

AN IDYL
At Lavalette, W. Va., you take the road to the left as a short cut to Kenova, W. Va., and along this road you will see one of the prettiest homes you'll find in a day's drive. A rambling new brick, with spacious grounds—everything that would contribute to gracious living.

It was on this big lawn, the other morning, that I witnessed a scene which made me think of some of the boys at home. The lord of the manor stood there on the green-sward with a floyd in one hand while in the other was a shovel. And standing alongside, looking quite businesslike, was the lady of the castle.

I wondered if the poor guy was arriving or had been intercepted in an attempt to steal away.

IN THE MAIL
Received a postal card this week on which was pasted an excerpt from my dissertation of a week ago on the panty-raider fiasco. The last word was underscored, as I expected it to be, and below that was pasted this:

Professor (after a very trying hour with some very stupid students): "Class dismissed. Please don't flap your ears on the way out!"

I'm still wondering if this sly comment was aimed at the college students or at me.

WHO HAS A MONOPOLY ON THESE THINGS?
That news-story from Frankfort which told of the State Agricultural and Industrial Development Board's suggestion of the Irvine-Ravenna and Corbin-London-Somerset areas for the proposed atomic energy plant had us sputtering for a while.

What does a state Board mean, pointing to one particular section of the state for such a project when another section is seeking it? we asked ourselves.

Where does Mr. George W. Hubley, Jr., director of the Board, find in these areas such a surplus of labor above that of other sections—the Ashland-Big Sandy area, for instance? we wanted to know.

The news item quoted Mr. Hubley as saying the areas were near important coal fields, on the navigable Kentucky river, with large railroad yards near Somerset, and that had us wondering where in Kentucky is a more important coal field than the Big Sandy's, where better rail facilities and water facilities in the communities seeking

FISH KILLED BY BLASTING

Is Report from Lake Where Watch Is Kept; Club Posts $50 Reward

Blasting of fish in Dewey Lake was being investigated this week by conservation officers.

Discovery of crappie, bluegill and other small fish floating on the surface touched off the probe. It was determined that the fish had been destroyed by blasting, and finally it was decided the explosive used was dynamite caps.

Set off beneath the surface of the water, the dynamite caps make little sound. This, together with nocturnal operations of the violators, makes detection doubly difficult.

The Floyd County Fish & Game Club, which recently posted a $50 reward for the arrest and conviction of any person guilty of dynamiting waters of the county, this week asked its members to join in the hunt for the dynamiters.

The Goble Branch section of the lake apparently has been the center of such operations, Conservation Officer Raymond Copley said.

C. & O. WOULD QUIT SERVICE

From Wheelwright Jct. Into Wheelwright; To Construct New Station

Chesapeake and Ohio Railway announced Friday that it has applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to abandon operations on its 1.63-mile subdivision extending from Wheelwright Junction to Wheelwright.

According to the railroad's application, passenger service on the line was discontinued in November, 1949, and the last industry served by the subdivision was closed in June, 1950.

C & O proposes to move the agency station at Wheelwright to Wheelwright Junction, where it will erect a new station building at an estimated cost of $13,000.

Discontinuance by the Inland Steel Company of its Wheelwright tippie, with its coal production located at its huge Price preparation plant, several miles away, removed the industry served by the spur line from Wheelwright Junction to Wheelwright.

QUEST FOR 2 UNSUCCESSFUL

After 2 Cars Taken By Fugitives; Cab Driver Jailed Here

Police here and county and state officers were without clues except for rumors as to the whereabouts of Steve Smith and Marion Hatfield, who last week allegedly stole two cars in a getaway after an unsuccessful attempt at burglarizing the Thomas Hereford Company here.

One report said the two had been seen in Ohio. They fled from the scene of the attempted break in a taxicab owned by Benny Branham which was later found, gas tank empty, on Bull Mountain. But the auto of Adis Collins, who lives near where the cab was abandoned, has not been recovered.

A Henry J. auto, identified as having been stolen recently in Covington, was found this week by Prestonsburg police.

Jailed here during the week on major offenses were:

James M. Durbin, Louisville cab driver, by State Policeman Chester D. Potter, who booked him Saturday on charges of drunk driving and driving without an operator's license, fine of $112.50, including costs, assessed by County Judge Henry Stumbo; Mahala Combs and Corinne Stanley, lewdness, arrested Saturday by Deputy Sheriffs Al Patton and Serge Daniels, fined $122.50 each, including costs, by Magistrate M.C. Wright; Paul Newsome, arrested by Conservation Officer Raymond Copley for having no fishing license, fined $27.50 by Magistrate J. E. Harris; Pete Collins, selling beer and breaking and entering, jailed by Policeman Hershel Lester of Martin, who also jailed Henry Everett, Goble Reed, Jr., and Hard Waddles on charges of breaking and entering the American Legion Club at Martin; Bill Salyers, drunk and possessing whiskey, arrested by Constable George Hall, Jr., and Jim Burchfield; Fred Watts, drunk driving, arrested by Ed Amburgy.

THOS. HARRIS, AUTO VICTIM

Pike Woman on Way To Decorate Grave Death Car Driver

A woman auto driver on her way to decorate a grave struck and instantly killed Thomas J. Harris, 74 years old, near his home between Emma and Allen last Sunday morning.

Driver of the car was Mrs. Wade Holbrook, who resides on Abner mountain in Pike county. Mrs. Holbrook told authorities she was en route to Ashland to decorate the grave of her father when the tragedy occurred. No charge was filed against her.

Mr. Harris, a well-known farmer, was struck with such terrific impact that a leg was torn off, and he was knocked or dragged between 200 and 300 feet. His skull was crushed.

The tragedy took place near the Outside Inn on U.S. 23. It was explained here that Mr. Harris, on the side of the road next to the Inn, started to cross but stepped back as he saw a car approaching upriver, then after it passed walked onto the highway again without looking up the highway whence the Holbrook car came. Followed what was described as the frantic efforts of the aged man to elude the car and the woman's maneuvering of the auto to her left, ending in the tragedy.

The victim was a son of John and Mary Ford Harris and was a native of Pike county. In the construction of the C. & O. railway line up the Big Sandy in 1902 he did the blasting of the immense cliffs on the right-of-way, and since 1904 had resided at Emma. He was a member of the Church of Christ.

THURSDAY

ALLEN'S LOSS OF GAS SEEN ON JUNE 26

Firm Says Contracts Make Further Supply For Town Impossible

Additional gas supply gained for the town of Allen by connection of the lines of James Webb and James Webb, Jr., with a line leading from the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company's compressor station at Dwale will not be available after June 26, it was learned here this week.

T. H. Evans, vice-president of Kentucky West Virginia, notified the Webbs Monday of the company's intention to disconnect the line and also, through letters and personal visits, explained his company's position to residents of Allen.

James Webb, Jr., said Wednesday that he and his father will be represented by counsel before the Public Service Commission soon in an effort to procure gas from a new source of supply. "We have no legal way to force Kentucky West Virginia, though it seems a shame that the people here at home can't buy gas from them," he commented.

He admitted that Kentucky West Virginia has previous contracts which it must fulfill.

In a letter addressed to the citizens of Allen, Evans, Kentucky West Virginia's vice-president, pointed out that his company first learned, just before Thanksgiving Day, last year, that James Webb, Jr., had run a pipe from his distributing system across the river so as to take gas from Kentucky West Virginia's lines to bolster his supply. "Although we had the right to disconnect the Webb line immediately," the letter added, "after consideration and study we did not do so, for we did not wish to inflict a hardship or inconvenience on you . . ."

SIX MEN FLEE PIKE-CO. JAIL

Search Discontinued In Saturday's Break; Nine Are Now Missing

Search of the hills near Pikeville for Pike county jail escapees came to an end Tuesday when Lacy Goodman, jailer, discontinued his efforts to retake the six who broke custody Sunday.

They are a West Virginia escapee, a prisoner who had given himself up after an earlier escape because his mother told him to, and four other fugitives.

Deputy Jailer Paul Goodman said the six unlocked their cell-block door Sunday night with a home-made key and pried open a basement door to escape.

The key was found later in the cell of Clyde Blair, 30-year-old fugitive from the West Virginia penitentiary.

West Virginia authorities who arrived in Pikeville yesterday to pick up Blair, reported he had escaped twice from the West Virginia prison.

The other fugitives are Clyde Adkins, Ferguson Creek, the man whose mother talked him into surrendering after a break early in April; Frank Lester, 20, James Smith, 24, Gene Chapman, 20, and Junior Chapman, 26, addresses unknown.

Including three men who sawed their way to freedom with Adkins in April, nine prisoners are at large from the pike county jail. Missing in the earlier break are Morris Trivett, 25, Pikeville, Bobby Lee Roberts, 18, McCarr, and Chester Sparks, 27, Hellier.

The Sunday escape caused a rift between jail officials, the sheriff's office and state police. The sheriff's office said today that it had still not been notified officially of the break.

State police said they were not notified of the escape until yesterday morning. However, Goodman said he called the state police immediately after the break and notified two deputy sheriffs early yesterday.

Goodman said the search of the Pikeville vicinity was abandoned because Jailer Goodman was convinced the fugitives were gone.

Rewards of $50 each have been offered by Goodman for the arrest of the fugitives or $25 each for information leading to their capture.

VISIT IN ASHLAND
Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bingham spent the week-end in Ashland with her parents.

The Rev. R. L. Anderson, pastor of the Betsy Layne Methodist Church, will be one of the principal speakers at the Betsy Layne rally, it was said.

The Betsy Layne rally is for the purpose of increasing membership and the election of a "three-man board of directors for Magisterial district No. 4. The regional board will be policy-making as well as the overall county board and when the boards for the other districts are set up, they will serve as advisors to the county board.

Judge Henry Stumbo and Circuit Court Clerk W. W. Cooley are both members of the Taxpayers League, and express agreement with its objectives. The proposed audit of the county offices has not yet materialized but a source states that money is available for part of it and that an auditor will be employed next week.

After the meeting at Betsy Layne other meets are planned for Wheelwright, Wayland, Martin and with a final one in late June at Prestonsburg. At the county seat meet a tax expert from Virginia will be the principal speaker.

Wm. Crawford Named Executive of Coal Firm

William Crawford, who since 1946 has been general manager of the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company at Fairmont, W. Va., in 1921 he continued his mine work—hanging wire, laying track, cutting and loading coal. In 1923 he entered, and worked his way through, the University of West Virginia from which he received his B. S. degree in Mining Engineering in 1927.

In this county Mr. Crawford's activities outside the coal industry have been in the interest not only of David but also of other communities of the section. He also is a member of Zebulon Masonic lodge here.

Professionally, he is a member of the Big Sandy Chapter, Kentucky Society of Professional Engineers, the Kentucky Mining Institute and the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

Official Is Burned As Outboard Motor Bursis Into Flames

County Attorney W. W. Burchett suffered severe burns on his right hand, Tuesday afternoon, when an outboard motor caught fire on Dewey Lake.

He and Willie Mellon, of Prestonsburg, were in the boat, in mid-lake, when the blaze started. Efforts to smother the flames with a boat cover failed, and Burchett in attempting to dump the motor overboard was burned.

Expecting an explosion, momentarily, they rowed to the shore and had barely gained land when the cap of the motor's gas tank blew off and flames shot skyward.

GROUP PLANS CLASS STUDY

Educators in Meet Here Arrange Plan To Follow Freshmen

The next school year will see an unusual study made of the "drop-out" student, with case histories being compiled on such pupils through personal interviews with those who quit school, their parents and teachers in the six counties of this area.

Decision to make the study was made at a recent meeting of school superintendents, principals and supervisors held here under auspices of the State Department of Education.

City Superintendent Chalmer H. Frazier, of Prestonsburg, explained that the study will follow the 1952-53 freshman class in the high schools of Floyd, Boyd, Lawrence, Martin, Johnson and Pike counties through the year. As pupils quit, they, their parents and teachers will be interviewed in this study of why children leave school. Fred Edmonds, supervisor in this area for the State Department of Education, will correlate the report.

At the end of the year a preliminary report will be made, and the study will follow the same students on through the remaining three years of high school.

Concrete evidence to take the place of theory is being sought through the study, Mr. Frazier said.

The crowd, estimated at 1,700, including the graduates, their parents and friends, school musicians and others, filled the school's new gymnasium. John T. Parker, superintendent of the Inland Steel Company, delivered the address of welcome, and the Rev. W. C. Stewart, pastor of the Wheelwright Community Church gave the invocation and benediction. Diplomas were presented by County Superintendent Palmer L. Hall. Music for the occasion was supplied by the Floyd County Band, directed by Jesse Elliott, and the Wheelwright mixed chorus.

Happiest of the graduates were the six boys and two girls announced as scholarship winners or nominees. These were:

This, the 46th annual graduation for the school, drew the greatest crowd for such a local school function. The grade school auditorium was literally filled to capacity and perhaps a hundred persons could not gain entrance. The auditorium seats 616, additional chairs were put into use, and standing room was at a premium.

If weather permits, the exercises next year will be held on the nearby athletic field, Chalmer H. Frazier, superintendent of city schools, said.

The diplomas were presented by Superintendent Frazier. Music for the occasion was rendered by the high school band and the two mixed choruses. The invocation and benediction were said by Dr. Gerstle M. Haggard, pastor of the Methodist Church.

STEWART COMPLIMENTED
The following excerpt from a letter from Samuel Alexander, director of the Division of Local School Finance, was received by Carl Stewart, Morgan county school superintendent and son of Mr. Viola Stewart, of Maytown, following the audit made by W. W. Roschl of the Finance Department:
"I have checked the audit report of your district (or county) for the school year 1950-51. Mr. Roschl complimented your records very highly. You and your board of education are to be congratulated for the nice balance you had on June 30, 1951. When a superintendent and board of education handle the school affairs of a district in such a way that a $20,000 deficit is eliminated in one year, they have certainly done a good job. You are also to be congratulated because you recovered $544.60 overpayment for the board of education during 1950-51 school year."

MRS. SUTTON SPEAKER
The Maytown Woman's Club held its regular monthly meeting, May 22, at the home of Mrs. David Reed. Mrs. Ed Stewart, president, presided over the business meeting. The secretary's report was given and approved and other committees made their reports. Mrs. Frank Stewart reporting $43.25 in the 14-brary fund.

Mrs. Charles Patton reported that Dr. Ransdell and two of the county health nurses will be here Tuesday, June 24, to hold a clinic for all pre-school age children. She also reported on the progress of the Girl Scouts which was organized recently with Mrs. Theodore Gibson, leader, and Mrs. Charles Patton, assistant.
The Nominating committee—Mesdames Frank Stewart, John Ison and Raymond Hopson—read their nominations for next year's officers. These were approved by the club: President, Mrs. Ed Stewart; vice-president, Mrs. Jones Talant; secretary, Mrs. George Patton; treasurer, Mrs. Edward Robinson.

Mrs. Stewart read a letter from the Heart Fund thanking the club for its work during the recent heart drive. The club collected $16 for the cancer drive, which was turned over to Miss Mary Elizabeth Powers, of Prestonsburg.

Saturday's Mishaps:
Youth Injured Here,
Pyramid Woman Hurt

Two people were victims of automobile mishaps Saturday afternoon, one suffering minor bruises and cuts, the other, a broken arm, when one driver struck a 13-year-old boy and another driver skidded from the road. Mrs. Miley Prater, of Pyramid, has been released from the Prestonsburg General hospital after treatment for a broken arm received when the automobile in which she was riding overturned on the Prestonsburg-David road Saturday evening about 7 o'clock.

The auto was being driven by Herbert Prater, son-in-law of Mrs. Prater. Other occupants of the car were Mrs. Herbert Prater, Miley and Sandra, age 4, the daughter of Herbert.

Wet pavement was given as the cause of the accident. The car overturned at least once, it was said. Although the other inmates were not injured, save minor bruises, the auto was badly damaged.

Woodrow Stephens, Jr., aged 13, son of Woodrow Stephens, Sr., of West Prestonsburg, was struck by the auto of John D. Evans driven by his wife sometime near noon Saturday. The accident occurred on U.S. 23 near the Sandy Valley motel. Stephens' hospitalization was short-lived, and he was discharged after treatment, it was said.

Mrs. Evans said she was driving slowly up the highway when the boy came from behind another car and stepped out in front of hers. Witnesses said the accident was unavoidable.

Delegates—Circuit Judge John Keck, Sandy Hook, and Dr. J. E. Johnson, West Williamson; alternates—Sheriff A. B. Meade, Prestonsburg, and Sam Linden, Hazard.

The district conventions, held in Louisville, also named presidential electors and members of the State Central committee. The Seventh district named as elector Roland Price, of Whitesburg, and for the state Central committee Dr. B. F. Wright, Whitesburg, Mrs. Marie Turner, Jackson, Miss Pearl Runyon, Pikeville, and C. C. Callahan, Inez.

Yes, we were hot under the collar. Then it occurred to us that perhaps Mr. Hubley and the State Agricultural and Industrial Development Board had merely written this letter as one recommendation to the Atomic Energy Commission, that it had written others for other communities of the state.

For surely Mr. Hubley and others who compose the Board aren't so partial and thoughtless that they would forget the needs of other parts of the state and point to the needs and virtues of only one.

A TIME TO REMEMBER

Tomorrow is Memorial Day. Time was when O'Hara's line, "the brave and fallen few," applied. But no more. Our fallen now lie in the soil of many lands, many thousands of them. Heroes all? No, but they are ours, and they served, and they died in a cause which, if not right, makes us all wrong.

Youth at its noblest, though dirty, sweaty, tired, grumbling, has died in half a dozen other conflicts since Kentucky's O'Earra wrote his "Bivouac of the Dead," immortalizing the fallen of the Mexican War. Memorial Day is a time to remember them.

And, too, to remember those who lived and served and died at home, in the plain, often unromantic, battle of life.

The common house fly occasionally travels as much as eight miles in search of food.

Explaining that the company does not produce gas in sufficient volume to furnish all the gas previously contracted to others and that the Webbs have been allowed more than six months in which to find another source of supply, Evans announced the decision to disconnect.

James Webb, Jr., said approximately 180 consumers will be affected but expressed the hope that gas in sufficient quantities to serve the town will be found. "We won't be hurting for gas till about September," he said.

The gas diverted to the town of Allen passed through a line which the Webbs maintained to serve the town of Dwaile where Kentucky West Virginia's compressor station is located, and was accounted for by meter, Webb has a contract with Kentucky West Virginia for Dwaile's gas supply.

Webb said he and his father have three wells of their own but that they are very light producers, making necessary the purchase of gas elsewhere.

SCHOOL ACCOUNTING REPORT OF THE FLOYD COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION FOR THE SCHOOL YEAR ENDING JUNE 30, 1951

Palmer L. Hall, Superintendent and Secretary; Adrian Collins, Treasurer; February 11, 1952; W. W. Roschi, Supervisor of Accounting, Department of Education.

COMMENTS

On February 11, 1952, an audit and inspection were completed of the records of the Floyd County Board of Education and those of Superintendent Palmer L. Hall and Treasurer Adrian Collins.

Scope of Audit

- 1. The official minutes were read. 2. The general fund was audited for the period July 1, 1950 to June 30, 1951. 3. The Veterans Institutional On-the-Farm Training Program Fund was audited. 4. The bond schedules were prepared and made a part of this report. 5. The insurance schedule was checked. 6. The approved salary schedule was checked. 7. The books declared unfit for use in the 1950-51 requisition were inspected and condemned.

Analysis of Findings

The official minutes of the Board of Education were neatly prepared and appeared to be complete. The general fund was audited and accepted accounting procedures were followed in maintaining this fund. The fund was audited with the aid of the following records which were properly executed and filed.

Receipts

- 1. Duplicate receipt sheets of state receipts. 2. Bank statements and deposit slips. 3. Tax collector's reports.

Disbursements

- 1. Cancelled checks. 2. Claims and invoices. 3. The approved Orders of the Treasurer. 4. The approved salary schedule.

In August, 1950, the Board of Education set up the separate account for the Veterans program. The reimbursements for the months of May, June, and July were deposited directly into this fund as have all reimbursements since that time been deposited. Even though the reimbursements were deposited directly to the special account, they were included in the receipts under Code 1060 of the general fund. Disbursements were properly made, but were included in disbursements under the general fund and the general fund balance at the end of the year reflects also the balance of the Veterans account. This has been corrected and the fund will be maintained in the approved manner.

The approved salary schedule was followed. It would appear that the Board of Education is adequately insured on its school buildings. Superintendent Hall and his staff were very cooperative during this inspection and audit.

General Financial Report

Eight Floyd Students Candidates To Graduate At Pikeville College

Pikeville, Ky., May 20 (Spl.)—Eight Floyd county students, five young women and three men, will be candidates for graduation at the 29th spring commencement, May 29, of Pikeville Junior College, it was announced today.

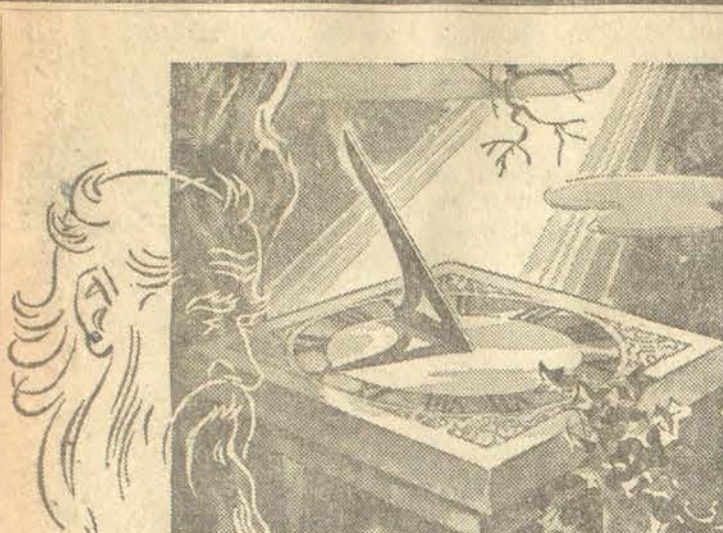

Toby Wells, Wayland, expects to be graduated from Pikeville College Academy at the same exercises, the Academy's 51st commencement, Dr. A. A. Page, college president, said.

Omer Carmichael, Louisville, superintendent of schools, will address the graduating classes, 55 college sophomores and 18 Academy seniors, in Wickham Chapel at 10 a.m. Diplomas will be conferred on both groups by Dr. Page.

Four of the Floyd countians, now enrolled in the teachers' course at Pikeville, will become eligible on graduation for the provisional elementary certificate. Three of the number, Joan Osborne Hall, of Bypro, Lillian Lowe, of Harold, and Joyce Terry, Wayland, have taught previously on "emergency" certificates.

In all, 23 members of the college class will complete the teachers course, and each will qualify for his first "legal" teacher's certificate, Dr. Page said. Thirteen have been emergency teachers. Other college graduates will receive diplomas in business, pre-medical and general courses.

The other Floyd county members of the college graduating class are Robert Burchett, Lancer; James Duff, Garrett; Betty Jackson, Mary Sue Porter and Sammie E. Wells, all of Prestonsburg.

Not a Pretty Picture

PUBLICATION by The Courier-Journal of a series of articles written by Vincent Crowdus is another of the journalistic services which has placed that newspaper among the greatest in America.

This series of articles told an unpleasant truth: that Kentuckians have so far forgotten the Biblical injunction, "Honor thy father and thy mother," that old people, no longer able to work for their families and at last needing some help themselves from their children, are being declared insane and hidden away in insane asylums to spend their last days, friendless, forgotten and miserable.

It is unpleasant for us to know that some are so heartless that they have had a surviving parent declared of unsound mind in order to gain control of the property their father or mother possessed and which they so avariciously coveted they could not wait for death to give them title.

Apparently, we have sunk far back toward the day of fang and claw. With our superior knowledge, which too often glosses over rather than cultivates the finer instincts of the human being, we are more heathen than the Chinese. The Celestial, for all his lack of what is generally recognized as the better things of life, and despite his religion which we Christians regard as heathenish, idolizes his ancestors and reveres his parents. Few aged Chinese are found in mental institutions. Even some of the aboriginal peoples are more civilized in this respect than the heartless among our moderns.

It also is unpleasant for us to learn that some doctors and courts of law have cooperated with those who want to "lose" their parents or other aged relatives. Commitment has become too promiscuous, too routine. As Mr. Crowdus has pointed out in The Courier-Journal articles, the aged lose their mental vigor through senility; the brain softens, the arteries harden. But any doctor qualified to pass on the condition of a human being should know that this does not constitute insanity. And any court should consider the principles of justice as applicable to the old and helpless as to those who are young and able-bodied.

It is not a pleasant procedure, this matter of a trial in open court for the person suspected as a mental case, but even this would be an improvement over the usual waiver of trial, inasmuch as the waiver denies the patient protection from whatever collusion there might be toward commitment to an institution for the insane.

Commitment of the aged to such institutions in order to serve the whims and purposes of relatives not only is an injustice to the victims but also works an injustice on others who truly need care and treatment in such hospitals. Thus the hospitals are overcrowded, none get the careful attention each deserves, and the state and its taxpayers are unnecessarily burdened.

The Times has heard hints of this situation for some time now. It is pleased that the story has been told. It has also heard so many stories of brutal treatment of patients from sadistic guards that the appearance of so much smoke indicates there must be some fire; and so it would welcome an authentic revelation of what takes place behind the walls of those hospitals which the official or casual visitor would never see.

We offer no scientific approach to these problems. Let the people of Kentucky know the truth—then we all will "get down to cases."

Why Conventions?

It is becoming more apparent every day that, if the voters of the United States were given an unhampered opportunity to name their choices for Presidential candidates, the nominees would be General Eisenhower and Senator Kefauver.

The appeal of both men to the individual voter is powerful. Men and women like Ike not as a hero returned from the wars but as an engaging personality, a man of broad experience, a leader of proven ability and with a knowledge of the complexities of national and international affairs. They like him, too, as one removed from the nether extremes of political thinking.

Estes Kefauver appeals to the honorable instincts of the people because it was his leadership of an investigation which discovered dishonesty in government in spots and an arm-in-arm partnership between the underworld and officialdom. They like him because he let the chips fall. As they see and hear more of him, they like him for those attributes of mind and character which indicate he would give the country the sound, just government it needs.

For all that, neither of the men may be named by his party at the coming Presidential conventions. State conventions where the machine works most efficiently are lining up delegates for others. Senator Taft is a formidable adversary of General Eisenhower's. Already, without risking his chances in a single state primary, W. Averill Harriman has almost as many pledged Democratic delegates as Senator Kefauver.

In short, the party bigwigs want neither Eisenhower nor Kefauver.

But what of the people? Floyd county Democrats last Saturday chose delegates to the district convention in Louisville. Only a small group of Democrats attended this alleged mass meeting. How well, as a result, will the wishes of the people be respected?

Why not the nomination of Presidential candidates by popular vote?

More than 100 million tons of bituminous coal will be used to produce coke for the nation's steel mills in 1952.

NEW CUMBERLAND LAKE CAMP AWAITS JUNIOR CLUB YOUTHS

Special to The Times

Frankfort, Ky., May 19 — It's camping time again for Kentucky's Junior Conservation Club members. For the seventh year in a row the Juniors who have qualified will be privileged to attend one of the two Junior camps, either at Kentucky Lake or Cumberland Lake, for a one-week stay with most of the expenses and arrangements being provided by the Division of Game and Fish.

A brand new camp will be furnished the youngsters who visit Cumberland Lake this year. This camp has been transferred from the Dale Hollow site and all is in readiness for the grand opening on June 2. The camp will continue through 11 weeks and a total of 2,140 boys have been signed up for this camp alone. At Kentucky Lake Camp Currie will open one week earlier, on May 26, and continue for 12 weeks. For this camp 1,480 boys have been signed.

This total of 3,620 boys have made themselves eligible for the one week stay by having taken an active part in conservation teachings in their respective school for the past school year. It costs the youngsters only $7.50 for his week's stay, and that to help pay for his food. The sponsoring senior club furnishes the transportation and the Division of Game and Fish offers the program and bears all other expenses.

Almost 100 more boys have signed for the camps this year than were present last year, and this is in line with previous years. Each succeeding year has seen more and more boys participate in the summer outing and study.

The Cumberland Lake camp, situated out of Monticello on Harmon Creek, has a recreation and dining room, a barracks for personnel, tents to accommodate eight boys and a counselor, and a waterfront complete in every detail. All these things already have been established at Camp Currie. At both camps the waterfront is under the direction of certified Red Cross instructors and the rifle range is manned by personnel approved by the National Rifle Association. Each phase of activity is under the direction of persons skilled in that particular field.

For meritorious achievement a patch is given each youngster who satisfactorily completes the course in each of 15 classes. A boy may earn patches in the following: Casting, farm pond, first aid, fish identifications, game and fish laws, insects, mammals, muskeet, motor boat, rifle, rowing, swimming, trapping and tree identification.

Boys from part of the Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth and Ninth districts will attend the Cumberland Lake Camp. The District Wildlife and Junior Club Supervisors will be in charge of the program during the week their boys attend camp. The Conservation Officer in each county is in charge of the boys from his county at camp.

SEVEN FROM FLOYD COUNTY NAMED FOR U. OF K. AWARDS

Approximately 700 University of Kentucky students were recognized for outstanding academic and leadership achievements at the school's annual Honors Day program last week at Memorial Coliseum. Principal speaker at the program was the Rev. William R. Moody, bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Lexington.

Inaugurated six years ago as a means of encouraging and recognizing scholarship in the University's seven colleges and graduate school, Honors Day now gives annual recognition to all students possessing a cumulative standing of 2.3 or higher, winners of scholarships and other academic awards and members of various campus honorary and service organizations.

the convocation, and Dr. Leo M. Chamberlain, vice president presented the honored groups.

The names of many of the students honored at the program already have been announced by individual societies, and most of the women students recognized were feted recently at the school's annual "Stars in the Night" program.

Winners of the year's major prizes and awards based on scholarship, unannounced previously, include seven from Floyd county:

College of Engineering: John William Crawford, David; Paul Gene Hall, Prestonsburg; John Elmer Vaughan, Prestonsburg; Jesse Lee Wright, West Prestonsburg.

KENTUCKY ON THE MARCH

By EWING GALLOWAY

Today's little essay is about hogs' noses. But not about the olfactory nerves in swine's proboscises, although sense of smell may be involved incidentally. What we are concerned about is the destructive capacity of a hog's nose. Whether a hog uses its sense of smell, sight or taste when rooting for earthworms is not very important to farmers with good pastures. It is the fact that Mr. Hawg roots.

Recently a neighbors' big drove of brood sows got into one of his cattle pastures through a gate left open or a hole under the fence. A warm rain had softened the turf and earthworms were up near the surface. The farmer was away two days, and in that time they literally destroyed his pasture. The damage was all the worse because the field was permanent pasture.

Last fall four or five sows got into one of our fields and stayed perhaps half a day. In that short time they must have destroyed more than an acre of bluegrass. The sows belonged to a neighbor. I didn't complain because the hole in the line fence through which the hogs passed may have been my responsibility. Fifty-fifty, anyway.

I learned a long time ago that if you expect to keep a pasture you had better ring your hogs at weaning time, again when they are between 100 and 150 pounds, then watch them every day for missing rings. Our men are always on the lookout for a rooting hog, particularly brood sows, which have got rid of their rings. I insist that a tough old brood sow can destroy an acre of good grass in 24 hours. When we see one rooting we drop everything and run for the nose rings. We don't let hogs run on our bluegrass pastures. They are kept on small hog pastures, but it is almost as important proportionately to protect these small fields as the cattle pastures.

A farmer who lets hogs run on his permanent pastures soon won't have any permanent grazing land. He certainly won't have grass long enough to win an Oscar from the Green Pastures Program.

And the cattle or sheep raiser who fails to clip the weeds and wild grass off his pastures doesn't stand a much better chance than the pasture owner who lets unringed hogs run on his grass.

Broom sedge grows rank nearly all over Kentucky and will take other grasses in a few years if it is not clipped in autumn when it grows fastest and goes to seed. It ought to be clipped twice, the last time toward the end of October. Three mowings wouldn't be too much. The blamcd stuff sometimes grows until December 1.

We hear that a potash deficiency is to blame for broom sedge. And I have heard a good sweetening with lime will stop it. We have used both treatments, though the potash wasn't put on haevily.

Maybe somebody will hit upon a formula for stopping broom sedge as effectively as chlorate of soda will eradicate Johnson grass. If some fellow will come forward with a chemical for killing broom sedge without harming other grasses, if another will invent a better hog ring, and a third will give us a better rat trap, I'll ask that their images be placed in the Hall of Fame.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION TICKET FOR KENTUCKY'S YOUTH GOVERNOR CONLEY IS SCARCE ITEM, FLOYD CHAIRMAN LEARNS

Efforts to get a ticket to the National Republican convention if you are not a delegate or alternate posed quite a problem for those seeking to send Kentucky Youth Governor Franklin D. Conley as an observer, it was learned here.

Seventh district Republicans in convention at Paintsville, April 12, wrote into the resolutions that Conley should go along to the national convention as a guest of the Kentucky delegation. But guests need tickets and William Darby, county Republican chairman, has interested himself in procuring the necessary admission.

First Darby wrote John Sherman Cooper. He assured complete co-operation and brought the matter to the attention of Representative Thurston Morton, Louisville, of the Republican state central committee, and Representative Golden of the Ninth Kentucky Congressional district. Morton assured aid but said the state central committee had the authority to distribute the tickets. Golden, aware of the Seventh district Republican resolutions, advised that he would take the matter up with the State Central Committee.

Having been assured of this commanding co-operation Darby wrote Senator Robert A. Taft. Taft was just as hard put for tickets as anyone else, for he advised that each candidate for President was allowed only 10 tickets, and that these would not take care of his immediate family.

But it seems that Conley will get to the convention anyway, for E. R. Denny, state chairman of the Republican state central committee and himself a delegate, writes, evidently as a result of Cooper's co-operation that: "Those who have tickets have agreed to share them. So if Mr. Conley gets to the convention we certainly shall see that he gets to be present at least part of the time. Even though I am a delegate I will be glad to share my privileges with him."

EFFICIENT
Only a little over 7/10 of a pound of coal is used to yield one kilowatt-hour of electricity at the new Philip Sporn station of the American Gas & Electric Co., on the Ohio River—the highest fuel efficiency of any plant of its kind in the U. S.

Iowa and Brazil produced approximately the same amounts of bituminous coal in 1951—about 2 million tons.

Chemical Plant in W.Va. Heralds New Development in Coal Industry

(Special to The Times)
Washington, May 22—Another industrial use for bituminous coal has been introduced with the opening of a plant in Institute, W. Va., to produce chemicals through hydrogenation, a process in which coal is pulverized and combined with hydrogen under extreme pressure. The process is not new, having been used for some years as a method of producing gasoline, but this is the first time it has been proposed to employ it with chemicals as the primary object.

Eventually, hydrogen could conceivably supplant carbonization as the foremost source of valuable coal derivatives that include explosives, sulfur drugs, plastics, nylons, and scores of other items in peacetime and wartime. In carbonization, the chemicals come from vapors and tar that are distilled in ovens where the coal is baked without air to produce coke for steel mills. But the markets for chemicals have in some cases greatly outweighed the supply, particularly with respect to benzene, toluene, and other substances that have been in heavy demand since the beginning of the war in Korea.

The new hydrogenation plant, located in the rich bituminous coal-bearing region of Kanawha county, W. Va., was erected at a cost of $11 million by a subsidiary of Union Carbide & Carbon Corporation, which, according to Business Week magazine, sees a piece of coal as "a complex bundle of chemicals with a steady, growing market." Explaining that hydrogenation produces both liquid fuel and various coal chemicals, the Business Week report continues:

"Carbide is interested only in the chemicals, not the fuel. It can already look to wide markets for any chemicals it gets out of the hydrogenation process. These markets have been eager for coal chemicals in the past, and they're already looking for bigger and more dependable sources of supply. Among them are auto finishes, bug bombs, laminating resins, mildew proofing agents, insulating agents, dyes, pigments, process chemicals, plastics, tanning and lubricating oils, perfume, amino acids, and niacin."

Time magazine refers to an "endless stream of new medicines and drugs, long-wearing and fire-proof fabrics, new paints and detergents, better weed-killers and insecticides" that will come from the coal chemicals produced at Institute. Actually, Carbide's "chemical factory" is considered a pilot plant intended to pioneer developments from which an entirely new industry will arise, yet its processing of 5,500 tons of coal daily is expected to make the plant a sound operational investment. It is described by Time as "the only commercial plant in the world that uses coal as a direct raw material for producing chemicals."

SOIL CONSERVATION
By L. R. JOHNSON
Soil Conservation Service

Dockie Ousley, of the Blue River community, constructed 450 feet of diversion ditch with his tractor and plow.

Jack Morrison, of Johns Creek, constructed 150 feet of diversion channel with one horse and plow.

Joe Burchett, of Sugar Loaf neighborhood, seeded one acre of sericea lespedeza as an experimental plot.

Joe Hicks, of Blue River, has his tile drainage project almost completed.

Contour cultivation is a practice that all farmers should follow even on land that is two or three percent slope, and that is called bottom land.

Plowing, planting, cultivation, and harvesting sloping fields is farming on the contour, around hillsides with curving, furrows to fit the lay of the land. The curved furrows catch rainfall and allows much of it to soak into the ground. This conserves water and reduces the amount of soil that is washed away. Part of the water that soaks into the soil is used later by crops, thus resulting in an increased production of pounds or bushels.

If you want to plant your crops on the contour, call the soil conservation office.
