

THURSDAY

This Town— That World

The sun shines bright on our old Kentucky homes— sometimes.

THE COLD WAR

More Floyd countians than usual have been fighting the cold war this spring. If we hadn't resorted to chemical warfare, some of us would have lost the fight, too.

Speaking of colds, they're a lot like a political convention. Sometimes the eyes have it, and again it's the nose.

PET PEEVES

Any time I feel like getting down to some old-fashioned grousing and find myself in need of a fresh subject, I turn on the television, and there it is.

THE DIFFERENCE

"The ability to sin differs among people," a preacher declared, and was immediately answered by the wife of a fisherman.

STURGILL SUIT ASKS $61,500

12-year-Old Plaintiff, Through Mother, Alleges Hurts Negligence Result

A suit asking a total of $61,500 was filed in circuit court Saturday against Dan Knauz, Harold coal operator, and his employe, Charley Keathley, by Walter Franklin Sturgill, infant.

The plaintiff is 12 years old, and the suit was filed by his mother, Mrs. Carlie Sturgill. The petition, which was prepared by Tackett & Tackett, alleges that Keathley as Knauz's agent was moving a trailer from Harold to another mine, March 2, and that Keathley permitted young Sturgill to work on the job and ride the trailer without the permission of his parents or any other person.

It is alleged that because of negligent operation of the truck and trailer by Keathley the conveyance ran over the boy. As a result, it is contended, he suffered fractures of a shoulder blade and ribs and amputation of two toes.

Claiming permanent hurt, the plaintiff asks $50,000 damages, plus $10,000 for additional damage he will suffer from future physical and mental pain, and $1,500 hospital bill.

U. S. 23 AND KY. 80 SLATED FOR SURFACE

HIWAY DEPT' TO SEEK BIDS DURING APRIL

Trail To Paintsville, Two Beaver Cr. Roads Listed for Resurfacing

The Kentucky Department of Highways has announced plans to ask bids for the April 26 letting of contracts on concrete bituminous surfacing of 24.65 miles of U. S. 23 in Floyd, Pike and Johnson counties and 17.41 miles of the Allen-Lackey-Hindman and the Lackey-Wayland-Beaver Gap roads in this county.

The U. S. 23 work will be a continuation of the resurfacing and widening job started last year by the highway department. The 1956 work saw resurfacing of that highway from the Floyd-Pike line near Boldman to the upper city limits of Prestonsburg.

In all, 24,656 miles of U. S. 23 are slated for improvement, with 6.6 miles in Floyd county, 5.8 miles in Pike and 12.2 miles in Johnson.

The Allen-Lackey-Hindman route resurfacing will begin approximately one mile south of the upper city limits of Martin and extend to the Knott county line at Lackey, a distance of 12,036 miles.

The Lackey-Wayland-Beaver Gap work will extend from Lackey through Wayland to the Knott county line, 2,47 miles south of the southern city limits of Wayland.

Bids were opened at Frankfort last Friday on bituminous surfacing of Ky. 404 from Hippo on Brush Creek to the junction with the Middle Creek road, near David, but name of the successful bidder had not been announced Tuesday.

A contract for repair work on bridges in Floyd and Pike counties has been awarded the C. D. Juett Co., of Winchester. The company submitted a low bid of $202,597.13.

RELIEF RULES ARE TIGHTER

Stumbo Says Floyd Not Affected by Compliance Regulation Now Effective

Tighter regulations governing free distribution of surplus food and the threat that counties failing to comply will be suspended from the program will not affect Floyd county, for it already is complying, County Judge Henry Stumbo said this week.

Floyd county has cut the number of relief recipients from about 17,000 to 9,915. Smaller Johnson county has 9,287 and Knott with an even smaller population has 9,026.

Breathitt county was suspended last December for failure to certify applicants properly and for failure to keep accurate records. Sixty-one counties are in the program.

Counties have been given till May 1 to comply with the stricter program laid down by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The Department of Agriculture, which oversees the surplus foods program, notified Kentucky on January 28 that because of certain abuses:

"We cannot, under the present circumstances, continue operation of the welfare program unless positive and immediate action is taken to put the program on the realistic basis . . ."

State Agriculture Commissioner Ben J. Butler said the irregularities complained of included:

1. Certification of applicants for food without first conducting proper investigation.

2. Approval of applicants whose income exceeded the maximum that a recipient eligible for free food may earn.

3. Distribution of food to persons whose need for it was questionable.

Butler said Kentucky is not now in danger of losing the program and "we don't want to get there."

Politics and the surplus-food program are incompatible, Butler told 50 county judges who met in

COOPER SAYS PLAN REVIVED

Reservoirs To Control Water Damage Planned For Big Sandy Section

Projects to build two reservoirs costing a total of more than $34,000,000 to reduce flood damage on the Big Sandy River are being revived.

Senator John Sherman Cooper, Kentucky Republican, said Tuesday the projects are for a $28,300,000 reservoir on the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy near Pikeville and a $6,000,000 reservoir on the Pound River near Pound, Va. The revival of a third reservoir is being considered.

Senator Cooper said the action is based on a report by the Huntington district U. S. Engineers on damage of recent floods on the Big Sandy.

Investment in flood control facilities must be justified by the amount of damage they would prevent.

The Fishtrap Reservoir near Pikeville would have a capacity of 105,000 acre-feet of water. The Clintwood Reservoir near Pound would have a capacity of 32,000 acre-feet.

Senator Cooper is asking for the new facilities in the present budget.

The Haysi Reservoir would be on the Russell River near Haysi, Va. This project has not been revived yet, due to the fact the U. S. Engineers still have it under study. It would cost $10,100,000 and would have a capacity of 42,000 acre-feet.

All three reservoirs were approved by the 1948 session of Congress, Senator Cooper said. However, no appropriation was made.

BLAZE LEVELS THE TOP HAT

East Point Fire Loss Estimated At $25,000; Branham Home Is Razed

The Top Hat at East Point was destroyed by fire of unknown origin Sunday night at an estimated loss of $25,000, and on the following day the residence of John Branham on the Auxier road burned with all its contents.

The Top Hat building, a frame structure 115 feet long by 40 feet wide, was owned by Mrs. Troy Mullins and her sister, Mrs. Tommy Ratliff, and the business had been operated during recent months by the Mullinses. Mr. Mullins said the place was closed Sunday and that their first knowledge of the fire was when two girls going to work there Monday found the building burned down and reported to them.

Those living in the vicinity said the building was ablaze beyond saving when they first discovered the fire. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Cause of the blaze which destroyed the 5-room Branham home is not definitely known, although both defective wiring and lightning are suspected as causes, it was said. Mr. Branham's loss also is partially insured.

Flood - Lost Books At Allen, Replaced

The Allen grade school library has had 200 books that were lost in the recent flood replaced by the Louisville Public Library. It was noted this week by Mrs. Loretta Spurlock, librarian. An express company delivered the books without charge, it was said.

High School Book Loss Set at $1,073.73; Drums Stolen From School, Said

Total value of text books lost by Prestonsburg high school during the recent flood is $1,073.73, according to figures released this week by Ottis Spurlock, principal. This figure does not include 200 library books also lost.

Books lost by students were valued at $788.47 and books lost from the storage room for sale to the students were worth $284.26.

Two new drums were stolen from the school recently, Spurlock said, and he noted that this loss hampered the school in last week's music festival program. The loss is impairing the school's music program, too, he said. A reward is being offered for information leading to the discovery of the instruments.

The high school will hold a Parents' Night program, Monday, Spurlock announces, and this event will coincide with the Book Fair at the school. The parents' program will include a discussion of school problems in general, next year's course of study and the planning of a Parent-Teacher Association. The public is invited, the principal said.

BOOK EXHIBIT OPENING SET

High School Here Slated To Open Fair Schedule Of 1,000-Volume Display

Next Monday the first county-wide Book Fair opens in Miss Linda Stephens' modern library at the new Prestonsburg high school, then moves to Miss Evelyn Salisbury's grade school library on Tuesday.

Nearly 1,600 new books will be exhibited to students during the day and to the public at night at both schools.

This Book Fair marks a new milestone in public service. By combining their efforts, the Floyd County Board of Education and the Floyd County Bookmobile, aided by many citizens and organizations, bring to Floyd county an event usually found only in large cities.

Wheelwright will combine coal-mining and public service on Wednesday and Thursday when Mrs. Dorothy Conley, with Mrs. Eva

BOOZE FOUND AT 3 PLACES

Whiskey, Beer Absent From 7 Spots Raided; Jones' Bond, $5,000

Of 10 places searched Saturday and Saturday night by Floyd deputy sheriffs armed with search warrants, three yielded whiskey or beer, or both.

Officers reported finding 16 half-pints of whiskey and three cartons of beer on the premises of Goldia Allen on Sizemore, a small quantity of beer at the home of Chuck Justice at McDowell and two cases of beer at Willard Hamilton's on Big Mud.

A sack of sprouted corn also was found on the Hamilton premises, they said. Intoxicants were not found at two places near Allen, three in the Big Mud section and two at Drift which were searched during the day.

Curt Jones, who was arrested recently on a charge of hitting Ralph Moore, Imperial Elkhorn Coal Company mine boss at Ligon, with a hammer, was placed under $5,000 bond Monday by County Judge Henry Stumbo. Jones did not testify at the hearing. Moore claimed Jones hit him following a discussion of his work and that Jones threatened to get a gun and kill him.

Other recent searches by officers resulted in 3 1/2 pints of whiskey being confiscated at Jack Allen's restaurant at Garrett and a larger haul from Lark Hunt at Hunter-eight cases of beer, a case of whiskey and 7 1/2 additional pints of whiskey.

STATE TELLS LIBRARY PLANS

15 Regional Libraries Are Envisioned; Floyd Tentatively Selected

Plans to develop 15 regional library areas in rural Kentucky with the aid of federal aid state funds were announced Tuesday by Gov. A. B. Chandler. Floyd county is one of the projected area centers tentatively designated, its selection contingent on local financial support.

To help finance the plan, the State anticipates receiving $40,000 in federal funds before July 1, and $137,000 during the fiscal year starting July 1 under the Library Services Act passed by Congress last year.

The plan will be supervised by the Library Extension Division. The division is already preparing orders for books to be placed in the first regional libraries.

The regional libraries will serve as headquarters for smaller, local libraries. Books in the regional libraries will be circulated among the counties. The program will also supplement the Bookmobile program.

The first four regional libraries will be established in the first counties in the north, south, east and west sections of Kentucky that applies and qualifies.

To qualify, a county must guar-

2 CONVICTED DURING TERM

Five Defendants Gain Dismissal of Charges Of Dry Law Violation

As of Tuesday, only two persons had been convicted at the current term of circuit court, and the order imposing penalty on one of these had been delayed since September while other was given trial in absentia.

A fine of $100 and a jail term of 30 days were given Everett Stone who had entered at the September term a plea of guilty to destroying private property. He had been given time in which to make restitution for the damage but had failed to do so.

The same fine and jail term was imposed on Johnny Newsome last week when he failed to appear for his trial on a charge of having liquor for sale in dry territory. He later filed motion and grounds for new trial, claiming he had been given to understand his case would not be heard at this time.

The same liquor charges against five defendants and one charge of selling liquor were dismissed last week on motion of Commonwealth's Attorney Burnis Martin. Names of defendants and reasons given on the order book for the dismissals follow:

Ballard Gibson, defendant had served time in a federal prison on liquor offense; Oscar Hurd, lack of proof in companion case; Henry Boto, search warrant destroyed by fire; Mack Hunt, search warrant affidavit insufficient; Ernest Campbell, lack of evidence; Raymond Joseph, search warrant not served in accordance with law.

Trial of Eugene Stephens on a charge of immoral practices with a child under 15 resulted in a "hung" jury.

The case was set for retrial September 3.

Other cases dismissed.

Girven Waddle, cold check, at request of prosecuting witness; Tilda Hamilton, assault and battery with an auto, at request of prosecuting witness; Billy May Burkett, assault and battery, on order of Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill.

FLOYD GROUP, OTHERS SLATE PIKE MEETING

Music Named Chairman Of Flood Control Ass'n; Next Meeting, April 19

The Floyd County Flood Control Association was formed here at a meeting of interested citizens at the courthouse last Friday evening.

The meeting was an outgrowth of a valley-wide movement for control of streams of the area which produced little more than two months ago the most destructive flood in the history of the section.

Although flood control is the predominant purpose of the organization, it also is interested in improvement of Eastern Kentucky through better roads and schools and the building of airports.

Marvin Music, of Prestonsburg, was named chairman of the Association; B. F. Reed, of Drift, vice-chairman, and Homer Wright, secretary-treasurer. Directors are Burl Spurlock, H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., Barkley Sturgill, County Judge Henry Stumbo, the Rev. Harold W. Dorsey, all of Prestonsburg, and Wayne Ratliff, of Allen.

The Floyd organization agreed that flood control is its first aim, and that canalization of the river, though an aim to be pursued, should wait until flood control reservoirs are built.

The Friday night meeting was a prelude to a general Big Sandy valley meeting April 19 at Pikeville when a general organization will be effected. Later a meeting will be held at Hazard where flood control groups from the Big Sandy and Kentucky river valleys will present to Senators Cooper and Morton their views of area needs.

GRAND JURY INDICTS 48

Final Report Comments On Needed Courthouse And Jail Roof Repairs

The grand jury of the Floyd circuit court adjourned Tuesday after having voted only 48 indictments, the smallest number voted by a modern-day Floyd grand jury.

In its final report the jury said that about 65 persons were questioned. The brief report, signed by Bud Elliott, foreman, noted that the jury found the county jail in excellent condition and the courthouse itself in "as good and sanitary condition that could be expected under the conditions of equipment and weather." Repair of roof leaks was recommended. The report also commended county officials for their assistance to the jury.

One manslaughter, two involuntary manslaughter and two malicious striking and wounding indictments were among the most serious offenses charged by the grand jury. Herbert Salisbury and Kelly M. Hamilton were named in a manslaughter indictment, being accused in the death of five-year-old Garnie V. Hunter on Little Mud Creek. In a fist fight one of the men was knocked against an embankment. His jugular was pierced by broken glass.

Levis Patton was charged in an involuntary manslaughter indictment in the March 3 auto death near Allen of Kenneth Childers, and the same charge was lodged against Charlie Nelson in the death June 13, 1956, near East Point of a child, James Albert Craft, who was hit by Nelson's car.

Mrs. Edith Deavers was indicted on a charge of malicious striking and wounding with intent to kill John Wes Music, 89-year-old East Point man. Her bond was set at $4,000. Also indicted for the same offense was Frank Hatfield, who was accused of striking Bill Little, Prestonsburg night policeman, on the head with a pistol. His bail was $1,000.

Three forgery indictments and one for issuing a "cold" check were filed against Hillard A. Hall. He allegedly forged three checks

Low-cost machinery and equipment for the smaller truck mine operations of Eastern Kentucky and adjacent coal fields will be produced by a new corporation being formed by A. E. Hayes, his wife, June D. Hayes, and B. P. Bogardus, owner of Hayes Metal Products, Hi Hat.

The new corporation is the Hayes Metal Products of Pikeville, Inc., and its plant will be located in Pikeville. Henry D. Fitzpatrick, Sr. He Will Perform Full-Time Service

Henry D. Fitzpatrick, Sr., was born on June 18, 1879, died on January 17, 1957, and was buried in Mayo cemetery at Prestonsburg, Kentucky on January 19, 1957. He was the son of H. H. Fitzpatrick and Sallie Davidson Fitzpatrick. His father was the third President of The Bank Josephine and was elected to this office on March 1, 1922. He performed the duties of this important office with honor and distinction from that date until his death in 1924. After the death of his father, on August 6, 1924, H. D. Thereafter, he was appointed as a member of the Board of Regents at Eastern State College, Richmond, Kentucky, where he served for seven years. Malta Asks Vatican About Keeping Art

Valetta, Malta, March 30—Premier Dom Mintoff has appealed to the Vatican for a ruling on whether the Government museum should keep two canvases by the Italian painter Caravaggio or return them to St. John's Cathedral in Valetta. The paintings were sent to Italy for restoration and when they came back the Government kept them, claiming they would be damaged again by dampness in the Cathedral.

FOR JAILER

OAK MULLINS of Wayland, Ky., candidate for JAILER, Democratic Primary, May 28

I want to appeal to the voters of Magisterial District No. 1 to give me their consideration upon the following statement.

A Magistrate is a full time job and the people should expect no less from him as an elected official. I will be able to devote a full six-day week to the job.

I was raised in the country and know the problems of the rural people. I see everywhere the need for roads to serve our farmers, businessmen and schoolchildren. I shall devote full time to building better roads and maintaining the present system.

I will approach our financial problems in a sensible manner, not allowing any one group to grab off a major part of the budget at the expense of the welfare of the county. I shall insist, six days a week, that your tax money be spent legally and wisely.

I will work consistently to reduce the debt of this county. A country fellow who has performed service for the county should be paid. Too often their claims are shoved aside in favor of somebody else.

These are but a few of the points in my program I plan to accomplish. It can be done, by honest, fair and sensible magistrates, working six days a week.

Sincerely, R. T. ALLEN

Red Cross Praises Floyd Bar for Help

The Floyd County Chapter and the National Organization of the American Red Cross joined recently in thanking the Floyd County Bar Association for its assistance to the Red Cross disaster operation in this county.

The statement, addressed to J. B. Clarke, Bar Association president, and signed by the Rev. Harold W. Dorsey, disaster chairman, and J. B. Green, Jr., area director, reads:

"Only by your checking of the property records were our workers able to get Red Cross assistance to the victims of the flood at such an early date. You have no idea what it means to have professional assistance on matters of this kind, and without your efforts we would have had much difficulty in some of the cases we processed. Too, the assistance from attorneys who are community leaders gave us a sense of confidence since we knew your group was supporting us in this manner.

News Photographer From Prestonsburg In Rescuer's Role

Quentin Allen, of Prestonsburg, Lexington Leader photographer, had the unusual experience last Thursday of rescuing a boy from drowning, moments after he had snapped the youngster's picture for the newspaper.

Allen had photographed three boys as they rode their bicycles in shallow backwater which had covered a part of the Picadome golf course at Lexington and had turned to walk away when he heard shouts. Turning, he found that one of the three boys, a nine-year-old, had ridden his bicycle into a depression in the course and was in water over his head. The Prestonsburg man reached the youngster as he bobbed to the surface the second time and pulled him to safety.

Have You Had An Even Break?

We talk a lot about equality of opportunity. That means, according to my way of thinking, that the man on the head of the creek and his wife and children should have the same chance that is enjoyed by people who live on or nearer the main highways.

But do they have such opportunity? We all know they don't. We know that their roads are miserable, that their children wade water and mud to school and that the man of the house gets to work by risking his life over bad roads if he tries to drive a car.

The horse-and-buggy days are over, and the folks up the creeks and branches deserve an equal chance with those who are better located.

If elected County Judge of Floyd county, I intend above everything else to see that these people who have no roads get roads they can drive over all the year. As I have previously said, I intend to start roads from the heads of the creeks and build our way out to the roads that are already good.

I know you people have been told in the past that your roads will get attention. You are justified in doubting that you will get such help, because we all have lived a long time and you haven't got any help. BUT I AM NOT MAKING IDLE PROMISES. I WILL USE EVERY RESOURCE AT MY COMMAND TO BUILD THESE ROADS THAT ARE NEEDED FIRST—ROADS THAT MUST BE BUILT.

Let me do for you this job that should have been done a long time ago.

Sincerely, BILL COOLRY (Pol. Adv.)

NOTICE

(Continued from Page One) Louisville recently with federal and state agriculture officials to discuss the new State regulations. A handbook containing the new rules was distributed to the judges. The new rules embrace five points set down by the federal agency:

- All applicants must be properly certified.
- Accurate records must be kept.
- Monthly reports of receipt and distribution of food must be sent to the State Agriculture Department promptly. These reports are due the 28th of each month.
- Adequate storage facilities and distribution points must be provided.
- Competent persons must be in charge of the distribution.

Proof of one instance of distributing surplus food for political or electioneering purposes will result in a county's immediate suspension from the program, Butler said.

Applicants must be certified on the basis of need, regardless of creed, color, religion, or politics, he added.

Under the new regulations, maximum income that a recipient may receive to qualify for surplus food has been increased $10 a month in each bracket. The new scale is:

One person per family, $45; two persons, $70; three persons, $80; four persons, $90; five persons, $100; six persons, $110; seven persons, $120. . . eight or more, $130. The income limit may be waived during emergencies such as fire, flood, sickness.

The new applications form requires the applicant to list all types of income and their sources, whether they own property, and whether they have tobacco bases. Other new regulations are:

- The distribution sheet, showing the names of the recipients and amounts received, will be replaced by a card for each individual. The card will show a record of all food received by the person, and must be signed by the recipient each time he receives the commodities.
- Monthly reports to the Department of Agriculture must include both book and physical inventories of all commodities received and distributed. Now, only a book inventory is required. The new method will show spoilage, overweight and shortweight and damaged commodities.
- Standard identification cards must be presented by the recipient when he receives food. Such cards now are required, but the types vary among the counties. Each person certified as eligible can obtain these portions each month when the food are available.

PROCK HAYES

Has Been

A Good Jailer

Re-elect him for another 4 years.

When a County Official stands for re-election he must stand or fall on his record of service to the people.

Prock Hayes as your jailer has a record of service to the people of Floyd County of which he and his many friends can be justly proud.

The record does not have to be checked in county record books, it can be seen. We have seen the cleanliness of the courthouse and grounds, the upkeep of the jail and the manner of Prock's service to the county. Many of us have eaten at the jail, we know the quality of the food and the fine manner in which it is prepared.

Naturally, no one enjoys being in jail, but those who have known that the prisoners have been treated with all courtesy due them, and most of all have lived in clean surroundings with good, sufficient food. As it should be, no special favors, nor partiality has been shown to any prisoners. In addition, Prock Hays, has been very faithful in attending court and has been helpful to the Court and to all the people with whom he has come into contact.

All in all, we think Prock Hays has made the best jailer we have ever had.

We recommend him for another four years.
Re-elect Prock Hays jailer.

Soil Conservation

By L. R. JOHNSON

TREE SEEDLINGS

More than 300,000 forest tree seedlings were ordered for setting this spring. The state nursery however was able to furnish only 225,700 trees. Most of the trees have already been set.

The Soil Conservation District board made available tree planting bars to every one that planted trees.

We have set a goal of one-half million trees for 1958.

BROME GRASS

Brome grass was seeded last year by W. W. Burchett, of Cow Creek. The seed was furnished by the Soil Conservation District. The seeding was done as an observational plot.

Burchett, and his neighbors will be observing this grass to see how it compares with other grasses common to Floyd county.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

The availability of frozen fish has popularized this food the year around. For its preparation is simple. Packaged frozen fish should remain in the unopened package until it is moved to a lower shelf in the refrigerator to thaw, or removed for immediate cooking.

MAY BOOK RECEIVES FAVORABLE COMMENT

The Council for Basic Education's praise of Mrs. Wilma May's book, "A Teacher Views the School Crisis," was the subject of comment in the column, Under Cover, by Lee Segal, in a recent issue of the Courier-Journal.

Mrs. May, formerly of Maytown but now residing at Tollesboro, Ky., taught in Floyd county schools for several years. She is a native of Mississippi.

"A Kentucky lady and teacher has earned herself enthusiastic praise from the Council for Basic Education," Segal writes.

"The C.B.E. is a nonprofit organization with offices in Washington, D. C. Under the presidency of Dr. Arthur Bestor, professor of history at the University of Illinois, and author of Educational Wastelands and The Restoration of Learning, the C.B.E. is giving articulate and informed leadership to the forces of intellectual dissent from many of the practices of modern education," Segal continued.

Mrs. May's thesis in her book is the deterioration of education since the advent of "progressive" methods. Says the author, "Many of our schools are sick." Says the Council for Basic Education about the author, "She is an honest, thinking woman who has come reluctantly to her conclusions about the weakness of modern school programs. She has tested these conclusions against her conscience and mind and as much of the outside world as she was in a position to embrace, and has been impelled to speak out. In all this is a dignity to be respected."

But the C. B. E. finds the result more than just a thing of dignity—rather, it is seen as a "triumph of candid common sense and simple unswerving logic over undisciplined theorizing. Many of modern education's basic principles are sound enough; the trouble comes when they are pushed beyond proper limits in practice. . . and vigilant common sense is often enough to reveal where a good thing has been run into the ground."

Among those modern-education principles that Mrs. May finds fallacious is that of grading a child against himself. "Experts have urged teachers to give A's to pupils who make satisfactory progress according to their own ability." She feels that such practice is detrimental to students and the C. B. E. nods its approval.

Then, countering on the educational expert's feeling that competition is bad in the curriculum, Mrs. May says, "Doesn't a long-range view show that not caring to do better than others is even more dangerous than the normal desire to excel?" The council comments by way of answer, "Grass-roots logic may not have found all the factors involved, but it has spotted an essential one overlooked by current orthodoxy."

And on the progressive educator's theory of automatic promotion Mrs. May feels that a child is apt to stop trying when he receives commendation without having to try.

In final tribute to Kentucky's teacher-author, the C.B.E. states its wholehearted preference for such "honest, dispassionate and (in the best sense) unsophisticated books."

antee local financial support and necessary shelves for books.

A county that has a headquarters library must put up 6 cents for each $100 of assessed property valuation. A county that takes part in the plan must allot 3 cents for each $100.

The federal funds will be spent for staff and books at the rate of about $11,000 a year for staff of each region, and $32,000 for books.

State funds will come from the regular budget of the library Extension Division, mainly in the form of staff services to the plan.

Included in the $180,000 budget for this and next fiscal years is a $50,000 allotment for aid to counties. This will gradually be integrated into the expanded program. About 100 counties now receive this aid, Miss Margaret F. Willis, director of the Library Extension Division, said.

The $45,000 allotment to buy books for bookmobiles will also be considered State aid to the plan.

Miss Willis said the program is not one of charity. The goal is to obtain sufficient local interest to carry it out.

The 15 areas have been selected only on a tentative basis. And, in those areas there will be workshops soon to explain the program locally. No dates or sites have been selected for the workshops.

The tentative counties for the regional libraries are:

Kenton, or Grant; Perry or Breathitt; Floyd, Bath or Rowan; Boyd; Laurel, Whitley, or Pulaski; Clark; Franklin or Henry; Nelson or Hardin; Warren; Davies; Caldwell; Adair or Russell; McCracken, and Boyle.

Hayes and Bogardus are now designing a loader to work with the new shuttle-car and are developing a coal-cutting machine, a mine locomotive, mine cars, conveyors, belts and other products.

The new shuttle-car, which has a capacity of two tons, will sell for approximately $2,500. The car uses a fluid-type coupling similar to those found in late-model automobiles, and a truck transmission with three speeds forward and three in reverse.

Hayes said improvised production facilities will be installed in the Pikeville plant but he noted that orders for the new car are pouring in and the firm is seeking a site in or near Pikeville to mass produce the shuttle-car. The company will retain the present building in Pikeville for an engineering, research and development center.

Elmer Layne, of Pikeville, former chief inspector for the Department of Mines and Minerals in the Pikeville office, is the firm's sales manager. Layne has put the shuttle car—similar to but smaller and in a lower price range than the widely publicized shuttle car to be produced at Ashland by the National Mine Service Company—through trial runs. He says the new car enabled two men to clean up a 10-ton cut in about 30 minutes. Layne thinks the car will double production on hand-loading sections. Mines now producing 10 tons per man day may produce up to 20 tons with the new car.

B. F. Reed, of the Turner-Elkhorn Mining Co., at Ligon, has already placed orders for the new cars, it was said.

Milton Damron, of Pikeville, formerly employed by Louisville Cement Co., of Speed, Ind., recently returned to Pikeville to work as engineer for the Hayes Metal Products at Hi Hat.

The Hayes and Bogardus plants at Richlands and Hi Hat are producing approximately 1000 truck bodies per year, coal dumping trailers with a capacity of 30 tons, and a hydraulic dump ramp to unload trucks and trailers that are not equipped with hydraulic hoists.

Miss Wright Becomes Bride Of William Winston Ford, Jr.

Miss Carolyn Leslie Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Arnold Wright, of Pikeville, became the bride of William Winston Ford, Jr., on March 24 in an impressive ceremony at the First Presbyterian Church in Pikeville.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Winston Ford, Sr., of Prestonsburg, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Felix T. Compton, Sr., of Pikeville.

The Rev. Charles H. Moffett, pastor of the church, performed the double ring ceremony at 3:30 p.m., before a background of white covered with plumosa fern. Two standards of lilies and white stock flanked the altar and a row of seven-branched candelabra holding lighted white tapers shed a soft glow on the palms behind the altar. The family pews were marked by white satin bows.

A program of wedding music was played by Forrest Albert, organist, and Mrs. W. J. Stubblefield, soloist, and sister of the bride, sang "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz length gown combining Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over taffeta. The fitted bodice of lace was fashioned with cap sleeves and sweetheart neckline coming to a point at the back. The bouffant skirt of tulle had lace applique motifs and a pleated ruffle at the hem below a band of appliqued lace. She wore an illusion veil attached to a hat of lace and sequins. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, a gift of the groom. She carried a cascade bouquet of white rosebuds and stepanotis centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Homer Owens was matron of honor.

Miss Colleen Conway and Miss Margaret Wright, the latter a younger sister of the bride, were bridesmaids.

They all wore waltz length gowns of pale pink crystalite over taffeta with fitted bodice and very full skirts. Each had wide sashes of deep pink taffeta, which were simply knotted at back and fanned out to the hems of their skirts. Their headresses were bandeaus of silver braid and pink violet leaves. They carried bouquets of pink sweetheart rosebuds and purple violets tied with pink satin ribbons.

Miss Anna Marie Owens was flower girl in a pink nylon dress with a pink nylon pinafore over rhinelines. She carried a satin basket filled with rose petals.

William Miles Rowe, of Prestonsburg, served as best man for Mr. Ford. Ushers were William D. Compton, Harold Shockey, Robert Walters, and Robert Hatcher, who were also taper lighters.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Judge and Mrs. F. Pierce Keesee on Smith Hill, Pikeville.

The bridal table was covered with an imported white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink rosebuds and white carnations. The centerpiece was flanked by lighted white tapers in silver candelabra. The three-tiered beautifully decorated wedding cake was in white with pale pink rosebuds and topped with bride and groom figurines.

After the first piece of cake was cut by the bride and served to the groom, Mrs. Harlan W. Layer served the guests. Mrs. Franklin Day presided at the Silber coffee service. Others assisting at the reception were Mrs. Lon B. Rogers, Mrs. Harold Shockey, Mrs. Robert Walters, Miss Virginia Hatcher, Miss Wilnah Hobbs, and Miss Dorothy Carter.

After a wedding trip to Florida Mr. and Mrs. Ford will make their home temporarily at Jackson, Ky., where Mr. Ford is associated with the Winston Ford Construction Company.

What Are Charles Clark's Views On Labor Legislation?

VOTERS OF THE
DISTRICT

My whole modest background should tell anyone what my attitude toward labor legislation is. As a shoeshine boy in Prestonsburg I learned that work with my hands was honorable and rewarding. We were too poor to have skates, bicycles and the things the neighboring children took for granted. When my father died not one dollar was left with which to feed, clothe and educate the children. For the next several years I lived the life familiar to all children in a mining town. Much of our time was spent in sliding down the slate dump on pieces of cardboard boxes or more often on the seat of our "britches."

In mining towns at that time there was "official row" or the "pork chop" section where the officials lived, then there was the section of the camp where the laborers lived, and my family, being workers, lived in the "cornbread-tater" section. The words used in the last sentence have been recalled from my own memories and were used in at least one mining town. Perhaps the same thing was said in other towns in different words. Those were the days before organized labor came to our mining section.

At different times in order to further my education I have been a coal-loader, pony driver, coal shooter, tippie worker and ditch digger; and no man who has done all these things could possibly be anything but sympathetic toward the problems of those who have calloused hands.

I have held membership in the United Automobile Workers of America and the United Mine Workers of America, and I contend that organized labor has made a very great contribution to the welfare of the greatest country on earth.

My humble background instead of making me bitter made me the more determined to amount to something and to give me more love for our forgotten Eastern Kentucky.

I shall be paying dollars and cents for the privilege of serving you as a Representative. I cannot be paid for my school job and draw the Representative's pay at the same time. I shall ask for a leave of absence from my school job while the Assembly is in session and after my expenses have been paid I will come out with less than I would have if I had not gone to Frankfort. MY ONE DESIRE IS TO MAKE OUR SECTION OF THE STATE A BETTER PLACE IN WHICH TO LIVE.

FOOD NOTES

By DIXIE TRAPP
Home Demonstration Agent

In these days of easy-to-fix menu items, fish has gone along with the crowd. Frozen fish fillets, steaks, and sticks carry out this assignment with ease and good taste.

Filletts are the sides of the fish cut lengthwise. They contain very few bones and are ready for cooking. Frozen fillets usually come in 12 ounce or one pound packages.

Steaks are cross-section slices of dressed fish. A cross-section of back-bone is about the only bone in steaks. They also come in 12 ounce and one pound packages.

Sticks are pieces of fish cut lengthwise or crosswise from fillets or steaks. They come in 8 ounce packages that has 8 sticks or 10 ounce with 10 sticks.

Keep fish frozen until before cooking. Once it thaws use it immediately and never refreeze it.

If you buy whole fish, allow one pound per person; if it is dressed, one-half pound and for steaks, fillets or steaks, one-third pound.

Fish should be cooked just enough that the flesh flakes easily from the bone. Fish can be baked, fried, broiled, used in casseroles or salads.

You can find a way your family likes it. Fish can be a budget stretcher and provide material a healthy body needs.

YOUNG VOTERS ASK QUESTIONS

We are registered Voters . . . but Banner Meade was in office six years before we were born. Most of us are in college now, looking to the future and its opportunities. Some day, some of us will ask for public office and public service. Are these offices the gift of the people or have they been deeded to politicians like Banner Meade and DuRan Moore?

We are young voters and want to ask questions. We would like to ask Mr. Meade but he won't answer. We couldn't ask when he first went into office as we were not born then. DuRan Moore wants 12 years in office. Doesn't a politician ever retire?

Capitol Notebook

Frankfort, April 8 (Spl.) — A recent issue of the Detroit Times stresses that Kentucky is a bright spot this spring for vacationing. The travel page of the Michigan newspaper features some Commonwealth attractions.

Says Times writer James Keith: "Way down deep in the heart of You-All Land (it includes such glorious states as Virginia, some of West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, North and South Carolina, Georgia) the daffodils and azaleas are a-bloomin'."

"We can see our Aunt Moddie out there in the garden now, a-pickin' and choosin' only the biggest ones for her sittin' room, in anticipation of the Sunday influx of free loaders who've been holed up all winter long—but are in circulation again—now that spring is here—and there."

Elsewhere on the travel page, it says:

"Within a great Ohio River horse-shoe—a bend in which nestles the city of Louisville—the stage is set for the annual Kentucky Derby Festival."

"Festival Week, April 28-May 5, will feature such events as the downtown Pegasus Parade, a professional golf tournament, concerts, a colorful ball and coronation of a queen."

"All this festivity, of course, will be background for the horse racing, climaxed May 4 by the exciting mile and a quarter Kentucky Derby in which the world's fastest horseflesh will vie for $100,000 added purse."

The Kentucky Public Relations Department has been planting the seed of information on the Commonwealth's charm roundabout the country. It's rewarding to see them bloom into print in Michigan.

BLIND DRIVERS, PLEASE READ
Safety Experts say they've never seen a totally blind driver on Kentucky's highway but they've seen some motorists with blurred vision.

These are a menace, no matter how good the roads and safety regulations. With drivers whose eyesight is a little misty in mind, the Kentucky Optometric Association will hold its annual convention at Louisville May 19-21.

The theme of the convention will be "vision and highway safety." Dr. Damon E. Allen, Campbellsville, who's handling publicity for the convention, writes "we have been fortunate in scheduling the services of Mr. Don Sturgill as a speaker."

Sturgill is Kentucky's new public safety commissioner. He has inaugurated an intensive campaign to reduce the death toll on the Commonwealth's roads.

With this campaign in full swing and the expanded highway program of Gov. A. B. Chandler's administration underway, now is an appropriate time to think of another factor in traffic safety—the condition of the driver, especially his eyesight.

Dr. Darnon writes that the association "has long been aware of the need for periodic vision tests for drivers."

UNSWEET DREAMS

A friend of mine, having heard that I am sometimes troubled with insomnia, suggested the following plan:

"Eat a pint of peanuts, and drink two or three glasses of milk just before retiring. You'll be asleep in no time."

I did so and my friend was right. I soon fell asleep. Then a man with his head under his arm came along and asked me if I wanted to buy his feet. As we were dickering, the dragon on which I was riding slipped out of his skin and left me floating in mid-air.

While I was considering just how I was going to get down, a bull with two heads peered at me over the edge of the wall and said he would haul me up if I would climb up and rig a windlass for him. Then, as I was sliding down the mountain, the brakeman came in and I asked him when the train would reach my station. "We passed that four hundred years ago," he said, as he folded up the train and slipped it into his vest pocket.

At this point the clown came in and pulled the center-pole out of the ground, lifting the tent and all the people up in the air, while I stood below watching myself go out of sight among the clouds.

With that I woke up and found that I had been sleeping exactly ten minutes.—Romweber Commentator.

Club Holds Annual 'Mother-Daughter' Dinner

The Allen-Martin Woman's Club held its annual club "Mother and Daughter" dinner, April 1, in the basement of the Methodist Church at Martin. Clubs which were guests were the Lackey-Wayland-Garrett Woman's Club, the mother club of the Allen-Martin Woman's Club, and the Drift Woman's Club, which is the daughter club founded by the Allen-Martin group. About 50 members of the three clubs attended.

Speaker of the evening was Judge E. S. Pruitt, of Pikeville, who spoke on some of the problems of children and young people as he has encountered them in his juvenile court work. He also told of his work with the Boy Scouts which he has been carrying on for many years. He emphasized the valuable place Scouting fills in affording wholesome pastime and training for boys, that he has never had one of his Scouts get into trouble of a nature serious enough to bring him to court. Judge Pruitt was presented a barbecue grill and he assured the club members that his Club Scouts would enjoy using it.

Door prizes were given to Mrs. Rudolph Spencer, of Wayland, and Mrs. Amy Lee Turner, of Drift.

OUR LAWSUIT IN FEDERAL COURT

By

JOE P. TACKETT

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY ATTORNEY

In last week's issue of The Times I had an article on the matter of the lawsuit pending in Federal Court against Floyd County and the water and gas users. I wrote that article after I had learned that our present County Attorney and Mr. C. Kilmer Combs had filed a motion to dismiss the case as to Floyd County. I said in that article "Our present County Attorney, and Mr. Combs, are, in my considered judgment, doing a fine job, etc." I made this statement in the confident belief that the Court would sustain that motion and dismiss it as to Floyd county. This the Court has done.

The case, however, is still pending on the main issue and that issue is the most dangerous to our water and gas users. That is the contention made by the bondholders that they are entitled to an order of Federal Court compelling the present Fiscal Court, or any future Fiscal Court, for that matter, to convene and RAISE the water and gas rates high enough to pay the defaulted bonds and to meet the others as they come due. This is the real danger to the water and gas users and this contention I propose, as your next County Attorney, to wage a relentless fight against because, as I said last week, it is my opinion that "our gas and water users are paying far too much for their gas and water and at the same time are receiving far too little service for their money."

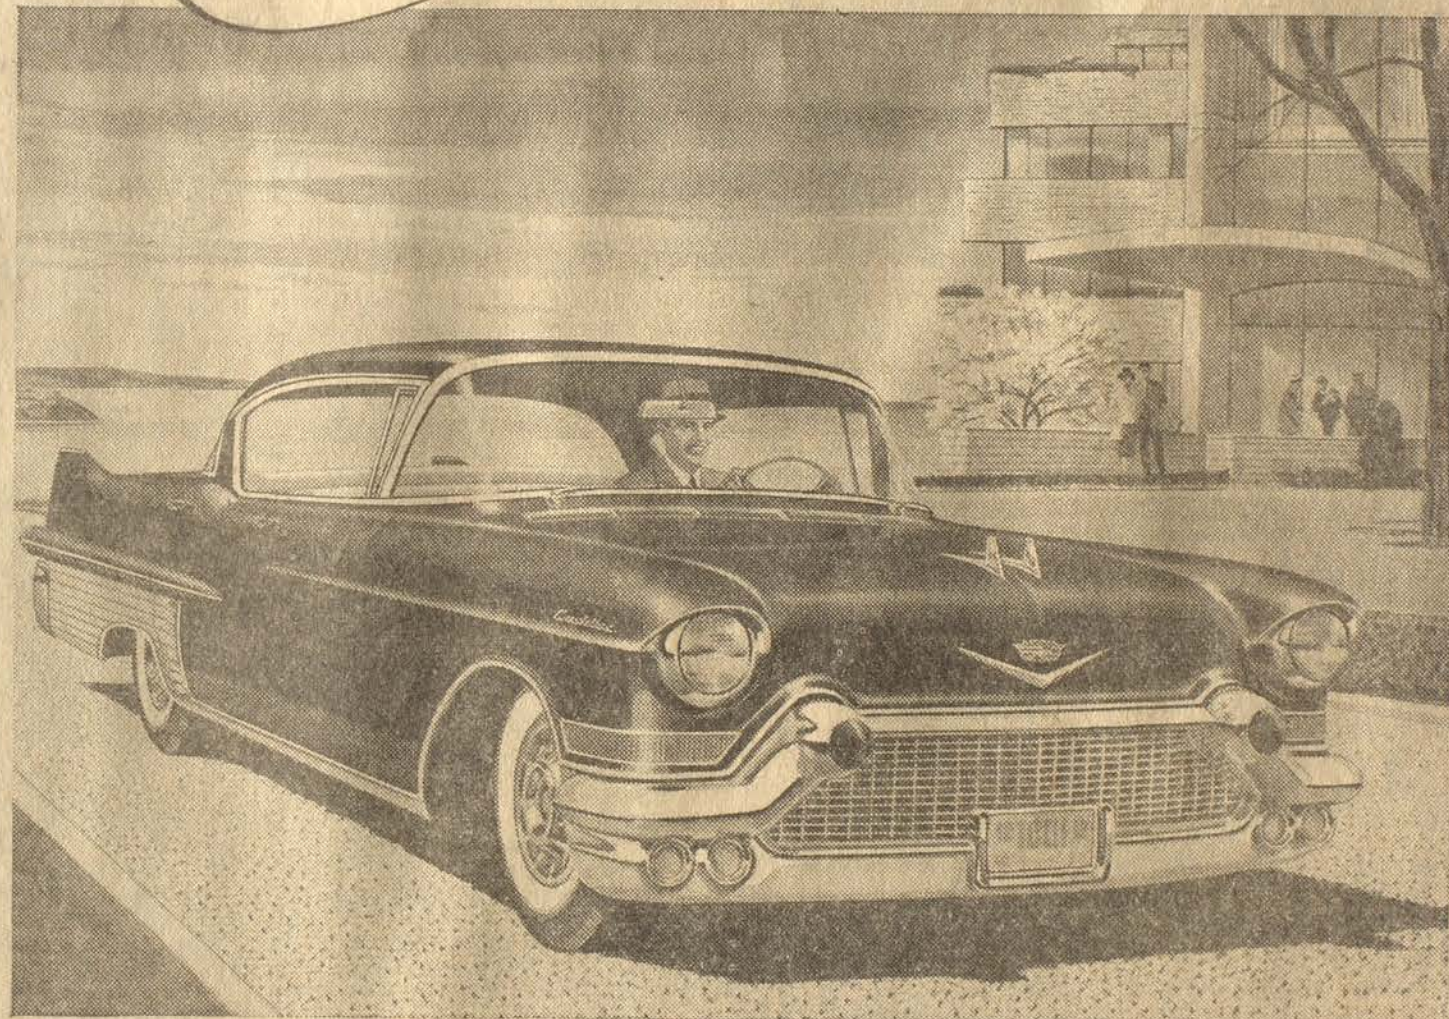

What will happen in case the Bondholders succeed in the above is any one's guess. The law firm of SKAGGS, HAYS & FAHEY who represent the Bondholders, will resort to every legal technique at their command to finally saddle this burden on Floyd county, and no doubt, before the case ends, they will be filing numerous pleadings in that effort. These are some of the things that must be watched and, as I said last week, in substance, with my long experience as a lawyer at the Floyd County Bar and in our Federal Courts, I feel confident that our taxpayers and water and gas users would feel more secure in their rights being properly protected if I, in co-operation with Mr. Combs waged the fight against this lawsuit. I don't mean to infer that my opponents do not have legal ability, but what I mean is that in the courts, and especially in Federal Court, long experience is a valuable asset to any lawyer who matches legal wits with such a law firm as the one from Louisville who represent the plaintiff against us.

I confidently submit for the careful consideration of every voter in the County that I can do a better All-Around job for our people than either of my opponents.

Sincerely yours,

JOE P. TACKETT

Cadillac

The Choice That is Never Challenged!

Drive a Cadillac over any period of time you wish—and the odds are that no one will ever question your choice of a motor car.

For almost everyone understands the instincts that lead a man to Cadillac. Rare is the motorist, in fact, who does not have his own heart set on the "car of cars".

Certainly, this is as it should be. For Cadillac's virtues are simply too numerous to be overlooked—and too apparent to be misunderstood.

Who, for instance, could behold a new Cadillac and not proclaim it the most beautiful and majestic of automobiles?

Who could ride in a new Cadillac and not recognize its extraordinary luxury and comfort?

Who could drive a new Cadillac and not pronounce it the crowning achievement of automotive engineering?

And who—knowing of Cadillac's many economies of ownership could fail to recognize it as the finest investment in all motordom?

Indeed, the reasons for choosing Cadillac are as valid as they are numerous—and we urge you to visit your dealer at your first opportunity and discover all of them for yourself.

Why not spend an hour at the wheel—and select your favorite Cadillac model as your own?

You can rest assured—the whole world will approve your choice!

Bank Josephine Names Directors and Officers; Hobson Appointed Counsel

A special meeting of the stockholders of the Bank Josephine, Friday, re-elected eight directors and elected as the ninth member of the body, Dr. George P. Archer. Members re-elected Mrs. Iley B. Browning, W. J. May, H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., H. B. Patrick, Joe Hobson, Grover L. Howard, Mary E. Powers, and Alex L. Davidson.

Following the stockholders' meeting the board of directors met and named the following officers: Mrs. Iley B. Browning, chairman of the board, W. J. May, president and secretary of the board, H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., vice-president, Mary E. Powers, assistant secretary of the board, Adrian Collins, cashier, William A. Spradlin, assistant cashier, and Burieta Gearheart, assistant cashier.

Joe Hobson, director, was appointed general counsel of the bank.

Represented at the stockholders' meet, either in person or by proxy, 87.56% of all outstanding shares of the bank, according to a statement by President May.

"The Bank Josephine made a spectacular gain of 332 places in banking rank in the last year and has now reached the highest position in its history," May said.

TO CLEAN PAINTED SURFACES . . .

To Clean Painted Surfaces: (a) Wash with neutral soap jelly or dry suds and rise with a cloth wrung from clear water, then dry. (b) Wash with equal parts of water, vinegar and kerosene. Rinse with clear water and then dry. When the paint is badly soiled, the latter is especially effective.

Fabric softeners, used in the textile industry for the past several years, have been made available to housewives under a variety of trade names. They are gaining wide-spread interest, say Extension home economists at the University of Kentucky, because of the unusual results.

Wells Says Fund To Aid Students Needed In State

High School Juniors and Seniors who would like to go to College, and teenagers who may or may not be continuing your education:

I want to have these few words with you and hope I can "dig" them out so you may be "hep" to what I am trying to say.

If you are a girl and I knew that handsome guy you were interested in, you would listen to me discuss him for hours. To you boys—the same would apply about that good looking girl you are all "steamed up" about. All this is natural and is as it should be. But to change the thought a bit, I would like to ask: Are you planning on or are you financially able to go to college after you complete your high school work, or are you now working to earn money so maybe you can enter college next year?

I have a plan which surely could be most helpful to many of you, and that is to have a "Loan Fund" created and set up by the State of Kentucky, from which a student could borrow, at low interest, sufficient amounts needed for his or her college education. After the student had completed his or her college courses and was securely employed—the sum borrowed then could be repaid to the "Loan Fund". I think it possible for such a fund to be created.

I know that some of the finest minds in our county may never be fully developed by college education because of financial difficulties. Their abilities are needed, should not be lost to our county, state and nation—and we should do something to avert such a tragedy.

I am in sympathy with you, the students, and understand your problems. Also, I can understand the problems of your teachers and why such a large percentage of them need side-jobs to supplement the low salaries they receive. Likewise, I can understand problems of our school authorities, the lack of funds for many things needed in most of our schools for your benefit.

I would like you to consider ME your candidate for Representative of this 96th District, and if you are qualified—VOTE FOR ME—and if you are not yet of age—SUPPORT ME by letting some of your warm feelings rub off on your voting friends. I will do my very best to be helpful to the schools program—with a view of benefiting you.

Sincerely,
J. C. "Critt" WELLS

Gardening Time

By ROBERT M. JONES
County Agent

SELECTING SEEDS AND PLANTS
It always pays to buy the best garden seed. Make a list of the vegetables you want to grow, the varieties and the amount of each you will need. Buy seeds well in advance of setting time. This will save time, and give you an opportunity to plant when the soil is dry, without making a special trip to the store.

Seeds should not be saved and planted the following year. The climate of Kentucky is not suited for production of vegetable seeds. The only exception to this rule is beans and watermelons.

In buying plants such as tomatoes, cabbage, broccoli and peppers, make sure you are getting the variety you want. Some plants shipped in are not true to name.

Plants can be grown at home. A circular, "Hot Beds and Cold Frames," is available at the extension office that will help you raise your own plants.

VARIETIES

There are many new vegetable varieties available on the market. Most of them are good. Every gardener should try some of the new ones each year to see how he likes them. Some will be suited to our soil and some won't. The only way to tell if you like them is to give them a trial.

Many old varieties have proven themselves, and should be continued, but don't forget our research workers are developing new and improved varieties that we should try.

We have a recommended vegetable variety list prepared by the University of Kentucky available at the office. They have listed the varieties that have proven to be most satisfactory both for production and growth habits.

PLANTING

Remember that the garden should be worked up as fine as the seed to be sown. The smaller the seed the finer the soil should be worked. A good thumb rule to follow in covering the seed is "plant seed four times as deep as the seed is thick."

In setting transplant, dig the hole about ten inches deep. Place some good top soil or manure in bottom, then fill the hole up to the level desired for plant. Water thoroughly, set plant, and firm the soil around plant to remove all the air pockets. The deep hole will give the roots a chance to grow fast, and gather the water and plant food needed to make a fast growth.

Next week's article will discuss cultivation, insect and disease control.

Aging Veterans Not Forgotten

(The Forty and Eighter)

"The American Legion has not forgotten or forsaken the aging, disabled World War I veterans who now look to us for help in their hour of need."

So declared National Commander Dan Daniel, outlining The American Legion's legislative aims for 1957. Congress is again being urged to enact legislation which will consider veterans aged 65 and older as unemployable and eligible for monthly benefits if their incomes from other sources do not exceed fixed maximums.

How much success The American Legion will achieve in its continuing battle for the old veterans during this year of monstrous budget and heavy pressure for economy remains to be seen. But The American Legion is fighting, and it has a reputation of keeping on fighting until it wins. If more veterans would sign up with The American Legion, this and other Legion goals could be gained more quickly.

The younger veterans owe a big debt of gratitude to these old veterans who are now pushing past the 65-year mark. It was these old fellows, who when they were young, did the work that built The American Legion and made it a force which could stand up for the rights and needs of war veterans. They are the ones who carried the battle for the G. I. Bill of Rights and other benefits for the veterans of World War II and Korea. Now that they need help they have every right to go to bat for them with all-out energy.

COURTHOUSE SQUARE

Franklin, in Simpson county, tightly hugs a central courthouse square rimmed with low brick buildings, each of which has a hitching post. It was founded in 1820 and named for Benjamin Franklin. Simpson county was named in honor of Capt. John Simpson, whose company of riflemen joined the first Kentucky troops that marched to reinforce General Hull at Detroit during the war of 1812.

Garrett Woman Scores At Two Florida Shows For Flower Arranges

Mrs. R. H. Messer, of Garrett, whose flower arrangements have attracted wide attention in this section, scored heavily at Florida flower shows this winter.

At Naples she won six ribbons, including a special award for what judges declared "the most striking arrangement in the show."

Success there encouraged the Floyd woman to enter the big show at Ft. Myers in competition with the best in the so-called "land of flowers." She was invited to do a table and was assigned two large niches for arrangement. And she emerged from the show with a blue ribbon (first) on the table, red ribbons (second place) on both arrangements, third place on a corsage and the same rating on a miniature.

"Before the show I felt I would be lucky to get one honorable mention," Mrs. Messer said.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express to all friends and relatives our sincere thanks for every courtesy extended to our loved one, Mrs. Maggie Yates, during her illness. We thank our friends for flowers and other expressions of love and sympathy upon her passing, also the ministers, Hersey Huff, Eld Mosley, Kendall Moore and Mack McCloud, and the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Bar Association To Hang Pictures Of Circuit Judges

The Floyd County Bar Association, at a recent meeting, voted to hang pictures in the courthouse here of all circuit judges and Commonwealth's attorneys who have served in this county.

Clifford B. Latta, attorney, was appointed chairman of a committee to procure the pictures.

"We are anxious to find pictures of the circuit judges and Commonwealth's attorneys of this judicial district and would like to urge relatives of deceased officials to aid us in this project," Latta said this week.

A list of the officials was being prepared this week and data was being unearthed.

Floyd county, organized in 1800, had a presiding judge and two assistants under the second Constitution. Records in this county go back to 1808 when the courthouse burned. John Graham, early Big Sandy landowner, merchant and banker, was one of the first three assistant judges. No pictures, though, are expected to be found of these old judges and Commonwealth's attorneys until the end of the Civil War.

Whether to buy sheets of muslin or percale is a question for brides to decide. Muslin sheets are heavy and sturdy, but percale is finer, smoother and softer. Weight and fineness are determined by the number of warp and filling threads and added together in a square inch, called cloth-count.

LESLIE FOR SHERIFF

As most of you voters are aware I am a candidate for Sheriff. You, to whom I have talked, have encouraged me with pledges of support. To you whom I have not yet had the opportunity of seeing and may perhaps not know me personally, allow me to tell you a little about myself. I was born and raised at Cow Creek, graduated at Betsy Layne High School in 1932, went to Pikeville College and graduated from Morehead State College in 1936. I taught school in our home county and served as coach for 15 years. I did two years of army service as hundreds of young Floyd countians did and returned to take an active part in assisting my fellow veterans in whatever capacity I could or was called upon to do. I served as Commander of the American Legion, Post 129, at Prestonsburg. I belong to the church and have always worked for the spiritual uplift and betterment of my fellow man and the community. What leadership I have been able to exert has been in the direction of good government, schools and churches. That is nothing more, though, than any good citizen should do. It is what I will continue to do as your Sheriff. I am, of course, a common ordinary citizen, seeking an office at your hands. I have always been friendly, glad to see my friends and acquaintances, before the election as I am now. I am not a mere glad-hand fellow who ignored his friends nor have my people been that kind. I am widely related in Floyd county, my kinsmen being of the old families who helped to develop this county. I am proud to be one of them with you, glad that I have in the past served in various capacities to make our county a good place to live. Like thousands of other Floyd countians I was flooded out. To you who suffered in the disaster I want to say I know your problems, of how we have a long haul back to normal. If I can serve you now, as a private citizen, or after the election as your Sheriff, feel free to call upon me. I've played a great deal of baseball in life as many of you know. Life is like a game, all of us are on a team. We can by team work so pull together that Floyd county will be a good place to live in. Your sheriff is a very important member of the team.

I solicit your support, sincerely,
DAVID B. LESLIE

REMINISCENCES OF JACKSON

A letter from Wm. R. Smith, Sidney, Ohio, but a native of Jackson, Breathitt county, Ky., is reminiscent of how our elders gathered around their fireplaces when there were no T-V, radio or comic books for the children and all the family listened to the discourses on "people, places and things." Smith writes about the Hargis family of Breathitt: "When I was about five years old father and I would go places to work. One time we went down to old Uncle Baldy Hargis to work in the harvesting of oats and wheat. Baldy Hargis was County Judge Jim Hargis' father. "Uncle Baldy owned a big river bottom farm down across the river from Jackson, two or three miles, in the Pan Bowl. I don't remember who Baldy Hargis' wife was. They had five boys, best I remember, and they were Jim, Alex, John, called Tide, Elbert and Ben. No girls that I know of. Jim's wife was of the Day family. I think she was a sister to Floyd, John and J. Taylor Day. These Days had a big hand sawmill at Jackson. They had a boom in the river that reached from the mill up to our house, about two miles long. "Their company was called the Swann-Day Lumber Company. They would have the logs cut and dumped into the river and floated down and fill up the booms. My father, Capt. Bill Smith, would work at the mouth of the boom and as the logs came floating down he would direct them into the boom with a long pike-pole. Several men were jerked off these booms and drowned, in fact my father was jerked off the boom in a big tide one night and came near to being drowned. "Alex Hargis' wife was old uncle Jim Lindon's daughter. They had three boys, Seldon, Edward and Tom. I went to school with these boys. I don't know if Tom was ever in politics. Seldon and Ed Hargis have been dead a long time. If Tom is still living, he is the only one. "Ben Hargis and Tom Cockrell were standing at the bar there in Jackson one night, long ago, drinking. Ben was singing. "Over the hills and mountains,

O mother, fix my bed, I've heard of a city called Heaven and I have started to make it my home."

"Pretty soon a bullet from Tom's pistol sent him to his reward. Ben shot Tom down, too, but I heard Tom recovered but lost a leg in the deal. I was sorry to hear about this as I used to go to school with these boys though they were a lot older than me.

"Thirty-one men were killed in the Hargis-Cockrell feud in 11 months and God only knows how many before it was over."

"Pretty soon, after father and I were at old man Baldy Hargis' father took the job of tending the ferry at Jackson for G. W. Bowman who owned it.

"I got big enough to set people across the river. I set people across when I was not in school. It wasn't long until I was ferrying people across on horseback, in wagons or buggies. When the river was at low stage we would push the big boat across with a long pole but when the river was at high tide we would hook the cable on to a peg about one-third of the way back from the front end of the boat. This cable run up to a pulley on a wire cable. We would line the boat up and start out. We would steer the boat with an oar in the rear of the boat and as we got into the current then the boat would go and the pulley would roll along and keep up with the boat and keep us from going downstream.

"I set Sheriff Ed Callahan across lots of time (Ed Callahan was later killed as an aftermath of the Hargis-Cockrell feud). Ed was a fine looking man, went well-dressed, had black eyes, fair skin, wore a mustache. When sitting on his horse on the ferry boat he would look out into the far distance. At the time I couldn't understand why he looked that way but since I think I understand.

"I set Dr. Rader across the river three or four days before he got killed. I was about 12 years old then. Dr. Rader had been out in the country to see some sick people. He was a fine looking man, went well-dressed and rode a fine saddle horse. He would just ride right into the ferry boat and sit and talk to me." (He was killed by Tom Smith who was hanged at Jackson).

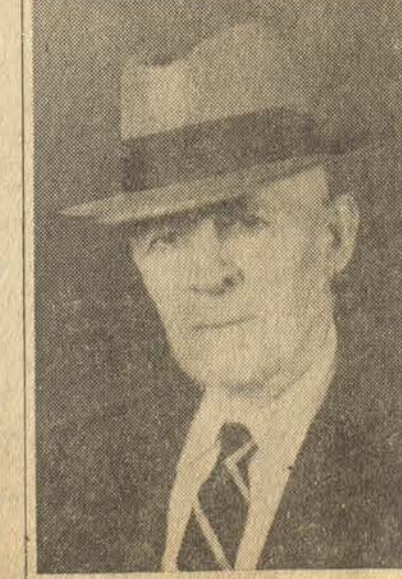

HAMILTON FAMILY
 A letter from Emory Hamilton, Wise county, Virginia, teacher, relative to certain Russell County, Va., court orders, is excerpted here. He is interested in the ancestry and descendants of James Hamilton. The notes from the orders follow as made by the Wise teacher.

"From Russell County Court Orders, dated Dec. 3, 1817: Nathan Hamilton appointed guardian for James Hamilton, infant son of Nelson Hamilton who died in the militia service of the United States. (Died at Norfolk, Va., Oct. 9, 1814). "Russell county Will Book 5, Page 48, dated Nov. 9, 1836: We, Mary Ann Jacobs and James Hamilton of the county of Floyd, State of Kentucky, appoint James Easterling, attorney-at-law to sue for a certain claim, which we have against Nathan Hamilton for and on account of money he collected from the estate of Nelson Hamilton, deceased."

The letter notes that Mary Ann Jacobs, before her marriage, was Mary Ann Nolin.

U.-K. Predicts Prices
 Of Hogs Soon To Rise;
 Berries To Be Weaker

Lexington, Ky., April 8 (Spl.)—Little change in price is expected for Kentucky-raised hogs until late May, says the U. K. Agricultural Experiment Station economics department in its bi-weekly business outlook letter.

In late May, prices are likely to see seasonal strength.

Hog slaughterings have been slightly under the 1956 figure, but prices have been $3 to $4 per hundred weight higher, the letter says. Hog marketing totals are expected to continue about equal to the 1956 level until late summer; but hogs to be marketed in the next few weeks were farrowed last September and October, when farrowings were about 4 percent under the previous year.

For the strawberry outlook, the economists said prices may be weaker this year, especially for processing berries. There are large holdover stocks of frozen berries which must be sold before the 1957 marketing starts, they noted.

Kentucky grown berries at harvest time will be meeting competition from other states' crops, the economists points out. "If the usual price relationships between process berries and freshmarket berries prevail, best results likely can be obtained by shipping only grade berries to markets and selling all others to processors," the letter states. "Early in the season, while berries are mostly large and perfect, the berries probably should be picked for the fresh market. Later, the cost of grading out small, red, ripe berries from the larger berries suitable for U. S. No. 1 grade may become greater than what is gained by selling part of the crop as fresh berries."

Montreal, March 30—When his car was caught in a traffic jam, Arthur W. Smith jumped out and made like a traffic policeman. Just as he cleared the jam, the real thing came along and gave his a summons for double parking. "It's best to leave traffic problems to the men who are employed to take care of them," said Judge E. J. McManamy as he fined Smith $5.

Spears for Judge

SHERMAN ADAMS TO SPEAK

Sherman Adams, chief assistant to President Eisenhower and former Governor of New Hampshire, will deliver the address at Centre College's 134th graduation exercises here Sunday, June 2, it was announced today.

I am a candidate for County Judge who is trying to NOT run on promises alone. I would rather let my friends tell you about myself, how I have worked hard all my life, been honest, truthful and sober. Those things, common to many men, should be some of the qualifications of a judge. My friends will tell you that my record is clean, that my word is my bond and that I shy away from promises when they can't be fulfilled.

However, I will promise to make you an honest, fair, progressive judge. I will not be all things to all men, nor will I be all things to a few men and nothing for others. I will serve all the people in the office that is their gift and be charged with the responsibility of the stewardship of that office.

I will attempt with every resource at my command to get this county out of debt. I will fight to keep this county from being saddled with any indebtedness through the water and gas districts set up by the fiscal court. This county will be engaged in litigation for years over the water and gas bonds. I will insist that the Floyd county taxpayers be protected in the courts.

I want to ask you creek people, too, where you expect to get any relief from the mud of your roads? You can't get it from the present administration for after years in office very little in the matter of roads has resulted. We need better farm to market roads, better school bus roads and while other counties are making progress let's march alongside them to a better county road system.

Progress comes only through change. Let's change things at the courthouse. Let's build more roads. Let's put the county on a sound fiscal system.

Let's Have a Change!

ADVANCING EDUCATION IN BLUEGRASS STATE

By Robert R. Martin, Superintendent of Public Instruction

The week of March 24-30 has been designated as Teacher Appreciation Week in Kentucky by Proclamation of Governor A. B. Chandler.

I think that the majority of people are conscious of the services of the more than 23,000 school teachers in this State, and yet these five days should be an occasion for each of us to make ourselves better informed and more understandingly aware of the teacher's position and purpose.

If one takes advantage of this occasion to analyze the teacher's situation, he might discover some interesting things—among them:

That teachers' salaries are less than other peoples' salaries with comparable training and preparation; that the average classroom is overcrowded and in many cases the teacher is "overlooked"; that the teacher's day is much longer than the six hours that school is in session; and that in spite of apparent difficulties, the teacher is doing an excellent job. The present status of this nation in world affairs is evidence of the continual accomplishments of the American school teacher.

Teachers are dedicated to a significantly noble purpose—the preparation of your children that they may have a more meaningful and rewarding life in keeping with the traditions and values of democracy.

We live in an immensely complex age. The rapid changes that have been brought about by modern technology coupled with constant world tensions are adding new and increasing responsibilities on the shoulders of our teachers. The problems that will face each new generation are enormous. Conversely, the scope of modern education must be ever broadened to meet these new responsibilities, and that will require progressively higher quality in education.

We are asking a great deal of our teachers but thus far they have been more than equal to the task. Whether they will continue to do a good job will depend on how willing we are to provide a wholesome educational situation.

Recent research has disclosed that elementary and high schools will have 30 and 50 per cent more children, respectively, in 1965. Thus we will require 200,000 new teachers each year in the United States. The answers to the teacher shortage are not found in higher salaries alone. An important part of the solution lies in giving the teacher public recognition for a job well done. Such recognition, in the final analysis, can only come from the people.

Teacher Appreciation Week has been proclaimed for that purpose. It will remain for the citizens of this Commonwealth to make Teacher Appreciation Week a living expression and public sentiment, and by so doing, everyone of us can share in advancing education in Kentucky.

ENDORSES ROBERTS

I take this method of asking my friends to support Dewey Roberts for county judge, as I am in the hospital and don't have a chance to see you. I have known him most of my life and I know him to be an honest and sober man. I believe he is well qualified for this office. He made us a good magistrate in our district. He was always ready and willing to help the people. When he was magistrate he would always have an officer at church to keep the peace and protect the public. He built many roads in our district while he was magistrate. When you help him you are helping me also. I will certainly appreciate any thing you may do to help him.

Thanking you in advance.

HONEST LAW ENFORCEMENT

I am asking for your support for Sheriff in the coming primary election on the following platform:

1. Clean, honest law enforcement without favoritism.
2. Absolutely no protection racket for bootleggers or other law violators. A thorough, conscientious effort will be made to halt the illegal traffic in liquor through Floyd county. Everyone and particularly our children and older people deserve the right to travel public highways without fear of harm or insults from drunks.
3. I pledge to every taxpayer in Floyd county that never in any instance will I take or accept more money than that allowed by Constitutional limit. I have for many years been accustomed to living within an honest income and expect to continue doing so without corruption or dishonesty.
4. The business through the Sheriff's office is of vital interest to every citizen in our county. This business will be conducted in a friendly, dignified manner and every assistance will be available to those needing help with any problems in connection with this business.

I do not believe that anyone can truthfully and in good faith tell you that they doubt my ability or intentions to carry out this platform. Many of you people have been critical of the operation of the Sheriff's Office in past years. If you are among those people, won't you give me the opportunity to carry out this program by going to the polls on May 28th and casting your vote for

FARM NOTES

By ROBERT M. JONES, County Agent

Drench Ewes
 All the sheep in the flock should be drenched this month, except lambs. If there are any ewes that have not lambed, they should not be drenched until after lambing. To complete the parasite control program keep a phenothiazine-salt mixture before sheep at all times. The mixture is made up of nine parts salt and one part phenothiazine.

Soil Test
 The farmers of Floyd county are spending more money on fertilizer each year. To help farmers know what fertilizer they use to meet crop needs, the Extension Service, with the help of local business men and Farm Bureau set up a soil testing laboratory. This laboratory is now in operation. Ralph Davis of Prestonsburg is the laboratory technician. This service is available to anyone in the county. The charge for testing a sample is 50c which only covers the cost of testing.

Every person who is going to plant a field of corn, sow a meadow or pasture, or set tobacco should have a soil test made. That is the only way to be sure that the right amount of fertilizer is being applied. Soil samples should be brought to the county extension office, and the results will be returned as soon as possible.

Farm and Home Development
 The first farm and home development meeting was held at Maytown high school, March 21. The second meeting is scheduled for April 4.

Farm and Home Development is a program where the family works out together their goals and plan their farm, home and family living so they may reach their goals.

Six families attended the first meeting. It is hoped that more will attend April 4.

Strawberries
 Fifty thousand strawberry plants have been delivered to Floyd county. This is enough plants to set 12.5 acres. With the outlook for prices in the next two years being favorable, that figure should have been 50 to 75 acres. Floyd county is setting more plants than our neighboring counties.

Strawberries have proven to be profitable in Eastern Kentucky. The only factor that is holding this section back, is not enough volume. Buyers from the large markets, want to buy in large truck load lots. If we can increase acreage, so that we can meet market demands, it will reduce marketing cost and increase net increase to the farmer.

Alfalfa Demonstration
 Two fertilizer demonstrations were set up last week to show the volume of annual fertilizer application on alfalfa. Each demonstration consists of 1/50 of an acre treated at the rate of 60 pounds of phosphate and 120 pounds of potash. This is the recommended application which will not only increase yields but holds stand for several years. These demonstrations are on the farms of Alex Bingham, Auxier, and Paul Dotson, Middle Creek.

Plans are to treat seven more pilots after the first cutting.

Alfalfa is gaining in popularity in Floyd county. Last fall 100 acres were seeded. We have plenty of soil in the county that is suited for the production of alfalfa. To go along with the soil there are also some cultural practices that need to be followed to raise alfalfa profitable. Alfalfa is a heavy feeder on plant food, taking more out of the soil than 100 bushel corn crop. To supply this plant food an annual application of fertilizer should be added.

Crager, Dixon, Stewart Lead Cats To Victory

Spanked by the pitching of Buford Crager and the hitting of Wayne Dixon, Melvin Stewart, and Crager, the Prestonsburg high school baseball team won a convincing 8-2 decision at West Liberty, Wednesday, from a good Morgan County high school squad. The Black Cats scored first in the third inning when pitcher "Specks" Gross issued a walk to Black Cat shortstop, Ronny Stricklin. Stricklin then stole second and scored easily when Crager drilled a line drive shot to left center. The Morgan County crew fought back and took a 2-1 lead on a walk, an error, and a fly ball which Black Cat centerfielder, Paul Philip Hughes, misjudged and one run scored. Joe Jack Harris attempted a double play but threw wild at second base and the Morgan County team was ahead.

The lead didn't last long as Black Cat catcher Bruce Howard walked. He was sacrificed to second by Ronny Stricklin. Then Crager drilled another shot to left center and the score was tied.

In the fifth inning, Wendell Childers lined a single down the left field line. Wayne Dixon quickly responded by blasting a high inside curve ball off the centerfield wall, some 365 feet away.

In the sixth inning, the Black-Cats went on a hitting rampage and drove Gross and reliever Adams from the mound as they scored five runs. That was enough for Crager as he struck out four of the last six men to face him.

BASEBALL DISTRICT

The Kentucky High School Athletic Association has made some sweeping changes in redistricting the 1957 baseball tournaments. Under this year's set-up, 35 teams comprise the Grayson region of the play-offs.

Winners from each of the five districts—Ashland, Mt. Sterling, Grayson, Elkhorn City and Paintsville—will vie in Grayson on May 23 and 24 for the right to enter the state high school baseball tournament in Louisville, June 6 and 7.

All of the Eastern Kentucky teams have been placed in two of these five districts. In the Paintsville districts will be Louisa, Meade Memorial, Morgan County, Oil Springs, Paintsville, Sandy Hook and Van Lear.

Teams making up the Elkhorn City district are Belfry, Elkhorn City, Feds Creek, Martin, Pikeville, Prestonsburg, Wheelwright and Auxier.

TRACK CHANGES MADE

Twelve regions have been set for track and will be held on May 10. Only first and second place winners in the regionals will qualify for the state meet at the University of Kentucky, May 17-18.

Eastern Kentucky's high schools are in the Elkhorn City region and are Belfry, Elkhorn City, Flat Gap, Fleming-Neon, Johns Creek, M. C. Napier, Martin, Oil Springs, Paintsville, Pikeville, Prestonsburg, Virgie and Whitesburg.

BLACKCATS WIN FIRST

Jack Frost Well's Prestonsburg Blackcats won their first and only game of the young baseball season in downing Morgan County high, 8-4, as senior righthander Buford Crager limited the Blue Devils to five singles. Crager was also the leading hitter with two singles and two runs batted in. Rightfielder Wayne Dixon clouted a two-bagger for the only extra base hit of the fray.

WALLACE NATION'S BEST

Betsy Layne's Grady Wallace, who gained national acclaim with his shooting feats at the University of South Carolina this season, as well as last, has been officially named by the National Collegiate Athletic Association as the No. 1 individual scorer in all college basketball in 1956-57 with a 31.2 per game average for 29 games.

The six-foot, four-inch Floyd countan flipped in 906 points during the season to break all existing records at the South Carolina school.

PILOT NAMED

Ralph Carlisle, Lexington Lafayette cage coach, will replace Ed Diddle as coach of the Kentucky high school all-stars in their annual two-game series with Indiana's best.

CATS DEFEAT FLEMING-NEON ON STRONG HURLING, HOMERS

Two home runs, one a grand slam and one with the bases empty, were enough for the Prestonsburg high school baseball team to defeat the Fleming-Neon squad at McRoberts, Tuesday, 13-3. Capt. Buford Crager continued his winning ways as he handcuffed the Pirates after taking over for Wayne Dixon in the 4th inning as Dixon became wild and hit one batsman and walked another. When Crager took over the mound duties, the Black Cats were trailing 1-0 and had been limited to one hit by Pirate pitcher Tom Holt.

The 5th inning was again the lucky inning for the Black Cats. A walk to catcher Henry Hughes, a single by Ronny Stricklin and a double by Crager produced the tying run, Melvin Stewart then drew a pass from Pirate pitcher Holt to load the bases. Another pass was issued to Charles Harris and the Black Cats were ahead 2-1. After Wendell Childers flied out to centerfield and Wayne Dixon struck out, three more walks to Rubie Tackett, Paul Hughes, and Henry Hughes produced three more runs. With the bases loaded and two out Ronny Stricklin followed Henry Hughes and blasted a grand slam home run over the centerfield barrier. Buford Crager then followed Stricklin and duplicated Stricklin's feat with the sacks empty.

The Black Cats added 3 runs in the 7th of their total of 13. The Pirates tried in vain to overtake the Black Cats in the last half of the 7th as they took advantage of wildness on the part of Crager to score 2 runs on 4 base on balls and a single. Crager then bore down and struck out 2 batsmen and made another pop out to end the game.

SPORTS AFIELD LAUDS KY. HUNTING, FISHING

Frankfort, April 8 (Spl.) — Kentucky's fishing, hunting and vacation attractions are described this month in a national magazine—Sports Afield.

An article by Erwin A. Bauer gives details on almost every prime fishing spot in the Commonwealth. Then the writer describes hunting for quail, cottontails, duck, goose, deer, grouse and squirrel as he found it in the Commonwealth. Bauer closes with some words of praise for the State's parks and scenic wonders.

Commenting upon Irvin Cobb's declaration that he received more pleasure from bass fishing in the Blue Grass state than from its Bourbon, "fastest blondes and most beautiful race horses," the magazine says:

"Cobb should return to Kentucky today. Besides the green meandering streams and the murky Mississippi oxbows he knew, there are giant reservoirs where bass big enough to revise record books are caught wholesale each year. Add to these the tens of thousands of farm ponds, nearly all of them stocked with fish, and he would find a landscape designed with America's wandering sportsmen in mind. It would require a long lifetime to test the finest fishing holes alone. And one of the finest of these is winding Lake Cumberland."

Bauer describes Kentucky Lake as "the largest man-made fishing hole in the world." And, declares the writer, "it's also one of the best."

The article points out that "Kentucky fishing is a 12-month proposition."

Bauer said he found more in Kentucky than "superb hunting and fishing." He called the State a "family vacationland" with "no end o' natural and scenic wonders." He pointed out that Kentucky is rich in historical background and said "in every community it's possible to absorb some of America's hickory-smoked past."

Bauer praised Kentuckians for their hospitality, declaring, "a traveler is as welcome in the fine inns and restaurants as on the busy fishing docks at Cumberland Lake."

SPORTS AFIELD By TED KESTING

Many anglers take it for granted that a fish sees a lure the same way a man does. However, Jason Lucas, Angling Editor of SPORTS AFIELD, points out that knowing how a fish actually does see can save the average fisherman both time and money.

First, can a bass recognize colors? It has long been known that dogs, cats, horses and most other mammals are totally color blind. But fish are an even more primitive form of life so it would seem unlikely that they could have color vision similar to man's. Yet the fact remains that game fish can distinguish colors. Lucas points out.

Early tests which attempted to establish this fact were questioned by the experts. For example, if a bass could learn to tell the difference between red and green objects placed under water, it might be said that he was seeing them as varying shades of gray. Even the possibility that the fish could detect a difference in the smell of the paints in texture was also considered.

Later researchers took even more pains to avoid any misleading conclusions. For instance, one of them put several glass tubes in a tank; through one of these he ran a red liquid, through another green and through a third, blue. When the bass touched the red tube he was given a mild shock, but nothing from the others. He soon learned to avoid the red. When the colors were switched from tube to tube, the bass continued to avoid the red. He wasn't fooled by different shadings, either, yet it was also proven that he could distinguish between shades.

However, Lucas states, living underwater, fish see a different spectrum than man. Colors that cannot be seen by men can be seen by fish. Lucas likens this to the response of a dog to a "silent" whistle.

Many such things have been discovered about how a fish sees things, but what does it all mean to the angler? Well, perhaps different things to different anglers. Lucas has some theories of his own. He says that a large percentage of the time he gets most of his bass by using darker lures in deep water and lighter, white with a dash of red, up top.

But he admits, we may be able to determine how a bass sees things, but never how he looks on matters.

Who rates what for performance and smoother riding in the low-priced three? Chevrolet has laid the answer and the proof on the line!

First, Chevrolet won the Auto Decathlon over every car in its field, and over the higher priced cars that were tested, too. This rugged ten-way test (right, below) showed Chevrolet was the champ in handling ease, braking, acceleration, passing ability, smoothness of ride and other driving qualities you want in a car.

Then, Chevy won the Pure Oil Performance Trophy at Daytona (left, below) as "best performing U. S. automobile."

It's quite a feeling to know that you are driving a car that performs so well, responds so beautifully and is so finely built. You feel proud, of course. But you also enjoy a surer, smoother, steadier way of going, a keen cat-quick response of power, and the easiest handling you've ever experienced behind a wheel. Just try this Chevrolet (V8 or Six) and see!

Swimmer Barely Wins, British Decide

London, March 30—A swimmer who loses his trunks in a race and finishes in the nude is still the winner—at least in Britain.

That was the decision of the Amateur Swimming Association today after discussing the bare facts of a Northumberland and Durham swimmer who did just that recently at Newcastle.

The issue was whether the loss of his trunks helped him swim and thereby give him an unfair advantage.

Time Running Out On Filing of Income

Time is running out for late filers on Federal income tax returns for 1956. Unlike last year when taxpayers had a couple of extra days to file, because it was Leap Year, this year's deadline occurs at week's opening, Monday, April 15.

Filers who expect to compute their taxes from last year's income and expense records had better start record-searching and soul-searching right now, Director Gray of the Internal Revenue Service warns. Those who will compute on the standard basis and its flat 10 per cent deduction shouldn't lose any time either, he emphasized.

Checks or money orders for any taxes still owed should be made payable to the Internal Revenue Service and sent to Internal Revenue Service, P. O. Box 60, Louisville 1, Kentucky.

FARM HELP SOUGHT IN WILDLIFE PLAN

Frankfort, April 8 (Spl.) — An article in the current issue of Happy Hunting Ground, published by the State Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, asks farmers to place wildlife in an important role in their farm production plan to bring about an improvement in quail restoration.

Despite the vast knowledge of quail information gathered in intensive research, the magazine reports, "most attempts at quail management are 20 years behind technical knowledge of the subject. Researchers have done and are doing the work of fact-finding but have not gotten the words across to landowners."

To assist farmers interested in the production of quail, the Division of

FHA Loans Available To Floyd-Co. Farmers For Flood Relief, Said

The Department of Agriculture has announced the designation through December 31, 1957 of 16 counties in Kentucky as an area where the Farmers Home Administration may make emergency loans to eligible farmers. The counties included are Floyd, Johnson, Martin and Pike. The Department said farmers in the area sustained substantial losses and damage to crops and farm property as a result of the recent heavy rains and floods.

Emergency loans are made to finance normal operations, but may not be used to refinance existing debts. Farmers can apply for loans at the Farmers Home Administration county offices serving the area. To be eligible, a farmer must be unable to obtain the credit he needs from other local sources. In addition, he must be primarily engaged in farming and have suitable experience and reasonable prospects for success in the farming operations he plans to carry on with the loan. The applicant must have suffered a substantial loss from the heavy rain-fall and floods.

The interest rate is 3 per cent. Repayments are scheduled according to the borrower's ability to repay. Loans to meet operating expenses are secured by liens on crops and ordinarily on chattel property, and run from 1 to 5 years depending on the exact purposes for which funds are advanced. Loans for crop production are usually scheduled for repayment when the income from the crops is normally received. Loans for real estate improvements are secured by liens on the real estate and ordinarily are repayable within 1 to 10 years.

County Supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration, Hughel D. Phillips, said that any farmer interested in these loans should contact the County Agent.

Southern Floyd Area Gives Total of $840 For 1957 Heart Fund

A total of $840.95 was collected in southern Floyd county for the 1957 Heart Fund, Mrs. Cora S. McHone, Floyd county chairman, reports.

This tops the figure for the entire county in 1956 when $613 was collected.

The largest part of the total came from Wheelwright where the drive, sponsored by the Wheelwright Woman's Club, raised $688. This was the largest amount ever raised in Wheelwright for the Heart Fund, Mrs. McHone said.

Other communities in the southern section of the county which participated in the campaign were Drift, Weeksbury, Maytown, Wayland and McDowell.

48 FROM FLOYD EARN PLACES IN STATE MEET

Forty-eight Floyd county students won 53 passes to the state high-school musical scene in the Pikeville regional music festival last week at Pikeville College.

During the four-day festival, 138 students won the ratings which will admit them to the two sections of the state festivals in the next few days. Included are 38 singers, 10 pianists, and 90 who play other instruments, both solo and in groups.

With the nine high-school choruses and 10 bands, including the Martin, McDowell, and Wheelwright bands, girls' choruses from Prestonsburg and Wheelwright and mixed choruses from Martin and Prestonsburg, which took part in the regional festival and go on to state action, they will attend either the piano-and-vocal-section of the state meet April 23 and 24, or the instrumental section May 10 and 11. Both will be held at Lexington.

The Pikeville regional festival ended with the traditional All-Festival chorus and All-Festival band concert in the Pikeville College gymnasium. An audience which only partly filled the available seats gave both groups, including representatives of Martin, Maytown, McDowell, Wayland, and Wheelwright, an enthusiastic reception.

Rolf E. Hovey, head of Berea College's music department and judge of vocal and choral events at Pikeville this year, led the chorus. The band was directed by instrumental judges Dr. J. E. Duncan, music-department head at Morehead State College.

Other festival judges were, in instrumental events, James E. Van Peursem, head of the music department at Eastern Kentucky State College, and, in piano, Ford Montgomery, of the University of Kentucky music faculty.

Floyd county students who qualified for the state festival are:

From Martin high school: Jerry Grigsby, in alto saxophone;

From Maytown high school: the mixed vocal group of eight students, Patsy Blevins, Myra Gibson, Judy Gibson, Bonnie Hopson, Doris Maggard, Linda Maggard, Ermil Reffett, and Dan Roland;

From McDowell high school: Wallis Jones, baritone-saxophone solo; Rosemary Moore, French-horn solo; Danny Turner, tuba solo; Sammy Martin and Larry Parsons, trombone solos, Rosemary Moore, Sandra Kaye Hall and Joan Diane Turner, trumpet trio; Vivian Raye Hall and Rosemary Moore, trumpet duet, and Suetta Hall and Loretta Moore, baton-twirling duet;

From Prestonsburg high school: Carl Brickley and Harold Cooley, cornet solos; Katherine Roberts, Ella Faye Phillips, and Tommie Burchett, clarinet trio; Shirley Jones, Cora Ruth Wright, and Lolita Arnett, girls' vocal trio; Judy Dixon, Cora Ruth Wright, Lolita Arnett, and Clara Hager, girls' quartet.

Prestonsburg high also had as state festival qualifier the 15-voice vocal ensemble of Judy Roberts, Phyllis Wilson, Shirley Jones, Glenda Cesco, Judy Dixon, Rose Worland, Cora Ruth Wright, Lolita Arnett, Clara Hager, David Auxier, Jimmie Hamilton, Don Brickley, Carl Brickley, Lucien Burke, and Jerry Hackworth; Peggy Parker and Judy Allen, baton-twirling duo, and Phyllis Burchett, Jane Carol Ford, and Joyce Puckett, baton-twirling trio.

From Wheelwright high school: Mike Leatherman, cornet; Esta Tackett, flute; Janet Blevins, alto-saxophone solo, and Stephen Mullett, snare-drum solo.

HEALTH NOTES

Afraid to Get Well

Everyone at the tuberculosis hospital loves old Mr. Brown. The long months that he has been there, he has been a model patient, cheerful, uncomplaining. Many a discouraged younger patient has been helped by his simple kindness and wisdom.

Since he's been up and around he's found plenty to do. He has his round of visits to make to friends who have to stay in bed. He helps with breakfast trays. He likes to tidy up the occupational therapy rooms, and keep the tools and machines in first class shape.

But now he is afraid. The doctor says he will be able to go home soon. The disease in his right lung is healed, and if he takes care, should never break out again. The doctor says he's one of the lucky ones.

Lucky? He'd rather be sick and stay in the hospital. He has no home to go to, no job. What is he to do? Sit all day in a little room? Sure, he'll get along on his social security benefits, but there'll be no extras. Maybe enough for a movie once in awhile. Restaurant meals are expensive. Can he manage to cook for himself on a hot plate? But, if he doesn't eat right, he might get sick again. Maybe he'll have to live with relatives who'll take him in because they feel they have to. There's no one left who really cares, back in the old home town.

Are there Mr. Browns and Mrs. Browns in your home town, too old to get a job, well enough and eager to be useful to someone, but having no one who needs them?

This is a problem that concerns us all, because we will all grow older. What recreation, what activity does your town offer its older citizens? If there's next to nothing but movies, maybe you can do something about it. Many towns have started clubs and centers where older people can meet and make friends, enjoy old hobbies, develop new skills, and find they can still have a useful place in the community.

WAIT!

Be sure you know who you are voting for in this coming election. Make it the election that will mean most to you and your country.

I have served the public for 20 years, and it means a lot to know how to treat people. I don't think I have an enemy in this county anywhere. I am the son of the late Rev. George Patrick, of Garrett, Ky., and was born at Prestonsburg and lived there 10 years. I was raised on Beaver Creek. I am not bringing my war record in this matter, although I did spend two years overseas serving my country.

Your help and support will be highly appreciated.

Agency Reports On Job Situation

Frankfort, April 8 (Sp.) — Non-agricultural wage and salary workers in Kentucky totaled 589,400 at mid-February, a decrease of 6,900 below the preceding month, the State Economic Security Department reported.

The agency attributed the drop to "seasonal factors." Compared with February of last year, however, employment was up 3,400 jobs, the department said.

It added that the total of 15,666 initial claims made for state unemployment insurance payments during February was 37.1 percent below January's 24,886 claims and 6.7 percent below the number of February, 1956. An initial claim indicates the beginning of an unemployment period.

The department said continuing claims during February under the state jobless benefit program totaled 160,586 up 2.5 per cent over January and up 15.9 per cent over February of last year. Each continued claim indicates a week of unemployment.

During the week ending Feb. 23, the agency reported, the rate of unemployment among those insured under the Kentucky program was 8.6 per cent, compared with 4.3 per cent for the nation as a whole. The department added:

Total benefits paid by the agency to the state's unemployed totaled $3,027,451 during February, including payments to Korean veterans and federal employees. Payment from the Kentucky unemployment insurance trust fund totaled $2,786,521, about $100,000 below January and $480,000 above February of last year. The payments averaged $23.76 during February, $2.50 higher than a year ago.

A LITTLE ABOUT "LITTLE" PAUL HAYES

Some of Paul Hayes' opposition would like to create the impression that Paul is a city boy who has had all the advantages. Nothing could be farther from the truth. We do not contend that a person is qualified for public office merely because he has come up the hard way. We do think however that a man's training and background goes a long way in shaping his character. With that thought in mind we are taking the liberty of presenting to you a page from the life of "Little" Paul Hayes.

- (1) Born in a log house which is still standing at Hi Hat on Left Beaver Creek.
- (2) The tenth child in a family of 14 born to W. P. (Bill) and Laura Hayes.
- (3) Raised on Left Beaver by his father who made a living by running at different times a stove mill, saw mill and keeping a grocery store.
- (4) His parents believed in the biblical warning which says: "Spare the rod and spoil the child." All the Hayes children were taught to work and to "Honor thy father and thy mother."
- (5) Attended country school at Clear Creek, District No. 88. (Two of his teachers were Wade Sloane and J. F. Howell).
- (6) Usually had only one pair of overalls, which a loving mother, washed at night, and a pair of Red Goose shoes once a year.
- (7) Hoed corn, cleared newground, and hunted cows on the hillsides of Left Beaver Creek.
- (8) Worked as "Measure boy" at his father's grist mill at Hi Hat.
- (9) Often walked seven miles down Left Beaver to McDowell High School when the school bus couldn't get over the road.
- (10) By hard work and perseverance obtained a workshop at Morehead College, where he was trained as a school teacher.
- (11) Taught school at Wheelwright in 1941 for $98.00 per month.
- (12) As a young man did manual labor working as an ordinary seaman on merchant ships and as a rigger in shipyards.
- (13) Served his country overseas during World War II with honor and distinction.
- (14) Went to Law School on the GI Bill of Rights, and taught school part time to meet expenses.
- (15) Borrowed money to set up in the practice of law and quickly established himself as an outstanding young attorney.
- (16) Served with distinction as a member of the Kentucky Legislature and as a member of the Kentucky Workmens Compensation Board.
- (17) In spite of the honors which have come his way he is still known as "Little" Paul Hayes.
- (18) This boy has tried hard to help himself as a lawyer. He has accommodated many people.

He will make Floyd county a good County Attorney. You can help him and help yourself by giving him a helping hand. We recommend him for your consideration.

Capitol Notebook

Frankfort, April 1—The scene was the House of Representatives in the State Capitol.

The dramatic personae were Gov. A. B. Chandler and the more than 160 east Kentuckians who came down the Kentucky River valley to Frankfort bearing thanks.

They came to express gratitude for the Governor's help during the January flood.

And they wanted to tell him their needs to prevent another deluge from submerging their homes, stores, schools and churches. Chandler responded that he would take their needs, if necessary, all the way to the President of the United States.

Looking around the legislative chamber, one observer remarked, "This really is a House of Representatives today—representative of the trust and confidence the people of that stricken region, which has risen above disaster, have in Gov. Chandler."

The gathering represented nine counties.

Airman Asks Votes To Help His Father

My father, J. E. (Elzie) Conley is a Democratic candidate for Magistrate in District 1, and I cannot help him as I would like to do, since I am in the U. S. Air Force and a long way from home.

This much I can do, however—I can ask all my friends and relatives to help my Dad in this race. He will make you a good Magistrate, and I will appreciate your kindness so much.

NO NEW TAXES...
NO NEW DEBTS...
BUT BETTER ROADS
and
BETTER GOVERNMENT

If you nominate and elect me your County Judge, I will devote my full time to the office, and not be interested in some outside business of my own. I will set up a good budget system and operate within that budget. Your county will be operated on a cash basis and not on credit. I will take care of all the people and not a privileged few.

This office belongs to the people and the people are the ones who make the choice. This fact I will never forget. I will work to get your county out of debt instead of going more into debt. This will mean much to all who live in Floyd County and especially to those that pay taxes. I will set up a good road program and maintain the county roads 12 months out of the year. I will work to get all the aid possible from the State and Federal Government on building roads. I will do my best to get you and your children out of the mud.

You pay taxes and you are entitled to something in return. If I am your County Judge there will be no politics played with your tax money. It will be used for the best interests of all the people. I will have an audit made each year showing you the financial condition of the county. This will be published in the newspaper.

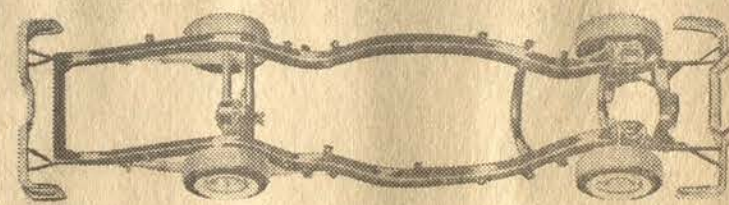

If I am County Judge there will be no bonds floated, no taxes raised. The election of a County Judge this year is a serious matter, and should be given much attention by the voters of this county.

I only want to be County Judge one term. I don't want a deed to any office. I realize that there are other people who are well qualified and would like to hold office. Why educate your children to qualify them for an office if a few are going to hold office for life? We might as well have a king. How long, Oh! how long does some people want to stay in office? Voters, it is time to think and act accordingly. Help change this system of holding office for life and you will have better government and a better Floyd County to raise your children in.

Here's what makes it a new kind of Ford

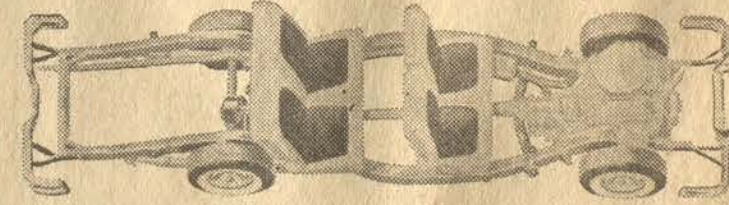

The frame is wider... wheels are lower
(Lets you ride sweet and low)

Never before has a low-priced car hugged the road so well. Partly, it's because the frame is sturdier. Partly, it's because the wheels are smaller. Partly, it's the way front and rear suspensions take tilt out of turns. Mostly, it's because there's a whole new smoother-riding quieter-going "Inner Ford."

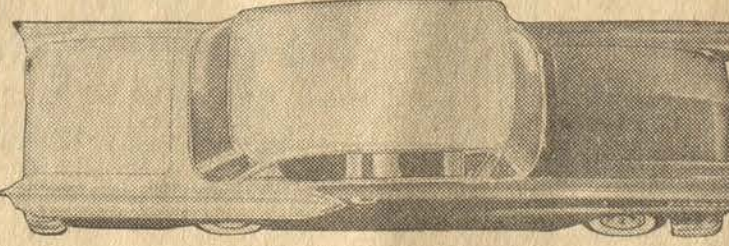

The power is bigger

(Most power in Ford's 25 years of V-8 leadership)
And what a V-8 engine! You can have the kind of Thunderbird power that smashed records at Daytona... set a new stock car mark at Indianapolis... traveled 50,000 miles in just 20 days at Bonneville, Utah!

The comfort is greater

(You've never had it so plush)
You sit in the lap of luxury. There's head room, hip room, leg room galore. And wait till you get a load of those new upholsteries and color schemes!

The body is "beefier"

(Up to 9 inches longer, 4 inches lower, with full head room, full road clearance)
From top to floor, front to rear, this body is built like a "battleship." You ride surrounded by new strength.

...and best of all it's the lowest priced of the low-price three!

KY. PRESS TOUR DATE SET FOR MAY 5-11

Frankfort, April 1 (Spl.) — Arrangements have been completed for the 1957 Kentucky Press Tour, May 5-11, according to a joint announcement by Barney Tucker, president of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, G. M. Pedley, commissioner of the Department of Public Relations, and Mrs. Ben Kilgore, director of State parks, co-sponsors of the tour.

"The Kentucky Chamber of Commerce and its members are vitally interested in bringing more travel business to Kentucky," Tucker said. "Competition in the travel industry is becoming keener month by month and the attractions which Kentucky has to offer deserve all the recognition which they can get."

Mrs. Ben Kilgore said invitations have been accepted by approximately 25 national magazine and newspaper travel editors who are in a position to bring the story of Kentucky to their readers. Among publications to be represented are Holiday magazine, and newspapers from Delaware, Virginia, Ohio, Florida and Washington, D. C.

Pedley said the proposed itinerary would include the most famous of Kentucky's attractions. The visitors will see Kentucky Dam Village, Kentucky Lake State Park, Pennyrite Forest State Park, Jefferson Davis Monument, Mammoth Cave, Lake Cumberland, Cumberland Falls and Levi Jackson Wilderness Road State Park.

Other stops are Berea College, Lexington and Bluegrass farms, and Keeneland. There will be a reception at the Governor's Mansion and a tour of the Capital after which the tour members will have lunch at Churchill Downs.

Books and Such

By Laura Virginia Roberts

For, lo, the winter is past, The rain is over and gone; The flowers appear on the earth; The time of the singing of birds is come, And the voice of the turtle is heard in our land. —Song of Solomon

And with these joyous signs of spring comes the Floyd County Book Fair. Have you heard about it? It begins April 15, and is for you and your children, and everyone. The Book Fair is designed to show books to everyone, and also to encourage us all to have books in our homes.

You will agree, I believe, that your children—from the baby to the teen-ager, to the adult—need to see and read good books, and need to own books. Young children need to be read—to hear the music of rhymes and riddles and pretty sounds, and to be shown picture books; older ones need to be encouraged to explore for themselves the treasure islands to be found in books.

Beginning April 15, about 800 books will be on display in Floyd county school libraries — books touching all ages and all interest levels. It will be possible to order books for yourself and your children if you wish. Some, perhaps all, the librarians plan to give the students an opportunity to examine the books during the day, and perhaps choose a book or books which they may want to show their parents when they visit; also, they plan to give students the opportunity to help choose books which they would like to see placed on the library shelves next year.

Please give your attention and support to the Book Fair. The responsibility and effort which make one possible are terrific; and Bob Wallace and our county school librarians not to mention many others involved, have gone all-out to make it a success.

Attend any of the showings, and if you wish to purchase books—all well and good, but come. Come and browse. Glimpse again the wonder of the World of Books which you have probably already known as a child; and which no child, old or young, should miss.

BOOK FAIR SCHEDULE

Monday, April 15, Prestonsburg High.

April 16, Prestonsburg Grade.

April 17, and 18, Wheelwright.

April 19, Maytown High.

Monday, April 22, Martin High.

April 23, Wayland High.

April 24, Garrett High.

The libraries will be open on these dates during the school day, from 7 to 9 nights.

Linda Stephens, Prestonsburg high librarian, received an interesting package in the mail the other day. It contained an overdue book; over-due, that is, since 1945. She thinks this might bring hope to harassed librarians all over the world. Never despair about lost books—not even after five or ten years.

Looking it up in the files, Miss Stephens found that the book was replaced with another one by the loser at the time it was lost, but the name was not recorded. We'd love to know the sender, and Linda promises there will be no two-cents-a-day fine.

FOOD NOTES

By Dixie Trapp
Home Demonstration Agent

Cheese! Cheese! Bring on the cheese! No matter what your home-maker wants in a food, cheese is sure to have it. It has economy, variety, versatility, rich nutrition and delicious flavor.

Our cheese-eating has profited by America's being "The Melting Pot of Nations". We've also served as a "melting pot" of cheese—Swiss from Switzerland, cheddar from England, Limburger from Belgium, Parmesan from Italy, cottage from everywhere and many others. Why, there is even a cheese or two first made in the USA, American and cream cheese.

There are many classifications of cheese, but one of the simplest is: very hard (parmesan, romano), hard (cheddar, Swiss, Edam), semi-soft (Limburger, bleu, Roquefort) and soft (cottage, cream). The very hard is used for flavoring; hard for all purpose table, sandwiches, cooking; semi-soft for salads, sandwiches, desserts; and soft for salads and desserts.

The longer a cheese ages, the more the flavor. Cheese with not enough aging feels rubbery.

Two ounces is considered an average size serving for most cheese. For cottage, it is three ounces. Cheese is a "buy a pound; serve a pound" food. Usually there is no waste.

The three C's of cheese storage are cool, covered and clean. Cooling slows the aging process. Covering prevents absorption of odors from other foods and stops drying. For tops in flavor, take from the refrigerator about one hour before serving.

The best way to learn about cheese is to eat cheese. There are over 400 different varieties in the United States. It is a budget stretching, appetite pleasing, and health giving learning, too. So, bring on the cheese.

To Clean Windows: To a quart of warm water, add 1 tablespoon of vinegar and 2 tablespoons of ammonia.

Four of the markers erected by the Kentucky Historical Markers committee, including the marker at the site of the Battle of Middle Creek near here. The Lincoln Family Trail marker is near Hawesville, overlooking the Ohio River; the grave of Hancock Taylor is near Richmond, and the Kelly Furnace marker is west of Kuttawa.

To preserve the state's historic heritage there was set up in 1949 the Kentucky Historical Markers Committee charged with marking historic spots alongside highways. It was named the official state agency to select locations, prepare and authenticate the inscriptions.

Floyd county's lone marker, at the site of the Battle of Middle Creek, on Ky. 114, near here, was erected in 1951, by the state committee after being urged by the Historical Research committee of the Floyd County Sesqui-centennial Association. Another marker, pointing out the site of Harman's Station near East Point is on the Floyd-Johnson county line on U. S. 23. Blockhouse, Bottom, where the Harman's set-led, is in Johnson county.

The markers are cast in the foundry of the University of Kentucky and erected by the State Department of Highways. In addition the state has assumed responsibility to maintain some 50 other markers which were erected by various organizations previous to the time the state embarked on its marking program in 1949.

The March issue of Automobile Bulletin, published by the Louisville Automobile Club, in commenting on the marker program, said:

"The value of locating and properly marking points of historical interest needs no justification. Its importance has been recognized in almost every state in the Union by those interested in a permanent preservation of their state's history. Kentucky has such a rich and historical background that there is almost an unlimited opportunity for appropriate markers."

Chairman of the markers committee is Eugene Stuart, Louisville, who is also manager-secretary of the Louisville Automobile Club. Henry P. Scaf, of The Times, was appointed to the committee by the state, in January. The committee is composed of historians, artists, civic-minded persons, and others.

The site of the Battle of Ivy near here will be suggested as a marker location when the committee meets in August.

How to make more money with Corn

USE THE BEST HYBRID SEED

From the standpoint of quality and price, there is none better than Southern States.

Here's Why:

1. Bred Right
2. Produced Right
3. Harvested Right
4. Dried Right
5. Graded Right
6. Treated Right (chemically protected against disease and soil insects)
7. Laboratory Tested Right (double tested—the "regular" and "cold test" for germination and vitality)
8. Field Tested Right

USE THE BEST CULTURE PRACTICES

Southern States Hybrid Seed Corn will help you get more plants, more corn per acre—especially if you use good culture practices.

Here's How:

1. Don't plant too early (soil should be 65° F or warmer).
2. Don't plant too deep (usually not over 1½ inches).
3. Provide sufficient plant food.
4. Apply high analysis fertilizer properly (not too close to seed).
5. Plant enough kernels per acre (for example, if you want 12,000 plants, plant 14,000 kernels).
6. Check planter plate drop (before and after starting to plant).
7. Don't plant too fast (hold tractor to 3½ miles per hour).
8. Cultivate with care and control weeds.

PLUS-

GUARANTEE REPLANT AGREEMENT

Southern States Hybrid Corn is guaranteed to the full extent of the purchase price to be as represented in variety, purity and germination. Patrons may return any seed corn that is not thoroughly satisfactory. After the corn is planted if there is any definite evidence the seed was not as represented, Cooperative Seed and Farm Supply Service will refund the purchase price, but will in no case be liable for more than the purchase price of the seed.

Should a patron find it necessary to prepare the seed bed a second time because he failed to obtain a satisfactory stand from the use of Southern States hybrid seed corn, Cooperative Seed and Farm Supply Service will supply at no cost to the patron, sufficient Southern States hybrid seed corn for one replanting of the acreage involved; but in no case will Cooperative Seed and Farm Supply Service be liable for loss resulting from flood or high water or for any loss occurring after a satisfactory stand has once been obtained.

When you start with Southern States Hybrid Seed Corn, you are on your way to a Bumper Harvest. Remember, "Good Seeds Don't Cost, They Pay."

Watershed Book

Frankfort, April 8 (Spl.) — A booklet on suggested procedures for development of small watershed programs is available for free distribution, according to Commissioner of Conservation Laban P. Jackson.

The booklet was prepared jointly by the Divisions of Soil and Water Resources and Flood Control and Water Usage.

Jackson said the booklet may be obtained by writing his department in the Capitol Annex here.

Maps of Moon Better Than Portions of Earth

Astronomers have been drawing maps of the moon ever since Galileo turned his crude telescope on it in 1609 and it is now better mapped than some portions of the earth — interior Greenland, for instance. So reports Don Wharton in an article, "Earth's Fascinating Satellite — The Mysterious Moon", in the April Reader's Digest.

Poets have called the moon chaste, pale, silvery, ghostly, watery but the right adjective is "pocked". Everywhere the face of the moon is marred by craters. "Some 30,000 have been spotted, 150 with diameters of 50 miles or more," writes Wharton. "The deepest crater yet discovered is 30,000 feet from floor to rim—five times as deep as our Grand Canyon."

What caused the craters? Some scientists think they were formed by volcanoes, others that they are the result of enormous gas-filled bubbles rising through a molten moon, then bursting. Another theory is that the craters were produced by a prolonged bombardment of meteorites.

If, once in a lifetime, you see a blue moon, don't think your eyes are playing tricks. It's caused by dust in an upper atmosphere. Ice crystals are what makes you see rings around the moon.

Over the centuries magical powers have been attributed to the moon. It has been said to bring on lunacy, affect growth of plants, eyes of cats, spots of panthers, functions of women, activities of ghosts. The moon does cause the ocean tides because of its gravitational pull but a common mistake of primitive people is to think that everything timed in the same rhythm as the moon is caused by it.

SEN. FLANDERS SEES DANGERS IN MODERN EDUCATION

Compiled by Mrs. Edgar R. May, Tollesboro, Kentucky

The following random, condensed excerpts are from an address by Sen. Ralph Flanders, (Vermont) who delivered the speech before the Vermont State Legislature. Previously the press had stated that Sen. Flanders said progressive education was a sham.

"My immediate concern is with the armed defense of the U. S. Warfare, even defensive warfare is dependent on science and engineering and on the mathematics which underlies these subjects. That is why the quality of teaching mathematics and science has become a matter of national concern.

"In a one-room school I was prepared to enter high school, which gave a better classical education, (for what it is worth) than colleges give today. I progressed in math to trigonometry, studied physics and world history, and was trained in English literature and composition. Such an education is not now automatically obtained even in college. It is only for those who wish it and demand it. Let me mention the changes taking place since my youth in education, beginning with John Dewey of Vermont. He called attention to training the individual to take his place in society. This step is all to the good. The next step of making the boy or girl a "happy member" of society had little interest in teaching him to discern what was good and what was bad, what was right and what was wrong for individuals, groups, local governments and national policy. In fact it specifically denied the existence of standards, good and bad, right and wrong, in human affairs. Besides abandoning standards of conduct, the new education lost its interest in the pupil's acquirement of knowledge. It was concerned with his success as a member of society.

"Dr. W. H. Kilpatrick, pupil of Dewey, took Dewey's basic idea, elaborated and exaggerated them beyond all reason, and made them the basis of modern education in Teacher's College, at Columbia University. From here they spread over the country. Now, the standing and promotion of teachers depends little on their knowledge of the subjects they teach or on their ability to interest and instruct their pupils in these subjects, but on how much they have studied the new education.

"By setting up a science of education, a pseudo-science—or phony science as I am inclined to call it—the Teacher's College at Columbia and the great mass of teaching courses and training schools that have followed it, have erected a monopoly. I hope our School Board and our local boards will help break this grip. That the standard of knowledge acquired may be low all over the State of Vermont seems to be indicated in the report of the State Board of Education. In looking at the report cards of schools in my home town, I cannot for the life of me tell how either the pupil or the parent is to know how much has been learned. (Many schools no longer grade by letters or numbers). "The President of one of Vermont's colleges tells me that the freshmen come to him uneducated.

"The President of one of Vermont's colleges tells me that the freshmen come to him uneducated.

Fire Chiefs Urged
Lend Their Support
To Clean-Up Week

Frankfort, April 8 (Spl.) — State Fire Marshall Ray Humkey called upon fire chiefs throughout Kentucky to support Spring Clean-Up Week campaigns in every community.

In a letter of the chiefs, the state official suggested they urge their mayors to proclaim a week in April as Spring Clean-Up Week. The aid of Chambers of Commerce and other civic organizations should be sought in this project, he said. Humkey pointed out in his letter, "many fire hazards are allowed to accumulate during the winter months, and early spring in an appropriate time to rid cellars, attics, garages, and back yards of such hazards."

State Sets Up Trucks Check

Frankfort, April 8 (Spl.) — Kentucky has established a port-of-entry system for checking trucks over 18,000 lbs. entering or leaving the state.

Revenue Commissioner J. E. Luckett announced this program, to be conducted by the Department of Revenue, designed primarily to insure full compliance with Kentucky's motor fuel tax laws. Luckett said that this is an expansion of the enforcement program which began several months ago.

Thirty-two check points are in operation controlling routes which heavy trucks are permitted to travel. These check points are located at or near the border and are manned on a round-the-clock basis.

Drivers of all trucks over 18,000 lbs. are furnished a clearance certificate when they arrive at the port of entry. This certificate is to be filled out by the driver and is taken up at a port of exit as the truck leaves the state.

The certificate requires information such as ownership and identification of truck, type of fuel used, gallons of fuel purchased in Kentucky, the route in Kentucky, and number of axles.

Luckett stated that the departments of Highways, Motor Transportation, and Public Safety have given "very fine cooperation" in the establishment of this program.

"We need to spend more money on education in Vermont. First comes more school rooms and seats. Close behind that comes increased salaries for teachers who can teach, and this includes many who do not have the Kilpatrick blessing."

Since the Senator expresses the viewpoint of many teachers, parents, and other eminent educators, his speech provides food for some serious thinking as the pendulum in education now turns to more emphasis on basic studies.

ALMOST ANY HOMEMAKER around town will tell you one of the most tiring parts of running a home is "running" from room to room. "Room-to-room travel," is how one good lady described it the other day. I'm no adviser on home economics, but was able to tell her a good way to save steps. Have additional telephones installed where they are most needed, like the kitchen, bedroom and den. And I showed her how the smart decorator colors blend, contrast or harmonize with her own color schemes. If you need additional phones, just call our Business Office and place your order. They cost so little—less than a nickel a day plus a one-time charge for color and installation.

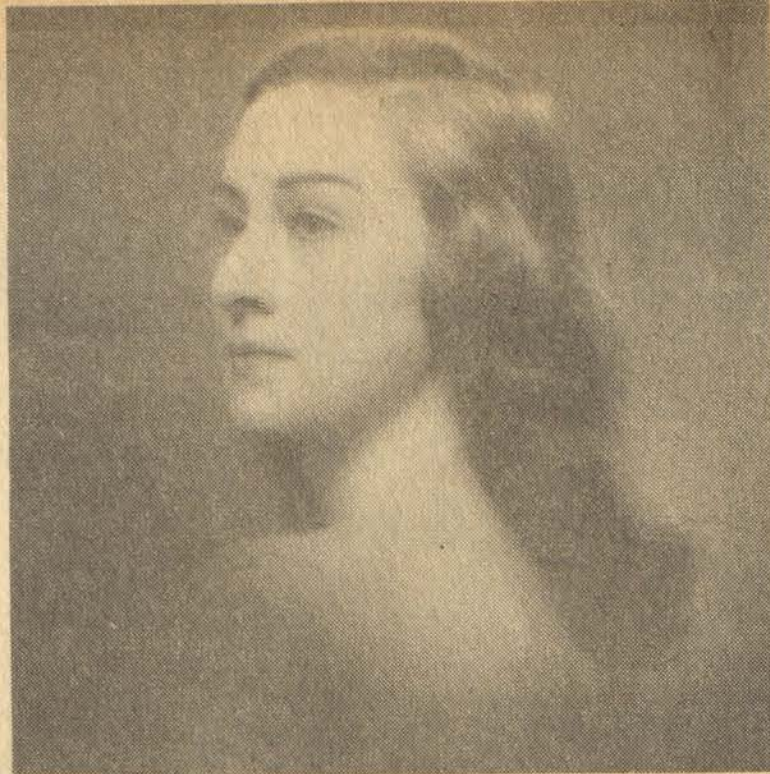

AMAZING THINGS in telephone communications are resulting from use of the transistor, a tiny electronic marvel no bigger than a penny. Invented and developed by the Bell Telephone Laboratories, the transistor will do most of the things bulkier vacuum tubes will do, and others besides. It multiplies the voice thousands of times, takes up little space, generates little or no heat and should last indefinitely. So it makes possible many new kinds of telephone equipment which will mean more and better telephone service for you.

"SCIENCE SPECTACULARS," the Bell System's hour-long dramatic television presentations, are being enthusiastically viewed. The first, titled "Our Mr. Sun," was telecast last November. The second, "Hemo the Magnificent," was shown last month. Other gripping science dramas will be presented on network television later. Color films of these exciting spectacles are available for showing to your school, civic or church group. To arrange for showing these films, just call our Business Office.

Miss Shirley Faye Wright Becomes Bride Of Edsel Harrison Lester, February 16

In a simple double-ring ceremony February 16 at 4:30, Shirley Faye Wright and Edsel Harrison Lester were united in marriage. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. T. G. Wright and the late Dr. Wright. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. John H. Lester and the late Mr. Lester of Hurley. The ceremony was performed by J. C. Heirs, minister of the First Baptist Church of Lexington, S.C., before an arrangement of palms, white gladioli, white carnations and seven-branched candelabra.

Prior to the ceremony, Miss Melba Corley presented a program of wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Billy Jay Wright, wore a powder-blue wool sheath dress which was decorated with pearls, sequins, and satin. She wore a matching hat of blue satin. The bride carried a powder puff of white net and lilies-of-the-valley centered with a white orchid.

Miss Nancy Fox of Lexington, former college roommate of the bride, was the only attendant. She wore a pink wool dress with matching hat and shoes and white gloves. She carried a powder puff of blue net and pink carnations. The bridegroom's best man was Mr. Phillip Wingard of Lexington. Mr. James Harrison Smith, of Richmond, Va., nephew of the groom, was the only usher.

Mrs. Wright, mother of the bride, was attired in a purple suit, a black feather hat, matching accessories, and a corsage of green baby orchids. Mrs. Lester, mother of the bridegroom, wore a plum-colored dress, matching accessories, and a corsage of white baby orchids.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bride's family entertained with a wedding dinner in the Hotel Columbia, in Columbia, S. C. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Mrs. R. J. DeFeo, sister of the bridegroom, of Habers-town, Pa., cut the cake.

For the wedding trip, the bride wore her wedding dress topped with a mink stole, and the orchid lifted from the bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Stuart Hall, Staunton, Va. She is now a junior at Duke University, Durham, N. C., and is a member of Alpha Phi social sorority. The bridegroom is a graduate of Fork Union Military Academy. He attended Hampton-Sidney College, where he was associated with Pi Kappa Alpha social fraternity, and Virginia Polytechnic Institute in Blacksburg, Va. He is now serving a tour of duty with the United States Army.

Mrs. Lester will join her husband in southern Germany in early June.

The bride is a granddaughter of Wm. Hicks, of Hippo, Floyd county.

STATE'S LOW GRADE TIMBER AVAILABLE FOR UTILIZATION

How to develop Kentucky's timber into payrolls: education and its effect on tomorrow's business, the problems of mobilizing industry in the event of prolonged nuclear warfare—these will be subjects of the four conferences scheduled at the Congress of Kentucky Business in Louisville, April 9.

Featured at the forestry products conference will be two representatives of the U. S. Forest Products Laboratory in Madison, Wisconsin. The acting director of the laboratory, Edward G. Locke and the assistant chief of the Division of Pulp and Paper, Robert J. Seidl, will lead the discussion at 2:45 p. m. on "Today's Timber for Tomorrow's Market."

The President of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, Barney A. Tucker, London, noted that Kentucky has an abundance of lower grade timber that could be fully utilized in the wood fabricating industry. The development of these resources may help solve many of the economic problems in certain areas of the state, he added.

Speakers at the education conference will be Thomas A. Ballantine, president, Yellow Cab Company, Louisville, whose subject is "An Educated Public is a Higher and Better Consumer of Tomorrow's Commodities"; Paul W. Johnson, works manager, International Harvester, Louisville, speaking on "An Educated Public can Sell, Operate, and Supervise Modern Machines in Business to Greater Advantage"; Dr. F. G. Diekey, president, University of Kentucky, Lexington, to discuss "Competitive Bids for Tomorrow's Educated Leaders."

The special conference on industrial mobilization will review the progress of this field and project the possibilities that Kentucky has to use its myriad underground excavation such as coal mines and caverns in nationwide dispersal plans. The speaker will be W. E. Haines, director of Industrial Defense, Business and Defense Services Administration, U. S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C.
