Dry weather and wet remind us of one thing: We can't turn the faucet on and off at our pleasure.

DID THEY KNOW?

A report from Mexico City hints that animals have the ability to predict earthquakes.

Anyway, Mexico City veterinarians say that the day before that city's most recent earthquake they were flooded with phone calls from dog-owners whose pets were nervous, excitable and unaccountably disturbed.

Remember the stories of the howling dog presaging death? We usually put such yarns down as superstition and old wives' tales.

SPOUSE SLAIN, WIFE CLAIMS SELF-DEFENSE

Detective Says Woman Changed Suicide Story In Death of Bypro Man

A record of 22 months without a murder in Floyd county was broken Sunday when a Bypro woman shot and killed her ex-husband at her home.

Mrs. Mary Jane Little, 38, is held in the county jail here to await action of the grand jury in the slaying of Ballard Little, 33-year-old miner, at her home. She waived examining trial and a chance at liberty under bond till the grand jury investigates the case.

The last death out of which a murder charge grew took place Dec. 18, 1956 when a man was allegedly killed by a blow from his adversary's fist at a private club on Left Beaver Creek. The charge was later reduced to manslaughter and the penalty imposed on the defendant was a fine.

Slaying of Little, authorities said, followed years of marital difficulties. He and his wife were divorced after engaging in a series of legal actions.

One of two shots fired from a P-38 pistol nicked the upper part of Little's heart, and he died almost instantly. The bullet which missed him hit a porch swing near where his body sprawled on the floor.

Mrs. Little at first claimed her ex-husband had committed suicide, but after State Detective E. L. Cornett (See Story No. 7, Page 2)

HEART CLINIC HERE BIGGEST

53 from 6 Counties Is Largest Number Examined in a Day

The largest number of patients—52 children and adults—ever to attend a one-day heart clinic in Kentucky were examined at the diagnostic and consultative heart clinic held at the Floyd County Health Center here last Friday.

Plans are being made to hold another heart clinic in Prestonsburg soon, Clark said. Patients who were not examined at the clinic last week will be examined first at the next clinic, he emphasized.

Co-sponsored by the Kentucky Heart Association as a Heart Fund service, and the State and County Health Departments, the clinic was the first to be held in Prestonsburg to serve the seven-county area composed of Floyd, Pike, Johnson, Magoffin and Martin counties. MEDICAL GROUP HEARS UMWA FUND ASSAILED

The United Mine Workers' Welfare and Retirement Fund came in for criticism in reports made Monday at the opening in Louisville of the Kentucky State Medical Association convention. The UMWA Welfare Fund was rapped for what was termed "corporate" or "third-party" practise of medicine.

Under third-party or corporate practice, a patient is not allowed free choice of a doctor, while a hospital, industry, fund or association has some say about course of treatment and selection of medical personnel.

The K. S. M. A.'s committee on corporate practice, headed by Dr. George P. Archer, Prestonsburg, said that for such a group to furnish the services of a licensed doctor to any other person, for a fee, constitutes the practise of medicine without a license.

"Proper action" by the K.S.M.A. and its attorney should be brought to stop it, the committee said.

Complaints about the new UMWA Welfare and Retirement Fund hospitals in Kentucky were made by Eastern Kentucky doctors at last year's annual State Medical Association meeting.

9 Melvin Residents Get Anti-Rabies Shots; Mad Fox Reports Heard

Nine residents of Melvin are receiving anti-rabies treatment at the Floyd County Health Department after having been bitten by one dog. The rabid animal was owned by Willard Stanley, and some of those receiving treatment are members of his family.

Four mad foxes were killed on Copperas Creek a few days ago, it was reported by Charlie Sturgill, of that section bordering on Dewey Lake. It was recently said here that residents of the Pike county section a short distance above headwaters of Dewey Lake have killed 100 mad foxes this year and that they are so frightened by threat of the rabid animals that they planned escorting their children to school buses or to school.

$10,000 NEED TOLD ALUMNI

Caney Grads Discuss Dormitory Financing; Group Names Cornett

Third annual meeting of the Caney Alumni Association was held Sunday at Pippa Passes in the familiar surroundings of Cushing Hall where Caney's famed Purpose Road is explained at least 800 times a year. Business meetings of the alumni followed a picnic lunch on the floor of the uncompleted boys' dormitory, and it was this same unfinished job that was one of the main items of business.

June Buchanan Hall welcomed the alumni back to Caney. The speakers, old Caney graduates, who followed her were visibly moved as one after another told of what Caney and "the little lady behind the No. 2 Oliver typewriter" had meant to them. (The "little lady" at that very time was sitting in her room, behind the old Oliver.)

Knot County Attorney Dan Martin told the group that the "This Is Your Life" television show netted the school about $160,000—enough to operate the school a year. The amount realized has been placed on interest in a bank. He added that the show had caused many to think Caney is now rich and that this misconception has resulted in some regular donors giving less.

Discussed by alumni was a plan to contact more of the nearly 2,000 Caney graduates in order that "10 percent of the alumni may not have to raise 90 percent of the $10,000 needed" to complete the boys' dorm. About $2,500 was raised at the meeting in cash or pledges. If $10,000 can be raised, an "incentive gift" of $10,000 will be forthcoming.

And the raising of that amount will remove a fear expressed by retiring president Charles Clark, Garrett, who said the dormitory is so long a-building that he fears it may be known as "Methusalem Hall".

William Hays, dean of Caney Junior College, said the school is obliged to turn away ten times as many students as it accepts. He also urged completion of the building. "I had a Ph. D. before I ever (See Story No. 6, Page 3)

SEEK LOOTERS OF DRIVE-IN

Detective Says Break Is 'Grand Jury Case'; Trio Accused of Theft

The Chat 'n' Chew Drive-In restaurant at Lancer was looted twice on successive nights Saturday and Sunday, and from the cash register, juke box, cigarette pinball machines an estimated $175 was taken in coins.

State Police Detective E. L. Cornett, who took fingerprints inside the restaurant, said the burglary "is a grand jury case."

It was suggested that businessmen here report any suspiciously large number of nickels, dimes and quarters that may be offered in payment of merchandise.

Billy Price and Dorothy Sammons, of Prestonsburg, were jailed here Monday by Detective Cornett on warrants accusing them of the theft of a wheel and tire from the lot of the Bill Little service station, next-door neighbor of the Chat 'n' Chew. Both were named for grand larceny, as was Hansford Goble, of Prestonsburg. Price and Mrs. Sammons were released under $1,000 bond each. Goble, who was arrested by city police, also executed $1,000 bond.

The drive-in restaurant is owned by John Hardin and Arthur J. Archer, Jr. In addition to money taken, foodstuffs were stolen and some damage was caused.

Three others have been jailed within the week on grand larceny charges. One of these, Dewey O. Butler, who was returned here from Alabama by Deputy Sheriff Al Patton, said he was accused of transporting mortgaged furniture from this county to Alabama but that he had left it in the home he occupied on Left Beaver Creek. Others so accused are Edward Bolen and Hillard Messer, jailed by Deputy Sheriffs Al Patton and Andy Conley on a charge of stealing the truck of the Griffith Furniture Company.

CRASH CLAIMS 2 FLOYD MEN

Stephens, Mulkey Dead In Michigan Auto Wreck; Two Other Men Injured

Two former Floyd countians were killed and two Michigan men were injured early last Friday when the auto they occupied figured in a collision with another car and a truck in Jackson, Michigan.

The dead are John D. Stephens, 22, formerly of Martin, and Dale Mulkey, 18, formerly of Banner. Both were residents of Albion at the time of their deaths.

The two died instantly, Jackson county (Mich.) Coroner Edward Montgomery said. Both were asleep in the rear seat of a car driven by Cecil McClelland, 17, of Albion, when the smashup occurred. Police said McClelland went through a stop-sign and attempted a left turn as he suddenly saw another car coming, crossing his path. The other car struck the rear of the Clelland car, sent it spinning into a parked truck which it knocked 20 feet. Impact of the collision with the truck catapulted Stephens and a fourth man in the car into the street. Mulkey was pulled out of the rear seat which had been rammed against the front seat.

Mulkey, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mulkey, of Albion, was a telephone lineman for a contractor putting up lines for the Homer Telephone Co. He received his schooling in Floyd county and came to Albion with his parents in 1953.

He is survived by his parents; six brothers, Dores, Roscie, Homer, Ray and Dave, all of Albion, and Robert, of Concord; two sister, Mrs. James Ousley, and Miss Carrie Mae Mulkey, both of Albion, and several nieces and nephews. He was buried in Michigan.

Stephens, the son of Floyd and Virgie Jarrell Stephens, of Allen, was unemployed. In addition to his parents he is survived by seven brothers, Marshell, of Albion, Melvin, of Chelsea, Burns, Luther and Ernest, all of Allen, Harry, of Banner, and Clarence, of Allen, three sisters, Mrs. Elma Mulkey and Mrs. Ruth Mulkey, both of Albion, and Miss Hazel Stephens, of Allen, Elma and Hazel are married to brothers of Dale.

The funeral was held Monday from the home of his parents near Allen, and burial was made in the Fairchild cemetery under direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

SAYS LAKE OPERATION TO KILL SHAD NEEDED

Bernard Carter, biologist for the Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources said today (Thursday) that a spot-test by use of rotenone at one point on Dewey Lake this week proved conclusively to him that the entire impoundment should be "poisoned" again to kill off a tremendously heavy shad population.

Mr. Carter spent Thursday here and hoped to show several local fishermen the results of Wednesday's tests and to explain to them what he is trying to do.

He said the smaller shad in the lake will by next year be too large for forage for bass and any other game fish in the lake. Most of those killed already are too large, ranging between 6 and 12 inches.

"We want to establish a balance at Dewey and give bass, both black and white, and crappie and bluegill a chance," he said. "I am convinced that what we did last year helped and that a repeat job will help still further."

"This job I propose isn't any fun for me. I'd much rather be home, but it's my job to try my best to improve fishing conditions here at Dewey as well as elsewhere in the state," Carter added.

Picked up, counted and buried Wednesday afternoon by Carter and his assistants were these fish killed in Clark Branch, about two miles up the lake from the boat docks:

Twenty-five largemouth and Kentucky bass weighing 5-plus pounds, 2,004 shad weighing 181.8 pounds, 269 crappie (both black and white) weighing 15.39 pounds, 17 carp weighing 35.63 pounds, 466 bluegill weighing 11.37 pounds, four white bass weighing 2 pound, three redborse weighing 5.38 pounds.

The Clark Branch inlet yielded even more shad Thursday morning than were cleared off the water Wednesday afternoon. Only two or three bass were on the surface Thursday morning.

No walleye or shellcrackers, species which were introduced to the lake last year and this, were found, Carter said he had not expected to find these in Clark Branch where the water is shallow. He also said the small number of bass poisoned in the inlet could be ascribed to the shallow water which is still warm.

The biologist said that any bass that poisoning operations may kill will not be missed and that plenty other bass will remain, as was evidenced early this spring by good catches, particular by jig fishermen.

Herrington Lake will be poisoned throughout this fall, Carter said. It also has serious problems but the shad there do not grow so rapidly as they do at Dewey, he commented.

The Floyd fiscal court last Thursday unanimously approved a resolution calling for a vote at the November election on the question of establishing a Floyd county health taxing district.

The district, planned for the support of the Floyd County Health Department, would have the authority to levy a tax of not more than 9 cents per $100 property valuation per year for the maintenance and operation of the health department.

At present the health department's local support comes from direct appropriations made from tax revenues by the fiscal court and the county board of education.

Passage of the resolution came after only brief discussion after members of the court and citizens agreed that the Floyd County Health Department has done one of the outstanding public health jobs in Eastern Kentucky and that it deserves the financial support necessary to maintain and improve its services.

The tax for the first year would in all probability be 7c per $100 valuation, or 70 cents per $1,000, it was said.

Pike county voted a health tax last fall, Perry county voted the tax two years ago, and the question is being submitted this fall to the voters of Breathitt and Martin counties.

LANDOWNERS, CITY PARLEY

Council Seeking Land Easements for Project To Bar Future Floods

Following adoption of resolutions necessary to clear the way for flood protection work here, the City Council met Tuesday night with property-owners from whom easements must be procured before a flood-gate and pumps can be installed.

Two of the three property-owners involved attended, but no definite agreement was reached between them and the city.

A Corps of Engineers spokesman said recently that every effort will be made to award contracts and begin work by Jan. 1 if no delay is caused locally.

Resolutions adopted, and published in The Times this week officially accepted the plan for flood control and gave the United States and its agents the right to enter upon all lands acquired in connection with the project and also to the use of city streets.

Miss Banks Succumbs At Home Of Brother After Long Illness

Miss Gracie Banks, 69 years old, died Monday at the home on Bull Creek of her brother, Alex Banks, after years of invalidism.

She was a daughter of Jim and Lizzie Scutchfield Banks and was a member of a well-known Floyd county family. Surviving are her two brothers, Alex and Ed Banks, both of Bull Creek, and one sister, Mrs. Mint Laven, of Allen.

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday afternoon from the home of Alex Banks, the Revs. Jack Derossett and Wallace Calhoun officiating. Burial was made in the Banks cemetery under direction of the Moore Funeral Home.

MUD Cr. MAN JAILED, FINED

Salisbury Is Convicted In Death of Child As He, Hamilton in Fist Fight

Herbert Salisbury, of Mud Creek, was convicted of manslaughter by a circuit court jury here Friday and given a 12-month jail term and was fined $500 as the result of the death of a child who was a bystander in a fist fight in this county a few months ago.

It was contended that Salisbury knocked his adversary, Kelly Hamilton, against the child and that the child's jugular vein was cut by a broken glass jar or some other sharp object onto which it fell.

Salisbury maintained he had no intent to harm the child. Trial of Hamilton was continued and may be held at the November term.

Except for this trial, little of a positive nature was done before court recessed Saturday to remain idle through this week. The session will resume work, Monday, and the grand jury will return September 25 for its last three days of a nine-day term.

COUNCIL GIRL SCOUTS START $10,000 DRIVE

"You Can Count on Her—Can She Count on You?" is the question-mark theme adopted by the Sandy Valley Girl Scout Council as it launched Monday morning its fund drive to raise $10,000 badly needed dollars.

The Eastern Kentucky Regional Planning Commission would use the money to pay expenses, salaries of technicians and other personnel, and to buy equipment.

The big question to be decided by the nine-man commission is: Where will the money come from? Four revenue sources have been recommended: taxing districts in the General Assembly and governor; federal government; and private individuals and groups.

It was learned that the state is prepared to put up as much as $10,000 for commission needs until the Legislature meets in January. At that time, Governor Chandler (See Story No. 3, Page 7)

FAIR EXHIBITS MAY BEAT '56 SHOWING HERE

Fair Week To Start With Show, Sept. 30; Early Plans Are Told

Scheduled for distribution next week is the catalogue listing the varied exhibits and prizes which will be features of the 1957 Floyd county fair.

This year's fair is expected to draw as many or more exhibits from Floyd county's farms and businesses as were shown last year, and the educational and 4-H Club displays are expected to be even heavier than in 1956.

Although the fair itself will not get under way till Thursday, October 3, Fair Week will really start on the preceding Monday when the Gooding Amusement Company will move onto the fairgrounds its variety of rides and other entertainment.

Saturday, October 5, has been designated as Children's Day when every child will be given a ticket and two bicycles will be given away to lucky youngsters.

The Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club will also sponsor Aunt Jemina Community Panekake Day on Saturday, last day of the fair, it was announced this week. Meals will be served at the grade school cafeteria, just off the fairgrounds for a 15-hour period during which door prizes and gifts will be given away by the Kiwanians. Funds raised by the Kiwanians will go to the Kiwanis Club's underprivileged children's fund and for other club purposes.

Late evening square dancing on Court street will be another entertainment feature during the fair.

Firms desiring space for commercial or industrial exhibits should contact Burl Spurlock, chairman of the industrial exhibits committee, Jesse Elliott, general fair chairman, said.

We Stand on Common But Shaky Ground

We join Senator Morton in a venture into frustration.

Speaking a few days ago at the State Fair, the Louisville Republican "deplored" the fact that so many Kentuckians are leaving the state for the greener pastures to be found in other states.

He did not know it, perhaps, but he merely echoed the laments published in this and other newspapers of Kentucky, particularly in those of this section of Kentucky.

But what is the answer, Senator? Anything new? Anything that hasn't already been proposed? And what can we do to put into effect those things that have already been suggested as a means of keeping Kentuckians at home?

Jobs — good, well-paying jobs, work as lucrative as the employment offered in those "greener pastures"—is the simple answer. And the only answer. But how to provide those jobs?—there is the unanswered question.

Until that question is answered and until jobs are made available, we deplore and lament in vain. People must live, and if they can't live in Kentucky where they belong they must live elsewhere.

And don't mention, please, "Operation Bootstrap". In the matter of economic strength and position to help ourselves in the establishing of new businesses such as factories, we are without boots, not to mention bootstraps.

We have some of the raw materials needed. We have a rich supply of fuel, and we have the workers. But transportation we do not have, and if we produced things to sell in great volume we would be much like the oil-gusher far removed from either pipeline or highway. Until the Big Sandy and the Kentucky and other streams are made arteries of transportation, thus reducing the cost of getting products to market, we are a marked section—marked for depression and unemployment and desertion by those young enough and ambitious enough to want to get ahead in life.

Let the federal government invest in our greatest natural resource, human beings, let it dam the headwaters of our rivers and then canalize these streams, and we shall be in position to halt the outward flow of Kentuckians.

Until that is done, Senator Morton, The Floyd County Times and all sundry may point and point to what should not be, to what is wrong and so on, and yet we shall be merely setting out into other ventures in futility and frustration.

The bullet which killed Little emerged from his back after falling downward.

Mrs. Little told officers her ex-husband treated her and her children cruelly and that he attempted to rape her 13-year-old daughter. She did not, however, detail the incidents which directly led to the shooting, recounting mostly those turbulent events of weeks or months earlier. She was brought to jail by Detective Cornett, State Police Sgt. Chester D. Potter and Deputy Sheriff Frank Blackburn.

The victim was a son of the late Albert Little. He is survived by two sons and two daughters, Shirley Mae, Joan, Larry and Gary. Funeral rites were conducted Tuesday morning and burial was made in the Sonny Hall cemetery at Tompkins, the Call Brothers Funeral Home, Wheelwright, directing.

By Way of Introduction

I am JOYCE SHORT ALLEN of Prestonsburg, Ky., Republican nominee for County Court Clerk. I was born on Right Beaver Creek at Langley on November 6, 1930.

My mother is Theckley Osborne Short, daughter of Mary Ratliff Osborne or "Aunt Mary-Milt," as she is known to many friends and relatives throughout the county and the late J. M. "Milt" Osborne, of Eastern, Ky.

My father was the late Kenneth Short, who came to Floyd county in 1927-28 on construction of the compression stations at Wareo and Boldman and was widely known in this county, especially among the gas company personnel and their families.

You, the voters, have been asking about the "Short" of my name and as stated above it was my maiden name which I retained as part of my name after my marriage to JAMES P. ALLEN, of Harold, Ky., son of James "Jim" Allen and Lillie Sturgill Allen, also of Harold, Ky. After my marriage, I became aware of at least two other Joyce Allens in Floyd county and therefore decided to write my name JOYCE SHORT ALLEN as a matter of record.

I sincerely hope I will have the opportunity to personally meet and talk with you but if I cannot, I wish you would inquire among your relatives and friends as to my qualifications for clerk.

Sincerely yours,
JOYCE SHORT ALLEN

FARM NOTES

COVER CROP

Due to the drought throughout the late summer there will be a shortage of hay this winter, because lespedeza fields have not made much growth. In the adjoining states, the same situation exists which probably will increase the cost of hay. Of course, it is too late to produce more hay for winter this year, but a good cover crop will answer the same purpose. A good seeding of small grains will supply many days of pasture this fall, winter and spring. Not only is it valuable as a pasture but it will provide a cover that protects your soil, and supplies organic matter to your soil when it is turned under. Seed on a good seed bed and fertilize with a complete fertilizer, such as 4-12-8, 5-10-10 or 6-12-12. This fertilizer will increase the growth of the small grain and will also be available for next year's crop.

Major Leake Studies At Reserve School
 Fort George G. Meade, Md., Army Reserve Maj. John Leake, Jr., a graduate of Prestonsburg high school and the nephew of Mrs. Catherine Leake Stephens, completed a two-week course August 18 in civil affairs and military government conducted by the Reserve School at Fort George G. Meade, Md.
 Major Leake is a member of the 2079th Area Service Reserve Unit at Richmond. He and his wife, Martha, live in Richmond where he is employed as a supervising appraiser by the Prudential Life Insurance Company of America. His father lives in Paintsville.

TEACHERS LIST HELPS NEEDED FOR SCHOOLS

Returns from a questionnaire, "What Do You Think?" were tabulated this week by the attendance department of the Floyd county school system. The teachers, who were quizzed on — among other things — their preferences in the kind of supervisory assistance they needed this year, indicated in their answers that they chiefly wanted aid in materials selection with guidance of pupils running a close second.
 To the question, "What Do You Think the Attendance Department and Social Worker Can Do to Help Improve Attendance?" the answers returned fell mostly in four categories of suggested courses the attendance department should pursue. These were suggestions to visit troublesome families immediately after the opening of schools, reward schools for good attendance, aid families that are in need of clothing and food, and visit schools regularly and discuss the problems with teachers and pupils.
 Asked what help the teachers expected from their supervisors this year, the teachers indicated they want regular visits from the supervisors with closer supervision aid on the slow learners and the furnishing of instructional aids or materials.
 Teachers indicated help is also wanted in the following fields and in this order: Advice on testing, grouping of children, provision for busy work, scheduling of classes, building readiness, and help with readiness tests. A number also asked for assistance in record keeping.
 The questionnaire, aimed primarily at finding out the supervision needs of the teachers, did, as intended, indicate answers to problems in attendance. It was pointed out by the attendance department that keeping the average daily attendance high in the school system would insure more funds from the state under the Minimum Foundation Law. Non-attendance or irregular attendance costs Floyd county schools approximately 80 cents each day a child is absent, it was noted at the county superintendent's office.
 Leading in attendance the first month of the rural schools, according to reports in the superintendent's office, is Virginia Johnson of Riley's Branch school near Bevinville, who had 100 percent attendance. Second place went to Betty Stephens of the Conley school with 99.72 percent; Imogene Caldwell, of the Cow Creek school, took third place with 99.68 percent; and fourth place was tied with 99.08 percent between Pet Salisbury, of the Sizemore school and Phillip Dingus, of Allen. Other teachers with an attendance percentage over 98 were Anna Shepherd, Curtis Jervis, Clell Hall, Delphia Hicks, Paul Luxmore, Ann Gibson, Hillard Newman, Sally Bush, Sylvania Newman, Virgil Triplett, James Bates, June Stephens and Anne Dickerson. Forty-five teachers had an attendance of 95 percent or over the first month of school.

Inland Foreman's Club Opens Fall Program; Dr. Bailey Is Honored

The Inland Foreman's Club opened its fall program with an outdoor meeting at the Wheelwright Golf Club, September 14. Members and their wives played golf during the afternoon and at 6:30 p.m. enjoyed a steak fry. A good attendance was recorded despite showers and cloudy skies.
 Dr. J. W. Bailey, a charter member of the club, was given a $100 bond by the club on his retirement from medical practice on October 1. Dr. Bailey has served Wheelwright and vicinity for over 37 years and his retirement will be a sad occasion for his many friends.
 The Inland Foreman's Club is chartered by the National Management Association, with headquarters in Dayton, Ohio. The NMA is an educational association dedicated to improving the caliber of management personnel and the management profession. It has over 76,000 members from some 1695 industries in the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico. Its members start with the first line supervisor, the foreman and includes all other management to top level personnel.
 Local clubs are The Inland Foreman's Club, Pecco Foreman's Club, of David and the Kentucky West Virginia aGs Company Club, Prestonsburg.

Coal Association Reports 12% Rise In Power Coal Use

Washington, Sept. 12 — The National Coal Assn. today reported a 12 per cent increase in the use of coal last year by electric utility plants.
 Last year's consumption reached a new high of 153,500,000 tons, the association said, compared with 136,600,000 tons in 1955.
 The association said its study was based on data filed with the Federal Power Commission by 764 plants which account for 97 per cent of total U. S. electric steam plant coal consumption.
 "While coal sharply expanded its 1956 contribution to the production of the nation's electricity," the association statement said, "the use of oil by electric utilities declined 1.2 per cent and the use of natural gas had a gain of only 5.8 per cent."
Fire losses Still Rising
 New York — Since 1952, fire losses in the United States have been climbing. In 1956 they totaled $989,300,000, or about six times the 1905 figure. So far in 1957 they are 13 per cent ahead of last year.

700 Million In Dairy Business

CARS OUTSTRIP ROADS

New York—During the 10 years after World War II, 50,000 miles of new roads were constructed. But during that same time enough new automobiles were manufactured so that, if parked bumper to bumper, they'd stretch 200,000 miles.
 Lake Cumberland was impounded by Wolf Creek Dam, built by the U. S. Corps of Engineers across the Cumberland River. Average water depth runs some 90 feet with a shoreline of 1,255 miles.

Social Security Hits New High in Promoting Security for Families

With the payment of monthly benefits for the first time early in August to more than 100,000 disabled people between the ages of 50 and 65, the Federal social security program reached a new and important landmark in its mission to promote the financial security of the American family, according to a statement made today by Thomas B. Thompson, district manager of the Pikeville, Kentucky office of the Social Security Administration.
 "The Social Security Disability Program has three major features," Thompson added. "It 'freezes' or protects a worker's social security earnings record, when he is unable to work because of a severe and long-lasting disability. It makes payments to the disabled worker at age 50 or over and it makes payments to the disabled sons and daughters of retired workers and insured workers who have died."
 By recent Congressional action, the long-disabled worker now has almost another year until June 30, 1958, to file an application and still have his social security earnings record protected as of the date he actually became disabled.
 However, if the disabled worker is over 50 now, it is important that he file his application as soon as possible, and before January 1, 1958, so that he will not lose any monthly benefit payments. When an application is filed before January 1, 1958, payments can begin with the month of July, 1957. Disabled workers who apply in January, 1958, or later, will not be paid benefits for months before the date of their applications.
 For further and complete information concerning this or other benefits, contact your local social security representative or call or write to Social Security Administration, District Office, Pikeville, Kentucky.

Victims Going to Have Liquor in that Dry Territory, Law or No Law, they should be permitted to buy all the legal liquor they want?

Dr. Frank Dickey, president of the University of Kentucky, told freshmen there, the other day, that the University is not a factory where scientists and engineers are turned out, assembly-line style, but that it is a place where the proper atmosphere for learning is created and that the job is the individual's.
 That is about all any college could shoot at. After all, the individual student will largely determine what college will mean to him or her.
 Dad's check-book, Mom's home-baked cakes and solicitude will not give any youngster a college education. The fact is, as we see it, too many parents and their sons and daughters are leaning too heavily on the resources of home. You don't buy an education — you earn it through work, better known as study. You don't meet and conquer the little problems of life away from home by yanking at Mom's apronstrings every time you need sympathy or encouragement. You become aware, if you are ever to become a man, of the fact that love and concern for your welfare are at home but that you are the only person who can face up to your own problems.
 And, try as your college will to create the proper atmosphere for learning, it will never succeed in your own personal case unless you can help by adopting that intangible spirit of quiet purposefulness for yourself.
 I feel greatly encouraged this week. I am not the world's worst fisherman, and I have the proof somewhere — if I could find that newspaper clipping. It tells about the New Englander who hooked a giant trout, fought the fish four or five hours, grew tired, tied him up for the night, and wound up next morning by having to gig the monster.
 I am totally unlike that poor boob: (1) I do not hook any monster fish; (2) If I did, meals would be sent to me or I would be fed intractably till something gave — the fish or the line.

To The Citizens Of Floyd County

I, Harold Conn, a Democrat, of Tram, have had the distinct privilege of having been closely associated the past few years with DICK SPURLOCK, your candidate for Circuit Court Clerk, and it is my firm belief that Mr. Spurlock is without question one of the finest, most admirable Americans I have ever been associated with. Truly it is an honor to me to have such a great person as my friend. Citizens, today I thank God that I am an American and a Kentuckian with the privilege of voting for such a good, honest citizen as DICK SPURLOCK.

To The Voters Of The 29th Senatorial District Composed Of Floyd, Knott and Martin Counties

Following the loss of my friend and neighbor of many years, the late Senator Doug Hays, I was chosen by the Senatorial District Committee to be the Democratic nominee for State Senator to fill the unexpired term.
 I never requested the nomination, because I had no desire to be a candidate for any office. Convinced, however, by my friends and party leaders that because of my past experience and my relationship with the present State Administration I could be of service to the people of Eastern Kentucky, I agreed to accept the nomination.
 My name will, therefore, appear on the November ballot as the Democratic nominee. I humbly ask your support.

Heart Association Presents Program At Nurses' Meet

A program describing present methods of prevention and treatment of rheumatic fever—including a film on mitral commissurotomy, a type of surgery used directly on the valves of the heart—was presented to more than 40 registered nurses from Floyd, Pike, Martin, Johnson, Breathitt, Magoffin and Letcher counties at the Paintsville Country Club last Thursday evening.

The Kentucky State Heart Association, Inc., represented by Finley Booth, State Field Representative and Dr. Joseph A. Little, associate professor of pediatrics of the Louisville Medical School, presented the informative program.

The regular business meeting of District Eleven, Kentucky State Association of Registered Nurses—a branch of the American Nurses Association—followed the program.

I have a small business at the mouth of Cow Creek, and I believe that you will find that I'm a fair, just and HONEST man to deal with. When I'm your MAGISTRATE I'll put our entire DISTRICT on an EQUAL BASIS and I'll personally guarantee that our road equipment will be used to build and maintain our much-neglected roads of our District and County for 12 months each year and not just at election time, as has been a common practice in the past. My office will be conducted with respect at all times whether it be at the courthouse or in my home.

For fairness and equality for all, BIG or SMALL support and elect me in November.

To the People
Of Prestonsburg

After several weeks of talking with many of the good citizens of the town, and after weighing the matter carefully even prayerfully, I have decided to make the race for Mayor of Prestonsburg at the coming November election.

I propose to make this race not out of any particular personal ambition of mine but out of a desire to help our community become a better place to live in and a more decent, law-respecting and law-abiding city.

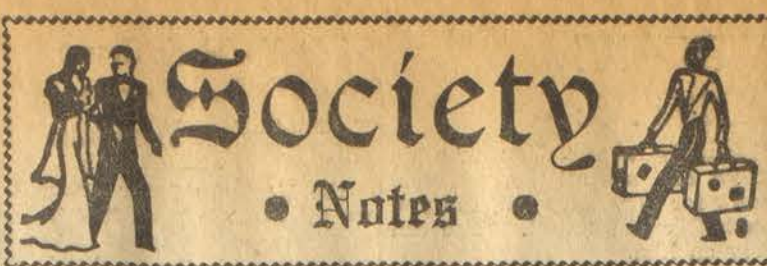

From time to time in coming weeks I will frankly state my position on the several matters that should be of interest to us all.

I will be on the ballot as a candidate who will fight and fight hard to win but who will oppose others in a spirit of goodwill, with my main purpose to be of service to the place I live in and to the people among whom I live and work and make a living.

Your support and the influence you can use in my behalf will be deeply appreciated.

TO THE GOOD CITIZENS OF MAGISTERIAL DIST. 2:

There is a lot of talk going about among the people that if Zeb Ousley is elected Magistrate that I will be his clerk or boss. Now I want you all to know that every word of that is false. Zeb is able to conduct his own business. I know, and the good Lord knows, there has never been any such promise made. I have a job, am working for myself, and I want the people to know that there is not a nicer man anywhere than Zeb Ousley. He worked for me three years and I found him to be honest, sober and absolutely reliable. I don't think the people of District No. 2 could elect a better man. I am 74 years old. I can't afford to lie. Zeb is no relation to me, except by my first marriage. As to being his clerk or boss, that is absolutely wrong. You who do know Zeb, ask all the men who work for him—they will tell you he is fair and honest. You can rely on him. I hope you all will help Zeb. Let's give him a good majority at our November election. I want you who read this article to know this is from the depths of my heart. And, good neighbors, remember we have to give an account for our behavior here. So I pray you will all believe what I have written and go out and support Zeb Ousley, and the good Lord will bless you for supporting such men. May the good Lord bless each of you. I remain, as ever, Your friend, M. C. WRIGHT (Pol. Adv.)

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D.
Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

"NAILS AND HAIR"

A whole book, a very interesting one, could be written about such odd subjects as finger nails and hair. Even superstitions about these necessary appendages would run to many pages. If all the stuff that has been written about falling hair were brought together, it would be a good thing, provided a can of gasoline and a lighted match were ready for the fun.

Finger nails are queer things, anyway. It is very bad luck to cut a baby's nails until it is so old: that age varies in various parts of the world; hence I am unable to give a specific pronouncement. Be sure to burn or bury nail cuttings; if an enemy could get hold of them, he would have you in his power, by making a conjure bag and putting these or cast-off combings inside. Biting finger nails proves just about everything from some high-sounding psychological something to plain cussedness. And sucking one's finger portends most of the ills that can happen to humanity. And the day on which you cut nails will determine your luck, good or bad, from now on. You had better wait until the signs are right before you undertake such a dangerous thing. And toes and fingers are unlike in this matter: the month of March is unlucky, and poor old Friday, the "most unluckiest" day of them all, should be avoided for nearly everything.

Don't wash your hair on certain days, also unlucky for just about all your activities. Don't sit in a draft after washing your hair, even in hot weather; pneumonia and all its friends will camp on your doorstep if you violate such simple rules. And look out for shaving hair on the neck; that will make the hair coarse and very plentiful, too. Just how the hairs know a razor from a pair of shears is more than the superstitious ones have told me. And, unless you want to dare the fates don't burn hair-combings; that will make your hair brittle. And start right now to attack your falling hair; you will probably still be attacking the remnants when you are old enough to retire. Patent medicine will relieve the swelling of the pocket-book, but I am afraid that it will seldom relieve falling hair. Buy two bottles of stuff and try an experiment: let one be a loudly-advertised hair restorer and the other one plain, undiluted branch water. Rub the patent stuff on one side of your head according to directions; ditto, the branch water. After a six-weeks treatment, please advise me of the results. I think that would add a great deal of knowledge to the world, whether any extra hairs sprouted on your balding noggin. If all the bottled stuff had done good, why do we have bald and balding barbers? Some one has suggested that they practiced on themselves so much that the worst happened. I suspect that they chose the wrong parents to begin with, with tendencies to falling hair.

But it would be hard on hopeful people who have started to grow bald to prevent them from this perennial effort to thwart nature. Not to have gray hair or baldness would brand us as perennially young. The rubbing of some vile smelling stuff may help inflate your ego and prevent you from imagining that age is creeping up behind you. You get a kick from rubbing branch water on your scalp, go ahead; you could do much worse. To make things even up, please add a little soap, at least you will have a clean scalp (pronounced skelp) to show for the bottles of the wonderful restorer you have bought. And, incidentally, you might not look too old, even if you lost most of your locks. There are worse things than baldness, even though many a balding young man might not think so.

Right To Work Group Files To Incorporate; Ex-Unionists Members

The Kentucky Labor Committee for the Right to Work filed its formal incorporation papers in Frankfort this week. To be eligible for membership in this group it is necessary that its members be currently union members or former union members or non-union employees below the rank of foreman.

The incorporation papers state that the purpose of the committee is to obtain legislation to prevent union membership being made a basic condition of employment in Kentucky. The group hopes to provide Kentuckians with the freedom of choice to be able to join or refuse to join any labor organization and also provide relief of being able to withdraw from a gangster, racketeer or communist bossed organization without fear of losing one's job.

The original incorporators are: E. P. (Pete) Blankenbaker, former member of the Railway Clerks Union, 2303 Manchester Road, Louisville; Ed. N. Schuhmann, former member Local 10, International Typographical Unions, 4825 S. 3rd Street, Louisville, and W. Rolla Keys, former member International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, 904 Evelyn Avenue, Louisville.

Mr. Schuhmann said he has long fought compulsion in any form as being evil and un-American and he believes that working men themselves must throw off the shackles which now bind them and future generations unless something immediately is done about it. He also said, "the recent McClellan hearings in Washington of corruption, goon violence, communist infiltration and despotic grab for power makes it necessary for rank and file members to again gain control of its own leadership. Right to work forces the union boss to sell rather than compel a person to join."

HOW DO YOU LIKE THE MACHINE?

The Republican voters at the Primary Election voted for and nominated GORDON COLLINS for County Judge.

But look who's running—GORMON COLLINS.

Was the rank and file of Republican voters consulted? Or did the Machine go to work after the Sheriff had managed to stay on the County Election Commission through the Primary, and then hand-pick himself for the final election instead of his brother?

Sheriff Collins speaks of me taking the Fifth Amendment. Is he taking the Fifth Amendment and refusing to answer my question in the Floyd County Times of September 5, which read:

"To what court has all this whiskey, gin and beer that you have confiscated been taken? The law provides that such illegal liquors shall be turned over to a court of law."

The people have a right to an answer. Why is it not given?

The people themselves would do well to make some honest, searching questions in these and other matters of this sort.

Cadillac

To the Man Postponing a Dream!

The man you see above—watching a beautiful new 1957 Cadillac as it takes the sweep of the boulevard—is representative of a goodly number of American motorists.

He is a gentleman who would like ever so much to own a Cadillac car—but who feels the time is not quite propitious for him to do so.

Well, we have some sound advice for this gentleman, and for those like him, and it is this: Come in, sir, and see for yourself!

First of all, you will find that today's Cadillac car is exceptionally practical to own and to enjoy.

In fact, its relatively modest cost, its wonderful efficiency of operation, its great dependability and its marvelous resale value mark it unmistakably as one of motordom's soundest investments.

And then you will discover that your dealer is currently prepared to give you a most generous allowance on your present car. In fact, the transition to Cadillac is easier today than it has been in many, many years.

And, as if this were not sufficiently gratifying in itself, your dealer can assure you of prompt delivery on your favorite model.

In short, if you are the man postponing his dream of a Cadillac, then the odds are that the "golden moment" has arrived!

You should visit your dealer today—take the wheel for yourself—experience the marvels of Fleetwood luxury—and listen to the revealing facts about Cadillac practicality.

He'll be waiting to welcome you—soon!

MARTIN YOUTH STILL MISSING

Search on for Hicks, 19,
Who Disappeared Monday
En Route to Mayo School

Foul play is feared in the disappearance Monday of Bobby Ray
Hicks, 19-year-old Martin youth.
State police and county and city officers over a wide section have been alerted. No trace of him had been found as of noon today (Thursday).

The youth, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hicks, of Martin, was graduated last year from Martin high school and he left home at 8 a.m. Monday to hitch-hike to classes at the Mayo State
Vocational School at Paintsville.
When he failed to return home Monday night his parents became alarmed and instituted a search.

Young Hicks did not reach the Paintsville school, his parents were told. A check with armed forces recruiters disclosed that he had not joined any branch of the service, and his whereabouts remain a complete mystery.

Young Hicks was described as 5 feet, 9 inches tall, weighing 180 pounds, having black, curly hair and brown eyes. He wore a gray nylon jacket with red lining, red-checked shirt, tan pants and black shoes.

has promised he will back feasible requests for appropriations.

The two-pronged study, as recommended by Blair Associates, planning consultant and development advisor, would include:

1. Flood-plain zoning. This would offer a guide to development of land in the flood plain, thereby lessening danger from high waters and reducing their severity.

The zoning would also encourage Eastern Kentuckians not to build homes in flood areas and would reduce the possibility of blocking floodways with low-lying bridges and buildings.

2. Urban renewal and industrial site development. This would clear blighted urban areas and replace them for more desirable uses. Since industrial sites are a paramount problem, those areas potentially reusable for industry would be given particular attention.

Before urban renewal can be accomplished, a city must have zoning ordinances, a major street plan, according to Walter Shouse, director of planning and zoning, Department of Economic Development.

Each of the studies could be completed within a year or two and could "lead to significant progress for the entire region," the Blair report said.

Breaking down the proposed regional-planning budget, Blair Associates listed expenses this way:

First year: commission expenses,
$1,000; salaries for a director, two technicians, draftsman, secretary, part-time bookkeeper and administrator, $25,040; expenses for rent, phone, travel, publication, supplies, and consultants, $18,500, and equipment, $4,000; total $49,540.

Second year: commission expenses, $1,000; staff salaries, including four technicians, $38,560, and rent and other expenses, $22,350; total, $60,910.

After completion of key studies on flood-plain zoning and urban renewal, the Blair report said priority should be given:

1. Further elements of a comprehensive community plan under the local planning-assistance program.

2. Regional studies of the economy, industrial development, population trends, land use, and transportation and community problems.

ARREST OF MAN NAMED IN THEFT OF TV, PAINTING OF CHRIST MAY UNCOVER MORE SKULDUGGERY

Harold Thompson, who was indicted last week by the Floyd circuit court grand jury in the theft of a television set from Raymond Joseph, was arrested here Wednesday by Chief of Police Epp Laferty, and at the same time another theft may have been uncovered.

Laferty found in the car which Thompson, Ed Hensley and Patsy Montgomery had driven in from Paintsville to Prestonsburg two electric coal drills. These later were traced to Johnson county ownership, the chief of police said.

Hensley and the woman were returned to Paintsville by Johnson county officers. Thompson is in jail here facing trial on the Floyd theft charge.

A painting of Christ allegedly taken from the Joseph home led to his identification as the person who had stolen the family television set. The owners were visiting at the home near here of German Salisbury when Thompson arrived there later and offered to sell the television set, not knowing that its owners were on the premises. When Mrs. Joseph caught sight of the painting she accused Thompson as the thief. He knocked her down and fled.

Civil Defense Week Observed

Frankfort, Sept. 16 (Spl.) — Gov. A. B. Chandler has proclaimed this week, Sept. 15-21, "civil defense week" in Kentucky and urged all citizens to participate.

The governor's proclamation said that "a strong and efficient civil defense is recognized as a means of attaining peace or personal and national survival in the event of enemy attack."

The strength of the nation's civil defense "depends upon the state of individual and community disaster preparedness throughout the nation," the Governor said.

Chandler Calls Education Meet

Frankfort, Sept. 16 (Spl.) — Gov. A. B. Chandler has called the second Governor's Annual Conference on Education to meet at Louisville, Sept. 25-26.

Chandler said the approximately 300 persons to attend will represent business, labor, agriculture, public service and the professions.

Theme of the conference this year will be "education beyond the high school."

This theme was adopted, Chandler said, "because we are faced in our State with critical problems involving the state colleges, the University of Kentucky, and the state program of vocational education beyond the high school level."

Chandler added "the university and the colleges have the greatest enrollments in their histories. Buildings and staffs are inadequate to meet even present day needs, much less the tremendous additional burden that must be borne in the future."

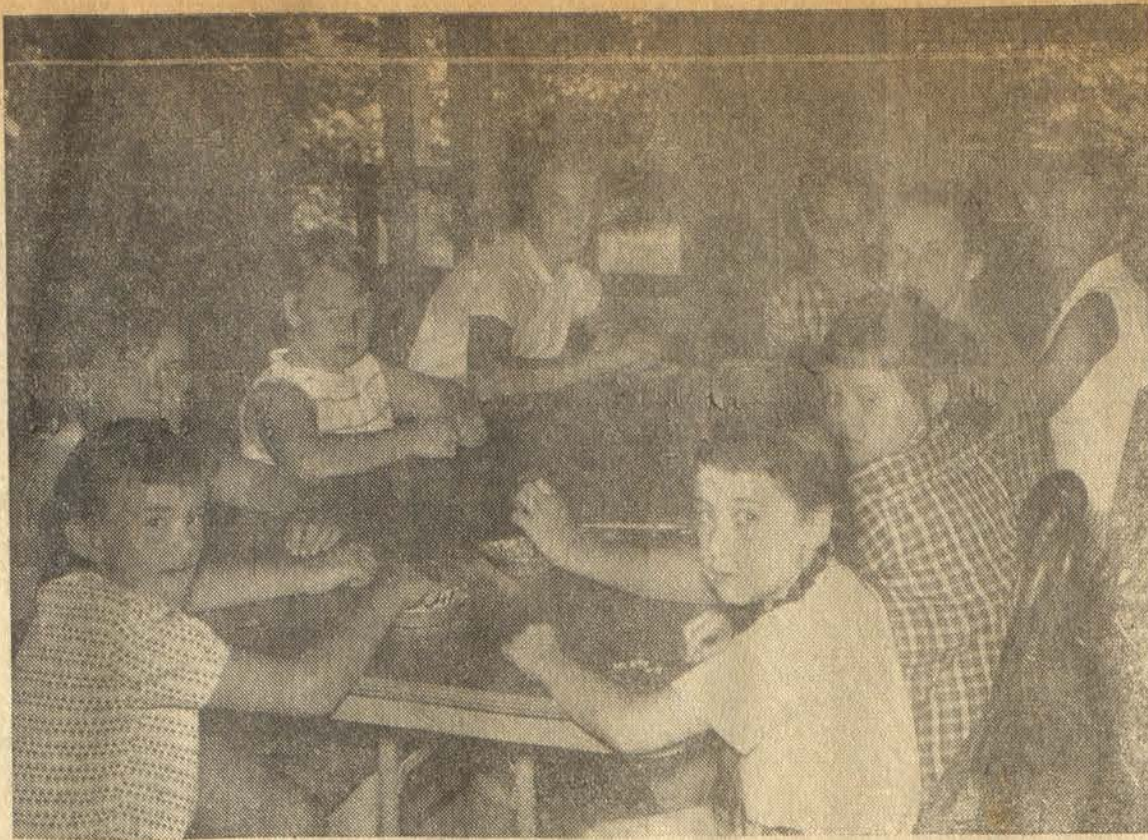

The governor declared "as our state continues to become industrialized, we will have an ever greater need for trained labor, and our program of trade and industrial training must be expanded to meet these needs."

Arts and crafts, swimming and getting together in special units formed the center of the Prestonsburg, David and Paintsville day camp program held the last of July and first of August at Sandy Valley Council's Girl Scout Camp Chatterawha located on Dewey Lake.

The six-day program was under the direction of Mrs. Robert Hughes, of Prestonsburg who was assisted by Mrs. Russell Preston, of Paintsville. Approximately 75 girls of the Brownie Scout and Intermediate Scout levels got together for camping after the regular overnight camping program was finished at camp. Senior Scouts from the various communities helped the volunteer mothers. Three units were formed of the different age groups. The Lower Brownies organized Sweet Bee Hill, the Upper Brownies gathered together at Lakeview and the Intermediate Scouts formed another. The latter group ended their program with an overnight camping and cookout program the last day. The camp was in session Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of two consecutive weeks.

It was the first time that the local day camp programs have been combined among neighboring communities near the camp and held at camp. Last year each group had its own day camp program held in each community park or recreation area.

Among the craft projects featured were shell earrings and pins, felt purses, and bookmarks, etched aluminum bracelets, and Friendship or Camp autograph books. Swimming lessons were available and talent programs were given by the various units. Day camp at Camp Chatterawha gave the Brownies age Scouts a better introduction to camping, since they cannot attend Camp Chatterawha's regular sessions until they are Intermediates.

Society Displays One of Earliest Multi-Fire Guns

By Charles F. Hinds Secretary-Treasurer, Kentucky Historical Society

Frankfort, Sept. 16 (Spl.) — The Kentucky Historical Society has on display in the Old State Capitol one of the few Regua guns in existence. The Regua was one of the first multi-fire weapons developed in the United States, offered by inventors during the Civil War.

The Society's Regua is minus one of its barrels, which was used as a substitute for a poker in the adjutant-general's office for more than a century. According to tradition, the gun was manned by Frankfort Home Guards in defense of the St. Clair Bridge in Frankfort against John Hunt Morgan's raiders.

Almost from the first introduction of gunpowder into Europe for military purposes, efforts were made to produce "volley-fire" weapons which send the maximum number of rounds toward the enemy with the least possible number of guns.

Probably the first such weapon ("ribauld" or "ribauidequin") was employed in a fourteenth-century battle by the English against a solid rank of armored French pikemen. Almost all of the rapid-fire guns until recent times were modeled after this multiple-barrel and volley-type weapon.

When the Civil War broke out in 1861, inventors on both sides rushed to develop an efficient, multi-fire gun. One of the first to be offered either side, the Regua Battery, looks suspiciously like the fan-shaped, volley-firing machine gun drawings of Leonardo da Vinci, sketched 350 years before.

The Regua was built in 1861 by the Billingshurst Co., of Rochester, N. Y., for the Union Army. The tests were successful, and it was used by both the North and South.

It was variously known among the soldiers as the Billingshurst, "covered bridge" gun, or "street-sweeper." Covered bridges were in abundance during the Civil War. With the rate of fire of 175 rounds a minute from its 25 barrels, the Regua came to be a popular bridge gun. It literally cleaned the bridge of enemy cavalrymen. Several of these defensive weapons were delivered to Kentucky, presumably as added deterrent to cavalry raids from the South.

After the Civil War the machine gun developed into an automatic, rapid-fire, rotating or single barrel, basic weapon. In 1876, General Custer left his four Gatling machine guns behind when he and his men rode to their death. In the Spanish-American War, the offensive potentiality of the machine gun was dramatically demonstrated at Santiago, Cuba, by Capt. John H. "Gatling Gun" Parker.

ADVANCING EDUCATION IN KENTUCKY

By Robert R. Martin Superintendent of Public Instruction

The most important consideration in any school's program should be the quality of its instruction. All other phases of the program are important only to the extent that they implement the instruction that the child receives.

In a time when the schools are expected to educate all the children and when enrollments are increasing more rapidly than our ability to house the administration, planning, and expense of running, the schools sometimes overshadow this fundamental objective—education.

In 1956, we launched a broad and long-range plan of action aimed toward the elevation of the status of education. We labeled this overall program ADVANCING EDUCATION IN KENTUCKY, and initiated an annual conference to be held in the late summer to consider methods for achieving better education in the State.

The first conference was devoted to the improvement of instruction. So important and significant were the results of that meeting that the 1957 conference was again devoted to the improvement of instruction. I think that the deliberations and recommendations of that group of teachers and administrators who met for two days recently in Louisville merit the attention of the people across the State.

In discussing ways of improving the curriculum in our schools, the delegates decided that reading programs should persist through all twelve grades and that curricula should be adjusted to the needs of the pupils. This idea is based on the philosophy that we must accept the child where he is; i.e., fully recognize what his capacities for learning are and then take him as far as his inherent ability will permit us. In keeping also with this philosophy, the conference delegates believed that teachers and parents need to have better understandings of how children grow and develop both physically and emotionally.

Another interesting observation was that Kindergarten is extremely helpful to beginning school children and that wherever possible, Kindergartens should be encouraged.

They unanimously agreed that more attention should be given to discovery and instruction of gifted children. These children are often becoming administrative problems simply because they quickly absorb new ideas and subject matter and are then left with nothing to occupy their attention while the teacher proceeds with the lesson: A thorough and reliable testing program which includes achievement and aptitude tests as well as I.Q. would go far in determining who these people are and what the abilities and talents of all the students are.

In addition to these things, the various groups of educators at this conference also discussed ways in which they could better equip themselves to do a better instructional job for children. Such things as cooperative planning by entire faculties, extension courses in their fields, workshops conducted by colleges in their districts, teacher visitation in pupils' homes, and better understanding of other teacher's problems—all of these things, they felt, will contribute to a more improved program of instruction.

It is my personal observation that this conference will have far reaching and worthwhile results in elevating the status of Kentucky's public schools. Many of the recommendations of this conference are already in the process of being acted upon by schools systems, and those recommendations that depend upon action by the Department of Education will be carried out wherever feasible.

Education in Kentucky is advancing. Interest in improving it has never been higher both by the public and by the educational profession. Together, we can continue to work for a better, brighter opportunity for our children.

OLDTIME CIRCUIT RIDER WAS "ROUGH AND READY"

The most renowned of early Kentucky preachers was a reformed gambler and horseracer—Peter Cartwright, a Methodist circuit rider.

It is told that his early experience with sin in Logan county taught him how to handle the wicked. He never backed out of a rough and tumble fight with frontier ruffians. One time he sensed that some rowdies had come to a camp meeting to make trouble. He kept order by appointing their leader chairman of a committee to keep the peace.

Once when advised to be careful of what he said because Gen. Andrew Jackson was in the meeting house, Cartwright shouted, "Who cares for Jackson? He'll go to hell as quick as anyone if he don't repent!"

Brother Cartwright was adept in outwitting his rivals in other faiths who tried to capture souls from Cartwright's denomination. His favorite question to competing ministers: "If there are no children in hell and all young children who die go to heaven, is not that church which has no children in it more like hell than heaven?"

Once when scolded for his funny stories in the pulpit and urged "make us cry but don't make us laugh," Cartwright replied "I don't hold the puckering strings of your mouths."

He was always admonishing folks to obey the Negro's eleventh commandment, "Everybody mind his own business."

Cartwright moved to Illinois and served two terms in that state's legislature. In 1846, he was defeated in a race for Congress by another Kentuckian — Abraham Lincoln.

HENRY REPLIED... BUT GAVE NO ANSWERS! Now, Henry, the smoke screen you put out called Stumbo Answers has blown away and the questions are still unanswered. I'm afraid your Ghost Writer may be interested in protecting himself more than anyone else. His article titled Stumbo Answers was camouflage and evasion. The questions are still here. Still unanswered. Yes, Henry, I have read the record. Here is what it says in reference to the obligation of the county. Page 258 Section 9 order book 6, "It is the intention of this order and resolution that the bonds herein authorized shall be considered to be issued by and to be the obligation of the County of Floyd. Section 8 of the order you signed reads: "If there be any default in payment of the principal or interest on any of said bonds then upon filing of a suit by any bondholder of said bonds or any of the coupons any court having jurisdiction of the action may appoint a receiver to administer said project on behalf of the county." This was written by Louisville and Cincinnati lawyers. Their document may be found on Page 256 order book 6 it is provided that the County will even insure the property against fire, windstorm, and other calamities. In Section 7 page 257 the county covenants and agrees that it will faithfully and punctually perform all duties with reference to said project required by the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Kentucky including THE MAKING AND COLLECTING OF REASONABLE AND SUFFICIENT RATES. I leave the above to the judgment of the Voters—and not to Henry and his background-ghost. I will ask you again and please give us straightforward answers: (1) Who originated the idea of the county buying the water and gas districts from private holders at high profits? (2) Would it be the same man who approached me as chairman of the Town Council at Lackey, shortly before the deal was made with the county? Would it be the same man and same deal that Lawyer Edd Allen advised me and the Town Council of Lackey to stay clear of? (3) Who set the rate 5% interest and whose idea was it to discount the bonds 10% to the big money interest? (4) Who made the profit of approximately $62,500 on the Wayland deal? (5) Who made the profit $33,000 on Allen-Dwale? (6) Who reaped the big profit on the Garrett-Bosco deal of approximately $35,000? (7) Who reaped the big profit on the Weeksbury junk deal of approximately $22,000? Henry Stumbo says that no one put $5,000 to keep the water and gas system out of the red. I say they did and for that information I am indebted to a newsstory in the Floyd County Times and to the audit report of Allen & Hager who noted it when it was made. Somebody put $5,000 in the system to make it show a profit. Even the auditors didn't know, the officers of the system do not know where the money came from. Maybe Santa Claus did it. Who is the good guy going around donating $5,000 at a crack to sick water and gas outfits just before election time? In his so-called answer Judge Stumbo says: "I am sure the records will not disclose that I at any time ever received one dime by reason of the purchase of the Water & Gas System..." I have never said the records disclosed it. I have said, and I'll say again, somebody got plenty. The people of this water and gas district will contribute one-half million dollars of their purchasing power in the next 30 years to the New York bond holders. Many Floyd county families will suffer the deprivation due to these excessive rates. All the business of Floyd county will lose this extra purchasing power. Judge Stumbo says he spent $1,500 to defend Floyd county and that it was well spent. I say that had he not entered into this deal without consulting the people of this county, then he would not have had to spend the people's money to defend the county. These figures were compiled as of September 1, 1957, which shows by registration on the books a Democratic majority of 5,181 in District One. It will take a lot of crossing by Democrats to elect a Republican. It could happen, but the possibility is very, very limited. We will give the figures in No. 2 later. Keep these figures as they are published, and when it is completed you will have the total in the county.

MAYTOWN

W. S. C. S. MEETS

Mesdames L. E. Roberts and Ivan Bouch were hostesses to the Maytown Woman's Society of Christian Service last Tuesday evening in the church basement. Mrs. John Ison was program leader on the topic, "How Large is Our World?" Mrs. Ison read the scripture, which was followed by Sandra Sue Patrick's singing the "Lord's Prayer." Others on the program were Mesdames Henry L. May, Thomas Patrick, Howard Ramey, Baisden Osborne, and Misses Karen Burchett and Carlyn Ison.

At the business meeting the reports were read and several topics were called to the Society's attention. Two of these—giving a donation to the M.Y.F. for their movie projector and helping with repairs on the parsonage—were discussed, but no vote was taken.

Mrs. Patrick, secretary of Spiritual Life, reported that a prayer service has been started. All members are urged to come a half-hour earlier the next meeting and join in the service. She also reported that a prayer box will be placed in the vestibule of the church for the convenience of those requesting prayer.

Mrs. Lucy Patton put her birthday money in the bank.

Hostesses for the October meeting will be Mesdames Elizabeth Allen and George Patton. Program leader will be Mrs. Charles Patton.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, a short social period was enjoyed and a dessert course was served the twenty-two members by the hostesses.

Mrs. Fletcher Gayheart, Ruby Mae, Rhoda Ann, Fletcher, Jr., and Sandra Hicks spent last week at the State Fair. While there they stayed with Mrs. Gayheart's brother, Clarence Edward Napier, who is employed with the Louisville police force. They were accompanied by Mrs. Kermit Howard, of Dwale.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Jones, of Morehead, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Jones.

Paul Osborne, Randolph Hicks, Conrad Branham and Freer Martin were the boys from Maytown who helped represent Floyd county in the 4-H Club poultry judging contest last week at the State Fair in Louisville.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hicks and children have moved into their new home below Warco.

Mr. and Mrs. Baisden Osborne, Paul and Ray attended open house at the Millersburg Military Institute last week. Their son, Jim, is a student at the school this year. Mr. and Mrs. Alroy Click moved last week to Martin where Mr. Click is employed by Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hagans, of Pikeville, and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Prasure, of Shelbiana, were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Rowland.

Sandra Sue Patrick, Linda June May, Glennis Ramey, and Jimmy Hopson left this week for Morehead College.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Blevins have purchased the Lowell Howard property on Wilson Creek and hope to move in soon.

Everybody was happy to learn that the condition of Earl Edward Webb is improving. Earl Edward is a patient at a Lexington hospital where he is partially paralyzed by a blood clot.

The F. F. A. boys from Maytown who attended the State Fair were Robert Refitt, Clennon Turner, Paul Maggard and Stevie Allen. They were accompanied by their teacher, Roy Denney.

Junior Conservation Clubs Being Formed In County Schools

Kentucky's Junior Conservation Education program, ranked as the No. 1 youth education program in the nation, was getting under way in Floyd county this week as Junior Club Supervisor Bernard Baldrige began organizing clubs in schools throughout this area.

The Junior Club program conservation is in the schools, with special emphasis on safety. Trained conservation educators such as Baldrige conduct the classes and provide in-the-field training throughout the school year.

This is the 14th year for the youth program in Kentucky.

September Designated Better Breakfast Month, Stressing Morning Meal

September has been officially tabbed as "Better Breakfast Month" that makes it a good time to take stock of your morning eating.

The longest span of time is between the evening meal and breakfast. The most work, mentally or physically, is done during the morning hours. So it adds up that you should eat breakfast. A well balanced breakfast will provide one-fourth to one-third of the whole day's food requirements.

Today fixing a good breakfast is easy. Set the table the night before. Take advantage of the modern timesavers—prepared mixes, ready-to-eat cereals, canned and frozen fruits and fruit juices.

Plan the breakfast to satisfy your family depending on the type and amount of activity. Include a fruit, cereal, or bread and milk. A hearty breakfast will call for eggs, meat or specials like pancakes, french toast, etc.

A well-balanced breakfast regularly makes you work better, play better, feel better, and it keeps you more cheerful all day long. Are you eating one?

Report Is Made on UK Medical Center

The University of Kentucky's new Medical Center will rank among the top third in the nation, Dr. William R. Willard, dean of the UK Medical School, said in a recent address in Paintsville.

"It is our belief," he continued, "that this new center will help to solve the medical problems now facing our people in Kentucky and it is our responsibility to help meet those needs."

Describing the progress in developing the Medical Center, Dr. Robert Strauss, medical sociologist, noted that it will train physicians, dentists, and nurses and will encourage more young men and women to enter rural practice in the years ahead.

Little Temple Hill Has 'Corner' On "Miss Kentucky REA" Title

The tiny community of Temple Hill has done it again!

Last year the little town near Glasgow produced "Miss Kentucky Rural Electric Co-op of 1956," the beautiful and charming Bunny Wells. This year the town scored a repeat, providing "Miss Kentucky Rural Electric Co-op of 1957," Miss Annette Harlow.

Adding to the coincidence are the facts that Bunny and Annette are best friends, were classmates at Temple Hill high until Annette was graduated last May, and were cheerleaders together for two years.

Both girls won the right to compete in the state contest by winning the title of "Miss Farmers Rural Electric Co-op" at the Annual Meeting and Electric Farm Show of the Co-op this summer and last. When Bunny won her local title, Annette was runner-up.

Annette, who was obviously a favorite of the crowd of 6,000 watching the state finals at the Kentucky State Fair, credited a part of her success over the other 20 contestants to Bunny.

"Bunny just told me how to walk and things like that," she said.

After winning the state title last year, Bunny went on to capture the national title of "Miss Rural Electrification of 1957."

One of Annette's prizes is an expense-paid trip to Dallas next February, where she will try to duplicate Bunny's feat.

COLLEGE OPENING

Eastern Kentucky College football fans will be closely following the opening games of the University of Kentucky and Morehead this week with many of the former high school stars in the area performing for both units.

Morehead, which plays Maryville, Tennessee, at home Saturday night, will have Bert Dixon and Tom Spradlin (Prestonsburg), Robert Igo (Hazard) and Buddy Fields (Whitesburg) in the starting line-up along with Doug Moore and Curtis Cassell from Catlettsburg.

Lowell Hughes, Prestonsburg's two-time all-state high school quarterback, will start at the same position for the U. of K. Wildcats when they engage Georgia Tech in Atlanta, Saturday afternoon. Jenkins' Bob Collier will start at one guard post.

JENKINS-FLEMING

One of the best early-season matches in the E.K.M.C. will be staged in Fleming Saturday night when the favored Jenkins Cavaliers face the Fleming-Neon Pirates. Although they have won both games by close scores of 6-0 and 14-12 over Hazard and Paintsville, Jenkins will have its work cut out against Fleming, which is 3-0 overall and 1-0 in the League. From early season play, Jenkins, Fleming and Belfry appear to be the three strongest in the 10-team E.K.M.C. league. Fleming beat Belfry, 7-6, in the opening game for both teams. The conference title may not be decided, however, until October 26 when Belfry will tangle with the Cavaliers in Jenkins.

PLAYER-OF-THE-WEEK

Paul Philip Hughes, 17-year-old senior quarterback, won the weekly Black Cat Player-of-the-Week award for his outstanding play in Prestonsburg's 13-7 loss to Hazard.

Hughes ran exceptionally well in scoring a 41-yard t.d. on a punt return and accounted for more than half of the group yardage gained. He was a whiz on defense in coming up fast from his safety position to get the heavier Bulldog ballcarriers.

SCHEDULE SHIFT

Prestonsburg and Paintsville high schools are about to work out the 1957 schedule shifts which would have one playing its weekly football game on Thursday night and the other on Friday night.

Although the change was not definite as of Tuesday noon, Paintsville would play Louisa this Thursday night at home and Prestonsburg would play Elkhorn City Friday as originally scheduled.

Then Prestonsburg and Belfry would play on Thursday, October 17 rather than originally scheduled Friday 18, leaving that date for Pikeville to play in Paintsville.

When both Prestonsburg and Paintsville play on the same Friday night, the crowd is small, but with one playing on Thursday and the other on Friday the crowd increases by about 30 per cent at both games.

LOSS TO HAZARD HIGH FIRST FOR BLACKCATS

By Gordon Moore

Three teams—Jenkins, Elkhorn City and Fleming—remain the only unbeaten high school football teams in the Eastern Kentucky area after last week's action.

Prestonsburg and Paintsville tasted defeat for the first time in losing to Hazard and Jenkins.

Irvin Wilson's Belfry Pirates whipped neighboring Pikeville, 38-0, Fleming stepped outside the loop to down Lynch 12-6, Elkhorn City over-powered Raceland of the N.E.K.C. circuit 27-0, and Whitesburg was shut out, 32-0, by Benham. Earlier in the week, M. C. Napier and Wallins battled to a 7-7 deadlock.

Rain-soaked gridirons forced postponement of a number of games from Friday until Saturday, but the delay failed as the weatherman refused to cooperate.

In the surprise game of the mud-laden action, E.K.M.C. favorite Jenkins had to come from behind in the final four minutes to edge Paintsville, 14-12. The speedy Tigers zoomed to a first period 6-0 command with a 65-yard line play scoring drive, with halfback Jim Wells getting the marker, Nick Diachenko's crew came roaring back in the second quarter after Paintsville had run a punt back to Jenkins' 20-yard stripe. Fullback Bill Elkins grabbed a fourth down Paintsville pass on his own 18, then streaked down the sideline 82 yards for the six-pointer and the extra point.

Paintsville pulled ahead, 12-7, on Mike Minix's six yarder in the third and had apparently won until Jenkins quarterback Frank Hodges' pass to end Nicky Dann iced the fray.

The Hazard Bulldogs rebounded from last week's opening setback at Jenkins to down Prestonsburg, 13-7, in about four inches of mud on the Hazard field. Following the opening kickoff, Hazard sent Junior Astor Sizemore around end for a 35-yard score that climaxed a 7-play 60-yard drive. The point after gave the Bulldogs a 7-0 margin.

Midway the second frame, Paul Hughes grabbed a Hazard put on his own 41 and reeled off an elusive trek to pay dirt. Allen's kick tied the count at 7-7. After an exchange of bobbles, Hazard drove to the Prestonsburg one, but the time ran out before the Bulldogs could score.

In the all-Hazard third quarter, Sizemore, Kenneth Cobb and J. Hardy alternated on gains of four to eight yards, with Sizemore going the final fifteen yards to score in the 70-yard march through the middle of the Prestonsburg line.

Penalties in the fourth period prevented another Hazard threat, and the losers, who stayed within their own 20-yard marker until the final two minutes, marched to Hazard's 27 in two plays before the game ended.

Another Prestonsburg athlete who has made good in the armed services is Leon "Blue" Childers, the tow-head southpaw from Emma.

Blue's latest achievements must have been as a result of both his pitching and hitting ability. He was selected as the most valuable player on the Atsugi Navy Marine Flyers who won the All-Japan Baseball Conference. The honor was awarded Childers as a result of a player's poll.

To quote an Air Force publication: "When Childers was named the team's Most Valuable Player, the guests filled the ballroom with applause to acknowledge a job well done."

"Childers, who was rather outspoken with his bat during the season, turned timid after receiving his trophy and sat down without delivering an acceptance speech."

Paul Philip Hughes was practically walking around the ends last Friday night in Prestonsburg's first defeat of the season at the hands of Hazard, 13-6.

The senior quarterback, who runs like a skier twisting between marker poles, practically strolled for a 41-yard run for Prestonsburg's only tally. Hughes isn't slow but is the type of runner who uses his blocking to the best advantage. When he sees daylight P. P. H. can turn on the steam.

Quoting from a booklet called "Football Facts" issued by the University of Kentucky about Floyd County's Lowell Hughes:

"One of the most widely-sought backfield prospects in the country as an All-American schoolboy record-breaking quarterback Lowell follows in the footsteps of brother John Delmar Hughes who was the Wildcats' No. 1 signal caller much of last year... The 6-2, 177-pound Prestonsburg ace holds a slight edge over teammate Jerry Eisaman in the race for the starting quarterback job this season... Like Eisaman, he was sensational as a UK freshman in 1956... Excellent passer, superb split-T ball handler, extra fine runner and one of the best defensive secondary men on the squad... Highlight of three-game freshman career came as he tossed two touchdown passes in leading the UK frosh to a 19-0 victory over the yearlings of traditional rival Tennessee... Showed all the earmarks of potential greatness under varsity game conditions by sparking his team to a 25-20 victory in the annual Blue-White intra-squad game winding up spring practice... Connected five times in six tries through the air for 104 yards and three touchdowns, picked up 26 more yards running and returned three kickoffs 66 yards..."

Not generally known to the public is the fact that three, not one, Blue-White games were staged last year—one for the public and two more for the coaching staff to examine their proteges more closely. Hughes' team took two of the three contests. In the first game, not publicized, Hughes ran for several touchdowns while he was rushed hard. Not being able to pass, he ran around would be tacklers. In the game before the public, the Whites had thought they had figured out a way to stop Mr. Hughes, so they lay back and dared him to pass. He did, and pitched three aeriels for T. D.'s. The next game was held under sloppy condition and the Whites finally ground out a win.

Also not generally known: Bill Brashear, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Brashear, of Manton, is regarded as a corner on the UK track team. He runs the mile and the mile relay. Asked if he's threatened Roger Bannister's world mark of minus four minutes, Bill grinned and said, "Not quite yet..." Bert Dixon will be a starting end at Morehead. Bert beat out fellow townsmen Paul Ousley for the starting berth. Dixon now is a hefty 190-pounder, is rated as Morehead's best receiver... Buford Crager has looked good as a frosh back on the Morehead squad. Coach Adams has been running Buford on the second team and has, at times, let the 170-pounder prance with the highly regarded varsity that has ace Buddy Fields as a halfback... Joe P. Tackett, III, also a husky, has won himself a scholarship at Morehead after two years lay-off from football. Joe, who was a little small for college football two years ago, looks now as though he can really tear them up... The Morehead team, says Tom Spradlin, has on its roster six ex-Prestonsburg Blackcats. Looks as though they could elect a captain from Prestonsburg with no sweat.

Prestonsburg defensive halfbacks were absolutely lousy last Saturday at Hazard. Of course, though, Hazard had a real hoss going out for those passes and he made our defensive men look like boys at times. Prediction: Look for Prestonsburg's defensive backfield to improve or start collecting splinters.
