is being sought.

The first gun examined by officers after the shooting was an army rifle Smith was said to have taken to clean for the American Legion post at Hindman.

An investigation has failed to disclose the identity of his assailant. Shepherd's funeral was conducted from Worthington Chapel, Sacramento, Ky., with military honors accorded by the Livermore, Ky., National Guard unit. Burial was made at Central City, Ky.

COURT SPLITS ON SPAN VOTE

Officials To Seek State Aid on Work On Martin Bridge

The fiscal court split wide open last Friday on the question of earmarking all of the $10,000 of the county's unallocated rural highway funds as a starter toward replacement of the bridge across Beaver Creek at Martin, with County Judge Alex L. Davidson casting the deciding vote against the move.

Magistrate Henry Stumbo proposed the action and his motion was seconded by Magistrate John May. Magistrates G. C. Burchett and Dewey Roberts voted against the expenditure.

Opponents of the motion contended that the expenditure of the $10,000 would deprive the rural highway fund of money needed to repair bridges and make other highway improvements elsewhere in the county, since remainder of the $72,000 found has been earmarked for expenditure on specified routes.

Those backing the motion were equally emphatic in their claims that the money should be spent on the Martin span which for some time has been dangerous for vehicle traffic. The bridge connects the main part of Martin with the railway depot. Traffic at present is being routed over the bridge at the upper limits of the town.

County Judge Alex L. Davidson explained, after the somewhat torrid court session, that he is for construction of the bridge, adding that a bridge, somehow, will be built, but contending that a state official promised, before the election, state or federal funds, or both, for the span. "I see no reason to rob these other sections of the county where they have little by using all of this $10,000 when we should be able to get the state to do the job," he said.

Two Fined, Given Terms For Selling Whiskey

Willard "Goat" Burchett was fined $100 and given a 30-day jail term last Thursday and two days later Agnel Jones, of Lackey, drew a $50 fine and 30 days after trials here before County Judge Alex L. Davidson.

Jones was accused of selling whiskey at a place near Lackey where he assisted Floyd Napier in the operation of a business. A search of the place by officers holding a search warrant uncovered no whiskey. Burchett was arrested at Knottley Hollow, a few miles from here.

Perkins Draws Miners' Applause; Jenkins Host To Big Labor Day Crowd

The United Mine Workers of America had their largest Eastern Kentucky crowd, an estimated 20,000, Monday at Jenkins for their annual Labor Day celebration.

Principal speaker John J. Mates, secretary of U.M.W. President John L. Lewis, stressed the importance of the retirement plan for miners and pensions for aged and infirm miners. He also talked of vacation pay and other "important things coming our way."

But some of the loudest cheering was for Carl Perkins, of Hindman, Democratic nominee for Congress from the Seventh District. Perkins attacked the Taft-Hartley Act and said: "I assure you United Mine Workers that I will work and vote for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act, and I will support to the fullest every measure that will aid mine-workers and organized labor."

Other speakers included Ed Reynolds, Hazard, field worker of the U.M.W., and James J. McAndrews, Lexington, secretary of District 30 of the U.M.W.

The celebration began with a parade at 11 a.m. It included mine-explosion and first-aid demonstrations, in addition to speeches and entertainment.

TO INCREASE FILM LIBRARY

Board Acts to Make Educational Films Widely Available

To supplement the visual education program made possible through the gift of historical films, slides and literary works made by the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company, the Floyd County Board of Education at its meeting Tuesday purchased a projector so that rural schools which have electricity may share in the educational program and also appropriated approximately $1,000 for the purchase of additional films.

The plan is to reach pupils in every part of the county, wherever possible, and also their parents with films and slides which are strictly of an educational nature. School Supervisors Henry Martin and Boone Hall are now working on a program for use of the films in the schools.

The Board employed 23 teachers in various schools. Wilbur Schu, former University of Kentucky basketball star, began his work as teacher-coach at Auxler this week. Carl Woods, principal of the school, announced, Mr. Schu has been employed here for the last several months and has been playing both basketball and baseball locally.

Teachers employed: Dist. No. 14—Hazel Music; 17—Josephine Richardson; 34—Betty Goble; 44—Florence May; 49—A. J. Martin; 85—Eloise Hamilton; 94—Robert Bruce Hall; 94—Leone Martin; 112—Nolene Derossert (assistant); David—Vollie Allen May; Drift—Esther H. Sammons, Vida C. Combs.

BOOTLEGGERS RANGE COUNTY JURY IS TOLD

Judge Asserts Court Not To Compromise Any Liquor Cases

Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill Tuesday morning called on the grand jury to investigate rumors to the effect that a county-owned truck is being used in hauling whiskey and at the same time asked that a probe be made into other rumors claiming bootleggers are getting protection "from one or more local district officials in the Right Beaver Creek section."

This request for grand jury action followed the judge's declaration that no liquor cases will be compromised in his court. "They got themselves into court; nobody made them violate the law," he commented.

"I understand," Judge Hill said in his instructions to the grand jury, "that a man named Pat Bentley was some time ago employed by the fiscal court to drive a county truck. There is a rumor that that truck has been used to haul liquor. It may be just rumor—I don't know—but it should be investigated. I want you to check into that."

He also asked that fines reported by Magistrates be probed by the grand jury. The jury was referred to the County Attorney and Commonwealth's Attorney for information on the matter.

Judge Hill further discussed the liquor situation in the county. "They are selling liquor in the shadow of the courthouse and up and down the highways. People will accuse officers, the Sheriff, the County Judge, County Attorney, me, of not doing our duty. I personally know of taxis, by their maneuvers, hauling liquor. I saw a Floyd county truck loading up in Lexington."

But, he pointed out, the Kentucky law of search and seizure is so technical that the cooperation of good citizens is necessary to enforcement of the local option law. Men and women, he said, must take the risk of reprisal and trust to the protection of the law and swear out search warrants in order that officers can find illegal liquor and arrest bootleggers.

"It is up to you citizens to decide," he added, "if we are going to turn Floyd county over to the bootleggers."

He appointed Den Fairchild, Sr., of Allen, foreman of the grand jury—a jury which he incidentally declared to be of pleasing calibre.

OIL WORKERS HEAR SCHAFFER

In Blast at Labor Law; Three Locals of Section Join in Picnic at Allen

B. J. Schaffer, Chicago, Ill., director of District 6, Oil Workers International Union, blasted the Taft-Hartley Act as "one-sided and destructive, hampering collective bargaining between labor and management," as he spoke Sunday at Allen at the annual picnic of members of the union from Locals 372, 510 and 584 of this section.

A crowd of several hundred union members, their families and guests attended the outing. Schaffer at Fred Foss, Louisville, vice-president and secretary of the Kentucky C. Council, stressed the importance of every voter exercising his ballot, regardless of political affiliation.

Wives of local-members prepared food for the gathering, and food and drink were served free not only to members and their families but to the public. String band music and various contests entertained the crowd.

Winners of prizes: B. J. Schaffer, senior Union man (15 years seniority); Kentucky West Virginia group, in tug-of-war; Mrs. Rhoda Jervis, rolling pin contest; Patsy Hughes and Wanda Crisp, of Allen, in the pretty girl contest; Arnett brothers (4) and Tobe Bradley, of Macon county, in string music.

To Ask Appellate Court Whose the Jurisdiction In Trial of Perry Man

The Court of Appeals will be asked to decide where Buster Fugate should be tried on a murder charge. Authorities of both Perry and Jefferson counties are seeking to try Fugate on the charge filed in connection with the fatal shooting of Wallace Amburgy, of Hindman.

Amburgy, 23, was shot in front of a roadhouse near Hazard, July 15. He died several days later in a Louisville hospital.

Perry authorities said the trial should be held at Hazard because the shooting took place in Perry county. Jefferson county authorities said it should be held in Louisville because Amburgy died there.

A warrant from Jefferson county where the grand jury last week indicted Fugate on a murder charge was taken to Hazard. Jailer Charles Duff said he refused to release Fugate for trial in Louisville.

"I'm holding the prisoner for trial in Perry county," said Duff. Perry County Judge Taylor Witt had ordered Fugate held for Perry circuit court.

The fall term of court opened at Hazard Monday.

In Louisville Commonwealth's Attorney Frank A. Ropke said a suit would be filed asking the Court of Appeals to prohibit trial in Perry county.

Ropke said he was advised of the jailer's refusal by C. W. Napier, one of the special attorneys employed in the case by Amburgy's family. Ropke said he had agreed to cooperate with the special attorneys, who, he said, contended they could not get a fair trial in Perry county.

As the Sparrow's Fall
LAST week's destruction of fish in the Beaver Creek section of this county was a local tragedy which is a local tragedy which is a national extermination of water life through stream pollution.

The nation's tragedy, affecting hundreds of streams, great and small, presents a picture so appalling that one localized incident becomes insignificant to all except a relative few.

SPORTS AFIELD in its current number starts a series on stream pollution, and the first of this "serial story" of death in the rivers of the United States deals with a part of the South. This is no pleasant story to read but is one which should be read.

The Shenandoah river in Virginia is Item No. 1 in this case history of man's violation of nature. That stream, once among the most beautiful in the land and a mecca for sportsmen, is from Front Royal, Virginia to where the Shenandoah empties into the Potomac as dead as the Dead Sea.

Industrial wastes spewing into the stream at Front Royal has not only killed every fish in the Shenandoah over this distance—there remains alive today not a May fly, a caddis fly, a dragonfly or even a mollusk.

And on the trail of death, marked by man's debauchery of nature, flows—to the Potomac, with the city of Washington, the nation's showplace-capital, contributing its raw sewage, to the rivers of North Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, and other states the black death runs.

Florida, a state thriving on tourist trade and the money of sportsmen, is among this list of states where dying streams present a major problem. There, as elsewhere in the South, manufacturers of textiles, chemicals, papers, etcetera, have moved in, close to the source of raw materials. There they have moved, with full panoply of plans for production but with few plans for conservation. The St. Johns, one of the nation's most famed fishing streams, is now so polluted that sportsmen shun it from Jacksonville to its mouth.

This destruction is not wanton. It is the result of sins of omission as much as commission. We must have industry, officials are told. A few fish are as nothing when compared with the prosperity of a section.

They forget that the industrial production made possible by human ingenuity and industry could be more profitable to the nation and its people if some of this know-how and energy were devoted to the big principle of conservation.

Man, for instance, has developed a score or more uses for coal. Chemists can produce not only the various types of fuel from coal—they can make from it a perfume smelling of a fresh-mown meadow. They can harness the atom, for war or peace.

But for the conservation of natural resources and some of the things which are necessary to keep man from becoming an industrial automaton, caged in his work-prisons of stone and steel, bound as a galley-slave far from the windswept reaches of water—to this their ingenuity and industrial capacity are foreign.

Even the national Congress has failed in the fight on water pollution. Drinking water will continue to be naught but doctored sewage; the swimming hole, flowing human excrement mixed with a small part of the pristine purity that fell from the heavens.

The water pollution bill the Congress recently enacted has been described by Congressman Karl Mundt as having the approval of the worst polluters "because it is the answer to the polluter's prayer." It has aptly been described as legislative chicanery which does not forbid the adding of new pollution to the sickening flood of human and industrial waste. Rather, it provides federal officials only with quasi-authority and shifts the responsibility to the taxpayers to bear the cost of developing techniques for neutralizing industrial wastes manufacturing plants create at great profit.

Even as last week's localized stream tragedy was a passing occurrence in the national pageant of destruction, this comment is but a faint echo of the few voices raised in protest over the country against such conditions. The public can, however, speak in such volume and with such effect that, one day, and before it is too late, lawmakers and those who are enjoined with the duty of enforcing the laws will hear and heed them.

a million bucks or the gals have changed in the last 20 years. Back in those days when women were women and the male of the species was the hunter—yoicks! yoicks!—some of us guys did some pretty hard courtin' before the bride got us "down to the altar."

Fact is, I wrote so many letters in those days trying to convince one of these women she should be married that I've been allergic to letter-writing, ever since. If that gal and some others I know of were being coy, I should say the art of acting reached its zenith, some time back in the '20's.

The court set today (Thursday) for a visit to Frankfort and a conference with Governor Clements, Commissioner of Highways Withers and others, but Judge Davidson was informed Wednesday by Assistant Attorney General Carl Perkins that a meeting with both officials will be impossible this week. A conference will be scheduled for some time next week, it was said.

After the move to have the bridge thus built had failed, Magistrate Roberts proposed that the span be condemned and advertised for sale. He and Magistrates May and Stumbo voted for this measure. Magistrate Burchett favored condemnation of the bridge but opposed its advertisement for sale.

The court named District Highway Engineer R. L. Parker as its representative in negotiating with U.S. engineers on the abandonment and relocation of certain roads in the Dewey reservoir area. His actions are subject to approval of the court.

A check for $1,000 was directed to be issued to the Big Sandy Valley Association as the county's contribution in the fight for canalization of the Big Sandy river. At the same time the court voted an appropriation of $50 a month for rent of a building and for utilities expenses of the Floyd County Library Association.

Wayland Drops First Game;
 Meets Paintsville Friday Night

Wayland high school's football team lost its first game of the season Saturday night to Fleming on the Letcher countians' field, 28 to 0, in a game much closer than the score indicates.

The Floyd team, starting its second year of football and the new season with a new coach, E. C. Warf, trailed by a lone touchdown at the half and the timer's whistle cut short a Wayland drive for an almost certain touchdown. As the half ended the losers were on the Fleming two-yard line, second down. At the end of the third quarter the score was 14 to 0. Fleming scored twice in the last stanza and converted all four extra points.

Coach Warf this week was driving his charges hard, prepping for the game Friday night with the Paintsville Tigers at Paintsville. He has a squad of 34 youngsters at work, smoothing out the rough spots in their play, and expects to spring a surprise on some of the opposition before the season ends.

Remainder of the Wayland schedule follows:

Sept. 19, Harlan at Wayland; Sept. 23, Jenkins at Wayland; Oct. 1, Belfry there; Oct. 9, West Liberty at Wayland; Oct. 16, Harlan there; Oct. 23, Hazard at Wayland; Oct. 29, Cumberland there; Nov. 6, Prestonsburg at Wayland.

All home games will be played under the lights.

Big Sandy League

The two teams winning this play-off will meet later in a series to determine the championship.

In the series starting Saturday night, first-place Harold will meet Wayland at Wayland and Elkhorn City will play fourth-place Weeksbury at Elkhorn City.

Musial To Lecture At Olive Hill, Paris

Paris, Ky., Sept. 6—Outfielder Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, currently leading the National League batters in all phases except home runs, will make appearances Nov. 4 at Olive Hill and Paris.

Musial will lecture on hitting and discuss National League pitching in addition to showing films of the 1946 and 1948 World Series.

He will be the guest for several days of Jimmy Rose, Paris high school basketball coach.

Rose said today Musial would spend some time touring horse farms in and around the area and would attend the Kentucky-Villanova football game November 6 in addition to his personal appearances.

That's what the paper makes me say. The boss says I don't advertise nothing, much. That's because he thinks you're not buying enough Silver Mist Flour. Maybe nobody's papering these days. Maybe nobody's baking that good-tasting Covington County peach cobbler. You know, the kind that makes Georgia love peaches and peaches love dough. If you don't know how to make good-tasting cobbler, maybe you don't know how to cook. Or maybe you haven't used Silver Mist, the flour that's got 'em all beat on honest-to-goodness flavor. Anyhow, you don't know whether it's you or the flour until you bake with Silver Mist. You don't lose nothing, because Silver Mist is guaranteed. That's right. Money back if you don't like it. My time and your patience are both running out, so I'll stop pestering you and you can start pestering your grocer for Silver Mist Flour.

SPORTS AFIELD

By TED KESTING
 Many an angler has seen his favorite stream ruined by erosion or pollution. Throughout the country thousands of small-mouth streams have gone to carp and cats. But those channel cats are the ace in the hole that offers hope to angling folk.

He gives some pretty fair sport for the man who knows how to take him, according to Outdoor Writer Lee Yeager. Playing Old Whisker's game calls for radical departures from standard angling techniques. Methods, tackle, bait, hours... all are different.

Instead of the usual 10- or 12-foot cane pole, Yeager uses a 5½-foot tubular rod. Rest of his equipment is the standard strong casting line and a 2-0 hook.

Channel cats will occasionally strike at artificial gnats or nymphs, particularly at night. But in the long run, live bait pays off. The cat's submarine shape and bottom feeding habits make him the perfect crowd, clam or diving bug catcher.

You'll have better luck fishing after sundown. The channel cat is called by some "the owl of the river." They can be taken in the daytime, too, but you have to take the bait to them. Never waste time in riffles during daylight hours unless they are deep and have cover in the form of boulders or sunken logs.

Wade slowly downstream, drifting your bait through deep holes. Work carefully around logs, stumps, and steep, overhanging banks; pools below falls and dams are often good. Many short, quiet casts will aid in working likely spots where the current will not drift the baited hook.

Channel cats feed avidly through the late spring, summer and fall. There are those who swear the only way to catch them is with blood bait. However, this is difficult to keep on the hook, particularly in currents. And then there is dough bait. Most are mixtures of wheat flour and corn meal, flavoring added. Some use cheese; others, clam juice. The kneaded ovals, an inch long, are dropped into boiling water, which serves to make them rubbery and tough. You can cast or dunk them in the swiftest current with no fear that they will come off the hook. Cats like it fine.

Benedett Drives Black Cats,
 Prepping for Whitesburg Tilt

Coach Ted Benedett worked his Prestonsburg Black Cats overtime Tuesday, winding up with a scrimmage under the new lights on the new playground, preparing for Saturday night's season-opening grid game here with Whitesburg high school.

Whitesburg, with a 27-0 victory over Belfry under its belt and with a veteran squad, is a formidable opponent for the Cats. Benedett has met with encouraging results in his efforts to develop new material to fit the shoes of those eight seniors from last year's conference championship team, but the dearth of reserves remains.

Injuries, too, cut into the strength of the Black Cats this week as big Paul Harmon, co-captain, was sidelined by a leg infection and "Set" Branham, backfield ace, was also among the injury-handicapped. Young Walter Scott Caudill suffered a broken arm last week and his value to the team as a reserve is lost for several weeks.

Tuesday night's scrimmage was slow in the mud of the new field. Looking particularly good were Gene Boyd and Donald Hollis in the backfield, Big Mike Horn, Doug Hyden and seventh-grader Tom Spradlin in the line. The latter has earned himself a regular starting role at the defensive tackle.

Thirty-three boys were out for the scrimmage. A definite weakness still exists in the punting department.

For Saturday night's game with Whitesburg possibly the largest crowd ever to attend an opening game here is expected.

Where J. W. Phelps, of Madison county, used boron on alfalfa, it looked like a green belt across a yellowing crop.

OF INTEREST TO VETERANS

Increased rates of compensation now are being paid to veterans with service-connected disabilities which were incurred in peacetime service. Veterans Administration announced this week. The increases were authorized by Public Law 876, which specifies that peacetime rates for compensation shall equal 80 per cent of the comparable rates for wartime service. Under the old law, the peacetime rates averaged about 75 per cent of the wartime rates.

Compensation rates are based on the percentage of disability suffered by the veteran, from 10 per cent to total in degree in multiples of 10, plus additional allowances for amputations, blindness, etc. Wartime monthly rates range from $13.80 for 10 per cent disability to a maximum of $360. The law now raises the peacetime rate for 10 per cent disability from $10.35 to $11.04, and the maximum from $270 to $288, with comparable increases throughout the scale.

The increases are being made automatically and veterans entitled to them need not apply or write to VA offices.

Veterans Administration recently advised veterans to give their National Service Life Insurance policies periodic "three-way checks" to make certain that their insurance programs are consistent with their plans, obligations and incomes.

The "three-way check" should cover (1) beneficiaries, both principal and contingent; (2) manner in which proceeds are to be paid to beneficiaries; and (3) amount and type of NSLI in force. Many veterans fail to name new beneficiaries when they marry or when a designated beneficiary dies, VA said.

If a veteran dies without naming a beneficiary, or if no designated beneficiary is alive at the time of his death, proceeds of the insurance go into his estate and are subject to inheritance taxes. Final distribution of the proceeds may not be that which the veteran would have desired.

Changes in family status or family income often require a veteran to change the method of NSLI settlement. He may elect to have his NSLI proceeds paid to his beneficiary in a lump sum or in equal monthly installments ranging from 36 to lifetime income.

Club Starts New Year With Community Forum

Garrett, Ky., Sept. 6 (Spl.)—A forum on community problems launched the new club year for the Lackey-Garrett Woman's Club last Thursday night, at the Estill Heights home of Mrs. Thomas Hatcher.

Various phases of community problems were presented by Mesdames Carlton Wrightson, R. H. Messer, Willard Castle, Thomas Hatcher, and S. M. Martin, chairman of Community Welfare, Public Health, Safety, Education and Youth Conservation and Citizenship, respectively. Questions and suggestions by the entire membership followed their talks. Three main conclusions were that all community problems were the responsibility of the entire club rather than that of any one committee and must be attacked as such; that the problems of greatest concern to women's clubs, whether they dealt with health, safety, education, or citizenship, were in the main ones affecting the youth of the community; and that the needs of youth could best be solved by working in close cooperation with other organizations interested in youth, especially the schools.

In a short business session the club voted to make available for a needy and deserving high school graduate interested in further education a scholarship loan of $100. The loan would be repaid with interest one year after the student completed college or procured a job, and would then be available for another candidate. In the meantime the club would replenish the loan fund with an additional $100 each year if needed. In this way the club hopes eventually to have a fund large enough for several such loans. It was also voted to continue the annual $10 award to outstanding graduates of Garrett and Wayland high schools.

Other business transacted at the meeting was the distribution of year books for 1948-49 by the president, Mrs. J. Crittenden Wells, and the request by Mrs. George Evans, Jr., chairman of the Hospital committee, that members save magazines for her committee to collect and distribute to the hospitals.

At the conclusion of the meeting the hostess served refreshments to Mesdames W. T. Hatcher, N.D. Howard, Earl Castle, Willard Castle, F. H. Cooley, Roy Souleyrette, Gorman Collins, Bert Stapleton, Fred Hall, S. M. Martin, J. E. Miller, Richard Vinson, Carlton Wrightson, J. Crittenden Wells, John Wallace, James T. Fraley, R. H. Messer, M. M. Collins, C. B. Ison, E. C. Blanton, George Evans, Jr., Fred A. Martin, Melvin Hayes, members; and two guests, Mrs. John M. Casebolt and Miss Elinor Castle.

Saturday afternoon, Sept. 25, the Lackey-Garrett Club will entertain the Hindman Woman's Club at a fish fry at the home of Mrs. R. H. Messer, Garrett.

ALWAYS WHITE...ALWAYS BRIGHT... no more clinging dirt or grime

DU PONT HOUSE PAINT CLEANS ITSELF!

Your house keeps its freshly painted look when finished with Du Pont House Paint. Dirt and grime can't become embedded—rains just wash them away!

SELF-CLEANING Du Pont House Paint is so formulated that, as time goes by, a microscopically fine white powder forms on the surface. Heavy rains wash the powder away, taking dust and dirt with it, and leaving the surface clean and white again. Excessive accumulations of dirt (particularly in sooty industrial communities or in heavily shaded locations) may delay or interfere with this process. Because this "self-cleaning" is gradual, the wearing qualities of the paint film are not abnormally affected.

SELF-CLEANING Du Pont House Paint is as durable as it is beautiful . . . protects against rust, rot, and decay . . . gives lasting beauty and protection. Costs no more than ordinary paints—saves repainting bills! Call on a reliable painter for your painting jobs, and ask him to use Du Pont House Paint!

PICKS TURNER AS PREDICTED

Governor Appoints Officials for New Judicial District

As had been predicted since early days of the move in the General Assembly to redistrict this section and create a new judicial district, Governor Earle C. Clements last Thursday appointed Irvine Turner, of Jackson, Circuit Judge of that new district, the 39th.

The new Circuit Judge took an active part in the legal skirmishing over validity of the Legislature's act which separated Floyd and Knott counties, made of Boyd a separate district and otherwise shook up district lines in the section. Judge W. B. Ardery, Tuesday of last week, ruled the legislation constitutional.

J. Douglas Graham, of Campton, was named Commonwealth's Attorney for the new district.

The district as created by the legislative act, which still is under attack in the courts, includes Breathitt, Wolfe and Powell counties. Circuit Judge W. B. Ardery last week held constitutional the act, which also made Boyd county a separate judicial district with a court of continuous session. The act revamped five districts to make the 39th. An appeal from Judge Ardery's ruling is being prepared for final review by the Court of Appeals.

The legislation became effective June 17, 90 days after adjournment of the General Assembly. A suit was filed against the act about that time. A restraining order issued then, preventing the Governor from making appointments, was dissolved by Judge Ardery as he upheld the act. Turner, a former state Senator, was chief clerk of the Senate at the 1948 session.

Graham said the Democratic committees of Breathitt, Wolfe and Powell counties had nominated Turner and him for the posts. To date, they have no opposition in the Nov. 2 general election.
