

This Town— That World

Election Day—then Memorial Day.

VOTE—PLEASE!

The Times does not presume to be any authority on the worth of individuals as citizens or prospective officeholders.

But it does urge every voter to vote, and to make that vote an honest expression of his or her idea of what is best for Floyd county.

If you stay away from the polls and the decision of the rest of us does not suit you, remain silent, please. For those who are non-entities because they fail to exercise a free and a great privilege in a free and a great country have no right to complain later.

THAT OUGHT TO DO IT

Down South — or was it up North?—an oldtimer moseyed in to a postoffice and called for a penny postal card.

"Bunch of scalawags been huntin' on my land. Lawyer told me I could post it and keep 'em off. So I aim to post 'er right with this ain't-post-card."

LET'S ALL BE GUILTY

The jail records here show that a man was lodged in durance vicia recently for "wreckless driving."

LEGION SETS ANNUAL MEET

10th District Convention Saturday, Sunday at Neon To Select New Officers

The annual tenth district convention of The American Legion, Department of Kentucky, will be held Saturday and Sunday, May 25 and 26, at the home of McCellan Anderson Post No. 104, Neon.

Purpose of the convention is to elect district officers for the year 1957-1958. The following officers are to be elected: District commander, one or more vice-commanders, three delegates and three alternates to the national convention of the American Legion which will be held at Atlantic City, N. J., September 16-19.

The entire program of the convention will be held at Post No. 104, with registration and luncheon being served from 3:00 p.m. on Saturday, May 25, and dance starting at 7:00 p.m. till 1:00 a.m. Registration will continue on Sunday, and the business session of the convention will begin at 1:00 p.m. (EST).

For those of you who will require room reservations, they are requested to contact Commander Beady Phillips, Post No. 104, Neon.

"Since this will be my last meeting as district commander, I kindly request that as many Legionnaires as possible throughout the Tenth district be present at this convention," said Ralph A. Clevinger, district commander. I have some individual awards which I would like to present and in closing I wish to thank all of you for your kind cooperation throughout the past year.

2 ESTILL MEN SLAIN, KNOTT MAN IS JAILED

2 GUNS USED AS BROTHERS ARE VICTIMS

Third Estill Man Shot Is in Critical Condition; Thornsby Surrenders

Two Floyd countians were killed and a third was seriously wounded by a Knott countian who reportedly used two guns in the affray.

Dead are Millard McKinley Combs, 31, and his brother, Moses Combs, 26, both of Estill.

The third man shot—also a resident of Estill—is James Williams, about 35.

The double slaying took place at 7:30 p.m., Sunday, at the home of Willie Bates on Bates Branch of Right Beaver Creek, a few miles above Wayland. Buck Thornsby surrendered at Hindman that night to Knott county Sheriff Merd Combs, and by the following night was in the Leslie county Jail at Hyden for safekeeping.

Millard Combs, first of the brothers to fall, was shot in the lower jaw and neck by a shotgun blast.

Williams told Commonwealth's Attorney Afton Smith, of Knott county, Monday, that he was the next man shot. He was hit in the abdomen by a revolver bullet as he entered the room where the men were, and he said Buck Thornsby shot him.

The wounded Williams fled the house, this version of the killings says, before Moses Combs also fell to a revolver bullet.

Moses Combs was hit one time, in the arm, the bullet passing into his chest and probably entering his heart, it was said at the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Williams is in critical condition at Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin.

Knott county authorities are unable to gather sufficient evidence to fix the cause and circumstances of the shootings satisfactorily. The story that Buck Thornsby used both a shotgun and a revolver lacks full verification, in particular, Commonwealth's Attorney Smith said.

The prosecutor told the Times that Williams told him at the Martin hospital that he was unarmed and that, as far as he knew, neither of the Combs brothers had a weapon.

One story of the shooting reaching here attempts to explain the use of two guns in this way:

One of the Combses fired a shot which grazed Ellis Thornsby, a brother of Buck, whereupon the latter shot Combs with a shotgun. As Combs fell he dropped his revolver and both his brother and Thornsby jumped for it, Thornsby winning and shooting the other brother with it.

FLOYD 4-H'ERS EARN HONORS

Two Named Champions, Several Earn Ribbons At Annual Dist. Rally

Fourteen 4-H'ers from this county competed with champions from Pike, Martin, Johnson, Lawrence, Magoffin and Morgan counties in the fifth annual district rally held at Paintsville Thursday of last week.

Floyd county club members emerged with two district championships: Claudena Lowe, of Eastern, was winner in the dairy foods demonstration competition, and Burgess Lowe, also of Eastern, won the "Tag on the Bag" contest.

Blue ribbon winners were Pam Combs, of Maytown, in the junior girls' speech contest; the soil judging team composed of Lynn Brannham, Jack Howard and Daniel Smith; the Talent Group which gave a pantomime, its members being Carolyn Wright, Mavis Boyd and Terry Deane Compton, all of Allen.

Red ribbon winners were Jack Church, of Cliff, senior boys' demonstration; Paul Osborne, of Maytown, junior boys' speech; Ray Osborn, of Maytown, junior boys' demonstration; Claudena Lowe, of Eastern, senior girls' speech; Sandra Hicks, of Maytown, girls' bread making demonstration; Ruby Mae Gayheart, of Eastern, girls' general demonstration.

Standing In Merit Scholarship Test Earns Prestonsburg Student Offers Of Scholarships from Three Sources

Lon Clay Hill, Jr., 16-year-old Prestonsburg high school senior, has had the tough job these days of selecting one of three college scholarships offered him.

One of these, not yet announced, would have meant attendance at the University of Kentucky or West Virginia University, perhaps.

Another, the William Bingham Foundation scholarship, would have meant enrollment at Case Institute of Technology, Cleveland, O., and would have been worth $2,400 a year to him.

The third—the grant that he will accept—is the Owens-Illinois scholarship to Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, O. This grant is worth $3,440 a year. Besides, young Hill is assured summer vacation-time employment with the Owens-Illinois Glass Company and earnings

Bill Bingham Succumbs Following Heart Attack; Stricken While at Work

William Reed (Bill) Bingham, 44 years old, well-known Bull Creek man, died at the Prestonsburg General hospital at 7 a.m. Saturday, less than a day after he had been stricken by a heart attack while working here.

Mr. Bingham's passing was unexpected and it came as a shock to many relatives and friends. He was first stricken Friday while working with James Clark, Jr., of Prestonsburg, on a refrigeration job at the home here of Lenna Spradlin, taken to the hospital, he later appeared in no immediate danger but suffered a second attack early the next morning.

442 SENIORS TO GRADUATE

1957 High School Group Is 58 Less Than in 1956; Closing Activities Listed

Four hundred forty-two pupils will have been graduated from Floyd county's nine high schools when the last graduation exercises which are beginning this week end on June 18.

This year's high school senior crop is 58 less than the preceding year's 500.

Prestonsburg high school's cap-and-gown brigade of 121 leads all the county schools. Seniors to be graduated from other high schools number:

Maytown, 22; McDowell, 39; Wheelwright, 78; Garrett, 46; Martin, 38; Wayland, 38; Betsy Layne, 50; Auxier, 10.

First of the school commencement exercises was held Wednesday night at Wheelwright where Dr. Adron Doran, president of Morehead State College, was the speaker. Dr. Doran also will be the commencement speaker at the Wayland high school commencement, May 31. Other commencement dates:

Garrett, May 28; baccalaureate there Saturday night, the Rev. Paul W. Dorsey, the speaker. Maytown, commencement May 27; baccalaureate sermon May 26 by the Rev. H. M. Wiley.

McDowell commencement, May 24, name of speaker unavailable. Auxier, May 24, Judge Bert T. Combs, speaker.

Martin, June 5; baccalaureate June 2 by the Rev. Ira McMillen, Jr.

Prestonsburg, commencement June 10, Dr. Lyman Ginger, dean of the College of Education, University of Kentucky, the speaker; class night, June 7; baccalaureate June 9, the Rev. Harold W. Dorsey, the speaker.

Betsy Layne, June 18; baccalaureate by Rev. Ottison of the Southland Bible Institute, Pikeville, June 9.

Closing of the Prestonsburg, Martin and Betsy Layne schools has been delayed by time lost during the January flood. Late closing of several schools has presented a problem for teachers who have planned to attend summer camps.

Dorsey Goes To Japan

Rev. Harold W. Dorsey, pastor of the First Methodist church here, will spend two months in Japan this summer under the auspices of the Special Evangelism Commission of the Centenary Movement of the Methodist Board of Missions. The Prestonsburg pastor will leave June 30 and return to his church here in early September.

The Centenary Movement began in 1953 to organize an additional 27 new Christian churches in Japan by 1959, which date is the 100th anniversary of the first Christian mission there. Dr. Lawrence LaCour, an evangelist here in March, is a director of the movement, and coordinator of the work in Japan is Tomio Muto, former cabinet member in the Japanese government.

The Prestonsburg church is sponsoring Dorsey's work at a Japanese church where he will serve as visiting pastor. The church will raise $1,800 to defray its pastor's trip. A committee of three, H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., Dr. C. L. Hutsinpiiler and C. H. Frazier, presented the plan to sponsor the Dorsey trip.

POLL OFFICER LIST ALTERED

Changes Made Necessary Mainly With Republican Primary Poll Officers

Eleven changes were made this week in the list of election officers named recently to serve at the county's 61 voting precincts.

In announcing the changes the County Election Board said they were necessary because some of those previously named cannot read or write, some will be out of the county on election day. In one case a name was erroneously listed and in another a person registered as a Democrat was listed as a Republican election officer.

The changes announced: Clear Creek precinct, Ted Newman instead of Ted Mullins; Bosco, Colie Martin for Ollie Martin; Toler Creek, Floyd Roberts for Sam Roberts, Ballard Hunt for Add Scott, Opal Conn for Bill Hall; Jack's Creek, Milt Mullins for Ollie Belcher; Kennedy, Jimmy Ratliff for Grace Burchett, Pauline May for Clyde Ruffett; Lee Hall, Kathryn Leatherman for Alma Souleyrette, Virginia Anglin for W. S. Powell; Trimble Branch, Bernice Miller for Margaret D. Collins.

Of the new officers, all are Republicans except Colie Martin, Opal Conn and Milt Mullins.

HALL OF FAME MEET SLATED

Dr. J. Hambleton Tapp, Dr. Robert Martin Will Address Members, Guests

The second renewal of the annual Floyd County Hall of Fame will be held here Sunday afternoon, June 2, and the program attendant upon the event will extend over two days, it was announced this week.

First event of the two-day program will be the Hall of Fame banquet at 6:30 p.m., June 1 at the Prestonsburg grade school cafeteria. The banquet will be open to Hall of Fame members, one relative of all deceased members and one guest invited by each of these. A varied music program directed by Mrs. Chalmers H. Frazier is planned for the banquet.

Immediately following the meal, the group will go to the school auditorium in the same building where Dr. Robert R. Martin, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, will be the speaker.

Dr. Martin will speak on a subject pertaining to educational progress in Kentucky. The public is being invited to hear him.

At the Hall of Fame ceremonies Sunday evening at 4:30 Dr. J. Hambleton Tapp, assistant to the president of the University of Kentucky, will be principal speaker. Three Floyd countians will be admitted to the Hall of Fame at that time.

Dr. Tapp is author of several historical works and is well known as a Kentucky historian.

The first Hall of Fame, initiated here a year ago, honored 118 persons because of outstanding achievement or for special service rendered humanity. Actually, the organization originated during the summer of 1945 in the Floyd County Club, which voted to sponsor such a project. After the demise of that club nothing further was done till the summer of 1955 when a committee completed the work for a County Hall of Fame, to include, where possible, a few persons from most professions, occupations, etc.

Rules were drawn up and members notified. A number of states were represented at the 1956 meeting.

Named to the Morehead faculty are: Dr. Palmer Hall, director of Graduate Studies; Monroe Wicker, head of the Department of In-Service Education; Murrell Howard, director, Breckinridge Training School; Roscoe Playforth, assistant professor in Social Studies; Mrs. Palmer Hall, instructor in public school music at Breckinridge Training School, and Easton Sturt, instructor in English.

The board also accepted the resignation of assistant football coach, St. Prewitt.

Dr. Hall, dean at West Virginia Tech, has been named to the newly formed graduate studies post "to strengthen our graduate program," said Dr. Doran. He was formerly superintendent of Floyd county schools and received his doctor's degree from the University of Kentucky. Mrs. Hall also attended UK where she received the MA degree. The Halls have one child.

Monroe Wicker, former high school principal in Floyd county and formerly director of Breckinridge Training School, has been appointed to the newly formed In-Service Education post to "provide greater service to the public schools."

TWO CHARGED IN SHOOTING

Accused of Wounding Boy By Firing Shot from Car; 4 Jailed in Theft Here

Cecil and Haskel Tackett, brothers, were released under $5,000 bond each last week from county jail here where they had been lodged on a warrant accusing them of shooting a 14-year-old boy from their automobile last Friday.

The wounded youth, Freddie Cline Collins, was taken to the Methodist hospital, Pikeville, with a revolver bullet in his knee.

To procure a warrant for the brothers, Troy Collins, father of the boy, signed a statement stating that Freddie Collins was standing beside the highway between Melvin and Wheelwright as the Tackett brothers passed in a car shooting at another auto. One of the shots struck the boy, he said.

The brothers were quoted as denying they fired the shot that hit young Collins.

Four residents of the Prestonsburg vicinity were jailed Monday by State Detective Cornett and Prestonsburg police on breaking and entering charges in connection with the looting last week-end of Curt Homes' tailor shop on Court street.

Those jailed were Bill Smith, Jim Miller, Robey Harmon and Yancey Horn.

Chief of Police Epp Laferty said Homes reported that 100 pairs of trousers and some belts were taken from his place of business. The burglary was not discovered till Mr. Homes opened for business Monday morning.

Entrance to the shop was effected from the rear. Laferty said one pair of pants has been recovered, and that he and Detective Cornett have traced other items to Magoffin county where they were sold. He added that Smith and Miller have admitted their guilt.

Homes is one of the many Prestonsburg business men who were hit by the recent flood.

Pct. OFFICERS TOLD OF LAW CITING DUTIES

27,322 Ballots Ready For Voters in Primary; Warnings Are Sounded

As Floyd county this week was in the final stages of that "spring madness" that is an election final preparations were being made for the actual voting at the county's 61 precincts next Tuesday.

For this primary election 22,296 Democratic and 5,026 Republican ballots have been printed. This is the actual voting registration, plus 10% provided by state law.

The County Purgation and Registration Board this week emphasized the importance of work by election officers in each precinct to check the voting record of each voter on the registration card as the voter votes. This is important, it was said, for future purgation work.

Sheriff Gorman Collins in a letter of instruction to election officers warned against irregularities, admonishing them that absentee voters and voters from other precincts and states may ask for ballots. He pointed out that election officers must check all voters through the registration book and that voters must be required to sign the comparative signature book.

HIGHWAY BIDS ARE ACCEPTED

Burchett Gets Contract; Wayland-Beaver Route Let at Highest Figure

Largest contract for roadwork of several projects totalling approximately $1,327,000 awarded Friday by the Kentucky Department of Highways was the grant of $268,851 for resurfacing 9,322 miles of the Wayland-Beaver Gap road in Knott county.

The contract went to Adams Construction Corporation, Paintsville, and calls for a surface of bituminous concrete with limestone aggregate.

A second Knott county project, 2,234 miles of the Big Branch road, was awarded on the same day to Arvie M. Burchett, Prestonsburg, on his bid of $89,599. The specifications call for grade, drain and traffic bound limestone.

The Lawrence county Rural Health Council this week is preparing to petition Kentucky Commissioner of Highways Robert Humphreys to pave the Lawrence county portion of the new River Road, recently-constructed short cut to Ashland built as a relocation of US 23, as a health measure.

PRESTONSBURG PICKED FOR REGIONAL LIBRARY

Floyd county is certain to be regional headquarters for the library service proposed for a four-or-five-county area as an extension of the original Kentucky Bookmobile program, it was said here last Friday following a meeting of county library leaders and interested citizens with state library officials and workers.

Floyd county, one of the first in the state to make application for library headquarters, has already substantially complied with requirements set for those counties which will have these headquarters services, Miss Margaret Willis, of the Department of Library Extension, said following the meeting.

Its fiscal court and county board of education contributions of $5,600, plus the addition and operation of a second Bookmobile, will equal or exceed the 6-cent contribution on each $100 worth of taxable realty that is required of the headquarters county, it was indicated.

Moreover, each county represented here—Magoffin, Johnson, Pike and Floyd—was agreed that the regional headquarters should be here where the Bookmobile program has been one of the most outstanding in Kentucky and where interest in library services has been unusually high. Martin county was not represented at the meeting but was reported committed to the regional library plan.

Each participating county will be required to contribute the equivalent of 3 cents per $100 of its real estate assessment.

The regional library would be the center out of which Bookmobiles for all participating counties of the region would operate.

Miss Willis, principal speaker of the meeting here which was held at the B & W Cafe, said $11,000 would be provided for the regional library staff and $20,000 for each region the first year of the new program operation.

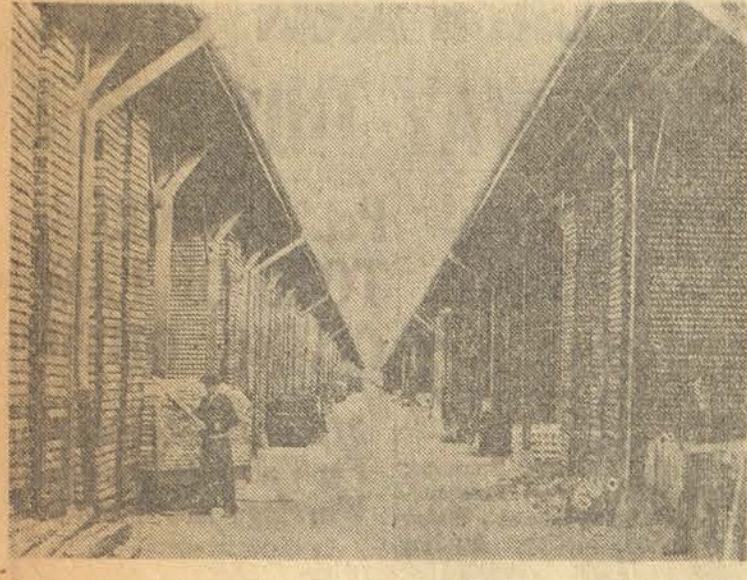

She explained that the regional library plan is similar to the program adopted by the state of Tennessee, that it will provide greater purchasing power at discounts as high as 40% for books, with books rotating from county to county.

A CRUSADE FOR CLEAN ELECTIONS IN FLOYD COUNTY

ATTENTION, ALL HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS-- WIN CASH PRIZES FROM $10.00 TO $50.00

As a citizen who longs to see clean elections in Floyd county, I have decided to open this CRUSADE in the hope that it may assist us to reach its goal and thereby assure CLEAN and HONEST men and women of a fair chance in elections.

I believe in the good of our High School boys and girls, and I know that in a few short years there will be those of them who are today in school preparing themselves for the various avocations of life, who will become candidates for public office. After all, our government will soon be run by them. The mantle of responsibility shall soon fall upon their shoulders. No present High School student would, for a moment, tolerate VOTE-STEALING or VOTE-BUYING, in my humble judgment. None of them would want to, in later years, be a popular candidate for public office and see their popularity stolen or bought in an election. Nor would they want to see the same thing happen to one of their classmates, who might seek public office.

It is these things in mind that has prompted me to sponsor the following contest. There will be eight prizes awarded ranging from $50.00 cash for first prize down to $10.00 for the least prize. Here is how the prizes run; $50.00 for first prize, $25.00 for second prize, $15.00 for third prize and $10 each for the next five prizes.

Every high school student in Floyd county is eligible to enter the contest. Each student who enters must write an essay on the subject; THE EVILS OF VOTE STEALING AND VOTE BUYING. Each essay must contain not less than 200 words and not more than 500 words. They will be judged upon the originality of expression, neatness and suggestions for a remedy to correct the evils. There will be three Educators selected to judge and award the winners.

High school students, I have a deep interest in your welfare. Not only in your welfare, but also a deep interest and concern about the welfare of our people generally. The general welfare can best be served by bringing to Floyd county, CLEAN ELECTIONS. I know of no better way to achieve that goal than to arouse your interest. I want every one of you who can possibly do so, to go to the Polls early the morning of the Primary and spend the entire day there. I want you to notice the way our elections are conducted and especially do I want you to keep a keen and alert lookout for these so called "Strikers". A "Striker" is a person who will be active all day contacting and trying to bribe voters to vote for his man or slate of men. Watch that gentleman close. Watch the "Chain Ballot" scheme. By that I mean that a voter will go in and get his ballot and when he goes in the Booth he exchanges it for a folded paper in the Ballot Box and brings the official unvoted ballot out and gives it to the "Striker". After this is done, the "Striker" uses what is known as "The Chain Ballot System." He buys a voter and votes that unvoted ballot and the voter brings back out another unvoted ballot. by this method they run what is known as a "Chain Ballot" all day, or until they are caught. Keep your eyes open for this and any other method they may use to BUY THE ELECTION.

By your watchfulness on the election ground, you will better know the real facts upon which you are to write your essay, and thereby, have a better chance to win one of these cash prizes. I am putting this money up as an inducement to you younger people who vote, or soon will be voting, to take an active part in CLEAN elections and CLEAN government. With your active interest and, I know, with your desire to better election conditions in Floyd county, we can look forward, with confidence, that our goal will, in elections to come, be reached. A happy day that will be.

Parents! Encourage your sons and daughters to enter this contest and help with this CRUSADE for better elections and thereby, BETTER OFFICIALS.

This Crusade is going to cost me money, but, I'd gladly put up much more money, if by so doing I can be instrumental in improving our situation. With your help, and that of your child or children, we can better our county. Won't you join me in this worthy cause?

All Essays must be mailed to CRUSADE, Box 406, Prestonsburg, Ky., not later than midnight, June 15, 1957. Prizes will be awarded as soon thereafter as the judges can read and grade the entries.

Yours for CLEAN Elections.

JOE P. TACKETT

This, however, is in contradiction of the story told by Williams in saying that he was the second man shot. He said he was fired upon as he entered the doorway, and that Moses Combs was shot while he was running from the house.

Commonwealth's Attorney Smith said he has been trying to get Ellis Thornsbury before the grand jury. He added that he wants to examine him to see if he has been grazed by a bullet. Smith said the Knott grand jury quizzed three members of the Bates family Monday but that they offered little information.

Investigators are pretty well agreed that whiskey figured in the shootings.

The Commonwealth's Attorney said removal of Thornsbury to the Leslie county jail was merely a precautionary measure. He added that he had heard of no threats to cause such action.

The Combs brothers were sons of Mrs. Millie Amburgy Combs, of Bath, Knott county, and the late Monroe Combs. They are said to be members of a reputable family. The elder brother worked as a truckdriver; the other, as a machinist in a Detroit plant.

Surviving Millard Combs are his mother, his wife, Lelah Amburgy Combs, and three children, Jimmy, Wayne and Georgia Carol. His brother leaves his wife, Mrs. Alberta Amburgy Combs, and three children, James, Sandra and Carla. The brothers leave the following brothers and sisters: Marlin Combs, Estill merchant; Marcus Combs, Detroit, Mich.; Jack Combs, Bath, Ky.; Mrs. Margie Gibson, Middletown, O.; Mrs. Mattie Banks and Mrs. Mavis Bentley, both of Bath; Mrs. Mabel Hammonds and Mrs. Mary Banks, both of Littercar; Mrs. Margaret Bentley, Franklin, O.; Mrs. Maxie Combs, Columbus, O.; Mrs. Maudie Combs, Detroit; Miss Marcia Combs, of Cincinnati.

Joint funeral rites for the two brothers were held Wednesday morning from the Millard Combs residence at Estill, and burial was made in the family cemetery at Bath under direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

An Open Letter from the CHILDREN of TROY B. STURGILL

TO OUR FRIENDS IN FLOYD COUNTY:

It is only natural that children who have love and respect for their Father and Mother would cherish their every desire and ambition in life. As well as be appreciative for their training and affection that their parents have bestowed upon them. So it is in keeping with these thoughts that we children of TROY B. STURGILL make an appeal to our many friends to support our father in his race for Sheriff of Floyd county.

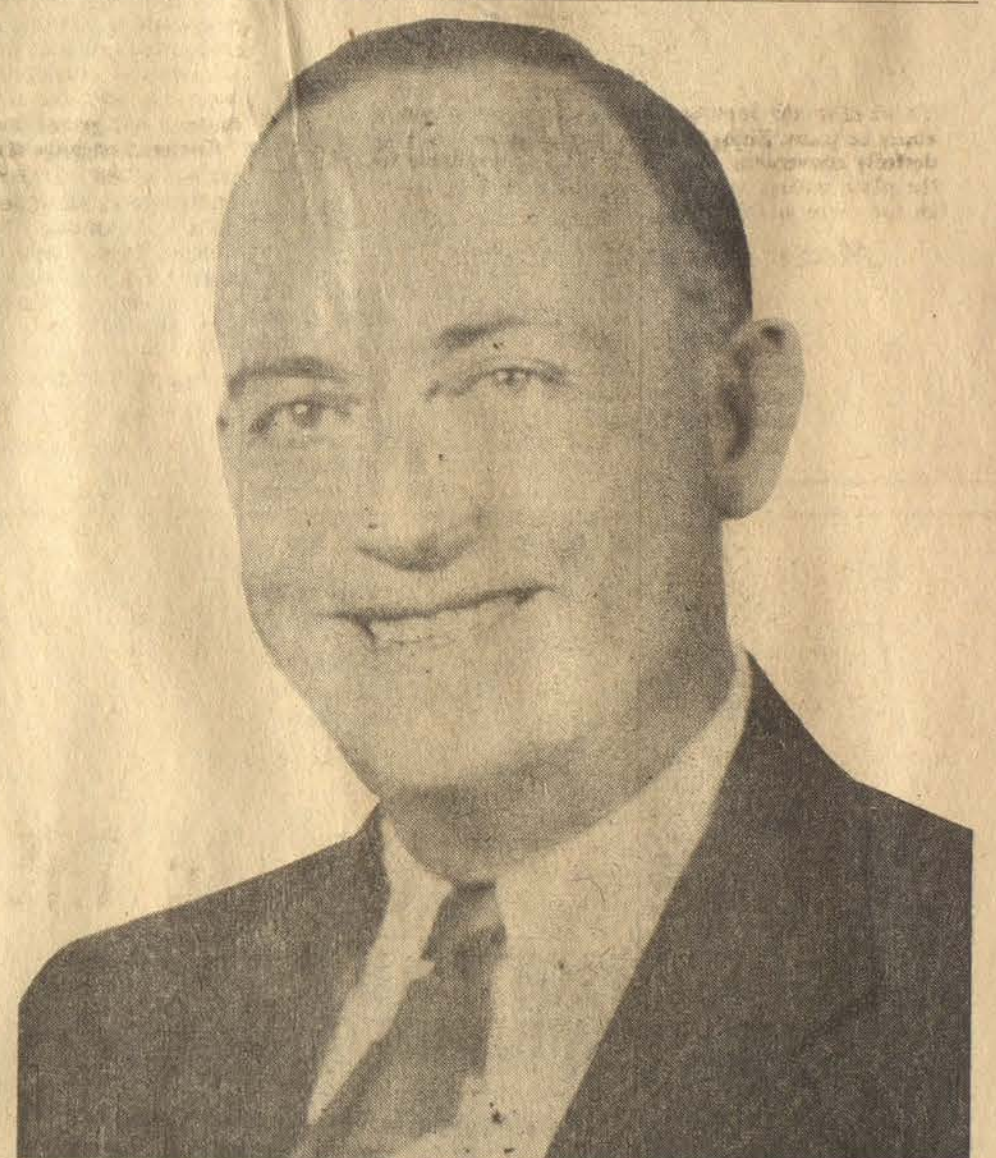

It is with a great deal of enthusiasm that we make this request because it is one way we can repay Dad for the many sacrifices that he and MOTHER have made in order that we might have received the good, wholesome, and useful things in life. It is our opportunity to repay him for the many lessons that he has given us that have helped us grow into Manhood and womanhood with a sense of value for the good things in life that would help us be USEFUL CITIZENS to our COMMUNITIES.

Our parents gave us the fundamentals in CHRISTIAN LIVING, as should be the training in every home. Dad and Mother both belong to the church and we grew up with the firm understanding that it would be their wish that we build our lives and the lives of our children on Christian principles.

It is with pride that we have an opportunity to cite the RECORD of our FATHER as a PUBLIC SERVANT and PRIVATE CITIZEN of Floyd county, and we are grateful for the confidence that the people of Floyd county have displayed as to his ABILITY and INTEGRITY by having previously elected him to public office. We know that he has devoted much of his life to the cause of serving Floyd County in a SINCERE, CONSCIENTIOUS, and FAITHFUL manner. We know that he has spent much time for the upbuilding and betterment of Floyd county.

We are confident that our father will win this race and we promise you for him that he will render the same efficient, courteous, and accommodating conviction to do a good job, and he will. Dad wants to put his EXPERIENCE and ABILITY to work and make Floyd county a better place to live. On his RECORD AND EXPERIENCE we solicit your vote and will ever be GRATEFUL, and THANKFUL for your confidence.

Your Friends,

5. Modern drugs and surgery are keeping alive t.b. patients who formerly would have died. This is creating new problems. "There are more people living with t.b. in our midst than ever before."

Dr. Russell E. Teague, state health commissioner, writes in the annual report of the need for more t.b. facilities in Kentucky. The state has hospital beds available for less than 30 per cent of the known active cases, Teague says. Of the 5,000 known active cases not in hospitals, "in effect, 2,500 . . . are running around every day spreading the disease."

He estimates that only about 20 per cent of t.b. patients in the state are getting the proper treatment.

This points up the need for more outpatient clinics, he says. Ideally there should be 12 (there are six now), with a total of $100,000 budgeted for anti-t.b. drugs.

A major problem, Teague says, is care for those unable to pay for t.b. care outside the state hospitals. The clinics would give free treatment for these cases.

The commissioner says Kentucky should have 3,200 hospital beds for t.b. patients instead of the 1,600 now available.

Two hundred more public-health nurses are needed in local health departments to help give home care to t.b. patients.

Teague also recommends that case-finding efforts be expanded to include routine chest x-rays for all persons admitted to general hospitals and for all inmates of mental and penal institutions.

General surveys should concentrate on men, especially older ones; among divorced and single men, and among Negroes, Dr. Teague says. These groups have higher t.b. rates, respectively, than women, young married men, and whites.

The Navy delivered a hundred million pounds of cargo to the Antarctic during Operation Deepfreeze.

The Law Can Exact Cooperation

O. J. West, district engineer, Department of Highways, writes this newspaper and others to point to the increasing piles of litter that are making more and more unsightly roadsides of a beautiful part of Kentucky.

Mr. West notes that accumulations of trash, garbage and other kinds of debris along the highways of this eleven-county area have become noticeably greater since the disastrous January flood. He adds:

"I am sure there is not a single person who would think of placing this material on their own property, or on their neighbor's property; but, in fact, this is just what is being done, as the highways are yours just as much as your lawn, orchard or other property."

The district engineer expresses the belief that "with the proper cooperation of each and every person we will be able to remedy this condition and in a short time practically eliminate the entire condition, and improve the appearance of our roads to conform to the reputation of our state as to tourist attraction . . ."

With Mr. West's aims we are in complete agreement. Certainly this roadside dumping of debris is doing Kentucky, and particularly Eastern Kentucky, much damage. Folks who come visiting here for the first time must surely think we are the world's poorest housekeepers. They must be convinced we have little sense of our own responsibility to help keep beautiful a beautiful region. To them we must seem either unthinking or deliberately determined to desecrate the natural scenery with which we are blessed.

The highway official states an obvious truth when he says that "with the proper cooperation" of all the situation could be remedied. But if Mr. West thinks that we are going to get such cooperation on a purely voluntary basis, as it should be given, he is dead wrong. Some will voluntarily cooperate, but a great number will have to be forced into compliance with the law.

There is a law on the statute books which covers this situation. If highway officials, law enforcement officers and the courts will get tired enough of dirt and filth and flagrant violation of the law to crack down on these litterbugs, and crack down hard and often—then, and only then, will the garbage dumps along Eastern Kentucky highways vanish.

Do Drunk-Test Gadgets Get Pifflicated, Too?

Elizabeth, N. J. — Do Drunk-o-Meters get tipsy, too?

This question was posed today by Union County Judge Milton A. Feller after he reserved decision on an appeal by Bernard P. Brezina of this city from a conviction for drunken driving.

Specifically, the court wanted to know whether alcoholic breath captured in Drunk-o-Meter chemicals produce inaccurate readings in subsequent tests using the same solution.

The query was prompted by testimony for the defense by Dr. John Brady of Edell Laboratories, chemist, toxicologist, and police adviser on scientific detection.

Dr. Brady testified the chemical in the Drunk-o-Meter, potassium permanganate, is weakened by the passage of time. He said State police and other agencies check their solutions every 15 days. A weakened solution would register more severe intoxication than would a full-strength solution.

Chapels have been built at two Antarctic bases by Navy Seabees working in their off-duty hours.

One Navy tractor moved 10,800,000 cubic feet of snow to clear a sea ice landing strip for planes arriving in the Antarctic from New Zealand last October.

Combs Says His Vote By Letcher Absentees Shocking To Conscience

Bert T. Combs, of Prestonsburg, who was credited with a big majority of the absentee ballots counted in Letcher county in his unsuccessful race for Governor, joined this week in declaring the absentee balloting in that county was "so lopsided as to shock the conscience."

Combs and Harry M. Caudill jointly filed a brief in contest over a seat on the Letcher County Board of Education in the Democratic primary last year. It declared as an example that Combs was supported by County Clerk Charles Wright, and was given 149 absentee votes there compared to 13 for A. B. Chandler.

The two attorneys filed the brief in behalf of Alvin Holbrook who, according to the official tabulation, was defeated in the Democratic primary 800 to 792 by Wallace Kincer. Holbrook appealed to circuit court where Special Judge Ray Sheehan, of Harlan, found that Kincer had been credited with 34 absentee ballots to 18 for Holbrook. Judge Sheehan threw out the absentee ballots and declared Holbrook the winner and Kincer brought the case to the state's highest court.

The Combs-Caudill brief summing up the case, in an effort to have the high court uphold Judge Sheehan, declared that in 1953, 1954 and 1955 candidates favored by the county clerk were credited with large majorities of the absentee ballots in primaries and general elections.

Combs and Duvall also attacked the absentee ballot law as unconstitutional.

Commenting on the case, Judge Combs said he did not know until the present investigation started that he had received such a large number of absentee ballots, but he added that "I carried Letcher county by a big majority anyway."

TIMES WANT ADS REALLY GET RESULTS!

I REST MY CASE... YOU ARE THE JUDGE

To serve as a county official in any capacity is not a duty but a privilege. It is a privilege conferred upon us by the tax-paying public. None of us should abuse that privilege by asking for public office an unreasonable number of years. President Roosevelt once assured us that there was no indispensable man. Therefore I beg of you to act on that principle and share our public privileges to hold office in the county of our birth.

Since time will not permit me to visit all of you in your homes, your places of business or wherever you work I humbly submit to you some facts for your consideration.

1. I am an overseas veteran of 2½ years.
2. Chairman of Polio Foundation of Floyd County for eight years.
3. Chairman of Save The Children Federation in Floyd County.
4. Leader of youth activities.
5. Worked for Boy and Girl Scouts for years.
6. Member and Elder in the Church for 7 years.
7. Sunday School Teacher for six years.
8. Married and father of five children.
9. I am not a politician, just an average citizen pleading for your support for the first time.

MR. AKERS IS DOING BUSINESS WITH THE COAL COMPANIES

This is not propaganda. . . This is not election talk . . .

Your present Tax Commissioner is doing business with two big companies whose property he assesses.

HE HAS BEEN LEASING FROM ONE AND SELLING COAL TO ANOTHER.

The lease is worth money and the coal order is worth money.

You judge for yourself whether he is in position to assess their property at its actual value.

When one taxpayer is assessed too low, others must be assessed too high to make up the difference.

Remember—If you elect Mr. Akers to his twentieth consecutive year in office you will put your stamp of approval on this sort of conduct. You will put your stamp of approval on favoritism and discrimination by a public official—and what's more you will put your stamp of approval on an official who does business with the Big Boy and soaks it to the little man.

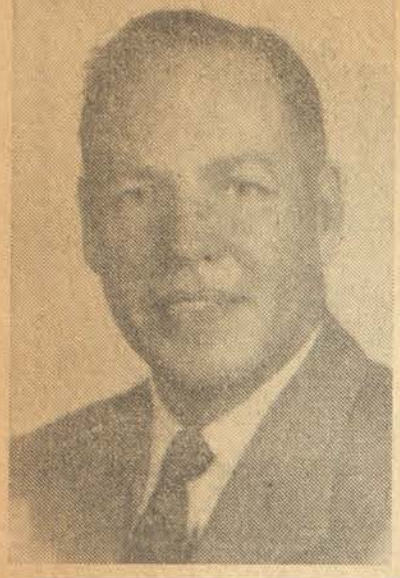

If you want a Tax Commissioner who will consider the office as a public trust instead of a political weapon to use against his fellow citizens now is the time to do something about it.

CIRCUIT JUDGE

Page 4, Sec. 1 — Floyd County Times, May 23, 1957

To The Republican Voters Of Magisterial Dist. No. 1

How will you judge the merits of the man you choose to be your next nominee for Justice of the Peace?

Will you select one that is respected by all who know him both Democrats and Republicans alike; one who has been selected as a leader in veterans affairs, is now commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5839, Prestonsburg, Ky., member of American Legion; one who has been selected as a Union Leader by his Local Union, and is now a member of the Executive Board, Grievance and Negotiating Committee, a member of all Masonic bodies, a business man who is known by all that have had dealings with him to be just, fair and honest; one who will be fair and impartial with offenders of the laws that are brought before him; one who will have regular office hours and be available at all times, day or night; one who will put our entire District on an equal basis, and one who will guarantee that our road equipment will be used to build and maintain our much-neglected roads for his entire term of office and not just before the elections, as seems to be a common practice?

You may wonder why he has not seen each of you in his campaign, but if you will take a little time and stop by Cow Creek and see the enormous loss he suffered in the recent flood, and the progress he is making in rehabilitating his property and small business, you will be justly rewarded in seeing the type of man he is.

This is his first time to ask for public office and he is not accustomed to the age-old political practice of back-slapping, hand-shaking and promising everything beyond reason. So don't be misled by those using this campaign strategy.

You may rest assured if you nominate and elect him that he will conduct his office with respect at all times, and furthermore he will be the Magistrate, as he is not tied with any faction. He will never have to answer to the courts for the mistake of our tax money.

He is the son of the late Bertram Lee Porter and Margery Harris Porter; married to Malta Sue May, daughter of the late Calab Sherman May and Martha Louise Music May. They have one daughter, Madelyn Sue, 15, a sophomore in Prestonsburg high school. His kindred by blood and marriage are too numerous to mention.

So when you go to the polls on May 28, to exercise your rights as God-fearing citizens, give serious consideration and cast your VOTE for a man whom you will be proud to point out to others and say, "That's My Magistrate."

The man to vote for is Bert N. Porter Third and last on the Republican Ballot

Change in Law Places Social Security Deadline At June 30 for Disabled

The working man or woman who has been building old-age and survivors insurance credits under the Social Security Act but is now unable to continue work because of a severe and long-lasting disability was reminded today that June 30, 1957, may be a very important date.

Thomas B. Thompson, manager of the Pikeville, Kentucky district office of the Social Security Administration, says that because of recent changes in the law, disabled workers 50 to 65 years of age may be eligible for cash payments beginning with the month of July. Those under 50 may qualify to "freeze" their social security earnings records and protect their rights to future payments.

All these rights may be lost if they do not apply before June 30, 1957, Thompson said. Applications made before that date can fully cover a long-term disability—one which could have started as long ago as 1941. In addition to other requirements, individuals must have worked at least 5 years in employment covered by the Social Security Act for the disability provisions to be considered.

Under the definition of disability in the social security law, a person must be unable to do any substantial work and the disability must be one expected to continue indefinitely. The disability may be either mental or physical. However an individual with a partial or temporary disability will not qualify. If you believe that you are eligible, you should make application immediately if you have not done so before.

A recent booklet, "If You Are Disabled," is now available on request to the Social Security Administration district office located at Second and Division Streets, Pikeville, Kentucky.

Body of Mrs. Rootes Returned from Glasgow For Burial at Cliff

Funeral services were conducted last Wednesday morning for Mrs. Mary Lykins Rootes, 55, who succumbed at her home in Glasgow Monday evening of last week following a heart attack earlier that day.

Mrs. Rootes was a daughter of Mrs. Mary Hatcher Lykins and the late Newton Lykins. She was born March 27, 1902 at Prestonsburg, but had resided in Glasgow most of her life, the family having moved to Glasgow when she was a small girl.

She was a talented artist, having studied art in Cincinnati and Minnesota, and for several years she conducted an art class in Glasgow. She was a member of the First Methodist Church and for several years taught a Sunday School class. She was also a member of the Glasgow's Woman's Club and the Eastern Star Chapter.

Surviving besides her mother, are a daughter, Miss Frances Rootes; a sister, Miss Emma Lykins, of Glasgow; two brothers, Herman Lykins, Glasgow; John Lykins, Martin, Tennessee.

After services by Rev. Marvin Whitmer and Rev. J. L. Piercy the body was taken to Prestonsburg for interment in the Hereford family lot this morning.

Interment services were conducted by the Rev. Harold W. Dorsey May 5 at the Hereford cemetery at Cliff under the direction of the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home. Relatives attending the services from out-of-town were Mrs. Mollie Lykins, Miss Emma Lykins, Miss Francis Rootes, of Glasgow, Mr. and Mrs. John Lykins, and children, Gloria and Scott, of Martin, Tenn., Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hatcher Huntington, W. Va., Sam Hereford, Pikeville, Ed Hill, Mt. Sterling.

PERKINS SAYS CANALIZATION NEEDED ALONG WITH DAMS

Congressman Carl D. Perkins declared Monday night in Catlettsburg that he is recommending to the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers that canalization of the Big Sandy river and flood control reservoirs on the upper part of the river be considered as one unit instead of two separate projects.

Addressing the annual membership dinner of the Catlettsburg Chamber of Commerce, the Seventh District Representative pointed to the economic benefits of both in consolidation.

United Fuel To Activate New W. Va. Underground Gas Pool

Charleston, W. Va. — United Fuel Gas Co., has announced plans to activate a new underground storage pool under approximately 4,500 acres in the Elk and Big Sandy districts of Kanawha county.

Construction of the pool facilities at an estimated $1,225,000 is to begin after receipt of regulatory commission approval, John W. Bartridge, company president said.

He said the new underground "warehouse" would be in porous Oriskany sandstone approximately one mile beneath the surface. The pool would have an ultimate capacity of about 14.8 billion cubic feet.

Use of the underground storage pool will enable the company to store tremendous volumes of gas in the summer, Partridge explained. On the coldest day about 40 per cent of the gas for United Fuel's customers comes from underground storage.

PRICES GO UP

Washington, May 22 — Retail prices of farm machinery and motor vehicles were five and seven per cent higher, respectively, in mid-March than they were a year earlier.

mer college terms, but arrangements have been made to accommodate these, with colleges cooperating.

The Pikeville College term will open June 3, Eastern on June 5, and both Morehead State and the University of Kentucky on June 10. Teachers whose schools have not closed may, however, register as late as the fourth day after the beginning of the term and still receive full credit. They also may register the first day of the term and be excused for three days thereafter in order to close out their own schools.

Wayne Ratliff, supervisor of Floyd county schools, has suggested to teachers that they register on the first day of the college summer terms, then take the three days' leave granted to close their own schools, thus having a better opportunity to select the courses they want and also to earn three extra days' teaching pay.

and affording a greater library service than could possibly be provided with each county working alone.

County funds, she explained would establish a "floor" or minimum, and after that federal money would come into the picture.

"If we don't get at least $5 million in federal funds," Miss Willis said, "we can't have much of a program." She suggested that the group thank Senator Cooper for his support of library fund appropriations and "stick a few polite pins in Senator Morton who is not as enthusiastic as Cooper."

Under the proposed plan, state aid to regional libraries would be $50,000 annually—this comparatively small sum in comparison with North Carolina's $500,000 and Tennessee's $250,000.

Mrs. George Gray, Louisville, vice-president of the Kentucky Friends of Libraries, spoke briefly.

Virgil O. Turner, superintendent of Floyd county schools, presided at the meeting. He pointed out that when he was a college student his professor declared no college or university in the South had adequate library facilities.

Verne Horne, superintendent of Johnson county schools, commented on the regional library program.

In answer to the statement, "I can't see how we can afford to participate," I would say, "I can't see how we can afford not to participate."

A regional steering committee was named. It consists of the following members: V. O. Turner, Floyd county; Verne Horne, Johnson county; County Superintendent Marshall of Magoffin county; Mrs. Bobbitt of Pike county. A Martin county member is to be added.

ure. The council voted to make the appeal in a meeting held Monday in Louisa.

The step was taken, it is reported, in an effort to relieve a situation which council members declared "to be detrimental to the health of the citizens of that section who are subjected to the unbearable dust created by the heavy traffic on the unpaved road."

Spokesmen representing the citizens of the area said a petition bearing the names of one hundred seventy persons had been sent to Governor A. B. Chandler, calling for the paving of the road, but were told that the matter had been referred to Commissioner Humphrey.

The commission in reply to their subsequent inquiry indicated that in view of the fact that the section from Kavanaugh to Catlettsburg is to be reconstructed, it appeared logical that the two projects should be let to contract at the same time.

"This procedure, of course, is contrary to the thinking of the people who are confronted each day with grime and dust that is not only a menace to their health, but to their homes as well," said the Big Sandy News this week.

ting surface bugs and plugs. Heber Burke landed a 5½-pounder Wednesday on a darter. Raymond Copley earlier caught several big carp on a flyrod popper... Bugle-mouth bass, that's what they are...

See Henry May for the shuddery details on his loss of the biggest bass in Dewey Lake... Walter Hall, of Mare Creek, returns from Florida with a story of a fisherman's paradise in a little-known lake. Caught two bass weighing eight and nine pounds, the same day... Saw a preacher "all shook up" and needing tranquilizer pills the other afternoon after he had lost one bass and had his lure threatened—bang, bang!—by three or four others.

Noah Harris used to say he had always noticed that if he made it through March he lived through the rest of the year. I've been noticing the same if I make it through election campaigns. But I still have a few more days to go, and I don't know...

TORCH, the Smithsonian Institute magazine, has come up with—horrible thought!—a simplified spelling program which would substitute "s" for soft "c".

"In 1958," says the Torch, "the hard 'c' would be replaced by 'k'... Not only would this clarify the confusion in the minds of spellers but typewriters and linotypes could all be built with one less letter... In the subsequent blaze of publicity, it would be announced that the troublesome 'ph' would henceforth be written 'f'. This would make words like 'fonograf' 20 percent shorter in print."

"By 1959 publik interest in a fonetik alfabet can be expected to have reatshed a point where more radikal procedures are indicated. We would urge at that time the elimination of all double leter words whiitsh have always been a nuisance and desided deterrent to akurate speling."

"We would all agree that the horrible mes of silent 'e's' in our language is disgrasful. Therfor, in 1961, we kould drop theses and kontinu to read and writ merily along as though we wer in an atomik ag of edukation. Sins by this time it would be four years sins anywun had used the leter 'e' we would then sugest substituting 'c' for 'th'."

"Kontinuing ces proposals year after year we would eventualy hav a reali sensibl written languag. By 1975 we ventyur tu sa cer wud bi no mor uf ces teribili trubilsum difikultis."

WHY NOT?
LIFE magazine last week ruined for us what was otherwise a good editorial when in the middle of a line it explained by means of parentheses the meaning of the word, "unilateral."

What age-group does LIFE write for, anyway? If it considers its readers adult, why write down to them? If it is for the kiddies, the magazine would do well to watch these decollete costumes, whiskey ads, etcetera that appear in its pages.

LIFE's writers have perhaps forgotten more than we shall ever know about writing, but for the life of me I cannot understand why they stopped in the middle of a sentence to explain that "unilateral" means "one-sided". If those who read don't know let them use the dictionary, which they should be using, anyhow. If they do know, well and good—but don't insult them by explaining what you mean, if you know what you mean.

If we must write so that he who runs may read, let's leave off those polysyllabic jawbreakers and just say "one-sided" when we're tempted to say, "unilateral."

Saunders Appointed To Ohio School Post;
Is Native of County

Jerry Saunders, former Floyd county teacher and graduate of Prestonsburg high school, has been appointed supervisor of audio-visual instructional materials in the Mansfield, O., city school system, The Times was informed this week.

Saunders was chosen to fill a new post created by the Mansfield city board of education paying an annual salary of $5,555 for ten months' duty. Prior to assuming his new duties, he was a sixth-grade teacher at Empire school in Mansfield.

He was selected after several applicants for the job were interviewed, Mansfield Superintendent of Schools Dr. Robert E. Wilson said by way of appraisal of the choice, Wilson has advocated more emphasis on use of audio-visual materials in classrooms as an aid to learning.

His job will be to plan a program and materials for all grade levels. The materials will tie in with curriculum study and will include film strips. He will also accompany classroom teachers on field trips so that the learning program will be coordinated.

Mr. Saunders is a graduate of Ashland, O., college and has been spending summer vacation periods working on his masters degree at Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah.

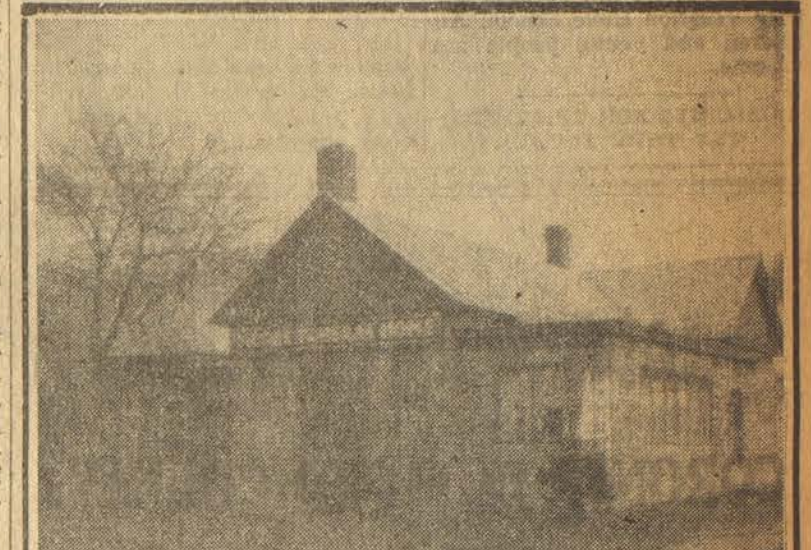

He is P-TA Council representative for the Empire school, chairman of the mathematics adoption committee, chairman of the building committee Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints and a Sunday School teacher. Mr. Saunders has been a resident of the Ohio city for the past eight years.

Before leaving Floyd county, he taught in various schools here. He is the son of the late N. B. "Nob" Saunders and Mrs. Saunders and lived on the Auxier Road while attending the Prestonsburg schools.

The Hour of Decision

for
CIRCUIT COURT CLERK

I taught at $37.50 per month. I have for many years continued to improve my education by reading and analyzing and remembering what I read.

In closing my final appeal, let me say, I hope the young and old, and especially the high school boys and girls, will be in and around the voting places and see that we have a fair, clean, honest Primary election, as they will be the ones some day upon whose shoulders will rest the responsibility of government. MAKE THIS YOUR HOUR OF DECISION to see that dishonesty and crookedness are banished from the polls, and you will be the beneficiaries in the days to come.

Good luck and square, honest deal for all on Primary election day, May 28, 1957.

I hope that when the primary is over there will be no soreness or contests and that every candidate, winner or loser, will support the party in the November election as they have sworn to do.

HENRY STEPHENS

The hour of decision will be at hand on the 28th day of May, 1957, when the people of this county will be called upon to make their decision as to who shall serve them for the next few years. May they exercise sound judgment and select those who are the best qualified and will serve them best. Now is the time to be on the alert, and it is up to the people to do the best job they know how. After the Primary is over it will be too late. The time to meditate is now and avoid regret later.

I have covered this county more thoroughly than I have ever before and I am hearing nothing but good tidings wherever I go. It is conceded by every candidate with whom I have talked that know anything about politics that I will win this race by a huge majority and I do not say it bragging or boastingly, but I am fully convinced that they are not underestimating it in the least.

I will make you an honest, efficient, qualified clerk and you don't have to guess about it. I have the endorsement upon the records of the Floyd Circuit Court by the State Examiner and Inspector as being one of the most efficient and best Clerks in the state of Kentucky. Ask any lawyer about my qualifications and they will tell you so. My record for honesty and fair dealing speaks for itself.

If nominated and elected, and I have no doubt about it, and am successful in the future, I have a plan whereby I purpose to assist and help in the establishment of some scholarships for worthy boys and girls and especially those coming from the largest families with the least financial opportunity to secure an education and where the greatest accomplishment can be had. I have gone through these trials and tribulations myself and well know what it means under such conditions. I have walked three and four miles a day, barefooted, with one book to an old log schoolhouse, and my heart and sympathy is with boys and girls who have little chance in life.

I received an eighth grade education, or what was called one, and you can bet that I got it. I had to; the teacher made us get it. All the money I ever received in the way of assistance in my schooling was $65.00, which I later repaid the first school

Re-elect

JAMES J. CARTER

CORONER OF FLOYD COUNTY

I have been campaigning for the office of Coroner on my own record, running my own race, doing my own campaigning, backed by no outside source or organization. I owe no obligation to anyone or anything, other than upholding the law and duties of the Coroner's office. You know you have a Coroner in office now who is Reliable, Dependable, Efficient, Available, Honest, Sober, Experienced and Qualified.

Most of you are familiar with my record, but for those who aren't—here are the facts:

I was born in Floyd county and spent all my life here, except for college years and Army service in World War II. After graduating from Prestonsburg high school and taking two years Pre-Medical study at Eastern State Teachers College, I entered the Cincinnati College of Embalming and graduated with honors. In World War II I served with the United States Army Medical Department as a Surgical Technician in the operating room. On my return to the States I took a refresher course at the Kentucky School of Embalming at Louisville, Kentucky. I took the State Board examination for Funeral Directors and Embalmers and passed with high honors.

Perhaps some of you are wondering what bearing all these facts have to do with my race for Coroner. Just this: I feel I have the background of experience, knowledge, and education that qualifies me as your Coroner. I have the interest of you and your loved ones at heart, for I am one of you—you are my friends of years standing.

Since you, my many friends, elected me as your Coroner I have constantly tried to give you my very best service. I have fulfilled all my duties here in the county and have tried to increase my knowledge of the office even further by attending all state convention. At present I am on the Legislative Committee for the Coroners Association of Kentucky.

The office of Coroner is important—important to you and to me. We never know when it will be one of our loved ones who will need the services of a qualified Coroner. This is an office of dignity and respect, knowledge and experience. Together we can keep it so.

I wish I could visit every home in Floyd county, but this isn't possible in the short time left to campaign. I am appealing to my many friends to talk to their friends and ask them to vote for and support me in the coming election.

I will serve you in the future as I have in the past.

Finance Department Cites Rapid Recovery

Frankfort, May 16 — Eastern Kentucky, with the help of state and federal grants exceeding five million dollars, is making "rapid recovery from disastrous floods in January, the Finance Dept. said today.

Commissioner James W. Martin said the department has expanded 3 1/2 million dollars in state funds and is in the process of allocating 1 1/2 million dollars in federal money to advance flood recovery in 15 counties.

The recipient local governments are using the federal allocations promptly, indicating they are rapidly returning to normalcy, said Leslie Dawson, assistant budget director.

The overall total aid, Dr. Martin pointed out, runs perhaps millions of dollars higher than the five million when you consider the federal cost of administering the flood relief program and other services performed by state and federal agencies.

The federal government itself, for example, restored several hundred swinging foot bridges at an average cost of $5,000 per bridge, Dawson said.

Give Seedlings Chance, Is Advice of Forester

Small tree seedlings often require one or two years for establishing a root system and being able to compete with brush. For that reason, reduce that initial competition to where 80 per cent or more of the seedlings can get established.

So says O. M. Davenport, University of Kentucky Agricultural Experiment station forester. The need to reduce competition for young seedlings also is accompanied by need to fence out livestock; control rodents, disease, fire, and insects.

Plow furrows 5 to 6 feet apart if possible. Davenport says plant seedlings in bottom of the furrows. It gives some relief from early competition, and improves the moisture situation by catching runoff on a dry slope.

If planting area is heavily brushed, try to cut it off a year ahead of planting and then control sprouts with herbicides and herbicide foliage sprays. Brush and cover—seedlings multiply at a very rapid rate and can quickly take over a planting area if not controlled; later control generally costs more, too, he notes, than early and continuous control.

Research showed that on an area where 1,500 woody stems were cut on one acre in the spring, and herbicide sprayed on the cut stubs, 3,600 stems per acre were developing by July; most of these were from seed on the area or very small stems overlooked in the cutting. By August, this woody growth had developed and some stems were 5 to 6 feet high.

He was born here and except for World War II army service spent practically all his life in Prestonsburg and vicinity. In recent years he was employed by the Floyd Finance Company and as an insurance representative. He was one of the county's best men.

Surviving, besides his mother, are two brothers and two sisters, Gene Bingham, Falls Church, Va., Bob Bingham, Charlestown, Ind., Mrs. Seldon Ward, Charleston, W. Va., and Mrs. Ed Kazee, Ypsilanti, Michigan.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon from the chapel of the Arnold Funeral Home, the Rev. Ira McMillen, Jr., officiating, and burial was made in Bingham cemetery on Town Branch, near here, under direction of the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

YOUTH TELL KIDNAP STORY

Pike Boys Tell Police Of Release by Abductor Near East Point Recently

A story of their kidnapping on the city streets of Pikeville was told to Prestonsburg police by three early-teen Pike county boys who presented themselves at the police station here.

They informed the local officers that they were forced to enter a car at about 9 p.m., May 10, by a man who apparently was very intoxicated, and after a 38-mile terrifying ride managed to effect their escape near East Point in Johnson county, almost 60 miles from home.

Taking flight from their captor who had stopped his car near Music's skating ring and alighted momentarily, the boys said they ran down the road in the darkness to the rear of the car and hid in the highway ditchline while the man was yelling at them in an effort to halt their flight.

Avoiding any passing cars and staying hidden as much as possible along the highway because they were fearful of recapture, they related that they made their way to a house in East Point and were brought to the city limits, arriving here about two and a half hours after their alleged first moment of detention.

The boys, all Bartleys, identified themselves as Bobby, 13, son of Chris Bentley, his first cousin Dexter Darryl, 13, son of Jess Dexter Bartley, and a distant cousin of both, Jimmy, 15, son of Orville Bartley, all of Lookout, Ky., near the head of Marrowbone.

Bobby, who said his folks had always cautioned him "to read the name of a license plate" if just such an occasion as this should arise, said that as he ran from the car he noticed the plate bore the county name "Carter". One corner of the plate was bent down, he said. The boys agreed that the car was a solid color, possibly dark blue, late model Plymouth.

They described their captor as a big middle-aged man, somewhere near 190 pounds in weight, wearing a reddish checkered shirt and light pants, also a buttoned-down peaked cap. They said he had what appeared to be a burn scar on the right side of his face and large mole or growth over his left eye which they saw when he turned his head while taking to them.

The talkative youngsters told police that enroute from Pikeville the stranger stopped three times and tried to make them steal gas from cars parked along the highway. He terrified them all along with his driving by weaving back and forth across the road and hitting the dirt on the road should-

der. On other occasions, he almost collided with oncoming cars, they said.

Questioned as to why boys so young were so late going to Pikeville to see a show, they replied that they had been creek fishing late in the evening near John Epling's place on Marrowbone.

One of the officers seemed to think that the story sounded just a little "fishy" while the other officer, who is acquainted with some members of the families, gave their yarn some credence.

Nevertheless, the officers obliged the boys by assisting them in getting a ride back to Pikeville upon their solemn promise that they would notify authorities there of their experience.

The campaign was drawing near its end this week with the usual flurry of activity on the part of candidates and their workers. For this election the voters have 129 candidates to consider on the Democratic ballot and 38 on the Republican. Names of candidates without opposition do not appear on the ballot.

Sheriff Collins said absentee ballots will be counted, as provided by law, first and in public. Any person who may desire to challenge any absentee ballot may do so at that time, he added.

Got a job for this giant killer?

Here's proof of the reserve strength in GMC's 370 that pays off in any operation.

DEEP in the pine woods, this 2 1/2-ton GMC, with locally added trailing axle, wades into a pile of forest giants, using its power take-off to flip 1,000-pound logs onto its back. In ten minutes it has a staggering load—and practically no road to haul it over.

You may never need to subject your trucks to such grueling service, but experience like this is your assurance of stamina and reserve strength far beyond normal requirements.

And the GMC 370 can be yours for hundreds of dollars less than comparable competitive trucks. Just check with your GMC dealer.

PAINTSVILLE OFFERS ITS YOUTH FULL RECREATIONAL PROGRAM

By Gordon Moore
Paintsville and its 5,500 people have curbed the trend toward juvenile delinquency by providing youth there with a diversified recreational program.

Through the efforts of city high school principal Oran Teater, the city school board, superintendent of schools, Mayor and City Council, Junior Woman's League, Kiwanis, Rotary, Elks and the city's businessmen, all working together, Paintsville undoubtedly has one of the outstanding youth programs in Kentucky.

Approximately 550 youngsters have daily use of a swimming pool, golf course, tennis courts, a fine gymnasium, football field, seven-acre park area that includes lighted baseball and softball fields, basketball badminton and volley ball courts and every known type of playground equipment. The park area is under the supervision of two qualified physical education majors during the summer months.

In addition, Paintsville offers its youth the opportunity to play in two Little Baseball Leagues, and a Junior League and on a semi-pro team, which is currently in second place in the six-team Big Sandy League.

The golf course, situated some two miles east of the city, is one of the finest in the South. Rolling greens and numerous hazards test the accuracy of the most expert golfer.

It is not uncommon to see teenagers of both sexes blasting away on the hillsides of the 18-hole course, which also has one of the more modern club houses in the nation.

Dr. Paul B. Hall, Mr. Golf of Eastern Kentucky, makes the course available to the city high school each season and also to sponsor the Eastern Kentucky Regional Golf tournament, which has been won by the crack Paintsville high team for the past three years. This year's team is a heavy favorite to cop the state high school golf championship, since it is unbeaten in seven matches to date.

The Paintsville course has been designated as the site of the Kentucky Open Golf Tournament, July 12, 13 and 14, and the popular Paintsville Invitational tournament will be held on July 26, 27 and 28. Betty Rawls, one of the leading women golfers in the country, also will give a series of exhibitions and lectures on the Paintsville course, May 24.

Virtually every child in the community has learned to swim in one of the state's finest pools. It includes baths, concession stands and several hundred lockers. The pool itself measures 100 x 50 feet.

Principal Teater, who is directly responsible for Paintsville high school's overall athletic and physical education program for 300 children during the school year, feels that the summertime recreation program provides youngsters with a thorough knowledge of all sports and makes working with the youth more enjoyable during school hours in the new spacious Paintsville high gymnasium.

Under the guidance of qualified coaches, the gymnasium, unlike many Eastern Kentucky gymnasiums, is used for a multitude of school, civic and social activities.

Style shows, concerts, a daily six-hour physical education program, and many other projects keep the gymnasium in constant use.

Paintsville's emphasis on giving its youth a wide recreation selection has made its high school athletic teams rate on a par with the state's best.

Under the leadership of football coaches Walter Brugh and Bill Decker, last season's grid team won 10 games and dropped one and won the sixth annual Big Sandy Bowl, which is sponsored by the city's Junior Woman's League. The Bowl has grown to be a major post-season sports attraction in the state.

Profits from the Bowl games have gone into the park and playground system and in building a 5,000-seat football stadium, which is better than most college stadiums in Kentucky.

The 1956-'57 basketball team, with Jim Wheeler at the helm, won 25 games before being nosed out in the final seconds of the 15th Regional basketball tournament. Bill Decker's baseball team copped the district baseball crown and will play in the the regional tournament in Grayson. Jim Chandler's and Walter Brugh's track team won the Eastern Kentucky regional track meet and golf coaches Darrell House and Glen Walke have one of the best high school golf teams ever assembled in the mountains. Tennis as a high school sport was inaugurated this year under the direction of Coach Bill Hazelrigg, and progress has been excellent.

The high school physical education program, handled by two men and one woman, offers 14 sports activities to every student from the second through the twelfth grades.

Paintsville City School Superintendent J. C. Eddleman said, "When our youth have graduated from high school we hope they will carry with them a well-rounded sports background which will hold over to later life and provide a more beneficial use of their leisure time."

Six Floyd Countians Will Receive Degrees Tuesday at Morehead

Six Floyd countians will be among the 120 seniors to receive degrees at commencement exercises of Morehead State College next Thursday evening, it was announced this week. Dr. A. D. Holt, vice-president of the University of Tennessee, will be the commencement speaker.

AMOS GRAY FOR SHERIFF

As I enter the last week of this race for Sheriff of Floyd county, I wish to state I do so with malice toward no one. I have tried to respect every candidate for this office as a man and as a citizen. I promised a clean, vigorous campaign, and I feel that I have fulfilled this promise.

I wish to state—

There's so much bad in the best of us,
And so much good in the worst of us,
That it doesn't behoove any of us,
To speak ill of the rest of us.

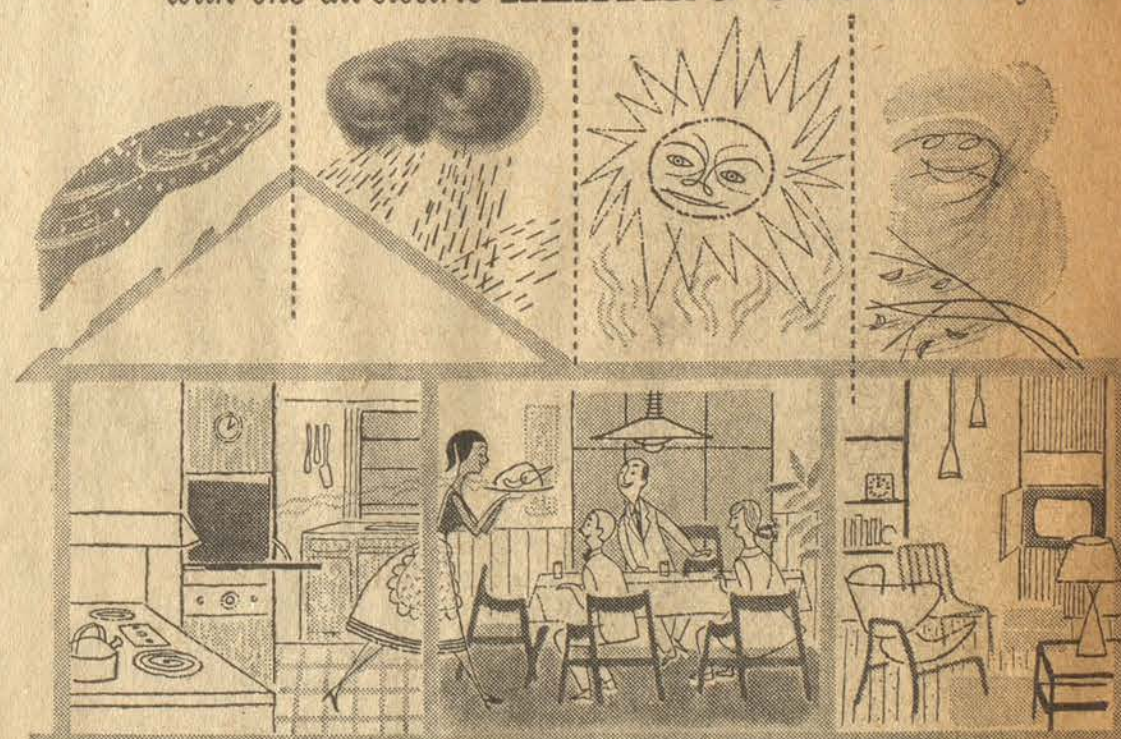

With God's help and yours, I promise to make you an honest and efficient Sheriff when elected. I shall work hard for a clean and law-abiding Floyd county.

I humbly ask for your support in this undertaking.

Your friend,

AMOS GRAY

Live Better
ELECTRICALLY every season with one all-electric HEATING-COOLING system*

The all-electric heat pump automatically brings you the year 'round climate you desire. Set the thermostat once and the heat pump keeps that temperature... through hot or cold weather... even on "in-between" days when mornings are chilly and afternoons warm. The heat pump thinks for itself to give you the temperature you want always. It's the world's most modern indoor weather system!

And, it's the world's cleanest and most healthful too. Your house stays cleaner because there's no soot, dirt or smoke. Dust and pollen are filtered out giving real relief to allergy sufferers.

If you're planning to build or remodel find out how economical an all-electric heat pump is to install and enjoy... operating costs are comparable to other year 'round central type air conditioning systems. See your heat pump dealer or call us for more information.

Kentucky Power Company

- heats and cools automatically
- dehumidifies in summer
- eliminates drafts and dry heat
- filters dust and pollen
- no soot... no dirt
- no flame or fumes

More and more homes are being built with all-electric heat pumps!

A CRIPPLED MINER FOR JAILER

As a candidate to the citizens and voters of Floyd county as Jailer on the Democrat ticket I ask the voters of Floyd county for the first time to vote for me.

I am a crippled miner and a World War II veteran and was accepted into the Air Force Night Fighter Squadron. I served in Europe two years and five months under General Eisenhower as a cook. I earned seven stars and a good conduct medal. I returned to the United States October 31, 1945.

I am married to Edna Tackett and have seven children.

While working in a truck mine July 1, 1950, I was injured. I was crippled and paralyzed from waist down and was sent to the Prestonsburg hospital and from there to St. Mary's hospital and there they found it necessary to put screws in my back. I was then sent to New York to a recreation center where I was put in braces and then I learned to walk with crutches and braces. I have made two more trips to New York for treatments.

In 1954 I went back to St. Mary's and had a neck operation.

I have been to Louisville to the recreation center and stayed six weeks for treatments.

I used a wheel chair for about one year. I haven't worked since I was hurt. I now have to use a cane to walk with.

I ask for your support in this coming election. If I am elected I will feed and care for the prisoners to the best of my ability. I will also care for public property.

A friend to all.

BLACKCATS PLAY IN REGIONAL

The Prestonsburg Blackcats, district high school baseball champions of Floyd county, will open play in the Eastern Kentucky regional baseball tournament in Grayson this morning (Thursday) at 9 a.m., when they oppose Breckinridge Training of Morehead. The victor of the fray will tangle with Paintsville at 2 the same afternoon.

In the other bracket of the five-team regional, Ashland high will battle Winchester. The championship game is carded for Friday at 2 p.m., with the winner to move on to Louisville for the state high school baseball tournament at Parkway Field, June 6 and 7.

EX-MAJOR LEAGUER TO PLAY

Floyd countians will have the opportunity to see ex-major leaguer Bill White, former New York Giant first baseman, perform with the Fort Knox Tankers, Friday afternoon at 1 when they clash with the Pikeville College nine on the Drift diamond.

LITTLE LEAGUE RESPONSE

Efforts to revive the near, defunct Prestonsburg Little League have been unsuccessful to date, however, former league officials are making one final plea to the parents to aid in keeping the baseball program in the city.

MOUND ACE UNBEATEN

James Buford Crager, Prestonsburg high's ace mound star, is unbeaten in all nine of his starts this season. The senior righthanded control artist has yet to be knocked out of the box.

TIGER GOLFERS WIN

Paintsville's undefeated golf team won its ninth consecutive match of the season last week in whipping Dixie Heights by 36 strokes, handing the northern Kentuckians their first set-back in nine matches. With the regional tournament currently in progress on the Paintsville country club course, the Johnson countians are heavy favorites to annex their fourth consecutive regional title.

TOURNEY WINNING CATS TO PLAY IN REGIONAL

The Prestonsburg Blackcats baseball squad is enjoying its first successful season since 1948 after having achieved a fine 14-3 record, the E. K. M. C. championship and the district tournament trophy. Not only have the Cats won two tournaments to date but, they also have broken one record—most runs scored in a single game, 43, as they trounced Fleming-Neon.

The Cats won the district championship and the right to represent this district in the regional tournament, May 23-24, at Grayson by trouncing Maytown 26-7, defending champion Wheelwright 10-4, and outlasting Martin, 13-12.

The E. K. M. C. tourney at Jenkins was loaded with eastern Kentucky powers. Of the 10 teams in the E. K. M. C., four were district winners. The district winners were E. K. M. C. defending champions and Pike county winner, Elkhorn City, whom the Cats defeated, 11-0; Paintsville, Johnson—Martin—Magoffin winner, whom the Cats defeated, 18-7; Jenkins, Southeastern district winner, whom the Cats defeated 9-8, and the Blackcats, Floyd winner.

The free-swinging Blackcats have a team batting average of .385 with 201 hits in 547 times at bat.

Bears To End Season At Drift, Williamson Against Service Team

Pikeville, Ky., May 21 (Spl.) — The Pikeville College Bears, with a 7-1 record against other colleges this season, will close their 1957 baseball schedule against the Fort Knox Tankers in single games Friday and Saturday.

The Bears took their first college loss in their last college game May 14, as they split a doubleheader with Concord College at Athens, W. Va., 9-7 and 17-9.

They will entertain the pro-heavy Tankers at 2 p.m., Friday at the Drift park, and at 8 p.m., Saturday at Williamson, W. Va.

Led by Bill White, third-highest hitter for the New York Giants last season, the Tankers include Bob Stegmeier, of the Charleston (W. Va.) Senators, and players from Cincinnati, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Washington farm clubs. A few members of the squad, listed on the Tankers' roster as college players, were under professional contract when they left civilian life, it was said.

White, who went to the Army soon after the 1955 season closed, clouted .256 for the Giants last year, outthit only by Willie Mays and Don Mueller. He belted 22 home runs in 138 games, and was third in the National League as a base stealer with 15 during the season.

In four times at bat in the Bears' first meeting the Tankers, May 3 at Fort Knox, White homered and doubled, grounded out and failed to beat out a bunt as the host won the first game of a doubleheader 10-5. His bat was quieter in the nightcap, in which he reached first base safely on an infield error, then grounded out and struck out. Dan O'Connell's no-hitter beat the Bears 1-0 despite "Tex" Thompson's one-hitter, which was lost on an unearned run.

Thompson notched his third win in the lifeliner against Concord, striking out eight of the West Virginians, walking three and giving up seven well-scattered hits.

Concord captured the nightcap, 17-9, jumping on Jim Moss for a 13 men went to bat. Moss took nine-run third inning in which the loss, his first in college play, giving up 12 runs on 15 hits, striking out two and walking nobody. Ray Bailey, in relief, gave up five runs on four hits, struck out one and issued two bases on balls.

52 Enter Tournament At Paintsville Club

Big day for the Ladies' Association of the Paintsville Country Club with May 15 with the turnout even better than expected for Eastern Kentucky and Tri-State Invitational tournament.

There were registered: 52 for golf, 28 for bridge and 6 extra for lunch, making a total of 86. There were entries from three Eastern Kentucky clubs and three Tri-State clubs.

With the assistance of "Sarge" and Betty Walke, the entries were registered and the golfers started on their way with no trouble. Mrs. Lenora Gullett, who is incapacitated for golf at this time, lent a hand in recording scores at the end of the golf round.

Bridge winners for the day were: Mrs. Erna House, high; Mrs. Lillie Mae Preston, second high; Mrs. Ann Mederias, Hazard, low; Mrs. Betty T. Dorton, traveling prize.

The golf winners were: (for the visitors from the Tri-State area) Mrs. Eloise Childers, Guyan Country Club, Huntington, W. Va., first low net; Mrs. Mary Biggs, Guyan Country Club, Huntington, W. Va., second low net; Mrs. Dickie Selway, Bellefonte Country Club, Ashland, Ky., low puts. Golf winners for the Eastern Kentucky Golf Association were:

First flight: Mrs. Helen Hall, low gross; Mrs. Margaret Wells, low net; Mrs. Pauline Turner, low puts.

Second flight: Mrs. Mae Doty, Pikeville, low gross; Mrs. Rhema Mitchell, Hazard, low net; Mrs. Mary K. Payne, Hazard, low puts.

Nine-hole group: Mrs. Myra Lee Moon, first low net; Mrs. Jann Garland, second low net; Miss Judy Walden, low puts.

Friday, May 24, is the day of Miss Betsy Rawls' clinic and exhibition.

Garrett Little League Organization Effected

Garrett, Ky., May 20 (Spl.) — A meeting to organize a Little League baseball club was held recently in the Garrett high school. A large group was present, and showed much interest in the new organization.

Charles Hornsby was elected Commissioner of the club. Shelby Draughn was elected secretary-treasurer. Farris Johnson and Eugene Mullins were chosen managers of the two teams to be sponsored. Delbert O. Sloan, Winchester Francis, Milton Trusty, Jr., C. D. Francis, and Roy S. Martin were elected members of the Ways and Means committee. Meetings have been set for each Wednesday night at 7 in the school building. Everyone is urged to attend these meetings each Wednesday night.

The secretary-treasurer reported at the meeting that a total of $266.00 had been raised by the sponsoring organization, the American Legion. The members wish to thank all contributors.

Green Hackworth Picture, Received by Hall of Fame, Placed on Display Here

Green Hackworth, Chief Justice of The International Court of Justice at The Hague, Holland, sent his picture last week to the Hall of Fame committee here. It will hang in the grade school building temporarily along with over 100 prominent Floyd countians.

Hackworth, a native of Dock, this county, was at one time a student of law under former Congressman John W. Langley and rose in the years ahead to become chief advisor to President Franklin D. Roosevelt in matters of international law.

Mrs. Charlotte Martin, who procured the picture of Floyd county's famous son, urges people to visit the grade school library and view the pictures.

TIMES WANT ADS PAY—

VA. DAM SITE RATED HIGHER

Pound River Dam Ratio Greater Than Fishtrap, Says Engineers' Report

A dam on the Pound river in Virginia would return more economic benefits per dollar spent than a dam farther downstream at Fishtrap, Pike county, the House Appropriations committee learned last week from correspondence filed by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers. Representative Carl D. Perkins, Hindman, had asked Congress to add $250,000 to the fiscal-1958 budget for planning and surveys of both projects.

Senators Cooper and Morton, state officials, and Eastern Kentucky representatives had asked for an additional $140,000 to start planning the Fishtrap dam.

It would be on the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy, a short distance upstream from Pikeville.

The Pound dam would be in Dickenson county, Virginia, 13 miles upstream from the point the Pound empties into Levisa Fork. Proponents of the projects contend that either or both dams would have greatly reduced the flood damage to Pikeville, Prestonsburg, and other Big Sandy towns last winter.

The correspondence Perkins filed with the appropriations group was the Corps of Engineers' reply to questions he asked it May 10. They were:

1. How much additional money can the Corps "advantageously and economically use" during fiscal 1958 for planning the Fishtrap and Pound dams and reservoirs?
2. What is the cost-benefit ratio on each project?

(The cost-benefit ratio is the relation of potential economic benefits to be derived from a project to the actual cost of construction.)

Brig. Gen. J. L. Person, assistant chief of engineers, listed a tentative figure of $140,000 for planning each project. But he added, "The President has directed that one fiscal-year-1958 expenditures as estimated in his budget presented to the Congress, be considered as the maximum that can be made within the over-all fiscal policies of the Administration for that year.

"Since no funds are included in the budget for the Pound (or Fishtrap) reservoir, no funds can be utilized for this project and meet the Administration's objectives."

Kentuckians in Congress interpret this as meaning that the Engineers cannot ask for more money this year, even though disastrous floods in the Big Sandy Valley after the budget was sent to Congress pointed up the need for the two projects.

Any more money that gets in the budget for Big Sandy planning will have to be put there by the Congress on its own initiative, the Kentuckians feel.

General Person said Corps of Engineers studies show the ratio of benefits to cost on the Pound dam and reservoir to be 1.97 to 1. That is, the economic benefits of the dam would be $1.97 for each dollar it cost.

Person said studies indicated the ratio of benefits to cost of the Fishtrap project was determined to be economically feasible only a few weeks ago.

Recent testimony before the House appropriations group showed that the combined cost of the two dams would be little more than the flood damage caused in January and February of this year.

Mrs. Fannie Coleman, Former Pike Resident, Succumbs in Florida

Mrs. Fannie Coleman, 66, of Tampa, Fla., but formerly of Pike county, died at 4 p.m. May 11 at the home of a son, Wes Coleman, at Tampa. She was a sister of Mrs. Lilly Broglin, of Wheelwright.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday of last week at the Baker Funeral Home chapel at Pikeville, the Revs. Homer Barber and James Buckley officiating.

Mrs. Coleman, a daughter of the late Wallace and Lenora Scott Smith, was the widow of Emory Coleman who died in 1953. Surviving, besides her daughter, Mrs. Broglin, and the son, Wes Coleman, is a foster daughter, Paul Adkins, and two brothers: Jim Smith, Sidney, Pike county, and Merdia Smith, of Logan, W. Va.

Burial was made in the Anderson cemetery north of Pikeville under the direction of the Baker Funeral Home.

My Case Is In Your Hands

This is my last appeal to the voters of Magisterial District No. 1. I have consistently pledged the people full-time service if elected to guard the taxpayers money and to work for a better road system. You are entitled to that and no less.

I have no job to distract or divert my attention from my official duties and I will dedicate myself to your business. I will make you a GOOD MAGISTRATE, by being present at all Fiscal Court meetings, by insisting all tax money be wisely spent and not wasted, by demanding that Fiscal Court meetings be open to the public, that money for rural roads be made available in such amounts as will make for better rural living.

Four more years of do-nothing will get us nowhere. Try me for a full term, at full time. We can have better government. Better roads and no waste in tax money. You only need to select your officials with care. I feel confident you will do just that.

To all of you who have pledged your support I want to acknowledge my appreciation. Let us be vigilant and steadfast on election day.

Sincerely,
R. T. ALLEN

TO THE VOTERS OF FLOYD COUNTY:

This will be my last appeal to you by means of this paper to ask your support in this Primary election.

Kathleen and I have many fine friends and relatives throughout Floyd county. Because of your faith and trust in us we have worked hard and far into many nights to do a good job.

We have faithfully performed our every duty and have tried hard to make your County Court Clerk's office a place where you could visit and feel welcome.

I have employed courteous efficient and dependable deputies to help me give you the service you deserve.

I have conducted my campaign on a high level and have tried not to injury the feelings of anyone.

I am grateful for the faith the candidates have expressed in our honesty and ability to serve them; and I am sorry that one of my opponents, who is now desperate to win, procured false and malicious affidavits from two questionable characters with criminal records relative to the absentee voting, which voting was honestly and legally conducted by my wife a deputy county court clerk. I regret that this opponent stooped to wrongfully criticising my wife as he could find no fault with the conduct and management of the office under my direction as your County Court Clerk.

Your County Court Clerk's office belongs to you. You are entitled to the best—honesty, efficiency, courtesy, and kindness. We will continue to serve you in this manner.

Your vote and support for me will be greatly appreciated.

Your friend all the time—not just at election time.

Memorial Day Drivers Receive Safety Tips

Thousands of motorists, eagerly awaiting Memorial Day and the first of the major summer holidays, may be a little over-anxious to hit the open road, warns Jeanne Smith, safety consultant.

To avoid possible tragedy, when highways are crowded and tempers sometime short, she urges extra caution and care. Here is her list of safe driving tips for Memorial Day motorists.

1. Keep a safe distance behind the car ahead at least one car length for each ten miles of speed.
2. Stay in your own lane on hills, curves and in "no passing zone."
3. Don't pass at intersections and never attempt to pass more than one car at a time.
4. If you drink, don't drive.
5. Slow down when driving at night, and dim your lights to on-coming traffic.
6. Never drive a car if you are sleepy, fatigued or emotionally upset.
7. Never cross a solid double line to pass another car. It might be the last move you ever make. Always get out of your vehicle by the curb-side door.
9. Slowpoke driving can be dangerous. Keep up with the normal flow of traffic.
10. Driving safely is a full time job. Don't sacrifice your life for a day dream.

FLOOD ALARM TO USE RADAR

Weather Bureau Official Says West Virginia Unit To Cover East Kentucky

Radar will be used to predict flash floods in East Kentucky, an official of the United States Weather Bureau said at Frankfort, Monday.

W. E. Hyatt, Washington chief hydrologist of the Weather Bureau, disclosed the plan to State officials at a luncheon to hear an interim report on the East Kentucky flood - rehabilitation study.

The Weather Bureau plans to install a radar unit near Charleston, W. Va., Hyatt said. The unit would cover the East Kentucky area struck by flash flood last January.

It may be two years before the unit may be operating, Hyatt said. Hyatt told the officials that pilot projects now are under way in Iowa and Oklahoma to test radar equipment to predict floods.

Radar sets now being manufactured for the Weather Bureau cover areas of 400 to 500 miles in diameter. By recording on film the results of the radar-scanning, an observer can calculate the amount of rainfall.

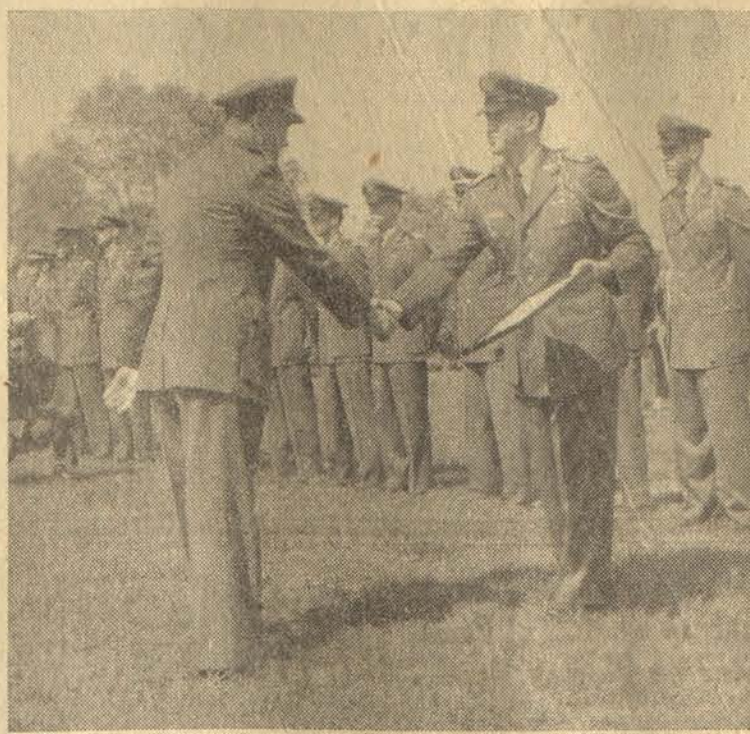

Hyatt said that by overlaying this information on a map of a watershed and by using previous correlations of figures on rainfall and flood heights, the weather observer will be able to predict the amount of water in any particular creek or river within a short time after, or during, a period of heavy rain.

Wartime experiences with radar discloses that these early devices often picked up rain clouds and thunderstorms more often than they located targets, Hyatt said.

Since the war, meteorologists have been trying use of this feature of radar to pick up rain clouds in making weather forecasts, he added.

ATTENTION, YOUNG VOTERS!

We, the undersigned, students in the Floyd County School System, of voting age urge all other young people throughout the county to support Judge Henry Stumbo for re-election to the office of Judge of Floyd county. We invite all voters to look into the record of Judge Stumbo. His administrations as our County Judge have been devoted to the best interests of the county and the people as a whole. His handling of juvenile matters, which is of particular significance to our age group, has been characterized by wisdom and understanding.

We do not have to rely on statements made during a political campaign to know that Judge Stumbo has the interest of us young people at heart. He went on record as far back as November 3, 1955 when, in a letter to the editor of the Floyd County Times, he solicited the support of voters to the passage of the Constitutional amendment granting 18 year olds the privilege to vote. His letter on that date is as follows:

"Editor, The Times:

This is to call to the attention of the people Constitutional Amendment No. 1 which is to be voted on at the election next Tuesday. A "Yes" vote means that we are in favor of permitting those who are 18 years old to vote.

All of us are mindful of the services by the youths only 18 years old in the armed forces, and all should be grateful to them. I urge support of the amendment for the reason that I am convinced that any youth who is old enough to wear his country's uniform, carry a gun and undergo the hardships and dangers of a military life is certainly capable of stamping a ballot and doing it as well as those who are older.

May I urge the voters not to overlook Amendment No. 1 on the right-hand side of the ballot."

HENRY STUMBO,
County Judge."

We think that Judge Stumbo's consideration of us in 1955 merits our consideration now, for without Judge Stumbo and others like him we would not be privileged to cast our ballot in this election.

EXPERIENCE COUNTS

The County Attorney is Floyd County's lawyer. To do the job right he must be experienced in all kinds of cases.

Joe P. Tackett has had 35 years' practice as a lawyer in the Magistrates' Courts, County and Quarterly Courts, Circuit Courts, the Court of Appeals of Kentucky, Federal District Courts and Federal Circuit Court of Appeals.

He has practiced all kinds of cases, always representing the Little Man against the Companies and Corporations.

His three opponents together have not had 25 years of practice. They are inexperienced in the preparation and trial of certain types of cases. No doubt they all three would do their best to represent Floyd county, but would their few years practice be enough for them to adequately represent Floyd county?

If you were choosing a lawyer, would you employ an inexperienced one, or would you employ one who has plenty of experience?

This is the decision you face in choosing your next County Attorney.

WILL YOU CHOOSE INEXPERIENCE INSTEAD OF EXPERIENCE?

Cast your vote for JOE P. TACKETT for COUNTY ATTORNEY, an experienced lawyer, and will fully and adequately represent Floyd county in all of its legal matters.

EAST KENTUCKY FLOOD CONTROL, DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM MAPPED

The State Department of Economic Development this week laid down a broad plan of action for controlling floods and lifting the economy of Eastern Kentucky to a high level within at least 30 years.

The blueprint calls for an overall program that would first lessen flood danger, then lay the groundwork for economic development and expand industry to provide 65,000 jobs now needed in the mountain region.

Eastern Kentucky can best achieve these goals by organizing regionally and coordinating the activity with a single organization, said the interim report, submitted to state department heads at a meeting.

The six-week study was prepared by a professional staff recruited from six other states and assigned on an emergency basis at the direction of Gov. A. B. Chandler.

It will be followed in mid-summer by a final report in which programs, including model legislation, will be recommended to state, federal and local governments and private groups.

Emphasizing the "many common problems" must be attacked totally to get the maximum results, the interim report said:

"This approach must be based on a clear understanding that it may take 20 or 30 years of sustained effort before a desirable balance between population and resources is achieved. There is no easy, shortcut solution."

The report also examined the area's economic framework and painted a gloomy outlook for an economy already hit hard by a slump in coal production when disastrous floods struck last January.

Trends indicate the shortage of jobs for available manpower probably will grow more serious in the next five years as "war babies" reach working age, the report said.

Analyzing at length the problems and basic resources of Eastern Kentucky, the report said specific programs based on this knowledge "can provide the machinery to convert the potential of the region into future reality."

The "primary instruments" that communities and states can use for economic development purposes were listed as:

1. State agencies to conduct technical and promotional programs.

2. Industrial development foundations to offer sites, buildings and financing for industry.

3. Local tax inducement.

4. Local or state credit corporations to offer low cost financial assistance for nonbankable risks.

The study said Eastern Kentucky must solve one basic problem before development projects can yield significant results: "It must secure a number of level, reasonably sized and priced food-free industrial sites. This has first priority."

At present, the study said, only eight usable sites are listed with the Economic Development Department. Four are located in the Ashland area, two are at Paintsville and two at Whitesburg.

Immediate efforts that can assist industrial growth, the study added, include the possibility of expanding the 400 firms already located in the region. Most of these are lumber or wood products plants.

Increased employment in the coal and related industries, improvement of forestry and agriculture, and increased tourism—these are the most important objectives in advancing the area economically, the study said.

"It is necessary that efforts be made to ascertain the nature of coal industry manpower requirements during the coming years and that research on methods of assuring a maximum number of jobs in coal or coal-related industries be conducted."

Research also will be needed, the study added, to determine:

How to convert more farms into competitive operations; how to expand forestry acreage and production to the necessary extent, and how to achieve these goals within a reasonable period of time.

The development of tourist potential requires investment as well as research, the study said. It added that careful research should be able to identify:

Types of tourist facilities needed and sites for them; potential returns in income and employment; ancillary facilities, such as access roads, which will be required, and the amount and sources of the required personnel and capital.

Before these pursuits can show visible signs of providing job opportunities, the study said, programs must be set up (1) to minimize flood damage and (2) to establish a "solid basis" for economic development.

The most important aspects of a flood damage prevention plan were listed as protective structures, insurance programs, guides for land and water use and emergency warning and relief measures.

This would include construction of floodwalls, dikes and levees; zoning of flood areas; collection of weather data, and reforestation, conservation and stream purification projects to increase the water absorption capacity of the soil and to control erosion.

The second phase, preparing for economic development, will mean that human resources, local communities and the resources base must be improved, the study said. Such improvement would involve raising health and education standards, and community planning to determine the directions in which towns should develop.

In its economic analysis, the report said Eastern Kentucky, with a fourth of the state's land area and population, contains only 13,500 manufacturing workers—only 8 per cent of the total manufacturing employment in Kentucky.

The main obstacles to manufacturing growth were listed as a limited number of sites, limited reliable supplies of water, difficult access, community deficiencies and flood danger.

Important assets for manufacturing were described as raw materials, surplus of labor and the isolation that might attract defense industries.

Economic Development Commissioner George W. Hubble, Jr., submitting the interim report to Chandler, said:

"This report is being submitted to state and local officials and other interested persons in the expectation that their comments and criticism will enable us to prepare a comprehensive final report by mid-summer."

BATTLE OF IVY MOUNTAIN

First large scale engagement in Eastern Kentucky between the Union and Confederacy was the Battle of Ivy Mountain, Nov. 8, 1861, often referred to locally as the Battle of Ivy Narrows. Union Commander was Gen. W. O. "Bull" Nelson and Confederate leader was Col. Andrew Jackson May, of Prestonsburg.

Most fighting occurred at the place shown in the picture where the roads intersect and at a wooden bridge then over nearby Ivy Creek. The Confederates retreated when Union troops deployed around the mountain side and emerged on the rebel right. Col. May took his raw militiamen to Virginia but when the Unionists evacuated the valley in a few weeks the Confederates returned to occupy it until the Battle of Middle Creek two months later.

During the Civil War Big Sandians hid their money from roving guerillas as there was no banks here in which to deposit it for safekeeping. Today, the First National Bank, founded in 1904, offers the service of a secure financial institution.

Your Future

MY FELLOW CITIZENS OF FLOYD COUNTY:

I have enjoyed my recent visits in hundreds and hundreds of your homes. I have learned of your prospects of employment in the future; of the fact that most of your grown children have been compelled to leave home for other states in order to find work and make their lives. I know the limited production of your lands. In general I have a good picture of your situation now, and for the future.

With mechanization of the coal mining industry, we are going to have less need for men in the mines and if we do not get new industries and opportunities it will be necessary to do something for literally hundreds of our families.

What we need most in our county is COOPERATION among our people; good will and pulling together, in order to persuade new industries to come to our good county. No industry looking for a new location would select a community, where the highest Court was beset by trouble, fighting, and turmoil, and permeated with revenge and prejudice.

You citizens are the final judge as to the qualifications of your two candidates for Circuit Judge. You know my record.

I invite you and urge you to investigate the qualifications of my opponent. I especially urge you to ask the Caney Creek schoolmates of my opponent; ask the attorneys of Knott and Floyd county with whom my opponent has worked for the past six years; ask the men who have been associated with my opponent in politics. I have a "storehouse" full of facts about my opponent which would amaze you but I must insist upon your getting these facts from other sources as I do not intend to MUDSLING in this or any other campaign. Just ask anyone from Knott county, keeping in mind at all times the qualifications to COOPERATE, to do justice; to be patient; to lay aside prejudice and revenge, and to conduct a fair and impartial court, firm in law enforcement, but tempered with mercy in cases deserving mercy.

My opponent implies that I have been in public office 26 years. This is untrue. I was County Judge eight years, and have been Circuit Judge nearly twelve years. As Judge of the Juvenile Court and as Circuit Judge I have had a world of experience with young persons, and with domestic troubles. I have four children of my own, including two boys, one now in Korea and the other recently discharged and now in college. My opponent has no children. While my opponent urges you to vote for him because of my years in office, I believe that that experience is a great asset to you.

My opponent has also tried to mislead you in saying I have a "pension for life." Kentucky Statutes K. R. S. 23.310 provides that Circuit Judges sixty years of age may retire from law practice and serve as SPECIAL JUDGES on a base salary of $291.66 per month. I am fifty-two years of age now, and would not be eligible to retire until shortly after the end of the next six year term.

My opponent made more last year than I did and for less than half of the time I was required to work. Yet he would like to quit his lucrative job, and remove me from one six years before my retirement age. ANY OF YOU MEN ELIGIBLE TO RETIRE know how you would feel to have someone tell you you could not work at your profession six years before you are eligible to retire. A man has difficulty getting a job at that age. Furthermore, a man who has been on the judicial bench for some time must upon retiring purchase a new law library and start his practice all over again.

This pension issue is just another example of the unfair and misleading tactics of my opponent to get your sympathy and your votes.

Some weeks ago my opponent said he had a "storehouse" of facts he could publish regarding me, "if he wanted to." If he was the fair man you would want to be Circuit Judge, he would give these facts in time for you and me to know the TRUTH. I know you will not be misled by ANY such LAST MINUTE untrue statements.

Fathers and Mothers and Young People, this is YOUR FIGHT and YOUR FUTURE, I humbly and sincerely urge you to consider, foremost, the welfare of our County in casting your votes for Circuit Judge.

Your Sincere Servant,

EDWARD P. HILL

PICTURESQUE TORRENT IS NOW GHOST TOWN

By HENRY P. SCALF

Three decades ago the town of Torrent in the Red River was a boom town, full of oil men and oil money. Years before that it had been just a place on the map where little occurred but the visit of the mail carrier. People, before prosperity came, farmed sterile hills, gathered chestnuts and sold them on the steps of the courthouse at Winchester.

Today few houses remain in Torrent, famous once as a hay fever resort and as a rendezvous of rich entrepreneurs. Even the chestnut trees are gone. A ghost town near Campton, Wolfe county, its few memories for those who lived here to dance or make money or shed the sniffles are gone.

The Lexington & Eastern Railway put Torrent on the map. Oil made it a rich, dizzy resort in a Christmas card setting. Born with the coming of the railway, it thrived on oil, died when the railroad was taken up after the oil was gone.

Those who remember Torrent no longer live there, like William Smith, the retired old railroader of Sidney, Ohio. He was for some time the operator of the little station at Torrent, likes to reminisce on the early days of the L. & E., later the L. & N.

He spends much time in recalling railroad incidents, often writes his remembrances down for his friends. A frequent contributor of historical lore to this paper, he is voluble on his railroad days and Torrent, the hay fever resort.

Smith, a native of Jackson, found Torrent a railroad agent's dream place. But the years before that were rugged. He had been in a train derailment, emerged with fractured ribs from a mess of eggs and farm produce to aid in treating the many injured. His promotion to Torrent was the acme of attainment for him.

"Torrent had the right name," he writes in a manuscript prepared for The Times. "It was a rough and tumble country. From Natural Bridge one could see the big, high cliffs out of the window of the train on either side."

The railway company had to blast out room in the side of the mountain for its depot, section house and the tracks. J. Taylor Day, of Jackson, came and blasted some more, built a big hotel, erected a general store, installed a bowling alley, pool tables and a dance pavilion. Home owners built nice residences and the place began to prosper with oil.

Farmers who had been begging to sell their little holdings for a few hundred dollars became rich overnight. One man who had offered a small place back in the hills for $500 found no buyer, kept it until the oil boom struck and when a well was "put down" on his acres he awoke to riches of a hundred thousand dollars.

Smith calls the town the Hay Fever Resort for persons afflicted with that ailment were relieved in a few days. The sufferers came, were cured, had to stay until late fall to avoid the weed pollen back down in the lowlands. While at Torrent and awaiting the demise of the ragweeds back home, the hay fever itinerants lived a life of ease and pleasure at the big hotel. They waltzed to a big imported band until late in the night, every night. Smith sat in his little depot office, listened and watched for he didn't like waltzing. He was just a rugged old railroader taking it easy in a good spot.

Nostalgic is Smith for the beauty that was Torrent's. "Torrent was beautiful in the summer. One could look to the hills and see the big boulders, some big as a house, surrounded with trees of all kinds. There were laurels which have beautiful little flowers, and service trees which had beautiful flowers, too. When the services were red ripe we would eat them for they had a pleasant taste."

Beautiful, too, was Torrent in the winter. "When there came a snow or sleet it would lay on the laurel, pine, cedar and holly trees. The sun would come up over the high cliffs and shine down brightly on the sleet-laden branches."

Smith remembers much more about Torrent than the natural beauty and the hay fever victims and their pursuit of pleasure. There were the dirt farmers back in the hills who had "to scratch for a living." Many sold blackberries and huckleberries. Smith bought many gallons of berries, some for his own use but often he bought them just to give the picker a few dollars. Afterwards he re-sold them to other railroaders.

Smith, now 75, has a vivid recollection of old Fielden Bush who gathered chestnuts for a living. Chestnut trees were plentiful around Torrent then although the blight has killed them now.

"Fielden Bush had a chestnut orchard and when the chestnuts got ripe in the fall he would gather a big, two-bushel meal sack full and bring them to the depot on his horse and send them to Winchester by express. He would ride the same train and at Winchester he would take the nuts to the courthouse, sell them out by the pint cup and come back home on the evening train. He would make several trips during the season. A lot of those little farmers had to manage lots of ways to get by from season to season."

Smith went back to visit Torrent several years ago and found three or four houses there. The railroad had gone, the oil was running out and residents, what few there were, had only vague memories of Torrent in its hey-day. Bushes and briars were luxuriant. He couldn't tell where the depot had stood and when he asked a nearby woman about the site of the old station she told Smith he was standing on the foundations.

The old railroader, who remembered Torrent in its lush prosperity, was at no loss to describe what he found. There were bushes and briars everywhere and a few shacks. Assisting the bushes and briars to take over were "the whip-poor-wills, hoot owls, foxes and other animals. . . I shed a few tears."

He would not go back, again.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to acknowledge our gratitude to all who rendered help in any way during the last illness of our beloved mother, Mrs. Ellen Cheek, and to all who were so thoughtful upon her recent passing. We would especially thank the ministers for their comforting words, those who sent flowers and the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for its efficient service.

MARTIN'S 12 POINTS

It would require a lot of space to explain the truth on each of the 12 points or cases referred to by my opponent in last week's paper. Some of those cases were not appealed because the party against whom the cases were decided did not think they could reverse them in the Court of Appeals. In others, my opinions were affirmed by the Court of Appeals. In still others, I had nothing whatever to do in the case, such as the Osborne case, which was tried by the Juvenile Judge. In still another, the John Ousley case, has not been tried, and is now pending awaiting a survey to determine who owns the coal land.

If a man will CROOK as a candidate, what would you expect him to do as your JUDGE.

Respectfully yours,
EDWARD P. HILL

TO THE PEOPLE OF KENTUCKY:

I wish it were possible for me to express my gratitude to all the wonderful people, organizations, and newspapers for the many heartwarming tributes paid to my nephew, the late Charles K. O'Connell.

Charles was loved because he deserved to be loved. Nobody knows that better than I. His life reflected not only a political, but a personal philosophy preached by all politicians—but practiced by few. That philosophy was, "Give—rather than take." In more than 20 years as a state official, he made no money other than his salary. And he gave of that to the point where he could not meet his own personal obligations. He left no material wealth, but he left vast riches in the hearts of so many. His record of honesty and integrity in public office stands unchallenged.

I know how distressed he would have been over the controversy created in the appointment of his successor. I also knew of his great love and respect for the Court of Appeals, and especially for its present membership. Fortunately for Kentucky, they are a group of men dedicated to truth, justice, and honor—with courage to fight the tempter's snare.

The court not only carried out its constitutional duty in making the appointment, it exercised the best possible judgment in selecting Doris Owens. A more capable, deserving person for that position could not have been found. She, too, has served the court efficiently, unselfishly, and honorably for almost 30 years—and, until now, without political interference.

It is my fervent prayer that the people of Kentucky, and especially Charles' friends, will turn out in massive hordes to vote for Doris for clerk of the Court of Appeals. Nothing would please him more.

Importance of Spending For Family Needs Told By UK Home Specialist

Money is of value to buy the things we want and need. The size of the family income is not always the determining factor in fulfilling these wants and needs. The way the income is spent is usually more important, says Mrs. Gladys Morris, Extension specialist in home management at the University of Kentucky.

A financial plan for spending your money will not increase your income, but will serve as a guide to help you get the most with the least. Because each family is different, a set plan cannot be given.

The first step in making such a family plan is setting goals for family spending: Better food, a more attractive home, more parties with friends, and many other things must be appraised. Some people write them down, some mull over and discuss them informally. As the family discusses wants or goals together, each member will realize the many things for which their income must be spent.

Well-kept records help estimate expenditures. You can obtain a family account book from your county home agent for keeping these records.

Before any family can plan for the future, the family must know what its approximate income will be. This is hard to do if your income is seasonal or irregular. Do not overestimate the figure.

The next step: Make your financial plan. Total up the amount of money needed for family living items. Then, make a rough estimate of what the "wants" will cost. After listing all these items, total them to see if they are within your income figure.

The plan must be balanced—weigh the importance of the different wants and needs. Go over the list of living expenditures to see where you can change the amount of money set aside for any one item. On the other hand, you may find that you have not set aside enough money for certain expenditures. Train yourselves to be better shoppers, then learn better methods of food preparation, care of clothing and home furnishings.

Don't forget the emergency fund. Money should be set aside for unexpected illnesses.

A month-by-month picture of expenses will help you see if you are spending wisely.

An Indian effigy carved out of yellow pine was found on a cliff near Pineville in 1869. This, believed to be the only thoroughly preserved wooden prehistoric image found in Kentucky, is now in the Museum of the American Indian, New York.

Where Was Henry Stumbo?

Where was Henry Stumbo when the Federal government made grants at the request of the flood-stricken counties?

Floyd county got the lowest amount in grants, only $306 according to a news story in the Courier-Journal, May 17. *Perry county, comparable in size to Floyd county and with no more loss than Floyd, got $105,300.

Floyd county needed many thousands of dollars for public rehabilitation projects. It got a mere $306.

Are we going to be satisfied with a judge who is unable to bring our county the full assistance of the Federal Government in time of great need? Are we satisfied with the competence of Henry Stumbo?

* Details on the story of how much each county received in Federal Civil Defense aid was contained in a new story in the Courier-Journal, Friday, May 17, entitled, "Grants Exceeding 5 Million Help Flood Areas Recover."

VOTE FOR BILL COOLEY FOR COUNTY JUDGE

(Pol. Adv.)

ATTENTION, YOUNG VOTERS!

We, the undersigned, students in the Floyd County School System, of voting age urge all other young people throughout the county to support Judge Henry Stumbo for re-election to the office of Judge of Floyd county. We invite all voters to look into the record of Judge Stumbo. His administrations as our County Judge have been devoted to the best interests of the county and the people as a whole. His handling of juvenile matters, which is of particular significance to our age group, has been characterized by wisdom and understanding.

We do not have to rely on statements made during a political campaign to know that Judge Stumbo has the interest of us young people at heart. He went on record as far back as November 3, 1955 when, in a letter to the editor of the Floyd County Times, he solicited the support of voters to the passage of the Constitutional amendment granting 18 year olds the privilege to vote. His letter on that date is as follows:

"Editor, The Times:

This is to call to the attention of the people Constitutional Amendment No. 1 which is to be voted on at the election next Tuesday. A "Yes" vote means that we are in favor of permitting those who are 18 years old to vote.

All of us are mindful of the services by the youths only 18 years old in the armed forces, and all should be grateful to them. I urge support of the amendment for the reason that I am convinced that any youth who is old enough to wear his country's uniform, carry a gun and undergo the hardships and dangers of a military life is certainly capable of stamping a ballot and doing it as well as those who are older.

May I urge the voters not to overlook Amendment No. 1 on the right-hand side of the ballot."

HENRY STUMBO,
County Judge."

We think that Judge Stumbo's consideration of us in 1955 merits our consideration now, for without Judge Stumbo and others like him we would not be privileged to cast our ballot in this election.

Honest, Sober & Accommodating

Voters of the 97th District:

DO YOU WANT A PART-TIME REPRESENTATIVE IN OFFICE?

If Not, Elect Ann B. Hall Who Will Devote Fulltime Honest Service

When we asked Ann B. Hall just what she felt we needed in the way of Educational Legislation she said, "Really, I think the Minimum Foundation Program is an improvement over what we did have but it is inadequate. I would like to see us have the Maximum in every school in our state. I am in favor of teachers being paid twice each month rather than every four to eight weeks. The teacher should have an adequate retirement rather than a mere pittance; they should have survivors benefits, (equal to Social Security survivors benefits); they should have salaries equal to those paid teachers in other states. In fact, I will be in favor of and support any and all legislation favorable to Education."

We also approached Ann on the subject of the Veterans Bonus. She said: "I'm working on that, too. I have written to the Governors of ten different states who have paid their bonus, asking what source of revenue they used to pay their bonus." She wrote

MASTER COMMISSIONER'S SALE FLOYD CIRCUIT COURT

Home Owners Land & Mortgage Co. . . . Plaintiff
Vs.: NOTICE OF SALE
Mary Clifton and Jasper Clifton . . . Defendants

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered and entered at the April term, 1957, in the above styled cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 27th day of May 1957, at 10 o'clock, a.m., same being the first day of the regular term of the Floyd County Court, upon a credit of six months, the following described property, to-wit:

Lying and being on the Ed Dials Branch of Brandy Keg Creek, and bounded and described as follows: Beginning on the northeast corner of F. A. Hopkins; thence with said line to what is known as the big rocks on the ridge between Ed Dials Branch and Alex Clark Branch at the line of Sherman Nunery; thence around said ridge to the line of John K. Harris; thence down the hill with said line to F. A. Hopkins; thence down the hill with said Hopkins line to the place of beginning, containing 57 acres, more or less, and being the same land conveyed to Mary Clifton by deed dated 31 March, 1949 from Ollie Reop and Vennie Reop, his wife, recorded in Deed Book . . . Page . . .

Floyd County Court Clerk's Office. Also other deeds from the heirs of James Reop and Susan Dials Reop, both of whom are now deceased. Jasper Clifton, husband of Mary Clifton, Calvin Shepherd and Jacqueline Shepherd, husband and wife, each join in this mortgage for the purpose of releasing any and all claims they may have or may hereafter acquire in and to said property hereinabove described.

Said property will be sold to satisfy a judgment against defendants in favor of plaintiff for the sum of $10.00 with interest from Nov. 14, 1949, and $25.00 with interest from Feb. 14, 1950, and $300.00 with interest from April 2, 1949, until paid, subject to the following credits: May 14, 1949, $10.00; Oct. 26, 1949, Cr. R to Nov. 2, 1949; Feb. 14, 1950, Cr. R to March 2, 1950; May 17, 1950, by cash, $5.00; May 23, 1950, cr. by cash $5.00; June 15, 1950, cr. $98.75; June 18, 1950, cr. by cash, $5.00; Aug. 28, 1950, or by cash $5.00; Oct. 5, 1950; cr. by cash, $5.00; Nov. 8, 1952, cr. by cash, $5.00; Aug. 4, 1955, cr. by cash, $5.00

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 6th day of May, 1957.
J. B. CLARKE,
Master Commissioner,
Floyd Circuit Court .

to states who had something in common with our state, such as industry, racing, etc. After receiving replies from these ten Governors she feels there is no reason why Kentucky cannot pay her veterans a bonus. The poorest states in the U. S. have paid their Veterans. So veterans, if you are interested in some one who has your interests at heart, then get busy and elect Ann B. Hall. She is the one woman in our county who has the reputation of getting a job done, once she sets out to do it.

Ann B. Hall has always supported labor and will continue to do so. As for roads, after walking mile after mile up hollows, through creek roads, Ann says she certainly knows where roads are needed most and if elected she will do all in her power to get something done about them.

If it's honest representation you want, with some one with the courage and ability, one who does not have three or four other jobs on their mind, then VOTE FOR ANN B. HALL FOR REPRESENTATIVE in your 97th District.

Respectfully,
WOMEN FOR ANN HALL WHO SEE THE NEED FOR BETTER GOVERNMENT.
(Pol. Adv.)

An Appeal To The Voters

Since my announcement some time ago for Jailer of Floyd county I have been so deeply impressed I want to thank each and everyone of you from the bottom of my heart for the courage you have given me in this campaign. I feel this is your campaign. I realize it is you, the voters who are the ones to make the choice, and I believe the way you have responded you will give me the nomination.

They say I can't win by not being well known by the people of Floyd county. I want you, the voters, to check the background of each candidate. Weigh them in the balance and if I meet your approval, then cast your vote for me. I am not a politician and am not sponsored by any group. I have been a member of the Regular Baptist Church for over 25 years.

I am at present employed at Stephens Elkhorn Coal Co., as a tippie man, a job I have had since 1943. So you know I am a laboring man, have worked hard all my life. I am 65 years old and have never asked for public office at the courthouse.

Not knowing what may be published, I want you to all know I am in this race to win and will not let you down. As I have said before, I will put my wholehearted attention to the welfare and care of those placed in the custody of the Jailer, and you fathers and mothers who have sons who are unfortunate enough to be brought to jail I want to say they will not be deprived of their rights and privileges as prisoners but will be treated with impartial treatment. I earnestly beg you to give me the nomination and elect me as your next Jailer and I will put forth with all the strength and energy in my body to make you one of the best Jailers you have ever had.

The best of good-will to all of you.

MOSS FAMILY

An inquiry from Mrs. W. T. Sims, Box 416, Jefferson, Texas, relative to the Moss and other families, is quoted here in its entirety:
"In 1816 James Moss as a Commissioner from Russell County, Virginia, aided in the formation of Scott county, Virginia, and the first court met in the home of James Moss at Moccasin Gap, near Gate City, Virginia. In 1818 James Moss, the Gibsons, Fountains, Stuarts and Nelsons came to Arkansas and settled where James Moss died in 1833.

"I am trying to find where James Moss was from and the name of his father. It could have been brother Matthew and James' son been Matthew for James had a wife named Matthew. I think the Gibsons and Mosses intermarried. Gibsons and Mosses intermarried."

BYRNE GRANT

The name of the inquirer last week relative to the Byrne Grant of 10,000 acres of Floyd county land to Capt. James Byrne for Revolutionary services was Dr. H. C. Kincaid, 3635 Vacation Lane, Arlington 7, Va. The name of the writer was inadvertently omitted.

NEW JILLSON BOOK

Willard Rouse Jillson, former Prestonsburg resident but now a consulting geologist at Frankfort, is still a prolific writer on historical subjects. His newest book, "Rambo Flats, the Life Story of General James Tandy Ellis," was ready May 15. Ellis, born 1868, died 1942, was Kentucky's greatest humorist, story teller and poet.

I have decided to run for Constable, I fully realize it isn't a very high or profitable office, but we have it just the same, Legally and Lawfully. I also know someone will be elected. For the last several years some people have made a joke and mockery out of small offices. (Just to have a little fun) such as Judge Bush and others, but I think it is high time that we quit joking around on matters like that. Ask yourself one question—Is he safe to turn loose on the streets, and in the country with a big pistol? We never want to elect a man that might be unsafe among our people. Do you think it wise to ignore the facts and just elect anyone? No, no, I think you should elect a man that exercises a reasonable judgment to deal with his fellowmen, treating him as he would want to be treated. I don't believe in abuse in any respect. I don't believe in meddling, deceiving just like Popeye, I am what I am and can't be anything else). When I am your Constable, you can go out for a little drive or a little recreation. You won't have to keep an eye out for fear of me pulling you over, shaking you down, and possibly arresting you on some fake charge. I don't doubt but what I will be nominated, and I don't intend to make a living alone by constableness. I will work as I have always done. I have been working for Ford Motor in Michigan for the last four years, but I have moved back to the old home place where I was born and raised. I am appealing to all my friends and relatives to vote for me, as I have never in all my life voted against one of my relative and regardless of the outcome of this election, I never will. I have always tried to make a habit of voting for some local boy or man in county-wide elections. That's why I am always on the loser side. I was on the loser side in the last Governor's race, but I would do the same thing again if there was a local boy involved. I volunteered for the army right after war broke out in World War II and was in combat for several months. I have decorations for meritorious achievement against the enemy, and also for gallantry in action. (I represented my home on the battlefield.) Would it be asking too awfully much to represent you all as your Constable?
Thanking you all in advance,
Respectfully
BENNIE BLACKBURN

OLD PICTURES

This column needs old pictures of Floyd county or early scenes in Big Sandy valley. Acceptable ones will be published in The Times and the pictures returned immediately. These old pictures are a contribution to our understanding of early customs, economic life and of the religious development of our area. Pictures preferred are of early churches, schools, prominent persons several years ago, steamboats, railway workers, political rallies and many other kinds.

LEWIS AND VAN HOOSE FAMILIES

The following is excerpted from a letter from F. M. McConnell, of Fayetteville, Arkansas, to Mrs. Charlotte Martin, of Martin.

"There is here a Mrs. Hildy Crawford, society editor of The Desert Sun, published at Palm Springs, California, who is running down local information relating to her ancestors—the Lewises and Van Hoses, who came from Floyd county, Kentucky. I think Mrs. Crawford is well qualified and has spent considerable time in searching the records here as well as in Kentucky and elsewhere."

THE INITIAL RUN

Frequent correspondent of this column is William Smith, Sidney, O. His reminiscence of Jackson are vivid word pictures of days long past and times that have changed a bit. A recent letter details how people received the first railway train that came to the Breathitt county seat.

"About three-quarters of a century ago a big steam engine with a lot of cars loaded with people from Lexington and all along the line between Lexington and Jackson came rolling into South Jackson, a puffing and blowing, celebrating the Initial Run. Folk from all around in that country were there to see this thing which many of them had not seen before. Many remarks were made about the poor, old, tired, puffing engine which had traveled 93 miles.

"There were many legends related after that, of how the engine stood there resting and puffing and the folk crowded around trying to learn more about this marvelous thing. One old man said to a bystander: 'She's a big old heifer, ain't she?' Another man said, 'She must be awful tired as she is still puffing.'

The Initial Run, as the old rail-roader Smith, called it, was an event long remembered by him, even after he went to work for the railway company as a lineman and became familiar with many trains and miles of lines. He goes on to describe his work with the old L. & E., later L. & N.

"When I got out of school I worked on the farm three or four years and then I got a job on the road, the L. & E. then but later acquired by the L. & N. I was lineman between Jackson and Lexington. They only had two wires on this line and they were both telegraph wires, so all operators and agents who worked on this road must know how to telegraph, using the old brass key and the Morse Code. After two or three years as lineman I learned to telegraph in my spare time, also learning agency work. After I got qualified they would send me to relieve an operator or agent who had to be relieved for some cause.

"I had a miniature main-line sounder and key constructed in a rubber case very compact which I carried in my tool sack, so when they would have a derailment along the line, the dispatcher would locate me through the operators and send a roadmaster with an engine and caboose for me and take us to the scene of the wreck, and the roadmaster would go about clearing away the wreck and I would cut in my little instrument on the wires and call the dispatcher and telegraph the news to him regarding the derailment.

"Sometimes I would have sad news to tell the dispatcher about people getting killed in the wreck, and the dispatcher in turn would have to relay this news to their loved ones."

TVA Conducts Mosquito War

Rare is the fisherman who is not harassed at dusk by that pesky little insect called a mosquito. Most fishermen believe that like the weather, everybody talks about the subject but nobody does anything about it. This is not true on lakes controlled by the Tennessee Valley Authority. The TVA conducts an extensive anti-mosquito operations program which includes routine inspections of all lakes and the use of a DDT insecticide to eliminate as many of the insects as possible.

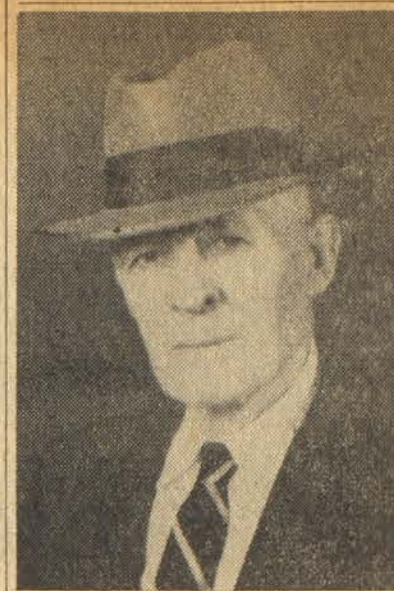

Weekly and bi-weekly mosquito station inspections are only one part of the vast control program which is carried out in the 13 TVA reservoirs which includes Kentucky Lake.

Another but little known activity is the artificial rearing and continuous propagation of a colony of mosquitoes for laboratory work. The larvae and adults of the only malaria carrier in the Tennessee Valley are raised in large numbers for studies by the malaria control branch laboratory which was established more than 20 years ago at Wilson Dam.

These laboratory-raised mosquitoes are used in research to determine the rates, range and effectiveness of various insecticides in an effort to find better and more effective ones. Laboratory tests to date have determined the mosquitoes have not become resistant to the currently used DDT formula.

Recently TVA officials announced that although anti-mosquito activities in the past have been confined primarily to malaria carriers, they were expanded last year to include others, principally the flood-water pest species which breed in TVA lakes under certain conditions.

PROCK HAYES

Has Been

A Good Jailer

Re-elect him for another 4 years.

When a County Official stands for re-election he must stand or fall on his record of service to the people.

Prock Hayes as your jailer has a record of service to the people of Floyd county of which he and his many friends can be justly proud.

The record does not have to be checked in county record books, it can be seen. We have seen the cleanliness of the courthouse and grounds, the upkeep of the jail and the manner of Prock's service to the county. Many of us have eaten at the jail, we know the quality of the food and the fine manner in which it is prepared.

Naturally, no one enjoys being in jail, but those who have knows that the prisoners have been treated with all courtesy due them, and most of all have lived in clean surroundings with good, sufficient food. As it should be, no special favors, nor partiality has been shown to any prisoners. In addition, Prock Hayes, has been very faithful in attending court and has been helpful to the Court and to all the people with whom he has come into contact.

All in all, we think Prock Hayes has made the best jailer we have ever had.

We recommend him for another four years.
Re-elect Prock Hayes jailer.

THE FORGINSTERS AND THE DOERS

Now that election time is getting near, we voters of Floyd County get a pretty big job to do, as we have a large bunch of politicians to select from this time. We will have to select the best for the job.

There are two types of Politicians. One is the forginsters, who are for all good and against all evil. He is usually a "hale fellow well met," who will slap you on the back, wink at your wife and kiss your baby, who will promise to keep you out of jail and promise to put your enemy in. When this type of person gets in office they usually wind up doing a few personal favors, and justice is tempered by the question who controls the most votes. They are not interested in the real affairs of the county or in the job that they are supposed to do.

One Floyd voter seems to sum this up with this statement, "I am getting tired of voting for people just so I may be able to get somebody out of jail. From now on I am going to vote for the man who I think will do the most for the county. I hope that most of the people in Floyd county feel this way."

Occasionally, we have someone in politics who is the Doer type. This person makes a study of the office he is asking for and plans a constructive and well-balanced program and presents it to the people. Any old-line politician will tell you that is not the way to get votes and, looking over most of the campaign propaganda, it is easy to see that they believe this. They say that you must play up your relatives and prey on the sympathies of voters; however, I believe that this may have been true at one time, but is no longer true now. I have too much confidence in the intelligence of the voters of Floyd county to believe this is true.

When we of Hayes Metal consider employing a person for a job we carefully consider and check the references and history of all the people applying for the job. We have found that a person who has done a good job in the past has the best indication of doing something in the future. I think we should select all of our County Officials by these standards.

My brother, Paul Hayes, is seeking the office of County Attorney for Floyd county. His record will stand up under this type of scrutiny. Teacher of Wheelwright High School of Math and Science, served in the 1950 Kentucky Legislature where he proposed and passed many bills favorable to Floyd county and the State of Kentucky. Among these were: Floyd county to become a separate Judicial District and a resolution in the Kentucky Legislature urging Congress to canalize the Big Sandy River. The sponsors of canalization had tried for years to get this resolution through. He was appointed to the State Workman's Compensation Board where he served until 1957. He has instigated re-organization of the Workman's Compensation Board so that the injured workers may not have to wait for years to get their cases tried. He won the acclaim of both Labor and Management for his fair and impartial handling of Workers Compensation cases.

He has for some time been studying the duties and responsibilities of the office of County Attorney. As most of you know he has presented through this campaign a constructive platform that Floyd county needs, he has worked diligently to bring you this platform during the campaign. If he is elected he will work just as diligently to implement this platform for Floyd County, as it is desperately needed.

Floyd county needs Paul E. Hayes for County Attorney.

ADVANCING EDUCATION IN KENTUCKY

By Robert R. Martin
Superintendent of Public Instruction

High school graduation is a momentous event. At this time of year high school seniors across the land find themselves in a whirl of social and school activities that mark the climax of a period in their lives to which they have devoted most of their years. It is certainly a time for celebration and good wishes.

But after the activities of graduation week are over and the world around us assumes its usual routine, then graduation is no longer an event—it then becomes a condition. One that merits serious consideration of the future. More serious than in former years because the high school graduate of today has such a variety of choices that he can make. Other generations had little choice to make regarding their plans after high school. There were few areas to which they could devote their ambitions and their energies. They were often handicapped by unfavorable economic circumstances and limited job opportunities.

The opposite is true of today's graduates. Their problem is more concerned with the dilemma of which choice to make. Should I go to college? Should I take a job? If so, what should I study, or what should I work at? What should I do about military service?

All of these are questions which should be carefully weighed. High school graduates should seek competent advice and counsel—from their teachers, their parents, their community leaders — and try to arrive at decisions that they feel are best for their own personal situation. They have reached a milestone in their lives and the decisions that they make now will have a definite effect on the patterns of their entire adult life.

Certainly there is a great need for skilled talent in this modern and perplexing age. The demand for people trained in the sciences and mathematics is well known. There is however an equally acute need for ministers, journalists, salesmen, stenographers—and on and on. The needs are tremendous. There is great opportunity for these young men and women.

There is one area of demand however that rivals and even overshadows the needs of technology—it is the almost overwhelming shortage of qualified teachers. It is my fervent hope that many of our graduating high school seniors seriously consider the educational profession as their life's work.

Reliable statistics have shown that the need for NEW teachers will be equal to more than half of the total estimated number of ALL college graduates between now and 1960. In 1960 there will be three high school students for every two in school today; enrollments are continually increasing—36,000,000 in 1960, as compared to 25,000,000 in 1940.

Why do we have this problem. Because the low birth rate in the depressed thirties did not provide enough college graduates today to meet the demands for teachers created by the high birth rate of the war years.

Salaries for teachers in Kentucky and in the nation have been gradually increasing in recent years. This trend will continue. The national average is presently more than $4,200 dollars annually, and due to Kentucky's Foundation Program, we can look forward to salaries commensurate with this in the near future in our own State. Salaries for beginning teachers with degrees in Kentucky are not lower than those of other states of comparable resources; in some cases, they are higher.

Teaching is an honorable and respected profession. It offers a rewarding and satisfying life. High school graduates should include it among their other considerations.

But no matter what field of endeavor these young men and women choose, there is wider opportunity and a brighter future for them than there has perhaps ever been. I congratulate them and their parents for this significant achievement.

New Growth Regulator Triples Some Plants

A chemical that caused a remarkable acceleration of growth in some plants has been reported by the USDA.

The substance is gibberellic acid. It was first obtained from a fungus of the genus Gibberella. It has long been a major disease of rice in Japan, causing excessive elongation of the rice plants and reducing yields.

In preliminary experiments at Beltsville, Md., one application of the chemical in very minute amounts doubled or tripled the heights of various test plants. The acid was applied externally to stems of young plants as a lanolin paste mixture.

In three to four weeks, such ornamentals as geraniums, poinsettias, sunflowers, roses, salvia, dwarf dahlia, petunia and asters had grown one half to three times taller than comparable, untreated plants. Height of such crop plants as snapbeans, soybeans, peanuts, pepper eggplant, corn and barley in many cases doubled or tripled in height. Soybean and snapbean plants' weight and amount of solid matter increased from 30 to 40 per cent in early growth stages.

Limited tests on vegetables such as tomatoes, snapbeans and peppers, applying the chemical directly to the fruit, did not affect the fruit growth.

Some success was noted in new growth of some young forest trees. Under greenhouse conditions, the acid however retarded flowering of some ornamental and crop plants, and advanced flowering in others by one to several weeks.

Research is still in the preliminary stage, scientists point out. Studies will be made to see if the acid will stimulate elongation of plants to give them an advantage of competing growths; increase dry weight of certain crops at harvest time; and increase growth of slow-growing plants in great demand such as pulpwood.

Jackson Named To Water Group

Frankfort, May 20 (Spl.) — Conservation Commissioner Laban P. Jackson has been elected a vice-president of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress.

He also has been appointed to the Committee on Water Conservation and Pollution Abatement.

Jackson's elevation to vice president took place at a recent meeting of the Congress' executive committee in Washington.

Congressman Overton Brooks, Louisiana, president of the Congress, appointed Jackson to the committee.

Congressman John A. Blatnik, Minnesota, is chairman of the committee, composed of members of Congress, plus federal and state government officials.

Jackson headed a Kentucky delegation to attend the Congress' recent meeting in Washington.

In Parade

In the Derby Day Parade at Louisville recently was Miss Maxine Bingham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bingham, formerly of Prestonsburg but now of Fern Creek, Ky. Miss Bingham is a freshman at Fern Creek high school and a member of the drill corps.

Rainall Saves Strawberries, Official Says

Frankfort, May 20 (Spl.) — C. Harold Bray, Kentucky director of markets, described a recent rainfall that fell on most of Kentucky as a "million dollar rain for the state's strawberry crop." He estimated that if the drought had continued three to five days the income of Kentucky strawberry growers would have been reduced at least 50 per cent from the original estimate of $5 million dollars.

Bray said he understood the rains were fairly general across the state with the greatest benefits going to producers in north-central Kentucky.

He said the rainfall probably came too late for the Blakemore variety which ripens early. He predicted the yield from that variety will be only 50 per cent of normal. The other two leading varieties, Tennessee Beauty and Pocahontas, are later ripening varieties and, consequently, had not suffered from dry weather as much as the Blakemore. The Blakemore plantings represent nearly 50 per cent of all commercial berries grown in Kentucky.

Bray said early marketings of berries this year are averaging about $6 a 25-quart crate for U. S. No. 1. He added that he expected the price to strengthen.

This assumption, he said, was based on two factors: (1) The quality of the berries should be much improved after a reasonable amount of rainfall; (2) The southern fresh market supply is dwindling away while the Michigan commercial crop will not be ready before the second week in June.

Board Adopts New Regulation For Stockyards

Frankfort, May 20 (Spl.) — The Kentucky State Board of Agriculture has adopted a regulation requiring that all bulls and female cattle over six months of age and milking goats being taken to the farm from a stockyard or any other point of sale, must first be tested and found free of brucellosis. The Board, which met in Lexington, set July 1 as effective date of the regulation.

The regulation will mean that every stockyard and sales place must provide an accredited veterinarian to test and inspect bulls, cows, and milking goats purchased to be taken back to the farm. A fee of $1 a head is charged to the seller for this service. Animals accompanied by an official health certificate issued within the past 30 days are exempted from the test. Also exempted are officially vaccinated animals under 30 months of age, spayed heifers, steers, and cattle designated for immediate slaughter.

The Board also adopted a resolution of appreciation for services by its late member, John G. Bertram, Jr., Vanceburg, and expressed deep regret for his death. Bertram, 44, was drowned April 10, when his car plunged into a rain-swollen stream in Lewis county.

Knowing my qualifications for and being familiar with the duties of the office of Coroner I do not hesitate to ask the Democrats of Floyd county to nominate me for that important office.

I have been employed at the Beaver Valley Hospital for the last 10 years as medical and X-ray technician, served in the army overseas during the second World War. Am 34 years old, married, have one child, own my home at Allen, Kentucky, and am a member of the Masonic Lodge.

Centrally located and available day or night to render services of that office.

I respectfully ask that on May 28th you go to the polls and vote for the nomination of Ramon Childers for Coroner.

MY FRIENDS OF
FLOYD COUNTY:

May I ask you to please give my brother, DURAN MOORE your kind consideration in his race for County Court Clerk.

He is a good young man and I feel that those of you who have had business transacted at the County Clerk's office during his service to us realize that he and Kathleen and his fine help of assistant clerks have been doing a good job.

He has a heart of service and tries to run the office for the welfare and benefit of the people. We all have our important records on file there. He works for the orderly preservation of those records. During flood or storm or disaster, we can rest assured that DuRan will be on the job, day or night, taking care of those things we have filed and recorded in the Clerk's Office and entrusted to him.

He tries to see that we all benefit by reason of his service. Good helpers in the office with reasonable pay who give to us good and kind and courteous and efficient service has been his desire, and these things will continue to guide his actions as County Court Clerk in the future if you good people will help re-elect him.

Please vote for DuRan if not obligated to some one else. He needs your help. He will repay your kindness.

We understand the pleasure of helping those with whom we come in contact through our daily walks. We have experienced a long and hard struggle through this life. DuRan was raised mostly on a small hillside farm. He rode a mule five miles to high school. Bus had not reached our community at that time. He finished. I did not. I quit out during the last year to drive a mule team and later a truck so that I could help our family. We had a brother in law school at that time.

I appreciate my many good friends. Let us all work for the benefit and welfare of our good county and state.

Your friend,

Dancing Instructions Scheduled For Youth; Center Location, Need

Announcement of dancing instructions now offered to junior and senior students at the Prestonsburg high school is being made by Mrs. Lon Hill, chairman of the Interclub Board of Directors of the Prestonsburg Youth Center.

"These lessons are a project that our Board has wanted to undertake for some time," says Mrs. Hill, "and through the cooperation of Mrs. Ray Bradbury and Mrs. Astor Meade, instructors, and Mr. Otis Spurlock, principal at Prestonsburg high and Miss Laura V. Roberts, sponsors, we are happy to say that instruction in ballroom dancing is now being offered to interested juniors and seniors before the prom this year."

Mrs. Bradbury is an accomplished dancer and Mrs. Meade is well known throughout Floyd county for her abilities as a dancing teacher. Both instructors are serving without pay as a service to young people who wish to develop this social skill. Classes are offered at two sessions on Tuesdays and Fridays, and began on Friday, May 17.

These arrangements were among matters discussed on Thursday of last week, the regular meeting of the Board of Directors which met at the home of Mrs. Hill, since the Youth Center has had no quarters since the flood. The Board elected Miss Mary Martha Williams who, with Mrs. Herschell Tackett, has been newly appointed to the Board from the Junior Woman's Club, to serve as secretary in the place of Mrs. John Ellis. Mrs. Ellis resigned after serving on the Board since it was established in Feb. 1956. Board members expressed their appreciation for the untiring efforts which she exerted for the Youth Center program since its beginning by investigating locations, seeking supervisors, sending special letters and serving as secretary of the Board.

The treasurer reported that funds now on hand will enable the Youth Center to open in the fall when a suitable place is rented. Those present were Mrs. Lon Hill, Miss Mary Martha Williams, Mrs. Ray Howard, Mrs. Ralph Davis, Mrs. Marvin Music, Frank Heinze and a visitor, Herschell Tackett.

Capitol Notebook

Frankfort, May 20 — Eleven members of the staff of the State Education Department will deliver a total of 47 commencement addresses during school graduation activities this year. Leading the list with 14 speaking engagements is Dr. Robert R. Martin, State superintendent of public instruction.

Others are James L. Sublett, assistant superintendent; Ted C. Gilbert, head of the finance bureau; James L. Patton, head of the vocational education bureau; Don C. Bale, head of bureau of instruction; Dr. Stanley Hecker, records and reports director; Walter W. Roschi, director of Finance; Claude Taylor, curriculum supervisor; James Vickers, transportation director; Dr. Curtis Phipps, guidance director, and W. G. Monahan, assistant to the superintendent.

SPEAKING OF GRADUATION

We know of one 1957 graduate who has a distinguished commencement speaker right in the family. When Miss Nancy Waterfield is graduated by Frankfort high school this year she'll hear her father—Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield—address her class.

Nancy is editor of The Panther, the high school newspaper, and staff writer for The Capitolian, the school's annual. She is a member of the National Honor Society and physical education and glee clubs and treasurer and vice president of the Girl Reserves.

HONOR JEFFERSON DAVIS

Several state officials will take part in Memorial Day services at Jefferson Davis State Park at Fairview, June 3. They include Rural Highway Commissioner J. B. Wells, who'll deliver a message for Gov. Chandler, Highway Commissioner Robert Humphrey, Conservation Commissioner Laban Jackson and Mrs. Ben Kilgore, director of parks. The program to commemorate the 149th birthday of the president of the Confederacy is sponsored by the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

SAFETY TIP

The monthly bulletin of the State Department of Mines and Minerals frequently offers safety tips for coal miners. But the latest issue contained some advice that could help anyone who plans a vacation this year.

The Bulletin says mine accident patterns show sharp increases just before and after a vacation period. This is because, the Bulletin adds, pleasant thoughts of vacation distract our minds from present tasks and an accident happens "in the twinkling of an eye." The booklet warns:

"Accidents never take a holiday or vacation. Regardless of where you go or what you do, a potential accident is always near you, just waiting for you to give it a chance to happen. You can look forward to wonderful vacations in the future by being alert to what is happening around you at the present."

THIS WEEK'S QUOTE

Gov. Chandler told the recent annual banquet of State Planning and Development Agencies at Louisville: "The additional income and tax revenues deriving from new businesses have a tremendous impact on the entire social fabric of our state. This new wealth makes possible better schools, better medical and welfare facilities, better highways, and contributes in other ways to the material and cultural well-being of all citizens."

MOSQUITO CONTROL

According to Gene Woods, who is directing the State Agriculture Department's aerial war against mosquitoes, the full result of the spraying is realized in counties about three weeks after the operation. That is the period when the second brood will begin flying. Larviciding destroys mosquitoes in the wingless stage and therefore reduces the number of adult mosquitoes. Woods says that with the new Stearman bi-plane, especially built for the purpose, the agency can cover about four or five thousand acres a day under good flying conditions.

Use of white flour in urban households declined 26 per cent between 1948 and 1955.

About one third of the food items in a grocery store did not exist as such 20 years ago.

Properly planted and cared-for rhubarb will produce for 10 to 12 years.

TO THE VOTERS of FLOYD COUNTY

I have a brother who is a candidate for County Attorney. At this time I should like to ask you to sincerely consider him in his race. He is JARVIS ALLEN, a lawyer, a former teacher, former County Court Clerk of Floyd County, and a man who is worthy of your support.

Jarvis was raised as hard as any other man in this race. He has plowed as many fields, hoed as much corn, not only worked in a corn mill but ran it when he was a mere boy. Jarvis worked hard for his education. He is one of the outstanding alumni of Caney Junior College. Our father was not able to send Jarvis or any of us away to high school, as some of his opponent's fathers were, so Jarvis was obliged to ride a mule to Maytown across the hills from the head of the left fork of Middle Creek. One year he attended Prestonsburg High School and walked the eleven-mile trip home every week-end. When he had finished high school he walked the long trip from Pyramid on the head of Middle Creek to Pippa Passes, Ky., where Mrs. Lloyd accepted him as a student.

During Jarvis' last semester at Caney our father died and Jarvis came home to teach school and to help our mother support his six younger brothers and sisters. At every vacation term thereafter Jarvis went to college, earning more and more credits until at the time of Pearl Harbor he lacked only nine hours of receiving the Bachelor of Arts Degree in Education. Although well qualified to enlist as an air cadet or to apply for a commission Jarvis Allen enlisted in the ranks as a private in the Air Force. After being trained as a machine gunner and an aerial engineer he flew to England and joined the Eighth Air Force where he fought in combat and contributed his share to the final defeat of Germany.

Jarvis' life in the service was no picnic, no life of a desk-bound job with brass on his shoulders. He rode three Flying Fortresses to their deaths. The first made it back to an English Beach, the second "ditched" in the English Channel and Jarvis with his crew was rescued from the cold, icy waters three hours later. The third plane on which he was fighting was blasted from the air after it ran out of ammunition during the historic raid in Schweinfurt, Germany, in August, 1943. Jarvis Allen, wounded by shrapnel, was the last living man to leave the plane after all others save the pilot had abandoned ship. The pilot rode the plane to the ground after ordering Jarvis to take to his parachute. Jarvis landed in the midst of enemy-held Belgium and although painfully wounded, suffering a sprained back and a broken foot, he was able to evade the enemy with the help of heroic underground and after four months, during which we at home all but gave up hope for his safety and his life, made his way back to England. He walked, crawled and struggled across the Pyrenees Mountains on foot, a trip which took two weeks. Jarvis returned to us broken in health from months of starvation but served his country for more than another year as a combat instructor for the Air Force. His experiences no doubt saved the lives of other combat-bound crews.

While Jarvis was missing overseas the Air Force decorated him in absentia at Marshall College, Huntington, W. Va., with the Air Medal with five Oak Leaf Clusters and the citation accompanying the award stated that my brother had distinguished himself in combat by shooting down five enemy planes.

Jarvis was later decorated with the Order of the Purple Heart for wounds received in action. He is still rated partially disabled as a result of his military service.

I am not asking you to elect Jarvis County Attorney because of his distinguished military record. You have been kind to my brother. I merely cite his war record to remind you that he, too, has given his full measure of devotion to his country's cause as have most of the men of his age group here in this county. Since the issue has been brought into the campaign by others I feel it my duty to complete the record.

After Jarvis returned from service you good people elected him County Court Clerk of this county and while at least one of his opponents says that he has never run for county-wide office he failed to tell you that he has been on the state payroll for at least six years at a salary almost as high as this office pays. I am proud of my brother's record while he was Clerk. No one has ever attacked it.

While Jarvis was your Clerk and since that time he has worked unceasingly for the good of Floyd county. He has twice gone to Washington, D. C., at his own expense to appear before Congressional Committees in the interest of the canalization of the Big Sandy. He has made trips without number to Frankfort in the interest of better roads and his efforts have paid off, for as a direct result of those trips came the David-Northern Highway, the Caney-Stephens Branch Road, the blacktop surface for the Salyersville-Prestonsburg Road, the Buckingham Road, the blacktop surface for the Left Beaver Road and others. Jarvis does not claim that he alone secured these improvements but that through his efforts and the efforts of those he supported these projects were made possible.

As his record indicates, he could be expected to lend all of his efforts as County Attorney to securing added road improvements and industry for Floyd county.

Jarvis has always PUT FLOYD COUNTY FIRST. His every act and deed have been motivated by what was best for us here. He has acted accordingly.

With all the things that I have said in mind I ask you to consider the record of my brother, JARVIS ALLEN, before voting in the race for County Attorney.

If You Want a Commonwealth's Attorney

ELECT

Claude P. Stephens

FLOYD COUNTY VOTERS:

Here are some of the reasons you should go to the polls and vote for Claude P. Stephens, for Commonwealth's Attorney.

1. He is experienced, having served as County Attorney, Commonwealth's Attorney and United States Attorney for the Eastern District of Kentucky.
2. He has the ability and courage to do the job, as shown by the way he handled the different offices he held. If you don't know this, ask some of the older citizens.
3. He will restore law and order and see to it that all other officers of the county and state do likewise.
4. Graft and corruption will not be tolerated by him.
5. It will not be necessary to employ special attorneys to represent the county or state in any litigation.
6. Can not be bought or bluffed. He is not answerable for his conduct to any man or set of men. He belongs to no faction, clique or ring.
7. Young voters, ask your fathers and grandfathers the kind of man Claude P. Stephens has always been.
8. You won't have to employ a lawyer to help him prosecute cases in which you are interested.
9. He promises to examine the Fiscal Court orders after each meeting of the Fiscal Court to see if your tax money has been legally spent, and appeal the case to the Circuit Court when necessary.
10. The time calls for the election of men of his caliber. THEREFORE, DON'T LET YOUR COUNTY DOWN BY FAILING TO GO TO THE POLLS AND VOTE FOR HIM ON MAY 28.

James Lane Allen, One of Kentucky's Familiar Authors

By Charles F. Hinds
Secretary-Treasurer,
Kentucky Historical Society

James Lane Allen was born in 1849 near Lexington in the heart of the Bluegrass—the subject of most of his essays, short stories, and novels. Allen died in New York in 1925 but was returned for burial to the city of his birth.

Kentucky has almost forgotten Allen's fame as one of the best known American writers in the heyday of the Age of Gentility, 1890 to 1914. In 1950 the John Bradford Historical Society of Lexington unveiled a modest monument over the author's grave.

Allen is indelibly identified with sweet smelling roses and lilacs. Early in his career, his writing was often characterized by dripping sentiment, popular among ladies who didn't play anything more strenuous than croquet and who disdained all but certain acceptable professions reserved for spinsters or widows. Later, an overworked urge to instill masculinity into his writings made the then sixtyish Allen appear ridiculous to critics and to his Bluegrass friends who wondered what had happened to their favorite author-gentleman.

Times have changed again, with the pendulum returning in full swing. Today, Allen is being read again and appreciated. He is certainly entitled to a prominent place in genteel literature. Perhaps, as the rawness and robustness of Jack London and Ernest Hemingway disappear, the need for romanticism will make Allen once more a popular author.

In 1954 the writer's grand-nephew, Franklin Marion Gentry II, of New York, gave to the state archives division of the Kentucky Historical Society 71 letters written by Allen to Miss Elizabeth Kinkead, of Lexington and to members of the author's family. These comprise the largest known collection of Allen letters. Included was a holograph manuscript of "The Landmark," a short story. As far as the Society knows, this is the only Allen manuscript in existence.

To the historical museum of the Society, Mr. Gentry gave a number of interesting items, originally owned by the author. Among them are a silver mounted walking stick, a cardinal-red dinner jacket, a silver engraved spectacle case, a pince-nez, a gold initialed leather wallet, and several pictures of Allen and his close relatives.

Allen is now featured in a special display in the front hall of the Old State House in Frankfort. This is nothing more than his due as one of Kentucky's outstanding sons in American and world literature.

FOOD NOTES

By DIXIE TRAPP

Strawberries are here! You began to notice them in March, their quality picked up during April and May and you will see a peak about Memorial Day. After that, supplies will dwindle fast.

During their fresh short season, you will find strawberries at roadside stands, grocery stores and in home gardens. Several Floyd Countians will have fine producing patches. So you can buy strawberries here in your home county.

Select solid, bright red berries. Berries with white spots are probably underripe and will have a tart flavor. A shiny gloss indicates fresh strawberries.

Lengthen your enjoyment of strawberries by preserving or freezing. Varieties that freeze well are Blakemore, Premier, Tennessee Beauty, Tennessee Shipper and Fairfax.

Now is the time to enjoy the fresh flavor of strawberries. You might like to try them in this pie:

Dissolve 1 pk.—strawberry gelatine in 1 c hot water.

Add ½ c cold water, 1 pint vanilla ice cream. Stir until ice cream is melted. Chill until it begins to thicken and mound when spooned (20 to 30 minutes).

Gently fold in 1 c sliced strawberries.

Pour into cooled, baked 9 inch pastry shell.

Chill until firm.

This is especially good with graham cracker crust. It also can be served as a dessert without pastry. Delicious with iced tea or coffee!

1 cup of strawberries has about 55 calories.

1 quart of fresh strawberries will yield 3 pints of frozen strawberries.

Dates Announced For Camp Seasons

Frankfort, May 20 (Spl.) — Dates for opening of the State's two Junior Conservation Club camps were announced by Ed Adams, director of conservation education in the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

Adams said Camp Earl Wallace on Lake Cumberland near Monticello will open June 3 while Camp John W. Currier on Kentucky Lake opens May 27. Each camp will remain open through the middle of August.

Over 5,000 boys attended these two camps last year, Adams said, and the number is expected to be greater this year.

While attending camp the boys are instructed in boating, gun safety, nature study, casting, archery, game and fish laws, rifle shooting, and swimming. A complete Red Cross life saving course is also taught.

Junior Club supervisors reported May 20 at Camp Wallace and May 13 at Camp Currier.

IS BURNIS MARTIN AFRAID

OF A

75-YR.-OLD WIDOW WOMAN

OR THE STRONG TOBACCO SMOKE?

Since Burnis Martin was referring to me in last week's paper, I am answering his charge that a "Juror in Circuit Court" was "carrying knife on Comm. Atty."

I am a 75 years old widow woman and have been a member of the Old Regular Baptist Church for a quarter of a century. About the meanest thing I do, at my age, is smoke strong twist tobacco in an old clay pipe. I carry a small pen-knife, with a blade about one inch long, to cut my tobacco. I wouldn't want to cut Burnis even if I was able to.

I know Burnis Martin has had a lot of fights, and one old man had to get a peace warrant for him and put him in jail, and Judge Hill turned him out. Burnis is suspicious and fearful, and dangerous. But his mind must be mighty bad wrong indeed if he is afraid of a 75-year-old widow woman whose only weapons (at this time of life) are a one-inch knife blade, a twist of Natural Leaf, and an old clay pipe!

Don't let Burnis Martin fool you voters about being in danger.

TO MY FRIENDS... ALL GOOD FLOYD COUNTIANS:

I am using this means to earnestly request your support (and vote, at the polls May 28th.) to reelect DURAN MOORE to the office of County Court Clerk. I can attest to his honesty and integrity both as a public official, and as an individual.

When DURAN MOORE first ran for public office, I promised him as follows: "I will support you so long as you perform your duties as a public official honestly and to the best of your ability; but I will oppose you just as strongly should you ever be guilty of any dishonest act while you are in public office."

Those of you who know me well, know of my deep conviction that only honest and qualified men should be elected to an office of public trust. I have never voted for (nor do I ever intend to) any candidate whom I knew had violated our trust in public office.

It is in this vein that I ask your support in reelecting DuRan Moore to the office of County Clerk. I commend him to you most highly as being efficient, honest and well-qualified to serve us again as our County Court Clerk. Whenever rumors have arisen questioning his honesty, I have examined his books and financial records in the Clerk's office—and have always found them to be in good order. At his request I have checked his private business transactions, and (regardless of campaign charges to the contrary by his opposition) I can sum up my findings with this statement of truth: "I wish I HAD the money he OWES." He and Kathleen are having the same difficulties common to us, paying off the mortgage on their home and providing clothing and food for their children.

Now, I hold no animosity toward his opponents; but at least one of them has been using some campaigning tactics that border on the ridiculous: Example 1—Opponent to voter: "Elect ME to the Clerk's office, and if you get involved in anything—just call me up, and you won't even have to come to Court!" I ask you, what manner of chicanery is this? He is either a Liar; or, he expects to be elected to ALL the county offices at the SAME TIME. The second alternative is impossible, since he is not a candidate for any other office except the one I am urging you to help DuRan Moore win.

Example 2—DuRan's opponent to voters in various areas of our county: "You should support me instead of DuRan Moore, because HE WAS BORN OUTSIDE OF FLOYD COUNTY!" I believe every decent citizen will agree that the greatness of our Floyd county is due certainly, in large part, to the effort and toil of the many, many good people who were born IN Floyd county; AND also, due in no less degree to the labors of the hundreds and hundreds of good people, born ELSEWHERE, who moved here, raised their families, established businesses, lived their lives, attended church and helped build our schools. THIS is the combination that made our County great; just as it has made ours a great Floyd county.

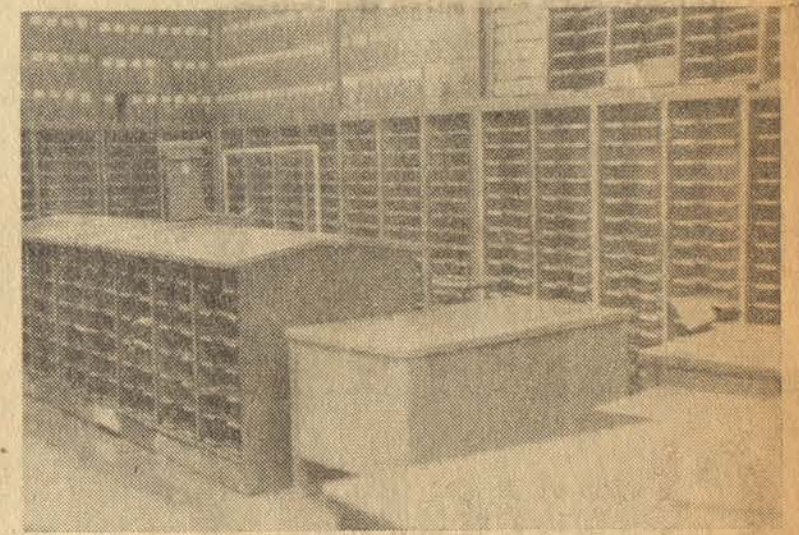

I once heard this simple truth from the pulpit: "While none of us had an iota of control over WHERE we were born, or WHO we were born, or WHY; All of us can choose for ourselves a better place in the Hereafter, if we conduct our lives in accordance with the 'golden-rule' ". ANY candidate who attempts to gain votes on the premise that he was born INSIDE or OUTSIDE a boundary-line, should give the above some sober thought.

These examples of 'belt-buckle' campaigning are cited to warn unwary voters of what they can expect (in mild form) from some candidates when the chips are down, and they are losing ground.

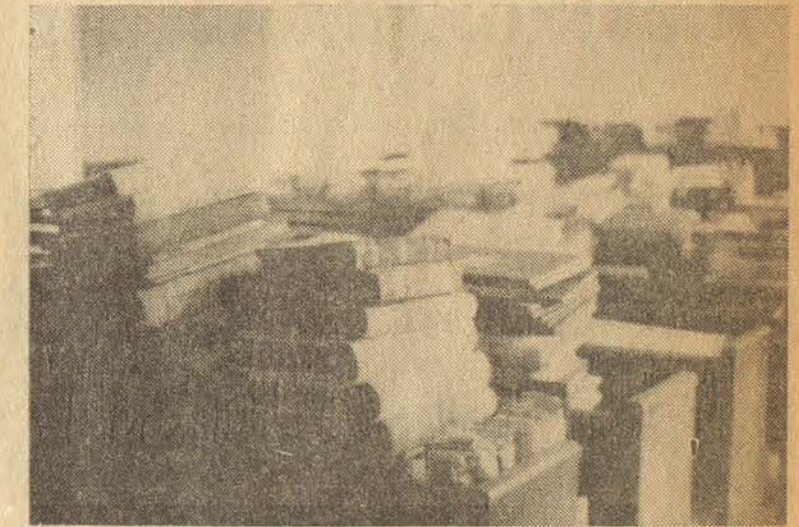

DuRan Moore's ONE fault (if you could call it that) is that he is too modest. There are countless men and women, members of Girl Scout Troops, etc. that will attest to his many acts of charity (which he never mentions to gain votes, regardless of how often his opposition refers to its own).

Few people know of the admirable job DuRan did during the recent flood, in removing the priceless documents and records and deeds from the flooded Clerk's office. He moved them to the tops of the tables and desks, and as the flood-waters crept nearer, moved them again to a high dry place, and kept them guarded day and night.

Those records belong to the people of Floyd county. The deeds, marriage records and countless other documents are invaluable and irreplaceable. He didn't HAVE TO keep them from being destroyed by the flood. There was no LEGAL obligation requiring him to convey our records to a safe place. He could have been away; or at home; or Office files emptied of records during flood.

Records in county courtroom upstairs where they were carried by Mr. Moore.

trying to salvage something from his own flooded store. No, he didn't have to, but HE SAVED YOUR AND MY RECORDS WORTH COUNTLESS MILLIONS OF DOLLARS.

In the military, for such an act they give a citation and a medal for "action above and beyond the call of duty." By performing this service, DuRan Moore made his mark that placed him among those dedicated public officials, that are truly governed by the dictum that "a public office IS a public trust."

I mention the above, because I know that most of you will never hear of it from DuRan Moore. It is only ONE of the MANY reasons why I feel we should reelect him to the office of County Clerk. DuRan Moore has been (and will continue to be) a good Clerk, an efficient and honest County Clerk. His honesty is reflected in his savings, which I happen to know are but pitifully little more now than when he was first elected to public office.

I hope sincerely my every friend, all good Floyd countians, will join me in reelecting DURAN MOORE to the office of County Court Clerk.

Respectfully

RUSSELL L. HALL, M.D.

Books and Such

By Laura Virginia Roberts

One of our readers shares with us her views on books which she believes are of a general character-building nature. She suggests that perhaps church and civic groups might be interested in donating this type of books to school and church libraries and the Bookmobile. She writes:

"Have you read HENTZ, published by McMillan, and written by Harriett Howser? It is the true story of an MYF boy of Perry, Georgia, who broke his neck, but lived several years, survived several operations, and entered college. His mother wrote the story, but the boy died before it came off the press. It is tender and beautiful, and very moving.

"Another dandy Christian book is the humorous PAPA MARRIED A MORMON, a best-seller by Fitzgerald. Another good one—and humorous—is MY FATHER'S HOUSE, by Grace Neis Fletcher, daughter of a Methodist minister."

I appreciate letters and comments so much, and am over-joyed when I find that we have readers. The above reminds me that a few years ago there was a very amusing book about a Methodist minister's household called PAPA WAS A PREACHER. THE FRIENDLY PERSUASION is a warm and delightful novel which gives insight into the Quaker religion and introduces the reader to such charming characters as Eliza and Jess Birdwell, their teen-age daughter Mattie, and her brothers, Little Jess and Josh, not to mention Eliza's pacing goose Samantha. You are already acquainted with these lovely people if you saw the movie made from the novel.

Kentucky author Hollis Summers wrote a book which I consider just about as good clean fun as there is, called BRIGHTEN THE CORNER. It is the story of a Baptist minister's family—primarily, the two small sons who generally keep things stirred up in the parsonage, the church and, at times, in the entire community.

HONEST UNBOSSED QUALIFIED

UNCLE ALBERT'S CASE

I respect the great age of Uncle Albert Osborne, but we may all expect to be once a man, twice a child. Burnis Martin was unfair to Uncle Albert to have him sign last week's political advertisement, in which he says one of my decisions "deprived him of his inheritance" in his old days.

The facts are that S. E. Osborne, brother of Uncle Albert, made a deed to his wife's daughter, Mrs. Leonard Hall whom he had raised, and with whom he spent his last days. Uncle Albert wanted to break the deed and filed a suit to do so. Under the evidence I dismissed the case and upheld the deed. Uncle Albert did not even appeal the case, and you may be sure he would have appealed had his attorneys advised a chance of reversal.

This is a fair sample of the merit of the other 12 "points" in my opponent's article of last week.

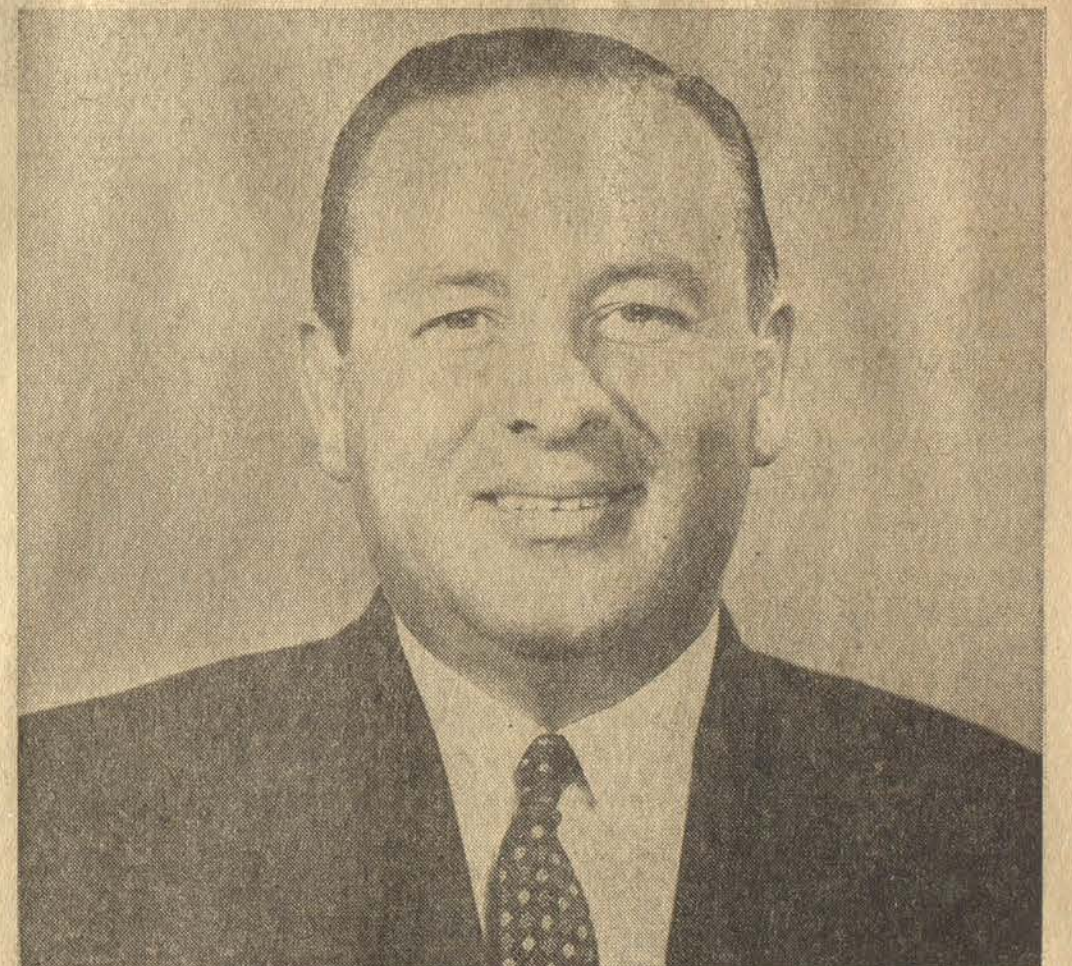

Do you good citizens of Floyd county want a Judge who will misrepresent, deceive and resort to trickery to get your votes?

Wayland, Estill Fires Raze Four Structures; Blaze Origins Unknown

Week-end fires caused heavy loss at Estill and Wayland as four structures were razed.

Three homes in the Shop Fork section of Wayland were destroyed with all their contents Friday night. Sunday night at Estill, the large barn owned by Ivan Childers burned.

One of the three residences destroyed was owned by Tommy Vison. Another was tenanted by Frank Clay and family, and a Hall family occupied the third. The Vison and Hall families were away from home when the blaze broke out.

A few head of livestock in the Childers barn were saved from the flames.

Origin of the blazes was not learned here.

CLAIM SUTER ABOARD PLANE

Story Says Candidate In State-Owned Plane In Paintsville Crash

June L. Suter, of Warsaw, Administration-backed candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, was the mysterious passenger aboard a state-owned airplane that crashed on a fairway of the Paintsville Country Club recently, The Courier-Journal said.

The newspaper broke the story after three weeks of probing into the crash. It said rumors had persisted that Suter had been campaigning in a state-owned plane, but those who saw the Paintsville crash declined to talk at first, and some never did.

Wrote Hugh Morris, Courier-Journal staff writer, of his findings:

Persons in a position to know firsthand of the accident and to see the plane's two occupants said they had been threatened with loss of their jobs, or loss of state business, if they talked about it.

The hassle over Suter's using a state plane is another phase of the all-out controversy between the Governor and the State Court of Appeals that broke out last January following the death of Clerk Charles K. O'Connell.

The cloak of secrecy thrown around Suter's plane trip was also in evidence at Frankfort, where Administration officials have ordered suppressed any information that would indicate Suter was a passenger in the airplane.

When first asked about the incident, Governor Chandler said he had no knowledge of it.

"If it is true," Chandler said, "it was not authorized and it should not have been done."

Aeronautics Commissioner Roy Osborne, questioned the day after the accident, said no one was in the plane except the pilot, James Pickett, of Frankfort, manager of Frankfort airport.

Osborne said Pickett was on a survey flight of the Big Sandy.

The plane, said the commissioner, was a Cessna 180. It nosed over when forced to land on the golf course at Paintsville Country Club.

Pickett, even when told that Suter had been identified positively as his passenger on the ill-fated flight, still insisted he was alone in the craft. He estimated $1,000 would repair the plane's damaged propeller and tail.

Suter was questioned the day after the accident. He denied he was in the state-owned plane. He told reporters he was "afraid" of aircraft and had not been in one since he took a commercial flight from Miami to Cincinnati some six months earlier.

Suter said he was "not even in Paintsville that day." He said he was in Hazard that morning, had driven to Prestonsburg, then to Salyersville, and on to Frankfort, without stopping in Paintsville.

Both Suter's statements are contradicted by eyewitnesses who saw him alight from the overturned state plane, and who saw him in Paintsville shortly after the crash.

According to these eyewitnesses, the state plane approached the Paintsville Country Club's 10th fairway—which is used as a landing strip by light aircraft—shortly after noon on April 23.

It was drizzling and there was a slight haze. The plane circled the golf course twice, then came in high and fast for a bumpy landing. As it taxied down the fairway, the plane hit a gully, bounced high into the air, and landed on its nose, catapulting on its back on No. 10 green.

As eyewitnesses ran toward the plane to help, they saw two men alight, apparently unhurt. One was Pickett, the pilot. The other they identified as Suter after looking at photographs.

A friend, who had been waiting for the plane to arrive, also ran to the overturned plane, then returned with the men to a nearby automobile, where the trio sat a few minutes. Then they went to the nearby home of C. C. "Chick" Hall to use the telephone and report the accident.

Hall, however, said he "doesn't remember" who used his telephone that day. He said he doesn't know how many persons were in the plane because he didn't see the craft until after the accident.

Hall, whose home faces the fairway where the plane landed, is a contractor who has been getting some state highway construction jobs.

"I told my wife they were coming and told her it was all right for them to use the phone," Hall said at one point. He did not elaborate on whom he meant by "they."

Shortly after the accident, Suter was seen at a tire-repair shop on the edge of Paintsville, in company with the friend that had met him at the airport.

The pilot, Pickett, said he was brought back to Frankfort that afternoon in a state police car.

The plane, meantime, was put under a state police guard until it was moved in a large truck a day or two later.

Suter wound up in Prestonsburg that night. The register at the States Motel in Prestonsburg carries the signature, "J. L. Suter, Warsaw," in Room 15 on April 23, the date of the plane accident.

NEXT WEEK'S HEADLINE:

HAYES WINS FOR COUNTY ATTORNEY

I start into this last week of the campaign supremely confident that you will elect me your County Attorney next Tuesday.

Lucille and I have been visiting with you now for almost three months. We don't intend to stop merely because the election will be over, come next Tuesday, but we want you to start coming to see us. We want to repay a few of the hundreds of acts of kindness which you have extended to us.

I think a County Attorney should be close to the people. He should be the people's lawyer—and that's the way I want it to be for the next four years.

I have tried to make a clean campaign. I have tried to be honest with the people and fair with my opponents. I have nothing derogatory to say about any of my opponents and have only the kindest of feelings toward them. I sincerely hope they feel the same way toward me.

To the people of Floyd county I will be eternally grateful for the many kindnesses and courtesies you have extended to me and to Lucille. With your permission, and God willing, I pledge to you the most honest and faithful service for the next four years.

As ever your friend,

PAUL E. HAYES

THERE IS ONLY ONE BASIC ISSUE!

As the campaign for the Democratic nomination for County Attorney draws to a close I should like to impress upon you once again the fact that there is but ONE basic issue in this campaign.

All the candidates in this race are war VETERANS. One other candidate and I were wounded in action. We have all been honorably discharged. All of us are fortunate that we returned home. We have all been active in veterans organizations; all have aided our former comrades-in-arms to the limits of our opportunities for such service. None should, therefore, claim veteran support on that basis.

What, then, IS the issue?

All of us are LAWYERS. All are EXPERIENCED in the practice of the law. All hold Bachelor of Laws Degrees. All of us were admitted to the Kentucky State Bar after examination. That is a basic requirement and is, therefore no issue.

THE MAN, the simple, honest, moral fiber of the man should be held up to the scrutiny of the voters. A man is judged by his RECORD. JARVIS ALLEN'S record is CLEAN. NO MAN HAS ATTACKED JARVIS ALLEN'S RECORD IN THIS CAMPAIGN. JARVIS ALLEN has a record for HONESTY, EXPERIENCE, INTEGRITY, HIGH MORAL CHARACTER, AND SOBRIETY.

JUDGE THE MAN THEN VOTE FOR A BETTER FLOYD COUNTY.

CAST OF PLAY IS COMPLETED

"Wilderness Road" Set To Open, Berea, June 29; Many Newcomers in Play

Director Sam Selden of Wilderness Road has released his final casting list which reveals that more than half of the leads and principal roles will be played by newcomers to the production this season.

There will be new actors to play John Freeman, Squire Sims, Uncle Eph, Jed Willis, Issac Ciller and the Narrator. New actresses will play the roles of Elsie Sims and her mother, Mrs. Sims. Changes in secondary roles and in the singing and dancing choruses are minor. The technical directors are all new except one. The new organist, Fred Haley, of Pineville, is already in Berea and playing recitals at Indian Fort Theater each Sunday afternoon.

Returning for the third season and now veterans of the production are Director Sam Selden, Music Director Rolf Hovey, Dance Director Frank Smith, Stage Manager Jerry Hughes and Assistant Stage Manager James Bobbitt.

Wayne Spiggle will play the role of Davie again and Louise Scribner will again recreate her sympathetic portrayal of the mother of the hero brothers, John and Davie Freeman. Others returning who have not missed a performance since opening in 1955 are Bob Morris as Nell, Coach "Monarchy" Wyatt as Chris Slocumb, Shirley Neeley as Annabelle, John Fee Morgan as Exom, Ann Walker as Debbie, James Burton as Ben and John Payne as Les Roland.

Opening night of the third season is scheduled for 8:15 p.m. (CDT) at Indian Fort Theater, Saturday, June 29. Performances will continue each week night through July and August. Advance ticket requests are now being received at Wilderness Road Headquarters, Berea, Kentucky, or by telephone Berea 890.

Woman's Club Meets To Install Officers; Mrs. Danburg, Sponsor

The Allen-Martin Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. James Davis Monday, May 6, for installation of officers for the new year.

Mrs. Arthur Danburg, Sponsor of the Seventh district, came from Pikeville to conduct the ceremony. A different banquet of spring flowers was used for each officer, and later the flowers were combined in one large arrangement and presented to Mrs. Danburg by the club president, Mrs. Sherman.

New officers installed were: Nelle Music—president; Mrs. T. J. Allen—vice president; Mrs. J. D. Adams—recording secretary; Mrs. John Hall—corresponding secretary, and Mrs. James Price—treasurer.

Mrs. Danburg gave an informative talk on the Woman's Clubs of her district. There are fifteen clubs with a total membership of 594. She described interesting projects undertaken by the clubs as related in the various club presidents' reports.

Mrs. Sherman announced that her club received a $25 donation from the federation as its share of funds allocated to clubs in the flood disaster.

The club voted to pay part of the expenses of a delegate to the state convention in Louisville, May 14-16. Refreshments were served to the members present and to the guests, Mrs. Danburg, and her mother, Mrs. Clevenger, of Pikeville.

DAN GOBLE, THE SHOESHINE BOY SPEAKS FOR HENRY STEPHENS

When I was a small boy with patched pants and callouses on my knees shining shoes on the streets of Prestonsburg at 5c a pair, at a time when my pal, Henry, would come along and give me a five dollar bill, not only once but many times and he would say, "Dan, get to school. This is more than you can make in a week shining shoes and you will need an education some day," and as a result of his insistence and encouragement I received all the education I have.

I also remember many other occasions, and one in particular, and just before Christmas when he gave me a $50.00 bill in order that my family could have a good Christmas, and my folks all being poor, I want to say that we appreciated it very much and neither have we forgotten his kindness and never will. I am writing this article of my own free will and accord and what he has done for me and my family is only a part of what he has done for many others. If the people of this county only knew Henry as he is and the big heart he has, there is not a man or woman living in Floyd county that could come even close to defeating him for any office he might seek. I will appreciate it if you will vote for him because he is not only qualified but honest to the core and no one can speak otherwise.

If the people of Floyd county will select candidates for the various offices to be filled of the type and character of Henry Stephens, their complaints about honesty, efficiency and qualification will be over. Now is the time to do your thinking, not after it is too late. Henry needs our help now. Let's show our appreciation by voting for him.

I am well acquainted with many people in Floyd county and know that they will remember me as poor, little Dan Goble, the shoeshine boy. Henry has a heart as big as a mountain and whose heart and kindness go out to the poor and needy, and his thoughtfulness of their welfare is unexcelled by anyone. What Floyd county, Kentucky and this nation need is honest, qualified people of the stature of Henry Stephens who has your welfare at heart at all times. You can't go wrong when you support and vote for Henry. Help him and he will return the favor at the first opportunity.

I now have a good job with Lawrence Keathley, operating his theatre here in Prestonsburg. Come and see us sometime, and I will meet you at the Strand and tell you more about my pal, Henry.

I am yours truly,

Dan Goble, the Shoeshine Boy, who made good and to Henry the credit belongs.

WHY CARTER WANTS TO BE CORONER

A man may run for office for many different reasons but James J. Carter seeks reelection because it is good business for his funeral home. He can exercise the duties of that office in many ways to influence a funeral to be directed by him. That's why so many funeral directors are Coroners over the state.

He is a member of the Kentucky Coroners Association that has been lobbying so successfully at Frankfort the last few years to have a salary attached to the office. The law, now on the books, and it was promoted by Carter's association, designates a minimum salary with the office but does not set a maximum salary. Carter is seeking reelection and if he is successful he may, if the Fiscal Court concurs, receive a salary larger than any other official.

This is part of the strategy of the Coroners Association that has set out to milk the taxpayers for an office that has little duties. But over and above these considerations if a man is a funeral director, as Carter is, he will get this salary and most of the time a funeral after an inquest. These facts show why Carter is making a tremendous effort to be reelected.

Daryus Montgomery will not accept any salary above the minimum and will give the public the opportunity to call the funeral home of their choice.

A LAST APPEAL

Dear Voters:

I take this means to make my last appeal to you as voters of the 96th Representative District.

My one reason for running for representative is the knowledge that Eastern Kentucky is in desperate need of someone to plead its case at Frankfort. I feel well qualified to be your voice because I am the best educated candidate who is seeking the office. I am the only candidate who has pulled himself up from poverty to both AB and MA Degrees, and while I would not boast I feel that that record of achievement might give you an idea of the worth of the person who made the accomplishment.

My opponents are campaigning against Charles Clark which means that they are convinced that I am the man to beat in the race. I might say this too. They find so little to say about my record that they are actually telling tales which sound fantastic and unbelievable. They hope to gain votes by telling people that Charles Clark is not the person he seems to be and has been for forty-four years. They also allow to slip the statement that Charles Clark is slated with this or that candidate and this or that person of importance is not backing Charles Clark.

I am the son of the late J. B. "John" Clark, who spent his life as an officer of the law here in our section. Two living uncles are Jim Clark who lives on Auxier Road and Alec Clark who lives on Brandy Keg. I have a great many first cousins in the lower end of the county and they are: Montain, Clyde, Arnold, Tom, Ed, Thurman Clark, sons of Beverly "Dick" Clark; Gertrude (Mrs. Tilden Collins), Mrs. Myrtle (Mrs. Earl Campbell) all children of Polly Clark Burga; Byron, Edna (Mrs. Adrian Collins) and Lyda Preston all children of Rosa Clark Nunnery; Ralph and Minnie (Mrs. Glenn Hyden) children of Alec Clark; Henry, Alec, Lila (Mrs. Hoot Shepherd), Julie (Mrs. Dick Branham), Dona (Mrs. Elza Calhoun), May (Mrs. Jobe Calhoun) all children of Minerva Clark Wallen of the Bull Creek section. I don't have space to list all my second cousins and other relatives here in the Times in spite of my desire.

I have nothing bad to say about either of my opponents. They have their reasons for running the same as I do. Fortunately, you have a wide choice of men to vote for in this race and that is good, for it is the Democratic way of doing things in America. Regardless of other things you would do well by your district to put the welfare of Eastern Kentucky first in deciding who shall get your vote for Representative. Ask yourself these things: Will this candidate favor labor or will he be the coal operators special friend at Frankfort? Will he be the voice of the liquor manufacturer or will he be more interested in the problems of Eastern Kentucky?

Your Best Bet for Representative

Vote for CHARLES CLARK... (X)

Wisdom, Woman, Works And Wonder

To All Readers of the Floyd County Times:

I am coming to you again with my Fair Word article.

I have been working hard and praying hard and long, not taking any part in the Primary Election campaign, only praying for God's will to be done. To me, a Primary Election is like bought love, sacred religion, Santa Claus at Christmas, a Fourth of July fireworks. Some blows over and fades away.

I want you all to know no man has ever dictated any of my writing nor hired me to write. It is all the love of God and country.

I am alone in my back bedroom, the world shut out and God shut in. A key is used to lock in or lock out. As I hold the individual key to myself and home I am writing on a book, Constitution of the United States of America.

I am using as my Guide a King James Version Bible I bought Jan. 1, 1950. I carried it to the Prestonsburg courthouse on first day of Circuit Court, 1950, and offered to give it to any preacher, deacon, high sheriff or judge that would show me the language of Christ where he ever was pleased with filth and uncleanness or ever rebuked a woman to please a man. So it is still my Bible. I will give you Bible reference on my subject. Read for yourself wisdom given by God. Ex. 31:3, 1st Kings 3:12, 4:29-30, 1st Chronicles 22:12, 2nd Chronicles 1:10. ONE QUESTION, MR. STUMBO

1. How much does Floyd county owe and to whom?

Just that one simple question, Judge. Name all persons to whom Floyd county is indebted and for what purposes. Don't leave any names out. You know, of course.

It is too late to reply in The Floyd County Times but if you will go on the radio and tell the truth we will pay for 15 minutes radio time. We have already deposited the money with Radio Station WPRT and it won't cost you a cent.

But it must be you who answers the questions, not some one else speaking for you. The voters and taxpayers are entitled to know and to hear the truth from you and you only.

The Voters and Taxpayers are waiting, Judge.

TROY B. STURGILL FOR SHERIFF

My friends, the election is now upon us. The campaign is drawing to a close, and you will soon cast your vote for the people you want to serve you for the next four years.

During this campaign, I have told the people the importance of the Sheriff's office and how I intend to use my EXPERIENCE to serve the people in the best possible manner. I have the EXPERIENCE necessary to make a good Sheriff and I intend to give Floyd county my full efforts in the next four years to make a good Sheriff.

Your Sheriff's office carries with it great responsibility. As I have said before, it vitally affects you, your family and your property. To do this job above all else requires EXPERIENCE, UNDERSTANDING and ABILITY. My record of service proves that I can do the job and I promise you I will do the job.

I am running for this office myself. I shall accept the full responsibility for my administration. No one man, or group of men are running me. It would be a terrible thing indeed, to elect a man, Sheriff who would be controlled by somebody else, and have the office run by somebody else. This is unfair to the people and deception in the highest form. I promise you that I will be your Sheriff and will give the people of Floyd county the best administration it has ever had.

I have given the people my platform and what I intend to do. I have done this because the people deserve to know what a man stands for, and what he is going to do when he gets in office. So far as I know, no other candidate has done this. I pledge to you I shall carry out my platform to the letter.

My friends, I am going to win this race. The people all over the county have accepted my record and my platform. It is heartwarming indeed, that so many of my friends are working so hard for me in this campaign. I am thankful they have shown such confidence in me.

Above all else, Dorothy and I, and the children, appreciate this confidence. I assure you this confidence will be upheld.

I expect this will be my last campaign and I am asking your support upon my record of service. I want to put my EXPERIENCE and ABILITY to work and help make the future of Floyd county a better and safer place to live and raise our children.

Your Friend,

TROY B. STURGILL

MAYTOWN

The May meeting of the Maytown Methodist W. S. C. S. was held in the church basement Tuesday evening. Mesdames Thomas Patrick and Lucy Patton were hostesses. Mrs. Jones Tallent led the program, "We Love—Then We Give." This was followed by the receiving of pledge cards for the coming year. Others taking part in the program were Mrs. Baisden Osborne, Mrs. George Patton and Miss Linda Maggard.

The business meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Howard Ramey. She called for the officers' and committee reports which were given and discussed. The roll was called, showing 21 members present with 13 active and three inactive members absent.

Mrs. Thomas Patrick, secretary of Spiritual Life, urged all members to get and use the prayer calendar, and asked each member to continue praying at 8 a.m. each day. The Methodist Men's dinner, which will be held here June 7, was discussed and committees appointed.

Mrs. H. M. Wiley put her anniversary and birthday money in the bank.

The Nominating committee was called on for its nominations of officers for the coming year. The nominations were made and voted on in a group. The following officers will take office next month: President—Mrs. George Patton; vice-President—Mrs. Baisden Osborne; recording secretary—Mrs. John Ison; Treasurer—Mrs. Henry L. May; secretary of Promotion—Mrs. Howard Ramey; secretary of Spiritual Life—Mrs. Thomas Patrick; Secretary of Youth—Mrs. Charles Patton; Secretary of Literature and Publications—Mrs. Elizabeth Allen; secretary of Children's Work—Mrs. James Allen; secretary of Missionary Education and Service—Mrs. Jones Tallent; secretary of Status of Women—Mrs. L. E. Roberts; secretary of Supply—Mrs. Edward Robinson; secretary of Student Work—Mrs. Thurmal Click.

Mesdames Henry L. May and Arnold Cassidy will be hostesses for the June meeting and Mesdames Raymond Hopson and H. M. Wiley, program leaders. Following the business meeting a short social period was enjoyed by members and two guests, Mrs. Hugh Roland and Aunt Vic May.

MRS. REED HOSTESS

The June meeting of the Maytown Woman's Club was held at the home of Mrs. David Reed, Thursday evening. The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Jones Tallent. Mesdames Paul Borders and George Patton gave an interesting summary of the Club's work in the six years of its organization. Mrs. Reed showed several beautiful slides which have been made at some of the Club's functions. Following the business meeting and the program, refreshments were served to Mesdames Paul Borders, Roland Burchett, Ed Stewart, Frank Stewart, Miles Gibson, James Allen, George Patton, Edward Robinson, Charles Patton, John Ison, Theodore Gibson, and Jones Tallent.

Mr. and Mrs. William Everett are the parents of a daughter, born May 15 at the McDowell hospital. The babe has been named Deborah Renee.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Frasure, of Morehead, were visiting their parents over the weekend.

Vacation Bible School will be held at the Maytown Methodist Church from June 3 to June 14. All from the ages of 4 to 15 are urged to attend.

Sunday School attendance Sunday was 154.

WAF Procurement Officer To Be Here on May 29

Local women interested in a job which offers good pay and opportunities for travel and meeting new people will have a chance to talk with Lt. Mary A. Delsman of the 3562nd US Air Force Recruiting Group, Harrisburg, Pa., who will be visiting Prestonsburg next Wednesday.

Delsman said she will be happy to discuss during her visit here the opportunities for direct appointment as commissioned officers in the Air Force with young women who meet the basic eligibility requirements. Under the new commissioning program recently announced by the Air Force a limited number of direct appointments are available for single women college graduates between 21 and 34 years of age (up to 40 years in exceptional cases).

Women appointed under this program would be commissioned as second or first lieutenants and would attend a three-month officers basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas, before being assigned to their duty bases. At their duty bases they would be engaged in executive type work in accordance with their aptitudes, interests, and the needs of the Air Force.

FOOD NOTES

By DIXIE TRAPP

Are you looking for those "little-fuss, little-bother" foods? One that certainly fits into this class is the sausage meats family. They can be served hot or cold, inside or outside, early or late and they are budget wise, too.

A sausage is a minced meat or meats blended with various seasonings or spices. It is often stuffed into a casing or container.

The hundreds of different sausages are sold in bulk, in packages, in casings and in skinless links and usually made solely of pork. 2—Smoked and cooked sausage is ready to eat. These are made of all beef, all pork or combinations of beef and pork. 3—Semi-dry and dry sausages are highly seasoned and air dried. Those often bought in this class are hard salami and pepperoni. 4—Loaves are ready-to-eat luncheon meats of beef, lamb, pork and veal in varying proportions. Popular loaves are head cheese, deviled ham, ham loaf, pickle pimento loaf.

Three sound guides to sausage quality are: (1) a Federal Inspection Stamp; (2) the label, gives list of ingredients in order of predominance and weight; and (3) brand name, manufacturers try to maintain consistent quality. Most good quality sausage contains little spice. The exceptions are dry and semi-dry sausages.

You can figure on five servings per pound of meat loaf or soft sausages. Dry and semi-dry give you about eight servings per pound.

Fresh sausage should be used within three days. Smoked and cooked may be stored up to a week. Dry and semi-dry will keep several weeks. Store all sausages in the refrigerator.

You can count on sausages at any time—breakfast, dinner or supper, barbecues or picnics. Whenever you want a quick easy-to-serve meat, sausages are Johnny-on-the-spot.

Smith, whose job is scheduling aircraft flights, said he and Mrs. Smith expected only one baby—weeks later.

CORDELL MARTIN ASKS SUPPORT for DURAN MOORE For COUNTY CLERK

TO MY RELATIVES AND FRIENDS OF FLOYD COUNTY:

As the day of election draws near, I take this opportunity to solicit the support of my relatives and friends for DURAN MOORE for COUNTY COURT CLERK.

As many of you know, I married his sister, Mattie, and of course as all of you who know me best, know I am always interested in the advancement of my relatives and friends, as well as the advancement of our people of Eastern Kentucky.

By way of introduction to some of my relatives who may not know me, I am the son of Bob Martin, and Mary Hall Martin. My grandparents were Alamander (Squint) Martin and Evelyn Hall Martin, of Drift, Ky., on my mother's side, and Billie Hall and Ritter Boleyn Hall, of Hall, Ky., on my mother's side, and I have been always proud of my heritage, because I have felt that they were people who believed in the better things of life, who believed that any person with a clean heart and sublime faith in God could achieve things in this world which would be worthwhile to his county and community.

In asking you to support DURAN MOORE FOR COUNTY COURT COURT CLERK, I am not appealing necessarily for you to vote for him strictly on a kinship basis, because that would be selfish on my part, but I ask for your support for him on the record that he has made as your Clerk. DuRan has been kind, efficient with his work, considerate of others, helpful to all classes of people, whether with money or without money, honest with all with whom he has dealt, efficient in the preservation of all your records in the County Court Clerk's Office, even to the extent of carrying out and preserving the records in the Clerk's office during the flood, and wading the water to his neck to get these records in a safe place so that they may be preserved.

Of course, DuRan would not ask you in this case to give him credit for going beyond the call of his official duty, and neither would he ask you to elect him as your County Court Clerk upon his war record in the jungles of the South Pacific, on Okinawa, on the Philippines, the Solomon Islands, during his 34 months of service in World War II, but we, as citizens and kinsmen, must be fair, and we must elect him upon the Record he has made as COUNTY COURT CLERK OF FLOYD COUNTY, which I feel has been one of service to the fine citizenry of Floyd county.

One of his opponents says, "IF you want a Change, elect him". As he has made no indication of what kind of Change he would make in the management of the Clerk's Office, or what the voters could expect of his CHANGE, I feel sure that the people would be better off with the type service they are getting. He further stated that some of the candidates for Clerk had been sued, but he did not add that the Court of Appeals of Kentucky had dismissed these cases.

As one final word and my last advice to you as voters, I want to conclude with what one of my cousins recently told me about supporting DuRan. She said, "We have got it good enough in the County Court Clerk's Office, and I for one want to leave Good Enough Alone."

It is my sincere advice to you as your relative and friend, and as a professional man, a lawyer, to leave GOOD ENOUGH ALONE, to keep DURAN MOORE AS YOUR COUNTY COURT CLERK OF FLOYD COUNTY, to work for him, to support him, to VOTE FOR HIM as your next County Court Clerk—and to reward him for his efficiency, his honesty, his integrity, and his ability to get your job done as County Court Clerk.

Thanks again for all these favors as your KINSMAN, YOUR FRIEND, AND ONE WHO IS EXTREMELY INTERESTED IN YOU AND YOUR WELFARE.

Yours,

CORDELL MARTIN

VOTE FOR A QUALIFIED AND EXPERIENCED CORONER

JAMES J. CARTER

In my office at the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home hangs my diploma from the Cincinnati College of Embalming and my funeral directors and embalmers licenses, which were issued to me upon completion and passing of a State Board examination. These licenses and diploma are visual evidence of part of my qualifications. Factual evidence of the efficiency in which I have conducted the office may be obtained by checking my record as your Coroner. Ask anyone who has witnessed an inquest or an investigation I have conducted about my thoroughness. It is only natural and logical to assume that a person of my background and training in mortuary science would be better qualified to serve you as coroner than one not so trained or experienced.

I am a member of the following organizations: The Coroners Association of Kentucky, the Kentucky Sheriffs Association, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Legion, the 40 & 8, the Fraternal Order of Eagles, the Kentucky Peace Officers Association, the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, the Kiwanis Club, Eastern Kentucky Funeral Directors Association, Kentucky Funeral Directors Association, National Funeral Directors Association, and the Associated Funeral Directors Service. I also hold the Commission of Colonel on the staff of the Governor of Kentucky in the Honorable Order of Kentucky Colonels.

Many of you, my friends, have given me encouragement beyond expression, and have assured me of an overwhelming victory in my race for Coroner. I appreciate your coming in to see me at my office, tho I have been out campaigning when many of you have been in; I am grateful for your calling me by telephone inquiring if there is anything I would like for you to do. The answer is—YES—, I would appreciate your continued support now and right down to the time the polls close.

TRIBUTE TO THE GRIGSBYS

It is good to learn that a Floyd county family has been named the Kentucky Family of 1957. It is doubtful that a family surpassing the Grigsbys of Martin can be chosen anywhere. All members of the family are faithful in church work. They are civic-minded, community-minded, and most of all, family-minded. They have set a splendid example for fellow citizens in community spirit.

Mr. Grigsby served as Mayor of Martin and takes an active part in local affairs. During World War II he was in service for his country, while his wife handled their businesses, which was not easy with small children. The Grigsbys are still a young couple. Not many their age can boast of a family of eight fine children.

While the Grigsbys both have done much for Martin and Floyd county, their children have always come first. More than once Mr. and Mrs. Grigsby have given up some outside activities to spend more time with their youngsters, when the need was indicated. They taught their children to say grace at the table.

Several years ago when David Lee, the third son, had the horrible car wreck and was unconscious and at death's door for days, while officers vainly tried to locate his parents who were on vacation with the little ones, Pete, Jr. and Charles, the two oldest boys, knelt at his bedside in St. Mary's hospital, Huntington, praying that he might live. The esteem in which the Grigsbys are held in Martin was shown at that time. Almost every church in the town held special prayer for David's recovery on Sunday morning after the accident.

One will have to look far before finding a group of children more talented than the Grigsby brood. Each has a specialty and some of them excel in two fields. For example, Jerry is not only tops in music but an excellent artist, too. Mrs. Grigsby plays and sings, having studied at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

There is nothing nicer about Marena and Pete, Sr. than the fact that they do not care who knows they started business on a very small scale and have worked hard to succeed. They taught their children to be democratic. Their boys and girls have won many honors, but there is nothing snobbish about them. When Janet Frazier selected Pete, Jr. to play the role of the Christ in the Mountain Passion Pageant, scores remarked that no one could have chosen a better young man, for Pete had no bad habits. Pete, Sr. set that example for his sons.

Now and then some individual has remarked that the Grigsbys have everything, thinking in terms of material prosperity. But Pete and Marena have it perhaps because of a formula that will prove workable for others. They believe in hard work. They have faith. They want the best not only for themselves but they truly want it for others. They rejoice when others make good or are successful or victorious. Possible that is one reason they themselves have been blessed. They have a great, genuine interest in others, particularly those who are less fortunate. Every person in Floyd county should earnestly hope that our family will win in Miami. They stand an excellent chance.

A Friend.

Candidates Are Financing Removal of Own Placards, Beaver Kiwanians Says

An additional three candidates, bringing the total to 23 at present, have made contributions to the Kiwanis clubs of the country to remove unsightly campaign placards from public places after the primary, according to Alvin Reed, of Drift.

Names of the three candidates are Ann B. Hall, of Wheelwright, candidate from the Legislature from District No. 97, Hollie Conley, campaigning for Commonwealth's Attorney, and DuRan Moore, candidate for County Court Clerk.

Reed, in releasing the names of candidates who are contributing to the Boy Scouts to remove the signs, urges anew the remaining candidates to contribute to the work.

"The signs, particularly after an extended period of weathering, clutter up our country-side and towns, making them unattractive to visitors and residents alike. We feel it would be a civic service to remove them," he said.

Contributing to the fund for removal, besides Hollie Conley and Moore, are J. Crit Wells, Edward P. Hill, Claude P. Stephens, Robert Wellman, Hershel Warrens, Allen Stone, Guy Horn, Jim Hale, Oak Mullins, Roy Cook, Clive Akers, James Carter, Hansford Honeycutt, R. F. Moscrip, Albert Cole, Roy Wright, Charles Compton and Lewis Wilcox, Denzil Halbert, Has Stone.

The Kiwanis clubs, besides the Wheelwright group, are the Martin and Prestonsburg clubs.

Auxier Students Gets Reader's Digest Award

Marcia Ann Copley, valedictorian of the graduating class at Auxier high school, has been given the annual award of the Reader's Digest for students who by their successful school work give promise of attaining leadership in the community, it was announced this week by Calvin K. Gray, senior sponsor.

Miss Copley will receive an honorary subscription to the Reader's Digest for one year and an engraved certificate from the Editors, "in recognition of past accomplishment and in anticipation of unusual achievement to come."

Miss Copley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Copley, of Auxier, plans to enter college this fall to become a teacher. She had a standing of 2.80 out of possible 3.00.

James Wesley Howard Makes Statement

TO THE VOTERS OF MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT No. 1:

I have waged an honest and upright campaign. I have tried to see as many voters as possible. To those of you I have seen, I take this means to thank you for your kind and courteous treatment and am willing to rest my case with you.

To those of you I have not been able to see personally, I would like to take this means to tell you who I am.

I am the son of James Harvey and Nell Burchett Howard, of Prestonsburg. My grandparents were John Wess Burchett and Lidia Sherman Burchett of Cow Creek, and James and Jane Howard of Johns Creek. My home is in Prestonsburg. My schooling started in Cow Creek. My high school training came from Caney Creek Community Center and Prestonsburg High School. After graduation I attended Berea College.

I am married and have two sons and two daughters, ages 5 to 15. I and my family are members of the First Presbyterian Church of Prestonsburg.

For the past seven years I have been engaged as a foreman in the construction business. I have been affiliated with the H. B. Ranier Construction Company since its beginning and am proud to have been a part of one of our home industries that has had such outstanding growth and progress. I feel that this experience with road-building and all kinds of heavy equipment makes me exceptionally well qualified for the office I seek.

I would further like to say to you that it is my earnest desire to, serve my District and my County, for it is my firm belief that in order to serve God one must serve his fellowman.

Sincerely,

Although it has been a few weeks since our flood, I'd still like to name a few of the people who did so much to help us on Old Postoffice street. During the flood we stayed in the C. & O. bunk house here, the men cooking their own food for us. Later people brought us food from Buck's Branch, as they could get to us. I can't begin to mention the ones who brought us food, but the railroad men who were so kind, I want to mention. The following men stayed up day and night to help us, even giving up their bunks for us: Burt Allen, C. L. Stapleton, Charles McDavid, Steve Stout, Buddy Castle, Henry Lockwood, G. V. Boyd, G. O. TIMES WANT ADS REALLY GET RESULTS!

To the relatives and friends of the late Andy (A. J.) and Will Thornsberry, in Floyd County:

DON'T LET BANNER MEADE DECEIVE YOU

We have in our possession a photostatic copy of the Executive Order by the Governor, dated March 7, 1933, granting a pardon to the murderer of Andy and Will. It states in this Executive Order that "A. B. (BANNER) MEADE, COUNTY COURT CLERK OF FLOYD COUNTY" recommended the pardon.

Will and Andy left, in addition to their widows, SIXTEEN ORPHANED CHILDREN.

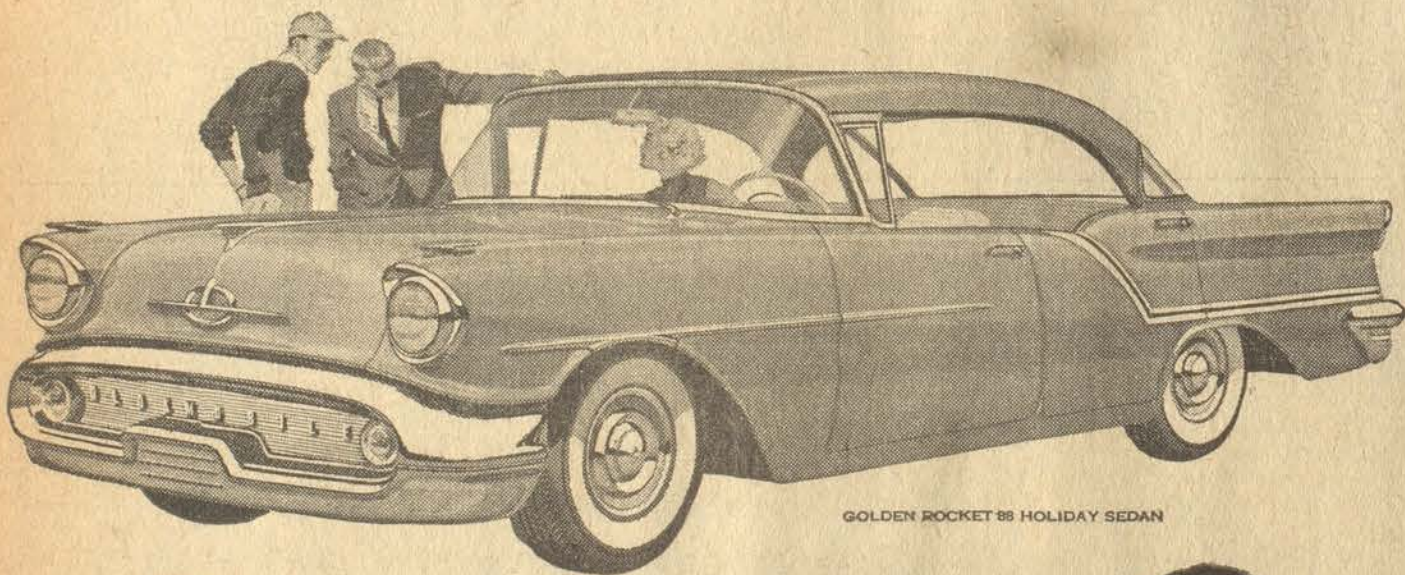

MAKE BANNER MEADE REMEMBER THIS WHEN YOU VOTE IN THE COUNTY COURT CLERK'S RACE, THIS MAY 28th!

GOLDEN ROCKET 88 HOLIDAY SEDAN

"I like those extras you get in an Olds!"

HE: You mean the advanced styling, I suppose. The Accent Stripe and . . .

SHE: Oh, there's more to it than that. For example, the "park" position on the Hydra-Matic Drive makes it safer and easier to start, even on hills.

HE: Well, Olds has a reputation for attention to details. That's one reason the value lasts.

SHE: You can tell that someone took a lot of patience in planning and building it right. Even the two ash trays are lighted.

HE: I'll bet the Oldsmobile engineers would love that, but I wonder how they'd feel about you not mentioning the Rocket Engine? Now there's a power plant. There's still nothing quite like a Rocket!

SHE: That's for me too, but I look for lots of other things—like upholstery . . . and that glove box. It's big enough for an umbrella. I wish . . .

HE: Tell you what. Let's stop wishing. Let's go see our Olds dealer . . . right now!

*Jetaway Hydra-Matic Drive standard on Starfire 98 Series; optional at extra cost on other models.

WE ARE YOUNG VOTERS

WE SUPPORT BILL COOLEY FOR COUNTY JUDGE

We are the young voters who will cast our votes this Primary for the first time. Like the older voters we are weighing issues and personalities. We are using our judgment to vote in our best interest.

Floyd county would be a better place in which to live if we had efficient, honest, four-square men in public office. Too many of the intelligent and skilled young men and women have been forced to leave here to live because of the lack of employment. Industry does not come to a county that is without official credit, with a deficiency in roads and where politics reign above everything else.

Twelve thousand young people have left this county for northern cities in the last few years. They, like us, are looking forward to the future and opportunity. They could not find it here for there is unemployment, politics and ac outny on the edge of bankruptcy.

A great deal, perhaps the major part of our shortcomings are chargeable to the county judge. He has had no vision; has made no progress of any kind to lift this county out of the mud. The credit of this county is at such a low ebb that outside companies ship supplies to the county C.O.D. This shameful condition exists nowhere else in the State of Kentucky.

We are young and want to live here and enjoy life. We will need jobs in the near future and many of us need them right now. A great step forward would be a business-like administration of our affairs by an honest, able County Judge.

We believe Bill Cooley will bring the credit of the county back; that he will restore honest government to the County Judge's Office. We urge you to support Bill Cooley as we are doing.
