Kentucky Public Health Group Holds 1st Meeting

First annual meeting of the Kentucky Public Health Association was held at Louisville, March 23, 24 and 25. Dr. Bruce Underwood, state health commissioner, announced this week. The meeting began with registration at 9 a. m., Wednesday, March 23. The new organization was welcomed to Louisville by Mayor Charles Farnsley, and greetings were extended by Dr. E. Murphy Howard, president of the State Board of Health, Dr. Charles Edelen, of the Kentucky State Medical Association, Dr. Elmer Henderson, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the American Medical Association, Dr. Reginald Atwater, secretary of the American Public Health Association, and Dr. A. Whalin, supervisor of Health Education, Department of Education, and Dr. John J. Phair, health officer of the Louisville and Jefferson County Health Department, spoke on "Preventive Medicine and Public Health." Thursday, March 24, was devoted to section meetings of health officers, nurses, sanitarians, venereal disease workers and clerks. Thursday evening, the first annual subscription dinner will be held. Dr. C. C. Howard, past president of the Kentucky State Medical Association, introduced Governor Earle C. Clements; principal speaker of the evening.

Kentucky Insurance Head Raps Unlicensed Mail Order Firms

Frankfort, Ky., March 30—Kentucky State Insurance Director C. P. Thurman today added five more insurance companies to his published list of unauthorized or unlicensed firms soliciting business in the state through the mails. He named them as Old American Insurance Company, Kansas City; National Protective Insurance Company, Kansas American Family Life Insurance Company, San Antonio; Commercial Travelers Mutual Accident Association of America, Utica, N. Y.; and Guarantee Reserve Life Insurance Company, Hammond, Indiana.

Frankfort, Ky., March 30—Public warning to buyers and prospective buyers of hospitalization insurance from the First National Indemnity Company of Omaha, Neb., that it is not licensed to do business in Kentucky has been given by State Insurance Director C. P. Thurman.

The company is soliciting business through the mails and his Division has no authority to prohibit such solicitation, Thurman said. "All owners of policies with this company

In Memory of our dear Father and Husband, W. H. "Uncle Bud" Newman

Our dear father and husband and one loved by all has gone. A voice and face we all loved is still. A place in our hearts is vacant. That can never be filled. Alone in our heart. A prayer is all we can give; We will miss you, Father and Husband, More each day. But God has called you to heaven. You are not dead nor lost. But gone on before. You live in our memory And will forever more. God needed another angel. To worship before His throne. So He called you to heaven. From wife, children and friends. Time passed silent that sad day. But memory will linger in our hearts; God took you, it was His will. But loved ones linger still. There is another star in heaven. We shall meet you, dear Father and Husband; God took you to heaven, it was His will. But in our hearts your memory lingers still. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Newman and Family Lake View, Oregon.

should understand that in the event they have a claim against this company they cannot look for assistance from our Division," the Director asserted.

"As the First National Indemnity Company is doing business through the mails, any disagreement or misunderstanding between it and the Kentucky policy holders must be settled by the latter through correspondence or by calling on the company's Omaha office as our Division can intervene only in the affairs of a company licensed in our state," he added.

The Director pointed out that apparently there is considerable insurance solicitation through the mails and despite his previous general warning purchasers of "bargain" policies living in Kentucky are sending inquiries and complaints against mail order insurance companies to his office.

He said in the future he intends to publicly announce the names of companies doing business in Kentucky over which he has no regulatory authority.

The proposed power plant for REA co-ops has been before the Public Service Commission for several years. Also sought is the right to construct a transmitter system from the plant, which, it is said, would probably be located in the Kentucky river section.

"We must obtain power cheaper than our present suppliers are willing to sell it," J. R. Miller, Owensboro, chairman of the committee which drafted resolutions supporting the power plant move, declared. "It is essential that we provide ourselves with a source of power under our own control."

In this section, the Kentucky & West Virginia Power Company supplies rural electric co-ops with electricity. The co-ops' dream, it is said, is a hydro-electric dam but a steam plant will be acceptable.

In this and neighboring counties there are two other sections of Allocation G to be completed after this week's project completion. One of these will undertake the construction of 127 miles of new single-phase line, mostly in Floyd county, to serve the Spurlock, Caney and Rough and Tough sections of Middle Creek and a section of Abbott Creek. This would be added, it was said, approximately 1,100 new customers. This project is now up for bids and may cost in the neighborhood of $100,000.

The other is construction of approximately 60 miles of line, improvement of the sub-station on the Auxier road, near here, and the installation of a radio communications system for the alerting of maintenance crews. This also would entail an estimated expenditure of $100,000.

It was explained this week that customers have been inconvenienced by power service interruptions while line changes were being made. This, it was pointed out, was unavoidable, because contractors on the work are not required to work on "hot" lines.

TO THE PUBLIC

Four years ago, I came before you, the people of Floyd county, as a war veteran who had just returned after having been shot down in German territory and evading capture by a four months game of hide-and-seek with the German Gestapo.

I promised you that, if you elected me as your County Court Clerk, I would do my best to make you a good official. You gave me that chance and I have served you to the best of my ability. I was handicapped during the first two years of my service by a shortage of competent help and by the constant flow of veterans' discharges and copies of public records for the Veterans Administration and the Red Cross. With these added burdens and the constant rise in salaries, I have done more work than any previous Clerk and probably more than any future Clerk will ever have to do, and at the same time have made less money.

I am very happy that I was able to render these free services for the returning serviceman, and I will continue to record, free of charge, any veteran's discharge and make copies free upon request of the Veterans Administration or the Red Cross.

I have safeguarded your records, given advice to those offering instruments for record, and carried out the duties of County Clerk strictly according to law. I have not, nor will I ever, knowingly violate the law for any person.

The records I have kept are open for inspection at all times to any person and I will be glad to show them to any person who may wish to inspect them.

I am now asking that you re-elect me County Clerk—not because I am a veteran, but because I have kept the records in the County Clerk's office as they should be kept.

Your friend, JARVIS ALLEN (Pol. adv.)

March Meeting Hears Pleas for Cancer Drive

The Wheelwright Woman's Club met for its March meeting with Dr. Ralph W. Allen, of Pikeville, as its guest speaker. Dr. Allen spoke about "Cancer, Its Early Symptoms, Diagnosis and Treatment." He reported that the number of deaths from cancer is second only to heart disease, and listed deaths in the state from cancer as 2,202 last year. This shocking fact was lessened in its effect when Dr. Allen informed the club members that the state of Kentucky is leading all the states of the nation in its treatment of cancer. Informative to the club, also, was Dr. Allen's explanation of the cancer clinic in Pikeville which serves this entire area. Well staffed and equipped, the clinic is served by physicians of the Pikeville Methodist hospital, who donate their services. The equipment is furnished by the American Cancer Association, and any indigent patient can receive treatment free, along with those able to pay for treatment. Dr. Allen showed slides of patients who have been treated at the clinic. After the lecture he conducted a round-table discussion, with members of the club asking questions and Dr. Allen answering and discussing the questions.

A short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Stephen W. Clark, president, after the lecture. A committee for the nomination of officers for the next year was appointed. This committee was composed of Mrs. H. M. Wilkinson, Jr., chairman; Mesdames J. H. Cantrell and E. R. Price. Mrs. Anna B. Smathers reported a profit of $75.12 realized from the community party she and her committee held in Community Hall. This money was used toward the purchase of a kitchen range for the Wheelwright Woman's Club kitchen. Mrs. Stephen W. Clark, as town chairman for the American Red Cross, asked the club for a donation to the Red Cross. A donation of $20 was made. Announcement of plans for the banquet to be held in May was made, with Mrs. J.H. Cantrell as chairman of the committee on arrangements. Mrs. Harry Mayo reported that a gross of pencils and paper had been sent to our adopted school in the American zone of Germany.

A letter was read from Mrs. Alice G. Lloyd of the Caney Creek Community Center thanking the club for its donation of $20 to the school. Word was also received from the Pine Mountain Settlement School that they were in receipt of a donation made to them by the Wheelwright club.

At the conclusion of the business meeting refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mesdames Wayne Ratliff, W. E. Rose and John W. Rupe.

HAPPY SNAKES
 Jackson, Miss.—There's nothing like a nice, warm bed to put a snake in an agreeable mood, in the opinion of Clifford S. Unkrich, of Jackson, who raises reptiles for commercial purposes. He had engineers of the Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co., rig up a control system to turn on the heat at 82 degrees and turn it off at 83. "You have no idea how the snakes respond to that treatment," Unkrich said.

Frankfort, Ky., March 28—Assistant Attorney General Squire N. Williams, Jr., today said health certificates for renewal of barbers' licenses must be signed by regularly licensed physicians. He wrote Dr. F. H. Woodring, Louisville chiropractor, a chiropractor does not have authority to sign such certificates.

Farmers Are Warned Of Declining Business By Co-Op Store Head

A warning of declining business activity and farm income was posted for local board members of Southern States Cooperatives attending the annual mid-winter regional conference at Paintsville.

"While there is no fear of any deep depression in the near future, the danger signals are out and it is necessary that we as individuals and as an organization adjust our operations to take into account these changing conditions." That statement was made in a report on Southern States for the first half of the fiscal year, by George C. Deems, of Richmond, Va., manager of seed distribution for the Cooperative.

"In the years ahead," he continued, "farmers will need their cooperatives as never before if they are to protect their economic welfare in a society dominated by big business, big government and big labor."

Attending the conference were local Southern States representatives from the following communities: Prestonsburg, Blaine, Paintsville, Salysville, West Liberty, and Pikeville, Ky., and Williamson, W. Va.

Floyd County Times

Official Organ for Floyd County, Ky.
Published Every Thursday by Prestonsburg Publishing Co.

Entered as second class matter June 18, 1927, at the postoffice at Prestonsburg, Ky., under the act of March 3, 1879.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES
In Floyd county, $2. Elsewhere in Kentucky, $2.50. Outside Kentucky, $3.00.

Our Role—Temporary Or Permanent?

UNTIL a modern gymnasium of suitable proportions is built in Floyd county, the county's days of playing host to the Fifteenth regional basketball tournament are past.

That became obvious recently when an estimated 11,000 persons in four night sessions saw the 1949 regional at Pikeville in the new Pikeville College Gym.

Time was when tournaments were held at Pikeville under the most hazardous and uncomfortable conditions—in an old, frame gymnasium, with a pot-bellied stove for a heating system, and fans stacked to the rafters, hoping and praying to escape fire almost as devoutly as they hoped and prayed their respective teams would escape defeat. But all that passed, with Pikeville College supplying a new and commodious gymnasium.

Now a building in Pikeville is a second gym—this a $192,000 structure for the Pikeville city schools. Meanwhile, Floyd county remains without a gym adequate to the throngs which attend major sectional basketball events. Until a modern gymnasium, fireproof and capable of accommodating in comfort in the neighborhood of 3,000 fans is built, it has no right to ask that the youngsters and their elders of this section undergo physical discomfort and actual danger of life to attend a regional tourney in this county.

Prestonsburg's old frame gymnasium is one of the worst of our poor crop. For years out of the district tournament picture by an agreement through which the winning Floyd county team or teams in the district gave Prestonsburg its support in the voting for the regional, it now has no chance of consideration for the big tournament before the "state." Recently, it got back in line with other schools of the county for a place in the district tourney picture; yet it lacks the space and the safety features it should have for even that.

This county needs at least one gymnasium which would at least compare with that of Pikeville's. The longer we remain without one, the longer we play a losing game. And, as we understand it, Floyd county does not like the loser's role, — never changing, never without hope of winning.

No Substitute for the Original, Please!

WITH public buildings over the state crowded by growing records, officials of many Kentucky counties and cities are proposing that the General Assembly enact a law which would permit them to microfilm their records and then to destroy the originals.

This legislation would come by way of amendment to a 1948 Act which permitted the handling in this fashion of state documents.

The accumulation over the years of great masses of records makes this bit of legislation a necessity in some instances, but it could result in a very real loss to the state and its counties.

For Floyd county THE TIMES would recommend, instead of microfilm, the construction of additional storage space for its oldest records, some of which are of deep interest to the student of local and state history and genealogy. To consign some of the records in the Floyd county courthouse, dating as they do back to the earliest days of the Commonwealth or even prior to the separation from Virginia, to the flames after their recording on microfilm would be an act of vandalism, no less.

Microfilm recording of a document written by a goose-quill pen is no substitute; in relation, it has as much life and warmth as the marble of the statue has to the breathing original.

We prefer our old records in the original, time-yellowed and bearing the genuineness of age so that upon fingering them or scanning them we think of the hands who wrote those words of men in tricornered hats, of buckskin, lindsey-woolsev, moccasins and the like. We do not want to think while looking on them of a bright, shiny new camera and twisting yards of film.

Please, let's not destroy these old records. Rather, let us preserve them. Even if we have to spend some money on a building.

Store Observes 80th 'Birthday'

The I. Richmond Company here recently observed its 80th year in business with a "Birthday Sale." The "birthday party" at the close of the sale, when prizes were awarded, was a big one, as this photograph of the crowd indicates. (Adv. 1t.)

OF INTEREST TO VETERANS

Veterans planning to resume interrupted G.I. education and training should await receipt of a supplemental certificate of eligibility before going back to classes, Veterans Administration advises.

VA urged veterans to wait until they are sure their certificates have been approved before actually entering training unless they can afford to pay costs of tuition and expenses themselves.

Until the certificates are issued, VA assumes no financial obligation for the payment of tuition or other expenses. Collection for unauthorized training is strictly a matter between the school and the veteran, VA said.

Application for supplemental certificates of eligibility should be made to the VA Regional Office having custody of the veteran's file.

National Service Life Insurance operations are not affected by the recent order of the Administrator of Veterans Affairs eliminating Veterans Administration Branch Offices and establishing 13 district offices in the same locations.

Veterans of Michigan, Ohio and Kentucky who have National Service Life Insurance will continue to be served by the VA District Office, 52 Starling Street, Columbus, Ohio. Premiums for GI insurance should be paid in the premium notice envelopes provided by VA. Veterans need not make any alterations in the printed address on the premium envelope. Premium payments also will be received as before at those offices having NSLI collection units.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. Early last year I received an adjustment check on my compensation from the Veterans Administration. Do I have to pay income tax on this payment?

A. No. By law, all payments made under laws relating to veterans are exempt from federal tax payments.

Girl Scout Movement Planned at Meeting

Plans for starting the Girl Scout movement in Prestonsburg were made Friday afternoon when Miss Fay Barrett and Mrs. Marie Sommerville, of Pikeville, met with a committee from the Prestonsburg Woman's Club and other interested women in the home of Mrs. Fred Francis.

Miss Barrett outlined the work of Brownie, Intermediate and Senior Girl Scouts and explained how troops are sponsored and organized.

Mrs. W. S. Harkins, who was selected Prestonsburg district chairman, has called a meeting in her home on Wednesday, this week, when the committee chairmen of the Workers' Council will be appointed and further plans will be made.

Parents of girls from seven to 17 years of age who are interested in Scout work are requested to contact Mrs. Marshall Mahan, organization chairman, for information.

Mrs. Francis served refreshments to Miss Fay Barrett and Mesdames Marie Sommerville, Chalmers Frazier, E. S. Collins, Max Burns, Winston Ford, Harold Black, W. S. Harkins, N. L. May and Marshall Mahan.

BETSY LAYNE ENDORSEMENT

East McDowell, Ky.
March 16, 1949

Mr. Ellis Martin,
Minnie, Ky.
My Dear Friend:

I saw in The Times that you had announced yourself a candidate for Magistrate in District 3, and that night I had a very serious vision of the future, and there was more than one candidate involved in the vision. Now I am asking you a few questions. Answer in a personal letter or in person. Who are you interested in for Sheriff? For County Judge? For County Attorney? If you wish my prayers and my influence in your behalf I request that you answer this letter.

If you fail to answer I will know you would not appreciate my help. Best wishes to you and all you hold dear.

Sincerely and prayerfully,
EVA MEADE HALL

Drift, Ky.,
March 19, 1949

Mrs. Eva Meade Hall,
McDowell, Ky.
Dear Friend Eva:

In reply to your letter received yesterday, I am pleased to let you know that I appreciate your interest in me as a candidate for Magistrate.

I want to have a personal talk with you along this line later. I was thinking, the other day, about you teasing me about that wet and dry election. That was all a joke on my part about the song those boys were singing. I am different now. I mean it has been two years last October since I have indulged in any strong drinks.

This is the first time I have been in politics for myself, and I think everything a person ever did is brought out against him, but I am thankful to God this won't be very much on me. So getting down to your letter and questions, Eva, you know I need your prayers and help, and I want you to know that I care will appreciate, and long remember, anything you do for me.

You tried to teach me right when I was a schoolboy, and I know you won't let me down now.

As to the questions you ask me, you are a sensible and reasonable person, and you know enough about elections, that I have to run my own race, and it would be suicide for me to come out and express myself now for candidates for other offices, but I will tell you one thing, I would like to see good men elected, and men that would be best to serve our people of Floyd county, and I will work for this to be.

I will give you more light along this line later in the campaign. I remain your friend, regardless,
ELLIS MARTIN

East McDowell, Ky.
March 22, 1949

Mr. Ellis Martin,
Drift, Ky.
Dear Friend:

In answer to your letter, you can have any letter of mine printed in The Times as that is about my only way to telling my friends and toes what I stand for.

I am interested in Banner Meade for High Sheriff, Henry Stumbo for County Judge, Woodrow Burchett, County Attorney and Ellis Martin for Magistrate in Dist. 3. As for other officials I must wait for an answer from God.

Sincerely and prayerfully,
EVA MEADE HALL

Lack of Discipline Cited As Cause of Delinquency By Club's District Head

Mrs. Millard Tolliver, district governor, and Mrs. Steven Combs, corresponding secretary, of the Seventh District of Kentucky Federation of Woman's Clubs, were guests of the Lackey-Garrett Woman's Club at a meeting here Friday night, March 25, at the home of Mrs. M. M. Collins. Mrs. Richard Vinson was co-hostess with Mrs. Collins.
In an interesting and informative talk to club members, Mrs. Tolliver stressed the importance of Youth Conservation, stating that parents, teachers, and the entire community are responsible for the acts of youth. "Do not talk about seeing young people in places they should not be," said Mrs. Tolliver, "unless you have provided the right kind of places for them to go."
According to Mrs. Tolliver, parents should give their children love, attention, understanding, an example of religious faith, and a firm but fair discipline. Lack of discipline was cited as one of the main factors in juvenile delinquency. "Psychologists," said Mrs. Tolliver, "have scared us to death about warping our children's personalities with too much discipline, and lest we go too far with our discipline, we don't even start."
The club program on the topic, "Reading Shakespeare for Recreation," was presented by Mrs. Fred A. Martin. The most common objections to Shakespeare were cited by Mrs. Martin and arguments presented to refute them. Shakespeare's life, the outstanding qualities of his work, the period in which he lived, and the theatres of his time were briefly described, and the play, "Macbeth," was reviewed.
At the conclusion of the meeting the hostesses served refreshments to three guests, Mrs. Millard Tolliver, Mrs. Steven Combs, and Mrs. Hazel Parsley, and to the following members: Mesdames F. M. Rasnick, W. T. Hatcher, Willard Castle, C. S. Hornsby, Earl Castle, Melvin Hays, Noah Howard, A. E. Quinlan, Jr., E. G. Coburn, Felix Coburn, George Evans, Jr., J. E. Miller, J. Crittenden, Wells, Roy Souleyrette, Rudolph Spencer, Thomas Hatcher, Fred A. Martin.

Native of Virginia Victim Wednesday In His 86th Year

Infirmities of advanced age claimed George Gilliam, 85, who died Wednesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Hunt, Minnie, after an illness of five years. He was a retired farmer and a native of Scott county, Virginia, who, until a month ago resided near Coal Run in Pike county.
Survivors are his widow, Mrs. Louise Walters Gilliam, 10 children, Harmon, Tom and Zach Gilliam, of Pikeville, Palmer Gilliam, Detroit, Mich., George Gilliam, Coal Run, Mrs. Myrtle Hunt, Minnie, Mrs. Hattie Brown, Salisbury, Mrs. Lily Beyans, Nellie Lee and Sophia Edwards, all of Coal Run, two sisters, Mrs. Ellie White, Mossy Bottom, Mrs. Minnie Walters, Prestonsburg, three brothers, Louis and Wilson Gilliam, Coal Run, Blaine Gilliam, Freeburn, 57 grandchildren and 50 great-grandchildren.
Funeral services were held at 3 p.m., Friday at the home of his son, Harmon Gilliam, Pikeville, with the Revs. Carl Layne and Orson Chaffins officiating. Burial took place in the Walters cemetery at Coal Run under direction of the Baker Funeral Home.
Second suit attacking heavier coal company assessments, that of the Eastern Gas Associates (Koppers Coal Company at Weeksbury), was filed in circuit court here last week, seeking restoration of the firm's original evaluation of machinery and equipment. Earlier, the Inland Steel Company at Wheelwright filed a similar action.
The Koppers action alleged that Tax Commissioner Clive Akers had "wrongfully and illegally" increased the valuation of its machinery and equipment from $28,000 to $100,000. This last figure, the suit contended, is in excess of the fair market price of the property and is "unequal, unfair, discriminatory, unjust and illegal," in that the valuation fixed by the Tax Commissioner is greater than that fixed on other similar properties.

Suit Assails Value Placed on Property Of Koppers Company

KNOTT MEDICAL VETERAN SAYS SANITATION NEEDED

Dr. John W. Duke, for 53 years a physician at Hindman, and Knott county health officer over that long span of years, declared last week in Louisville that sanitation remains the chief health need in the rural areas of Kentucky. Dr. Duke's views and the story of his work in Knott county was told in a Courier-Journal feature by Fred Minshall. He said about half the families in Knott county have sanitary-type privies. The remainder have the unsanitary open privies. He would like, if he had the money, to add a sanitarium who could aid all families, financially and otherwise, in building the kind of toilets that would protect health. Many of the present sanitary-type privies in Knott county were built by WPA workmen. Dr. Duke and a clerk make up the health department personnel of his county. But, he said, if he had two health nurses besides the sanitarium he believes he could conduct a good health program in Knott. He added that his county is one of those which offer even fewer local health services than in the past. Knott, at least, has a full-time officer and clerk. A few counties which had health departments in the past now have no health workers at all. Knott spends 49 cents a person for health services. This is about the same it appropriated in the past. But the money does not go as far. Dr. Duke has been trying to obtain a nurse to replace one on leave of absence. But the nurses prefer private duty because they do not wish to take the smaller pay the job offers. Dr. Duke said. When he had a nurse on his staff, up to seven months ago, she visited families and schools and assisted in immunizations and pre-natal clinics that are held in Knott. He gives these services daily. The State Health Department lends him workers from time to time for special services such as surveys. Dr. Duke is an ardent supporter of Dr. Bruce Underwood, state health commissioner, in his efforts to revitalize health work in Kentucky. Dr. Duke started his career as a schoolteacher when he was 14 years old. And he almost remained a teacher instead of becoming a doctor.

It was the first time he had ever been to a city the size of Louisville and even after he arrived there he was tempted to turn back. But on the first night in his room in a small hotel, a stranger heard the noise of a roaring fire Duke had built in a small stove, knocked on his door and asked to share the warmth with him. Duke discussed his problem with the visitor late into the night and the stranger persuaded him that he was right in studying medicine. So he was graduated in 1896. Dr. Duke said, flat broke, but a doctor. He served as part-time health officer from then until 1927 and as full-time officer since. He assisted in two special health programs in Knott. One was a five-year study of trachoma conducted by Dr. John McMullen, U.S. Public Health Service, after a preliminary survey had been made by Dr. J. H. Stuckey, of Lexington. Another was a hookworm program launched in 1915 by Dr. P.E. Blackberry, later head of the State Health Department. This program practically eliminated the disease in the county.

Three Men File Appeal On U.S. Liquor Charges; Farmer, Turner Fined
Lexington, Ky., Mar. 30—Attorneys for three men convicted of transporting liquor to legally dry Perry county last year, have filed papers to carry the case to the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati. William Oscar Farmer, Hazard businessman, was given a maximum two-year sentence and fined $5,200. Wilbur L. Turner, Hazard, was fined $5,100 and sentenced to two years in prison. Floyd L. Turner, operator of the Drive-In Liquor Dispensary on the Winchester pike near here, was given a two-year sentence and fined $100. The dispensary also was fined $12,000 in connection with the same case. Clifton C. McMullen, Lexington, and Truman Combs, Hazard, were placed on probation for 12 months each, without being sentenced. Another defendant, John V. (Dick) Robinson, Lexington salesman for the Wholesale Liquor Company, was tried on five counts but the jury failed to reach a verdict in his case. The Federal Alcohol Tax Unit arrested the men last Aug. 23. Agents testified they watched the men remove from the dispensary large quantities of whiskey and take it to a farmhouse rendezvous, where it was reloaded onto a truck and camouflaged as a load of concrete blocks. The shipment was halted in Clark county.

Two Weeks' Search Fails To Disclose Any Traces Of Man Thought Drowned

Pikeville, Ky., March 30—Nothing has developed in the two-weeks search and dragging of the Big Sandy river for 20-year-old Junior Smith, believed to have been wounded and drowned on the night of March 17 in flight from a constable and his deputy.

Constable W. Talmadge Jones, of Grapevine, 10 miles west of here, and the deputy, also named Jones, attempted to place Smith and his brother-in-law, Junior Keene, under arrest on charges of being intoxicated.

Smith fled on College street and jumped a steep cliff to the flat along the river. Four shots were fired, and he was seen to break stride, but he leaped into the water and started to swim downstream.

The constable, from the bank, saw him hold momentarily to a bush in low water along the shore, and then lose his grasp.

Sheriff D. T. Moore said that a search on the shore failed to show any footprints where Smith might have left the water.

A Pikeville man paid Keene's nominal fine on the drunkenness charge today, and he was released.

The most important thing in this store is something you'll never see

In your pharmacy you see many things that are important to you and your community. You see a wide variety of attractive merchandise... shelves lined with important drugs, chemicals and other medicinal products. You see the pharmacist himself, a friendly person, a reliable merchant, a good citizen.

But there's one thing you'll never see—and, in a sense, it's the most important of all. What is it? It's your pharmacist's professional knowledge and technical skill.

To get his college degree and to pass the state examinations required of all pharmacists, he must have a knowledge of many sciences.

He knows thousands of different drugs—their dosage, usage and properties. And he has the practiced skill to compound them into the medicines your doctor prescribes, the medicines needed to help you guard your health.

Get better acquainted with your pharmacist. Trade with him—he's a man you can rely on. —Reprinted from a copyrighted advertisement published by Parke, Davis & Company, Detroit 32, Michigan.
