

BIG BUST
The A-bomb explosion Tuesday was a big one, but locally the TV-cast was the big bust of the show.

TIRESOME VIRGIL
Friend of mine averred, the other day, he hadn't been so tired since as a kid he spent an hour watching a tumblebug trying to trundle his load uphill. If he hasn't already delved into the matter, perhaps Allan Trout would explain why these critters insist on traveling the hard way.

ROOTS FOR MOSES
I don't know why I repeat this story told, the other day, by Tolbert Combs, of Hazard. Perhaps such things have a fatal attraction for me, like the flame for the moth. Anyway, it has to do with a fellow who, determined to become a preacher, took his text on the Ten Commandments for his very first sermon. He got along pretty well till he came to the part which runs, "Moses wrote the Ten Commandment on stone." Here he was seized, stem and stern, by a severe case of stage fright. He stared at the congregation, and the congregation stared right back. His eyes locked on him; he could look neither up nor down. His tongue refused to work.

Finally rousing himself to desperate effort he broke the silence with the shout: "Stay with 'em, Moses!"

OVER THE HILLS AND FAR AWAY

The guy who said or wrote, "Distant pastures are always greenest" wotted what he spoke of, I somewhat ruefully admit. For instance: Last week, after looking at Dewey Lake till I got mud in my eye, I couldn't take it any longer. Neither could five other Neds. So to Lake Norris we did go.

And while we were there the boys over at dear, old Dewey were dragging 'em out of the mud, it was a caution. Working gobs dragging Lazy Ikes landed the poor fish, if you follow me. One bass weighed five and a half pounds, no less. Others were of generous proportions. I refer to bass.

Meanwhile, over on the sky-blue waters of Norris all six of us were catching 24 "keepers" and six severe cases of sunburn. One member of the gang declared his nose had suffered third-degree burns. Unguentine was on our preferred list, along with pork and beans and vienna.

FLOOD BOOSTS NEED FOR AID

Added Fund Is Sought Through Floyd Churches; County Short of Goal

That Floyd county may take a direct part in the relief of the Food-stricken in the Missouri valley, the National Red Cross has asked Floyd Chapter to raise $490 in addition to its original quota for the annual drive now in progress.

That amount, Red Cross workers hope, will be raised quickly, and the help of churches has been enlisted in soliciting this part of the fund.

It is estimated that 130,000 persons have been hit by the flood which swept the mid-west, and these are turning to the Red Cross for disaster care. Miss Ella Noel White, executive secretary of Floyd Chapter, expects to leave next month for the food area. The destruction of this year's flood is much greater, it was said, than that of 1937.

Floyd Chapter is still $4,000 shy of its goal.

WOMAN SUES FOR $25,000

Mrs. Conn Names Two In Damage Case Here Following Collision

For the mental anguish and physical injuries she suffered as a result of an auto collision at Harold, Virginia Conn last Thursday filed suit in the Floyd circuit court asking $25,000 damages of M. B. Hale, owner of the car which was blamed for the wreck, and Ralph Hamilton, its driver.

The wreck took place Jan. 19 as Mrs. Conn was traveling toward Pikeville in the auto of Ted Stratton which was driven by Jim Conn. Her petition, filed by the law firm of Tackett & Tackett, says Stratton was being taken to Pikeville for medical treatment.

The petition alleges the Hale car was being driven at high speed down river, meeting Stratton's car, when it suddenly and without warning cut to the left into the path of the other auto. As a result of the wreck, plaintiff contends, her baby was born prematurely, dying 17 hours later.

Medical fees of $500 are claimed in addition to damages.

PAGEANT CAST TO REHEARSE

Improvement Plans Told as May 4 Date For Enactment Near

A full-dress rehearsal of the Passion Play to be presented near Martin, Sunday, May 4, will be held next Sunday, it was announced this week along with plans for improvements in the presentation.

Central stage of the pageant enactment will be moved to the foot of the hill, so that all may see, and the first 16 scenes will be staged at that location. After the intermission, the audience will turn and face the hill for remaining scenes on stages sufficiently high for a clear field of vision.

At least four public address systems will be placed in use for the May 4 presentation to enable the gathering to hear the lines of the actors. Better parking facilities also are being arranged by an American Legion committee headed by Denzil Halbert.

As the pageant assumed larger proportions in future plans a board of directors was named. Active members and the group each represents follow:

Bill Reynolds, Jr., Christian Sunday School; Dr. W. H. Mahood, Methodist Sunday School; Mason Moore, Baptist Sunday School; Mrs. Ollie May, Freewill Baptist Sunday School; Miss Blanche Dingus, Mormon Sunday School; Denzil Halbert, American Legion; Mrs. E. P. Grigsby, Women's Auxiliary, American Legion; Mrs. Joe Allen, Home Economics Club; Mrs. Wm. Stinnette, Woman's Club; Mrs. E. R. May, author of the script.

Honorary members of the board are Mayor E. P. Grigsby, of Martin, James Salisbury, Martin school principal, and Mrs. Amanda Dingus, owner of the grounds where the pageant will be staged.

Mayor Grigsby, his wife and their son, Pete, Jr., will appear on a WLSI radio program Sunday at 4:45 to publicize the pageant.

ASK CLEAN-UP ON NEW FRONT

Taxi Stands Assailed As Students Present Case To City Council

Prestonsburg's clean-up drive, slated to begin May 1 and continue through the month, took on a new aspect this week as a sizeable delegation of pupils from Prestonsburg's schools called on the City Council for a clean-up on the social level.

Through their spokesman, Franklin D. Conley, Kentucky Youth Governor, they complained to Council that parking of taxicabs near the corner of Lake Drive (Mayo Trail) and Court streets had on occasion subjected girl students to objectionable remarks from men. They asked that parking be restricted, and the Council enacted an ordinance prohibiting parking on either side of Lake Drive for a distance of 200 feet north and south of the traffic light at the Court street intersection.

The students also remonstrated against "Loafer's Corner" where, it was claimed, girls had been insulted or pestered by persons sitting on stone walls at either side of Court street at the intersection with Arnold (Second) avenue. Council members explained that this is private property and that nothing can be done to eliminate loafing there unless the property-owners cooperate. They suggested to the students that girls pestered by loafers will get prompt action by calling a policeman.

The student delegation expressed a desire to cooperate with the Council and city officials in the clean-up

UMW RALLIES TO SUPPORT OF PERKINS

Public Officials Join Mineworkers in Pledge To Back Congressman

The UMW rally at Prestonsburg Saturday of last week in support of Carl D. Perkins for Congress was marked by the great number of speakers and the unanimity of support they were tendering the present Congressman. More than a score of speakers, chiefly public officials of counties in the Seventh district, endorsed Perkins, while numerous others were introduced to merely say a few words in agreement.

The meeting, presided over by Carson Hibbits, UMW representative of Pikeville, appointed a committee to consider the matter of endorsement and the committee, under the chairmanship of Ex-Circuit Judge E. D. Stephenson, of Pikeville, retired to the office of W. W. Cooley, circuit court clerk, for deliberation. Their written report pointed out Congressman Perkins' record of "legislation for the benefit of the United Mine Workers, veterans, farmers, teachers and business men" and went on to tender their endorsement. Members of the committee, besides the chairman, were DuRan Moore, clerk of Floyd county; Charles Wright, mine worker representative; Mrs. Beulah Arnett, teacher of Magoffin county; Ruby Watts, sheriff of Knott county; Frank Crum, business man of Inez; Sam Landon, of Perry county; Charley Kizer, mine worker representative, Williamson, W. Va.; Scott Wallen, of Wheelwright; Ed Reynolds, Perry county; James Cavins, David; Joe Hicks, Wayland; Henry Hale, Floyd county state representative; Alvin Turner, Jackson, Ky.; Alice Harris, Prestonsburg.

SHOE BOXES MAKE TRACKS

Leading Officers Seeking Looters of Harold Store; Goods Worth $350 Found

Approximately $350 worth of merchandise stolen from Gene Hale's store at Harold Sunday night was recovered the following day from a deserted house, a mile away, by Commonwealth's Detective Alex L. Davidson and Deputy Sheriffs Frank Parsons and John Hopson. Identity of the burglars had not been established Tuesday.

Entrance to the store, one of the largest in the upper section of the county, was gained by smashing a plate glass. One of the looters was cut, blood smeared at the scene indicated.

Leaving the store and walking down the railroad from Harold, Davidson and Parsons found a shoe box, which was identified as having been taken from the store. Farther along, under a bridge, they found another box. So they decided to have a look inside the nearby untenanted house.

From the grate they raked charged bits of tags from shirts, and upstairs they found the loot—shoes, shirts, cigarettes and other items. That night, watch on the house was maintained in the belief the burglars would return for the stolen goods, but the vigil was in vain.

Two men have been arrested by State Police Detective J. E. Combs in connection with a break into the Central Elkhorn Coal Company Store at Porter, near Lackey. It was reported last week. The two, Bill Stewart and Forrest Sturgill, are accused of taking groceries, shoes and other wearing apparel from the store after removing the glass from a front window to effect entrance.

Regional Executive To Attend Function

One of the guests of honor at the annual Boy Scout Appreciation Dinner to be held at Hazard, Monday evening, will be Robert Billington, regional Scout executive for Region 4, Boy Scouts of America. Lonesome Pine Council is the first Council in the region he has had an opportunity to visit since accepting the position as regional executive. The region includes 43 counties in Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia. He is recognized as one of the most able administrators in the profession and has served as executive in San Angelo, Texas, Oklahoma City, Okla., and Minneapolis, Minn. Principal speaker will be Dr. Elbert K. Pretwell, Chief Scout for the Boy Scouts of America.

Hall Accepts Life Pen Sentence

Mrs. Polly Tackett, 70, Victim at Hunter Home

Mrs. Polly Meade Tackett, 70 years old, widow of Dick Tackett, died last Thursday at her home at Hunter, victim of a heart attack.

A daughter of the late George and Jane Yates Meade, she was a native of this county where she had many relatives and friends. Surviving her are five sons and three daughters, Bum Tackett, Inez, Borden Tackett, Betsy Layne, Wheeler and Nelson Tackett, both of Hunter, Richard Tackett, of Virgie, Mrs. Flora Conn, Landa and Mary Tackett, all of Hunter. She also leaves a half-brother, Fred Parsons, of Honaker.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday from the school at Hunter by the Rev. T. F. Mcade, and burial was made in the Salisbury cemetery, the Hall Brothers Funeral Home directing.

HENRY TRIAL SET JUNE 5

$30,000 Robbery Case Continued; Hibbins Trial Set Friday

Another major case was removed from the current circuit court docket here this week as the armed robbery trial of Willis Clay Henry, Mt. Sterling man, was continued till June 5.

The postponement was granted when it was shown that one of Henry's attorneys, John Young Brown, of Lexington, could not be here today (Thursday), to which date the trial had been moved ahead of its original schedule.

Henry's bonds on three counts, which included armed robbery, unlawful imprisonment and grand larceny, totaled $24,000. The Times incorrectly reported this sum last week as $42,000.

One of the major cases left on the docket for trial at this court session is that of Wesley Hibbins, charged with murder in the shotgun slaying at Betsy Layne of his uncle, Fuller Thompson. It is slated for trial, Friday of this week.

Trial of Calvin Lewis and Russell Gunnell in the shooting and wounding and robbery of Wayne Scalf, Mare Creek merchant, is docketed for next Monday, and the murder trial of White Smallwood in the slaying of 15-year-old Helen Johnson at Bevinville is set down for May 1.

Latest of several convictions preceding the guilty plea of John Smith Hall was that of Claude Johnson, who was given a two-year pen term Wednesday for assault and battery on the person of Gomer Little, Little, who was badly beaten by Johnson, later shot and wounded his assailant's father and brother.

Dexter Hamilton, who pleaded guilty Wednesday to a charge of tampering with an auto and who was fined $50, was jailed this week on a charge of destroying public property. He and two others of the Ligon vicinity are accused of burning out the clutch of a county-owned loader.

Will Smith, negro, was given a 10-year term on his second murder trial Monday. In an earlier trial he was sentenced to 21 years but won

Hindman Prepares for Observance Of School's 50th Anniversary

The little town of Hindman is the busiest place in Eastern Kentucky these days. The townsfolk have gone all out in preparation for a week's celebration which will be held there from May 4 through May 9, the occasion which will mark the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Hindman Settlement School.

Although the entire week will be given in celebration, highlight of the activities will be the presentation of a pageant. The production will be staged May 8 at 7 p. m., (CST) on the school's campus.

The play was written by Mrs. Thomas Yakkub, a graduate of the school and a great-granddaughter of Solomon Everidge, the Knott countyman who was largely responsible for the establishment of the school.

The director of the pageant, Mrs. Edward Nauss, arrived in Hindman from her home in Chapel Hill, N.C., and she has had rehearsals under

DEPARTMENT RULE IS CITED

For Dewey Lake Boaters; Reckless Boat Operation Would Force Speed Limit

The "good behavior" rule in effect last year at Dewey Lake still prevails, and failure of the public to abide by the unwritten rules of sportsmanship, consideration of others and safe conduct on the lake will result in a strict speed limit being fixed, it was pointed out this week.

Last year, after the six-mile-an-hour speed limit was lifted, two boaters were drowned in the lake, and the drowning of a third man in a car wreck soon thereafter. These three tragedies and recklessness of some boat operators appalled the public, and unsafe handling of boats was bitterly protested.

The U.S. Corps of Engineers considered replacing the speed limit, but finally decided to give the public a chance, pointing out that boat operation without definite restrictions depended on those operating boats within the reservoir.

A definite improvement in the conduct of boaters was noted, and continued obedience to the unwritten "sanity code" will remove the need of restrictions, it was said.

Officers Nab Three Fishing by Night; Fines Total $81

A look into the activities of night fishermen Monday by Conservation Officer Bernard Baldrige resulted in the arrest of three men, each of whom was fined $27. Those arrested and charged filed against each:

Virgil Hall, Price, fishing without license; Solmie Holbrook, Garrett, and Bill Osborne, Hueysville, gill-fishing.

Baldrige said he and Deputy Sheriff Al Patton checked 28 gillfishermen during the night and that they had a total of 60 suckers ranged from 11 to 1 inches in length.

Nominate Floyd-Co. Woman For Distinguished Award

A woman who came by Model-T Ford from California to Floyd county by 23 years ago and rode horseback in the early days of public health work here to reach isolated communities, and whose pioneer work in the fight on tuberculosis is now being watched by health authorities throughout Kentucky is being honored "in her own country."

Five clubs of the county already have nominated the nurse, Mrs. Regina B. Mayo, wife of J. D. Mayo, of Prestonsburg, for the Kentucky Award for Distinguished Service. Similar recognition by other groups is expected.

She has been nominated for the award, which is made annually to the Kentuckian whose community service is adjudged the state's finest, by the Prestonsburg and Drift Women's Clubs, the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club, the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church here and the Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club.

Singing of Favorite Hymn Led to Child-Beating Probe

The beatings inflicted either by her stepfather or mother on little Josephine Tuza, of the Lee Hall Hollow of Wheelwright, would in all probability have been repeated again and again if her teacher and schoolmates had not sung, the morning of April 8, that favorite of the schoolroom, "Jesus Loves Me."

As they sang they looked across the little table of the bruised and blackened child. "I was looking at her across the table and I told the children I could not sing anymore," said Mrs. Luther Reedy. With the tears her reluctance to take action in the case vanished, and she called others of the faculty, thus starting a chain of events that led to what the grand jury charged against Frank and Maggie Hook as "striking and wounding with a deadly weapon."

Thus developed the story of the child-beating case in circuit court testimony, Saturday.

Josephine, age 6, sat during the trial of the stepfather, between Commonwealth Attorney Burnis Martin and Mrs. Clyde Spurlock, who for the present, at the direction of Judge Henry Stumbo, stood in the position of "in loco parentis." The child, in a light blue dress, stared unsmiling across at her mother and "half-daddy" flanked by Attornies Hersell Tackett and Paul E. Hayes. Mrs. Hooks rarely lifted her eyes to the child.

As the prospective jurors were questioned it developed that the state was not highly critical of the venemore but the defense asked all of them, individually, if they had read The Floyd County Times. If the answer was in the affirmative, Attorney Tackett wanted to know if an article in a recent issue would influence their impartial judgment.

All attempts by the Commonwealth to qualify the child as a witness failed. Judge Edward P. Hill came down from the bench and questioned her. To him she either shook or nodded her head, only occasionally speaking in a low voice. She did not go to church or Sunday school but did go to school. She was in the first grade. She did not know the penalties of perjury or anything about heaven. When sworn she lifted both hands, one holding a white handkerchief.

Later in the trial, Hill admonished the jury, due to the child's age, not to consider any evidence that she might offer detrimental to the defendant. Frank Hooks, who was being tried separately.

The teacher-witnesses were unanimous that the child had stated to them that Frank whipped her with a belt with a buckle on the end, but to this Josephine's evidence had not agreed. She testified in answers to interrogation that "my mamma" whipped her. The Commonwealth tried to offset this by introducing County Judge Henry Stumbo and Commonwealth Detective Alex L. Davidson who testified to previous statements of the child that Frank had also beat her.

Dr. Russell Hall said that the child was brought to him by the

GRAND JURORS RESUME WORK

To Conclude Session Saturday; New Bills Reported Last Week

The grand jury of the Floyd circuit court returned today (Thursday) to pick up work through remainder of the week after its adjournment. It returned for one day last week to make a report on a dozen new indictments voted before adjournment.

Among these was a new bill against John Smith Hall, Mae Hall and William J. Adkins for unlawful imprisonment. Hall's plea of guilty resulted Wednesday in dismissal of the indictment against his wife and Adkins.

Another bill accused Frank and Maggie Hooks of striking and wounding Mrs. Hooks' six-year-old daughter. Hooks was given trial Saturday and the jury failed to agree. Trial of Mrs. Hooks was continued till the September court term.

Other major indictments reported by the grand jury last week: Lark Hunt, obstructing justice; Denver Coburn, Ed Hall and Billy Skeans, tampering with a vehicle; Dester Hamilton, same charge; Andy Lee Tackett, forgery; Minnie Fields, adultery; Phillip Carr, selling mortgaged property; Eva Hall, false swearing; John Branham, possessing liquor for the purpose of sale (second offense).

MARTIN BEGINS FLUORIDE USE

Is First Community In Big Sandy To Add Tooth Preservative

First fluorination of the water supply of the town of Martin was made last Thursday as equipment installed for use of this new preventive against tooth decay was put into operation.

Martin thus became the first town in the Big Sandy valley to use fluoride in its drinking water.

Cost of equipment installed for treatment of the water was approximately $500, Mayor E. P. Grigsby, of Martin, said. The water supply there can be adequately treated at a cost of 14 cents per water meter a year. The municipally owned waterworks has 375 meters in operation, it was said.

Main item of the new equipment put into use is a pump which mixes the fluoride, then forces the treated water directly into the water mains. The chemical in dust form is now being used but will later be supplied by liquid, it was said. The fluoride is carefully weighed and mixed according to an established and proven formula, it was explained.

Fluoride has been widely acclaimed as a preventive to tooth troubles, particularly with young children.

Operator of the plant has been

MAN ACCUSED BY GIRL ASKS WIFE BE FREE

Indictments Dismissed Against Hall, 2 Others Could Be Raised Again

What promised to be one of the most sensational criminal trials ever held in the Floyd circuit court was forestalled Wednesday morning, day before the date set for the hearing, when John Smith Hall, Branham's Creek farmer, entered a plea of guilty to an indictment charging him under the Habitual Criminal Act and accepted a life term in the penitentiary.

Without legal representation the gaunt man, who became notorious through allegations of Allifair Shoffer that he repeatedly raped her, beat her unmercifully and held her prisoner, entered his plea on his birthday.

Before formally pleading guilty to the charge, Hall burst into tears while conferring with Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill and Commonwealth's Attorney Burnis Martin in a jury room.

"I want a life sentence," he told the two court officials, "so I'll have a chance to come back home and die."

He pleaded for his wife, May, and her son by a previous marriage, William J. Adkins, who were charged jointly with him in an indictment alleging unlawful imprisonment of the Shoffer girl. "They're not guilty—they had nothing to do with it," he explained.

The indictments against the two were dismissed, as also were other indictments against Hall himself.

Commonwealth's Attorney Martin was careful to explain, however, that dismissal of the indictments does not prevent possible action in the future against any or all of the defendants.

FIRES SWEEP FLOYD WOODS

Forty Fires Reported In Last Few Days; Five 'Visiting' Fires Halted

"I'm going after them," said Forest Warden Forrest Burchett this week in referring to the many who in the last 10 days have started woodland fires. "I'm not going to let anybody off as far as I'm concerned," he added.

He said that the dry weather and negligent trash and brush burners had caused some 40 fires. Some of these had been small but one or two, particularly the Mare Creek-Buttalo fire, had become for three days a raging inferno of flame.

Five of the biggest fires came from other counties, three from Knott and two from Pike. The Mare Creek fire started in Pike and was put out by the Floyd force before it burned a single acre in this county. "But it was right down to the edge of the line," said Burchett. Friday, Saturday and Sunday of the last week saw three Knott fires stopped before any Floyd acreage was burned—one each at Buckingham, Price and Wayland. These were stopped on the top of the hills near the county lines.

Palmer Crum, chief ranger, Warden Burchett and their volunteer crews began the week-long struggle Friday night, April 18. Since then they had been constantly on the job until the rain Wednesday. What sleep they were able to get was sandwiched in between one fire controlled and before another was engaged. Tuesday and Wednesday, a 10-man crew was being used with another crew standing by to relieve them.

Burchett pointed out the fine spirit of co-operation he was given at Weeksville. He and two others were climbing a hill in the direction of a fire when he heard some one calling. It was Granville Isaacs with his three sons. "We knew you would help us to put that fire out," Isaacs said. Soon they were joined by Will Tackett with his son, making a force that was sufficient to bring the fire under control.

The fires that swept over Kentucky's woodlands this week burned, according to State Forester Harold B. Newland, some 6,000 acres of woodland. The biggest fire of the state was in Knott county but Pike had some 400 acres burned. Ranger crews could not be contacted for the Floyd figures. In Pike, State Forest Warden Lee Roberts was joined by 14 Pikeville Junior College students to battle two blazes, one on Big Creek and the other in the Breaks of Sandy area.

In Floyd county, as an aftermath of the raging fires, several cases have been set for Monday, April 28, but one person had already paid a fine. She was Mrs. Willard Akers who was fined $10 and costs.

LOTS OF COAL

A single train with enough cars to handle all the coal produced in West Virginia in 1951 would reach the whole way around the world at the equator.

Oh, well, it all just goes to prove that everything is relative. Some of us complained that we were doing no good. At least one of the boys hotly disputed this. He came up with a 14-inch smallmouth—and, by gosh, that was doin' fine, he maintained in tones loud enough to drown all who disputed the matter.

Come to think of it, the guy who wrote, "Hope springs eternal in the human breast," had something there, too.

PITY THE POOR COACH!

There is one group among whom will not be found a dissenting voice to this piece which Earl Ruby did in his excellent Courier-Journal sports page column, several weeks back. And those who know the trials of a coach, even at second hand, will not disagree. Thus Ruby writes the coaches' Jeremiad:

Next to sportswriting (plug), coaching a high school basketball team . . . He must serve as doctor professions . . . The coach must take defeat with a smile, bum referee decisions with an air of nonchalance, and derision by townspeople for not using a boy who looks good but is plain bad for the team . . . He must serve as doctor to the ailing limbs of his players, as a psychologist when a case of puppy love threatens the well-being of his team, and as a lawyer when his wife talks of getting a divorce because he doesn't stay at home more . . . He has to haggle with the principal over the cost of adhesive tape, argue with sports writers that his team should not be favored over one it has just beaten 20 points, and fuss with his fellow coaches who insist that his crackerbox gymnasium just isn't big enough for the district tournament . . . He must play politics to get his job, nursemaid to the whims of an old fossil who owns half of the town to keep it, and magician to live on a poor salary that hasn't kept pace with the rising trend . . . He has to keep the heads of his players cool while the fans lose their guard against overconfidence by his players underconfidence by members of the school board . . . He has to get accustomed to seeing his career roll around the hoop—and OUT. He must stake his future on the flight of a basketball that often takes crazy bounces . . . In short, the coach must be a miracle man. Yet today, there is one coach in Kentucky and one in Indiana who wouldn't trade places with the Governor. They're the champions.

Surviving, besides her husband and mother, are one son, William Aaron, Sidney, O., and the following brothers and sisters: B.B. THE RED CROSS NEEDS YOU

When Georgia was hit by tornadoes last month three Waycross, Georgia business men were moved to buy space in a daily newspaper there and devote that space to an ad which presents a powerful argument. This is a part of that ad:

THANK YOUR GOD the Red Cross needs you instead of you needing the service Red Cross give in your name to the suffering.

THANK GOD you live in a city of homes with roofs on them—with yards full of azaleas, wisteria vines, dogwoods and pine trees—beautiful churches—schools full of healthy children—a city untouched by fire or flood, hurricane or tornado.

IF YOUR HOME was a pile of broken bricks or splintered boards—if your only living child was lying on a stretcher on the floor of the City Auditorium—one of hundreds shattered in the five-minute horror of a tornado—

THEN YOU'D NEED THE RED CROSS!

IF YOU WERE A GI in Korea with one leg blown off, waiting for a blood transfusion—

THEN YOU'D NEED THE RED CROSS!

IF YOU WERE a lonely young wife, expecting the stork any day and watching the mails for an allotment check that's gone astray—

THEN YOU NEED THE RED CROSS!

THANK GOD it's the other way around:

THE RED CROSS NEEDS YOU!

In memory of Clyde Arnett who passed away, April 18th, 1952.

That lonesome month will come again;

It's a month I'll always remember, April 18 in '52,

You were took away and left me blue.

I am sad within my memory, Lonely is my heart today,

For the one I loved so dearly, Has been forever called away.

No one knows the heartaches Or the tears I have shed, Only God, and I'm praying

That I can meet you in heaven some glad day, Sadly missed by

Grigsby and Snowden, Of All-State Quintet, In East-West Classic

Two all-state boys have been named to play in the third annual East-West all-star basketball classic to be played in Pikeville, June 7, at W. T. Oliver Memorial Gymnasium.

Pete Grigsby, of Martin, and Lewis Snowden, of Clark County, are the all-stars listed to play. Grigsby is a straight A honor student with ambitions of being a doctor or an engineer. He scored 2,543 points in five years with Martin and made the varsity as an eighth grader. A top-flight ball handler, his specialties are two-handed shots from far out and jump-shots from back of the foul circle.

Snowden, a regular four years with Clark County, totaled 573 points this year to Grigsby's 785. His shooting average was a sizzling 42.6 per cent. Rugged on the boards and exceptionally agile for his size, Snowden was a consistent threat both offensively and defensively.

The game will be sponsored by the Senior Explorer Scouts, Post No. 1, Pikeville, founders of the East-West net game.

TAX LEAGUE BOARD MEETS

Votes Audit Request; President Asks Court For Fiscal Accounting

Evidence that the Floyd County Good Government Tax-Payers League was in earnest as to organization and resolution was demonstrated, last Friday night, when five of the seven directors met in their first meeting since elected. The meeting was held at the home of Wayne Stumbo, Drift, and all of the directors were present except Polk Saunders and Jeff Derossett, who could not be contacted for notice. First business was the signing of the articles of incorporation by those present and from there they went on to pass several resolutions having to do with fiscal affairs.

Chief resolution was one to request the Floyd county fiscal court for an audit of expenditures and receipts for the preceding five years. Dr. Edward Leslie, League president, was authorized as spokesman. An attendant item of the resolution was that the proposal to the fiscal court be put in writing.

Monday of this week the fiscal court met unexpectedly and Dr. Leslie appeared at the meeting. Due to the time element he had not prepared the request in written form. The justices could not take action as a quorum was not present. J. E. Harris made the motion that Dr. Leslie be allowed to speak.

The League's proposal was that if the court would authorize an audit and if the audit wouldn't show recoverable items in excess of the audit cost, then the League would pay for it. The League proposed to appoint the auditor but to this the court demurred, thinking that it should be allowed to select him. However this matter of selecting an agreed accountant seemed to be no insurmountable difficulty, it was said.

Speeding on U. S. streets and highways last year injured 570,060 men, women and children.

Stop Howling - Vote!

One of the priceless heritages left us by those far-seeing patriots who founded our nation is the right to demand the kind of leadership we want. If our elected officials have proven incompetent or unworthy of our confidence, we have the privilege of making a change next November.

There is mounting evidence that our people are disillusioned and angered by the principle of government spending, and bitter over the outrageously high taxes. They are shocked at the evidence of wide-spread corruption and alarmed at the ineptitude, confusion and vacillation with which our affairs have been handled.

MERCURY BEATS ALL COMERS IN MOBILGAS ECONOMY RUN

3 WINS IN 3 YEARS!

Lincoln Again Best in Class — Runs Second in Sweepstakes

Mercury, the car that challenged them all, has done it again . . . won the grand Sweepstakes prize in this "world series" for automobiles.

And this isn't the first time! Just look at Mercury's three-year-in-a-row record: three out of three times winner in its price class; two out of three times Sweepstakes winner against all cars in every class! Look at Lincoln, too. Lincoln won Class G first prize, and provided Mercury's closest competition for top Sweepstakes honors.

The Mobilgas Economy Run is open to all cars of every make. Every car is a stock car, selected at random by the A.A.A. To assure an equal chance for all, regardless of size and weight, ton-miles-per-gallon performance* determines the winner.

A 1952 Mercury Monterey Special Custom Sedan with optional overdrive swept the field with 59,7188 ton-miles-per gallon, averaging 25.4993 miles per gallon. And the engine that did it is Mercury's famous V-8. The Lincoln Capri Sedan with Hydra-Matic transmission won its class prize with 58,9085 ton-miles-per-gallon, averaging 22.3562 miles per gallon.

That's something to think about when you buy a new car. Mercury, which for months has been challenging the industry to match it, has now proved its superiority for economy.

Right now, in our showroom, is a 1952 Mercury similar to the one that won this official, impartial test. Why not stop around and give it a try? No obligation, of course.

*Ton-miles-per-gallon equals the car weight (with passengers), multiplied by miles traveled, divided by gallons of gasoline used.

GRUELING 1,415 MILE TEST

What a test to prove Mercury and Lincoln superiority! This year's Mobilgas Economy Run covers a 1,415-mile course—longest, toughest test in Mobilgas Economy Run history. Elevations range from below sea level to 8,010 feet above. Mercury out-performed all others to win both the grand Sweepstakes prize and Class C trophy. Lincoln won Class G and was Mercury's closest competition for top Sweepstakes honors.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY DINNER

Former Floyd Teacher, Postmaster Is Victim At Residence Near Here

Francis Marion Crider, former teacher, postmaster and merchant, died Friday at his home at Bays Branch, near here, after an illness of about two years. He was 85 years old.

A son of William and Elizabeth Vaughan Crider, he was a native of the Johns Creek section, and was widely known in this county. His was a busy life. He taught 22 school terms, was postmaster at German 19 years and operated a general merchandise business there 47 years. He resided in the German vicinity until impoundment of Dewey Lake.

Mr. Crider had been a member of the Christian Church since the age of 16, and was one of the county's best men. He was twice married—first, to Miss Sarah Gose, to which marriage nine children were born; and, after her death, to Miss Dixie Spears, who survives. To this union 12 children were born. Surviving children are:

Perry Crider, Laner, Mrs. Virgie Ratliff, Coal Run, Bill Crider, Auxier, Mrs. Maggie Sutton, address unknown, Mrs. Allie Compton, of Emma, Mrs. Daisy Bolen, Stewart, Ky., Johnny Crider, Endicott, Walter Crider, Cliff, Norman Crider, Dwayne, Mrs. Jeannette Plancry, West Prestonsburg, Astor Crider, Salem, O., Mrs. Noia Stepp, Sidney, Ky., Jack Crider, of Cliff.

He also leaves 44 grandchildren, 45 great-grandchildren and seven great-great-grandchildren.

Funeral rites were conducted from the home at Bays Branch Sunday by the Revs. Henry Crider and Isaac Stratton, and burial was made in the family cemetery there under direction of the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

FIGHT OVER INCREASED RATES

The fight over increased gas and electric fares in Northern Kentucky cities found its way into Franklin Circuit Court with a temporary restraining order being issued to forbid the Public Service Commission from interfering with Union Light, Heat and Power Company's proposed new $688,000 a year increase in fares. Counsel for the communities involved served notice they would seek dissolution of the order. The Commission previously directed the Company not to impose the new fares until final determination of their legality had been established.

In fact, said a member of the Water Commission, it was negotiations with the State Board of Health for this service which delayed operation of the fluoridization plant. The equipment has been on the ground for some time but had not been put to work until all preparations were made.

The Mayor said there have been no comments from water-consumers about the water. In fact, he said, few knew the chemical had been added. In some communities where fluoride has been added, consumers have complained of a change in taste of the water. But these complaints are never voiced until consumers learn that it has been added, and so the difference in taste is considered purely imaginary.

Why Not Consider Ashland Area For Billion-Dollar Atomic Plant?

By JOE CREASON
 In The Courier-Journal

Why Not Ashland?

REPRINTED elsewhere in this edition of The Times is an editorial feature from The Courier-Journal in which the Ashland area is argued as a logical site for the new billion-dollar plant planned by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Joe Creason, who wrote that article, makes an excellent case for the Ashland area, and The Times makes no attempt to improve on his argument. We would, however, add this:

The Atomic Energy Commission not only needs such a location—an established industrial area with adequate transportation facilities, fuel in abundance, a steel center, its share of electric power, and all this above flood stage of the river; Ashland and this section need this new industry.

Mr. Creason points out that a steam generating plant for electric power would be a necessity and that more than 7,000,000 tons of coal a year would be necessary to produce the peak load of 1,800,000 kilowatts of power needed for the giant project.

Such a shot in the arm for the coal industry along the Big Sandy would mean work and economic security for thousands whose inherent right to live and work at home is under present conditions threatened.

What's more, this demand for coal could conceivably mean the canalization of the Big Sandy river which would stabilize the section's coal business, even if the world turned to peace.

Word seeping out of Washington indicates that the Ohio river valley is near the top of the list of possible sites for that new billion-dollar Atomic Energy Commission gaseous-diffusion plant.

And since the Ohio twists and turns along some 684 miles of Kentucky's northern border, it seems safe to assume this state has a chance of landing the project.

Considering the peculiar requirements of such a project—plenty of coal and water, an adequate labor market, good transportation and a location fairly immune from possible air attack, to name a few—four areas in Kentucky appear tall-order to fit AEC needs.

Those locations are in the lower Green River country near Central City, the upper Kentucky river area near Hazard, the outer plateau section around Corbin and the North-eastern Kentucky region centered around Ashland.

In the limited announcements it has made concerning the new project, AEC has hinted, and broadly, that it wishes to locate near an already-established industrial-metropolitan community. This, it says, is to avoid constructing a "government-owned-and-operated community."

Louisville and Cincinnati, the two largest metropolitan and industrial areas in the Ohio valley, have indicated in phrases calculated to rouse the dead if necessary that they simply don't want the plant.

Cincinnati has indicated indirectly that it would have no objections to the plant being built in its general area if it were placed on the Kentucky side of the river. There has been talk that the AEC is investigating a location in the Boone-Kenton-Campbell county triangle. That section would meet AEC requirements that the plant be near a metropolitan area and would offer good transportation.

Of the four Kentucky locations suggested previously as having what the AEC might consider A-appeal, the first three—Central City, Hazard, Corbin—unfortunately don't fall in the class of "established industrial communities."

However the fourth—the Ashland area, does fit that description. Next to Louisville and Cincinnati, the Ashland-Huntington, W. Va., section is the largest metropolitan area in the valley below Pittsburgh.

Briefly, Ashland and the three-state area fanning out from it in a 15-mile radius can dangle six strong inducements before the AEC.

1. Above-flood, riverside plant locations near an industrial-metropolitan area.

2. Adequate rail, water, highway and air transportation facilities.

3. Availability in adequate quantities of coal and water, the ingredients needed to produce the electric power such a plant would require.

4. Nearness to the Big Sandy valley coal field, one of the world's greatest producers of high-grade soft coal.

5. Service from one of the nation's leading coal-hauling railroads and location within five miles of the world's largest coal freight assembly.

6. Location in an area traditionally linked with and experienced in heavy industry and the production of chemicals.

Draw a circle to cover a 15-mile radius with Ashland the center, a position it logically holds as far as geography is concerned. Huntington is on the eastern outside of that circle; Greenup, Ky., is near the north-western fringe. Inside it lie parts of two Kentucky, two West Virginia and two Ohio counties.

The population in that limited area is more than 250,000. More than 25,000 people already work in making steel, chemicals and other products, indicating it is indeed an established industrial community.

Ashland is unique in that it has more doctors than real estate salesmen or lawyers. It has a fine public school system, including a junior college. Marshall College is in Huntington, and Morehead, Ky., State College is less than 55 miles away—features the AEC has indicated are important in its plans.

Ashland is strategically located from a railroad standpoint. The main line of the Chesapeake & Ohio between Cincinnati and Washington and Richmond passes through the city. Furthermore, it is the junction point of the divisions extending to Louisville and Detroit.

The C. & O. is the line serving the Big Sandy region, the world's largest reserve of high grade coal. Every lump of coal mined in the section bisected by the Big Sandy and its Levisa river fork passed through Ashland for trans-shipment.

Some 1,600 loaded cars of coal a day—80,000 tons—move to the railroad's big assembly yard at Russell, five miles north. That yard is the largest in the world operated by one road, covering more than 830 acres with 185 miles of track and a capacity of 13,442 cars, which is an important point in Ashland's favor.

They say the plant would need 1,800,000 kilowatts of power. No location in the United States could provide that much power without added facilities being built.

Thus, at least one steam plant would have to be built. More than 7,000,000 tons of coal annually would be needed to produce a peak load of 1,800,000 kilowatts.

Because of its proximity to the limitless Big Sandy sources and the big assembly yard at Russell, Ashland would seem in a position to meet that coal need cheaper and more fully than other locations.

As for power available now, Ashland is main headquarters for the Kentucky & West Virginia Power Company, a part of the giant American Gas & Electric Company. A new sub-station is being built near Ashland, while the parent company is increasing its capacity to 3,739,000 kilowatts, power that can be sent to any part of its system.

North and west of Ashland, toward Greenup, the land is well above flood stage of the river. Once that land was productive because of its iron ore. In those days, years ago, the region was one of the nation's big steel centers.

But the ore petered out. One by one, the furnace fires died. Today the iron-making is centered in Ashland's huge mills. The land where the furnaces stood is thin, the farming limited, apparently ideal for defense purposes.

Frankly put, the Ashland region would offer the AEC advantages in return for two things it needs most—new job opportunities and a shot in the arm for the Big Sandy coal field.

Although its coal is unmatched in quality, the Big Sandy needs outside stimulation, the kind that would come from a coal-burning industry.

Maybe Ashland and the AEC should be introduced.

MARE CREEK

Bonnie Justice, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Justice, has been very ill for a few days suffering from mumps. She was said to be improving, Monday afternoon.

Mrs. James A. Stratton has been released from the hospital at Pikeville and is convalescing at her home here.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jones over the week-end were their daughter, Lula, who is employed in Lexington, and their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Fred Jones, of Dana.

A recent telephone call from California informs us that Cpl. Jack B. Sellards and S. A. Fred Jones, who were both stationed at Treasure Island, met and enjoyed liberty together last Thursday evening. They formerly attended school together at Betsy Layne high.

Cpl. Sellards received his release from the Marine Reserves the next day.

Mr. Anna Sue Stratton arrived home last Friday, after her visit in Port Leonard Wood, Missouri.

Mrs. Vina Leslie, of Pikeville, visited friends here, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Porter visited Mr. and Mrs. Don Burke and other friends, in Lexington over week-end.

I have been requested to write that Graham Sellards and Walter Hall caught a nice string of bass at Dewey Lake, Sunday—the largest weighing about three pounds.

(Speaking as one of the family, I could add that it's about time.)

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dings and son, Ernest, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Maynard in Melvindale, Michigan.

Former Pike Jailer Heart Attack Victim; Funeral Held Saturday

Floyd E. Bevins, 65, of Pikeville, died early April 16 in the Methodist hospital. He suffered a heart attack the preceding week.

Mr. Bevins was a maintenance foreman for the State Highway Department in Pike county at the time of his death. He had also served as county jailer from 1933 to 1941 and was at one time chief of police in Pikeville.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Cora Burris Bevins, two daughters, Mrs. Viola E. Layne and Mrs. Edith Taylor, both of Pikeville, three brothers, James Bevins, Meta, Richard Bevins, Williamson, W. Va., G. C. Bevins, Meta, a sister, Mrs. Fannie Sparks, Toler, and two grandsons, Gary Dean and Donald Layne, both of Pikeville.

Services were held at 11 a.m., Saturday in the Bent Branch Baptist Church at Meta, with the Rev. Harrison Bevins officiating. Burial was made in the Bent Branch cemetery.

BABE IS VICTIM

Bevra Darlene Hall, infant of two months, child of Ewriens and Beulah May Hall, of Lackey, died April 18, at home. Funeral rites were conducted from the Freewill Baptist Church, Lackey, and burial was in the Hall cemetery at Dry Creek, in the Rev. M. C. Wright and others officiating. Burial in the W. M. Stumbo Nelson officiating. Burial was under direction of the Hindman Funeral Home.

Three-Day Illness Claims Dick Stumbo In 94th Year Tuesday

Dick Stumbo, one of the county's oldest and best-known men, died Tuesday at 8 p.m., at the home at McDowell of his son, Buck Stumbo, of what is believed to have been a heart attack.

Mr. Stumbo was first stricken three days before his death while visiting a daughter, Mrs. Richard Tackett, of Virgie. On becoming all he requested that he be taken home to die.

He was a son of the late Green and Kate Sizemore Stumbo, and was one of a family of 32 children. Born in the McDowell vicinity, he spent all his life there. His wife, Fanny Stumbo, died last year of injuries sustained when struck by an auto near her home.

Surviving children are: Buck, Ernest and Joe Stumbo, all of McDowell, Will Stumbo, Detroit, Mich., Mrs. Tackett, of Virgie, Ethel Desette, Detroit, Mrs. Walker Hall, Betsy Layne, Mrs. Sallie Hamilton, Miami, Fla., and Mrs. Nora Hall, McDowell. He also is survived by the following brothers and sisters: Babe and Fred Stumbo, both of McDowell County Judge Henry Stumbo, Prestonsburg, George Stumbo, Circleville, O., Frank Stumbo, Chillicothe, O., Kit, Lee and Beckham Stumbo, all of McDowell, Mrs. Vickie McCown and Miss Bessie Stumbo, both of McDowell, Mrs. Bill Salsbury, Ashland, Mrs. Ed Carter, New Boston, O., Mrs. Taylor Hall, of Ohio, and Florice Stumbo, also of Ohio.

Funeral rites were conducted from the McDowell consolidated school this morning (Thursday), the Rev. M. C. Wright and others officiating. Burial in the W. M. Stumbo cemetery at Minnie was under direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

"I took it all on myself—I can stand a life term better than some can stay out a jail sentence," Hall later told a visitor at the jail. "I'm not guilty except on the habitual criminal part."

His conviction on one of the three counts on which he was named would have been necessary to establish his guilt as an habitual criminal.

"I put my faith in the Lord," he told his jail visitor.

Hall's two previous pen stays were from 1923 to 1925 and from 1931 to 1932. He was convicted in the Pike circuit court on a forgery charge, June 19, 1923, given a four-year term and paroled August 22, 1925. At the May, 1931 circuit court term here he entered a plea of guilty to shooting and wounding. He was paroled on July 13 of the following year.

With the case against Hall thus disposed of, the girl who was found last Jan. 10 in Hall's barn-loft, near-starved and half-frozen, was presenting a problem for officials here. She is being kept at the home of Mrs. Clyde Spurlock here, and this week she created a stir with her loud and persistent demands that she be permitted to take a trip. She was finally pacified, but authorities are uncertain about the future.

One of the two courses may be followed:

Miss Shoffer may be placed in the care of a sister, or she may be committed to a public institution.

She has completely recovered from her harrowing experiences of a few months ago.

Saturday is the most dangerous day of the week in traffic.

Former P'Burg Woman's Husband Dies Wednesday

James O. Steele, of Corbin, Ky., died at a Pineville hospital Wednesday morning after an illness of several weeks. He was 86 years old. His widow is Mrs. Ida Woods Steele, formerly of Prestonsburg. Her son, Hendy Woods, and Mrs. Woods left for Corbin Wednesday. Other members of the family will attend the funeral, later in the week.

State Revenue Ahead Of Receipts Last Year
Frankfort, Ky. — Total State revenue for the first three-quarters of the current fiscal year is 1.7 per cent ahead of revenue collected during the same period last year, according to a report released by the Departments of Revenue and Finance.

The report—covering collections from all sources for the nine months ending March 31—showed that tax revenue is up 5.7 per cent or nearly $5,000,000. Every major class of taxes is up except license and privilege taxes, which are more than one per cent behind last year.

Most of the slump in this class is caused by a $2,000,000, or 41 per cent, decrease in the tax on production of distilled spirits. Receipts in this tax were inflated last year when whiskey production was increased in anticipation of production curtailment as a defense measure.

The motor vehicle usage tax is down 14 per cent and whiskey consumption taxes are off about 12 per cent.

Individual income payments increased about $2,850,000 and corporation taxes gained more than $2,000,000.

General Fund collections are up 9.2 per cent during the period but declines were shown in the Road and Agency Funds. Tax receipts are up in all three funds but a decline in Federal money caused the Road Fund to slip.

General Fund receipts for the first three-quarters stood at about $49,600,000.

The Jumbo Homemakers of Lincoln county refinished 100 chairs for the local church, then resealed them with plastic seats.

Man 72; Wife 69 Ailing for Years—Now Back on Job

An old couple, living on the farm made the statement a few days ago that for years they hadn't known what it was to be free from pain: The man said that his back and legs would ache so much that he would cramp and gasp for breath. He said that everything he would eat soured on his stomach and caused gassy bloating. His wife said that he had headaches, was weak, and felt worn out and terribly nervous so that she couldn't sleep. They said after reading about New HI-VITA Tonic and trying it, that they never would believe that HI-VITA could help them both so much. At present they are a healthy and happy couple relieved of their sufferings and busy at their chores on the farm, about a half mile from town. HI-VITA Tonic is the new mixture of nature's Herbs and vitamins combined with blood building iron and nerve-strengthening vitamins B-1, B-2, B-6 and Niacin. It has brought blessed relief to many people who had never been really helped before by any medicine. Taken shortly before meals it mixes with your food and aids digestion "thus eliminating gas and bloating." Don't go on suffering, get New HI-VITA Tonic at W. A. ROSE DRUG STORE.

Dr. B. F. Wright, of Secco, one of the principal speakers, said, "Carl has youth, and I see for him a great future, like even that of Barkley." And in referring to any prospective opposition to the present Congressman he added: "It is a hopeless case for anyone to try to beat him." One interesting speaker of the occasion was C. C. Callihan, undertaker of Inez, who after telling a few stories, one at the expense of his own profession, remarked that Martin county had a Democratic sheriff and three justices of the same party affiliation. "Martin county has 800 coal miners, too," he added.
Tolbert Combs, Hazard, former schoolmate of Perkins, followed Callihan and successively thereafter was Bert T. Combs, appellate judge, J. A. Runyon, commonwealth's attorney of Pike, State Senator Doug Hays and others. One noticeable aspect of the proponents of Perkins rally was the size of the Perry and Knott delegations. The Floyd E. Bevins funeral in Pike prevented some of that county's delegation from appearing, but Noble Hobbs, read letters from Dr. J. E. Johnson, J. Irvin Sanders and Amos Runyon. At the conclusion of the four-hour meeting, Hibbits remarked: "Our men intend to beat the bushes for Carl if there is any opposition."
Mr. Perkins was not present for the meeting.

Grover C. Bevins, 62, died Monday, April 21, at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville, of cancer of the lung. He had been ill since 1945. He was a son of John Bevins and Frances Robinson Adkins, and was a native of Pike county.
Bevins had been a teacher in the public schools, had worked in the N. & W. yards at Williamson, W. Va., from 1918 to 1926. Since that date he had engaged in farming. He had been a deacon of the Freewill Baptist Church for the last 35 years.
He is survived by his mother, his widow, Augusta Ratliff Bevins, and the following sons and daughters: Cephus, of Cincinnati; Curtis and Earl, of Lexington; Mildred, Pike county, and Mrs. Ruth Lowe, Route 1, Pikeville. Surviving also are the following brothers: David Bevins, Fishtrap; F. T. Bevins, Road Fork, Ky.; Trimble Bevins, Lexington; half-brothers, Bill Adkins, of Detroit; James Adkins, Route 1, Pikeville. Also surviving are the following half-sisters: Martha Stone, Anna Thacker and Mary Goff, Route 1, Pikeville.
Funeral rites were conducted from the home at Blair Town, Wednesday, the Revs. Isaac Stratton, Dee Ratliff and Johnnie Conley. Burial was made in the family cemetery at Cow Pen.

ly TB work, which is largely financed by the Floyd County Tuberculosis Association through the sale of Christmas Seals, in January of last year. Since that time, every day that the weather has permitted, she has spent contacting individuals in their homes, their places of business or at other gathering-places making talks, showing films, distributing helpful literature. Her total number of field visits to active TB cases in little more than a year now totals 127. As a result of the tremendous drive she put into the task at hand, 1,617 TB contacts have been given advisory service.
During the first 12 months of her work she traveled 6,574 miles. She doesn't ride a horse, these days; drives a car instead. But the trips up some treacherous roads and narrow creek beds are made afoot.
So run some of the points the Woman's Club makes in urging for the nurse-stakeholder honor. And it adds yet another:
As a result of her leadership, five young women of the county have announced they expect to prepare themselves for the nursing profession—and one of these, an arrested TB case, will make tuberculosis her special field of endeavor.

Arrives In San Francisco

Marine Cpl. Jack B. Sellards arrived in San Francisco March 24 aboard the U.S.S. Sultan after serving with the First Marine Air Wing at Isumi, Japan for the past several months.
Cpl. Sellards enlisted in the Marine Reserves in November, 1949. Prior to his enlistment, he attended Betsy Layne high school, Betsy Layne, Ky., and Hayward high in Hayward, Calif. He is the son of Jack Sellards of Mare Creek. He is now stationed at Treasure Island, where he expects to be released from active duty. Before returning home, he plans to visit his brother, David E. Sellards and Mrs. Sellards in Castro Valley, Calif.

teachers and that there was a swollen bruise under her eye, the nose flattened and bleeding, that there were more than a dozen large bruises, mostly 2 inches in diameter on her body. The weapon, in his judgment, could not have been a smooth strap, but must have had a buckle or knot on the end.
A final effort of the Commonwealth to connect the beatings of the girl with Frank Hooks was the introduction of Mrs. Clyde Spurlock. She stated that Josephine said: "I'm afraid I'm afraid of my half-daddy. He said for me to tell it was my mother and if I didn't he would kill me."
The effort to successfully charge Frank Hooks with striking and wounding his step-child failed. The jury reported itself hopelessly deadlocked. A juror later said there were eleven for conviction and one lone juror demanding acquittal.
Although she says "she is not mad at her mamma," Josephine does not want to go home and will stay with Mrs. Spurlock until her mother's trial.
Nine Green county tobacco farmers received a carload of coke in March for curing their leaf this fall.

BUCKMAN RULES ON TIME

Attorney General J. D. Buckman ruled that nothing in new anti-Daylight Saving law prevents citizens from arbitrarily advancing their own clocks or operating under an advanced schedule, after a poll in Louisville showed a nine-to-one sentiment in favor of a Daylight Saving schedule. The General Assembly by a new law forbade deviation from the standard time prescribed by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Notice To All Teachers

Says Community Needs Wide Sanitation Changes

The first and foremost need of attention as regarding sanitation is that of fecal waste disposal. How many people in Prestonsburg actually know how poor their facilities for sewage disposal really are? Is it because they do not want to know or is it because they already know but do not wish to be reminded of it? It is easy if we happen to live in a section of the community that has fairly good sewage disposal not to think anything about those sections that do not have—not even any means of disposal at all.

Let us now look at some of the conditions that we now have in our town. Let us start with the southern part of town. Beginning with the Swamp City section and running south to the southeasternmost limits of the town there are many homes and business places that do not have any access to a public sewer at all. These people are paying a monthly sewer tax and have been for years.

Now let us see what the means of disposal for these Prestonsburg taxpayers are. They all have access to the city water supply so no doubt they all want to have bathrooms and many of them have made every possible effort to effect sewage disposal systems of their own. These efforts have included individual septic tanks and combined efforts in constructing common sewer lines running to the river. Those who are not financially able have to resort to earth pit privies with other liquid waste being thrown out on the surface in their back yards and in most cases running from their door into the front door of someone else.

Now let us consider the effectiveness, from a sanitary standpoint, of each of these types of disposal.

1. The septic tank with properly constructed disposal field is considered an approved means of disposal. Now let us take a look at what we mean by a septic tank with an approved disposal field. We do not need to describe a septic tank but there seems to be a gross misconception or misunderstanding as regarding the disposal field. A septic tank is merely a means of liquifying the solid waste so that it can be disposed of into the ground where the final disposal of waste is by the anti-robic bacteria of the soil. Now in order to get this adequately perfected there must be constructed a ditch 18 inches wide and 30 inches deep and 25 feet long for each person estimated to use a bathroom. This would require 125 running feet of ditch line for a family of five persons. This ditch must have the lower portions of 18 inches filled with coarse gravel, cinders or rock and in the center of 18 square inches of material must be laid four inches from the end to end on a very gradual drain. This 18 square inches of space acts as a storage space for the waste until it can be seeped into the earth where the anti-robic bacteria will do the rest.

Now let us see what kind of soil we must have for this. Low swampy ground would already have its load of liquid waste so how could it take care of any more? We must have high ground and should have a loose process type soil. Now as most every one must know this section of the town is low clay type ground or either hillside where the waste has a tendency to make its way back to the surface of the ground. The liquid waste is by no means treated or purified when it comes from the septic tank—it is still dangerous sewage.

At the present time there are a number of septic tanks that have been constructed in this section. Since there is no suitable ground for disposal fields there has not even been any effort made to construct any. The waste is being turned into the lower ground, making its way of course to the lowest sections, pooling and standing, which in dry weather can be observed as green scummy stagnant, liquid waste with a very disagreeable odor. Needless to say, dangerous as a cocked gun.

2. For those who have earth pit privies on high ground and are satisfied to do without bathrooms if they maintain deep earth pits and keep the pits fly tight there is very little danger, but many of these people again live in low, swampy ground and in this case the privy stands full of water, that is, the pit does, and the fecal waste being liquid stands on top of the water

NOTICE:

FLOYD COUNTY COURT
Marvin Music Plaintiff
Vs: NOTICE
Floyd County Defendant

Notice is hereby given that Marvin Music has filed a Petition in the Floyd County Court asking that an alley in West Prestonsburg be discontinued. Said alley is described as follows:

In West Prestonsburg, Floyd county, Kentucky and beginning on the Southwest corner of the Gulf Refining Company property fronting on Baldwin Street; thence a straight line perpendicular to Baldwin Street 100 feet North to property of Sandy Land and Development Co.; thence West 10 feet; thence South 100 feet along the East line of the property of Marvin Music to Baldwin Street; thence East 10 feet to the beginning so as to include the alley set out in said boundary and being an alley 10 feet in width between the property of Marvin Music and the Gulf Refining Company.

and most of it is carried with this ground water over the top of the pit and onto the surface. Earth pit privies when properly constructed in or on high ground are an improved means of disposal but can never be maintained in warm weather without offensive odors. With the earth pit privy we still have the means of disposal of other liquid wastes—this can be and is being done in some instances by deep holes in the ground but is no good again in low swampy ground.

3. A number of families in this section have gone together and constructed common sewer lines to the river. They have solved their immediate problem but this waste is being poured out just above the city water plant which especially in the dry part of the year makes the intake of the raw water of our city water supply consist largely of raw sewage and this is not a very pleasant thought.

Now, while we have been talking about the southern section of our town only, so far, we have taken this section as an example. Most of the eastern section, the northern section including all of Porter Addition and the greater part of West Prestonsburg can be considered in the same light and thought.

Now we all know that the only solution to this problem is to sewer the whole town. We all know that the city does not have the money in its treasury to do this, but at the same time we all know that it is not impossible to get the money to do it with. It is a problem for the people of Prestonsburg, and the immediate instigation of the move becomes the sole responsibility of the City Council.

HANSFORD MAY
(To be continued next week)

Wallace & Clark Circus Coming to Prestonsburg

Wallace and Clark Wild Animal Circus will present a star-studded circus program, and a vast collection of wild animals, featuring that rare animal from the River Nile, a monstrous hippopotamus, Alice, and weighing over four tons.

A special invitation is extended to all to come to the show grounds early on May 8, watch the elephants help erect the huge tents, watch a tented city spring up, which is a demonstration of efficiency, and at 10 a.m. see the feeding and watering of all the wild animal, including the monstrous hippopotamus.

This well-known circus will be in Prestonsburg for one day only, giving two performances, afternoon and night, on May 8.

A new chemical raw material, vinyl toluene, derived in part from bituminous coal, is being used in the manufacture of synthetic rubber tires.

COURT LIMITS MONROE BOND ISSUE

The Kentucky Court of Appeals limited a Monroe County bond issue to $46,000 for hospital improvements, instead of the $80,000 sum approved by the Monroe circuit court, and criticized the lower court's judgment which was not appealed. A superseding action was filed in Franklin circuit court to sustain the finding of the Department of Revenue that the $46,000 figure was the limit of bonds to be approved in view of the county's present debt commitments and available assessment resources.

BETSY LAYNE

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS HERE

The Betsy Layne Woman's Club held a spring luncheon, April 12, at the Victoria House, Prestonsburg. Mrs. R. L. Anderson opened the meeting with a prayer, then Mrs. Beecher Hardwick, president, introduced the guest of honor, Miss Clara Shaw, treasurer, Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs. Following the introduction of Miss Shaw, club members were asked to stand, give their names and offices held.

Mrs. W. P. Howell presented the Resurrection Story from the Bible. Mrs. Hardwick then gave recognition to the following committees: Flower arrangements, Mrs. T. J. Chandler; favors and place cards, Fesdam's Glenn Blackburn, Edward Lykins and Arthur Van Kammen. Members were seated at tables grouped around the speaker's table, at which was seated the following: Miss Shaw, guest of honor, Mrs. O. J. Williams, governor, Seventh district, KFWC, Mrs. Hardwick, president Betsy Layne Woman's Club, and Mrs. T. J. Chandler.

After the luncheon was served, Miss Shaw gave a talk pertaining to Federation, the highlight being a resume of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs music scholarship final contest held in Louisville, which was won by the Seventh district's entrant, Miss Ivcei Zurich, Jenkins, Ky. Miss Zurich will be the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs representative at the Egyptian Music Camp, Duquoin, Ill., for one week this summer. At the conclusion of her talk, Miss Shaw was presented a gift from the club. At the conclusion of the program, members joined Miss Shaw in a general discussion of club work. Luncheon was served to the following: Guests, Miss Shaw, Jenkins, and Mrs. Homer Ferguson, Huntington, W. Va., and members Mesdames Hardwick, O. J. Williams, T. J. Chandler, W. P. Howell, Elizabeth Pritchard, Keene Robinette, R. L. Anderson, Edward Lykins, Glenn Blackburn, Arthur Van Kammen and Miss Alice Willards.

The Betsy Layne Woman's Club held its regular monthly meeting, Thursday night, April 17, at the home of Mrs. A. K. Robinette. Mrs. T. J. Chandler was program leader, with a program in the Community Health and Welfare Department. Mrs. Chandler's program topic was "Foods and Nutrition," and the program was opened with a showing of a film of that title, shown by Gene Stanley. Mr. Stanley next showed "Fresh from the Garden," a film showing how to plan and plant a garden. Mrs. Chandler concluded her program by giving a report on the State Department of Health, in which she discussed the establishing of the State Board of Health in 1878, and the later establishment of the Kentucky State Department of Health. At the conclusion of her program, Mrs. Chandler distributed the following booklets: "First Bell Means Breakfast," "Feeling Tiptop," "What Foods Do You Choose?" "Food for the Family" and "The Wheel of Good Eating," showing showing how to keep your daily diet balanced.

Mrs. Beecher Hardwick presided at the business meeting. The treasurer, Mrs. W. P. Howell, reported the Christmas Cards had been mailed to Zurich Switzerland, to be used in connection with work for children. Contributions were made to the Red Cross drive. Further plans for work in the cancer drive were discussed. A letter from Keen Johnson, president of the Kentucky Heart Association, was read. He expressed his appreciation for the club's participation in the 1952 Heart Fund Drive and the club was happy to learn that Kentucky had exceeded the $100,000 goal by over $1,000. Good Luck margarine coupons were distributed to members, who will use these coupons to send bantam books to servicemen. A letter from Miss Clara Shaw, treasurer, Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, was read by Mrs. Hardwick, in which she expressed her appreciation for the spring luncheon. Mrs. Albert Greenwald was welcomed as a new club member. At the conclusion of the business meeting a salad plate was served to the following: Mesdames Glen Blackburn, Albert Greenwald, T. J. Chandler, R. L. Anderson, Edward Lykins, W. P. Howell, Beecher Hardwick, C. H. Dickerson, O. J. Williams, Arthur Van Kammen, Jesse Elliott, Elizabeth Pritchard, Miss Alice Williams, the hostess, Mrs. Robinette, and Mrs. Jean Robinette, guest.

The next regular monthly meeting will be Thursday night, May 15, at the home of Mrs. Glenn Blackburn, with Mrs. Jesse Elliott, program leader, with a program in the Education Department.

FORD WINS AGAIN!

TAKES FIRST PLACE IN CLASS "A"

IN THE 1952

Mobilgas Economy Run

New Ford Mileage Maker SIX Thriftiest in its Field!

Again this year... as in the past two years... Ford was first in gas economy over all other cars in its price class in the Mobilgas Economy Run. In this toughest test, a stock model Ford Six equipped with Overdrive (optional at extra cost) averaged 53.855 ton-miles per gallon and 25.463 actual miles per gallon.

This was a very special triumph for Ford's All-New Mileage Maker high-compression Six. For now, with its new design providing 101-horsepower and free-turning overhead valves, Ford is definitely pound-for-pound the most economical low-priced car to run! Yes... Ford's thrift was clearly proved by the 1,415-mile grind from Los Angeles to Sun Valley. And a very important factor contributing to this victory is Ford's Automatic Power Pilot which squeezes the last ounce of power out of every drop of gas.

*The AAA Contest Board determines the winner by a "ton-mile per gallon" formula to insure equal chance for all cars in each class regardless of size and weight. Ton-miles per gallon equals the car weight (including passengers) in tons, multiplied by number of miles travelled, divided by number of gallons consumed.

"Test Drive" the Economy Winner Today!

For Economy plus Quality... Choose the '52 Ford!
