

THE UNINHIBITED
MASTER SPURLOCK

Danny, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Burl Spurlock, has the makings of a darned good painter. It isn't his fact that he couldn't reach all over to make the job complete; he's short, and so a lot of the paint came off on his tummy as he stretched and reached and grunted, trying to swish the brush over those unpainted parts.

At home, he resumed operations. And kept it up for two or three days—using water, of course. He did the steps, the porch, the sides of the house as far as he could reach, even the trees. Then a painting contractor moved in and began work with the real thing.

But Danny's artistic instinct wasn't thwarted. The painters had to eat, and he found an open paint bucket in the garage while they were gone. Danny set to work, delighted to see how things changed color beneath the magic of his brush.

Some time later, he was found—still painting away. The shiny Cadillac he had been working on didn't look just right, somehow, with the job unfinished. All he had got done was one whole side, including the windows, the tires, the radiator and the hood, as far back as he could reach by standing on the bumper. And his belly—it was well-painted.

All they had to do was strip Danny of every stitch to rid him of his paint, but a dozen large bath-towels and much elbow grease were used on the car before the family gave up and yelled for a filling station, or a mechanic, or a dry cleaner—anybody who could get white paint off a black car.

Now Mr. Spurlock has an unkind thing or so to say about those child psychologists who say, "Never place curbs on the natural proclivities of the little darlings—such inhibitions, my dear, are most harmful!"

PITTS VICTIM OF COLLISION

Is Second of Family
Accidentally Killed
In Period of a Year

Fatal injury of Manis Pitts, 18 years old, in an auto-truck collision shortly before noon Saturday at Holland, Mich., marked the second accidental death in the last year in the family of R. L. Pitts, West Prestonsburg, Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company employe.

Manis' brother, Adis, was killed in a Floyd mine accident, last July. Young Pitts, who had been visiting his brother, Curtis, at Mishawaka, Ind., was in the rear seat of an auto when it collided, head-on, with a truck. He died, four hours later, in a South Bend, Ind., hospital. Driver of the auto was critically hurt.

Surviving are his parents, Robert L. and Roxie May Pitts, three brothers and five sisters, Bert's and Forrest Edward Pitts, at home, Curtis Pitts, Mishawakee, Ind., Mrs. Dolly Branham, Martin, Mrs. Lotie Crisp, Allen, Mrs. Sadie Shepherd, David, Opal and Clara Pitts, both at home.

Funeral rites were conducted Tuesday from the Pitts residence, the Revs. M. C. Wright, Alex Stephens, Bill Flannery and Farris Minto officiating. Burial in the family cemetery was under direction of the Arnold Funeral Home.

Louisville Men Want To Get Acquainted Here Wednesday

Louisville wants to get better acquainted with Prestonsburg. So Louisville's leading manufacturers, merchants and professional men are coming here to visit, and let Prestonsburg show them the many things of which the community is proud.

These more than 75 Louisvillians will arrive at 10:40 a. m., Wednesday, June 7, by special train. They are all members of the Louisville Chamber of Commerce on a "Get-Acquainted" tour of Eastern Kentucky.

The Louisville delegation is headed by Mayor Charles Farnsley and President Thomas A. Ballantine, president of the Louisville Chamber of Commerce. Every visitor will be distinguished by the red and white hats they will wear and by umbrellas of the same color combination.

During the entire trip those on the tour will sleep and eat on the train because of the fast schedule necessary for them to see all of the 15 communities to be visited.

PERKINS FILES
FOR CONGRESS

Floyd Officials Sign
Congressman's Papers
For 7th District Post

Frankfort, Ky., May 31 (Spl.)—Congressman Carl D. Perkins, Hindman Democrat, today filed declaration papers with the Secretary of State's office for renomination as a member of Congress from the Seventh Congressional District, embracing eight counties in Eastern Kentucky.

Perkins, World War veteran who participated in the battle of Bastogne and saw service in the European theater of operations, is completing his first two-year term as a member of the House. He was elected to the House in 1948, defeating the then Republican incumbent by more than 12,000 votes.

His papers for renomination were signed by the following Pike and Floyd county officials:

Pike: County Judge Ervin S. Pruitt, County Attorney L. D. May, Assistant County Attorney Thurman L. Hibblitts, County Tax Commissioner Lucile S. Smith, County Court Clerk Bessie Riddle Arnold, and Sheriff Roy Conway.

Floyd: County Judge Henry Stumbo, Circuit Court Clerk W.W. Cooley, County Attorney Woodrow Burchett, County Tax Commissioner Clive Akers, who also is Floyd county Democratic chairman, Sheriff A.B. Meade, Commonwealth's Attorney John Chris Cornett, and County Court Clerk DuRan Moore.

STATE DELAYS
BUDGET WORK

Failure of Revenue Dept.
To Okeh Floyd Final Tax
Levy Figures Is Blamed

The Floyd County Budget Commission has been delayed in its work on the county budget for the fiscal year 1950-51 by failure of the Revenue Department to approve the final tax assessment figures for the county, County Clerk DuRan Moore, said this week. This is the budget which will control expenditures of the county general fund and road fund from July 1, 1950 until June 30, 1951.

County Judge Henry Stumbo and County Attorney W. W. Burchett are members of the budget commission by virtue of their office. The third member appointed by the fiscal court, is County Clerk Moore.

The law requires that the county budget commission shall make a detailed investigation of each separate activity of the county for which county funds are to be expended by the fiscal court. The commission estimates funds needed for each purpose and the anticipated revenue. Not less than twenty days

Attempted Hold-Up
And Two Burglaries
Have Town Jitters

Hueysville citizens, particularly its merchants, have the beginnings of a bad case of jitters.

First, there was the looting of a month ago, of the home there of George W. Bailey of approximately $40 in cash and a revolver. Two weeks later, the burglar turned gunman and would-be robber when he attempted to hold up Buck Patrick, Hueysville merchant, and fired a shot at the merchant at close range. M'ssing, he took to his heels. The bullet, residents of the community say, was fired from the weapon taken from the Bailey residence.

Then, Sunday night, the store of Albert Estridge was broken into and an estimated $25 worth of merchandise taken.

Stores at Hueysville are better lighted this week, and house holders are taking extra precautions against nocturnal visitors.

Louisville Men Want To Get Acquainted Here Wednesday

The tour starts at Pikeville. In turn, the train will stop at Prestonsburg, Paintsville, Louisa, Ashland, Whitesburg, Hazard, Jackson, Beattyville, Irvine, Ravenna, Cumberland, Harlan, Middlesboro, Pineville, and Bourbonville and then head back to Louisville.

Mayor Farnsley, commenting on the tour, said he wanted to make it clear that the only reason for the tour was for Louisvilleans to meet with leaders in other cities and broaden their knowledge of Kentucky and Kentuckians.

The Mayor added: "We come to learn and not try to tell you anything. We know there has been great progress in the Commonwealth in recent years, and we want the people in the cities we visit to show us what has been happening. We know we can learn much from this tour, because every community has things of which it is proud, and rightfully so."

COAL COMPANY
BLAMES UNION
FOR WALKOUT

Tipple Men Were Caused
To Quit Jobs Tuesday,
Says Company Spokesman

The Princess Elkhorn Coal Company, David, alleged Wednesday that the five men comprising a shift on its No. 1 tipple who quit their jobs Tuesday afternoon were "caused to do so" by officers of District 30, United Mine Workers of America.

"The men were instructed to quit work at 2 p. m., even though their seven and a quarter hour day did not end until 4 p. m.," said a company spokesman. "By this action the tipple was closed down early. Actually, there are eight men on this crew but three were not working that day. These three may be likewise affected."

It was explained that the men have been working a seven and a quarter-hour day on the tipple, with part of the crew working from 6:45 a. m. until 2 p. m., and part working from 8:45 a. m. until 4 p. m. This schedule of tipple operation has been in effect since June, 1948. The reason for the staggered shift, according to this source of information, is because this tipple does not have the capacity to process all of the coal in 14 1/2 hours running time, and in order to take care of the additional tonnage being mined the tipple must be operated 16 1/2 hours.

A company representative also said numerous meetings have been held with the union committee, field representatives and officers and at no time have any of the union representatives pointed out any basis where the contract is being violated by the company, and have refused to let the case be heard by the board for discussion. A board review of the matter, he added, is the proper method, according to the contract, for the settlement of disputes.

Restriction of the operation of the tipple would "necessity require a reduction of employes in production on work, it was pointed out. It was estimated that more than 50 men would be affected. Men thus laid off would not be eligible for unemployment compensation benefits, it was contended, on the grounds that it was a result of unilateral restriction of union action.

SIMMS FACES
HEARING HERE

Wheelwright Colored Man
Charged With Killing Man
And Wounding His Wife

William Simms, 30-year-old negro, will be given examining trial here Friday in the fatal shooting at Wheelwright Sunday of James Monroe Terry, 32, colored, and the wounding of Terry's wife.

Simms was jailed here, a few hours after the slaying by Sheriff A. B. Meade and deputies.

His victim, a son of Eldridge "Deacon" Terry, well-known leader of a group of colored singers, died at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, at 5:15 p. m., Sunday, about four hours after the shooting. Mrs. Terry was shot in the leg and was not seriously wounded.

It was said at the Arnold Funeral Home here that Terry was shot six times. The belief was expressed that two of Simms' bullets were fired into his back. The other four shots struck him in the abdomen, hip and arm.

The shooting took place at the Terry home in Lee Hall Hollow at Wheelwright. Policeman Earl Blackburn, of Wheelwright, said he was told Simms was sitting on the porch of the Terry residence, firing a 22-caliber rifle in target practice. When Terry remonstrated, reminding him the day was Sunday and he might hit a child, Terry then turned into the house, Simms following and firing the first shot from a German-made automatic pistol as Terry reached the kitchen door.

The wounded man, the officer was quoted as saying, then ran out onto a back porch and fell down a flight of stairs. Simms continued firing after he fell, this version of the slaying claims.

The slayer admitted to Sheriff Meade he was shooting the rifle

Of Season; 2 Hurt

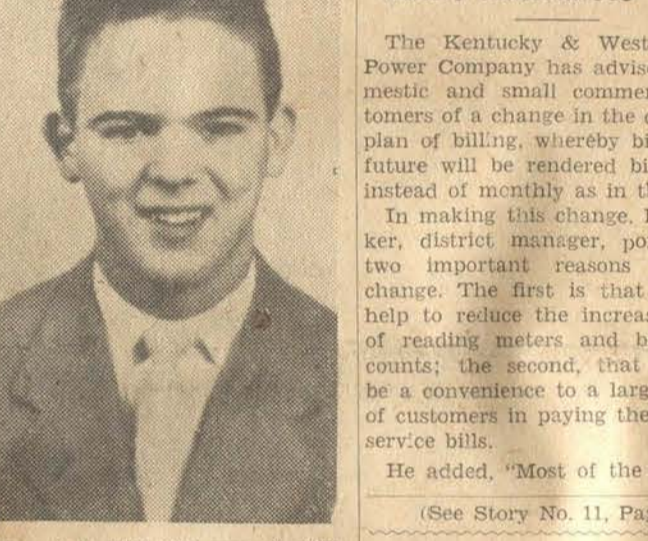

Nine-year-old Maudie May Adkins drowned in Right Beaver Creek at Lackey last Saturday afternoon while playing in the stream with a cousin and other children.

It was said here that the child wandered away from the others, unnoticed, and when discovered was beyond her depth. They were powerless to save her. The body, found in approximately six feet of water, was not recovered until an hour later.

The young victim was a daughter of Everett and Lena Adkins, of Lackey. The parents and the following brothers and sisters survive: Otto, Robert Lee, Betty Joan, Anna Jean, Artie, David and Douglas.

Funeral rites were conducted Monday from the Lackey Free Will Baptist Church, the Revs. Charles Nelson, Dillard Reed and William Strange officiating. Burial in the Bradley cemetery at Estill was directed by the Ryan Funeral Home.

HAS PERFECT RECORD,
12 YEARS IN SCHOOL

Edward P. Hill, III, son of Circuit Judge and Mrs. Edw. P. Hill, is a young man of considerable will-power.

To say he's an enthusiastic fisherman is putting it mildly. Comes fair weather, and the streams beckon. Yet he has never played hooky from school to go fishing—not in all the 12 years since he first entered the classroom.

In all that time he has had not an unexcused absence. The only time lost from class was when he was on trips as a member of the Prestonsburg school's football, basketball or baseball team. He was graduated, May 24, from high school after holding a place on the honor roll all three years in high school here. He attended the Canton, Ga., high school, his sophomore year.

Now to get back to his love of the outdoors. When he enters college, next fall, it will be at Oregon State, Corvallis, Ore., to major in forestry and fish and game management. The Oregon school was selected as the outstanding school in the country for a course of that type.

Virginian Lays Claim
To 300,000-Acre Block
In Floyd, Pike Counties

Before the Court of Appeals adjourns, late this month, a suit involving 300,000 acres of land in Floyd and Pike counties is expected to be decided, J. P. Hobson, Pikeville attorney, said a few days ago.

The suit is that of George H. Taylor, 71-year-old Norfolk, Va., man, who claims he is heir to an old Virginia land grant covering a huge acreage, most of which is in Pike county.

The land is worth at least $30,000,000, according to estimates. The claim is the largest ever brought into court in Eastern Kentucky. The tract in question is believed to be located in the rich coal area of Russell Fork and would equal in size three-fourths of Pike county, which takes in a total of 498,560 acres.

Attorneys for Taylor took his testimony last October in Richmond, Va., after the Virginia man said he was afraid he wouldn't live until the

ONE OF FIVE

To Receive Scholarship
At Yale Summer School
In Alcohol Study Course

The Rev. Harold Black, pastor of the Prestonsburg Presbyterian Church, whose work locally with Alcoholics Anonymous in the reclaiming of men and women from alcoholism has achieved outstanding success, is one of five Presbyterian ministers in the nation to be awarded a full scholarship to Yale University's Summer School for Alcohol Studies.

Announcement of the Prestonsburg minister's nomination for the honor was made last week for Clifford Earle, associate secretary, Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church. He and four other Presbyterian ministers of the 9,500 in the nation were accepted by Yale for the five-week course which begins July 8. The scholarship, which provides tuition, room and meals, is worth $250.

The coming session will be the eighth for the Yale Summer School of Alcoholics Studies. Its object is to make the most recent findings of scientific research available for application to the problems of alcohol in the community. The educational program will include both lecture and workshop courses.

"I regard the work of helping human beings from slavery to alcohol as a Christian duty, and the results already visible in Prestonsburg and some other Floyd county communities from the work of Alcoholics Anonymous are among the most pleasing conditions I have encountered as a minister," the Rev. Mr. Black said this week. "This scholarship, I feel, will help me to be of greater service in helping men and women to freedom from alcohol and to return to the better things of life."

His congregation last Sunday granted the Rev. Black a leave of absence covering the period of the Yale course.

The Kentucky and West Virginia Power Company has advised its domestic and small commercial customers of a change in the company's plan of billing, whereby bills in the future will be rendered bi-monthly, instead of monthly as in the past.

In making this change, F. M. Baker, district manager, pointed out two important reasons for the change. The first is that it would help to reduce the increasing costs of reading meters and billing accounts; the second, that it would be a convenience to a large number of customers in paying their electric service bills.

He added, "Most of the people in

When this writer was a striping in knee-bution pants and heavily ribbed black cotton stockings—which was, forsooth, more years ago than he cares to recall—it was considered quite the devilish thing to scream that choice bit of immortal verse, in chattering voice, at any overly painted and powdered dame one happened upon.

Now that I've grown older and much grayer if not wiser, the sight of a highly cosmetized maiden makes about as much impression on me as does the seventh steaming biscuit for breakfast on my voracious appetite.

That is, it did until I helped start this "Cosmetic Permit" business on behalf of the Floyd County Sesqui-centennial Celebration. Since then, I've seen a few girls on the streets of Prestonsburg without any make-up.

So now I must rush into print with the advice:

WHITHER GOEST?

Housing Need Belies
Reported Small Gain
In Floyd Population

Floyd countians were hard put to explain the housing shortage when they learned this week that preliminary census figures released at Pikeville showed the county had gained only 487 inhabitants over the census figure of 10 years ago.

The population today, according to figures subject to correction, stands at 53,473 as compared with 52,986 shown by the 1940 nose-counting.

"A lot of the people who live in Floyd county must call some other place home," commented one business man here when told of the surprisingly small population gain.

Prestonsburg shows a healthy gain on the face of the preliminary census returns, yet, is far below the coveted 5,000 mark. The county seat has a population of 3,562 for a gain of 1,234 over the 2,328 of 10 years ago.

SUPT. ADVISES
NEW TEACHERS

State Dept. Regulations
May Be Followed Closely
For Teachers This Year

State Department of Education regulations as to qualifications for new teachers seeking emergency certificates will be strictly adhered to this year, County Superintendent Palmer L. Hall indicated this week.

In the past, regulations have been relaxed as teacher-shortages appeared, but the supply of teachers this year appears to be adequate.

The regulations Mr. Hall referred to are these:
A minimum of 64 hours of college work required for the issuance of an emergency certificate to a new elementary teacher, or a college degree for a high school teacher. This means that a person who has never taught before, or one whose certificate has been allowed to expire and who has been out of the teaching profession and is returning as a new teacher, must have at least the minimum stated for an elementary or a high school instructor.

The Superintendent pointed out that teachers who have a "live" emergency certificate may renew it by earning not less than six semester hours' college credit during the spring or summer but that this must be done in residence, study center or workshop—not by correspondence.

Issuance of emergency certificates or the employment of emergency teachers depends, of course, on the existence of a teacher-shortage, he added.

The bell, which is a replica of the original Liberty Bell, and which is said to have the exact tones of the first which became a symbol of Liberty, will be tolled here.

Anyone "Dead or Dying" Has Share
In Floyd Acre, Unusual Deed Reveals

The Floyd County Clerk's office, with its records dating back to the county's founding in 1800, covering a vast section and involving residents of Virginia, the mother state, from time to time turns up quaintly interesting bits of lore of the early days. But, of all the documents on record there, few are more unique than one executed in 1918, a researcher for the Floyd County Sesqui-centennial committee said this week.

Those old records date back to early land grants, to slave-trading days, to the time when, for instance, a man was credited with "one but-falove" against "335 bakeskins" he had pledged for a loan. One such document tells the story of a Thanksgiving when one Floyd countian gave all his slaves occasion for "perpetual thanksgiving" by setting them free.

And so on the pioneer story unfolds through these legal writings. But the more modern deed of conveyance, vintage 1918, was an unusual as any among all those time-honored "instruments of writing." For it was a deed to, "The Dead and Dying."

On the face of it, this unusual, document entitles any person in the world who is dead or dying to an interest in one acre of Floyd county soil.

The deed, made by James Newman and Darcus Newman, his wife, reads, in part:
"This deed of conveyance, made and entered into this 7th day of June, 1918, between James Newman and Darcus Newman, his wife, parties of the first part, and THE DEAD AND DYING ONLY, party of the second part,

Important Meeting

The legal feuding between factions of the Floyd County Board of Education broke out with a rash of new actions and counter-actions in circuit court this week.

With the Board scheduled for an important meeting Monday, Administration forces tossed a bombshell into the opposition with a suit filed in the name of A. E. Funk, Attorney General, against Dr. J. H. Allen, chairman of the Board, asking that the Langley physician be disqualified as a member and that he be restrained permanently from acting as such.

Back came Dr. Allen and James Green, the other Board member who is siding with him in the controversy, with a suit of their own, alleging the Administration had procured the restraining order against Allen to prevent him from acting, and thus to leave the remaining Administration members, Dr. W. D. Osborne and Alonzo Stratton, to override Green in naming Fred Fraley back to Board membership, succeeding his brother, Ray, who was recently adjudged to have abandoned his office through his resignation on March 7.

Restraining orders were granted in both cases.

Jesse Kazee will not stand trial soon for the murder, 23 years ago, of Victor Osborne, for he was declared insane at a sanity hearing held by Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill last Friday.

Two physicians, Dr. Marvin Ransdell, director of the Floyd County Health Department, and Dr. A. J. Davidson, gave this as their opinion after they had examined Kazee, who has been in jail here since the day he was arrested, several weeks ago, in Boyd county.

" . . . we find the patient, Jesse Kazee, to be suffering from dementia praecox of paranoid type, and recommend he be confined in the Eastern State Hospital for treatment."

Kazee was taken to the Lexington Institution Tuesday by Deputy Sheriffs W. J. Stone and Frank Parsons.

A Stern Teacher Needed

A FEW weeks ago at Pikeville, two Knott county election officers learned the error of their ways, with a district federal court acting as the stern teacher. Each got two years in federal prison on charges of "conspiracy to injure and oppress citizens in their right to vote in a general election."

Without any rancor whatever against these two men, Morgan Shepherd and Lionel Duff, as individuals, THE TIMES hails their conviction. Its only regret is that the men who masterminded Shepherd and Duff into prison were not caught.

This news of the federal court's success with election law offenders gives rise to the wish that all elections were subject to federal jurisdiction. And, unlearned in the finer points of the law, The Times cannot understand why jurisdiction in all such cases cannot be placed with federal courts.

Failure of state courts to enforce the election laws makes federal court jurisdiction not only desirable but absolutely essential if voters' rights are to mean anything.

The Knott county men were convicted of "conspiracy to injure and oppress citizens in their right to vote in a general election."

That general election happened to see the election of a federal official. Why not a primary election? Why not any election where the rights of men and women, rights granted by the Constitution, are at stake?

The right to vote as free men and women is a cause for which Americans have died since the War for Independence. It is one of our rallying cries in an embattled democracy. It is a basic right. Then should it not be guaranteed by the federal government and why should not any politician or any politician's henchman guilty of attempting to rob the people of that right be prosecuted by the federal government?

As Dewey Lake Rises So Do Fishermen's Hopes
(The Courier-Journal)

DURING most of the year Johns Creek isn't anything you can't jump across in most places. And as dams go, Dewey Dam, which has now started backing up the waters of Johns Creek, isn't really colossal. It only cost about $6,500,000 and its lake, at flood tide, won't be more than 18 miles long. But it will come in handy. For Johns Creek has a habit of flooding everything along its banks once or twice a year, and adding to the floods on the Big Sandy of which it is a tributary. Completion of the dam will relieve Floyd and Pike Counties of this expensive nuisance.

And though Dewey Dam has no turbines to generate power and lure new industries into the valley, it nevertheless has an important contribution to make, aside from its flood control service. The dam will back up one of the prettiest little bass-fishing spots in America. And we have an idea that the closing of the flood gates this week brought a great deal of industry in the Floyd county boat caulking and reel-oiling business. And it's likely that thousands of fishermen from outside will beat a path to Dewey Dam when the lake is full and the news goes out that the big ones are biting.

There is one little item that might restrain the celebration among the Izaak Walton of Van Lear, Paintsville and Prestonsburg today. Although the dam itself is completed, the constructing Army Engineers need another appropriation of $600,000 to complete buying up land which will be covered if the reservoir reaches high flood stage. At a time when millions are being appropriated rather freely in Washington, a request for $600,000 doesn't seem greedy. And to Democrats on the Appropriations Committee, we hasten to explain that the name doesn't have any connection with a certain New York governor. Army Engineers always name their dams for the nearest post office. This one was named for an admiral.

Hookworm Endangers "Barefoot Fun," Warns County Health Officer

Going barefoot in spring and summer can be fun for the children but it can also be dangerous, Dr. Ramsdell County Health Officer, warns parents. This is the most common way in which the hookworm disease is contracted.

Although hookworms are only a half inch long and about as big around as a piece of No. 30 or 40 cotton sewing thread, they can cause a great deal of trouble in the body of their victim.
The tiny worms, or grubs, from a polluted soil burrow into the bare skin, are taken up by the blood stream and eventually pass into the intestinal tract where they attach themselves to the intestinal walls and start sucking blood.

As a result of the presence of hookworms in the body, the child or adult becomes pale and listless. If a person has a bad case, some parts of his body may swell, his eyes become dull and his gums pale. Hookworm can be cured, but only a physician is qualified to do it.

There are several things that can be done to prevent hookworm. Sanitary toilets will prevent soil pollution. The Floyd County Health Unit will supply, free of charge, the plans for building such a toilet. This is an important factor in combating the disease, since hookworm eggs are expelled in human waste. Boys and girls, especially small children, should always wear shoes or sandals.

Remember that although less is heard about hookworm nowadays than several years ago, it still exists in Kentucky communities and causes needless illness.

Because so many eaters were slipping out without paying their bills, most restaurants in Cape Town, South Africa, have installed the system of having them pay the waitresses.
Turkey has placed a strict limit on exports of oilcake, as an emergency measure to maintain adequate supplies of animal fodder, resulting from a severe winter a year ago.
The most delicious of canapes are made with thin rounds of whole wheat bread topped with cucumber slices and dabs of surried cayenne.

Choose currant jelly for spreading on a jelly roll—the slightly tart flavor of the jelly goes well with the bland sponge cake.

and said he and Terry had "a few words." Both went inside the house and upon reaching the kitchen Terry seized a butcher knife and attempted to cut him, the shooting following the action, he told the officer.

He claimed the shot which struck Mrs. Terry was a stray bullet, but others said he fired at her when, standing in the yard outside, she began throwing rocks at Simms.

A call from Policeman Blackburn sent Sheriff Meade and deputies to Wheelwright where they were joined by state police. Simms had disappeared, but Deputy Sheriff Frank Parsons trailed him from the Lee Hall Hollow to the head of the Golf Course Hollow where he learned the slayer had traded two of his three guns, and from there he followed the trail to Weeksbury. Meanwhile, officers had gone to Weeksbury to intercept the fugitive.

There Deputy Sheriffs W. J. Stone and Johnny Martin learned of a negro emerging from the timber, and soon thereafter Stone made the arrest.

Simms, who had been described by residents of Wheelwright as "a very dangerous man," was unarmed when taken. Sheriff Meade said colored neighbors and friends of the skin man made an angry demonstration when Simms was taken back to Wheelwright before being brought to jail here.

Survivors of the slain man include his parents, his widow, Mrs. Reecie Johnson Terry, a son, James Mentie, one daughter, Linda Marie, and the following brothers and sisters: Halbert Lee, of New York, Clarence William, Wheelwright, Ronald Eugene, Bobby and Eldridge Willie, all of Wheelwright, Mary Elizabeth Terry, of Virginia, Hazel Ethelene Terry, of Michigan, Sandra Kay and Wandalee, both of Wheelwright.

Funeral rites were conducted today (Thursday), the Rev. W. M. Jones officiating, and burial at Wheelwright was directed by the Arnold Funeral Home.

Two towns in this county are reported a population loss. These are Weeksbury with a population now of 1,340 as compared with 1,575 in 1940, and Wayland with 1,801 as against 1,950 10 years back. Wheelwright has a gain of nine, with 2,036; Allen, 420 for a gain of 152, and Betsy Layne was reported a total of 1,912.

Martin, the population of which has been a subject of much discussion since the General Assembly decreed it a fourth-class city, has a population of 1,168 as compared with 952 at the 1940 census, according to figures released this week.

Knott county had a gain for the decade of 329, with 20,336 population. Hindman, the county seat, lost 113 inhabitants, the preliminary totals show—512 as compared with 625 in 1940.

case was ruled on by the Court of Appeals before which it had been pending for some time. The testimony was to be used in further action provided the appeal was turned down.

Hobson and former Pike County Attorney P. Perce Keese were in Richmond to sit in on the session.

If the Court of Appeals should recognize the claim, Hobson said "it would set the development of Pike county back 50 years and unsettle the value of and the title to much property."

He expressed the opinion that a Pike circuit court decision denying the claim would be upheld.

On the other hand, other attorneys expressed the opinion that a "slim possibility" exists that Taylor may obtain possession of the land.

Hobson said the grant is one of those issued by the Governor of Virginia from 1780 to 1795 in the territory which is now Kentucky.

He said Taylor's lawyers introduced copies of old papers at the Richmond meeting supposedly supporting his claim. Taylor said his grandmother, Maria Taylor, obtained the deed to the land in 1857. According to a deed on record in the Pike county court clerk's office, she sold it in 1884 to Wilson H. Jones. Taylor is attacking the legality of this sale.

The grandmother signed the deed in Baltimore before a non-resident commissioner of deeds for Virginia. Taylor contends the deed is invalid.

the area we serve are familiar with the large rural electrification program we have been engaged in for a number of years. We have practically completed this program, which has extended our lines to the most remote and inaccessible areas in the district.

Mr. Baker also pointed out that his company has experienced greatly increased costs in maintaining service, which is common with all other businesses. He said, "We are using every practical means to improve our present standards of service without the necessity of increasing our rates, which are lower than pre-war rates. Very few necessities can be purchased on the market today at a price even approaching pre-war prices."

"We have received many comments from our customers endorsing the change, and indicating that it will be an added convenience to many users. Customers who desire to make monthly payments on their electric service bills can do so at any of our offices."

The new plan of billing every two months initiated by the local company is not new. Many large cities such as New York and Detroit have had such a plan in effect for many years, with the hearty approval of the public.

Blankenship Held In $3,000 Theft At Pikeville

The Federal Bureau of Investigation announced Sunday the arrest of Vernon Blankenship, 28, Pikeville, on charges of embezzling $3,000 from the First National Bank here. Fred Halford, agent in charge of the Louisville F.B.I. office, said Blankenship was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner James W. Wine at Pikeville and waived further hearing. He was held in default of $1,000 bond.

Halford said the bank teller admitted in a signed statement that he began taking money shortly after July 1, 1949. He used most of it to buy whisky, the agent quoted Blankenship as saying.

The F.B.I. agent said Blankenship would accept a deposit and make out a slip, but hold it up until the following day after pocketing the cash. Then, the following day when other deposits were made, the teller would take enough from these to cover the previous day's slip and send it through.

Blankenship was arrested at Pikeville by F.B.I. agent and a U.S. deputy marshal on the complaint filed before Commissioner Wine.

Three Prestonsburg FHA Girls, Teacher To Attend State Meeting This Week

Three members of the Prestonsburg chapter, Future Homemakers of America, will attend the organization's Fifth Annual state meeting which begins tomorrow and lasts till Saturday, to be held on the campus of Western State College in Bowling Green.

Those attending the meeting include Rosely Hager, Vera Louise Baldridge, Rose Marie Bayes. They will be accompanied by Miss Hazel Irene Hill, their local F.H.A. adviser and teacher of Home Economics at Prestonsburg High School.

Local delegates will join approximately 500 other Kentucky Homemakers in Bowling Green for state meeting activities. One of the highlights of the meeting will be the annual formal banquet at which 41 girls will be awarded State Home-maker degrees, the highest attainable in state F.H.A. circles. Winners of four scholarships, awarded by the State Association, also will be announced at the banquet.

The State Association was the first in the entire nation to be granted a charter. The Kentucky organization is now composed of 196 chapters with a total membership of 7730 girls. All F.H.A. members are high school students who are taking or who have taken home economics as a part of their high school studies.

Old Land Ligation Decided Here Friday; Rights to Gas Cited

A land suit which had its inception 13 years ago with the question raised as to gas rights on a Middle Creek farm was decided in circuit court here Friday, with Winfield Castle being denied any part in three gas wells drilled by the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company on the A. F. Prater farm. The suit, filed by A. F. Hicks and others named the gas company as defendant.

The judgment held that deeds executed to Castle by Miley and Laura Prater, Adam and Lula Prater, Graydon and Julia Howard did not convey to Castle any interest in the oil and gas. Castle was adjudged the owner of a one-eighth undivided interest in the oil and gas by a tract of land conveyed by W. M. and Pelka Prater, but with no part in the three wells drilled.

Sesqui Float Builder Arrives Here To Begin Floyd Parade Displays

A. B. "Bill" Hines, designer and builder of parade floats for the Metropolitan Flag & Decorating Co. of Philadelphia, Pa., arrived in Prestonsburg yesterday (Wednesday) and began operations in connection with the Floyd County Sesquicentennial Celebration.

Mr. Hines, who has just completed work on more than 30 huge floats and parade extravaganzas in Lancaster, Ohio, for the Centennial Celebration there, has established offices at Sesquicentennial headquarters, Patton building, Court street, and at the Brown hotel.

Individuals and firms interested in construction of floats for Sesquicentennial parades are urged to get in touch with Mr. Hines as soon as possible.

Mr. Hines had had wide experience in float designing and building in various sections of the country, particularly for some of the huge celebrations and festivals which feature the winter season in Florida.

In Florida and in Lancaster, Mr. Hines worked directly under the supervision of George Hodge, chief designer for Metropolitan Flag & Decorating Company, who will soon be in Prestonsburg to advise upon local work.

HATCHER MAY BE CANDIDATE

State Official Says He May Run Against Clements for Senate

Secretary of State George Glenn Hatcher announced here, Saturday, that he is seriously considering becoming a candidate for U.S. Senator on the Democratic ticket in the Kentucky August primary.

Hatcher made the announcement, he said, after conferring with friends in Eastern Kentucky regarding a movement to draft him as a candidate for the Senate.

He added that he is considering the race because others previously mentioned have failed to file as candidates and "even they have not favorably impressed the public."

The state official said he was reluctant to definitely state that he will become a candidate because "I have been elected twice to this office (Secretary of State) and feel that my first obligation is to the people who honored and confided me enough to perform the duties of this office and elected me for a four-year term."

Hatcher's term, his second in the office since 1940, expires in 1952. The statement released here said, in part:

"Mr. Hatcher desires to clarify his position in the race, saying that in a discussion with leaders Thursday (at Louisville) relative to it, and as reported in the press Friday, he has not pledged his support to any candidate.

"He definitely will not support or become affiliated with any candidate in the coming primary who is not a friend of labor, education as a whole, the promotion of good government and the welfare of all."

LAST DAY OF SCHOOL—WHOOPIES!

School was out here, a few days ago, and this reminds me that things, by gum, are not like they used to be. The old order passeth, yea; it changeth, verily.

Fact is, the order in this case has swapped ends.

Last week, boys and girls were taking gifts to their teachers for the last day of school. Several years of weeks ago, it was the teachers who loaded up with candy and stuff to distribute on that last glad day to those scoundrels who had pestered the life out of them for the last six months.

Back in those days, teacher got a big, red apple only during the term, and then only if the donor thought a peace-offering was in order.

That last day of school belonged strictly to the "scholars." That was when you lost your inhibitions, did the things you'd wanted to do for months and was afraid to; when the teacher stayed her hand, lost caste and picked up a bit more blood pressure. To whip a child on this last day was unthinkable; to abide a child on this last day was nigh impossible.

That was when you came in and went through your paces in a "program." You got up, wobbled around a bit and recited poetry and stuff like that. In some cases such as mine you forgot the derved poem and wobbled back to your seat, paying for air while the floor rocked up and down like waves on a storm-swept lake.

And then, at the last, after surviving a speech by the teacher, the district trustee, maybe, or some parent who like to hear the sound of his voice, you lined up for the "treat." They tried to hold the limit per pupil to a couple of sticks of horehound or peppermint candy at our school, but, somehow, we always managed to get more than that paltry dole. There was a neat trick of receiving your candy, then ducking back behind the line and bobbing up farther down to collect again.

We splash here a tear for those good, old days when boys and girls were scholars and teachers were there to "learn" 'em, not teach 'em.

Every man to his taste, as the baby said when his old man vowed castor oil was delicious; each of us to his trade, profession or racket, and all that—but why the mischief can't we all talk the same language?

The medical profession was given a lesson, a few days ago, by Commissioner Osso W. Stanley, of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, in the use of English "as she is spoke" and to Mr. Stanley we to whom medical terms are as clear as mud, give thanks.

Commissioner Stanley in an opinion pointed out that a Louisville doctor had been asked to describe in layman's language the condition he found in a body during an autopsy. This is what the physician reported for the layman:

"We found a schirrous adenocarcinoma of the small intestine with metastasis to parietal peritoneum and serosa of the greater part of the intestinal tract. Adenocarcinoma is a type of cancer. We also found multiple obstructions of the small intestine due to tumor infiltrations and adhesions. There was a double enterostomy opening near the midline with a healed rectus incision on either side."

In his opinion Stanley chided such quasi-pedantry and actual inability to write common, everyday English with this:

"This simple language was for the benefit of the laymen. We give our understanding in technical language for the benefit of the doctors:

"There were obstructions in and an extensive cancer of the bowel which had existed for some time before the accident, probably several years old; that it was beyond the operative stage and would have ultimately caused death."

INCIDENTALLY

This has to do with the dealings of a business and a professional man, and is said to have taken place in Floyd county. We publish it as another step in our endless, relentless search after truth. The truth we seek is—did or did it not happen here?

Anyway, it is told that this professional man, a doctor, ordered quite a bill of goods from the business man, the latter to supply same by ordering from a wholesaler. The price was agreed upon, and in time the articles arrived and were delivered. Then came the bill. And some discussion thereof.

"How come?" the M.D. wanted to know. "You quoted me at one figure, and your bill is about $40 more than that."

The retailer explained there were some extras he had not taken into consideration and so the price was up a bit. Apparently satisfied, his customer paid off.

Several months later, the business man was the doctor's customer. The fact is, he was about to become a proud papa. He made all the arrangements, spoke fondly of the dream he and his wife entertained for a girl baby, and was told the amount of money he would be expected to extract from the old wallet for professional services rendered.

Everything went well. The baby arrived on schedule. A fine baby. Only it was a boy. Which, after all, was quite acceptable, as is always the case. Then came the doctor's bill. And the retailer yelped.

"How come?" he wanted to know. "You said this and—look!—the bill says that."

"Oh!" purred the doctor. "You see, you talked so much about a girl that I quoted you on that kind of a baby. But this one has some extras; so, old boy, I just had to bill you for the incidentals!"

Heart Seizure Claims
 Former Johns Cr. Man
 At Prestonsburg Hotel

Stricken by a heart attack in the lobby of the Brown hotel here Wednesday evening, General G. Privett, 78 years old, died 30 minutes later in his room of the hotel.

Mr. Privett, who was well-known in Prestonsburg and the Johns Creek section, had been in ill health for some time but was believed recovering until the fatal seizure came. Until his removal was forced by inundation of the Johns Creek valley, he resided alone in the old Privett home, near the Brandy Keg bridge.

He was never married and was the last of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Ale Privett. His only survivors are three nieces and a nephew, Mrs. Varile Banks, Lucasville, O., Mrs. Elza Powers, Auxler, Mrs. Roe Powers, Van Lear, and Artis Lee Privett, of Van Lear.

The funeral was conducted this morning (Thursday) from the chapel of the Arnold Funeral Home and burial was made in the family cemetery on Johns Creek.

Joe Add Turner, 35,
 Heart Victim Sunday
 At Cincinnati Home

Joe Add Turner, 35 years old, native of this county, died suddenly at his home in Cincinnati, Sunday at 9 a.m., victim of a heart attack. He had been in failing health since his discharge from the armed services at the end of World War II.

Mr. Turner was a son of the late Joe Add Turner, Sr., and Mrs. Lizzie Turner Woods, of Allen. He left this county in childhood. His mother, his widow, two children and two sisters, Mrs. Clyde Pierce, Argillite, Ky., and Mrs. Forest Pinckton, Ironton, O., survive. He also leaves three half-brothers and half-sisters: Bill, Trent and Luke Woods, all of Allen, Mrs. John Lee Spriggs, Allen, and Mrs. Gordon Lee Porter, Dwale.

The funeral was held in Cincinnati today (Thursday), and burial was made there.

Pike Woman, 55,
 Held On Charge
 Of Operating Still

Pikeville, Ky., May 26 — Chief Deputy Sheriff Claude Reed today reported the arrest of a woman he said was involved in a Cumberland Mountain moonshine altercation early this month.

The woman, Mrs. Bytha Wallace, 55, of near Elkhorn City, was released on $1,000 bond pending an examining trial June 3 in Pike County Court on a charge of operating a still.

Reed said Mrs. Wallace was with an unidentified man who on May 3 fired 10 pistol shots at a raiding party of three deputy sheriffs and two Elkhorn City policemen.

The still was in Blue Gap Hollow, near Elkhorn City, in the Cumberland Mountains.

Reed said the couple escaped, but the woman's identity soon was learned and warrants were sworn out for her. The man has not been arrested.

Pikeville Firm Owes
 $9,955, In Income Tax
 Court Is Told, Friday

Frankfort, Ky., May 23—The Revenue Department today filed 18 suits seeking back payments of the State income tax.

The largest seeks $9,955 from Dalton Coal Sales, Pikeville, on 1948 earnings, Dalton Mines, Pikeville, was asked for $4,012, and Dalton Stores, Pikeville, was listed as underpaid by $622.

Another suit seeks $4,803 from Louis Levinson, 119 Riverside Parkway, Fort Thomas, on earnings back through 1943.

John F. Winans, Frankfort, was asked for $357 on his earnings in 1944, '45, '46, and '47.

One for the suits asked W. Clarke Otte, a Louisville attorney living at 1027 Eastern Parkway, for $105.93 on his earnings in 1946 and 1948.

The other suits, all filed in Franklin Circuit Court, claimed small amounts.

Daughter of Section's
 First Federal Judge
 Victim at Age of 96

Mrs. Jennie Borders Rolfe, 96, member of a pioneer Kentucky family and daughter of the late Judge Archibald Borders, first federal jurist in Eastern Kentucky, died Monday at the home of her daughter in Huntington, W. Va.

Mrs. Rolfe, a native of Boyd county, had been a resident of Huntington 24 years. Her family settled in the Big Sandy Valley in pre-Civil War days and the town of Louisa, Ky., was named after her grandmother. She was the widow of William D. Rolfe and was a granddaughter of Louis Mayo and Maria Jones Mayo, pioneer Floyd countians.

Before suffering a broken hip three years ago Mrs. Rolfe was active socially and in Methodist Church work of Boyd and Lawrence counties.

Her daughter is Mrs. Hildegarde Bichel Scholze, Huntington.

The funeral was held in Huntington Wednesday with burial at Louisa. Attending the rites were her cousin, Mrs. Jo M. Davidson, and daughter, Mrs. E. H. Sowards, of Prestonsburg.

Home Buyer of History Work Will Receive $500 U.S. Bond

Here's a chance to win a $500 U.S. government bond!

In a plan to stimulate distribution of the historical book which will tell the vividly interesting tale of the Original Floyd County, the Floyd County Sesquicentennial Association announced today that a $500 United States bond will be given away.

Advance orders for the historic book, written by Henry P. Scalf, local researcher-historian, and which will be titled "Historic Floyd" are now being taken at the offices of the Floyd County Sesquicentennial Headquarters, Patton Bldg., court street. Details may be obtained there.

Decision to offer the $500 prize was reached at a meeting of the Sesquicentennial's general committee held at headquarters Tuesday. Despite a downpour of rain, this was one of the best attended meetings the general committee has ever held. Members expressed keen enthusiasm over plans already formulated to make this celebration the biggest ever staged in Eastern Kentucky.

Prizes will also be offered for non-sponsored high school bands which appear in Prestonsburg during the celebration which will take place here July 1, 2, 3 and 4. First prize for such bands will be $150; second prize, $100 and a $50 third prize.

Jesse Elliott, Sesquicentennial first vice-president, will have charge of this high school band contest.

A. O. Stanley, former Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, has accepted an invitation to attend the Sesquicentennial Celebration. He will also speak during the festivities at a time to be announced later.

Last Tuesday's meeting was a lengthy one, presided over by Chairman Franklin Moore, at which numerous details of the huge proposed program were ironed out.

Senator Doug Hays attended the meeting, offering his full cooperation and personal aid. He was immediately assigned to several projects which he undertook to bring to rapid conclusion.

A horseshoe pitching tournament, to be held during the first three days of the celebration with finals on the fourth day—July Fourth—was announced today (Thursday) by Marshall Davidson, Sesquicentennial Celebration secretary.

This big tournament will be handled jointly by Troy A. Shepherd and Ralph Taylor, both of Prestonsburg. The contests will follow tournament rules with regulation horseshoes; all will be double plays, no singles. Arrangements are now being made for appropriately valuable prizes.

The horseshoe pitching tournament will be held in conjunction with the now-being-planned old time Kentucky horse swapping, details of which will be announced later.

Anyone wishing to aid in carrying plans through for a successful Sesquicentennial Celebration should get in touch immediately with the affair's secretary, Marshall Davidson, whose offices are in the Patton building, Court street, Prestonsburg.

HUNTINGTON MAN REVIEWS OIL DEVELOPMENT IN FLOYD

An interesting chapter in the 150-year-old history of Floyd county is that which deals with the beginning of its oil and gas business, an industry which has contributed heavily to development of the region. Exploration for the underground source of wealth was the second of the section's major industrial enterprises, timber being the first.

In the article which follows, T. E. Dimick, Huntington, W. Va., who played a prominent part in the early oil business in this county, traces the history of that industrial phase which ante-dated both the railroad into the county and the mining of coal.

On May 23, 1891, George H. Dimick Sr., of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Louis H. Gormley, of New Castle, Pa. (but at that time living temporarily in the state of Arizona), arrived at Prestonsburg to prospect for oil in Eastern Kentucky.

In April, 1891, Mr. Dimick contacted Mr. Gormley in Arizona, requesting that he meet him in Pittsburgh to talk over the matter of prospecting for oil. Mr. Gormley met him in Pittsburgh in the early part of May, 1891, and then interested J. B. Boyer and Wm. G. Gibson, of Pittsburgh, in joining them in the Kentucky venture.

Mr. Dimick had made a trip to Paintsville and the Paint Creek area in Johnson county, Ky., in the year 1888, and was very favorably impressed with the possibilities for finding oil and gas production in Eastern Kentucky. On account of his operations in the oil business in Allegheny county, Pa., he was delayed in getting back to Kentucky until 1891.

In May, 1891 Messrs. Dimick and Gormley located at Prestonsburg, after having looked over the territory in several of the Eastern Kentucky counties. They started a number of men taking oil and gas leases, in the name of G. H. Dimick and L. H. Gormley, in Floyd, Knott, Martin, Johnson, Magoffin, Breathitt, Letcher and Pike counties, Ky., and when the leasing was finished they had an aggregate of over 400,000 acres.

The first well was located by Mr. Dimick on the Dan Howard farm on Right Beaver Creek, a short distance below the mouth of Salt Lick Creek, and on August 6, 1892, oil was found in paying quantities at a depth of 926 feet, in the Maxon sand. After testing the well for its oil production for a certain period, it was decided, on account of its being the first well in that county, to drill it deeper to determine whether or not it might be found at a lower depth. It was drilled to a total of 2,240 feet. At 2,054 feet, in the Devonian shale, three-quarters of a million cubic feet of gas per day was found. Not having any use for the gas, and with no prospect of a market for it for years to come, it was decided to plug off the gas production and save the oil. Considerable time and expense were expended before the gas was successfully plugged, and the well completed as an oil well and put to producing.

Dimick, Gormley, Boyer and Gibson, on September 8, 1892, incorporated The New Domain Oil & Gas Company, of Kentucky, and transferred their properties and well to the company for all of the capital stock of the corporation amounting to $500,000.

In 1894, one-half interest of The New Domain Oil & Gas Company was sold to the Standard Oil Company, and thereafter a number of producing wells were drilled on Right Beaver Creek, in the vicinity of the original well, and also on Salt Lick and Rock Fork of Right Beaver Creek.

Tankage was built at the several wells, and it was determined that a large amount of oil could be produced, and in the early part of 1898, the state also has the largest white iron tanks of 25,000 barrels capacity each were built on the Wm.

T. Osborne farm on Right Beaver Creek, about three miles below the oil field, near the present railroad stop of Northern.

In 1900, a two-inch oil line was built from the Wm. T. Osborn tank farm to Whitehouse, a distance of 28 miles, and the oil in storage was pumped to Whitehouse, a distance of 28 miles and shipped by tank cars. When the Osborn tanks were emptied, oil was pumped direct from tanks at the wells to Whitehouse, and the iron tanks were out down and shipped away.

A few years later, a six-inch trunk oil line was built from Parkersburg, W. Va., to Somerset, Ky., and a two-inch line was built from the Beaver Creek oil field to Oakley Station in Magoffin county, and oil was pumped from Beaver Creek into the six-inch line. The two-inch line to Whitehouse was abandoned and the pipe taken up.

In the year 1904, G. H. Dimick, operating as G. H. Dimick & Company, discovered two more pools of oil on Right Beaver Creek—one about a mile above Wayland on the Isaac Collins and Isaac Bradley farms, in Floyd county; the other at the mouth of Dry Creek, on the Joseph Hall farm, Knott county.

The New Domain Oil & Gas Company, in drilling numerous test wells in Floyd county, found some exceptionally fine gas production.

In the last 25 years numerous companies and operators have developed a prolific gas field in Floyd county, in the Devonian shale. In fact, the Floyd county shale gas field covers thousands of acres and is the largest field that has ever been found in that formation. Billions of cubic feet of gas have been marketed from the field, and millions of cubic feet per day are still being produced and marketed.

Gas Firm Employee Is Victim Sunday Of Tuberculosis

Joe Branham, 52 years old, former oiler at the Warco station of the United Fuel Company, died Sunday morning at Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin, a victim of tuberculosis. He had been ill since January.

Mr. Branham had been employed in the Floyd county gas field for the last 25 years. He was a son of James and Daisy Smith Branham. His wife died 14 years ago. Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Daisy Branham Dudley, four sons, Henry of Dema, Oakley, Paul and Lyman Branham, all of Langley, one daughter, Mrs. Harvey Chaffins, of Mousie; one brother, Jay Branham, of Eastern, three half-brothers, Maynard and Edward Dudley, both of Langley, Forrest Dudley, Martin, and three half-sisters, Mrs. Joel Martin and Anna Dudley, both of Mousie, and Mrs. Sabra Stone, Elyria, Ohio.

The funeral was conducted Monday from the residence on Turkey Creek by the Revs. M. C. Wright, Mitchell Chaffins, Sherman Stone and Rich Griffith. Burial in the Hays cemetery on Turkey Creek was directed by the Arnold & Hall Funeral Home.

"DOLLS' TEA' IS HELD AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church sponsored a "Dolls' Tea" Friday afternoon from 4 till 5:30 o'clock. The church parlors were attractively arranged with spring flowers and the tea table was covered with a dainty lace cloth and a low bowl of roses centered it. Presiding at the tea service was Misses Jane Carol Ford, Peggy Parker, Joyce Parker and Linda White. The novelty of a "Dolls' Tea" is for little girls to dress in long dresses, high heels, picture hats and imitate their mothers, bringing their dolls to the party and acting as grownups act. Prizes were awarded to the little girl who was dressed the prettiest in grown-up effect clothes. This prize was awarded to three-year-old Elizabeth Lynn Frazier. The next prize for the most lifelike doll was presented to Kathryn Bevin. Wilma Ensminger presided as master of ceremonies during the party. Joyce Parker and David Black sang a duet, "Daisy, Daisy." Linda White gave a reading. Jane Carol Ford and Peggy Parker sang a duet, "Strolling Through the Park." Alice Cury and Jessica Smiley answered 25 questions in The Children's Catechism.

Following the program and serving of dainty refreshments, Kodak pictures were made of the group. This was a most colorful party and was unique in every detail. Guests were Kay Hatton, Joyce Parker, Peggy Parker, Roseneil Howard, Donna Ann Neely, Billy Gordon Francis, Elizabeth Lyns Frazier, Kay Ann Frazier, Kathryn Lynn Goble, Margaret Ann O'Neal, Judy Woods, Martha Sue May, Edith Cook, Barbara Black, Jane Osborne, Kathryn Bevin, Emma Kay Archer, Mary Jo Callihan, Betty Rowe, Judy Elizabeth and Jessica Smiley, Mary Lou Roberts, Sue Joseph, Jo Ann Dorton, Nora Leona Clarke, Phyllis Ann Leslie, Donna Prannell, Jane Carol Ford, Alice Avery, Linda White, Wilma Ensminger, Mrs. J. Miss Nora Ann Davis entertained with a wiener roast and slumber party on Saturday evening at her home on the Abbott road. Her guests for the evening were Misses Mary Belle Layne, Toby Jo Spradlin, Sue Goble, Elizabeth Ann Horn, Martha Katherine Greenwade and Nancy Hughes.

ATTEND DEDICATION

Mr. and Mrs. Estel Hyden and daughter, Pauline, attended the dedication of the Memorial Coliseum in Lexington Tuesday. The Coliseum, a University of Kentucky building, was dedicated to the boys and girls of Kentucky who lost their lives in World War II.

ATTENDED LEXINGTON SERVICES

Mrs. Fannie Rannels and son, William, and Mrs. Frances Bolling, attended the University of Kentucky baccalaureate exercises and the dedication of the Memorial Coliseum at Lexington, Tuesday.

Here's what the ladies must wear, if they persist also in wearing cosmetics of any kind—rouge, powder, lipstick, eyebrow pencil, or what-have-you, from now until after the Floyd County Sesquicentennial Celebration, July 1, 2, 3, and 4. Mrs. Reba Mayo, Prestonsburg artist, drew the sketch, pictured above, which is in replica of the official Cosmetic Permit. Menfolk who insist upon shaving will have to wear a Shave Permit on which is pictured a be-whiskered mountain boy. Both Cosmetic and Shave Permits are obtainable—price one buck (adv.)—at Sesquicentennial Headquarters Patton bldg., Court street.

Church Groups Hold Joint Meeting Tuesday

A joint meeting of the women's society of Christian Service and Wesleyan Guild was held at the home of Mrs. Frank Layne, with Mrs. Carlos Haywood as co-hostess, for their annual pledge service. The meeting was opened with prayer by the president, Mrs. Frank Layne.

Prayer was offered by Mrs. Hugh Smith. The meeting was closed with the singing of the Doxology.

Refreshments were served to the following members and guests: Mesdames Okie Dorton Lizzie Allen, Eleanor Horn, Marjorie Wilson, Una Smith, Idola Thompson, Ruth Worland, Josephine Meadows, Douglas May, Mattie Neely, Ebel Dickerson, Francis Compton, Regina Mayo, Edith Kispauha, Lena Brown, Peggy Spurlock, Hope Whitten, Phyllis Ranier, Jean Schindler, May K. Roberts, Irene Stephens, Vera Ford, Grace Burke, Angeline Chaloupka and co-hostesses, Mrs. Frank Layne and Carlos Haywood.

Willard Potter, 47, Floyd Woman's Kin, Is Victim of Train

A 47-year-old miner, brother of a Floyd county woman, was killed by a coal train shortly before dusk Saturday at Draffin.

The dead man was identified as William Potter, a World War II veteran who had been living at Draffin for five years with his brother, Virgil Potter.

Potter, a native of Hylton, Ky., was the son of George and Georgia Annie Potter. He was a member of the United Mine Workers.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. June May, address unknown, and Mrs. Mignon Adkins, Big Branch; one son, James Potter, U.S. army, and five brothers, Virgil, of Draffin, Quinton, of Madison, W. Va., George K., Tracy Calif., Noah L., New York, N.Y., and L. E. Ashcamp; and three sisters, Mrs. Elberta Adams, Draffin, Mrs. Mabel Standifur, Amherstdale, W. Va., and Mrs. Jessie Butler, Jump, Ky.

67 Scouts and Leaders To Represent Lonesome Pine Council at Jamboree

Sixty-seven Scouts and leaders from the Ponesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, will attend the National Jamboree, at Valley Forge, from June 30th to July 6th. It was announced this week. These Scouts are from all parts of the Council and will be under the leadership of the following men: Rev. Robert L. Anderson, Betsy Layne, Ky. Richard Wampler, Coeburn, Va.; Sam Snow, Appalachia, Va.; and Earl Acuff, Whitesburg, Ky.

Arthur Crump, Council Commissioner, and Leon Preston, District Commissioner from the Johnson District, will serve as leaders for the Region 4 Band Troop, which will be made up of Scouts from all sections of Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky.

The following Scouts from the Lonesome Pine Council will be in the Region Four Band: Bill Church, Belvin Ewen, Eddie Grigsby, Franklin Brabson, all of Hazard, and Roger Crump, of Pikeville.

Rites for Mrs. Maynard, Paralysis Victim at 77, Held Wednesday in Pike

Funeral of Mrs. Ella Harris Maynard, 77 years old, former resident of this county who died Sunday at the home at Gulnare of her daughter, Mrs. Lula Pack, was conducted Wednesday from the home of Edward Spears, of Gulnare. Mrs. Maynard's death followed an illness of several years and was recently attributed to a stroke of paralysis.

A daughter of Kelse and Lucinda Harmon Harris, she was born in Virginia but had spent almost all her life in this section. She was a member of the Methodist Church. Four sons and two daughters survive: George Maynard, of Emma, Kelsie Maynard, Acoville, W. Va., John Maynard, Colista, Ky., Curtis Maynard, Wales, Ky., Mrs. Lula Pack, of Gulnare, and Mrs. Myrtle Robinson, Pikeville. One brother, John Harris, of Lancer, and two sisters, Mrs. Jane Clark, Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Mary Ward, River, Ky., also survive.

Burial was made in the Pack cemetery at Gulnare, the Call Funeral Home officiating.

ALLEN WINS COUNTY TITLE

In Bait Casting Contest, Cook Named in Juniors; Both to Go to State

Hitting 90 out of a possible 100 targets, David Allen, Prestonsburg high school 1950 Junior Conservation Club senior division champ, won the Floyd county title in the annual bait casting competition held Saturday on the Beaver Valley golf course at Allen.

Allen, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Allen, Prestonsburg, was awarded a glass rod and earned a trip to the Kentucky State Fair to compete in the state meet. His division represented boys 12 years and older.

Billy Curmutte, Auxier high school title-holder, placed second with a tally of 77.

Johnny Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Cook, Prestonsburg, was named county champion of the junior division which is composed of boys under 12 years of age. He was awarded an ice box and also a trip to the State Fair competition.

Further evidence that bait casting among the Junior Conservation clubs of Floyd county is attracting state-wide attention became known this week.

Grayson sportsmen attending the recent Sportsmen's Convention at Cumberland Falls who heard Prestonsburg's Edmund Burke describe bait casting interest and feats among Floyd county boys were so impressed that they invited a team from Prestonsburg to put on a demonstration at a coming sports event planned there.

As a result, the "high nineties" were not uncommon scores yesterday (Wednesday) as a group of boys went through their practice paces in preparation for fulfilling the invitation.

Named to represent the Prestonsburg club at Grayson were David Allen, Edmund and Bill Baker Burke, Stewart Stephens and Donald Workman.

Tops Sharpsburg, 6-1, Thursday, In Finals of Grayson Tournament

SET TO FACE FRANKFORT IN STATE MEET

The Betsy Layne high school Bobcats, playing their first full prep season of baseball in ten years, brushed aside competition in the K.H.S.A.A. tournament at Grayson to become the regional diamond champs with the right to enter the state meet at Louisville on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 8, 9, 10.

The Bobcats gained their crown by dispatching Sharpsburg, 6-1, in the tournament final Thursday night at the Grayson athletic field after eliminating Tollesboro, 8-3, in the foregoing afternoon. Sharpsburg qualified for the final by bumping the Ashland Tomcats, 7-6, in another afternoon tilt.

There was no indication of inexperience, however among the Bobcats who advanced through rounds of the best competition that eight districts, comprising approximately 12 counties, could offer. Throughout the journey the champs were not charged with an error.

Stratton, Betsy Layne pitcher, held the losing team in the final to three hits and hurled shutout ball until the sixth. He whiffed 10 batters and passed one on being hit by a pitched ball.

Albert King paced the hitting of five B-bats who chalked up a better than 300 batting average for the meet. King had three for three in the final and two for four registered in his afternoon timber tries. The other four heavy-hitting Bobcats were Crum, Adkins, Martin and Hinchman.

Hinchman highlighted the Tollesboro game for the Bobcats by racking up three hits. The same tilt saw King and Adkins smash a homer each. Jones allowed Tollesboro only three hits and fanned nine batters. One batter drew a pass when hit by a pitched ball.

LAKE PATROL IS PROMISED

To Curb Speed-Boating On Dewey Lake; Water 11 Feet Short of Pool

Those who go in for speed on the waters of Dewey Lake will find a government ranger patrolling the rising expanse of water, beginning next Monday, it was learned here Tuesday night.

One of the ranger's duties, it was said, will be to curb speed-boating. The present use of motors without horsepower limitation is an experiment given trial by the Corps of Engineers after numerous protests had been filed against restriction of motors to six horsepower. The Engineers said recently violation of the eight-mile-per-hour speed limit will cause a ban on motors above that power in the interest of public safety.

The weather continued its "watermarking" of Big Sandy league records Tuesday as rain, wet grounds, etc., bogged down proposed loop action in scheduled Decoration Day doubleheaders.

League standings to date, "tied-up" for the most part, must rely on Sunday's play for final compilation. Sunday's results saw three teams gain a tie for first place while a shift was registered in other positions.

Allen pulled Hi Hat down a notch by defeating the Left Beaver lads, 10-5, at Allen and take a spot among the top three. The third topsider, Elkhorn City, advanced by trimming Prestonsburg, 10-3, at Prestonsburg. Prestonsburg, in losing, dropped out of last week's four-way tie for third place into a two-way tie for fourth place.

Henry Clay over-tallied Harold, 11-5, to become the sole occupant of second place. Henry Clay jumped from the number 4 rung in standings. The loss left Harold in a two-way tie with Drift for fifth place.

Drift won its first game of the season in thumping Martin, 11-8. The Turner-Elkhorn boys leaped out of last week's cellar. The loss dipped Martin from third place in the ratings to the number 4 post.

Rain blotted out the Ind an Creek-Price game in the fourth inning with Indian Creek leading 4 to 2.

W'WRIGHT AND BEAVER VALLEY CLUBS TO VIE IN YEAR'S FIRST MATCH

First match meet of the year between the two clubs, will see the Wheelwright Country Club and the Beaver Valley Golf and Country Club tangle irons, brassies, shots, putts and otherwise Sunday at Wheelwright.

Preliminary plans for the meet call for approximately 20 golfers from each club to participate, it was announced yesterday (Wednesday).

Reports from the Beaver Valley Club, one of the oldest in the Big Sandy valley, indicate that there is an increased interest this year in golfing.

The Beaver Valley duffer troupe will be composed of members from Allen, Martin, Wayland, Manton, Prestonsburg, Betsy Layne and Pikeville.

The court directed that on his recovery hospital authorities hold him for trial here on the murder charge.

Kazee's examination chart indicated he had attempted suicide and had suffered periodical frenzy.

Kazee killed Victor Osborne, son Dr. A. G. Osborne, of Pikeville, in a Logan poolroom, in 1927, and had eluded arrest until recently.

Had he been adjudged sane, he probably would have been given trial this month.

"Simply," she said, "because they had to catch the bear. Falling in dried lubricants in those days."

Another stunt the ladies of the early days employed was the judicious use of a hairbrush, itself a rarity in those days, they would lightly brush the cheeks with its stiff bristles. A bit painful—but it brought forth a becomingly maidenly blush.

When obtainable, witch-hazel was a definite necessity in shampooing the hair—mixed, of course, with a quantity of soft soap, homemade with lye or wood ashes.

But of all the beauty aids I learned, here is one which is guaranteed as a freckle remover:

One must have a small baby handy—makes no difference, boy or girl. Naturally, one must have freckles which are simply pining to be removed. Securely fasten a fresh-ly-laundered, soft diaper about said baby in the usual position. Give baby a bottle of his or her favorite formula, or just plain, warm water.

Place baby in prone position. Step back and wait. When baby cries or whimpers, removed diaper and replace with fresh one. Take first diaper, which is now thoroughly soaked. Rub wet diaper all over face where freckles appear. Repeat as often as baby supplies diapers, which will be often enough.

This is guaranteed to remove freckles—if the baby's plumbing facilities hold out.

Now, girls, don't you agree with me that it is much easier to pay your $1 bill for a "Cosmetic Permit," than modern cosmetic science, and go on using today's fine make-up, than to try to follow the rough path your pioneer sisters followed?

I'm sure you agree. With your "Cosmetic Permit" you pay your money and take your choice of the thousands of aids to beauty found on the market today.

And I repeat, ladies, I much prefer seeing you as you ain't!

was just the thing for "spit" curls when grandma was a girl. Crushed wheat and rice grain were tops in the older, golden days, for powder. And maybe you think pancake make-up is something new?

Prepared chalk was also used for powder, but that was more expensive and harder come by when your great-great-aunt would a-wooling go.

Rose petals, crushed, and rubbed over the cheeks, served the dual purpose of a faintly tinged rouge and a delightful, if not long lasting, perfume. Mamma's mother never heard of Chanel No. 5, My Sin, or Fleur d'Amour.

The more rugged gals had a sure-fire scheme to give their cheeks that rosy glow. Theyd go out back of the cabin, pull up a bank of mullein plants and rub their cheeks with the rough undersides of the large leaves.

Patting thick buttermilk on the cheeks and neck was a positive beauty aid. Put the sticky buttermilk on before going beddy-bye. Leave it on all night. Wash off with soap and water next morning. Presto—cool, soft, velvety skin. Good for chapped and roughened hands, too.

A younger maiden I questioned declared that women of years ago showed more wrinkles and age-browned skins than their modern sisters.

"Simply," she said, "because they had to catch the bear. Falling in dried lubricants in those days."

Men, of course, used bear grease as hair pomade. Naturally they first had to catch the bear. Falling in that heroic deed, they resorted to pure hog lard or, in times of dire necessity, a bit of subtly applied lubricant.

Another stunt the ladies of the early days employed was the judicious use of a hairbrush, itself a rarity in those days, they would lightly brush the cheeks with its stiff bristles. A bit painful—but it brought forth a becomingly maidenly blush.

When obtainable, witch-hazel was a definite necessity in shampooing the hair—mixed, of course, with a quantity of soft soap, homemade with lye or wood ashes.

But of all the beauty aids I learned, here is one which is guaranteed as a freckle remover:

One must have a small baby handy—makes no difference, boy or girl. Naturally, one must have freckles which are simply pining to be removed. Securely fasten a fresh-ly-laundered, soft diaper about said baby in the usual position. Give baby a bottle of his or her favorite formula, or just plain, warm water.

Place baby in prone position. Step back and wait. When baby cries or whimpers, removed diaper and replace with fresh one. Take first diaper, which is now thoroughly soaked. Rub wet diaper all over face where freckles appear. Repeat as often as baby supplies diapers, which will be often enough.

This is guaranteed to remove freckles—if the baby's plumbing facilities hold out.

Now, girls, don't you agree with me that it is much easier to pay your $1 bill for a "Cosmetic Permit," than modern cosmetic science, and go on using today's fine make-up, than to try to follow the rough path your pioneer sisters followed?

I'm sure you agree. With your "Cosmetic Permit" you pay your money and take your choice of the thousands of aids to beauty found on the market today.

And I repeat, ladies, I much prefer seeing you as you ain't!

Fraley case stands, the Administration still will have hold a 2-1 edge on the Board.

The suit filed in the name of the Commonwealth of Kentucky through the Attorney General attacked Dr. Allen's right to office on the ground that he has "continuously for more than five years last past" been employed by the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company as physician and surgeon and has held since on or about January, 1947 a free pass issued by the company which is good on any of its trains from or to any point in Kentucky.

The last was accepted by the doctor in January of last year and was valid until December 31, this year. But for the Board controversy following the resignation of Ray Fraley and the disputed action in the naming of Fred Fray as his successor, Dr. Allen would have kept this last pass, it was claimed. He returned it, the petition contends, "because of the fear in his own mind that his title to . . . office might be questioned."

The petition cites Section 197 of the Kentucky Constitution which forbids a railway, steamboat or common carrier to give a free pass or to sell at reduced prices a ticket to any state, district, city, town or county official or member of the General Assembly, or judge, and which provides that acceptance of such favor shall forfeit such official's right to office.

In depositions taken during recent litigation in the Board wrangle, Dr. Allen admitted receiving the railway's pass but denied using it. He stated he did not know it was illegal to accept one until he saw a published statement quoting "somebody in the Attorney General's office." "I didn't realize until that time that it was illegal, and still don't believe it is illegal," he declared.

The hiring of teachers was said to have been on the agenda at Monday's meeting of the Board. The temporary restraining order granted against Dr. Osborne and Mr. Stratton, however, enjoined them from meeting to employ teachers, or to vote for a successor to Ray Fraley or to transact any other business except to pay current salaries until the Floyd circuit court has ruled on the propriety of the case of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, et al., A. E. Funk, Attorney General, against Dr. Allen.

Meanwhile, a number of teachers, expecting employment, enrolled in college for summer work to gain needed credits. Superintendent Hall said Tuesday.

The appeal of Ray Fraley from the opinion of Judge Auxier had not reached the Court of Appeals, Tuesday. An appellate court decision in the case is expected before the court adjourns this month.

before the time for adoption of the budget, the county judge sends two copies to the State Local Finance Officer for his approval as to form and classification.

After approval by the State Local Finance Officer, the proposed budget is submitted to the fiscal court at the time fixed for adoption of the county tax levy which must not be later than July 1 each year.

The county budget commission must post the proposed budget in the court house and publish it in a local newspaper not less than ten days before adoption.

Any citizen of the county may appear before or petition the fiscal court on any part of the budget. Because the county budget is so important an element in local government, this means was provided for the taxpayers to have an opportunity to express their opinions on county finance before the budget is adopted.

The law makes it illegal for the county to spend money for an purpose in excess of the amount provided in the budget for that purpose. In certain cases, however, the budget may be amended or transfers made by the fiscal court.

David Pool Dedication To Be Held Saturday, June 3

AT LAST!

Come On In, Skinny--the Water's Fine!

Princess Pool, True Community Project, To Be Dedicated With Elaborate Program

Dedication of a new swimming pool in David, Kentucky, this Saturday, June 3, marks completion of another step in that community's ten-year plan to become the nation's model coal-mining community. David is the site of the mining operations of the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company.

The new pool is sponsored by the Princess Community Association, a non-profit organization in the community devoted to the support of church, school, recreation and welfare activities. Any revenue derived from the operation of the pool will be used in the furtherance of the Association's work.

Materials for the project were donated by the Princess Community Association, while the actual construction of the pool was carried out by company employees working voluntarily on the project on their own time. The Association provided free tickets to the pool for all employees of the coal company who donated their services.

Because of limitations on the space available for spectators, attendance at the actual dedication ceremonies will be limited to employees of the company and their families, while an open house will follow for the general public from 4 until 7 to enable the public to inspect the pool and its facilities. The pool will be open regularly commencing June 4 from 1 to 7 p.m.

An elaborate program has been planned by company officials for the dedication ceremony, highlight of which will be an exhibition of water polo by two teams representing the Phi Tau Alpha Fraternity of Marshall College in Huntington, followed by a diving exhibition.

Also participating will be the Prestonsburg High School band, under the direction of Mrs. Ova Hall, the David Glee Club and other musical groups under the direction of Mrs. Harry Fiedler.

Members of the Boy Scout and Girl Scout troops in David will be featured in swimming races and will also provide a color-guard for the flag-raising ceremonies at the beginning of the proceedings.

An interesting feature of the program will be a style show presented by girl employees from the Huntington and David offices of Princess Elkhorn and daughters of company employees. Beach-wear and bathing suits for the show have been provided by Kurzman's, Huntington ladies' wear store and Mallory Stores at David and Auxier.

Principal speaker for the dedication will be Mr. Bert Combs, Prestonsburg attorney, while the program will be emceed by Ted Arnold, manager of radio station WSIP in Paintsville. A tape-recording of the proceedings will be made for rebroadcast over WSIP Sunday afternoon from 3:30 to 4 o'clock.

Others taking part include the following:

Style show: Jane Crawford and Geraldine Carver of David; Barbara Branham and Jane Davis of Prestonsburg; Janet Wells, Libby Ann Daniels, Faye Goble and Uldeen Cline, all of Auxier; and Dorothy Parsons, Dorothy Ward and Helen Fisher from Princess Elkhorn's Huntington offices.

Boy Scout color guard: Randall Honeycutt, Johnny Everly, Donald Capelli, and Dexter Music.

Girl Scout color guard: Becky Clark, Betty Jean Howell, Elizabeth Ruth Castle, Phyllis Hammonds, Nedra Carver and Clara Hager.

Boy Scout swimmers: Glen M. Dixon, John R. Dixon, Claude E. Wallen, William Johnson, Rex Music and Joe Clark.

Girl Scout swimmers: Betty Jean Honeycutt, Roselyn Harmon, Peggy

POOL IS LATEST ACCOMPLISHMENT OF THE PRINCESS COMMUNITY ASS'N

Completion of the new Princess Pool marks another milestone in the program of community service being rendered by the Princess Community Association, sponsor of the pool.

A non-profit organization, the Princess Community Association was founded in 1945 to provide for the educational, recreational and welfare needs of the community of David. The Association derives its funds largely from contributions by the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company in David, employees of the company and interested outsiders. Any revenue derived from the operation of the new swimming pool will go into the association's fund for use in furthering its work.

The Association's activity in the community of David includes the operation of the church and the pastor's salary, contributions to the Boy Scout and Girl Scout organizations in the town, assistance to the needy in the community, and participation in all welfare activities, including such special drives as the annual Red Cross fund-raising campaign and others.

The Association will be in charge of the operation of the new Princess Pool with Garnis Martin as supervisor. Life guards will be Ardair "Pe'e" Collins and Ann Everly, while Geraldine Carver will handle ticket sales and the locker room.

USE LIME SPARINGLY

Lime can be harmful to lawns if applied too frequently. Scott's Lawn Research reports. Proper application is at intervals of two years or so and then only after soil tests to check on the acidity.

MASTER OF CEREMONIES

Ted Arnold, above, General Manager of Radio Station WSIP in Paintsville, will serve as master of ceremonies at the opening of Princess Pool.

Congratulations!

The Times would add its congratulations to those of others who are appreciative of the progressive spirit of the community of David and its moving force, the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company, on their latest achievement.

This swimming pool is a very fine asset to that wholly complete community.

We use here the word, "complete," because this town, now only ten years old, is able to stand on its own, and is a splendid example of what modern industry, under progressive guidance, can do for a community. David has its market, its community church, its theatre, a Boy Scout cabin, a Girl Scout cabin, a modern school and a gymnasium a-building, a baseball field — and in its scenic reservoir, a restful fishing spot. And now a swimming pool. It's so complete, this town, that no resident is dependent upon any other community for all the activities, religious, civic or recreational, he or she may require.

The overall result of this ten years of work and of heavy financial outlay is something to be proud of, a thing truly worthwhile. The Times has an idea that what many the other community needs is to be adopted by a company such as this.

Fishermen on the Gold Coast held a 10-day funeral for a whale washed ashore, the fisherman who first saw the whale being treated as the "widower."

DAVID WOMAN'S CLUB PROVIDE SHRUBS FOR PRINCESS POOL

Shrubbery used in landscaping Princess Pool in David was donated to the Princess Community Association by the David Woman's Club. The David Girl Scouts procured and planted the flowers which form the flower beds at the pool.

Careful Planning Makes Pool Model For Health and Fun

The Princess Community Association's new Princess Pool at David incorporates the most modern and up-to-date design and equipment in swimming pool construction, according to Max C. Burns, Personnel Director of the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company, and Executive Secretary of the Princess Community Association.

Originally proposed by David L. Francis, President of the coal company, construction got underway one year ago when employees of Princess Elkhorn volunteered their services on the project. The Princess Community Association furnished all materials and the company provided supervision under the direction of Joe Nekoranec.

Source of water for the new pool is mine water from a worked-out section of the company's No. 1 mine. It has been carefully analyzed and de-aerated equivalent in purity to well water. Nevertheless, Mr. Burns said, the water is filtered and chlorinated before entering the pool, to insure its cleanliness. The filtering system is entirely automatic, while the entire water system, supplying the pool, operates completely independently of the community's water supply. "There's not a chance of contamination," Mr. Burns added.

Good circulation of water in the pool is insured by having intakes in all four sides. Drainage is provided for in the deep end of the pool.

The pool itself is 40 feet wide and 75 feet long, graduating from 18 inches deep in the shallow end to 9 feet deep in the deep end. A springboard has been provided, and night lighting can be provided by floodlights and underwater lights.

The attractive green and white bath house is topped by a flat roof fitted out as a boat-deck with tables and beach umbrellas. An outside stairway leads to this deck. The bath house was designed by Arnold Ferriss, Huntington architect.

Locker rooms for men and women are designed to provide completely unobstructed floor area, even in the vicinity of shower and booth partitions. Mr. Burns explained that "all partitions are supported from the walls, leaving the floor completely open and unobstructed up to a height of 18 inches. This makes it easy to clean and eliminates crevices and corners at floor-level where bacteria might hide."

Patrons of the pool will receive

BRING YOUR OWN SUIT AND TOWEL

Max Burns, Personnel Director of the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company, pointed out today that no rental suits or towels will be available at the new Princess Pool in David. "Everyone will have to bring their own," he said.

INVITE FRIENDS TO EVENT

Sesqui Officials Will Help with Invitations Without Cost to Sender

Want to invite friends and relatives who are former residents of the original Floyd county, now living elsewhere than Kentucky, to the Floyd County Sesquicentennial Celebration, to be held in Prestonsburg July 1, 2, 3 and 4?

That's easy—and without even the cost of postage.

Officials of the Sesquicentennial Celebration will send invitations to all former residents of the 15-county area, or to descendants thereof, who live in other states or counties.

These invitations will invite the former Kentuckians to visit the state for "My Old Kentucky Homecoming—1950" and to come to Prestonsburg for the Sesquicentennial Celebration.

Names and present addresses of such persons should be sent immediately to Sesquicentennial Headquarters, Patton Bldg., Court Street, Prestonsburg. Officials urge that all such names be printed or legibly written, and point out that present addresses—street, numbers, names and the like—be carefully noted.

The invitations will be sent out continuously from now until Sesquicentennial Celebration time.

PLANS SESQUI HOMECOMING

One Floyd countian who is already planning a homecoming for the Sesquicentennial Celebration to be held in Prestonsburg July 1, 2, 3 and 4 is Mrs. C. E. Hornbuckle, now a stylist at Parson's Department Store at Ashland.

Mrs. Hornbuckle, prior to the celebration, will visit with her mother, Mrs. Joseph Allen Patton, of Martin. During the festivities she plans to stop with friends and relatives in Prestonsburg.

Although the new swimming pool sponsored by the Princess Community Association at David does not open officially until Saturday, youngsters from the community and lovely young ladies from the offices of the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company both here and in Huntington got a chance to try it out at a "dress rehearsal" ten days ago. Apparently, and judging from the pictures appearing in this edition of The Floyd County Times, the event was a huge success. Incidentally, for the Huntington girls, Dorothy Ward, Helen Fisher and Dorothy Parsons, this trip represented their first visit to the company's properties at David. They will return to take part in the dedication this week-end.

College Roll Honors Five Floyd Students, Dr. Page Announces

Pikeville, Ky., May 27 (Spl.)—Betty Ann Martin, of Garrett, is one of the three highest-ranking graduates of Pikeville Junior College this spring, President A. A. Page announced in releasing the college's honor roll this week. In addition, she received the Bible given by the school each year to the graduating student with the best grades in the study of Bible. Four other Floyd countians also were included in the honor lists.

Fifty-six students, including six from Floyd county, were graduated from the college, and 12 from Pikeville College Academy, May 25. The Commencement address, on the subject, "The Marks of An Educated Man," was delivered by Dr. Ralph B. Hindman, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Buffalo, N. Y.

Otto M. Gillis, of Tomahawk, Martin county, was awarded the Dr. W. C. Condit prize, a gold watch, for having the highest standing over the two-year course at the college. He was enrolled in the pre-medical course, and held the Knights Templar scholarship, given to a sophomore at Pikeville College by the Grand Commandery of Kentucky, Dr. Page said.

Julian Charles Phelps, Jr., Phelps, Pike county, won the Margaret E. Record prize, a cash award, with the second highest standing in the college group.

Barbara Greer, leader of the Academy class with an all-"A" record, received the May E. Day prize of a $25 U. S. bond. She also won the Bible given for the best Bible grades in the Academy.

Miss Martin and Dainty Geraldine Carver, of David, are Floyd county representatives on the honor roll of graduates whose average grades over the two years were "B" or better.

Billie Ruth Elkins, freshman, of Harold, was listed as one of the only two students in the entire college with an all-"A" standing. She held the Pikeville College tuition scholarship granted to the highest ranking school graduate of Floyd county last year.

Other Floyd county students on the college's freshman honor roll, with grades for the year averaging "B" or better, are Wonnell Bussey, David, and Mildred Flanery, Banner.

Miss Carver and Miss Bussey have attended Pikeville College on all-expense scholarships provided by the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company, according to Dr. Page.

Another scholarship student, Loella Chaffin, of Hode, Martin county's top 1949 high school graduate, also made the freshman honor roll.

Good citizenship medals awarded annually to a boy and girl among the academy graduates by the Pikeville Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution were presented to Patricia Hobbitts and Ralph Wagner, both of Pikeville.

Other Floyd county students who received diplomas from Pikeville College last week are Doris Connors, Auxier; Mary Jane Crawford, David; Carlos Little Wheelwright, and Peggy D. Stumbo, Harold.

Dr. Sirkle Receives High Masonic Honors In Louisville Rites

Dr. R. M. Sirkle, Prestonsburg, recently became the 95th of approximately 100,000 members of the Masonic Order in Kentucky to receive the Knight York Cross of Honor.

The honor was accorded to Dr. Sirkle at the Scottish Rite Temple, Louisville, while he was attending the 103rd grand convocation of Knights Templar there, May 23-25. These are the qualifications which made the physician, who is grand junior warden of the Kentucky Grand Lodge and in the line of succession leading to the Grand Mastership, eligible for the KYC honor.

He is a past master of Wheelwright Masonic lodge, past high priest of Pikeville Chapter No. 133, present trustee illustrious master of Pikeville Council No. 95 and eminent commander of Pikeville Commandery No. 45.

Bottled propane is more satisfactory in cold country for home use than butene because it has a lower boiling point and turns to a gas more easily in very cold weather.

Denim, that old standby for play clothes, is available this season in plaids and stripes and may be used as trimming on solid color denim garments.

EIGHT STUDENTS FROM FLOYD COUNTY NAMED AMONG 139 MOREHEAD COLLEGE GRADUATES; JOHN S. COOPER, DR. GROVES TO SPEAK

Eight students from Floyd county were among the 139 named to receive degrees this year at Morehead State College and designated as the largest graduating class in the history of the school.

The Master's degree in education was conferred on Arthur Franklin Hobson, Wheelwright, and Hadley Cox, Garrett. The bachelor of arts degree was conferred on Pauline McKenzie Beiz, Prestonsburg, Hazel D. George, Betsy Layne; Bill Burns Martin, Minnie; Oliver Edward Allen, Martin; and Burnice Jennings Gearheart, Hueysville. The bachelor of science degree was conferred on Mary Sue Campbell, Lackey.

They heard Dr. Walter A. Groves, president of Centre College, deliver the baccalaureate sermon and John Sherman Cooper, delegate to the United Nations Assembly and special consultant to Secretary of State Dean Acheson, give the commencement address.

The baccalaureate service was delivered Sunday evening, May 28, at 8 o'clock (CST) in the main auditorium of the college. Commencement exercises were held Wednesday evening, May 31, in the same place and at the same time.

Mrs. Hattie Jones spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Epling and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Hicks and daughter, Wanda Jean, and Miss Frances Layne visited Mrs. Susie Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hackworth, Mr. and Mrs. Darvis Johnson at Blue River, Sunday afternoon, also Mr. and Mrs. Red Bonar of Emma.

Herbert Hinchman has recently returned from Grayson, Ky., where he accompanied the Betsy Layne high school baseball club.

Salyersville Utility Gets Gas-Rate Raise

Frankfort, Ky., May 26—Momarc Utilities Company, Salyersville, was granted a $2,800 annual gas-rate increase by the State Public Service Commission today.

Commission Secretary Ralph Kessinger said the increase will give the company 6.23 per cent annual return on its $36,465 investment, which the commission found to be its rate base.

The raise, effective next Thursday, fixes a monthly charge of $1.50 for 2,000 cubic feet of gas 50 cents per 1,000 feet on all after that, and a 10 per cent penalty on bills, paid after the 10th of the month.

Momarc serves 467 consumers, Kessinger said.

TWO INJURED IN WRECK

Sid Sutphin was severely bruised, last Thursday, when his auto was struck by that of Nicholas McCubbin, Paintsville, Internal Revenue representative, as Sutphin pulled his auto onto the Mayo Trail at the Hughes Motor Company garage here. He was able to return to his home near here this week. Mr. McCubbin suffered a ruptured blood vessel in his hand and was severely bruised. Both cars were badly damaged.

LOTS OF BUSINESS

Products of a score of manufacturers of the city of Keene, N.H., amount to $14,000,000 annually. They range from woolen goods to golf tees.

Within the 9,341 square miles of the state of New Hampshire are 1,300 ponds and lakes, four major river systems and hundreds of minor rivers and brooks.

PRINCESS COMMUNITY ASSOCIATION

... for another project planned and completed. The opening of the new Princess Pool at David, Ky., built under the sponsorship of the Princess Community Association, marks another stride forward in the progress toward making David a model community. Patsy is truly proud of the work and planning that have gone into making the Princess Community Association a reality and the fine spirit of cooperation that prevails among the employee-citizens of David. Only by means of this cooperation and planning together have the residents of David and the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company been able to achieve their goal of a completely modern community that is a clean, safe, and comfortable place to live, play, and work.

... and for the many things that have already been done. We are indeed proud of the accomplishments of the Princess Community Association, and also of the fact that we are a part of a community that is as progressive as David. The things that the people of David have done to make their community a better place in which to live are things that many large cities would have like to do but for which its citizens lack the drive and enthusiasm found in our community.

BETSY LAYNE WOMAN'S CLUB

The Betsy Layne Woman's Club held its regular monthly meeting Thursday night, May 18, at the home of Mrs. A. K. Robinette. Mrs. O. J. Williams, the president, presided at the business session. A project for providing recreation for the children of the community was discussed and it was voted to secure further information on this subject and to make a final decision at the next meeting. The 1950 Independence Savings Bond campaign was discussed. It was voted to sponsor a "Bake Sale," Saturday May 27, 1950 at "The Fountain" in Betsy Layne. Mrs. Williams and two delegates, Mesdames Beecher Hardwick and T. J. Chandler, were selected to attend the RFWC Convention in Louisville next month.

The program "What Club Woman can do for the Betterment of the Community" was under the leadership of Mrs. Glen Blackburn. Mrs. Blackburn opened the program with a brief outline of five goals for club women for the betterment of the community. These five goals were discussed at length as follows:

The first goal, "Campaigns for Beautification of Communities as well as Homes" was presented by Mrs. Blackburn, who gave a brief discussion on the topic outlining things to be done in this field.

The second goal was, "Better Health and Hospitals." Mrs. Chandler gave a talk on this subject. Her talk included a discussion on examinations for school children and the Blue Cross Hospitalization plan.

Mrs. Edward Lykins presented the third goal, "Every Woman an Active and Informed Voter," by reading and commenting on an article entitled, "Every Active Woman a Voter."

The fourth goal was "Community and Family Recreation, Music and Play." Mrs. Arthur Van Kamen gave a very fine discussion on "Co-operative Play" for small children. Mrs. Alice Williams presented "A Gym Dandy Program," concerning plans for teen-age recreation during the summer months. Mrs. Williams read and discussed "The Hamilton Summer Play School," an article dealing with a co-operative plan for the recreation of a play school for children from five to ten years old.

The final goal was "An Increased Effort to Understand our Children Better by Study of Child Psychology." Mrs. Beecher Hardwick presented an interesting discussion on "How Much Should We Control Our Children." Mrs. Alex Davis gave a discussion on "More Attention to Our Local Schools and our Schools Are What We Make Them." Mrs. Blackburn concluded the very helpful and interesting program by reading, "Finding your Community Project," an article dealing with helps in finding our community needs.

A dessert plate was served to the following: Mesdames O. J. Williams, T. J. Chandler, Beecher Hardwick, Edward Lykins, Elizabeth Pritchard, Arthur Van Kamen, Glen Blackburn, Alex Davis, Miss Alice Williams, Mrs. Robinette, the hostess, and guest, Mrs. Jean Robinette.

The next regular meeting will be Thursday night, June 22, 1950 at the home of Mrs. W. P. Howell. An informal discussion on community needs and problems is planned.

Mrs. Collins Claimed Sunday in 91st Year At Daughter's Home

Mrs. Annie Collins, one of the section's oldest women, died Sunday at 12:30 p.m., at the Allen home of her daughter, Mrs. Julia Osborne. She was 90 years old, and her death was ascribed to illness attendant upon advanced age.

Born Jan. 15, 1860, she was a daughter of Charlie Baldrige and the late Emma Morris Baldrige, early residents of what is now Bonanza. She was first married to William Morgan, and of this marriage two daughters and three sons survive: Mrs. Robert Huff, Jacksonville, Fla., Mrs. Julia Osborne, of Allen, Charles Morgan, general manager of the National Life Insurance Co., Birmingham, Ala., W. P. Morgan, Hi Hat, and James Morgan, Irvine, Ky.

After Mr. Morgan's death she was married to William Collins, who also preceded her in death. The one son born to this union, Marvin Collins, died a few years ago. Four step-sons, Dr. M. M. Collins, Lacey, Dr. G. C. Collins, Martin, Dr. H. G. Collins, Ashland, and E. B. Collins, Mt. Sterling, survive. She also leaves a sister, Mrs. Susie Collins, of Jenny's Creek, 28 grandchildren, 19 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Collins had been a member of the Regular Baptist Church 42 years and was deeply revered by a wide circle of relatives and friends. Her funeral was conducted Wednesday afternoon from the Allen Methodist Church, the pastor, the Rev. W. J. Kenney officiating. Burial was made in the Martin cemetery, near Allen.

Holding there's no more idyllic place on Earth for an annual outing, a party of 100 Louisville manufacturers and wholesalers headed by Louisville's Mayor and the President of its Chamber of Commerce are making a tour of 15 Eastern Kentucky cities and towns by special train, June 6, 7, 8, 9. They'll be here soon.

They wish to survey first-hand some of the outstanding advances made—things of which each city visited is proud.

They'd like to see public and private improvements, streets, highways, hospitals, churches, schools, colleges, parks, stores, factories, historic and scenic attractions.

They'd like to renew acquaintances, meet and chat with the men and women who have had a part in each city's conspicuous progress.

He Doesn't Care Who Passes Him!

ONE of the rarest satisfactions a 1950 Cadillac brings to its owner is serenity. He hasn't the slightest reservation about his car—and he takes to the highway with complete peace of mind.

Watch him briefly in the stream of traffic—and, if he is a normal Cadillac driver, you will quickly sense what we mean. He drives as befits his mood and his requirements, and is quite content to let other people do the same.

Unless he happens to be in a hurry, it is all right with him if another driver wants the honors when the light turns green. He knows that the surplus power in that eager, dynamic engine was put there for his safety and driving ease—and not for dramatic display on the get-away.

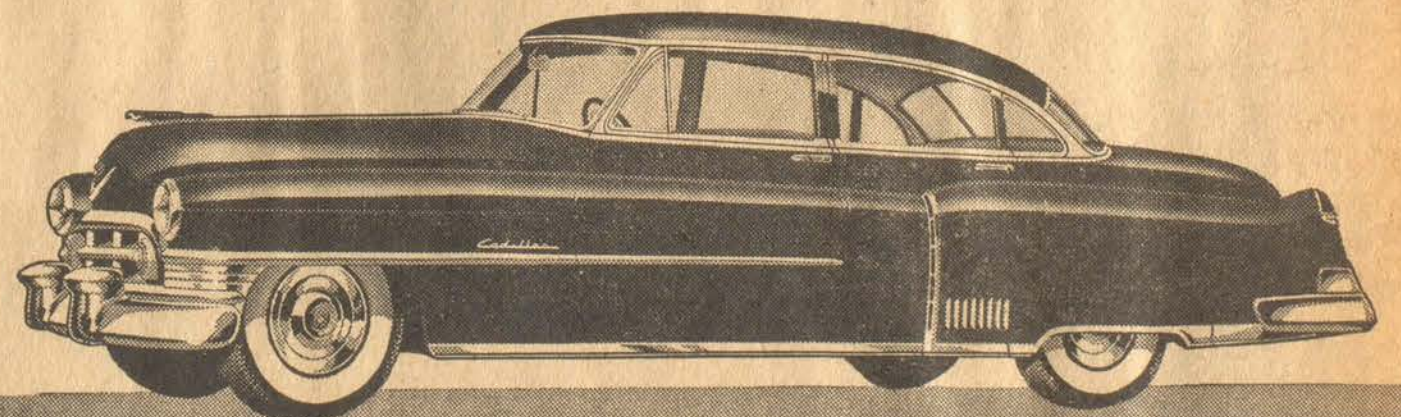

And so on the open road. If you wish to drive a little faster than he does, let him know.

He understands that his last two inches of throttle were not put there for the ungracious purpose of dominating the highway. They are there for an emergency—and for that lovely, floating, cruising ride which only a great reserve of power can provide.

So roll along, if you're in a hurry—and the top of the mornin' to you!

It's a wonderful thing, this feeling of calm confidence in your motor car. It lessens the strain, and increases the pleasure, of every mile you drive. Many say it's their happiest surprise when they first take the wheel of a Cadillac.

And we're wondering if you realize how easily and practically it can be your own. Listen . . . the lower-priced models in the Cadillac line cost less to buy than the highest-priced models of numerous other cars! Why not come in today?

Miss Marguerite McNeil, Bride of Mr. Creed Oney; Vows Said at Wright

Miss Marguerite McNeil, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. McNeil, Sr., Wheelwright, Ky., and Mr. Creed Oney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Vance, Wayland, Ky., were married Saturday evening, May 27, at the Wheelwright Community Church, with the Rev. Guy Coffman officiating.

Mrs. Bill Harris was the bride's only attendant and Mr. Gaze Litafik served as best man. Mr. Walter McNeil and Mr. John McNeil, Jr., brothers of the bride, were ushers.

Mrs. Oney was graduated from Wheelwright high school, is a member of the Eastern Star, and is active in Methodist Church circles. Mr. Oney is a graduate of Wayland high school and is employed by the Inland Steel Company at Wheelwright. The church was decorated with spring flowers. Mrs. H. K. Gillis sang "Because," accompanied by Mrs. John Clark at the organ. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride wore a white organdie dress, ballerina length, large white net picture hat and carried a white Bible topped with four baby orchids. Mrs. H. O. Harris, her attendant, wore a pink organdie dress, pink headress and carried white carnations.

After the ceremony the bride and groom left for a honeymoon trip to Cumberland Falls. On their return they will be at home to their friends at Wheelwright.

GLIMPSE AT SESQUI PROGRAM PROMISES EVENTFUL 4 DAYS

It's going to be a decidedly busy eventful, and entertaining four-day birthday party for visitors, is this 150th anniversary of the original Floyd county—the Floyd County Sesquicentennial Celebration—scheduled here for July 1, 2, 3 and 4.

This became apparent this week with announcement of a preliminary program for the big event which commemorates establishment of that huge section of Eastern Kentucky, long ago, now comprising 15 counties which are among the state's richest in natural resources and American history.

Working closely with the general committee in charge, which is headed by Franklin Moore, general chairman, a sub-committee of two, composed of Max Burns and Glenn Anderson, have announced this much of the plans for the big show:

Saturday, July 1
 Opening day and Mayor's Day: Official opening ceremonies of the Sesquicentennial Celebration in the morning; at noon there will be a selection of Beauty Queen of the Sesquicentennial and selection of King of the Beards, and a huge stage presentation, in the afternoon; the Royal Parade of the King and Queen, including all beauty contestants, with many decorated floats, in the early evening; Coronation Ball, later that evening.

Sunday, July 2
 Homecoming Day: Homecoming at all churches in the morning; picnic basket dinners at noon; house-to-house visiting and tours of the city in the afternoon; Religious Singing Jubilee in the evening.

Monday, July 3
 County Court Day: Prominent speakers, morning and afternoon; the historical Jenny Wiley pageant in the evening. This day will be opened with a county court meeting at the Floyd county courthouse, attended by court officials of all the 15 counties of the original Floyd, and commemorating the first court of law ever held in this area.

Tuesday, July 4
 Fourth of July: Huge parade of the Sesquicentennial in the morning; speakers morning and afternoon; the official Sesquicentennial Ball, following a big square dance, in the evening.

The foregoing events are but the skeleton outline of many more plans for entertainment, amusement, and instruction which the committee is now rapidly arranging for.

One of the outstanding features of the Sesquicentennial Celebration will be an old-fashioned Kentucky horse-swapping now in progress of formation. At this, any article will be swappable—anything from a Barlow knife (with or without broken blade) to a blooded brood mare or a Model T Ford of any vintage. This event will continue throughout the four-day show.

There will be tents filled with commercial exhibits and tents lined with industrial exhibits open at all hours. Several entertaining amusement rides are now being arranged, the committee reports.

In the windows of as many of Prestonsburg's downtown stores as possible there will be hundreds of antiques and historical objects on display. Loan of these priceless possessions of the area's families is now being arranged for by a committee headed by Mrs. E. R. Burke, of Prestonsburg.

Of course, there will be many of the truly American hot dog and soda pop stands, novelty booths, real home-cooked food emporiums, souvenir sales counters, and the like scattered about the fun area.

Invitations have gone out to some of the most prominent civic and political figures of the nation to speak at the various events. Details of such programs during the Sesquicentennial Celebration will be announced later.

All in all, this Floyd County Sesquicentennial will be not only the first of its kind ever started in Eastern Kentucky, but will also be of such colossal proportions as to offer a fine target for other such future affairs to aim at.

Ample facilities for handling of the enormous crowds expected to attend the celebration are now being arranged.

NOTICE

FLOYD COUNTY COURT REGULAR TERM

In the matter of Local Option Election in the City of Martin, Floyd County, Kentucky

ORDER

It appearing to the court that a petition has been filed on April 7, 1950, by a number of the constitutionally qualified voters of the city of Martin, county of Floyd, State of Kentucky, being more than twenty-five per cent of the votes cast in said city in the last preceding general election, with the Floyd County Court Clerk, said petition being in due form according to law, and showing the postoffice addresses of each voter and the date said petition was signed.

Pursuant to said petition, a local option election is hereby directed to be held in the said city of Martin, County of Floyd, State of Kentucky, on the 10th day of June, 1950, for the purpose of taking the sense of the legal voters of said city upon the proposition, "Are you in favor of the sale of alcoholic beverages in the city of Martin, County of Floyd, State of Kentucky?" in the manner and form as provided by law.

The clerk of this county is hereby directed to deliver to the sheriff of Floyd county a certified copy of this order within five days from this date.

The sheriff is directed to advertise his order by publication in The Floyd County Times, Prestonsburg, Ky., for three consecutive weeks and by posting written or printed hand bills at not less than five conspicuous places in each ward or precinct of said city, in manner and form as by law provided. The sheriff shall report his actions in writing to this court.

The County Clerk of Floyd county is further directed to prepare necessary ballots and equipment for said election, as by law provided. All other officers who by law are charged with the performance of duties in carrying out this election shall faithfully perform same as in manner and form as by law provided.

This 25th day of April, 1950.
 HENRY STUMBO, Judge
 Floyd County Court

STATE OF KENTUCKY

MAYTOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jones and son, Jimmie, of Grundy, Va., spent the week-end with homefolks, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ratliff, of Martin, and Mrs. Maggie Hill, of Bonanza, and were here for Decoration Day.
Mr. and Mrs. John Allen and daughter, Miss Tony Allen, of Cincinnati, visited relatives here last week-end.
W. P. Fryman, of Ashland, was a visitor of Rev. and Mrs. C. F. Allen. Mr. Fryman is district steward of the Ashland District of the Methodist Church and while here held a joint quarterly meeting of the Garrett, Maytown and Salisbury churches at Garrett Saturday night.
Miss Elizabeth Boughton accompanied the Wayland senior class on a week's sight-seeing tour of Washington, D.C., and New York City.
Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Patrick and Sandra Sue were visiting in Salyersville Sunday afternoon.
Judge and Mrs. Meniffee Patrick and son, of Salyersville, paid a visit to his nephew, Thomas Patrick, and family here last week.
Miss Juanita May and Mrs. Jimmie Fosson, of Ashland, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. May. Mrs. May's father, Mr. Parsons, of Vero Beach, Fla., is also a guest of the May's.
Mrs. Beryl Jarrell and daughters, of Mt. Sterling, were visiting homefolks last week-end.
Mr. and Mrs. Roy May, of Mt. Sterling, were guests of relatives here last week.
Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wells and children, former residents here, were gladly welcomed back for a few days last week. Mr. Wells, a former employe of the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company, is now chief engineer at Kentucky Lake.
Miss Helen Bowman, home ec teacher of Maytown, has gone to Richmond to receive her diploma. She finished in January. She will return here for another month before her work will be completed.
Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ramey and sons, and Mr. and Mrs. Thurmal Click, have gone on a week's fishing trip.
J. G. Gibson, who has been stationed in the Bermuda Islands, is here on leave with his parents.
Mrs. Thelma Autore, of Wheelwright, was a visitor of the Maytown D. of A. last Thursday night.
Mrs. Olive Tingue and Sandra entertained the following to lunch last Thursday: Mesdames Amy Bezley, Elizabeth Baker, Joyce Allen, Elsie Patrick, Mabel Collins, Lulu Martin, Alma Lowe, and Misses Lucretia Osborne, Lexie Allen, Myrtle Ratliff, Otha Howard, Peggy Sue Allen, Ann Stewart, Linda June May and Master Brent Allen.

Everyone, especially the youth, are invited to attend the Youth Fellowship meeting at the Methodist Church on Sunday, June 4, at 6:30 p.m. Mrs. W. P. Mayo, of Prestonsburg, will be the speaker. The Fellowship meets every Sunday evening at 6:30. Church services will follow.
Rev. and Mrs. C. F. Allen and Miss Sandra Sue Patrick attended an officers' meeting of the Floyd County Youth Fellowship in Martin Friday night.
Remember, Sunday School will begin at 9 a.m. next Sunday, June 4. The wedding of Miss Beryl Stewart and Mr. Jim Dixon will be at 12 noon in the church.
The attendance at Sunday School has averaged over 100 for the last three months. Every one is urged to attend each Sunday. The church needs you and you need the church. Come and worship.
The commencement exercises of the Maytown consolidated school were the best yet, judging by the crowds that attended. The first one, the grade school program, was held in the gym on the Friday night before the close of school. About 250 grade children, all who wished, took part in the program, theme of which was "Spring in the Magic Garden," centering around the princess, Miss Sandra Tingue, the queen, Miss Sandra Sue Patrick, and the king, Bobby Caudill, together with the ladies-in-waiting, flower girls, star maidens, elves, etc., made up a very beautiful spectacle. A record crowd attended.
Monday night was Eighth grade graduation program, sponsored by a very capable teacher, Miss Lexie Allen. Boone Hall presented the diplomas.
Tuesday night was Senior class night which was called one of the best ever given. The theme was a Book Review, and each one in the class represented some part of the book. All did exceedingly well. We even expect to have some statesmen out of this class of 1950. Mr. and Mrs. V. O. Turner were the sponsors and to show their appreciation the class presented them a beautiful gift.
