This Town-- That World

SOMETHING WAS WRONG

This one was handed to me, and with it a solemn oath that it really happened.

A couple of country boys, whose schooling had been rather meagre, were laboring over a fur price list. One could spell a little but could not read or pronounce. The other was wholly illiterate but posed as having more than a speaking acquaintance with the three R's.

So when the boy who could spell went over the list he slowly and painfully spelled the words out like f-o-x, s-k-u-n-k, etc. The boy posing as literate would pronounce the words but since he couldn't read he pronounced the name of the animal wrong except upon the rare time he accidentally got one right.

They went on down the list and this conversation followed:

"M-i-n-k. What does that spell?"

"That's possum. How much they pay?"

"$7.50. That's awful derned high for a possum hide," said the boy who could only spell.

He went on: "S-l-y-e-r F-o-x." What does that spell?"

"That spells rabbit. How much they pay for rabbits?"

"$500. Gosh what a price for rabbits! That company's a crook. They won't pay such prices for rabbits. We better not fool with them."

LETTER TO A LUCKY STIFF

Dear Mr. Whimsey:
So you don't like the salutation, Well, quit being Superman today, Rocket-Man tomorrow, the Shadow tonight, and so on. What you're called doesn't matter, anyhow, you're so happy.

You started back to school this week, and you are very, very happy. You say the guy's nuts? Well, just wait a few years, and you'll agree I am altogether right. If you don't want to wait, just drop around on anybody past 40 and ask him or her if you aren't happy.

Right now, your senses are too busy for you to have too much sense about such matters. You're too busy smelling, tasting, hearing, seeing, feeling to drink in the full delights of your age. And so, alive to everything but your own happiness, you gripe about school, about your teachers, about the hours, about things in general.

Oh, brother! Just you wait. Then you will know what Mark Twain meant when he cried, "Give me the Elder Days and a boy with a rag around his toe!"

NINE NABBED IN RUM RAIDS

Beer, Whiskey Taken By Officers; 2 Fined In Magistrate Court

The drive on illegal liquor continued over the county during the week, with ABC agents cooperating last Thursday with Sheriff A. B. Meade in the raiding of two places at Martin.

At neither of the places, which were operated by Bill Stone and Allen Stone, was any liquor found, however Sheriff Meade said. He, Deputies John Hopson, Frank Parsons and Frank Crum and Constable George Hall, Jr., arrested the two men on warrants already sworn out by investigators. They executed bond.

The same day, a raid on Howard Stone, of Garrett, netted 19 cases of beer, three cases of wine and part of a case of whiskey. Fred Hall was arrested on a charge of attempting to obstruct public justice in connection with the raid. The party of officers included Scott

COUNTY BOARD SAYS SCHOOLS OVER-COSTLY

Revision of Estimates Sought; Three Schools In County Are Planned

The Floyd County Board of Education had on its agenda a good afternoon's work Tuesday to clear routine matters, and when a study of building needs and financial problems entered the session the meeting did not adjourn till near midnight.

Three school buildings, planned for Ligon, Bosco and Prestonsburg, were talked. And that brought on a study of funds available, debts outstanding and the increasing burden of expenses.

"It's a mathematical impossibility to do the things needed to be done, and still maintain the schools, hold the teachers' salaries at least at current levels, lose per capita funds—and build schools at costs the architects talk about," summed up Superintendent Virgil O. Turner.

The school system this year will suffer a loss of about $18,000 in per capita funds, it was pointed out. A loss of around $40,000 in franchise taxes is seen. Only in the matter of the state equalization fund—which cannot be applied on school construction—will revenues increase. It was pointed out. This fund will be $254,638.64 for the 1952-1953 year instead of last year's $155,786.94.

Also on the debit side are increasing transportation costs, more expenses for upkeep of school plants, higher cost of materials, more money to pay teachers as they gain a year in teaching experience or as they meet state requirements and earn more college credits.

So the situation was viewed. But, said Mr. Turner, the situation isn't hopeless. He and Joe Hobson, attorney for the board, took turns talking to the firm of architects which has been doing the planning of new schools. The architects were

LONG ILLNESS CLAIMS SMITH

Retired Mining Engineer Is Heart Disease Victim; Pioneered Weeksby Wo

Edmund A. Smith, 63 years old, a mining engineer in the Floyd county field for 30 years, died Saturday noon at his home on Graham street here after an illness of almost five years. Death was attributed to heart disease.

Mr. Smith came to this county in 1917 as an engineer for the Elk Horn Coal Corporation, helping make for that firm the locations for its mines at Weeksby. At that time the railroad had not been driven to that furthest point on Left Beaver Creek, and the mining town itself had not been begun. He later went to Wayland where he spent 20 years with Elk Horn, a part of the time being the company's chief engineer there. From 1940 till his retirement in 1947 he was chief engineer for the Glogora Coal Company at Glo.

LIST 2 FIRMS FOR AUDITING

Court Directs Stumbo To Name One and Start Review of Office Pay

The Floyd fiscal court at its meeting Tuesday named two accounting firms which it authorized County Judge Henry Stumbo to negotiate with toward procuring an audit of Floyd county officers.

The two firms, Holland, Sneed and Moore, Bowling Green, and Catton & Eskew, Louisville, public accountants, were specified because, the order explained, both had expressed a willingness to make the audits.

"It further appearing," the court's order continued, "that both firms possess all the qualifications to do this work, it is therefore ordered by the court that one of said firms be employed, the particular one being left to the discretion of Henry Stumbo, County Judge, after he discusses prices and terms with each of them."

The court order added that Judge Stumbo is directed to enter into a contract with one of the two firms and to start the audit work as soon as possible.

Purpose of the audit is to determine which officials, if any, have exceeded the salary limit provided by the state constitution.

Mayor Curtis Clark Wants Weeds Mowed

Mayor Curtis Clark is asking property owners in Prestonsburg to cut the weeds that have grown up in their lots this summer.

"There are several reasons why this should be done," the Mayor said. "The weeds are unsightly and are considered the chief cause of hay fever. The city itself has no authority to enter onto private property and cut weeds but to show our cooperation we are planning to mow all weeds on city property."

CIRCUIT COURT IN SEPT. TERM

Instructions of Hill To Grand Jury Brief, Cite Three Offenses

The time required for Circuit Judge Edw. P. Hill to empanel a grand jury for the September court term was much longer than it took him Tuesday morning to instruct the jurors as to their duties.

His instructions were brief and he cut them short because, he said, instructions of this nature appear to be, and often are, mere repetition of instructions to other grand juries.

As an occupational touch, there was an old-fashioned mine cart pulled by a mine mule driven by a miner in overalls wearing a smoking oil cap torch, the kind used long ago.

The court session convened briefly, Labor Day morning, as scheduled under the law, but adjourned after Judge Hill had named Tom Dingus, Prestonsburg insurance man, foreman of the grand jury. Later, Mr. Dingus asked to be relieved of this duty explaining he was willing to do jury work, although it would interfere with his business, but that the foremanship would prevent any possibility of his working outside hours when the jury was not in session.

Marvin Marshall, of Water Gap, was named in his stead. Expressing the belief that "we are improving morally, are certainly improved in the matter of killing and fighting," Judge Hill called on the grand jury to pay special attention to drunk driving, pistol-toting and bootlegging.

"You can trace nearly all our grief to the use of liquor," the judge pointed out, asking for the prosecution of bootleggers who are habitual offenders under the statute which provides for a felony indictment for the third offense. "We have a number of people making a living—a good living, at that—by selling whiskey. It's easy to work. Some have the habit, and it's hard to stop," he told the jury. "The Sheriff has stated his intention to clean up bootlegging, but he can't clean it up without the help of the public."

Judge Hill commented on a letter received by him Tuesday morning from Woodrow Horne, of Lackey, stating that the people had asked him to write Judge Hill to call the grand jury back out and instruct it to investigate the taxpayers' case against County Attorney W. W. Burchett. Pointing to the fact that a suit has already been instituted in the matter and that if the official has been paid more than the constitutional limit, he will be required the amount of the overpayment, Judge Hill said, "I don't think this is a thing subject to the grand jury."

"If," he added, "the grand jury undertakes to investigate all officials who have exceeded their constitutional limit, it will not have time to complete its work."

Thomas P. Carlton, 63, a native of Tennessee but residing in Floyd county, died August 17, in a Moore Funeral Home ambulance near St. Mary's hospital, Huntington, to where he was being taken for treatment. A kidney ailment was given as the cause of death.

He was a son of J. R. and Melissa Humphrey Carlton who preceded him in death. He was married to Arizona Tackett in 1920. Two sons possess all the qualifications to do this work, it is therefore ordered by the court that one of said firms be employed, the particular one being left to the discretion of Henry Stumbo, County Judge, after he discusses prices and terms with each of them."

The court order added that Judge Stumbo is directed to enter into a contract with one of the two firms and to start the audit work as soon as possible.

Crowd of Estimated 20,000 At Labor Day Celebration

A milling crowd of 20,000 or more, a sizeable segment of which was supplied by Floyd county miners and their families, heard John Owens, one of the Big Three of the United Mine Workers of America, tell labor at Pikeville Monday it should divorce itself from politicians and at the same time cast its ballots on the basis of the voting records of those elected to political office.

Floyd county, too, sent to the giant Labor Day rally its queen of beauty—Miss Loretta May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John May, of Maytown, who won over 19 contestants from a wide area of Eastern Kentucky.

Mr. Owens, principal speaker of the day, is secretary-treasurer of the UMWA. He was heard by miners as far away as Tennessee, West Virginia and Virginia.

There was a lengthy speaking program, followed by vaudeville acts, a high diver, a woman aerialist, and a women's wrestling match.

First of all, however, there was a parade through the streets of Pikeville, with high-school bands from Pikeville, Prestonsburg, Jenkins, and Wheelwright, and floats graced by miners' daughters dazzling in evening gowns.

As an occupational touch, there was an old-fashioned mine cart pulled by a mine mule driven by a miner in overalls wearing a smoking oil cap torch, the kind used long ago.

TWO CHANGES OF PASTORS

Made by Methodists For Floyd Churches; Dr. Haggard Returns

Only two changes in Methodist pastors for Floyd county churches or charges were made by the Kentucky Methodist Conference which ended Sunday morning at Morehead.

The Rev. W. J. Kenney, who during the past year has ministered to the Maytown and Garrett churches, was transferred to Stone, and the Rev. W. F. Sharpe was named as his successor. The Rev. W. C. Stewart, of the Wheelwright church, was retired, and Rev. A. E. Atkinson was appointed to the pastorate.

Other Floyd church pastor appointments made by the Conference follow:
Prestonsburg—Rev. Gerstle M. Haggard; Allen-Martin—Rev. M. N. DeHaven; Betsy Layne-Vogel Day—Rev. Robert L. Anderson, director, Big Sandy Parish; Wayland—Rev. R. L. Myers.

Pastor of the Dvale circuit remains to be supplied.

STATE BACKED AS LOCATION

Of Huge Power Plant; Perkins Urges Plant For Eastern Kentucky

In a letter addressed to members of the Kentucky Congressional delegation at Washington, David E. Cocks, president of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, last week advised Kentucky's Senators and Representatives that the executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce had gone on record as being unanimously in favor of the location of one of the two electric power plants which are to supply electrical energy to the atomic energy plant soon to be built near Piketon, Ohio.

With an estimated annual requirement of 7,000,000 tons of coal to operate these electric generating plants," Cocks said, "it is obvious that the economy of the Commonwealth would benefit materially by the location of these industries within our borders." Cocks stated that Kentucky is in the admirable position to bid aggressively for this industry, in that it had an abundance of coal and possessed an adequate labor supply for construction purposes. His letter stated that it had been reported that these power plants are to be built and operated by a company formed by 15 electric utilities, two or more of which are located in Kentucky. The Chamber requested that Kentucky's representatives at Washington do "everything in your power to influence the location of this industry in Kentucky."

Representative Carl D. Perkins last week told the Atomic Energy Commission why he thinks one of the Owens was introduced by Sam Caddy, Lexington, president of District 30 of the U.M.W. Other speakers included Congressman Perkins, Hindman, representing the Seventh Kentucky Congressional District; Dr. A. A. Page, president of Pikeville Junior College; County Judge Ervin S. Pruitt, and union officials in this area.

Carson Hibbits, Pikeville union official, was master of ceremonies. Calling on American labor to divorce itself from the politicians and rely on its own economic strength, Owens said, "We cannot sacrifice collective bargaining on the altar of political preferment."

"Organized labor," he said, "has more reasons today than at any previous time to assert its own independence and to realize that its only reliance in achieving its economic and social goals is the strength and militance of labor itself."

Some who may have been under the illusion that labor could depend on outside forces—politicians with fair words or business men who profess benevolent attitudes—must surely have seen the error of their ways by now.

In these times of Taft-Hartley injunctions, wage controls and political attacks on labor, it is more than ever imperative that labor maintain its own internal integrity and remain loyal to the funda-

KNOTT'S COAL RESERVE TOLD

Interior Department Says 263 Million Tons Minable in That County

(Special to The Times)
Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 15—Kentucky's Knott county has minable reserves of coking coal totaling more than 623 million tons, the U.S. Bureau of Mines, Department of the Interior, estimated today.

In a report describing its estimate, the Bureau said beds less than 28 inches thick are not included in the total for Knott county, since they are not considered minable by present methods.

If all thicknesses from 14 inches upward are considered, estimated reserves for Knott county are nearly two billion tons, the Bureau estimated. Of this total, slightly more than one billion tons are 28 inches or thicker. By multiplying this total by 53.13 per cent, or the average recovery by present mining, the recoverable total of about 623 million tons is reached, the Bureau's report says.

The report, tenth in a series giving results of a nation-wide county-by-county survey of coking coal resources, says all known reserves in Knott county have less than 2,000 feet of overburden.

Investigation shows there are three beds of major importance as far as production and reserves are concerned: Upper Elkhorn No. 3, Fire Clay, and Flag. There are also three less-important beds: Upper Elkhorn Nos. 1 and 2 and Hindman. Two remaining beds are considered of minor importance.

Upper Elkhorn No. 3 contains the largest known reserve, about 450 million tons in beds 28 inches or thicker, of which some 250 million tons are recoverable.

Because Knott county coals are low in ash and sulfur, they are chemically well-suited for coke making. However, since they are highly volatile A-bituminous coals, they should be blended with low- and

Electrician's Hydraulic Lift For Mowers, Granted Patent

A hydraulic lift for mowing machines, invented by Richard Newman, Hi Hat electrician, during his days as an Oregon rancher, has been granted U. S. Patent No. 2,603,929.

The apparatus works with all tractor-pulled mowing machines, and was devised for attachment to the International-Harvester tractor. It could be modified for other tractors.

Connected to the hydraulic system of the tractor, the attachment raises and lowers the sickle bar, at the operator's will, to clear hayfield obstacles, making turns, etc. The original model, the only one in existence, is mounted on an I-H tractor mowing machine at the Bill Sundet place on the Westside, near Lakeview, Ore., where it is in use at every haying. The attachment is so built that installation and removal is quick and easy. Ranchers

A CALF-WEANER THAT WEANS IS INVENTION OF FLOYD COUNTIAN; PATENT IS PENDING ON DEVICE THAT ENLISTS MOTHER'S HELP

Necessity brings up odd, strange and useful inventions. The invention of a calf-weaner by Ernest Mayard, who lives on Cow Creek in the last category and it was necessary, too, that brought about the construction of the apparatus of leather and metal.

Necessity began when Ernest raised a calf to cow-hood. He made a mistake by letting the calf stay with the cow five months in order to raise a strong and vigorous animal. The heifer never got over its love for milk at an early age and flched the family milk supply from the cows at every opportunity. Ernest devised a suck-proof apparatus of leather with a few metal parts and put it on the young cow to curb her anti-social activities. Result was a speedy "cure."

Since it worked on a young cow it should work on a calf, Ernest reasoned, and in a short while he had devised a calf-weaner that weans. A patent is pending at the present time. One nosy nudge from a calf wearing the new weaner invention and the mother cow loses all her bovine affection for her offspring. Maybe if the nudge was too insistent she kicks the calf over the moon.

Soon Ernest will start a small shop to manufacture the article for sale, but he is at present experimenting with plastic instead of leather for its construction. There are times when it certainly is a barnyard necessity.

RATES GO UP ON INSURANCE

Of Autos in Kentucky; Underwriters To Charge 22-29 Percent Locally

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 1 (Sp.)—Commissioner of Insurance Spalding Southall today announced a hike in auto liability insurance rates for 51 member companies of the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters, ranging from 10 to 36 per cent, varying according to class and territory. The new rates are effective Sept. 1 on new business and on renewable business Oct. 1.

A rate increase was asked by the Bureau last September based on the county-wide accident loss and experience of the companies involved. Southall, however, countered with the demand that rate adjustments be considered in the light of Kentucky's own experience and the loss record of each area of the state. The new rates were approved after a public hearing.

The rate revisions apply to both basic limits coverage—which means protection up to $5,000 for bodily injury for one person, $10,000 for bodily injury resulting from a single accident—and $5,000 for property damage—and coverage in excess of the basic limits.

Illustrating the new increase, Southall explained:

For private passenger automobiles, revisions result in rate increases ranging from a minimum of $3.50 to a maximum of $19 for basic limits bodily injury and property damage liability combined. In the case of most commercial vehicles, increases range from a minimum of $6 to a maximum of $24.

Copies of the new schedules are being furnished agencies affected.

The territories and the range of increases are:

Territory One—Louisville and area within 10-mile radius—from 23 to 36 per cent, depending on classification of vehicle and use.

Territory Two—Covington and territory in Kenton and Boone counties within five-mile radius; Newport and northern portion of Campbell county, 13 to 33 per cent.

Territory Three—Lexington and five-mile radius; Paducah and five-mile radius—14 to 23 per cent.

Territory Four—Floyd, Bell, Breathitt, Carter, Clay, Elliott, Estill, Harlan, Jackson, Johnson, Knott, Knox, Laurel, Lawrence, Lee, Leslie, Letcher, McCreary, Magoffin, Martin, Menifee, Morgan, Owsley, Pike, Perry, Powell, Pulaski, Rockcastle, Rowan, Whitley and Wolfe counties—22 to 29 per cent.

Territory Five—Ashland and five-mile radius—20 to 29 per cent.

Territory Six—remainder of state—10 to 16 per cent.

AUTO WRECK KILLS RISNER

Former Floyd Cowntian Fatally Hurt Speeding Toward Blaze on Farm

Racing in an automobile to put out a blaze in his barn cost John B. Risner, formerly of this county, his life last week-end. Risner, age 67, had been to McArthur, O., Friday night, and upon nearing his barn on his return saw the blazing building. Speeding up he lost control of his car and crashed into a tree. A skull fracture and internal injuries were received which caused his death Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

He was a son of the late Basil Adam and Frances Risner and a native of this county.

Surviving are his widow, Ann Webb Risner, and the following sons and daughters: Bill, Willow Run, Mich., Arthur of McArthur, Sylvia Reiser Jones, Dayton, O., Margaret Ann Gregory and Emma Dayton, of McArthur. Surviving brothers and sisters are Mrs. Dona Click, Mrs. Crawford Sturgill, Alphoretta, Mrs. Peggy May, Anderson, Ky., Taylor Risner, Risner, Ky., James Risner, Alger, O., Sam and Henry Risner, Carey, O.

Funeral rites were conducted Monday, Sept. 1, which was the 41st wedding anniversary of the Risners, the Rev. Cliff Anspach officiating. Several of the relatives from this county attended the funeral services.

SPAIN TALKS SCHOOL NEEDS

Floyd Teachers Told Constitution Change Would Help Schools

Dr. Charles R. Spain, president of Morehead State College, presented in an address last Saturday before the teachers' conference held at Martin for high school principals and faculty-members of consolidated schools a strong argument for revision of the state Constitution to provide school systems the funds they need.

The schools, he pointed out, need good classrooms in modern buildings, well-educated and better-trained teachers—and the money necessary to get these things.

"We will never get this money," he said, "unless Section 186 of the Kentucky Constitution, which prescribes the manner in which school funds are to be distributed by the state, is amended."

Voters will have an opportunity to pass on this amendment at the November election, next year.

The present Constitutional provision distributes public school money on the basis of the number of children of school age living in a district (or county), rather than on the basis of the children actually attending school.

The Legislature will not be too interested, Dr. Spain pointed out, in appropriating more money as long as the present distribution system is employed. He cited this as an example of injustices worked by the present system.

A school district such as Fort Thomas with a high parochial school population enrolled in church schools gets, say, $3 to train each child enrolled in the public schools, while a county like Floyd, with no private schools, gets $1 to train each of its children enrolled in its public schools. This situation arises from the fact that under the present system school districts receive funds on the number of children living in the district, whether they attend public school or not.

INDICT HENRY SECOND TIME FOR ROBBERY

Of Prestonsburg Man; Two Ask Judge Hill To Vacate for Trial

Willis Clay Henry, of Mt. Sterling, was indicted Tuesday for the second time on an armed robbery charge in connection with the alleged hold-up and robbery last January of D. C. Stephens, Prestonsburg dental laboratory owner, of $30,000 in cash.

Next day Stephens, the chief complaining witness, filed an affidavit in support of his motion for Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill to vacate the bench in the trial of the case.

It is possible that Judge Hill will vacate in this case and also in the civil action filed against County Attorney W. W. Burchett by the Floyd County Taxpayers League. Mr. Burchett's motion for Hill to vacate the bench was supported by his statement pointing out that the Circuit Judge was County Judge during three years of the 10-year period involved in the suit and that Judge Hill might be called as a witness.

Henry, who is under federal prison sentence, had not been arrested Wednesday on the new indictment. Judge Hill had planned an early trial of the case.

In support of the motion for Judge Hill to vacate the bench Stephens claimed the Judge held ill feeling toward him, that Hill had made a statement on conclusion of Henry's hearing for bail to the effect that the case was one for the F. B. I. and that "when two underworld characters fell out one would 'squeal on the other', and that Hill's handling of the jury at the trial attempt last June and his statements to the press were such that he did not believe Hill could give a fair and impartial trial.

Locate This Coal-Burning Plant in the Big Sandy, A Coal-Producing Area

THE TIMES has refrained from joining the chorus of anguished yelps from those communities and areas which failed to get the new atomic center recently located near Portsmouth, O., and has decided that if anybody is to blame for the Big Sandy section's loss it is the people of the Big Sandy.

We thought Ashland would have made an ideal site. But we're thinking of this valley's industrial needs as much as we were considering those other factors which necessarily entered into the deliberations of the Atomic Energy Commission. And, if all things had been equal between Ashland and Portsmouth, we could not have blamed anybody for the choice of site made.

For Ashland and its surrounding area were licked to start with by Portsmouth, if you can say that the guy who doesn't fight for what he wants is whipped when he doesn't get it. We did nothing, said little. So we have no complaint coming.

Now, what of the location of one of the two giant power plants which that atomic installation will need? Why not the Big Sandy region for one of these?

Interested? If so, say so. And get busy.

If one of these plants is located in West Virginia and the other at Madison, Indiana—as has been hinted—Big Sandy coal can get out the pick and shovel and use them for burying dead hopes instead of digging coal. They tell us those two power plants will consume seven million tons of coal a year; but, if the plants are located in West Virginia and Indiana, they would benefit the Big Sandy's hard-pressed coal industry as much if they were seven thousand miles away. West Virginia, Ohio and Indiana would hog the benefits.

A private utility industry headed by Philip Sporn, president of the American Gas & Electric Company, apparently has the last word on the location of these plants, and so the crying need of the Big Sandy for work, for economic existence, cannot be argued. Mr. Sporn and associates, as good business men, will want to know about costs, availability of water, fuel, labor; about distances and other matters.

Some of these questions can be quickly answered. Certainly it isn't as far from Floyd county, the heart of the Big Sandy coal field, to Portsmouth as it is from Madison, Ind., to that point. That fact should enter into the matter of costs; too, it should answer the query as to the availability of fuel. It also should be apparent that power can be generated here, in the middle of one of the country's great coal fields, and transmitted by lines to the atomic energy plant more cheaply than coal can be hauled to Madison, Ind., the power generated there, and finally sent to the Portsmouth area by transmission line.

We think the Big Sandy affords a water supply sufficient to the needs of one of these power plants. That, however, is a moot point. Even if there isn't, location of the plant in the Catletts-burg-Ashland area—only a few miles from Portsmouth—and the use of coal from this field would be better than the installation of a power plant in Indiana.

Congressman Carl D. Perkins has called the attention of the Atomic Energy Commission to Eastern Kentucky. He naturally has asked consideration of his district, the Seventh, as the location of one of these power plants; he could not single out any one county. Neither do we, although we cannot at this time see why Floyd county would not serve the purpose admirably. But we do single out one section—where water and coal and labor are all available in abundance, and not far from the proposed atomic energy plant—and that is the Big Sandy valley which has never received the consideration its resources, human and otherwise, deserve.

TO THE VOTERS OF FLOYD COUNTY:

With every privilege there is a duty—it is the duty of every citizen to take part in our form of government which is the best in the world—to go to the polls and vote.

We have in Kentucky a new purgation law which will be put into effect for the year 1952 and all time after until changes are made in the law. We of the purgation board could not, because of time, get the word done covering every precinct, therefore in fairness to all voters we have not taken any names from the voting lists.

Five days after the general elections in 1952 continuous through May, 1953 you have the privilege of requesting or changing your voting precinct but you must vote in the precinct in which you live.

We of the purgation board have over 4,000 names of voters who have moved about and since we have not the time to separate these names without many errors we are leaving the names in the books for the coming election.

We urge you as good citizens to aid all you can by getting your names in the right precinct, the one in which you live.

German Vance
Chairman of Purgation Board.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

HITS FISCAL COURT

The Taxpayers League is trying to recover money for the people and the fiscal court who represents the people (the prospective beneficiaries) are paying a private lawyer, Jack Howard, to fight any such recovery for the people. Such action is especially obnoxious in that neither the fiscal court nor the County Attorney have thus far made any official denial of the charges brought by the Tax League because the figures listed by them are a matter of public record in the Clerk's office and in the State Finance office and cannot be denied. That record will show that Woodrow Burchett received over $11,000 in 1946 when under the state Constitution he was only allowed $5,000. I don't believe Jack Howard or Clarence Darrow either would be able to explain what happened to the other $6,000.

This writer feels that if the fiscal court desires to hire a lawyer for the defense of the County Attorney that is their business, providing they pay for said lawyer out of their own pockets; however, they have appropriated the taxpayers' money for this purpose, according to reports. In other words, taxpayers' money has been appropriated to try to prevent taxpayers' money from being collected from a county official and returned to the county where it belongs. How ridiculous is this matter going to become? It really looks as though the people are getting a rough ride. I believe the people of Floyd county are beginning to wke up.

Medical Examination Requirements of Law Cited by Coordinator

Teachers who did not complete their medical examination last year will need to do so this school year, said Mrs. Robert S. Wellman, health coordinator, Floyd county schools.

It is a state health regulation that teachers and school employes shall complete this examination upon employment and every other year thereafter, she added.

Beginners, fifth graders, ninth graders and seniors will need to complete a health examination this year. This health regulation now has the force of law, Mrs. Wellman explained. Any pupil who does not receive this examination is in violation of the State Board of Education regulation. Beginners examined in 1948 should receive a second examination during the present school year. The code states that a student beginning school will have an examination upon entering school and every fourth year thereafter.

If possible one or both parents should be present at the medical examination of pupils. The presence of parents is much more important if the pupil is in the lower grades.

Hamilton-Jayne Vows Said in Salyersville

A huge illuminated cross surrounded with large baskets of white gladioli and palms made a lovely setting for the wedding of Miss Nelle Hamilton and James E. Jayne. Miss Hamilton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Hamilton of Harold. Mr. Jayne is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jayne, of Flat Gap, Ky.

The vows were exchanged in the Salyersville Methodist Church, August 23, 3:00 p.m., with Rev. E. E. Scott performing the single ring ceremony. Miss Hamilton was given in marriage by her brother, Ray Hamilton. The matron of honor was Mrs. Raymond Osborne, Beatyville. The groom's brother, Bill Jayne, was best man.

The bride wore a beautiful ballerina length gown of pale yellow taffeta covered with white embroidered organdy. Her white shoulder length veil of illusion completed her attire. The bride's bouquet was white asters and baby breath, centered with a white orchid. The matron of honor wore a ballerina length gown of orchid shadow organdy with a contrasting hat.

Miss Lois Cain, vocalist, and Mrs. J. Oakley Arnett, accompanist, both of Salyersville added to the ceremony with the pre-nuptial music. The selections were, "Because" and "Always" with "The Lord's Prayer" at the close of the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Jayne left for a trip through the Smoky Mountains. Their future residence will be in Prestonsburg where he is in business.

DICK'S SEVENTH READER

Have published two books and sold them and now I have a third book called "Dick's Seventh Reader."

It was made as follows: There was a flood in Beaver Creek and people who lived in the lowlands had to gather into a home upon a hill and while staying there they passed the time away by telling stories, reciting poetry of their own make, etc., and this book is a record of what they brought forth.

I have had a limited number of these books made and if you want a copy send me one dollar and I will send you one postpaid, or, if you want it sent C.O.D., let me know and then it will cost you a few cents more.

power projects should be located in his Seventh Kentucky district. And he has asked the A.E.C. to relay this information to the group of private utilities that have banded together to furnish the 1,800,000 kilowatts the $1,200,000,000 atomic plant will require.

The Congressman's office said that Guy W. Thaxton, power engineer for the A.E.C.'s Division of Construction and Supply, had promised to pass on all available information regarding Eastern Kentucky as a power site to Philip Sporn, president of American Gas & Electric Company, leader in the private-utility combination.

Although Sporn had said plans are not complete, the utility group reportedly plans to build one power plant in Indiana, probably in the vicinity of Madison, and the other not far from Portsmouth. It is this second plant Perkins hopes to get for Kentucky. Much of the district he represents is less than 50 miles from the site of the new atomic plant.

Perkins, in a letter to A.E.C. Chairman Gordon Dean, said Eastern Kentucky is "suitable in every respect" for location of a power plant.

Coal is needed for such a plant, he said, and many mines in Eastern Kentucky are closed down because of the lack of a market for their coal. The miners are unemployed, he added.

"The power plants should be located," he wrote in an area where an adequate fuel supply will be unquestionable for hundreds of years. . . . Eastern Kentucky's distressed and underutilized mining areas require increased markets for their coal."

Floyd County Historical Notes

By HENRY P. SCALF

Researchers on the Big Sandy Stratton genealogy could go back with ease to "Old Solomon" who with Major Andrew Hood, and Matthias Harman directed the laying off of Preston's Station (Prestonsburg) into town lots. But they knew nothing of Solomon's wife, not even a name. Solomon died in 1819. Not an inkling from the meager record indicated his wife's name.

Joy Sparks, Ashland, a descendant of Solomon through his son, Tandy, and Tandy's daughter Cynthia who married Stephen Hamilton, has worked on the genealogy of the Strattons for years. Like the rest of those interested she often wondered if anyone would ever learn about his wife. In the Wythe county, Virginia, records she found her first name—Jane. Perhaps that is why so many of the Strattons on the distaff side are named Jane or Jennie. One of Col. Harry's daughters was named Jane but by everyone called Jennie. Even today there are Stratton descendants called Jane. Names linger on and pass from generation to generation.

The following is requested information and is quoted from History of Scott County (Virginia) by Robert M. Addington (1912), page 144: "Jessie Elliott, who married Catherine Lawson, was a private in Captain Hammons' company (War of 1812). On reaching Norfolk, Va., he was attached to the command of Col. Henry E. Coleman and later was honorably discharged on account of ill health."

A letter from Harry Willard Mills of Arlington, Va., states he will soon release a publication on the Beverly family. It will be in book form. He says: "At the present time am concentrating on the column in my home town paper (birth place) in Lincoln county. Recently wrote up some history notes and sent them in for publication. The idea of this writing history notes is from you,

Lees' Junior College Fall Semester Begins Monday, September 15

Lees Junior College fall semester begins on Monday, Sept. 15, and the number of applications already accepted indicate an increased student enrollment over last year, according to President R. G. Landolt.

In addition to the regular class schedule, Saturday classes will be given in a number of courses, so that elementary teachers may further receive college training.

Dean Frazier B. Adams returns to the Lees faculty this year after an absence of two years, during which time he has been working on his doctor's degree at Peabody College. In addition to his administrative duties, Dean Adams will be head of the Education Department.

For many years the college has been known for its counseling and guidance of students and stressing the development of the individual student's talents and personality. This year in addition, a course in adjustment to college will be given for all new students. This course will cover a wide range of academic, personnel, and social adjustments and is expected to be of great value to each student.

President Landolt explains that the new regulation requiring four years of college for the provisional elementary teacher certificate after Sept. 1, 1953, will in no way diminish the training of elementary teachers at Lees.

The great shortage of elementary teachers makes it certain that for at least the next five years a large percentage must be employed with two years or less of college training. This was recently affirmed by an official of the State Department of Education.

original notice to the voter at his new address with an affidavit from for him to attest to, showing how long he had resided at his present address.

The present law, intended to clarify procedure, is very ambiguous, if not actually contradictory in spots, the board, which is composed of Mr. Vance, W. B. Boyd and Frank Derossett, pointed out.

Assistant Attorney General Squire N. Williams last week handed down an opinion in which he said that purgation boards must publish names of voters whose purgation notices were returned as unclaimed, before taking their names off the lists.

Clerk of the board will work 15 days past the board's adjournment date. Names may be removed from the voting lists, the new law says in one section, up till 20 days before the election.

The Times learned this week there is no possibility that Floyd county's voting precincts will be divided before the November election. State law provides for such splitting of precincts so that no precinct will have more than 350 voters, but it was explained such action would require the County Clerk to go into every precinct and determine in what precinct each voter's name should be registered. This would require more time than remains before the election, it was explained. Too, the inability of the purgation board to remove all names of persons who are not legal voters in the several precincts does not give an accurate picture of the voting strength of the several precincts.

Pfc. Goble Branham, Jr., Finds Fish Are Stubborn

Pfc. Goble Branham, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Goble Branham, of West Prestonsburg, recently left the 27th Infantry Division in Korea for the United States under the army rotation program.

He was called for army duty January 5, 1951, leaving the States Oct. 10, 1951 for Korea.

In the August 11 issue of the 45th Division News an item refers to Branham's fishing troubles.

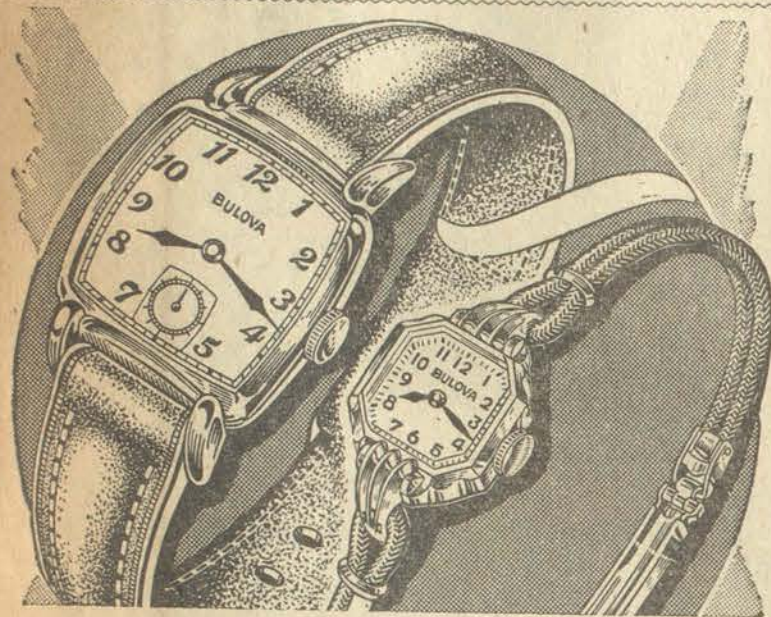

"Fish weren't this stubborn back in Kentucky," says Pfc. Branham. Branham has been fishing in a nearby stream for nearly three weeks now with nary a catch.

"I've tried liver, steak, worms and bugs all with no luck so now I've built a trap and that's not working either," he says.

"If they don't hurry up and come around, I'm liable to go after them with hand grenades," he warns.

moral integrity, a command of oral and written English, healthful living, appreciation of beauty, appreciation of our resources and the American way of life, and a personal competence in living.

"An educated person," said the speaker, "should learn to live alone and like it. We should learn to use our leisure time reading, listening and writing."

Children going through school, he said, should gain skills in social poise and getting along with people. He commented on complaints made by parents, pointing out that they do not object so much about the teacher's method of teaching arithmetic as they do about how she gets along with the children.

The Rev. Merle Wadley, pastor of the Martin Baptist Church, spoke briefly, describing the ideal teacher as one of the wisdom of Solomon, the patience of Job, the faith of Abraham and the glory of God.

Jesse Elliott, county band director, provided special music by wringing "My Darling Nellie Gray" and including Miss Billie Jean, Blackbird to play the autoharp. He commented that almost anyone can learn to play the autoharp but that the quality of one's whistling depends on whether he has been blowing a trombone or eating sour krant.

Saturday night and Sunday, Sheriff Meade reported, six quarts of moonshine were taken from Ballard Little at Buckingham; one and a half cases of beer and some whiskey from Lonnie Neely, of Abbott mountain; four cases of beer from S. D. Hughes here. Charles Stout was arrested on a warrant alleging the sale of beer but none was found. Hughes was charged with transporting beer.

Sanford Hale and Ellis Howard were arrested Saturday by Officers Compton, Ousley, Amburgy and Daniels and were fined $62.50 each, plus costs, by Magistrate M. C. Wright. Both were booked here on charges of drunkenness and possessing moonshine. Hale also was booked on an improper driving count. James Keens was arrested and jailed the same day by Deputy Sheriff Frank Parsons on a charge of possessing beer.

Others booked on major offenses at the jail during the week: Hubert Spears, improper driving; Atlas Vaughan and Luther Martin, each charged with drunk driving after being arrested by State Police- man Chester D. Potter; Junior Younce, grand larceny and drunk driving, arrested by Deputy Sheriff Frank Parsons; Woodrow Adkins, speeding, arrested by Deputies Daniels and Ousley; Astella Stone and Mabel Triplett, fined $32.50 and costs each by Magistrate Wright on charges of lewdness.

mental principles that built organized labor into the mighty institution it has become.

"Certainly so long as the Taft-Hartley Law, or any modified version of it remain on the statute books, labor can gain nothing by running to Washington."

Discussing the "tragic divisions" within labor's ranks, Owens said organized labor would be the strongest force in the land if all the 16,000,000 organized workers were united "into one great fraternity of workers with a common policy under sound and courageous leadership."

Enactment of the federal coal-mine safety law was classified by the speaker as another monumental achievement by his union. This new law, he said, marks a "tremendous forward step" in coal-mine safety.

"Passage of this legislation came only as a result of persistent and diligent follow-up action by the U.M.W. in the Congress of the United States," he asserted.

Invaluable assistance in enacting the federal mine-safety law, Owens added, was given by Congressman Perkins, Democrat seeking reelection. He was labeled by the speaker as "one of labor's true friends in Congress."

Urging his re-election, Owens declared, "If any member of Congress ever deserved the support of labor, then Carl Perkins is that man."

From labor's viewpoint, Owens said, the election of congressmen in this campaign year is fully as important as the presidential election. It is imperative, he added, that labor cast its ballots on the basis of the voting records, in the case of incumbents in office.

told the figures must come down. They were asked to come here for a conference.

The Superintendent pointed out that the architects had estimated the four-room block buildings at Bosco and Lyon would cost almost $50,000 each. He pointed out that a Knott county school of the same materials and size was built, a short time ago, for $13,000 by eliminating luxury items and some of the modernities which one architect referred to as "esthetic values."

"We can't build a school too fine, I know," said the Superintendent. "I'm all for the best, if we can afford it. But, since we don't have the money to do these things, I think we should get decent buildings up as cheaply as possible and try to reach more children with improved buildings and forget this dream of benefitting the comparative few with the finest."

The board wound up the day, hopeful but not certain.

On the more routine business side the board did these things: It agreed to pay the Prestonsburg independent school system tuition amounting to $31,083.50 this year on county pupils attending the schools here. This total was reached on the basis of 350 pupils at the rate of $88.81 per pupil.

Bought from Beckham Clark for $350 an acre of land for a school site at Goble Branch. The REA agreed to move power lines to clear the site, without charge.

Employed Olem Martin, former principal of the Bosco school, as school supervisor to work with Supervisor Otis Spurlock. Mr. Martin will specialize in work with the rural schools.

Paid rural teachers their first and second months' salaries.

Accepted the bid of Green Gayheart to transport pupils from Frasure's Creek for $134 a month. Hattie Lloister and H. D. Hall submitted identical bids of $125 a month on transporting Jack's Creek children, and the two agreed to share the work, operating a conveyance alternate months. Hurrell Adams was hired at $35 a month to transport colored children from the Weeksburg vicinity to Palmer-Dunbar school at Wheelwright.

Purchased for $450 a second-hand truck for the transportation department.

Accepted the resignations of these teachers, most of whom were replaced:

Love Clark at Martin, Mary A. Ford at Auxier to teach in the Prestonsburg schools, Arthur S. Stewart at Garrett-Wayland, Pauline Conley at Lackey, Ola Mae Damron at Melvin, Ruth Greer at Wheelwright, Dolores McCloud at McDowell, Billy Paris Conley at David, Billy Sargent at Betsy Layne and Joan Osborne at Wheelwright.

Hired and transferred were these teachers:

OPENER HERE UNDER LIGHTS FRIDAY NIGHT

Cats Suffer Injuries In Lafayette Practice; Hughes and Woods Hurt

Coach Doc Ferrell will send his Prestonsburg high school Black Cats into their first game of the 1952 season here Friday night against their usual season-opening foe, the Whitesburg Yellowjackets, with the usual results—he hopes—since in recent years the Cats have come out ahead.

Whitesburg always fields a strong football team, and the eleven which comes here Friday already has one game under its belt—a 27-13 victory over Black Star.

Coach Ferrell and Assistant Coach Bill Dannon returned here Sunday evening with their team from Camp Daniel Boone where a week of intense training had been concluded with a rough scrimmage with the Lafayette high school team at Lexington. Out of this encounter the Cats emerged the worse for wear, although they played Lafayette pretty well to a standstill.

Delmar Hughes, the Cats' all-state quarterback, was badly shaken up and this week was suffering a stiff neck. He was examined during the week by a Huntington specialist, Marshall Woods, fine end prospect, suffered a leg injury which may keep him out of the line-up for some time.

The Black Cats appear to be strong in the line but lack in reserve and experience. Gone from the team are such stalwarts as Alex Patton, Morris Isbell, Farrell Burton, Bill Jim Compton, Wah-Wah Caudill, Jim Mayo, Melvin Pennington, Edgar Bingham, K. Killen, Curt Reed Burchett, Don Carver and Pete Everly—all lost by graduation—and Lloyd Hager, who has not come out for practice, Bobby Daniels and Bucky Burchett, who will attend Millersburg Military Institute this year, and Conrad Newsome, who was lost to the Air Force.

Whitesburg also lost its share of players via the graduation route with the end of the last school year, but its strong 1951 machine was not so badly stripped of its gears as Prestonsburg's.

Barring the sidelining by injuries of some regulars, the starting Prestonsburg line-up may be Delmar Hughes, Chester Shepherd, John Dixon and Lowell Hughes in the backfield, Woods and Johnny Hill at ends, Stanley Prater and Tom Spradlin at the tackle positions, Charles Grigsby and John Gordon Goble as guards, and John Harris at center.

Other members of the squad, who are expected to see considerable action through the season are:

Randall Wells and Charles Salyers, guards; James Branham and Donald Puckett, tackles; Paul Ousley and Thurman Lafferty, ends; Kendall Alexander, quarterback; James Chaffin, Bert Dixon and Ronald Goble, halfbacks; James Baldrige, fullback; Robert Newsome and Donald Harrington, centers.

BUSH TO COACH

MAYSVILLE, KY. — Oscar F. Bush, of Harold, Floyd county, has been named coach and teacher of social subjects at Orangeburg high school to replace Robert Curtis, who resigned to accept the post as coach of the Manchester, O., high basketball team.

The new coach is a graduate of Morehead State College.

IT'S A GOOD WORLD

BY WILMAY

So many things to report on this week that a majority must wait till later. Teachers heard a wonderful message from Dr. Spain of Morehead Saturday in Martin. More about it soon. We hope to stress a few points he made, though an account of his address is in this issue.

Congratulations to Harold Rice, our splendid county agent, for the Green Pastures section of The Times last week. And to the cooperating business men who made its publication possible. The business houses of our county are certainly loyal and public-spirited. They never fail to boost a good cause.

We commend the town of Martin for posting the financial report pertaining to the purchase of its fire truck, in the window of the bank. Soon the account of pageant expenditures will be placed there by Dr. Wade Mahood, treasurer. It is always right that those handling public funds do this; moreover, it prevents criticism.

We had the happy experience of attending the Enterprise Baptist Association in Paintsville last week and hope soon to mention this experience further. Rev. Hockingsmith, pastor of the Paintsville church, stressed using church members. He brought to mind the story in a recent BFU lesson, in which someone asked a woman, who was a Christian, what she had done for her church. She replied that she had done all she was ever asked to do, namely, she had taken a seat up front the night she joined and was told to sit down. Much talent and many gifts are never discovered, utilized, developed, and all suffer from the loss. Every individual has something to contribute to any organization. Jesus knew there was good in everybody and did his best to bring it out, so it might be put to use.

Reports say a local option campaign will be held soon. We have many good friends on the other side of the issue and believe most of them know why the Wets cannot win in Floyd. Six years ago the Drys polled the biggest majority in proportion to population ever recorded in the state. Today the county has more than a thousand persons who were not professed believers in 1946. We have several strong, new churches and many active small missions of various faiths, plus a larger number of missionaries.

Our chief advantage is the experience acquired the last time. Drys now know whom to trust. False fronts and behind-scenes moves are an old story to Drys now. We were sold out by some of our own (?) in 1943 and similar attempts were thwarted in 1946, when insulting anonymous notes were traced to church members! When state workers had to write county workers whom to watch within the organization itself and why! when a secret panel of three on the inside became necessary! when some voted dry for the sake of expediency. Such errors will not be repeated.

The drys have a head start not possible in 1946. Old records are intact, including 10,000 cards polled. The organization can be set up in an hour. Leaders know which phases of the work previously brought the best results and efforts will be concentrated where dividends will be highest. Training classes for challengers and election officers are one essential that pays well. Prevention is worth a pound of cure. Numerous Wets have changed sides in the past six years, but Drys challenge Wets to name a dry who has swapped. For every dry speaker available in 1946, today there are 10 capable ones willing to serve.

It is a real joy to be teaching in Wayland with some old friends: Mr. Price, whom we have known for years; Lassie Hatcher, who used to be a frequent caller when she taught in Maytown; Thelma Daniels, whom we knew at Pippapass in 1924; Archie Beverly, whom we first met during the depression days, and others. Teachers have such a marvelous opportunity. The child is with us nine months a year, six or more hours daily, for the most impressionable years of his life.

Most voters seem inclined to want to know which presidential candidate will balance the budget and when, and which one will get us out of the red for keeps. And plenty of us are asking when taxes will be lowered, not only the visible ones we pay each spring, but also the hidden ones that constitute a part of the price we now pay on most items purchased. Americans believe in helping war-torn countries, in assisting in time of disaster and catastrophe, but we do not feel the necessity of supporting most of the world, when countless nations are laughing up their sleeves and while we are regarded as the most hated and feared country on the globe, according to reports from some of our own tourists abroad. There is a limit!

Suppose this next will pass the editor's desk. We like General Ike immensely. The General is tall and stately, with excellent bearing, and most prolific! The deep, red color of General Eisenhower is really glorious, for that is the name of a choice red cactus dahlia just blooming for the first time in our garden. Do not forget the Maytown fall flower show at the school Saturday, Sept. 20, at 10 a.m. The women hope to see men growers participate at this time.

SUPERINTENDENTS NAMED

Two appointments as State Park superintendents were announced by Henry Ward, commissioner of Conservation. James S. Gourley, present superintendent at Carter Caves State Park, Olive Hill, will go to General Butler State Park, Carrollton, as superintendent, and he will be succeeded at Carter Caves by Ralph Brewer, who is now business manager at Kentucky Dam Village. Both appointments will be effective Sept. 15.

FLOOD CONTROL PLANNED

Kentucky's Division of Flood Control and Water Usage will play a big part in a program to develop the Rough River basin in Western Kentucky for protection against floods and loss of soil. The division announced that it is going to work with the U.S. Corps of Engineers and soil and forestry agencies of the U.S. Department of Agriculture on the job. The project is part of a larger program of developing flood control systems in the Green and Ohio river basins, and it will mark the first time that the federal agencies have ever got together to provide full treatment in an entire river basin.

Robertson county homemakers had a display of finished furniture in connection with their annual meeting.

APPOINTMENTS MADE

Frank Vittetow, Cloverport, former superintendent of Cloverport schools, and Mrs. Mary Marshall, Bardonia, former teacher and principal in Bardonia schools, were named district supervisors for the Department of Education's In-Service Training Program. Vittetow went to District 1, which is in far-western Kentucky, and Mrs. Marshall went to District 2, which adjoins it on the east.

Hen Lays 4 1-2-Ounce Egg, Lives Up To Her Name

A Black Giant hen owned by Ray Calvin Webb, of Betsy Layne, recently lived up to the family name by laying an egg weighing four and one-half ounces. That's a big job, for the ordinary egg is only about half as large.

Curious investigators upon examination of the large egg found that another perfectly formed one was inside and that still another egg was forming.

County Agent Hank Dowdy, of Pike county, reported that he had heard of such eggs but had never seen one. It is a very unusual occurrence, he said, County Agent Harold B. Rice, of Floyd county could not be reached for comment.

After this extraordinary effort the hen has resumed her normal routine and shows no ill effects from what must have been quite an ordeal.

Civil Defense Office Lists Floyd-Co. Sites Of Observation Posts

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 25 (Sp.)—Seven sites in Floyd county have been selected for Ground Observer Corps observation posts, according to an announcement by the State Office of Civil Defense.

The communities where the posts are located and the post supervisors are: Prestonsburg, Tom James; Betsy Layne, Palmer Crum; Martin, Denzil Halbert; Wheelwright, Everett Hall; Wayland, Elmer H. Morrison; Mud Creek, Palmer Crum; Signal Post, Palmer Crum.

Floyd county posts have already functioned at practice alerts.

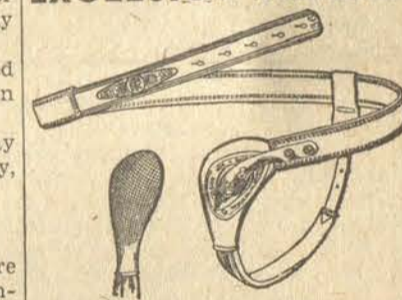

General Jesse S. Lindsay, State Director of Civil Defense, has urged persons willing to work as aircraft spotters at the posts to contact his office in Frankfort.

About 100 persons will be needed to man each post should Kentucky be put on an around-the-clock watch as several neighboring states to the north and east have. The observers, all civilian volunteers, will spot aircraft and telephone information to filter centers where it will be relayed to the Air Force. Most of the state is served by centers in Lexington and Louisville, but Nashville and Knoxville, Tenn., and Columbus, Ohio, are used in some sections.

About 400 posts will be needed in Kentucky and 325 have already been set up with supervisors, Lindsay said. Of this number, only 165 have enough volunteers to carry on even part-time work and none are at full strength.
