This Town— That World

NEW BOAT SERVICE

The Puma is the name of the charter boat now operating for parties from the state boat dock on Dewey Lake to the dam. It accommodates 30 or more, is a good, seaworthy craft, though no speedster, and is ideal for picnicking or sight-seeing groups who want to travel in leisurely fashion.

Oh, yes—the skipper of this craft is Dauntless Don Howard.

THE QUICKLY DEAD

We're always wishing we had kept this item or that (which may account for the condition of this desk), but we usually wind up not having the very item we want. Did not keep, for instance, Bob Considine's or Quentin Reynolds' or some outstanding writer's piece in a recent Courier-Journal. And I wanted to reprint that part that said, in effect, that a newspaper published in the 1700's is not nearly as dead as a live radio or television program one minute after it is over.

THIS COULD BE SERIOUS

I am getting behind in my fishing, and I have neglected the sport in this column so much that there are not more than a thousand or so Floyd countians who believe I am a better fisherman than Jason Lucas. . . . Fact of the matter is,

HAYES ADDS NEW PLANT

Former Pike Dance Hall Dedicated Saturday Night On Co. Prexy's Birthday

A former dance hall, the Silver Barn, on Robinson Creek in Pike county, was dedicated Saturday night to become a new plant in the Hayes Metal Products chain of Eastern Kentucky factories.

The polished, wooden floors of the Silver Barn, a large quonset-hut-type structure, felt the shuffle of dancing feet for the last time. This week the dance floor will be pulled away to the concrete surfacing beneath for the tread of metal workers producing coal truck bodies, mine machinery and other metal products.

The official welcome was given by Pike County Judge Ervin Pruitt. Other speakers included B. P. Bogardus, Pikeville, member of the board of directors, and Arlie E. Hayes, Hi Hat, president of Hayes Metal Products. Actual dedication of the building was conducted by June D. Hayes, also a director in the company.

High point in the program was a short five-act skit lampooning Arlie Hayes, president. The dedication ceremony coincided with Mr. Hayes' birthday. The play, produced by Elmer Layne, of Pikeville, salesman at the Pikeville plant, starred nine-year-old Brad Layne as Arlie, 10-year-old Rhea Dameron, daughter of Milton Dameron, as June D.; Vee Vee Hayes, daughter of Paul E. Hayes, as the secretary; Buddy and Danny Forsythe, sons of John Forsythe, to complete the cast.

Scott Craft and his orchestra furnished dance music for the Hayes Metal workers, wives, stockholders, and prospective investors. The attendance was estimated at 500.

COUNCIL ACTS TO SET SWIMMING POOL VOTE

SPECIAL LEVY TO BEAR COST UP TO VOTERS

'Find What People Want' Theme of Council Meet As Pool Here Suggested

Voters of Prestonsburg will be given an opportunity at the regular November election to say how strongly they want a community swimming pool.

The City Council at its meeting Monday night adopted a resolution calling for the election. The resolution specified that the voters will decide if a special tax levy of 5 to 20 cents per $100 valuation shall be made to finance the project.

A two-thirds vote is required for passage of a special levy.

In suggesting the swimming pool to the Council as a long-discussed project and one that the community needs, Burl Spurlock, head of The First National Bank, said that "the only way to go about it is to find out what the people want." The election will do just that.

It is estimated that a swimming pool and facilities such as those at Paintsville will cost $150,000. Mr. Spurlock estimated that 75% of the tax monies required for the project would be supplied by a few large companies or enterprises.

The swimming pool, if built, would be located on city-owned property near the new water plant here.

THREE ADMIT CAMP LOOTING

Fourth Flees Custody On Way To Jail; Case Set for August 26th

Three of four youths questioned in connection with the robbery of two camps at Dewey Lake confessed their guilt last week, and the fourth who made no admission fled from Deputy Jailer Ray Click as he was being taken from County Judge Henry Stumbo's office to jail.

The youth who fled is Howard Gene Allen, of West Prestonsburg. He has not been captured. Hearings for him and three others have been set by Judge Stumbo for August 26. His companions were released in custody of their parents.

The three admitted taking coats, lanterns, fishing reels, silverware and foodstuffs from the camps of R. S. Hatfield and J. R. Smith. The four were picked up when Milford "Toodles" Wells and Gordon Moore learned who had rented a boat at the dock, then checked on the car they had used.

Two youths who looted the cabin of Gordon Moore on the lake a few weeks ago—David Goble, held subject to court order. The court order provided that they pay by Sept. 1 damages they caused Moore.

List of Petitioners Uncertified, Delaying Publication of Names

Because many names on the "wet" petition filed at the County Clerk's office are illegible, or so nearly so that the correct name is in doubt, the Clerk is not willing to certify a list of those who signed the petition.

As a result, publication of the list is temporarily delayed. Dry leaders said the list will be carefully checked, that handwriting similarities will be examined, and that they may require wet forces to prove the identities of those whose names cannot be deciphered.

"We regret this further postponement of publication, but under the circumstances have no other course to take at the present time," Dry League leaders said.

THREE OTHERS ARE FIRED FROM STATE ROAD JOBS

Three more state highway employees from this county were listed this week as having been fired. They are Andy Collins, Clyde Blackburn and Beverly Thompson.

Jonah Mullins, 47, Dies At Printer Home, Aug. 3, Victim of Lung Cancer

Jonah Mullins, 47, died at his Printer home at 7:40 a.m., last Saturday, a victim of lung cancer.

Mullins, the son of Jay and Polly Hall Mullins, is survived by his wife, Mindy Hall Mullins. He also leaves the following children: Claude, St. Mary's, O., Burt, Drift, Curt and Johnny, both of Printer, Ansie, Clyde, Carlos, Donald and Gene and Elizabeth, all at home; five brothers, Frank and Ersel, both of Hunter, Hassell, of Fort Knox, Boyd, Lorraine, O., and Gene, Baltimore, Md.; four sisters Mrs. Costi Mullins, Hunter, Mrs. Ada Ridings, Mrs. Lizzie Mullins and Mrs. Nellie Vaughn, all of Baltimore, Md.

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m., Monday at the home at Printer, conducted by the Revs. Troy Nickels and Marion Chaffins. Burial was made in the Mullins family cemetery at Printer under the direction of the Hall Bros. Funeral Home.

150 ATTEND FARM EVENT

Annual Family Field Day Held July 31 Near Allen; Exhibits, Crops Attract

Approximately 150 Floyd countians attended the annual Farm Family Field Day held last Wednesday at the Virgil Smith farm near Allen.

The men toured the Smith farm during the morning, observed their host's excellent stand of alfalfa that had been seeded last spring, viewed the irrigation system on display by the Wigglesworth Agriculture Service, Smith's flock of sheep—considered one of the best in Eastern Kentucky—his turkey and chicken flocks, the farm water system, the strawberry patch and garden.

Glema Martin won the sheep judging contest and received as a prize a pressure sprayer from the Farm & Home Store. Freer Martin won the seed identification contest. His prize was a bag of hog feed donated by Paul Francis Wholesale.

Tour of the farm by the women was conducted by Donald Claypool, assistant county agent. The program for women was presented by Mrs. Guialene Smith, Kentucky Power Company home ecologist.

RULING HITS RATE BOOST

FPC Holds Two Firms Should Refund Excess Charges To United Fuel

A Federal Power Commission examiner Monday ruled against natural-gas rate increases totaling $401,565 annually which United Carbon Company, Charleston, W. Va., and Columbian Fuel Corporation, New York, have been collecting since April 1, 1956.

Examiner Howell Purdie held that the independent producers should be required to refund the excess charges, together with interest at 6 per cent annually, to United Fuel Gas Company, also of Charleston.

His decision will become a final commission order if no review is initiated within 30 days.

The case involves sales of gas to United Fuel by United Carbon and Columbian from fields in Floyd, Knott, Pike, Breathitt, and Magoffin counties in Kentucky. United Carbon's increase amounted to $198,565 and Columbian's was $203,000.

The producers proposed increases from 22 1/2 to 26 cents a thousand cubic feet and after the F.P.C. suspended the increases, put them into effect April 1, 1956, subject to refund.

Purdie found that the producers had failed to establish the "basis of comparison" which he said is a prerequisite to a determination that the sought increases are no more than needed to encourage exploration and development of gas reserves.

Bradis Goble, Dewey reservoir ranger, being congratulated by Col. Skidmore, district chief of U. S. Army Engineers, Huntington, W. Va., after Goble had received a $200 cash award and a certificate citing him for "superior sustained performance" in connection with his duties on the Floyd impoundment.

ARMY ENGINEERS HONORS GOBLE FOR PERFORMANCE

Bradis Goble, reservoir ranger, Dewey Reservoir Project was honored in Huntington, W. Va., Monday when he received a $200 cash award and a certificate for sustained superior performance from Colonel H. J. Skidmore, district engineer of the U. S. Corps of Engineers, Huntington. Mr. Goble has been with the Huntington district approximately 11 years, and prior to that was with the Nashville, Tenn., district.

Cash awards for sustained superior performance of duties are initiated by supervisory personnel—in this instance, by Howard Osborne, reservoir manager, and Pete Fulmer, chief of the flood projects operations branch, Huntington—under an Army-wide incentive awards program.

During the recent disastrous flood in the Big Sandy River Basin, Mr. Goble rendered outstanding service to the public by assisting in rescue work and distributing food to persons isolated in the upper reaches of the reservoir area. He also assisted the Kentucky Division of Parks by keeping it advised of pool heights and looking after its property.

Mr. Goble has spent a great deal of his time, outside of his regular tour of duty, in promoting good will and cordial relations in the communities adjacent to Dewey Reservoir. He has also assisted in coordinating the efforts of the Kentucky Divisions of State Parks and Fish and Game with those of the Army Engineers in managing all parts of the reservoir to provide the best possible service to the public during the present transition period before the Kentucky Department of Conservation assumes full responsibility for all reservoir activities.

MURDER SEEN AS MAN DIES

Blankenship May Have Died of Beating, Said; Body Returned to Floyd

Foul play is suspected in the death in an Ashtabula, O., hospital last Saturday of William Goble Blankenship, 56, former resident of the Mud Creek section of this county.

He died of wounds apparently inflicted by beating, and it was reported here that a suspect was jailed. Relatives could supply no details, however.

Mr. Blankenship had lived in Ashtabula about five years and was employed there by a railroad company. He was a son of Robert and Spicy Hamilton Blankenship. Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Virgie Gayheart Blankenship, two sons, Hargis and Delmer, both of Ashtabula, and five daughters, Mrs. Vivian Subol, Buffalo, N. Y., Mrs. Zella Mae Compous, Carol Sue, Marcella and Sally Ann Blankenship, all of Ashtabula. The following brothers and sisters also survive: Willie Green and Beckham Blankenship, both of Weeksburg, Bert Blankenship, of Knott county, Mrs. Della Jones, Mrs. Mary Hamilton and Hiram Blankenship, all of Teaberry, Harrison Blankenship, of Ligon, and Mrs. Martha Branham, of Bypro.

The body was returned to this county for burial in the Joe Reynolds cemetery at Beaver, the Hall Brothers Funeral Home directing.

FLOYD UTILITY RATES REVISED

Becomes Effective Aug. 1; Allen Is Named Receiver In Federal Court Action

New rates charged customers of the Floyd County Water & Gas System, which recently was placed in receivership, became effective August 1.

John Allen, of Prestonsburg, was named receivership of the gas and water system by Federal Judge Mac Swinford after all parties to a federal court suit had agreed in a "statement of facts" that the gas system has been operating at a loss, was in arrears on payment of principal and interest on bonded indebtedness and that a receiver should be named.

The suit which resulted in receivership for the utilities system was filed by U. H. Benderman, one of the bondholders. Soon after it was filed came the ruling that Floyd county is not responsible for payment of the bonds. More recently the case was dismissed as to the County Judge and the Magistrates named in the suit. The suit was dismissed without prejudice only to the extent that it sought personal judgment against these officials.

The new gas rates are: First 2,000 cubic feet, $2.50 (minimum formerly was $1.75); all over 2,000 cubic feet, 75c per 1,000 (former rate was 60c) rate to manufacturers for gas used in excess of 100,000 cubic feet, 45c.

Ceremonies To Mark 40th Year Church In Its Present Building; Pastor To Speak From Japan

The First Methodist Church of Prestonsburg will celebrate on Sunday, Aug. 11, the 40th year of its occupancy of the present church edifice. Special ceremonies have been planned for the day.

Sunday, Aug. 11, has for another reason particular significance to the church. Twenty years ago, the Rev. F. Harry King sealed a box containing church mementoes and personal messages of church members. The Rev. King specified August 11, 1957 as the date for the opening of this box. Mrs. King and her son William will be here for the opening. All members, former members and friends of the church are cordially invited to attend.

From Japan at 11:30 a.m., the pastor, the Rev. Harold W. Dorsey, will speak briefly to the congregation via telephone connected to a public address system.

At the morning worship service, the Rev. W. Hugh Smith will be the guest speaker. Rev. Smith, a former pastor of the Methodist Church here, is now pastor of the Barbourville Methodist Church. Immediately following the morning service, a covered-dish dinner will be served in the church basement.

REED ACCUSES 4 FOR ARREST

Mullins Fill Bond To Answer To Action Of Sept. Grand Jury

County Policeman Troy Mullins, Wayland Policeman Oak Mullins and their sons, James and Eugene, surrendered here Monday night after having been notified that warrants had been sworn out for their arrest in connection with their arrest and imprisonment a week ago of Deputy Sheriff A. J. Reed.

Deputy Sheriff Reed signed affidavit to procure from County Judge Henry Stumbo a warrant charging all four men with banding and confederating. Another warrant accused Oak Mullins of reckless use of a deadly weapon, and a third accused James Mullins of assault and battery.

They were released after executing $500 bond on each count. They waived examining trial, and the bonds are for their answer to the September grand jury's action.

Reed was jailed on a warrant alleging that he falsely imprisoned a minor.

COUNCIL ACTS TO GET HELP

On Flood Wall Here; Latta Named Attorney To Procure Easements

The City Council enacted a resolution Monday evening authorizing Mayor Harry Sandige to employ legal counsel to procure easements on all lands adjacent or pertaining to the flood protection installation planned by the U. S. Corps of Army Engineers.

Clifford B. Latta, Prestonsburg attorney, was named counsel to do this work, and he is authorized by the resolution to employ condemnation proceedings, if necessary.

The step was considered a big move toward realization of the flood wall which would protect most of Prestonsburg from all but record-approaching floods such as last January's.

The Council in another resolution has accepted one of three plans which had been submitted for the flood protection undertaking. The plan adopted provides for additional pumping capacity at local expense when needed in the future to compensate for any loss of pondage area through filling of lots or by other improvements.

The Council granted authorization for payment of $22,000 to the United States as Prestonsburg's part of the initial construction costs.

The difference in cost between Plan 1, simplest of those submitted and entailing the least equipment, and Plan 3 which was accepted, is $70,000, but this sum will be expended as filling of the pondage area makes additional pumps necessary.

MARTIN LOSES STATE FINALS

Owensboro All-Stars Tip Martin, 4-2, on Errors And Walks Tuesday Night

The Martin Little Leaguer's dream of reaching the Little League World Series was burst Tuesday in the finals of the Kentucky State Little League Tournament as the Owensboro Eastern League All-Stars beat them, 4-2 at Castlewood Park in Lexington.

The Martin team had earned its way to the final round of the tournament the day before in whipping Paducah 10-2. In this game the pitching of "Howdy Doody" Rowland paced the team to their win.

Bobby Woodward pitched the route for Owensboro, allowing only three hits and three walks. He struck out 12 batters, an average of two an inning.

Martin got both its run, as well as its three hits in the first inning, and seemed on its way to repeating Monday's performance when it scored seven runs in the first against Paducah.

With one out, Rudy Griffith singled, Bob Talent walked and Cletis Rowland doubled, scoring Griffith. Glenn Patton followed with a run-scoring single and Larry Maggard walked, loading the bases. Then Woodward set-

WOMEN DIE IN WRECK, DRIVER BADLY INJURED

Middle Creek Wreck Hospitalizes Three

Three Floyd countians suffered mild lacerations and bruises when their car slid on gravel, hit a tree, and went on over a hill about a mile and a half up the Middle Creek road from Prestonsburg.

Hurt in the accident were two daughters of Hayes Salyers, Mary Salyers, 14, and Nellie Salyers Ford, 25, and George Whitefield, 16, of East Point.

The accident occurred about 1:30 a.m., Thursday, Prestonsburg hospital attendants said.

RABIES FOUND IN DEAD DEER

Open Season on Foxes Declared in an Attempt To Limit Rabies Spread

At least one of four deer found in this county within the last six weeks died of rabies, laboratory tests have revealed.

This discovery led to conjecture about the other three and the possible connection of their deaths with reports of widespread rabies among foxes in the lake area where three of the dead deer were found.

Scientific proof of rabies was gained last Friday when Howard Stephens, of Prestonsburg, district game biologist, took to the University of Kentucky laboratories in Lexington the head of a buck which he and Raymond Copley, conservation officer, had found the preceding day. Tests showed presence of the near anti-bodies typical of rabies.

After learning this, Stephens went to a bank to learn if action by the Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources might be taken. The Department issued an order opening a 60-day emergency season on foxes, beginning with August 1 and continuing till Oct. 1. The open season applies to all Floyd county and does not particularize the Dewey Lake section.

In fact, the open season on foxes may apply anywhere in Floyd county more effectively than to the lake area, because the land surrounding the impoundment constitutes a game refuge from which all hunters are barred.

Cause of the deaths of the other

CAR PLUNGES OFF HILLSIDE ONTO TRACKS

Auto Later Hit by Train, Is Shoved Along Railway; Dwale Residents Victims

Condition of Jack Adams, believed to have been the driver of the car in the wreck of which two young Dwale women were killed early last Saturday morning, remains critical at Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin. It was here Tuesday.

Killed in the wreck of his car when it crashed approximately 125 feet down a mountainside onto tracks of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company were Bonnie Joyce Birchfield, 20, and Beulah Frances Crisp, 21, both of Dwale.

Adams suffered a brain concussion, a skull fracture and multiple contusions. A report received here said he is conscious only at intervals. He was a resident of Ivyton but had been employed in Ypsilanti, Michigan.

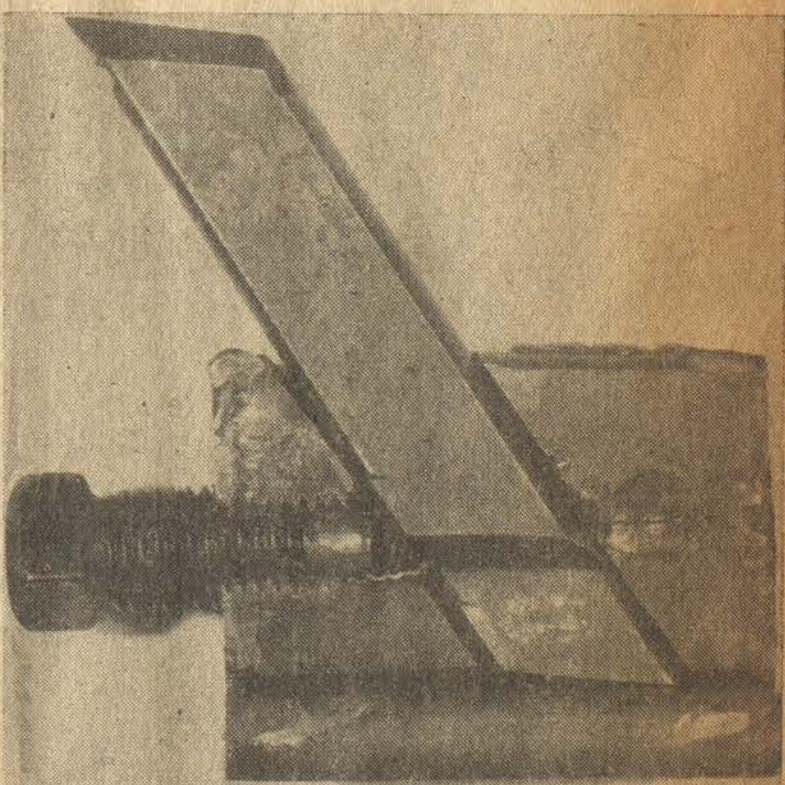

The young women victims were employed at the Big Y-Drive-In at Allen, and had worked there till about 2:30 a.m. Miss Crisp had been previously married but was divorced from her husband, and was to have been married to Adams, relatives said.

The car in which the man and two girls were driving toward Dwale had rounded a curve when it left the road. The auto careened onto the railway tracks and stopped. There it was hit by a train at 4:35 a.m., and shoved about 190 feet down the tracks. Pathologists could not determine the time of the young women's deaths. Trainmen told Coroner James J. Carter they saw two bodies lying on the upper (next to the hill) side of the tracks and a third lying between the double tracks. Adams and the Birchfield girl's body were found on the upper side of the tracks and Miss Crisp's between the two tracks.

Surviving Miss Crisp are her parents, Crit and Katie Branham Crisp, of Dwale, her son, Charles Aaron Murdock, four brothers and four sisters, Mrs. Jean Fannin, of Emma, Mrs. Aveline Por-

JOY ASKS PATENT ON DEVICE HE BELIEVES REVOLUTIONARY

Cross-section view of cutting tool and holder Joy proposes for chain continuous mining.

Wilbur R. Joy, founder and president of Prestonsburg's Coal Bit Company, has applied for a patent on what he regards as a revolutionary cutting tool and holder for continuous mining machines.

Mr. Joy, whose success with carbide-tipped mining bits and other cutting devices in recent years has been sensational, not only has such a cutting tool and holder designed—he has machinery ready for its production. In fact, the machinery he has installed or ready for installation could produce about 45,000 cutting bits a day.

When the new invention reaches the point where the device is ready for the market, Prestonsburg will have another manufacturing business. Mr. Joy's coal bit business, based on carbide-tipped cutting bits, has grown from a one-man home undertaking to a plant now employing 16.

The inventor, who is a member of the Joy Manufacturing Company family which produced the famous Joy loader, is certain the new device will be equally successful.

Elizabeth Conley Smith,
Victim of Heart Attack
At Abbott Creek Home

Mrs. Elizabeth Conley Smith, 67 years old, wife of B. N. Smith, died at 2 p.m., Tuesday at her home on Abbott Creek, victim of heart disease.

Mrs. Smith was a daughter of the late F. P. Conley, of Abbott Creek. She leaves her husband, two sons and two daughters, Ernest Conley, West Prestonsburg, Cecil Conley, Norfolk, Va., Mrs. Henry Skeans, of Hunter, and Mrs. Carl Day, Bloomington, Mo.; two brothers and two sisters, Paris and Edgar Conley, Mrs. Gilbert Ray and Mrs. Jim Wright, all of West Prestonsburg.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete, it was said at the Hall Brothers Funeral Home Tuesday afternoon.

The Sheaf of Wheat Tavern in Lexington was the meeting place for the first Kentucky legislature in 1792. General Isaac Shelby by common consent was chosen first governor.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D.
Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

A FOLKLORE MAP OF KY.

Not too long ago a publishing company put out a folklore map of the United States, emphasizing the folksongs that have grown up in our rather New World. It is a fascinating suggestion, for everywhere we have developed songs that tell of our distinctive life here. Just think of cowboys and braggarts and desperadoes and scouts and Indians and Negroes and the Old South and Paul Bunyan and John Henry! We have produced everything from the New England psalm-singing church to the camp-meeting and its wild and racy airs. And in lighter vein we have danced everything from the stately Virginia reel, called in the Old World the Sir Roger de Coverley, to the awkward clogging on a barn door at a country store. And we have sung of every known species of moon and all the varying eyes and hair that were ever made.

From a slightly wider angle I have long wanted to make a folklore map of Kentucky, to include all this and more, too. I would include all our Kentucky folk heroes and yarns; all our haunted houses and lonely graves of mysterious people; all our folk industries, such as pottery and basketry and meat-curing; all our gathering places, such as picnicking areas and camp-meeting grounds; all our old-fashioned springs and wells where hotels used to be and where a fine folk flavor still remains. Some of my students in a graduate course that I teach have made some beginnings on this project and could ultimately make such a map.

Let's take a single country, for example, the one where I have lived since a was a stripling, Warren. It was an old county as Kentucky counties go and thus acquired some of the pioneer traditions. Reputed locations of early huts and feats against panthers and Indians are numerous. There are enough stories about some of the pioneers to make a full book. Then there are unkept graveyards where strange things happen or seem to happen, things that indicate old-time foul play. There is the site of the old tree where a man was hanged. The tree, incidentally, died, just as all such trees do. There is the spot where an ex-Civil War soldier came to take his life after he found, at the end of hostilities, that the Bowling Green girl who promised to remain true soon forgot him and her promise. And there are the two dozen gathering places where, for unknown years, people have found themselves meeting on picnics and similar occasions. Some of them have developed churches or a small village; others are just as lacking in buildings as they were when the pioneers for some reason first began to meet there. And the very legend that the site of Bowling Green was a famous play place in early times is good enough to be true and should not be disproved, in spite of similar names elsewhere. Whether any actual ballads grew up here I do not know, but there should have been a ballad about Daniel Boone's having a fight here in the early days. And there is said to be a warrant here for the arrest of one Jesse James, if and when he appears in this town, a left-over of his daring robbery at Russellville. At least this tradition made an elderly fake take to the higher timber some years ago when he appeared here, stoutly maintaining that he was the real McCoy and that the man buried so long ago was somebody else. And no map of this county would be complete, no folk map, without the neighborhood of Goshen, where Aunt Jane of Kentucky lived, a creation of Eliza Calvert Hall but almost as legendary as Paul Bunyan or John Henry. And Barren and Green Rivers, with their river lore from steamboat and rafting days, would make a fine chapter in any book written to accompany such a folklore map. In fact, Dr. Thomas D. Clark's masterful Kentucky River could be duplicated if some one gathered the lore up and down the Green and its tributaries. The actual history would be interesting enough; the hearsay and legend would be even more so.

Judge Pruitt pledged the cooperation of all Pike county officials in development of the new plant. He added that while Hayes Metal is the first plant he had welcomed to Pike county, he looked forward to many industrial plants locating in this area naturally shielded from atomic attack.

Mr. Bogardus remarked that his association with Hayes Metal has been the three most rewarding years of his career.

A. E. Hayes, his wife June, and Mr. Bogardus received presents from the metal workers.

Mr. Hayes, in a critical analysis of the prospect of new industry for Eastern Kentucky, pointed out that the salvation of the area depends not in bringing in new industry but in creating factories at home. Hayes struck out at the investment of local capital in large foreign corporations. He said, "Eastern Kentucky capital makes jobs for Eastern Kentuckians elsewhere. Fifteen thousand dollars invested in a Detroit motor corporation will make one job for an Eastern Kentuckian in Detroit, $3,000 invested in Eastern Kentucky will make one job for a man at home."

In addition to the new plant, Hayes Metal fabricates truck bodies, large coal trailers, mine machinery and building structures at three locations, Hi Hat and Pikeville, Kentucky and Richlands, Virginia.

Paul E. Hayes, Prestonsburg attorney, and general counsel of the three Hayes Metal Corporations, was master of ceremonies.

led down and struck out Richard Branham and got the last batter on a grounder ball to second base. The righthander allowed only one base-runner during the next four innings and that one on an error.

In the sixth, Martin threatened by getting its first two men on base. Rowland walked and went to third when Patton's grounder to short was hooted into center field. Rowland was thrown out at the plate trying to score on a passed ball, and when Maggard grounded the ball back to Woodward, Patton was picked off third. Woodward struck out last batter. Owensboro got only two hits off the offing of Tallent, but used four walks, and two errors to the best advantage.

I am 53 years old, was born and raised in Floyd County. The son of B. M. and Julia Langley Spurlock. This is my first time to ever seek public office and I want to say here and now that I have been extremely liberal in my political views. I was too young to vote when my opponent first sought public office in 1912. However most of my adult life he has either been in office or seeking office. In one of his successful attempts I must add that I supported him.

I do not intend to engage in mud slinging during this campaign. I will not bring up the past nor utter one ill word about my opponent. He has a record and it speaks louder than I can. I urge you to make diligent inquiries about us both, and vote your convictions.

The Family Group Picture—An Old Floyd Custom

We are indebted to the old photographers who took pictures of family groups, portraits or scenes of years ago. Extant today in many family albums are pictures of oldsters who contributed much in good citizenship and service to our county and of children who grew into today's fine citizens.

Shown in the picture above, taken in 1916 at Myrtle, Ky., on the farm of Sherman May, are front row, left to right: Dewey May, Sherman May, Martha May, his wife, John May as an infant, Dr. Isaac Burke and his wife Lula with Mabel, an infant daughter, Manis Conley, who was a young teacher at the time, and Hager May, now a Prestonsburg businessman. The two girls behind Dr. Burke are unidentified. Back row, left to right, are Josephine Neeley, Pearl Williams, Stella May, Grant May, Conna May, Missouri Neeley, Maggie Burke, Stella Burke, Ella May and Verlie Dotson.

The officers and directors of the First National Bank, founded 12 years before this picture was taken, have always felt a oneness with Floyd county people and their needs. It is a friendly bank.

State Police Pledged To Clean-Up Job

Don Sturgill, Kentucky's commissioner of public safety, has put Northern Kentucky and its legal authorities on notice that State Police will clean up gambling in that area if officials elected or employed to do the job continue to neglect their duty.

We are pleased to see this further evidence of the State Police coming of age. In the past the state has leaned backward to make this state enforcement body secondary to local authorities, and this in theory is good, inasmuch as home rule is to be desired as long as home rule is not a misnomer.

Gradually, the State Police has emerged toward what it should be — an enforcement organization with the authority of the state behind it, mobile, flexible, well-knit, and ready to face up to responsibility.

Commissioner Sturgill notes that "we get complaints from the mountains about bootlegging, but the only ones we get about gambling are from Northern Kentucky."

Let Mr. Sturgill not forget that mountain bootlegging is an offense against the law, even as Northern Kentucky gambling is an offense.

Respectful of the rights of other officers, Sturgill announced that he would, before ordering state troopers to make raids, first of all give the police chief of Kenton county a list of eight or ten suspected gambling places, and thus present the police chief a chance to do the job himself.

Surely Mr. Sturgill knows that the chief of police of Kenton county needs no such list. He surely knows that no local officer ever needs such information. The general public knows it — why should not the enforcement officers? Wherever we can, let us give law enforcement officers credit for integrity of purpose and action.

We repeat, we are glad to see organized gambling under attack by state police. Organized crime of any kind must be attacked by the best organized forces of law enforcement the state has.

Let us not forget that Eastern Kentucky bootlegging is pretty well organized, too.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

HE'LL GET THE PAPER

Editor, The Times: This last week I received a copy of The Times from home and I can tell you truthfully that it was the most inspirational feeling that I have experienced in a long time to sit down and read a Floyd County Times again.

I have been in the Marine Corps since December of '56 and I am now serving with the 3d Marine Division here on Okinawa. I have been on this island one month today. This place is the most enjoyable and interesting place I have ever been outside of Kentucky.

I am very unused to the customs and habits of these people now but I will be over here till the latter part of 1958, so I should learn much more about them by then. I am now trying, in vain, to learn the language here.

My main purpose in writing this letter is to ask you to send me your subscription rates on The Times. I want to start getting the news from home as soon as possible and would appreciate it very much if you would send them as soon as possible.

Pvt. Lowell Parker 1640205 Com. Co. Hq. Bn. Com.-Elect) 3d Marine Div., FMF C/o FPO, San Francisco, Calif.

SOLDIER WANTS MAIL

Editor, The Times: I would like for you to print this in your paper. I am a soldier, stationed here in Korea, and I don't get much mail, so I am writing this in hope that somebody will write a lonely soldier a letter.

I will trade pictures with anyone. My parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roe Greene. They live on Middle Creek. Mother sends me the Floyd County Times every week, and I like to read the news 10,000 miles from home.

Pvt. Frank Greene, Tank Co., 19th Inf. Regt. APO 24 San Francisco, Calif.

EDITORIAL APPRECIATION

Your editorial of July 18 entitled, "The Key to Highway Safety" is, in my opinion, an excellent analysis of the Point System program for highway safety. I would like to thank you for giving your valuable support to the program, and especially for your extremely relevant statement concerning the fact that the county courts must convict those that they feel are guilty of driving offenses, and then report these convictions to the Department of Public Safety.

Again may I thank you for your excellent editorial, and may I say that with the support of papers such as yours, the highway safety program will certainly be successful.

Sincerely yours, DON S. STURGILL, Commissioner, Department of Public Safety

UNDER INFLUENCE

Miami Beach, Fla. — Marshall Frey, 10, was treated at a hospital for injuries received while "under the influence of comic books." The boy told police he rammed his bicycle into the side of a parked car as he attempted to flip a page in the comic book he was reading.

ELVIS THE HOOPER SWINGS HIS, TOO

Tucson, Ariz. — The Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum, which maintains a collection of birds and animals native to the Southwest, now has an owl named Elvis, Director William H. Woodlin said the bird acquired the name because of its unusual knack of swinging its hips—unusual among owls, that is.

Capitol Notebook

Frankfort, Aug. 1 — The first monthly payment under Kentucky's employee retirement system was made to G. Murray Brawner, Frankfort.

He was handed his check by Acting Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield. Brawner told Economic Security Commissioner Vege E. Barnes that his retirement and social security benefits now total about $136 a month.

AGRICULTURE POSTS

Farmers will be interested to know that Dr. Julian W. Maupin, Richmond, is the new head of the Commonwealth's statewide brucellosis control program. He has been a veterinarian on the Kentucky Agriculture Department's livestock sanitation division staff for two years.

Maupin's appointment was announced by Agriculture Commissioner Ben Butler. He also announced that Beryl McClain Lexington, has been named assistant director of livestock sanitation. McClain formerly was herdsman at Coldstream Farm, Fayette county, and is a noted judge of shorthorn cattle.

BEAUTY AND THE BEASTS

Persons attending five of the eight 4-H and FFA district dairy shows beginning Aug. 12 will get to see a pretty dairy princess.

She is 16-year-old Janie Francis Griffin, of Eubank. She won the Kentucky princess title from 20 other contestants at the University of Kentucky and will compete for the national title in Chicago. She is sponsored by the American Dairy Assn., which evidently thinks a pretty girl will make your mouth water—for milk, butter and cheese.

Asst. Agriculture Commissioner Mancil Vinson says Miss Griffin will present awards at the Mayfield, Madisonville, Bowling Green, Somerset and Shelbyville shows to be staged Aug. 12, 13, 14, 16 and 23 respectively. Other shows will be at Campbellsville, Aug. 20; Williamstown, Aug. 21 and Flemingsburg, Aug. 22.

KENTUCKIETTE

U. S. Highway 25 through mid-Kentucky might be called the Throughfare of Education.

Seven institutions of higher learning are found in cities along this route. They are Georgetown College, Georgetown; Transylvania College and the University of Kentucky, Lexington; Eastern State College, Richmond; Berea College, Berea; Cumberland College, Williamsburg, on U. S. 25-W, and Union College, Barbourville, on U. S. 25-E.

A PLUG FOR THE PARKS

A book just off the press has a clever title. Seems there should be some way to associate it with Kentucky so this column, restricted to Commonwealth subjects, could tell about it. But the book is about a fellow named Ray from Detroit who opened a bakery at Cabeza, N. M. Written by his wife, the book contains no reference to Kentucky history, government or recreation spots. . . it's just full of the author's troubles with Ray and falling dough. In fact, that's the name of the book — "Dough, Ray and Me." Well, let's insinuate it into this column by saying that a vacationer resting in cool comfort at a Kentucky State Park might read "Dough, Ray and Me" and feel all the more blissful because he is not mixing bread in a hot bakery in Cabeza, N. M.

Tractor-Accidents Death-Total High

Here's some facts about tractor accidents that should make farm families more cautious about such vehicles' operation, says the Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service:

Tractor accidents kill about 1,000 farm persons annually, either in work or non-work activities, and on or off the farm; about a third of the tractor fatalities occur on highways; and about one-sixth of the tractor fatalities occur to children under 10 years of age.

No snakes guard their young after they have been hatched or born.

Colonial Dames Open Brown Home

Frankfort, Aug. 7 — The doors of the Orlando Brown House at Wilkinson and Wapping streets, Frankfort, are open once again to welcome visitors, as was the custom in 1835 when young Mr. Brown brought his bride, Mary Watts Brown, there to make their home.

Built for Orlando and his bride by his famous father, John Brown of Liberty Hall, one of the first two U. S. Senators from Kentucky, the house is now a museum at the request of his granddaughter, Miss Anne Hord Brown. Miss Brown willed the house and its contents in 1955 to the National Society of the Colonial Dames of America, Commonwealth of Kentucky.

The old home with its high ceilings, large fireplaces, quaint and unusual windows, depicting the Jeffersonian influence, was designed by Gideon Shyroek.

The house is of early Greek Revival architecture, with the Federal influence shown in its classic entrance, its facade and the arch of the front hall.

Walls of the building are 14 inches thick and the floors are of wide and narrow oak flooring. A lovely cherry balustrade on the wide stairway leads to the second floor from the reception hall.

The double entrance door has the original "Orlando Brown" name plate and an English lock with a large key containing the initial "B" on the handle.

Other treasures in the museum include the Duncan Phyle tables, whale-oil lamps, candelabra and exquisite clocks brought from France by Orlando's uncle, James Brown, minister to France under President Monroe.

Family portraits painted by T. S. Moise, I. T. Fowler, Louis Morgan and John Neagle adorn the walls. The prize of the collection is the splendid delineation of Senator John Brown by Kentucky's favorite native artist, Matthew H. Jouett.

Orlando Brown, 1801-1867, a graduate of Princeton at 19, studied medicine with his uncle, Dr. Preston W. Brown, and completed a law course at Transylvania. He was joint proprietor and editor of the Frankfort Commonwealth.

After the death of his first wife, he married Mary Cordelia Broadhead. There were four children, two of whom died in childhood.

Australia now invites non-British immigrants.

Mrs. Elvina Hall, 70, Native of Hunter, Dies At Home 6 p.m., July 31

Mrs. Elvina Hall, 70, of Hunter, died at 6 p.m., July 31, at the home after an illness of four months.

Mrs. Hall was a daughter of Ben and Rachel Caudill. She was a member of the Regular Baptist Church for 42 years. She was married twice, being preceded in death by both husbands. Lee Davis and Marion Hall.

She is survived by one son, Jarvey Davis, Price, two daughters, Florida Tackett, Bevinsville, and Mrs. Usley Johnson, Hunter; three brothers, Neal Caudill, Dry Creek, Jarvey Caudill, Mousie, Harvey Caudill, of Indiana, and four sisters, Mrs. Drazie Jones, Broad Bottom, Mrs. Martha Cahoun, of Indiana, Mary Johnson, Garrett, and Mrs. Ella Maxie, of Michigan.

Funeral services held August 3 at 10 a.m., at the graveside in the Bevinsville cemetery, were conducted by the Revs. Hershel Huff, Johnny Jones, Ed Mosley, and Jerry Hall. Burial was made under the direction of Hall Bros. Funeral Home.

TALK ABOUT ECONOMY... FORDS COST LESS PER MILE!

Fords cost less to buy!

No doubt about it! Model for model, Ford cars are the lowest priced* of the low-price three. And don't be fooled by those "low prices" now being quoted for some "stripped down" models in the medium-price field. Remember, a '57 Ford equipped the way most people want a car today—with automatic transmission, heater and radio—costs hundreds of dollars less than these medium-priced cars, similarly equipped.*

Fords cost less to run!

In the only nationally recognized test of gasoline economy, the 1957 Mobilgas Economy Run, a Ford Six delivered more miles per gallon than any other car entered! This, remember, was no "private test" conducted for the benefit of a single manufacturer. This was grueling competition between 12 different makes of cars . . . supervised by the United States Auto Club. And when the test was over, Ford led all other cars in the thing you want most—actual miles per gallon!

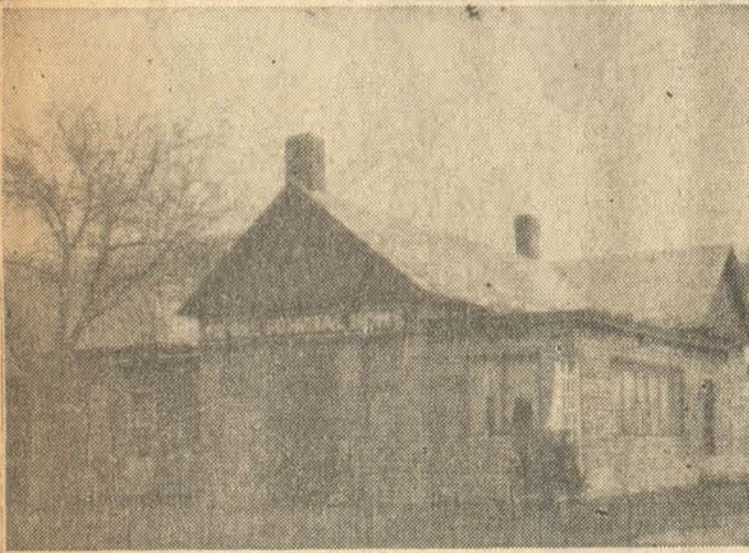

Fords cost less to trade!

Latest official auction sale figures on used cars show clearly that the new kind of Ford commands a higher price than either of its two low-priced competitors. The men who bid at these auctions are professional buyers—men whose very livelihood depends upon their expert knowledge of cars. They pay more for used Fords because they know that Fords hold up in value. Like thousands of Ford owners from coast to coast, they have discovered that Ford is worth more when you buy it . . . worth more when you sell it, too!

SWIMMING-SUIT SALES SCORE 15 PCT. RISE

Los Angeles — Four West Coast companies account for nearly 50 per cent of the women's bathing suits sold in the United States. Last year more than 100 manufacturers in this country sold about $85,000,000 worth of women's swim suits, worth $145,000,000 at retail. This was a 15 per cent increase over sales in 1955. This year manufacturers expect the women's beachwear bill to top 1956 by 15 per cent.

History No Dusty Tome To Big Sandian, Speaker At Martin Club Declares

"History is more than a dusty tome or parchment records or the day-to-day items of official or private life into which we delve or search to understand our past," Henry P. Scalf, guest-speaker, told the Martin Kiwanis Club, Tuesday evening of last week. "To the Big Sandian it is a proud heritage, coming down to us from a proud past."

In discussing the people who settled Eastern Kentucky, he said they were the best stock of old Europe and brought with them to the Big Sandy the background of a long struggle for liberty. One pioneer Floyd county family recalls even today how they fought the English in Ireland with only sticks and stones.

"Virtle, aggressive, courageous and liberty-loving, they fought the wilderness and the Indian to become one people with a common purpose," Scalf said. "The descendants of these people contributed much more to America and probably more in great men than any other comparable area in our country. These great men were the sons of the pioneer stocks that fused here on the frontier into almost a new race."

Named as a few of the outstanding men and women of the area were Green Hackworth, president of the World Court, Fred Vinson, former Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, Judge William Phamer Leslie of the Texas judiciary, Prof. Bee Mayo who founded the East Texas Teachers College, Gov. John Bailey of Arkansas, and William Elsey Connelly, the historian.

Noah, Nahum, Naomi, Nebuchadnezzar

Noah finds grace with God, Gen. 6:8. Ordered to build an ark (6:14), enters ark with family (7:14), goes forth from the ark (8:1-24). God works a covenant (9:1-8); Noah gets drunk, is mocked (Gen. 9:21-22), asked God to curse his own son.

You see, men drunk and naked brought a curse on the earth after the Flood. I have never found in my Bible nor learned from any other source any promise of a blessing in disobeying God and the laws of the land.

Nahum, a Prophet and Comforter, Nahum 1:1. Burden of Nineveh. The Book of Visions. Nahum 2:1-5. God sends fearful army against the enemy. He that dasheth in pieces is come up before thy face. Keep the munitions, watch the way, make thy loins strong, fortify thy power mightily. For the Lord hath turned away the excellency of Jacob as the excellency of Israel, for the emptiers have emptied them out and marred their vine branches. The shield of his mighty men is made red; the valiant men are in scarlet; the chariots shall be with flaming torches in the day of his preparation and the fir tree shall be terribly shaken; the chariots shall rage in the streets, they shall jostle one against another in the broad ways and they shall seem like torches, they shall run like the lightning. He shall recount his worthies.

About divine healing I can witness. I am a full believer in divine healing. I was healed of a hemorrhage of the lungs that was caused by influenza in 1923 and lasted 12 years. In 1953 I took a pain in my right eye. I went to an eye specialist for a change of reading glasses. No help. I was alone with God and my radio. I heard Oral Roberts say, Write, "God is a good God, devil a bad devil." I wrote those words on the back side of my picture. When Oral Roberts prayed I prayed, my right hand on my eye, my left hand on my radio. God restored my eyesight. Since that time I need no glasses to read or write, walk or talk. God heals people for the glory of God and not for worldly lust.

Think of the ten lepers—only one returned to give God the glory. Nebuchadnezzar had to learn the hard way to give God the glory. Daniel, Chapter 4. Dream interpretation Chapter 4, fulfilled 31-37; King David's sin with Bathsheba, 2nd Sam. 11:5-15. David conquered a bear and a lion but failed to get the soldier-husband of Bathsheba drunk enough to hide the adultery of David.

RESOLUTION

A RESOLUTION BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY, TO ADOPT ONE OF THREE ALTERNATE PLANS FOR FLOOD PROTECTION OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY AS PRESENTED TO THE CITY BY THE CORPS OF ENGINEERS, U. S. ARMY UNDER LETTER DATED AUGUST 1st, 1957.

WHEREAS, the Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army, has submitted to the City of Prestonsburg, Floyd county, Kentucky, three alternate plans for flood protection of the City of Prestonsburg, with alternate schemes of construction to facilitate financing by local interests; and

WHEREAS, before a project for the flood protection of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, can be initiated, it will be necessary for the City of Prestonsburg to adopt one of the three alternate plans aforesaid, or modifications thereof, and to give certain assurances to the United States of America as required by the Flood Control Act of June 22, 1936; and

WHEREAS, the City of Prestonsburg is desirous of cooperating with the United States in the initiation and completion of such a flood protection project;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the City Council of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, as follows:

1. That Plan I, utilizing the presently available pondage capacity to elevate 619.00 feet, mean sea level, (1929 Datum), as set forth in the aforesaid letter of August 1, 1957, be modified in accordance with Plan 3, Scheme B, also as set forth in said letter, and that the foregoing plan, as modified, be and is hereby approved and adopted.

2. That the difference in cost, estimated as $70,000.00, between Plan I and Plan 3, Scheme B, as set forth in said letter of August 1, 1957, be borne by the City of Prestonsburg.

3. That authorization is hereby granted for payment to the United States of the initial construction costs of $22,000.00 required to be borne by the City under Plan 3, Scheme B.

4. That when encroachments, by filling or other means, on the pondage area below elevation 619.0, reduces the pump storage basin to a state requiring additional pumping facilities, the City upon advice from the Huntington District Office, Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army, shall furnish pumping capacity to compensate for the loss of pondage capacity due to such encroachments.

This resolution shall be in full force and effect from and after the date of its passage, approval and publication or posting, as required by law.

HARRY SANDIGE, Mayor

Attest: JUDITH D. ARCHER, City Clerk
Passed by the Council of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, this 5th day of August, 1957.

They shall make haste to the wall. Awake, awake, Deborah, awake, awake and tell the elders and military men to watch red cars and valiant men in scarlet. (Deborah only woman judge.)

Naomi, pleasant. A widow woman and rep. of church goes to Moab (Ruth 1:2), returns to Bethlehem (Ruth 1:17), tries to run from a famine, 10 years later she is left childless with two young widows, no children (Ruth, Chap. 4). Old widow teaches young, and a widow mentioned by Christ, and exception to the rule only ONE (St. Luke 4:25-26). The unjust judge, importunate widows. Last Day Church. (Luke 18.)

I sent my challenge around the world in 1951. I have never been condemned nor proved I had no right to exercise my God-given right. My work is approved by Billy Graham, Thomas Wyatt, Oral Roberts, Knights of Columbus, Presidents, Governors, Senators, both Democrats and Republicans.

Our Governor of Kentucky learned the hard way. One woman qualified and seven judges and anvil brand are hard to beat. He is to be praised for taking his wife with him to Israel.

This is a year Floyd county has learned by hard experience it does not pay to be slothful in business or neglect to protect the homes of the fatherless and widows.

I am a charter subscriber of CHRISTIANITY TODAY. They talk like I talk—God, the same yesterday, today, and forever. Read Proverbs Chapter 6 in full. Tell you about the little ant and No. 6 and 7.

Sincerely and prayerfully

Forest Planting Areas Need Brush Control Now

Hardwood brush and low value tree species have proved to be a major problem in site preparation for pine forests, says James Newman, Kentucky Agricultural Extension Extension Service forester.

Established brush will shade and deform pine seedlings unless the brush is removed, Newman says.

Chemical spraying is a good control measure in sites preparation. It should be done in July and August; this work may save cleaning and weeding work later.

Use the chemical 2, 4, 5-T for woody plants, Newman says. Mix one gallon of the 2, 4, 5-T concentrate (four pounds acid equivalent) to 50 gallons of water. Wet foliage thoroughly when applying the spray; remember, too, that it is difficult to properly spray brush taller than five feet.

Newman noted that chemical control of brush (as a site preparation) is now part of the ASC's approved-practices plan, starting this fall. Treated areas must be followed up by spring plantings, of course, to qualify under ASC rules.

STATE JUMPS COAL RATING

Kentucky Passes Output Of West Virginia Mines; Pennsylvania Tops Both

Kentucky, for one week this year at least, jumped ahead of West Virginia in bituminous coal production. But, strangely enough, Pennsylvania, usually a third-place runner, was in the No. 1 spot that week.

The week in question was the one that ended July 6 that was miners' vacation time, and how well the period was observed may have been a factor in how much coal these three states produced.

Pennsylvania, which has been consistently running behind Kentucky and West Virginia in bituminous production produced 421,000 tons that week while Kentucky's production stood at 267,000 and West Virginia's at 222,000.

Since that time, however, production has resumed its more normal trends.

Coal mining in this section has held strong through the summer, and the industry in general is optimistic.

As of the week ending July 27 all mines in the Big Sandy field produced 336,000 tons of coal, bringing the year's total to 8,155,150 tons — approximately half a million tons ahead of the same period in 1956.

That last week in July, 16 member-mines of the Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Operators Association worked five days, and none of the other eight members worked less than four days. Association members that week produced 3,068.8 50-ton cars of coal; captive mines loaded 789.6 cars; truck mines, 176.4 cars; others, 2,698.4.

FOOD NOTES

By Dixie Trapp
Home Demonstration Agent

Freezers are being filled with two favorite frozen foods—corn and peaches. Both can be delicious months from now if packaged and frozen properly.

Food should be quick frozen very soon after they are packed. Prepare only three or four containers out and pack.

Pack as many containers as can be frozen in the home freezer in 24 hours (2 to 3 pounds per cubic feet). When lockers are overloaded, freezing is retarded and foods may lose quality or even spoil.

After freezing, store food at 0° F or lower. At higher temperature, frozen foods lose both eating quality and vitamin value.

Corn on cob needs special care to have that from-the-garden flavor. Varieties that freeze well are Golden Bantam, Country Gentlemen, and Stowells Evergreen. Select perfect ears of young tender sweet corn in the milk stage. Husk, remove silks, trim and wash. Scald 7-11 minutes, according to size, in boiling water. Place in cold water and leave long enough for the cob to become chilled. (Chilling is important in preventing cob-taste.) Drain, wrap each ear separately in moisture-vapor-resistant cellophane, and pack in bags or cover with stockinette.

Peaches discoloring has been the greatest problem in freezing or canning. Ascorbic acid, citric acid or lemon juice solves this problem. Add ½ t. ascorbic acid to a quart of cold syrup just before it is to be used. Or use ¼ t. of citric acid to a quart of cold water. Allow the peaches to remain in the solution for a minute or two, then drain well and pack in syrup. Or 1 tablespoon of lemon juice added to the cold syrup also retards darkening.

UNCOOKED PEACH JAM

Sort and wash about 2½ pounds of fully ripe peaches. Remove pits and skins and crush the fruit.

Measure 3 c. crushed fruit and 5 c. sugar, mix well, and let stand about 20 minutes stirring occasionally.

Dissolve 1 package of powdered pectin in 1 c. of water, bring to a boil and boil for 1 minute. Add pectin to the fruit and sugar mixture and stir for 2 minutes.

Ladle the jam into jelly glasses or into suitable freezer containers, leaving ½ inch head space. Cover the containers and let stand 24 to 48 hours, or until the jam has set. Then cover the jam with 1/8 inch layer of hot paraffin. This will make about nine 6 oz. glasses.

The uncooked jam may be stored for a few months in a refrigerator, or up to a year in a freezer. At room temperature it will mold or ferment in a short time. If, when opened, the jam is too firm, it can be softened by stirring. If it tends to separate, stirring will blend it again.

I'm a-slipin'. Fishing is still for me—pooney on golf—but things have come to such a sorry pass that I can miss an opportunity to go fishing and still not feel that my life has been permanently blighted. It's a condition that will bear watching, I know.

If my interest in angling fades out, what to do? One must keep interested in something. Reading, yes, but that is rather sedentary for a guy whose breadth of beam indicates some sort of exercise is needed. Golfing—I have already said, in my politest and most restrained style, pooney on that.

Anybody for a game of horse-shoes?

STUMPED? SEE ME!

See by the papers that Wisconsin's conservation department has issued instructions to fishermen, emphasizing the trickier maneuvers necessary to get yourself shaken free and on your way from home to the old fishing hole. Suggests a fellow should carry his tackle in his car, so that he can go straight from work to the lake or stream without encountering the Little Woman on the way. Then, when Friend Husband finally comes home for his question-and-answer hour, all he will need is a good-size bass or two to brandish around, meanwhile trumpeting, "Look what yore Pappy caught!"

But those people up in Wisconsin go only so far. They add, by way of afterthought, that if the errant fisherman goes home empty-handed he can figure his way out of his dilemma for himself.

I seldom advertise the fact, but for a consideration I will give to fishermen in dire straits such as these the benefit of my years of experience of returning home with a lame story and no fish.

I-GRANNY, a PLUM-GRANNY!

Just this afternoon Alvin Taylor walked in sniffing at a "plum-granny." He hands it to me and I catch an aroma that's not of this world. It belongs to another world, and immediately I'm transported there—to a world of barefoot boys and girls, a world whose capital is a one-room schoolhouse, a never-never land that's full of magic. I'm whisked back over the years and into a pair of overalls, and a front pocket of those overalls bulges, and I sneak therefrom Temptation with a capital T. It's what in politer circles is spelled "pomegranate" but which is nothing but a delectable "plum-granny" that belongs to a schoolroom and boys and girls of another year.

This thing is Temptation because of its aroma. Talk of Chanel No. 5! I waste some of the morning smelling of it, then my resistance sinks lower and lower and I do the thing that I invariably do. Almost in spite of myself I bite into it, it smells so good. And invariably I am disappointed.

The figures are not at hand, but I hazard the guess a good part of the population of this section over 50 first learned that things are not always as they seem by smelling of a "plum-granny," then biting it.

vised it, leans forward at an angle from the main body of the tool-holder, giving it greater penetration on less power than is required with conventional cutting tools now in use in coal mining. The tools now in use stand vertically, or at right angles to the main body of the tool holder, and so this old-type tool pushes rather than cuts. Joy contends that the cutting tool he has devised for greater cutting ability with less pressure will give an increase in the percentage of stoker size coal in the fine coals and also a reduction of carbon content.

The cutting tool Joy has devised has two cutting points instead of only one as in the old-type tool. When one point is dulled by usage, the bit may simply be reversed in the holder. He claims this is the only tool-holder and cutting tool designed at an angular position in two parts.

The device has an adapter which can be placed in the tool holder to raise the cutting bit to any desired gauge. This feature gives the bit a solid base, thereby preventing the slips experienced with present-day holders, which have only set screws to hold the cutting tool to gauge. A set screw will be used with the Joy tool-holder but its sole purpose will be to prevent the cutting tool from falling out of the holder.

The cutting tool may be supplied with carbide insert tip, carbide welded tip or plain tip. The tool-holder would be welded to any conventional chain used in the mining of coal and other minerals.

three deer has not been determined, since they were not found until decomposition was far advanced. The deer found last week, however, had been dead no more than 16 to 18 hours, it was said. One of the four animals found was on Middle Creek, and the others were in the reservoir area. All were found at or near the edge of water.

The death rate among white-tail deer has been unusually heavy in other refuges, and the cause there has not been determined. Rabies was suspected at Dewey Lake after mad foxes had attacked two or three persons and had been reported on numerous other occasions.

Convention Delegates to Tell Woodmen of Society's Progress

To inform Woodmen of their Society's progress, numerous meetings are being held during August throughout the country. Officers and delegates to the recent national Woodmen convention are reporting on its activities. These reports high-light impressive gains the Society has made since its last biennial convention in 1955.

These gains include:

- Insurance in force gains: $23,879,548, protection now totalling $605,062,612, a new high.
- Gains in assets: $10,932,725, bringing assets to a new high of $209,945,113.
- Benefits paid members the past two years: $24,876,673. Total since the Society's founding in 1890: $495,862,066.
- In 1956 more than 427,000 members received the largest savings refund in history, total $2,200,000.
- Reserve ratio (assets over liabilities) still greater than that of any other insurance organization.

TO THE VOTERS OF MAGISTRATE NO. 2

I wish to take this means of introducing myself to the people who don't know me.

I am Ellis Sexton, of Hueysville, Ky. My father and mother are W. M. (Bill) Sexton and Jane Shepherd Sexton. My grandparents were K.F. (Kenis) Sexton and Mary Ann Salmons Sexton, Jim Salmons and Nancy Frasure Salmons, Fair Shepherd and Rainie Howard Shepherd. So a lot of us are kin folks. I married Lula Duff, the daughter of Zack Duff and Nancy Duff. My wife is a sister to Rev. James Duff.

My wife and I have eleven children which, you know, takes a lot to feed, clothe and send to school. So you see that I can use a little extra money. That is why I am asking for this office. I need the office of Magistrate and you people need me, because I know the needs of roads, etc., of our district. Friends, if elected I will travel over the district to see where and what is needed done, so when I go to fiscal court I will know what to ask and fight for.

You fathers and mothers who have children going to school and living up in these hollows where there are no roads or roads are in poor condition, need a man like me to fight for you as your magistrate to get this work done and if I can not get this done, I will have it published in the paper so you people will know what is going on in fiscal court. Then you can not say that Ellis Sexton didn't try.

I have one son and daughter to complete high school at Garrett high. My son, Birchell, married Ina Ray Lafferty, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lafferty, of Garrett, Ky. Birchell is now stationed with the army in Korea. My daughter is Loretta Sexton. She is planning on attending Pikeville College this fall. So with the help of God and you good people, I can win this fall.

It has been talked by some that I might lay down and not make a fight this fall, but, friends, that is a mistake. I am in this race to win and can win with your help. Friends, check the qualifications of both of your candidates and see who is the best qualified and the one that needs the office and that is the one to vote for. I promise you people that I will not have to get any one to do my book work. I have done book work for 10 or 12 years. I used to keep time on the W.P.A. roads at Turkey Creek, Middle Creek and Salt Lick and have done book work for the mines. So, friends, who do you think needs the office, the one with a large family or the one with the small family? I am asking for one chance and if I don't do the job and make you a good magistrate, don't vote for me any more. I am sober and honest and will give justice to all. So on November election day, go to the polls and vote for Ellis Sexton for Magistrate the man who needs the office. A vote for Sexton means a vote for better roads in our district.

Your best of Friends,
ELLIS SEXTON

DRIVE SAFELY

Third in a series of articles sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Prestonsburg

This very simple problem in arithmetic means simply that feet per second equals approximately one and one-half times miles per hour. A car going at 40 mph is going about 60 feet per second. Just measure off 60 feet and remember, at 40, your car covers that distance in the space of time it ordinarily takes to say "Mississippi."

At 40 mph, if you turn your head and say "what are those men doing over there?", your car has gone 120 feet with the driver's eyes off the road. Suppose that you had been following the car ahead at 100 feet and at that instant he stopped suddenly!

A quick glance at the people in the rear seat may take only one-half second, but you go 30 feet in a half-second and the slightest turn of a wheel will take you completely off the road. A child can dart into your path in the time it takes for a glance into the rear-vision mirror, and by the way, that glance takes longer than you think because your eyes have to change focus twice in the process. When you sneeze your eyes are closed for approximately 70 feet.

Watch every approaching car. At 40, the other car can get on your side of the road in one-fifth of a second and the point of collision will be approaching you at 120 feet per second.

Don't look now, but STOP! before slapping a bee, glancing at a road map or lighting a cigarette.

HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Wayne Stumbo, manager of Dewey Lake State Park, returned a few days ago from Louisville where he was a hospital patient after suffering a recent heart attack. His condition is improved.

HAUNT DEATH-CAR

(Here is a prize-winning story printed in the Spectator, Jackson State Prison newspaper. Don Lowry, Spectator Editor, wrote the story, which was told to Lowry by a prisoner using the fictitious name "John Temclo.")

JACKSON, Mich., July 3 — Ever drive a car from a prison cell? I do. It is not the kind of drive that makes for pleasant dreams. Instead, it is a nightmare ordeal.

I've tried to break the habit. I've even been of the prison mental health clinic. But I still wake up with visions of five young faces that shared the ride, hauntin me. I'm their driver. It was three years ago. I still am.

My prison sentence is not the real punishment for my murderous drunken drive that never ends. My permatually white hair is only an outward sign. My limp and stiff leg don't bother me at all compared with the realization that I turned highway M12 into a concrete murder strip for five friends and neighbors.

The judge said: "A drunken driver is as dangerous to society as a gunman." At first I couldn't understand why motor manslaughter called for a long prison term. Today, after three years in prison, I can appreciate the judge's reasoning.

He couldn't bring back the five people crushed to death on M12—but he could prevent me from causing other tragic accidents.

Too many drinks at a party and too many passengers in my seven-year-old souped-up jalopy were things I took with me on that ride three years ago.

The white lines seemed to zig-zag, reflected dancing moons on the wet pavement, gave a feeling of exhilaration, rather than of danger. A pair of oncoming headlights seemed just like two offset moons. There isn't any pain when two speeding cars crash head-on. The pain comes after for the survivors in horrible memories that won't go away.

There isn't any noise for the people in the cars. They're unable to hear. And there isn't any more fun for them. Dead and injured don't have fun. Like the car I was driving home from the all-night party, the news of what happened came to me second hand.

Six of us piled into the car and headed for a highway drive-in restaurant for breakfast. It had been a gay night with all the fun that only teen-age crowd can find dancing 'til dawn.

Goofed up with booze and benzedrine, I wheeled the old car with the confidence of a drunk kept awake by "Benney". State troopers told me I drove my jalopy head-on into an on-coming transport truck. Its driver did his best to get out of my crazy path.

His effort to get out of the way may have saved his life. My drunken driving took five lives. The real punishment is the haunting memory of the gay ride turned a death ride. I can serve my prison sentence. I cannot bring back my friends. I agree to tell my story to the Spectator with the hope of keeping other drivers on the highways rather than in prison cells—or coffins.

A fly rod listed as having dry-fly action also serves best for wet flies.—Sports Afield.

Accredited Insurance Co. Is People's Best Bet, Says Jack R. Wolford

A Kentucky Department of Insurance official has cautioned all Kentuckians to make certain their insurance is placed in companies authorized to do business in Kentucky.

Jack R. Wolford, deputy commissioner, specifically called attention to four companies. The Armed Forces Service Insurance Underwriters, Atlas Insurance Co., the Affiliated Underwriters and the Acme County Mutual are not licensed to operate in Kentucky, he said.

According to Wolford, the Armed Forces Service Insurance Underwriters, San Antonio, Texas, is believed to have issued policies in Ky. The firm does business through the Atlas Insurance Co. which the attorney general of Alabama has asked the circuit court to put in receivership, Wolford said.

The Affiliated Underwriters, San Antonio, has issued policies in Kentucky through the Acme County Mutual Insurance Co. and has recently declared an assessment on all their policies, the official said.

Blucher Allen, Hueysville, Well-Known Farmer, Dies Saturday of Heart Attack

Blucher Allen, 69, well-known Hueysville farmer, died at his home Saturday at 8 p.m., of a heart attack.

He was a son of the late Andrew Jackson and Polly Patton Allen. He was twice married, first to Myrtle Dyer, and after her death to Laura Greger, who survives him. He was a member of the Regular Baptist Church for the last 30 years.

Mr. Allen is survived by six sons, Russell Sage, Clarence and Sidney Earl, all of Hueysville, Gordon, Adamsville, Ala., Burton, Ashland, Blucher, Jr., Cincinnati, O., five daughters, Alice Marie, Dover Jean and Lillian, all at home, Mrs. Minnie Ramey, Hueysville, and Mrs. Bertha Dempsey, Bessemer, Ala., one brother, Chester Allen, Hueysville, and four sisters, Mrs. Carrie Osborne, and Mrs. Vassie Martin, both of Hueysville, Mrs. Rebecca Amburgey, of Ohio, and Mrs. Sadie Kirby, Shelby, O.

The Revs. L. P. Tussey, Ashland Shepherd, and Talmadge Allen conducted the funeral services at the family cemetery last Thursday. Burial services were directed by the Hall Bros. Funeral Home.

84-Year-Old Emma Native, Anna Woods Harris, Dies In Prestonsburg Hospital

Mrs. Anna Woods Harris, 84 years old, of Emma, widow of John Q. Harris, died at 6:20 a.m., Monday at the Prestonsburg General hospital, victim of a heart block and a cerebral hemorrhage. Mrs. Harris was a daughter of James and Lizzie Boyd Woods, and was a native of this county. She had been a member of the Freewill Baptist Church for many years. Surviving her are three daughters and three sons, Miss Elizabeth Harris, of Emma, Mrs. Catherine Weichers, Prestonsburg, Bill Harris, of Emma, Ollie Harris, Detroit, Ballard Harris, West Palm Beach, Fla., and Mrs. Annis Bevinis, Meta, Ky. One half-brother, Bill Woods, of Allen, also survives.

Funeral rites were conducted from the Freewill Baptist Church on Cow Creek by the Rev. Isaac Stratton. Burial in the family cemetery was directed by the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

RESOLUTION

A RESOLUTION BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY, TO PERMIT THE MAYOR TO EMPLOY COUNSEL TO SECURE PROPOSED EASEMENTS THROUGH CONDEMNATION PROCEEDINGS IF NECESSARY, OF ALL LANDS ADJACENT OR PERTAINING TO THE FLOOD PROTECTION PROJECT FOR THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, ADOPTED BY THIS COUNCIL BY A RESOLUTION DATED AUGUST 5, 1957, AND IN COMPLIANCE WITH ALTERNATE PLANS SUBMITTED BY THE CORPS OF ENGINEERS, U. S. ARMY, UNDER LETTER DATED AUGUST 1, 1957.

WHEREAS, the Corps of Engineers, U.S. Army, has submitted to the City of Prestonsburg, County, Kentucky, three alternate plans for flood protection of the City of Prestonsburg, with alternate schemes of construction to facilitate financing by local interests; and

WHEREAS, the City Council of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, by Resolution dated August 5, 1957, accepted Plan 3, Scheme B, as set forth in the aforesaid letter of August 1, 1957; and

WHEREAS, before said project can be commenced it will be necessary for the City of Prestonsburg, to secure easements, both temporary and permanent, as required by the Flood Control Act of June 22, 1936;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY, As Follows:

1. That the Mayor of this City is hereby empowered to employ special counsel for the purpose of securing easements for all lands necessary for the construction, operation and maintenance of the flood protection project adopted by the Council by the Resolution hereinabove referred to.

2. That in the process of securing said easements, the special counsel employed by the Mayor may, where necessary, and with the approval of the Mayor, institute condemnation proceedings against any land or land owner for the purpose of securing the easements necessary for the construction, operation, and maintenance of said flood protection project.

This resolution shall be in full force and effect from and after the date of its passage, approval and publication or posting, as required by law.

HARRY SANDIGE
Mayor

ATTEST:
JUDITH D. ARCHER

BOWLINGS DIE IN AIR CRASH

Bodies of Pikeville Pair Found in Plane Wreckage After Air, Ground Search

Pikeville, Ky., Aug. 5 — A Pikeville man and his wife were found dead today in the wreckage of their burned private plane three miles north of here.

Earl Justice, leader of the searching party that found the wreckage, identified the victims as Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Bowling.

Searching parties, both on the ground and in the air, combed the mountain area near here after the Bowlings' plane failed to arrive from Louisville. They reportedly left there at 3 p.m. yesterday.

Fourteen planes participated in the air search. The Civil Air Patrol was assisted by the Army Light Aviation Section from Fort Knox.

A friend told officers he had made arrangements to pick the Bowlings up at the airport. He said they had arranged for him to drive to the airport when the plane flew over his house.

The friend said the plane passed his home last night, but when he arrived at the airport the Bowlings were not there.

Several residents of a wooded section nearby reported hearing what sounded like a crash about 5:30 p.m., yesterday.

Christina Ann Hall, Native of Hi Hat, Married June 29

Miss Christina Ann Hall was married June 29 to Anthony John Scrocco of Youngstown, O. Msgr. Walter Martin performed the double-ring ceremony at 9:30 a.m., in Sacred Heart Church in Youngstown.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Omer Hall, of Hi Hat, Ky. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scrocco of Youngstown.

Given in marriage by John Christian, of Dayton, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace and pleated tulle fashioned with a scalloped sash and a bouffant skirt ending in a chapel train.

Her two-tiered fingertip veil of French illusion was caught to a crown of bugle beads and pearls, and she carried a white prayer-book topped with white orchids and chrysanthemums.

Mrs. John Christian was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Eleanor King, Dayton, and Sara Scrocco, of Youngstown. The attendants wore ballerina length gowns of white nylon embroidery over yellow taffeta and the honor attendant wore aqua.

The matron of honor carried a basket of yellow carnations and chrysanthemums and the bridesmaids carried baskets of blue carnations and chrysanthemums.

Edward Lickner, of Youngstown, served as best man. Ushers were Bill Hall and William McDermott, both of Dayton, O.

Books and Such
By Laura Virginia Roberts

One thing in literature that has always interested me is the heroines who die of love. Take, for example, Elaine the maid of Astolat. Lancelot rode by her castle a couple of times, smiled at her, left his shield with her. They had a few words together—probably about the weather—and she fell madly in love. Later, of course, she nursed him as he recovered from wounds, but she was already madly in love before that, so the story goes. He left the castle without saying good-bye, and she just plain pined away and died.

The puzzle is: Is love just not what it used to be; or are modern girls just healthier? Tell me, how many girls do you know who have died of broken hearts? For that matter, how many men are there, like Sweet William, who died "for love of Barbary Allen?" Romance has certainly given way to practicality. Think how sweet and sad and dramatic it must have been when the body of poor Elaine floated down the stream on the barge, her hair flowing in the water. Think how she must have enjoyed knowing, as she died, that Lancelot would see her and know she had died for love of him. He did see her, too, just as she planned, and felt real bad about it for two or three days.

My students and I kicked this idea around some at the same time we were quoting and trying to write limericks back in the spring (a.f.) and this is what we came up with:

Ladies used to look and sigh,
Grow pale and wan, and sad
of eye,
And weep and moan,
To be alone
When cruel lovers said, Goodbye.

Not only did they weep and sigh,
Grow sad at heart and sad of eye;
But say the books
They lost their looks
And quietly lay down to die.

Girls now are made of stronger stuff,
Or else we've never been in luff,
For we may sigh
And moan and cry,
But most are just not true enough.

And though I know it's close to sin
And quite unfair to ladies' men
To treat them so . . .
And fall in love quite soon again.

P. S. Tennyson's long narrative poem about King Arthur, Lancelot and all the others really is a pretty story.

(And pretty fanciful—Ed.)

Floyd "Dump" Laferty, 74, Former Prestonsburg Man, Dies at Cambridge, Ohio

Floyd "Dump" Laferty, 74 years old, former Prestonsburg man, died July 27 at Cambridge, O.

A native of Bull Creek, he lived in Prestonsburg until he and his family moved to Ohio about 10 years ago. His wife, Lydia Murphy Laferty, preceded him in death, as did two children, Henry and Emmaline. He was a member of Prestonsburg Methodist Church.

Surviving are one son and three daughters, Curtis Lee Laferty, Mrs. Reba Leep, Mrs. Jean Lime, all of Cambridge, O., and Bessie, of West Virginia. Also surviving are his sister, Mrs. Doll Mellon, and a brother, Chief of Police Epp Laferty, both of Prestonsburg, 14 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Interment was made at Cambridge, O., where Mrs. Laferty was buried.

CANADIAN CONSTRUCTION LIKELY TO RISE 5 Pct.

Ottawa — Government estimates indicate total new construction in Canada during 1957 will reach 6.7 billion dollars, about 5 per cent more than in 1956. The expected rise, contrasting with a gain of 20 per cent in 1956, is largely credited to a slowing down in residential building, which is estimated at 15 per cent below 1956.

The new schedule requires a meter deposit of $7.50 as compared with the former charge of $5 and $2.50 reconnection or disconnection charge. The penalty for arrearage on account was changed from 5% to 10%.

Mr. Allen, the receiver, said the last audit of the system's affairs showed that line loss of gas—that is, loss of gas between the source of supply and the consumer—was 32%.

Judge Swinford's order specified that the receiver shall set aside in a special fund 10% of the system's gross receipts up to a total of $20,000, this to be used for line repair and replacement. The system was granted $9,504 by Civil Defense for repair of flood damage to its properties.

The federal court permitted the lease of the Weeksbury water system to a private individual for $30 a month to continue. All other properties of the system supply natural gas to homes and businesses.

Woodmen Meeting Slated at Martin

In keeping with its representative form of government, area meetings for members of Woodmen of the World are being held throughout the country to report results of the Society's recent national convention in New York City.

J. B. Blalock, Louisville, state manager for Eastern Kentucky, announces that a meeting will be held in Martin, at 7:30 p.m., Friday at the Sea Cafe.

Officers and delegates who represented this area at the national convention will give a complete report on its activities and answer questions by members. Their reports will highlight the impressive gains the Society has made since its last biennial convention in 1955.

Tractor-Accidents Death-Total High

Here's some facts about tractor accidents that should make farm families more cautious about such vehicles' operation, says the Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service:
Tractor accidents kill about 1,000 farm persons annually, either in work or non-work activities, and on or off the farm; about a third of the tractor fatalities occur on highways; and about one-sixth of the tractor fatalities occur to children under 10 years of age.

The continent of North America occupies 8,000,000 square miles, about 16 per cent of the world's land area.

Kentucky Seeks Bidding on More Super-Road Work

The State Highway Department says it plans to ask for bids Aug. 23 on another section of the first super-highway to be built in Kentucky under the 9-1 federal aid program.

Ten bids—with the lowest $1,169,487—recently were received for initial construction of the first stretch of the proposed four-lane superhighway.
The lowest bid by Sam Nally Co., Bardstown, and Nally & Gibson, Springfield, was for grading and drainage of 6.264 miles.

This stretch extends from about a mile south of the Kentucky Turnpike to near the Nolin River in Hardin county. A $371,742 bridge is under construction across the river. This is Kentucky's first superhighway construction project under the program in which the federal government puts up $9 for each $1 furnished by the state to cover costs. It includes grade and drainage for the bridge approaches.

The Highway Department says the stretch upon which it plans to open bids Aug. 23 for grade and drainage work extends from the Nolin River bridge about four miles south to near Upton.

It hopes to advertise for bids early next year on constructing an interchange near Elizabethtown to connect the new freeway with the toll road and U.S. 31-W.

In the fall of 1958, the department plans to ask for bids to pave the two superhighway sections, interchange and approaches to the bridge.

Eventually the superhighway will run to the Tennessee state line near Franklin, Ky., where it will connect with a Tennessee superhighway leading to Nashville.

MORE WOMEN WORKING

The proportion of working women, ages 45 to 54 years, doubled between 1940 and 1956. There were increases also in the 10-year age-groups preceding and following those years. However, in the 20-40-age group, the reverse was true, possibly the result of high marriage rates, early marriages, high birth rates and increased college enrollments.

The Floyd County Farm Bureau has put into effect its own version of the Calf Club idea. It purchased five Guernsey and five Hereford heifers and a Hereford bull, then gave these to as many Farm Bureau members.

When the heifer given a Farm Bureau member calves the calf is given back to the Bureau, and the Bureau in turn gives the calf to another member. Thus is established a "calf chain" which Bureau officials hope will lead to better cattle on Floyd farms.

Kentucky First In War Against Johnson Grass

Frankfort, Aug. 1 (Spl.) — A Kentucky county is the nation's laboratory in research to control a noxious and menacing weed—Johnson grass.

Franklin county has been designated the "pilot county" in a three-year campaign to subdue the weed by spraying and cultural methods.

In the campaign to prevent Johnson grass from taking over the Blue Grass, the eyes of the nation are on Franklin county, because:

It's the first countywide pilot area in the United States.

It's the first county to fight Johnson grass on a cost-sharing basis with the federal Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation Committee.

Kentucky is the first state to take legislative action against Johnson grass. The 1956 General Assembly designated it a noxious weed and provided that the State Highway Department combat it along roadways by spraying.

Mancil Vinson, assistant state agricultural commissioner, said Johnson grass encroaches upon the most fertile bottom land and chokes out other growth. It attacks soil best suited to row crops, he said, thus becoming a menace to tobacco and grain.

Mrs. Zan Oberwarth, head of a State Chamber of Commerce Committee that is promoting the campaign, said it's important to mow Johnson grass before it goes to seed. Regrowths are sprayed with chemicals. The final step is cultivation of the ground until fall, when a cover crop is sown.

Participating are the State Agriculture Department, Chamber of Commerce, University of Kentucky experiment station, State Economic Development Department, Farm Bureau Federation and State and local ASC committees.

Forest Planting Areas Need Brush Control Now

Hardwood brush and low value tree species have proved to be a major problem in site preparation for pine forests, says James Newman, Kentucky Agricultural Extension Extension Service forester.

Established brush will shade and deform pine seedlings unless the brush is removed, Newman says.

Chemical spraying is a good control measure in sites preparation. It should be done in July and August; this work may save cleaning and weeding work later.

Use the chemical 2, 4, 5-T for woody plants, Newman says. Mix one gallon of the 2, 4, 5-T concentrate (four pounds acid equivalent) to 50 gallons of water. Wet foliage thoroughly when applying the spray; remember, too, that it is difficult to properly spray brush taller than five feet.

Newman noted that chemical control of brush (as a site preparation) is now part of the ASC's approved-practices plan, starting this fall. Treated areas must be followed up by spring plantings, of course, to qualify under ASC rules.

He added 52 State Police officers have attended the Northwestern University Traffic Institute, 26 have graduated from Southern Police Institute regular courses and seminars and nine completed the Harvard Seminar in Legal Medicine.

Combs, a nine-year state police veteran, is a native of Elmrock and a graduate of Knott county high school. He attended Caney Junior College and the University of Dayton. A 41-year-old former school teacher and a Navy veteran, Combs is married and has one child.

Methodist Hospital Again Is Accredited

Ernest Elliott, president of the board of directors of the Methodist hospital announces that he has received a letter from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of hospitals stating that the Pikeville hospital has again been fully accredited by the Joint Commission. This accreditation is the result of an evaluation of the hospital that was conducted on June 18, this year, by Dr. Warren C. Atwood, field representative of the Joint Commission.

The Methodist hospital received its first accreditation in 1954.

Chiggers Will Succumb To Two Preparations

Chiggers, the tiny little mites that cause picknickers such a hard time every year, can be easily controlled by either of two materials, says J. G. Rodriguez, Kentucky Experiment Station entomologist. Vacant lots and home lawns are sources of the pests.

The materials are the insecticides chlordane and lindane. Chlordane is applied at the rate of 2 pounds of actual material per acre; lindane, at the rate of one-quarter pound per acre. One application of either material is generally good for one to two months, Rodriguez says; emulsion concentrates, wettable powders or dust may be used. On short grass, sprays are used at the rate of 25 gallons per acre, or about one gallon for every 1,800 square feet. One pint of the 40-percent chlordane emulsion, or one-quarter pint of the lindane emulsion, will make about 5 gallons of the spray mixture. Where tall grass or weeds exist, apply 50 gallons per acre.

Apply dusts containing 5 percent chlordane at the rate of 40 pounds per acre, or about one pound per 1,000 square feet; dusts containing 1-percent lindane should be used at about 25 pounds per acre, or one pound per 1,800 square feet. Apply wettable powders at the following rates: chlordane, 50-percent wettable powder, at 4 pounds per acre, or 1½ ounces per 1,000 square feet; lindane, 25-percent wettable powder, at one pound per acre or 0.5 ounces per 1,000 square feet.

Keep children and pets away from treated areas until the spray has dried, do not spray places where livestock are grazing or will graze, Rodriguez said.

Chiggers are the larvae of very small mites, Rodriguez noted, only the larvae are troublesome; adult mites do not bite. They attach themselves to the skin, usually at a hair follicle, and inject a fluid into the skin. This is what causes the intense itching; secondary infections are sometimes set up by scratching.

The larvae will attack chickens, birds, snakes, turtles and amphibians, as well as humans and livestock. Many preparations are on the market to relieve the itching caused by bites, as well as repellents which can be applied to the skin; but control in their habitat, grasses, etc. is usually the best method of eliminating them.

FHA Funds Available For Home Purchasing

Orville M. Howard, state director, Federal Housing Administration, announced this week that funds are now available for financing individual homes through the Voluntary Home Mortgage Credit Program with FHA loans.

This program was established by President Eisenhower to assist persons in small communities in obtaining loans for purchasing of homes. In many communities FHA loans are unavailable through normal channels. Through the VHMCP private lenders agree to make loans in communities under 25,000 in population if the applicant has been unable to obtain FHA financing through the local lending institutions. The property and location must be acceptable to the FHA and the applicant must have a credit standing satisfactory to the FHA and an income sufficient to satisfactorily make the payments.

Persons interested in FHA loans through VHMCP should write Benjamin H. Ernst, executive secretary VHMCP Regional Subcommittee, Room 604, U. S. Courthouse, Nashville 3, Tenn.

Wallen-Blessing Vows Said at Indiana Church

The marriage of Miss Charlotte Wallen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Wallen, of Culver, Ind., and Mr. Orville Blessing, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Blessing, of near Knox, Ind., was solemnized June 8 at the Burr Oak (Ind.) Church of God.

The Wallen family formerly resided at Garrett, and are well-known in the county. The bride was graduated from Culver high school in 1953 and attended Valparaiso University. Mr. Blessing was graduated from Knox high school and served two years in the Army.

Cut-up birds normally cost more per pound than whole. The higher price is due to the extra processing cost.

Whole Birds Last Longer Than Those Cut-Up

Cut-up fryer and parts, like giblets, are more perishable than whole birds and should be used within one day after purchase. Fresh whole fryers may be stored safely two or three days in the coldest part of the refrigerator. To keep them longer, freeze them.

SIXTEEN OF THE REASONS I NEED YOUR HELP IN THE JAILER'S RACE!

These children have each, in their way, been a great blessing to their mother and me. Those who know us need not be told we have been a closely knit family group. To me our children are sixteen of the best reasons in the world for my wanting your support in the November election.

I don't ask you to vote for me solely because I am the father of sixteen children—I ask for your vote, because I believe I am qualified to do the job! Ask those who know me about my character and ability.

What I have said here I say as a humble man. I have no delusions of grandeur. My faith in God, my family, my home, and my good friends are the things I cherish most. I cannot promise to be all things to all men. I can only promise to do my best and to be grateful for whatever you may do for us in this coming election. When I say "us" I mean my wife, Otela Spradlin Smiley, and our children: Ronnie, Donnie, Vyron Allen, Jackie, James, Jessica, Judy, Wayne, Elizabeth, Nicky, Ricky, Debby, Vee Ann, Martha, Dinah, and Phillip.

Sincerely,

V. A. SMILEY

State Recalls Services, Visit Of Lafayette

By Charles F. Hinds
Secretary-Treasurer, Kentucky Historical Society

Frankfort, Aug. 7 — The opening day of the Kentucky State Fair, Sept. 6, has been declared Lafayette Day by Gov. A. B. Chandler. This date represents the exact 200th birthday of the Marquis de Lafayette and is the main event in Kentucky of the Lafayette Bicentennial Year.

In 'Project Vanguard'

Pvt. Dorsel E. Sparks, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Sparks, Wheelwright, has been selected for assignment with one of the six earth satellite tracking stations which stretch from Fort Stewart, Ga., to Santiago, Chile. Sparks will serve as a motor and generator operator in helping track the satellite to be launched during the international geophysical year. The tracking stations are being established as part of the Army Map Service's "Project Vanguard." Sparks, a former student at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, entered the Army in March of this year.

Every school boy knows the story of Lafayette, how as a very young man he left his native home of France and joined the Americans in their struggle for independence.

What is less generally known is Lafayette's return to the United States in 1824 and his visit to Kentucky in 1825. He received invitations to visit Kentucky from Governor Desha, the State Legislature and others. But Lafayette's itinerary first led him to states neighboring New York and then through Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama.

From Mobile, the Lafayette party traveled by steamboat to New Orleans, Saint Louis, and Nashville. After leaving Nashville on the way up the Ohio, the boat hit a snag and sank. Everyone was rescued, but there were some anxious moments on the rapidly-sinking steamer when Lafayette insisted that he be the last evacuated.

The next day, the Paragon, on its way to New Orleans from Louisville, was hailed. The ship's captain was persuaded to turn back to Louisville. The Lafayette party disembarked some three miles from the old city, May 11, 1825. The Kentucky tour led from Louisville through the following towns on the way to Cincinnati: Shelbyville, Frankfort, Versailles, Lexington, Georgetown, and Covington. From Cincinnati, the party left by boat for Pittsburgh. Maysville was a steamer stop. There on May 21, Lafayette had dinner ashore. The party left Kentucky the next day.

Matthew Jouett was commissioned by the legislature to paint Lafayette. That full-length painting is in the Old State House, Frankfort. Among other mementos of Lafayette's visit held by the Kentucky Historical Society are: The Governor Desha correspondence in the Adair-Desha-Metcalf letter book, an itemized statement of the cost of the dinner on the State Capitol lawn for Lafayette and 700 guests, and an original copy of an invitation to the ball in Frankfort the same day.

Buddies, Not Sweeties, Can Train Together

Two, three, four or even five buddies can walk into a Marine recruiting office and be given assurance they'll all be scheduled to remain together throughout the initial phases of their training.

S. Sgt. Floyd L. King of the Marine Corps recruiting sub-station at Pikeville, announced that now he has the authority to guarantee that close friends who enlist together will be assigned to the same "boot camp" platoon.

The Buddy System applies even after graduation from recruit training at Parris Island, S. C. The buddies go together to Camp Lejeune, N. C., for their advanced individual combat training, still belonging to one platoon.

Sergeant King says the new idea is paying-off three-fold.

The guarantee of recruit and infantry training together becomes null and void in a few circumstances. Each enlistee of a buddy group is given fair warning that disciplinary action, hospitalization, training set-backs, discharge or other similar action can cause individuals to leave the originally assigned platoon.

Asked if girls could get the same guarantee by joining the Marine Corps with their friends, the local recruiter answered in the affirmative but immediately qualified it with, "Men will train in men platoons and girls in Women Marine platoons."

Should a man enlist his girlfriend? We can guarantee only that they'll train on the same island together—Parris Island!

Knott Has Highest College Enrollment

Statistics in a report prepared by the Kentucky Council on Public Higher Education show that of the state's 22,575 graduates from high school in 1956, about 31 percent, or 7,079, entered college.

The report was compiled from information gathered by the State Department of Education.

The report showed 19,690 graduates were from public schools and 5,854 of those enrolling in college were also from public schools. Approximately 42 percent of private and parochial high school graduates and 30 percent of high school graduates enrolled in college.

Knott county had the highest college enrollment of 52 percent. Fayette county sent 51 percent of its graduates to college and Jefferson county ranked 8th with 42 percent.

Breckinridge county had the smallest number, or 4 percent, going to college. There were 24 counties in which less than 20 percent of the high school graduates went to college.

Statistics indicated that college enrollment appeared to be stimulated by the presence of an institution of higher learning in the county. At least one college or junior college is located in all but two of the counties in which 40 percent or more of the high school graduates went to college.

400 Receive Degrees At U. K. Summer Session

About 400 students received degrees at the University of Kentucky's summer school commencement program last Friday night at Memorial Coliseum in Lexington.

Dr. Charles F. Elton, dean of admissions and registrar at the University, reported that this year's class includes graduates from 67 Kentucky's 120 counties 18 other states, the District of Columbia, and five foreign countries.

Floyd county candidates for advanced and professional degrees: Master of Arts—Ray Brackett, Allen.

Master of Arts in Education—Elmer Martin, Amba; Royal Martin, Langley.

Candidates for bachelors degrees: Floyd—Adrian Collins and Dorothy Friend, Prestonsburg; Floyd Allen, Hueysville; Peggy Dingus and Doyle Dingus, Martin; Frederick Miller, West Prestonsburg; Annis Clark and Alice Martin, Garrett; and Charles Curry, Wheelwright.

MARTIN WINS DIST. CROWN

Floyd Little Leaguers Edge Out Catlettsburg For Place in Ky. Meet

Martin scored four runs in the bottom of the last inning July 31, to edge Catlettsburg 9-8, for the district Little League baseball championship.

Catlettsburg surged ahead in the second inning as they put together four hits, two walks and a hit batsman for six markers.

Martin came back in the bottom of the second frame to make the score 6-2 when Rowland and Maggard belted home runs.

Two singles and three Catlettsburg errors gave Martin another run in the fourth and they tallied two more markers in the fifth as Tallent singled and Rowland homered.

A two-run home run by Bates after Hogg had singled in the sixth gave Catlettsburg an 8-5 margin and seemed to insure the win.

Martin was not to be outdone, however, as Hampton and Lowe opened the last of the sixth with singles, advanced on errors and scored on Tallent's home run. Successive hits by Rowland and Patton then gave Martin the deciding marker.

Hogg of Catlettsburg led all batters for the day as he rapped out a double and three singles in four times at bat. Bates also had two safeties for the losers.

Rowland paced Martin with two home runs and a single in four trips. Tallent, Patton, Maggard and Lowe each had two hits for the winners.

Tallent was the winning hurler and Bates was denit the defeat.

Martin took a first round win July 30 to advance to the finals of the district Little League tournament. They will clash at 5:30 today at the American Little League park.

Martin outlasted Hyden, 4-1, in a real pitching duel.

Rowland of Martin gave up three hits in gaining the win over Hyden. Joseph, the losing hurler, permitted only six safeties.

The only run off Rowland came in the fifth when Morgan opened with a double and scored on three successive bases on balls.

Martin turned twice in the second and twice in the sixth. Hampton of Martin was the only player to get more than one hit in the game.

P'BURG MERCHANTS WIN IN LAST WEEK'S GAMES

Junior May, Prestonsburg first baseman, drove in the winning runs July 27 at Wheelwright with a double which edged the Drift baseball team, 6-5.

May's clout came after a run-producing single by Ellis and a walk to Blackburn. Ellis, Prestonsburg Merchant catcher, was the big gun in the Merchant attack in spraying out four hits, one a 410-foot triple.

Sharp pitching by Prestonsburg's Nelson but loose fielding efforts by his team-mates produced five runs by Drift. In the third inning three errors, one hit, two walks, and a grounder resulted in the Drift markers.

Eleven Drift batters went out by the strikeout route at the hands of Nelson who allowed only two hits, both singles.

In the doubleheader Sunday at Drift against the Allen club, the Prestonsburg Merchants swept both games, 9 to 0, and 5 to 1.

Righthander Don Sullivan gave up six hits and one run in going the route. Pitcher Sullivan was involved in the scoring as Wendell Childers singled, Sullivan singled, second baseman Petrovich and shortstop Paul Hughes added singles, with Blackburn coaxing a walk and Wilcox bringing in the last of the three runs with a single.

Prestonsburg batters found the hitting range in the first game in knocking out sixteen hits in scoring nine runs. Gene Petrovich, Paul Hughes, and Adrian Blackburn led the attack with three hits each.

Righthander Adrian Blackburn pitched a shutout the first game besides contributing to the hitting attack. He fanned four, allowed only two base-on-balls, and was helped out by the errorless play of his team-mates.

E. K. M. C. FOOTBALL REVIEW

Paul Butcher, well-known basketball coach at Meade Memorial high school in Johnson county, is the new football coach at Pikeville high school. He replaces army-departed Bobby Phillips.

Elkhorn City is conducting a search for an assistant coach for the eighth consecutive year.

Lynch high school needs a football game, October 11. Interested parties may contact principal Sam Potter at the high school in Lynch.

Hazard high school will open football practice August 12, with veteran Jim Caudill at the helm for the eighth consecutive year.

Irvin Wilson, ex-Belfry high and Marshall College griddler, has been named head football coach at Belfry high, following Guy Patterson's resignation.

OSBORNE WITHDRAWS

Flat Gap's Charlie Osborne has withdrawn from Saturday's East-West high school all-star basketball game in Lexington, which leaves the 15th region without a representative in the annual classic.

Selection to play in this event is a high honor for any athlete and many of Kentucky's fine athletes eye the prospect of playing from the time they enter school.

No doubt Osborne is a good basketball player, and possibly has a good reason for not playing, but a more prompt refusal to play would have given some other youth a chance of a lifetime, if Osborne's announcement had been made a month or so ago.

BIG TOOT WINS RAISE

Tokyo—When Japanese railroad engineers wanted a pay raise they went on a big toot and got it. At noon on an appointed day in 1953 they blew the whistles on 5,000 locomotives for a full minute. This cost $1,500, the National Railway Workers Union figured.

Baisden Recognized As Soldier of Month

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Baisden, Oak Hill, Ohio, formerly of Floyd county, have reviewed the following letter from Major Emmett M. Lewis, of the Army Ordnance School, Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.:

"I have the pleasure to inform you that your son, Donie, has been chosen 'Soldier of the Month' for this command for the month of July 1957.

"Such honor is hard-earned and signifies that he has excelled in such matters as appearance, soldierly bearing, knowledge of military subjects and general world affairs. The recognition which he has earned reflects great credit both upon himself and his family."

Summer Lamb Handling Discussed by Miller

Any lambs which were not ready for market by July 15 should have been weaned, treated for internal parasites and turned on the cleanest pasture available, says R. C. Miller, Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service sheep specialists.

Such lambs will make only slow gains in the hot part of the summer, he says, but can be finished at small costs on pasture in the fall after nights cool off, provided the lambs are kept healthy.

Running lambs in cornfields—after the corn reaches the tassel stage—has become more popular in Kentucky. Lambs apparently do no damage to growing corn, though occasionally the pull off a lower leaf or two; they eat grasses and weeds in cornfields. Pasturing them thus is also a good way to break up the parasite cycle; the cornfield is free of parasites the sheep might pick up, since the field has been plowed and has not had sheep on it for months. Keep a phenothiazine-salt mixture available to these lambs, though.

Scientists have isolated and kept alive basic particles of cells which control the breathing process in fruits and vegetables, says the USDA.

PAINTSVILLE SCHOOL NEEDS CITED BY DR. ROBT. MARTIN

The campus of Mayo State Vocational School at Paintsville must be expanded from its present eight acres and additional buildings constructed to accommodate the growing student body, Dr. Robert R. Martin said in an address at Paintsville last Friday.

The state superintendent of public instruction spoke at a joint luncheon meeting of the Paintsville Rotary and Kiwanis clubs in the school's newest building, which will be dedicated this fall. Declaring that Mayo School is a "model for the rest of the state," Dr. Martin said that its buildings are valued at more than $1,000,000, that it has an average of 600 students and 35 faculty members. The school has a waiting list as large as its enrollment, he added.

Vocational training is becoming more and more important to keep pace with Kentucky's rapid industrial growth, Dr. Martin said. Commenting on Kentucky's general educational program, the state superintendent said that many improvements have been made during the past year, although teachers' salaries still are so low that many trained teachers continue to leave Kentucky.

For the first time, he said, all Kentucky public schools have nine-month terms, and there are 1,157 more teachers employed in the state than there were a year ago.

Music and art have been added to curriculums he continued, and counseling provisions have been made. A better supervising program has been established, he said.

Four Floyd Housewives Receive Mayo Diplomas

Graduation exercises marking the close of the 1956-'57 session of Mayo State Vocational School were held July 30 at 1:30 p.m., in the Mayo Memorial Church, Paintsville.

Among the 94 students receiving degrees were Mrs. Bill Mays and Mrs. Frank Damron, of Wheelwright, Mrs. Elmer Caudill, of Bevinville, and Mrs. Ralph Moore, of Price, Ky.

These women traveled more than a hundred miles a day to attend 4½ months of classroom study at Mayo School of Nursing. Completing class work there, they were transferred to the Methodist hospital in Pikeville, where they have received eight months of clinical training which qualifies them to practice as graduate practical nurses throughout Kentucky. They are also eligible to take the Kentucky Nurse's State Board examination, to become licensed practical nurses. The examination will be held Nov. 7 in Louisville.

DRIVES HARD BARGAIN

Washington — Renewing a driver's license in the District of Columbia is going to get tougher if you are still driving at 75. To get a permit renewed at that age will mean an extensive examination, an eye test, a written test on rules of the road, and a doctor's certificate that you are physically able to drive.

be fooled by the "Go about 50 yards directly out from the white beach house" type of direction. This is entirely useless except as a rough basis from which to begin a search. It will be impossible to locate a central line out from the house, and nobody can correctly estimate distances on water.

Here is the trick. There is but one accurate way of returning to the spot; it's practically identical to what a surveyor would use, a form of triangulation. Find two conspicuous objects on shore, one some distance behind the other and directly in line with it from where you are. As nearly to right angles to those as possible, find two more objects similarly in line. That's all! Anytime you get both pairs of marks lined up, you must be precisely in the spot you are now. They can't possibly line up anywhere else.

ATTENTION VETERANS

Veterans can't draw VA pensions in jail after they've been there 60 days. So says Director R. R. Thomas of the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Service Men's Board. The law that cancels pensions of jailed veterans does not apply to prison periods of less than 61 days or to imprisonments before actual conviction, Thomas said. He added that eligible children or the wife of a veteran who has forfeited his pension under this law may receive the pension to prevent hardship.
