

This Town-- That World

SOUNDS TO HEAR AGAIN

For those who like a spot of quiet reading we recommend the "Banjo Smith Says" feature in The Courier-Journal, Sundays. His column recently had a piece about storing up summer sounds for the winter. Now there's an idea. What would you like to hear? . . . the belly-laugh of a youngster romping about in the sunshine with a dime's worth of clothes on at inflation prices . . . the awakening of birds with the first peep of dawn, their first sleepy chirps, followed by the full burst of every warbler around . . . the tinkle of a cowbell on a hill as far away as the ear can reach?

The fall of a burned chunk of wood in the fireplace usually bumps one out of a spell of reverie, of a winter evening. But for surprises I'll take the explosion of a bass surging at a surface lure in the quiet of a late afternoon when thoughts of winter are farthest distant.

WE AGREE

Saw, somewhere, an article bearing the title, "Give Christmas Back to the Children." Haven't got around to reading it yet, but I agree with it, anyhow.

Why not? Why should we adults muscle in with a passel of our grownup customs? At the rate we're going the youngsters won't even have a Santa Claus long.

If we'd tended to our knitting and let the children alone, look what we would have saved ourselves and others. Christmas cards and suffering postal employees, gifts nobody can or should use; friends neglected on your Christmas card or gift list . . . and so on ad infinitum.

Christmas—we oldsters have had it. And what a Christmas! Who can ever forget the thrill of a wool stocking filled with an orange, a log-stick of peppermint candy, an apple and, mebbe, a package of firecrackers, the small kind? We knew, back then, there was a Santa, because nobody else in our neighborhood had any oranges.

Now we mess around till the poor, old guy can't find anything new to bring the kids.

It might do us oldsters some good to recall that the Magi bore gifts to the Child, not to some grown-up.

TRIVIA

The fire department made another run this week, and Fire Chief Vernon Blackburn gave this thumb-nail report of the last four calls:

"Three pots of burned beans and an over-baked chicken."

THIS IS WHAT IT IS

The sign has hung over this desk two or three months now. We haven't said anything about it, nor have we moved it. We don't like to move things around, you know. But since that girl came in the other afternoon and innocently inquired, "What is Fishing pox?" we'll print all the card says:

WARNING—FISHING POX! Very contagious to adult males. Symptoms: Continued complaint as to need for fresh air, sunshine and relaxation. Patient has blank expression. Sometimes deaf to wife and kids. Has no taste for work of any kind. Frequent checking of tackle catalogues. Hangs out in Sporting Goods Stores longer than usual. Secret night phone calls to fishing pals. Mumbles to self. Lies to everybody. NO KNOWN CURE. Treatment: Medication is useless. Disease is not fatal. Victim should go fishing as often as possible.

NEW PROGRAM WILL INCLUDE VALLEY STUDY

New Uses, Markets For Coal, Waterway Listed for Survey

The industrial and agricultural potential of Northeast Kentucky, including the Big Sandy valley, will be the subject of a survey planned by the State Agricultural and Industrial Board, it was announced this week.

The survey is planned in cooperation with agencies, governmental and private.

The inquiry will seek new uses and markets for coal and study the possibilities for new chemical industries in the Big Sandy valley. A thorough study of all valley resources is planned.

The study will include water resources and possible canalization of the Big Sandy river.

The survey was announced by George W. Hubley, Jr., executive director of the board, in line with a pledge made by Governor Wetherby recently at an Eastern Ky. Town Hall gathering in Ashland. He promised to do everything in his power to develop natural resources in this section.

The survey will be the most complete yet undertaken by the board, rivaling the work that is doing in co-operation with federal agencies and West Kentucky in development of the Paducah and Kentucky Lake areas.

The Governor revealed that the board was not undertaking the task alone, but was working with rail-way companies, power companies, the United States Department of Commerce, and interested state and local civic bodies.

Dr. Donald P. Brown, chief of the board's research division, has started the groundwork for the project.

Hubley said a conference would be called with civic-group representatives and public officials in the area sometime next month for further discussion.

LEGION, AUX MEET SLATED

For Two Days at Martin This Week-End; Social, Business Meets Booked

Gomer R. Martin, Jr., commander of the 10th district, American Legion, and Mrs. Virginia A. Draughn, president of the 10th district American Legion Auxiliary, this week announced plans for a two-day joint gathering of Posts and Units of the district at Martin this week-end.

This is a Christmas meeting which will combine business and social activities. Only Legionnaires and their wives or Auxiliary members and their husbands will be admitted to the sessions.

Kentucky Department Commander Harry Hansbrough will address the business session Sunday afternoon at the Martin high school auditorium. Department Adjutant Tom Hayden, Forrest Newcom, assistant adjutant, and James Warren, past Department commander, will attend the two-day session.

The social activities planned for Saturday will include a spaghetti supper at 6 p.m. Sunday's business meeting will begin at 2 p.m.

Glo Miner Heart Victim At Lexington Hospital; Funeral Held at Estill

Ishmael Worth Patton, 49, of Glo, died at St. Joseph's hospital in Lexington, Dec. 5. A heart attack was given as the cause of death. He was a miner.

He was a son of Ransie Patton, deceased, and was married to Mary Lou Patton, who survives. Also surviving are the following children: Leslie, of Detroit, Charles Ray, James Edward, and Stephen, at home; Mrs. Virginia Catherine Copley, Glo; Mrs. Louella Spradlin, Seattle, Wash.; Barbara Sue Patton, at home.

Funeral rites were conducted from the Freewill Baptist Church at Estill, the Revs. Douglas Burkett and Green Allen officiating. Burial was made in the Martin cemetery at Wayland under direction of the Turner Funeral Home.

1952 TO BE DEWEY LAKE'S BIGGEST YEAR AS VISITOR TOTAL OF 550,000 EXPECTED FOR GAIN OF 50,000 OVER LAST SEASON

By year's end Dewey Lake will have attracted 50,000 more visitors this year than it did during 1951, according to estimates made by Roy Moore, reservoir manager.

Last year, the total number of visitors barely edged past the 500,000 mark. As of Dec. 1, Mr. Moore said, the figure for this year stood at 545,620.

Last month, according to Mr. Moore's estimate which was based on spot checks by rangers and observation from major points of interest, 12,149 persons visited the lake, with 2,300 visiting the area on Sunday, May 23, the biggest day of the month.

CHANGE PLANS TOLD BY BANK

Bank Josephine To Do Work Costing $75,000; Completion Seen by May

Remodeling of the banking department of The Bank Josephine, a job which will entail an estimated outlay of $75,000, is planned for completion by next May 1, it was said this week by Joseph D. Harkins, Sr., chairman of the bank's Board of Directors.

Working plans for changes of the bank's interior are now being prepared and are expected to be completed within the next 30 days.

"We plan to have everything any modern bank will have," Mr. Harkins said, adding that the remodeling job and additions to be made have been planned with a view to greater comfort of employees and customers.

One of the marked features of the new arrangement will be a mezzanine floor extending approximately halfway around the banking room. On this floor will be the book-keeping department and lounges.

The job will include re-arrangement of rooms, enlargement of the directors' room to provide space for business meetings as well as for bank officials' purposes. Private offices for key employees also will be provided.

The Board of Directors approved the project at a meeting last Thursday. "We first of all asked the employees of the bank for suggestions, with the idea of making the changes necessary to their comfort and to accommodate the public," Mr. Harkins said.

New teller windows will be installed, the burglar-proof vault will be enlarged to approximately three times its present capacity, and changes will be made in the fire-proof vault. Several hundred new safety deposit boxes also will be added, Mr. Harkins said.

A new air-conditioning system already has been installed at the bank. The only exterior change will be a private entrance for employees of the Beaver Creek Consolidated Coal Company whose offices occupy the second floor of the building.

BOTH PARTIES REPORT COST

Of November Campaign; Perkins Lists Expenses In Seventh of $542.22

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 4 — The Democratic state campaign committee's post-election expense account showed contributions totaling $86,044.30 and disbursements amounting to $85,488.73.

The report, filed with the State Election Commission by Campaign Chairman Clyde Watson, didn't specify the exact dates it covered.

The Republican state campaign committee's report, covering the period October 16 to November 10, showed contributions of $28,060 and expenditures of $47,588.44. It was filed by Campaign Chairman Thurston B. Morton.

Republican John Sherman Cooper, elected United States Senator over Thomas R. Underwood, reported he had spent $2,200.74 personally and knew of no other expenditures in his behalf. He pointed out his campaign was conducted by the G.O.P. committee for Kentucky along with its presidential and other campaigns. He said he was not familiar with contributions or expenses of the committee.

Underwood's post-election report showed receipts of $1,200 and expenditures of $800 for telephone and telegraph and $400 for travel and other expenses. He said he had additional support from the state committee, Farmers for Underwood, and

COUNTY FAILS BLOOD QUOTA

72 Pledge at Martin, Only 26 Appear; Next Visit Here, Jan. 8th

Blame for the failure of the bloodmobile to receive even half its 125-pint-per-visit quota of blood at Martin last Wednesday must, as usual, rest on those who had signed donor pledge cards, then failed to appear, it was said this week.

Donor recruitment workers there had 72 confirmed appointments for donors. Of these, only 26 appeared. There were 20 rejected as donors, and had not a large number of persons walked in as volunteers without having previously signed pledge cards, the result would have been much less than the 61 pints of blood received.

The need for blood is so great and the response so pitifully weak that the head nurse with the bloodmobile, Ann Sigfried, gave her pint of blood, then resumed her regular duties for the day.

While this county was falling down on its blood assignment, Pike county was supplying 94 pints and Frankfort, Ky. — The State Soil Conservation Committee announced the names of recently elected County Soil Conservation District Supervisors.

Elections were held in Kentucky's 120 Soil Conservation Districts on Nov. 4 and tabulation of results completed last week. The supervisors will take office Jan. 1 for a 4-year period.

Elected in the Floyd district were: Roy R. Demey, R. C. Barnett, Milt Stanley, J. B. Clarke, and Billy Merritt.

RADIO STATION HERE ON AIR

WPRT's First Broadcast Made Last Friday Noon; Studio Near City Limits

Radio Station WPRT, Prestonsburg, went on the air last Friday noon with a full daytime program. The station operates on 1,000-kilowatt power at 960 on the dial, and is the most powerful in the valley with the exception of WLSI, Pikeville, which has the same power.

The station and studio are located on the H. L. Mayo farm, near the upper Prestonsburg city limits.

Owned by D. C. Stephens, of Prestonsburg, the station has the following personnel:

Rex Osborne, station manager; Edwin P. Healey, engineer-announcer; South C. Bevins, advertising salesman and announcer; Clarence Robinson, Jr., sports announcer; Mrs. Mattie B. Sutphin, continuity and receptionist; Mrs. D. C. Stephens, bookkeeper.

Woman Here Saved Tobacco Tags Which Later Earned Her $36,000

The popularity of the old Schnapps plug tobacco, used strictly for chewing purposes, has waned with the years. But a Prestonsburg woman remembers the product well—and for a good reason.

Back in the good, old days this woman, Mrs. Luey Jones, widow of W. H. Jones, Sr., saved Schnapps tobacco tags which, last Oct. 14, meant $36,000 to her.

As the work of razing a building on the property which she sold here to The First National Bank was under way this week Mrs. Jones' story was told.

When she and Mr. Jones were married he was a traveling salesman, employed by McClintock & Chatfield, Catlettsburg wholesale firm. That was in the days before the railroad penetrated the valley and he used a horse and buggy to make his calls over a wide territory of rough, mountain roads.

On one of these trips over the territory he was accompanied by a representative of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, who spent a night at the Jones residence here. While he was Mr. and Mrs. Jones' guest, the Reynolds salesman showed Mrs. Jones a catalog which listed the items she could acquire by saving Schnapps tobacco tags. The prizes listed included furniture and other items. Mrs. Jones told her he could get her literally thousands of the tags on his tours of the area, and so she began hoarding the tin "nameplates."

It was easy for Mr. Jones to pick up the tags in great numbers. When a merchant sold a plug of the tobacco he almost invariably would pull out the tag and dump it into a nearby box to save barefoot customers from stepping on their two sharp prongs. There they awaited the Prestonsburg man's next visit.

Mrs. Jones counted the tags and made a shipment almost every week, 1,500 to 2,000 at a time. The company redeemed them in prizes of her choice. Thus she outfitted her home. The prizes included a bedroom suite, a leather couch and a mantle clock, two items still in use, a library table and a sewing machine.

$44,000 BOND ISSUE SOLD

Lower Interest Rate Saves $10-$12,000, Is Estimate Heard Here

An interest saving of 1½% to 1¾% on a $44,000 county debt was effected Monday, it was said, through the sale of refunding bonds in that amount.

The savings in dollars is estimated at between $10,000 and $12,000, officials said.

The original bonds bore 4½ per cent interest. The new bond issue was sold to Charles A. Hirsch, Inc., of Cincinnati, at $30.27 above their par $1,000, and the rate of interest was cut from the years 1956 and 1957 to 3 per cent and for the years 1958, 1959 and 1960 to 3½ per cent.

There were three bidders on the bond issue. Awarding of the bond contract to the Cincinnati firm was the only business of Monday's fiscal court meeting.

CLUB BUDGETS $1,000 TOTAL

For Lake Re-Stocking; Advice of Minor Clark Asked on Lake Fishing

Biggest item on the $3,630 budget set up by the board of directors of the Floyd County Fish & Game Club for the coming year at the director's meeting at Maytown Monday night was $1,000 which was earmarked for re-stocking of Dewey Lake with bass and walleye.

The club has not received a reply to its request for recommendations from Minor Clark, superintendent of fisheries, Kentucky Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources. Nor has it received quotations from hatcheries on the cost of fish. The club's plans call for release of keeper-size fish in the lake.

George W. Newman, of Hi Hat, who was re-elected president of the club at a recent meeting, said every effort will be made to improve fishing conditions in the impoundment.

CLUB MAKES PARK CLAIM

Kiwanis Club Adopts Resolutions Calling For Lake Area Park

Governor Lawrence W. Wetherby told the Town Hall meeting in Ashland recently that there is an excellent chance for the Dewey Lake area to get a state park, but added that nobody had asked for it.

That condition no longer obtains—the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club last Thursday made the request.

The club addressed its request for a state park in the reservoir area in the form of a resolution, asking the State Conservation Service to make a study of the area with a view to founding a park there.

The resolution, signed by Marvin Music, president, Harold B. Rice, secretary, and W. A. Rose, committee chairman, follows:

"WHEREAS, this club is vitally interested in all public improvements which tend to provide additional and better social and economic advantages, to the citizens of this Commonwealth and this community; and

"WHEREAS, the Federal Government has completed Dewey Reservoir (See Story No. 3, Page 6)

Chairman of Seal Sale Reviews Progress Made In Tuberculosis Fight

"The 47th birthday of the Christmas Seal sale, December 7, found us well along the road to victory over tuberculosis," V. O. Turner, superintendent of Floyd county schools and chairman of the Floyd county Seal drive, said this week.

"Since 1907, the disease has been forced down from first to sixth place among causes of death in the United States.

"But we must not think for a moment that the job is done," he warned. "We must not relax our efforts against TB, which still leads all diseases as a killer among our young people between the ages of 15 and 35, which still strikes 115,000 persons in the United States every year."

The first Christmas Seal Sale was conducted by Miss Emily Bissell, a welfare worker of Wilmington, Delaware, to raise funds for a few needy tuberculosis patients, Mr. Turner explained. Out of this developed a nationwide organization, the National Tuberculosis Association, and its 3,000 affiliated associations of which the Floyd Tuberculosis Association is one.

Paying tribute to the women volunteers who staff Christmas Seal campaigns now being carried on by the Association, he declared, "Like Miss Bissell, they see a job to be done. They know they are taking part in the fight against tuberculosis. They are working to make this community a better place in which to live."

Returns continue to come in, bringing the total for Floyd county to $1,225.

TAX FIGURES DROP IN '52

In Floyd and Other Counties of Section As State Total Rises

Total property assessments for 1952 in Kentucky were $3,800,182,063, an increase of $198,146,103 over 1951, according to a tabulation of county tax commissioners' reports by the Department of Revenue.

Floyd county's $10,477,684 assessment was $32,118 below that of the preceding year.

Jefferson county's increase topped the 120 counties with $64,342,357. Of this amount $62,163,907 was accounted for with intangible personal property; $11,512,745 in real estate, with a drop of $9,344,295 in tangible personal property. Fayette county came second with an increase of $21,819,027 and Boyd with an increase of $15,317,538 was third.

The largest drop in overall assessments in the state was Bell county with $2,949,475 under 1951.

At the bottom of the list in total property assessments is Menifee county with $1,274,645, followed by Wolfe and Owsley in that order.

The tabulation shows that real estate assessments dropped in 20 counties; in 24 they dropped on intangibles. Lower overall assessments were shown in 18 counties.

Knott county's 1952 assessment total was $5,387,980, a drop of $80,984 from 1951; Pike had an assessment gain of $1,507,081 with a total of $25,607,009; Johnson's 1952 total was $7,508,032, a loss of $374,797, and Magoffin had a loss of $181,351 with a 1952 total of $3,461,985.

BUSINESS MEN OFFER $1,000

As Customer Award To Be Made Dec. 24; Streets Are Lighted

Prestonsburg's business section has been bedecked with Christmas lights since last Thursday evening, and this week the Prestonsburg Business Men's Association announced something even more attractive to customers of local businesses.

This was cold cash—$1,000 of it. Stores and other businesses co-operating in the program are giving tickets as customers make cash purchases. These are to be held by the customers till 3 p.m., Dec. 24, when three cash prizes will be given away.

First prize will be $500; second prize, $300, and third, $200.

The winning ticket must be produced when its number is called. Awarding of prizes will be on the high school grounds.

The Christmas lights extend from the postoffice the entire length of Court street, on both sides of the street; and are criss-crossed on First from P. H. Layne's office to the I. Richmond Company.

Local stores are open from 8 a.m. till 9 p.m.

GROUP NAMES NEW OFFICERS IN MEET HERE

Two Elected Refuse Posts; Four Changes Of Directors Voted

Make-up of the Floyd County Good Government Taxpayers League leadership last Saturday overshadowed even the League's recent activities as a comparatively small segment of the membership met here and conducted an election of League officers and directors.

The action taken by the 53 members of the League attending the meeting at the courthouse last Saturday ousted the president, Dr. Edward B. Leslie, and elected four new members of the Board of Directors.

Named to succeed Dr. Leslie as president was Joe H. Cooley, who had been the League's secretary since its founding last April. Mr. Cooley and Henry P. Scalf were the only original members of the official board to be retained.

Soon after the election was held, however, both Cooley and Scalf announced they would not accept election with the new group, and this week wrote Samuel Hale, of West Prestonsburg, who was named secretary last Saturday, to that effect, adding that they considered their election last Saturday an attempt to embarrass them and their position with the taxpayers of the county.

The original officers and directors of the Tax League were taking the position this week, however, that the election was of no effect, that the Constitution and By-Laws of the League provide for a meeting the first Saturday in December and the first Saturday in June, both meetings at 10 a. m., the hour at which last Saturday's meeting was convened, but that neither of these meetings is designated for the purpose of the election of officers and directors.

"I knew what was up, about last Thursday," Gorman Collins, of Lackey, one of the original directors, said. "But I knew whatever they did would be illegal."

The Constitution and By-Laws also state that the officers shall hold office for a period of one year. They were elected last April. The two officers of the League also serve with five others as directors. The original directors, in addition to Dr. Leslie and Mr. Cooley, the president and secretary, were Gorman Collins, Polk Saunders, Henry P. Scalf, John Warrick and Wayne Stumbo. Mr. Stumbo recently resigned because of ill health, and that vacancy has not been filled.

The new group regarded Saturday as the day for election of officers. The minutes of their meeting point out that they telephoned Dr. Leslie, Mr. Cooley and Mr. Scalf, asking that they attend the meeting. On the failure of these three to appear, Samuel Hale was installed as temporary chairman and the meeting proceeded.

Original leaders of the Tax League contend that the gathering was "loaded" with what they term "new members" enlisted for a specific purpose. They also claim the meeting held Saturday was a move to aid county officials who are under fire from the League.

These leaders also pointed out that Saturday's action could not affect the status of existing suits against officials, because these court actions were taken in the name of the League officials and directors as individuals, as well as on the part of the Tax League.

Of the meeting itself the minutes, which follow, describe that: In accordance with Article 3 of the Constitution of the Floyd County Good Government Taxpayers League, a regular meeting was held at the Court House in Prestonsburg, Floyd County, Ky., on December 6th, 1952, the first Saturday in December, at 10:00 a. m.

Fifty-three members being present, the membership waited for the regularly elected President and Secretary and Treasurer, and Board of Directors of the organization to come to this meeting. At 10:13 a. m., it appearing that none of these officers were present, Paul E. Hayes moved the body that Samuel Hale, of West Prestonsburg, Ky., be elected as Temporary Chairman of the meeting. This motion was seconded by John Milton Stumbo. No other nominations having been made, Samuel Hale, of West Prestonsburg, was unanimously selected as Temporary Chairman of the meeting.

Thereupon, the Temporary Chairman assumed his duties as presiding officer, and announced that nominations were open for Temporary Secretary of the meeting. Thereupon, John Milton Stumbo, of McDowell, Kentucky, was nominated for Temporary Secretary and was elected unanimously.

The Temporary Chairman read to the members present the Constitution of the organization. Thereupon, the Temporary Chairman, upon his own motion, recessed the meeting for a period of ten minutes, during which time he called the President of the organization, Dr. Edward B. Leslie, and the Secretary and Treasurer, Mr. Joe H. Cooley, and one of the Board of Directors, Henry P. Scalf. Following the recess, the Temporary Chairman reported to the organization that those persons called indicated to him that they would be unable to be present due to the press of their individual businesses.

The Temporary Chairman then appointed a Qualification Committee to determine that all persons present were bona fide, paid-up members of the Floyd County Good Government Taxpayers League. The members of the Qualification Committee appointed were: Graydon Howard and Green Allen. The Temporary Chairman thereupon ordered all the doors closed, appointed Shelley Woods as Doorkeeper, and the cards of all persons present were checked by the members of the Qualification Committee. Thereafter, Mr. Graydon Howard and Mr. Green Allen reported that all those present were duly qualified members of the Floyd County Good Government Taxpayers League; and that all those present had cards showing that they were paid up members of the organization for the year ending December 31st, 1952, and that fifty-three members of the organization were present.

had selected the permanent constitutional officers for the 1953 year, as follows: President, Joe H. Cooley, Prestonsburg; Secretary and Treasurer, Samuel Hale, West Prestonsburg, Kentucky; the five Directors: E. W. Conn, Harold, Kentucky; James Allen, Langley, Kentucky; Henry P. Scalf, Prestonsburg, Ky.; Will Boggs, Garrett, Ky.; Charlie Newman, Hi Hat, Ky. The Temporary Chairman asked for nominations from the floor for any of the above offices, and it was duly moved and seconded that nominations cease and that the report of the nomination committee be adopted as presented. The motion was seconded by Green Allen, and said motion was carried unanimously.

The Temporary Chairman thereupon announced that the officers, as set out above, had been selected as permanent constitutional officers of the Floyd County Good Government Taxpayers League for the year 1953.

It was moved and seconded that these minutes be prepared and presented to The Floyd County Times office.

The Temporary Chairman then announced that there would be a meeting of the Board of Directors immediately following the meeting.

VETERAN'S FARM SUCCESS CITED FOR WALLACE AWARD

Willard Stephens, Middle Creek Road farmer, is a contestant for a Tom Wallace Conservation award. That fact alone should indicate that he is an outstanding farmer.

Stephens came back from World War II to a rundown farm, depleted by years of corn-cropping. During the war little attention could be given to maintenance of soil-fertility. It had been "corned" by tenants who knew only to exploit the earth for a crop needed by a country at war.

He went to work to change all of the many things that constitute a run-down farm. But before he went to work on serious planning he sought to learn the know-how of modern agriculture. He took on-the-farm training offered to him by the government. R. C. Barnett, his instructor, who is also a soil conservation supervisor, instilled into Stephens the basic principles of scientific agriculture. After completion of such on-the-job training he was able to envision what he wanted and could do for a run-down farm.

So the run-down farm no longer exists. It is growing green and as the years pass a continuation of the program of wise land use will make it greener. As L. R. Johnson, Floyd soil district conservationist, says, "He has worked out a basic conservation plan with the Soil Conservation Service so that each acre will be used according to its capabilities and treated according to its needs." Sounds like something out of a book, that statement does, but the Willard Stephens farm improvement, as a co-operator of the Floyd County Soil Conservation District, is not something that came out of a book. It came by wise planning and hard work.

Let's get statistical. He has 300 acres of land, hills and bottoms; 20 acres are in pasture with Ky. 31 fescue and ladino clover or fescue and Korian clover. He had 25 acres of hay crops this year and baled 50 tons. Baling hay is unusual on Floyd farms. Stephens baled his for savings on storage space. He wanted it in the barn.

On the farm is a large herd of cattle. In order to take proper care of his livestock it was necessary to remodel an old barn. The herd is large enough to consume his hay and pasture. To prevent overgrazing you will see an electric fence, now staked along the road in a fescue field.

Statistics can be endless on anything, but a few more will do to explain the farm activities on the Stephens farm. There were eight acres of cover crops and 12 acres of pasture fertilization. He put in 1,200 feet of diversion ditches and 700 feet of tile to reclaim some good bottom. Statistics may be dry and uninteresting but they certainly indicate a lot of planning and hard work.

Stephens does not have a long list of modern farm machinery. On his farm, which is comparatively small, he uses a tractor. He has a truck. There is a sawmill that is now doing custom sawing for neighbors. Soon he will harvest, as a crop, his own timber. All the mature trees will be marked by the Soil Conservation Service as an aid to harvest selection.

An entry into the Tom Wallace Conservation Award race is not presumptive for this farmer. But, win or not in the award race, he has already won a good life from the soil. To the soil he has been kind and to him it is being kinder still.

The new Standard of the American Road

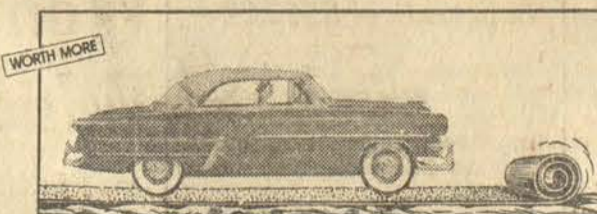

With 41 "Worth More" features, it's worth more when you buy it...worth more when you sell it!

Search no more: the car that exceeds your every driving need is making its bow at your Ford Dealer's!

Those of you who have owned Fords in recent years have a hint of the many ways in which this new 1953 Ford sets an entirely new standard for the American Road.

In this new Ford you'll find a new Miracle Ride that sets a new standard of smooth, quiet comfort on level highways or roughest byways. You'll find the easy handling and great visibility you need for today's fast-moving traffic... the "Go" to master today's long-distance driving.

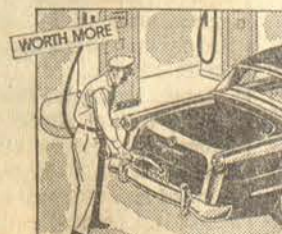

See this Ford... Value Check its 41 "Worth More" features... and Test Drive it. You'll see why this new standard-setting car is worth more when you buy it... worth more when you sell it.

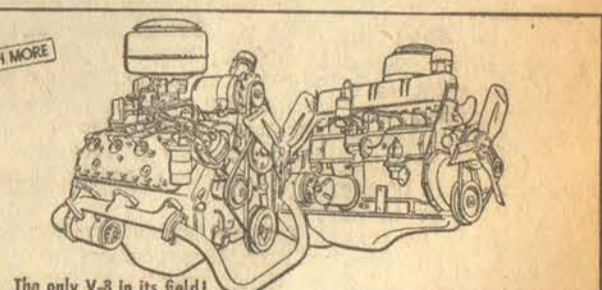

New Miracle Ride brings you riding comfort at its level best! Not just softer springs and new shock absorber action, but a smoothly coordinated system of ride control elements that adjusts instantly and automatically to changing road conditions. It's a completely balanced ride... a ride that will give you an entirely new concept of driving comfort on level parkways or rough, rutted byways.

Full-Circle Visibility gives you an unobstructed view of the road... and all the scenery. I-REST tinted safety glass makes driving easier on your eyes.

Center-Fill Fueling prevents hose marks on the finish of your car. No gas spill on fenders. Short gas filler pipe gives you trunk space for an extra suitcase.

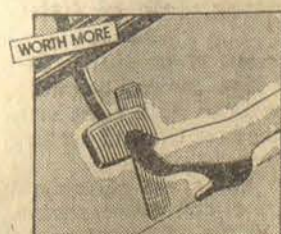

CHOICE OF V-8 OR SIX ENGINES—Ford's 110-h.p. high-compression Strato-Star V-8 has a partner for thrifty "Go" in the 101-h.p. low-friction, high-compression Mileage Maker Six—only modern Six in its field.

Shift to Fordomatic... and you'll never shift again. It's the finest, most versatile automatic drive ever. Ford also offers the smooth, thrifty Overdrive.

Key-Release Deck Lid opens automatically on counterbalancing hinges when you turn key. Note big trunk space! Ford's hood is counterbalanced, too!

Power-Rivet Pedals, suspended from above, operate more easily, eliminate dusty, drafty floor holes, make foot space of the entire floor space.

Automatic Power Pilot saves you money because it gives you high-compression "Go" with regular gas. An economy feature on both V-8 and Six.

Gas Company Honors Workers at Banquet At Maytown School

The Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company conducted its first Safety Banquet recently at the Maytown school cafeteria to honor those sections having an accident-free record since August 1, 1952. The sections represented were Dwaile, Drift, Right Beaver and Maytown compressor stations and Maytown district.

Thomas Lemaster, supervisor of Safety and Welfare for the company, presided at the banquet and presented safety plaques and awards as tokens of the successful safety campaign.

Sexton Linger, safety supervisor of the West Virginia division of the Equitable Gas System, was the guest-speaker. Mr. Linger spoke of the importance of safety in daily life and how safety is a way of life, just as religion is a way of life.

T. H. Evans, vice-president of the company, gave the main address of the evening. He spoke of the future of the company and the need for individual preparedness and faith in order to take advantage of the many opportunities that the future holds.

Safety awards were made to the following:

PUBLIC ASKED TO BEWARE BY TWO LEAGUE DIRECTORS

To the members of the Floyd County Good Government Taxpayers League and the people of Floyd County:

A small group of men met at the courthouse in Prestonsburg on Nov. 8, 1952 and attempted to take over the duties of the Original Good Government Taxpayers League.

We do not know who engineered this desperate movement but it requires no large measure of comprehension to know that it was some of the interested parties at the courthouse and their friends and relatives out in the county.

In their ambitions they were over-anxious to make it appear legal. They called Dr. Edward B. Leslie, Joe H. Cooley, and Henry P. Scalf on the telephone and asked if we were going to be present. We said we were not after talking to Dr. Edward B. Leslie, our president.

Henry P. Scalf had instructions to go down and try to call the meeting

MAROONS WIN NET TOURNEY

Wheelwright Edges
Martin, 42-40, To Win
County Championship

The Wheelwright Maroons, host team to the Floyd county tournament last week-end saw the last visitor out the door, last of all dismissing the strong Martin Purple Flash, 42 to 40, to win the county championship.

The title match, played before a capacity crowd, was decided in the last quarter, the two teams ending the third period all tied up at 30-all in a tight defensive battle. Wallen's 21 points for Wheelwright bettered the scoring effort of Tackett, Martin's big scoring threat, by one point. Wallen, a guard who specializes in one-handers, teamed up with Morris Ray Allen, 6-foot-4 center, to score 88 of the winners' 183 points in the three tournament games.

The Left Beaver team reached the finals by downing Wayland, 68-41, and Auxier 73 to 51. The Auxier five, incidentally, sprang one of the meet's big upsets when it eliminated Garrett's Black Devils, 50 to 48.

The Martin team won its way into the title round by outshooting McDowell, 75 to 57, and Betsy Layne, which was considered a strong contender, 70 to 46.

Johnny Carrico in his "Hoopin' It Up" column in The Courier-Journal this week quoted Dr. Foster Spence, former Ashland basketball player and later a coach, as having said, a few weeks ago, of Coach Adrian Hall's Wheelwright team:

"I've never seen better material in my life! This club will be in the state tournament."

But those who know how hot the competition in this section is will not go that far with their prediction, although they agree on Wheelwright's wealth of material. The team averages just a fraction of an inch shy of six feet. Besides its center it has Gus Curry (6 ft.-4), V. Hall (6-1), C. Gilson (6-3), Don King (5-9), C. Blackburn (6 feet even), Don Wallen (5-10), Jim Wiley and J. Osborne, each 5-feet-8. And all are seniors, except Gilson, Wiley and Osborne.

At the close of the tournament Saturday night Garrett high school was awarded the sportsmanship trophy, and Ronald Lee Hall, of Wheelwright, the trophy as the best shot from the foul circle.

Dam on Johns Creek, a short distance from Prestonsburg, and has impounded therein a large quantity of water creating a lake approximately 18 miles in length which now affords widespread recreation facilities and is conducive to many economic advantages; and

"WHEREAS, the Federal Government has already acquired several thousand acres of land in fee, inclusive of and surrounding the same covered with growing timber, lying in the counties of Floyd, Martin, Johnson and Pike, all of which would provide an ideal spot for the location and development of a State Park and forest area, now, therefore

"BE IT RESOLVED, that the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club by unanimous vote recommends to the State Conservation Service of the state of Kentucky that said area be investigated by the said State Conservation Service and upon investigation, if found acceptable and desirable said State Conservation Division take the necessary steps and proceedings in co-operation with the Federal Government to establish a State or Federal Park around said Dewey Lake."

The State Division of Fish & Wild-life Resources already has a game refuge plan set up for the Dewey area, and E. R. Burke, district supervisor, said this week the 13,000 acres made available to the Division for that purpose definitely will be closed to hunting by the opening of the next hunting season.

The 13,000 acres made available to the Division for this purpose cover all the government-owned lands in the area.

off, but when he got down at the courthouse and started telling them there would be no meeting he was informed there had already been a meeting. The minutes, as turned over to The Times by Sam Hale, show what occurred.

They elected a temporary chairman and proceeded to elect new officials for the League. Summoning up in their master minds they elected Joe H. Cooley as the president, and Henry P. Scalf as one of the directors without our knowledge or consent, making this look bad on some of the present members, to distort, disarrange and complicate the functions of the present League. They wanted dissension among the group of men that organized the Good Government League, to break down their morale, reputations, and above all to destroy the movement for clean, wholesome Good Government in Floyd county.

Dr. Edward D. Leslie is the legal president of the League. Joe H. Cooley is the secretary and treasurer. Polk Saunders, John Warik, Gorman Collins and Henry P. Scalf are the legal directors. All others are fakes and saboteurs of the League's aims and objectives. We ask you to have nothing whatever to do with these men who claim they act in the name of the League: E. W. Conn, Charlie Newman, James Allen, Sam Hale and Will Boggs.

For ourselves, we shall continue to work for the League and its aims. Those aims are to clean up Floyd county. We certainly don't feel that any cleaning can be done with the crowd that ring tried to elect.

Johnson 96, it was said. Until this month Floyd county has consistently run ahead of these two counties. This county has approximately 1,500 boys in the armed forces, many of these have been wounded and almost every wounded man has received blood.

Discouraging as the results of last week's visit of the bloodmobile was, workers found one man who proved that not all promises are without meaning. A few days before the bloodmobile visit, Mrs. Vernon Leake, of Little Paint, needed blood of a type which the Paintsville hospital at which she was a patient did not have. The Huntington regional center had it, and Mr. Leake drove there for it.

He was told there was no charge for the blood but that his help in replacing it would be appreciated. Mr. Leake promised to give blood at Martin.

Last Wednesday, not only Leake but also his mother and a woman neighbor were at Martin to give blood.

On the other side of the picture, however, is the case of another man from another community who received 15 pints of blood for a member of his family. He informed Miss Ella Noel White, executive secretary of Floyd chapter, American Red Cross, he had 20 donors ready but was told he should not have to bear the expense of transporting them to the hospital where the patient was. Blood was provided without charge, and he promised to help replace it.

He has not appeared yet to give even one pint in appreciation for the 15 received.

Next visit of the bloodmobile will be to Prestonsburg, January 8.

HUGHES AGAIN IS ALL-STATE

For Second Year Gets Most Votes, Captains All-Star Aggregation

Prestonsburg high school's John Delmar Hughes has for the second year in a row won the quarterback spot on the All-State football team named by The Courier-Journal.

On top of that he is the mythical all-star aggregation's captain for the second consecutive year by virtue of having polled the greatest number of votes by coaches, sports-writers and broadcasters composing The Courier-Journal's advisory board in both 1951 and 1952.

The star-studded All-State was announced in Sunday's edition of The Courier-Journal. Besides Hughes, it included: Bill Hollin, Lynch, and Don Plunkett, Lafayette, ends; Twyman Patterson and Jim Fulmer, Bellevue, tackles; Morris Yates, Madisonville, and John Noon, Flaget, guards; Dave Duhn, Male, center; Sherrill Sipes and Paul Hornung, both of Flaget, and Bob Walker, Middlesboro, backs.

Named to the All-State third team was big John Goble, of Prestonsburg, who is regarded an outstanding college prospect as guard.

Eastern Kentucky on the whole fared well at the hands of the All-State Board. On the second team were these grid stars from this section of the state:

Bobby Moody, Pikeville, end; Joe Gray, Somerset, tackle; Robert Ca-wood, Middlesboro, guard; Lawrence Adams, Louisa, center; Randy Mills, Lynch, and Ralph Moran, Belfry, backs.

On the third team, besides Goble of Prestonsburg, were Ronald Ever-sole, Hazard, and Irvin Wilson, Belfry, tackles.

Johnny Hill, a stand-out at end for Prestonsburg, was listed for honorable mention.

In corraling the largest number of votes for All-State honors again this year, Hughes added new chapters to football records books here. Operating from the split-T this season for the first time as Coach Doc Ferrell fashioned his team's attack to fit the material available, Hughes' passing and running sparked the team to the Conference championship, with only a one-point loss to mar the regular season record.

Over his three years as quarter-back for the Black Cats, he completed 271 passes out of 937 attempts for totaling 3,401 yards. He passed for 52 touchdowns, scored 25 himself, added 67 extra points via the place-kick route. To his three letters won in football he added three in basket-ball.

An honor roll student, Hughes has been sought by the University of Kentucky, Yale, Tennessee, Cincinnati and West Virginia.

He has decided to enroll at the University of Kentucky next fall, his father, J. T. Hughes, said.

Paul Miller, of Flaget, was voted Coach of the Year—an honor won in 1950 by Doc Ferrell, of Prestonsburg.

Dairy products constituted 12 per cent of the total income taken in by Kentucky farmers during 1951.

Second Twin Succumbs As Parents Returning From Brother's Rites

Jeanette Burchfield, 15 months of age, died Dec. 6, of pneumonia, six days after her twin brother, James, had succumbed to the same disease. The two were the children of Jack and Pearlie Baldrige Burchfield, of Glo.

James, the twin-brother had died in Pontiac, Mich., Nov. 29 and the body was returned to Floyd county for burial. After the funeral the parents were planning to return to their home in Michigan. The surviving twin was slightly ill and a doctor was consulted. The parents were told that her condition did not appear serious. On the return trip, however, the child became worse and died on the bus near Louisa.

Surviving besides the parents are three sisters at home. Funeral rites were conducted by the Rev. Johnny Ramey at the Church of God at Glo, at 10 a.m., Dec. 8. Burial followed in the Collins cemetery at Wayland under the direction of Turner Funeral Home.

Club Group Requests Span Approach Repair

A committee representing the Lackey-Garrett Woman's Club appeared last week before County Judge Henry Stumbo to ask repair of the bridge connecting Garrett with its school, describing the condition as dangerous for children walking to and from school. Judge Stumbo promised the group he would inspect the bridge within the next few days.

The Floyd County Times

Official Organ for Floyd County, Ky

Published Every Thursday by Prestonsburg Publishing Co

Entered as second class matter July 20, 1911, at Prestonsburg, Ky., under the act of March 3, 1879.

Congratulations

LAST Friday, radio station WPRT became a part of Floyd county, and The Times congratulates all connected with it.

This is a business venture, the cost of which reflects its owner's confidence in the future of Floyd county—and that, it should be remembered, is a virtue not every Floyd countian possesses.

We Should Not Falter

HAVE you mailed or taken payment for your Christmas Seals to the Floyd County Tuberculosis Association?

This is no trivial matter. On the success of this drive for funds, on our contributions through the purchase of Christmas Seals, depend the future work of a fulltime tuberculosis nurse in this county.

Mrs. J. D. Mayo's work as TB nurse in this county has been outstanding. The death rate from the disease has decreased steadily since she began the work of contacting sufferers and contacts, arranging chest x-ray examinations, persuading sufferers to take hospital treatment, urging care against contracting the malady and working in many other ways to establish the intimate contact with the people which is necessary to lead them from long-established and pernicious habits and customs.

To this drive and more to come—those to raise funds for the continuing fights on polio, heart disease, human misery of any kind—every individual should make a generous contribution.

Beer and Cigarettes Can Stand More Taxes

STATE revenues have taken a dive at a time when the treasury was vulnerable as a result of inflation, and we are told higher state taxes are almost certain to be the attempt at a solution.

Allan M. Trout astutely reviewed the situation in Sunday's edition of The Courier-Journal. Among the causes he lists for the state's income failing to come up to expectations are a drop of 58 per cent on whiskey production tax, almost 9 per cent in the consumption tax on whiskey and a loss of 22.2 per cent in corporation income taxes.

With $8,000,000 to $9,000,000 a year needed in additional revenues, Mr. Trout predicts that an attempt to raise that amount will be made by the General Assembly at its 1953 session in three-fold action:

1. Amending the state income tax laws requiring employers to withhold employees' taxes as they are now withhold federal income taxes—a move estimated to add $4,000,000 a year to the state treasury.

2. Increase the 2-cents-a-package cigarette tax to near the national average of 3½-4c a pack. If this tax is brought to 4 cents, it would yield $5,000,000 itself.

3. Increase the $1.50-a-barrel tax on beer to about the national average which exceeds $3. This would add $1,500,000 more.

The national average on cigarettes is almost 4 cents; that means some states charge much more than 4 cents. The national average on beer is more than $3 a barrel, which means that in some states the tax is higher than that, since it runs as low as 62 cents in California.

In those states where the tax is higher on these two items, which certainly cannot be classified as necessities, there is no dearth of smokers and drinkers.

So we say, raise the taxes on beer and cigarettes. Those who, come high taxes and high water, will smoke and drink will not be deterred. So let them pay.

Mr. Trout mentions the sales tax as a certain money-raiser, but admits that legislators and those who lead legislatures in this state are loath to approach that touchy subject—even though every other state bordering Kentucky has a sales tax.

3rd FREEDOM CRUSADE MAY BE MOST SUCCESSFUL IN STATE

The Crusade for Freedom is in full swing across the state and early indications are that the 1952 Crusade will be the most successful in its three-year history. The campaign ends December 15.

Robert E. Hatton, state campaign chairman, said 84 county chairmen are setting up active campaigns and "before we're through" campaigns will have been operating in 100 of the state's 120 counties. Included in the 84 counties where active drives have been launched is Floyd. Chalmer H. Frazier, superintendent of Prestonsburg schools, is chairman of the crusade in this county.

Robert P. Steptoe, executive director, said 400,000 Freedom-Grams had been sent out from the Crusade's Louisville headquarters to all sections of the state. He estimated a million of the messages will have been distributed by the time the campaign closes.

The bulk of the Freedom-Grams are being distributed through the public and parochial schools of the state, Steptoe said. This will mean some 700,000 of the messages will be distributed by the school-age children in Kentucky. The balance are being distributed by county chairmen, labor and other groups.

First large financial contribution to the Crusade for Freedom came from the Armored Center at Fort Knox. Col. John L. Ryan, Jr., Chief of Staff, turned over a check for $5,000 to Hatton. The money was contributed by officers and men stationed at the training center. Col. Ryan said. Kentucky's goal is $50,000 and 250,000 Freedom-Grams.

Meanwhile, other groups launched Crusade promotion drives. A state-wide church committee composed of three Louisville clergymen representing the three major faiths have appealed by letters to all churches in Kentucky asking that the clergy support the Crusade to the pulpit and through church bulletins.

Associated Industries of Kentucky, major industrial association in the state, has endorsed the Crusade. Louis J. Bosse, association managing director, sent letters to its 700 industry members urging financial support.

Major labor groups are solidly behind the Crusade. The AFL, CIO,

MARTIN BACKING PAGEANT

The good people of Martin are solidly behind the Passion Pageant. Business concerns took enough advertising to publish a handbook to be used for rehearsals and on Pageant day. It contains the script, references, casts, stage necessities, directions, committees, etc., for Pageant day. Instead of calling upon the merchants again in the spring for money to buy tickets, build booths and meet other expenses, the Pageant board will charge a small fee for the booklet, put this back into the treasury, to be used once more. Our good business people are so flooded with requests one gets sorry for them. Only a few declined and there are times when everyone is forced to do so. A majority responded most willingly, despite numerous calls from other sources the same week.

In addition to this everyone who is called upon in Martin for assistance to the Pageant in other forms is more than willing to help. It was this fine community spirit that put the event on the map last spring. Hall Brothers Funeral Home offers its radio time. Turner Funeral Home will be ticket headquarters on April 19th, when the Pageant treasurer, Dr. Wade Mahood, and Mrs. Mahood, bookkeeper, take charge there, with Mrs. Glenn Spradlin, of the First Guaranty Bank, to supervise and assist volunteer clerks, bookkeepers, and cashiers on duty from early morning. Randal, Gene and Norman Allen are doing most of our Pageant printing free of charge. Printing houses in adjacent counties have donated paper for programs in the spring. Frank Rayburn, from Hazard, volunteered to make many signs to be used for making stage settings.

Stage properties are stored with Ideal Cleaners, Osborne Brothers, and Rad Barnette. When not in use, the truck of Moore's Service Station is at service of the Pageant. Fred Dickerson will send a bus to haul visitors free on Pageant day to the grounds, from parking areas outside of town. Jewell Hardware offers space for Pageant headquarters if needed by co-producers, Mesdames Bill Allen, Joe Allen, Woodrow Allen, Sherill Frazier, Ollie May, Bill Reynolds, E. P. Grigsby, and Miss Magdalene Branham.

The services of Harmon Electric Co., Martin, Combs Engineering Co., Maytown, and Joe Hobson, attorney, Prestonsburg, are available. Such cooperation from those and many others who will do their part when asked is making possible the matchless opportunity to spread the gospel story by dramatization to many, who otherwise might not hear it.

At the Pageant board of directors meeting Sunday afternoon Demra Taylor was elected to fill the vacancy created when Bill Reynolds, Jr., resigned recently as representative of the Christian Sunday School. Mr. Taylor is one of the most progressive citizens of Martin. At present he is doing a superb job preparing for a big Christmas for Martin youngsters, through the American Legion Post of which he is commander.

SGT. HUNTER IN "EXERCISE FROSTY"

With the U.S. Forces in Austria—Winter weather added to the realism of "Exercise Frosty," a recent army field maneuver in Austria which included Sgt. First Class Newell G. Hunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hunter, of Martin, Ky.

Sgt. Hunter, a section chief in the 510th Field Artillery Battalion's Battery C, has been in Austria since March, 1950. The Kentucky soldier has been in the army since 1952.

PVT. BRADFORD IN AUSTRIA

Pvt. Manuel E. Bradford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bradford, Weeksbury, has returned to his home station in Austria after 10 days in the field during "Exercise Frosty," a recent army maneuver. The exercise was conducted in the Salzkammergut mountains of Austria, and rain, sleet and snow fell intermittently throughout the 10-day period.

Bradford, who has been in Austria since last April, is a truck driver in the 4th Armored Cavalry Reconnaissance Battalion. He entered the army in September, 1951.

Floyd County Historical Notes

By HENRY P. SCALF

The following letter came to the editor's desk recently and since it concerns this column it was passed on. The writer, G. M. "Mat" Hale, of Harold, is an ex-teacher and retired business man. He objects, mildly, that Jane Elkins married a Hall as stated in this column on Nov. 6. His objection is valid as she married John Hale. As he surmised, the error was typographical. But let's on with the letter:

I was much interested in Henry P. Scalf's history of the Apple Orchard cemetery on Brushy Fork of Johns Creek (Floyd County Times, Nov. 6).

My interest increased when he mentioned the Elkins family. For I realized he was barking up my family tree. My interest grew when he mentioned branches of that family whom I knew many years ago—Fletcher, Charles, Bob, Jeff, Ailsie, Rebecca and Jane, my grandmother. He made one little error, which, however, might have been typographical. He said Jane married a Hall of Brushy, when it should have been Hale, who was my grandfather. This, to me, was the most interesting part of his story, and I was disappointed when he sawed off my branch of the tree and left me dangling to the snag. Not to be left in that predicament I want to graft on to that stub some of the larger branches and leave it to some one else to supply the twigs.

Jane Elkins married John Hale, and to them were born Emery, Jasper (Jack), Kane, Ailsie and Betty. John Hale died on Twelve Pole Creek, Cabell county, W. Va., when his children were small. Their mother moved with them to Brushy Fork of Johns Creek, to be near her sister, Mrs. John Davis. After many years, when the children were almost grown, she moved to Floyd county and settled on Little Mud Creek, on the Sammy Clark farm. Emery married Aliza Perry, settled in Prestonsburg, where they raised a large family. Jack married Jane Mead and settled on Little Mud, later, on Toler Creek, where four sons and three daughters grew up. Of these, this writer is the oldest (70 today). Kane married Amanda Blankenship, settled on Johns Creek, and to them were born a son and daughter. Ailsie married Dave Perry and reared a large family in and around Prestonsburg. Betty married Elbert Robinson, settled in the Mud Creek valley and they had five sons and five daughters.

Now, since I have wriggled off the snag, I feel better. But I hope no one of the Elkins family will be piqued if I single out one for special mention. It concerns the family of Uncle Charley Elkins, who spent his last days on Little Paint Creek, near the Johnson county line, and more particularly his daughter, Lizzie. She was a very beautiful woman, as I remember her, more than 60 years ago. She often came to Mud Creek to visit her folks, romped and played with the children, in a girlish way. She was high-spirited, friendly, and fond of her folks.

She married Webster Greer, who passed to his reward many years ago. They settled on Little Paint where, according to my last report, she still lives alone near her old home. My last personal word from her was in 1901—my first year in Byington's school at Prestonsburg. It was a letter done up in pink ribbon, very beautiful and encouraging, to me, smarting under the whip-lash of Byington's tongue. I had not seen her for many years before this and have not seen her since that date.

New Officers To Begin Terms at Annual Party Here Saturday Evening

New officers of the Foreman's Club of the Princess Ekhorn Coal Company at David will assume their duties during the club's annual Christmas party which will be held Saturday evening at the grade school cafeteria.

Wives of club members will be guests, and an interesting part of the program will be the exchanging of gifts and awarding of valuable door prizes. Music will be provided by the David Teen-Agers.

New officers who will enter on their duties at the meeting are Oliver Marshall, president; Pete Campbell, vice-president; Chester Patton, secretary; and Harry Clay, treasurer.

Lake Cumberland, latest of Kentucky's man-made lakes, has a shoreline of 1,255 miles with an average depth of 90 feet.

Woman's Club Meets At Home of Mrs. Reed

Mrs. Mark Reed was hostess to the Prestonsburg Woman's Club for the regular monthly meeting Thursday, Dec. 4. During the business session which was presided over by the president, Mrs. W. W. Cooley, the club voted to sponsor the 1953 Heart Fund drive in Prestonsburg. Mrs. E. S. Collins was named chairman of the drive, assisted by co-chairmen, Mrs. Bill Pettry and Mrs. Fanny Runnels. The club also voted to purchase the $5.00 certificate for the T.B. Christmas Seals which were mailed to them. Many Christmas gifts for veterans were brought to the meeting and Miss Alice Harris volunteered to pack and mail them.

Mrs. A. C. Harlowe introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Iley B. Browning. The topic of the program was "Our Neighbors in Other Lands." Mrs. Browning, having traveled extensively, presented a most interesting program. Assisted by Mrs. Thomas Lemaster, she showed colored films of two of her trips. The first was about an airplane trip to Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and about 15 other countries. The second trip showed the speaker sailing from New York for Jamaica, Cuba and South America. Mrs. Browning told many interesting things about the people, their customs and the countries in general.

After the program, the hostess, Mrs. Mark Reed, assisted by Mesdames John Allen, E. S. Collins and Byron Nunery served refreshments to the following members: Mesdames

W. W. Cooley, G. M. Haggard, Bill Pettry, John Hale, A. C. Harlowe, H. L. Ley, Glenn Anderson, Earl T. Arnett, J. D. Mayo, Fanny Runnels, Ed May, Gwynn Ford, Val Strahan, J. H. Keenon, Russell Shaw, Raymond Sirkle, and guests, Mesdames Iley B. Browning, Joe Harkins, Jr., Reba Mayo, Martha Carpenter, J. P. Sammons, Walter Gilks, and Mr. Thomas Lemaster.

The club will have a silver tea on January 8 at the home of Mrs. R. V. May, from 3 to 5 p.m.

The Report was False

The Times a few weeks ago "fell" for a news-item sent us from Lexington, and, so doing, printed a report which was untrue. This item reported the engagement of Robie Hackworth, University of Kentucky student and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hackworth, of West Prestonsburg. The Times regrets its gullibility which caused it to give a lie recognition in its columns.

Such are the matters which make newspapers skeptical of almost everything.

CLEVELAND — The men in charge of news presented by radio and television stations think major news associations and services did an "unbiased" job reporting the last election.

IT'S A GOOD WORLD BY WILMAX

Recently a Wayland high school kid walked to the door of Miss Katherine Gearheart's room and asked her if her Christmas tree would be as pretty this year as it was last. She replied that she hoped so. He then said he thought it was the proudest of all, that he just loved the "Eisenhower" stuff she had all over it! He meant "angel hair."

We commend Ike for bringing to his cabinet men who represent various factions and groups. It shows a desire to cement sections and a willingness to forgive, to bear no grudges. America comes before either party. Minorities and others feel entitled to representation. All of us differ with nearly everyone on some points but such should not prevent us from working toward common goals harmoniously. Countless public officials, in offices low and high, have been the losers because they could not forgive their opponents and those who failed to support them. Often they become the victims of their own viewpoint.

We had the privilege recently of introducing Mrs. E. P. Grigsby, of Martin, to a friend, who was astonished when told that Mrs. Grigsby and her husband are the proud, happy parents of eight fine children, all of whom possess remarkable talent. "Put her there," the friend enthusiastically shook hands with this youthful-looking mother, whose family comes first.

Shortly before that an acquaintance remarked that so few educated parents today want large families and that she congratulated Mayor and Mrs. Grigsby for their fine example. In the First Family of Martin one or the other of the parents is at home with the children each evening, though all of the youngsters are of school age. Family ties are close ones in the home, where friends of all ages are in and out daily.

Both Mayor and Mrs. Grigsby are active in many organizations, and are recognized as among the best leaders in Martin or Floyd county. One of the nicest things about them is the fact that, while they are highly successful, they are equally democratic and take care to teach their children the better values of life. We salute them.

Many wonder why Martin has grown so in recent years. There are several reasons. One is the fact that it has so many people of real vision. The town is running over with leaders of topnotch quality, both men and women, and it also has countless others who prefer to be followers but to be good ones. They are thinking in community terms, with respect to the future. They can be critical of one another with the right attitude, the one that gets us somewhere, the kind used by Londoners in London, Ky., to put it on the map in the past few years.

An example of their community interest was illustrated this week when the First Baptist Church voted Sunday to build its new edifice on the lot generously donated by Mr. and Mrs. Mason Moore, out near the Moores' Service Station. Some day, Martin will build up in that direction, and families there will lack proximity to a good church, whereas

Floyd Students To Take Part in Yale Programs Of Pikeville College

Pikeville, Ky., Dec. 9 (Spl.)—Six young Floyd countians will take part in the annual Christmas program of the girls' and boys' choruses of Pikeville Junior College and Pikeville College Academy Wednesday, Dec. 17, at 8 p.m.

Lucille Sexton, Drift, and three young Floyd county men students at the college are members of the 23-voice Pikeville College Chorus, which will sing five selections on the program. Dr. A. A. Page, college president, said today. The men are Kenneth Burchett, Ivel, Bobby Elkins, Harold, and Bobby Kitchen, East Point.

Miss Sexton, Buchett and Kitchen are members of the sophomore class at Pikeville. Elkins is a freshman.

Jane Ann Hale, of Harold, and Alice Snyder, Betsy Layne, are among the 49 Academy students in the combined Academy chorus. The group of 37 girls and 12 boys will sing five numbers, all without accompaniment.

Miss Snyder will also appear in a dual role in Dickens' "A Christmas Carol," to be presented in dramatized form (on the same program) by members of the Pikeville College Academy class in public speaking. She will play both "Mrs. Fezziwig" and "Martha Cratchit."

today there is friendly competition among a number of small churches in the town itself. While there are still plenty of people not attending anywhere, to fill all the churches, it is good to see a new church go up where none exists. It shows a consideration for others. Baptists are influenced by the fact that their membership is largely rural, with many coming by bus from many routes. The church no doubt was also influenced by the goodness of the donor, Mason Moore is generally recognized as one of the best men in this section. As a Christian he walks close to God, and gives Him the credit for everything good in his life.

While some, of course, voted each way, the fine thing about this church is that its members stick together in brotherly love. Several said they would lay just as many rocks, blocks or stones in one place as in the other.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D.

Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

"WISE SAWS AND MODERN INSTANCES"

Last week I spoke of the wisdom found in the treasures of folk illustrative stories. Today I want to add a few words on another source of the wisdom of the folk-wise sayings. Just as the anecdote gives in objective form some well-known or valuable truth, so the saying tries to generalize on experience. The wise saying is probably not so much alive now as it used to be; modern living has introduced so many things that it is rather hard to generalize in any final way. After all, the folk sayings arose in a primitive, simple society, where man's wants were few, his questions also few, his reactions to law and nature and death and life reduced to the minimum.

There is something in most people that responds to the apt quotation or the wise saw, whether it is the specific work of one great thinker or a folk saying that is of indefinite origin. Texts as such offer comfort in succinct form to thousands of people who have never read and who have never thought very extensively. Robert Frost's neighbor who always said "Good fences make good neighbors" is a sample of this sort of thinking. The man had heard it said, probably by his father, and had supposed that it contained an everlasting truth, as it does in a way. But a man like Frost could see other sides to such a wise statement: "What are you walling in or walling out when you build a fence? Is it worth it to fence in things that do not need a fence, to establish barriers that may hinder rather than help?" Of course, the typical person with folk thinking would never dare question an age-old statement that his father used; it would smack of treason to one's ancestors. And, says Frost, the man goes on using the wise saw, comforting himself by thinking that there is nothing more to say.

It is this questioning that has made the folk saying lose much of its power in our times. Former weather rules, reduced to rhymes, and similar things do not hold much weight unless they are supported now by something a bit more scientific. Imagine a first-class farmer planting or harvesting his crops by some memorized rhyme that grew up when a farm was a mere patch cleared in the woods?

Closely allied to these wise sayings are expressions that span the gap between figures of speech and whole sentences. "Dollars to doughnuts," "Pull the wool over a fellow's eyes," "Not dry behind the ears yet," "Settle his hash"—and so on and on I could go with phrases and near-sentences that reveal a type of folk generalization that is crude but vivid. As compared with "standard" language, a conversation larded with these expressions might seem a little too "touched up," but the figurative instinct appears in all primitive people; mere cold abstractions just do not register. Ages of experience have brought to even the most primitive certain beliefs that may or may not be wholly true; but as long as man is still seeking a way out, these half-truths will help him express in concrete terms his views of the abstract and puzzling ways of the world.

LICENSES LEGAL

Assistant Attorney General Walter C. Herdman ruled that the City of Mayfield may lawfully exact of non-residents who use its streets for all-day parking purposes a license. It was explained that many non-residents bring their automobiles to Mayfield, park them there in the early morning, board a bus for the Atomic Energy plant near Paducah, and return in the evening for their own automobiles.

Gas Company Officials Expect Gas Deficiency

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 4—An official of Columbia Gas Corporation said today his company expected a deficiency in natural gas production and therefore its subsidiaries couldn't take on additional customers in the Ashland area.

Ray Hitchman, Columbia Gas vice-president, Charleston, W. Va., was before the Public Service Commission to show cause why United Fuel Company, Ashland, a subsidiary of Columbia, couldn't take on more space-heating customers.

However, Russell H. Jenney, an engineer for the P.S.C., said an investigation he recently made indicated that 820 additional customers could be taken on between now and January 1 without injuring the other customers in the Ashland area.

Lively M. Wilson, commission secretary, said the P.S.C. would issue an order within the coming week.

1953 LINCOLNS SWEEP FIELD IN MEXICAN PAN-AMERICAN RACE

Lincoln for 1953 is the automotive sensation of the world today!

1953 Lincolns in the Mexican Pan-American Race took not just first, not just second, but third and fourth places as well!

In the race participants call "the toughest stock car competition in the world," the winning Lincolns swept ahead of 66 other American production cars representing 11 other makes—and won by a big time advantage.

The first 1953 Lincoln to cross the line was driven over the tortuous 1,938-mile course in a total elapsed time of 21 hours, 15 minutes and 38 seconds. Then, within 10 minutes and 58 seconds, the three other winning Lincolns swept in—with the last one fully 20 minutes ahead of its nearest competitor.

Never before has there been such a record established in this International Contest organized by the A.N.A. (Asociacion Nacional Automovilistica)—a run that includes altitudes ranging higher than 10,000 feet—over roads of every type and condition.

Never before has a great car so clearly demonstrated both its performance superiority and ruggedness in such a competitive test.

The 1953 Lincoln, with its advanced design 205-hp engine—the V-205—is the car to challenge all others this year. So see the 1953 Lincoln—which is powered to leave the past far behind. Try it—drive it—for the performance revelation of a lifetime!

WAYLAND

The regular meeting of the Wayland Junior Woman's Club was held in the Methodist Church basement, Dec. 1. The president, Miss Faye Petry, presided over a brief business meeting, at which she urged all members to bring their veterans' socks to her, so they can be sent to Veterans' hospitals before Christmas. It was voted to buy a bracelet and blouse for Mae Cisco, the club's adopted orphan. These presents are to be for Christmas. Mrs. Ralph D. Wright was appointed chairman of the Heart Drive which will be during the month of February. The club also voted to donate $5 to the Floyd County Tuberculosis Association. The president urged all committees to get together soon and plan the Christmas party.

The following club members attended: Mesdames Anthony Lyons, David Slone, Henry Fults, Richard R. Hicks, Ralph D. Wright, Roy Martin, and Misses Joyce Terry, Faye Petry and Annabelle Falin.

SOIL CONSERVATION

By L. R. JOHNSON
Soil Conservation Service

It looks like a progressive year for conservation farming in 1952, despite the unfavorable season.

Willard Stephens, of the Middle Creek community, a co-operator of the Floyd County Soil Conservation District, seeded 20 acres of KY. 31 fescue mixed with Ladino clover and lespedeza. The fields that were brown are no longer brown but green. In order to increase growth, he spread 50 tons of lime and applied commercial fertilizer to 12 acres.

Drainage was improved on five acres by the use of farm tile and 1,200 feet of diversion channel was constructed to protect four acres.

Cover crops were seeded on all of the eight acres that were in row crops. A great deal of hay was harvested, a new barn was constructed and the old barn was improved by adding a shed. Enough livestock is on the farm to consume most of the hay.

The year 1952 has already rung the bell as a banner year in Soil Conservation, L. R. Johnson, work unit conservator of the Soil Conservation Service, reports.

As of November 1, a total of 190 new cooperators, representing 25,088 acres, had joined the Soil Conservation District program during 1952. The Soil Conservation Service has assisted the Floyd County PMA participants in planning and applying permanent-type soil conserving practices on their farms.

One of the factors that helped to increase the number of district cooperators has been the new system of progressive planning set up by the Floyd County District with the approval of the board of supervisors, of which Billy Merritt is chairman. This new system enables a farmer to start the initial phase of a soil conservation district program immediately with one or two practices and go on from there to the advanced stage and finally the basic stage of farm planning in which a soil and water conservation program is developed for his entire farm.

Soil Conservation surveys, to obtain and develop the essential facts about the needs and capabilities of each parcel of land, were made on 104 farms embracing 30,500 acres.

The district is completing its first full year of service and a great deal of progress has been made through progressive planning and increasing interest by the farmer in conserving the soil of Floyd county.

Dewey Lake, in Floyd county near Prestonsburg, was impounded at a cost of approximately $6,000,000.

Kentucky has never been wholly an agricultural state. Back in 1810, with a population of a little over 400,000, it had 2,000 distilleries, 267 tanneries, more than 24,000 looms, 48 rope works, and 36 salt processing plants, as well as iron furnaces and paper mills, forges and wagon factories. It stood fourth among the 16 states in the union in value of manufactured goods.

Industry now supplies Kentuckians with more income than farming. That's a complete reversal of the picture of a decade ago. Nowadays, the population earns 75 million more a year from industry than from agriculture.

Sophomores: Martha Archer, Libby Burchett, Virginia Burchett, Esther Burke, Ruby Calhoun, Donald Campbell, Margaret Ann Collins, Winnie Cooley, Peggy Crum, Bert Dixon, Johnnie Everly, Ronnie Goble, Ronald Goodman, Wanda Greene, Dorothy Herald, Pauline Hicks, Fred Jarrell, Clarence Laferty, Joy May, Mary Lou Miller, Ed Ousley, Dickie Prater, Dorothy Rowe, Jackie Smiley, Phyllis Smiley, Phyllis Snipes, Peggy Spradlin, Maxine Spurlock, Linda Sue Stephens, Marvin Sturgill, Carl Tussey, Myrtle Tussey, Denzil Walker, Randall Wells, Ballard Wright, Gene Wright.

During the past four years, Kentucky has constructed 712 bridges to meet growing traffic needs on her highways.

As you may know, if you are a Bible student, Captain John Smith's famous riot act to the shirkers in the Jamestown colony, "Those who do not work shall not eat," was a swipe from the Apostle Paul. Not grand larceny, mind you. Maybe it was just a case of Smithsonian poetic license with Holy Writ. I suppose practically everybody old enough to attend Sunday School has taken similar liberties with the Bible.

Paul, the much-traveled spreader of Christianity, said in the Second Epistle to the Thessalonians (chap. 3, 10th verse) . . . "This we command you, that if any should not work, neither should he eat."

Now don't credit me with being a good student of the Bible. I was reminded of the quotation from the Apostle Paul by a preacher friend of mine, Dr. R. E. Douglas, of Henderson, who telephoned to congratulate me on a recent anti-handoutism piece I wrote in this space.

And having got the line through a minister, it occurs to me to pass it along to all preachers in Kentucky for use as a text for next Sunday's sermon. Those who have prepared next Sunday's effort already can hold it over for the following Sunday. It will keep. Having held up pretty well for about 20 centuries, it ought to be good for any time in December, 1952.

With our country already engaged in a small war with a third world conflict more than an even bet, Paul's famous line should be stencilled ingelibly on the minds of all adult Kentuckians, because with the government already in debt 260 billion dollars, raising fabulous sums with bond issues is not going to be easy. Barring the printing of fiat money, the American people will have to pay as they go this time.

If we work hard enough and the government does not waste money as it did on the home front in World War II, we can carry much of the expense as we go. For the rest of the money needed we can break our piggy banks.

Certainly there is not enough loose money lying around to buy bonds like we did in World War II. And since wealth is created by work and by work alone, most of us will have to put in more hours and shed more perspiration.

Just what is expected of us should be made known in the next few months. In the meantime we can get in the mood. Farmers should have no trouble planning next year's crops and preparing to meet demands for livestock. Industry will do its job if not interrupted by strikes.

You may recall that despite loud pledges of loyalty by labor leaders in the war that ended six years ago, there were 5,005 strikes in the crucial year 1944.

Lose a war to the Russians and millions of Americans may spend the rest of their lives, if they are allowed to live at all, in concentration camps. Tens of millions may be shot or gassed as a means of reducing an undesirable population.

Better remember what Paul said to the Thessalonians.

HIGH YIELDS IN JOHNSON

Ivan Johnson, whose yield of 129 bushels an acre won last year's corn derby in Johnson county, this year topped the contest with 151 bushels. Out of 13 fields in the contest checked by Amos Tackett, University of Kentucky assistant county agent, nine produced more than 100 bushels an acre, despite the drought.

RATE INCREASE ASKED

The Public Service Commission took under advisement a plea of the Southern Bell Telephone Company for a $2,582,000 rate increase—the fourth request in six years. The company claims the increase is essential to permit it to undertake a needed program of expansion.

Allen-Turner Wedding Solemnized at Greenup

Miss Blanche M. Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Allen, of Greenup, Ky., became the bride of Joe P. Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Green Turner, of Hueysville, Ky., in an evening ceremony, Nov. 26, at the First Baptist Church of Greenup.

The Rev. R. R. Huffman, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Paducah, performed the double-ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with chrysanthemums, palms and candles. Miss Billy Jean Porter was pianist, and Russell Zachems sang "I Love You Truly," "Always," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a blue suit with white and blue accessories and carried a white Bible tied with an orchid and white streamers.

Mrs. Lillian Rice, of Raceland, Ky., a close friend of the couple, was the brides only attendant. She wore a navy blue gaberdine suit, with pink accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

Lloyd Harold Allen, brother of the bride, served as best man. Ushers and taper lighters were Emory Vernon Burkhardt and Walter Willis.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, with relatives and close friends attending. The bride's table held a three-tiered wedding cake.

After a wedding trip through Kentucky, the couple will reside in Greenup.

Out-of-town guests were: Jarvis Allen, of Prestonsburg, Mrs. Georgia Boggs, Warnock, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Day, Mrs. Nora Hicks, all of Ashland, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Marshall, of New Boston, Ohio.

Greetings

A new system of multiple fueling that develops more energy from every drop of gas. And because Hudson engines are so rugged, this power plus can be harnessed for you.

*Optional on the Hudson Hornet and Super Wasp at extra cost.

UNBELIEVABLE TILL YOU TRY IT!
COME IN TODAY!

Three Hudson series for 1953—Hudson Hornet, Hudson Super Wasp and Hudson Wasp. Twin H-Power (on the Hornet and Super Wasp), Overdrive or new Dual-Range Hydra-Matic Drive optional at extra cost.

HERE IT IS, the fabulous Hudson Hornet for 1953—luxurious new version of the car that won 44 out of 52 stock-car races in 1952, a record unequalled by any other make.

See the Hudson Hornet's interior color harmony in your choice of two ensembles to complement exterior car colors. See and try new foam rubber seat cushions with bolstered and rolled-edge contours for more comfort. See the rich nylon interior fabrics.

And try the 1953 Hudsons on the highway! Feel them hug the road; the result of exclusive "step-down" design and the lowest center of gravity in any American car!

For 1953—there are two great, lower-priced running mates to the Hudson Hornet—the new Hudson Super Wasp and Hudson Wasp. The Super Wasp has a high-compression H-127 engine and smart new interiors; and the even lower-priced Hudson Wasp features a powerful H-112 engine.

Standard trim and other specifications and accessories subject to change without notice.

ELLWOOD CITY SHOWS HOW TO ACQUIRE NEW INDUSTRY

Ellwood City, Pa., Nov. 15—Back in 1946, the National Tube Company told residents of this small Western Pennsylvania community that its Ellwood City steel plant would be curtailed gradually.

That news woke up the town's 12,945 population in a hurry. National Tube was the community's main industry. It employed, 3,700. The workers faced the loss of their jobs and probably the loss of their homes.

Under the leadership of the Chamber of Commerce, an old-fashioned town meeting was held. Out of it sprang a campaign that has brought prosperity to Ellwood City. Since then they've brought in 23 new industries and the payroll now is $29,000,000.

It was all done through an aroused population which gave money, time, and talent. There were free legal and architectural service, the sale of bonds, and financing by insurance companies.

First, they formed the non-profit Ellwood City Industrial Corporation. They raised $70,000 in one week by selling stock in the corporation at $100 a share to businessmen, workers, and property owners.

Russell J. Schill, executive secretary of the Ellwood City Chamber of Commerce, and other town builders then went calling on industry.

One company making mattress covers on the 10th floor of a building in a big city decided it would be better for its women workers to live in Ellwood City. It moved there.

It liked the town so well it induced a company making children's dungarees to move from New York City. A group of young men starting a small company to make aluminum doors thought that company could give employment to a lot of elderly men on pension.

The sales manager of an art-metal company, dropping into Ellwood City to sell his products to businessmen, found them so excited over the new possibilities in their city that they sold him the idea of putting a plant there.

The corporation built new plants which were paid for over a period of years. When building materials were scarce, members of the corporation got priorities for them.

They took over supervision of plants when the companies were so far away they couldn't adequately supervise construction of new plants.

When they heard a glass company wanted a site for a luminating plant, they got photographs showing the rural secluded site they had in mind for it where air would be pure and conditions ideal.

They went from one company to another with a complete package, including a suggestion for a site, the cost of the land, a suggested design for the building, its costs, a plan for financing, tabulations of available labor, raw materials, and everything else the company would want to start an operation.

That was six years ago. The National Tube plant is still there, still operating and employing virtually the same number of people that it did then.

SPORTS AFIELD

By TED KESTING

It is strange how furious the average plug fisherman can become over the time he has to spend untangling hooks from a net, especially when you consider how often it can save a good fish. But a poor net—such as a shallow one from which a fish may flop easily—is worse than none.

Jason Lucas insists a net should always be deep, and one with a square bottom retains a fish the best. The frame should be strong enough not to bend with a heavy fish; it's better to have a net too large than too small.

In boat fishing a very long handle is usual; it is best if someone else nets your fish. However, it is preferable for an experienced angler to net his own fish, since he can coordinate movements of net and rod tip. To net your own, a short-handled net of the type used by trout fishermen is the most convenient.

There are collapsible nets, big and strong enough for bass, walleyes and such, that will go into a large tackle box. When one of these is used, it should be an invariable rule to open it and place it within easy reach before you start to fish.

Now as for using your net, don't ever go after a fish tail first; a touch of the net against his tail sends him dashing off, even when he appears exhausted. The net should always be held perfectly still, just under the surface, and the fish led quietly, head first, into it. Wait until his head is about to the rear of the frame—if he's large, let the net sink and slide under a little—and quietly lift him up. Since the back of the net is above the surface, a touch on his tail by its front will only drive him into the meshes.

It often happens that a fish cannot be brought properly to the net the first time, so just lead him around again. Jabbing at him with the net, or attempting to scoop him in is practically certain to lose him and might result in broken tackle.

In short, there is no better method of landing any fish of good size than proper use of a net—even though it may take some time to untangle hooks from it.

Civil Defense officials estimate 80,000 persons will be needed in Kentucky to bring the state up to full strength in the Ground Observer program for civilian aircraft spotters.

To Property Owners

Kentucky law requires all property-owners to list for taxation any property they own. If you have acquired property, it is your duty under this law to list same with the Floyd County Tax Commissioner at once, so that your property will be properly listed for the 1953 assessment.

If there has been no change in your assessment, you may ignore this notice.

New Bottle Gas Law Is Effective January 1

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 4 (Spl.)—State Fire Marshal J. T. Underwood, Jr., today called attention of dealers in liquefied petroleum (bottle gas) to requirements of the new license law which takes effect after Jan. 1 providing for licenses to be procured by Jan. 31 before a 20 per cent penalty goes on.

Briefly, the law imposes a $50-license fee against the dealer who deals in bottle gas, containers or regulating equipment, including the right to assemble, repair or install, or sell the product in refilled containers if less than 500 customers are served. With more than 500 customers a $100 fee is exacted.

Wholesalers, operators of bulk and storage plants—or a combination—pay a $100 license fee.

BLADES OF BLUEGRASS

By JACK WILD

Lexington, Ky.—This is the first in a new series of little pieces on thoughts and things, this and that, and whatever else. That covers everything, just about, and that is no more than the makers of these musings—folks who work for UK—likely will do. Expect almost anything and you're not apt to be disappointed.

Heard over the back fence one recent day:

"I'll let you kiss my sister if you'll let me kiss your sister."

"Aw, I don't wanna kiss your old sister."

"Well, I'm gonna kiss your sister."

"No, you're not, either!"

"Why not?"

"Cause I'm not gonna let you, that's why!"

"All right, then, you can't be in my circus."

"Oh, well, go ahead and kiss her if you want to."

If only all the troubles of this troubled world could be settled so easily!

Mark Warren, onetime editor of the Hartford Sun and now editor of the Gadsden, Ala., Times, sends along this item from Patty's Main Street column in the Clover, S. C., Herald: "I was amused at the account in the papers about the white crow which was found in Kentucky. It seems that the crow is now on display at the University of Kentucky (Zoology Museum) and is believed by some scientist to be 'one in a million' of black crows. That may be so, but I have a better explanation than that one. You see, it's like this: Since the election we have read of many people 'having to eat crow' and this poor little old crow must have heard of it . . . and just naturally turned white from worry."

The Myth of Old-Age Security

Our vaunted "Social Security" system just isn't working. The cumulative effects of the government's long-standing tax-spend policies and accompanying inflation, have made security a myth for most of our elderly citizens. Striking but tragic proof of the system's failure lies in the fact that today, among persons 65 or older, one out of every five is on relief. The shocking total is 2,700,000—almost twice as many as at the depths of the depression. Appraising the financial impasse of the aged, in the December Reader's Digest, Charles Stevenson cites individual cases to illustrate a penny that is spreading like an epidemic among those who have outlived their productive years. Breakdowns in health, from the effort to make both ends meet on ridiculously inadequate incomes, are common.

Fourteen years ago, when the Social Security system was launched, government social workers ascertained that an elderly couple could maintain a "fair American standard of living" on $70 a year. Today, because of much higher living costs, plus hidden taxes which take a quarter of even the poorest family's income, much more is needed. The budget used by the Social Security Administrator to determine the adequacy of relief programs now requires $1750 to $2000 annually to maintain a couple on a minimum living standard. Very few elderly people have that much.

Unable to get along on federal Old-Age and Survivors' Insurance benefits, thousands seek employment. At 65 or 70 or 75, jobs are not easy to get, and even if the pensioner finds one it may not help much. In most cases, if a job earns over $75 monthly the job-holder is subject to the penalty of having his federal benefits canceled for the month. Monthly benefits were denied in two cases named in the article, because job earnings exceeded the allowable maximum of 71 cents and 63 cents, respectively. In another, a couple was suspended from OASI rolls for three months because the husband had taken $2.99 worth of sandwiches as pay. Their loss in federal benefits was $210.

To exist at all, elderly people are increasingly drawing on their capital. Federal Reserve studies disclose that fewer have savings accounts, U.S. bonds or income from stocks, than in 1949. Only 14 percent of them were in debt then; last year a third were in debt.

We must check inflation and stop confiscatory taxation if we are to resolve this dilemma of the aged, the author urges. We should also remove the limitations which prevent old-age insurance beneficiaries from working. The alternative is real poverty for most of us in our declining years.

KENTUCKY EDUCATION HEAD ASKS AMENDMENT SUPPORT

State Superintendent of Instruction Wendell P. Butler has called for a "realistic approach to the problem of public education" and to that end recommended approval by the people next year of a proposed Constitutional amendment under which we can attain a "sound minimum foundation program of education."

The present census pupil basis of distributing school funds actually prevents the attainment of such a program, Butler suggested. Next year a Constitutional amendment will be offered the people that will permit the General Assembly greater latitude in the distribution of common school funds.

"It is almost impossible to provide a defensible program of education, adequately financed," Butler added, under terms of the present Constitutional provision as he pointed to glaring "educational deficiencies of the adult population which have hindered the economic and social well-being of Kentucky's citizens."

"Ignorance cannot be quarantined," he continued. "Weakness in one part of the state or in one segment of the population weakens the whole. All must enlist in advancing the opportunity of every child, to the end that a realistic program is adopted."

Among deficiencies cited by Butler: The average adult in Kentucky, 25 years old or older, in 1950 had completed only 8.4 years of schooling. In one county, the average male adult had completed less than six years of formal education. In 1950, there were 37,000 adults in Kentucky who had not completed even one year of school, while 223,000 adults reported completion of from one to four years of schooling.

"The next generation may show little improvement in its training level if steps are not taken to remove the cause of these weaknesses," Butler continued as he cited the fact that 88,000 children included in the school census last spring were "not enrolled in any school, public or private."

Kentucky's Electors To Vote for Stevenson; P'burg Man Is Alternate

Kentucky's 10 Presidential electors will meet in Frankfort next Monday and cast their votes for Adlai E. Stevenson and John J. Sparkman.

The electors are: Mrs. John A. Whitaker, Russellville; William Ritter, Richmond; Billie Bob Crace, Wickliffe; Damon Majors, Leitchfield; J. D. Augustus, Louisville; Mrs. H. E. Kinsolving, Shelbyville; Marvin Davis, Falmouth; Walker H. Wiseman, Winchester; Roland Price, Jenkins, and Ned Owens, Russell Springs.

Alternates are: Mrs. Sherman Goodpaster, Jr., Owingsville; Frank Goad, Scottsville; Sam Bashan, Paducah; John Milliken, Bowling Green; George Irvin Gates, Louisville; Bert Shepherd, Shepherdsville; J. R. Shepherd, Greenup; Chester Stidham, Stanton; W. W. Cooley, Prestonsburg, and Ben V. Smith, Somerset.

The Stevenson-Sparkman ticket carried Kentucky by 700 votes.

Car Dealer Licenses Expire at End of Year

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 4 (Sp.)—Automobile dealers' licenses expire Dec. 31 and should be renewed immediately. Robert A. Thompson, director of Local Relations for the Department of Revenue, said here today.

The cost of a dealer's license is $25.50 which includes the certification and one plate. Each additional plate costs $5 and they are furnished only on order. It requires about three weeks for delivery of additional plates so orders should be placed now with the county clerks.

Thompson also called attention to the law covering use of dealer plates. They can be used legally only in demonstration, sale, and delivery of dealers' motor vehicles. A list of names and addresses of those entitled to use dealer plates must be filed with the county clerk. Illegal use of plates can lead to revocation of dealers' licenses and penalties.
