Teachers Express Appreciation

Dear Parent:
As we look back on our school year of the 1955 and 1956 term, we like to feel that it has been most satisfying and rewarding to all concerned with our educational program here at The Allen Elementary School. We want to take this means of explaining our feeling this way, and to place the credit where it rightly belongs.

Your attendance at the Parent-Teacher Association meetings, in itself, has been a strong factor of inspiration to all of us. Your efforts in making possible the securing of finances through such projects as: the Halowe'n Carnival, the Tom Thumb Wedding, and the Turkey Supper were indispensable and greatly appreciated. We assure you that through your efforts and influence, The Foundation Program of Education is now a reality in the state of Kentucky. We assure you that your efforts have not been in vain. In meeting requirements set up by the State Department of Education, and in meeting the requirements which you have expressed by means of The Foundation Program; the Allen Elementary School will have two additional rooms, two more teachers, and provisions for a teacher of music for the coming school term of the 1956-57 season.

Through your efforts it has been possible to place tile on the floors of the two first grade rooms, to move our playground equipment to a more suitable location, to purchase a new refrigerator for our lunchroom, and to provide an adequate testing program for each and every pupil enrolled in this school.

You have made it possible to practice the rules of good health by encouraging your children to eat the balanced meals served in our lunch room, and to purchase the fruit and milk served during the recess periods; instead of letting them purchase candy and pop, which we feel is not in the keeping with a sound health program.

Pre-School Clinic Set At Maytown High School; Panel Talks Are Planned

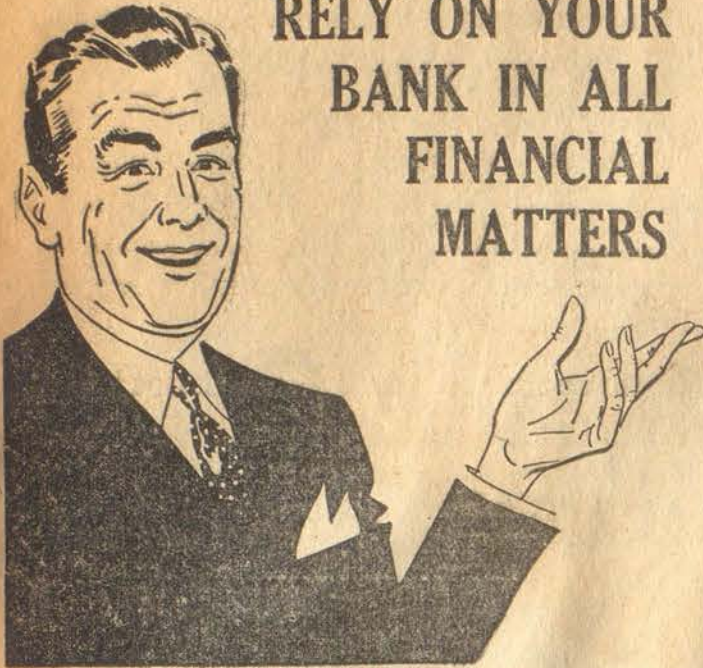

Floyd county parents whose children will be entering school for the first time next summer and fall will be given at the county pre-school clinic at Maytown high school Saturday, May 26, an opportunity to learn how to make their children's introduction to school life more pleasant and satisfying.

The clinic, which all parents of children who will be entering school this year for the first time are urged to attend, will begin at 10 a.m., and last approximately two hours. It will consist largely of a panel discussion on "First Grade Readiness and How the Parent Can Help".

Scheduled to take part in the program are Miss Blanche Dingus, Health co-ordinator of Floyd county schools, Miss Elsie Stephens and Mrs. Frankie S. Best, first grade teachers at Prestonsburg, and Charles Clark, principal of Garrett high school. Dr. Helen Reed, of the University of Kentucky, also is expected to help with the clinic.

Binghamton, N. Y., led the Eastern League baseball teams in attendance during 1955 with 89,529 home fans. It was an increase of 40,308 over 1954.

Greenup Starts School Consolidation

Greenup is a fortunate county. Its good fortune on the one hand derives from the fortuitous circumstances of location on the Ohio river, a great and developed waterway, with industries in or near the county and with a huge rail center located within its limits. It is one of the few counties in the state that has shown a population gain rather than loss since 1940.

Otherwise, Greenup's good fortune is no matter of luck or chance. We refer to its splendid progress in the field of education which we wish for every other county of the state. Gerald Griffin told in The Courier-Journal this week the Greenup Story:

Nine big, new school buildings located at central points in the county, replacing 52 one-room schools, 11 two-room schools and three of three rooms each; buildings of brick and concrete block with all modern facilities to supplant crude, ill-lighted structures where the old outdoor toilet yet stood on the schoolgrounds as forbidding outposts against the march of progress. Each of the new buildings, six of which are now complete, has nine classrooms in addition to a principal's office, teachers' lounge, storage and boiler rooms. Each is fire-resistant; each will soon have its own cafeteria.

The big Greenup county job is costing the county something more than $900,000.

It was no happen-chance that Greenup county got this splendid project under way. The people of the county voted a special 50-cent school levy to get it done. Large companies, including the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company, will pay a big portion of that $900,000.

Unfortunately, many counties are not in Greenup's position. Their property-owners are not so prosperous, some are already overburdened by taxes with little prospect of either the tax situation or their own personal fortunes improving. And then there are some whose citizens are not thinking with any great degree of earnestness about investing in the future of children—at least, not to the extent of paying more taxes to make such an investment.

A sum such as Greenup county is spending would be only the proverbial drop in the bucket for Floyd county; it isn't all that Greenup county needs, but it is a start—a good start.

Floyd county's present building needs, a survey has shown, would require the expenditure of about ten million dollars and that, we are told, is a figure the county will be 50 years realizing and spending. Floyd county has 72 one-room schools which, if accessible to school bus, should be eliminated. This is the situation here, even with the Minimum Foundation funds.

It becomes apparent that the hope for school-building in most counties rests either on local effort—a poor prop to lean upon in most cases—or on federal help. And federal funds are, and may be for a long while, held in abeyance as the Congress is pestered with the questions of non-segregation and the rights of parochial schools to share in the windfall of funds. The present education bill in Congress is hampered, as was Congressman Perkins' at previous sessions, by these and other factors that pin to earth the hopes of many hundreds of thousands of underprivileged schoolchildren.

Yet, even though the hopes of Floyd county for a widescale attack on the problem aren't bright, we should think on such matters, should consider the Greenup Story and the initiative shown there by school officials and citizens in their own splendid version of Operation Bootstrap.

We can't go all the way at one time, but we can start and work toward the big goal, taking one step at a time.

TV DOESN'T HELP

Verily, you learn by doing—if you learn at all. Of course, you may be one of those dummoxes, even as I, who will never learn. For instance, I've done a lot of fishing but I still don't know how, it appears. But I'm thinking of other examples, just now.

For instance, I have gone to the book for information about how to play golf, read all about how to do it—how to swing the clubhead from the inside out rather than from right field in to third base; how to keep straight an elbow that's crooked to start with, etcetera, etcetera. And I'm still hitting players two fairways north with my drives—when I manage to hit the ball.

Forgetting my experiences with this datted game, I somehow got the idea that youngsters these days, with television and movies showing them how the Mesquite Petes of the Western players go rip-snorting over all kinds of terrain on horseback, should be able to take to horseback riding like a duck to water. But I have learned better. I know now that hooking your spurs over the nearest chair-arm and watching Roy Rogers won't do the trick.

I learned this, the other day, while watching one of these youngsters bounce around on a pony at Dewey Lake. He and the pony threatened to part company, every step of the way. And did he ride that nag into the ground when she decided to go into something more than a brisk jog around the track? He did not. All the tips on riding he had got via TV took flight. His eyes bugged out, he dropped the reins, latched onto the pommel of the saddle with both hands. He didn't even say, "Whoa!" He corrupted that command to stop into a weak "woo-woo" that to us old-timers sounded a lot like the late Joe Penner.

EVENTFUL MONTH

This, the weather notwithstanding, be the merry, merry month of May. And it's just plumb full of Days and Weeks. For instance, this month includes the following special events: Child Health Day, May Day, National Correct Posture Week, American Camp Week, Better Bedding Time, National Rug Cleaning Week, United Cerebral Palsy Month, May Fellowship Day, Humane Sunday, Rural Life Sunday, Be Kind to Animals Week, National Hearing Week, National Hospital Week, National Music Week, National Family Week, National Motel Week, National Raisin Week, Foot Health Week, Let's Go Fishing Week (whoops!), National Frozen Food Week, Luggage and Leather Week, Mother's Day, National Cotton Week, Armed Forces Day, National Maritime Day, National Pickle Week, Memorial Day.

It's also National Tavern Month. And the office cynic adds that will be followed by Father's Daze.

Car Recovered Before Owner Aware of Loss

Alertness of the Prestonsburg police recovered a Packard car belonging to Ex-County Judge Alex Davidson last Saturday night before the owner knew it was gone. Bill Potter, while patrolling "Rat Row", in West Prestonsburg, got suspicious of such a car in the neighborhood and found upon investigation no driver but the motor was still running. Davidson, at home, was unaware his car had been stolen.

MARTIN KIWANIS CLUB HAS HAD BUSY 2 YEARS

Martin, Ky., May 14 (Spl.) — The achievements of a civic club in a small town can be many and varied, it is shown by the activities of the Kiwanis Club of Martin during the first two years of its existence. The club was formed in 1954 through the efforts of Marvin Music, then the Kiwanis district lieutenant governor, and the Beaver Valley and Prestonsburg Kiwanis clubs. Membership includes men from Martin, Allen, Maytown and other nearby communities.

Among those who have received the benefits of the club's work have been youngsters of the Little League baseball team, children of indigent parents, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, the March of Dimes, the town of Martin and even a deceased veteran, for whose grave a headstone was procured through efforts of the club.

The pet project of the Boys' and Girls' Work committee of the club has been the Little League baseball team, which has been sponsored and underwritten to the tune of more than $600 for the past two seasons. Plans have been completed for sponsorship of the team for the coming season. Last fall a local Boy Scout troop was re-activated through efforts of this committee, which is headed by Jack Branham, and Kiwanian Jack Dingus is serving as Scoutmaster. This summer two girls will spend a week at the Girl Scout camp at Dewey Lake through funds supplied by the club. Members have solicited funds for the local Boy Scout finance drives for the past two years, collecting about $1,050.

The Underprivileged Children committee, with Dr. Claude L. Allen as chairman, has been especially active. Condensed milk and medical treatment have been supplied to infants of indigent parents, and six school children are able to see better as the result of eye examinations and glasses furnished by the club through the co-operation of Dr. Walden, Paintsville optometrist. Needy children, after screening by members of the committee, have been given free dental examination and treatment by Dr. Joe T. Hyden, local dentist.

The March of Dimes, has received more than $200, which was raised by basketball games between the local and Prestonsburg clubs during the past two seasons. Last Christmas, a party was given for about 200 children, who were guests at a free movie and received bags of candy and fruit. On the previous Christmas, in co-operation with the various churches of Martin, 53 needy families were recipients of baskets of groceries.

Sponsorship of a Fourth of July celebration in 1954 at Martin netted $682, all of which was applied to indebtedness on the city fire truck, and funds raised by a similar program last year were placed in the club's general operating fund.

So far one proposed project has been unsuccessful—the installation of much-needed walk-ways alongside the twin bridges on Highway 80 at Martin. Although the club's Public and Business Affairs committee has worked on this project for several months and has received promises from both county and state officials, pedestrians are still climbing the rails of the bridges when they are trapped by heavy traffic.

Current active members of the club are Dr. Claude L. Allen, Ray Allen, T. J. Allen, Jack Dingus, Mabry Hayes, Charles Marshall, Earle Martin, E. C. Moore, Belford Reitz, Milton Ryan, John P. Sammons and Demra Taylor, of Martin; Bill Ratliff, Wayne Ratliff, and John Snodgrass, of Allen; John Isom, Arnold Maggard, John May and Jones Tallent, of Maytown; Dan Reed, Drift; Byron Brashear, Mantion; Hollie Conley, Eastern, and Jack Branham, of Betsy Layne.

Barter Theatre Player Picked for 2nd Season Of "Wilderness Road"

Berea, Ky., May 14 (Spl.) — Annette Hunt, of the renowned Barter Theatre of Virginia, has been selected as leading lady in Paul Green's newest outdoor drama, WILDERNESS ROAD, which starts its second season at Berea, June 30. The blonde actress won the coveted role of Elsie Sims in tryouts conducted by Director Samuel Selden and Associate Fred Parrott throughout Kentucky and the Southeastern states. Already a veteran of stage, radio and television, she will perform as the fresh-faced Civil War girl, torn by her love for two brothers—one a Yankee and the other a Confederate.

Miss Hunt will be remembered best for her notable performance as Portia in Barter Theatre's Julius Caesar. She has also appeared in the title role of Medea in the production by Virginia Intermont College, of which she is a graduate. She has played in numerous productions as a high school student in Hampton and later in the Hampton Little Theatre; and at the Langley Air Force Little Theatre, and the Chamberlain Arena Theatre at Old Point Comfort, both in Virginia.

This is the second season for WILDERNESS ROAD, which played to more than 60,000 persons last year. It has been awarded the George Washington Medal of the Freedoms Foundation as the outstanding American play of 1955.

SENATOR ASKS EARLY ACTION

From Works Committee; Clements Seeks Broader Water Resources Policy

Washington, D. C., May 17 (Spl.) — Senator Clements today urged the Senate Public Works committee to schedule early action on legislation he introduced on May 7 which would broaden federal policy on water resources development. The Clements bill would authorize the Corps of Engineers to include in its planning and construction increased storage in upstream reservoirs so as to provide additional storage of water for agricultural irrigation, industrial and municipal water supply, low flow regulation for navigation, pollution control, and increased recreational and wildlife conservation benefits.

Senator Clements stressed the fact that under existing law the Corps of Engineers was not permitted to provide maximum benefits in the construction of upstream flood control reservoirs because any additional storage provided must be paid for locally. Senator Clements said that such a policy was not only causing "a tragic waste in our water resources," but also was an unreasonable restriction because of the many widespread and national benefits that could be derived from increased storage.

"My studies," said Clements, "of the many water problems indicate to me that the future economic capacities and greatness of this country may depend in large respects upon how well we manage our water resources." He emphasized that new industrial processes require an ever increasing amount of pure water, and that our future economic and industrial potential for national defense might be unreasonably limited if we did not take proper steps now to utilize fully our water resources in planning for our basin development projects.

The legislation introduced by Senator Clements on May 7 would make applicable the new water policy to already authorized projects as well as projects to be authorized in the future. Senator Clements said that the legislation would be of great benefit to many Kentucky areas, such as the Green, the Big Sandy and the Kentucky River basins. Senator Clements pointed to the fact that development of the water resources of these streams had scarcely been started, but that early action on the legislation would enable the Corps of Engineers to include in its planning additional storage features.

Around 100 Graduates From Eight-Week Study, Conservation Man Says

Key employees of the Department of Conservation completed an eight week leadership training course last week, Conservation Commissioner Laban P. Jackson has announced.

More than 100 employees in the Divisions of Parks, Forestry and Soil and Water Resources, Flood Control and Commissioner Jackson's office attended the classes which were divided into four schools that convened at Prestonsburg, Kenlake Hotel, Cumberland Falls, and the Capitol Annex office building.

The course, designed by Jackson, included memory drills and speech classes. Jackson said the school was established to "teach our people to better remember names . . . to enable them to use improved human relations in dealing with the public, giving them more confidence in expressing themselves."

"The school is one phase of our efforts to render improved services to the people of the Commonwealth and to sell visitors on advantage of vacationing here," Jackson explained.

Instructor for the schools was Andy York of the Kentucky Leadership Training Institute, Louisville.

Key employees of the Department of Conservation completed an eight week leadership training course last week, Conservation Commissioner Laban P. Jackson has announced.

More than 100 employees in the Divisions of Parks, Forestry and Soil and Water Resources, Flood Control and Commissioner Jackson's office attended the classes which were divided into four schools that convened at Prestonsburg, Kenlake Hotel, Cumberland Falls, and the Capitol Annex office building.

The course, designed by Jackson, included memory drills and speech classes. Jackson said the school was established to "teach our people to better remember names . . . to enable them to use improved human relations in dealing with the public, giving them more confidence in expressing themselves."

"The school is one phase of our efforts to render improved services to the people of the Commonwealth and to sell visitors on advantage of vacationing here," Jackson explained.

Instructor for the schools was Andy York of the Kentucky Leadership Training Institute, Louisville.

WHEELWRIGHT

PARENTS, TEACHERS MEET

The Wheelwright Parent-Teacher Association met May 10 in the grade school auditorium. Invocation was given by the Rev. Bert Caldwell, after which the parents were welcomed by the president, Ralph Banks in a brief business session asked for a motion and a vote on whether the association might be willing to buy medicine for at least three months for a TB patient who otherwise would not be able to receive such medicine. This patient was an excellent student in the high school here. The motion was made and carried to buy the medicine.

The membership chairman gave a report saying there had been an increase in membership over a period of three years from 62 members to 479. It is hoped that this will be topped next year and that this P.-T.A. will take first place in the district instead of second place as it did this year. The Publicity Book won first place, plus one other award, at the district meeting in Ashland. Wheelwright's P.-T.A. was represented at the meeting by Boone Hall, school principal, and Worley Mace.

Charles Cury introduced second grade pupils who gave a charming play honoring their mothers in a Mother's Day program. The theme of the play, "What Is the Best Gift a Mother Can Receive?" All agreed that to hunt the world over for gifts the most important to mother is to give her love every day of the year.

Ralph Banks, the outgoing president, installed the officers for the coming year. These are: President, Worley Mace; vice-president, Paul Linkous; secretary, Edna Mae Neal; treasurer, Joe Perlano. The roll call showed Mrs. Anderson at the grade school and Mr. Cook at the high school had the most parents present. Cake and icecream were served in the cafeteria after the meeting.

Two Records---Look at Both!

WHAT THE ADMINISTRATION AND FRIENDS OF JOE BATES HAVE DONE FOR YOU!

1. Financed the minimum foundation program to give teachers and schools more money.
2. Repealed the Old Age Lien Law which was placed on our old people, constituting a mortgage on their homes, by the Clements-Wetherby machine.
3. Established a state medical college so that our state can have competent doctors sufficient to meet our needs.
4. Let $300,000.00 contract for improvement of U. S. 23 from Prestonsburg to Pikeville. This work will soon be done.
5. Let contract for resurfacing of Brandy Keg road.
6. Procured industrial survey for Eastern Kentucky. This work is now in progress and will meet the needs of our section.
7. Increased appropriations for old age pensions, child welfare, agriculture, and other items of state aid to the individual.
8. Increased unemployment compensation payments up to $32.00 weekly, a fifteen per cent increase.
9. Surveyed and commenced work on sidewalks in front of the Floyd County High School in Prestonsburg, according to promise.
10. Preliminary work started on Left Beaver to Mud Creek road surveys.
11. Saved us from the sales tax.
12. Making a great effort to pay off the unprecedented indebtedness left to the state by the Clements-Wetherby administration.
13. Appointed a Floyd county man to the State Board of Education.
14. Appointed a man from adjoining county as State Rural Highway Commissioner.

WHAT THE CLEMENTINE-WETHERBINE ADMINISTRATION AND THEIR COURTHOUSE CROWD HAVE DONE TO YOU!

1. Clementine personally sold out the people of Kentucky by voting for the Tidlands Oil Bill.
2. Clementine and his crowd betrayed the teachers of Kentucky by promising to support the KEA program, then refusing.
3. Louisville did alright, but what about Eastern Kentucky and the rest of the state? Louisville got 75 million dollars in improvements under Clementine and Wetherbine, but the rest of the state was neglected.
4. Clementine's courthouse crowd sold out Floyd county by pledging the credit of Floyd county to underwrite a half million dollar bond indebtedness to buy gas and water works that were worth practically nothing and which are not even paying the expense of operation.
5. The Clementine organization in Floyd county are the same people who have held office for years and are now seeking desperately to perpetuate their old political machine.

Yes, talk is cheap, but look at the record. This administration is very young. Only four months old, but look at what is being accomplished. This record is being written every day, by the administration in Frankfort. We who are supporting Joe Bates are proud of what's being done for you. Look at the facts, voters, then decide.

SPRINGTIME AT SCHOOL

By Douglas Harmon
(Lower Little Paint School)

Early in the frosty mornings
Before the break of day,
Kids are joyfully giving warnings
As they journey on their way.
Speaking of their friends and fun,
And of the Golden Rule.
A deed to do, an errand to run,
This is springtime at School.

The little white school is not alone,
Although, it's dark when they arrive.
The teacher awaits, like mother
at home,
To welcome them with great delight.
Each smiling face is a precious jewel,
As throughout the day it will shine.
Sparkling eyes and rosy cheeks—paradise in full;
These are pleasures of school in Springtime.

Decorations on the windows
Fill the season's greatest cheer.
Easter songs, cards, and memos
Make this the happiest time of year.
Blossoming trees will shine like tinsel,
Chimes and colorful novelties too,
Stamped on our memory like a stencil
Form a picture of Springtime at School.

Serious moments we have for making plans
Concerning activities and rules,
Good sportsmanship everyone
demands,
For it's so often neglected in schools.
A few lessons to prepare yet
Along with other odds and ends,
With Bible teachers and bookmobile, we often met,
To accept treats from our treasured friends.

Everyone seems happy and gay
As the end of school draws near;
Books are almost completed now,
And promotions bring great cheer.
No reason for worry or fret
For picnics and parties are in view;
These make memories we can never forget,
Of happiness of Springtime at School.

Many poems and stories are treasured;
Making memories, it's true.
Stunts and games all are measured,
As we practice them at school.
All these things we have brought to mention,
Make a grown-up think of Heaven.
Spring joys will arouse your attention,
If you'll visit the school at District 27.

Coroner's Association Lists Causes of Death Reportable to Coroner

Coroner James Carter has notified the Times that the secretary of the Coroner's Association of Kentucky, Dr. W. W. Shepherd, has listed the types of deaths which must be reported to Carter's office.

Deaths which resulted from criminal or violent means, such as homicides or suicides, must be reported to the office of the Coroner even though the survival period subsequent to the onset is 90 days; abortions, criminal or self inflicted; accidents of all forms, such as blows or other forms of mechanical violence, crushed beneath falling objects, cutting or stabbing, drowning (actual or suspected), electric shock, explosion, exposure, firearms, fracture of bone, falls, gas poisoning (illuminating gas, automobile exhaust or any other means), hanging, heat exhaustion, sun stroke, poisoning (food-poisoning, or resulting from occupational or any other means), strangulation (accidental, homicidal, or suicidal), suffocation, vehicular accidents, deaths suddenly, when in apparent health, in any suspicious or unusual manner such as (a) alcoholism, (b) poisoning in any form, (c) sudden death on the street, home, in public places, at places of employment even with many witnesses, (d) death under unknown circumstances, whenever there are no witnesses or where little or no information can be elicited concerning the deceased person, (e) all deaths of still-born babies, (f) deaths of persons where attending physician cannot be found and/or who have not been seen by physician within two weeks before sudden death.

Carter also issued warnings to fishermen and swimmers alike who intend to use the facilities of Dewey Lake this summer to take the greatest of precaution.

Fishermen are urged to wear life preservers while on the lake. "Last year a man was thrown from a boat while fishing. He was drowned because his clothes weighted him down, although the shore was very near. If he had worn a life preserver, there would have been another life saved," he said.

Swimmers, he added, are advised to stay within the limits of the swimming area. He said that unless everyone uses common sense while in the water the public can expect one or two useless drownings this summer.

Children Advised To Shun Blasting Caps

Frankfort, May 14 (Spl.) — "If you ever find a blasting cap, don't touch it—not even with a ten-foot pole.

Commissioner of State Police P. A. B. Widener today so advised children of Kentucky. He described blasting caps as small, metallic cylinders about as big around as a pencil and from 1 to 5½ inches long. Commissioner Widener said, "Some caps are bright aluminum or copper with plain or colored wires at one end. All are charged with sensitive explosives that can be set off by careless handling, shock or heat."

"Scores of boys and girls were hurt in blasting cap accidents last year," Commissioner Widener said. "Every injury was needless. The pity of it was that many of the children were only bystanders when another child foolishly played with a blasting cap."
