This Town— That World

If this is Spring, it's slightly sprung.

HOW COME?

And, pray tell, how do they come to start Spring off on the 20th? We were all set for daylight savings time to come along later and throw everybody but the roosters for a loop, but when the calendar starts jumping around we begin wondering if there shouldn't be a Congressional investigation.

A GOOD GUY

After the man is dead the American people are told what a wonderful person Fred Allen, the noted radio and television wit, was. His generosity, his unfailing kindness to others, his clean personal life—all these things are told now. Just like you and I wait till our friends are gone before our flowers are strewn. The only thing I found disappointing about Fred Allen is, his name wasn't Allen at all. His last name was Sullivan.

SPEED TO BURN

Watt Hale thinks that maybe he has learned about something with more speed to burn than a super-sonic missile. Says a friend of his reported that a secret was told a neighbor-woman. Said the friend: "And si, that woman's skirt never touched the bend of her knee till she'd told it to somebody else!"

WARDEN CITES FIRE THREAT

Carelessness or Firebug Blamed for Six Blazes In Middle Creek Area

The advent of spring and drier weather was accompanied this week and last by a rising incidence of forest fires. Forest Warden Roe Turner noted Wednesday. Five fires broke out last week and burned over an indeterminate acreage, he said.

The Forest Service reported Middle Creek seemed to be having more than its usual share of blazes. There have been six fires there in the same locality in the last three weeks. "It is either extreme carelessness or a fire-bug is at work," a member of the ranger service said. Two of the fires on that creek were subdued only this week. There was one each on Buffalo Creek, Tackett Fork of Big Mud and at Burton on Left Beaver.

Assistant Warden Oliver Hall thinks that a lot of fires are being caused by careless hunters. "Several recent fires have started on high knobs where hunters congregated," he said.

Turner issued a warning this week that careless trash-burning by farmers and gardeners may lead to a big forest conflagration. He pointed out that burning of trash and brush is permissible at the present time only after 4:30 p.m. "Violators can expect to be prosecuted if there is sufficient evidence," he said.

Turner noted also that his personnel had delivered the 179,800 forest seedlings the Forest Service distributed in this county. "There is a growing interest on the part of these landowners to protect their plantings, and we intend to assist them," the warden said. "Anyone noticing a forest fire, either call me at Martin, telephone 3316, Oliver Hall, at Martin, 3305, or the Division of Forestry at Prestonsburg.

ARSON PROBE STARTS HERE AFTER FIRES

Third West P'burg Fire On One Street Results In Inquiries This Week

Suspicion of arson rose this week after fire early last Saturday night destroyed the third West Prestonsburg residence to go in flames within a month. An investigator representing the arson branch of the State Fire Marshal's office spent Wednesday in a probe of the Saturday night blaze which destroyed the home of Ann Allen with all its contents.

The building was owned by W. M. Greenwade, of Prestonsburg. There was no insurance on either building or contents.

Fire Chief Vernon Blackburn said all the investigation depends upon at this time is rumors. He added that no physical evidence of arson has been uncovered.

The three houses destroyed by fire in West Prestonsburg were adjacent to each other on Main street. First, the home of Bill Marsillett burned. The following night, the next-door building owned by Theodore Holbrook and family went up in flames. Last Saturday night's fire was next door to the home burned in the second blaze.

Blackburn said that in each instance the fire had gained such headway before the fire department arrived on the scene that firemen were powerless to save the homes. Several persons residing in the neighborhood of the fires have commented upon the rapidity with which the flames spread.

A girl who passed the home which burned Saturday night was quoted by Fire Chief Blackburn as saying she saw no light or any person in or about the house. The tenant was at a Paintsville hospital at the time of the blaze with her father, R. T. Allen, who is seriously ill.

HEAVY TRUCKS POSE PROBLEM

Larger Trucks Permitted May Tax Floyd Underpass Capacities; Many Listed

Thirty-two bridges and eight underpasses are listed by the State Highway Department as inadequate to support the 42,000-pound maximum load limit or to permit the passage of trucks requiring 12½ feet clearance. The bridges and underpasses are all on Class A trucking highways.

Neither of the bridges or underpasses named are in this county, although the West Prestonsburg underpass has long been avoided by heavy trucks. A sign erected at Salyersville on highway 114 has long warned them of the inadequate clearance under the C. & O. railroad near here. The clearance is 12 feet, perhaps a few inches more.

The Betsy Layne bridge over U.S. 23 joining the community with Justell and built in 1918 by the Pike-Floyd Coal Company several years before the highway was built is inadequate, too, for certain types of highway use, trucks say. The clearance there is 12 feet, 11 inches. The underpasses named by the Highway Department are all either with only 12 feet or under clearance.

Class A trucking highways are those designated by the commissioner of highways for use by heavy trucks. Under Senate Bill No. 1 to raise the truckweight limit to 59,640 pounds, the highway commissioner would be required to designate again a system of Class A highways that could be used by the 30-ton vehicles. The measure passed the Senate Thursday of last week and was slated for a vote in the house Wednesday.

Dwight H. Bray, chief state highway engineer, said there are about 10 bridges that now carry maximum loads of 42,000 pounds but which could not support a 30-ton load.

Bridges listed in this section as inadequate to carry the 59,640 pound truck loads are named as at South Pikeville over the Big Sandy and on U. S. 119 over the Licking River at Salyersville. The only underpass listed in this area is at Shelby Gap, Pike County, on U. S. 119, under the C. & O. railway with a clearance of only 12 feet, two inches.

William C. Parsley, 50, Dies in Fairmont, W. Va.; Was Prestonsburg Native

William C. Parsley, 50, former Prestonsburg man, died at his Fairmont, W. Va., home Tuesday of a heart attack. Mr. Parsley, a foreman for the Owens-Illinois Glass Co., had lived there for 15 years.

He was a son of J. M. and Sarah Adams Parsley, of Prestonsburg, who survive. Surviving also are his former wife, Hazel, and a son, James Richard Parsley, of Fairmont. The following sisters survive: Mrs. L. P. Wilson, Portsmouth, O., Mrs. Opal Goodman, Miss Bertha Cooley Parsley, and Miss Orville Moore, all of Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Wallace Rose, of Huntington.

Funeral services were conducted today (Thursday), at the Presbyterian church, the Rev. Orville Pearson officiating. Burial followed in the Bassom May cemetery under the direction of Moore Funeral Home.

SPRING RALLY ATTRACTS 200

Annual 4-H Club Meet At Allen Picks Officers And Selects Champions

The annual 4-H Club Spring rally held last Saturday at the Allen grade school attracted over 200 members, leaders and parents. Twelve clubs were represented in the first major event of the season for the 4-Hers.

Election of officers for the ensuing year was held after the meet was called together by Claudena Lowe, county 4-H club president, and Mrs. Frankie Best related the story of St. Patrick and led with the Lord's Prayer. Elected as officers were Palmer Lowe, of Maytown, president; Anita Daniels, of the Betsy Layne club, vice-president; Lola Layne, of Prestonsburg, secretary. A reporter and song leader will be selected later by the elective officers.

Two girls were entered in the senior division in public speaking, Claudena Lowe and Edith Hale, both of the Maytown Club, and each received blue ribbons. Miss Lowe was chosen champion by the judges who were E. E. Fish, field agent in 4-H Club work, and Rev. C. M. Furman, of Betsy Layne. The judges also selected Pam Combs of the Maytown club as champion of the junior division in public speaking. Others entered in the public speaking were Sandra Hicks, Maytown (blue); Earlyta Brooks, Betsy Layne (red); Deloris Chafin, Allen (red); Janice Hall, Banner, (red); Charlotte Akers, Brandy Keg, (white); and Patricia Lou Harris, Brandy Keg, (white).

Elford Case, Betsy Layne, and Palmer Lowe, Maytown, gave demonstrations on the "tag on the feed bag." Gene Ball, assistant county agent of Pike county, was the judge of the demonstration and picked Elford Case as champion. Case gave this demonstration the

ROCK THREAT CLOSES ROAD

US 23 Near Paintsville Closed; Other Routes Overtaxed by Traffic

The Big Sandy valley's only main highway was closed this week and may remain so a fortnight as U. S. 23 just outside Paintsville is threatened by a mountainous rockslide.

As a consequence, alternate routes are over-taxed by traffic. The only highway links between Prestonsburg and other towns above the point where the road is cut with Paintsville and towns in the lower part of the valley is via State Highway 114 through Salyersville, or the road through Van Lear and Davis Branch to Paintsville.

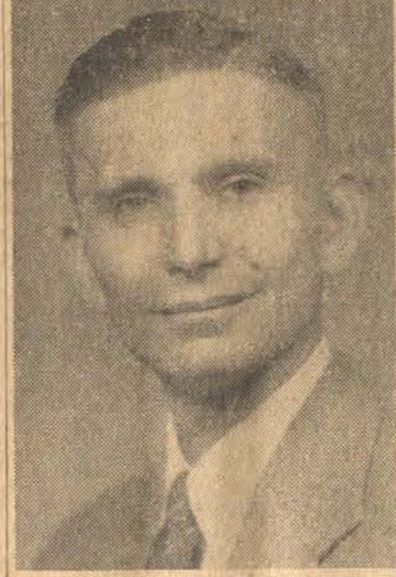

The road was closed Tuesday morning when a passerby reported he saw "the hill moving" in the Narrows, a few hundred yards from the southern city limits of Paintsville.

The report was true. A wide and deep fissure into the overhanging rock had widened. The breach in the rock had been noticed a week or two earlier. It is estimated that a 10,000-ton rock must be moved, and workmen are not certain how much earth behind it will move in. Blasting was slated to begin Wednesday afternoon, it was said.

Traffic on the valley's only main railway, which is directly below the threatened highway, continues. Railway, highway, telephone and power company of

HOUSE TELLS FUNDS NEED

Red Cross Director Cites Needs of Flood-Stricken Which Depleted Surplus

Two flood disasters last year and lesser destruction in various parts of the country so depleted Red Cross funds that there are at this time no funds available for the next six months for any type of emergency.

This the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club was told recently by Darrell Little, Paintsville, district Red Cross director, who emphasized the Red Cross "dire need of funds."

The Floyd county Red Cross quota for the current drive is $9,500. This is an increase over last year's quota. Higher quotas are made necessary in this and all other parts of the United States by the deficit created by disaster relief demands, the speaker said. Mr. House, who has been with the American Red Cross since 1941, said that the Red Cross at the first of 1955 had $20,000,000 for emergency relief purposes. But the Red Cross spent $27,000,000 on New England and Califor-

Father of Car Victim Asks $30,000 Damages;

A total of $30,000 is asked in a suit filed in circuit court here Friday by the father of Eugene Little, victim of a car-truck collision near Melvin last year.

The plaintiff, John E. Little as administrator of his son's estate, names Ollie J. Stone, doing business as Stone's Garage, as defendant in the action. His petition, prepared by R. S. Wellman, Prestonsburg attorney, contends negligence of the driver of Stone's truck or wrecker caused the crash which resulted in Little's death.

The collision occurred last April, near Melvin. The wrecker was towing an automobile on Highway 122, and met an auto driven by the younger Little.

Damages of $30,000, plus $500 burial expenses, are asked.

Managers of Spanish Mines Studying Floyd-co. Methods

Scheduled to arrive in this county today (Thursday) are nine Spanish mine managers who are visiting mines of six states in a study of U. S. coal production methods. In this county they will be guests of the Inland Steel Company, whose Price operations will be given their close attention.

At Price the visitors will find one of the country's most modern coal preparation plants. Through its facilities coal produced at Wheelwright, several miles away, is cleaned and processed and loaded into rail cars. At Wheelwright they will see a coal mining town where the noise and dust of the ordinary coal-producing community is altogether missing, since the coal mined in that vicinity goes on from the mine directly to the Price plant.

The Spanish mine managers will visit coal mines in West Virginia, Kentucky, Colorado, Oklahoma, Wyoming and Washington starting March 20 and continuing through April 6, the International Cooperation Administration announced.

The agency said the group will be the first from the Spanish mining industry to visit the United States for a productivity study.

The mining officials arrived in the United States March 2 and have completed studies in Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Sixteen spellers, finalists in bees held at eight sectional bees in this county, and consolidated school champions will compete Saturday in the two county spelling events sponsored annually by The Herald-Dispatch, Huntington, W. Va., and The Louisville Courier-Journal, Louisville.

The champion in the Herald-Dispatch bee and the runner-up will be given expense-paid trips to Huntington, where they will compete for the Tri-State spelling title and the right to represent the region in the national finals in Washington, D. C.

The Courier-Journal bee champ will receive a $10 award and a school system championship certificate. The runner-up will be awarded a Funk & Wagnalls standard dictionary.

Each entrant in both bees will receive from the Floyd County Board of Education a Thorndike Century junior dictionary.

TRIO TO GROW NEW TOBACCO

Johnson Farmers Sign For Most of Acreage Planned in Experiment

The growing of the pilot projects of aromatic tobacco in this and Johnson counties was assured this week when the required eight acres in experimental plots were planned by the farmers. Floyd will grow three and Johnson county five acres.

At first it was contemplated that the eight acres would be divided equally between the two counties but only three Floyd farmers agreed to grow an acre each and that made it necessary to allow the other acre allotted to farmers here to be grown in Johnson county. Eight acres in the pilot project was considered the minimum to successfully experiment with the crop in Kentucky.

The Extension Service and others are optimistic about the potentialities of the tobacco, a necessary filler for cigarettes chiefly made from burley tobaccos. Ira Massie, field agent in tobacco for the University of Kentucky's Extension Service, wrote the growers here and in Johnson county last week: "I can see no reason why Kentucky can't grow this crop." Aromatic tobacco, it is noted, is not under the government quota system and thus can

HAROLD FIRM STAKES ROUTE

For Telephone System Expansion; Loan Terms Bans Buying of Rights

Staking of rights-of-way for the extensions of the Harold Telephone Company in the area proposed to be served by it was going ahead this week on Big Mud Creek, Paul Gearheart, president, said. Two crews were at work there, and that phase of the work is expected to be completed in a few days.

Gearheart, whose company received a government loan of $337,000 several weeks ago, said that under the terms of the government grant his company cannot use any of the funds for right-of-way purchases. "The government takes the position that since they are putting up the money to build the line as a public service, then the landowners should cooperate," Gearheart said. "It's not within our ability to pay for rights-of-way. Our personal desires have nothing to do with it. The government simply won't let us pay out funds for it." Gearheart said, though, that only about three of a hundred landowners had demurred to giving the necessary easement rights.

The newly organized Harold Telephone Company succeeds the old Robert Olga Telephone Company, and stock, as indicated by the government, has been fully subscribed. The company now has over 600 subscribers and expects, when the rural extensions are completed, to have a minimum of 982 subscribers. The area to be served is the river section and its tributaries between Ivel and Boldman.

Spurlock Asks Parents And Others To Meeting At School Next Monday

Ottis D. Spurlock, principal of the new Floyd County high school, this week issued an invitation to parents of pupils at the school and to all other interested citizens to a meeting at the school next Monday at 7:30 p.m.

The gathering, Mr. Spurlock explained, is planned for three purposes, mainly: for a discussion of school problems, with the public participating; to give parents of pupils an opportunity to get acquainted with teachers of their children, and to afford visitors an opportunity to inspect the new school and its many facilities.

Doors of the school will open at 7 p.m. Assembly will be at 7:30 in the school lunchroom. A music program will be a part of the evening's activities.

10,000 PINES ARE SET HERE

Land Beautification Project One Feature Of Floyd Reforesting

The first extensive planting of forest trees in this county with emphasis on beautification of the land was completed this week by the Richmond estate here. Ten thousand pines were set on the estate's hill land between Graham street and the Farm and Home store on South Lake Drive.

Approximately 10 acres, about half the area finally to be set in trees, was selected for beautification this year, L. R. Johnson, soil conservationist said. The remainder will be set next year. The work was under the direction of Oliver Webb, Jr., and Fred Cottrell, manager of the I. Richmond Company.

The trees for the project were supplied by the State Division of Forestry under provisions of the Agricultural Stabilization Committee's program of soil conservation. They included 4,400 shortleaf, 3,200 white and 2,400 loblolly pines.

"I trust nearby landowners will join this program of beautification and soil conservation in this county," Johnson said. "It will add much to the beauty of our scenery and advance soil preservation."

The area set out by the Richmond heirs has been the scene of many forest fires in recent seasons, and Johnson urges that any evidence of a fire burning uncontrolled near there be reported at once to the forest warden or to him. "I trust the general public will interest themselves in this project as many civic-minded people here have been and help us protect the setting," he added.

A total of 179,800 forest seedlings were delivered to Floyd landowners March 10 for spring planting. More than half of these

CIRCUIT COURT DOCKET BOOK 68 FOR BOOZ

Liquor Caseloads Sets Modern-Day Mark Here; 5 Murder Trials Seen

Almost half the 139 cases docketed for trial at the April term of the Floyd circuit court are those of persons accused of possessing, selling or transporting alcoholic beverages.

These cases total 68, and most of the defendants were indicted last session of the grand jury. Total comprises a modern-day record number of liquor charges heard by the court.

The number of murder trials docketed is up five, the highest in the last two years. One of these, however, the murder charge against Bob Stephens, is a 21-year-old case, and another, that of Ira Hamilton, is to be a retrial after a reversal at the hands of the Court of Appeals. Yet another is the case of Estill and Mary Alice Blankenship who were named as accomplices of Junior Mitchell in the slaying of Daniel Akers on Mud Creek. Mitchell was given a 21-year pen term at an earlier court session.

The Bob Stephens trial is slated for April 9. Listed for murder trials for the first time are Isaac Stumbo and Colie Salisbury, on April 16 and 25, respectively. Second trial of Ira Hamilton is docketed for April 23.

The voluntary manslaughter trial of Tim Jones has been set for trial April 12.

Trials of the 68 liquor offense defendants have been split up, as follows: 21 on April 4, 16 on April 5, 12 on the 10th, nine on the following day, six on April 16, 3 on the 17th and one on April 6.

Child desertion cases, formerly appearing more frequently on the docket than any other offense, have been reduced to 19, with 18 of these listed for hearing on the first of the term, April 2.

Only three drunk driving cases are docketed, and pistol cases have dropped to one.

Names of 55 Floyd defendants drawn from the jury list for possible service during either as grand jurors or as members of petit jury panels. They are: Josephine Wells, Lancer; E. W. Conn, Allen; L. G. Mayo, Aux T. Y. Martin, Banner; Jay Brham, Eastern; Pete Patton, I

Church To Present New 'Rhythmic Choir' In Holy Week Services

The First Methodist Church of Prestonsburg will incorporate a "rhythmic choir" into two services during Holy Week.
On Palm Sunday, this group of spiritually sensitive young people will interpret Faure's "The Palms". On Thursday, March 29, at 7:30 p.m., a candle-lighting procession to Bortniansky's "Cherubim Song" and an interpretation of "The Lord's Prayer," by Malotte, with a vocal solo by Randall Wells, will be part of the candlelight communion service.

The rhythmic choir has been one of the neglected arts of the church. This art of worship through symbolic movement is not new but is an attempt to develop strength, beauty and power in the imaginative and creative life of the participants and the congregations.

The choir was organized, and is directed, by Mrs. DeVon Bogue. The members are Misses Anna Faye Dixon, Betty Gayle Hagwood, Judy Kidd, Martha Sue May, Marlene Reatherford, Judith and Katherine E. Roberts, Terry Lee Webb, Phyllis Wilson and Rose Worland. Through the efforts of these girls and Mrs. Harold W. Dorsey, Floyd Atchley, Chalmer Frazier, William Goble, Russell Hagwood, Arthur Haywood, Nicie Kenney, Newton May and with the encouragement and cooperation of the choir and congregation, the "rhythmic choir" has become a reality.

67 Floyd co. Children Provided Medical Care By Aid of Easter Seals

Easter Seals helped provide 67 children in Floyd county with medical care, clinic examinations or treatment last year, it was reported this week.

A. H. Mandt, county Easter Seal chairman, said services were provided through the combined facilities of the Kentucky Crippled Children Commission and the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children, the Easter Seal society.

"Whenever a Crippled Children Commission clinic is held for the children of this area, Easter Seal funds help pay expenses of the clinic staff," the chairman said.

In addition, four youngsters from Floyd county were patients at Cardinal Hill Hospital, an Easter Seal center in Lexington. Another three had other medical or hospital care paid for by Easter Seals.

The Kentucky Society also furnishes transportation for children to clinics and hospitals, and purchases wheel chairs, braces and the like, hospital equipment and medicines.

Its funds are raised during the current Easter Seal campaign, which continues through April 10.

The chairman said Easter Seals also finance a state-wide program of speech and hearing tests and a loan pool of special equipment for crippled children in public schools. Teachers are given aid in helping correct speech of youngsters found defective. Hearing aids are purchased for children with hearing impairments after follow-up testing.

The White House was first lighted by electricity in 1890 during the term of Benjamin Harrison.

BOARD NAMES STUDY GROUP

On Racial Integration In Kentucky's Schools; Ratliff on Committee

Problems of racial integration in the schools of Eastern Kentucky will be studied by an Eastern Kentucky Education Association committee appointed at a recent board of directors meeting in Ashland.

Dr. Adron Doran, president of Morehead State College, was named chairman of the committee by EKEA president, C. H. Farley, superintendent of Pike county schools. The committee will report its findings to the 1956 convention this fall.

Other educators on the committee are: Dr. A. A. Page, president of Pikeville College; Fred Rigsby, principal of Condit elementary school in Ashland; Wayne Ratliff, director of instruction of Floyd county schools; Bill Cheek, superintendent of Lawrence county schools; Verne P. Horne, superintendent of Johnson county schools, and Robert Hellard, Maysville City school teacher and former EKEA president.

Also approved at the March 10 directors' meeting was the appointment of Mrs. Mary D. Lathram, Kingsville, as second vice-president of the EKEA, to fill the vacancy created by the death of Miss Mary A. Lathram.

The board of directors also voted to create a science department of the EKEA, and named Lacy Pennington, Ashland, as chairman.

Members of two committees were appointed. Named to the Credentials committee were: Mrs. Ruth Justice, Ashland, chairman; Ester B. Cummins, Wheelwright; Mrs. Mertie Parker, Olive Hill; Russell Boyd, Williamsport, and Hubert Hume, Maysville. Members appointed to the Resolutions committee were: Verne P. Horne, Paintsville, chairman; Floris Green, Grayson; Virgil O. Turner, Prestonsburg; Roger Wilson, Morehead, and Price Holbrook, Salyersville.

Present at the board of directors meeting, in addition to Farley were: Denver Sloan, executive secretary, Morehead; Dr. Doran, Lester McHargue, Louisa, Mrs. Eula Norris, Ashland; Mrs. Hazel Calhoun, Grayson, and Dorothy Conley, Wheelwright.

Two Kentucky Youths Will Represent State In Exchange Program

Miss Mary Ann Hufflage of Jefferson county and James D. Sherry of Barren county will represent Kentucky in the 1956 International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE) program. It is announced by the University of Kentucky 4-H club department. Each will spend about five months overseas, Miss Hufflage in Norway and Mr. Sherry in India.

Former active 4-H'ers, both will graduate in late May from the College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

While Miss Hufflage was winning honors in home economics projects she was also the "handy man" for her father on the home farm, disking with the tractor and doing other jobs.

As state champion in canning, she attended the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. She took top honors also in community relations, citizenship, and achievement. As a winning individual and team member demonstrator, she attended two conventions of the National Garden and Vegetable Growers Association.

In the past summer, she was an apprentice home demonstration agent in Jefferson county.

Mr. Sherry's primary interests as a 4-H'er were in dairying, tobacco and leadership projects, the latter winning for him the opportunity to be a delegate to the American Youth Foundation at Camp Miniwanca in Michigan. For the past three summers, he has shown Guernsey cattle for breeders in Indiana, Pennsylvania and Illinois.

These young people will bring to 34 the number of Kentucky young men and women who have been delegates to foreign countries since 1949. More than 130 farm families in the state have cooperated by being hosts to 37 foreign exchanges.

The IFYE national program was begun in 1948 when 17 young people from the United States went to seven European countries, and six European exchanges came to live with farm families in this country. Since that time, the program has exchanged 1,289 farm young people between 44 states and three territories of the U. S. and 46 countries throughout the world.

officials have taken a hand in planning the demolition of the huge rock, and a strong effort will be made to prevent the slide from blocking the railroad. J. P. Noonan, Pikeville district highway engineer, is directing the work.

To add to traffic woes, the Van Lear-Davis Branch road was closed Wednesday for improvement. At best, the road is narrow, heavily used by coal trucks, and the bridge at Van Lear has an eight-ton load limit. School buses have been unloading pupils at this bridge and driving across, unloaded.

Highway officials in the past have frankly admitted that the overhanging rocks at this spot and along the whole Narrows section are dangerous, but until this week's emergency arose nothing had been done to reduce the danger.

of the University of Kentucky, himself a 50-pointer against Louisiana State during the past season.

Hits at Coleman Critics

By QUENTIN ALLEN

Prior to the Wayland-Shelbyville game last Wednesday, this remark was heard around Lexington, "Gad, I'd hate to be Coleman tonight. The pressure—whooie!"

The pressure on Coleman was tremendous. There was pressure coming from every corner. It came from the 13,000 fans who crowded into the packed Memorial Coliseum for the first sell-out opening game in the history of the state tournament. And here was, a 17-year-old kid who had attracted it by his exceptional play during the season.

Maybe the press in Lexington started the little smears which slowly and insidiously promoted Coleman's unpopularity in the stands. A visiting ball player was outshining a local boy and the first evening, a local sportswriter, Bob Adair, proclaimed Billy Ray Lickert—of Lafayette high, Lexington, naturally—as the boy of the tournament and not Coleman who had attracted a house full of people who had chased all over Lexington, begging tickets.

Coleman was a shotgun, it was said, a boy who didn't pass, wasn't versatile, and wasn't ready for college ball. Lickert, I agree with Adair, is an outstanding ballplayer, but does that give him the right to start the type of derision that lasted toward Coleman the entire tournament? It looked as though the staff had agreed on something. The caustic and caustic remarks were scattered throughout their writings.

Ten thousand sat waiting expectantly for Coleman to come out that night, flashing brilliantly the class of a Hagan, the reckless driving ability of a Ramsey. Kelly is anything but flashy. The only thing flashy about Kelly, his friend and admirers know, is his uncanon ability to put the ball through the hoop, off the wrong foot, a great deal of the time. After eight or nine successful attempts at the foul line, Coleman missed a shot. The fans booed. Coleman looked genuinely shocked. They never stopped their boos after he missed a shot.

Now, why, you might ask yourself, why did Coleman rate the ire of the fans? Did the fans assume that Coleman is a conceited performer? They read hungrily the local papers with the exception of Ed Ashford and Billy Thompson, who had many nice things to say about him, the sports-writers were gunning for him. His picture was shown 29 times and his name was mentioned 144 times—did that attention eventually lead the fans to discriminate against him? It might be added that it wasn't Coleman's choosing to get the column yards of publicity, but that of sportswriters who had families to feed. So they had to say something, and it's always easier to take a leading figure, such as Coleman, and tear him down instead of honoring him.

For his first night's performance in which he set a new state tournament scoring record, Coleman was not even extended the courtesy of applause by the audience. When Laville Puckett, the former owner of the record, broke the previous record, there was a hearty recognition of his performance from the crowd. The newspapers commented that Coleman did break a record but he also shot a lot, played lousy defense, was out of shape and hurt Wayland seriously at times. Coleman, Wayland's best rebounder, ball-handler, shot and leader, is not a man to risk fouling out, as most tyros of the game could point out. Yet the sportswriters continued their attack on Coleman jabbing at any weakness available. He had tonsillitis and a cold they said he was out of shape. A radio announcer, J.B. Faulkner, disparaged Kelly's ability; Bernie Shively, U. K. athletic director, wasn't complimentary but after Coleman came through with a great performance, apologized and Wah-

Wah Jones commented about Kelly's attitude being bad, words that he, too, took back in humiliation, labeling them "misinterpreted."

The press has always taken great pride in its objectivity, a non-partisan view of news events, whether it be news of world interest or a basketball game. Announcers, in their play-by-play of a game endeavor to maintain neutrality. Why did they sneek those high principles of honest reporting to hurt Kelly Coleman?

Why would ten thousand people or so in that number want to focus their irritation on the Wayland team and Coleman? Coleman was the butt of hoots and razzing every time he missed, not from the other teams, but from a packed house. It was forgotten that the boy was human, subject to tension and sickness. And he was sick, with tonsillitis and a cold. He didn't complain of his throat, though. He said he wasn't used to the big open spaces of the gym and wasn't in shape for the Coliseum, but he wasn't ailing. Of course, no one saw him drinking cough syrup at the Earlington game. Kelly Coleman wasn't allowed weakness.

As the horn sounded the end of the Carr Creek victory over Wayland, Coleman doubled up in anguish. The fans sat as if transfixed. I think the guilt of their behavior caught up with them, just then. Coleman stumbled to the bench. Billy Thompson wrote: "If the fans who had booed Wayland's Kelly Coleman could have been with me in the Wayland dressing room after the game, they would have taken back their booing. Coleman couldn't be consoled. Yes, the crowd finally got on Coleman's side that night, but the press was still poised for parting barbs. Shively, Faulkner, Jones, at that time, had said nothing about taking anything back. Coleman made 68 points before an amazed, embarrassed crowd. They stood and applauded. I was among those who applauded Hagan, Ramsey and Co. on their final game, but Kelly's thundering ovation outlasted theirs. Kelly didn't show up for the finals. "The next time they see me," Kelly said, "they'll have to go to Morgantown."

DESPAIR SHOT BY MAGGARD

In Last Six Seconds Of Carr Creek-Wayland Game Wins Semi-Finals

But for one despairing fling by Freddy Maggard, the Carr Creek player who in the same fashion sank Central City, "Copper-John" Campbell's Wasps in all probability would be the 1956 Kentucky high school champions.

Maggard fired his shot in the last six seconds of last Saturday's semi-final game between the two Mountain fives—took his shot from 30 feet out when Wayland was one point ahead—and he connected. That ended the Floyd countians' title hopes. There was no time for another play.

Carr Creek went on that night to defeat Henderson and win the title. Wayland's Coleman was the outstanding player in the tournament, and he and his team set several all-time scoring records.

Wayland line-up follows:

and procured a stay of the FCC order until the court made a decision.

The decision by Mr. Bond is, to put it mildly, highly popular in the state of Washington; the contrary ruling of the FCC is highly unpopular, and that's putting it mildly again.

Says the Television Digest: "Few observers think FCC won't win ultimately. Nevertheless, even fewer think Commission would dare knock operators off air until it provides substitute service, such as the uhf translators it has proposed."

"Emotions have risen to feverish pitch in Northwest. Where those descendants of pioneers say they'll be — if they'll let a lot of Washington bureaucrats cut off their TV service. There have been mass meetings, bonfires, impassioned speeches and newspaper editorials, letters to Congressmen. Even Sen. Magnuson, defender of boosters, who has kept FCC from getting too tough, is blamed by some bitter citizens for having 'sold out to the Whitney interests.' (John Hay Whitney investment firm holds interests in several Washington community systems, which has been welcomed warmly before boosters came along — as indicated by the fact that thousands subscribe to community service there.)"

In Clark county, the homemakers found that the excellent quality of many old picture frames made re-finishing worth while and satisfying.

Imagine four goofs put-putting eight miles up Cumberland Lake to fish under glowering skies, and 15 minutes after they got there chatter-chattering back, soaked to their respective skins—all because they didn't have gumption enough to prepare for March weather!

The trouble with me, I suppose, is, the fisherman hasn't got as much sense as the fish.

Farmer, First Custodian
Of Most Water in Use
In Kentucky, Is Claim

This is article No. two in a series on water conservation, issued by the Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the Kentucky Soil and Water Commission.

The water for use on your farm, in your home, in your business, and in your manufacturing plant all comes from the same source—the land.

That's true whether this water reaches you through a pipe, or comes from a small pond, a small stream, a big river, a large reservoir, a dug well, or a drilled well. We begin to measure our available water when it falls on the land as rain or snow.

The farmer is first custodian of most of the water used in Kentucky. He may be a farmer in one of the adjoining states, as many of Kentucky's streams have their beginning in another state.

What determines the quality and amount of water available to you?

It depends largely on what happens between the time the water falls on farms as rain or snow and the time it reaches you.

Some of the water returns to the air through evaporation, to be the source of more rain and snow in the future. Some runs from the land to be collected in streams and rivers. Some soaks into the soil where it is available to growing plants. This soil water is also the source of wells and streams and is the most stable source of stream flow.

Farmers who use and treat their land wisely are helping solve the water problems of Kentucky, whether agricultural, municipal, or industrial.

"Conservation farming" reduces the amount of silt that has to be filtered from water before it can be used by cities and industry. It reduces the amount of silt, sand, and gravel that chokes stream channels to increase flooding, or fills reservoirs and lakes to reduce the water storage capacity.

Conservation farming also benefits downstream users in other ways.

Good land use and treatment, which is conservation farming, causes more of the water to enter the greatest storage reservoir of all—the ground. This soaking-in increases crop yield, replenishes ground water, stabilizes stream flow, and helps to reduce flood damage. It also slows down the run-off water and thereby helps to prevent floods.

So water conservation for a growing population, as well as greater production of food, clothing, and shelter, becomes another goal of Kentucky's 122 farmer-organized and farmer-operated soil conservation districts.

Unexpected Explosion
Shoots Flame 125 Feet
As Forge Ignites Gas

Pikeville, Ky., March 20 — Gas shot unexpectedly from a well being drilled near Road Fork, near the West Virginia border yesterday and burst into flames that roared 125 feet in the air.

Homer Six, of Lovely, and Hershel Young, of Varney, escaped injury, but the blaze destroyed the derrick, toolhouse, and equipment with loss estimated by Wayne Lowe, of Inez, the drilling contractor, at $5,000.

Lowe said Young and Six had just finished dressing a bit and were starting to lower it when the well came in from the Berea grit at 2,645 feet. The gas caught fire from the forge used to sharpen the bit.

Lowe was drilling for the Columbia Gas Company. He estimated the flow at 5,000,000 cubic feet a day.

The fire was extinguished several hours later.

A letter from Lieut. James M. Thornsberry to his wife at Pikeville reveals the wide-spread urge for peace that prevailed with the Union soldiers stationed in the Big Sandy during the Civil War. Lieut. Thornsberry, the subject of a feature story in The Times a few months ago, wrote a ballad about his woes as a Confederate prisoner down Georgia way.

Lieut. Thornsberry and Pvt. Jas. H. Stump, both of the 14th Kentucky Infantry, were stationed for months near Louisa. Both wrote Mrs. Thornsberry on the same sheet of paper.

The letters are quoted here, without corrections.

Statement of Mrs. Artie Moore

(In Re Floyd County Times article in Feb. 16th issue):
Regarding the above article which quotes from the complaint filed by Clive Akers, Eugene Akers, Bailey Coal Co., and the Moore Branch Coal Co., defendants Artie Moore and Harry Moore say the statements are untrue that they blocked any public road, leading to these mines. There has never been a public road leading to the mines of these parties. Defendants claim and will prove that plaintiff asked no permission to use the land of Artie Moore for carrying coal over it. And no mineral rights gave them such authority, because of a reservation in a deed from John Moore, their ancestor, to Northern Coal & Coke Company, which exclusion may be found in deed book 9 page 337, Floyd County Clerk's office. Mrs. Moore claims she was within her rights in stopping the use of her land for a road, without a contract with these mining companies and individuals, which they did not seek to obtain before using same. There was never any public road on said land, so claims Mrs. Moore, and she says she will be able to prove it.

County Topographic Maps Available Now, 'tis Said Many Features Depicted

Topographic map coverage of Floyd county has been completed and maps are now available through the Agricultural and Industrial Development board offices, rankfort, it was announced this week by Phil M. Miles, chief of the Board's Maps and Minerals Division.

The mapping was completed by the United States Geological Survey in cooperation with the Development Board offices. The maps retail for 20 cents a sheet, plus 30 cents to cover postage, and 14 sheets are required for the county.

Made from aerial photographs, the new maps are large scale general purpose maps, being one inch for each 2,000 feet. Each sheet, representing an area approximately seven by eight miles, is shown on a sheet 22 inches by 27 inches.

Principal features shown are streams, roads, houses, woods, hills and valleys. This provides basic topographic information which is necessary for special purpose maps. The information shown is of material benefit along many lines including proper location and construction of highways, large buildings, power lines, flood control, navigation structures, gas transmission lines, water reservoirs, railroads, airports, radio and television tower and engineering data.

Fuel for diesel engines is injected into the cylinders through holes as small as 1/5000th of an inch.

Pikeville, Ky., March 22—Mrs. Cora Tabb Cook of Floyd County high school is one of the 12 high-school speech coaches who have been asked to "double in brass" as chairman of various sessions of the Pikeville Regional Speech Festival Friday and Saturday.

Record enrollments and new third year classes at Pikeville College, which sponsors the annual speech meet, make it impossible for Pikeville faculty members to serve as chairmen of all groups as in the past, Dr. A. A. Page, college president and festival manager, said today. Two Pikeville instructors will be available to preside over some of the sessions, which will go in simultaneously in five rooms of the new educational building of the First Methodist Church of Pikeville.

Except in debate and discussion events, the teachers are to note attendance and make necessary announcements throughout the meet. Dr. Faige said. Judges for the festival, who act as chairman of the discussion and debate sessions, will be Dr. R. D. Johnson and three associates, all from the University of Kentucky.

The other teachers scheduled to serve as chairmen are Mrs. Ruby B. Allen, Napier high school; James Branham, Heller high; Miss Beatrice V. Coley, Belfry; Mrs. Fred W. Cox, Virgie; Mrs. Charles Davis, Benham; Mrs. Miriam P. Dobyns, Hazard;

Southern Coal Operator Charges
High Freight Rates are Burden

Chicago, Ill., March 22 (Sp.)—A. W. Vogtle, vice-president in charge of sales and traffic, DeBardleben Coal Corp., Birmingham, Ala., said today that the seven general freight rate increases since World War II have imposed a cost burden on railroad shippers "of such enormity as to be a drag on all commerce."

In a speech prepared for the 18th annual American Power Conference, Mr. Vogtle said that "an intolerable excess of freight cost of $1 billion per year is being imposed on the carload freight shippers of our country because of wasteful and un-sound practices of our American railroads."

"These preventable rail losses would be unthinkable in any other business and the unconcern of the railroad executives over the years about this situation in the enigma of present day business," Mr. Vogtle said. He itemized the losses as $700 million in passenger service, $100 million in merchandise freight service, $200 million lesser charges on Government freight.

"The regulatory agencies (Interstate Commerce Commission and state commissions) permit the railroads to apply a cost plus system, disregarding waste and inefficiency to bring income up to outgo by increasing carload freight rates to absorb the deficits," Mr. Vogtle said.

In his address, Mr. Vogtle pointed out that in the case of the passenger deficit, the passenger service has been operated at a growing loss since 1930, other than the 1942-45 war years; that passenger service has not been reduced in any appreciable relation to the 50 per cent reduction in passenger traffic in the past 10 years; that the passenger fares has declined 20 per cent in the past 20 years while the passenger expense has doubled.

"The railroads are not making any effectual attempt to correct this situation, although 25 years should be sufficient time for a businesslike management to put an end to such a terrific drain," Mr. Vogtle said. "The stark truth is that these un-wise railroad practices reflect the undying hope that the newer forms of transportation can be legislated out of business. This is a barren hope."

"The fresh evidence of this hope is the railroad support of a cabinet committee report, which, if translated into law, will give the railroads great flexibility in quick rate changes with very much modified restraint from the Interstate Commerce Commission. The railroads completely ignore another cabinet committee report which recommends substantial reduction in the rail freight rates on coal.

"The other forms of transport and many shippers are resisting this railroad supported program of legislation because the result would be still lower rates on competitive traffic, to destroy the transportation competitors; and still higher rates on non-competitive traffic, particularly coal, coke, and other heavy commodities, to pay for the fight.

"The worst feature of the senseless fight of railroads with other forms of transportation and the enormous waste it incurs is the underlying conception of railroads and regulatory authorities that carload freight shippers should carry the cost of the conflict by payment of rates that are exorbitant, inequitable and wholly unfair.

"This reckless course of the railroads is so contrary to sound business practices that stockholders should be deeply concerned about these management policies and the Interstate Commerce Commission should be aroused to its duty to the carload freight patrons of the railroads.

"The answer lies not in impeding the use of the newer forms of transportation through punitive or restrictive legislation or in otherwise arresting transportation progress. Nor should the railroads be encouraged to continue to place the blame elsewhere for the difficulties they themselves have created and which only they can cure.

"The cure is one of adjustment. The ideal is for each mode of transportation to fit sensibly into its own economic sphere according to the choice of patrons. This will assure lowest cost transportation for freight shippers and profitable operations for the carriers."

Mr. Vogtle said coal and railroad are parallel industries and that their salvation "would appear to depend on cooperation based on a realistic and practical view of mutual problems." Instead, he said, every cost and price reduction by the coal industry is nullified by repeated freight rate increases by the railroads.

He said rail freight rates on coal have been increased an average of 88 cents per ton in the postwar period at a time when the coal industry absorbed its entire increase in labor costs of 78 cents per ton.

"It is utterly beyond its (the coal industry's) capability to absorb the increased rail freight charge of 88 cents per ton," Mr. Vogtle said.

He predicted that coal consumers will avail themselves of less expensive competitive means of transportation, such as by barge or truck. Utilities which are building new stations in the coal fields will transport electrical energy by wire.

"The flight from the railroads" also means a loss of coal to the railroads, likewise a loss to the mines in coal fields dependent exclusively on rail transportation, he said.

Check Dodge before you buy, and get more truck per dollar!

Choose any yardstick of comparison you can name—you'll find no other truck measures up to today's bigger, more powerful DODGE.

Prove it yourself. Give the new truck you may be thinking of buying a good, thorough going over. Dig into its payload rating, horsepower-to-weight ratio, cab size, performance, and price. Get the facts, right from the engineers' specification book. Then take time to...

Check Dodge. Match every one of these points against what you get in a DODGE truck, and see how much more Dodge gives you for each dollar you invest.

You owe it to yourself to get the best buy for your money, so be sure to get your Dodge dealer's deal before you decide—before you make the unfortunate mistake of paying more for your next truck and getting less.

Easier on driver—especially with automatic transmission. You get the largest cab for greater comfort, largest wrap-around windshield for greater safety.

Easier to turn. Dodge has industry's shortest turning radius—requires much less effort to park, make U-turns, maneuver through heavy downtown traffic.

Easier to load. Low body-floor means just an easy lift from ground to truck, saves you work every time you load, every time you unload.

Easier on gas. Dodge higher horsepower-to-weight ratio means less pulling effort required of engine, assures greater efficiency, maximum gas economy.

MINING GROUP SLATES TALKS

Outstanding Rail, Power, Coal Leaders To Discuss Topics of Major Interest

Topics of major importance to the coal industry are slated for discussion by coal officials and other industry leaders at the 1956 Coal Convention of the American Mining Congress, which will be held in the Netherland Plaza Hotel, Cincinnati, May 7-9.

Great interest will center around the addresses of three outstanding executives of the rail, power and coal industries on the opening day of the meeting, May 7. They are: R. E. Salvati, president, Island Creek Coal Co., Huntington, West Virginia, who will discuss coal's future from the standpoint of an experienced executive and mine operator; W. W. Patchell, vice-president of research and development, Pennsylvania Railroad Co., Philadelphia, who will give coal mining men his views on the relationship of the railroads and the coal industry; and Philip Sporn, president, American Gas & Electric Service Corp., New York, who will speak on "Sources of Energy for Electric Generation in the next Two Decades."

The 2,000 coal mining men who will attend this annual industry forum will devote serious consideration to the latest developments in mine modernization, production methods, safety practices, and economic problems of the industry, both present and future. Many new and improved types of equipment used in the loading, hauling and preparation of coal at both underground and strip coal mines will be described. Means of cutting costs through the more efficient use of traditional mining equipment will also be discussed by experienced coal operators and manufacturers' representatives. The industry will discuss advances being made in mine safety; roof support; equipment maintenance; the application of continuous machines and conventional mechanical loaders to underground mining; haulage and power; new developments in coal preparation, and the use of industrial engineering and cost controls at coal mining properties.

The Convention will divert its attention from its day-to-day problems to hear Red Smith, famed sports at a special luncheon session on May 8. In addition, entertainment functions have been scheduled for each night of the meeting and special plans have been made for the ladies during the time business sessions are under way.

Croupiers Buy Chess Set For Grace and the Prince.

Monte Carlo, Monaco — The 200 croupiers at the Monte Carlo Casino have settled on what they think is a suitable wedding gift for Prince Ranier III and Grace Kelly.

They have bought a game for the royal couple to play on quiet nights around the palace.

It is an antique chess set purchased at a famous antique shop here.

It is reported to be worthy of museum display if the Prince and Princess don't care about chess.

In a tobacco production contest, one Ballard county farmer grew $1,422 worth on an acre and four others had leaf worth $1,200 to $1,300 an acre.

How Does Your Town Rate?

By Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce

If Our Town is an average town it needs more industry and sincerely wants to get it, and now and then makes a try. But unless Our Town is a good measure above average in that elusive quality, the willingness and readiness to work, for of all the areas of interest Our Town may have, industrial development is one where wishing just won't make it so. Neither will just any old kind of work.

It takes hard-work that includes careful study and sound planning, work that calls for patience and perseverance beyond the ordinary breaking point of discouragement—and it takes a hearty spirit of everybody working together. Of course it takes some money, not money to "buy" industry—but a reasonable, sometimes substantial, fund for working expenses.

Keen is too mild for the competition here. Every manufacturer seeking a place to relocate or expand has scores of places to choose from, and an amazing number of these places are on his doorstep helping him to make his choice, genuinely helping—nowhere in business or in human enterprise is competition sharper than in the field of industrial development in America today. The rewards of going after industry, when success does come, are great. Industry pays taxes and industry pays people, and most towns need both.

One of the sterner facts of life is that no town stands still. It goes forward or it goes backward. Which way it goes depends more than most people think, upon community leadership of the town, upon whether it is intelligent, farseeing and hard-working. If the town is an industrial town or needs industrial payroll to round out its economy, the community leadership should be all of these—and the populace should be in tune. No town can stand on yesterday's payroll, or today's.

Again—the trouble is that so many towns are given to wishing, not working. No community group concerned with industrial development need sit around and wonder what the things are it can do—there's plenty of help available. The utilities and railroads have excellent industrial development departments to assist the areas they serve.

The Prestonsburg Jaycees are listing 40 questions, of which we as a group have answered with 20 NO, 20 YES. We invite each of you to answer the same questions and compare your answers with ours. If you arrive with as many "No" answers as we did, let's begin to work harder for Our Town.

Three Fatalities In State's Mines During February

Frankfort, March 19 (Spl.) — Kentucky's Department of Mines and Minerals today reported three fatalities occurred in coal mines last month—one each in the Kentucky River, Cumberland Valley and Big Sandy-Tug River fields as compared with thirteen for January.

"While maintaining a record high production level in February, you also accomplished the task of reducing the number of fatal accidents from 13 to three over the previous month, James H. Phalan, chief of the Department of Mines and Minerals, said in a message to all mine officials and employees. "This is a wonderful accomplishment, for which every one in the coal industry is due credit."

Pasture Notes
By Donald W. Claypool
Asst. Co. Agri. Ext. Agent

March is the month for farmers to re-establish pastures if they have not already done so. It is of special importance to the farmers of Floyd and neighboring counties who raise sheep, for good pasture is the cheapest feed that can be had. Pasture crops are most palatable during the spring of the year and it is at that time that the pasture demands of sheep are of its highest. In spring succulent pasture growth can be utilized in finishing market lambs. In the summer after the lambs have been sold or weaned, the reduction in pasture growth is actually ideal for maintaining the breeding flock in a good but not too fat a condition. However, this is assuming that the pasture is of very good quality and the number of pastures in Floyd county that would be rated very good are relatively few. How to produce a high quality pasture which will maintain an adequate growth throughout the summer months is the problem a farmer must face now in planning his pasture program.

Below are listed three pasture mixtures which will do well in this area, provided they are properly managed. These mixtures were worked out by the Experiment Station and will be accepted by the Floyd county A.S.C. office to qualify for cost-sharing under the 1956 ASC program. These mixtures are only suggestive and the farmer may use other combinations if he desires. In any case, to qualify under the ASC program it will be necessary to seed at least 18 pounds of mixture per acre using not less than 5 pounds of an approved perennial grass seed and at least 5 pounds of an approved legume.

Orchard grass—10 pounds per acre.

Ky. Bluegrass—5 pounds per acre.

Korean Lespedeza—5 pounds per acre.

Ladino Clover—2 pounds per acre.

Orchard grass—10 pounds per acre.

Red Top—3 pounds per acre.

Korean Lespedeza—5 pounds per acre.

Orchard Grass—16 pounds per acre.

Ladino Clover—2 pounds per acre.

In the above mixtures Ky 31 Fescue may be substituted for orchard grass where Orchard grass cannot be grown. Ky. 31 Fescue compares favorably with orchard grass nutritionally when it is kept cut short, but if it is allowed to produce stems and heads it becomes unpalatable, especially for sheep. Fescue is not recommended in any mixture which will be cut for hay.

After selecting the pasture mixture, our second consideration is how much fertilizer is necessary to produce excellent growth. Most farmers in Floyd county have a limited amount of manure, which is usually reserved for their garden or corn. So, let's assume that our entire source of plant food will come from the soil and what commercial fertilizer we decide to apply. To determine the amount of nutrients available in the soil, a sample of soil should be tested. From the results of the tests we can then determine how much nutrients we must add by way of commercial fertilizer to bring the fertility level to that necessary for a luscious stand of grass.

On the average a good grass stand needs about 40 pounds of nitrogen, 60 pounds of phosphorus, and 60 pounds of potash per year. These nutrients would be furnished by an application of 200 pounds of ammonium nitrate and 200 pounds of 0-30-30 per acre. If the soil is too acid, liming will be necessary. For ground limestone to be effective, it should have been applied last fall.

Our last consideration is that of preparing the seed bed. For the farmers of Floyd and our neighboring mountain counties, it is recommended that he apply his fertilizer at the same time he sows his seed and then go over the field with a tooth harrow or lightly with a disk. If the pasture is on level land and not vulnerable to erosion it is recommended that the previous vegetation be destroyed by plowing or severe disking.

Regular Session Passed 16 Laws Good for Farmers

Frankfort, Ky., March 19 (Spl.) — Passage of 16 new laws termed "highly favorable to farmers" by Commissioner of Agriculture Ben Butler, was accomplished in the regular session of the legislature.

Reviewing the new laws, Butler said 14 of the bills directly affect every farmer in the state. Of prime importance, Butler said, was the bill amending the Dog Law and authorizing payment no sheep losses from dogs occurring after June 30, 1954 instead of June 30, 1955. Butler said the amendment will result in payment of approximately $60,000 to Kentucky farmers.

"Vital to farmers was passage of the law simplifying procedure for refund of taxes paid on gasoline used in the production of farm commodities," Butler said.

Among major aims of the Department of Agriculture were bills giving the Department authority over marketing of agricultural products. One established an Egg Marketing Board in the Department and required that all egg dealers be licensed and that all eggs be candled and graded with the grade displayed on packaging. "This is the only way Kentucky egg producers can stay in business, for without the law, neighboring states can unload their eggs on us and ruin our prices," Butler said.

Another law prohibits packaging which misleads the buyer as to quantity. It also requires that all commodities be sold by weight, measure or numerical count.

Other laws favorable to farmers include regulations on marketing of untested grass seeds; appropriation of $6,000 annually to subsidize showing of Poled Herefords; requiring all hand trucks or other equipment used by warehouses in weighing tobacco to be of uniform weight; deleting provisions of KRS 247 that allowed inspection of county farm bureau records by county fiscal courts; providing for transfer of strawberry marketing and inspection rules from the University of Kentucky Experiment Station to the Agriculture Department and establishing of a mosquito control program by the Department if deemed necessary by the Commissioner.

New Members Are Named To Agriculture Board; Walters is Reappointed

Frankfort, March 19 (Spl.) — A new State Board of Agriculture has been named by Gov. A. B. Chandler to replace the former board. Six new appointments were included in the group and one reappointment.

Mack Walters, Democrat, Shelbyville tobacco farmer and warehouseman, was renamed to the Board from the Third Appellate district.

Others named were: Hugh Leavell, Democrat, Hopkinsville, First District, farmer; Frank T. Street, Democrat, Henderson, Second District, orchardist; William Frey, Republican, Louisville, Fourth District, a truck farmer; John Bertram, Republican, Vanceburg, fifth district, a farmer; Luther K. Rice, Democrat, Paris, Sixth District, livestock farmer, and Frank Wheeler, Republican, Harlan, Seventh District, dairyman.

The law requires a bi-partisan division on the Board. Two other persons, the Commissioner of Agriculture, and director of the University of Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, are ex-officio members of the Board.

Auto Industry Uses More Stainless Steel

Gary Ind. — The nation's automotive industry used more stainless steel than ever before in 1955, some 140,000 tons, accounting for more than 20 per cent of the nation's total stainless-steel shipments. About 98 per cent of the total automotive consumption was in sheet and strip, used extensively for sheet and trim on passenger automobiles.

"SIGNS OF SPRING"

The return of the birds, the lengthening of the days, and the new flowers and buds are no more signs of spring than are children's activities. At Fidelity we did not have many tops or kites, with the exception of a few home-made ones; our spring signs were of another kind.

When the fish began to run up Beechy Fork, we went fishing, with cane poles when they were handy, but with long, slender, not-too-straight limbs that we had cut with our own knives from the trees along the creek. I have caught a good mess of fish with a heavy sycamore limb for a pole. In fact, I do not recall having done much fishing with cane poles; it seems to me that they were for grown-ups. Before I was big enough to cut my own pole, Father would cut one for me, having previously baited his pole and set it to catch the big one myself, so I could boast about it ever afterward.

Not long after the first fishing weather, sap begins to rise in the hickories. That means that the bark will not be easy to slip off when young inventors get ready to try their skill. The first thing to be made, ordinarily, was a whistle. To make a good one requires some skill; we used to laugh at the poor little fellows who were too clumsy with their knives even to make a whistle. After this invention is properly attended to, any average boy wants a hickory-bark whip, which is really a work of art when properly made. Until it gets dry and stiff, it quite properly resembles the blacksnake whip used by grown-ups and confers a certain distinction on its owner and maker.

Just around the corner from hickory-bark whips and whistles is another hickory product, just as typical as they. That is the leaf hat, but the hickory has to share this honor with the papaw. But hickory leaves are better in the long run, for they are tougher and, therefore, call be worked into more shapes with the right number of pins made from dead weeds. But leaf hats, after all, are pretty girlish, though I must confess to having made several in my Fidelity days.

Spring brings playhouse time though fall is good for that, too. I refer to playhouses made out in the woods, where moss grows green and where all sorts of things can be found to decorate houses with. Spring moss is green, though, and lends itself to being transplanted to where we want to build our houses. The ground is damp then and soon helps the transplanted moss to feel adapted to its new home, and the moss goes on growing as if nothing had ever happened. In fact, some of the playhouses I used to know grew on for years after the makers had become grown and no longer conversant with playhouse-building.

All the times of spring are little things as compared with the day when winter shoes and stockings are discarded. Last fall, when we had to wear shoes, our feet were so tough that we felt that we could spend the winter barefooted and suffer no injury. But several months of wearing home-knit yarn stockings softens up the toughest feet. Hence when we pull off our winter apparel and try being natural again, we own a pair of the tenderest feet that ever were. Acorn hulls that would not have been noticed the fall before seem like big, rough rocks; and gravel can take on more elements of torture than anything I have ever known except a stubble-field. But by degrees even tender feet can become accustomed to a harsh world again and get by just about everything except broken glass and rusty nails. Spring is here then, here to stay until the frosts of fall, long prophesied by katydid, come again and compel us to shut up our aching feet in hard leather shoes for the winter.

Study Group Declares Inequitable Taxation Not Peculiar to State

Frankfort, March 19 (Spl.) — Property assessments in Kentucky are characterized by inequitable and fractional valuations, but the situation is not peculiar to this State. This conclusion has been reached by the Legislative Research Commission in a study of the property tax as a source of governmental revenue.

The study showed Kentucky ranking tenth among the states in dollars of property taxes collected for state purposes, and in the percent of total state property taxes received by all the states.

It was reported however, that the property tax program, inaugurated in 1949, has contributed to improvement of the situation. Improvements as shown both within the counties and among counties. A total assessment of $13,900,000,000 is distributed upon this basis:

Realty, 51 per cent; tangibles, 27 percent, and intangibles, 22 percent.

The report said several classes of tangibles are excluded from the county property tax base, agricultural and manufacturing machinery, livestock and poultry, farm products in hands of the producer and raw materials and products in course of manufacture. It added, "there is little justification for this favored treatment."

Return of these tangibles to the local property tax base would increase the base by $375,000,000, while machinery alone will add $291,000,000 principally in the larger counties. The report also recommended that assessments might be improved through these steps:

1. Expansion of the reappraisal program to achieve uniformity within counties.
2. Adequate salaries for county-tax commissioners.
3. Appointive assessors with security of job tenure.
4. State assessment of mining properties, and possibly larger industrial establishments.

Letter Praises Chandler's Stand On Education

Frankfort, March 19 (Spl.) — Governor A. B. Chandler's support of education in the recent regular session of the General Assembly was highly praised today in a letter to the Governor from Superintendent of Public Instruction Dr. Robert R. Martin.

Martin wrote the Governor, "I have reviewed very carefully the laws which were enacted by the regular session of the 1956 General Assembly and I want to congratulate you and the members of the Legislature for the fair and consistent support which you gave to education . . ."

"I am convinced that more good school legislation was enacted by the 1956 General Assembly than has been passed by any General Assembly since the school code was developed in 1934."

Martin listed as educational highlights of the session:

1. The amended Foundation Program Law is a vastly improved measure over the one adopted two years ago.
2. The proposed constitutional amendment will make possible development of a professional Department of Education to direct the school affairs of this state.
3. The annual Governor's Conference on Education puts Kentucky in the forefront of states which are periodically studying educational problems.
4. The amended annexation law will protect interests of the various school districts and will allay numerous disputes.
5. The removal of maximum limits on salaries of the presidents of the University and the State colleges, as well as local school superintendents, will provide better educational leadership throughout the Commonwealth.

"Education is definitely on the march. We are getting our house in order to make tremendous strides to which you and I have dedicated ourselves," Martin wrote.

2,000,000 Are 'Unaware' They Have Syphilis

Washington — Almost 2,000,000 persons in the United States have syphilis and don't realize it, a United States Public Health Service doctor said yesterday.

The estimate was given to the Senate Appropriations Committee by Dr. C. A. Smith, chief of the service's venereal-disease program who declared:

"More than 1,900,000 syphilitics, deceived by apparent good health, still await the diagnosis and treatment needed to prevent disability and death."
