This Town— That World

I am now in my second non-smoking week, and to all and sundry may I say that I appreciate your sympathy...

THIS ISN'T FOR DEWEY

The Department of Conservation and the Division of Parks have joined in preparing a questionnaire for guests at Kentucky state parks...

It's a grand idea. We're for it. But, thinking of Dewey Lake State Park, some of the questions seem just a bit ridiculous.

For instance:

Visitors are asked to answer the question, "Has the lodging been satisfactory?" (Let me spend a night in a pup-tent at Dewey and what an answer I could write!)

DATES TO REMEMBER

Simply because we spent so much time trying to find out for ourselves and a friend, we give this information here:

The Kentucky State Fair will begin Sept. 6 and run through Sept. 15.

A GREAT JOB

While out breaking one of my resolutions never to swing another golf club again, and you can depend on that, I did a bit of thinking, the other afternoon, as

FLOYD NATIVE DENIES GUILT

Former Hazel White Tells FBI She Had No Part in Bank Shortage

A Logan county bank teller has denied any connection with a shortage discovered in her accounts at the Bank of Man (W. Va.)...

Mrs. Hazel Browning was arraigned before the U. S. commissioner in Los Angeles, Calif., and was released under $2,500 bond.

(Mrs. Browning is the former Hazel White, and is a native of Betsy Layne.)

E. H. Winterrowd, agent in charge of the Pittsburgh FBI office, said the 30-year-old mother of two children denied being responsible for any of the $32,274 shortage discovered by audits at the Bank of Man.

COLUMBIA GAS TELLS PLANS FOR PLANTS

To Spend $13 Million On Two Plants Similar To Maytown Operation

The Columbia Gas System, of which the United Fuel Gas Company operating in this section is a part, announced Tuesday that it will spend $13,000,000 on two plants to develop a major source of raw materials for the growing petro-chemical industry.

Two hydrogen processing plants—one in Greenup county, the second just over the state line at Kenova, W. Va.—will be built.

Functions of one or both of these plants will be similar to those of the giant Kentucky Hydrocarbon Company plant which began production recently at Maytown, this county.

What direct effect the operation of these new plants will have on United Fuel's gas production in the Big Sandy valley and other parts of Eastern Kentucky is not known here at this time.

Columbis plans to extract heavier hydrocarbons that are present in the natural gas it now pipes to consumers in the East, and break them up into the valuable raw materials being sought by the plastics industry, for example.

A $5,000,000 hydrocarbon fractionating plant, with underground cavern storage, will be constructed on a 160-acre site on the Ohio River at Sloom, Ky., in Greenup county.

Columbia also has under option

JOB SHAKE-UP STARTS HERE

Floyd Highway Workers Lose Posts, Is Report; Chandler Forces Split

The state job shake-up predicted several weeks ago when Governor Chandler's plans to tour Europe were first announced apparently became reality in this county last week.

No less than 12 highway department employes working in this county were dismissed, and it was believed others might be destined for the block.

The firing of the 12 came without warning, it was said. Although an unofficial list of those dismissed was widely known and discussed here, few knew who would take their places on the state payroll.

One report said some of the new men being hired were original Bert Combs adherents in the bitter gubernatorial primary of 1955. At any rate, the firings were seen as a move to eliminate some of the cross-currents in the Chandler forces of this county and to solidify the position of friends of Lieut.-Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield, Chandler's obvious choice to succeed him as Governor.

Again, others saw the dismissals as purely local and growing out of a split in the Chandler forces which developed during the May primary fight in this county.

Listed as having lost their jobs are S. R. (Buddy) Hatcher, Bud Ousley, Les Wallen, Jim Harmon, Jr., Kelly Layne, Johnny Weddington, Raymond Calhoun, Dennis Conn, Howard Keathley, Allen Bentley, L. C. Brown, Lee Alley.

AREA RESIDENTS OKEH PLANNING COMMISSION

A regional planning commission to work out a solution to most of Eastern Kentucky's ills was approved last Wednesday at a meeting in Catlettsburg of 100 or more representatives of counties of this area.

Floyd county was represented at the meeting by H. D. Fitzpatrick and Homer Wright, Jr., both of Prestonsburg.

Former Governor Simeon Willis conducted the public hearing in the Boyd county courthouse.

At the outset, former Governor Willis, now a practicing attorney at Ashland, explained the purpose of the hearing and the proposed commission.

FLOYD SHARES IN ASC FUND

Repairs of Farm Lands Planned; 17 Counties To Share in $100,000

The State Agricultural Stabilization committee has set aside $100,000 to be used for repair of flood-damaged farm land in the 17 counties affected by the January flood, it was said this week by Robert M. Jones, county agent.

"Our soils were extensively damaged by the flood although this isn't showing up now because weeds and crops cover the land," Jones pointed out. "Our major damages were cave-ins of river banks, sand and silt deposits, gullying, and removal of top soils," he continued.

J. L. Lafferty, chairman of the local ASC, urged farmers this week to consult with the office manager, Elder Goble, on the practices that the government will pay for under the program. "If given enough time nature would probably heal most of the damage but most of us don't have time to wait on that," Lafferty said.

There are three practices covered under the program, a check reveals. One is very much similar to an existing A. S. C. practice. It is to be used on land where damage occurred to existing vegetative cover, or where a high degree of erosion or silt deposits were made. The A.S.C. will cover approximately 80% of the total cost of the seeding. This will include land preparation such as removing sand, filling gulleys, smoothing banks and removing brush and debris, also seedbed preparation, liming, fertilizer and seed.

The second practice will cover land on which the cover has been damaged but does not need a complete reseeding. This could be on land when most of the stand of grass or legume have been destroyed, or where possibly only the legumes were killed out. The cost sharing is 50% on this practice and

COMMUNITIES ARE ON TRIAL

As Chest X-Ray Response In Each Will Determine If Future Visits Made

When the mobile chest X-ray unit of the State Health Department comes here Aug. 13 for a 10-day stay in the county, it will visit four communities on an experimental basis, and if these four towns do not produce a satisfactory response they will not be included in future itineraries.

This information was relayed last week by J. C. McGuire, acting director, Division of Tuberculosis Control, to M. V. Clark, administrator, Floyd County Health Department.

The four towns to be visited this year by the mobile unit on an experimental basis are McDowell, Harold, Wayland and Martin. Unless participation of each of these places reaches a total of 300 persons or more, with three-fourths of these adults, the X-ray unit will not visit them in the future, Dr. McGuire said.

The itinerary set for the mobile unit follows, with the hours of operation to be from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., each day:

Courthouse, Prestonsburg, Aug. 13-14; Martin school grounds, Aug. 15; Wayland school grounds, Aug. 16; Wheelwright swimming pool, Aug. 20-21; McDowell school grounds, Aug. 22; Harold school, Aug. 23.

Mrs. Collins looks out from her lookout tower aerie toward the forested hills it's her job to help protect from fire.

MRS. COLLINS STATE'S ONLY LADY FORESTER

By Quentin Allen

The first lady of forest-watching—in fact, the only lady in Kentucky to be a full-fledged forest watcher—is Mrs. Mont Collins, of Sugar Loaf, near here.

Mrs. Collins has been watching over the forests of this section of Floyd county for the last four years, six months a year. She takes to her tower atop the highest mountain hereabout, 5,511 ft., there every day through the months of March, April, May, October, November and December.

Her work as a firetower keeper began when she consented to fill in for her husband who in 1952 took two weeks on another mission included in the state conservation program. She says the two weeks aren't up yet, she doesn't know when they will end, but she hopes to come, and she's glad.

She has a very good reason for not wanting hubby to return to his original job—she enjoys the work herself.

Mrs. Collins, now 36 and the mother of two, starts a day during the fire season by taking her children to her neighbor's home nearby, and then begins a 30-minute journey afoot which takes her over two hills and three miles. The tower from which she watches is perched atop Signal Knob, said to be the highest spot in Floyd county. It is between Cow Creek and the Sowders Creek arm of Dewey Lake. From this spot the woman can look over a leafy panorama that extends into Martin county in one direction, to Pike in another, over

COUNTY LOSES PART IN FUND

Livestock Killed by Dogs Not Covered By Program; Court Re-Employs Cook

The only Big Sandy county among the 67 counties of the state participating in the state livestock fund is Boyd.

Floyd county, surprisingly enough to officials, is not a participant. Thus livestock lost to inroads by dogs in this county is not covered by the state program.

The livestock fund became more important to this county when sheep-growing increased, and for a time the county was a participant. Why the county lost this favored status is not clear. Sheep-growers are now protected only by insurance.

Floyd county has had a dog warden since a few months after the passage of the present dog law. The warden, Roy Cook, of Drift, was recently re-employed, and a new supply of dog license tags arrived here a few days ago.

On the sale of these licenses depend the funds for financing payment of claims for losses and for enforcement of the dog law. A license for a dog cost $1.50. Of this amount the dog warden is permitted to keep 25 cents, and the remainder is to be paid to the Department of Agriculture. Seventy-five cents of this remaining $1.25 is used for the payment of livestock losses caused by dogs, and 50 cents is returned to the county to carry on enforcement work.

Martin Is Elected To 40 et 8 Office

Gomer Martin, Jr., member of the Wayland Voiture No. 1359, was elected Grande Chef de Gare of the 40 & 8, Grande Voiture of Kentucky, at the recent American Legion Convention in Ashland.

Mr. Martin has served as Chef de Gare of the Wayland Voiture for two years and has held the following offices in the Grande Voiture of Kentucky: Grande Lampiste, Sous Grande Chef de Train East, and Grande Chef de Train East.

He is also a charter member of John B. Reynolds American Legion Post No. 283, Martin, past vice-commander and commander of the 10th district, and immediate past department vice-commander of the American Legion of Kentucky.

JUDGE NAMES 2nd DEPUTY

To County Police Force After Johnson Dismissed; Two Taken In Store Break

A second former Floyd deputy sheriff has been named by County Judge Henry Stumbo to the county police force.

Willie Johnson, veteran Left Beaver Creek officer, is the second former deputy to be named county policeman. The other is Troy Mullins.

The county policemen serve at no expense to the county, it was explained. Their pay is dependent on fees.

First of the cases investigated by Johnson as new county policeman was the recent looting of the Jack's Creek store operated by John and Hattie Mae Burke. Johnson said in an affidavit filed at the County Judge's office here that Tracy Johnson and Frank Lee Adkins had admitted the burglary and that they had turned over to him a part of the missing items of merchandise.

Adkins and Johnson were arrested Saturday. They waived examining trial and are being held in jail in default of $1,000 bond each.

The court of inquiry begun last Wednesday morning into the circumstances surrounding the death of Virgil Collins, whose body was found in Beaver Creek above Wayland, was not resumed Saturday as scheduled. The inquiry stopped when relatives failed to appear here Saturday.

Mrs. Jo Jeanette Dixon, 29, Wayland Resident, Succumbs in Huntington

Mrs. Jo Jeanette Dixon Sherman, 29, wife of Clay Dean Sherman, of Wayland, died last Thursday at St. Mary's hospital in Huntington after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage.

She is survived by her father, Frank Dixon, her husband, one son, Sewell, all of Wayland; two brothers, Mervil, of Wayland, and Thomas Dixon, Middletown, O.; and two sisters, Mrs. Billie Landers, Lexington, and Mrs. Bobby Gene Slone, Wayland.

Funeral services were held at the Wayland Methodist Church, the Rev. Paul Dorsey officiating. Burial was made in the Hager Hill cemetery.

Radio Station Permit Granted Collins by FCC; To Be 2nd Station Here

Gordon Collins, of Lackey, has been granted a permit to construct a 5,000-watt, daytime-only radio station here, the Federal Communications Commissions announced last week.

Construction work, scheduled to begin immediately on the station and studio facilities, is expected to be completed in two months. The station will be located on the Porter farm, near the Cliff bridge.

Rex Osborne will be manager of the new station, which will operate on 1310 kilocycles.

RABID FOXES IMPERIL DEER

Is Fear Expressed Here As Mad Animals Reported In Upper Reservoir Area

If mad foxes are as numerous in the Dewey Lake area as reported, the deer herd there may be severely threatened.

Howard Stephens, district biologist, said Tuesday he proposes to make a survey of the situation there this week. His decision to make the study followed reports of mad foxes attacking persons in the Copperas Creek and Buffalo Creek sections of the reservoir.

The danger to fawns is greater than to adult deer, it was pointed out, but if the heavy fox population is as badly rabies-infected as indicated, all deer as well as other animals in the area may become infected, it was pointed out.

In the Buffalo Creek area recently Mrs. Elmer Music, of the Auxier Road, was attacked by a rabid fox while she was fishing from the bank. As she sought to fend off the

Howard Buys Building In West Prestonsburg Owned by Dr. Archer

Ray Howard, Prestonsburg furniture dealer, this week purchased from Dr. George P. Archer and Dr. John G. Archer the old Prestonsburg hospital building in West Prestonsburg.

Until recently the building had been used as the Cumberland Field Station center while a study of intestinal parasites was made in this region by the U. S. Public Health Service.

Mr. Howard said one of the uses to which the building will be put will be for display of home furnishings, with individual rooms completely outfitted.

Howard recently opened his second furniture store here. First, he moved his Third street store to the Gearheart building on the same street which he had purchased.

SHERIFF HITS REED JAILING BY CO. POLICE

Threatens To Quit Raids If Conditions Unchanged; Deputy Jailed Minor, Claim

Floyd county deputy sheriffs confiscated intoxicants from three to four places raided and they jailed two men for alleged possession of alcoholic beverages last Friday and Saturday.

"But," said Sheriff Gorman Collins, Tuesday afternoon, "unless there's a change made, these raids may be the last we will make."

Sheriff Collins was provoked to make this statement by the arrest late Monday afternoon at Hueysville of Deputy Sheriff A. J. Reed, one of the most active members of the Sheriff's force.

Reed was arrested by County Policeman Troy Mullins, his brother, Oak, and two sons of Troy Mullins. He was accused in a warrant sworn out by Mrs. Harold DeRossett, of Garrett, of false imprisonment.

County Policeman Mullins described the arrest of the deputy sheriff as a routine arrest on a warrant sworn out before Magistrate John May. He said Reed and Deputy Sheriff Joe Wheeler Lewis were accused by Mrs. DeRossett of false imprisonment of her son, who is a minor.

PUBLICATION IS POSTPONED

Several Request Clerk To Remove Their Names From Petition for Vote

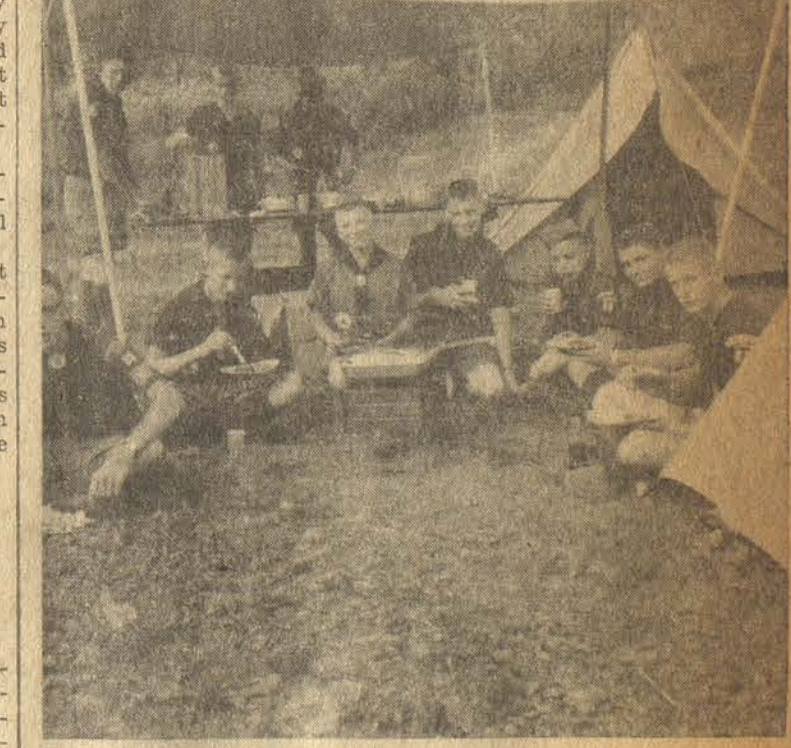

Publication of the petition and the names of those who signed the petition for a local option election here Sept. 21 has been delayed till next week, the Prestonsburg Dry League announced Wednesday.

The decision to postpone publication till next week was made after several persons had signed statements saying they were misinformed or misled when their signatures on the petition were solicited. Others flatly said they did not sign the petition.

Although the County Clerk is not authorized to remove any person's name from the petition, it was pointed out that signators may make written requests at the Clerk's office asking that their names be removed, and that in such case their names will not be published. The final decision on the legality of removing signatures from the petition itself will probably be made by County Judge Henry Stumbo.

Fiscal Court Voids Order Authorizing Payment Of Old County Claims

The Floyd fiscal court of last week voided its order of July 11 in which it voted to pay old claims against the county which had been secured by notes signed by the magistrates.

This was made necessary when it was discovered that such payment of old claims—about $12,000 worth—would not leave the county enough funds to pay those debts incurred in clean-up and sanitation work following the January flood. And payment of these debts were necessary in order for the county to qualify for Civil Defense funds to reimburse it for such work.

Upshot of the situation was, only about $8,000 was left for old debts. How much, if any, those creditors who do not hold notes signed by magistrates will get is not known.

Another fiscal court order was rescinded at last week's meeting. This was the order voted June 6 fixing official salaries and the amount to be paid clerical help. The court was told it had no right to reduce clerical pay after the April meeting of the court, and that an order attempting to cut such pay might be attacked in the courts.

animal with her fishing-rod, the hook caught in the fox's mouth. Mad surges of the fox bent the rod double, but Mrs. Music contrived to evade the animal till her husband arrived and killed it with a club. Other reports of attacks have been received here.

Later in the day, Mr. Stephens told The Times the Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources has issued a special regulation to meet the rabid fox situation in Pike and Letcher counties and will attempt to add Floyd county to the same order. This regulation sets an open season on foxes for a period of 60 days.

Mrs. Browning, a resident of Amherstdale, W. Va., failed to return to her job following a brief vacation scheduled to end last June 26. She had been employed at the bank since it opened five years ago in the little mining town (pop. 1,600).

An information charging her with making a fictitious entry of $2,132 in the bank's records was filed with the U. S. commissioner in Huntington, W. Va., July 18.

The FBI said the alleged false entry was made June 22, the day Mrs. Browning was scheduled to go on vacation.

an adjoining 400 acres to provide additional plant space in the expectation that its new raw materials to be produced at Siloam will provide the base for future petrochemical development in that area.

An $8,000,000 hydrocarbon extraction plant will be built near Kenova, W. Va. It will take the heavier hydrocarbons from Columbia's rich natural-gas stream. These will be transported to the Siloam fractionating plant by pipeline. At Siloam, the liquid hydrocarbons will be converted into ethane, propane, butane, and natural gasoline.

Columbia Gas officials made their announcement jointly with acting Governor Harry Lee Waterfield at a news conference in the Governor's office.

George S. Young, president of the Columbia Gas System, said the Siloam project is a major part of a plan to make greater economic use of the rich Appalachian natural-gas streams Columbia operates.

Alan A. Cullman, New York, Columbia vice-president, said the Siloam would ultimately produce annually more than 200,000,000 gallons of ethane, propane, butane, and natural gasoline.

Contracts for construction of the two new plants have been executed between Columbia and J. F. Pritchard & Company of Kansas City. Both plants are scheduled to go into operation about December, 1958.

John W. Partridge, United Fuel president, said the natural-gas supplies controlled by his firm and other Columbia subsidiaries in the East Kentucky-West Virginia area "are especially rich in heavier hydrocarbons."

"Extracted, these heavy hydrocarbons have an intrinsic value far greater than their pure fuel value," he added.

Surveys by geological experts indicate there will be sufficient quantities of natural gas from these Kentucky and West Virginia sources to supply the hydrocarbon plants for many years.

The Kenova extraction plant is designed to recover heavier hydrocarbons which will be removed by a low-temperature oil absorption process, and the plant will produce a mixed stream of liquid hydrocarbons.

This mixed stream will contain per year 104,000,000 gallons of ethane, 68,000,000 gallons of propane, 23,700,000 gallons of butane, and 10,460,000 gallons of natural gasoline.

The new Kenova plant will replace two existing extraction facilities of United Fuel. These are Leach dryer in Boyd county, three miles south of Catlettsburg, and Warfield dryer in Martin county, Kentucky, near Kermit, W. Va.

Sheriff Collins, however, claimed the arrest was deliberately planned as a reprisal against his deputies, that Reed was denied bond when a bondsman stood ready to be Reed's surety, and that "conditions are worse than anybody realizes."

Reed, Lewis and Deputies Eugene Martin, Al Patton, and James Patrick raided Hite Foster at Estill on a search warrant last Saturday noon and confiscated 125 cans of beer, 34 pints of wine and 39 half-pints of whiskey. Reed said the search warrant was issued by Magistrate Edgar Howell and that he and other officers took Foster before Howell at Har- old, and that James Mullins, son of County Policeman Troy Mullins, followed them to the magistrate's office. Reed said Mullins questioned validity of the search warrant, and in the course of his conversation with Magistrate Howell said the intoxicants confiscated were his; whereupon the magistrate issued a warrant for Mullins.

Mullins then was arrested. David DeRossett, grandson of Troy Mullins, likewise was arrested on a charge of possessing intoxicants, Deputy Sheriff Reed said. Hite Foster was arrested on a charge of speeding and carrying a concealed deadly weapon. The three were brought to county jail here.

After he was arrested at Hueysville Monday Deputy Sheriff Reed was taken to the Wayland city jail where he was held till about 4 a.m., Tuesday when bond was executed.

Sheriff Collins indicated Tuesday afternoon that he may call on State Police for help and that if aid from this source is not made available activities of deputy sheriffs will be curtailed.

Searches made by the same officers last Friday uncovered 10 half-pints of whiskey on the premises of Wade Holbrook at Wheelwright and 129 cans of beer at Bennie Blackburn's at Lancer.

Booked at county jail Saturday by State Trooper J. Cornett on petit larceny charges were Willie Gene Rogers, Palmer Hall, Harold J. Tackett and D. Lee Hall. Trooper Cornett also jailed Lee Hamilton on charges of possessing moonshine whiskey and having defective auto brakes, and Tackett on charges of public drunkenness and permitting a minor to drive.

Bert Mullins and Ballard Yates were arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Lafferty and Howell on reckless driving charges. Leon Murphy was booked as having beer in his possession.

Bill Smith was returned here from Louisa by Deputy Sheriff Frank Blackburn to answer to a breaking and entering charge in circuit court.

DID YOU KNOW WHAT YOU WERE SIGNING?

Did those of you who signed the petition filed in the County Clerk's office last week really mean you are in favor of the return of liquor to Prestonsburg?

We are convinced that many good people were misled and misinformed. Moreover, we have proof that names of some persons were signed without their knowledge or consent.

For these reasons, and to give all whose names are on the petition sufficient opportunity to correct such misrepresentations, we are not publishing the petition and its signers this week. However, publication of the names definitely will be made next week.

If you do not wish to appear as a petitioner for this election and if you do not want your name published as a signer of this petition, go to the County Clerk's office and there sign a statement to that effect. Give the matter your earnest, prayerful consideration—act for your community, your home, children and all that means most in your life.

PRESTONSBURG DRY LEAGUE

I bounced from a sand trap on one side of a green to a slightly deeper sand trap on the other. If I had been in better mood, I might have come up with something good, but as it was I merely contrived to wonder at what a few men have done at Paintsville and what one golf course has done for that town.

It's doubtful if any town of its size is better known in Kentucky, and there are few corners of the United States where Paintsville, Ky., and its magnificent 18-hole golf course aren't known. Only last week almost 800 golfers from all parts of Kentucky and from neighboring states played in a tournament there. All left, marveling at the job that has been done. We write these things about old rival, Paintsville, at the risk of being brought to trial for heresy, treason, or some other offense, but we insist that one worthwhile thing done well can work wonders for any community.

Not everybody plays golf, true. And not many care if I get out of a sand trap before Christmas. But we all have to admit that here in this golf course, begun as a dream and carried on to completion by the energy and financial support of a very few, a community bought advertising that money could not buy.

DAY BY DAY, IN EVERY WAY

We get just a bit more ridiculous every day and in almost every way. Take radio and television, for instance. We thought they had explored all the possibilities, but they hadn't. There was another bit of silliness they had missed till they got the idea that, in the name of better racial relations, the songs of Stephen Foster should be revised so as to remove such "offensive" words as "darker," "massa," and so on.

They just do not want to offend anybody. As if there is a Negro in America worth respecting who could find offense in Foster's beloved songs.

Since TV is so set on respecting the sensibilities of viewers, wonder what it's going to do about some of its advertising which many deeply resent and without which television would be flatter than some of the beer it sells.

a wide sweep of the Big Sandy valley, even out to hilly West Virginia.

Mrs. Collins admits to getting right scared once when she started up the hill from her home. "A wildcat commenced hollerin'," she said, "and my dogs took right around my legs, and I took right touch the ground going down that hill," she remembers.

"But," she adds, "that didn't scare me as bad as when it starts blowing' up here when I'm in this tower. It starts swayin' a little, and I always get out then and get down the hill."

Time doesn't drag too heavily on the watcher's hands as she spends hours alone in her mountain-top perch. She takes a few pieces of sewing or knitting along, and she works while her eyes range the encircling hills for signs of fire. "I've pieced several quilts up here," she said.

Mrs. Collins says she has sighted several deer as they ventured near the tower. They seem to be growing more numerous, but don't often come near the tower, she said.

In 1952, the year she began work, she recalls, fires seemed to be breaking out everywhere she looked. "That was the year," she said, "when I saw a fire in West Virginia. On a clear day you can see that far from here." She then pointed out the tower on Salt Lick which, on this day last week when a slight mist could her over two hills and three be seen, was dimly outlined against the distant horizon. She said she could see the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company radio reflector here, the towers at Price and Maytown.

Asked if any strange things had happened while she kept her vigil in the tower, she said she had dozed off one day and awakened to hear something scraping on top of the tower. "When I looked up I saw two big buzzards staring me right in the face. I got me a broom and ran them off," she said.

Lots of people come to the knob, Mrs. Collins said. The tower is an attraction. A high hill is a thing to be climbed and enjoyed, too. Deep ruts gash the road that leads part of the way up the mountain, but it's a beautiful drive, this woman avows, and the visitor agrees.

Mrs. Collins says her favorite season of the year is autumn. "The leaves are so pretty, and looking down at them they look like stacked hay on the ground. And when it snows it blankets everything, and nothing is ugly. But it's wonderful in spring, too."

When Mrs. Collins sights a fire she lines it up with a sextant, then uses a telephone in the tower to report the blaze to other members of the conservation force.

Mrs. Collins is a familiar figure to residents of the vicinity as she walks to the tower, swinging a loaded pistol. "The pistol is my bodyguard," she says. "I'm not afraid at all when I'm alone at the tower."

It's pretty lonely up there on this windswept knob, and it's a good way back home, and there are mad foxes hereabouts. It could be dangerous up here, but she has the pistol and, she isn't afraid — although she hasn't made sure yet that she could use that gun handily enough to protect herself if she had to shoot quickly and fast.

Laymen To Preach At Baptist Church; Homecoming Is Held

Next Sunday's services at Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church will be in charge of two laymen of the congregation. Dr. Thurman Mays, physician at the Prestonsburg General hospital, will preach at the 11 o'clock service and Hubbard "Huck" Francis, Jr., local merchant, will preach at the evening service at 7:30. The public is invited to hear these young men as they supply the pulpit in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. Ira McMillen, Jr., who will be attending the Baptist Assembly at Ridgecrest, North Carolina.

For the comfort of those who worship at the church central air conditioning has been installed and is in operation. Church leaders have said that this has added 75 to 100 seats to the auditorium, due to the fact that the balcony now is as comfortable as any other part of the building.

This new feature was installed in time for last Sunday's Homecoming and observance of the 50th anniversary of the founding of the church. Members and friends of the church enjoyed dinner following the Sunday morning service, then at 2:30 p.m. attended the anniversary service. This service included brief talks by two former pastors of the church, Rev. M. Robert Regan, of Prestonsburg, and Rev. L. W. Benedict, of Ashland, and by the Rev. E. L. Howerton, former pastor of the Pikeville Baptist Church. A comprehensive history of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church was read by W. W. Burchett, Prestonsburg attorney, who wrote the sketch from records of the church. The sermon was delivered by the Rev. Walter K. Price, evangelist, who closed a week's revival at the church Sunday night.

Rev. Ford To Preach In Revival At Bosco

The Rev. W. L. (Bill) Ford, of Fords Branch, Ky., will be the evangelist during the revival to be held at the Bosco Church of Christ, Aug. 4 through Aug. 17, the Rev. Walter Webb, pastor of the church, announced this week.

Services will be held daily at 7:30 p.m., and the evangelist will be heard at 8:30 a.m., Sundays, over WLSI, Pikeville. Special singing will be a feature of the meeting, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

purpose assisting the people in this area in improvements and developments.

The statutory provisions for such a commission were cited by George Akin, Frankfort, assistant reviser of statutes and a member of the Statutes Revision Committee.

He said the statute was enacted in 1938. Public hearings, however, are required before commissions can be appointed.

The recommendation for the commission's appointment came after a study of Eastern Kentucky conditions by a professional organization.

The final report, submitted to Governor Chandler over the signature of George W. Hubley, Jr., commissioner of the Department of Economic Development, was entitled, "Eastern Kentucky Rehabilitation Study". Copies of it were distributed at the hearing.

Lachlan F. Blair, of Blair Associates, Providence, R. I., which did the study, told the hearing that an intensive three-month investigation was made of Eastern Kentucky conditions. The key recommendation made in the report, he said, was for the establishment of the planning commission.

Its major purpose, Blair said, would be the preparation of a master plan for the physical development and improvement of Eastern Kentucky.

The basic long-range aim, he continued, would be the achievement of a standard of living for all of the area's people comparable to that available in most of the United States.

The investigators, he said, dealt with such things as the area's basic economy and what can be done about its undue dependence upon the mining industry; population trends and projections into the future; how the land is used today; transportation problems; flood-damage-prevention programs, and analyses of problems faced by cities of the area.

Most important of all, he said, the commission could conduct thorough studies for industrial sites and growth, working with other State agencies for industrial development.

It would give the area a consistent program of systematic progress, Blair said, citing the work of similar commissions in other states.

Blair said he was formerly the planning director for Rhode Island, and "real progress can be made here," he added.

After the explanation of the proposed commission, Willis called upon members of the audience for their opinions. All responses were favorable.

MARTIN BOYS WIN REGIONAL

Little Leaguers There Advance on Fort Knox For State Tournament

The Martin Little Leaguers survived the regional test at Ashland in beating Catlettsburg, 9-8, and are now advancing to the state elimination tournament to be held at Fort Knox.

Four home-runs paced the Martin attack "Howdy Doody" Roland continued to blast homers in collecting two as Bobby Tallent and Larry Maggard added one each.

A clutch home-run by Bobby Tallent saved the day for the Martin team Wednesday, according to Frank Stewart, a coach on the team. The Martin team was three runs behind in the last inning and managed to score the tying and winning runs. He said the scoring was made when Hampton doubled, stole third, and tallied on a wild throw. Lowe walked and was seemingly stranded on first as Snodgrass and Rudy struck-out. Tallent then hit his tying home-run.

"Howdy Doody" didn't let things die and singled, scoring when Bud Patton drove in a single that the Catlettsburg outfield fumbled. The first game was won 4-1 on "Howdy Doody's" strong pitching, as he allowed only two hits and struck out 11. Stewart said that centerfielder Doug Hampton knocked in all four runs for Martin with two hits.

Stewart was also elated over the hospitality of Ashland residents who kept the Martin Little Leaguers while they were in Ashland. "And," Stewart said, "the boys made a good impression on the Ashland folks."

The team is going to make the trip to Fort Knox, Stewart related, but presently lacks sufficient money. Representatives of the team will visit various business places next week to solicit funds for the trip and the hope was expressed that generous backing will be given to the Martin Little Leaguers.

will include seed, liming materials and fertilizer.

The third practice for use under the program but not merely for flood-damaged land is for brush and undergrowth clearance for land that is intended for tree planting.

The A. S. C. will pay 80% of the cost of killing brush and undesirable growth on land on which trees will be set next spring. This will include the cost of chemical brush killer, and labor. Of the trees that have been set in the past, many have become seriously damaged by competition of bushes it was said and if the bushes are killed it will give the young seedlings a chance to become established, and be able to compete against any bushes that would sprout.

"The program offers a grand opportunity to those farmers that received damage to their land by the flood, and to those who want to set trees next spring," Jones said.

UK Freshman Wins State's Highest Military Award

Frankfort, July 20 (Spl.) — Acting Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield presented the Kentucky Medal for Valor, the state's highest military honor, to an 18-year-old college freshman in a recent ceremony at Camp Breckinridge.
Kermit W. Deal, Asland, a private in Battery B, 640th Field Artillery Observation Battalion, was presented the medal for "heroism above and beyond the call of duty" while a flood-relief guard in Paintsville last February.
The young University of Kentucky engineering student, "with complete disregard for personal safety" and "at the risk of his life," entered a burning building to rescue an injured man, the citation said. He is the youngest recipient of the Medal of Valor in modern Kentucky military history.

The award's presentation was the highlight of the annual Governor's Day review staged by the Kentucky National Guard in summer field training.
Lt. Col. Charles Cronan III, Louisville, was presented the Kentucky Distinguished Service Medal, the state's second highest military award.
Receiving the Kentucky Medal for Merit awards were: Capt. R. W. Cundiff, Capt. Charles Shelton and Capt. Alfred Ingram, all of Louisville; Warrant Officer John Flowers, Frankfort and M/Sgt. Ferrill J. Lewis, Ravenna.

Keep Home Freezer's In Good Condition

Home freezers should be completely defrosted and cleaned once or twice a year when the frost is from 1/4 to 1/2-inch thick.
The advice comes from UK Extension home management specialists, who urge that defrosting be done before the peak time for freezing foods, if possible.
Follow the instructions for cleaning and servicing that came from the manufacturer when the freezer was bought. If they have been misplaced, see the sales agent, or write to the manufacturer for a new booklet.

A home freezer operated normally should run about 18 hours out of 24. A dirty condenser can cause it to run 20 hours. Add a thick coat of ice crystals to the inside of the box and running time may increase to 22 hours. Then when a load of food is put in, the motor may run all 24 hours.
Even if the freezer doesn't break down, as well it may under such conditions, the quality of the food in the freezer will quickly decline as the inside temperature rises. Inefficient operation also runs up the electric bill, warn the specialists.

To defrost, disconnect the freezer and wrap the packages in several layers of newspaper, stacking them tightly in a box or covering them with a blanket. Scrape the ice off the inside of the freezer, and hasten the defrosting by the use of an electric fan. Never use hot water, or you may have trouble starting the compressor.
When all the frost is off, wash the walls with warm soda water, rinse and dry. Connect the freezer, cool to zero degrees, and replace the food.
To keep the freezer free of frost, unwrapped food must never be placed in the freezer. The tremendous pull of the freezer removes the moisture from such foods, depositing it on the walls of the freezer as frost.

Eastern State Sets Patients' Picnic Date

The fourth annual patients picnic will be held this year at Eastern State hospital, Lexington, August 7th. The activities will take place on the front lawn of the hospital during the afternoon and early evening. Included in the program will be races and relays, midway booths, band concerts and "dinner on the ground."
The picnic is sponsored by the hospital with employees and volunteers giving of their time for the activities. The special "treats" such as candy, fruit, pies, cigarettes, ice cream and cookies are given by many interested groups, individuals and business firms.
There are 1,700 patients at the hospital, and it is planned to have about 1,500 on the lawn for the festivities. The others, not able to be brought outside, will be served the same foods and delicacies on the wards.
Seventy-six of the patients are from this county.
The picnic is a highlight in the life of the patients and is one of the many ways they know they have not been forgotten during their illness. Anyone wishing to add to the joy of these patients may send contributions to Mrs. Majel K. Moore, Volunteer Coordinator, Eastern State Hospital, Lexington, Ky. syn

RENOWNED RIFLE SHOT NOW TEACHING ART TO OTHERS

It has been 11 years since "The Topperweins World's Greatest Shooting Team" traveled the nation and the Continent performing the most amazing feats of marksmanship.
But their records live on; and half of that famed combination is teaching a new crop of deadeye sharpshooters.
Each week-end, Ad Topperwein shows young businessmen of San Antonio and other friends how to carve Indians in stone with a rifle and do tricks that made "Mr. and Mrs. Top" bywords of gun lore in America, Canada, and Mexico.
Ad Topperwein now is 83 years old. He doesn't shoot a gun anymore, because of failing eyesight; but he can teach it.
"I like to promote the stuff," he says.
This Texan is a hardy man who was so glad with a rifle that he made a fortune and wrote the greatest records of marksmanship in the nation's history.
The Topperweins gave an exhibition of their art at the Floyd County Fish & Game Club; fish fry held at Allen several years ago.
Each morning, he arises at 5:30 and takes a three-mile walk. He keeps in top physical trim, just as he did in 50 years of exhibition shooting from coast to coast.
His wife, always called "Plinky" because she referred to shooting as "plinking," died in 1945 of a heart attack. That was when Ad Topperwein called it a day.
The most sensational feat ever accomplished by Ad Topperwein was in 1906 at the San Antonio Fair Grounds.
Using three .22-caliber automatics, and with two men from a gun club as referees and counters, the great marksman fired at 72,500 wooden blocks 2 1/2 inches in size tossed up over a 10-day period. He had a run of 14,561 without a miss.
With all available ammunition in San Antonio exhausted and his helpers in a virtual state of prostration, Topperwein called a halt. He had missed only nine of the entire lot. He had set world's records for the number of targets shot at and broken.
Topperwein also set a dozen more world's records in his career.
Topperwein's father, Ferdinand, was a gunsmith. He had a shop at Leon Springs, 20 miles northwest of San Antonio, where buffalo hunters came to have their guns repaired or alerted. Young Ad knew guns and how to use them long before his father died when Ad was 13.
Ad saw Dr. W. F. Carver, who once smashed 60,000 targets while missing only 650, giving a demonstration in San Antonio in 1880. The 10-year-old boy resolved to be as famous as the doctor.
Topperwein wanted to enter vaudeville, so he went to New York. He couldn't interest any of the booking agents until he went to Coney Island and put on such an amazing demonstration in the shooting galleries that they came to him. He became the most famous name in shooting.
He met the woman who was to become his wife—Elizabeth Servaty—in 1903. She never had fired a rifle until she married Ad, but in six weeks was able to shoot articles from his finger tips.
Mrs. Topperwein was the first woman in history to smash 100 consecutive targets in trapshooting. She did it several hundred times.
She fired for more than 5 hours in one occasion, and broke 1,952 targets out of 2,000. She hit 1,460 wooden blocks without a miss. She also was adept with a revolver, and once hit 497 targets out of 500 at 25 yards.
Ad's name is "Toepperwein," but he was billed as "Topperwein" most of his career.
His shooting camp at Leon Springs—a 2,500-acre country place called Casa Lometa—is where he teaches his friends to do snap and terial shooting.
"Some of my boys can shoot better than some of the so-called professionals I have seen," he says proudly.

Courtesy Plan Is Dime Shame
Livingston, N. J. — Township police are dishing out dimes for telephone calls to stranded motorists here but funds are running short. The men in blue have been leaving the dimes at isolated telephone booths on the highway with a note to return the money. So far it's been an 85 per cent losing proposition.

HALF-ACRE PRODUCES
It has been estimated that a half-acre continuously cropped can produce $300 to $400 worth of food.

MUSIC BY LOUD-SPEAKER SOOTHES JITTERY BIRDS
Bartlesville, Okla. — Glen and Jerome Byron, who are raising 10,000 turkeys on a ranch near here, found a way to keep the excitable birds contented.
They have placed loudspeakers around the ranch and pipe in soothing music. When there's a storm brewing, or a wolf howl upsets the birds, one of the Byrons steps to the microphone and quietly talks the turkeys into relaxing.

POSTOFFICE FLATS NO FAVORITES

Tampa, Fla. — When the Tampa Post Office locked up mail boxes for nonpayment of rent, it didn't play favorites. Among those who found their boxes closed was the U. S. District Court.
Postmaster S. G. Harrison rented and agreed to open up the box again, however, after being assured the delay in payment was only an error and the money would be forthcoming at once.

Iron Salt-Kettle Now On Display At Old State House

By Charles F. Hinds
Secretary-Treasurer, Kentucky
Historical Society

Frankfort, July — An old iron salt kettle is displayed in the Old State House beneath the multiple barrels of a Civil War "machine gun." School children frequently ask if the oblong kettle isn't "what was used to catch the empty shells."

It does resemble a "shell catcher," but its significance as a homemanufactured product used in a home industry — salt making — is far greater than were it only an accessory to a machine gun.

The kettle is pocked and crusty where rust has eaten into the metal, but a few passes with a pocket knife reveals a shiny finish. It was molded in 1845 near Cwingsville, one of the chief early iron centers of Kentucky. Some of the cannon balls fired by General Jackson's soldiers at New Orleans were made in this region.

Salt was one of the principal manufactures in Kentucky from about 1778—the year Daniel Boone and others were captured while making salt at Lower Blue Licks—to the Civil War. Bullitt's Lick was perhaps the most important of the very early sources of commercial salt.

But beginning about 1800, the salt industries on the Kentucky River became the most important in the State. The mountain brines on the upper Kentucky were rich in salt content.

With this shift came more methods of extracting salt. Cut off from the sea coast where salt was imported and even manufactured, the trans-Allegheny pioneers satisfied their needs by imitating the Indians who boiled in small containers water from salt licks.

Later, permanent settlers collected brine in pits about 20 feet deep near 10 or 12 kettles in a narrow trench. Wood fires were lighted at each end. The next step was to sink deeper wells to more productive pools and pump the water through hollow gum trees and in wooden trough to a "furnace" of some 60 salt kettles fed with coal fires. Kentuckians began to meet the price of competitors in neighboring states.

Of the Kentucky River salt industries, those in Clay tended to be the center of the finest salt in Kentucky. The kettle in the State Museum was purchased for use when the industry there was at its height.

CRUSADE FOR CHILDREN SCHEDULED SEPT. 21-22

The fourth WHAS Crusade for Children to raise money to help mentally and physically handicapped children of Kentucky and southern Indiana will be conducted September 21 and 22 over WHAS radio and television from Louisville's Memorial Auditorium. The announcement was made last week following a meeting of WHAS officials and the "Moral Side of the News" radio panel of ministers.

Once again the ministers, representing Protestant, Catholic, Jewish and the Unitarian faiths, have agreed to undertake the responsibility of distributing funds contributed to the Crusade.

As in previous years, local entertainers will be joined by nationally known performers on the marathon program which will begin at 10 p.m., Saturday, September 21.

The panel announced that the most recent quarterly reports of progress from Crusade grant recipients will be made public soon. Since its beginning, in 1954, 77 individual grants totaling $445,369.82 have been made to handicapped children's agencies in Kentucky and southern Indiana through funds contributed to the Crusade.

Among the outstanding accomplishments with Crusade grants are the establishment of the first central cancer clinic for children in Kentucky, the building of a new kindergarten unit and playground for the Kentucky School for the Blind, the establishing of the first Kentucky cleft plate and harelip clinic, construction of a two-room school building in New Albany, Indiana, for mentally retarded students, establishment of child guidance treatment schools for retarded children at Elizabethtown, Pikeville, Owensboro and Martin. Crusade grants also have established workshops at the University of Kentucky and University of Louisville by providing scholarships for the training of teachers of mentally handicapped children from all over Kentucky.

DAD, 90, OKEHS SON'S MARRIAGE

Workshop, England — Clothier George Haslam, 67, stressed in announcing his engagement to Florence Beety, 23, that his 90-year-old father approved the match. He told a reporter: "I was worried because I thought gossips would say 'there's no fool like an old fool.' But dad could see I was in love and told me to pop the question."

BREAKS RECORD

Active Acres Bessie, Brown Swiss cow, has just broken a production record. In a 365-day lactation, she produced 31,166.6 pounds of milk testing .96 percent, and 1,544.75 pounds of butterfat on a 3-time-daily milking schedule. She is more than 10 years old. She is owned by Active Acres Farm of New Jersey.

"RUGGED" RANGERS GUARD NATIONAL PARKS, TOURISTS

Millions of Americans owe their safety and the enjoyment of our national parks to a small band of dedicated men. Some 360 National Park Rangers, with the help of 600 seasonal Rangers, are protecting 23 million acres and about 64 million visitors annually. And their task is getting bigger each year—1956 had nearly five million more visitors than 1955.

Don Wharton reports on the Rangers in an August Reader's Digest article titled, "The Rugged Rangers of Our National Parks," condensed from Travel. Rangers are stationed from Hawaii to Maine and from the tropical Everglades to subarctic Mount McKinley in Alaska.

The average Ranger is 41 years old, a college graduate and has spent several summers as a seasonal Ranger before receiving a permanent appointment. His shoulder patch showing the outlines of a mountain, a tree and a biffalo is a symbol of his proficiency as an emergency mountain-climber, trained fire-fighter and expert tracker.

He travels by horse or dog team, sometimes using over-snow equipment such as weasels and snow cats. In emergencies he can call in a helicopter or a plane with trained "smoke-jumpers" to fight forest fires.

In the summer, the Rangers usually limit their tracking to children. There are about 35 lost children a week in Yosemite alone. Most of them are found quickly, but some require intensive searches.

Many mountain climbers out their lives to Rangers. In 1955 four Rangers rescued a badly hurt young woman who'd fallen 60 feet while climbing the Yosemite's steep Washington Column.

Nazareth College was founded in Nelson county in 1814.

DRIVE SAFELY

(Second of a series of articles sponsored by the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club).

One-half of the mass time the square of velocity equals Kinetic Energy. This law of physics is one of the most potent factors in the operation of an automobile—and the thing responsible for the most accidents and the least known by the average motorist.

It means, in effect, that Kinetic Energy, the danger factor in driving, is measured by speed times speed. A car proceeding at 40 miles per hour is going twice as fast as a car at 20 miles per hour, but it is four times as hard to stop; the "curve pull", or centrifugal force, is four times as great; it skids four times as far and it strikes an object with four times the force of a car going only half as fast. At 60 miles per hour, your automobile hits nine times as hard as at 20 miles per hour and is nine times as hard to stop, although it is going only three times as fast.

When a car at 40 mph hits another car going at the same rate of speed, the killing force is 4 times as great as if it collided with a solid brick wall.

Let us assume that the controllability of your automobile is 100 percent at 20 mph—

At 40 mph, it is 25%.

At 60 mph, it is 11%.

At 70 mph, you have only 8.33%

At 70 mph, you have only 8.33% as much control as you had at 20 mph.

"Danger increases with speed times speed."

Green River, one of the prettiest in United States, with its stillness, deep color, and close overhanging trees, is believed to have been a subterranean stream. It is believed through the ages the ceiling above wore away and caved in, bringing the stream to the surface.

Add something crisp to that fish platter, cucumbers, celery, radishes, pickles are all good choices

EKMC WELL REPRESENTED

The Eastern Kentucky Mountain Football Conference will be well represented in this year's All-Star football game in Lexington, Saturday, August 10.

Heading line play for the East squad will be Hazard's two-time all-state tackle, Don Sinor, who also has been named to the All-EKMC team three times and two big tackles, Bruce Howard, Prestonsburg, and Harry Johnson, Fleming.

The backfield choices for the loop are: all-state halfback, H. L. Justice, Pikeville; Lloyd Hodge, Whitesburg; Larry Phillips, Pikeville; Buford Crager, Prestonsburg, and UK-bound Jim Conley, who was a standout at quarterback for the Paintsville Tigers last season.

In three previous all-star games each has won one game and one ended in a tie. The West won last season, 29-6.

WILLIAMSON SPONSORS AREA GAME

The Williamson, West Virginia Kiwanis club will sponsor a senior football game on Memorial Field, August 16. Graduating high school stars from the Eastern Kentucky area will compete with a similar group of West Virginians.

Players thus far named from the Kentucky area are: H. L. Justice, Pikeville; John Maynard, Belfry; Montie Rice, Prestonsburg; Frankie Patton and Jim Cyrus, Paintsville, and Donnie Browning, Fleming. The remainder of the squad will be named next week.

Training drills will commence in Williamson, August 5.

MARTIN LEAGUE WINS

Martin's Little League All-Stars, featuring the hitting of "Howdy-Doody" Rowland, won the Prestonsburg district of the Kentucky Little League playoffs last week, and they now move on to the sectional tournament in Ashland this week-end.

"Red" Crum's charges mowed down Paintsville, 14-4, in the finals. Wednesday afternoon for the championship. In the opening round Martin eliminated defending champion Pikeville, 8-2.

NEW COACHES

At least five EKMC football schools will have new coaches this season: Elkhorn City, Fleming, Prestonsburg, M. C. Napier, and Pikeville. Independent Wheelwright is still searching for a grid teacher, as are Elkhorn City and Pikeville. Jack Hall will be at Fleming, John Griggs at Prestonsburg, and Ed Orick at M. C. Napier.

East All-Star Football Linemen

East All-Star Football Backs

KENTUCKY'S TOP HIGH SCHOOL athletes will appear in the "double-feature" Kentucky Coaches Association All-Star series Saturday, Aug. 10 at Lexington. The East-West All-Star basketball game will be played at 7 p.m. in Memorial Coliseum; the East-West football game will be played on Stoll Field at 8:30 p.m.

UK TO GET ITS SHARE OF ALL-STAR TALENT

Lexington, Ky., July 30 (Spl.) — Virtually all the high school stars who will play in the East-West All-Star series, to be staged in Lexington on Saturday, Aug. 10, plan to attend college. Among those who have chosen their school, Kentucky colleges and universities are far more popular than those out of state.

However, the number of players who have not yet made definite college plans to commitments is amazing.

Thirty-two footballers and 12 cagers will be open to offers before, during and after the stellar attractions in which they will play. The presence of so much unattached athletic talent is sure to elicit plenty of drooling among the various coaches and scouts who will be present.

Some of the outstanding players, however, have already signed many of them with the University of Kentucky. Those now wearing the Wildcat brand are gridders Jim Conley, of Paintsville, Calvin Bird, of Corbin, Lloyd Hodges, of Whitesburg, Harry Johnson, of Fleming-Neon, Donnie Ray Sinor, of Hazard, Jim Stapleton, of Middlesboro, Charles Sturgeon, of Owensboro and Jim Yarbrough, of Morganfield. Future University of Kentucky cagers are Dave Eakins, of Henderson, Billy Ray Lickert, of Lexington Lafayette, and Bobby Slusher, of Lone Jack.

Other state schools have joined in the scramble for talent, picking up some of the best of the schoolboy athletes. The University of Louisville signed gridders R. C. Bryant of Henderson and David Ham of Somerset, while Western grabbed Ed Stumph and Ed Tarter, of Louisville du Pont Manual for its football team and Billy Johnson of Winchester for its cage squad.

Other stars bound for home-state schools are: Basketballer Harold Wilkins, of South Marshall, Union College; griddier Tom Adams, of Somerset, Union; griddier Tom Heilbron, of Lexington Henry Clay, Centre, and griddier James Hampton, Kentucky State. Among out-of-state universities, Vanderbilt is by far the most popular, having attracted four of the 11 boys to leave Kentucky. Those going to Vandy are: Net stars John Doninger and John Laurent of Louisville Eastern, and Warren Fiser, of Mayfield, and footballer Frank Wylie, also of Eastern.

Other gridmen to go out of state are: Jim Gladden, of Lexington Lafayette, Depauw; Johnny Kuchenbrod, of Flaget, Dayton; Ronnie Lewis, of Sturgis, Georgia Tech, and Bobby Roark, of Harlan, Ohio Wesleyan.

Both of the other departing basketeers are going to Tennessee— Bob Craig, of Lexington Henry Clay, to the University of Tennessee, and Robert Burden, of Butler County, to Middle Tennessee.

State Department Announces Date For Deer Season

Frankfort, July 29 (Spl.) — An eight-day deer shooting season in Kentucky, beginning Nov. 23 and extending through Nov. 30, has been announced by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

The 27 Kentucky counties open for hunting last year will be open this year. They are:

Christian, Caldwell, Livingston, Lyon, Trigg, Hancock, Hopkins, Bullitt, Meade, Breckinridge, Hardin, Nelson, Edmonson, Hart, Barren, Cumberland, Metcalfe, Breathitt, Perry, Knott, Carter, Fleming, Greenup, Lewis, McCreary, Pulaski, and part of Rowan, north of U. S. 60.

The special deer hunting license fee has been increased from $5 to $10 to cover added cost to the department in extending the season. Description of antlers on legal buck deer now reads, "visible antlers," instead of "at least two points on one antler," as last year. Only European red and whitetail bucks are considered legal.

Bow and arrow deer hunters will have a split season 15 days prior to Nov. 23 and 15 days after Nov. 30. Bow shooting will not be permitted during the gun season.

Department officials will announce soon counties and areas for bow hunters. The Fish and Wildlife Resources Commission recently authorized a bow hunting area in the middle section of Kentucky. Last year areas were in eastern and western Kentucky.

The state's deer hunting regulations allow deer to be taken only during daylight hours and never while swimming or in water where the deer's body is submerged except for the neck and head.

The annual limit for each hunter is one deer whether taken by gun or bow. Use of dogs is prohibited.

Plans For 2,659 Classrooms O.K.

Dr. Robert R. Martin, superintendent of public instruction, has announced that at the close of last fiscal year, June 30, the Education Department granted final approval to boards of education for construction of 2,659 classrooms at an estimated cost of $23,572,786.

This number included 1,486 elementary classrooms, 394 high school classrooms, and 770 special instruction and utility rooms, Martin said.

Special instruction rooms include libraries, science, music and band, vocational education, gymnasiums, kitchen, lunchrooms, and administrative office, he added.

GUESTS AT PARKS ASKED TO COMMENT ON SERVICE

Frankfort, July 19 (Spl.) — In a determined effort to make Kentucky State Parks the finest system in the nation, Commissioner Laban P. Jackson, Department of Conservation, and Mrs. Ben Kilgore, Director of the Division of Parks, have distributed questionnaires at the parks to be filled out by guests.

These forms will be returned to Commissioner Jackson and Mrs. Kilgore after they have been completed by the park visitors.

"We have made every effort to provide you with adequate facilities, courteous service and attractive surroundings," the form reads. "If we have failed in any way in this attempt, please let us know and we shall endeavor to correct same."

"Through the use of this questionnaire we hope to improve our Park System so that it may be enjoyed by you, our guest," the form continues. Visitors are then asked to check the attitudes of the park personnel, good, poor, or indifferent.

Has the lodging been satisfactory? Has your restaurant service been satisfactory? Guests are asked to check whether the "recreational facilities have been adequate." Also, "What would you suggest that we do to make your next trip here more enjoyable?"

After signing names, address, park, and cabin or room number, the guests are requested to mail the self-addressed card to the Commissioner of Conservation's Office here in Frankfort.

ENTRANTS SET TOURNAMENT RECORD

The 262 entrants in Paintsville's 17th annual invitational open tournament over the past week-end set a new mark for a Johnson county and Kentucky tournament in size.

Two-hundred forty-five amateurs and 17 pros took part in the three-day tournament. Jim Barber, Paintsville golfer, copped amateur title, and defending pro-champion, George Hoffer, Huntington, W. Va., retained his title.

Road Work Must Be Authorized, Humphreys Says

Frankfort, July 26 (Spl.) — Commissioner Robert Humphreys has warned employees of the Kentucky Highway Department against performing work on roads, driveways or other places without proper authority.

Humphreys sent a memorandum to all maintenance supervisors, superintendents and foremen, stating:

"It has come to our attention that, in some instances, our friends come to you and direct that work be done on roads, driveways, or other places not authorized by this Department.

"In the future, you will positively not perform any of these duties unless authorized by the district engineer in your district, the area engineer in your district, or by this office.

"This does not mean that you are not to cooperate to the fullest extent with our friends and contact men, but where our state money, personnel or equipment is concerned, we must have a record of the authority before any work is done."

Humphreys' memo said violation of his order "will be considered as reason for discharge of any person violating it." It directed the maintenance employees to keep in touch "with your advisory commissioner or your district engineer when you are in doubt about orders."

The directive came in the midst of an investigation by the department of charges that gravel had been laid on some private driveways in Metcalfe county. The commissioner said a preliminary investigation showed a total of about a mile of gravel has been laid, adding the inquiry would be continued.

He said Acting Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield had directed him to dismiss any state employees proved to have been involved in building of private roads during this or any other administration, collect funds due the state from any private citizens who profited by such road building, and seek services of the attorney general's office and department legal counsel in pressing to recover such funds.

MAYTOWN

MRS. STEWART, HOSTESS

The Maytown Woman's Club held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank Stewart. Mrs. Gorge Patton opened the meeting with prayer. No reports were given, due to the absence of Mrs. Miles Gibson, secretary.

Mrs. James Allen presented a review of Mrs. Wilma G. May's book, "A Teacher Views the School Crisis." The members thoroughly enjoyed Mrs. Allen's remarks about the book and the stimulating comments her remarks provoked.

During the business meeting a $25 donation was voted for the Maytown baseball organization.

The president announced the committees for the Club's seventh annual Fall Flower Show which will be presented September 21. They are Mrs. J. S. Tallent and Mrs. Theodore Gibson, publicity, music and arrangements; Mrs. George Patton and Mrs. Miles Gibson, Jr., ribbons and judges; Mrs. Paul Borders and Mrs. David Reed, table arrangements; Mrs. Roland Burchett and Mrs. John Ison, gifts and awards; Mrs. Ed Stewart and Mrs. James Allen, staging, printing and programs; Mrs. Frank Stewart, Mrs. L. E. Roberts, Mrs. Ivan Bouch, Mrs. George Patton, Mrs. Edward Robinson, Mrs. Charles Patton, bazaar.

The following members were present: Mesdames Ed Stewart, S. J. Tallent, George Patton, James Allen, Edward Robinson, Frank Stewart and guest, Mrs. James A. Dixon, of Miami, Florida.

ATTENDANCE AWARDS GIVEN

Perfect attendance pins were given during the morning worship service at the Maytown Methodist church, Sunday. Those receiving the pins were: 9 years—Mrs. Thomas Patrick, Sandra Sue Patrick, Billy Tallent; 8 years—Stannie Ramey; 7 years—Ruby Mae and Rhoda Ann Gayheart; 6 years—Deanna Patton and Bonnie Hopson; 5 years—Michael May, Deborah Sammons, Janet Harmon, Mike Tallent, Tamayra Northrup, Joyce Harmon; 4 years—Kathy Patton, Eddie Stewart, Reba Jean Harmon, Charlene Hicks, Billy May, Tommy Stewart, Doug Harmon; 2 years—Jeff Stewart, Tommy Hicks, Carolyn Ison and Jimmy Ison; 7 year—Mrs. Fletcher Gayheart and Nyoka Bentley.

Thanks to the many people who contributed to the Little League, making it possible for them to go to Ashland for the All-Star Little League tournament Tuesday. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Crum, Ed Stewart, and Demzil Halbert. Thanks also to Jack and V. O. Turner for letting the boys use their field for their practice and David Reed for his contributions and in getting the field ready for play. The wonderful cooperation of everyone this year has made it possible for our boys to build this fine team. Maytown has represented in the All-Star tournament by Clettis 'Howdy' Rowland, Bobby Tallent, Stanley Howard, Larry Maggard, Bud Patton and Burgess Lowe.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Crowe and Joe, of Covington, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Howard, of Cincinnati, spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sutton last week. Mr. Crowe and Mr. Howard were entries in the golf tournament at Paintsville.

James A. Dixon, of Miami, Florida, spent the week-end with Mrs. Viola Stewart. He was accompanied home by his wife and daughter who have spent the summer here.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Hicks, Jr. have purchased the Minnie Howell property and moved into it last week. Buddy Brown bought their property on Turkey Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stewart and children are spending a week's vacation with his parents in Flatwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Crisp and family, of Maloneon, Ky., were visiting Charles Patton and family last week.

Henry L. May and Mrs. George Patton attended the W.S.C.S. officer's training school at Paintsville last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Junior Brown and children have moved to the Buddy Brown house on Turkey Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Robinson and Donnie, and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Halbert and Virgil, Jr., have been visiting friends and relatives in Tennessee and Alabama.

BEEF PRICES ARE FORECAST

Fall Prices For Cattle Expected Steady to Weak Improvement Over 1956

Lexington, Ky., July 29 (Spl.) — Steady to weak prices are expected for well-fed cattle (choice and prime grades) in August and September, the Kentucky Experiment Station economics department said in its bi-weekly outlook letter this week.

Prices for better grades have trended upward since February, and market supplies have fallen below those of a year earlier, the letter said.

"Prices in July may have reached close to the peak of 1957 unless late fall prices move higher," the economists said. There are eight per cent more fed cattle in 13 major cattle-feeding states than a year ago. Marketing of fed cattle did not increase during the first three weeks of July, but may increase in August and September.

"In fact," says the letter, "number of grain fed cattle sent to market is likely to be from 10 to 20 percent higher in August and September than for the same period of 1956." The economists also said a rising price trend for fed cattle could develop in the late fall and early winter months, due to an expected decline by mid-fall in marketings; a possible decline of cattle being placed on feed and a slight decline in short-term feeding of heavy cattle for late fall and winter markets.

Kentucky farmers who have late-planted corn or sorghum grain may consider short term cattle-feeding this fall and winter. "Such an operation may be a good way to utilize this feed, particularly where storage and drying facilities are lacking."

For feeder cattle, the letter says further, prices may decline somewhat from present levels but likely will remain well above the 1956 prices. Improved prices are due to high fed-cattle prices and improved pasture conditions. A slightly smaller supply of feeder and grass-fat cattle is expected this fall, however; the calf crop may be three to four per cent below the 1956 crop; and western states probably will retain more heifer calves.

"Prices of feeder cattle might tend to rise through the fall months," the letter states. "Such a trend is most likely if fed cattle prices show the expected rising trend noted previously. As marketings increase early in the fall season, reduced supply of feeder cattle may not make itself apparent until later on."

Historic Floyd County

(No. 14 in a Series)

On May 3, 1797, John Graham, then Deputy Surveyor of Mason County, Kentucky, surveyed the original plan of the town of Prestonsburg under the "direction of Major Andrew Hood, Mathias Harmon and Solomon Stratton, agents for the Adventures on Sandy under Col. John Preston's Grant."

This plat may be seen on page 66, Deed Book A, in the Floyd County Court Clerk's office.

When the Graham map was drawn the site of Prestonsburg, originally called Preston's Station, was in Mason county, Kentucky.

The First National Bank building was erected upon a lot of the Graham survey. The structure, now the Municipal building, served the bank for 50 years.

Prestonsburg has progressed in the 160 years of its history from a wilderness site to a modern town. For the last half century the First National Bank has availed itself of every opportunity to promote that progress.

The pictures in the Historic Floyd County series are published as a matter of public information. We are proud of our history and the contribution the First National Bank has made to the economic development of our area.

Hatcher, Former Head Of Morehead Normal, Victim Sunday at 81

J. Wesley Hatcher, 81, retired professor of sociology at Berea College, died Sunday night at a Columbus, Ohio, hospital after an illness of several months.

A native of Logan county, Ohio, Dr. Hatcher as minister of several rural Disciples of Christ churches in Kentucky and Ohio between 1900 and 1912. He became principal of the old Morehead Normal School at Morehead in 1912.

He had on several occasions visited Prestonsburg and Floyd county friends.

He went to Berea College in 1925 and served as chairman of the sociology department until retiring in 1946.

He attended Hiram College in Ohio and received an A. B. degree from Ohio University in 1922 and a master's degree from the institution in 1925.

Last December he moved to Columbus to live with a son, Emerson Hatcher. Besides his son, he is survived by two brothers and three sisters. The funeral was held Wednesday morning in Columbus.

KENTUCKY'S POPULATION

When Kentucky was admitted to the Union in 1792, the population was 100,000 and by 1800 the settlers numbered more than 220,000.

Capitol Notebook

Frankfort, July 19 — It looks as if the squirrels again this year will have a split personality.

Anyway, the State is allowing hunters to shoot them in a split season, the first phase beginning Aug. 15. It lasts through October 15. The second phase is November 20-December 17.

So a squirrel might lose his tail during the first phase and his head during the second.

Or when the first phase has ended, Mr. Squirrel may think the hurricane of hunters is past, when in fact the peaceful period between the two phases is only the "eve" of the storm.

THE KEENE LAND RECORD

Regarding the big auction of thoroughbreds at Lexington, Sportsman Bill Surface says in the Louisville Courier-Journal:

"For year in and year out, more stakes winners, more Kentucky Derby winners and more leading money winners are sold at Keeneland Sales than virtually all others combined."

BOOM EXPECTED

This year, there'll be a big boom at Kentucky's State Fair.

It'll come from about the biggest drum ever devised. It belongs to the Purdue University band from Lafayette, Ind., which will parade at the Fair opening day, Sept. 6—Marques de Lafayette day in Kentucky.

The drum, which is mounted on a special carriage, measures seven feet in diameter, is nine feet high and 42 inches thick.

A PROTEST

The radio and television networks have banned from the air the original versions of Stephen Foster's songs, including "My Old Kentucky Home." Their explanation is that a minority of persons is offended by such terms in the songs as darkies, massa, mammy, and Ole Black Joe, even when sung affectionately. These persons must be treated delicately because they're customers of the almighty sponsors of radio-TV programs.

Yet the network hucksters do not display such delicacy when they cry we all are in need of deodorants, bile regulators, pimple extractors, dandruff killers, union eradicators, hairdye, rejuvenators, soap, skin softeners, halitosis chasers, fat eliminators and wrinkle straighteners.

BIG TOADSTOOL

The Gallatin County News, Warsaw, has thrown out what looks like a challenge. Declares the news: "Alva Lowe is undoubtedly the champion toadstool grower in Gallatin county—and maybe in Kentucky. Alva brought us a toadstool which measures seven inches across the top and is 12 inches high. It grew in his barn in a pile of sawdust near a water pump."

RECOLLECTIONS

I recall when matches were not in use in country places and people kept fire in the old-fashioned fire place by covering a few coals with ashes when the weather was warm. Sometimes it would go out between meals and they would go to a neighbor's house and borrow fire.—J. T. Franklin, Ky.

I recall one time a French peddler came through Harrison county and I traded him coonskins for fiddle strings. — Fritz Gyn, Cincinnati.

TRAM

Homemakers Set Meet Dates
Tram Homemakers met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Conn, July 24. The group will be known as the Busy Bees and will meet the third Friday, 1:30 p.m., of each month. Other business was planning the aluminum tray etching lesson led by Mrs. Constance Lackey, project leader. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Flora Hopkins, of Harold, August 16, at 1:30 pm.

The lesson, "Outdoor Meals," was given by Mrs. Gualene Smith, home economist, Kentucky Power Company. Floyd County Agricultural Agent Robert M. Jones told about barbecuing for a crowd and how to use a camping stove.

Homemakers attending were: Mrs. Laura Bailey, Mrs. Ezra Collins, Mrs. Thelma Conn, Mrs. Layne, Mrs. Alvin Wright, Mrs. Constance Lackey, Mrs. Josephine Jennie Wright. Guests were Mr. John Conn, Mr. Wright, and Mr. Layne.

DRIFT

Homemakers Study Outdoor Meals
Drift Homemakers met at the home of Mrs. H. D. Hewlett, July 22. Miss Dixie Trapp, home demonstration agent, explained the Homemakers phase of the Extension program. Mrs. Gualene Smith, home economist, Kentucky Power Company, gave the lesson on "Outdoor Meals."

The Drift Group will hold the August lesson at the home of Mrs. Ivan Reed, August 29, 7 p.m. Miss Ruby Akers, McDowell home economics teacher, will teach the lesson, "Aluminum Tray Etching."

Those present at Mrs. H. D. Hewlett's were: Mrs. Clive Akers, Miss Ruby Akers, Mrs. Glenn Burton, Mrs. H. D. Hewlett, Mrs. Olive Rose Hall, Mrs. E. T. Jones, Mrs. Ben Martin, Mrs. Ivan Reed, Mrs. Edward W. Schneider, Mrs. Shirley Vanderpool, Mrs. Gladys Ward and Mrs. Frederick Zupan.

FOOD NOTES

By Dixie Trapp
Home Demonstration Agent

How would you like to sit down and eat 200 pounds of vegetables? In one year you will eat that many if you are an average vegetable consumer.

You need never grow tired of vegetables. There is such a large variety and such a scattered peak of supply. Even one vegetable such as potatoes will have as many as 40 varieties.

The vegetable season knows no beginning or end. Summer, of course, is the season when you find the greatest number in their peak supply.

Canned and frozen vegetables take care of the slack season. Over a third of our vegetables are canned and about 6 per cent are frozen. Canning and freezing are going on in many Floyd county homes now.

Vegetable marketing is being improved constantly. Better transportation and refrigeration bring better quality vegetables from areas that specialize. About two-thirds of our dollar goes for this marketing service.

That 200 pounds is a treasure of health and well-being. They furnish you with many nutrients necessary for good health. This is Vegetable Week and a good time to check that you are getting your one-half pound of vegetables per day.

In August 1794, Edward West successfully ran a steamboat on Elkhorn Creek, near Lexington, first on mid-Western waters.

MAYTOWN

Homemakers Hold Meeting
Maytown Homemakers met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Lowe, July 25. The group chose the third Thursday of each month as regular meeting date. An aluminum tray etching lesson will be held at the Maytown lunchroom August 15, 10:00 a.m. The project leaders are Mrs. Sid Bailey and Mrs. Ralph Spencer. They would like to have all orders by August 3.

The July lesson, "Outdoor Meals" was given by Mrs. Gualene Smith, home economist. Jack Friar, assistant county agricultural agent, explained barbecuing for a crowd.

Taking part in the lesson were Mrs. Sid Bailey, Mrs. Fletcher Gayheart, Ruby Mae and Rhoda Ann Gayheart, Fletcher Gayheart, Jr., Mrs. Champ Gibson and Judy, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Lowe and Claudia, Mrs. Ralph Spencer and Gloria.

Livestock Losses To Doge Scheduled For Payment by Ky.

Frankfort, July, 29 (Spl.) — State Dog Law Administrator Wayland Rhoads has announced that $25,146 will be paid claimants for livestock losses due to dogs during the last three quarters of the 1956-57 fiscal year.

This sum is made up of 707 different claims from 67 counties for losses sustained during the period, Oct. 1, 1956, to June 30, 1957.

Rhoads said the Kentucky Dog Law Advisory Committee had recommended last September that all claims be deferred until the end of the fiscal year, so payment of three quarters of indemnities were certified at one time. Rhoads added that no claims for this fiscal year will be paid until after next June 30.

Claims for losses due to dogs are valid if the claimant licenses all dogs he owns or harbors; his county is complying with the Kentucky dog law; indemnities through private insurance do not exceed the appraised value of the animal; sufficient money is in the state livestock fund to recover the claim; and he does not know who owns the dog or dogs that destroyed his livestock.

Daviess county claimants are receiving the largest sum of indemnity payments with a total of $1,266. Trimble county receives the least amount of indemnities with a $6 payment. Mercer county has the most separate claims with 48. The largest single claimant was a Fulton county farmer who received $300.

WOMEN GETTING KEY SOVIET JOBS

Moscow — Women are moving into the big jobs in the Soviet Union.

The Communist Party magazine Kommunist said women now comprise 53 per cent of all specialists with higher education, including more than 10,000 with degrees of bachelor or doctor of science.

In addition, women hold 2,209 seats in the Supreme Soviet and the supreme soviets of the various republics and more than 500,000 seats in local soviet (government) organizations.

FARM NOTES

By Robert M. Jones
County Agent

Prepare now to seed your alfalfa in the last two weeks of August. If you haven't already limed the land it should be done as soon as possible. Unless a soil test is made, use three tons per acre on land that has not been limed for the last eight years. Alfalfa requires a sweet soil, and it will be impossible to establish and hold a stand without liming.

The land should be plowed or disked now and again just before sowing. This will control weeds, and allow the soil to soak up moisture. A well prepared seed bed probably will mean the difference between a good stand and a poor one.

Plan to use 1,000 pounds of 3-12-12 fertilizer or its equivalent per acre, unless a soil test is made which would be a more accurate way of determining fertilizer needed.

Most of the alfalfa seed in the county has been certified Atlantic. It is a high producer, and does well in Eastern Kentucky.

SUMMER CARE OF STRAWBERRIES

Do not damage your strawberry fields by close and deep cultivation or by pulling weeds close to plants during hot, dry periods.

Two of the greatest enemies of good strawberry fields are the double-shovel and rastus plows. This is especially true in hot weather. A much better tool is the 14-tooth cultivator.

Cultivating the strawberry field is a job that needs to be watched closely. First of all, do not cultivate any more often than necessary. Scratch the surface just enough to root out the small weeds. Stay six inches away from any rooted strawberry plants.

Helping runner plants to take root by covering the runner near the new plant with moist sod is a profitable practice. Once this plant has started to take root it should never be moved.

Rather than pull weeds close to plants cut them off just underneath the surface. If weeds are pulled do it when the ground is moist and firm the soil where the weed was pulled.

COUNTY FAIR

The County Fair will run from October 2-5. For the last several years the fair has been growing each year. There have been many good exhibits of home and farm products. We all enjoy seeing our neighbors' products, but if you would like to really enjoy the fair, plan to exhibit something this year. There is not a family in the county but what has something they would like to show. There will be many different rings from which to enter your products.

Little Known Facts From The Reader's Digest

A new jet-powered KC-135 Stratotanker made by Boeing, the August Reader's Digest reveals, can refuel the latest jet bombers in mid-air at high altitude while both airplanes are traveling at a speed close to 600 miles an hour. Previously refueling had to be done at speeds of about 250 miles an hour.

Our nearest star is the sun and it is not cooling down but warming up. Without the protection of the earth's atmosphere, which filters out the ultraviolet and x rays that would otherwise continually bombard us, reports Reader's Digest, we would all die in a few minutes from acute sunburn.

The principal material in filter-tips for cigarettes, according to the August Reader's Digest, is cellulose acetate, a synthetic fiber. Over 95 percent of the cellulose acetate comes from Tennessee Eastman, a subsidiary of Eastman Kodak, located in Kingsport, Tenn. It is manufactured to any degree of fineness or coarseness according to each cigarette company's own specifications.

Dutch elm disease, a fungus first discovered in Holland after World War I, has erased 40 million elms from the American landscape but it is possible to save remaining trees with proper control measures, reports the August Reader's Digest.

An Early Start Helps You Crowd More Into Day

Do you find time within the 24 hours to do everything you would like to do? Time was money to Ben Franklin and a Greek philosopher named Theophrastus said: "Time is the most valuable thing a man can spend."

Using the last phrase as a title, the Rev. Margaret Blair Johnstone, who is pastor of the Union Congregational Church in Groton, Mass., and also of the Christian Union Church in West Groton, in the August Reader's Digest offers four rules for living within your "time" income.

They are:

1. Wherever you are going or whatever you are doing, start in time.
2. Do it now! Delay wastes time and saps energy.
3. Learn when to say "No," and when to say "Yes." Because our time income is fixed we must learn to be selective in spending it.
4. Take time out. Do something that restores the lilt and zest to your living. A change is as good as a rest.
