This Town— That World

The trouble with some of our "broad-minded" people is that they operate on narrow-gauge tracks.

Since the cigarettes have been filtered, why not screen the commercials?

Then there's the one about the terrific electrical storm and the mother who slipped quietly into her son's room to allay his fears of the boom and crash about him. The youngster was awake, all right, but he wasn't frightened, he was indignant. "Mother," he said, "I wish you would tell me what Pop's doing to the television set this time."

THERE'S DANGER HERE

Perhaps there should be a law against fishermen going hunting and hunters going fishing. For, my friends, this is a serious business, mixing the two breeds. That's how it happens that anglers will stand up and tell a barefaced lie about that giant fish that got away and how nimrods soar into flights of fancy to tell about bird-dogs "freezing" on point in mid-air, and so on, far, far into the night.

I was prompted to write that paragraph by seeing Dr. J. H. Allen and Wayne Stumbo leaving these parts on a squirrel-hunting trip.

NEW PASTORS IN 3 PULPITS

Dorsey Here 5th Year; Few Changes in Floyd Methodist Pastorates

Free changes in pastors for Floyd Methodist Churches were made by the Kentucky Conference of the Methodist Church at its 137th annual meeting at Barbourville, Ky., last week.

These changes send the Rev. Gene Wells to the Community Methodist Church here, the Rev. Harry Feagan to Wayland; the Rev. John Kirk to Wheelwright; the Rev. Harry Barnett at Betsy Layne-Vogel Day.

The Rev. Harold W. Dorsey was returned to First Methodist Church here for the fifth year. He returned here recently from Japan where he has been in Methodist mission work this summer.

Others returned to their pastorates in this county include the Rev. John P. Carr at Allen-Martin; the Rev. M. N. Wiley at Maytown-Garrett, and the Rev. Floyd Laferty at the Dwale circuit.

The Rev. J. Baldwin Stiltz, pastor the past year at Community Methodist here, was transferred to Benson-Curry in the Lexington district. Other Ashland district appointments:

Advance, Adrian J. Roberts; Johnson county parish, George Hart; Kavanaugh circuit, Joseph Howard; Louisa First, Carl Hill; Louisa Methodist, A. L. Moore; Paintsville First, O. M. Simmerman; Paintsville Mayo, Charles Perry; Raceland, Paul Bell; Salyersville, Frank Salmon; Wurtland W. H. McComas.

$262,000 ALLOCATED FOR FLOOD CONTROL

EXPECT WORK STARTED HERE BY JANUARY 1

Only P'Burg's Failure To Raise $22,000 Fund Seen As Protection Bar

With the announcement last week that the chief of the Army Corps of Engineers had allocated $262,000 for construction of flood protection here, Prestonsburg authorities moved this week toward compliance with terms of the Engineers in order to hasten the beginning of work.

The City Council met in special session Tuesday evening with a legal representative of the Huntington district office, Corps of Engineers, to plan enabling legislation required by the federal government before the project can be advertised for bids. This legislation, which will include resolutions and other legislation hitherto adopted and new legislation more definitely fixing the city's responsibility, will be ready for consideration by the Council at next Monday evening's regular meeting. C. B. Latta, attorney representing the city in the flood-wall move, is preparing the necessary bill for a vote at that meeting.

Legal counsel for the Corps of Engineers told the Council Tuesday night that Prestonsburg must raise and have on deposit $22,000 and that it must procure all easements before the project can be advertised. The Corps of Engineers has set October 1 as a tentative date for advertising the work, and this means, Mayor Harry Sandige said, that the city's financial contribution and all other local steps to comply with the federal government's term must be made well before that date.

Actual work on the flood protection project is seen by Janu-

MARTIN SUES HAPPY'S AIDE

Second Suit Is Filed Against John DeMoisey By Floyd County Man

A second suit—the latest, in Franklin circuit court—has been filed by Fred Martin, former Dewey Lake State Park Manager, against John R. "Frenchy" DeMoisey, executive assistant to Governor Chandler, it was learned here this week.

In the Franklin county case the Lackey man seeks to recover $40,000, accusing DeMoisey of making false statements about him in the presence of the Governor and at least four other persons.

The first suit, based on the same allegations, was filed in Knott circuit court and it sought to recover $65,000.

Martin's suit quoted the Governor's assistant as saying "we had to get rid of Fred Martin because he had been bootlegging and running a house of ill repute at the park."

DeMoisey said he was not surprised at this latest action, since the earlier suit had been filed.

SEPTEMBER FUND DRIVE TO AID RETARDED TOTS

Bert T. Combs, president of the Floyd County Council for Retarded Children, said this week that a fund-raising drive will be staged next month in this county in order to qualify the Council for a grant from the WHAS Crusade for Children. Local effort is a requisite to such aid.

Mr. Combs and R. V. May, of Prestonsburg, are co-chairman of the drive which is expected to be launched Sept. 1.

Heretofore, funds from the WHAS Crusade have been the main support of the work for retarded children in the county. The Martin school for these children now has its own quarters, and the work is in its third year.

The movement to give exceptional children training was initiated in this county largely on

Mystery Shrouds Death Of Former Floyd Woman, Mrs. Ramona Miller, 19

The death of Ramona Miller, 19, remains a mystery this week after she died suddenly last Saturday at 8 p.m. at her home in Lima, Ohio.

Mrs. Miller, the wife of Fred Miller was said to have awakened ill, Saturday morning. Soon afterward she fell unconscious and she expired moments later. She and her family are natives of this area.

An autopsy was being conducted this week to ascertain the cause of death but the results are not known. Mrs. Miller is survived by her mother, Mrs. Gladys

BY-PASS NOT UP FOR BIDS

Some Rights-of-Way Yet To Be Acquired; Survey Locates Junction Here

Work on the U.S. 23 bypass along the present Prestonsburg-Auxier road is not an immediate undertaking, it was said here this week. Included among barriers to advertising of the project immediately is the acquiring of some rights-of-way, it was noted.

It was said last week that re-location surveys have been completed and that the junction here with the present U.S. 23 has been decided upon. The connection will be made, it was reported, at or near the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company project, thus diverting traffic over the new route to a point above the new high school building here.

Work on the U.S. Route 23 bypass around Paintsville was begun recently by the contractors, Greer Brothers & Young, of London, Ky. The contract in the amount of $597,261.00 was awarded by the Department of Highways, May 24.

Poster & Creighton of Nashville, Tenn., subcontractors on the project are constructing a bridge across Paint Creek northwest of Paintsville, near the junction of U. S. 460 and U. S. 23. Work on this span has been started and will be completed this fall. This company is completing a large culvert for an approach on this route near Slick's Drive-In restaurant in Stafford Addition.

Grading work on the by-pass has started and it extends almost to the old Spradlin residence on the Mayo farm on the east side of Paint Creek.

The contract on the new route around Paintsville calls for 2,111 miles of grade, drain, and high type surface. The grading work is expected to be finished early this fall. Surfacing work is set up for completion by October 15, 1958.

The work of relocating and reconstructing U. S. 23 from the junction of U. S. 460 and approximately 3 miles northeast to near the Link Fyffe residence, is included in the contract. Highway officials said it would be determined immediately whether this work will be started immediately or later in the program. Relocation of the route at this point is expected to cause some inconvenience to motorists traveling

OSBORNE DIES IN CAR WRECK

Martin Man Is Victim As Car Leaves Highway Late Wednesday Night

Leonard L. Osborne, 37, well-known Martin man, was killed instantly when his car plunged from a hillside curve three miles above McDowell Wednesday night.

A spokesman at the Turner-Ryan Funeral Home said that Osborne was returning to his Martin home from work at the Inland Steel plant where he was a repairman. He said that Osborne lost control of the car at approximately 10:40 p.m. on the curve near the Pilgrim's Rest Church.

It was said that the car overturned, half throwing Osborne's body out of the car, crushing him as it rolled to a stop at the bottom of the hill.

Osborne is survived by his wife, Wanda Davis Osborne, one daughter, Madeline Grace Osborne, and one son, Charles Leonard Osborne, both at home; six brothers, John Henry, Junior, Charles Lawrence, Carmel and Barney, all of Martin, and Ernest B. Osborne, Prestonsburg, and one sister, Mrs. John W. Hall, of Martin.

The date of the funeral has not been set, the funeral home said.

JAIL BREAK ESSAY FAILS

Sound of Rasping Blade Leads to Investigation; Four Saw Blades Found

The sharp hearing of Jailer Prock Hayes and prompt action by his assistant Ray Clegg, forestalled last Wednesday what might have been a sensational break at the county jail.

As a result another charge may loom up ahead of Norman Hamilton, who is in jail here, charged with the assault-robbery at Allen a few months ago of Homer Borders, elderly fruit market attendant.

Jailer Hayes suddenly heard three quick rasps of what sounded like a saw in the second-floor quarters for prisoners last Wednesday afternoon. Silently he motioned to Clegg, who hurried upstairs.

When Clegg arrived no sign of an escape attempt was visible, but a search uncovered a hacksaw blade in a waste basket outside a cell occupied by Hamilton. Clegg promptly locked all the prisoners in and continued with the investigation.

Hamilton was suspect, and finally Clegg hazarded a guess. "I know you had either four or six saw blades, and I know who brought them to you," the turnkey told Hamilton. "Do you want

PISTOL SHOT KILLS OUSLEY

Coroner's Jury Says Risner Miner Victim Of Accidental Shot

A coroner's jury held Wednesday that Woodrow Ousley died of an accidental shot at his home on the Caney Fork of Middle Creek Tuesday afternoon.

Ousley's body was found by a brother, Richard, after a neighbor had heard a gunshot in the home occupied by the victim and his mother, Mrs. Mollie Jones Ousley. The mother was at a neighbor's home at the time of the death.

The bullet had entered the corner of Ousley's right eye. A .22-caliber pistol lay at his left side on the bed. Coroner Carter said he did not discover evidence of powder burns. He added there is no evidence of foul play.

The victim was a son of the late Joseph Ousley. He was never married and was employed as a miner by the Floyd Elkhorn Coal Company. Surviving, besides his mother, are four sisters and six brothers, Mrs. Sula Clifton, Albion, Mich., Mrs. Minnie Ousley, of Ohio, Mrs. Amanda Montgomery, Mrs. Julia Kilgore, Raymond, Ohio, and Melvin Ousley, all of Michigan, Nero Ousley, of David, Alton, Ousley, of Lancer, Zeb and Richard Ousley, both of Risner.

The funeral was held today (Thursday) from the residence and burial in the family cemetery was directed by the Carter & Callahan Funeral Home.

SUNDAY TO MARK BEGINNING OF PASTOR'S 5th YEAR HERE

The service next Sunday morning at Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church will mark the beginning of the fifth year of the pastorate of the Rev. Ira McMillen, Jr.

Since the present pastor began his ministry here, there have been 419 additions to the church, and of this number 332 have been by baptism. Ten new mission Sunday schools have been begun, bringing to 13 the total number of missions. When the Rev. McMillen came here in 1953 the Sunday school enrollment was 300, including the missions. It is now 1,300.

During the same time the church has purchased the Sunday school annex, the Youth building and the Intermediate building here, and at Lancer this summer the Lancer Chapel was completed.

All members of the church are being invited to attend the services Sunday, and special invitations have gone out to those whom the pastor has baptized in the last four years, urging them to be present.

ALGAE (UGH!) DRAWS BLAME

Taste Bad But Water Here, Allen, Martin Safe, Report States

The unpleasant taste and odor of Prestonsburg's water have their source in the heavy growth of green algae during the recent extremely hot weather and while the river is low.

This was the report given M. V. Clark, county health department administrator, last week by a representative of the State Department of Sanitary Engineering who had been called here at the request of Dick Davis, superintendent of the Prestonsburg Gas & Water System. Mr. Davis was anxious that the cause of the unpalatable quality of the water be definitely determined for his own information and that of the public.

A two-day inspection of the water system was made by the state department representative and John M. Stumbo, health department sanitarian. The Martin and Allen water plants were inspected at the same time.

The only relief from the condition of the water, it was pointed out, will be received when rains flush out the streams. Mr. Clark said the state chemist said this is a situation that is being experienced at water plants over many

Wayland Woman Hurt At Lackey When Auto Plunges Onto Railway

Mrs. Silas Carver, of Wayland, was seriously injured Wednesday afternoon when she lost control of her auto at Lackey and the car plunged over a 30-foot embankment onto railroad tracks below.

She was taken to St. Mary's hospital, Huntington, suffering from a broken leg and arm and head injuries. She was in a semi-conscious condition en route to the hospital, it was said by the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Witnesses said Mrs. Carver's car first went into the ditch at the upper side of the highway, near the junction at Lackey of Ky. 80 and the Lackey-Wayland road, and that it shot across the road and over the bank when she sought to cut back into the highway. She was pinned in the car and was not extricated until a wrecker lifted the auto.

Mrs. Rhoda Crisp, 76, Succumbs August 23rd, Heart Attack Victim

Mrs. Rhoda Crisp, 76, Succumbs August 23rd, Heart Attack Victim

Mrs. Rhoda Crisp, of Martin, 76, died last Friday at 11:10 p.m., at Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin, victim of a heart attack.

Mrs. Crisp was a daughter of the late Tom Robinson. She is survived by her husband, Jim Rowe Crisp, a son, Wheeler D. Crisp, Martin, one brother, Sol Robinson, McDowell, and Carl Robinson, Banner. She was a member of the Holiness Church for 35 years. She had been ill for the last two years and seriously so for the last 10 days.

The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at the Graves Chapel Church in Martin by the Revs. Bob Martin and John A. Conley. Burial in the Martin cemetery was under the direction of Hall Bros. Funeral Home.

PRINCIPAL ANNOUNCES REGISTRATION DATES

James V. Bolen, principal of Prestonsburg high school, has announced the following registration dates for pupils attending the high school this year:

Friday morning, freshmen; Tuesday, seniors; Wednesday, sophomores and juniors.

MOORE WINS ELECTION ON RULING BY COURT

The Kentucky Court of Appeals ruled Tuesday that DuRan Moore is the Democratic nominee for the office of Floyd County Clerk.

This was the effect of its opinions in two appeals filed by A. B. Meade, of Prestonsburg, from lower court opinions favoring Moore in litigation between the two following last May's primary election.

The Appellate Court held that Meade filed supersedeas bond too late in both cases—one styled an injunction action; the other, a contest of the absentee vote in the Clerk's race.

The injunction action to forestall count of the absentee ballots was the first filed and was first heard. Special Judge M. J. See held that evidence produced did not warrant granting of the injunction.

Constitutionality of the absentee vote law was not ruled upon, although it was under attack. The contest case followed later, and Special Judge J. B. Johnson, of Harlan, held that res adjudicata (a case or suit hitherto settled) applied, since the injunction allegations were similar.

The statutes provide that in a contest case appeal a supersedeas bond must be executed not later than the day following the lower court decision.

Mullins Quits Job As County Policeman

Troy Mullins has resigned his post as county policeman, it was announced here Tuesday.

In submitting his resignation he said that he will begin work as policeman at Wayland, effective September 1.

HEART CLINIC HERE, AUG. 30

Only Indigent Patients Referred by Physicians Eligible for Examinations

The first district heart clinic to be held in this section of the state will be conducted in the new Health Center here, Friday, and it will offer the highest skills of specialists and diagnosticians for indigent heart of a five-county area.

It was emphasized by M. V. Clark, administrator of the Floyd County Health Department, that services of the clinic are to be given only to medically indigent persons who are referred to the clinic by physicians.

It was explained that the term "medical indigent," applies to a person who would not be financially able without undue strain on the family budget to pay the expense of travel to the clinic and for the necessary examination by a heart specialist. "What we are aiming at in the promotion of such clinics is to help those unfortunate persons who are not in position to help themselves," it was explained.

Heart patients from Floyd, Pike, Johnson, Martin and Magoffin counties who so qualify are eligible for free examination at the clinic. The clinic is jointly sponsored by state and county health groups and by physicians of the area.

EX-PRINCIPAL RAPS BOARD

Spurlock Says Action 'Poor Reward' for Work At Prestonsburg School

"I feel that your action is poor reward for the honest service I tried hard to give," wrote Otis D. Spurlock in his formal resignation last Friday from any connection with the Floyd County Board of Education.

Spurlock referred to his being replaced as principal of Prestonsburg high school by James Bolen at the July meeting of the board. His letter of resignation, which was simultaneously released for publication, was addressed to the Board of Education, its chairman, James Greene, and to Superintendent of Schools Virgil O. Turner.

Mr. Spurlock, who had been principal of the high school here since the merger of the Prestonsburg independent district with county system and since occupancy of the new high school (See Story No. 1, Page 8)

SCHOOLS SET FOR OPENING

Teacher Supply Better, Ratliff Says; Faculty Improvement Here Told

Floyd county's consolidated schools face their registration Friday morning and classwork next week "in better shape, at least for the present," in the matter of teachers than at any time within the last three years, Wayne Ratliff, supervisor of county schools, said Wednesday.

Prestonsburg high school perhaps has the worst teacher shortage, but will open, he added. Registration here Friday morning will be for freshmen. In all other high schools the Friday registration will be for all four years. Friday afternoon, teachers will meet at Martin.

County Superintendent Virgil O. Turner commented recently that the addition of Colonel Blankenship to the Prestonsburg high school faculty will mean much to the school this year. This is true, he said, because Blankenship will not only teach chemistry, a much-needed course, but will also teach beginning mathematics classes, thus freeing Mrs. Lillian McDonald to instruct advanced math.

Permission received from the state for Mrs. J. W. Sutherland to serve as librarian while the regular librarian, Miss Linda Stephens, is teaching Latin I for sophomores and juniors will also help greatly, he said. Latin, chemistry and advanced mathematics are three courses the school's curriculum has not included. Greatest teacher need here now is for a commerce teacher and a band instructor.

Friends of W. C. Rimmer regret to learn that he is a patient at St. Joseph's hospital, Lexington, suffering from a collapse at his home here two weeks ago. Mr. Rimmer will remain there for several weeks for treatment.

CONCLUDES FURLOUGH HERE

ANNUAL SUPPER GIVEN

The annual dinner served by the Free Will Baptist Church at Bonanza was attended Friday evening by a large crowd from Prestonsburg and elsewhere. An estimated 250 persons attended. Plans are being formulated to serve another such dinner soon.

Cooley-Akers Wedding Solemnized August 23 In Jeffersonville, Ind.

Circuit Court Clerk and Mrs. W. W. Cooley announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Winifred Sue Cooley, to Mr. Melvin Rayborn Akers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond B. Akers, of Lancer, on August 23 at Jeffersonville, Indiana.

Their only attendants were Miss Joyce May and Mr. Carrol Wade Moore.

Mrs. Akers wore a summer black sheath dress of cotton with a white pique scoop neck. Pearls given by the groom were her only jewelry. A small black velvet hat, trimmed with a rhinestone clip and black accessories, complimented her attire. A white orchid tied with white satin ribbon was worn on her shoulder.

Miss May wore a navy sheath linen dress.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Akers are graduates of Prestonsburg high school and are students at the University of Kentucky. The bride is a member of the Phi Beta professional Fraternity, Kappa Chapter, and is a junior in the University Music Department. Mr. Akers is a sophomore in the College of Engineering. They will return to their studies in September and reside in their apartment in Lexington. They returned home Monday after a short honeymoon in central Kentucky.

Find the Adult Delinquent!

An exhaustive study made in Indiana has come up with the finding that the greatest contributors to delinquency are alcohol and narcotics.

We think a third party should share in the blame for all the mistakes, great and small, that youth makes. That third party should be adult human beings.

In many cases these adults are the parents of the youngsters. Perhaps most of the fathers and mothers who contribute to the delinquency of their children do so unwittingly. Ignorance plays a big part in the ugly picture. Selfishness which causes parents to neglect their children, reserving to themselves the comforts and pleasures and refusing to expend either time or effort toward training their children for citizenship; an uncaring spirit which causes some fathers and mothers to sleep soundly, or to go partying blithely, while the whereabouts of their children are unknown to them—these are some of sins of parents which, visited on their children, later earn for those youngsters that term of opprobrium, "juvenile delinquent."

Then there are those other adults who by their example or by the encouragement of the spoken word lead the youths of the day along a way which includes minor aberrations or adventures at first, then criminal acts which lead to arrest and imprisonment. If a youngster steals much of value, be sure there is an adult "fence" ready to buy for the proverbial song what the youth has taken. Adult delinquents are more often than not involved in the hard-to-understand capers of juvenile delinquents.

The French had a phrase for it—"Cherchez la femme"—when a murder was committed. "Look for the woman." As we ponder youth, youthful problems and the sometimes mystifying antics of youth, perhaps we might paraphrase the French and thus come up with a pretty good solution to at least a part of the problem.

That paraphrase would read, "Look for the adult."

George Freeman Dies Of Paralytic Stroke At Age of 77 Years

George Freeman, 77, of West Prestonsburg, died at 9:15 p.m. Friday at the Prestonsburg General hospital of paralysis. Mr. Freeman was well-known here where he had resided for many years.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Annie Howell, and Mrs. Susie Mims, both of Ivel, and Mrs. Judy Layne, Prestonsburg; two sons, Hazie and Dallas Freeman, both of West Prestonsburg; 29 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

The funeral was held Aug. 26 at the West Prestonsburg Assembly of God Church, services being conducted by the Revs. Ivan Jones, L. P. Tussey and Sam Perry. Burial was made under the direction of Moore Funeral Home in the West Prestonsburg cemetery.

5 JUVENILES GIVEN TERMS

Youths Sent To Jail After Hearings Held On Breaking Charges

County Judge Henry Stumbo entered an order Monday against five juveniles charged with breaking and entering, and each was remanded to jail under one-year sentence.

Three of the five—Howard Allen, Darvin Clifton and Ronnie Osborne were accused of breaking into the Dewey Lake camp of two West Virginia men. The other two, Ralph Little, and Don Dudleson, were charged with the break in which the safe of the Martin Supply Company at Martin was hauled away, dynamited, looted and dumped into the Big Sandy river at Banner.

Four others have waived to the grand jury the charges against them in connection with the Martin case. They are Jimmy Branham, Jackie Scott, Freddie Carroll and Henry Everidge. They are under $3,000 bond each.

In quarterly court Tuesday two men, Tommy Ratliff and Lum Carr, were fined $20 and costs each for drunkenness when they failed to appear for trial. Seventeen cases were dismissed and 26 were continued.

One of the cases dismissed was that of Cora Weddington, charged with drunkenness. Judge Stumbo marked the docket book in making the dismissal, "Deputy sheriff fails and refuses to appear in court to testify against defendant."

Mrs. Ruth Vivian Combs, mother of six children who are being cared for here by Mrs. Clyde Spurlock at county expense, was given a 90-day jail term on a charge of contributing to juvenile delinquency.

Russell Stidham and Conrad Bentley, who were jailed here last week on grand larceny charge in connection with a theft from Hager Johnson, waived their cases to the grand jury and were held to $1,000 bond each. Bond of Woodrow Lewis, charged with child desertion, was forfeited. Curt McCown and Sid Marshall, each accused of child desertion, waived to the grand jury.

The Times' recent report of the Aug. 12 quarterly court session erroneously reported that John M. Hamilton was fined $500 for drunk driving. His fine was $100 and costs. The $500 fine was imposed on Howard Perry, who was charged with drunk driving and operating a car without license.

Others convicted at that session: Edgill Baldrige, reckless driving, $10 and costs; Donald Akers and William Driver, drunkenness, $10; Willie Hall (Trip's Son), Willie Hall, Charles Edward Hall, Merling Hall, Carlos Hamilton, Bert Hamilton, Carlis Hamilton, gambling, $20 and costs; Moon Mullins, no operator's license, $5; Raymond Martin, same offense, $2; Otto Bradley, reckless driving, $10; Bert Tackett, drunkenness, $20.

At the Aug. 20 session Seldon E. Farmer was fined $10 and costs for improper passing, and Kenneth Ratliff drew the same fine for reckless driving.

Former Police Judge, James Arrington, 59, Of Martin, Dies Aug. 27

James Oscar Arrington, of Martin, retired railway conductor, died at 8:35 a.m., Tuesday at C. & O. hospital, Huntington, W. Va., a victim of a heart disease. He was 59 years old.

A former Martin police judge, Mr. Arrington was a brother-in-law of Martin Police Judge Kessie Akers who died two weeks ago. He had been in ill health eight years and had been seriously ill the last two months. Mr. Arrington's retirement followed a rail accident suffered in 1949.

A native of Lee county, Virginia, he was a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Virginia Mayo Arrington, three daughters, Mrs. Wilda Mae Stout, of Martin, Mrs. Georgia Howard, of Covington, and Mrs. Jacqueline Justice, Pikeville; one brother, Ted E. Arrington and a sister, Mrs. Flossie Creggor, both of Huntington.

His funeral was conducted at 1 p.m., today (Thursday) from the Martin Church of Christ, the Rev. S. C. Honeycutt officiating, and burial was made in the Davidson cemetery at Ivel, the Hall Brothers Funeral Home directing.

EKHS SCHEDULES 3 PROJECTS FOR COMPLETION THIS YEAR

The executive committee of the Floyd County Chapter of the Eastern Kentucky Historical Society has formulated the activities of the Society for future months and letters are being sent out to members acquainting them with these projects and urging them to active participation.

Three projects have been decided on. 1. Tape-recorded interviews with elderly citizens concerning early days in Floyd co. A committee is being formed to work on this.

2. Cataloging of graves. Members are asked to make a plat of cemeteries and the graves in them; with name of occupant of each grave written in the space designating that grave on the map. Names and dates are to be marked in some simple, inexpensive manner, such as painting this information on a stone or plain piece of wood. A great number of graves of early settlers and soldiers are unmarked. "It is the desire of the executive committee that members of the E.K.H.S. will use all diligence and expend their time gladly to ferret out these names and preserve their record for posterity." a member of the

3. Family histories. Members are being asked to make up a family history—paternal, maternal, or both, dealing mainly with the history of each name as it relates to Floyd county. Any information as to place of residence prior to entering Floyd county would also be of added interest. All family names should be included, with places of birth, residence, occupation and death.

"This is a project that should be of intense interest to every member and to all Floyd countyans, who are reminded that membership is still open. Dues are $1.00 per year and payable to Evelyn Salisbury, Prestonsburg, Ky.," the committee spokesman said.

The records, plats and tapes accumulated will be put into archives of the Floyd county

The proposed flood-protection installation here, plus headwaters dams in the Big Sandy, will prevent any repetition of such scenes as this which was photographed in Prestonsburg a few days after last January's disastrous flood.

GARRIOTT, HIS SONS AND BROTHER HAVE SPENT 128 YEARS IN PULPIT

The Rev. W. B. Garrriott, pastor of the Flemingsburg Methodist Church, and former pastor of the First Methodist Church here, his two preacher-sons and his brother who also is a Methodist minister as a foursome have spent 128 years in the ministry. All four were delegates last week to the Methodist conference at Barboursville.

Their story is told by Gerald Griffith in The Courier-Journal. Between them, also, to the best of their ability to estimate their labors in numerical terms, they have preached more than 20,000 sermons, preached something like 1,500 funerals and have officiated in about 1,200 weddings. And they are still going strong.

The preaching Garrriotts, all of whom attended Asbury College at Wilmore, are William B., a minister for 49 years and now attending his 50th conference; his brother Lemuel, 34 years in the ministry, and William B's two sons, William E., who has been a minister for 34 years, and Walter W., 21 years.

A brother of the elder Garrriotts died while studying to become a minister. Two of their sisters married Methodist ministers and three of their nephews are ministers.

William B. Garrriott, eldest of the quartet, is pastor of the Flemingsburg Methodist Church. Lemuel A. is pastor of the Methodist Church at Wilmore. William E. is pastor of the Salem Methodist Church at Newport, and Walter W. is pastor of the Babby Memorial Methodist Church at Grayson.

Just about every way you look during the conference session you see a preacher named Garrriott. The eldest member of the clan, William B., who will be retired next year, started his preaching career as an old-time horseback-riding circuit rider. The others have done a bit of circuit riding by automobile and the youngest, William E., did some circuit riding in Cuba by airplane.

The Garrriotts originated near Carrollton but being Methodist preachers and accustomed to being moved about frequently, home is where they happen to be assigned at any given time.

In addition to his seminary work as Asbury, the Rev. Walter W. Garrriott attended the Gordon Divinity School at Boston and Emory University, Atlanta. He was graduated from Kentucky Wesleyan College when it was at Winchester.

The dean of the Garrriotts, who has served as a presiding elder, takes pride in the fact that, in half a century, he has never missed a conference roll call. And it is no wonder his two sons followed him into the ministry. They started attending conferences as babies in their mother's arms.

As a circuit rider the Rev. William B. Garrriott had it rough when he began preaching. His first appointment was to the pastorate of five rural churches in the Corinth area. The nearest one to his home was six miles. The farthest was 22 miles. Not so far in an automobile.

But 22 miles is a long ride on top of a horse or mule. But those animals provided the only transportation for him. And there were hardly any roads for him to ride over. But he stood it all right and looks healthy and vigorous enough now.

All four of the Garrriotts are well known in Methodist circles throughout the conference area. All have served on important boards and conference committees.

Although all four of the Garrriotts went to college, all of them began their educational careers in one-room schools.

6 HELD TO GRAND JURY IN RAPE CASE IN PIKE

Pikeville, Ky., Aug. 24—Six young men charged in the mass rape of two teen-age sisters, one married and the mother of two children, Saturday waived examining trial and were held to a special grand jury called for September 3.

Two 15-year-olds also charged with rape entered pleas of guilty to charges of juvenile delinquency, with an explanation that they had been forced at gun point to participate.

A ninth youth under a rape charge in the case has not been captured.

The eight, none represented by an attorney, appeared before County Judge Ervin S. Pruitt at a 30-minute hearing that attracted an estimated 600 spectators.

Because of the crowd, the hearing was transferred from the county court room to the circuit court room, which has a capacity of 350 to 400. Persons were standing in the aisles and outside the doors.

Judge Pruitt warned the audience that any outbursts during the hearing would result in a jail sentence or contempt of court.

The nine are accused of beating Everett Spurlock, 23, of Grundy, Va., Route 1, early last Sunday at nearby Freeburn and forcing him to flee. He had stopped his car because of a flat tire.

State Police Detective E. L. Cornett previously said the nine then attacked Spurlock's wife, Gladys, 19, and his 15-year-old sister-in-law a total of 12 to 15 times. The Spurlocks' children, aged 4 and 2 were in the automobile at the time. A crowd collected at the scene, attracted by the women's screams and pleadings, but no one interfered.

Waiving to the grand jury were Carl Ferrell, 22, Freeburn; Phillip Smith, 23, Coleman; Harold Dotson, 22, Freeburn; his brother, Thurman Dotson, 18; Frank Norman, 18, Freeburn, and Lawson Abshire, 22, Phyllis. All were held without bond.

The juveniles were accompanied by their fathers. They said they were forced at gun point by Ferrell to assault the women.

Judge Pruitt, also the juvenile court judge, said he would ask child-welfare authorities to study the cases of the juveniles and would hand down a ruling September 28.

The juveniles could be sentenced to a reformatory until they are 21 or their cases could be presented to the grand jury.

The maximum penalty for conviction of rape in Kentucky is death. Judge Pruitt did not rule on bond for the 15-year-olds. They are held in the juvenile section of Pike county jail.

Ferrell, a former reformatory inmate once court-martialed by the army, also was separated from the others. Commonwealth's Attorney J. A. Runyon described him as the "ringleader" in the mass rape.

The crowd at the examining trial was one of the largest ever to attend such a hearing here. The spectators were orderly.

Report on file at Floyd County Board of Education and at Prestonsburg High School.

TOTALS 5,819.39

At the beginning of the school year 1956-57 the Prestonsburg High School received from the Prestonsburg Athletic Association $104.55 and all of the athletic equipment with the obligation to pay off the debts which amounted to $2,466.32. All of the debts were paid except one account of $42.50. Other debts for athletic equipment are for the past school year. Current debts owed amount to $781.56.

The gate receipts were handled by a committee of men who collected and counted the money. The money was deposited in the name of Prestonsburg High School and recorded on the school ledger in the athletic account. A notation was made on each deposit slip noting that it was for money received from athletics.

The general fund balance plus the value of books in stock will about equal the balance owed for books. The value of equipment purchased such as shades, sound system, typewriters, typing tables will far exceed the amount of debt of the general fund. The operating expenses for stamps, telephones, extra pay connected with extra janitorial services amount to a fairly large sum.

Accidents Hazards, Birth To 6 Months

Mrs. Catherine Wiecher, public health nurse for Floyd county, has some advice for new mothers in these parts. Newborn babies are helpless and needed 100% protection. Parents must provide this protection in helping baby to develop the trust and security so basic to life. Mrs. Wiecher gives the following hints on how to protect the baby when giving him a bath:

"Soap may float but baby won't." Always stay with baby even though phone or doorbell rings—if you must answer, take the baby with you.

Assemble all articles needed and place them within easy reach before starting bath. Keep safety pins closed and in a covered container.

Test temperature of water with your own elbow to be sure it is neither too hot nor too cold.

Use a firm mattress. Mrs. Wiecher advises also, one which fits baby's crib. He needs light, not heavy, covering. Be sure sides of crib are up at all times and bars are spaced close enough together so that baby cannot get his head between them. Always leave baby with a responsible person when you go out on an errand or for the evening. His safety is entirely your responsibility.

Most toys will end up in the mouth. They should be small enough to handle and too large to swallow. Use rattles which cannot be broken, rubber or washable toys, or stuffed animals with embroidered eyes.

SIXTH OF LAND TREATED

The remaining sector of U. S. 23 in Johnson county from Slick's Drive-In to Hager Hill and along the east side of the river to the Floyd-Johnson county line at the mouth of Johns Creek took No. 1 priority when the contract on the by-pass around Paintsville was let, it was announced by highway officials.

Work on locating a bridge across the river at Limestone Gap near Hager Hill is under way with soundings and other preliminary work being made.

Allan Co., Inc., Winchester, submitted a low bid of $1,191,722 last week for about 11 miles of high type surface on U. S. 23 in Boyd and Lawrence counties.

Other bidders on the Louisa-Catlettsburg road project were Adams Construction Corp., Paintsville $1,303,479, and Middle States Asphalt Corp., and Ashland Asphalt Paving Co., Ashland, $1,343,129.

Surfacing of the highway — from about one mile northwest of Louisa to a point on Ky. 707 near Kavanaugh—will be financed by the state and federal governments on a 50-50 basis.

ASSESSMENT
IN FLOYD UP

Tax Assessments for '57
Show Increase over State;
Half-Million Rise Here

Assessed property on the tax books of the state are up, and so are those in Floyd county, figures released at the office of Tax Commissioner Clive Akers show.

This year's total assessment for Floyd county is $22,038,037, as compared with $21,531,564 last year.

Kentucky's assessment as a whole is $5,353,856,245 for a gain of more than five billions over the 1956 assessment.

Biggest increases effected in Floyd assessments were on land and improvement exclusive of residential property. This year the assessment on 164,376 acres totals $4,493,071. Last year 162,162 acres were assessed at $3,035,791. Assessment of mineral and timber rights this year stood at $3,177,972—an increase of $229,313 over the preceding year's.

Floyd residential property was assessed this year at $3,267,043 as compared with $3,240,383 in 1956. The assessment of business buildings had a big drop, however—$679,275 this year to $2,173,232 last year. Oil rights dropped from $32,204 a year ago to $25,490 this year.

The county's 7,515 cars and trucks were valued this year at $2,637,738. In 1956 7,380 vehicles were assessed at $2,488,606. The value of merchants' and manufacturers' inventories dropped on the 1957 assessment lists to $941,681 from $1,101,772 in '56. So did the value of drilling and mining equipment—from $1,576,092 a year ago to $1,555,974 in 1957.

Breakdown of the state total by property classifications:

Real estate $2,471,298,159, up $176,397,962; tangible property, $798,363,262, a decline of $133,042,532; bank shares, $146,941,325, up $9,821,182; annuities, $28,591,262, up $8,378,988; brokers' accounts receivable, $5,336,121, with no comparative 1956 figures available.

Assessments for 1957 of other counties in this area follow: Breathitt, $5,306,399; Boyd, $143,367,944; Johnson, $12,824,908; Knott, $9,993,718; Letcher, $19,687,630; Magoffin, $9,040,363; Martin $4,460,916; Menifee, $1,130,140; Morgan, $4,457,056; Perry, $23,745,000; Pike, $43,862,762.

FLOYD COUNTY

The nomination for Circuit Court Clerk of Floyd county has been given me without opposition by the Republican Party, for which I am deeply grateful.

The good people of Floyd county have within their power to elect some one whom they want to manage this office, some one whom they trust and think would be honest, courteous and able to give them the best of service. This is my first time to ask for any of your offices. I am definitely not a politician, but it is my belief that you should elect a man who does not want to get rich from the office and if there should be more money made in the office than the laws allows after expenses it should be turned back to the treasurer of Floyd county to help build roads and other things so badly needed.

I have tried to let the Golden Rule influence my every act. However, I'm frank to admit that in some respects I have failed—none of us can claim perfection, you know.

I have no quarrel with any one for seeking office year after year. That is their privilege as an American citizen. It is also your privilege and duty to examine the qualifications of every man asking for any position of public trust. He should be sober, honest and dependable—those things go without saying. He ought to be a good family man, one whom you would be honored to call your next door neighbor.

I urge each of you to inquire of me. Ask those who have known me all of my 53 years. If they can't recommend me then I don't deserve to win.

You, the young boys and girls of today will be our leaders tomorrow. I ask you now to give some serious thought to my first appeal for public office and if in your own judgment I deserve to be elected, then, you will be a better citizen by convincing your parents and all your friends to support me for Circuit Court Clerk. Your confidence will be appreciated and I shall be forever grateful.

GARRETT

The revival is still in progress on Salt Lick, with Rev. Jim Reed doing the preaching. Everyone is welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Dillard Reed are visiting their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Howard, in Miamisburg, Ohio. Their granddaughter, Valetta Vanderpool, who has been visiting them all summer returned home with them.

Theresa Reed and Jackie Wicker have returned to their homes after receiving a few day's treatment at the Beaver Valley hospital at Martin.

Mrs. Beulah Hite is visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Birkholy in New York. She went to see and hear Billy Graham. She gives an interesting report on the revival and its spirit.

We wish for these, our friends and neighbors, speedy recoveries: T. J. Deboard, who is in a Louisville hospital; Lucille Ousley who is at home now; Savanna Brown who has been very ill; Thursa Reed, at home now.

Mr. and Mrs. Milford Conley had as guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Carl Conley, of Jenkins.

LITTLE LEAGUE LUNCHEON

Parents in Garrett are in an excited dither amid preparations for the Little League luncheon Friday night at 7. The event will climax our first Little League season by honoring the 30 sluggers on the Tigers and Cubs teams.

Attending will be the boys, the parents of each boy, the managers and coaches of each team, and the officers of the League. Charles Hornsby, president of the Garrett Association, will act as master of ceremonies. A progress report will be heard from each team manager, and the secretary-treasurer, Shelby Draughn, will close the books after a financial report.

All players of both teams are expected to turn in at this luncheon their playing uniforms, freshly laundered, to be stored away until next season.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to acknowledge our gratitude to all who rendered help in any way after the accidental death of our beloved father and husband, Tommy Carr, and to all who were so thoughtful in their consoling words and many flowers. We are especially thankful for the comforting messages of the Revs. Carl Layne and Everett Adkins and the efficient service of the Hall Bros. Funeral Home.

HIDDEN TAXES GET BIG BITE

Average Wage-Earner In County Pays Sixth Of His Income in Tax

Special to The Times
New York, Aug. 26—You are spending much more than you realize, dear Floyd county taxpayer, to keep the wheels of government—federal, state and local—rolling along.

As did most people, you thought you were paying about a sixth of your income for the purpose. That was the amount that was asked of you as a married man with two dependents and with average local earnings of $3,890.

According to a recent study, however, you are spending much more than that through indirect taxes that make sneak raids on your wallet. In your case, these extras bring your total tax up to $1,155 a year.

They are the unseen levies applied along the way on nearly everything you eat and use. You don't see them because they are hidden in the price you pay for things. They have been added by the producers, manufacturers, middlemen and retailers who have had to pay them along the way.

There is for example, the $55 in taxes ($288 visible and $267 hidden) on a $2,000 car. The hidden part consists of federal excises on the radio and heater, license and title fees, local business taxes and many others. These are included in the selling prices.

An analysis of these hidden taxes has been made by the Tax Foundation, a national, non-profit organization seeking more efficient government.

Application of its findings to Floyd county shows that local residents paid an estimated $9,900,000 in the past year, directly and indirectly, to tax collectors. It came out of a gross income of some $33,400,000.

This, in general, is what the Tax Foundation study shows: A family with income of $3,500 pays $772 to Uncle Sam alone. State and local taxes amount to another $271, for a grand total of $1,043. In other words, such a family pays nearly a third of its earnings in taxes, visible and invisible.

The $4,500 family pays $1,068 to Uncle Sam and $357 in State and local taxes, a total of $1,425.

The $7,500 family pays Uncle Sam $1,964 and $673 in State and local taxes, making its cost for government $2,637.

In Floyd county, where the gross income per family averaged $3,890 last year and the net earnings, after income taxes, was $3,613, the total tax bite, including hidden taxes, averaged $1,155 per family.

Flower Class To Begin Sessions Next Month

Mrs. R. H. Messer, Garrett will start her next class in flower arranging in the second week of September. Plan and date will be announced later.

Everyone is invited to take this course. If interested call or come in to Grace Burke Mill End Shop and register.

Mrs. Messer is an expert in this field, having studied under many of the best teachers in flower arrangement.

The Prestonsburg school of instruction will consist of lessons, two nights a week for three weeks and will be concluded with a flower show with accredited judges.

This show will be sponsored by the Prestonsburg Woman's Club.

DRIVE SAFELY

To better acquaint drivers of motor vehicles on Kentucky highways with violations for which they can be arrested by law-enforcement officers, this week's Drive Safely campaign will list a few of the moving hazardous violations and equipment violations which are determined to our safety as users of our roads. At the end of each violation the statute number will also be listed.

The Traffic Records Section of the Kentucky State Police list a few violations as follows:

Speeding (KRS 189.390).

Defective Brakes (KRS 189.090).

Did not have Right of Way at Intersection (KRS 189.330).

On Wrong Side of Road (KRS 189.300).

Passing On Hill (KRS 189.340) (4a).

Passing on Curve (KRS) 189.340) (4a).

Failure to Signal (or improper signal) (KRS 189.330).

Improper Turning (KRS 189.330).

Disregarding STOP sign (KRS 189.330) (s).

Improper starting from parked position (KRS 189.440).

Reckless driving (KRS 189.290).

Passing loading or unloading school bus (KRS 189.370).

Driving too slowly for traffic conditions (KRS 189.390) (5) and 189.300 (2).

Refusing to give one half of highway to persons desiring to pass (KRS 189.300 (2)).

Failure to dim headlights (KRS 189.040) (2c).

Speeding up when being passed (KRS 189.350).

Holding second lane (KRS 189.300).

Disregarding hand signal (KRS 189.350) (2).

Failure to give right of way to vehicles or pedestrians (KRS 189.310 and 189.570).

Failure to give right of way to emergency vehicle (KRS 189.320) (1).

Disregarding Railroad Crossing Flasher Lights (KRS 189.560).

Following another motor vehicle too closely (KRS 189.340) (7a).

Inadequate silencer (muffler) (KRS 189.140 and 189.020).

These are only a few of the violations of our roads and are not intended to be a complete listing of the violations and statutes under which each violation is specifically covered.

You may be a careful driver but you too violate our state laws. Test your driving against the listing above and you will soon see that you, as everyone, violate the laws of the road.

Drive carefully the life you save may be someone's Santa Claus in 1957.

STATE PLANS NEW METHOD

Of Baying Rights-of-Way First Test Set Tonight At Boyd-Co. Courthouse

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 23—The Highway Department announced Friday the first experimental test of its new right of way purchase plan will be conducted next Thursday night at Catlettsburg.

Owners of property along the proposed relocation route on U.S. 23 will be called into a meeting at the Boyd county courthouse at 7:30 p.m. (E.S.T.) About 80 owners will be affected.

Highway officials will tell them the amount they will be offered for their property as determined by appraisers.

The owners may sign deeds immediately or they will be given a short period to "think the matter over." Condemnation suits will be filed later on all disputed tracts.

The new plan is expected to eliminate negotiations with property owners and is designed to save time and money. The state will refuse to raise appraisers unless owners can show factors, overlooked by the appraisers, that might entitle them to more.

A Highway Department engineer will stay in Catlettsburg several days to explain to owners how their property will be affected.

If the Catlettsburg experiment works, the state will adopt it for all right of way acquisitions.

Involved is about six tenths of a mile covering two Catlettsburg streets.

CARR COMPLETES TRAINING—Parris Island, S. C. — Vernard L. Carr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carr, of Allen, Ky., is scheduled to complete recruit training Aug. 18 at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S. C.

Relatives and friends of many of the new Marines will be on hand to witness the graduation ceremonies.

This recruit training prepares young leathernecks for further specialized infantry training at Camp Lejeune, N. C.

Hattie Bowe Williams Victim of Heart Attack At Wayland Residence

Hattie Bowe Williams, well-known Wayland woman, succumbed to a heart attack at 10:45 p.m., last Thursday at her home.

Mrs. Williams was married twice, her first husband, L. P. Bowe, dying in 1924, and her second, J. H. Williams, surviving her. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wallace, she was a member of the Methodist Church for 15 years, also a member of the Eastern Star, Rebekahs and Daughters of America. Mrs. Williams had just returned home from a meeting of the Daughters of America when she suffered the fatal attack.

She is survived by one son, Wallace Elmer Bowe, Huntington, W. Va., and one daughter, Mrs. Lucille Ratliff, Wayland; two brothers, Fred Wallace, Garrett, and Harry Wallace, Everts, Ky.

The funeral was held at 10:30 a.m. Sunday at the Wayland Methodist Church, the Rev. Dorsey preaching. Burial followed at the family cemetery at Louisa under the direction of the Hall Bros. Funeral Home.

THAT SMITH!

Now that the youngsters are ready for school again, it may be that they will run into some matters that defy explanation. We're afraid, for instance, they'll find Longfellow's "The Village Blacksmith" an abstrusity that simply defies understanding. Take for instance that part that reads:

"His brow is wet with honest sweat,

He earns what'er he can,

And looks the whole world in the face

For he owes not any man."

Now I claim that may throw some of the kiddies. What's "sweat," for instance? And is it legal? Wasn't the blacksmith shop air-conditioned, Pop?

But the real puzzler may be that part that declares to one and all that "he owes not any man." Didn't he have 20 years to pay for his shop? What did his poor kids do for a car and a TV and a record player and an allowance, if he didn't operate on the instalment plan?

Come to think of it, I bet that Village Blacksmith was an old fuddy-duddy.

WHIRLIGIG

Life is just full of its little quirks and ironies. A few days ago a man came to earth after ascending 102,000 feet to the edge of that illimitable void we speak of as space. He had seen the sun set as a white disk, not as a red-dening circle; he had watched the stars from a "ringside seat" and had found that they do not twinkle. For that trip aloft he was rigged out with the most ingenious instruments and mechanisms man can devise. When he crawled from the gondola of his record-breaking balloon he looked like a visitor from one of the planets toward which he had soared a bit nearer. Men in helicopters and automobiles raced to be the first to greet him . . . And the first person to reach this strange-looking man, home from a "ringside view of the heavens," was a man on horseback.

the other one in here, too?" he asked, referring to the person suspected as the one who took the blades inside.

A few minutes later, Hamilton called for Click and admitted having had four blades. He showed Click where the other three were secreted, outside the cell window beneath a bit of roof. Hamilton's wife was jailed here Tuesday on a drunkenness charge.

FLU VACCINE SUPPLY SHORT

Key Personnel To Get Priority; Physicians To Handle Serum Use

Whatever supply there is available of the serum for the combating of Asian influenza will be placed in the hands of private physicians and not in public health channels, it was learned here this week.

One source said a supply adequate to all civilian needs is expected next month. Another, equally authoritative, said that the supply is not expected to approach the level of demand before late October or during November. One physician said he offered this week to place an order for 1,000 "shots" and was told by the drug salesman he "might get you 10 shots right now."

Recent reports have indicated that only key personnel will be given the vaccine until the supply becomes more plentiful.

The serum, tests have shown is highly effective, and young children may be given the preventive by the splitting of doses. Dr. Leroy Burney, U. S. surgeon general, was quoted Tuesday as saying that 60 million doses of the vaccine will be ready by January or February. The incidence of the disease is expected to be highest in the late fall or early winter, however.

Furney said as many as 60 million persons may have the disease in the United States. He added that while Asian influenza is expected to be mild on individuals it could be serious for communities.

None of the antibiotics now in use effect a cure of Asian flu, although they may be helpful in treating complications which arise. Indiscriminate use of penicillin and the sulfas is frowned on, however, and the advice of doctors is urged. Home care rather than treatment in hospitals is recommended, since the disease flourishes under crowded conditions.

sections of the state and in other states.

Full assurance was given residents of both Prestonsburg, Allen and Martin that the water supply in each of three towns is as safe as it ever has been and that everything possible is being done to relieve the Algae-born taste and odor. It was emphasized that, although algae does produce an unpleasant taste and odor, it is harmless.

The state engineer found that the water plants in the three towns are being operated in "a very satisfactory manner and that every possible precaution is being taken to provide a 100% safe water supply."

He added that the new water plant now under construction here will be much better equipped to combat similar situations in the future.

building here, has signed a contract to teach in Michigan. He will move there with his family within the next few weeks, he said.

His letter of resignation follows, in part:

"If any thought remained in my mind that I had not worked hard as principal of the Prestonsburg high school during the past two years to get a new situation organized and make a big start in collecting equipment, that I had not succeeded in doing at least some of the things that needed to be done, even at the risk of personal unpopularity in some instances, I would have accepted the action whereby you terminated my services and removed me at a regular board meeting on July 2, 1957 from my position as principal of the Prestonsburg high school and would continue to work in the Floyd county school system at whatever school position you might assign to me.

"But I feel that your action is a poor reward for the honest service I tried hard to give. I doubt if the school administration really appreciated the tasks and problems involved, but you have recognized that I worked hard and did a good job.

"I am convinced that there is little security for any except those who are willing to bend the knee and play the political game. And so I have rather painfully arrived at this decision."

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D.
Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

"MUSIC OF THE ANVIL"

As I sat in my room in a hotel in a good-sized city recently, I suddenly wondered why I was back in Fidelity fifty years ago. There was certainly nothing in the room that would have suggested any such trip back to earlier times; from my windows the sights and sounds were typical of cities large and small; city buses, endless lines of cars, sidewalks full of people going to their places of business, school children in irregular crowds aimlessly—"creeping like snails to schools," just like one of Shakespeare's seven ages of man. Then it all came to me; someone on a building that was under construction had hit an iron rod or pipe that gave out the very sound of an anvil in an old-fashioned blacksmith shop. That was it! I expected to smell the heavy smoke of the furnace, even to see horses awaiting their turn to be shod. Somehow it was slightly depressing when I realized that the sound of the anvil is itself a passing institution. Many people have grown up with having heard it; some of my students would not get any thrill from being told of the skill shown by the blacksmith in that age-old but now almost forgotten musical device of "ticking the anvil." But to some of us of other times and places the sound of the anvil brings back a lost civilization, a civilization in which the blacksmith was a very important person, a skilled laborer among a host of people whose fingers were all thumbs.

Tickling the anvil was somewhat like grace notes in music, not necessary but, when skillfully done, a great addition to the score. The blacksmith would hit the horseshoe or other iron that he was shaping with a strong, deft stroke; then he would "tickle the anvil" by hitting it lightly before he landed the next mighty stroke on the resistant hot iron. "Whack, ping; whack, ping"—on and on the music rang until the horseshoe was shaped or the metal for the singletree was completed. As a wide-eyed boy I often stood by, envious of a skill that could shape the iron and make of it a sort of primitive song. Many a boy that I knew practiced doing this anvil-ticking and sometimes succeeded in acquiring the very rhythm of the skillful blacksmith.

Years ago John Philip Sousa

and his famous band rendered the "Anvil Chorus" from IL TROVATORE in a way that must have left poignant memories with people who had known the anvil in the country blacksmith shop. Four anvils were placed out at the edge of the stage in the chautauqua tent. There they sat through the first numbers of the program, with large hammers lying on them. As a grand finale, the band played the well-known number, but they made it a spectacular thing by turning down all the lights in the tent, so that the full effect could be seen properly. The hammers and the anvils completed an electric circuit, so that the hammering seemed to bring actual sparks. The four young men who tickled those anvils must have watched some actual blacksmiths, for the performance was cheered to the echo. I wonder how that number would appeal to the youngsters today, people who have never seen an anvil, and heard it give forth, under skillful hands, one of the musical wonders of my experience. Even as commonplace a poem as Longfellow's "The Village Blacksmith" has to be explained elaborately before even the brightest can see the effectiveness of it as a short, simple lyric of ordinary life. If you still know where a blacksmith is to be found, seek him out and, for the sake of a good old folk custom, ask him to tickle his anvil for you. It will do him good to know that anybody still remembers this practice, and it will give him a chance to show a skill that will soon be one of the lost folk arts.

Relics Recall
Story of Indian
Chief Tecumseh

By Charles F. Hinds,
Secretary-Treasurer of Kentucky
Historical Society

Frankfort, Aug. 26 (Spl.) — In 1919, the Kentucky Historical Society received a remarkable Indian collection. Among the items were the bullet-torn and blood-stained battle flag Tecumseh carried at the Battle of the Thames and some property of his Braves—a striking iron used in starting fires and a pair of flannel homespun leggings.

Tecumseh, or Tecumthe, was born in 1768 in Old Piqua on the Mad River in Ohio. His father, a Shawnee, and his mother, a Creek, had recently migrated with their tribe from Alabama on the invitation of the fierce Wyandottes.

Puckeshinwa, father of Tecumseh, was killed in the battle of Point Pleasant in 1774 or soon thereafter. Methoataska, the mother of the six-year-old Tecumseh, made the impressionable boy swear that he would devote his life to taking revenge on the "Long Knives" who had killed Puckeshinwa.

After his father's death, Tecumseh was adopted by the Shawnee chief, Blackfish. Blackfish had lost a son at the hands of Daniel Boone on a raid into Kentucky. The old Shawnee adopted sons, white and Indian, to fill the void left by this loss. Three of Tecumseh's foster brothers were Richard Sparks, Benjamin Kelley and Stephen Ruddle—all Kentucky boys.

The strangest foster brother of them all was Daniel Boone, captured with 30 others at Blue Licks in 1778. Blackfish named Boone, with whom he was much taken, "Big Turtle"—some say because a turtle denotes wisdom; others, because of the obvious contradiction suggested by the quick-witted Boone and the slow turtle.

Tecumseh began to gather warriors around him in 1805. He was ably assisted by his youngest blood brother, Laulewasika, better known as the Prophet, who had been converted by Shaker missionaries of Kentucky and Indiana from a loafer and an alcoholic into one of the most outstanding Indian evangelists of all times.

Tecumseh organized the Indian tribes into a large confederation, but Gen. William Henry Harrison lured the red warriors into a premature attack at Tippecanoe in 1811 while Tecumseh was in the South recruiting more tribes. The Indians in the Old Northwest never fully recovered and were completely beaten in 1813 at the Battle of the Thames by the Kentucky Mounted Infantry under Col. Richard M. Johnson.

HIGH-MOISTURE CORN
Iowa State College research showed that corn harvested when it contains 70 to 82 per cent moisture was worth 10 cents more per bushel as feed for fattening cattle than low-moisture corn from the same field. The high-moisture corn saved about 8 per cent in feed costs; when stillbestrol supplement was fed to steers in the high moisture corn lots, the combined savings amounted to 16 per cent.

ADVANCING
IN KENTUCKY

By Robert R. Martin
Superintendent of Public Instruction

In March of this year, a dramatic thing happened in Washington, D. C., during a House sub-committee hearing. A group of high school students touring the capital filed quietly into spectators' seats to observe events at the hearing when the chairman of the sub-committee spotted them.

The hearing was devoted to federal grants to states for developing programs to combat juvenile delinquency. The chairman suddenly asked if any of the youngsters would care to give the group the benefit of the adolescent's point of view in the matter. They did—and then some!

One statement by a young lady from Alstead, New Hampshire, is especially interesting because it is directly related to something we have been working on in Kentucky for over a year. She said in replying to a criticism that parents are too strict: "Children aren't happier when they are let run wild. They want some guidance that they can rely on."

About a year ago, the Kentucky Department of Education established a Division of Guidance Services with the aim of assisting schools to initiate or improve guidance programs. We have recognized the need for this kind of service for some years. It is a need that developed with changes in the social and economic life of the American family and it has been accentuated by increasing enrollments and expanded school offerings.

Both parents and school personnel want school-age children to stay in school. But we have learned that merely demanding that they stay in school is not enough. Both parents and school personnel want to see youngsters make choices and get goals; obviously this is wishful thinking if there is no incentive provided for them.

The purpose of a school's guidance program is to help boys and girls make better adjustments to school and social life; to help them make educational and vocational choices, set goals, carry out plans and solve problems of a personal nature. Its purpose also is to help teachers to better understand and better provide for each child while he is in the classroom.

These are things that both parents and school people want; they are just as much the responsibility of parents as they are of the school.

During the past year people in Kentucky have manifested a growing interest in the guidance movement. Many of them are seeking ways and means of improving guidance services in their own schools. Encouraging are these evidences of progress in guidance during the first year that the Division has been in operation: new guidance programs have been established in some schools and plans initiated for improvements in others; Kentucky's graduate schools have developed preparation programs for guidance counselors; there will be a number of new counselors in Kentucky schools beginning in September; a noticeably large number of teachers' conferences have been devoted to guidance as a means of initiating or improving school services, while many other systems have made plans to hold such conferences during the coming school year.

We agree with the young lady from Alstead, New Hampshire—boys and girls do want guidance that they can rely on—the kind of guidance that helps them to help themselves. This kind of service occupies a significant place in advancing education in Kentucky.

UK EDUCATIONAL EXHIBITS PLANNED FOR STATE FAIR

Exhibits of wide variety will be of interest to visitors at the Exposition Building at the Kentucky State Fair Sept. 6 to 15, where they will see several educational features from the Experiment Station and the Agricultural Extension Service of the University of Kentucky.

A large walk-in meat display case will show actual cuts of beef, lamb and pork.

Various activities of a typical family will be seen in the fields of food selection, textiles and clothing, home furnishings, home management and recreation. A series of large photographs, 24 by 30 inches, will be lighted in sequence as a coordinated tape recording tells the story. The exhibit was planned by the School of Home Economics.

Exhibits by several hundred 4-H club members will include articles of clothing made in various classes from the beginner in sewing to the state winner of an electric sewing machine; jars of canned fruits and vegetables arranged according to counties; freezers of frozen foods; a display of baked foods, and a home furnishings display showing refinished furniture, and curtains and bedspread carrying out the room color scheme.

Added attractions will be two walk-in booths, one showing specimens of insects and pests mounted by 4-H'ers, and the other, electrical projects carried on by them. Wood-working projects will also be on display.

In the center of the 4-H exhibit will be two 10-foot turn tables, showing a review in pictures of the work 4-H club boys in beef, swine, sheep and poultry, water management, tobacco, gardens and field crops.

A free movie of 15 to 30 minute, "The Town That Came Back", will report the story of a revival of a town through the activities of 4-H club members.

A style show will be presented every evening at 7:30 o'clock in the east end of the Exposition Building by the Jefferson County 4-H Club. Garments made by members will be modeled.

County Officials Told By Auditor To File Reports

State Auditor Mary Louise Foust has issued a memorandum to county judges, another one to county sheriffs and a third to all county officials explaining various items required in official reports.

County judges were notified in "misdemeanor cases tried before you, if the accused is convicted, tax as cost $4.50. Each month you should pay into the county treasury the cost so collected with an itemized account and report the amount to the fiscal court," the Auditor explained.

Miss Foust explained to the county sheriffs the necessity of keeping an accurate account of all fees collected by them and expense accounts for mileage spent in patrolling roads, inspecting dance halls and roadhouses, which are paid by the state. "You cannot later claim this expense when you settle with your county," she said.

Clerks issuing process in a civil case should keep an accurate account of all fees paid to the sheriff and report the amount to the fiscal court where it is recorded to determine the sheriff's annual income, Miss Foust said.

County officials were told to make an accounting of their fees collected and disbursements at the close of the calendar year. "We are anxious to aid you in your report," Miss Foust continued, "but we do not have enough auditors available to complete the task on schedule."

Officials responsible for having financial statements published and filed with this office must do so within 60 days after the close of the fiscal year, the Auditor concluded.

Telephone Talk

by
H. D. HAYES
 Your Telephone Manager

A LOT OF PEOPLE still think of telephone service in terms of just the one familiar home or office phone. Well, there are so many different kinds of equipment nowadays—all designed to add pleasure to your living—that I'd like to remind you of some of them.

There's the Speakerphone that lets you talk and hear without lifting the receiver. The Volume Control phone you can turn up or down like a radio. Spring cords, Extra phones in color—so handy throughout the house where you need them. Even a phone that answers itself when you're out. Let me suggest you drop by our Business Office and see all these new conveniences. We'll be glad to show you how to have a well-telephoned home at surprisingly low cost.

GUARANTEED FOREVER—Of all the useful things in your home, how many are guaranteed for life? Your telephone is, you know. If it should ever break or need replacing, why we'll get it working again fast without any service charge. This lifetime guarantee on your phone is, of course, included in what you pay for service.

NEXT BEST THING to being there in person is to visit with out-of-town friends and loved ones by Long Distance. Gives you a real lift to hear those familiar voices again. And it's so easy to call. Doesn't cost much, either, especially when you call station-to-station. As a matter of fact, you save up to 1/2 when you call station-to-station between points in Kentucky. And you get extra values when you call nights after 6 and all day Sundays. Then you can talk station-to-station for four minutes at the same two-minute daytime rate.

For example, you call station-to-station from Prestonsburg to Louisville for just 70c, and from Prestonsburg to Madisonville for only 80c. Mighty small prices to pay for a lot of pleasure!

NEW COACH SAYS P'BURG COULD BE BEST FOOTBALL TOWN IN KENTUCKY

"Prestonsburg could be the best football town in Kentucky," said John Griggs, new coach at Prestonsburg High School, this week.

He explained that Prestonsburg certainly isn't like Leslie county where, last year, only four boys on his squad had ever seen a football game. The majority of season was spent, he grinned, in acquainting the boys what a football looked like and what to do with it.

"It's a lot different—this town—why when I first got here I was introduced to some elderly ladies who know a lot about football or at least more than those kids I met last year."

The new coach, a strapping 200-pounder who played with Babe Parilli, Bob Gain, Shorty Jamer-son, and, in his last year, was chosen as co-captain by his teammates, said he found the boys' attitude quite different.

"They have an interest in playing football. They work hard. But hard as they may work this year, I'm afraid we're thin in reserves. There's only 23 on the squad right now and I'd like more. The line is our weakest point where we have a few capable boys but far too few. The backfield is our strong point."

"I'm impressed with a few of my boys but not too many," he said. Griggs cited Paul Phillip Hughes, James Allen, Wayne Dixon, Red Minix, Bobby Howell, Glen Anderson Tom Harmon, and Joe Jack Harris as boys who have been doing a fine job in practice sessions.

He said that some of the boys were on the small side but compensated for smallness by plenty of courage and determination. "That's 90% of it," he said.

"We have a potential all-state player in Wayne Dixon," he said, adding that Wayne was elected co-captain and is an excellent leader. "Wayne is just as good as he wants to be and he's giving every indication that he wants to be good," Griggs said.

He mentioned that it is time to stir up interest in a new football field. "Some people around here laugh and say other teams hate to play on our field. I'd rather for teams to be afraid of our team instead of the field."

He cited the dangerous asphalt in the end zone, the closeness of a barb-wire fence on the sideline near the grade-school, and the concrete-like hardness of the Little League baseball field. "If a boy gets knocked out of bounds in the area of the fence it's possible that he could be hurt on one of the posts. It's nothing to laugh about, but something to correct for the sake of our team and visiting teams."

BLACKCAT PLAYER OF THE WEEK

For the fourth consecutive year the Francis Stores in Prestonsburg will conduct its weekly selection of the Black Cat-Player-of-the-Week. The successful player also receives an award.

CAMPBELL RESIGNS WITH IMPRESSIVE MARK

"Copper-John" Campbell, who resigned last week as Wayland's basketball tutor, leaves one of the best records in the 15th region. In ten seasons at the Right Beaver Creek school, "Copper-John" took his Wasps to the state tournament three times. He is the only mentor to compete with Pikeville and Inez for the trip to the highly-prized state tournament trip. In that 10-year span, Wayland made three trips, Pikeville four, and Inez two.

E.K.M.C. CHAMP

This season's race for the EKMC championship should be one of the best in the five-year loop history, since there is no outstanding team this season. A Courier-Journal pick in Sunday's issue listed Hazard as their choice, but the Bulldogs lost heavily, as did champion Pikeville. As we see it, Jenkins and Belfry loom as possible champions with several veterans returning, although Belfry has a new coach in Irvin Wilson. Barring any injuries, Prestonsburg and Panitsville have an outside chance of landing the crown.

RULES CHANGES

There are 14 new high school football rule changes this season. None is of major importance, and the only one of any great interest is the neutral zone of the line of scrimmage in drawing a player offside by any shifting maneuver.

Season on Waterfowl To Open Nov. 7th

Frankfort, Aug. 26 (Sp.) — Kentucky's waterfowl season will open Nov. 7 and extend through January 15, officials of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources said.

The duck limit is four a day with possession limit of eight after two or more days of hunting. Shooting hours will be from one-half hour before sunrise until sunset.

The possession and bag limit for geese is five which may not include more than two Canada or Canada subspecies. No wood ducks may be killed.

Opening of the dove season is Sept. 1, continuing through Oct. 31. Hunting will be permitted from noon until sunset. The bag possession limit was increased to 10.

'COPPER-JOHN' RESIGNS POST

Campbell Ends Work At Wayland Hi Where He Had Great Record

"Copper-John" Campbell, highly successful basketball coach at Wayland high school for the past ten years, resigned recently to enter private business at Mousie in Knott county.

Campbell's cage teams have been a power in Floyd county basketball since his graduation from Eastern State College in 1946. At Eastern he was an All-K.I.A.C. forward.

Campbell won five district crowns, and was runner-up two other times. Three times his teams won the 15th regional cage crown and represented this region in the state tournament.

Some of Campbell's most widely known athletes were Ed DeCoursey, Carl Ray Fraley, Carl's brother, Fred, who became Furman University star, Paul Hopper, and Kentucky's all-time high school scoring star, Kelly Coleman, who is now preparing to enter the University of Dayton, Dayton, Ohio.

An all-stater at Hindman high, Campbell played under the tutelage of Pearl Combs. He resigned his position as president of the Floyd County Coaches' Association along with his coaching post at Wayland.

LOUISVILLE

CATS TO OPEN FRIDAY AGAINST W'WRIGHT HI

Prestonsburg and Wheelwright, gridiron foes of several years ago, will be at each other's throats here Friday at 8 p.m.

Wheelwright, which renewed its football interests only last year, will take the field with a 27-man team, four stronger—numerically, at least—than the veteran Prestonsburg squad. The Wheelwright squad is being coached this season by Ray Brackett.

The Prestonsburg team, in getting ready for its nine-game schedule, has been conducting twice-a-day workouts at Camp Shawnee on Dewey Lake for the past week. It is expected that the Black Cats will better their last season's record of 3-5-1 when they finished seventh in the ten-team

Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference.

Incoming coach John Griggs, ex-University of Kentucky captain, has four seniors, four juniors, one sophomore and two freshmen in his starting eleven.

Paul Phillips Hughes, six-foot, one-inch, 155-pound senior, and younger brother of two-time, all-state Prestonsburg greats, John Delmar and Lowell Hughes, will fill the quarterback spot which has been capably spotted by a Hughes since the 1950 season.

Both halfbacks, Junior Tom Harmon and senior Joe Jack Harris, were regulars last season and are two of the speediest backs in the loop. With a year of experience behind them, their play may make the Black Cats a threat for the conference title.

James Allen, six-foot, two-inch, 175-pound sophomore, will switch to fullback this season after having alternated with P. Hughes at quarterback most of last season. He is a fine passer, but is limited in experience.

The line is the big question mark for Griggs, other than center Wayne Dixon, who could be the best lineman in East Kentucky. The agile senior is starting his fourth season as a regular. He stands five feet, nine inches and weighs 225 pounds.

No other lineman has been a regular. Tackle Curtis Holbrook, five-foot, ten-inch, 175-pound junior, has won a letter, but running mate William Prater is a 175-pound freshman in his first season in the sport.

Guards Rudolph Allen and Bob Lucas, both untried candidates weigh about 160 pounds. Glenn Anderson, at one end, is a senior letterman. Bobby Howell, a junior, will fill the other position after being switched from the backfield.

The No. 1 line replacement is Junior Henry Hughes, 170-pound center and guard, who saw service in the most of last season's games.

An injury to any one of the starting eleven could wreck the Black Cats since they have only 12 reserves, and only three with any experience whatsoever.

Prestonsburg will play a nine-game schedule, with seven of the foes in the Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference. School officials would like to card a home game for September 6.

The schedule:
Aug. 30, Wheelwright, Home.
Sept. 6, Open, Home.
Sept. 13, *Hazard, Away.
Sept. 20, *Elkhorn City, Home.
Sept. 27, *Jenkins, Away.
October 4, *Pikeville, Away.
Oct. 11, Louisa, Away.
October 18, *Belfry, Home.
Oct. 25, *Whitesburg, Away.
Nov. 1, *Paintsville, Home.
* E.K.M.C. Game

During the campfire scene in "Wilderness Road" one soldier says, "I'm cold." This usually draws a sympathetic laugh from the audience as Berea's open-air Indian Fort Theater, being on the mountainside in the forest, is usually quite cool. The audience is advised to take wraps. August 31 is the last performance of the season.

Drivers Advised
To Use Caution
Over Labor Day

Frankfort, Aug. 26 (Spl.) — "Take time for teamwork in traffic," State Safety Commissioner Don S. Sturgill urged Labor Day week-end motorists.

He pointed out that seven persons were killed over the Labor Day week-end last year and 15 died during that period in 1955.

Sturgill said all available State Police officers will patrol highways during the long week-end and mobile roadblocks will be utilized.

"Driving in today's traffic is not a one-man show," the safety official added.

He said if drivers were constantly aware of this fact they wouldn't pull such stunts as changing lanes without warning, bumper chasing, making sudden stops, and making turns from the wrong lane.

"When you're driving courteously, you're also protecting yourself," he emphasized. "A driver rarely causes an accident without suffering some injury himself."

The commissioner gave these tips:

Keep alert. Develop defensive driving tactics. Study the road ahead for accident situations.

Think ahead. Plan emergency measures. Know your own and your car's capabilities.

Be adaptable. Get the "feel" of changing traffic, road and weather conditions. Adjust speed immediately.

Pace yourself by the traffic around you.

Take only your share of the road—in the proper place. Keep in the proper lane.

Obeey all traffic laws, signs, signals and the dictates of common sense and courtesy.

Foresters in spraying operation to combat oak wilt that has already appeared in this county.

NOW EAST KENTUCKY FIGHTS TO SAVE OAKS

By HENRY P. SCALF

Eastern Kentucky is trying to save its oak trees from destruction, and the Kentucky Division of Forestry is determined that this species of forest hardwood shall not go the way the chestnut tree did three decades ago from blight.

Oak wilt is a fungus disease that slowly but inevitably kills a tree, once it is attacked. No known cure has been found. In fact, methods to prevent the disease are a matter of controversy with foresters. One thing, though, everybody agrees upon is that if the disease is allowed to spread unchecked, Eastern Kentucky will be denuded of oaks and one of the section's primary resources will be destroyed.

Roe Turner, Floyd county forest ranger, recalls what happened to the chestnut tree nearly 30 years ago. Suddenly, from where no one was sure, a disease called the chestnut blight attacked those nut-bearing, lumber-producing trees. In three years they were gone. The loss to the mountain economy was incalculable, since the chestnut was fast-growing and had varied and multiple uses. Today foresters are looking for lone chestnut trees that may have survived in the hope that one may be discovered that is blight resistant.

Two years ago personnel of the forest service began to search for oak wilt in the mountains of Kentucky. The disease was rampant in the Northwest, threatened despite the herculean effort of foresters to destroy the trees in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, and Illinois. It was also creeping down from the Northeast, from Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio and the two fronts were catching Kentucky in a vise. The Division of Forestry in looking at their maps of infected states, knew that Kentucky could not long escape. Forest rangers, guards and supervisors were alerted.

The Eastern district of the Division of Forestry, which covers most of the mountain section, is rugged territory. First evidence of the disease is dying leaves, and foresters searching through field glasses may spot suspicious trees far off in some dark, high valley which entails much walking and climbing to reach. Once there, it may be discovered that the tree doesn't have oak wilt at all. It was a slow process with plenty of hard work to find an oak wilt specimen but the foresters did. They sent off several samples to a laboratory in North Carolina. Two were found to be positive.

Now that it was found in the mountains, control measures must be undertaken but every state visited by the disease had tried various methods with only doubtful results. Cutting the infected tree and burning it and everything else for a radius of 50 feet around was ordered. This was a big job in a heavy forest, so other measures were resorted to, chief of which was poisoning. This last method of control seemed to have better possibilities because it would reach the stump and roots. Interlocking between oak roots occur in the ground and the fungi creeps from an infected root to another tree's root system. Poisoning obviates this method of continuing infection.

most obvious sources of infections are the fungus mats produced under the bark. These mats... form from two to several months after trees or parts of trees die. They raise and crack the bark, emit an odor attractive to many insects and under certain conditions produce great quantities of spores which are readily carried both internally and externally by certain of the insects that inhabit the mats and also by squirrels."

Since burning every infected tree in a heavy forest has been found impracticable by foresters of the Eastern District of Kentucky the tree is usually cut down, the stump poisoned to destroy the root system and a repellent sprayed over the entire mass of leaves and branches. This chemical repellent keeps the insects away from the spore producing mats.

Other control measures will be tried and before long, foresters are sure, the most effective and feasible one will be undertaken. They are optimistic because they have found the disease early and it is slower to spread than the chestnut blight. Then, too, they point out that they have the united resources of the Kentucky Division of Forestry behind them. Other states are contributing research and the Federal Government is assisting as well as the hardwood industry.

If the foresters fail to control the disease, the oaks will disappear and the proud forests of Eastern Kentucky will become a ragged, broken remnant of its once pristine glory. But that will not happen, the foresters say. They are determined to eradicate oak wilt and save the majestic trees.

The fungus needs a wound of some type to invade the outer vessels of the sapwood" writes George H. Hepting, pathologist of the U. S. Forest Service. "The sources of inoculum are spores produced on wilt-killed trees. The

FOOD NOTES
By Dixie T. Higgins
Home Demonstration Agent

Requests have been coming in for "diet recipes." I assume you mean foods that are low in calories.

These recipes are made available by commercial concerns who manufacture such items as sweeteners, gelatins and also packers of diet foods. You will find these items on your grocer's shelves. Consult your doctor as to how much of this type of food to use.

Be sure to include in everyday's meals vegetables, fruits, milk, meat and bread or cereals. Use these foods with little or no seasoning. It is the bacon grease, salad dressing, cream, gravy, butter, etc. that runs up the calorie count. If you use smaller amounts of spicy foods and sweets you will find you crave them less.

People can help one another with this weight problem by not talking about food—especially the "mouth watering" kind. The less a person thinks of food, the easier it is to do without the amount that makes the difference between a heavy, well-padded frame or a trim, healthy figure.

The Club's annual Fall Flower Show was discussed at length and final plans made. The show will be held September 21 and will be opened to the public at 12 noon. A musical will be presented at 1 p.m.

A list of classes that will be used in the show will be published next week. Following the business meeting, Mrs. Hrdred Burchett presented an interesting program on table arrangements. She showed a beautifully colored filmstrip of all types of tables and read an accompanying commentary. Following this, she gave a quiz on the table manners and table arrangements. Mrs. Ed Stewart won first prize, which was a demitasse coffee spoon in the French Provincial design by Towle and given by Wright Bros. Jewelry Store of Martin. Mrs. Jones Tallent won second prize, a silver brace, let, also given by Wright Bros.

At the conclusion of the meeting Mrs. Roberts served refreshments to the following members: Mesdames James Allen, David Reed, George Patton, Ed Stewart, Paul Borders, Theodore Gibson, Ivan Bouch, Roland Burchett, Edward Robinson, Charles Patton, Miles Gibson, Jr., John Ison and guest, Mrs. Ruth Thomas.

Mrs. David Reed and Mrs. Paul Borders announce that plans are now being made for the table setting display which is the popular addition to the Fall Flower Show. Each person who wishes to enter furnishes her own items for display—table, cloth, china, silver, centerpiece, etc. There will be six classes: breakfast, lunch, dinner, special occasions, high school girls' entries, and children's section. In addition to the ribbons, gifts will be awarded this year.

SPAGHETTI SUPPER There will be a spaghetti supper at the lunchroom, Friday evening at 6 o'clock. Upon request of a community seeking a new industry, one of three industrial agents employed by the division makes a trip to the town, talks with its leaders, gathers data on what the community offers in the way of population and labor, utilities, taxes, transportation, resources, markets, climate, and other subjects, and prepares this information to be published in booklet form.

The service is offered without cost to the community and 50 of the booklets are allotted free. If the community feels after a lapse of time that a second survey is desirable to bring previous information up-to-date, this service is also given without cost but any booklets which the town desires to keep on hand must be purchased.

Division Director Bruce Kennedy reported recently that 12 surveys had been completed during the first half of this year and 24 additional towns have been visited and the information gathered is being prepared for print.

Robert G. Worden, assistant director, listed surveys of Jackson county, Benton, Hopkinsville, and a summary of South Short, as those to be released within the next few weeks.

More than 132 towns have been surveyed or resurveyed since the project began, Worden said.

The information contained in booklets, he said, often enables an expanding industry to determine without numerous trips and correspondence the community in Kentucky best suited to the requirements which it seeks.

Frankfort, Aug. 26 (Spl.) — Kentucky is attracting new industries in unprecedented numbers. A prerequisite for success of a state's industrial expansion is convincing plant management of the advantages of locating in a particular area.

The service is offered without cost to the community and 50 of the booklets are allotted free. If the community feels after a lapse of time that a second survey is desirable to bring previous information up-to-date, this service is also given without cost but any booklets which the town desires to keep on hand must be purchased.

Division Director Bruce Kennedy reported recently that 12 surveys had been completed during the first half of this year and 24 additional towns have been visited and the information gathered is being prepared for print.

Robert G. Worden, assistant director, listed surveys of Jackson county, Benton, Hopkinsville, and a summary of South Short, as those to be released within the next few weeks.

More than 132 towns have been surveyed or resurveyed since the project began, Worden said.

The information contained in booklets, he said, often enables an expanding industry to determine without numerous trips and correspondence the community in Kentucky best suited to the requirements which it seeks.

Capitol Notebook

An expression much worn by use lately is "Sick, Sick, Sick." Every time one manifests some little aberration, a speaker of cool jargon comments, "Sick, Sick, Sick." Well, if you'll read the Register of the Kentucky Historical Society while waiting for your next issue of Confidential Magazine, you'll find the expression not new.

In the July Register you'll find part two of Leander M. Cox's Mexican War Journal. Cox was a leader of a company of volunteers from Fleming, Mason and Nicholas counties who marched into Mexico. In his entry for Dec. 2, 1847, Cox wrote: "Cold and cloudy. I am Sick, Sick, Sick and worn down with fatigue."

HE VISITED UNION GULCH

Another publication, the September Redbook Magazine, declares: "For an autumn of water sports and haunting beauty, take the road Daniel Boone blazed to Cumberland Gap."

This introduces an article on the Cumberland Mountain region in the magazine, out Aug. 29. To write the feature, Peter J. Celliers traveled a portion of the Wilderness Road from Bristol, Tenn., to Boonesborough, Ky. He was aided with background material by the Kentucky Department of Public Relations.

Says Celliers: "Yes, take a road — to Standing Stone and Jake's Creek, Union Gulch and Burnt Pine, to Stretch Yer Neck and Seldom Seen Hollow—take any road back among these hills for a new dimension of American life."

OPEN HOUSE

To open the new admission and intensive treatment building at Eastern State hospital, Lexington, an open house will be held Sept. 22, announces Dr. Logan Gragg, superintendent of the hospital. He said the building, which will house 100 patients, is completed and will be occupied as soon as furnishings arrive.

SMALL CITIES ALERTED

"What would you do if 30,000 or 50,000 people came into your county bringing with them only what they could carry in their hands?"

This question has been asked by the Kentucky Health Department. The agency points out that in event of an H-bomb attack on the industrial centers of Covington, Louisville and Paducah, thousands of refugees would swarm to other Kentucky communities.

"This means," warns the agency, "that small communities would have to provide most of the medical care and public health services" required in such a disaster."

NAME EXPLAINED

The Legislative Research Commission's new magazine, The Commonwealth, explains how it came by that name. Says the publication:

"Commonwealth, as all Kentuckians know, is the name of Kentucky's form of government. Only three other states use that description of their government. They are Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Virginia.

"Kentucky once called herself a state. The term was changed to Commonwealth by our Constitutional Convention of 1890. The convention felt that 'commonwealth' was more accurately descriptive of the kind of governmental unit which the states represent.

"Commonwealth' implies a separate political unit but does not mean the existence of a separate sovereignty. It means a self-governing unit which is a part of a whole, as a state is part of a nation.

"Commonwealth' is synonymous with 'commonweal,' which means the public welfare. The Oxford dictionary defines 'commonwealth' as a community in which all the people have a voice and exercise the supreme power."

$1,300,000 VOTED KENTUCKY TO FIGHT SOIL EROSION

A measure allocating about $1,300,000 in emergency federal soil-conservation funds to 29 Kentucky counties has been approved by the Senate and now requires only favorable action by the House.

Fifteen counties in Eastern Kentucky, including Floyd, and 14 in Western Kentucky are in line for assistance.

Before passage of the measure, Senator John Sherman Cooper told the Senate that certain sections in Western Kentucky have suffered soil erosion from excess rainfall as severe as that in some Eastern Kentucky areas that were hit by floods last February.

To be eligible for aid under the Federal Agricultural Conservation Program a farmer must carry out specific conservation practices such as terracing, drainage work, building ponds, developing and improving pastures, and planting grain cover crops.

Before he undertakes the conservation work the farmer applies to a conservation committee in his county for permission to take part in the program. The Government may share up to 80 percent of the cost of the conservation work under certain circumstances. The usual share is 50 percent.

The funds to assist combating soil erosion in Kentucky were part of $25,000,000 in additional soil-conservation funds for use in emergency areas agreed upon Monday by a Senate-House conference committee. The soil-conservation appropriation was included in a $1,700,000,000 catch-all, supplemental appropriations bill passed Monday night by the Senate.

Cooper said that Kentucky's disaster committee reported that about $871,000 in emergency soil-conservation funds were urgently needed in 14 Western Kentucky counties affected by abnormally heavy rainfall. The committee put conservation fund needs at $691,000 in 15 Eastern Kentucky counties.

Eastern Kentucky counties listed are Bell, Bourbon, Clay, Floyd, Harlan, Johnson, Knott, Lee, Leslie, Letcher, McCreary, Magoffin, Perry, Pike and Whitley.

Any money allocated to Kentucky from the emergency appropriation would be in addition to the state's regular allocation under the soil-conservation program, is expected to be about $7,000,000 for Kentucky.

Under the Senate amendment, the emergency funds would be available at the time farmers carry out approved conservation practices instead of in the following year.

Report of Injuries Required by Law

Frankfort, Aug. 26 (Spl.) — Officials of the State Department of Industrial Relations have expressed concern because of failure by a few employers to file first reports of injury as required by Kentucky law.

A recent preliminary investigation by the department found that four female employes of one factory had recently sustained back injuries. The injuries were not reported as required by law, although the women had been off work for several weeks and had been paid compensation by the employer's insurance carrier.

Kentucky Revised Statutes places a penalty of $25 fine for each failure to report an injury to the Workmen's Compensation Board.
