This Town— That World

Time was when the deadly word was, "Draw!" Now it's "Drag!"

This "dragging" is juvenile, fellows—let's remember that. So let's give the youngsters a chance to break their necks if they insist, and keep our older, more brittle selves out of it.

And, above all, let us elders not encourage the boys to take chances on their lives, and the lives of others, and with the law—and, please let us not at the same time stand around and bet on which of the youngsters wins out!

In brief, fellows, let's not be more juvenile than our sons.

HARD TO PRODUCE

This case may or may not go any further. It appears it already has enough ramifications.

It began with a Right Beaver Creek man telling his nephew to take a rather ancient mule some distance away to a pasture. The youngster took the mule, and soon thereafter saw a man who offered him good money for the animal. They traded, and time passed till the owner inquired of the youngster how the mule was doing.

"He died, and I buried him," the nephew said.

But further investigation disclosed details of the original

DRY FORCES RALLY HERE

Plan For All-Out Fight On Local Option Issue If Petition Is Honored

Anti-liquor forces here, including members of Prestonsburg's churches and other citizens, began preparations last week for an all-out fight in the local option campaign which will be waged next month if the request for an election filed in county court by wets is granted by County Judge Henry Stumbo.

The Revs. Ira McMillen, Jr., pastor of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church, was elected chairman of the Prestonsburg Dry League, and Ray Stephens, Methodist layman, was named secretary.

Attending the initial organization meeting Aug. 8 was Walter C. House, Louisville, executive director of the Temperance League

HOUSE-SENATE GROUP OKEHS POUND WORK

Cooper Says Ellender Promises Help in 1958 On Fishtrap Reservoir

U. S. Senator John Sherman Cooper notified The Times, Tuesday, that the Senate-House conference committee has approved all Kentucky flood control projects for appropriation this year, including $140,000 for planning the Pound reservoir as a Big Sandy Valley protective measure.

Senator Cooper also said he has again been assured by Senator Ellender (D-La.), chairman of the Public Works Appropriations sub-committee, that he will urge appropriations next year for the Fishtrap reservoir.

The joint Senate-House committee action was necessary, since the Senate last Thursday approved certain flood control expenditures that the House had not voted, including the Pound reservoir.

"This," said Senator Cooper, "represents the beginning of real protection for the Big Sandy Valley."

Of the additional money put into the bill by the senators, $980,000 is for three projects in Kentucky.

The three Senate-added Kentucky projects were:

The New Richmond lock and dam on the Ohio River in Campbell county which calls for $825,000 for start of construction.

The $140,000 to be spent for planning work on the Pound River Reservoir in Dickenson County, Virginia. The Pound drains through the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy, affecting the Kentucky counties of Pike, Floyd, Johnson, and Lawrence.

And $15,000 for resurvey of the upper Cumberland River. Cooper had asked for $35,000, but Chairman Ellender assured him committee studies indicated the $15,000 will be large enough.

Other Kentucky construction projects provided in the bill are:

Markland locks and dams, at Louisville, $9,500,000.

Greenup locks and dams, $13,500,000.

Catlettsburg floodwall, $2,000,000.

Lock and Dam 41 at Louisville, $4,000,000.

Barkley Dam on the lower Cumberland, $5,000,000.

Rough River Reservoir, $3,000,000.

Buckhorn Reservoir on the Kentucky River, $1,900,000.

For planning and engineering surveys, the following were approved:

Little Sandy River and Tygart's Creek, $30,000.

Kentucky River, $54,000.

Laurel River, $19,800.

Cypress Creek, in Muhlenberg and McLean counties, $5,000.

Clark River in Western Kentucky, $18,100.

Nolin Reservoir, $138,000.

No. 2 Barren River Reservoir $50,000.

At no time during his long hospitalization did he regain consciousness.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Bentley, Fairborn, O.; his wife, Jewell Bentley, and daughter, Kathy Ann, of Cadiz, Ky... his ex-wife, Willa Mae Bentley, daughter Judy and son Jackie, of Fairborn, O., also three sisters Mrs. Myranda Armstrong, LaRue, Ohio, Mrs. Myrtle Newsom, Marion, Ohio, and Mrs. Magdalene Little of Fairborn, Ohio.

'DRAG RACING' RAGE MOUNTS

State Police Arrest 5; Races Causing Concern, Control Moves Talked

"Drag" racing caused concern among official circles as well as private here this week as the juvenile craze for speed spread.

State police arrested and booked at the county jail Sunday morning five persons accused of reckless driving and drunk driving. Most or all these had taken part in "drag" racing between Allen and Martin, it was said.

Racing has taken place on the Middle Creek road, on U. S. 23 above Allen and through the middle of Prestonsburg, it was said. Lookouts, or flagmen, are posted at either end of a straight stretch of highway; two competing cars are lined up, and they're off. Usually these races are held late at night.

So concerned have some become for the safety of the drivers and for other motorists who may

SAY 6 ADMIT BLASTING SAFE OF MARTIN FIRM

Six youths whose age range from 16 to 20 have confessed the theft, blasting and looting of the safe of the Martin Supply Company at Martin, shortly after Thursday midnight.

Two of the six are juveniles. Others who admitted having a part in the case were listed by State Police as:

Jimmy Branham, 18; Jackie Scott, 20; Freddie Carroll, 18; Henry Everidge, 20.

These four waived examining trial and executed $3,000 bond each to answer to action of the September grand jury. The bonds were set by County Judge Henry Stumbo, who said the juvenile hearing for the two youths under 18 has been set for August 26.

BOARD NAMES SCHOOL HEAD

Allen New Principal; Scalf Will Supervise Materials Center Here

The Floyd County Board of Education last week named Woodrow Allen, of Prestonsburg, principal of the grade school here, thus removing one of the big question marks that had existed in the school faculty here.

Allen, who has been serving as supervisor of schools, succeeds Chalmer H. Frazier, who resigned the principalship to become administrator of the Prestonsburg General hospital. He is a former principal of Prestonsburg high school and is a veteran teacher.

The teacher situation in the county is improved—so far, County Superintendent V. O. Turner said. The big teacher crisis will arise when consolidated schools open, Sept. 3, if indeed it appears this year, he added.

The Board of Education at last week's meeting established, in accordance with a Minimum Foundation provision, a materials center here for the distribution to teachers of auxiliary aids. Henry P. Scalf, former associate editor of The Times and a former teacher, was named to head this new service.

A central warehouse out of which supplies will flow to the rural areas will be established in the old high school building here. Mr. Scalf will begin work, Sept. 1.

The Board entered into a contract with Morehead State College whereby Miss Hazel Hill, Home Economics teacher in Prestonsburg high school, will be the supervisory teacher as Home Economics students are referred here to do practice teaching in preparation for their own teaching careers.

"We consider this quite an honor Miss Hill is being paid, since she has been sought out for such important work by Morehead," Superintendent Turner said.

5 From County Begin Armed Forces Service

Inducted to the armed services Monday were the following Floyd countians:

Charles Clay Warrick, West Prestonsburg, and John B. DeRossett, Dock, volunteers; Donald Stuart Smiley and Preston Nichols, both of Prestonsburg, and Ashland Ousley, West Prestonsburg.

MARTIN SUIT ASKS $65,000

Governor's Aide Named In Damage Action Here By Discharged Employee

Damages totaling $65,000 are asked by Fred Martin, of Lackey, in a suit filed in the Knott circuit court recently against John (Frenchy) DeMoisey, assistant to Governor Chandler.

Martin cites an alleged statement of DeMoisey's as the basis for the suit, claiming the statement is untrue and damaging to him. He asks $40,000 actual damages and $25,000 punitive damages.

The petition, which was prepared by Cordell H. Martin, Hindman attorney, recites that on or about August 25, last year, the defendant made in the presence of the Governor of Kentucky and at least four others a statement to this effect:

"We had to get rid of Fred Martin at Dewey Lake Park because he has been bootlegging moonshine whiskey and running a warehouse at the park."

The statement, according to DeMoisey, apparently referred to Martin's dismissal as manager at the park. He later was employed in a supervisory capacity by the Department of Highways and again was dismissed. The plaintiff is a brother of Commonwealth's Attorney Burnis Martin, of Prestonsburg, and County Attorney Dan Martin, of Knott county. The Martins were staunch supporters of Chandler in the heated 1955 primary.

Kiwanians At Martin Ask Roads Department For Walks At Bridges

Concern by the Martin Kiwanis Club for the safety of children and others who walk the "twin bridges" outside Martin resulted this week in a resolution calling on the State Department of Highways to construct walkways at each span.

Both bridges are on Ky. 80, and one of the two is near the junction of that highway with Ky. 122.

"Many children have to climb up the sides of the bridges when cars pass while they are walking on them," a representative of the club explained. School pupils in particular face daily traffic dangers there, it was said.

State Senator Doug Hays was designated by the Kiwanis Club to contact the Highway Department and to report to the Club on his findings at the August 26 meeting.

Opening of Church 'Memory Box' Recalls Days, Figures Now Gone

Prestonsburg's First Methodist Church celebrated the 40th anniversary of its occupancy of the present church building, Sunday.

At the morning worship service the Rev. W. Hugh Smith, former pastor of the church, and at present pastor of the Barbourville Methodist Church, was the guest-speaker. A telephone message from the Rev. Harold W. Dorsey, pastor of the church, who is in Japan on an evangelical mission this summer, was another of the highlights of the service. Immediately following this service, a covered-dish dinner was served to all members, former members and friends of the church present for the day. The dinner was sponsored by the W.S.C.S.

At 1:30 p.m., a special Memory Box opening was held. Twenty years ago, the late Rev. Harry F. King closed a box containing letters, books and other memora-

New Pastor To Arrive

J. R. Shenault, Jr., new pastor of the Arnold Avenue Church of Christ here, will arrive next week and begin his work here with the Sunday morning services on August 25, it was announced this week.

Mr. Shenault recently resigned the pastorate of the Fountain City, Ind., Church of God to accept the call to the pulpit here. He had served the Fountain City church five years and during that period the church membership more than doubled. He attended Grayson Christian College and was graduated from the Cincinnati Bible Seminary, holding the degrees in religion of B. S. L. A. B. and M. A.

The Shenaults have twin daughters 10 years old and a third daughter who is 5.

REED, OTHERS ARE SELECTED

Area Commission Named To Help East Kentucky Iron Out Its Problems

A new commission—the first of its kind in Kentucky—was named by Acting Governor Harry Lee Waterfield Tuesday to deal solely with the area's economic future. On that commission is a Floyd county man.

Waterfield said nine "men of action" for the commission were screened from leaders in 32 counties to get a group that "will really do something" for the mountain area.

Named were B. F. Reed, Drift coal operator; R. R. Worden, Pikeville, natural gas executive; Lawrence Davis, Hazard, a real estate developer; Rexford Blazer, of Ashland, an oil executive; Harry LaViers, Paintsville, coal operator; S. C. Van Curren, Harlan, editor of the Harlan Daily Enterprise.

DEATH CLAIMS MARTIN JUDGE

Police Judge Akers, 59, Victim of Long Illness; Had Served Four Terms

Martin Police Judge Kessie Akers, 59, retired Chesapeake and Ohio railroad brakeman, died Saturday midnight at the Beaver Valley hospital as the result of a cerebral hemorrhage. He had been in failing health for about ten years.

Judge Akers had served four terms in office at Martin and had worked 40 years for the railroad prior to his retirement ten years ago. He was a member of the Regular Baptist church for 15 years.

The deceased was the son of the late Andy and Maude Boyd Akers. He is survived by his wife, Mollie Mayo Akers, of Martin; a son, Rudolph Akers, Martin; three daughters, Mrs. Beatrice Patton, Yorktown, Va.; Mrs. Margie Osborne Martin, and Mrs. Aline Scarberry, Martin; two brothers, Bill Akers, Dana, and Elmon Akers, Honaker, and two sisters, Mrs. Della Sammons, Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. Ollie Boyd, Dana.

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m., Tuesday at the home by the Reverends Tack Hall, Sam Thomas and J. P. Hill. Burial took place in the family cemetery at Martin under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral home.

Boy-Fugitive's Arrest Results in Rum Raid On Hunt's Premises

A 15-year-old boy who allegedly got drunk and almost ran berserk while a fugitive in this county from an Ohio detention home last week swore out the search warrant which resulted in Mack Hunt, of the Betsy Layne vicinity, being the object of a liquor raid for the fourth time.

Sheriff Gorman Collins said his deputies confiscated nine half-pints of whiskey from the Lewis premises. Lewis was not arrested but a warrant was sworn out for his arrest.

The youthful fugitive from Ohio was jailed here.

ROAD SURVEY IS PROMISED

State Officials Give Floyd Men Assurance On Dewey Lake Route

A promise of immediate action as a step toward road-building along Dewey Lake from the Stratton Branch recreation area to connect with an existing highway at Hager Gap was promised a Floyd delegation last week by officials of the State Department of Highways.

J. F. Howell, of Price, Tax Commissioner Clive Akers, of Drift, and Representative Lon C. Hill, Prestonsburg, were told a survey of the route would begin within a few days.

Road construction along the lake has been considered the No. 1 project, and essential to any future development of the state park. Access by highway to a site selected more than two years ago for a lodge and vacation cottages has never been made and even if money had been appropriated for such a purpose building could not have been begun because materials could not be delivered there.

WEST P'BURG LUMBER FIRM HEAVY LOSER

Truck Catches Fire, Then Flames Spread Through Lumber Sheds

Fire which raged all Wednesday afternoon and into the night through sheds of the VanHoose Lumber Company at West Prestonsburg caused damages estimated at $200,000.

Although the blaze was restricted to sheds and two warehouses between the railroad siding and the main spur track up Middle Creek and did not reach the lumber company's office and storage buildings across the street, Scott C. Craft, vice-president of the company, said approximately 85% of its stock was lost. The loss, he said, is only about 20% covered by insurance.

Also destroyed was a nearby warehouse of N. M. White, distributor of welding supplies and mine supplies. The structure contained a carload of oil and grease in drums, and these went up in mild explosions from time to time. Mr. White estimated his loss at $10,000 with little insurance. The grease in the building was owned by Hulbert Oil & Grease Company.

Otherwise, the wood-fed inferno caused little damage. The Prestonsburg Fire Department, manned by its volunteer crew and later helped by the fire departments of Pikeville and Paintsville, fought the blaze its full spread of almost a block and succeeded in holding the flames to the sheds and the White building. A block away was an oil and gasoline bulk plant. It caused firefighters deep concern. Across the street was a row of homes. All were saved. In the other direction another residential street was threatened, but firefighters and a shield provided by steel railway cars helped hold back the flames.

THIS IS STORY OF MAY LENDING EAR TO JULY

Russell E. May, owner of the May Sign Company, puts the finishing touches to a sign, soon to be erected on the road-side for a clothing store.

A sign-painter named July was talking to a kid named May one day —was it in December?— and told him of the future involved in sign painting. That was in 1931.

July literally painted the profession in such colorful terms that May became fascinated. Then and there, the youngster developed a yen for form and color that started him doing things.

Russell E. May now owns the May Sign Service in Prestonsburg, employing besides himself and his wife, six men. His work covers an area which includes all of Eastern Kentucky, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, and even

DRIVE SAFELY

Deceleration Increases Centrifugal Force

Here is another important but little known principle of physics which costs many lives every year. Simply stated it means that the natural outward pulling force of a car going around a curve is increased by application of the brakes. On a curve, the frictional resistance of the tires is partly nullified by the application of brakes!

In other words, when you are rounding a curve and have a feeling that you are about to skid or leave the road, use the accelerator and the steering wheel, not the brake.

If you put on the brakes on a curve, you increase the force which causes skidding and overturning; if you keep under power you decrease this force. Especially is this true on a slippery pavement.

Whenever you approach a curve, slow down before you enter it, and proceed around it under power. Eleven per cent of traffic deaths occur on curves.

If your front wheels begin to skid, cut your wheels with the skids rather than out of the skid. If you cut your wheels against a skid, you will probably overturn.

transaction whereby the youngster came in possession of cash. And it developed that the man who had bought the mule had in turn sold him to a soap factory.

Whereupon the owner of the mule got out a writ which solemnly called on the purchaser to do the impossible: produce the aforesaid mule.

The buyer was perturbed about the matter till he consulted a lawyer here and was reminded that that mule would require a lot of producing.

UNSUGHT ADVICE

It isn't surprising to me that nobody has in all my years of offering counsel on this subject and that asked me to advise them on how to locate a paying gas or oil well. The fact of the matter is, as intimates may have suspected, I know nothing whatsoever about such science, guesswork or pure luck. But I have been reading up on the subject and am now—invited to do so or no—presenting my findings here, in part.

There is the Divining Rod Method which worked pretty well in Pennsylvania for a time. A Y-shaped twig, preferably of witch-hazel, and a "dowsing" expert running over the landscape a la Groucho Marx found oil, water, lost fish-hooks and just about everything else in the early days of drilling for oil. These days, if you bring in a dowsing expert to locate your gas well and if he shows up without his witch-hazel twig, boot him off the premises—he's a lightning rod salesman.

Then there was Spiritualism. One fine Spring day at the close of the Civil War, we are told, a certain Mr. Abrams sailed from his gig across a fence, out into a meadow and there passed out cold. They said he was in a trance, and he himself was quoted later as saying he had been in conference with his spirit guide, a winsome Indian lass named Lahlah. Anyway Abrams hit oil at 850 feet, exactly where Lahlah had said he would. This system was right popular until word got around that Lahlah was a hawk-nosed Indian chief. Thereafter prospectors strayed into Creekology and other methods.

Some resorted to the Oil Smeller who claimed he could smell oil or gas at great depths. Others liked the Soil-Taster. One of these professed to know how the soil above gas tasted. It finally developed he was a chronic dirt-eater and for some reason lost caste. Still others depended on dreams, and they seemed to do the job about as well as any other means, and that includes the doodlebugs that are comparatively modern.

Personally, if I were given the task of picking a location for drilling for gas I would use the Don't - Trust - My - Judgment - Friends-and-Neighbors method. That method consists of this simple procedure:

I would study the landscape, dream about it, try out the witch-hazel sprig, consult a medium if one could be found, pick the spot—and then tell the drillers to go at least a hundred yards away in any direction before they began work.

signs and making battlefield models for invasion purposes. After getting out of the service he returned to Portsmouth where he opened the May Sign Company. He said that he later wanted to return to Prestonsburg where he had first started in the sign business. He could see that there was a good opportunity in Prestonsburg where a sign company would have a chance of growing up with a growing town.

May sold his sign business in Portsmouth to a Mr. Harry July. "This was a striking coincidence," he said, "since the man who interested me in sign-painting was a July." Now it was selling to July. Incidentally, this July, had a grandfather named August.

Looking back over the years of work, Mr. May expresses the belief that part of his business success has hinged upon the education of Eastern Kentucky people that advertising pays and that they can get as good service at home as any other place in the world.

"We feel that we've only scratched the surface as far as advertising signs are concerned," he said. "Eastern Kentucky has grown tremendously in the last ten years and we expect great things in the next ten."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A PLEA FOR COOPERATION

Editor, The Times:

It is good to know that the best side of Floyd county history will now come alive, for the Floyd County Historical Society means just that. The worthwhile aspects of our heritage will be disclosed, spotlighted and preserved for posterity.

This is to be possible because of the prolonged work of a few interested citizens, headed by some of the following: Chalmer Frazier, Mrs. Charlotte Martin, Mrs. Winnie S. Johns, and Henry Scaif, the county's own historian. For more than a year a few men and women have been pushing this work, which can ultimately do for the section what similar groups have done to put the Great Smokies in Tennessee on the tourist map to stay. They can do this if others will cooperate and boost to build instead of griping, as sometimes happens.

Every movement must have a central figure. The School for Exceptional Children in Martin illustrates this. For years it was only a dream, as one little mother, whose own child was born handicapped, kept going the rounds, trying to interest others who today are doing their part by carrying on what started in such a small way.

The FCHS, or Eastern Kentucky Historical Society, can, with support of tourists to this area. The revival pod, in a few years bring thousands of either the Jenny Wiley or the Passion Pageant can bring thousands here annually, just as numbers flock to Berea to see Wilderness Road. But this is impossible so long local individuals remain divided in sentiment over minor problems pertaining to such events.

During the Civil War the South learned too late that the divided opinion of its own citizens concerning nearly every separate issue or phase of both secession and how to prosecute the war, cost it a heavy price. Floyd county has everything necessary to equal or surpass any county in the state if her citizens will forget trivial differences and cooperate to the fullest.

With Dewey Lake and the Breaks Park, tourist trade should reach an all-time high. These self-sacrificing, hard-working leaders are doing their best for the interests of every citizen, not for themselves. The least we can do is to help them and hope for greater growth and success.

DISCUSSES "DRAG" RACING

EDITOR, THE TIMES:
I have just been reading the safety article in last week's Times, and there is a serious matter that should be brought to the public's attention.

Do officials know of the racing that goes on, on Ky. 80 between Allen and Martin, or do they just choose to ignore it? These "drag" races take place in the small hours of the morning on Friday and Saturday nights and may be other nights. Where are the State Police at a time and place like this?

Are we going to sit around and say or do nothing until some innocent person or persons are killed?

I have children in the service and away working who travel this road often, and oft-times they are after midnight getting home, and suppose someone is taken ill suddenly and has to go to the hospital.

Since taxpayers' money builds and keep up roads, is it wrong to want to feel safe when we are on our highways?

Since the Kiwanians are sponsoring the Safety Notes, why don't they look into this racing and other law violations on the straightway at Conley's Drive-In, and see if something can't be done? Why not do something now before someone is killed?

Please, print this, as it is high time the citizens were awakened.

STUART SAYS MORE HIGH SCHOOL GRADS NOW PLANNING FOR COLLEGE TRAINING

By Jesse Stuart
(In The Courier-Journal)

The most interesting recent news item to parents and teachers reported Knott county leading all (Kentucky) counties last year in percentage of high-school graduates going to college.

Kentucky has 120 counties and yet, Knott county, with 356 square miles of rugged terrain and more than 20,000 inhabitants, sent 52 per cent of her high-school graduates to college last year. Running Knott county a close second with 51 per cent was Fayette county, in the heart of the Bluegrass and home of this state's educational center. The state's average was 31 per cent.

What can be the reason for Knott county's leading the state? In this part of Kentucky, level, fertile acres are scarcer than hen's teeth. There is little, if any, industry; cities, towns and villages are below average economically, and yet, a present generation of young Americans from this rugged land certainly are not submarginal in the head. They will stand up and be counted not only in Kentucky's but in America's future. There must be wise parents and good teachers in Knott county.

Maybe James Still, novelist, short-story writer, poet and teacher, has been influential. He has been in Knott county many years. Being a classmate of Still at Lincoln Memorial University and at Vanderbilt University, I know he is a builder of youth. I've heard that Congressman Carl Perkins's sister, who is a teacher there, remains unsurpassed. Then, too, let us not forget that Perkins himself is a forceful member of the House Committee on Education and has made a fight to improve education in the United States and in Kentucky.

Then isn't it true that the first Bookmobile in the state of Kentucky was operated in Knott county long before Harry Schacter, Mary Bingham, Georgia Blazer and Company put them in every county in the state?

Where this Knott county Bookmobile couldn't operate, didn't Jimmie Still carry books to pupils on his back? How much of this basic foundation of education can be accredited to Hindman Settlement School, which has inspired youth to go to Caney, Berea, Union, Eastern, Lindsey Wilson and Lincoln Memorial?

The Bluegrass area is filled with the finest colleges of the land. So is Louisville. Counties of Western Kentucky have excellent farm land and outstanding high schools and colleges. Why couldn't one of these counties have sent the highest number to college?

Maybe I have the answer to this, maybe I haven't. Being a hillman myself, I know these upland folk quite well.

They either are or they aren't. This state should know them in athletics—football and especially basketball. Last year, when a headline said Lafayette of Lexington had ended mountain rule, I heard a coach say that headline would bring mountain rule back to the state tournament.

For a county to lead the state in sending its high-school graduates to college is a greater achievement than winning a state basketball championship. This is the most important achievement of secondary schools I have read. Compared to other states, Kentucky has a low percentage of her high-school graduates going to college.

If all the counties in this state could match Knott county, then Kentucky would not be one of the very low states on America's educational totem pole. Articles such as appeared in The Chicago Tribune about East Kentucky's mountain counties, would not be written. If written, they would be in reverse.

I receive many requests to answer these. I couldn't. I found too much truth in these articles because I was back on the firing line teaching!

But how far will Chicago's city schools, for example, surpass Knott county, one of the poorest counties, economically of this state? Knott county is reaching a high batting average for any Kentucky county, especially one of Eastern Kentucky's upland counties!

Why are these young Knott counties people of determination and integrity? Why are they young Americans with dreams? Why are they in some respects keeping pace with perhaps forging ahead of the progress of young people from other areas? If they were making big money, they probably (at least many of them) would prefer to leave school, own cars.

Maybe the roads are narrow and winding in Knott county where I read the families were the largest in this nation. Let them be large! They are producing good, industrious future leaders of America. I read where someone suggested pensions for these large families! No, thank you! Why?

Have you ever taught school? If you have, have you taught young people from large families? For the most part, they are an unselfish group. They've had the first lesson in American democracy: how to get along with others.

They wear each others' clothes, learn to give and take and, above all, they know what it is to scratch for themselves. If you don't believe learning to do for themselves is valuable, check with your teachers and others who are holding key positions today. They were the ones who had the struggle.

Ask James Still how he liked the rock crusher at Lincoln Memorial. Ask Congressman Carl Perkins what inward drive compelled him to go to Caney College and how much money he had? Ask his sister, a fine teacher, if she had to struggle. Ask others in Knott county.

QUESTIONS JUDGE STUMBO SHOULD ANSWER FOR THE PEOPLE

Why was a county police force organized?

What was the need?

By whom was it organized? (Who appoints them?)

How long has it been organized?

How many have been appointed and who are they?

What have they accomplished?

How are they paid, or do they work and bear their own expenses free of charge to the County?

K. R. S. 64.990 (8)—Any officer who by any indirection collects or attempts to collect more for his services than is allowed by law, shall be guilty of a high misdemeanor and fined not less than $50 nor more than $200, and his conviction shall be prima facie evidence of his guilt in a proceeding to remove him from office.

K. R. S. 70.550 — No fees shall be allowed or paid to said officers or employees (of the County Police Force).

K. S. R. 70.560 — The Fiscal Court shall, by order, fix the amount of the salary of all appointees, but no fees or other compensation shall be paid or allowed to any of the officers or members of said County Police Force.

K. R. S. 70.570 — The members of said County Police Force shall not have power to serve subpoenas, summonses, and notices in civil cases.

Now, this being true (who pays them and from where?)

If the administrative duties of our Sheriff department could not be carried out by our department—then why were the people not told by public proclamation.

In my opinion our County Judge has not only misled and deceived the public but also the officers who work under him, and has aroused the curiosity of the voters.

If the fiscal court will not by order set a salary as the law requires them to do (K. R. S.) and if the County Police Officers are prohibited by law from receiving any fees or serving any civil papers, then the public has the undoubted right to require our County Judge to publicly disclose to the voters from what public funds they are being paid and if none then why their super-patriotism all of a sudden by working for nothing. Any candidate for County Judge who will not answer these questions is not worthy of your confidence or your vote.

Keeping Current... For Economy!

In the illustration above, you see a very happy man at a very wonderful moment.

The title, the keys and the car are his—and he's starting out on his first journey at the wheel.

Of course, there's not much doubt as to why he decided to purchase a new Cadillac.

Like everyone else who selects the "car of cars", he did it to "keep current", so to speak, on all of Cadillac's new miracles of performance and beauty and comfort.

But coming to Cadillac, as he did, at this particular time of the year, we also suspect that he was inspired by the added motive of practicality.

For in addition to the normal Cadillac economies of modest purchase price, low operating cost and high resale value—Cadillac dealers are, at this time, seasonally prepared to make Cadillac ownership even more attractive than ever.

Because of the demand for used cars and because of increased production of the Cadillac car itself, the odds are that this gentleman received both a generous allowance on his previous car and prompt delivery of his new Cadillac.

Have you considered how wonderful it would be to step into a Cadillac of your own? Then, you should pay your dealer a visit—spend an hour on the highway in the luxury of Fleetwood coachcrafting—and get the facts for yourself.

You'll agree, we know, that the car is Cadillac—and the time is now!

Not for the Sake of Argument

THE TIMES does not want to precipitate an argument or a row with our Pike county neighbors and their Virginia friends, but we insist that the much-publicized attraction of the Breaks of Big Sandy for the tourist does not even approach in pulling power that of Dewey Lake.

We mention this fact not to belittle the Breaks but in an attempt to place things in their proper perspective and to keep official Frankfort from looking too high in the hills for their scenic spots.

There is a wild beauty about the Breaks, it is true. You get a touch of the primitive there. We're willing to go along even with that colorful phraseology by which it is likened to the Grand Canyon. Truth is, we are all for the Breaks and for the Breaks Park.

But we're just a little bit tired of sitting by and letting state officials and others of influence grow ecstatic over the grandeur of the Breaks when we know that more people will visit Dewey Lake and find more beauty and relaxation there than at these storied Breaks. Water has a peculiar fascination to the human being, and we have plenty of it at Dewey. Add the expanse of blue sky, give people the outdoors of woods and wind and sun, and some elbow-room, a place to swim, to boat, to fish, picnic, camp, laze in the sun—and what chance has a mere gorge and woodland, no matter how majestic, against all this? And Dewey has all these.

Then may we suggest, fellows, that we all get realistic about this matter of parks? Let's rely on the facts and not on publicity or sentiment or legend.

We want a park at the Breaks. But we want a park also at Dewey Lake—an honest-to-goodness state park, not talk or sets of plans, master, working or otherwise. And we want the place that has the greatest possibilities, the highest potential benefit for the greatest number of people, to get the most attention and the most money.

Tell us, pray, when the Breaks of Big Sandy ever on one day attracted sixteen thousand people! But there we go inciting another argument.

Who Would Use the "Drag Strip"?

It has been suggested locally that a "drag strip" be constructed as a move toward taking youngsters with a mania for speed off the highways where they endanger the lives of others as well as their own.

In support of such a project it is pointed out that off-the-highway strips for impromptu auto racing such as this have been very helpful elsewhere. The idea is, form a club, have its members governed by strict rules as to their behavior as drivers on the highways, and give the whole undertaking official supervision.

"Drag" racing on the highways—on the streets of Prestonsburg, one report says—has caused much concern in recent weeks. Only by the greatest good fortune have those who thus race escaped serious injury or death. They have been equally fortunate in not causing the deaths of innocent motorists. As we understand "drag" racing, two automobiles line up, side by side, on the highway, then take off. On a two-lane road this leaves a minimum of room for the unsuspecting driver who may drive meeting them.

Something must be done, all are agreed. Either drag racing must stop or it must be taken off the highways.

What we want to know before we go any farther is this: If a drag strip is provided for the younger set, has anybody any assurance that older "speed kings" will not move in and appropriate the strip to themselves?

which of these brand new houses is TRULY MODERN?

These two houses look equally new and modern. But let's step inside and see the difference.

House No. 1 has an ordinary fuel burning heating system.

House No. 2 has an electric heat pump, the amazing unit that heats in winter and cools in summer automatically and economically . . . using only outside air and electricity to provide year 'round comfort.

The electric heat pump lets its owners live better in many ways. It gives them more free time, because an electric pump reduces household cleaning chores . . . eliminates furnace tending and fuel buying. It saves money, too, by cutting the cost and frequency of redecorating.

Most important of all, an electric heat pump guards the family's health. Heating or cooling, it constantly supplies fresh, clean, filtered air . . . distributed quietly and evenly to every corner of the house.

You can save money and live better with an electric heat pump! Let us tell you about the many advantages of this truly modern way to heat and cool your home.

They point out that only those who abide by strict rules and adhere to regulations governing their personal conduct and their careful driving on the highway would be permitted on these special race-ways. It is also argued that the races would be supervised.

Harry Ranier, Prestonsburg contractor, said this week, he will grade and prepare for blacktopping such a "drag strip" if the site is provided. After that, surfacing would have to be financed.

Sheriff Gorman Collins said he would contribute $200 toward providing such a place off the highways for youthful drivers.

John K. Sturgill, four-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Sturgill, of Endicott, is under treatment for paralytic polio at St. Joseph's hospital, Lexington, to which he was admitted Friday.

A spokesman for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said the baby had not had Salk antiparalytic vaccine.

He added that it is the practice of local pediatricians to begin administering Salk vaccine to babies at the age of two months. Since it is the practice of obstetricians to give the vaccine to pregnant women, the vaccine is not given the baby until it is two months of age because the immunity acquired from the mother lasts two months.

The Sturgill child is the only polio patient currently under treatment at the isolation ward and is the fifth to be treated there this year. He is the 31st case reported in Kentucky, more than 100 less than the average at this time of the year during the past five years.

prise; Dr. Adron Doran, president of Morehead State College; the Rev. William M. Huie, Corbin, and Dr. Alec Spencer, of West Liberty, a physician.

The group will work with the State Dept. of Economic Development in an all-out effort to iron out Eastern Kentucky's problems.

Economic Development Commissioner George Hubley, Jr., said the group is the first of its kind in Kentucky although laws providing for regional planners have existed since Governor A. B. Chandler's first term 20 years ago.

The new group will be the executive arm of the Citizens Advisory Committee on Eastern Kentucky, which has 200 members from the 32-county area.

Both the committee and the commission were formed following recently completed studies of Eastern Kentucky flood rehabilitation. Their need was accentuated by the disastrous floods in January.

Waterfield said commission members will serve without pay, adding it is hoped they could be provided with a paid technical staff through an appropriation from the 1958 General Assembly.

He said possible initial projects of the commission might include:

- 1. Assistance to communities in obtaining federal help for urban renewal, low cost housing and the construction of public facilities.
2. A survey of potential industrial sites and recommendations for improvements necessary to convert them into desirable plant locations.
3. A study of the area's tourist potential.
4. Liaison with the U. S. Weather Bureau to provide a radar flood warning system at the earliest possible time.
5. A study of new state legislation that might be needed to permit countywide and intercounty planning.

Before the opening of the box, Mrs. R. V. May gave an interesting history of the church. Among the many interesting facts and figures presented by her was the story associated with her grandfather, George P. Archer, and the lot on which the church now stands. To quote Mrs. May: "One day Mr. Archer went home and said to his wife: 'Emma, the church wants to buy our potato patch for $1,000. Shall we sell it to them?' To which Mrs. Archer replied: 'Sell it? We will give it to them. It belongs to the Lord, anyway.'" Thus, the First Methodist Church came into possession of its present building site.

Claybourne Stephens, chairman of the Official Board, brought greetings from the Board, and William King, son of the Rev. King, told the story of the making and filling of the Memory Box. Mrs. Harry F. King, widow of Rev. King, distributed the contents of the box to those present. C. H. Frazier presided over the meeting and gave a short eulogy on Rev. King. The committee which planned the day's activities were: C. H. Frazier, Mrs. R. G. Francis, Mrs. Eddie Worland, C. L. Hutsinpiller, Willie Mellon.

The church was decorated by Dr. George A. Harkins and Monte Scott Harkins in memory of their grandmother, Mrs. Josie D. Harkins, and Rev. King.

The feelings of those present concerning the day and its significance to them was expressed in a telegram received from Mrs. Iley B. Browning, who was unable to get to Prestonsburg for the event. The telegram read: "Greetings to all Methodists and friends on this sacred day. As you open and read the contents of the memory Box may the spirit of those who have served and gone be an inspiration to us who are left to continue to further the cause of Christianity. My thoughts are with you as well as my regret not to be present."

Historic Floyd County

(No. 16 in a series)

Map Of Early Floyd County

Floyd county, Kentucky, was created by an act of the General Assembly and was signed by Gov. James Garred, Dec. 13, 1799, to become effective June 1, 1800. It was formed from Mason, Montgomery and Fleming counties.

The new county was organized at the home of James Brown who lived on the present Auxier Road but Preston's Station, renamed Prestonsburg, was designated as the county seat. Only six persons resided in Prestonsburg when it was made the seat of government for a vast section of Eastern Kentucky and only 478 persons lived in the entire area.

Comprising the new county of Floyd in 1800 were all or parts of 15 present Eastern Kentucky counties. These are Floyd, Pike, Martin, Johnson, Lawrence, Elliott, Morgan, Magoffin, Knott, Letcher, Perry, Breathitt, Wolfe, Menifee and Rowan.

The present Floyd county is very much reduced in area since it was formed but it has grown in population and industry until today it is an important segment in the economy of the mountain section. The First National Bank of Prestonsburg, established in 1904, has always been closely identified with its economic development.

SHERIFF SAYS POLITICS RULES THE ROOST

I have been selected by the Republican Executive Committee to be your candidate for County Judge this November 5, 1957.

I did not want to run for an office but intended to go back into business. I was encouraged by Republicans and Democrats alike to make this race. That is why I, once again, am calling upon you for help. I could not have been your Sheriff for the past four years had it not been for your faith in me and your willingness to cross your ticket. The generosity you have shown in supporting me and the effort extended in my behalf has and can only be repaid in a small way, by serving you as well as I know how to see that justice prevails and a semblance of law and order replaces confusion and disorder. The Sheriff's office has never been mine but only a trust. I have been the custodian to do the will of the people and have done so without favoritism. My lack of more success in enforcing the law has not been in failing to catch the violators, but the lack of prosecution in our courts where it is alleged that political favoritism rules. My record as your Sheriff is plain to see. Upon our fall records and our court records are inscribed the many hundreds of violators apprehended. Upon these same records is the disposition by our courts. The reputation of our courts as to lack of prosecution has gone out all over our state and has almost excluded our county from the protection of our State Police. I have been fought bitterly ever since taking office by our professional politicians, who control your county offices, to keep me from enforcing our laws. I am running on my reputation and not from it. I want my opponent to do the same.

When a man asks the people to put him into a position of trust and responsibility, his reputation, then, is no longer private property, but it is an open book with the pages of life thrown open for the people to read and to judge. This reputation, good or bad, will go before him through the county, to give credit where due or to discredit. You the people are the judge and the jury and will decide what the verdict will be. The burden and responsibility rests upon your shoulders. Will you check my record, will you check my opponent's record?

When elected your County Judge, I will not play politics with every issue. I will not refuse to prosecute bootleggers, drunk drivers, or any other case that may come before me. I will use your tax money wisely. I will try to build roads up every creek in this county. I feel that every road in this county can be built in four years with the taxes we pay. I will not transact the county's business behind closed doors. I will on the first day of January fire every political parasite that has been riding the gravy train at the tax payers expense and producing nothing. I will not permit county equipment to open drift mouths, grade house seats, build private driveways for a privileged few. I will not involve our county in any Gas and Water deals. I will spend your tax dollars for our people's interest. I will in short be a judge for all the people, looking after the interest of Floyd County and all its people. I will replace political favoritism in our courts with justice.

I will support your elected Sheriff in his efforts to enforce the law. I will help him to improve our two-way radio system. I will see that your road house laws are enforced. I WILL NOT SET UP A COUNTY POLICE SYSTEM TO HAMPER OR HAMSTRING OUR REGULAR LAW ENFORCEMENT AGENCY—the Sheriff department. Our county office holders are supposed to be servants of the people. Instead, our people have been subjugated and made vassals of a corrupt political machine. Pawns of fear, fear of reprisal by the very people sworn to protect our freedom.

"The greatest want of the world is the want of man. Men who will not be bought and sold, men who in their innermost souls are true and honest, Men who do not fear to call sin by its right name, men who are as true to duty as the needle to the pole, men who will stand for the right though the heavens fall."

four-mile route may not be made till next spring, it was said.

The Floyd delegation expressed to state officials their concern upon learning that Dewey Lake State Park is slated to receive only $50,000, or thereabouts, from the bond issue to be offered for sale. They pointed to the huge number of people who visit the lake—of the 16,000 gathered there July 4 and of hundreds camping in the area overnight at that holiday time—and that this great show of interest has been evinced with little or no development of the area as a park.

Other improvements were promised the Floyd counties by the state officials. One of these is the blacktopping of the road through the Stratton Branch recreation area to ally dust in the picnic grounds and play areas. Another is the placing of at least 1,000 feet of guard-rail along the road to the recreation area. Such protection already has been afforded on the road leading past the boat dock and on to the boat-launching site at the mouth of Brandy Keg Cove.

It was explained that the state had delayed installation of guard-rails on the road to Stratton Branch because it had hoped first to widen the route, but the decision was made last week to give all possible protection now and not await improvement of the road itself.

Joe Weddington, of Prestonsburg, said recently he had been urging guard-rail construction and that he had procured an estimate on the cost of thus protecting the road from Stratton Branch back to the junction, near the boat dock. Cost of the work, he said, was estimated at $7,000.

Polio Foundation To Conduct Floyd Survey During August

A countywide survey to discover the current rehabilitation needs of all post-polio patients will be conducted this month by the Floyd County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Ray Howard, chapter chairman, announced this week.

The local survey is part of a nationwide project by the National Foundation to compile a roster of polio cases of all ages and degrees of disability, regardless of date of onset. The canvass here is to be completed by Sept. 1.

"Modern medicine has made impressive strides in developing new rehabilitation techniques in recent years," Mr. Howard said. "Pilot surveys already taken show that there are thousands of polio-handicapped in the United States who have not yet had an opportunity for medical evaluation to determine if they might benefit from these new techniques."

"Some of the techniques employed today for those disabled by polio and other causes were unknown or unused as recently as 10 or even five years ago.

"The March of Dimes organization, having scored a tremendous victory in its war on polio, does not now propose to walk off and leave the wounded behind, so long as help for them is possible. We wish to find everyone who has had polio, whether paralytic or nonparalytic. We want to know what the special problems may be, so that they may be helped to regain useful lives, if humanly possible, even though it will take a considerable period of time."

Music-Colvin Motor Co., Gets Edsel Dealership; Showing Set September 4

The Edsel Division of the Ford Motor Company has announced that the Music-Colvin Motor Co., Inc., Prestonsburg, is one of its first dealership appointments.

Ed Music and Bert Colvin, officials of the local motor firm, said the Edsel, newest of the nation's automobiles, will be displayed here for the first time, Sept. 4.

"We've both sold cars for years," Mr. Music said, "but we've never been as excited about any car as about the Edsel. That's why we became the Edsel dealer and why we're setting up a brand-new dealership and having men trained to give the public the best service possible."

Music & Colvin already have had mechanics at Columbus, O., receiving factory service training.

The new Edsel dealership has rented the G. B. Hughes building on South Lake Drive for displaying and servicing the car, and has stocked a complete parts department.

A Personal Message To My Friends And Relatives of Floyd County:

My friend Dick Spurlock, is the Republican nominee for Circuit Court Clerk of Floyd County and I take this means to ask each and every one for your help and vote in the November 5th election. In addition to being a personal friend of mine, Dick is closely related to me.

I note in some of Dick's opponent's literature that he is appealing to your sympathy and expects to get your vote from that standpoint, but I am reliably informed that Mr. Stephens is drawing Social Security and his wife is employed by one of the department stores in Prestonsburg, besides owning an interest in the store.

I married Mattie Stephenson, who is a daughter of Jim Stephenson, now deceased. Her grandfather was Jeff Auxier, who is now deceased, and I am also related by blood and marriage to the following: Sammons, Adkins, Clicks, Conns, Campbells, Crafts, Collins, Thornsberrys, Stumbos, Wilcoxes, Auxiers, Spradlins, Stephensons, Lafertys, Grays, Derossetts, Deckers, Smiths, Bishops, Harps, Musics, Cooleys, Hills, Boldens, Hydens, Fords, and Wells.

I am appealing especially to my relatives to support Dick Spurlock in this race. I know him to be honest, sober and trustworthy and I believe that he would make you a good Clerk, and I guarantee that you would not be sorry, and he would appreciate it very much.

I am making a personal canvass and expect to see many of you, in addition to other relatives and friends, as I can; but in case I do not get to see you, PLEASE help me elect my friend to this office.

REV. HAROLD SAMMONS

JUDGE RULES IN BANK CASE

Federal Judge Swinford Holds Board of Education Legally Named Depository

U. S. District Judge Mac Swinford has handed down an opinion holding that the Floyd County Board of Education was within its rights in designating The Bank Josephine here as depository of its funds.

The Board's action was attacked in a federal court suit filed by The First National Bank here which had been the depository and which claimed it did not have an opportunity to bid for the place again. Defendants—the Board of Education and the Bank Josephine — claimed the Board could not consider the bid of the First National Bank because it was a member of the Federal Reserve System and insured with the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and was, therefore, not permitted to pay interest on demand deposits.

Judge Swinford held that neither of the banks is permitted under federal deposit insurance law to pay interest on demand deposits. The First National, the opinion recites, however, had intended to propose to place part of the Board's funds on checking account and a part on time deposit or "time certificate of deposit account," waiving the customary 30-day withdrawal notice.

The Bank Josephine denied plaintiff's claim that its designation as depository was a gratuity, pointing out that it offered certain benefits to the Board, some of which were:

A loan to the Board in the amount of $25,000 without interest; payment of $625 premium on the treasurer's bond, and the deposit of $400,000 in government bonds in escrow to secure its faithful performance of duty as depository.

Judge Swinford saw no violation in the course proposed or followed by either bank, and concluded that "The Board of Education is under no statutory duty to choose one depository over another but is left to the exercise of its own judgment as to the security of public funds. If in preserving these funds it can obtain interest on the funds or other benefits, it has not only the privilege but the obligation to do so . . ."

Prestonsburg's Johnny Thompson scraps for possession of ball in Canal Zone game.

Johnny Thompson, former Prestonsburg athlete now in the armed services studying in a Guided Missile School at Fort Amador in the Canal Zone, has been very successful with another kind of missile on a basketball floor.

He has been bombarding the hoop for a 16-point average per game and recently was the leading scorer in that zone, although much of his competition comes from topflight collegiate professional players.

Johnny's father, Thomas B. Thompson, of Prestonsburg, said that Johnny has related in his letters that every game is televised. He has said, Thompson tells us, that the fans there are wonderful. "Even when we make a mistake the fans cheer us," Johnny told his father.

Fans in this area remember

Johnny for his football playing rather than for his feats on the hardwood. Thompson was a deadly blocker and runner, especially in his last year while playing fullback. He played one year at Centre College before entering the service.

Not that Thompson has his seasons mixed up, but, according to his Dad, he's just getting ready for the baseball season. It's too hot, he said, to play football down there, so, around September, their winter baseball league opens.

Johnny, who leads the league in foul shots made, and plays on an average of five basketball games a week, is expecting to be battling for an outfield post.

Johnny told his father that he has a wonderful time in the Canal Zone in the winter, watching major leaguers who play in the Latin America circuits during the off season.

Alphoretta Woman Victim at Hospital; Burial In Bath-Co.

Mrs. Verna Adams Carroll, 62, of Alphoretta, died Friday at Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin, after a brief illness. Cause of death was not given.

A daughter of Burns and Nola Adams, she was a native of Salt Lick, Bath county. Her husband, Carroll, preceded her in death.

One son, Clayton Carroll, of Alphoretta, and one brother, Delbert Adams, of Salt Lick, survive. Funeral rites were conducted Sunday afternoon from the Midland Church of God in Bath county, and burial was made in the Midland cemetery under direction of the Turner-Ryan Funeral Home.

Martin's petition claims that the statement ascribed to DeMoisey was given wide publicity throughout Kentucky, and particularly in Eastern Kentucky, and that as a result the plaintiff has been caused great humiliation and embarrassment. The purported statement has handicapped Martin in obtaining employment, has impaired his credit and otherwise damaged him, the plaintiff contends. The statement, Martin maintains, was made maliciously and with the intent to damage the plaintiff.

Telephone Talk

by H. D. HAYES
Your Telephone Manager

STILL WITH US? I hope you've been enjoying reading these "Telephone Talk" columns. We try to make them interesting and informative. More than that, they're sort of like a personal chat with you and that's fine, since I don't get around to seeing all of our good customers in person. This telephone business is a mighty interesting one, and through Telephone Talk I want to keep you informed about it and pass along tips from time to time to help you get the most from your service. Meanwhile, if you have any questions about any particular phase of your service, why not drop me a line at the Business Office and I'll do my best to give the answer.

IT'S HAPPENED AGAIN! Well, the Bell Telephone Companies have again qualified to receive the National Safety Council's annual "Award of Honor" during 1956. This is the fifth year out of the last six that we have been awarded recognition for outstanding safety performance. The Safety Council reports that the communications industry continues to be the safest of all industries, and the Bell Telephone Companies are the largest group in the communications industry. Naturally, we telephone folks here in town are happy we've played our small part in making Southern Bell a safe place to work.

BEST BARGAIN in talk is a Long Distance call—anywhere, any time. And it's a very special bargain when you call station-to-station between points in Kentucky. That's when you place your call to a telephone number instead of a particular person at the number. You actually save up to 1/2!

For instance, you can call station-to-station from Prestonsburg to Frankfort for just 65c; person-to-person would cost $1.30. And nights after 6, and all day Sundays you may talk four minutes station-to-station for the same two-minute daytime rate. Take advantage of this bargain in talk often, won't you?

80-MILLION-TON YEAR SEEN FOR STATE COAL

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 7 — Kentucky's mining chief predicted Wednesday that 1957 will be a banner year for coal in the state. Production, James H. Phalan said, will reach 80,000,000 tons—up 4,000,000 from last year.

Phalan made the prediction as he submitted the 1956 annual report of his Department of Mines and Minerals to acting Governor Harry Lee Waterfield.

The report showed that coal production in Kentucky last year totaled 75,934,180 tons, an increase of 7,000,000 over 1955.

In an interview, Phalan said, "The over-all outlook for coal is good" despite unfavorable market conditions now facing operators. He explained that the price of coal has not increased with the rising cost of living.

Phalan said he had thought the flash floods last January would have an undesirable effect on coal production in the Kentucky River and Big Sandy Fields. But actually, he added, the output there is now running one to three per cent ahead of 1956.

He said Kentucky's mines were operating at about 75 per cent of capacity. If Phalan's forecast for 1957 holds true, it would be only the fourth year in Kentucky mining history that coal production has hit the 80,000,000-plus mark.

The record output of 88,695,527 tons was recorded in 1947; the next year, 82,579,453 tons were mined, and 1950 brought a tonnage of 82,176,693.

The report said 75 accidental deaths resulted last year from operations at Kentucky's 2,986 mines, which employ 45,441 workers.

That means, for the sixth time in the state's mining history, coal was produced at an annual rate of a million or more tons per fatality.

A breakdown of the fatalities by counties showed Harlan led with 15, Pike was second with 10, then came Leslie, 9; Letcher, 8; Floyd and Perry, 7 each; Johnson and Knott, 3 each; Bell and Hopkins, 2 each, and Knox, Lee, Union, and Whitley, 1 each.

In 1955, 57 miners were killed accidentally. The peak year for fatalities was in 1929 when 197 Kentucky miners lost their lives.

Breaking down last year's tonnage by districts, the report showed that Western Kentucky, with the fewest mines, 171, produced the most coal, 29,805,253 tons.

The 1,284 mines in the Big Sandy district produced the second greatest amount, 20,116,148 tons, followed by Cumberland Valley, 763 mines and 14,276,184 tons, and Kentucky River, 678 mines and 11,736,595 tons.

The production from strip mining totaled 17,862,264 tons and from auger mining, 1,049,376 tons.

The report's inspection summary showed that 992 mines were closed temporarily until they complied with safety regulations.

Reporting on oil production in Kentucky, Phalan said a total of 17,767,954 barrels was produced last year compared with 15,749,369 barrels the preceding year.

Permits to drill oil and gas wells totaled 1,782—or 224 more than were issued in 1955.

Zeb Ousley for Magistrate

To The Voters of Magisterial District No. 2

I am your Democratic nominee for Magistrate and am deeply indebted to the good people of my district for this honor.

I was born and raised a poor boy just as my opponent was. In fact he and his family are my good neighbors and blood relation.

As to my belief about roads, just ask any one who knows me. I am now and have always been a great believer in good roads. We all know that roads need building and improving and I as your magistrate will do everything I possibly can for roads in our district.

It has been chared that I will have someone else to keep my books. May I take this opportunity of assuring every voter in our district that I am fully capable of keeping the books of this office and that I personally will take care of the book work of the Magistrate's office.

May I again say that I am deeply indebted to the voters of our district and humbly ask for your support in the coming November election.

'HALT ACCIDENTS, SAVE LIVES' SAFETY CAMPAIGN THEME

The seventh annual "Remember September — No Accidents" campaign conducted throughout the Tri-State mining areas of Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia will have the full support of organized labor, mine operators, state and federal agencies and insurance underwriters. It was announced this week by the campaign coordinator, James H. Phalen, chief of the Kentucky department of mines and minerals. The theme of the 1957 campaign, "Halt Accidents, Save Lives," is designed to emphasize as forcibly as possible the vital importance of obeying the rules of safety, not only in the mines, but on any job, on the highway, in the home, at school and at play.

The campaign has the enthusiastic support of Charles Ferguson, safety director of the United Mine Workers of America and chairman of the coal mine section of the National Safety Council. Ferguson, who has long been a militant leader in the crusade for mine safety, recently initiated a year-long campaign for the prevention of coal mine roof fall accidents, the number one killer in the nation's mines.

Also endorsing the September program are Marling J. Ankey, director of the U. S. bureau of Mines and James Westfield, the bureau's assistant director of health and safety. Other cooperators include the departments of mines and minerals of the three states and mine institutes throughout the area. Among these are the Big Sandy-Elkhorn, Harlan, Kentucky River and the Pon d Creek-Tug River institutes.

"This year I hope we can demonstrate that the coal mining industry in the tri-state area can operate for a full calendar month without a single fatality," said Phalen, "and our accomplishment in September can set a pattern for the year ahead. I believe it can be done if all of us concentrate on this goal."

Blue Grass Stir Draws Attention To Old Landmarks

By Charles F. Hinds
Secretary-Treasurer, Kentucky Historical Society

Frankfort, Aug. 9 (Spl.)— "Frankfort belongs to Kentucky" was the subject of a recent editorial in the Louisville Times. On the morning of the same day, the Courier-Journal editorialized: "Frankfort's Future Concerns Us All."

Both editorials referred to an announcement by Acting-Governor Harry Lee Waterfield of a master plan for the rapidly-growing capital city, financed partly by the state, partly by the community, and partly by the federal government.

Waterfield made a significant statement when he said "there is no question that the historical charm of Kentucky's capital city will vanish unless all the governments involved take necessary steps to preserve our many valuable landmarks which face an uncertain future."

Grady Clay, writing recently in the April issue of the ARTS IN LOUISVILLE made an appeal to Kentuckians "to consider creating the same kind of 'historical district' for Frankfort CORNER IN CELEBRITIES like that 'set up for Beacon Hill, Old Charleston, Historic Annapolis, and New Orleans' Vieux Carre."

Lexington, according to Joseph Graves, is considering such a move for the Gratz Park area of the city, the location of such landmarks as Morrison Hall, the Benjamin Gratz House, the Roberts House, the Ridgely House, the Stark House, and the Hunt-Morgan House. Graves is president of the Foundation for the Preservation of Historic Lexington and Fayette county.

The National Trust for Historic Preservation chose Lexington for the second course on historical and architectural appreciation given by this foundation in the United States. This was a signal honor for Kentucky and a tribute to our increasing interest in the permanent and the valuable. The course was held July 25-27 and was attended by approximately 80 "students" from eight states.

What does all this mean to Kentucky? At first thought, those living outside the Bluegrass area may think, "Nothing!"

But let's examine the meaning of this Bluegrass stir very closely. Frankfort and Lexington are the Jamestown, the Williamsburg, and the Beacon Hills of Kentucky.

We must preserve the Georgian and Greek-Revival "rows" in our state, and in so doing, we will have staged simultaneously two of the most successful dramas since Harriet Beecher Stowe's UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.

Methodist Minister Formerly at Pikeville Succumbs at Maysville

Maysville, Ky., Aug. 7 — Dr. Carl E. Vogel, 66, Maysville pastor and a former district superintendent of the Methodist Church, died at 3 p.m. Wednesday at a Maysville hospital where he had been a patient a week since undergoing surgery.

Before moving here two years ago to become pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, Dr. Vogel was superintendent for six years of the Kentucky Conference's Frankfort District. He formerly had served as pastor at Ashland, Pikeville, Fort Thomas, and Trinity Temple Methodist Church, Louisville.

He attended Berea College and the University of Chicago and received his doctor-of-divinity degree from Union College, Barboursville. He was secretary of the board of trustees of the latter school at the time of his death.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Minnie K. Vogel; a son, Karl E. Vogel, Chicago; a brother, Jacob F. Vogel, Shelbyville, Ind.; and two sisters, Mrs. Katie Puff, Colorado Springs, Col., and Mrs. L. B. Pendrey, Fort Thomas.

Farm-fire losses in 1956, says the USDA, reached $145 million.

Test Livestock Before Buying, Farmers Warned

Frankfort, Aug. 12 (Spl.) — Acting State Veterinarian Dr. Robert H. Singer warned farmers against risking financial loss by failing to require all cattle be tested for brucellosis prior to being bought or sold at stockyards and public sales for return to the farm.

Dr. Singer said reports had reached his office here that some stockyards were not blood testing cattle before they went into the sales ring. Often the purchaser would buy a cow or bull only to find that it was brucellosis infected. In such cases, the animal must be sent to immediate slaughter, often at prices considerably lower than was paid for the animal an hour or so earlier.

The State Veterinarian added pre-sale testing also was advantageous to the seller because the prospective purchaser could buy knowing the animal in question was a healthy one. He added that some yard operators had reported to him that the selling price of pre-tested animals ran $15-$25 higher than for one that had not been tested.

This reduction requiring testing of cattle being returned to the farm has been in effect since July 1, Dr. Singer said.

During the first month, 4,275 cattle were blood tested to be returned to the farm. Of this number, 7.4 per cent either were branded reactors or were designed "suspect." Neither reactors nor suspects may be returned to the farm and must be sold for slaughter immediately, the official declared.

Farm wage rates in April, 1957, were about 4 per cent above that of 1956.

Capitol Notebook

Frankfort, Aug. 12 — A Threlkeld, president of the State Association of Soil Conservation Districts announced the 14th annual meeting of the supervisors is scheduled for Sept. 25-27 at Kentucky Dam Village State Park, Gilbertsville.

The program arrangement has not been completed but Threlkeld indicated it will be outstanding. Reservations can be made for accommodations by writing the park.

"AWAY ALL BOATS"

A communique from the Historical Society tells us the House Armed Services committee has voted to let the Navy scrap the battleship Kentucky. The ship was 73 per cent complete when construction was suspended in 1954. A total of $55,000,000 has been spent on her. In 1900 the first battleship Kentucky was commissioned and in 1907 she was a part of the famous Great White Fleet which made a trip around the world. She was placed out of commission in 1920 and scrapped in 1923. A silver service from the first Kentucky is on display in the Old State Capitol, home of the Historical Society, on loan from the Navy Department. The silver was purchased by the citizens of Kentucky and presented to the ship at Old Point Comfort, Va., in 1900.

ATTENTION VACATIONERS

In its continuing program to keep the public aware of Kentucky's vacation and recreational attractions, the Department of Public Relations and the Divisions of State Parks, are utilizing an opportunity by maintaining displays at Louisville's Standiford Field. It is estimated more than 700,000 air travelers will see these displays in 1957. An interesting sidelight: each person spends an average of 21 minutes waiting for plane arrivals and 22 minutes waiting for departures.

DO YOU KNOW

Gen. George Custer who was massacred by Indians at the Battle of Little Big Horn lived for two years in Elizabethtown.

The Kentucky Junior Conservation program administered by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources is one of the finest in the Nation.

A total of 7,637 men were killed, wounded or missing after the Battle of Perryville. About 30 men a minute were killed in this, the bloodiest battle ever fought in Kentucky.

Near Smithland, in Livingston county is a roadside monument that directs passersby to the nearby burial place of Lucy Jefferson Lewis, Thomas Jefferson's only sister.

IT'S THE TRUTH

From the Woodford Sun, Versailles, comes an interesting story of the Kentucky Long Rifle.

"A single discovery by an unknown Pennsylvanian turned an ordinary rifle into one of the world's truly great weapons—the Kentucky Long Rifle. The rifle was thought to have originated in Pennsylvania around 1726. Around the 1730's someone in that State got the idea of wrapping the bullet in deerskin prior to firing it. This killed the space between the bullet and the walls of the barrel thus the full force of the load was used to power the drive of the missile. The rifle became a powerful, accurate and deadly weapon. The early scouts, hunters and explorers who came over the mountains into Kentucky had two great assets; an undying spirit and a superb weapon. A combination hard to beat."

SHINE PUBLICIZED

"My Old Kentucky Home holds a unique spot for the hearts of Kentuckians and Americans throughout the land."

This is the description accompanying a full color cover photograph of My Old Kentucky Home appearing on the current issue of Dixie Parade, published in Atlanta.

The magazine also features a 7-page spread on Russellville. The town is described as a "green community, where the white face cattle make a beautiful sight as you ride along the highway."

SIXTEEN OF THE REASONS I NEED YOUR HELP IN THE JAILER'S RACE!

These children have each, in their way, been a great blessing to their mother and me. Those who know us need not be told we have been a closely knit family group. To me our children are sixteen of the best reasons in the world for my wanting your support in the November election.

I don't ask you to vote for me solely because I am the father of sixteen children—I ask for your vote, because I believe I am qualified to do the job! Ask those who know me about my character and ability.

What I have said here I say as an humble man. I have no delusions of grandeur. My faith in God, my family, my home, and my good friends are the things I cherish most. I cannot promise to be all things to all men. I can only promise to do my best and to be grateful for whatever you may do for us in this coming election. When I say "us" I mean my wife, Otela Spradlin Smiley, and our children: Ronnie, Donnie, Vyron Allen, Jackie, James, Jessica, Judy, Wayne, Elizabeth, Nicky, Ricky, Debby, Vee Ann, Martha, Dinah, and Phillip.

Sincerely,
V. A. SMILEY

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D.
Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

"TASTING THE LANDSCAPE"

Nearly every day I find myself somewhat out of tune with a speed-mad world that does not have time to taste landscape or do anything else that subtracts from the period for dashing away toward some elusive and maybe unimportant goal. We are in too much of a hurry. No amount of warning seems to lessen our wrecks in number or violence. Some wit said recently that we break our necks to get somewhere so that we can get started back sooner.

We make up for this a little by traveling in vacation time to places as far away as we can see and get back before our work starts. Hosts of the people whom I have seen at state and national parks were surprised at themselves for liking plain looking and breathing. Many of them, I fear, would not have spent an hour looking at their own landscapes or even imagining that these same views were worth seeing. Not all of us can live where we can look out a picture window and see landscapes that would have made some of the old painters envious. I have been in a few homes where such views were the daily fare. My own office window looks out upon a view that is about as pretty as can be found in the state or at least in the less wild parts of the state. But there is no monopoly of such views; thousands of people have but to look out of their windows to realize how an artist would revel in what is daily food for us.

For almost a half century I have been trying to get at the heart of the scenes around me; I am still in the early stages of knowing why my hills and my river and my fields and my town, none of them famous or widely known, are still so thrilling. My winding river, cutting through the outlying eastern edge of the Ozarks, which we call the Western Coalfields, is a relatively small stream, but it is as large as the Tiber and many other rivers famous in history. All it lacks is some poet who can see it in its importance and make us all see.

When I lived back at Fidelity it was thought to be silly to love beauty or to see anything about it. Often we were told that loving things of earth was idolatry. Many a beauty-hungry person I have known was afraid that there might be something downright wicked in finding a lasting satisfaction in our simple landscapes. Not long ago I stood at the site of my old house where I spent my first eighteen years and was greatly pleased that the landscapes were far from being dull or prosaic. I tried very hard to keep sentiment out of my view of the range of gravelly hills and the winding creek in the foreground. Since these were my daily fare, I have lived a long time in other surroundings. I have grown from a stripling to a middle-aged man. But it gave me a secret satisfaction to feel the landscape that was mine so long ago is still there, still inspiring, still capable of making a worshiper of the wild out of any one who looks.

Long after cars had come into use but before I had been able to own one, I got off the train at Murray one day in vacation and was delighted that my older brother had driven a wagon to the town that day and was hoping that I would ride back home with him. He apologized for his humble conveyance, as if I should have been met in the most recent model of automobiles. I assured him that nothing would suit me better than to go back to Fidelity in a wagon, so I could drink in the scenes of my earliest remembrance. It took us about an hour for each three miles of the twelve-mile journey. I renewed my acquaintance with many a place that I had almost forgotten, places that are now off the state highway and rapidly fading out of my memory again. I was able to recreate the olden times of making the thrilling ride to the county seat and back again, a much-traveled youngster. I literally tasted the landscape that afternoon; the trip is the one I best remember of all the ones that I took over that road and have taken over its paved and straighter successor. I am glad that I had this experience before wagons went out of style and while there was still time enough to anticipate every bend in that dusty, winding road.

Knott Women Nabbed, Accused of 'Working' Lawrence County Seat

Two Knott county women, Lydia Huff and Virgie Hicks were arrested in Louisa, July 23, by Chief of Police Earl Moore, and charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. The two women had worked most of the north side of the town, including the home of Chief Moore.

Mrs. Hicks stated that her name was Virgie Moore and her husband deceased and that they were soliciting money to pay for his funeral. They said their home was in Staffordsville, Ky. Upon hearing their story, the Chief of Police became suspicious. He said he discovered that the defendants were from Mousie, Knott county, and both had living husbands and families. It was also found that the husband of Mrs. Huff had delivered the women to Louisa, and was scheduled to pick them up in the afternoon on his return from Huntington, W. Va.

They were lodged in the Lawrence county jail upon felony charges and their bonds fixed at $500.

Louisa officials said this has become a common problem there and that the last Lawrence grand jury investigated two similar complaints and returned indictments.

State Troopers Lend Assistance In Various Ways

Frankfort, Aug. 12 (Spl.)—Safety with a smile could well be the motto of Kentucky's state troopers.

These professional protectors of life and limb are the core of the Commonwealth's Division of the Kentucky State Police and as such are devoted to the prevention of death-dealing road crashes before they have a chance to happen.

When writing a traffic citation, Kentucky troopers explain to careless autoists just what they did wrong and how errant driver's actions cause death, injury and economic loss.

Troopers' activities are not restricted to righting the wrongs of careless motorists. They frequently are seen aiding stranded highway users by pouring enough gas into an empty tank to get the driver to a service station. Each trooper carries a one-gallon auxiliary gas can in his police cruiser.

Cruisers carry such equipment as flares, first aid kits, wreck signs and other police items. They also carry a helpful supply of literature about Kentucky, its laws and its scenic attractions and playgrounds, to help visitors enjoy the Blue grass State.

The Kentucky trooper is ready to lend assistance whether it is by aiding the driver get a flat tire fixed through radioing a nearby post to have a radio dispatcher call a garage, by outlining a traveling route on one of his generous supply of Kentucky road maps, or by correcting driving habits to help prevent accidents and save lives.

Syracuse started intercollegiate baseball competition in 1873.

FOOD NOTES

By Dixie Trapp
Home Demonstration Agent

"What can I do to lose weight?" This is asked by many people—women, children and men.

One of the first things to do is to make up your mind to lose those extra pounds. Consult a doctor's advice and be determined to follow it or forget about trimming.

Many people could lose weight by following common sense. Balanced meals are known by lots of ladies. They know the body needs certain amounts of fruits, vegetables, milk, meat and bread.

Sweets are used by those who need extra energy—growing boys and girls, men and women who do active, hard work.

However, these sweets are to be used after the person has had his fruits, vegetables, milk, meat and bread. It is generally accepted that people should maintain in later life the weight that was ideal at the age of 25. The weight will vary with each person because of height, bone structure, and how the body burns the food.

Weight is easily gained and hard to lose. It takes determination. When a person realizes how much better they feel carrying the right amount, determination to lose comes easier.

It boils down to—losing weight is up to you. Reading, listening and seeing what can be done will not take off pounds. It takes action from the individual and it can be done.

ADVANCING EDUCATION IN KENTUCKY

By Robert R. Martin
Superintendent of Public Instruction

We educators talk a lot about strengthening the curriculum in our public schools; we talk a lot about "expanded programs" and "special units" and the "addition of new services". In short, we use a lot of different phrases that really lead us into the same overall intention and aim—providing something meaningful and worthwhile in the training of our children.

It all boils down to the question that was of primary consideration at the White House Conference on Education and at our own Governor's Conference on Education — WHAT SHOULD OUR SCHOOLS ACCOMPLISH?

There are almost as many different ideas about that as there are children in school, but most people agree at least that children ought to be taught those things that will enable them to become responsible and productive citizens.

The traditional concepts of WHAT schools should teach and HOW they should teach are as old as education itself. As early three thousand B. C. there was much discussion—and difference of opinion—about what the schools as such, were doing and what they should have been doing.

In America, education early assumed a new character—a character in keeping with the fundamental precepts of democratic self-rule but vastly unique when compared to education in other nations of the western world. The theories of Jeffersonian Democracy gave birth to the idea that all the people need to be educated in at least the fundamentals of learning in order that they be more capable of self-direction. Jefferson's theory of education for all sprang from deep-rooted convictions that if a people are going to govern themselves they must at least have the facilities to enlighten themselves.

There is little doubt that America could not have survived as a Republic without a universal program of common schools; there is little doubt that the public schools have fulfilled the meaning and purposes of Jefferson's ideas. Certainly the public schools have made it possible for Americans to better understand the function of self-rule, but more than that, they have given to Americans the necessary instruction to help them become a thinking and creating people as much concerned with perpetuating free enterprise and free institutions as they are with protecting and preserving the governmental system which gave birth to those institutions.

What should the schools accomplish? They must accomplish many things but this above all else they must accomplish — the continued preservation of the system that has given us the right to ask the question in the first place!

The purposes and function of the public schools have been more severely criticized in the last five years than in all the previous years of their existence. Educators have defended their programs but they have never questioned anyone's right to criticize. In fact, educators have welcomed criticism of the public schools—it is a definite evidence of public interest and all school people know that education can never really improve until the people decide that improvement is necessary.

Educators like doctors, lawyers, engineers, and other professionals have a definite language all their own. The terminology they use to define, describe, and discuss educative ideas is as much a part of their backgrounds as navy jargon is part of a sailor's experience. But aside from methods of achieving it, educators want the same things in principle that the public wants in its school—practical training that will provide for practical living. They too want the schools to be both a force for combating crime and corruption and a source for helping to produce responsible and productive citizens.

In reality then, we don't differ on what we think the schools should accomplish but only in the matter of the methods that should be used in getting the job done. By working together through citizens' committees, parent-teacher associations, and other advisory groups, educators and their public have done much to help each other help the schools.

We all have learned that this is the only way that education can really move forward, all of us working together in advancing education in Kentucky.

Heart More Efficient than Any Machine Made

If you think of your heart as a delicate organ easily strained by overactivity, you're wrong! A healthy heart is the toughest, strongest muscle in the body. It is the organ that would be likely to live longest if given a chance to use its reserve powers.

Actually, the heart is more efficient than any machine man has been able to make and is virtually impossible to strain. The heart produces enough energy in a lifetime to lift the huge battleship Missouri 14 feet out of the water if it were applied all at once.

Here are some other fascinating facts about the human heart: The heart contracts, when its owner is resting, about 70 times a minute, or two and a half billion times in a 70-year life. Every day the heart pumps nine to 10 tons of blood. With each beat one-hundredth part of the total blood in the body is pushed out into the great trunk artery called the aorta. Later, this blood is forced through miles of blood vessels.

Tests proved that much of the travel time is brief. For instance, if ether is injected into a vein in the arm, the smell of ether comes from the lungs in about six seconds. This is half of a round trip for the arm blood.

To check the time for a round trip, saccharine, a sweet so powerful that a pinhead-size piece sweetens a cup of coffee, is injected into an arm vein. In just 12 seconds the sweet taste reaches the tongue. It then has passed into the heart on its way to the lungs, and after leaving the lungs, gone back through the heart to be pumped into the body and thence to the tongue.

The heart muscle rests, relaxed, more than half the time. Provided, that is, that its owner gives the little powerhouse a fair chance. A heart rests nearly 40 years out of a lifetime of 70 years. This is the heart's great secret, its great reservoir of strength. This is the magic which a physician knows how to use in treating diseased hearts.

But the person primarily responsible for your heart is you—not your physician! For if you take care of your healthy heart, it will take care of you.

If you would like to know more about your heart, write Kentucky Heart Association, 401 Speed building, Louisville 2, for a free copy of the pamphlet, Don't Worry About Your Heart.

PARKS BONDS TO BE ISSUED

Needed Improvements For Dewey State Park Not Being Considered

The Commonwealth intends to place on the market later this year all or part of a $3,188,420 revenue bond issued for improving Kentucky's parks, it was announced this week by state officials.

Lt. Gov. Waterfield said the Property and Buildings Commission still has under consideration the "whole problem" of how to sell the bonds.

State Conservation Commissioner Laban Jackson revealed a program which would put a park area within 60 miles of every Kentuckian. The bond issue, which would also finance improvements at 14 state parks, was recommended by Hammer & Associates, a professional consulting firm of Louisville and Atlanta.

Plans are being made to make Buckhorn, in Perry county, a complete state park, including lodge facilities. Dewey Lake State Park, long in the planning stage was not mentioned. (Of the total bond issue, about $50,000 has been proposed for Dewey.)

Other proposed parks sites are Falls of the Rough in Breckinridge county; Bunker Hill in Pulaski; Boonesboro, in Madison; Kincaid, in Pendleton county; Big Bone, in Boone; Cruses Creek, in Kenton.

Existing sites would be expanded at Pine Mountain, in Bell county; Greenbo Lake in Greenup; and My Old Kentucky Home, Nelson county.

"A network of well located parks would greatly benefit all Kentuckians," Commissioner Jackson said. "The parks would keep travelers in our state longer. Last year, the parks here did more than $2,000,000 worth of business, while the entire state derived some $500,000,000 from visitors," Jackson added.

State Farm Mutual Given Rate Increase

Frankfort, Aug. 12 (Sp.) — A 27.9 per cent rate increase has been approved by the Kentucky Department of Insurance for bodily injury and property damage liability policies written in Kentucky by the State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Co.

C. P. Thurman, commissioner, said the rates, effective Aug. 7, were necessary because the Bloomington, Ill., company reported an overall loss in four of the last five years. It showed a loss of $1,017,291 in 1956, he said.

State Farm initially requested a 42.4 increase, Thurman said. After discussions with the department here the company agreed to reduce its request to the 27.9 percent figure, he said.

The Commissioner explained it was the objective of the Insurance Department to see that rates are neither excessive, inadequate nor unfairly discriminatory.

Although State Farm's rates have been adjusted in previous years, the rate level continued to lag behind increasing claim cost and frequency. For instance, the company showed the average paid claim on automobile bodily injury insurance to be $729 in 1956 compared to $633 in 1955 and property damage insurance average paid claim to be $111 in 1956 and $99 in 1955.
