PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY

This Town— That World

WHEN A VOTE IS LOST

Since the election we have heard several persons of the Democratic persuasion lamenting that they "lost" their votes. To which we reply:

Stop lamenting, my friend. A vote that is cast is never lost. It's the vote that you keep, the one you do not use, that is wasted. That vote you gave, and which you may have felt lost, held for you a place among free men who have a right to express their preferences on the ballot. The vote that was not cast was the one that was lost, because it left the non-voter as far removed from a working partnership in his government as is the man or woman bound by the rule of a dictator behind the Iron Curtain.

Vote—and it's nobody's business how you vote—and however you vote, your vote will not be lost.

NO EXTRA CHARGE

We seem to be having trouble getting away from the election. Just now we are reminded that a certain Prestonsburg barber shop announced, day after election, that it was being generous and charging no more for shaving Democratic long faces than for the same service on a normal mug.

HOWELL FAILS TO FILL BOND

Earl Howell, 30, who was charged last week with shooting and wounding with intent to kill David Moore, 20, at Orkney, remained in jail here Tuesday in default of $4,000 bond to appear at the next grand jury session and $2,000 peace bond.

Bond was set by County Judge Henry Stumbo, who said that Moore's recovery from a shotgun blast in his head and face is now considered certain.

Junior Cross, 25-year-old Ligon army veteran, was adjudged of unsound mind last Thursday and committed to Eastern State hospital, Lexington. He was jailed here after he had attacked two men and burned the home of his step-father, Will Stone.

Twenty-nine persons were jailed Saturday night and Sunday. All 29 were booked as drunks.

Mrs. Minerva Fitzpatrick, Age 89, of Prestonsburg, Victim Tuesday Afternoon

Mrs. Minerva Baldrige Fitzpatrick, 89, of Prestonsburg, died at home Tuesday afternoon. She had been ill several months.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick was a daughter of John and Levisa Brown Baldrige and the widow of Jonathan H. Fitzpatrick, who preceded her in death in 1951. She was a member of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church here.

Surviving daughters and one son, are Mrs. C. M. Bower, Prestonsburg, Mrs. Walter Walters, Pikeville, and T. Y. Fitzpatrick, Ironton. O. Surviving also are 13 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

Funeral rites will be conducted today (Thursday) from the home by the Rev. Ira McMillen, Jr., and burial will follow in the Fitzpatrick cemetery on the Middle Creek Road under the direction of Moore Funeral Home.

SECOND BOND ISSUE IS SEEN WITHIN YEAR

Area Educators Learn That School Work Fund To Require $100,000,000

Kentucky voters will be asked next November to approve a second $100,000,000 bond issue in a year, it was pointed out by those attending last Friday's meet of the Eastern Kentucky Education Association at Ashland.

Dr. Robert Martin, Frankfort, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, told the EKEA members in an address that it was definitely planned to present a school building bond issue, tentatively set at one hundred million dollars, to the voters at the next general election.

Martin pointed out that there is a heavier enrollment of pupils in Kentucky due to the post-war children now entering school and that the need for building is acute.

Actually, the Attorney General's office at Frankfort has been discussing the legal aspects of the proposed bond issue for some time. Four committees have been at work for a few weeks to explore the state's need for buildings and to and now a bond issue could be made to implement the provisions for school construction in the Minimum Foundation Law.

Educators say it will take $104,000,000 to put Kentucky's school buildings in a desirable position. The money raised by the bond issue, if spent as proposed, would be allocated to the counties on the basis of taxable income. The ratio would run from 4 to 1 for the richer counties with the local school systems putting in $4 and the state $1 to an inverse ratio for the poorer counties in which the state would put up $4 and the county systems matching with $1. This formula has been discussed at length by the studying committees, it is said.

Overwhelming support of the state's voters for the recent $100,000,000 road bond issue encouraged educators to sponsor the school bond proposal, it was pointed out.

PARTY GROUP RIFT ERUPTS

Credentials Committee In State Meet Saturday To Resolve Differences

Floyd county now has two young Democratic Clubs, and which is "it", with full recognition from the state Democratic organization, will not be known till the party's Credentials committee decides the case Saturday.

First of all, Fred A. James was elected president of the club, Nov. 2, to succeed Barkley J. Sturgill. At that election, which was held at a special meeting, these other officers were named: David Hereford, vice-president; Bessie Draughn, second vice-president; Fred Hayes, third vice-president; Edith Stratton, fourth vice-president; Kathleen Moore, secretary-treasurer.

Then, Monday night of this week, young party members, who claimed they were not invited to attend the previous meeting, met and elected Fred G. Dickerson president of the Young Democratic Club, with authority to name delegates to the state meeting of Young Democratic Clubs in Frankfort, Saturday.

Other officers named at this second meeting are: S. R. Hatcher, first vice-president; James Cecil, second vice-president; Frank Warrick, third vice-president; Kelly Layne, fourth vice-president, and Nancy Branham, secretary-treasurer.

Fourth Annual Banquet Of Fish and Game Club To Be Held at Maytown

The Floyd County Fish and Game Club's fourth annual banquet will be held at the Maytown high school cafeteria next Tuesday at 7:00 p.m.

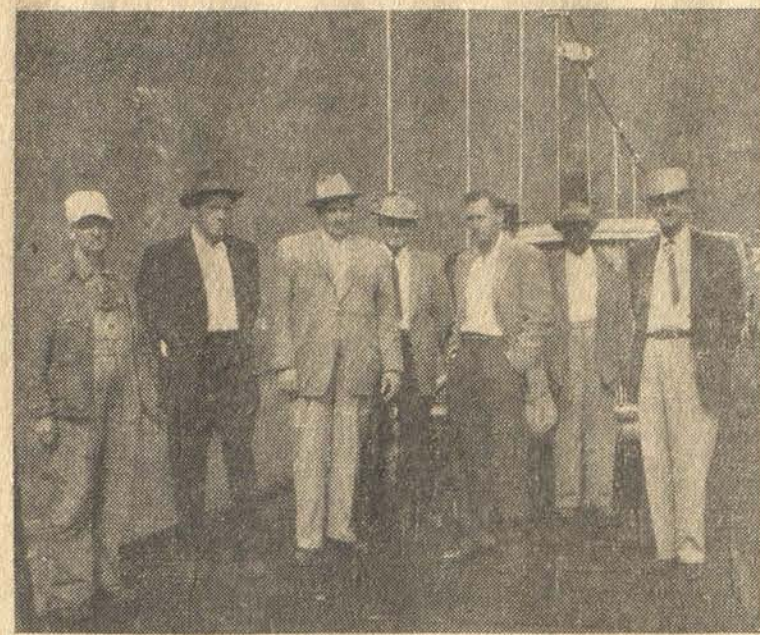

The attendance at this annual event has steadily increased year by year, and this year's banquet is expected to be the largest of all.

At this yearly event, guests include representatives from the various departments of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources who discuss the accomplishments to date and the present status of Floyd game and fish.

The club hopes to have as banquet guests this year Earl Wallace, commissioner; Edd Adams, director of Conservation Education; Jimmy Gilpin, public relations; Bernard Carter, chief biologist, Division of Fisheries, and John Red-

Span Means Realization Of 30-Year Tram Dream

Scene at the new Tram bridge over the Big Sandy River when the first car, driven by County Judge Henry Stumbo, was stopped at the end for pictures. Left to right, Ira Fields; County Attorney Hollie Conley; Judge Stumbo; Bill Wright, of Mare Creek; Magistrate Edgar Howell; R. V. Kirksey, of Tram; and Magistrate Grover Holbrook.

A 30-year dream of the residents of Tram was realized last Thursday when a bridge spanning the Big Sandy River there was officially opened and the first automobile, driven by County Judge Henry Stumbo, crossed to the opposite side.

The bridge, costing approximately $12,000, was built from funds made available by the fiscal court and the citizens themselves. Twenty-eight hundred dollars was raised by community suppers, individual subscriptions and donations by Floyd and Pike county businessmen.

A drive to raise funds to assist the county in constructing the bridge began in February, last year, when a committee, composed of John Conn, Floyd Blevins and Lige Hixon, was appointed by the community. Over $500 was raised by women with community suppers.

The bridge will serve more than 300 persons who reside in Tram Bottom, near the railway station, and the residents of Camp Branch. It will also reach two schools and two churches.

Attending the opening ceremony were, besides County Judge Henry Stumbo and a crowd of residents, County Attorney Hollie Conley, Magistrate Grover Holbrook and Magistrate Edgar Howell.

Dinner was served to the visiting delegation at the home of John Conn.

RELIEF PACT IS RENEWED

Commodity Foodstuffs Delivery To Continue; 14,000 File for Aid

The contract under which Floyd county receives surplus foodstuffs for distribution to the needy expired Nov. 1, and County Judge Henry Stumbo announced this week that a new pact is being signed with the Kentucky Department of Agriculture.

Approximately 14,000 persons are receiving this form of assistance, it was said. The foodstuffs are donated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture with the state Agriculture Department acting as its agent.

State help in transportation of these commodities has been withdrawn, and because of the added burden and expense thus created Pike county suspended the relief work. Floyd county is "pushed" to continue the program, but, said Judge Stumbo, "As long as I am County Judge I will cooperate with the State Agriculture Department in getting this food to the people."

District 3 Gave Nearly Half Of Democrats' Floyd Lead

Although Floyd county's presidential election vote was up nearly 1,000 this year as compared to four years ago, Adlai Stevenson's majority went down approximately 3,000 votes. The Democratic standard-bearer carried this county by 3,702 votes in 1952 but had to accept a majority of only 1,719 this year.

Magisterial District No. 3 contributed approximately one-half of the Democratic majority. Stevenson's lead in that district, mainly on Left Beaver Creek, was 804 votes, followed by District No. 2 with a 593-vote majority. District No. 1 gave the Democratic nominee a lead of only 355, while President Eisenhower carried Magisterial Number 4 by a bare 11 votes.

Election observers said the vote in this county was the highest in history, a few precincts voting as high as 96 per cent of registration. Floyd countians cast 13, 178 votes in 1952 but upped this to 14,395 this year. Registration, not completely purged for years, stands now at approximately 20,000.

All Republican candidates fared considerably better here this year than formerly. Lawrence W. Wetherby carried the county this year only 2,173 votes over John Sherman Cooper, the successful Republi-

AUTO MISHAP VICTIM DIES

Tram Resident Succumbs Week Following Injury; Wife Still Hospitalized

Tolly Adams, 40, of Tram, died Friday of injuries received in an automobile mishap Nov. 3, near Ann Arbor, Mich. His wife, May Akers Adams, suffered fractures of both legs and is hospitalized at Springport, Mich.

It is said that Mr. Adams and his wife were returning from a party and nearing Ann Arbor a tire blew out, throwing the car off the road to strike a tree. He suffered fatal chest injuries.

Mr. Adams was a native of Magoffin county, a son of the late Steve Adams, and Kate Patrick Adams, who survives. Four children survive.

Funeral rites were conducted Monday at 10 a.m., at the Pilgrim Holiness church at Tram, the Rev. Isaac Stratton officiating. Burial was made in the Tram cemetery under the direction of Moore Funeral Home.

Reuben Taylor, 90, Dies At Niece's Home, Sunday Following Long Illness

Reuben Taylor, 90, retired Prestonsburg businessman, died Sunday at 2:50 p.m., at the home of his niece, Mrs. Emma Lou Martin. He had been in ill health for some time.

Mr. Taylor was a native of Buffalo Creek, the son of H. Taylor and Clarendia Clark Taylor. He had resided in Prestonsburg since 1924. His wife, Emma Herald Taylor, died in 1952. He had no surviving children. One brother, Alvin Taylor, of Prestonsburg survives.

A member of the Methodist Church for 30 years he was also interested in the fraternal organization of I.O.O.F., having been a member since 1908.

Funeral rites were conducted Tuesday at 10:30 a.m., at the First Methodist Church here, the Revs. Robert Regan and Harold Dorsey officiating.

Burial was made in the Burchett cemetery on Cow Creek under the direction of the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

SCHOOL HEADS HOLD MEETING

Evaluation of Schools Is Theme of Discussion By Panel of Principals

In an effort to improve the quality of instruction in the school system the regular meeting of Floyd county principals, held at Martin high school, Monday evening, held a panel discussion on "Evaluation of Our School System." The meeting was under the direction of Wayne Ratliff, director of instruction.

"We know our schools are being evaluated everyday, from the outside," Ratliff said. "People going by a school, outsiders looking in and children in conversation at home are evaluating what is being done. What we hope to do is to evaluate ourselves from within. One way of doing this is through faculty meetings wherein teachers and principals take stock of themselves to see if we are fitting the pupils for life to the best advantage of the taxpayers' money," he added.

Taking part in the panel discussion of evaluation were Otis Spurlock, principal of the Prestonsburg high school, C. H. Frazier, principal of the Prestonsburg grade school, Philip Dingus, Allen grade school head, and Lewis Campbell, of the McDowell elementary school.

"Evaluation of our school work necessitates answers to where we have been, how far we have come, where we are now and where we are going," Ratliff said. "Chief reason of evaluation is to analyze our strength and weakness, and having done that, seek to apply what we learn to the benefit of the pupil."

Twenty-six principals attended the Martin meeting.

GUN SAFETY COURSE BEST

National Rifle Leader Says Course Floyd Man Helped Devise Is Tops

Bernard Baldrige, of Martin, and Earl Holland, Maysville, both junior conservation club supervisors with the Kentucky Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources, have devised what has been termed by Stanley Mate, director of the training section, National Rifle Association, as "the finest course in the United States" on hunting safety.

The program was developed to teach members of Kentucky junior conservation clubs how to use a gun safely in the field. Instruction begins with oral lessons on the commandments of hunter safety and includes after that intense field training in the art of gun-handling.

The National Rifle Association director said phases of the Kentucky program will be incorporated in future safety courses to be conducted by the association. Kentucky, he said, is the only state with such a program now in operation.

Baldrige and Holland have taught the safety course at Camp Earl Wallace, Lake Cumberland and Camp Currie at Kentucky Lake.

Last Week's Board Meet Pays Salaries and Dues

Only routine business was transacted by the Floyd County Board of Education at its meeting Wednesday of last week, Superintendent V. O. Turner said. Dues of the teachers to the Kentucky Education Association, and its affiliate, the Eastern Kentucky Education Association, were paid, as were teachers' salaries and a few general claims.

NEWSOM GETS 2-YEAR TERM

Floyd Man Is Convicted Tuesday; Court Session Begins Here on Monday

Estill Newsome received a two-year pen term Tuesday at the conclusion of his trial in the shooting and wounding of his kinsman, Cecil Newsome, on Left Beaver Creek.

Commonwealth testimony claimed the same bullet passed through Cecil Newsome's hand and neck and that he was shot while he had his hands up. The defendant pleaded self-defense, claiming he thought the other had a knife.

A second pen term handed down during the current criminal court term, which began Monday, was for one year after the defendant, Rommie Shepherd, had entered a plea of guilty to a child desertion charge. The term was later probated.

Trial of Irvine Sione on charges of voluntary manslaughter and hit-and-run driving was scheduled Wednesday, as were several whiskey cases. Sione is accused as the driver of the auto which hit and killed Dan Collins at West Prestonsburg.

The court term began with the dismissal of four child desertion cases and the continuance of 22 others.

BOOK SERVICE IS GIVEN $650

State Fund's Allotment Increased; More Counties Participating in Program

The Floyd County Library Board, sponsor of the Bookmobile service in this county, last week received from the state Public Library Service Fund a $650 check, which is an increase of $200 over the allotment made this county last year.

The increase was made, despite the fact that many more counties are participating this year in the state aid program, with the result that allocations to individual counties are proportionately smaller than when the state aid program was instituted.

To meet changing conditions, all counties should begin now to think of developing their library services in a new way, Margaret F. Willis, chairman of the Library Service Commission, wrote County Judge Henry Stumbo and the Library Board.

It was pointed out that: 1. Because Kentucky's counties are generally small in size, the property tax base is correspondingly

Sheriff Collins Appeals Postage Payment Refusal Of Floyd-co. Magistrates

Two fiscal court actions relating to the Sheriff's office were appealed to circuit court Saturday by Sheriff Gorman Collins.

One of the actions appealed was the court's recent refusal to pay the postage bill incurred by Collins in mailing out tax notices. Rejection of his claim was made because, the court record said, political literature was mailed out with the tax notices. This material consisted of a slip bearing the words, "For Peace and Prosperity—Stick with Ike."

The other action was the vote of the court to restrict the Sheriff's expenditures for deputy hire to not more than $22,000 a year.

REED TO LEAD TB SEAL SALE

1956 Goal of $3,000 Set for This County; Justell Woman Named

B. F. Reed, of Drift, has been named chairman of the 1956 Floyd county Christmas Seal drive to raise funds for the continuing battle on tuberculosis, it was announced this week.

The 1956 goal is $3,000, which is approximately $250 more than was realized in last year's drive. Thousands of Christmas Seals were mailed this week to Floyd countians, who are urged to mail their contributions to the Floyd County Tuberculosis Association, Prestonsburg, an d to use the Seals on their correspondence.

Mrs. Beecher Hardwick, of Justell, is the new president of the Tuberculosis Association, succeeding Mrs. A. H. Mandt, who resigned when she moved from this county to Middlesboro. Mrs. Marvin Ransdel, Prestonsburg, is secretary, and Mrs. Lon Hill, Prestonsburg, treasurer.

Although great strides forward have been taken in recent years in combating tuberculosis, the disease remains the No. 1 killer among infectious diseases.

Community Service Plans Announced

The community Thanksgiving service here will be held at 10 a.m., next Thursday at the First Methodist Church, with the Rev. Ira McMillen, Jr., pastor of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church, delivering the sermon.

The Rev. Harold W. Dorsey, pastor of the Methodist Church, will preside. Pastors of other Prestonsburg churches will participate in the program of worship.

IKE LANDSLIDE WINS STATE'S SENATE SEATS

Floyd Withstands Surge But Democratic Leads In County Are Reduced

The Eisenhower landslide over the nation included Democratic Kentucky, too, for in this state the President polled an unofficial lead of 93,751 votes over Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee who four years ago carried the state by about 700 votes.

Eisenhower's Kentucky victory margin was surpassed on only one other occasion by a Republican candidate for the presidency, and that was when Herbert Hoover swept the Commonwealth over Al Smith by 176,994 votes.

With the G.O.P. sweep went both of the state's seats in the Senate to the Republicans. Senator Earle C. Clements lost a tight race to Thurston B. Morton, Louisville Republican, by 7,541 votes, according to the unofficial tabulation, and Ex-Governor Lawrence Wetherby lost to Former Senator John Sherman Cooper by 64,618 ballots. It is the first time since 1925 that the state has elected both U. S. Senators from the Republican ranks.

The Floyd county vote by precincts appears on Page 6

All six Democratic incumbents in the lower House of Congress were re-elected, however, but by reduced majorities where they were opposed.

Noble Gregory was unopposed in the first. In the Seventh district Congressman Carl D. Perkins got a stiff scare as Scott Craft, Republican, led him through the vote count till around Wednesday noon and in the final tab held the veteran Congressman to an edge of 7,713 votes—approximately half his usual victory margin.

Other Congressional race results: Second—William Natcher, Bowling Green, Democrat, re-elected over R. H. Blankenship, Republican, by 3,699 votes.

Third—John M. Robison, Jr., Louisville Republican, defeated Philip Ardery, Louisville Democrat, by 25,353.

Fourth—Frank Chaf, incumbent Democrat from Lebanon, defeated J. B. Preston, Glasgow Republican, by 11,544.

Fifth—Brent Spence, incumbent Democrat from Fort Thomas, defeated Jules Appel, Florence Republican, by 11,431.

Sixth—John C. Watts, Nicholasville, incumbent Democrat, defeated Wallace Jones, Lexington, Republican, by 11,431.

Youth Here Makes Strong Bid For National Shooting Status

Bobby Ranier is shown here bursting clay pigeons with rifle shots fired with the aid of a mirror. Note circled target which has just been powdered by his bullet.

Floyd county has produced a marksman in the true tradition of the famed Ad Tupperwein. Herb Parsons and the youthful Rusty Reed.

Twenty-year-old Bobby Ranier, who has been quietly practicing—as quietly as you can practice with a firearm—the exhibition shooter's art for years, burst on the scene as a marksman deluxe only recently. And what he showed folks here who had gaped, open-mouthed, at the wizardry of Tupperwein, Reed, et al., left them vowing he is at least their equal, perhaps their superior.

Grandson of an Italian gunsmith, Ranier has been practicing his feats since he was nine years of age. Daily, during his three hours' practice, he attracts numerous residents to watch his performances, and he doesn't disappoint them. His shooting is uncanny.

Ranier warms up in his exhibitions by breaking stationary targets, firing a 22-rifle side-arm, upside down, between his legs and, using a mirror, over his shoulder.

Then he moves into a more difficult repertoire, hitting apples and potatoes in mid-air while holding the rifle with one hand. Next, he shatters marbles and aspirin tablets with consummate ease. He then lies flat on his back, and as his father tosses potatoes into the air he blasts them into a fine spray.

Switching to a .25-20 high-power rifle, Ranier demonstrates his skill at hitting potatoes and apples in mid-air, not to mention the same thing with a 12-gauge shotgun.

To make things more difficult while using the shotgun, he first lays his gun on a box of shells to

Dew Drop Inn Raid Nets Whiskey, Drunks

The Dew Drop Inn, on the Van Lear-Auxier road, a short distance below Dewey Dam, was raided Saturday night by Floyd deputy sheriffs who confiscated a half-case of whiskey and arrested nine persons on charges of drunkenness. The search warrant under which the deputies operated was issued for Lon Neely, Sheriff Gorman Collins said.

THE STORY OF MORTIMER WRAGG

This is the story of Mortimer Wragg—family man, motorist, good provider, responsible citizen. Mortimer isn't with us any more. But this is his story.
Mortimer worked hard and never slapped his kids. Indeed, it was a dark day in the Wragg household when he even so much as screamed at them, and he never raised his voice to his wife. In business, in good works and charitable pursuits, Mortimer was a model of what an upright citizen should be. It was only when he "mounted to the cabin" and put his foot on the gas that he became a menace to society. And to himself.
Mortimer drove his car as if convicted that every other motorist on the road were expendable. That is, he regarded every other driver as a threat to the Four Freedoms in general, and to Mortimer Wragg's share of these Freedoms in particular. Whenever another motorist tried to pass him, he took it as a personal affront and reacted violently. He considered pedestrians a nuisance that should be abated, and he did his best to abate them.
At home a perfect husband and helpmate, Mortimer in the driver's seat was a free-wheeling catastrophe. His wife told him he should have more care for the safety of others, if not for his own. Business associates expostulated. Policemen warned him and smothered him with traffic tickets. But Mortimer smiled and kept on driving—his way. He said: "This is a free country."

"Mortimer is balm," his friends declared. "In fact, he's nuts."
But they couldn't convince Mortimer. Even a psychiatrist, called in by Mrs. Wragg, gave up in despair and took to his own couch, talking to himself.
One thing Mortimer never could stand was being forced to drive behind another car. To pass whatever might be in front of him, he fractured all speed laws, cut in and out of traffic, and ignored all highway signs and safety markers. He was a chizo on the go, and he took his split personality down the road as if he were roaming the lone prairie.
No one has ever been able to explain how Mortimer avoided disaster for so many years. And no one has ever been able to estimate the miles of shattered nerves he left quivering in other drivers.
But, as it must to all such fools, disaster finally came to Mortimer and it was quite final. Tearing down a highway, fortunately alone, he ignored the brilliant reflective marker that spelled out in the beam of his headlights: "Dangerous Curve."
After they had separated Mortimer from the good earth of his native county, they put up a monument to him—a simple thing bearing this simple inscription: "This Is the Only Sign that Ever Stopped Him."

Eight Counties To Grow Turkish Tobacco; Massie Notes Test Year Results

Turkish tobacco will be grown in an additional eight counties in 1957, under direction of the Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service.
Ira Massie, tobacco specialist, said growers are being contacted now in Cumberland, Adair, Green, Metcalfe, Lincoln, Morgan, Magoffin and Wolfe counties, for the 1957 project.
The "pilot" project in Johnson and Floyd counties this year was considered enough of a success to warrant the expansion, Massie said. The first sale of Turkish in Kentucky, held in October this year, resulted in 2,600 pounds sold for an average of $75 a hundredweight.
Massie noted that 1956 was "strictly a test year." Succeeding years also will be essentially on a test and learning basis, he said.
"We are learning more about this tricky crop," he said, "and 1957 should be a better year. For instance, only about 40 to 50 percent of the 1956 crop actually was harvested and sold. It is a hard crop to grow and handle and we recommend that no grower try it without the Extension Service's advice and supervision."
The specialist pointed out that Turkish requires a different type of soil than burley. Land high in nitrogen is absolutely unsuitable for Turkish. The tobacco requires essentially "poor soil," i.e. soil that is low in organic matter and nitrogen content and with clay particles.
Fertilization of Turkish thus is limited to minute amounts of nitrogen at the most, and small amounts of phosphorus and potash.
The counties selected for 1957 have some areas where such "poor soil" is available, Massie said. His travel schedule also governed selection of the counties.
Growers will be selected on the basis of available soil and other factors, Massie said. From one to four farmers in each county will be chosen and helped in the project, he said.
"We learned a lot this year in our pilot project," Massie said. "For that reason, we recommend that persons interested in trying Turkish write direct to me at the Experiment Station building in Lexington. We want growers interested in seeing this Turkish project succeed. To do that, close supervision will be necessary." He noted an un-supervised person could go through a complete growing season on Turkish and come up with a project that has little or no sale value.
Despite the dramatic drop in the tuberculosis death rate—more than fifty per cent in the past five years—TB is still the giant among infectious disease killers in Kentucky killing more Kentuckians than all other infectious diseases combined. Buy Christmas Seals and help wipe out TB.

Tested Baking Instructions
Saw off hock, place ham in a vessel, cover with cold water, and soak for ten hours. Remove from water, scrape and clean thoroughly. Place in roaster, skin side down, add one inch of water, pour into this one cup of cooking wine or one cup of vinegar and one cup of brown sugar. Bring to a boil on top of stove. Place top on roaster, put in 250 degree oven, bake at this temperature two and one-half hours. Then turn ham skin side up and continue baking until a long tined fork will easily penetrate to the bone and withdraw easily. Take ham from roaster, place in shallow pan, remove the skin, working with care. Cover top of ham with a paste made of one cup of brown sugar and grease cooked out of ham. Place in a 350 degree oven and brown, watching closely to avoid scorching. Ready to serve when cool enough to slice. Keep carving knife sharp and SLICE THIN for best flavor.
For Perfect Frying
Slice ham from one-eighth to one-quarter inch thick; place in warm skillet, turn heat on medium and cook slowly. Turn back and forth until done. AVOID OVERCOOKING! That makes it tough. If slices tend to curl up, press flat while cooking with a hot cake turner or a broiler weight.

Underneath Vast Stephens Farm Lay Huge Reserves of Minerals

By HENRY P. SCALF

(Third article in a series on the Stephens family).

John Stephens, one of the sons of Samuel Stephens and Florence Patton Stephens, who went heading for California in the Gold Rush, had no inkling that underneath land on the waters of Beaver and Middle Creek lay a fortune at home in coal and natural gas.

John, who never married, returned from the west, a bit disillusioned about far-off wealth and knowing nothing of "black diamonds" and the other hidden minerals of the mountains, sold his part of his father's estate to one of the other heirs.

But whether John Stephens or any of the heirs of the Stephens estate knew of it or not a vast storehouse of mineral wealth, awaiting development, was under the 16,000 acres of the Stephens barony. Stephens Branch, approximately three miles long, all of the Caney Fork of Middle Creek down to what oldsters called the Cold Springs, and hundreds of acres of bottom on main Beaver lay under a title to Samuel and Florence Stephens. They, too, had little conception of the vast resources under their land.

Decades later the Bailey-Ferguson Coal Company and soon afterwards the May Coal Company began development. Today the Stephens Elkhorn Fuel Corporation successor of the May Coal Company, is exploiting part of the original Stephens farm. It is said that none of Samuel Stephens' heirs reaped any large reward from the land. Most of them were restless and, people said, stubborn. They wanted to leave the old home site, look for wealth and a good life elsewhere.

Development of the natural resources of Big Sandy was coming, though, before Samuel and Florence died. In the eighties a railway was pushed up the valley to Peach Orchard, finally to Whitehouse. Timber merchants swarmed on the main stream and looked up into the tributary valleys. Giant walnut trees were bought for a song. In a few years other buyers returned to dig up the stumps. While Samuel Stephens was approaching the last years of his life, logging became the concern of many prominent Big Sandians and Catlettsburg grew to the largest hardwood market in the world. It held that lead for a decade or more.

All of the many sons and daughters of Samuel Stephens were married before 1880, with the exception of John who had gone west. The Stephens Branch home was never empty, though, for grandchildren were constant inmates.

Samuel Stephens, after a vigorous old age, died, July 24, 1887. His widow survived until 1890. Both were buried in the cemetery that bears the Stephens name, on a point near the residence of the late B. L. C. May, who married a granddaughter. In this pine-covered cemetery, others, who like Samuel and Florence Stephens pioneered the development of homes in the community, lie buried. A black-topped road trails along now at the foot of the hill, going up Stephens Branch and down Caney Fork. In Samuel's day it was a wagon-rutted trail.

Eight children of the old pioneer whose marriages and children were not listed in former articles of this series are Thomas, Samuel A., Mary, Cynthia, Andrew, David, Morgan G., and Darcus P. Thomas married Nancy Jane Bradley, March 15, 1852, and had 12 children. They were Susannah, married Isaac F. Flannery, April 13, 1876, and upon his death married Sam England; Florence married David A. Canady, Nov. 30, 1871; Isaac married Malinda Yates; Samuel married Rebecca Castle, Nov. 19, 1890, and after her death married Sophie Whitaker, Dec. 22, 1919, and following her death married Mary Salmans, June 2, 1923, and later married Rosa (Wireman) Handshoe; Reuben A. married Nancy Haywood, Dec. 28, 1881 and upon his death she married Thomas Ratliff, Sept. 29, 1894. She died in Utah. James B. married Lurania Hayes, Nov. 14, 1882; William D., born Oct. 14, 1889, died Jan. 19, 1928, never married; J. R. (Riley) married Margaret Baldrige; George H., about which no information is available; Rebecca A. married Sandy Vaughan, Nov. 30, 1887, and after his death married B. B. (Doc) Porter; Lee married Susan McKnight; Elizabeth married John McGann and later, March 25, 1869, married Vinson Bentley.

Samuel A. Stephens, born April 30, 1831, died May 30, 1890, married Oct. 10, 1856, Sarah Osborne, born March 27, 1839, died June 19, 1904. Their 11 children were David married Louisa Martin, Feb. 10, 1903; D. B. married Myrtle L. Hall, Jan. 22, 1908; B. B. married Rosa Martin, March 4, 1905, and following her death married Virgie Ratliff, May 29, 1909; Ed L. married Grace Adams, of Magoffin county and upon her death married Lilly May, also of Magoffin county; Susan married June 24, 1886, Thomas G. (Bringe) Allen; Ferdinand married Fanny Howard and later Jan. 17, 1894, married Lydia Crisp; Monroe married Recie Crisp and later Allie Adams; Rhoda married S. B. Osborne; Mary married A. L. Osborne and later was married to John Johns; Irvin, not known as to whom married, but it is said he went to Oklahoma; Florence married Bill Flannery; Dollie G. married Feb. 5, 1906, Elbert Pratt; Sidney married Logan Dingus; Margaret, died in infancy.

Mary Stephens married David Osborne, Oct. 11, 1855. They had eight children: Albert married Ella Prater and after her death married Hattie Preston Allen; Samuel married Susan Osborne; Matt married Darcus Patton; Ewing married Stella Chapman; John D. married Ella Hall and later Cara Hall; Rebecca married Joe Salisbury; Cynthia married Jacob Crisp; Rhoda married Logan Dingus. Cynthia and Rebecca Osborne were twins.

Cynthia Stephens married Samuel Hale and to them were born only one child which died in infancy. This was a second marriage of Samuel Hale, he having married Eda Helton whose mother was a Wireman, before his marriage to Cynthia Stephens. There were eight children born to this first marriage of Samuel Hale. The eldest, James Hale, emigrated west where the nearest railway to Big Sandy was Cincinnati and it was necessary to go there by steamboat. Arriving in Kansas City, Mo., the western railway terminal, he found himself with only fifty cents. James Hale, the oldest, died a few years ago in Waynoka, Oklahoma, possessed of vast real holdings, one ranch alone having 35,000 acres on the Cimarron River. He survived all of his brothers and sisters. In 1926 he returned to Big Sandy to visit his relatives, the only time he ever came back.

Other sons and daughters of Samuel Hale and Eda Helton Hale were A. J. Hale, died at Verdigris, Oklahoma; B. B. Hale, died at Cody, Neb.; John who emigrated to Missouri, but returned to die in Floyd county; Vinson Hale, who went to Oklahoma but had his legs broken in a wagon wheel and died from the effects of the injury; Deillah born 1875, died Aug. 1933, married Alexander Stephens born July 15, 1865, died Dec. 30, 1953, having married in 1889; Mary married Samuel Stephens and died in Webster county, Missouri. Samuel Stephens was killed in an automobile accident near Salyersville, Magoffin county, and his body was returned to Missouri to be interred by his wife; Martha Hale married Taul Shepherd (Hale) and they moved to Seymour, Webster county, Mo., where they died.

Andrew Stephens married Rosann Carpenter of Magoffin county. Their nine children were Rush who married Mary Whitaker; George married a Risner and later Margaret Howard; Samuel married Essie Allen; Judge married Cora Whitaker and later Della Patrick; Bruce married Pearl Allen; Flora married Wed Risner and later Warrnie Patrick; Dora married Peter Risner; Dave married Mary Wireman; Tilden married Minnie Mooney. Rosann Carpenter was a sister to George Carpenter who married Darcus Stephens.

David Stephens married Margaret Daniels and to them were born 11 children: John married Annie Salisbury, April 23, 1882; James married Betsy Salisbury; Andrew married Rebecca Cornett; Albert married Annie Clark; Samuel married Martha Hayes, Nov. 7, 1908; Mary married James Tomlin; Rebecca, never married; Fannie married S. D. Kirk; Cynthia married Frank Bunch; Miranda married Ned Gearheart; Darcus married Jeff Galloway. David Stephens, father of the above, lived near the mouth of Spurlock, on Left Beaver Creek. He was county judge and surveyor of Floyd county.

Morgan G. Stephens, born 1843, died 1917, married Feb. 11, 1864, to Malinda J. Hale. They were the parents of ten children: Mary Ann, married Palmer Scutchfield, March 23, 1881, and both died at Jeffersonville, Ky., but were buried near Water Gap, Floyd county; Darcus F. married Jeff Bingham, March 30, 1882; Kate married Ayriss Spradlin, Sept. 28, 1880; Claybourne married Hester Cooley, June 24, 1884; Camillus, never married; James P. married Lydia J. Cooley, May 18, 1902; Samuel married Mary Gormley; Florence married Columbus Crisp, Oct. 9, 1900; John married Nola Baldrige; Cynthia married Jesse Hatfield, July 22, 1923 and upon his death married Dan Prater, of Brush Creek, Right Beaver Creek.

Darcus P. Stephens married George Carpenter of Magoffin county and both died at Salyersville. Their twelve children were Samuel, who married Cassie Allen and later Sally Pratt; Kate married Morgan Hamilton; Alex, died at age 18 of typhoid; Florence married Dudley Howard; Mary married Ben Hale; Morgan married Nora Owens and later Maxine Arnett; Cornelia married first to Isaac Prater, second to Ray B. track, and third to Harry Neeley; Johnny, died at one year of age of measles; Will Press married Rose May; G. C. (Cleve), died in infancy; Bertha married Henry Patton; Cynthia married Fred Patrick.

There were 177 known children and grandchildren of Samuel and Florence Patton Stephens. Last of the children of Samuel and Florence to die was Mary Osborne, wife of David Osborne. She succumbed near Printer, Sept. 24, 1924.

Live Useful, Active Lives, Heart Patients Are Told

Living a useful, active life with a damaged or weakened heart is a matter of vital concern to 10,000,000 people in the United States—the estimated number of Americans with diseases of the heart and blood vessels.

We often speak of "heart disease," but there are actually more than 20 different kinds of diseases of the heart and circulatory system. Taken as a group, these diseases represent our most serious medical problem, not only from the standpoint of citizens affected, but also as a cause of invalidism and disability.

the left of him, bends down in the same position as a football center, tosses two eggs up behind him, then, quick as the proverbial greased lightning, he pivots, picks up his gun and with two separate blasts—two air-borne egg-nogs.

Ranier's pet trick and one of the few ever accomplished by any exhibition shooter is to place his shotgun on a box of shells in front of him on the ground, have a helper throw two or three clay pigeons into the air, then do a somersault and come up firing to blast all three targets.

Another favorite stunt is to toss a can into the air and keep it going skyward with repeated blasts from any of his several shotguns.

Ranier and his father, T. R. Ranier, Prestonsburg businessman, are ardent firearms experts and often pit their skill against each other, but the elder Ranier rather proudly admits he's not in the same class with his son.

Bobby says that the biggest daily task is after the shooting is over when he must clean and inspect each of his $5,000 worth of firearms, not to mention working for the $40 he spends for shells each week.

Two Pikeville residents—one, a Pikeville College teacher; the other, a German freshman at the college—were speakers at the meeting Nov. 1 of the Prestonsburg Senior Woman's Club.

After Miss Stella Elkins, of the college faculty, had spoken on International Affairs, her German pupil, Mr. Reinhardt, discussed the different forms of government in West Germany, the three main church bodies and the seriousness of the educational situation there, at both the high school and university levels. Following a question-and-answer period, Mr. Reinhardt brought his part of the program to a pleasing conclusion by singing a Presbyterian Westminster Fellowship song in German.

The two speakers were invited here by Miss Fanny Mae Howell, program leader. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. French Combs, with Mesdames Byron Numery, Paul C. Combs, A. C. Harlowe, Val F. Strahan, Merle Wilson and Lon Hill as co-hostesses.

The president, Mrs. Harold W. Dorsey, conducted the business meeting, during which reports of standing committees were heard and Mrs. Merle Wilson, membership chairman, announced Mesdames Buri Spurlock, Goble Branham and Clyde Burchett as new members. The hostesses served a salad course to 26 members and three guests.

Most folks, when they think of the loss from a forest fire, think only about the timber destroyed. But equally grave is the damage done to the country's water supply.

Records have shown that the flood flows from burned areas may be increased up to 100 times and erosion rates from 20 to 40 times that for unburned areas.

Normally the soft floor of the natural forest, with its accumulation of fallen leaves, vegetation and humus, acts as a sponge, holding back rain water and allowing the water to seep gradually into the soil. Water thus retarded sinks into the ground, replenishing springs, adding to the water table and eventually reappearing as clear, pure streams.

Water is already short in many areas of the country and becoming so in others. So when you visit the outdoors, please—be extra careful with fire—any fire—matches, smokes, debris or campfires. Make sure every spark is out—dead out. Because 9 out of 10 of our nation's forest fires (and last year they averaged nearly 500 per day!) are caused by well-meaning but careless people.

But when the forest floor and the trees are burned, the water often runs off swiftly in the form of floods, causing disaster and even death. Such water is heavily silted. It pollutes the streams, fills the reservoirs with mud, kills fish.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D.

Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

"YEA, YEA AND NAY, NAY"

In my half century of observing folk language I have often been impressed with changing styles of asserting or thanking or denying. The neighbors at Fidelity wasted very few words when they admitted a thing was true or untrue; they said yes and no so flatly that there was nothing else to be asked; an outsider would have thought that they were not wholly happy in answering anyway. We on the inside of the community knew that this flatness of speech was genuine, unadorned, unquestioned. Why waste a whole lot of words to say yes or no? No amount of talking could make a thing true when it wasn't; we became suspicious of anyone who used a roundabout way of answering anything so obvious as yes or no. We had never seen a Quaker; only a few had ever heard of one; but we had at least this Quaker attribute; we said what we said and left it at that.

The Quakers used to make sort of religious test of this same answering questions. They took the Bible literally and left that saying more or less than yes and nay was wicked or evasive or even suspicious. When they were ridiculed for this blunt way of speaking, they struck to their Biblical monosyllables until society ultimately gave in and allowed them that privilege, just as they do not have to swear today but can assert or use some other term, for they literally avoid the word swear; "Swear not at all," etc.

Thanking someone for a favor has gone through many evolutions, at Fidelity and elsewhere. Most often we said "Much obliged," and stopped at that. Some of us said "Thank you," but that was less common. If we failed to understand, we asked over, of course. We did not say, "I beg your pardon" or "Sorry." We said, "What did you say?" in full, for "What?" was considered very rude and might bring swift justice as school or at home. If we were talking to a woman and did not understand, we said, "Ma'm?" in a questioning tone of voice; we asked a man to repeat by saying, "Sir?" I find both of these still in use among my students, particularly the older ones or students whose parents are sticklers for good manners. Mother used to point out rude brats to us who would actually say "what?" to grown folks. They were nearly always of a lower social order in our little world.

Similarly, we put "Sir" or "Ma'm" on "Yes" and "No." Not to have done so would always have caused trouble. As I said many years back, I saw a good-sized little girl get a sound thrashing because she refused to say "Yes ma'm" to her teacher. That style has gone and come and is going again right now, though wars and rumors of wars have brought back polite forms of addresses from time to time.

In our democratic world of this century it seems foolish and wasteful to have to add titles to plain words, as if we were still following the French and their endless "mon-sieurs" and "madames" and "mademoiselles." With all our pretense in other times of our hatred of titles and honors, we were always generous with our "generals" and "colonels" and "judges." A very elderly old man of my acquaintance rarely spoke to anyone whom he regarded as worthy of address without attaching some honorary title; I suspect that he liked to be called one in return. When he referred to a workman on his place, that was always "my man Jones," or some such ancient way of putting hewers of wood and drawers of water in their places. And this same elderly would-be aristocrat could not have been induced to say anything in as few words as possible; that would have put him in the class with his man, his tenant, and other such poor white trash.

The People Voted for Roads, Not for a "Road Machine"

The people of Kentucky last Tuesday gave Governor Chandler the biggest working capital any Kentucky governor has ever enjoyed.

Because they did so, the heaviest responsibility now rests on "Happy" Chandler that has been entrusted to a chief executive of this state. What he achieves with the millions of dollars that will be spent by his administration out of the $100,000,000 road bond issue, how he spends that money and how well it is apportioned over the state will be closely watched.

The people voted for the road bonds because they want good roads. These were not Chandler votes that gave such overwhelming support to the issue; they were Democratic votes from both factions of the party, and they were Republican votes, too.

Now the people await the results. They will be watching the whole giant program, from the sale of the bonds on through the spending of the money, to see if indeed this is a program for the people and their roads as it was portrayed in those pre-election days.

They will not be satisfied with promises now. They will not be inclined to sit complacently by if the administration becomes more interested in building a political machine than in building roads.

The Governor's responsibility is great. Given the means of doing a great job for the state, he has been assigned, at his own request, a task of tremendous proportions.

Great as it is, the task is not an impossible one, if Governor Chandler will settle down to the simple idea that the best politics is no politics in answering the clear mandate of the people.

This Road Cries for Another

Now open to traffic is a new scenic highway link, this the stretch of road which connects the Prestonsburg-Auxier road with Dewey Dam and which extends on via Van Lear to U. S. 23.

The beauty of this new road as it winds around the mountainside overlooking Dewey Lake is such that it urges further road construction. It proclaims the need of a road bordering the lake on from Hager Gap to Stratton Branch and the site of the boat dock nearby.

If such a road is not built, development of Dewey Lake State Park as a tourist attraction cannot be made. The site originally chosen for location of a lodge and vacation cottages—Arrowhead Point, about midway between the dam and the boat dock—still appears to be the best discussed. The sylvan setting as well as the view of both recommended this site. But construction of buildings cannot be undertaken there until a road is built.

And even if this part of the development were to be done elsewhere, the scenic route along the lake would be needed, and not only from the Floyd county viewpoint or that of the visitor looking for beauty of water and woodland. The state itself has a stake in the matter.

If the road is to leave the lake where it does at or near Hager Gap, and not to touch on it again, the state boat dock will find itself pretty well forgotten except by fishermen, because what the visitor otherwise is looking for—a scenic drive of real beauty, picnicking grounds, etcetera—will be so pleasantly accessible by auto along the present new road that there will be little incentive for the motorist to drive on miles around to the dock location.

As The Times has on more than occasion pointed out, Dewey Lake and Dewey Lake State Park have, mile for mile, all that any of Kentucky's several eye-catching impoundments have to attract tourists—if, only if, plans are made and work is done and money is spent there as elsewhere.

COAL LEADERS MEET FRIDAY

Huntington Meet Is First Outside Capital in Years; Patsy Teen-Agers To Sing

The Southern Coal Producers Association will meet in Huntington Friday, the first time in its 15-year history it has held a meeting outside Washington, D. C.

On the entertainment program will be the Patsy Teen-Agers from David and the Pioneer quartet from Holden, W. Va. They will sing at the banquet at 7:30 p.m.

Officials of 275 mining companies from Kentucky, southern West Virginia, southwestern Virginia, and parts of Tennessee will gather for the one-day session.

Top government mining officials and nationally-known experts in coal production will address the association's annual membership convention.

Richard Wilson, Pulitzer Prize winner and Washington correspondent often seen on the "Meet the Press" television show, will be the luncheon speaker. He will discuss the aftermath of the election.

Joseph E. Moody, of Washington, is the president of the association and Walter Thurman, of Charleston, secretary. John J. Foster, of Huntington, vice president of the Island Creek Coal Co., and director of the association, is the program chairman.

Plan Radio Program Marking Education Week

National Education Week will be observed locally with a program, "The Misplaced Words," over Radio Station WPRT, with Seventh grade pupils of the Prestonsburg school participating. It was announced last week. The program will be heard at 11:30 a.m., today (Thursday).

EKEA ELECTS MRS. CONLEY

Wheelwright Woman Is Elected President, Succeeding Pike Man

Mrs. Dorothy Blackburn Conley, librarian at Wheelwright high school, was elected president of the Eastern Kentucky Education Association at the 33rd annual EKEA convention in Ashland last week. She succeeds C. H. Farley, of Pike county.

Mrs. Conley had served the Association during the past year as its first vice-president. She has been a teacher at Wheelwright 15 years or more.

Other officers named for the 1956-57 school year were: Floyd Hall, superintendent of Catlettsburg city schools, first vice-president; Paul Westerfield, Vanceburg, second vice-president, and Monroe Wicker, director of Breckinridge Training School at Morehead State College, and formerly of Floyd county, executive secretary.

Ira Caudill, Pikeville high school teacher, was named EKEA delegate to the annual National Education Association convention next summer in Philadelphia, and Miss Mary Ellen Henson, Ibex, supervisor of Elliott county schools, his alternate.

Elected to two-year terms, beginning next June, on the EKEA board of directors were James V. Powell, Elkhorn City school principal, and Verne P. Horne, Paintsville, superintendent of Johnson county schools.

Mrs. Esterilla Cummings, Wheelwright teacher, was named to fill out the remaining year of the unexpired two-year term of Lester McHargue, who resigned as Louisa high school principal to accept a teaching post in Ohio.

The delegates selected Mrs. Ruth Reeves, Ashland teacher, to represent the organization on the K.E.A. planning board.

At Friday morning's second general session, delegates were told by Dr. Ralph E. Lapp, New York City, an atomic scientist and director of Nuclear Science Service, that control of the use of atomic energy must be accomplished if humanity is to survive.

He noted that in the recent presidential campaign there had been a mixing of science and politics.

He said that the bringing into public view by Adlai Stevenson of the question of control of atomic energy was probably more important to humanity than who was elected or who was not elected.

He said there can be no guarantee as to what may happen if nuclear-weapon tests are broadened or continued by other nations, as well as by the United States.

Dr. Lapp added that he believed all weapons experimentation should be stopped through the United Nations. If tests are carried on, they can be detected and stopped by the force of world opinion to preserve human life, he said.

Delegates to the convention voted unanimously to open membership in the organization to Negro teachers of the 18 Eastern Kentucky counties comprising the district.

Dr. Robert E. Martin, state superintendent of public instruction, told the convention that the "sun shines brighter than ever before in Kentucky on education." He gave a summary of improvements effected already as a result of the implementation of the minimum-foundation program.

The Bureau has filed this new coverage with insurance supervisory authorities in many states on behalf of its member and subscriber companies, William Leslie, general manager of the Bureau, stated. In states where approval of insurance supervisory authorities is required it has been filed for approval, he said.

Morehead Honors Caudill And Miss Braun As They Are Soon To End Work

W. M. Caudill, formerly of Prestonsburg, is one of two retiring Morehead State College staff members who were honored last Thursday at the annual dinner of the college held at Ashland. The dinner was held in conjunction with the annual session in Ashland of the Eastern Kentucky Education Association.

The other Morehead staff member who is retiring is Miss Catherine Braun, instructor in geography and geology.

Mr. Caudill is director of extension at the college. He has been at Morehead since 1948, before that was president of Campbellsville College three years, and spent 22 years at Murray State College as dean of men, dean of students and head of the geography department.

Mr. Caudill is a brother of the late John W. Caudill, of Prestonsburg. His future plans were not announced.

Five Floyd-co. Airmen Are Completing Basic At Lackland, AFB, Tex.

Five Floyd county airmen are completing basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base, the "Gateway to the Air Force."

They are Ernest W. Hodge, 18, son of Mrs. Pauline Hodge, Wheelwright, Harry J. Hackworth, 17, son of Mrs. Alice Hackworth, West Prestonsburg, Ronald Eugene Vaughan, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. David J. Vaughan, Norman W. Chaffin, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Chaffin, and Guy Randolph Horn, 17, son of Mrs. Marie Vance, all of Prestonsburg.

They are now taking part in the advanced basic training course there following which they will qualify for assignment in one of the Air Force's 43 major career fields.

While at Lackland the new enlistees complete the transition from civilian to airmen through a program which includes processing, aptitude testing, physical conditioning, survival and weapons training, and varied classroom studies ranging from citizenship to military customs and courtesies.

Like the USAF Officer Candidate and Pre-Flight schools, also located at Lackland, basic military training prepares graduates for specialized training and on-the-job assignment.

New Health Taxes Voted By 8 Kentucky Counties

Eight counties passed a county public health tax at the polls on November 6, Russell E. Teague, M. D., State Commissioner of Health announced recently. Dr. Teague said that he was "pleased that so many counties were adopting this business-like way to pay for the services of a health department. This is a good way for counties to obtain money needed for their share in the new public health foundation program."

Ten counties placed the tax on the ballots. Rates of minimum taxation, based on $100.00 assessed valuation of real and personal property, varies from county to county according to property values and health department needs. The rates are: Bourbon, 7c; Pike, 9c; Grayson, Hardin and Jessamine each 10c; Pendleton, 11c; Powell and Nicholas each 12c; Trimble 15c; and Wayne 20c. The tax passed in all but Bourbon and Hardin counties.

An estimated 1,200,000 Americans need some medical supervision for active or inactive tuberculosis. Your purchase of Christmas Seals will help them get it.

The average cost of one case of Tuberculosis is from $14,000 to $15,000. Fight TB by buying and using Christmas Seals.

Farm Bureau Convention To Consider Resolutions. Nearly 300 resolutions from 57 counties will be considered by delegates to the Kentucky Farm Bureau's annual convention in Lexington November 18-21. These resolutions cover 45 different subjects. From them the delegates which county Farm Bureau sent to the convention will develop the 1957 program of work of the state Farm Bureau. Tuberculosis is killing 45 Americans a day, causing one death every half hour. Buy Christmas Seals and help wipe out TB.

New Safety Pamphlet Discusses The Jaywalker

Most of the 6,000 pedestrians killed on the highways last year were more the victims of their own childish antics afoot than the automobile which struck them down, according to the public education department of the Etna Casualty and Surety Company.

In "Pedestrians, Grow up and Live," a new Aetna pamphlet, the company's safety specialists liken the grown-up jaywalker to the child who plays hopscotch in the street. "Many dangerous walking habits reflect childish impulses we have never shed," they say.

PROSPECTS OF OHIO VALLEY BRIGHT, ENGINEER DECLARES

Cincinnati, Nov. 7 — America is moving to "riverbank locations," the Ohio Valley Improvement Association was told today.

And, said Maj. Gen. E. C. Itchner, "all signs agree that this trend will accelerate in the future, and the Ohio Valley will continue in its forefront."

General Itchner is chief of the Army Corps of Engineers.

In the Ohio Valley, General Itchner said, "you have an industrial concentration that far overshadows that of Germany's famous Ruhr Valley, with infinitely greater 'built-in' dispersion, room for almost unlimited expansion, and a diversification of enterprise that the Ruhr cannot approach."

"You have a developed waterway system that is being modernized and soon will be the most capacious and up-to-date canalized inland waterway in the world," he declared.

"Most of your water problems can be solved by aggressive construction and intelligent conservation programs," General Itchner said. He also pointed to the area's vast reserves of coal.

"When these factors are added," he said, "there is no predicting what peaks the development of this valley may reach, or what needs for river-related uses it may require."

About three years ago, General Itchner said, a trade journal raised the question of whether we might not some day see 100,000,000 tons of freight a year moving on the Ohio.

"Now I think it is not unreasonable to look forward to 150,000,000 tons as early as 1965."

"A year ago, the breaking of ground for New Cumberland Dam launched the beginning of the program for modernizing the navigation facilities.

"This year, Congress appropriated funds for start of work on Lock and Dam No. 41 at Louisville, and for advanced planning work at New Richmond (Ind.). The program is well under way and I am confident that its orderly completion is assured."

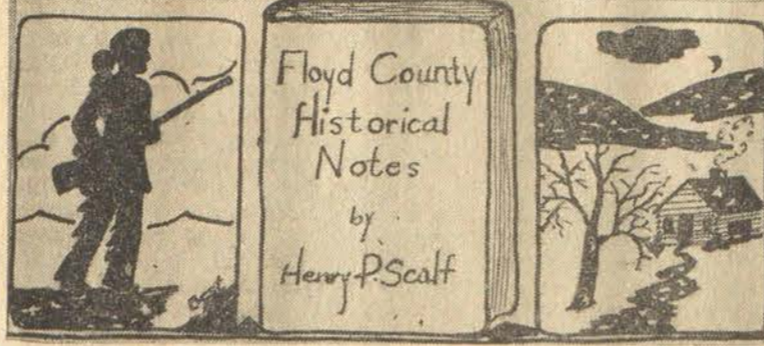

General Itchner tempered his optimistic outlook for the future of the Ohio Valley with these remarks:

"The area of effort in which I believe the Ohio-basin program is lagging seriously and dangerously is not the navigation program but the flood-control program."

Declaring he would not "mince words," General Itchner added: "This Ohio Valley, with its teaming towns and vast industries, is a sitting duck for a big flood. You are gambling against unpredictable nature with perhaps greater stakes than any group of people has ever gambled in human history."

The general said the Army Corps of Engineers is making a resurvey of flood-control plans to determine adequacy of projects built and planned.

"We will reappraise the needs of the valley for flood control, low-flood regulation, water supply, supplemental irrigation, and the like, and seek to plan the construction with a view of making the fullest possible use of all of the water resources of the basin."

Mrs. Willie Prater Mills, Lexington, takes a dim view of historians who write only of politics, prominent persons, and of their own experiences in a section. To which this column heartily agrees. Too many books on Eastern Kentucky, valuable in a way, are mere personal reminiscences of little historical value. Too many of the writers lost themselves in an autobiography to see the story of a great, fine people around them.

Mrs. Mills writes: "The history of Eastern Kentucky and Eastern Kentuckians has been too long neglected. Usually, historians are interested in a particular section, because they and their families have lived there, which is quite natural. In writing, they usually write about their own experiences and those of their families, and persons closely associated with them. It is also usual for them to write about persons in politics, who hold public offices, and of course, persons who have been outstanding in their respective fields. But the great rank and file of the population, many of whom were 'the salt of the earth', but who chose to live private lives have scarcely been mentioned.

"Their chief interests lay in making a good home, rearing a family of honest, God-fearing children, giving them the advantage of the best education possible at the time, and promoting the church and school of their communities. They wanted to be good citizens, and to live in a good community. They wanted to have well-kept farms, and well-kept homes, with an abundance of good food and other necessities, not only for their families, but for the many guests who often shared their hospitality. Their children and their children's children have lived to call them blessed, but few of them have ever been recorded in the history of the country, although they have been most instrumental in making Eastern Kentucky what it is today.

"A few days ago I was in a second-hand book store here, and bought an old copy of a Kentucky History published in 1837, and written by three men—W. H. Perrin, J. H. Battle, and G. C. Kniffin. This is the Fifth Edition of it. It was published by F. A. Battey and Company, Louisville, Kentucky, 1887, and copyrighted by F. A. Battey and W. H. Perrin. On page 616, the story of the beginning of Magoffin county includes the following:

"The first settlement made in Magoffin county or the territory now forming it, was about the year 1800, by Archibald Prather, Ebenezer Hanna, John Williams, Clay Cook and others. They were from South Carolina, and had attempted a settlement in 1794, but had been driven away by the savages. Their settlement was made at Licking Station, about a mile below the present town of Salyersville, in a bend of the river."

"Archibald was my great-great grandfather. His wife was Sarah, a daughter of Josiah Fugate, who was for awhile a resident of Floyd county. Do you have any information concerning their family? I should greatly appreciate any information you may happen to have.

"I am Regent of the Captain John Waller Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, this year. We have 114 members. With my work at the University of Kentucky, some church work, AAUW (American Association of University Women) and two or three other groups, besides my home and family, I am kept pretty busy. But I am never too busy to read any letters I ever get with information on genealogy or history."

This column is anxious to establish the genesis of the Hargis family which peopled a section of the Kentucky River, gave feudists, as well as lawyers, judges and other prominent persons to the state. R. Lee Stewart, Morehead, thinks

John Hargis, called Colonel of Morehead, was a far-off relative of County Judge James Hargis, of Breathitt county, and a feud leader there with Ed Callahan.

Stewart writes: "Col. John Hargis did live here and owned most of the land which now comprises the town of Morehead, and the land where Morehead State College is located. He laid off streets of the town. He was married three times, but do not know to whom, but his last wife left him and he implored her to return, and said as an inducement to come back: 'I have honey in the gum, flour in the home, and meat in the smoke house. Come home, I need you.' One of the buildings in the first school here was named Hargis Hall, and named for Col. Hargis.

"He had two sons that are I know of, Thomas F. and Billy. When Tom Hargis was an applicant for Circuit Judge, a question as to his age arose. In the history of Kentucky by Collins, it says Thomas F. Hargis was elected Senator from Nicholas county in 1871, and I suppose he lived at Carlisle at that time.

"There were two men named John Hargis and this one here was called Col. John Hargis, for what reason I do not know. Breathitt county John Hargis, was a member of the Constitutional Convention that met October 1, 1849. John S. Hargis was a member of the legislature, 1855-57."

Mrs. Beryl Moesser, 5460 W. 3500, Salt Lake City, Utah, writes about her Adams ancestors. The Adams branch, in which she is interested, was from Magoffin county.

"I have written many people for information on the Adams family and haven't received many answers. My interest has been in tracing the family of Samuel Johnson Adams, who married Mahala Rice. These people were my great-grandparents."

OBITUARY

Another good mother, a faithful wife and kind neighbor has passed from this life into a glorious spiritual existence to enjoy, with other spirits of departed saints, the unspeakably beautiful scenes of eternity for a season, according to the Will of God.

This writer is referring to the passing of Dona Hopkins McCown, daughter of Elder James Hopkins and Mary Little Hopkins. She was born June 15, 1889. At the time of her passing on October 31, 1955, she was 66 years, 4 months and 14 days of age. On July 19, 1909, she was married to Henry C. McCown. Into this union were born three children named as follows: Mabel Marie, Jackson, Michigan; James Thomas, Charlestown, Indiana; Edward Layman, who preceded her in death by drowning in Michigan while fishing with brother and friends. Both were buried at Harold in the family cemetery, Dona joined the First Baptist Church, Jenkins, Kentucky, 1928. During 1950 she transferred her membership to the Second Baptist Church in Ashland, Kentucky, where H. C., her husband, has now become a member. She remained a faithful member until her passing.

It is not often that the writer is called upon to chronicle the life and passing of one so dear—one whose Christian life shines as a beacon light to all those that knew her. Her devotion to Christian principles, to her husband, children, relatives and friends will be remembered so long as their memory lasts.

The beauty of her Christian virtues speaks in more eloquent tones than any words we can use. Like the 'godly woman of old,' in spirit, she is at rest awaiting the resurrection of her body. Her redemption will then be complete, and in company with Sarah (Abraham's wife), with Rebecca, Rachel, Hannah, Naomi, Ruth, Elizabeth, Mary (the mother of Jesus), Lydia, Phoebe, Unis, Lois whose virtues adorn the pages of Holy Writ. Also, in the company of her own dear loved ones to forever enjoy heavenly scenes. No wonder Solomon said, "A woman that feareth the Lord shall be praised." Her children rise up and call her blessed, Her husband also, and he praiseth her.

Humbly

Native Floyd Woman Is Author of Article In Ky. School Journal

Barbourville, Ky., Nov. 12 (Spl.)—"The Principal and the Public" is the caption of a two-page article appearing in the current issue of the Kentucky School Journal by Mrs. Inez Livingston, instructor in home economics at Union College.

A native of Betsy Layne, Mrs. Livingston has taught at Union College two years. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baisden, now residents of Oak Hill, Ohio.

Calling public relations a two-way street, Mrs. Livingston lists the pupils, alumni, parents, and community as the best channels for informing the people about the schools. The most effective media for influencing others is, she writes, by word of mouth, newspaper, television, and annual reports.

"Noisy" news is easy to get into the papers because of the circulation value of controversy is well known, but it requires more alertness, imagination, and perseverance to get space for 'quiet' news," Mrs. Livingston emphasizes.

The writer quotes Abraham Lincoln in stating "Public sentiment is everything. With public sentiment nothing can fail; without it nothing can succeed."

Receiving her master's degree from Ohio State University, Mrs. Livingston has taught in the public schools at Loyall, Ky., and Columbus, Ohio.

Letter Writing Contest Initiated by Company

A new letter-writing contest offers a free vacation for two in Nassau, it was reported by G. C. Palmer, president of George Washington Life Insurance Company. Said Mr. Palmer, "To the best of my knowledge, this is the first contest of this type ever made available by an insurance company."

The prize consists of a vacation in Nassau at the Emerald Beach Hotel. All meals, air fare, sightseeing trips and spending money are being provided by the Company. According to Mr. Palmer, "This is the kind of trip everyone would like to take but never seems to get around to. In selecting our prize we tried to make sure it could be enjoyed by folks of all ages. That's why we decided on the vacation trip, and to a wonderful place like Nassau."

T.B. THOUGH REDUCED, STILL LEADS DISEASES

Deaths from tuberculosis in Kentucky were reduced from 526 (17.9 per 100,000 population) in 1954 to 463 (15.7 per 100,000 population) last year. This a reduction of 12 percent, but TB is still the leading killer among communicable diseases. Buy and use Christmas Seals.

Soil Bank Acreages May Not Be Pastured, Goble Warns Farmers

Soil Bank acreages placed in the 1956 Soil Bank Program are not to be harvested or grazed during the remainder of this year. This warning was issued by Elder Goble of the Floyd county ASC office.

"With grain harvest practically complete and with crops reaching the dormant stage, farmers may have a tendency to grow careless and permit livestock to run on designated acreage," Goble said. "The Soil Bank Act and all regulations and instructions relative thereto vividly point out that areas designated are not to be pastured since June 22, 1956, and no crop harvested from January 1, 1956, through December 31, 1956. If these instructions are not complied with, it will constitute a violation. This may require refund of payments already made, plus an additional penalty. Under existing procedure, we will continue to spot check farms from this standpoint and will investigate all reported violations," Goble added.

RESOLUTION

A resolution authorizing and empowering the Mayor and City Solicitor to cooperate with the federal government in the manner required by law for the construction of certain flood protection works in the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

WHEREAS, The Chief of Engineers, Department of the Army, has determined on the basis of preliminary studies that a local backwater protection project for the partial protection of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, warrants consideration for construction under authority of Section 212 of the Flood Control Act as approved on May 17, 1950 and as amended under Public Law 685, Eighty-fourth Congress, first session, and

WHEREAS, the said Chief of Engineers has authorized the preparation of a Design Memorandum comprising a detailed study for determining the features of the project and for use as a basis for determining further action regarding the project, and

WHEREAS, said Act, approved May 17, 1950 provides that the local cooperation required by Section 3 of the Flood Control Act of June 22, 1936, is applicable to local flood protection projects, and

WHEREAS, by Section 3 of the Flood Control Act approved June 22, 1936, it is provided that no money appropriated under authority of said Act shall be expended on the construction of any project until States, political subdivisions thereof, or other responsible local agencies have given assurances satisfactory to the Secretary of the Army that they will (a) provide without cost to the United States all lands, easements and rights-of-way necessary for the construction of the project; (b) hold and save the United States free from damages due to the construction works; (c) maintain and operate all the works after completion in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the Army; and

WHEREAS, the local agency responsible for local cooperation, as a part of said assurances (a), (b) and (c), is required to protect ponding areas at pump stations from encroachment, or in lieu thereof provide, without cost to the United States, substitute areas or necessary additional pump or outlet capacity, and

WHEREAS, the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, considers itself financially able to comply with the requirements of said Section 3 of the Flood Control Act approved June 22, 1936, as to local cooperation subject to the approval of the electors of said City; and

WHEREAS, said City desires a determination of its financial obligations prior to furnishing formal assurances required by the said Act; NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE GENERAL COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY:

SECTION 1. That the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, does agree and hereby assures the Secretary of the Army that, upon approval of a Design Memorandum by the United States it will, subject to the approval of the electors of said City:

(a) Provide without cost to the United States, all lands, easements, and rights-of-way necessary for the construction of the project.

(b) Hold and save the United States free from damages due to the construction works.

(c) Maintain and operate all the works after completion in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the Army.

(d) Protect ponding areas at pump stations from encroachment, or in lieu thereof provide, without cost to the United States, substitute areas or necessary pump or outlet capacity.

SECTION 2. That the Mayor and City Solicitor of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, are hereby authorized and directed to execute and deliver for and in behalf of said City to the United States any and all instruments which may be required by the United States consistent with the commitments hereinbefore set forth.

SECTION 3. This Resolution shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication, as required by law.

To My Many Friends Of Floyd County

It might seem early for this announcement, but since our Primary Election has been moved from August back to the month of May, I feel that it is proper for me to let my many good friends know that I deeply appreciate your kind and considerate help that you have given me in the past.

I have worked hard to help the people get the best service possible in your County Court Clerk's office. I will do my very best to do a good job in the future.

Please give me your consideration in the Democratic Primary for reelection as your County Court Clerk on the 28th day of May. I will give to the people the same good service that we have given in the past.

Your friend,
DURAN MOORE

General Association Hears That Contribution Total For Year Was $3,012,112

Madisonville, Ky., Nov. 14 (Sp.)—Kentucky Baptists contributed $3,012,112 to the missionary, educational, and benevolent enterprises of their denomination in 1955-56—by far the largest sum they have ever given.

This was disclosed by Dr. W. C. Boone, Louisville, as he gave the annual report of the state executive board to the General Association of Baptists in Kentucky here this morning.

The Baptists began their annual meeting yesterday, and will meet until noon tomorrow. Dr. Boone is general secretary and treasurer of the executive board.

The General Association of Baptists is the largest religious body in Kentucky with 2,300 affiliated churches having a membership of 600,000. Messengers (delegates) are here from a majority of the member churches.

Dr. Boone said that total gifts to denominational causes exceeded last year's figures by $370,827.

Of the total, $1,914,365 was forwarded by the churches to the state board for distribution through the Cooperative Program, Baptist financial plan, in accordance with the budget voted at the meeting of the General Association last year. The remainder was designated to particular causes.

Cooperative Program funds in the amount of $600,000 went to Southern Baptist Convention needs. The remainder was allocated to Kentucky causes.

District associations reported 22-24 baptisms in the past year. Dr. Boone announced. A total of 1,539 of these were accounted for by the 90 state missionaries employed by the executive board, he said.

Churchwomen Plan Work For Coming Year; Youth Literature Talk Subject

The Executive committee of the Local Council of Churchwomen at a recent meeting at the home of the Council president, Mrs. R. V. May, set up committees and plans for the coming year's work.

Plans were discussed at the meeting to carry the fight against undesirable literature to the youthful readers themselves by contacting youths in church, school and youth groups and asking them to refuse to buy such reading matter.

The Good Literature committee is composed of Mrs. Ira McMillen, Jr., chairman, Miss Mary Martha Williams, Mrs. Joe Arnett, Mrs. J. Baldwin Stutz, Mrs. Ralph Breeding.

The committee named for the observance March 8 of World Day of Prayer is composed of Mrs. Virginia Wright, chairman, Mrs. Viola Cooley, Mrs. Anna Feiler, Mrs. Garnet Fairchild, Mrs. Dora Osborne.

Work will be done locally to further the theme of "Keeping Christ in Christmas" this year, and the committee named to lead this activity includes Mrs. Josie Howard, chairman, Mrs. Dollie Pettrey, Miss Carol Jean Hale, Mrs. C. F. Halstead, Mrs. Ethel Dickerson, Mrs. Peggy Spurlock.

Man, with all the advantages of modern culture and civilization, is the destroyer.

SMOKE BECAUSE THERE'S FIRE

The other day, we remarked that, for all the beautiful fall weather, the traditional haze of Indian summer was missing this year. And we were reminded that the haze was missing because this county had had few forest fires.

This morning, weeks late, the haze is there. And the woodland fires are going this morning, too.

Which destroys the beautiful, old Indian legend which runs to the effect that that autumn haze is caused by the campfires departed warriors have built on the trail to the Happy Hunting Grounds.

Men, with all the advantages of modern culture and civilization, is the destroyer.

THANKS FOR NOTHING

The Oregon Supreme Court has held that "somewhere there should be at least one island on the sea of life reserved for man that would be impregnable to the assault of woman."

Men all over the country literally whooped and hollered when they read those deathless lines, but they fell into deep silence when they read on to discover that the Oregon judiciary had designated the "manly art of wrestling" as that "island" and so had barred the girls from the grunt-and-groan racket.

Napoleon was shunted off to St. Helena, they grumbled. And he wasn't a bit satisfied. Nor are the men with this "island" fortress of theirs.

The boys have been watching on television the farce that passes for wrestling, and you can't blame them for feeling like the ladies should have that "island", too.

Seven Floyd Students At Georgetown College

Seven students from Floyd county are attending Georgetown (Ky.) College, this fall it was announced by Registrar, J. Foley Snyder, recently.

Mr. Snyder further pointed out that 99 of Kentucky's 120 counties are represented on the campus. This is the best state-wide representation in Georgetown's history.

The in-residence student body this fall is the largest to date. There are nearly 1,100 enrolled in classwork this year.

Students from Floyd county are: Rebecca Sue Conley, James Preston Daniels, Robert Marshall Daniels, Jacqueline Hensley, John J. Hill, and Charles Joseph Isbell, all of Prestonsburg, and Sonie Johnson, of Allen.

Paintsville Tigers Win Bowl Game at Home

Paintsville's rampaging Tigers successfully closed their 1956 football season with an overall 10-1 record by knocking 12th ranked Madison-Model from the unbeaten ranks in the sixth annual Big Sandy Bowl last Friday night. Paintsville defeated the downstaters, 20-0.

In other season finales, Pikeville finished with a 8-2-1 mark in bowing 34-19, to fourth-ranked Corbin. Whitesburg was drubbed 36-6 by Middlesboro in the second annual Pinnacle Bowl in Middlesboro.

Fleming-Neon overcame a 7-0 first period deficit to down Cumberland, 26-7, in the first annual Coal Bowl at Benham. Dave Hurs's charges tied the count late in the second quarter when fullback James Hill plunged over from the one and halfback Donnie Skaggs added the extra point.

In the third frame Quarterback Leon Sargent scored from the one and in the final period Fleming iced the victory with an 18-yard run by Skaggs and a 10-yarder by Hill. Frankie Patton, diminutive Paintsville halfback, reeled off 147 yards in 18 tries in pacing his mates by the Richmond school. By scoring one touchdown and two extra points, Patton established a new individual Eastern Kentucky high scoring record with 144 points in a single season.

The agile senior thrilled some 5,100 fans with his explosive jaunts and all-around play. Weighing only 155-pounds and standing five-feet, five inches, the 10-second speedster relentlessly pounded the heavier Model line for yardage.

Big Jim Cyrus, 275-pound senior guard, was the workhorse in the line as he continually kept Model's Allen Hughes and John Greene from making any appreciable gains. For his outstanding play, Cyrus was judged the most outstanding player in the classic. But quarterback Jim Conley, halfback Jim Wells or fullback Joe Rapier were almost equally effective with their fine showing. The statistics reveal the powerful Tiger attack as they led 18-4 in first downs and 239 to 86 in yards rushing.

Lloyd Hodge, Whitesburg's ace fullback, tallied the lone touchdown in their loss to Middlesboro. Thus Hodge trailed Patton by one touchdown in the mountain scoring race.

Pikeville's Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference champions failed to stop Corbin's Calvin Bird as the all-time Kentucky scoring champ raced for three touchdowns to run his season's output to 256 points.

The annual fall meeting of the Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference is set for Pikeville, Sunday at 1:30 p.m.

Bears Face Only Four This Season Who Lost To Them in Recent Years

Pikeville, Ky., Nov. 14 (Spl.) — The Pikeville College Bears will face only four basketball opponents this season whom they have defeated in the last few years, and Saturday (Nov. 17) they are scheduled to meet the only two-time loser in the lot.

The independent cagers sponsored by the Paty Lumber Co., Johnson City, Tenn., dropped a pair of games to the Bears last year, 90-73 at Pikeville, and 92-85 on a Tennessee floor. With a record of 31 wins and 18 defeats last year, however, they will not be lightly regarded.

A pair of 6-4 centers, Charles Edens, formerly of the University of Tennessee, and Joe Shipley, of Carson-Newman College, have been added to the aptly-named Paty Splinters. They will bolster 6-4 forward John Shanks and newly acquired 6-3 Bob Harmon, both former East Tennessee State stars, when Paty faces Pikeville at 8:15 Saturday (Nov. 17).

A milestone in athletic progress at Pikeville will be marked Monday when the Bears host their first opponent from the Kentucky Intercollegiate Athletic Conference. The Transylvania College Pioneers will be the first of six K. I. A. C. members to meet the new four-year Pikeville College squad this season. The others are Berea, Georgetown, Union, Bellarmine and Villa Madonna colleges.

The Pikeville College Freshmen, trying to keep rolling after their successful opener last Saturday against Sue Bennett College, will play 7 p.m. preliminaries to both Saturday's and Monday's games. They will entertain the Lees Junior College Generals who humbled the Bears varsity 94-74 last Feb. 13, before the Paty match on Saturday, and the cagers of Clinch Valley College, Wise, Va., as a curtain-raiser for Monday's Transylvania tilt.

Dale Fillingame, the 6-9 import from Bradley Institute, Midway, Ga., made most of the Pikeville markers as the Frosh edged Sue Bennett's Green Dragons 81-78 on the Dragons' own floor at London, Ky., Saturday. The Georgia hookster, hitting better than 70 per cent on both field goals and free throws, led both teams with 32 points on 10 for 14 fielders and 12 for 17 charities.

NEW SEASON FOR HUNTERS

Monday Is Opening Date; More Quail, Other Game Indicated After Survey

Kentucky's season on hunting gets underway in full swing Monday when hunters may pursue the bag, squirrel, quail, grouse and furbearing animals.

Preliminary indications are that this should be an especially good season, since more quail, as many rabbits, squirrel and grouse and a good supply of furbearers may be found, according to the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources' statewide game survey.

The second phase of the squirrel season opens on November 19 and continues through December 16. Rabbits, quail, grouse and furbearers the season opens on the same date and closes on January 17. The waterfowl season is in full swing right now with the end being on January 11.

Bag limits are unchanged. For rabbits it is eight a day or a possession limit of 16 after two or more days of hunting. For quail it is 10 per day and a possession limit of 20. Two ruffed grouse may be killed in a day with a possession limit of four. There is no limit on furbearing animals.

The limit for ducks is four per day and a possession limit of eight with no wood ducks included. The bag and possession limit of geese is five with not more than two Canadas included.

Each hunter must have a statewide hunting license and waterfowl hunters must also have a federal duck stamp. The Department asks the hunters to ask permission from farmers before hunting on their property. It is pointed out that this is a mere courtesy on the part of the hunters.

Vet Board Gives Good Pension Advice

Frankfort, Nov. 15 — Veterans' survivors receiving federal government benefits have been advised "to consider all facts" before asking that the payments be made under a new law.

The Kentucky Disabled Ex-Service Men's Board said "in many cases it may be more advantageous for them—the survivors—to continue to receive present death benefits rather than selecting payment under the new law," effective next Jan. 1.

After recipients elect to receive benefits under the new act, the board said, they cannot return to payments under the old law. The new law does not change death pension benefits to widows and children of war veterans whose deaths were not due to military service, the board said.

A board representative will visit county seats each month to advise recipients concerning the advantages of the new or old law.

SPORTS CHATTER

By GORDON MOORE

On the one hand, there is a demand for feather lightness in weapons; on the other hand, the demand is for greater power in the cartridge. If the shooter should ever get the two extremes on the one hand, there's liable to be some misplaced anatomy.

Super-powered cartridges, says Pete Brown, arms editor of Sports Afield magazine, would beat a shooter to death if chambered in what is now considered a lightweight weapon. This brings up the subject of butt-end reaction—namely, recoil, or "kick."

Recoil can be calculated with a reasonable degree of accuracy. But what do we mean by "kick?" Let's say that kick is what we personally feel whether it's applied to the shoulder by a gun or to the seat of the pants by a well-directed boot. Because of their individual makeup, physical and mental, people feel recoil differently.

It is hard to say just how much recoil the average hunter is willing to take. Some are willing to take added recoil in order to have a light weapon, and I would say that the greatest emphasis at the present time is on lightness. Others will accept added recoil in the interests of more power.

When hunting game such as the big African trophies, the hunter should be willing to accept more recoil along with a heavier rifle. Shooting at dangerous game, a 60-foot-pound recoil energy is not out of place. Bird shooting, however, frequently calls for overhead shots where the recoil tends to pile-drive a shooter to the ground instead of permitting him to roll with the punch.

Possibly you have heard talk concerning minimized recoil effect with the autoloading guns. You may wonder if the reduced recoil effect is accounted for in reduced ballistics at the muzzle end. The answer is no.

One thing is certain. If you want to follow the modern trend toward weapon lightness for our most popular American hunting, you will find it necessary to leave some of the modern power behind, unless you want to take a lot of recoil punishment.

LEGION DUES UP

National dues of the American Legion have risen from $1.25 to $1.50 per year, according to W. G. Africa, past adjutant of Post 129, Prestonsburg. The increase is mandated by the 38th Annual National Convention of the Legion held in Los Angeles, Calif. The annual membership drive of the Legion is on now, Africa says.

Safety Campaign To Be Conducted

Frankfort, Nov. 15 — A total of 621 persons have died in Kentucky highway accidents through Nov. 6, according to an announcement by Don S. Sturgill, acting commissioner of Public Safety.

Highway fatalities last year for the same period were 697. Sixty-two died in October as compared with 69 for the same month in 1955.

Sturgill said his department will do all in its power to bring about more substantial road death decreases during the coming months. He reminded drivers that November and December are two of the most dangerous driving months because of the holiday season, and the hazards of winter weather.

The Department of Public Safety, according to Sturgill, is planning a campaign in traffic safety and law enforcement.

Transylvania Receives Largest Gift, Ever, Said; Gym Completion Slated

Transylvania College received the largest single gift in its long history recently, when a grant of $200,000 was made to the institution from the estate of Mrs. Amelle McAllister Upshur, it was announced by Transylvania President Frank A. Rose.

The grant was made by joint action of the co-executors, the Guaranty Trust Company of New York City and Logan Fulrath, attorney for Mrs. Upshur. The money is to be used "specifically and exclusively" to complete the auditorium-gymnasium now under construction on the Transylvania campus. The new building will be known as "McAllister Auditorium," since the money is given in memory of William H. McAllister and his daughter, Amelle, by the executor of her last will and testament, Dr. Rose said.

Transylvania began the auditorium-gymnasium in 1929 as strictly a college project. At the time it was felt that one of the oldest intercollegiate competitors in the South should have an adequate basketball floor. Construction was halted because of lack of funds due to the depression, and a temporary wooden covering was put over the permanent floor, cement and steel framework that had been installed. The college never was able to get back to the project until 1947, when permanent brick and cement shower and locker rooms, equipment rooms and offices were added to the back of the frame building.

At this point, Transylvania has an investment in the building of $270,587. To complete the bare building, $351,232 is needed. Present basic contract held by the general contractor, Smith-Haggard Lumber Co., is approximately $221,000. Additional contracts for lighting, plumbing and heating, account for the rest. According to an estimate by the architect, an entire building of this size could not be constructed by the college today for less than $700,000 to $800,000.

With the present gift of $200,000, the development program total has reached the $1,200,000 mark, Dr. Rose reported. Included in the first million dollars were gifts earmarked for professors' salaries and other special projects, money to underwrite the accumulated deficit, and $160,000 from the campaign in Louisville to go toward completion of the auditorium.

The new building will seat nearly 2,000 persons as an auditorium, and 1,600 as a gymnasium. It will be used by both the college and civic groups for concerts, lectures, ballet and other events of this nature as well as for the college athletic events and tournaments.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A SALUTE TO THE STATE POLICE

Editor The Times:
Up until November of last year, there were over 700 killed by cars in Kentucky. This year the number is some over a 100 less, something to be proud of, but still far too many people killed by these chrome-studded, sleek and shining monsters.

The Kentucky State Police are to be commended for the fine work they are doing on the roads of this commonwealth. The lessening of the number of deaths can be attributed to them. They are 100 per cent enforcing the strict requirements, rules, and tests one must pass before obtaining a driver's license.

Particularly, they are watching out for motorists who got their licenses long ago, when laws were lax. In this category there are drivers who are habitual sots, dope addicts, and maybe some who are mentally deranged. Instead of being behind the wheels of modern high compression cars they should be in psychopathic wards.

Let us all take our hats off to the Kentucky State Police.

STATE'S INDUSTRIAL GAINS EXCEED SOUTHEAST STATES

Kentucky's industrial gains since 1939 have outstripped both the nation and the Southeast in several important areas.

This statement was made recently by Charles H. Thomas, research director of the State Economic Development Department. He said between 1939 and 1954 Kentucky enjoyed a greater increase than either the nation or the average of 11 Southeastern states in manufacturing employment, payrolls and value of output. Comparisons were based on recently-released preliminary figures of the 1954 U. S. Census of Manufactures.

"Comparisons of industrial growth are sometimes made on the basis of the number of new factories. Our agency doesn't regard these as meaningful. We feel new jobs are a more valid measure. Greater employment is the end objective of our department and other organizations trying to raise Kentuckians' standard of living. In that respect, the state has been making good progress," Thomas said.

The number of manufacturing employees in Kentucky climbed from 76,900 in 1939 to 146,800 in 1954, for an increase of 90.9 per cent—highest percentage of any other Southeastern state, Thomas said. Kentucky's ranking among states of the Southeast in total number of manufacturing employees was eighth in 1939 and seventh in 1954.

Employment figures since the census was taken indicate Kentucky is continuing its pace of the 1939-1954 period, the director added. As of April, 1956, the number of manufacturing employees in the state totaled 166,600, an increase of 13.2 per cent since 1954, he said. For the same period, the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics reported gains of 6.3 and 8.4 per cent for the nation and the Southeast.

Thomas said Kentucky's April figure represented an increase of 166.6 per cent over 1939. The national gains amounted to 73.5 and 78.2 per cent.

The survey showed Kentucky's biggest employe gains in the 1939-54 period were in the tobacco, apparel, food, chemical, fabricated metals and electrical and non-electrical machinery industries.

Between 1939 and 1954 annual manufacturing payrolls in Kentucky rose 493.6 per cent from 89.5 million dollars to 531.3 million dollars, the survey showed. Thomas said this rate of gain was topped by five other states in the Southeast—Florida, Arkansas, Mississippi, Louisiana and South Carolina—but was well ahead of the regional and national averages of 391.5 and 460.8 per cent.

Value added to product's manufactured by Kentucky firms in 1954 amounted to 1,231 million dollars, an increase of 557.1 per cent over the total of 187.4 million dollars reported in 1939. Only two Southeastern states—Arkansas and Florida—had larger gains, it was pointed out. Average increases for the U. S. and the region were 373 and 424 per cent.

Thomas said a comparison of new capital expenditures provides another measurement of Kentucky's industrial growth. Plant investment in the state in 1939 was 9.1 million dollars, against 125.4 million dollars in 1954, an increase of 1,278 per cent. Expenditures in 1954 were higher in four other Southeastern states—Georgia, Louisiana, Tennessee and North Carolina—but no other state in the region reported a greater percentage gain.

In number of new manufacturing plants, Kentucky reported a 1939-54 increase of 62 per cent, from 1,640 to 2,668. Thomas said while this was higher than the national average, it was the smallest among the Southeastern states. He said Kentucky's showing in manufacturing employment and other areas of industrial activity was due to the fact that new plants locating here have been larger than the regional average.

Compared with other Southeastern states, Kentucky has these 1954 rankings in several major industry groups: machinery, electrical and non-electrical, first in employees and value of output; food products, including alcoholic beverages, first in value of output; fabricated metals, second in employees and value of output; primary metals, third in employees and value of output; petroleum products, third in employees and fourth in value of output; chemical, fourth in value of output; tobacco, third in employees.

The Southeastern states other than Kentucky included in the study were: Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia.

Free Diabetic Tests Offered by Physicians Of State Association

Free diabetic tests are being offered by physician members of the Kentucky State Medical Association, hospitals and laboratories throughout the state as part of National Diabetes Weeks which begins Sunday, and Dr. Claude L. Allen, of Langley and Martin, chairman of the Floyd County Medical Society Diabetes Committee, will direct the detection drive locally.

Diabetes Week in Kentucky has been proclaimed by Governor A. B. Chandler for the period from November 11 to 17. Governor Chandler, in his proclamation, stressed the importance of every citizen learning about diabetes and taking advantage of the free tests offered during the week by Kentucky doctors of medicine, hospitals and clinics.

Every man, woman and child in Kentucky was urged this week by Dr. Carlisle Morse, Louisville, K.S.-M.A. Diabetes Committee chairman, to request the free test.

"It is a good idea to be tested for diabetes every year," Dr. Morse said, "because often early detection can greatly simplify control of the weight or diet may permit the victim to live a long, normal life."

"The average person has little to fear even if he has diabetes, so long as he is aware he has it," Dr. Morse continued. "The unfortunate victims are those who may have the disease for a long time without knowing it. Obviously the earlier it is detected, the better."

An estimated 1,000,000 persons in the United States and 15,000 in Kentucky have undiscovered diabetes. It is to find these people so they may avail themselves of control measures, that the Kentucky State Medical Association has sponsored drives each year since 1951.

"A QUART OF KEROSENE"

In the summer of 1956 my wife asked me to get her a quart of kerosene for some cleaning she wanted to do. Away I went, still conscious of how easy such a task would have been a few years ago. Presently I began to doubt my success. I asked for kerosene at two garages, a neighborhood grocery, a chain grocery, and finally another garage before I could find a dime's worth of coal-oil. At several of the places the proprietor and I would compare notes on the amount of coal-oil the stores once sold and the very rapid change in recent years. One told me that, in another Kentucky town where he had run a chain store, he kept 500 gallons of kerosene on hand regularly and was forever having to restock. But our time has changed right under our noses.

Now here I am, not worn out with age, not a rival of Methuselah, who can recall having visited in at least one home where tallow candles, home-made, were the sole source of light. I grew up with coal-oil lamps as the highest form of illumination that any of us knew. My memories are of swinging lamps in parlors, of soft-toned shades on some of the lamps in such elegant places, of homely and useful lamps on the dining table and wherever the family gathered to read. Even at church the soft light from the lamps suspended from the ceiling or along the walls must have been that "dim religious light" that Milton talks about. And think of the old family lantern and the small circle of light that it made in a very dark world. For a very large part of my life, now past three score, this situation remained in most rural areas. Just recently the R. E. A. lines have penetrated the remotest places, so that coal-oil and its various uses may be forgotten as soon as we have forgotten many another phase of our lives.

In the summer I visited several old water mills, reworked and set to grind corn meal, like that on which so many of us were raised. One of the millers and I told a group of people fully as old as we but less fortunate in having seen civilization grow, how important the old mills used to be, not only as grinders of corn meal but as saw-mills and flour mills and cotton gins. The group was respectful but somewhat unconvinced. I am sure at most of the middle-aged men women wondered why the people we had known did not go to the supermarket and get a bag of corn meal or to the building-supplies market and buy whatever planks and such like were needed. These same people may be skeptical about the source of milk and wonder why it is necessary to have cows. However, I don't feel a pride in many of my younger contemporaries of their efforts to learn how our primitive civilization, often shut in by distance or rivers or mountains from most of the big world, managed to survive, to provide some of the luxuries of our lives and all of the necessities. This visible way of showing some of the folk arts by which our ancestors lived is one of the commendable phases of many of our parks and other show places. Many years ago in this column I mentioned Skansen, a show place in Sweden where every type of house and industry of the folk was and still is illustrated. I wished then for something like that in our own land before we become so standardized that we are all alike. Slowly some such ideas are taking form so that within another decade or two we may be able to rival any foreign country in our living pictures of life as it was once lived. The popularity of these old-time transcripts of life shows that people who run tourist traps as well as serious-minded seekers after good folk representations are working in the right direction and will surely be able to have a reward, monetary or one of satisfaction at the interest in our folk origins, or our folk inventiveness.

Farmers Of State Will Get Savings On New Rate Plan

Frankfort, Nov. 15 — Kentucky farmers are scheduled to save approximately $225,000 a year through a new insurance rating schedule announced today by C. P. Thurman, commissioner of the State Insurance Department.

Savings of about 42 cents on fire rates will be made by persons having a superior type of farm dwelling buildings on their land, Thurman said.

Explaining the superior type building, the commissioner said these included buildings constructed of good materials, properly maintained, with central heating plants, approved electric wiring, solid masonry foundations and standard plumbing equipment.

Credits also are allowable to the better type of barns and other out-buildings which are of superior construction and maintenance, Thurman said. Farm buildings which do not qualify as superior will be subject to a nominal increase in rates for both fire and extended coverage, he said.

"I would estimate 70 per cent of the farm dwellings and outbuildings will qualify for the new rating plan," Commissioner Thurman said.

Other new insurance plans mentioned by the Commissioner are: Commercial property coverage which is so-called package policy applying to certain eligible stocks of merchandise covering "all risks" subject to certain limitations and exclusions. It covers fire, burglary, theft, transportation and extended coverage. Thurman said by consolidating these coverages in one contract approximately 25 per cent could be saved.

State Evaluates School Programs

Frankfort, Nov. 15 — The state has begun a process to evaluate the educational program of each public school district in Kentucky.

Purpose of the plan, outlined by Dr. Robert Martin, superintendent of public instruction, is to determine where instruction in grades one through 12 should be improved.

The system of evaluation was prepared by the State Education Department's bureau of instruction and vocational education. Teams of evaluators are visiting various schools. The instruction survey was initiated at Winchester.

UMWA WELFARE FUND WINS, TO RECEIVE LASKER AWARD

Washington, D. C. — The United Mine Workers of America Welfare and Retirement Fund will receive the Albert Lasker Award November 15 at the convention of the American Public Health Association at Atlantic City, N. J. Announcement was made by the Albert and Mary Lasker Foundation in New York yesterday at a news luncheon.

It will be the first time one of the coveted trophies — regarded as the "Oscar" in the public health field — has gone to a welfare program sponsored by a union in a major industry. The individual award for a notable contribution to medical progress is to be presented to Dr. Jonas Salk of polio vaccine fame.

Dr. Warren F. Draper, Executive Medical Officer, will accept the UMWA Fund award. The citation lauds the organization for "creating a model program of health services to a million and a half workers and their families in mining towns from Alabama to Alaska."

It makes note of the building and operation of ten new hospitals in the great productive coal fields of West Virginia, Kentucky and Virginia; the broad rehabilitation program which has restored several thousands of severely crippled coal miners, and the extension of complete medical care to wives and dependent children of coal miners.

"The bold, comprehensive medical care program you have developed," the citation says, "has demonstrated that private physicians and organized labor can work together in harmony for the good of the patient. It exemplifies the best in medicine, in social accomplishment and social consciousness."

Group awards have hitherto gone to groups making a significant effort to widen the base of medical care both in this country and abroad. Among them are the British Ministries of Food and Health; the Health Insurance Plan of Greater New York and the National Institutes of Health. Eight of the individual winners since the awards were first given ten years ago subsequently won Nobel prizes.

Floyd Girls Selected Attendants To Queen At Pikeville Homecoming

Pikeville, Ky., Nov. 14 (Spl.) — Two young Floyd county women, one a junior and the other a freshman at Pikeville College, have been elected attendants to the queen of Pikeville's 1956 basketball homecoming, Nov. 23.

Billie Jean Martin, of Hunter, a member of the junior class at Pikeville, and freshman Toby Ann Bussey, of David, were among the top runners-up for the homecoming queen's crown in student voting recently. Dr. A. A. Page, college president, announced. Candidates were nominated by the 12 members of the Pikeville College Bears' basketball squad, and the queen, Geraldine Smith, Sidney, Ky., and her attendants were chosen by the entire Pikeville student body.

All five young women will select their escorts for the homecoming ceremony from the Bears' squad. The Floyd county members of the squad are letterman Jack Stevens, Hueysville, a junior at Pikeville, and sophomore Doug Chaffins, Garrett.

The queen's coronation will take place between halves of Pikeville College's game with West Virginia Institute of Technology, one of the toughest opponents on the Bears' schedule. The West Virginia Tech Golden Bears, who for two years were the nation's highest-scoring small-college team, trounced Pikeville 105-81 last Nov. 28 at Montgomery, W. Va., when the Bears were on the tag end of a four-day, three-game road trip.

Miss Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Martin, is a 1955 graduate of Martin high school, where she was a band majorette and president of the school band, secretary of her class in her senior year, and belonged to the school's pep club and glee club. As a college student she has been a member of Pikeville's Young Women's Christian Association and the Girls' Athletic Club.

Miss Bussey, who was graduated only last spring from Prestonsburg high school, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Bussey, David, and holds a scholarship at Pikeville sponsored by the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company. Besides being her high school's homecoming queen, she was president of her home room.

Average Life Earnings Of Floyd Man, $96,000

(Special to The Times)

New York, Nov. 11 — Of particular interest now, because this is American Education Week is the dollars and cents value of education to the young men of Floyd county.

A special study, made by analysts in the U. S. Census Bureau, shows that the lifetime earning capacity of the average male resident has reached new heights locally.

Under current conditions of employment, of national business health, of education and of life span, the youth starting out now to make a living can expect lifetime earnings totaling $96,000. That is twice the amount to which a man could have looked forward after the last war, inflationary effects considered. No figures are included for women.

This view into the future, based on data compiled at the Census Bureau, is reflected in the current earnings in Floyd county, where after-tax incomes are running $3,492 per family.

The U. S. Office of Education finds that while registrations in high schools and colleges are high, because more parents can afford to give their children better educations now, there is still a sizeable number of young people who are dropping out, lured by well-paying jobs.

If they were aware of the money value of education, it is pointed out, they might give second thought to the matter.

The Census Bureau study shows that a high school education is worth $50,000 more than a grade school one in lifetime earnings. And a college education will return $100,000 more than one of high school only. The present prospective income for college graduates is set at $268,000. Most men, however, do not go much beyond grade school.

In Floyd county, according to the latest census figures, the average schooling of the adult population stands at 7.4 years and is on the rise.

HOWELL APPOINTED

O. C. Howell, of Allen, has been appointed to the National Youth Activities Committee of the Veterans of Foreign Wars by Cooper T. Holt, Chattanooga, Tenn., Commander-in-Chief of the V.F.W.

What puts the Mark of Tomorrow in the new kind of FORD?

Here's what puts the Mark of Tomorrow in the new kind of Ford!

It's the sculptured look. You'll see it the moment your eyes wander over this fine car. In a '57 Ford you belong . . . anywhere.

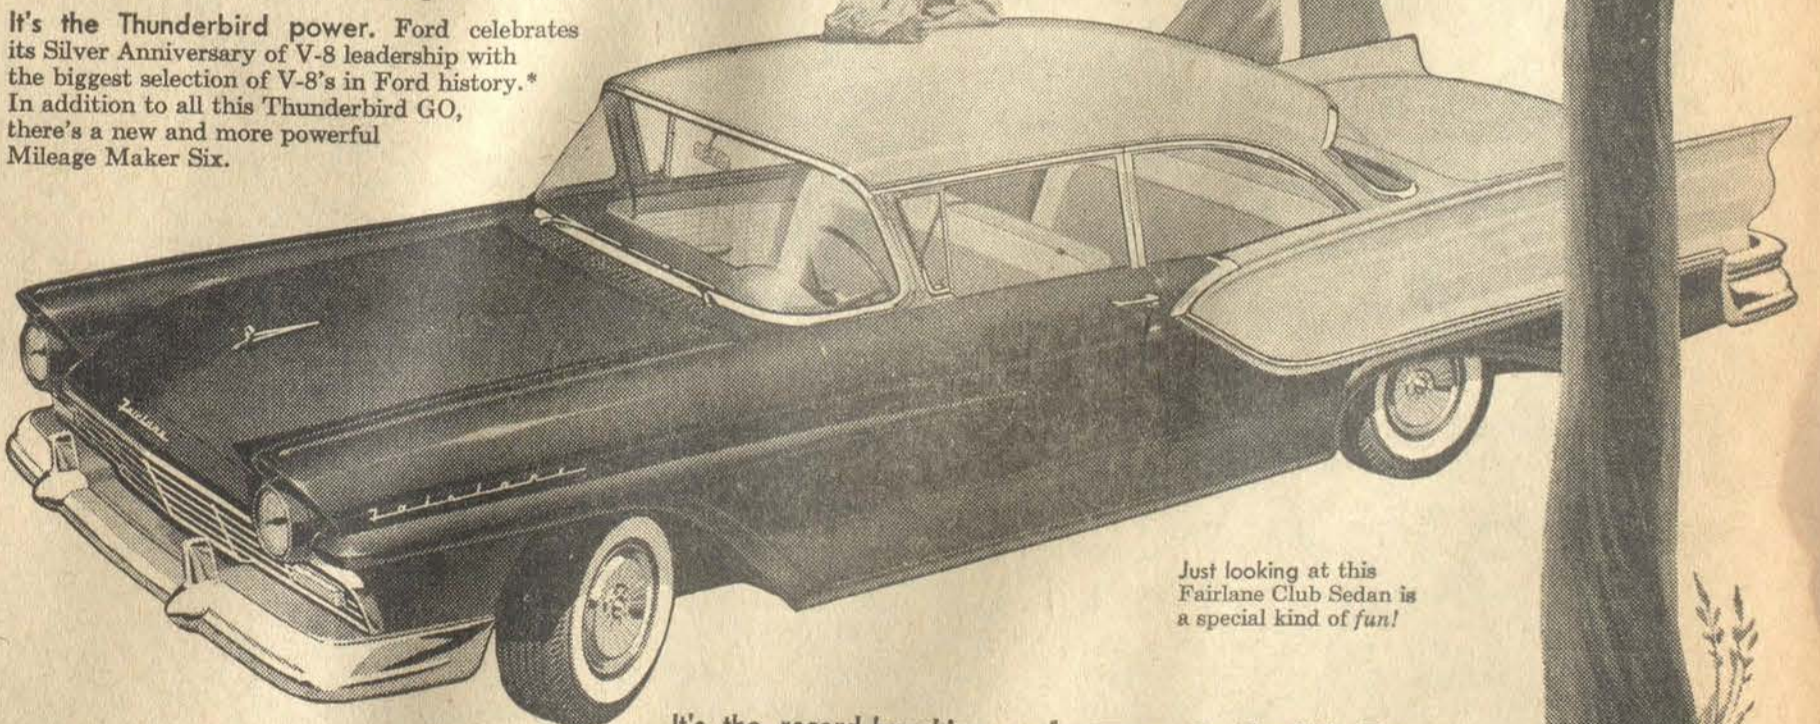

It's the long, lean lines. There's a greyhound grace to this Ford. No useless "fat," no showy "padding." It's as trim as a jet fighter.

It's the hardtop styling. Fairlane sedans have the hardtop look of Victorias! Superthin, superstrong center pillars are smartly concealed to give hardtop beauty when doors are closed.

It's the freedom of choice. Colors? Fabrics? Accessories? Far more than that! Ford gives you a choice of two new, bigger sizes . . . longer, lower, roomier!

It's the ride that stays gentle. With a new frame that rides sweeter and lower, new springs, new suspension all around, even the roughest roads can't ruffle the poise of the new Ford.

It's the Thunderbird power. Ford celebrates its Silver Anniversary of V-8 leadership with the biggest selection of V-8's in Ford history.* In addition to all this Thunderbird GO, there's a new and more powerful Mileage Maker Six.

Just looking at this Fairlane Club Sedan is a special kind of fun!

It's the record-breaking performance. On the Salt Flats at Bonneville, Utah, a '57 Ford traveled 50,000 miles in less than 20 days . . . an average speed of 108.16 mph, including all pit stops! Another Ford averaged over 107 mph. Altogether, 458 national and international performance records were smashed as Ford rewrote the record book.

It's the big dollar value that lasts and lasts. Styled for tomorrow, a new Ford keeps its value longer. And wonder of wonders, all this extra strength, extra beauty, extra length is yours at low Ford prices!

*Included is a special 270-hp Thunderbird 312 Super V-8 engine available at extra cost. Also, an extra-high-performance Thunderbird 312 Super V-8 delivering up to 285 bhp.

Wise man say: "Don't wait for TOMORROW

when you can get it today!"
