Homes-Martin Nuptials
Solemnized October 15th

Miss Joan Homes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curt Homes, Highland avenue, was united in marriage to Mr. Warren Coolidge Martin, son of Mrs. Nellie Barber, of Huntington, W. Va., on Thursday, Oct. 19, at 3 o'clock, at the home of the bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. H. C. Francis, Court street, Prestonsburg, Ky., before an altar of ivy, clematis, and smilax, interspersed with white dahlias flanked by candelabrae holding cathedral candles. The double ring ceremony was read from a Bible which was a gift to the couple from the Reverend Harold Black who united them in marriage.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Chalmer Frazier played musical selections, "Berceuse" and "Indian Love Call," and Mrs. James Carter, cousin of the bride, sang "Because." To the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, the bride was given in marriage by her father, Curt Homes. During the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer" was sung by Mrs. Carter.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Curt Homes, served as matron of honor, Miss Barbara Spradlin as her maid, Mr. Charles Stumbo acted as best man for the groom, and Joe Isbell, cousin of the bride, was usher.

Mrs. Martin was attired in a light grey wool dress, with circular skirt, the bodice tight fitting, with an arrangement of tiny covered buttons from the neckline to the belt of gold leather, the butterfly sleeves touching the hands. She wore a black velvet hat with veil, all black accessories and carried an orchid with streamers of white satin ribbons falling from a white leather prayer book. Mrs. Homes wore a wine wool suit with black accessories, and a corsage of white gerberas. Miss Spradlin was attired in an oyster white jersey dress with matching turban in color, with a shoulder corsage of red carnations.

The bride graduated from Prestonsburg high school, attended Cardome Academy, and Nazareth College and Mayo Vocational School. She is associated with the Spurlin Insurance Agency. Mr. Martin graduated from Huntington high school. He has been associated with the Singer Company for the past eight years since leaving the United States army where he was stationed with the Marines in the Philippines during World War II. Following a brief honeymoon, they returned here on Sunday. Mr. Martin left Tuesday for Detroit, Mich., where he will be employed. They have the good wishes of their many friends here. Cats Stave Off Louisa Surge To Win

P'BURG HIGH ANNEXES 7TH WIN IN A ROW

Hughes' Passing, Feature As Cats Meet Stubborn Foe in Louisa Bulldogs

Prestonsburg's Black Cats went out in the first half of last Friday night's football game here and scored 27 points, then fought off a comeback surge by a determined Louisa Bulldog eleven to keep intact their seven-game victory streak for the 1950 grid campaign.

Despite the big lead piled up in the first two quarters, during which they could do nothing wrong the Cats gave a big gathering of their followers several uneasy moments in the last half as the Bulldogs came roaring back to score 19 points behind a strong running attack which at times was interspersed with passes which caught Prestonsburg flat-footed.

Delmer Hughes, Cat quarterback, in that big first half in particular, was a ball of fire, no less, completing nine of 13 passes, scoring two touchdowns, passing for another, setting up the fourth and tossing the ball to receivers for three extra points.

The first marker followed three pass completions by Hughes, who then ran 10 yards to set up the touchdown. Claude Hopson, stellar lineman, started it off with a pass interception, running to the Louisa. A pass, Hughes to Hill, took the ball to the 28. Passes to Laferty and Patton worked the ball down to the two, and finally "Wah-Wah" Caudill rammied the line for the touchdown. A pass to Patton annexed the extra point.

Held for downs after receiving following this touchdown, Louisa kicked to Hughes who promptly raced 70 yards for Marker No. 2. Hughes passed to Hill for the extra point.

The touchdown march continued through the second quarter, with Hughes passing to Dixon and the play covering 60 yards to score. climax to the Prestonsburg scoring came shortly afterward when Laferty took Louisa's punt and handed it off to Hughes as he himself cut to his left, with Hughes racing unmolested 62 yards for the final Black Cat score. The conversion was made by the aerial route. Hughes to Patton.

After that, the never-say-die Bulldogs began doing business for themselves, starting off against Prestonsburg reserves and mounting an attack which was difficult to contain, even with the regulars back in the game.

To start that roaring second half, Louisa got the ball on the Prestonsburg 45 where an unnecessary roughness penalty set the Cats 15 yards deeper in home territory. From that point Salisbury went over in two plays, hitting the line for 10 yards to score.

Louisa uncovered a passer in the person of Nelson with his tosses accounting for the visitors' last two markers. One of these plays covering 70 yards saw Rittenbury crossing the Prestonsburg goal line. The other came when Nelson, taking the ball on the Louisa 30, tossed to Patton who went all the way. Louisa converted on two of its three touchdowns.

The game ended with the Cats crowding the Bulldogs onto their goal line, but time ran out on them.

Despite that first-half flash of brilliance, Coaches "Doc" Ferrell and Garnis Martin were not satisfied with the Cat running attack. Actually, Louisa outgained Prestonsburg on the ground, with Salisbury and Rittenhouse leading the offensive.

Isbell and Hopson were defensive stand-outs in the Prestonsburg line. Prestonsburg will play Belfry Friday night at Williamson, W. Va., in a Conference tussle which still has the Cats' loop-tussle record "on the line." For this engagement Prestonsburg hopes to have Sid Ball in shape for the fullback post and Jimmy Mayo fully recovered for both running and kicking duties.

Woman's work is never done!

That's not just idle talk—the average housewife works 63 hours a week. And she performs 70 different tasks in one day's work. Which is proof positive (if anybody needs it!) that housekeeping is a rugged job!

Of course, today's housewife has electric helpers to lend a hand and take much heavy work out of housework. But even the finest gadgets need something else—cheap, dependable electric service to give them life and usefulness.

That's why it's a compliment that housewives take electricity for granted. You flip a switch and know electricity is ready.

You can take its economy for granted, too. For electricity is just about the smallest item in your family budget. It costs less than a pack of cigarettes a day, yet it helps you sew, cook, clean, wash and iron, guards your health, entertains you. What else gives you so much living value—at such little cost?

JUST WHERE DO YOU STAND JUDGE DAWSON?

Judge Charles I. Dawson, as a candidate for the United States Senate, has been on both sides of almost every public issue since he won the Republican nomination.

Candidate Dawson in speeches in the coal fields has made it appear that he favors the Mine Safety Bill which failed to pass the 1950 session of the General Assembly. This measure failed of passage mainly because Charles I. Dawson and others who thought as he did worked to bring about its defeat. If you do not think this is true then let Candidate Dawson answer truthfully this question:

As listed attorney for the Harlan County Coal Operators Association, the R. C. Tway Coal Co., the Black Star Coal Co., the Pioneer Coal Co., the James Coal Co., the Beaver Dam Coal Co., and other coal operators, will you deny that you did everything in your power and took every possible step to bring about the DEFEAT of the Mine Safety Bill which you now are endeavoring to make the coal miners believe you are for?

We await your answer to this question, Judge Dawson

Cortisone Now Promises High Hope for Arthritis

(From The Reader's Digest) Cortisone, now made in quantity, is "ready at last to transform the lives of sufferers from rheumatoid arthritis, when used early enough, in active stages of the sickness," states Paul de Kruijff in the November Reader's Digest.

The hormone, once derived in minute quantities from the adrenal glands of animals and now made synthetically, does more than relieve the pains of arthritis. By intermittent treatment people who have had no hope for the future except to spend the rest of their lives in wheel chairs or in bed, can walk and work. Originally very expensive, cortisone is now much cheaper and further price reductions are expected as the supply increases. Recently it was reported to be as effective when taken by mouth as by injection.

Dr. Philip S. Hench, of the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., was the first to suspect the existence of cortisone. Hench noticed that pregnant women who were suffering from arthritis lost their pain and other symptoms during pregnancy. But as soon as their babies were born the arthritic torture returned. Hench reasoned that pregnancy increased the body's output of an unknown hormone. Further work with Edward D. Kendall, also of Mayo and already famous as the discoverer of the thyroid hormone, confirmed Hench's belief.

Another and similar discovery, made by Dr. Hench and his Mayo associates, was that a hormone produced by the pituitary gland at the base of the brain, also kills arthritic pain. This hormone is known as ACTH.

Until recently, cortisone defied all efforts to synthesize it in commercial quantities. In 1946, Lewis A. Sarett of Merck & Co. managed to make a few crystals of "compound E." A new factory, built by Merck in Rathway, N. J., gradually overcame technical obstacles, and today the hormone is being synthesized at the rate of hundreds of thousands of doses per month.

Last summer at Hillman Hospital, Birmingham, Ala., more than 400 physicians gathered at the first cortisone conference in history. The doctors learned, de Kruijff says, that cortisone and ACTH may be dangerous to people with "certain heart conditions, high blood pressure, diabetes and to those who have had mental trouble." But a parade of patients who otherwise would have been in wheel chairs, or bedridden, or dead, walked before them.

"The power of cortisone reaches beyond rheumatoid arthritis," de Kruijff states. "Dr. Hench and his associates found that it controls rheumatic fever." It helps, also, sufferers from ulcerative colitis and psoriasis. It quiets the pains of gout and relieves hay fever, asthma and migraine headaches.

Cortisone and ACTH are available to physicians through the 6,500 hospitals approved by the American Medical Association.

YOUR HEALTH

(Compiled by the Floyd County Health Department)

One of the less publicized dangers which hunters, campers and others taking part in outdoor work or recreation sometimes encounter is Rocky Mountain spotted fever. This is an acute disease which is transmitted to people by infected wood ticks.

It was originally thought that this fever was limited to the Rocky Mountain region. However, since then it has appeared in other parts of the country, including Kentucky. To date this year seven cases have been reported in our state.

The infected tick can transmit the disease by attaching itself to a person's body for several hours or by getting crushed and smeared on the skin. Since the tick does not transmit the germ for several hours after attaching itself, it is possible to discover and remove it before infection takes place.

Thus, a person who is in an area infested with ticks, should make a thorough examination of his body at least twice a day. Ticks, if found, should be removed with tweezers or a piece of paper, or rubber gloves should be worn.

Although 100 per cent protection is not guaranteed, it is possible by means of vaccination to lessen the likelihood of getting the disease and to lessen the danger of having a severe case if infected. Vaccine should be administered at least 10 days before starting on a trip which may mean exposure to ticks.

It is estimated that only about one tick in 300 carries Rocky Mountain fever germs. To be on the safe side, however, it is best to treat each one as though it might be infected.

Further information on prevention, symptoms and treatment of this disease may be obtained from your family physician or your county health department.

Motorists May Expect Gasoline Octane Drop

Motorists can look for a drop in the octane rating of motor fuel before too long, according to J. Stephen Watkins, president of the Blue Grass Automobile Club.

The prediction was based on information issued by federal officials who said a shortage of high octane fuel is impending and that the government will shortly place a limit on the octane rating of passenger car gasoline.

Mr. Watkins assured motorists, however, that the government foresees no shortage in the supply of motor fuel available for private consumption.

"The high octane content of regular and high test motor fuels," the AAA official said, "has been steadily rising until August. Since then, it has been reduced about one point for both regular and premium gas. Even with further contemplated reductions, the octane content will be higher than that of a year ago, which was greater, in turn, than that of the gasoline available to motorists during the war."

In the clutches of
THE LAW
and he doesn't know why

Most of the teen-age youngsters who run afoul of the law do not know why!

They can hardly be expected to realize that a lack of proper moral and religious training has left them ill-equipped for honest, decent living.

In many cases, their parents did not give them the advantage of religious education in the Church. And so, all their lives they may have to pay the penalty of their parent's neglect.

Juvenile Delinquency is hard to cure, but it is easy to prevent. The Church, with the support and cooperation of faithful parents, can equip every child with the sure foundation of Christian truth.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
 ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

By HENRY P. SCALF

In 1848 Harvey Washington Stratton married Phoebe Sellards. They set up housekeeping on or near the Sellards Branch at Ivel, Ky., but soon afterward, becoming heir to several hundred acres on Mare Creek, he moved there and established a home.

As an orchard was a practical necessity of the times he set about, by grafting, the growing of young apple trees. Harry Stratton who was very old, still lived in the old log house he had built on what is now the Layne farm above Ivy Creek. Harry, an apple fancier, had acquired a young tree of which he was very fond. It had a delicious flavor, marred only by a slightly musty tang when overripe. Where he had acquired it, we do not know, but as he was fond of the tree he was delighted to give specimens of the luscious fruit to friends.

Harvey went to Harry and acquired a sprout for grafting. The young tree grew and flourished. Not knowing the name of the tree Harvey called it the Anna apple, from Col. Harry's wife (she was Anna Powell who first married Spencer Adkins, of Pike county. At their house was held the first Pike county court. After the death of Spencer, Anna married Col. Harry, himself a widower.)

The tree, which is after all the subject of this rambling sketch, grew for decades just back of Harry's garden. Today, after a lapse of one hundred and one years, it still stands, a gnarled and decaying reminder of time and tide. A graft by William Preston Scalf lived for 50 years on his farm but is now dead, survived yet by the parent tree.

The present writer, interested in the history and flavor of the fruit, brought several apples to the PMA office in Prestonsburg. There Alex Spradlin, Mr. Goble and Jim Stephens tasted and ate. Mr. Stephens recalls that a similar tree stood on the old Stephens farm on Bull Creek but that it has long ago decayed and died. The Moores, he says, brought a tree from Virginia, sometime in the 1790's and set it out there.

The questions in the minds of those who loved the old Anna apple are: first, was it a tree under some other name, widely planted by Southwest Virginians, or was it a rare tree seedling from some sequestered corner of that part of Virginia? Next year, it is planned to graft from it and if there are other fruit from the old tree on its 102nd birthday, pomologists will be asked to identify it if possible. In the meantime, who knows?

A letter from Betty Stephens, of Prestonsburg, says: "I have been compiling a brief history of the Cornet-Reece families dating back to 1775. Sometime include this in your list (referring to the article, 'Would You Learn of Big Sandy?') and by that I may be able to get some valuable information."

A resident of Johns Creek brought to my attention the fact that the Scott Branch of that section was originally called the Drift Branch—just why, he does not know but thinks it may have earned the appellation because some pioneer found a huge drift of forest debris there.

Names of streams change with the decades. Some of our valleys had, originally, beautiful and melodious Indian names, like Tuscarara which changed to Layne's Branch after James S. Layne settled at the mouth near the present Betsy Layne. James S. Layne died and James H. Loar, a great-grandson, came into possession of some of the land. So it became famous as Loar's Branch. In 1918 the Pittsburgh Coal Company put in a mine there and the valley was called Pike-Floyd Hollow because the county lines of Pike and Floyd cut across it and also because the operating company was the Pike-Floyd Coal Company. For an indeterminate length of time now it will be called Pike-Floyd Hollow.

A hollow, it is not, of course. Decades ago, people were more particular and specific in referring to a valley. If it was called a creek the name implied a longer stream than a branch. A branch was a long tributary to a creek. A hollow was a sharp, steep indentation in the side of a hill was a steep-gut. Use of the picturesque word, "steep-gut," has ceased almost entirely but remains in a few places, a reminder that while names change or cease the change is slow and inevitable, like the flow of history itself.

Dr. Walter E. Vest, of Huntington, W. Va., writes he has data on the Vest and Akers families prior to their migration into the Big Sandy. He says: "I am reasonably sure that the Sandy valley families are descendants of the original settlers by these names in Virginia." Of himself he says: "I myself was born in Floyd county, Virginia. I am a great-grandson of John Vest of Bedford county who served in the Virginia militia in the War of the Revolution."

strongly that the local history of this country is not anywhere nearly well enough presented."

Robert Vest, a Pike county teacher who contributed so much to the success of the Sesquicentennial Singing Jubilee in Prestonsburg, is a son of Capt. Wm. Herndon Vest, CSA of Tazewell county, Virginia. This family of Vests originated in Wales. Capt. Vest had a brother Lloyd who never came to Kentucky. These Vests, orphaned at an early age, were reared by members of the Randolph family of Virginia. In 1865, William Herndon, an ex-captain of the defeated Confederacy, came to Kentucky and married Anna Laura Kendrick, daughter of David and Sophia Herald Kendrick.

In the Sesquicentennial book, "Historic Floyd," page 29 is a reproduction of a page from William James Mayo's Arithmetic book which was hand-made in 1785 before his migration to Floyd. The text states he was born in 1879. Obviously, this was a typographical error; but for the information of those who have inquired, it should have been 1769. He was 16 years of age at the time the volume was prepared.

Rockdusting Suggested For Floyd Coal Mine

Adequate rock-dusting and other safeguards are proposed for the Porter No. 43 mine of the West Elkhorn Coal Company, a mile east of Printer, Ky., in a reinspection report released today by the Bureau of Mines. Acquired from the Porter Elkhorn Coal Company by the present operator since the previous inspection, the Floyd county mine employed 10 men and averaged 75 tons of coal a day when inspector John H. Clawson examined in September.

Noting that the mine was damp to dry, the inspector proposed thorough rock-dusting to within 80 feet of the faces of rooms and entries to minimize the explosibility of coal dust. He also advised men to stop smoking in the mine and a ban on taking any open-light into the mine, as the shot-firer did to ignite fuses during blasting. Permissible electric cap lamps were used for portable illumination, he observed approvingly.

While ventilation was adequate, Inspector Clawson proposed offset installation in a fireproof housing for the ventilating fan, erection of air-lock doors, obtaining at least two permissible flame safety lamps, and making pre-shift fire-boss examination and weekly mine examinations for explosive gas and other hazards.

For safer blasting, the inspector proposed firing of permissible explosives electrically. Other recommendations included closer attention to loose and doubtful haulage-way roof, unobstructed clearance space and shelter holes, a few electrical safeguards, and fire-fighting equipment in the mine.

Carl D. PERKINS

DESERVES YOUR SUPPORT

In less than two years as Congressman from this district Carl D. Perkins has established a high record of endeavor and achievement which surely will earn for him the support of all thinking citizens.

His industry, devoted to the people of the Seventh Congressional district and to the nation, has been the subject of discussion by nationally-famous columnists. His faithful attendance at Congressional sessions cannot be overlooked. The record he has established in this respect is perhaps unexcelled among the 435 members of the House.

If you, as an individual voter, have ever called on Carl Perkins for a favor, you know as well as any other his ready willingness to be of assistance in any worthwhile cause. You do not have to be a member of a powerful group to gain his support, if you are in the right; Carl Perkins meets the people and their needs individually.

The teachers and all who are the friends of teachers know of his hard work in behalf of federal aid for education. In this he has been a national leader.

Labor, the aged and the unemployed have found his support of various forms of legislation most helpful. Again Congressman Perkins is looking here to the need of individuals, to helping men and women whose needs cry out for relief.

The coal industry of the Seventh district also knows of the quick action he and other members of the Kentucky delegation in Congress took to correct the situation in which coal was being destroyed by importation of oil from foreign countries and by its cheap sale in competition with our own American industries.

During his term in Congress, Carl Perkins' advancement has been steady and sure, a tribute to the confidence in which he is held by national leaders. Of this phase of his career Majority Leader John McCormack wrote in an unsolicited letter (see elsewhere in this space):

"In my twenty-two years as a member of the National House of Representatives, there is no Member who has advanced more rapidly than you."

Sam Rayburn, Speaker of the national House of Representatives, and with a lifetime of honorable service to his country to his credit, said in a recent letter, in part:

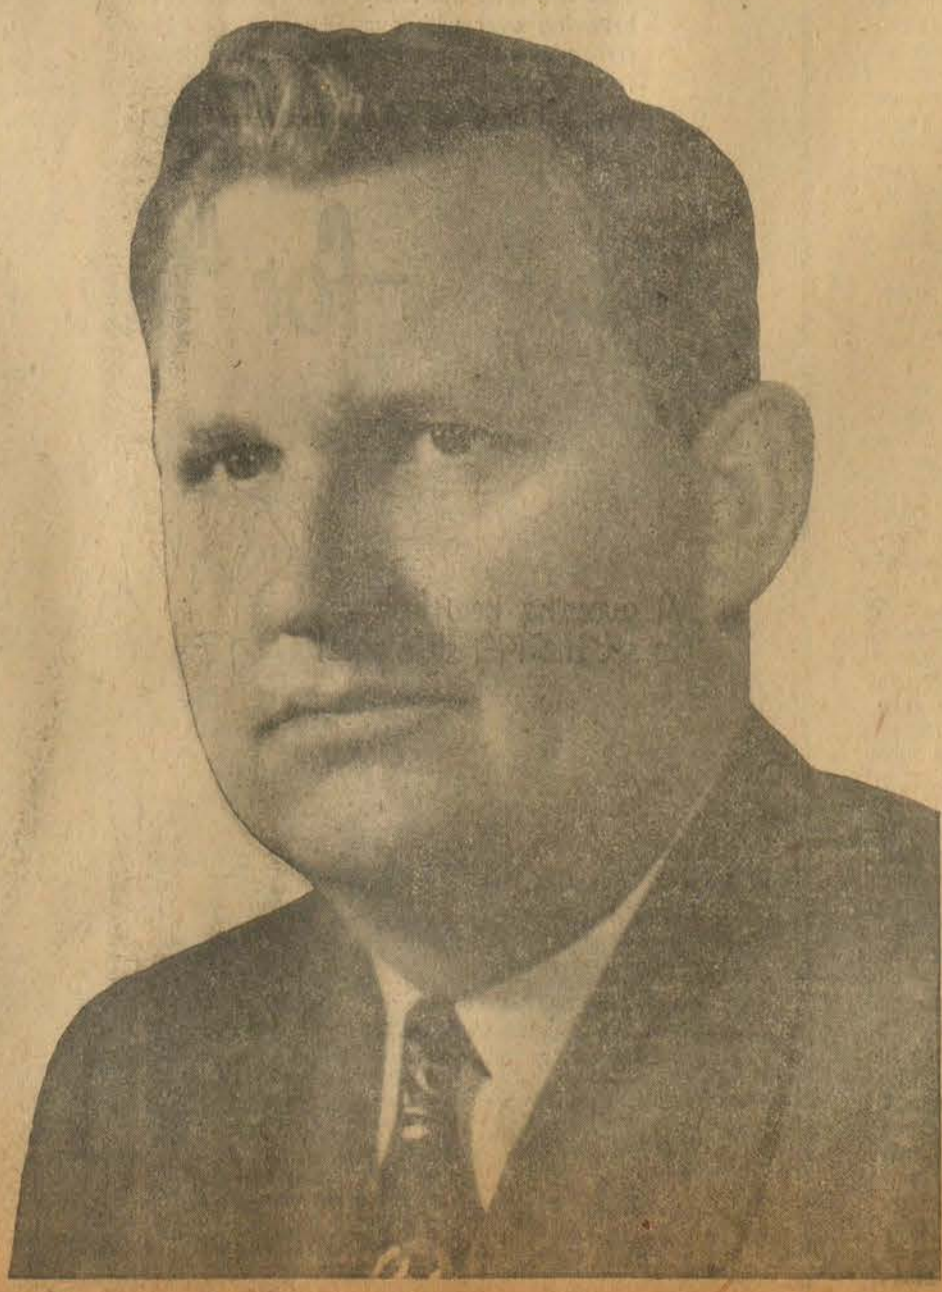

"To my knowledge, you have worked diligently and faithfully for the canalization of the Big Sandy river, and consulted with me on numerous occasions about ways and means to promote the project successfully."

Farmer, teacher, miner, business man—whatever your place in life,—you can call on Congressman Perkins with complete confidence that you not only are being heard in Washington but that you have a friend there who will be working and fighting for you as long as you are right and are asking nothing detrimental to the future of the country.

Keep your friend, Carl Perkins, in Congress—go to the polls Tuesday, November 7, and vote for him.

PERKINS CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE

The following unsolicited letter from Majority Leader McCormack is concrete evidence of the esteem in which Congressman Perkins is held by Congressional leaders:

JOHN W. McCORMACK
12th District, Massachusetts

Congress of the United States
House of Representatives
Office of the Majority Leader
Washington, D.C.

Honorable Carl D. Perkins
Member of Congress
Hindman, Kentucky

June 1, 1950

Dear Carl:

As Majority Leader, and as a Democratic colleague of yours, I want to convey to you the high regard that I have for you personally, and as a Member of the Congress. You are a credit to the people of your District. They are justified in feeling proud of you for the high and outstanding character of service you have rendered to them and to your state and to our country.

In my twenty-two years as a Member of the National House of Representatives, there is no Member who has advanced more rapidly than you. Your great ability; your sound, forward-looking as well as understanding and tolerant outlook of legislation and of life; your courage, as well as your devotion to the best interests of your people, have created in the mind of your colleagues the deep feeling of respect for you and confidence in you.

Speaker Rayburn and I have complete confidence in you.

Seniority means a great deal in the Congress to the people of the District. It is a powerful factor that the people of the District should not overlook.

When a Congressional District has a member like you representing them;—one who is honorable and trustworthy, who is so much respected, and who occupies a most prominent place in the council of the Democratic Party, it is an excellent investment for the people of your District to keep you in the Congress, thereby enabling you to obtain further seniority, which is a very important factor in the Congress.

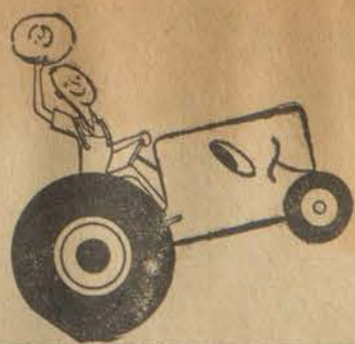

My high regard and deep respect for you prompts me as an individual and as Majority Leader to convey to you by this letter the high regard I have for you, both personally and as a legislator, and to express the sincere hope that the people of your District will nominate and re-elect you.

With kind personal regards, I am

Sincerely yours,

JOHN W. McCORMACK
Majority Leader

THIS HOUR OF PERIL

We are living in perilous times. Our nation is confronted with such peril as has never come in the course of our history. Atheistic Communism has a well designed plan for the conquest of the world.

World revolution involving the overthrow of all governments and all religions has been the goal of Communism from the beginning.

The nations of the earth have been slow in coming to the full realization of this goal of Communism. They have followed appeasement methods in the hope of avoiding the world revolutions designed in the Communist program.

The appeasement methods have proven to be a failure. The free nations of the world have at last come to realize that Communism is determined to carry forward the world revolution at any price.

The first approach of Communism is by infiltration, with the hope of reaching her goal without the force of arms. However her plans are well laid for the use of armed forces when this seems to be necessary in forwarding the world revolution.

We stand at an hour of destiny which will determine whether the free people of the earth shall remain free. Communism means enslavement and bondage of the most cruel type.

No totalitarian movement in the history of the world has shed more innocent blood than Communism. Her skirts are dripping with the blood of multiplied millions of helpless people. This is an hour when we need GOD in the titanic struggle of the ages.

The forces that be against us are mighty and in their own thinking they are invincible. But we are encouraged in the face of these mighty forces of evil in the realization that we have a great GOD that is even greater than all these forces of evil.

The only remaining hope for America is back to GOD, the GOD of our fathers who founded this nation through faith in Him.—Pentecostal Herald.

Thoughts for a Modest Man!

The man you see in the illustration above should own a Cadillac car.

His accomplishments entitle him to it. His income is ample to justify the expenditure. And he has wanted a Cadillac for a long, long time.

But he is an extremely modest man, and he feels that if he purchased a Cadillac, some of his friends might think him ostentatious.

For him, and for all people like him, we should like to record a few simple facts.

First, let us say that we recognize modesty as a basic virtue. The man who doesn't possess it to the proper degree is a bore to his friends and a joy to his enemies.

But there is nothing immodest about owning a

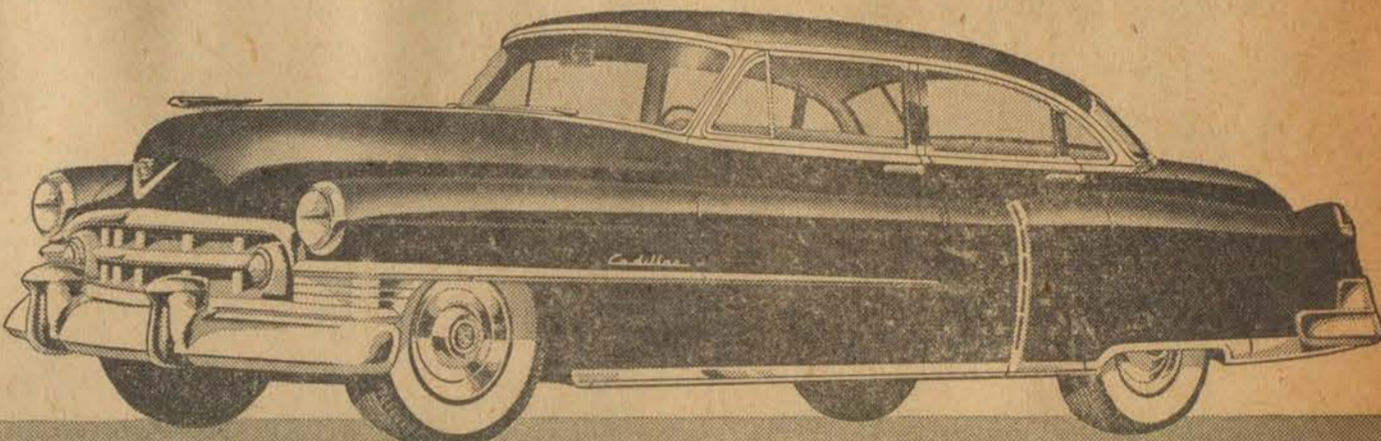

Cadillac. In fact, there are few more sensible purchases a man can make—if a Cadillac falls within his means.

Relatively, a Cadillac isn't even expensive. There are numerous models of several other makes of cars which cost more than the lower-priced Cadillacs.

Furthermore, the great Cadillac engine is so miserly of gasoline that a single tankful will usually suffice for a whole day's drive.

And when it comes to long life and endurance—well, few people drive far enough in a whole lifetime to invalidate this wonderful car.

So if you are entitled to a Cadillac, don't let modesty stand in your way. Modesty ceases to be a virtue when it deprives a man of his just reward.

Former Pastor Here, Author Of New Theological Work

An important and age-old theological question, the role of the Holy Spirit in the lives of Christians, is the subject of a new study, "This Same Jesus," just published by the Exposition Press of New York ($3.00). The author is J. Campbell Jeffries, Th.D., pastor of Hazelwood Baptist Church, Louisville, Ky., a former pastor of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church, Prestonsburg.

Dr. C. O. Johnson, president of the Baptist World Alliance, says of Dr. Jeffries' work, "The Holy Spirit has been and is now neglected as the source of power within us to effect the will of God. . . . Here is a book that deserves wide reading by pastors, church officers and church members. It will help us greatly in understanding this difficult subject."

Dr. Jeffries' thesis is that the Holy Spirit descended from Christ to His disciples at the time of His baptism, and has been transmitted throughout the ages from believer to believer.

To support this, Dr. Jeffries has systematically examined the New Testament for proof of the actual transference of Christ's Spirit to mankind, in whose heart it reigns eternally as the power and love of God. On the basis of his findings, Dr. Jeffries makes a proposal that goes far beyond the borders of formal theology. If, as Dr. Jeffries says, each living Christian is a divine vessel of the Holy Spirit, then he is faced with the grave responsibility of carrying out the will and gospel of the Saviour.

In a world sorely vexed by individual sin, international guilt, and corrosion of moral values, each man, according to Dr. Jeffries, must consider the problem of his own redemption. By showing that this redemption can only be attained through personal contact with a fellow Christian in whom the Holy Spirit is alive, Dr. Jeffries points to the need for both individual salvation and universal religious brotherhood.

The validity of Dr. Jeffries' findings is attested to by the commendation of Dr. W. O. Carver, professor emeritus of Comparative Religion and Missions of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, who says:

"Dr. Jeffries has labored in careful, scholarly fashion through the New Testament materials to arrive at his thesis that . . . the incarnation of deity in the life, ministry, death and resurrection of Jesus is continued, extended, and made continuously determinative in the divine incorporation of the Holy Spirit in believers in Jesus Christ . . ."

"The great measure of vital truth in this interpretation has had too little recognition and the Christian movement has suffered untold weakening by failure to recognize this."

Dr. Carver adds, "While I must dissociate myself from what seems to me to be limiting the presence and activity of the Holy Spirit exclusively to human instruments, Christian men and women, I feel sure that the study of this work may well serve for drawing needed attention to the indispensable place of Christians as the media of the Holy Spirit in promoting the gospel and kingdom of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ."

The Rev. J. Campbell Jeffries was born in Campbellsville, Ky. He is an alumnus of Georgetown College and of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, where he received his degrees as Master and Doctor of Theology. His wife is the former Virginia Murrell, a sister of Mrs. A. H. Spradlin, of Prestonsburg.

He has been preaching for over 19 years, and for the past four years he has served as pastor of the Hazelwood Baptist Church in Louisville.

It Is A Serious Matter

It should be said to those who write and talk for James Greene and Dr. Allen that the business of administering a school system is indeed no laughing matter nor one to be taken lightly; that going before the public as a candidate for the Board of Education or to support such candidate is a serious matter; that a policy of stop at nothing to win is neither democratic nor safe for the people.

It is a serious matter to make charges and cast aspersions and insinuations which one can not back up by fact or record, and to so freely utter promises which can not be fulfilled in an effort to win an office.

You have done a lot of criticising and a lot of talking but you have not convinced the public that you have a case. The public is entitled to ask, what would you do?

THE TIME HAS COME TO PUT UP OR . . .!

You have not yet answered the question which the public has a right to ask. Who would be your superintendent two years hence? You say, "We are not supposed to tell." We know that the law intended it that way but we know that it just isn't done that way and we know that you could let the public know if you so wished. That is a most serious matter, and the people have a right to know.

You have criticised for not employing out-of-county teachers. You have boasted of opposing the employment of an out-of-county teacher. Our policy of favoring Floyd county teachers,—things being equal or nearly equal—remains unchanged. What would you do?

You have tried to make the shifting of a very few people appear as a wholesale proposition and a bad educational policy. You know and the public knows that it is not so. Is it not probable that out of 400 teachers a few ought to be shifted? Would you make no changes, ever? If so those to whom you have promised should take notice!

You have tried to make it appear that teachers and children live in fear and dread. You should know that the people know better. It must be the guilty conscience of just the few of you speaking.

Yes, you have criticised much but what would you do? Do you have a different and better building program to offer to all the people? Could you have a better transportation system? Would you better serve the teachers? If so, how? That which you will not say publicly may not be good for the public!

Yes, Korea may be compared to Floyd county better than you think. In Korea the 38th parallel has been crossed twice. Once by the enemies of democracy in a sudden, unwarranted, vicious attack and again when the democratic forces, temporarily thrown off balance, rallied and pushed back across the line these forces with their ruthless and dangerous theory of government. The good people of Floyd county have rallied and are fast driving back toward a harmonious and business-like administration of her schools—her 38th parallel—and the victory will be won on November 7th.

Jest Among Us . . .

By Jack Wild

Leapfrogging Around Kentucky.—Once there was a race down in Hart county known as Caverna. Then a careless horse fell into a cave just off the main street and the town got a new name—Horse Cave. It's still Horse Cave but I hear that a new consolidated school between Cave City and Horse Cave is to be called Caverna School.

With a shake and a shiver I bring you this weather report: Caterpillars crossing Kentucky's highways this fall are wearing heavy fur coats, a sign, 'tis said, of a hard winter ahead . . . There's a Hipkins street in Hopkinsville . . . Folks down yonduh in Pembroke shuah do have a suthen dra-awl . . . Thought-nudging sign at Kuttawa: "The Life You Save May Be Your Own" . . . The Green river is, usually.

"See Beautiful Rock City Atop Lookout Mountain." That's the sign you see pointed in barndoor letters on barn roofs all over the South. Not very dignified, maybe, but I'll bet the big ads cause thousands of tourists to visit Chattanooga's pride. Something like that should do wonders for such wonders as Mammoth Cave, Kentucky Lake and Cumberland Falls.

Hambleton Tapp and Helen King have organized University of Kentucky alumni clubs in more than 80 Kentucky counties. Often they take along a Wildcat football or basketball film to show the old grads. Such was the case at Hindman recently, the film to be shown being of the 1949 basketball game with Illinois which Kentucky won handily, 76 to 47. As the film unwound, something seemed to have gone haywire, though, for Kentucky's sharpshooters had an awful time hitting the hoop. Then somebody discovered that the "Illinois" team really was St. Louis, one of the two teams Kentucky lost to out of 34 played that year.

Robin-early one recent morn, I spied cars from Iowa, Montana and Ontario at Kentucky Dam . . . Posted at the limits of Elizabethtown: "Where good business and good living meet" . . . Lebanon is in Marion county but Lebanon Junction is 45 miles away, in Bullitt county . . . Some Western Kentucky towns remind me of some Western Georgia towns, with their restful, deep-shaded lawns . . . Years ago there was a big tree growing right through the roof of a filling station in Erlanger, and I wonder if it still is . . . I thought I'd heard of every kind of ranch, including the monkey ranch, but near Benton there's a "worm ranch."

Girl Scouts in Rally At Pikeville Saturday; Total of 193 Register.

The annual Girl Scout rally was held in Pikeville Saturday with registration at 10 a. m., in the city park of Girl Scouts and adults from Pikeville, Elkhorn City, Wheelwright and David totaling 193.

Group singing was led by Jean Keese, of Pikeville. Then the girls were divided into the three groups, Brownies, Intermediates and Seniors, and each group conducted a model meeting. The Brownies were in charge of Mrs. Franklin Day, Pikeville, the Intermediates led by Mrs. A. H. Jopp, Pikeville, and the Seniors by Miss Ora Howard, of David. They were called together again as a group at 11:30 to hear "Queen Sally" Baker tell of her trip abroad last summer.

After lunch in the park, the Girl Scouts marched, led by the Pikeville high school band, to the high school gymnasium, where they enjoyed folk-dancing.

Troop 10 of Pikeville was awarded the prize for the most Scouts at the rally. Brownie Troop 23 and Intermediate Troop 17, both of David, tied for having the most members from the greatest distance. Troop 4 was awarded world pins for having filled the most overseas bags.

Next year, the rally will be held at David.

The TEACHER and the ADMINISTRATION

It would be difficult to decide which group has suffered most at the hands of the present administration of schools, the children, the teachers, or the taxpayer. Each of these can present long and impressive lists of grievances.

In this article, we wish to review for the public, the indignities and injustices which have been imposed upon our teachers. We speak here for teachers, some of whom dare not speak for themselves, and ask you in their behalf to vote with them against a system that humiliates and degrades teachers; that lowers their teaching morale and uses as political pawns those people who, next to the parents, do most to determine what manner of men and women our children are to be.

Our teachers are a cooperative, capable group anxious to teach in the true sense of the word. But they learned early in their teaching careers under the Halls the sad fact that to keep a job they must keep contributing cash and votes to the Hall political machine. They learned that political pull gets a job quicker than college credits; that how valuable one can be to the pupils in his classroom matters far less than how valuable one can be to the superintendent at the polls.

Very specifically let's name some of these injustices:

1. Teachers contribute cash (corn won't do) to campaign funds in the school board races. That this is true was sworn to in a number of affidavits presented to the State Board of Education; admitted by the Superintendent to a Courier-Journal reporter though he now tries to disown his own admission by saying he had only three minutes to plan what to say (one can tell the truth in three minutes) and any teacher can verify that this assessment is true. Teachers contribute upon being asked to do so by school officials because they have seen that the teacher who does not bow to every wish of the administration is made to suffer. On the other hand, they have seen that a few incompetent teachers are continually favored because they make political and financial contributions as asked.
2. Teachers spend long, costly years to qualify to teach, they take jobs that pay poorly as compared to other jobs of equal professions. Then they are asked to "kick back" a part of their already inadequate salaries to keep the Halls in office.
3. Teachers, this is not necessary. Why should you pay to keep the Halls in office? Why should you foot their election bills, help them get rich, and encourage them in their conviction that the schools of Floyd are Hall property to be used as the Halls see fit, regardless of the rights of parents, teachers or children? Such an assessment is unheard of in other states; rare in Kentucky counties. It can be stopped here. This November, vote the Halls out of control and keep your money and your job. Elect us and end the assessment of teachers in Floyd county.

2. Teachers in Floyd county are kept in a state of fear, uncertainty and worry. And not unavoidably or accidentally so. The Hall ad says "safe and sane" but their policy in dealing with their teachers has been to keep them "unsafe, insecure and uneasy."
3. From January to June, rumors and whispers and occasional threats keep teachers disturbed. Principals, teachers, office personnel, bus drivers and janitors live in a state of insecurity, unable to plan ahead, unable to rely on the fact they have done a good job or upon the assurance the community wants them back or on the teacher tenure law, for the superintendent has demonstrated how he defeats the purpose of the law "by sending teachers where they can not afford to go." Even your kinship to the Halls may not be relied upon for there may be a Hall with closer kinship than yours.
4. Oh, brother, it is rugged! Uneasy lies the head that teaches under this administration. And children are cheated by it, for who can do her best by her pupils when she worries night and day about her job.
5. The administration's dealings with the teacher tenure law has a phase other than the one mentioned above. Another way they devised to evade the protection this law is meant to give the teachers was to have the teachers sign away their rights for a continuing contract by signing a contract for one year only. This subterfuge was meant to make the teacher believe she had only a year to year contract and thus to give the superintendent close control over her.
6. This year for the first time no mention was made of contracts at the opening teachers' meeting here. Nor has any mention been made of them to date. In fact, the little rite of signing the yearly contract is conspicuously omitted. Another good result of the publicity the injustices of this administration have been receiving.
7. Administration policy that has played havoc with the morale of some of our teachers is that of forcing rural schools to consolidate by letting the buildings run down and become too dilapidated for use. Broken windows go unrepaired, roofs unrepaired. If paint is furnished, the teacher must apply it herself. Teachers sent to these "dying schools" die too in spirit. A teacher's enthusiasm can be injured beyond repair by a year of teaching in such deteriorating conditions.
8. Teachers in the county know how the superintendent has discouraged by every means possible any organization of teachers for the improvement of themselves and the schools.
9. Any unavoidable teachers' meetings are well planned before-hand. Any job-sacrificing soul who manages to bring up a matter not on the administration's agenda is hushed up by methods aforesaid.
10. Any teacher present at the Marlin meeting last winter saw there procedure that made one wonder what had become of such basic American principles as "free speech" and "the rights of individuals."
11. We hereby pledge ourselves to favor and support a teachers' union and a Floyd County Teachers Association.
12. Teachers' salaries are a justifiably sore spot. They are too little and that little comes too late. Teachers are the most important item in a school system (other than the child, of course) and should be paid accordingly. They can be better paid by eliminating waste in other parts of the budget.
13. Checks are two weeks late for no good reason. Sometimes they have been even later for the reason that the superintendent saw fit to pay the contractors with the money set aside to pay teachers' salaries.
14. There is no end to this list of grievances. Any teacher—except those who for special reasons bask in the light of administration favor—can add abuses to this list.
15. Voters of Floyd County, your teachers do not deserve such abuse. They do not deserve to work under such handicaps. They need and deserve your help. Will you not use your ballot to free your teachers of such injustices? To free them of the expense of the Hall election campaigns? To free them of worry and undeserved strain? To make it possible for the teachers to devote their minds to their only duty—that of training our children to be fine and free?
16. Teachers, we realize the difficulty of your situation. A teacher's job can be her livelihood; the loss of that job may necessitate difficult, sometimes impossible, changes. You have seen teachers demoted, get salary cuts and generally broken because they bucked administration policy. You know how workers for the administration invaded your schools with papers for you to sign saying you favor the Halls. They watched while you voted that time. But that vote didn't count and the November election is private. There will be no Hall looking over your shoulder November 7.

THE BALLOT IS SECRET—LET IT SPEAK FOR YOU!

Teachers, this is your fight. More than any other group you are responsible for how you vote, for more than any other group you know the faults of the present administration. You are educated in democracy and know that to teach democracy is your first duty in the classroom. And you know we teach more by example than by what we say.

You know which side is right in the election. Your experiences and your consciences tell you. But if you have any doubt you can take the judgment of our courts of law, both local and appellate, which decided over and over that Dr. Allen and James J. Greene were in the right and the Halls in the wrong.

Nothing you can do or say in the classroom for years to come will do as much for the children under your care as the vote you cast at this election, if it is cast to rid Floyd county of this undemocratic system which is called a School Administration.

Nothing you can do or say in the classroom for years to come can atone for the injury you do the children in your care if you vote against yourself and against our county's future by voting for the Halls.

TO THE VOTERS OF PRESTONSBURG INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT:

In accordance with a promise made you in a recent issue of this newspaper we present, herewith, various reasons why we feel that merger with the county school system is advantageous to you and your children.

But, first, let us discuss the rumor we have been hearing that the "other side" is in favor of merging, too, but conditionally. One of our opponents is reported to have made the statement that he favors merger of the high school only. Now we ask you: how can you merge only part of a system? Do you suppose he plans to just walk over to the county superintendent and say: "Here's a deed to the high school. You run it." Would you accept that? You probably would because it wouldn't cost you anything.

But can you imagine a County Board of Education using county taxes to educate the children of the City district? No. It's going to cost something. The only way we can maintain an independent district without operating a high school is to ask the county to take care of our children on a tuition basis. The tuition fee would have to be agreed upon by the County and City Boards of Education at the beginning of each school year, provided the County System had facilities for them.

You know, there is no law that would require the County Board of Education to accept our children in their own high school even if we offered to pay an exorbitant fee, if they chose to refuse them. Please remember that the County Board of Education's first obligation is to the children of the taxpayers within the county—outside the Prestonsburg district! Therefore, refusal to accept our children on a tuition basis would always be a possibility. Such a refusal would make it mandatory that the Prestonsburg Board of Education provide facilities for our children.

What would we do with them? Oh, there's a couple of extra classrooms at the elementary school and the county might sell their half of the old high school building and lot, provided the city could dig up forty or fifty thousand dollars. But, no, we don't want our children to go inside that old building any longer than absolutely necessary.

Well, you say, let's build a new high school. Bill Arnold works in a bank; they would probably let you have two hundred thousand dollars for a high school and gymnasium. Quit kiddin'. We seriously doubt, at the current tax rate, whether the Prestonsburg Board of Education could pay the interest on a bond issue large enough to construct a high school and gymnasium, even for the small high school this district will have when the county moves out. With an indebtedness of several hundred thousand dollars on the elementary school building and a budget shaved to the bone, it's hardly possible bonds could be sold for such a project.

What to do, then? Well, the county is going to build a fine high school right here in town immediately and promises a gymnasium in the very near future. Why not take advantage of this and merge the local district with the county district so that our children will become an obligation of the county scholastically and we, as voters in the county district, will have a voice in the administration of county school affairs?

We also hear that certain of our opponents favor merger if the right side wins in the county election. Can you imagine that! We think that Floyd county has a better school system than our own! We also think that Floyd county will continue to have a good school system—equal or superior to our own. Well, then, there must be a reason for such statements. Frankly, we can't imagine what that reason might be, unless—oh, no, it couldn't be that a nepotic empire is tottering. We are perfectly willing to place the fate of teacher-friends and relatives in the hands of a county administration. Honestly, we can see no good teacher or employe losing his or her job in a merger of districts. We know there are many fine teachers in the city schools that the county would be anxious to retain.

Let's consider the athletic program: football, basketball and baseball would naturally be de-emphasized if the city operated its own high school. We could not expect such fine teams as in the past with an enrollment of approximately 150 students. As a rule, good teams come from large student bodies. And we have been accustomed to seeing good teams in all branches of athletics placed in the field. We believe that continued prosperity in sports would not be possible in so small an enrollment. You know the boys in high school like to win. Let's do our part by voting to merge the two districts and keep a large student body from which our coaches can field teams in all events that we oldsters will be proud of. A son does not ask, "How was I tonight, Pop?" when his team has been licked.

Voters, we ask you to think this thing out to the end and make your decision as to whether you wish merger. We have made up our minds it is the only solution to a mess and offer you our candidacy on this one promise: that we will vote merger with the county district regardless of whether there is a change in the county administration. We know our scholastic standards will not be worse and honestly think they will be better in the larger system. We ask that each of you take a half hour off from your daily activities and in the quiet of your home discuss this matter with your family and come to a decision. We also ask that you keep out of thinking these factors: kinship, friendship, social standing, etc. Shouldn't you think only of your child? We have done that. For this reason only we are offering you this opportunity to vote for us. Our only ambition is the best possible for all the children.

Please think it over studiously. We have no great campaign force to high pressure you into voting for us. We are appealing to your better judgment. Vote your will; let no man alter your honest conviction. And on November 7th go to your voting place and vote that conviction.

LEM SEZ TO TIM

"Thers Race Hosses atter Doc and Jimmy"

Lem wuz plum out uv breath. He had walked fast gettin to Tim's house.

"Howdy, Tim," sez Lem; "Howdy, Lem," sez Tim.

"Where ye goin in such a hurry, Lem," sez Tim.

"I'm riled up about the school race. You remember, Tim," sez Lem, "Me an you helped lect doc and jimmy on the schul bord four years ago, cause they wuz runnin fer the Hall boys. Then they went agin the Hall boys, an laid down on us too, after we lected em fer the Hall boys. Now I see in the paper doc an jimmy ar runnin again tryin to kick the Hall boys out, an put turner in the offic."

"What you ar a sayin is the gospel truth, Lem," sez Tim. "ar they anybody runnin agin doc an jimmy fer the schul bord this time?" sez Tim.

"Yep, they ar, tim," sez Lem. "Bill Malone is runnin agin doc and Estill Howell is agin jimmy. I tell ye, Tim, thers race hosses atter doc an jimmy. this time. Besides, we can depend on Bill and Estill standin up to their word, too. They wont lay down on us like doc an jimmy did."

"I wonder what made doc an jimmy go back on the Hall boys, and us fellers that lected em, Lem," sez Tim.

"Well, Tim," sez Lem, "if youd think arry bit, you could see thru the hole thang, jimmy wanted the Hall Boys to line up fer his man in the cleark race last year, cause they say jimmy wuz to git sum uv the clearks offic if his man wuz lected. The Hall boys wouldnt line up, cause tha didnt want to take sides in the clearks race amung friends. Then jimmy got sore at the hall boys and kicked plum outen the gears, doc, hes offul hard headed, an i gess he went off with jimmy cause they couldn run the hole thang."

"Lem, thats shore the bullet hole," sez Tim. "jimmys neace is workin in Palmer's offic, an doc's boy is too, so it pears like doc an jimmy ort to been satisfide, an stood up, specially atter we lected em fer the Hall boys."

"An another thang, Tim," sez Lem, "me an you ar taxpayers, an the schul lands ar fer our youngins to play at recess. Now they tell me jimmy got doc to help him put it over the supertendent an deed a peace of the schul ground at Bonanza to jimmys church fer a church house. I'm not agin church houses, Tim, no siree, but doc an jimmy done wrong in deedin the youngins playground away. Thays a lot uv my people mad over this, Tim, cause the schule bord is supposed to represent the youngins instead of deedin their playgrounds away from em."

"Now Lem," sez Tim, "fellers like me an you ar the salt uv the earth. We're pore folks, but we're onest. Our blood gits hot over our youngins. We've got to lect Bill an Estill on the schul bord again doc an jimmy. The supertendent is tryin to bild a big high schul at Prestonsburg fer ar kids, an he needs men on the bord that'll stand up fer the right thang. THE HALL BOYS HAV DUN MORE FER THE SCHULS THAN WUZ EVER DUN SINCE THE INJUNS HAD THIS COUNTRY."

"you're shore r'ie, Tim," sez Lem. "The Hall boys hav been safe fer us. We can see what ar schul money went fer rite before our eyes, plain as the noze on ar face. Wunder who doc an jimmy ar runnin fer supertendent this time?"

"Well, Lem," sez Tim, "Its this way. Down in the lower ind some say frazer. They say frazer figgers he can git Jack to help him git the pintment from the state bord. Up in Maytown they say its Turner, and around Martin that say sallsberry. Turner is their main man, I gess. Now, Lem, that feller Turner is a radicle sort of feller. Sallsberry is not much uv a schul man either, so I'm told. He lives in the county's house right behind the Martin Schul. It cost us taxpayers over $200 to put in winder glass at Martin before schul started and sallsberry livin right behind the schul house. I believe it wuz 250 winder g'ass broke out. I dont want my kids under them fellers, Lem, do you?"

"No, Tim, they wouldnt be safe like the Hall boys. A hole lot uv fellers at Maytown an Martin, dont want Turner an sallsberry fer princibles; an if I wuz Bill an Estill I would put in new princibles at Maytown an Martin atter I got lected. A schul princible ort to look atter his school, an not be runnin around tryin to git sum other fellers job. Palmer tried to put in new princibles at Maytown an Martin this year; but doc an jimmy wouldnt let it go thru. Ar ye follerin me Tim?" sez Lem.

"I'm way head uv ye, Lem," sez Tim. "Now, let me tell ye! You go see Joe an John, and Amos an Lee an Sherman an grace, an all the other fellers, an their wives; and I'll go see bennie an gene an ann an florence an george an johnie, an all them fellers up ther, an we'll turn on the heat fer Bill an Estill. We can roll the wheals thru a grate big mud hole when we git riled up over ar younguns. We are agreed 200 per cents on the schul race agin—100 fer Bill an 100 fer Estill, agin doc an jimmy."

"Bill an Estill ar reel race hosses Tim," sez Lem. "doc and jimmy ar shore runnin in plowed ground this time. Doc Osborne an Stratton ar standin up good on the bord fer Palmer, an we jist need ONE MORE GOOD MAN, but we'll lect Bill an Estill both, easy. That'll straiten out the schule mess doc an jimmy has got us in. See ye tomor nite an report, Tim," sez Lem.

IN MEMORY OF DEWEY GOODMAN

My husband dear was working hard. To earn his family's bread. A few hours later, He was numbered with the dead. A neglected power line was What caused his fate. Oh, God, why didn't they cut the right-of-way. Before it was too late.

His little babes, they call for him. But they call in vain. For he is gone to the great beyond To never come home again.

Oh, God, I'll never forget the pitiful scene. On the hillside upon that fatal day I just couldn't think God had taken him away.

For less than a week before God called my mother dear And the thoughts ran through my mind. How much more can I bear?

But as they lowered him in the grave And I had to bid him farewell— Oh, God how my broken heart ached. No human tongue can tell.

CORPORAL VANDERPOOL SERVING IN KOREA

Cpl. Paul Vanderpool, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Vanderpool, Garrett, traveled over 300 miles of Korean rice paddies and dusty roads in the recent 7th Infantry Division drive that cut off elements of several Red divisions. His division is now hunting out and destroying isolated pockets of enemy resistance south-east of Seoul, Korea.

Vanderpool's division raced from the Inchon beachhead to cut the Seoul-Suwon highway and disrupt the supplies to Red troops fighting in the south. They went on to capture, in a daring raid, the walled city of Suwon and its strategically important airport. The unit then swung north, crossed the Han river in amphibious vehicles, took mountain heights above the capital city and joined the Marines in the bitter street fighting that drove the Reds from Seoul.

Vanderpool and his buddies are credited with killing 3,889 Reds, taking 1,656 prisoners and capturing, intact, an estimated 4,940 tons of enemy equipment.

Farm NEWS and VIEWS

By HAROLD B. RICE
Floyd County Agent

Here we go into the second edition of this column, and the subject is still chickens. Last week, the subject was laying houses, and this week it will be laying flock management.

Good equipment and good stock will not do it all! You must give them the care they need. You should supply one foot of feeder space for each four hens. Set the feeders on the floor, just high enough that that litter won't be scratched into them. Metal feeders are easier to keep clean and usually save enough feed the first year to pay for them.

The "cafeteria system" of feeding is easy and effective. You should put the mash, grain and oyster shells in separate hoppers and let the hens eat all they want. Use a good laying mash containing at least 20 percent protein. For grain, feed corn, wheat, and oats, either mixed or fed separately. Add fresh mash daily. Always stir the mash in the hopper when going through the henhouse. Keep the feed in a lighted area with the end of the hopper toward the light. The idea is to make your chickens eat more. Moist mash or pellets may be fed to increase feed consumption.

Water is one of the most important, cheapest, and most neglected feeds for chickens. An egg is two-thirds water, and heavy egg production cannot be maintained without an abundant supply of fresh, clear, clean water. Notice that I said "fresh, clear, clean water"—like you drink yourself. If you use "pills" to purify your drinking water, use them for your chickens' water. If you don't, then don't force your chickens to drink the stuff. Chickens will drink more water when it is clear and clean.

The number of eggs a hen lays depends largely on the amount of food she consumes. To make your chickens eat more, you can put lights in your henhouse to lengthen their working day. Use one 40-watt bulb for each 200 square feet of floor space. For morning lighting, turn the lights on early enough to provide a 12 to 14-hour working day. If you want to leave the lights on all night, use 15-watt bulbs. Either is successful. If you once start using lights, don't quit until spring.

High production from your flock is necessary for good profits. Cull all slow-growing pullets when the flock is housed. Cull all hens as they go out of production. Don't keep roosters because they will cut your profits.

Several poultry culling demonstrations will be held this fall. The time and place will be announced in this column. Try to attend the culling demonstration in your community and learn to cull chickens.

Mrs. Phyllis Goff, 1902 Park Ave., Indianapolis, Indiana, is now able to go about her housework in less than it takes to talk about it. That is, of course, since Mrs. Goff has been taking wonderful HADACOL. Mrs. Goff had been suffering from a deficiency of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin, and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

Now full of pep and energy, Mrs. Goff is able to give this fine statement: "It's pretty bad when you are in a run-down condition when you are only 32. That includes headaches, loss of sleep. . . I was also terribly nervous all the time. Then I heard about the wonderful results other folks were getting from HADACOL. After taking a few bottles my nerves were calmed. I got a good night's sleep, and I gained five pounds. I think HADACOL is wonderful. I recommend it to all my friends."

This is another one of the statements the fine folks who have been taking HADACOL gave us. Yes, there are thousands and thousands of people all over the country who are getting blessed relief from wonderful HADACOL when they needed Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron, and Niacin.

Let HADACOL Help You . . . if you are suffering from stomach distress, nervousness, insomnia, constipation, aches and pains of neuritis, or a general run-down condition, caused by such deficiencies. Remember, it will cost you nothing if HADACOL doesn't help you. Buy either the trial size for $1.25 or the large family or hospital size for $3.50 and if you are not completely satisfied—return the bottle and your money will be refunded.

W. K. Steel, of Harold, Chosen Annual Co-Editor At Pikeville College

W. K. Steele, Jr., Harold, has been chosen one of the co-editors of The Highlander, the Pikeville Junior College student yearbook, President A. A. Page of the school announced this week. The other co-editor is Dorothy Walker, Pikeville.

Three members of the staff of 14 which will produce this year's Highlander are Floyd countians. Seven are from Pike county, and one each from Letcher and Martin counties, Virginia and the Republic of Cuba.

Steele, the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Steele, is a graduate of Betsy Layne high school, where he was active in the work of the Future Farmers of America, the announcement said.

Mary Auxier Ford, a Prestonsburg high school graduate, is art editor of The Highlander. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gwynne W. Ford, Prestonsburg, she is one of two students in the college whose parents are alumni of the school.

C. E. Petry, G.I. student from Garrett, is a snapshot editor of the yearbook. A graduate of Garrett high school, he saw one year of service with the U.S. army in 1945, after working as a theatre projectionist for two years. He is enrolled in the pre-medical course at Pikeville. All three Floyd county students are sophomores.

Faculty advisers for the student publication are Miss Stella Elkins, Frederick H. Corum and Leroy G. Dorsey.

Dodger Mound Prospect Visits Floyd-Co. Relatives; Had 21-11 Record for '50

Regarded by baseball men as only a season or two away from the majors is big Ed Moore, Jr., Floyd county native and former Catlettsburg mound star, who during the past season compiled a 21-11 pitching record with Jamestown, N.Y., of the Pony league, and Ft. Worth of the Texas league.

The 20-year-old righthander is the property of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and if Uncle Sam doesn't interrupt his baseball career he is expected to be in the uniform of the parent club within another year. He moved up to Ft. Worth, the last month of the 1950 season. Moore stands 6 feet, 3 inches.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Moore, Sr., of Natchitoches, La., former residents of Eastern and Allen in this county. He visited relatives here and on Beaver Creek this week.

NO FAVORS
MONTGOMERY, Ala.—Here's one fellow who said the Alabama Parole Board didn't do him any favors. J. D. Rhodes, 65, knocked on Kilby prison's door recently and asked for his old cell back. Prison Director Frank Boswell gave it to him. Rhodes had been paroled from a life sentence on a murder conviction. Boswell said the convict, because of his age, probably couldn't readjust himself to civilian life.

Time to get

out of your Buick!

THERE'S a change of the year for your Buick, too, stalwart as it is! Hot summer driving has taken its toll—in played-out lubricants, spark timing that may have slipped off a notch or two over the many miles, a carburetor that would probably give you better mileage and snag if it were properly adjusted now for fall driving.

Point is—your Buick will feel a lot friskier in the trying days to come if you let your Buick dealer get those summer kinks out of its system now! Just drive in—say you want (1) a fall tune-up and (2) a regular Lubricare—and see how much rewarded you are, for a small fee!

Do it this week, will you? Before the rush, you can be served more promptly.

From Arkansas, Texas and New York
They Speak for Perkins

But Why Nothing From Folks Who Count?

We are impressed by these high-sounding radio speeches and letters of commendation from Arkansas, Texas and New York in behalf of Carl D. Perkins—for one reason only.

They impress on us the lack of commendation from the one section in the world which means most to us—the Seventh district of Kentucky, the Big Sandy, Licking and Kentucky river valleys.

Has anybody from the Big Sandy region written one word to commend the Congressman for valiant effort in behalf of Canalization, the one thing on which the economic future of this section depends? No!

It would be interesting for the people to know, really know, how deep was the disgust last year of Mr. Perkins' own friends, staunch Democrats, upon his failure to come boldly forward and lead the fight for river canalization. It is perhaps unfortunate that some of the expressions made off the record and privately by Democrats interested in this great movement after they had been to Washington and seen for themselves how and wherein he failed, were not available to the public. As loyal party men, many of these now are urging his re-election. Back then, they were deeply disappointed, and they were bitter about it.

Now they tell you that, if Dr. Thompson were elected, he could do nothing because he is not a member of the party in power. This is a fallacy which can easily be disproved. In the first place, all know that other sections of the country represented by Republicans are getting more than this section. Secondly, they say Republicans formed a large part of the opposition to canalization. Then don't you think Dr. Thompson, a Republican, unafraid to speak his mind, devoted heart and soul to canalization, could influence this opposition to change and go along with him in a cause which not only is right but vital to the country as well as to one of its most important fuel-producing regions?

Distant music they play from Arkansas and Texas and New York. But for us who face the facts of economic life or death, the music we would prefer is a stirring march originating right here in these hills—a march led by a vigorous leader, one which would rise in crescendo to a victory paean in climax to the long years of fighting for what our people greatly, urgently need.

Start that march on Nov. 7 with a surge of votes for the one man among us all who has given a large part of his life and much of his fortune to the cause of river canalization and the richer future it promises us.

THIS MAN, YOU ALL KNOW, IS

Dr. O. W. THOMPSON
