ATTENTION, MR. JEWEL D. FITZPATRICK

I was very much concerned upon reading your handbill and upon reading your statement in the July 6 issue of The Floyd County Times.

Contrary to your statement, I do think that the office of Constable is important to the people: First, it isn't the Constable's duty (or any other officer's duty) to afford protection to lawless elements, but it is his duty to bring these law-violators to court and see to it that they are duly prosecuted. Sir, a law violator is such, regardless of his age. If a criminal act is committed it is the law officer's duty to clean up the case, not "rake-up" the case. Secondly, just what would you do when the time comes (and it surely would, if you were the Constable) when you were confronted with a criminal and you had to arrest said violator? Would you do so or would you violate the oath which every Constable takes upon officially entering his office? I'm afraid that you, the candidate for Constable—District No. 1, fail to recognize that if elected to the Constable's office, that you automatically become a public servant subject to protect the taxpayer at any time; your oath of office proves this.

I have had many contacts with law officers throughout the state of Kentucky and I know that the Constable's office is important and certainly far from a pension job. If you have all the handicaps that you claim you have, then I personally feel (and I think that I merit being a critic, at this point) that you, Mr. Jewel D. Fitzpatrick, cannot meet the qualifications of a law officer, especially that of High Constable, District No. 1, Floyd county, Ky.

"Stinky," I am writing this to you because as a voter, I feel that the Constable should commit himself to the prescribed duties of his office. If this office is as unimportant as you say (I do not agree with you) then I think that it should now and forever be abolished, certainly never to be used as a pension at the expense of us taxpayers.

I will support in the coming Constable's race any man whose moral qualifications, and ethics, depicts that of a deserving candidate and, until this man is found, I will support no one.

FOR SALE OR TRADE—30-acre farm. New 5-room house, bath, lights, water, gas. Barn, brooder house, other outbuildings. 30 or 40 fruit trees. On good road. HANSFORD MAY, Realtor, Phone 7361 and 6471, Prestonsburg. 7-24-tf.

UNUSUAL BARGAIN—Trane upright 3-ton air conditioning unit which cost $2,000, used less than 10 days, for $800 cash. Reason for sale: was purchased for my two-story home which is so constructed that no air conditioner can be effective. This I learned too late to save the money I invested. Unit especially adapted to cool store, bank, church or similar structure. See FRED MARTIN, Sandy Valley Motor Court, Phone 2183, Prestonsburg. 7-24-tf.

What Is There and Might Be Here

ALTHOUGH it is fairly certain that this section of Kentucky will get little consideration as the site of the proposed new atomic energy plant planned for the Kentucky-Ohio-Indiana area, we are not prohibited from wishing and thinking on what might be.

Life Magazine in a recent number made its lead story that of the development of Paducah. There things had been on the quiet side for a quarter of a century till work began on the half-billion-dollar atomic energy plant. The things that are happening there now show what could be expected for the Ashland area, which includes the Big Sandy valley, if this plant most recently proposed were located there.

To the east of Paducah, four big private chemical corporations are building new plants. To the north of the city is a third great new development—the construction of new electric generating plants to supply power that will be needed to operate this new industrial giant. And these power plants will use coal for the production of electricity.

Meanwhile, Eastern Kentucky coal languishes—desperately needing some such market as is being provided those more fortunate operations in the nether end of the Commonwealth.

Thus Western Kentucky coal literally "has it made." For this unfortunate position which we occupy we ourselves perhaps are to blame. We present a weak front; the effort we make is timid, half-hearted and poorly coordinated. One community shows considerable interest, others are interested but in a passive sort of way. A "piece" in the newspapers, a resolution here and there, and we have done our part, we apparently think.

When there was a chance for Big Sandy river canalization in the days of Ex-Congressman A. J. May's chairmanship of the Military Affairs committee in the national House of Representatives, many thousands of persons were deeply interested, and a few individuals fought valiantly for the project. But the two groups which could have given the move just that extra shove needed to put the project across—the coal operators themselves and the United Mine Workers—joined the forces fighting canalization.

The Times is not indulging in recriminations when it reviews this and our other failures. It turns back the pages merely to show the absolute necessity for unity of purpose and for aggressive action on the part of all of us if we are ever to claim for this section the things which will stabilize it industrially as it should be.

TO THE VOTERS OF FLOYD COUNTY:

As I will be unable to see all the voters of Floyd county personally, I wish to take this means to tell you what I will stand for if elected CORONER.

Since the County Judge and the four Magistrates of the four districts of the county have the right, they can and will hold all inquests that may be needed in automobile accidents and drowning cases where there are witnesses present, limiting the duties of a Coroner to questionable deaths only. This will save the taxpayers $12 per inquest.

As I am not obligated or affiliated with any funeral home, the family of the deceased shall have the right to select the funeral home of their choice to take care of their loved ones, and if examination is necessary in the funeral home it will be made in the one which they choose.

If my platform deserves your influence and support, I earnestly solicit your vote.

Very truly yours,
MACK HARMON

WE POINT WITH ENVY
It does pay to do a good job of it, even if the boss doesn't stuff your pockets with do-re-mi and the public fails to deafen your ears with hosannas.

We point with considerable envy in the direction of Miss Mary I. Spilman, teacher of biology at Pikeville College, who has gone the even tenor of her ways for 34 years now, guiding youngsters over the rough spots in the Pikeville school and generally doing a good job of all of it, with as little fanfare as possible.

Came the day—last May Day, to be exact—when Miss Spilman learned how deeply her students, new and old, appreciated her. Her former students gave her an expense-paid vacation trip.

Here's why we stand by, green with envy in spots where we aren't blistered red: This all-expense-paid trip of the lady's is to Alaska, a 12-day steamer cruise of the "Inside Passage." Where it's cool, or at least it's supposed to be.

The weather being what it is, I would, if given a chance at a vacation, expense-paid or otherwise, head north and not still I heard somebody yell "Mush!"

WE MUST VOTE
This week the Democrats take their turn at saving the nation. Between now and November both sides will be doing their damndest to tear down the people's confidence in the Republic's ability to survive unless this or that candidate is elected. That leaves it up to every one of us to go to the polls and see if we can't do our bit toward reconstruction.

Wetherby Names 7 To Floyd Committee For Social Service

Governor Lawrence Wetherby announced the appointment of a seven-member social service committee for Floyd county. The committee, appointed under an Act passed at the 1952 session of the General Assembly, supplants the group which has served since October, 1951, under an administrative order of Commissioner V. E. Barnes, of the Economic Security department.

The Governor said County Judge Henry Stumbo will serve as a member and as chairman of the committee so long as he remains in office. However, Judge Stumbo may designate a member of the fiscal court to serve in his stead if he so desires. Members appointed for four-year terms beginning July 1 include E. P. Grigsby, Howard Church, W. M. Crawford, Henry Hale, Sarah Stephenn, Betty Stephens.

The Floyd county Social Services committee will serve in an advisory capacity in connection with local administration of the public assistance and child welfare programs. Governor Wetherby said. The committee is authorized by law to review public assistance and child welfare rolls and administrative activities, and may at any time make recommendations in connection with public assistance operations to the Commissioner of Economic Security, and in connection with child welfare to the Commissioner of Welfare, the Governor said.

Coke ovens, as a group, are now the largest consumers of bituminous coal.

Bituminous coal accounted for about one-fifth of the total value of minerals produced in 1951.

The Norfolk & Western Railway hauled 48½ million tons of bituminous coal in 1951.

than full time will receive lower monthly rates. Top monthly rates for on the job trainees are $70 without dependents, $85 with one dependent, and $105 with more than one dependent. The maximum for institutional on farm trainees are $95, $110 and $130, respectively. The law also specifies that veterans taking institutional on farm training must devote full time to their program. The new GI Bill places a $310 a month ceiling on job training, regardless of dependency status. Should a veteran's training allowance exceed that amount VA will reduce the allowance accordingly. There is no ceiling, however, on what he may earn.

The loan provisions of the new GI Bill for post Korean veterans are similar to the GI Loan Program now in effect for World War II veterans. Some changes have been made, however, to protect the interests of home buying veterans. The amount of VA guarantee on a loan is the same for both groups of veterans. Home loans may be guaranteed for up to 60 percent of the loan, but the guaranteed portion may not exceed $7,500. Other real estate loans may be guaranteed up to 50 percent, with a $4,000 top. And non-real estate, such as GI business loans, may be guaranteed up to 50 percent with a $2,000 ceiling on the guarantee. All such loans also may be insured. VA's Direct Loan Program, now in effect for World War II veterans, has been extended to veterans who served since Korea. Under the program, VA may make loans directly to veterans but only in certain areas where four percent GI loan money is not available.

The new GI Bill's unemployment compensation program administered through State Employment Security Agencies, by the U. S. Department of Labor, provides unemployed post Korean veterans with payment of $26 a week, up to a total of 26 weeks. The top amount that any veteran can get, therefore is $676. The unemployment program takes effect 90 days from now. It has been tied in with the new laws mustering out program in the following way. A veteran entitled to $100 mustering out pay cannot get unemployment compensation until 90 days after discharge or 90 days from now, the effective date of the program whichever is later. A veteran who gets $200 mustering out pay has to wait until 60 days after discharge or 90 days from now, while one who received $300 must wait either 90 days after discharge or 90 days after this date, whichever comes later.

The mustering out payments, provided for in the new GI Bill will be made at time of discharge to any one who served in the rank of Captain or less in the Army or Air Force, or as a lieutenant, Senior Grade, or less in the Navy.

Payments are $300 for those with at least 60 days service who were on active duty outside the USA or Alaska, and $100 for those who spent less than 60 days on active duty. Veterans eligible for $300 will get $100 upon discharge, $100 a month later, and $100 a month after that. Those who are to receive $200 will get $100 at discharge and the remainder a month later. And veterans eligible for only $100 will be paid that amount all at once.

The new GI Bill extends job finding assistance to veterans with service after the start of Korean hostilities, on the same basis as veterans of World War II. The help includes job counseling and employment placement services of the Veterans Employment Service, a part of the U. S. Employment Service.

Veterans were reminded that the last three benefits of the new GI Bill, unemployment compensation, mustering out pay, and job hunting aid are not administered by the Veterans Administration. So veterans should not write VA about them, if they want further information or have questions to be answered, instead they should correspond directly with the agency concerned.

The deadline for loans for veterans with service after Korea is 10 years after the present emergency comes to an end. The deadline for World War II veterans who have not gone back on active duty is 7-5-57. Finally, the deadline for unemployment compensation under the new law will be five years after the end of the emergency period. The date on which the present emergency comes to an end is one that has to be determined either by Presidential Proclamation or by Concurrent Resolution of Congress.

11 Men in a Hole

(Reprinted by special permission of The Catholic Digest, this article, as originally illustrated, showed Goble Branham, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Goble Branham, Sr., of West Prestonsburg, in a bunker occupied by the 11.)

A bunker is a hole in the ground covered with logs and dirt.

From the outside it looks like part of the frozen hill, except for a smoking stovepipe sticking out of the ground and a small trench in front of the entrance.

Hidden on the ridge of the steep hill, it overlooks a broad valley of abandoned rice paddies, shattered villages and frozen streams. This is no-man's-land where hundreds of men have died in the hot "cold war" of Korea.

Small bands of men from opposite sides of the valley venture into the wasteland daily to seek their prey: each other. We don't want the territory, but there's a war going on and men must fight and die.

You stand near the entrance to the bunker and look at the broken trees and twisted limbs around you. Wonder how many men died here?

Three miles across the valley you see the Chinese hills. There are bunkers there, too, but you can't see them. You wonder what the men in those bunkers are doing, what they're thinking.

Then you turn toward the bunker near you, push aside a heavy straw mat hanging over the door and enter. It's 6 p.m.

You see four dirt walls lined with log bunks. Telephone wire has been stretched between the logs for springs. Mats made of rice straw are spread across them for mattresses.

A few inches above your head is the log ceiling, sealed with tar paper. On tin-can holders nailed to log poles supporting the roof, two flickering candles light the hole in the ground. Over one bunk in the corner of the room a picture of a girl hangs from one of the logs in the ceiling.

In the center of the room is a crude gasoline stove made out of a metal mortar shell container with artillery shells for a stovepipe. Standing around the stove are ten dirty-faced infantrymen.

It's been a hard day—digging trenches, laying mines, stringing barbed wire, walking miles on a patrol through the valley and getting shot at by Chinese snipers.

No one is talking. The heat feels good after being out in the cold all day. What more would you want, besides sleep? When you talk, it's about the things around you, and you'd like to get away from it all.

"Whataya think of this belt I got off that dead Chinese?" asks a chubby soldier, holding up a brown leather belt. "Kinda cheap, ain't it?"

"Yeah."

An icy gust of wind whips into the room as the mat swings open and a tall man walks in. His hood is tied tightly about his head, but his eyes are watery and his nose is red from the cold.

"It's snowing outside," he announces, crowding in to warm his hands by the stove.

"Good night for an ambush patrol—no moon."

"If it's a good night for us, it's a good night for Old Joe, too."

After rubbing his hands together a few times over the stove, the newcomer makes another announcement: "It's time we headed for the outpost."

It doesn't sound like an ominous remark, but it is.

Three men grumble and drag their heavy coats off their bunks and start putting them on. It's their turn tonight.

On a cold, windy knoll several hundred feet in front of the company's line they must stay awake all night and watch for enemy patrols.

After buttoning their coats, strapping ammunition belts around their waists, flopping weighty steel helmets on their heads, they grab rifles from the corner and start for the door, followed by the newcomer.

"See you boys in the morning about six."

"Hope you all don't run into anything," says Chubby, who has a smile on his face even when he's serious. Then he jibes, "We'll do our best to keep the fire warm for you!"

The door flaps and they are gone.

"Boy, you get so cold out there you dern near freeze," says a man near the stove. "Sometimes you don't care whether the Chinese are there or not."

Nobody wants to talk.

A cool splash interrupts the silence finally as a man pours his helmet full of water and carefully places it on the stove. Water is a luxury in the bunker, because it must be carried up the steep hill from the mess tent below.

"Let me use that water when you're through," Chubby says.

"It'll be plenty dirty."

That's all right. It'll get most of the dirt off."

The squad leader who has been slowly puffing his pipe and watching the flames flick out the holes in the stove, walks over to the candlelight. He pulls a worn letter out of his pocket, opens it and starts to read. The pipe is in his mouth, but he doesn't puff. He reads and smiles.

A man stretches out on a bunk. His face is unshaven, emphasizing his large, sad eyes.

Chubby and the rest stay near the warm stove.

"We ought to pull out of here," says the man on the bunk. "It's not worth fighting for."

"I'd rather fight 'em here than in the States," retorts Chubby.

The door flap opens again and a man wearing a snow-covered parka enters. He doesn't bother to brush off the snow.

No one greets him. The man on the bunk stares at the straw mat and the leader continues to read his old letter. The others still toast their hands around the stove.

"We're on alert tonight," says the man in the parka. "They saw commies on the move today."

The squad leader looks up from his letter, folds it and puts it in his pocket. "Been quiet tonight," he says. "Gets on your nerves."

"If Old Joe's coming, he'll be here tonight. You can't see ten feet in front of you out there."

"When did all this alert stuff start?" complains the man on the bunk.

"The captain told me. He got orders from the colonel."

"I only got three hours sleep last night!"

"Well, you'll lose more sleep tonight," says the squad leader sternly. Come on, let's get goin', time for the first watch."

After five minutes of bundling up, the squad leader, the man on the bunk and one other join the way out of the bunker.

Four men are left in the hole.

Two men lie on their bunks, eyes closed in half-sleep. One sits on the edge of a bunk writing a letter, a faint smile on his face as he writes. Another is sprawled on the floor reading comic books, no smile—just an expression of deep interest.

Dirt drifts down from the wall, falling on a bunk.

"Damn that rat," murmurs one of the men, his eyes still closed.

"Y'know, rats are kinda like the Chinese—always diggin' holes," says the other.

Silence. Only the rumble of flames in the stove, the flip of comic book pages and the scratch of pen on paper.

In the distance you hear a dull explosion. You step outside the door and look around. All is quiet. The snow is still falling. The ground is white.

You go back into the bunker, sit on a water can near the stove and wait.

You wonder if a mortar shell could come through the top of this thing. No, probably not. Mortars don't cut through dirt that deep. It would have to be a direct hit by artillery.

As the time passes, you ask yourself—like the rest—what you're doing on top of a hill in North Korea on a snowy night.

Then the squad leader comes back from the gun positions to wake his relief.

"They're catching fire on both sides of us," he says. "Sounds like mortars. Come on, men, up and at 'em."

You hear their footsteps crunch in the snow as they walk away from the bunker. Ten minutes later, the squad leader is back with his first watch and they are warning themselves around the stove again.

"Boy, is it cold."

"Yeah. A long two hours."

They stand there a few minutes, then take off their rubber boots and crawl into their sleeping bags, their clothes still on.

"There's nothing like sleeping bags. They're the best thing a guy could have."

The candles are out. Weird shadows from the flames in the stove dance on the walls. Dirt trickles down again from the rat's tunnel. They sleep two hours.

the $50,000 investment over a period of 25 to 30 years.

If Prestonsburg should draw on the lake for its water supply, it would thus create a strong appeal to industries and new residents, it has been held in recent discussion in which it has been pointed out the town would have an uncontaminated water supply such as no other community in this part of Kentucky possesses.

Mayor Clark said the water system here is now operating at 90 percent capacity. He said about 40 residences and business buildings have been constructed here within the last year. To the extra consumption of water caused by this construction has been added water used by air conditioning units in business houses. One of these heavy units consume as much water, the Mayor said he had been told, as 10 residences require.

The Mayor said the committee also had been asked to procure an estimate on cost of a floodgate here and the elimination of the cesspool created by a main city sewer emptying into a hollow near the river.

The Council revoked its previous instructions to police which forbade the officers from chasing reckless or drunken drivers beyond the city limits. The new orders are to continue the chase till such offenders are captured.

Great American Sport Led To International Romance

Sgt. Derossett and bride at chapel wedding in Frankfurt, Germany.

The adage says, "Love laughs at locksmiths," but it doesn't say how long it must wait before laughing.

Sgt. Sol Derossett, Jr., of Prestonsburg, and his pretty German bride had to wait two years, mainly because the locksmith was in the form of ironclad army regulations.

It all started one day with the desire of Rose Marie Fless, secretary-administrative clerk at the 97th General hospital, Frankfurt Germany, to see the American national game, baseball. She had no way to get there. Military flat forbade American soldiers from taking German nationals.

But Sgt. Derossett took a chance. He took the blonde, blue-eyed frau-lein in his jeep to the game. And so a romance was born. "It was love at first sight," his bride of five months recalls.

But there was more army redtape to overcome. No American soldier may marry a German girl earlier than three months prior to rotation. So it was two years before the young couple received permission to wed. You listen to Mrs. Derossett tell the story and discuss conditions in Germany and avow her delight with America and Kentucky in particular, always in perfect English, with seldom a trace of accent, and you wonder how she has in so brief a period mastered the language and its different inflections. There is none of the reticence of the ordinary visitor from other lands in her manner. She is as much at ease here as any American college girl.

During the war Mrs. Derossett was in school, attending college at Wiesbaden. School ended for her in 1945, because the schools closed. "The worst years," she recalls, "were from 1944 to 1948."

Her father, an automobile parts manufacturer, died in 1938, and when her two brothers were conscripted into the German army her mother sold the business at the beginning of World War II.

One of these brothers was a prisoner of war and was in a POW camp in Aalabama. "He wants to come back to America," she said. She wouldn't say he wanted to return to Alabama, however. "Everybody dreams of going to America to find freedom and liberty," she added. Her other brother and four sisters are also in Germany.

"Germans agree that Hitler isn't dead," Mrs. Derossett said while she and her husband visited his relatives here last week. She said they based this belief partly on the fact that a German submarine, fully equipped but unarmed, was found off the coast of Patagonia at about the time his death was reported. "We thought he went crazy with power," she said. "At first, the people were solidly behind him, because he was building up the country." Of the futility of war she spoke briefly. "Mother saw the boys were dying for nothing."

Parts of Cologne, city of her birth, are still without water, but Frankfurt is getting it.

To the Voters of Magisteral Dist. No. 1:

Since the Attorney General has ruled that the first ballot printed for the coming primary election must be used, my name will appear before the voters at this election as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Constable in District No. 1. This will be so, despite the fact that I withdrew from the race, soon after announcing.

I withdrew from the race of my own free will and without solicitation from any one. I quit when I considered the case of Jewell D. "Stinky" Fitzpatrick, who is almost blind and unable to earn a living by working as I and others who are candidates for the office can. This was my only reason for withdrawing, and I still contend that able-bodied men should not ask for this office, which is of so little importance, when it can as well, and possibly better, be filled by somebody who cannot get out and earn a living with his hands as others can.

So, if you will, just forget me at this election, and give your votes to the boy who deserves and needs help and who will not make a racket of the Constable's office. This young man is Jewell D. Fitzpatrick.

Sincerely,
CHARLIE LAFFERTY

IT'S A GOOD WORLD

BY WILMAY

We are down here in God's country. "Now where is that?" someone asks. Home is God's country to everyone; and Poplarville, Miss., in this case. It's good to be here. Few treats compare with visiting relatives and seeing old friends.

Wednesday, we saw an old college mate, Dixie Clanton, who teaches in Pearl River College here. In 1924 we were delegates together to the World Student volunteer convention from our college, Mississippi Southern, which we visited Tuesday. It's the place where Russell Hunley, Jr., of Prestonsburg, is now increasing the name of Floyd county, and the campus is always beautiful. Last night we were one of 20,000 to hear Billy Graham in Jackson, and words fail to describe it. The opening words of his prayer, "Lord, hide the speaker behind the Cross," did just that. What power he has! How America needs the gospel as he so fearlessly gives it.

We hope later on to give a resume of his sermon, expressed in words so simple a child can understand all of it. What a privilege it was to hear him and not be disappointed in any way. In bygone days we had enjoyed hearing Dr. Geo. W. Truett, Dr. L. R. Scarborough, Dr. E. Z. Mullins, Dr. M. E. Dodd, Gypsy Smith and other outstanding ministers and evangelists, but not one surpassed the youthful newcomer who so recently appeared on the horizon, to be quietly recognized as the greatest preacher of the present age.

We also heard Dr. J. D. Grey, president of the Southern Baptist Convention, and Sunday we hear our favorite, F. W. Gumm, of Poplarville.

We are having a quiet Fourth on a big lake nearby. Next week, we go to New Orleans for a day. May run into Eddie and Olva Davis, of Martin, who are now there. And then a day at Biloxi and Gulfport. The coast is about 40 miles from my sister's home.

Coming down, we saw Rock City in Chattanooga. No tourist should miss it. This rendezvous shows what one individual with vision can do. Every child in America should be shown Fairyland in Rock City.

In travel, we stopped a moment to say, "Hi," to Mr. John E. May, who left Floyd county about 40 years ago. He and E.R. have a strong family resemblance. He was overjoyed to hear that his Uncle Jack had been re-admitted to the bar. One of his sons is named for Ex-Congressman May.

The South is heavily anti-Truman and for many reasons other than the question of civil rights.

W'Wright Jrs. Win Over Tom Cat Nine

Wheelwright, Ky., July 21 (Spl.)—The Wheelwright Junior baseball team rolled over the Ashland Tom Cats, 6 to 1, for its 20th straight win in a game played at Wheelwright Friday night, July 11.

Some 300 yelling fans watched these youngsters play a man's type of baseball in downing this strong team from Ashland.

Ashland won the Boyd county championship and had lost only two games till this meeting with the Juniors but they soon found that the boys from Left Beaver knew what to do with a baseball.

Vonda Lee Hall pitched his 11th win in downing Ashland. Watson was the loser. It was his second loss this year.

The Juniors will meet the Tom Cats in a return game at Ashland, July 27.

The Juniors also downed a strong Drift nine by the score of 4 to 1. Goines was the loser, although he sent 16 of the Juniors to the water pail. After his excellent pitching, it was a shame he couldn't win but his team collected five hits off Tommy Roberts. The Juniors didn't hit often but they hit hard. Of their seven hits off Goines, there was only one single. The others were extra base blows, with Dan Wallen firing the big gun with a home run in the first inning.

To date, the Juniors have won 23 out of 24 ball games this season.

Thirty-one-homemakers clubs in Fayette county have an enrollment of 763 members.

"Better Get the Vet

Pure-bred cattle—sign of the South's new, balanced agriculture—mean more money for stockmen, better standards of living on the farm, a growing demand for telephones.

Farm telephone expansion has been one of Southern Bell's biggest and most important jobs for years—and today is more important than ever. It is a job that takes a lot of money, materials, experience, know-how—and time.

In just the past 6 years we have tripled our rural telephones. We're building more and more rural lines as fast as scarce materials and defense needs permit.

Floyd County Historical Notes

By HENRY P. SCALF

Comes to hand a manuscript on the Akers family prepared by Floyd Akers of Prater Creek. The paper, especially in its closing paragraphs, is strongly reminiscent of the faith of the patriarchal Hebrew fathers. While the manuscript deals chiefly with the writer's own family there is data of general interest to others. It is reprinted below:

I was born on Prater Creek, Dana, Floyd county, Ky., near the mouth of Wm. Akers Branch and was raised to manhood on Prater Creek, date of birth, April 15, 1869. I was the son of Levi and Nancy Hall Akers, the grandson of Elijah and Peggy Hall, on the maternal side. My paternal grandparents were Davy and Polly Marshall Akers. Elijah Hall was born in 1813. Davy Akers was born near the date of 1780. My father, Levi, was born in 1823. My postoffice at the time of my birth was Laynesville, near where the present postoffice which is now called Harold, in an old log house, William Greer was postmaster when I was young. He was the son-in-law of Dr. S. M. Ferguson, who was a captain in the Civil War.

I well remember when my father died—April 12, 1899. He was buried in the Rice cemetery, and I remember the text Elder John M. Akers used from the 14th chapter of Job, 14th verse. Elder Rube Tipton's text: "I can't see him now but will see him neigh." Both were old Regular Baptist Elders. Elder Rube Tipton was born June 13, 1859; Elder John M. Akers was born Oct. 11, 1855.

My mother, Nancy Hall Akers, was born March 23, 1833; deceased Jan. 12, 1888. My father, Levi Akers, was born July 20, 1823. Both father and mother are sleeping in the Rice cemetery on Prater Creek, Dana, Ky., where my first wife and the following children are sleeping: Preston, Walker, Payton and two of my children of my first marriage are buried on Little Mud in the Kidd cemetery, to-wit: Effa and Etta.

To my first marriage were born seven children, three boys and four girls; I was married to Nana Justice, daughter of P. C. and Hannah Justice, Dec. 24, 1890. She united with the old Regular Baptist Church 1st Saturday in June, 1896, and was baptised by Elder Bill Layne. She departed this life Feb. 5, 1905. I was married to Christina Jarrell, daughter of Parks and Jane Jarrell, Dec. 23, 1907, and to this union were born seven children, four boys and three girls. She joined the old Regular Baptist Church 1st Saturday in July, 1920, and departed this life April 23, 1946. Four of her children preceded her in death, and three survive.

I was married to Mary E. Hunter, Oct. 5, 1946. At present I have 63 grandchildren and great-grandchildren; and I request that when I am gone, to be buried in the Rice cemetery on Prater Creek. My choice of ministers to preach my funeral are: first, Elder Willard Akers; second, Elder Tack Hall; third, Elder Banner Manns and fourth, Elder Johnnie Hall. The opening song to be, "There Is a Call for You, My Friends," composed by my kinsman, Stephen Akers.

Children of first marriage:
Effa E., born Oct. 12, 1892, died Feb. 19, 1930; John M. (Preston), born March 8, 1894, died June 14, 1928; Kenas Walker, born Dec. 28, 1895, died April 2, 1937; Levi Payton, born April 15, 1898, died Nov. 1, 1923; Mary Etty, born Feb. 27, 1900, died May 16, 1936; Minnie E., born April 10, 1902, living; Ada A., born Sept. 1, 1904, living.

Children of second marriage:
Oka Akers, born Feb. 8, 1907, died May 10, 1907; Anna J. Akers, born Feb. 14, 1908, living; Jeffa L., born March 23, 1910, living; Sheridan, born Feb. 4, 1912, died Aug. 21, 1923; Julia, born June 15, 1914, died Oct. 4, 1931; Bertha May, born June 19, 1916, living; Matt, born Dec. 6, 1918, died July 26, 1919.

Effa E. professed a hope of Christ and joined the Christian Church and was baptised by Rev. T. P. Meade and lived a devoted life until death.

John M. Preston joined the old Regular Baptist Church 1st Saturday in May, 1925, and was baptised by Elder Elbert Hamilton into the fellowship of the New Salem Church, Harold, Ky. Obituary on page 29, minutes of the 103rd session of New Salem Association.

Kenis Walker joined the old Regular Baptist Church and was baptised into the fellowship of the New Salem Church, Harold, Ky., by Elder John M. Akers, assisted by Bro. Rascoe Layne. Obituary on page 32, minutes of the 130th session of New Salem Association.

Levi Payton: Joined the old Regular Baptist Church July 29, 1922, and was baptised by John M. Akers, assisted by Deacon A. J. Akers, into New Salem Church. Obituary on page 15, minutes of the 98th session of New Salem Association.

Mary Etta: professed a hope in Christ and joined the Freewill Baptist Church, was baptised, and lived a devout life until death.

Julia Akers: professed a hope in Christ and joined the Regular Baptist Church, but was so weak she never was baptised. Obituary is on page 34, minutes of the New Salem Association, 98th session, 1923.

Sheridan Akers: born Feb. 4, 1923, died Aug. 21, 1923. Obituary in minutes of New Salem Association, page 17, 98th session, 1923.

Children of Levi Akers:
Jane, born Dec. 18, 1848, died March 5, 1936; Wm. Akers, born Nov. 20, 1851, died Dec. 27, 1925 Rhoda Akers, born 1854; Elijah E., born May 9, 1856, died June 17, 1933; Cathern, born Sept. 21, 1861, died March 12, 1945; Elizabeth, born Nov. 25, 1863; Sill, born 1862, died April 25, 1927; David, born March 1, 1866; Floyd, born April 15, 1868, living; Tildia Kate, born July 2, 1871, living; Keen P., born Sept. 28, 1873, living; Ellen, born March 18, 1875, living; George A. (half-brother), born Feb. 15, 1896, living.

Through all of my nearly 83 years of life I have had a faith rooted in the old-time faith of the Regular Baptist Church, believing in everlasting saving grace of our Lord as taught in the Bible, and that through all kinds of trouble, sickness, death and sorrow, there can be no hope for mortal man except through faith in a crucified Redeemer. And when the end shall come for me I shall lay aside the worries and troubles of this life, with a hope eternal, that I shall rest from my labors and shall come at last to a final peace in a land eternal, and, in the words of Job, of old, "I believe that I shall see my Redeemer in the last day."

Wishing all my brethren and sisters everywhere the peace of the Lord and an abiding faith in Him who is able to carry us over all troubles and across the last stages of this life, I am,
Yours in the faith.

Farm Tours To Mark Soil Conservation Week

The Board of Supervisors of the Floyd Soil Conservation district is cooperating with the State Soil Conservation Service in promoting S.C.L. Week, July 20-27, and the following tours have been arranged:

Monday, at 10 a.m., a meeting on J. B. Clarke's farm at Brandy Keg to observe the results of the poison applied to undesirable trees a few weeks ago. Two chemical poisons were used and applied in different methods. Some of the undesirable trees are already dying, with leaves turning brown and falling off. The various methods of applying the poison was tried to determine which will do the most complete job of killing the trees in this area.

Methods and chemicals used were explained and shown to the public.

Saturday at 10 a.m., there will be a drainage meeting on the farms of Joe Burchett and Forrest Burchett at Sugar Loaf. Approximately 500 feet of tile were used on wet lands of either farm. "It will be well worth while for anyone to see the results of tilling this land and the splendid results of drying up this wet land so that crops will grow." L. R. Johnson, Soil Conservation Service supervisor, said.

how to get the best water heater buy

when building a new home...

You'll be money ahead with an electric water heater because it needs no flues or vents. Installs anywhere—less piping. Efficient in performance because the heat's applied from within and full insulation keeps it there. And electric equipment adds real value to your home.

when modernizing...

You modernize to make things more convenient... and with an electric water heater you can plan your floor space just as you want it. An electric water heater needn't be near a chimney... you can close it in completely if you like... or hide it in a closet or under stairs. Remember: "put it anywhere" is an exclusive electric advantage!

if you're just fed up with old-fashioned heaters...

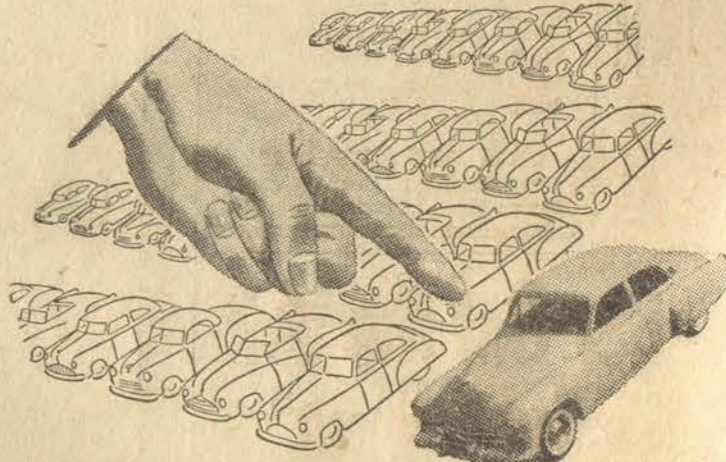

Tired of climbing stairs to nurse a cranky old-style heater? Had your fill of heaters that warm the air around them as well as the water? Need more hot water for farm or home use? Worried about how safe your heater is? Get peace of mind with a modern electric water heater. See your plumber or electric appliance dealer now.

Canned Fruits, Vegetables Ceilings Are Lifted

In compliance with requirements written by Congress into the new Defense Production Act, OPS has removed ceiling prices from most processed fruit and vegetable products.

The agency's decontrol order, received from the National Office this week by Carl P. King, acting district director of the Kentucky OPS, lists only those items which are "clearly and unequivocally" covered by the Harrison Amendment enacted by Congress. Other items may also be taken from under controls after the exact limits to which Congress intended to go in its decontrol intentions are defined.

Specifically, the items exempted from ceilings are:

Canned asparagus, canned lima beans, snap beans (green and wax), carrots, sweet corn, beets, all varieties of fresh field peas and fresh shell beans, fresh green peas, tomatoes, succotash, mushrooms, okra, onions, peppers, pimientos, canned sweet potatoes, canned white potatoes, pumpkin, squash, spinach, turnip greens, canned mixtures of vegetables, canned vegetable juices and mixtures of vegetable juices.

Canned apricots, all varieties of sweet cherries, sour cherries, all varieties of berries, cranberries, plums, fresh prunes, figs, all varieties of peaches, all varieties of pears, fruit cocktail, fruits for salads (including canned fruit mixtures), apples, apple sauce, canned and bottled fruit and berry juices and mixtures thereof.

All fresh vegetables, including frozen cooked squash and frozen cook-pumpkin, all frozen fresh fruits or berries.

All canned frozen citrus fruits, juices and concentrates, including mixtures; all dried fruits, including mixtures; all other frozen fruit and berry concentrates; canned pineapple, canned pineapple juices; and the following canned baby or junior foods: spinach, carrots, green beans, beets, peas, squash, sweet potatoes, peaches, apple sauce, pears and pineapple, apricot-apple sauce, pears and prunes.

Frozen French fried, diced or whipped white potatoes; shoestring, julienne potatoes and potato chips; sauerkraut, sauerkraut juice, cherries in brine; cherries in brine and pineapple.

The amendment decontrolling fruits and vegetables in fresh or processed form became effective July 1, when the Defense Production Act was extended for another 10 months. There were no ceilings on any fresh fruit or vegetable.

King said OPS realizes the action may result in higher prices for a number of items but declared the agency, under the terms of the law itself, "has no alternative but to remove ceilings on the products covered." He pointed out, however, that decontrol of the items does not relieve shippers of these products—at all levels of processing and distribution, including wholesale and retail food stores—of the responsibility to maintain records they have established for these products for the period of time specified in the regulations which formerly governed them.

Anderson, program leader, with a program in the American Home department. Religion division, introduced the speaker, her husband, the Reverend Anderson, who spoke on "Religion in the American Home." Rev. Anderson gave an interesting talk on the subject, pointing out that religion begins in the home. He noted that our founding fathers had standards of religious life that guaranteed them homes and they laid the foundation of our American homes. He also noted that religion is the key-stone to the arch of democracy and that religion in any home is very necessary. Rev. Anderson concluded the program with prayer.

Mrs. Hardwick presided at the business portion of the meeting. Final plans for a tea honoring the mother club and celebrating the 10th anniversary of the Betsy Layne Woman's Club were made. The score card for the coming year was read and discussed. The plan of work for each department was given to each department chairman by Mrs. Hardwick.

The Martin Sunday School Campaign Committee met Sunday afternoon at the Methodist Church. The meeting was opened with scripture reading, also with the reading of an article from the magazine, "Upper Room." It was decided to have a large poster placed in the window of the First Guaranty Bank showing the combined Sunday School attendance of Martin churches. Call your attendance total, starting Aug. 3, to Mrs. Coleman, phone 4231, and watch the poster. It was also decided to have a motorcade serving all churches, starting Aug. 3, and lasting through that month. Be out on the corner, flag a car bearing a white cross and it will take you to the Sunday School of your choice. There will be a call meeting of the Sunday School campaign committee at the Methodist Church, Friday, Aug. 1, to allot territories to each car.

HAUL WITH A DODGE AND CUT YOUR COSTS!

"Our Dodge trucks give us exceptional over-all economy"

"Economy is one of the many things we like about our Dodges. They're real low on all costs—especially on oil and upkeep."
"These trucks are on the go for 5 1/2 days every week, carrying extra-heavy payloads. They always keep running and have never had any major mechanical trouble."
"The drivers tell us the new Dodge has real comfort and drives like an automobile."
