

THURSDAY

This Town-- That World

CONFIDENTIALLY

The Times is late this week, and the election has nothing to do with it. The trouble started in a cornfield, maybe years ago. From there it reached our linotype. Yet the trouble lies not with the machine. You see, the corn grew, fermented, aged in the wood, and finally reached our operator.

QUESTION

And still the sun shines bright on our old Kentucky home. So brightly that they're talking in Lexington of bringing in a rain-maker. By the way, if these synthetic Jupe Pluviuses are so effective, how or why is it that we ever have droughts, irrigation and deserts?

ANSWER

Regardless of street-corner rumors and the statements of certain individuals, the Floyd County Times did not ask anybody to run for office at this election, nor has it ever done so. There doesn't happen to be anybody at whom we're "mad" enough to want to wish something like that on, and certainly we wouldn't get a friend into such a mess. Or to buy a saw-mill either, either.

We haven't been accused—yet—of killing Cock Robin.

CAN YOU IMAGINE

Returning from a fairly unsuccessful fishing trip, we were greeted Monday with a story told in breathless fashion. It was about some unidentified bloke who had hooked a giant walleye at Elk Horn City, recently. While a driver for Bill Grimm, of Prestonsburg, sat by (so the story goes) the guy fought the fish. The drag on his reel was set light, and he was gaining not an inch on the Big'un. It looked like a crossie, we were told. The angler

VOTERS BREAK HOLD OF GOP

On Sheriff's Office In Johnson; Republicans Are Winners in Magoffin

For the first time in its history, Johnson county at Tuesday's election chose a Democratic Sheriff. H. L. McKenzie won over Grate Rice, Republican, by 434 votes to break a political precedent in that rockribbed Republican county. He was the only Democrat to win however.

Merida (Bud) Wiley, Democrat, ran well, but was defeated by 276 votes by Joe Radcliffe, Republican, for County Judge.

The other Democrat to hold the office of Sheriff in Johnson was Daniel Hager, who was appointed to the office in 1844 by Governor Letcher.

In Magoffin county the Republicans won every county office except one in which there was a contest. Arnett Mann, Democratic incumbent, won for County Attorney.

Kash Holbrook, Democrat, lost the County Judge's race to Silas Carty, Montgomery, Republican, won for Republican, by 59 votes, and Hade Sheriff over Will Tom Arnett, Republican, by more than 600 votes.

Two Democrats for district office went without opposition. They are J. Everett Bach for Senator and W. R. Smith for Representative.

REPUBLICAN WINS SHERIFF'S OFFICE

NARROW WINS MARK VOTING IN 3 TOWNS

Allen, Martin, Wayland Judge Races Barely Won; Clark Repeats for Mayor

Per square foot covered, there was more interest, heat and action in three city races at Tuesday's election than in the all-county show, and these brought out the vote for the countywide election.

For instance, at Allen, where there was a three-way race for the office of police judge and two tickets battling it out for five places on the Board of Trustees, every registered voter but five cast his or her ballot. And of those who didn't vote two were reported sick and three out of town.

The race for Mayor of Prestonsburg, which was won by the incumbent, Curtis Clark, over Henry Howard by a margin of 294 votes, brought out a total of 1,152 voters here. The Progressive ticket headed by Clark was unopposed in the Council race.

Among the closest of the municipal elections in the county was that at Martin where Kessie Akers won back his old police judge post by a scant four votes over Foster Porter. A. B. Osborne was a third candidate for the office. The City Council ticket there which was headed by Porter for police judge also was unopposed.

The town of Allen had its usual tight police judge race, with Theop Salmens, the incumbent, losing to Bennie Lafferty, 85 votes to 78. Even closer was the Board of Trustees election, won by Galloway Lafferty, Gomer Crisp, Dewey Sargent and Maurice Mitchell (each of whom had 87 votes), and Walter Pressure who polled 93.

Nipping at their heels were the three losers, G. B. Auxier, 82 votes, Henry Porter, Jr., 85, and Grant Parsons, 81.

Robert Hicks won the Wayland police judgeship with 117 votes to 109 for Albert Webb and 55 for William T. Marshall. The Council ticket there was without opposition.

The mayoralty vote in Prestonsburg:

BORDEN LOSES ITS 'A' LABEL

Milk Sales in Floyd-Co. Banned by Health Dept.; Second Company Warned

Sale in Floyd county of milk from the Borden Milk Company's Huntington, W. Va., plant under a Grade A label was halted Monday by the Floyd County Health Department on the grounds that the firm's milk does not meet the maximum bacteria count permitted under this rating.

The action, said M. V. Clark, health department administrator, was taken following a meeting of the Floyd County Board of Health, which directed him to issue the order. Suspension of sales, he added, was ordered only after two warning notices had been given and after continued laboratory tests of milk from the Huntington plant failed to meet Grade A standards.

Although company officials and a representative of the Cabell county (W. Va.) health department offered the claim that Borden milk leaving the plant in Huntington fully merited a Grade A label, the health department here reported that only one sample submitted for analysis was below the 30,000 maximum bacteria count. No four-sample average went below this figure, however, Mr. Clark said.

Borden representatives, here last week, said handling of the milk between Sellersville and Allen, from which point Olin Elliott distributes Borden products, may account for the bacteria increase.

The company was given a choice of stopping milk sales or of selling it temporarily under a Grade C label, in the meantime being given the opportunity of bringing the standard up. It was indicated it may sell milk from its Portsmouth, O., plant which is not affected by the Floyd order.

The county Board of Health at its Oct. 19 meeting directed Mr. Clark to issue the order against Borden. At the same time it directed him to issue a second warning to another dairy delivering sub-standard milk.

Huntington Man Hurt In Allen Auto Race

When the big thrill for stock car racing fans gathered at the Allen speedway finally came, it was a shocker.

It involved 10 cars in a pell-mell pile-up, from which one driver, Billy Carr, Huntington, W. Va., emerged with a fractured collar bone. The front of his racer—wheels, springs, etcetera—broke loose. Another car climbed an embankment and careened along the railing. Infield spectators found themselves in the midst of the action. An innocent bystander, a new Olds, was damaged by a flying piece of wreckage.

Carr was treated at the Prestonsburg General hospital before returning to Huntington. The injury came in his last race before entering the army today (Thursday). He had won two preliminary heats at Allen and a special race before the feature race in which he was hurt.

RECEIVERSHIP END IN SIGHT

For Elk Horn Coal Corp., After 13 Years; Is Now Near Debt-Free Status

After 13 years in receivership, the Elk Horn Coal Corporation is due soon to be operating "on its own" free of court encumbrances. Negotiations already are under way to procure a court order freeing the company of receivership. It was said at Whitesburg recently, J. W. Howard, of Prestonsburg, is attorney for the company. Receivers are W. W. Goldsmith, Thos. H. Haymond and James M. Caudill.

The company was described at Whitesburg recently by A. B. Kooz, of Elk Horn, W. Va., as "in fine condition" after having earned heavy dividends through most of the receivership period and chalking up earnings beyond expectations. Elk Horn's biggest operations are at Wayland in this county and at Hemphill in Letcher. Both mines have extensive coal acreage.

"The Druggist's Bible" Among Items on Display Here To Point Up Need for Pharmacists in Ky.; University of Kentucky Is Sponsor of Exhibit

In a window display at the Rose Drug store here is a Bible but it is not the orthodox scriptural one. It is "The Druggist's Bible," or in the technical language of the pharmacists, "The Pharmacopoeia of the United States of America." That book contains the standard for all drugs approved by the Food and Drug Administration. It is issued every 10 years by the Federal Government and carries a number with the stamp "Official Copy."

The window display is sponsored by the University of Kentucky's College of Pharmacy at Louisville in an endeavor to publicize the need for pharmacists in Kentucky. Right now, Dr. Frank Albright, who came here from Paducah, a few weeks ago, says that this state could employ 1,000 or more. The College of Pharmacy at Louisville turned out 42 last year. Other states are in as great need, he says, citing particularly Illinois.

Other books in the window display are The National Formulary, Modern Drug Encyclopedia and Therapeutic Index and The United States Dispensary, all necessary appendages of the profession of pharmacy. The United States Dispensary is another official publication of the Federal Government, being issued every 10 years. This book is on loan from the University of Kentucky.

Part of the window display demonstrates the process of maceration and filtration whereby crude drugs are reduced according to "The Druggist's Bible" to modern drugs with the container labeled USP. Those three letters, often mystifying to the layman, denote the drug was prepared according to the standards set up by the United States Pharmacopoeia. Dr. Albright explains that only by the process of maceration and filtration could you get the drug product, cinnamon oil. You could soak the crude cinnamon substance forever but never get cinnamon oil, he adds.

The profession of pharmacy requires five years from high school to practise. Dr. Albright explains. Four years in a pharmacy college and one year work under a licensed pharmacist. Then you are eligible to take the state examination. After that you won't need a job for one will be waiting for you, but you will still need "The Druggist's Bible". All prescriptions, if they are to be USP, must come right out of this "Bible".

Stephens Says Clements Not Supported by Record

"If the Senator had not interpolated something I had not said, he could not have said anything without lying, because he would have had to admit the truth of my statements," Former U. S. District Attorney Claude P. Stephens, Prestonsburg, said in a prepared commentary this week on his long-range verbal tiff of last week with U. S. Senator Earle C. Clements.

"I did not say on this occasion or any other that Senator Clements discussed the conduct of the U. S. Attorney's office with me. That was not the point. What the Democratic party, or at least my friends in it, want to know is what he had against me, what incurred his enmity, why he refused to recommend some good Democrat and let the vacancy remain in the office for the Republicans to fill," Mr. Stephens continued.

Other parts of the Stephens statement follow: "The statement of Senator Clements made at Washington October 28 to the effect that my statement at Newport, Ky., October 27, to the Campbell County Civic Association, a non-partisan group, was wholly untruthful and malicious, is not borne out by the record.

"It is easy for him to fill in something I didn't say, and say if I said that, it is an 'unmitigated lie'. I did not say that Mr. Clements sought to keep me from doing my duty. I did not say that he had anything to do with the present Republican United States Attorney for the Eastern District of Kentucky. What I was talking about was the appointment in 1952 of a Democratic United States Attorney, under a Democratic administration.

"My term of office as United States Attorney expired in June, 1952. In March of that year I asked him to approve me for reappointment, if my record justified it, as I had been a loyal friend of his. However, during January of that year I had caused the confiscation of slot machines in the Eastern District of Kentucky by the F. B. I. Prior to that and upon his election to the Senate, he wrote me a letter thanking me for my support in that election and saying he would cooperate with any desire I had in Washington.

"When the vacancy occurred in June, 1952, it was his duty to his party to recommend a Democrat to fill the vacancy. If I was not to be appointed, or my record didn't deserve approval, then some other good Democrat should have been recommended and appointed. If this had been done by Senator Clements, we would now have a Democrat as U. S. Attorney. We had a Democratic President and a Democratic Senate. A District Attorney appointed and approved then would not have been removed by the Republicans."

SCHOOL BOARD BUYS BUILDING

Will Convert Theatre Into Lunchroom; Pays $5,500 for Structure

The Floyd County Board of Education in an Election Day meeting here purchased from Roe Fannin the Betsy Layne theatre building which it will convert into a school lunchroom and kitchen.

The 140x50-foot tile structure was acquired for $5,500.

Betsy Layne, the only major school in the county without a lunchroom, will probably have this added touch of modernity by Jan. 1, County Superintendent Virgil O. Turner said. The one big room running the length and breadth of the building will be partitioned to provide spaces for a lunchroom, a kitchen and storage quarters.

The board in another order directed that the $450,000 of board of education funds on hand be invested at once in 90-day Treasury notes. The interest the notes will draw will help offset interest on some of the board's bonded indebtedness which is not callable at this time. Cash balances will be similarly invested from time to time.

COAL LOADING PASSES MARK

Set in Area Same Time Last Year, Report Shows; 17 Mines Show Increases

Coal production in the area represented by the Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Operators Association has now passed the tonnage mark achieved in the corresponding period last year. The Association members loaded 203,918.6 cars of 59 tons each in the 1952 corresponding period, but this year the figure reached on Oct. 24, was 207,234.8 cars, a difference of 4,316.2 cars or 215,810 tons.

Seventeen operations have now exceeded their last year production, the largest producer being Pond Creek - Pocahontas Elkhorn Coal Company at Evanston. That company's production last year at this time was 5794 cars, but this year it has reached 9,417 cars. Another operation that contributed to the upped tonnage this year is South-East Coal Company's Big Chief operation. It was not in operation last year but this year it has chalked up a tonnage of 5,705 cars. These two operations enabled the Association field to catch up with last year's production figure.

There is no hope that the truck operators will overtake their last year figure. Last year they had loaded at this time 4,628.8 cars but this year they have reached only 2,762.2 cars, or a difference of 1,866.6 cars of 59 tons each. In the week ending Oct. 24 the truckers loaded only 35.8 cars. Five mines affiliated with the Association are closed, but one closing was temporary.

The number of cars loaded the week ending Oct. 17 was 5,012.8 but by the end of the week ending Oct. 24 it was up to 5,125 cars, an increase of 112.2 cars. Average of the work-week was 4.09 days, a slight increase over the week ending Oct. 17.

SIXTY ATTEND COUNCIL MEET

Mrs. Howard Is Elected President of Girl Scout Group at Martin Dinner

Approximately 60 adult leaders attending the biennial dinner meeting of the Sandy Valley Girl Scout Council at Martin high school Tuesday evening heard Miss Ruth Harman, a former County official and now a national Girl Scout staff member with Region Four, Cleveland, O., emphasize the "how" of public relations, stressing the activating of ideas, a close knowledge of the organization and the necessity of more service projects for Girl Scouts.

The election of Council officers for 1954 was a part of the business program, and Mrs. Ray Howard, of Prestonsburg, was elected president; Mrs. J. T. Parker, Wheelwright, chairman of the board; Mrs. Sallie Dotson, Pikeville, secretary, and Mrs. Mildred Gilmore, Pikeville, treasurer.

Directors who were named to serve three-year terms were Miss Lena T. Porter, Pikeville, Mrs. J. P. Sammons, Martin, Mrs. Minor Pace, Wheelwright, and Mrs. Chalmer Frazier, Prestonsburg.

The nominating-membership committee selected is composed of Mrs. Francis Harman, David, Mrs. J. R. Hurt, Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Virginia Short, Martin.

Represented at the dinner were the communities of Allen, Betsy Layne, Martin, David, Drift, Pikeville, Wheelwright, West Van Lear and Prestonsburg. All these are Council members, except West Van Lear, which is associated with the Council and is expected shortly to be admitted along with other Johnson county communities.

Business matters discussed included:

Changing the date of Rally Day from fall to spring, a matter on which a final decision will be made later.

Holding the Girl Scout cookie sale to coincide with the national sale. It was suggested that the Council set the sale of 6,000 cookies as a goal, and all profits to go to the permanent Girl Scout camp.

Asking each troop to help furnish and equip the lodge at the permanent camp on Dewey Lake.

Contracts for the structure, final completion of which is expected to entail the expenditure of around $40,000, were awarded Monday evening, and these were approved next day by the official board of the church.

W. D. Patton, Prestonsburg, was awarded the general construction contract. Other contractors whose bids on materials, plumbing, wiring, etc., were accepted are F. S. Van-House & Co., Big Run Coal & Clay, Dewey Sammons and the Huntington Seating Company.

To be erected on the lot at the rear of the church, the building will be of brick construction, of two stories, 72 by 46 feet, and will contain 13 classrooms. It will be used exclusively for Sunday School purposes.

Sunday's groundbreaking ceremony will be held immediately following the morning church service. Dr. Hutsinpiller is chairman of the church building committee which has been studying the venture over a period of several months.

OTHER COUNTY OFFICES ARE DEMOCRATIC

Collins Wins over Hall By 550 Votes; Tuesday Vote Total Is 13,700

The Republican party elected at last Tuesday's polling a sheriff of Floyd county for the first time in 16 years. Gormon Collins, Lackey, Republican defeated the Democratic nominee, Bill Hall, Betsy Layne, by 550 votes.

In all other county and district races, except for the election of a Republican Magistrate in District 4, the Democrats swept the election by such wide margins that in most cases there was little interest in the tabulation of these races.

As in the primary, the Sheriff's race held the spotlight. Last August, Hall pulled up from behind to nose out the opposition in the tabulation of the last few voting precincts. This week he trailed Collins from the outset and never caught up.

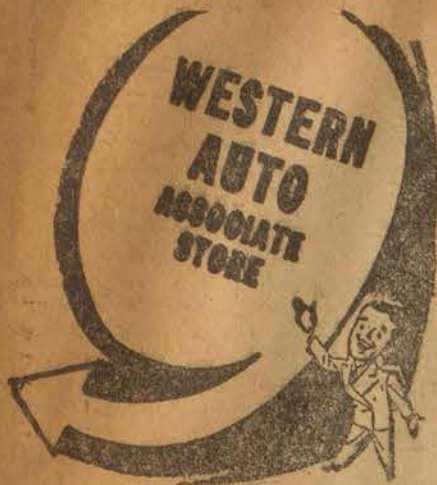

A total of 13,709 ballots were cast Tuesday. This was slightly below the county election vote of four years ago.

Two non-partisan issues were decided by the voters Tuesday, and Floyd county approved both—Constitutional Amendments 1 and 2. No. 1 Amendment—the "school amendment"—polled 9,726 "Yes" votes to 358 against. No. 2 amendment which would provide possible selection by the Governor of certain state officers won in this county 2,701 votes to 1,765.

Over the state, the school amendment was an easy winner. Amendment No. 3, however, was defeated.

Only minor disturbances were reported during the day's voting. The Chemicals from coal are used in plastics, rubber, dyestuff, perfume, paint, synthetic, detergents and thousands of other products.

Man Named in Death Of Fitch, One Other Is Slain at Morehead

William Tackett, 33-year-old Morehead man who recently was freed of two murder charges—one of them, that of slaying Pearl Fitch, of Handshoe, Knott county—himself was shot and killed at the home of his father, Jack Tackett, in Morehead Friday.

"I had to do it," Roy Gastinau, Morehead, said when he went to the Morehead Police Station and gave himself up to Policeman Ed Hall about 5 minutes after the shooting.

The 40-year-old Gastinau was lodged in Rowan county jail to be questioned.

State Police Sgt. Billy Lykins said the police had no report from witnesses at the scene of the shooting, but he added that Tackett and Gastinau were seen riding together earlier in the day.

Tackett's sister, Mrs. Reba Walker, 24, Morehead, received powder burns and his mother, Mrs. Nannie Tackett, 60, suffered a flesh wound in her right arm.

Policeman Hall said the .38-calibre revolver Gastinau turned in showed that six bullets had been discharged. All six entered Tackett's body, he said.

Trooper Lykins said that Tackett and Gastinau were "good friends." Tackett, a restaurant operator, was freed Oct. 21 at West Liberty in the shooting of Fitch, because of lack of evidence in the case in Morgan circuit court. Fitch's body, shot twice, was found August 20, 1952, on Wrigley Hill, eight miles east of Morehead.

Last May 27, Tackett was acquitted of a murder charge in the death of Heber A. Slater, Charleston, W. Va., when Tackett claimed he shot in self defense. The shooting occurred after a disturbance in Tackett's restaurant last New Year's Eve.

Gastinau served a three-year prison sentence for murder in the death of Bill Curtiss January 1, 1946.

The award was based on growth in Scout membership during 1952, the registration of units, and increase in subscriptions to Boys' Life Magazine.

All Afraid of Sales Tax Bogey-Man

THE sales tax bogey-man has the national administration, as well as Kentucky's, shaky in the boots. Sensitive to voter-reaction, all concerned are listening to the complaints of minority groups, and, practical men that they are, are hesitating to take the leap before ascertaining the depth of the water.

They are being told that a sales tax would impose a hardship on middle-class or poor families, most of which are on the populous side, in proportion to the burden of the tax on richer families with their fewer children. But, as we understand the sales tax plan, if any, food-stuffs, medicines and possibly one or two other necessities would be exempt. Besides, there is the income tax, even if it is given an overall cut, to catch those families with big incomes.

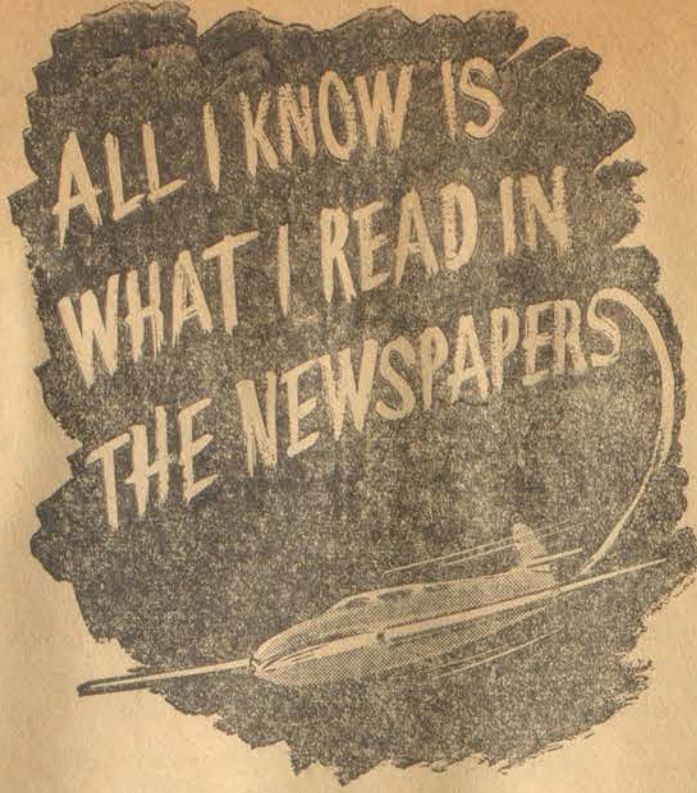

Speaking of injustices, Nation's Business cites these:

The wage-earner buys the cheapest automobile on the market. He must have one for business purposes. Under the present tax set-up, without a sales tax, he pays twenty per cent "luxury tax" on that car. But the fellow who buys a luxury cruiser pays no tax whatever. Again, a "cheap" fur coat costing around $200 will bear an added twenty per cent luxury tax, while a $300 coat, without the fur, bears no tax.

These so-called "luxury" taxes have been in effect for some time. Autos, cigarettes, furs, jewelry, perfume, luggage—all bear the tax. Nobody has started an insurrection about the matter yet—so why not extend the list?

Education, road-building, school-building, defense—all are imperative needs. Budgets, shorn of dead wood as much as they may be within the power of politics-ridden state and national governments, will not be met. The bill must be paid, and all should pay it.

Then why not a state sales tax? Or, perhaps, a national manufacturer? Every state touching on Kentucky has a sales tax. The people in these states are faring as well, certainly, as we who have none, and many of their public needs are being met that otherwise would remain as Kentucky's.

SIGNS OF PROGRESS

What they call Piccolo Street at Garrett has lost its appeal. Mainly because, we are told, of what a small group of women started there.

They began sewing to raise money to underpin the Methodist Church. Saved $300. Then they changed their minds. A recreation building was the community's great need, they decided. Local contributions raised the fund to $1,500. They borrowed $1,200 more. Materials from this source and that were contributed.

And so there was built at Garrett a 28x38-foot concrete block structure containing an auditorium, kitchen and bath. A piano was installed. Children get piano lessons there. School groups have their parties in the building. Community groups hold their meetings there. The place became a focal point of community interest. The poolrooms and jukeboxes lost a lot of their appeal.

And so Piccolo Street goes to bed early, these nights.

Tobacco has been bringing Mercer county farmers around $3,500, 000 a year, it was stated at a plant-bed treatment demonstration.

BY WILMAY

And so is Cissy's cook book, which arrived this week. Nice to find she includes some old favorites as well as new ones. If Cissy Cregg and Anne Batchelder fail to make your mouth water, the case is hopeless.

Some recent magazine gave the origin of the name, "Hush Puppies," which our family dearly love. The article said southerners used to throw scraps out to hungry dogs on their return from hunting, and as they did so, they would say, "Hush, Puppies." Regardless of its name, the food is delightful. Never make the mistake of thinking you must have fish to enjoy them. We prefer the ones not fried in fish grease. Hush puppies, old southern spoon bread and chicken curry are three May favorites.

The little Right Beaver friend got the desired answer to her prayer mentioned last week. She was rejoicing this past week over this.

Didn't the Wayland-Lackey-Garrett Woman's Club do themselves proud when they bought the Dale property for a club house? Their act shows that dimes make dollars in time. They have been saving for years to own a home.

We notice where a painting entitled, "Swamp Malancholia," won the prize in an exhibit. When judges asked for more information concerning it and the artist—a youngster—he wrote that it was just a piece of cardboard on which some artists had wiped their brushes! For sometime we and countless other ignoramuses have regarded some of the modern junk as just that and nothing more, while much real art of true beauty is ignored. The world can create a fad for anything. Weak mortals succumb to the crowd.

The club women over in Perry county have done a good turn for Eastern Kentucky by writing about the history of many families there. Wouldn't you delight to see published a similar work of Floyd county? The following are just a few people whose life story would make grand reading: "Aunt" Mary D. Allen, Dr. Ed Stumbo and Dr. Walk Stumbo, Kendall Martin, all deceased. Many others who have passed away and some yet on the scene, would grace the pages of a work on Floyd county. Paging Docia Woods or Tress Francis!

Recent issue of The Scenic South by Standard Oil shows gorgeous baskets made of native honeysuckle vine in Georgia. Perhaps one day some club here will sponsor a course to teach middle-aged and elderly women how to use our vines and willows for the same purpose. It would mean a good income from work that can be done best at home.

We believe it is about time Sister Lena Simmons and Deacon Terry, or perhaps the entire Wheelwright choir, appear on Ted Mack's Amateur Hour TV program. They would not care to win, to join the troupes or to turn professional, but they would reveal talent second to none. Lena is from down Birmingham way, and her "Seek and Ye Shall Find," is really something to hear.

If You Remember . . .

The discharged GI's thoughts were a queer mixture of things out of the recent past and of the immediate present. He was picking up the various images from both tenures of his life and trying to put them together in a whole. This was why he was moody and did not speak. As he guided the car along his foot lagged easily on the accelerator. The car loafed with his thought.

It was his lone companion that suggested they give the young hitch-hiker a lift and, as he braked the car to a slow stop, the youngsters climbed in. When they drove again the silence continued for the ex-GI began to drift back to Guadalcanal with its steaming wilderness of ferns, vines, sloughs, snakes and heat. For some reason his thoughts always drifted back to Guadalcanal and, particularly, one lone incident there. The colonel had tried to make a hero of him. The colonel had made recommendations, and there had been a medal. Suddenly, he laughed, for he remembered how scared he had been when he walked into the Jap machine gun nest and threw his weight around.

It was the laugh that broke the deep silence and changed the current of thought. Right now he must think about very mundane things. There was a party at home tonight and the little woman, who had waited two long years for his return, had given him a list of things to buy. Some of them were for the children. Man, he thought, how the two had grown while he was away. He had the things for the children. He must get some flour. Strange about that flour. There wasn't a bag anywhere.

He topped a low hill and swung down into the valley, pulled up by a roadside store. He had not seen the owner for three years. It would be good to shake his hand again. While he was there he just as well buy those cats the little woman wanted. He might even find a little flour. His wife hadn't seen a bag in weeks.

The old merchant and a lone customer made much of the handshakes and the welcome home. The customer put his groceries back down on the counter beside the bag of flour he had bought. He wanted to talk about Guadalcanal. Strange, the GI thought, how the things the colonel said, when the medal was given, had gotten into these hills. He told them a little about it since they were kind and welcomed him. He told them too, he was scared to death, and did not remember all the things that occurred. They had not been on Guadalcanal and could not know that it was the sniping Japs and boiling jungle that angered him. He was angry and scared when he did it, so scared he didn't remember everything. They laughed when he insisted that he was scared.

Well, anyway, it didn't matter now, he thought. He told the old merchant he wanted groceries and item by item the things were laid on the counter. When he asked for flour there was a silence and the storekeeper did not reach for the stacked up bags. He explained that it was scarce and he must sell it to his regular customers. They depended upon him for scarce things, he said. He hoped it was understood just how things were.

The awkward silence was scarcely broken when the other customer picked up his groceries and flour and left the room. Slowly the ex-GI pulled out a pocketbook and paid out bills. The merchant did not notice he was pale and that his lips were compressed into a straight line.

When he and his companion returned to the car they found the hitch-hiker awaiting patiently in the back seat, but the soldier did not see him at first. It was only when he tried to slip under the wheel and saw the bag of flour that he turned his head puzzledly and remembered the youngster they had given a lift. He asked where the flour was from and how it had gotten there.

"It was a customer, Sir, with a bag of groceries who brought the flour," the hitch-hiker said. "He just said it was yours, that's all he said."

FARM NOTES

By Floyd County Extension Service

Farmers owning cattle, sheep or hogs should talk to County Agent Ellis Boggs about the drought-feed situation. He has recently received from the Animal Husbandry Department at the University of Kentucky information on getting stock through the winter.

Some farmers are faced with the question of selling stock, rather than buying feed to get the animals through until spring. Farmers should take inventories of their feed supply, what they will need to buy, and which cattle or other stock they should sell.

Good breeding animals should be carried through, if at all possible, Boggs said. Hay, silage and other roughage can make up most of the winter feed. Boggs has information on various rations for cows, calves and steers that can be carried through to another season, dairy cows, sheep and hogs.

This may be a good time, he said, to sell shy breeders, diseased animals, old stuff, off-type cattle and cattle that sell well as feeders or light slaughter cattle. However, he does not advise selling animals that could be used to build up good herds and flocks next season, if animals can be had to carry them through the winter.

Talk to the county agent about your livestock, what you should sell and what you should keep and feed. Next year may be an exceptionally good year for stockmen.

Three bulldozers have been busy digging ponds, straightening creeks and clearing land in Menifee county. C. E. Gorman of Fleming county, expects to average 2,000 pounds an acre from 19 acres of irrigated tobacco.

HEALTH NOTES

By Floyd County Health Department

Even in this age of "wonder drugs" no responsible person has laid claim to a cure-all for tuberculosis, still the No. 1 killer among infectious diseases. Even with the best of known drugs and the most up-to-date surgery, treatment of TB is a long, slow process. It can be cured and can be prevented, but there are no "magical" shortcuts.

Even since 1882 when Robert Koch identified the tubercle bacillus as the germ which causes tuberculosis, the search has gone forward for drugs to combat it. But it is only in the last ten years that drug treatment has proved practical. The discovery of streptomycin in 1943 introduced a new era in the fight against TB. It was the first drug to prove its value in treating this age-old disease.

Streptomycin was not, of course, the complete answer to tuberculosis. New families of TB germs developed which could resist the drug. It was found that it could be more effectively used in combination with another drug, PAS, or para-aminosalicylic acid, which seems to delay the development of germ resistance.

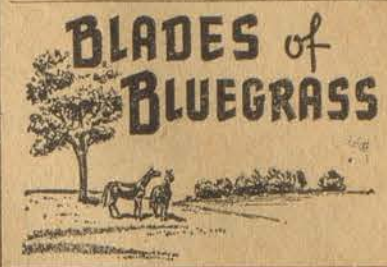

OPINION GIVEN

Frankfort Ky., Nov. 2.—A person's name may not appear on the ballot as a candidate for any office, other than a judicial post, more than once, Assistant Attorney General Walter C. Herdman ruled in an opinion sent county court clerks. In a number of instances, candidates names appear as candidates of more than one independent group for municipal offices, such as "Home" ticket and "Labor" ticket. Herdman suggested that such candidates have their name removed from one ticket.

Lexington, Ky. — The Day Book used by Lexington's old Phoenix Hotel more than 150 years ago was given to the University of Kentucky library recently by William Scott Sneed of St. Louis, and a glimpse at the yellowed pages of the ledger reveals some interesting facts relating to the habits of those who frequented the inn.

The account of Henry Clay, whose famous "juntos"—political gatherings—were held at the Phoenix, starts on page 27 and is carried forward to page 66. Items charged in the Great Pacificator's account included lunch, supper, wine, sundries, bounce, punch, brandy, and beer. On Feb. 14, 1801, he borrowed about $5 from the hotel.

In a letter accompanying the Day Book Mr. Sneed writes: "The account of Charles Scott, who probably was General Charles Scott, one of my forebears, appears on page 39. Since there is only one entry, he apparently was more abstemious than some of the other gentlemen, or else he could pay in cash, which I rather doubt.

"On Page 48 is an account of Charles W. Boyd, no doubt related to the Boyd family of Virginia. He used to ride over, as the entry shows breakfast for his horse. He not only indulged in food and drink but also used to obtain cash from the hotel, as evidenced by entries in the account."

First entry in the Day Book was dated May 2, 1797. Beverages and "sundries" appeared to be the most popular items dispensed by the tavern, and supper could be had for three or four shillings (a shilling is one-twentieth of a pound). Room for three months cost one shilling for "keeping of horse 9 weeks." Other interesting entries: "To cash lent you at cards," "whiskey and oats," "cash paid washer woman, two shillings."

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D.

Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

"MY FOLK-MUSIC EDUCATION"

Musical instruments at Fidelity were not very numerous, but a very good use was made of the ones we had. Just about everybody could play a french harp, and Santa Claus was usually generous enough to leave one in our stockings at least once in our growing up days. A few skilled ones could play a jew's-harp, but that is an art that I could never acquire, it seemed. I envied the boys and girls who could make sounds come forth from the strange-looking instrument, but the thing always tickled my tongue. Some of the boys could make castanets ring, even the ones they had whittled out of hickory tobacco sticks. I never knew anyone at Fidelity who could make music on a handsaw; that pleasure was reserved for much later times. I did learn to blow a tune on my hands, folded properly, and can still do this rather rare bit of showing off.

A few men and boys at Fidelity could play a fiddle, or a mandolin, or a guitar, or a banjo. Once, just about as far back as I can remember, there was a string band organized at Fidelity, with just about all the instruments in the neighborhood in it. An itinerant musician named Daniel stayed around for a while and seemed to get quite a response with this band. Then he drifted, like the characters in Stevenson's "Will of the Mill," away on down the river and was never heard of again. But the band he organized and small parts of it continued to play until the last of the group died of old age or disappeared into the strange world into which their mentor had gone.

The part of this band I recall best consisted of two brothers, who played, respectively, a fiddle and a guitar. Since one of them, the fiddler, used to date my older sister, I sometimes got to hear the boys play all the well-known fiddle tunes. In that way I got to know "Turkey in the Straw," "Arkansas Traveler," "The Downfall of Paris," "Napoleon's Retreat," "Love Somebody" and "Pop Goes the Weasel!" These boys must have worn out several sets of strings to entertain our somewhat stolid neighborhood. Our village postmaster-druggist was a trick fiddler who could make a fiddle talk. He used to play "Listen to the Mockingbird" in such a way that we believed it the best possible. As I had never heard any one else do this number, I do not know now just how well he played it, but it implanted that tune into the very bones of my life. He could also do all sorts of tricks with his fiddle, playing it behind his back, on top of his head, using the fiddle to saw on the bow, and similar stunts. But we liked him best when he held his fiddle under his chin or on his lap and turned himself loose on tunes about "old, unhappy, far-off things, and battles long ago." He sometimes did readings, aided by his fiddle, at our neighborhood literary society. I remember how he used to play incidental music for a reading of mine that I sometimes gave at Confederate reunions, something about the songs the soldier sang. That fiddle, after its owner got too old and arthritic to use it, came back from California to Fidelity and is there right now, and I hope the nephew who owns it realizes the importance of such a great instrument in the cultural life of a remote neighborhood that is now on the main routes of travel and might forget the little things that used to loom so large there.

There were a few old-fashioned "square" pianos at Fidelity and a lone upright. A good many people had organs. It is something to remember when I recall the Sunday afternoons or week-day nights we gathered around the organ and sang. Most of what we knew were hymns, but occasionally we got off on some of Aunt Jane's ballads and love songs and were joined by the old folks, who somehow felt that maybe most such singing was a little bit wicked. Suppose the piano or organ was hardly in tune, suppose the voices were not too much better—we sang, anyway, and passed away a little further the fear of life and the big, big world that lay beyond the farthest hills that we knew.

RHEUMATIC VICTIM THROWS AWAY CANE

Thanks to AR-PAN-EX Tablets

"I have had terrible pains in my knees for over two years and couldn't walk without a cane," writes Mrs. Mary Creamer, St. Louis, Mo., "About two months ago a friend suggested AR-PAN-EX Tablets. I took a bottle and the pains left my legs and by the time I finished my third bottle I was walking without any pains at all."

The big reason why AR-PAN-EX works best, is because it contains seven special ingredients—works seven ways at once—speeds long-lasting relief to chronic deep-seated agony, increases energy and resistance, and tones system. Sensational new formula of a prominent Eastern Scientist, scientifically "film-coated" to prevent useless, distressing action in the stomach, "film-coating" dissolves in the small intestine where all pain-relieving medicine is quickly released into the bloodstream—speeds fullest possible relief.

Positively Nothing Like AR-PAN-EX Thousands of men and women suffering from crippling torture of deep-seated rheumatic, arthritic pains get surer, faster, relief, by taking AR-PAN-EX Tablets. Be guided by them. If your druggist is out of AR-PAN-EX he will be glad to order it for you.

William Leslie Stephens, Victim of Heart Attack; Was World War I Veteran

William Leslie Stephens, 56 years old, World War I veteran and member of a well-known Prestonsburg family, was found dead in bed at the home here of his mother, Mrs. Anna Stephens, Tuesday morning. A heart attack was given as the probable cause of death.

Mr. Stephens had returned home, only the preceding day, from Veterans hospital, Huntington, W. Va., where he had received treatment, and had suffered a slight attack before retiring that night. He had been in failing health for some time.

He was born in Prestonsburg, a son of Mrs. Anna Clark Stephens and the late Albert Stephens. Surviving, besides his mother, are four brothers and four sisters, Dr. O. T. Stephens, and former U. S. District Attorney Claude P. Stephens, both of Prestonsburg, Lewis Stephens, Ashland, Lindsay Stephens, Denver, Colo., Mrs. J. W. Howard and Mrs. A. L. Davidson, both of Prestonsburg, Mrs. Blaine Smith and Mrs. Cora D. McHone, both of Wheelwright.

Military honors were accorded at the funeral this afternoon (Thursday) by the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars. The funeral was conducted from the Methodist Church by the pastor, the Rev. Harold Dorsey, and the Rev. Ira McMillen, Jr., and burial was made in the Weddington cemetery under direction of the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

Sweeping Liability Rule Given by Appellate Court In Case; Combs Dissents

"This decision has the possibility of making it rough on a used car dealer," said one Prestonsburg dealer this week after noting the recent, Court of Appeals decision making an automobile dealer legally responsible if he fails to warn the buyer against dangerous mechanical defects in a used car.

"We sell our late models with a guarantee. However some of our older models worth around $100 cannot have such a guarantee because to put them in the guaranteed class would cost so much as to make sales prohibitive," he added.

Kentucky becomes one of the first states to embrace so sweeping a rule of liability in used-car transactions. The court cited only Missouri as having a similar rule.

The opinion was written by Commissioner Beverly B. Waddill, with judge Bert T. Combs dissenting. It affirmed a decision of Judge Joseph J. Bradley of the Fayette Circuit Court.

The immediate effect of the ruling was to uphold a damage judgment of $11,489.95 against Gaidry Motors, Lexington. It was obtained by Albert Brannon, who was struck by a car sold by the firm.

The circumstances were described thus by the appellate opinion:

William Hensley bought a used car from Gaidry Motors, drove it 14 blocks and applied the brakes at an intersection. The brakes locked, caused the car to skid into the curb. There it crushed Brannon's left leg so badly it had to be amputated.

The brakes locked because of a leak in the grease cell at the right rear wheel. The defect had existed for a month or longer. Gaidry Motors knew of the defect because Thomas Reaves, who sold them the car, told them about it. Gaidry Motors, however, neglected to warn Hensley that the braking mechanism was defective when they sold him the car.

With that resume of the case before him, Waddill wrote that the law imposes an obligation on every man to refrain from any acts of omission or commission that he may reasonably expect to result in injury to others.

Thus, he reasoned, the dealer who knows, but does not reveal, serious mechanical defects in a used car must be held legally liable if his silence leads to the injury of others.

"It is common knowledge that old cars are more likely to be subject to mechanical defects than are new ones. The turnover in ownership in used cars is fairly rapid, and the majority of these cars are sold through used-car dealers," the opinion said.

"The used-car dealer is in a better position, by reason of his opportunity, than his average customer, to discover what defects might exist in any particular car to make it a menace to the public."

Jimmy Edsel Burchett, 19, Succumbs in Huntington; Burial in Mayo Cemetery

Jimmy Edsel Burchett, 19, Lancer, died at St. Mary's hospital, Huntington, at 3:30 p.m. Sunday. He submitted to an appendectomy a few weeks ago but the immediate cause of death was said to be colitis. He had been ill three weeks.

He was the son of Banner and Easter Fannin Burchett, who survive. One brother, Robert White Burchett, Redwood City, Calif., two sisters, Joyce, at home, and Mrs. Pauline Matney, Stone, Ky., survive. Also surviving is his grandmother, Mrs. Cora F. Johnson.

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday at 2 p.m., from the Full Gospel Tabernacle, West Prestonsburg, the Revs. Arthur Ramey, D. B. Watson, G. R. Fannin and Bert Caldwell officiating. Burial was in the Mayo cemetery under the direction of Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

Section 186 Repeal Vote Leads by Wide Margin; Vote on No. 2, Adverse

LOUISVILLE, KY., Nov. 5—Kentuckians have voted to erase a constitutional restriction on spending the state's common school fund. But they followed tradition in keeping the Constitution's requirement that nine top state officials must be elected and in again choosing a Democratic-controlled Legislature.

Unofficial returns from 3,082 of Kentucky's 4,215 precincts gave this breakdown of the proposed constitutional amendments:

No. 1 (School Fund): Yes—222,310; No—83,745.
No. 2 (Short Ballot): Yes—108,087; No—122,673.

The proposal to let the Legislature decide how the state's school fund should be distributed rolled up a big margin in a referendum to an aggressive campaign by many educators and parents.

It repealed Section 186 of the constitution that required distribution of at least 75 per cent of the total fund, which amounted to $31,785,500 this year, on the "census pupil" basis.

This is according to the number of school-age children counted in the school census as residing in the 227 local districts, whether or not they attend public school.

Actually, 82½ per cent of the fund went out this year on that basis, $36.11 for each child counted in the census. The remainder of the fund was spent on equalization aid designed to help poorer districts.

KENTUCKY READY

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 2—Governor Wetherby and Commissioner of Agriculture Ben S. Adams notified federal authorities that Kentucky is ready to send a representative to advise with the U. S. Department of Agriculture on details of the drought relief program in 27 counties of the State already declared drought-disaster areas.

The program, generally calls for farmers to be able to buy feed at reduced prices and to obtain favorable freight rates on such shipments. But details of the program, to be administered jointly by both federal and state agencies, have yet to be unfolded by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

SECOND LAKE IS POSSIBILITY
Flood Control Project Authorized 15 Years Ago Is Urged by Association

The flood control dam authorized for the Middle Fork of the Kentucky River is definitely "a good possibility," the Buckhorn Watershed Association reported recently.

This is the flood control project which was authorized along with the Dewey reservoir in 1938 when A. J. May of Prestonsburg, then Congressman from this district, sponsored such a program for this section.

William D. Gorman, Hazard, president of the Buckhorn Association said he and a delegation representing the association received favorable comments when they presented plans for the dam at a meeting with representatives of the US Corps of Engineers and the US Department of Agriculture in Louisville.

The proposed dam, authorized by an act of Congress June 2, 1938, would be a concrete structure 680 feet long and 111 feet high. It would be located a short distance above Buckhorn on the Middle Fork.

An estimated 397 square miles would drain into the 153,000 acre-foot reservoir. The area submerged would be an estimated 4,000 acres. The maximum pool elevation would be 831.5 feet.

Members of the Buckhorn association presented their plans for the dam along with petitions containing signatures of 6,000 persons in the Upper Kentucky River area. They also carried letters of endorsement from 60 business houses.

Gorman said the project has also been endorsed by the Kentucky River Development Association, which states the purpose of the watershed group go along with the overall purposes of the KRDA.

Agricultural Department representatives present at the meeting included Orville Chinn and Steve Wakefield, of the State Division of Flood Control and Water Usage, and Thomas Hine, Chairman of the Board of the Flood Control Division. Andrew Duncan, administrative assistant of Senator John Sherman Cooper was also present. Senator Cooper has agreed to spearhead the fight in Congress for the project.

Representing the Buckhorn Watershed Association were Gorman A. B. Rogers, area conservationist; Vernon Cooper, of the Hazard Insurance Agency; Elmer Begley, Leslie County Judge and Earl Keen, superintendent of Leslie county schools.

Gorman said Col. Milne and the Agricultural Department representatives were highly in favor of the proposed dam. However, the Colonel stated that planning money for such a project was not present in the budget for the present fiscal year and the project might have to wait until the next fiscal year for an approval of funds.

The total cost of the project has been estimated by the Corps of Engineers at $6,110,000. It would take an estimated $4,850,000 to build the dam and another $1,100,000 to pay for land and damages construction would cause.

Col. Milne gave Gorman a letter stating that he would do all in his power to expedite the planning and construction of the Buckhorn reservoir when Congress provides funds for the project.

Gorman said the Buckhorn reservoir would fit into the overall pattern of flood control in the Upper Kentucky River Valley. He pointed out that the Buckhorn Watershed Association chose the single project as a starting point for future improvements of the entire Kentucky River Valley.

Asks Doctors, Hospitals For Free Service During Diabetes Detection Week

All physicians who are members of the Kentucky State Medical Association and all hospitals and laboratories have been asked to give a free diabetes test to every person requesting it as a part of the 1953 Diabetes Detection Drive to be held during National Diabetes Week, November 15-21.

The annual drive, sponsored by the Kentucky State Medical Association in cooperation with the American Diabetes Association, is a non-fund-raising campaign for the purpose of seeking out previously undiscovered diabetics so that through modern science they may live long, happy lives. It is endorsed by many state organizations and Governor Lawrence W. Wetherby has proclaimed November 15-21 as Diabetes Detection Week in Kentucky.

"Of the estimated 1,000,000 unknown diabetics in the United States, approximately 15,000 are in Kentucky," said Carlisle Morse, M. D., Louisville, chairman of the K.S.M.A. Diabetes Committee. "Most of these are people whose lives can be saved for useful normalcy, if they only know they have the disease. The purpose of the drive is to give them a chance to find out."

"Last year we discovered over 200 previously unknown diabetes victims in Kentucky alone as a result of the drive," Dr. Morse said. "Each of these persons has the opportunity to insure himself of a good life because he took the time to have a free test. There are many more whom we hope to reach this year."

For a real bargain—get a real truck!

SURE, you can save a few dollars now on a truck price-tagged slightly less than a GMC. But if you want a bargain that will still be a bargain after years of hard truck-work, ask these questions before you buy:

Does the truck give you a GMC's 105 H.P.? That's up to 19% more power than comparable sixes. It hustles a GMC's top loads up tough pulls—without engine strain.

Does it have a GMC's 8.0 to 1 super-high-compression? That gives you quicker getaways—more drive—better mileage. All on regular gas.

Does it offer a GMC's engine-sparing Truck Hydra-Matic? With it, you say good-bye to gearshift wrestling. No more clutch repairs. Maintenance costs shrink.

Does it have the extra protection of a GMC's self-energizing brakes? The extra comfort of a GMC's "Six-Footer" cab? The handling ease of a GMC's ball-bearing steering action? If all the answers are "yes," you have a real bargain—a GMC. And there are 19 handsome 1/2- to 1-ton models to choose from. How can you lose?

*Standard equipment on Package Delivery chassis; optional at moderate extra cost on others.

CATS OVERRUN WAYLAND; PAINTSVILLE GAME, NEXT

Prestonsburg's Black Cats rolled to their third consecutive grid win and sixth of the season last Friday night by overrunning their intra-county rival, Wayland, 59-0.

The inexperienced Wasps—16 in number—fought gamely throughout the contest, but were no match for the speeding Black Cats, who scored in every period.

Handyman "Jeep" Alexander started the rout on the first play of the game, when he took Jimmy Knight's kickoff on his own 20 and scampered 80 yards for the first of nine touchdowns. Lowell Hughes, who alternated the quarterbacking chores with Alexander, booted the first of five successful extra points in nine attempts.

Prestonsburg moved to a 19-0 first quarter command on Hughes' touchdown flip to end Paul Ousley and a two-yard quarterback sneak. Unable to gain any appreciable yardage through the staunch Prestonsburg line, Knight kicked six times in the first half as his team was limited to a first down.

Clifford Goble reeled off a 70-yard touchdown jaunt in the second quarter and Chester Shepherd scored on a five-yard slant. Center Joe Tackett tallied the first touchdown of his career near the end of the half by picking up a Wasp fumble and scooting 25 yards to pay dirt and a 40-0 halftime advantage.

Sophomore halfback Johnny Murphy and quarterback Knight sparked a 33-yard march to the Black Cat 38 in the third period, but the longest Wasp drive faded after a clipping penalty.

Ronnie Goble, a 150-pound junior halfback, accounted for all of the scoring in the last half with pay-off runs of 10, 8 and 5 yards.

Prestonsburg will end its '53 season this Friday with arch-rival Paintsville in the Johnson county seat, and Wayland meets the Whitesburg Yellow Jackets in Letcher county.

Three Teams from Floyd On Academy Cage Card

Pikeville, Ky., Nov. 2 (Spl.) — Three Floyd county basketball teams appear on the 1953-54 schedule of the Pikeville College Academy Cubs, released today.

The Cubs will meet the Auxier cagers and Betsy Layne's Bobcats twice each, in home-and-home series, and will entertain the Prestonsburg Black Cats in one game here, it was announced by Coach Walter Hambrick.

Just one of the 11 other cage teams to face the Academy five this season—Jenkins—is from outside the Fifteenth region. The Cavaliers are the closest Fourteenth-region team to Pikeville, and have often been on the Academy schedule, the coach said.

Oil Springs and Morgan County are the only other teams from outside the 57th district on the Cubs' card.

FOOTBALL CHATTER

By GORDON MOORE

In closing their home season last week with a win, Prestonsburg has lost only one home game in the past four years and that was 7-6 setback to Jenkins in 1952.

Prestonsburg and Paintsville will square off in their 28th football meeting in the Johnson county seat Friday. Since the start of the heated rivalry in 1923, Prestonsburg has won 14, Paintsville eight, and five have ended in ties. The Black Cats failed to field a team during the war years of 1943 and 1944.

Scores for the past seven years have been:

	Prestonsburg	P'ville
1946	6	6
1947	47	6
1948	13	6
1949	6	12
1950	7	0
1952	32	12

Clifford Goble, one of the smallest football players in the Big Sandy valley, has scored at least one touchdown in each of Prestonsburg's nine games.

Whitesburg can wrap up the 1953 Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference crown Friday night by whipping Wayland. The Yellow Jackets have a perfect loop record, but have looked far from champions in losing non-conference games to Lynch, 57-0, Lafayette, 46-6, and Cumberland, 26-30.

The nine representatives of Eastern Kentucky schools will meet in Pikeville Sunday afternoon to select the all-conference team, compile the final standings and possibly extend an invitation to Hazard to join.

Garrett high school was the first 15th region basketball team to enter the 1953-54 victory column. John Campbell's Black Devils outshot Wheelwright's Palmer-Dunbar, 37-27, last Friday.

PIKEVILLE COLLEGE ATTAINS SUCCESS WITH EASTERN KENTUCKY ATHLETES

By GORDON MOORE

Eastern Kentucky high school basketball players may soon have the opportunity of attending a four-year college, near home, if the present campaign for a major college is successful.

Heretofore, the Pikeville institution has had one of the strongest two-year cage teams in Kentucky and the South, each year, with Eastern Kentucky athletes forming the nucleus of the teams. Only three boys on the teams in the past ten years have lived outside a 60-mile radius of the 14th and 15th K.H.S.A.A. regions.

The college has the facilities for a four-year basketball program, with one of the finest gymnasiums in Kentucky that seats approximately 3,000 people, and serves the physical education program.

In past years, Pikeville has played some four-year colleges and has been highly successful in holding its own until last season's meeting with Rio Grande College and "Bevo" Francis, the nation's leading cage scorer. Francis paced Rio to a 72-58 win over Pikeville with 24 points, the second lowest total he was held to last season.

Coach Walter Hambrick, who has been at the helm of Pikeville athletics since 1951, has molded outstanding teams from boys who have been overlooked by major college coaches. Two of Hambrick's former players, James Duff, Garrett, and Johnny Williams, Inez, are present candidates for the Morehead and Eastern varsities. Duff was named all-K.J.C.A.C. two years and maintained a 26-point average in conference play, and Williams was elected to the all-southeastern junior college team.

George Bailey, Hindman, and Whitey Lyons, Garrett, received all loop honors, and Woodrow Preston, Pikeville, all-southeastern laurels, at the close of last season's play.

In compiling a 45-12 won-lost record in a two-year span, Hambrick has procured his players on recommendations of coaches in the Big Sandy area, and attributes his success to good, fundamental coaching on the part of the high school mentors.

Before coming to Pikeville, Hambrick coached the 1950-51 season at Breckinridge Training and Morehead College and four years at Gallatin county high school, Warsaw, Ky.

He earned two letters on the Morehead College varsity in 1940-42 and following a three-year service hitch as coach of the U. S. Naval Hospital in Jacksonville, Fla., returned for another letter at Morehead in 1946.

A check of the college roster in the past two years and this year's squad reveals that Pikeville, Martin, Carr Creek, Hindman and Inez are always represented by one or more players.

Last season, Pikeville was runner-up in the Southeastern Junior College tournament at Athens, Tennessee, and also grabbed second honors in the Kentucky Junior College tournament at Paducah. Returning veterans from that squad include Woodrow Preston and Russell Porter, Pikeville; Sam Smith and Solomon Richardson, Carr Creek; Bob Taylor, Martin; Benny Fannin, Betsy Layne, and Jim Hardin, Inez.

Other aspirants for the '53-'54 team are: Gus Curry, Wheelwright; Ezra Click, Martin; Ralph Roberts, Wayland; Donnie Stumbo, McDowell; Arlie Williams, Inez; Bobby McCoy and Gary Caudill, Pikeville; Gary Layne, Pikeville Academy, and one "furriner," Carl Wilson, Gilbert, West Virginia, who lives 61 miles from Pikeville.

Three are no athletic scholarships given at Pikeville College, but there are available workshops, which pay approximately half of the years expenses. These workshops must be acquired through the college president, Dr. A. A. Page, who grants them on the basis of need. Some of the players on the squad this year and in past years, have received a 14-hour workshop, which pays $220 of his year's tuition and board, while other boys receive 10-hour workshops which pay $120 a year, and some receive no aid at all because of their financial ability to pay. Twelve boys, two of whom are basketball players, worked on the campus and college farm all summer and now work 14 hours a week to earn all expenses.

All basketball recipients of workshops are assigned to the gym for complete maintenance and janitorial upkeep.

Hambrick, who also handles the college Academy coaching duties, last season was faced with the problem of having the college team playing in the semi-finals of the Southeastern Junior College Tournament in Tennessee, and his academy five playing downtown rival, Pike high, in the district tournament on the same night. So he stayed in Pikeville and saw his academy team lose, while his college squad won and moved to the finals.

No study has supported the retention of Section 136 of Kentucky's Constitution, but many research groups have recommended that it be amended so that a sound program may be adopted.

"The family that prays together, stays together."

Our forefathers based their entire code of civilization on the family unit... for, even at the beginning of time it was clearly realized that blood was thicker than water. No matter how much a family might fight among themselves, they were quick to band together when faced with an outside foe. Today, even though we are not fighting the elements, there are other equally subversive forces trying to divide us.

Yes, it is all too easy to quarrel and bicker even though we love dearly the one we dislike for the moment. But in the sight of the Lord, when we all kneel together there is no longer room for hate or misunderstanding. His teachings are only of love, and so it must be that when we are in His house, with those whom we have loved, that feeling must again come to the front.

So, let us all believe together that "If God be with us, who can be against us!"

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 19 — The Kentucky Railroad Commission is without authority to require a railroad to confine operations of trains when it is shown, beyond doubt, that the trains have operated at a substantial financial loss. The two trains in question operate daily between Louisville and Fulton.

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Back in George Washington's time about 90 percent of our American people lived on farms, but even with virgin land and the inefficient farming of that day produced barely enough food for the farm families and the few town people. Farming required a stout heart and a strong back, with long hours of drudgery and toil.

How times have changed! Now we have plenty of food in this country and only one-sixth of our people are required to produce it. Five-sixths of our people are free to live away from farms—to carry on other businesses and professions that contribute to a high standard of living.

Farmers are living better, too, as well as producing so much more. And what makes the modern farmer tick? It's largely a matter of information—of know-how. The modern farmer must be a walking encyclopedia of accurate information based on modern science. Farmers today do not farm like the farmers of a hundred or even of ten years ago. Modern farmers are eager for today's information—for tomorrow's know-how about more efficient farming.

Where do farmers get their farming information based on modern science? There are many sources, but unquestionably most of it comes from the agricultural experiment stations of the land grant colleges and the U. S. Department of Agriculture—from such research institutions as the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station at the University of Kentucky. Here trained scientists labor the year round, seeking truths that will help our farm men and women. Nature gives up her secrets slowly and reluctantly, but the trained scientists through research have dug out many things that contribute to better farming in this country—hybrid corn, high yielding varieties, disease resistance, fertilization, artificial breeding, better feeding and such. These findings are carried to farmers through agricultural extension workers, county and home demonstration agents, enabling today's farmers to produce several times as much as his forerunner of forty or fifty years ago.

McCombs of San Diego rode with Montee in the Air Force P33 jet trainer. The nonagenarian aviator got his pilot's license at 65 while operating a Santa Monica, Calif., airport.

Since the end of World War II, rural telephone construction has surged ahead at a record-breaking pace. Today over half a million rural phones are served by Southern Bell, and new ones are going in at the rate of 6,500 a month.

This record of rural progress is even more amazing when you consider that the South's farm population has actually decreased, largely due to mechanized and more efficient farming methods.

But farmers need and use the telephone more than ever before. That's why providing them more and better service is one of our most important jobs.

The club voted to donate $10 to help pay the expenses for getting the facts of Amendment 186 before the public; to give $10.00 a year to Pikeville College as part of its living endowment campaign and to donate food and clothing to a needy family in the community.

Committees for the district meeting were announced and are as follows: Hospitality—Mrs. Sophia Cahill, Mrs. Eugyle Martin, Miss Jackie Hall, Mrs. Mae Turner, Mrs. Alberta Turner; Welcome—Mrs. Helen Ankrom; Invocation—Miss Catherine Reed; Favors—Mrs. Phyl Reed, Mrs. Vada Reed, Mrs. Helen Ankrom; Registration—Mrs. Chadie Cochran, Mrs. Anna Sue Stumbo, Mrs. Flotina Elam; Credential Report—Mrs. Anna Sue Stumbo; Luncheon—Mrs. Rebecca Reed, Mrs. Anna Showers, Mrs. Phyl Reed, Mrs. Betty Meade, Mrs. Hobbs; Tickets—Miss Catherine Reed, Mrs. Vada Reed; Decorations—Mrs. Violet Moore, Miss Jackie Hall, Miss Betty Turner, Miss Pat Reed; Music—Mrs. Olive Rose Hall; Pages—Misses Betty Jean Akers, Pat Hewlett, Patty Cochran, and Shirley Reed; Time Keeper—Mrs. Peg Hewlett; Flowers—Mrs. Amy Lee Turner.

If Hinchman Makes "Big Show" Look for Him in All-Star Game

If Mr. Joseph Lorenzo Hinchman, of Tram, this county, ever makes the Big Time in baseball—and nobody is betting he won't—look for him in some future All-Star game.

For this business of being in All-Star baseball tilts has got to be a habit with Mr. Hinchman, who prefers plain Joe or the more colorful "Lefty" to his full name. He has been in organized ball three years, and each year he was an all-star.

This year, he was a unanimous selection for the All-Star aggregation in the West-Texas-New Mexico league, and no wonder. For he led the league with 25 mound victories while losing 10 games—more games won than any other Albuquerque twirler in the history of the sport there. On top of that he was the winning pitcher in the All-Star game, and in the play-offs he pitched four complete games, winning three.

Add to that these facts, and you begin to see why the Chicago Cubs last month bought the strapping youngster from Oakland of the Pacific Coast league, which had Joe on what you might call lend-lease to Albuquerque.

He had more strikeouts—240 in regular season games—than any other pitcher Albuquerque ever had;

he completed more ball games and pitched more innings than any other moundsman playing for the Dukes since the team started off in 1936. Besides that, he pitched the penant-clinching victory, hit over .300 and tied the Dukes' strikeout record for pitchers in a single game by whiffing 16 enemy batsmen.

Southpaws— young southpaws, in particular—are expected to be wild, but this 23-year-old, who began his pitching around Harold, last season issued an average of only three passes per game, including intentional walks.

As the property of the Cubs he will report to Los Angeles next spring. A sore arm last spring probably kept young Hinchman from a starting role on the Oakland team after he had been called up from Albuquerque by Mel Ott, Oakland manager, and former New York Giant all-time great. Ott had had his eye on Hinchman since 1952 when the Tram boy won 16 and lost 11 in his first year with Albuquerque.

"My arm was so sore last spring I couldn't pitch batting practice," the personable Hinchman told The Times recently. "But it wasn't long after I was sent back to Albuquerque that it came around and everything was all right."

This winter, while working in Michigan, he expects to do gym work, and next spring he plans to get in a few weeks of sunshine in the south or on the west coast before reporting to Los Angeles.

Hinchman was graduated from Betsy Layne high school in 1947, and is now in his third year of professional ball. In 1951 he played with the Enterprise, Ala., team of the Alabama-Florida Class D league. He wound up on the all-star team there.

The next year, his first with Albuquerque, he won 16 and lost 12, and again was on the all-star team. Here, he was getting the advantage of coaching from a former big league catcher, and was picking up the fine points of the trade to go along with a sneaky fast ball and a fine curve.

This is the same youngster whom Joe Weddington, of Prestonsburg, signed to a Cleveland Indians contract for play with Enterprise, Alabama in 1951. Along the way, the Indians gave up on him and lost him to Albuquerque, an affiliate of the Oakland team. And now those in the know think he's on his way to the Cubs—where, they say, some pitching talent is badly needed.

VA Points to Ruling On Dental Treatment

Only one-time dental treatment will be given to veterans with service-connected dental conditions or disabilities that are not severe enough to rate disability compensation, Veterans Administration announced today.

VA said the limitation for these non-compensable cases was made under the basic 1933 law that authorized the Administrator of Veterans Affairs to provide such medical, surgical or dental service as is "reasonably necessary" for diseases or injuries incurred or aggravated in line of duty in the active military or naval service.

The limitation, VA said, does not apply to veterans receiving disability compensation for service-connected dental conditions or disabilities.

Nor does it apply to those veterans who require treatment for dental conditions, whether or not service-connected, which are medically found to be aggravating another service-connected disability, VA added.

All veterans whose treatment for non-compensable dental conditions or disabilities already has been completed will not be eligible for further treatment of those conditions or disabilities.

The one-time treatment for non-compensable cases will prevail unless the treatment is found to be unacceptable "within the limitations of good professional standards," or the veteran is found eligible under one or more of the other dental benefits classifications.

VA said an exception is made for former prisoners of war who will receive as many dental treatments as are required to take care of disabilities found to have been caused by their imprisonment.

The one-time treatment for non-compensable service-connected cases may be provided by VA dental clinics, or VA may authorize participating fee-basis dentists to provide it.

Tubless Hearing Aid
 Lowers Operation Cost

After exhaustive laboratory research and rugged field-testing by hearing-aid engineers, physicians, and other hearing-aid users to determine the dependability of this sensational economic development, Zenith Radio Corporation has introduced a new, completely tubless hearing aid to a convention of Zenith dealers. The presentation was made by W. M. Brown, head of the hearing aid division.

"Until this extensive field testing was completed," Brown said, "it was difficult for our laboratory technicians to believe that in normal use this new hearing aid would operate for 15c per month as against an average operating cost of more than 15c per day for hearing aids using vacuum tubes. This is Zenith's latest contribution in its crusade to lower the cost of hearing in this day of rising costs."

Brown said that the new instrument, called the Royal-T, is now being shipped to dealers, and will be generally available to the public within a few days.

It uses no tubes, no "B" batteries, he said, and operates for a month on a simple little 15c battery available in 5 & 10c stores throughout the country.

'Bear' Facts—
 By PAUL BRYANT
 UK Football Coach

LEXINGTON, KY. — Just six short weeks ago, during that long bus ride from Oxford back to Memphis following our discouraging defeat at the hands of Ole Miss, the one thought that failed to enter my mind was the possibility that by mid-season I would be worrying about over-confidence in our University of Kentucky football team.

I knew our boys had wonderful morale before the season began and it was fairly obvious to those of us close to the team that, with a little help and a high degree of determination, they would improve enough to give a good account of themselves. But I never foresaw at that time that we would grow up fast enough to knock off a string of nationally-rated foes and reach the point where possible cockiness would be a problem.

As I pointed out in this column back in August or early September, overconfidence is a frame of mind that no one is immune to—player or fan. In fact, the "disease" is catching and I'd like to take this opportunity to slip in a sobering antidote for what appears to be the first stages of the trouble.

The Wildcats have come a long way since that humiliation down in "The Hollow" at Oxford. No one realizes it more than I do nor, I am sure, is anyone prouder of their tremendous comeback than the coach. It took a mighty lot of doing, to say the least, and they deserve every fine thing that's been said about them. However, we all (players, coaches and fans) must realize that some big obstacles are still ahead which cannot be overcome by mere reliance on reputation and a tendency to over-confidence.

Every single team that we must face from here on out is improving just as fast as our own bunch. Any letdown in desire to put up a good showing against powerful Rice (the upcoming "chuck hole" in the victory road as this is written), improving Vanderbilt, potentially dangerous Memphis State, and always-tough Tennessee (which seems to be just hitting its stride), Kentucky is going to have a try just as hard or harder than what was good enough to topple Mississippi State and Florida. To reach that peak of performance is going to take a lot of will power and work on the part of every single man.

Cadillac

Resting—After a Long, Hard Day!

Twenty minutes ago, the man you see in this picture came out of a long and harassing conference—tired, tense and with a bit of a headache.

And he said to himself—"I'll take the long way home tonight, and drive out by the waterfront, and let the Cadillac relax me!"

And that's just what he's doing.

If you own a 1953 Cadillac, you know exactly what's taking place. But if you don't—let's see what happens as he climbs into the driver's seat and lets his wonderful car begin its magic.

It's relaxing just to sit there—and look out over that long, beautiful hood into the beckoning distance.

The seat cushions hold him in buoyant comfort; the slender wheel fits naturally into his hands; great areas of glass surround him and let each glance reveal a panorama.

And, of course, he's proud—for it's an endless satisfaction to command such a respected possession.

And now comes the great lift to his spirits: He touches the key, and hears that deep-throated response so characteristic of a Cadillac engine—and, in an instant, he's off for a wonderful, wonderful hour!

Steering is no more than a gesture... the lightest touch on the throttle gets immediate action—smooth, quick and positive... the brakes are easy and certain under his foot.

So he just sits back and rolls along—with the soft sound of the wind for a lullaby—and the beautiful view for a tonic—resting, relaxing, at peace with the world!

His wife will never suspect, as he wheels into the driveway, that he was a tired and weary husband just one short hour ago.

That's one of the nicest things about a Cadillac. It's a proven therapeutic for a work-weary man!

Try it, soon, at the end of a long, hard day. We'll furnish the car. You name the time and place.
